

MRS. ROBERT L. STEARNS

The marriage ceremony uniting Elizabeth Grace Tuckey and Robert Lonnie Stearns was held Saturday, Aug. 17, at St. Lorenz Lutheran Church, Frankenmuth. The Rev. John G. Deterding performed the 4:30 p.m. wedding.

Dr. and Mrs. Donald Tuckey and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stearns, all of Frankenmuth, are parents of the couple.

Nances Tuckey, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Vicki Stenglein, sister of the groom, and Charisse Roenicke and Janet Knieling.

Brian Showerman was best man. Paul Stenglein, the groom's brother-in-law, Patrick Tuckey, the bride's brother, and David Stearns, brother of the groom, were groomsmen.

A garden reception was held at the bride's parents' home for 300 guests. The couple left for Virginia Beach, VA, on their honeymoon and will reside in Houghton.

Tim Davis receives commendation

Cass City High School has been notified by National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC) that Tim J. Davis has been designated a commended student in the 1986 Merit Program. Principal Russell L. Richards announced recently that this senior will receive a Letter of Commendation in honor of outstanding academic promise, demonstrated by placing in the top five percent of over one million participants in the 31st annual National Merit Scholarship Program.

An officer of NMSC, which administers the program, stated that, "Being named a Commended Student in the extremely competitive Merit Program is a credit to these young men and women and to their schools, which play an important role in the development of academically talented youth. The high test performance of Commended Students is indicative of exceptional scholastic ability, which is essential in a nation that prides itself on cultivating individual excellence. We hope the honor these students have earned will provide motivation for them to use their talents to the fullest and also will serve as an example for other aspiring young citizens."

Echo Chapter Order of Eastern Star will meet Wednesday evening, Oct. 2. There will be annual reports and election of officers. Donna Wernette heads the refreshment committee. Other members are Beryl Otto, Betty Greenleaf, Virginia Greenlee, Maxine Merchant, Mary Hutchinson and Marilyn Peters.

Mrs. Marie Jetta returned home Sunday from a week's trip with her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Norton of Lapeer, to Washington, D.C., Pennsylvania and other states.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER STRATHDEE

Lori Ziehm of Gagetown and Walter Strathdee of Ayr, Queensland, Australia, were married in a morning wedding Sept. 6. The ceremony was held on the lawn of the centennial farm home of the bride's grandparents near Vernon, Mich. The Rev. James Bolin, of the First Baptist Church of Owosso, officiated at the double-ring service.

Parents of the bride are Richard and Evelyn Ziehm of Gagetown.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of tissue taffeta and Venice lace. It was designed with a high lace neckline with a yoke of pointed espart, a fitted bodice accented with lace and pearls and deep lace cuffed Bishop sleeves. The full skirt had a flounce at the hemline and surrounding the cathedral train. Her fingertip veil with blusher fell from a silk floral and pearl wreath. She carried a bouquet of a dozen long stemmed red roses.

The maid of honor, Susie Chai of Sandakan, Malaysia, wore a light blue tissue taffeta gown with puff sleeves, net yoke and standup collar. She carried a bouquet of blue tipped carnations and white mums.

Del Gieche of North Branch was best man. Both attendants are friends of the couple.

A combination of blue and gray ribbons and bows decorated the front porch pillars of the home and baskets of blue tipped carnations, white mums and gladioli provided the setting under a big oak tree near the porch. Guitar music was provided by Scott Kurzer, brother-in-law of the bride. He also accompanied Carol Roszman who sang "Follow Me."

After the ceremony, a dinner reception was held at the Heritage House in Channing.

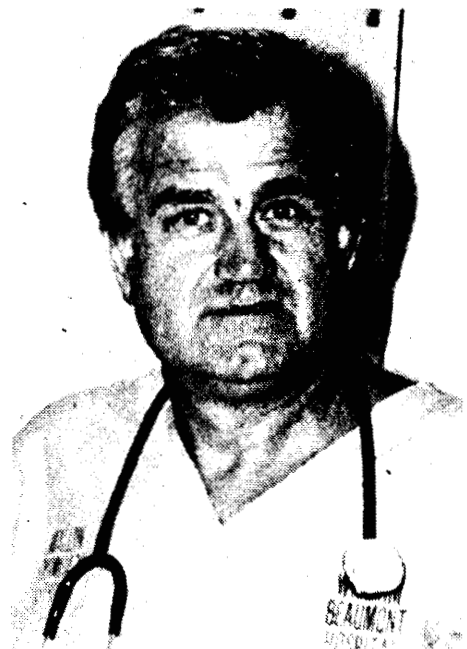

The couple left on a one-week honeymoon to Cancun, Mexico. They will make their home at 3429 Parmenter Road, Durand.

"If It Fitz..." "Grandpa's job"

By Jim Fitzgerald

Some days, the hardest part of this job is to keep smiling. Writing a ha-ha column on the back page can be a real chore when on the front page the bad news is a 13-year-old kidnapped boy was found dead, and the good news is a four-year-old boy shot in the brain during a neighborhood shoot-out was feeling better.

On my darkest days, I wonder if it's worth it.

All over the world, people are killing each other in the name of religion, the sickest irony of all. For whatever reason, the criminal justice system too often fails to protect the innocent from the guilty. There's a food surplus here, and starvation there. And on and on.

SO WHO CARES?

So who wants to read silly stuff about an apoplectic consumer and his recalled car, whimsical stuff about a little girl and her goofy grandfather, or sarcastic stuff about overstuffed politicians? In the face of all the important troubles weighing heavily on so many shoulders, who cares about such froth?

Last Wednesday, I took three-year-old Emily to a movie. There were only four other people in the theater, and we had a wide choice of the best seats. But, as always when it's just the two of us, Emily insisted on sitting in the very front row, where we had to point our noses at the ceiling to see the screen. Under intense questioning, she admitted she never sits in the front row when she goes to the movies with her parents or anyone else. So why me?

"Because you're the only one who'll do it," Emily explained.

And I'm probably the only one who cares where Emily and I sit. So why write about it? Why would readers be interested? Those are the questions that sometimes bedevil me, especially if the big news of the day concerns something awful that happened to a child. It seems almost cruel to write about my good times with a little kid when there are children and families who will never have a good time together again.

Sometimes the bedeviling questions are answered, as in a letter just received from a mother of two who described herself as "a very private person who would rather blend in with the woodwork and not be noticed." So her name is withheld. She wrote:

PERFECT TIMING

"Our third child was stillborn recently because of a knot in the umbilical cord. She was a full-term and beautiful baby. I chose not to smile for a long time after that heartache.

"But your columns on little Emily made me remember all the joys, tears and warm memories of my family all through these years. It has also let me imagine life for my lost baby. I like to think she would have been a lot like Emily, warm and loving and happy.

"Thank you for sharing Emily with my family. You have given us many smiles and warm, heartfelt feelings. You make us remember to hug and love one another and appreciate all the little things in life.

"It has been very difficult to write this letter, but I think it is important to let people know when they have touched someone's heart and made them want to smile again."

I never received a nicer letter, and it couldn't have arrived at a better time. The front-page news about murdered and abused children was getting to me, and making me wonder if this back-page stuff was worth writing, let alone reading. Just like the mother with the heartache, I needed to be reminded that a smile is most important to a person stuck on frown.

I also needed to be reminded that most days this is a great job.

And besides, I have to keep writing about front-row Emily because I'm the only one who'll do it.

United Way sets goal at $17,000 for 1985

Plans for the upcoming fall campaign were made at a recent meeting of the Elkhart-Novesta United Way board of Directors, said President Art

Holmberg.

With a goal of $17,000, the annual effort will be kicked off by a dinner at the Char-mont Tuesday, Oct. 8, at 6:30 p.m. Guests at that event will include board members and all volunteer workers who will canvass the village as well as both townships during the campaign.

A feature of the meeting will be the presentation of a plaque in recognition of outstanding service in last year's campaign. In addition, a representative from Catholic Family Service, a United Way agency serving the area, will be present and report on the work of that organization.

Materials and instructions will be distributed to the workers in the campaign, which will be launched by the kick-off dinner and will continue through Nov. 15.

The Haire Net

The late Harry Little reintroduced me to trout fishing in the 1950's and exposed me for the first time to the AuSable and the Rifle Rivers.

At the time, Harry was one of a cadre of Cass Cityans who trekked north at the drop of a hat to fish and party and party and fish.

I had fished trout some as a boy with an uncle who made it fun for a 12-year-old. But sports in high school and the demands of college and the Air Corps in World War II drifted me away.

Anyway, thanks to Harry, I caught the fishing bug and was on the highway north whenever business would let me get away. Sometimes, I went when good business sense dictated that I stay at home, but that's another story.

The story here concerns Harry Little. He was perhaps 15 years or so older than I was and had been fishing all of his life.

Little, as old time residents know and newcomers might have guessed, founded and operated Little's Funeral Home and was able to spend more than an average time on the streams.

As the years dwindled away it suddenly dawned that Harry wasn't up north as frequently as previously. Finally, one year he didn't make it north at all.

Why? The answer was a little hard to understand. Playing a little more golf than before, he said. Business demanded his time. The fishing was lousy. Nothing like it used to be.

Those didn't seem to be valid reasons at that time.

Fifteen years later it's easy to see where Harry was coming from. The last three years my fishing excursions have dwindled down to one or two a season.

Dwindled, I tell everyone, for the exact same reasons that Harry listed. More golf, more business and less fishing success.

The real reason may be that now instead of looking ahead, I look back.

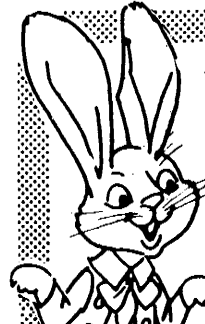

Fishing undoubtedly wasn't as good for me as it was for Harry and fishing for the new generation won't be as good as it was for me.

You look at things differently as the years go by. Knowing today that the chances of having a rip roaring successful day on the trout stream are remote, it's hard to gird up for a trip north on short notice.

That's the difference, I guess. Back when Harry introduced me to the Rifle it wasn't necessary to gird up.

If the fish weren't biting, you could always party.

Nothing is crazier than the English language. Sometimes there is just no rhyme or reason to it. Take the spelling of the word proceed.

Proceed is spelled with two E's. Proceeding is spelled with two E's so naturally there are two E's in procedure. Of course not, just one. How else could they make things difficult?

It's not unusual to have warm weather at football games in September. But I can't recall any September football night as warm as last Friday's.

It was very comfortable on the field in nothing but a summer sport shirt. It's rare when it gets that warm after dark at the park all during the summer months.

Coming down Dickerson Road Thursday night a car turned onto the highway and headed straight for me. It forced me to drive completely off the road and we missed hitting by a scant few inches.

I presume that the driver was dead drunk. It's cases like this that make me support any program that gets the drinking driver from behind the wheel.

Let me tell you near misses like this are a sure cure for constipation.

There appears to be a good deal of interest in condos for persons 50 years and older.

Tom Herron reported that over 700 persons attended the open house at his condos Saturday and Sunday. It appears that many are sincerely interested and if that's true you could see many units at the site. There is about 40 acres open for this development.

The trade magazines had it right, evidently, says Herron, when they said housing for "greying America" is the hottest segment of the market today.

She was pleased with Dr. Martin

I would like to comment on the letter about Dr. Martin in last week's paper. I consulted Dr. Martin a month ago and was extremely satisfied with both her professional manner and prices. I feel she is an exceptional physician, highly intelligent with a wonderful "bedside manner." She is definitely a doctor I will (and have) recommend to both family and friends.

I sincerely hope Dr. Martin decides to stay a long time in Cass City. It's unfortunate about the "rumors," but I feel that anyone who has been to visit Dr. Martin can attest to her character and professionalism.

Letters to the editor

She baked (not ate) the pie

Dear Editor,

When I was asked, about three weeks before the Harvest Festival, if I would make a pie for the pie-eating contest, I agreed. It seemed a small thing to do for a community effort such as the Festival.

When I was called this past Monday morning and informed my pie had been judged best, I was pleased. Georgine's Dress Shop was giving me a $25.00 gift certificate and for one who has never won many things in her lifetime, that seemed just great.

Then came the Chronicle!

The bubble burst with a bang when I read I had won the pie-EATING contest.

Pictures I have seen of contestants in pie-eating contests are of grinning adolescents with pie-goo on their faces from hairline to chin. The thought that anyone in your vast reading public would conjure up such a picture of me is very painful.

Your neighbor says

Keep legislators at full-time status

A movement is underway in Michigan to get enough petition signatures to put on the ballot a constitutional amendment that would reduce the legislators from a full-time job to a part-time job, and also to reduce their salary. How do you feel about the issue?

"I think you would get a reduced incentive for qualified people to run for the legislature," said Otto

Bacon, a 32-year-old Cass City resident. Bacon feels the salary paid to the representatives and senators is "not outrageous" when compared to what management personnel make at

Ireland

Eleven U.S. Presidents could trace their roots to Northern Ireland. That's not the only reason, however, that American business executives are increasingly exploring the possibilities of this lovely land as the base for penetrating the European Economic Community markets. Three of the reasons most cite for the move are: high and rapid return on investment; labor stability and productivity; generous financial incentives that include tax-free grants.

Since the paper came out I have had several phone calls and personal inquiries, all of which fall into two general categories: 1 - Why is a sedate grandmother participating in a pie-eating contest? 2 - What happened to the diet, kiddo?

In fairness, I believe you should inform your readers that my award was for making a pie and not for eating them.

No injuries reported in two Friday auto mishaps

Cass City Police Officer Kenneth Schott reported there were no injuries in two separate traffic mishaps Friday afternoon.

The first accident was reported at 3:30 p.m. when a vehicle driven by Lorreen E. Irrer, 16, 4885 Sebewaing Rd., Owendale, was struck from the rear by a vehicle driven by Angela M. Wright.

Both vehicles were eastbound on Main Street, and the Irrer vehicle stopped behind a pickup truck making a left turn onto Maple Street. As Irrer was waiting for the truck to turn, Wright, 4235 Doerr Rd., Cass City, collided with the Irrer vehicle.

The second Friday accident occurred at 4:50 p.m. when a vehicle driven by Enid Craig, 65, 4814 N. Seeger St., Cass City, was struck from the rear by a vehicle driven by Bryan T. Toner, 18, 6417 Church St., Cass City. Both vehicles were southbound on Seeger Street, and Toner struck the Craig vehicle while she was stopped, attempting to turn left into an alley. According to the report, Craig had her turn signal on before she was hit.

No tickets were issued in either accident.

Also Friday, at 8:00 a.m., a vehicle driven by Joseph B. Steadman, 16, 6556 Pine St., Cass City, backed into a vehicle driven by Jerry Quinn, 17, 6216 Hadley Rd., Cass City. Both vehicles were leaving the parking lot of the Thumb National Bank, when Steadman backed into Quinn.

Chief Gene Wilson reported a vehicle driven by Linda A. McMahan, 25, 6593 Houghton St., Cass City, backed into a parked vehicle owned by Martin R. Daniel, 702 Hugh St., Hartford City, IN. According to the report, McMahan was backing out of a driveway on Houghton Street, and struck the Daniel vehicle. The mishap happened Sept. 17 at 12:20 p.m.

Obituary

Oran Hughes

Oran Hughes, 62, of Cass City succumbed Sunday at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

He was born Aug. 7, 1923, in Plainview, S.D., the son of Charles and Lizzie (Moore) Hughes, and came to Cass City when a young man. Hughes married Bernice Darling May 23, 1943, in Macon, Ga. The couple made their home in Cass City.

He was a member of the Caro Post of Disabled American Veterans, the Cass City Gun Club and served with the Cass City Fire Department for 25 years. He also served with the U. S. Army during World War II in the Pacific Theatre.

Surviving, besides his wife, are three daughters, Mrs. Eric (Mary) Smith of Decker, Mrs. Phillip (Betty) Morse of Lapeer and Mrs. Arnold (Judy) Corkins of Davison; one son, Charles Hughes of Anaheim, Cal., 11 grandchildren, and two great-grandsons. Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Lavola Cox of Sunnyville, Cal., and a nephew, Douglas Cox of Sunnyville.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 1:00 o'clock from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City. Rev. Harry Capps, pastor of First Presbyterian church, will officiate. Burial will be in Elkland Cemetery.

In medieval times, church bells were rung in an attempt to stop storms.

Lapeer man killed in Saturday accident

A 57-year-old Lapeer County man was killed Saturday at 1:05 a.m. when he lost control of his motorcycle and went into a ditch in rural Fremont Township.

According to the report filed by the Michigan State Police, Caro post, Donald J. Thompson, 57, Metamora, was eastbound on Saginaw Road, about one-half mile west of Mertz Road, when the accident happened. No other vehicles were involved.

McLeody Days

By Bill McLeod

Last week, replacing a burned-out taillight bulb in my wife's car taught me all about the wonders of modern engineering.

Thinking it would be a five-minute job, I grabbed a Phillips and straight tip screwdriver and headed for my favorite shade tree. As I was looking about the lens cover for the screws, I soon realized this was going to be more of a job than I'd bargained for. I couldn't find any screws. A couple of tugs on the lens cover proved to be fruitless. I soon found myself entering the world of difficult engineering.

When I opened the hatch-back I quickly found the hookups for the turn signal and back-up lights, but I couldn't see the bulb for the taillights.

After about 10 minutes of prodding, pulling and eventually crawling into the back of the hatch, I finally found the burned-out bulb, hidden behind a plastic panel held in place by eight strange looking fasteners. They looked like screws, but they didn't have a slot for a screwdriver.

I decided it was time for plan B. "When all else fails, brute force prevails." I went to the toolbox and got out the biggest screwdriver I could find. I jammed the miniature wrecking-bar behind the head of the fastener and pried. A second later the corner of the panel came loose. I broke the head of the fastener off.

A close examination of the fastener didn't help. It had notches around it, that held when forced into the car's metal body.

Of the next three fasteners I attacked, I successfully removed one, and broke two others off. With four fasteners out of my way (and fearing the wrath of an angry wife), I decided I had enough room to reach in and replace the bulb. My arm slid in easily enough, but as I was trying to pull my hand and a fist full of wires out, I couldn't quite make it. I ruined another fastener.

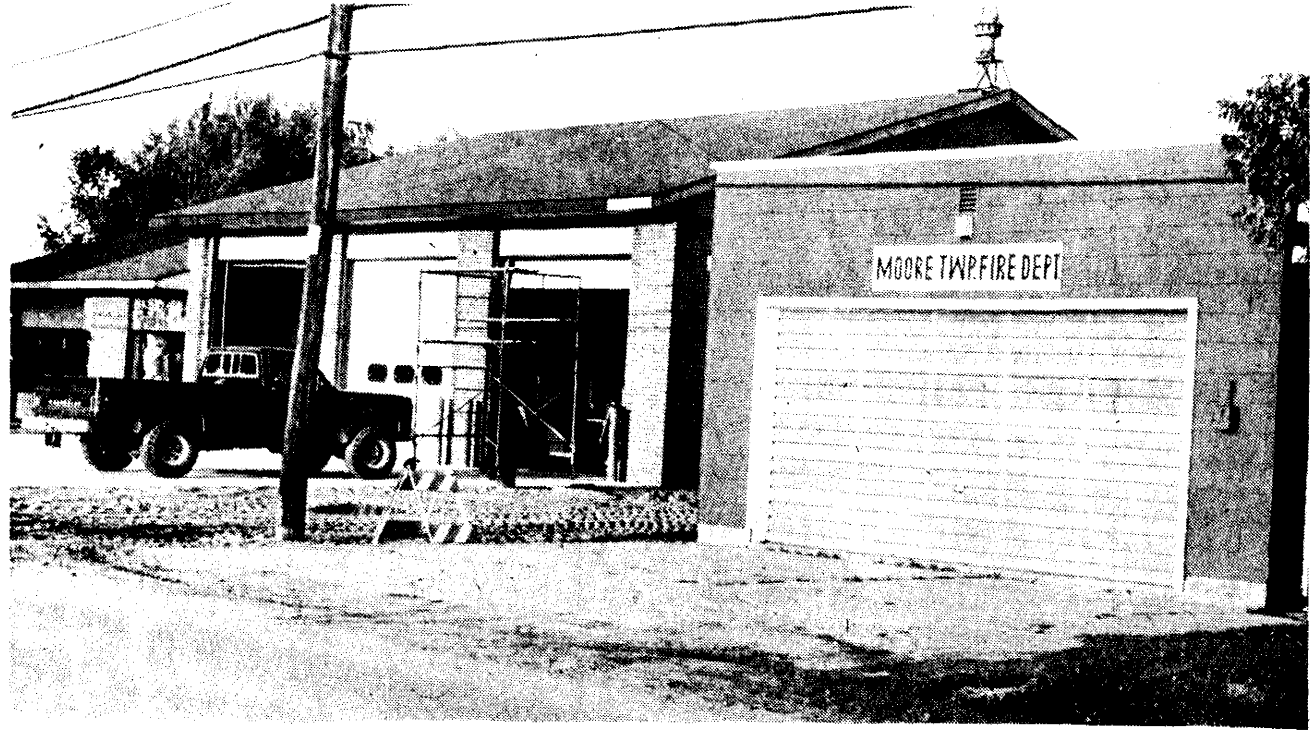

It only took about a half hour to do a five minute job, thanks to the miracles of modern engineering.

For over-all ease of maintenance, the best vehicle I've owned was a '53 Ford F-100. Under the hood, which resembled a semi-truck engine cover, there was plenty of room to work. The little six-cylinder engine had about two feet on either side, lots of room for a clumsy mechanic to easily give it a tune-up.

Another feature I really liked (until I dropped it one night at 10:00 p.m.) was the glass sediment bulb. Whenever the engine was running rough it was easy to spot the problem. The Holly carb even had a glass cover over the float. I broke that one day.

Turn signals were seldom a problem with my old Ford truck. The only time they didn't work was when it was too cold to roll down the window.

One thing, everybody, in town thought I was a real friendly guy. I waved to people every time I made a turn.

CONSTRUCTION WORK on the new Moore Township fire hall is expected to be completed next month. At right is the old fire hall, which was too small to house all of the department's equipment.

Moore Township builds fire hall

Next month firemen of the Moore Township Fire Department will have a new fire hall to park their trucks and hold meetings in.

"Our other hall was inadequate. We had outgrown it," said Moore Fire Chief Sid Thompson. He explained the old fire hall, built in the late 1940's, was about the size of a two-car garage. When the department purchased a new fire truck last year, they had to park one of the old trucks outside, and were unable to use it during the winter months.

Thompson said the cost of the 4,000 square foot fire hall is $139,000. To fund the construction of the 48 by 50 square foot truck area, and the 32 by 50 square foot office space, Moore Township residents approved a five-year, two-mill levy at the November 1984 general election. Thompson added that residents narrowly defeated the same request at the June 1984 school board election. After an "education campaign, the levy passed on the second try."

"We feel we are getting a good quality building for the money," Thompson said. The building was designed by the Port Huron engineering firm of Roy French and Associates. Dan Touchette, Sandusky, is the general contractor. An open house to show township residents where their tax dollar is going has been scheduled for Nov. 9.

4 larcenies reported in village

Cass City Police officers reported the theft of two bicycles, a cassette deck and a rear window sun louver from four Cass City residents last week.

A 20-inch black and silver BMX bicycle valued at $120 was stolen from Chad Zawilinski, 4355 Leach St., Cass City, either Saturday night or Sunday morning. The bicycle was taken from the porch.

A 20-inch black and yellow Huffy BMX bicycle valued at $125 was taken from Joe Steadman, 6556 Pine St., Cass City, either Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning. The bicycle was parked on a patio in the back yard.

Officer Kenneth Schott reported an AM-FM cassette deck valued at $200 was taken from a vehicle owned by John Krol, 4788 Hospital Dr., Apt. 3, Cass City, Saturday night or early Sunday morning. The thieves entered the locked vehicle by using a coat hanger or a similar tool to unlock the car door. The cassette deck was mounted in the dash, tools were used to remove it.

Chief Gene Wilson reported a sun louver was stolen from the back window of a vehicle owned by Karen S. Wright, 4391 Seeger St., Cass City, early Friday morning. The louver, valued at $35, was taken from the vehicle while it was parked in Wright's driveway.

Joslyn refuses to dismiss charges in DNR shooting

Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Patrick Joslyn denied a request from two Millington brothers to dismiss charges against them for their involvement in last year's shooting of a Department of Natural Resources conservation officer.

Dale R. Matzke, 20, 5438 W. Millington Rd., Millington, faces a charge of assault with intent to murder, and a felony firearm charge. Steven J. Matzke, 19, 9470 Belsay Rd., Millington, faces a charge of being an accessory after the fact of a felony. Trial for the two brothers is scheduled for Oct. 1.

The charge against the two brothers stems from the Oct. 20, 1984 shooting of DNR officer Timothy Burke in rural Juniata Township. Burke and fellow officer Juris Didrichson were involved in a high-speed chase of deer poachers, when a bullet was fired from the vehicle, striking Burke in the mouth. Burke was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Saginaw, and released four days later.

Another Millington resident, Scott Simon, was the first to be arrested in the shooting incident. He is scheduled to go to trial Dec. 10. Simon is the alleged driver of the vehicle. He has been charged with aiding and abetting.

In other Sept. 16 circuit court action, Roger McKnight, 26, Caro, was sentenced to 32-48 months in the Southeastern Michigan Prison, Jackson, on a charge of larceny in a building.

McKnight pleaded guilty to the charge Sept. 3. He was originally charged with breaking and entering an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny. The charge stems from an Aug. 8 theft of money from Charles and Mary Vennedy, 415 W. Frank St., Caro.

In other action, a guilty plea from Allen N. Zimmerman, 21, 4903 Center St., Gagetown, was accepted on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property valued over $100. The charge stems from Zimmerman's possession of an air compressor taken from Leonard Karr, 6078 Huron Line Rd., Gagetown, June 11. Zimmerman was originally charged with breaking and entering of an unoccupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny, and receiving and concealing stolen property valued over $100.

Zimmerman will be sentenced Nov. 4. Bond continues at $7,500.

A guilty plea of delivery of marijuana was accepted from Raymond E. Staten, 46, 4892 W. Center St., Millington, by Judge Joslyn. As part of the plea bargaining agreement, two other delivery of marijuana charges were dismissed against Staten. The charge stems from the Jan. 8 sale of marijuana to an undercover law enforcement officer. Staten faces a maximum penalty of four years in prison and/or a $2,000 fine.

Staten will be sentenced Nov. 12. Bond continues at $5,000.

The court accepted a guilty plea from Cleo F. Ill., 49, 4626 E. Center St., Millington, on a charge of criminal sexual conduct, second degree.

The charge stems from Ill's Feb. 22 involvement with a 15-year-old Millington girl. Ill was originally charged with first degree criminal sexual conduct. Judge Joslyn will sentence Ill Nov. 12. Bond continues at $25,000.

A guilty plea on a delivery of LSD charge was accepted from David D. Blomquist, 26, 1032 S. Colling Rd., Caro. Blomquist was one of seven Tuscola County residents who were arrested in a county-wide drug bust by law enforcement officers.

As part of the plea bargaining agreement, a charge of delivery of marijuana was dropped. Blomquist will be sentenced Dec. 9. Bond continues at $7,500.

In other action, Judge Joslyn accepted a guilty plea from Kent M. Haag, 33, 344 Wells St., Caro, for probation violation.

Haag was originally sentenced to a 60-month probation term May 14, for larceny and breaking and entering charges. He violated the terms of his probation Aug. 12, when he was arrested for impaired driving.

Haag will be sentenced Nov. 25. Bond continues at $5,000.

The court accepted a guilty plea from Jeffrey E. Skyles, 20, Stark Rd., Midland, on joy riding and attempted possession of a firearm in a vehicle charges.

Skyles was originally charged with carrying a concealed weapon, and the unlawful driving away of a vehicle owned by another.

Skyles will be sentenced Nov. 25. Bond continues at $7,500.

HEALTH TIPS

Emphysema: a disease that is preventable

Since Soviet leader Konstantin U. Chernenko died from the disease, there has been increased interest in emphysema, an incurable but often preventable disease of the lungs.

The American Lung Association -- The Christmas Seal People -- is alerting the public to the fact that emphysema is lifestyle-related and a health risk taken by those who choose to smoke.

Smoking accounts for 85-90 percent of emphysema mortality in America. According to U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop, MD, "Severe emphysema would be rare in this country if people did not smoke cigarettes."

Emphysema results from the breakdown of the walls of the lungs' microscopic air sacs. The resulting cavities in the lungs means there's far less surface available for breathing. Although emphysema is not curable, various treatments, including antibiotics, can help make attacks of breathlessness less severe.

The most current research on emphysema shows that:

*There are an estimated 12-14,000 emphysema-related deaths a year in the U.S.

*In 1982, over 59,000 Americans died from chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) and allied conditions. Because emphysema is often classified under the general heading of COPD, the number of emphysema-related deaths in the U.S. is believed to be higher than the number reported.

*Once a disease that victimized almost exclusively men, one in four emphysema deaths now occurs among women.

*There is a 25 to 30-year lead time until emphysema symptoms appear. Quitting smoking before emphysema obstructs breathing halts further destruction of the lungs.

*After diagnosis, the average life expectancy for emphysema victims is 8.5 years. Life expectancy can extend as much as 12 to 15 years if there are less severe breathing impairments and fewer disease-related complications.

The American Lung Association says that emphysema is almost entirely preventable. Not to begin smoking is the best way to avoid emphysema, and those who do smoke should kick the habit.

For more information on emphysema, call the American Lung Association of Michigan toll free at 1-800-292-5979.

Award Lehrman

Air Force medal

Airman 1st Class Robert H. Lehrman Jr., son of Robert H. Lehrman of Decatur, Ind., has been decorated with the Air Force Achievement Medal at Offutt Air Force Base, Neb.

The Achievement Medal is awarded to airmen for meritorious service, acts of courage, or other accomplishments.

Lehrman is a weather specialist with Air Force Global Weather Central.

His wife, Kelly, is the daughter of Erwin G. and Amy G. Hall of 5825 Main St., Deford.

The airman is a 1974 graduate of Belmont High School, Decatur.

Surplus

commodity distribution

The Human Development Commission will have a Surplus Commodity Distribution at the Cass City Village Park, Lions Pavilion, Sept. 27 from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. or until the supply is exhausted.

HDC Executive Director Mary Ann Vandemark anticipates a double quantity of cheese, flour, rice and honey will be distributed at the site. Individuals receiving the commodities are asked to bring cardboard boxes to carry the items.

Persons receiving the commodities must bring a surplus commodity registration card to the site. Because of the large amount of food that is to be distributed, handicapped individuals and senior citizens are encouraged to have someone pick up the food for them. The food, supplied by the federal government, is intended for personal consumption by eligible low income families only.

We put Dyna Torque Radials up against some of our toughest competitors — and they outperformed the others on both tilted and non-tilted ground.

That means:

- Less time in field.
- Better fuel efficiency.
- Reduced vibration.

All thanks to our unique computer-engineered triple-pitch lug design.

The Dyna Torque also makes use of special compounds and a natural shape casing for better durability and resistance to damage.

DYNA TORQUE II

Outputs the original traction torque by as much as 15%.

Rides better and wears more evenly on the road.

• Strong, angle-braced lug self-cleaning design.

• High-strength polyester cord body/heavy-duty rim shield.

Other 550 and higher series bowled were: Ardith Blacker 569, Biff's, Kinde; Doty Glaza, 567, Crazy Horse Lanes, Uby, and Connie Swartzentruber, 561, Crazy Horse Lanes, Uby.

Offer new community ed courses

Two new courses have been announced by the Cass City Community Education office.

In cooperation with Hills and Dales Hospital a Red Cross Multi-Media first aid class will be taught by Jane Mitchell and Celia House.

Students will learn how to handle many types of first aid related accidents. An American Red Cross card will be issued to persons completing the course.

Classes will be held Mondays, Oct. 14 and Oct. 21, from 6 to 10 p.m. at Cass City High School. Cost is $6.00.

Andrea Shagene will instruct a class in beginning cake decorating. It stresses basic decorating skill and patterns. Classes meet five weeks on Mondays from Oct. 14 through Nov. 11. Class time is 7:30 till 9 p.m.

The class will meet at Cass City Intermediate home economics room and the cost is $12, plus supplies.

To register for either of these courses call the community education office, 872-4151, from noon until 9 p.m.

Owen-Gage Senior Citizens meet

The Owen-Gage Senior Citizens met at St. Agatha's parish hall in Gagetown Sept. 17 for the regular potluck dinner with 51 members and two visitors present. Rev. and Mrs. Zina Bennett were visitors. Rev. Bennett is the new minister for the Owendale and Gagetown Methodist Churches. He said table grace.

Mabel Ondrajka opened the meeting by all pledging allegiance to the flag. She announced flu shots are to be given at the fire hall in Owendale Oct. 9. The price is $3.

There was some discussion about the scoring in card games. It was decided to go back to keeping our own scores.

Door prizes were won by Doris Schell and Mike Pisarek. The meeting adjourned to play cards. The traveling prize was won by Bill Ashmore; high by Maude Sarosky and Lee Smith, and low by Mary Kuehne and Andy Szedek.

The next meeting is a regular business meeting Oct. 3 when blood pressure readings will be taken.

Sunday, Sept. 15, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ashmore met with members of the Izydorek family for dinner at the St. Joseph Parish Festival. They spent the evening at the home of Charles and Joann Izydorek of Decker. Burton Rosenberger, brother of Donna Dunn, was married last week end in Imlay City. Bob and Donna Dunn attended the wedding.

George and Glenda Wilson of Grand Canyon, Ariz., spent some time at their home here, and visiting relatives in Caro. They left Saturday to return to Arizona.

AROUND THE FARM

Farm land rental seminar

By Bill Bortel

A "Farm Land Rental Seminar" was held last week at the Brentwood meeting room in Caro attracting 49 farmland owners and renters, states Bill Bortel, County Extension Director. The activity was sponsored by the Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service focusing on calculating a farm rental budget for 1986. This included estimated yields, projected prices and variable and fixed costs per acre. The audience participated by furnishing estimated figures which were county averages for the farm rental budget. The final budget showed that on good tiled farmland, the land owner needed $115.00 per acre to break even and that $62.45 is the maximum cash rent, a renter can pay per acre. This included a crop rotation of dry beans, wheat, corn and sugar beets. Therefore, a negotiation of cash rent between $62.45 and $115.00 per acre is the range that land owners and renters would be comparing using the budget calculated at the seminar on good tiled farm land. Budgets for poorer non-tiled farm land were considerably lower.

We know it will be rather difficult for landowners to look at lower land rental agreements. However, we are all concerned with the survival of the family farm and with the severe depressed commodity prices, the whole rural community needs to look at realistic farm rental budgets for next year.

Programs for Salem/Trinity Methodists

The Port Huron District of the United Methodist Church is sponsoring a "Mission Saturation Program" called the Bridge of Love Sept. 28 through Oct. 3.

During that week, every United Methodist Church in the District will sponsor several programs which will deal with the mission program of the United Methodist Church. The objective is to lift up the importance of the mission programs of the church and to encourage churches to become even more deeply involved in the mission program.

Special programs will take place at both Salem and Trinity United Methodist Churches. The public is invited to attend any of these special events.

Outmanned Hawks pounded by tough North Branch defense

Although Cass City was soundly defeated by North Branch Friday, 34-0, the Hawks will rank as solid favorites at Imlay City this week.

Speirs host archery meet

The fifth annual Stick 'Em in the Middle archery contest was held Sunday afternoon at the home of Skip and Ellen Speirs, with 22 archers competing.

Dave Speirs won the trophy for the second consecutive year. Mike Ware finished second and Skip Speirs, third. Randy McConnell of Holly won the distance accuracy contest.

Lunch was served preceding the meet, with about 55 persons attending. Pony pulled wagon rides were provided for non-participants, by Randee Speirs and Bud Peasley.

Ken Cotton officiated at the contest. Other bowmen were: Scott Horner, Jerry Langmaid, Stan Guinther, Wayne Heckman, Jeff Hanby, Kevin Israelson and Ed Stoutenburg.

Completing the list are: John Luana, Chuck McConnell, Tim McConnell, Mike Williams, Dave Ware, Harvey Bell, Ron Speirs, Bryan Warju, Dean Little and Chris McConnell.

The Spartans have been defeated by large margins in games this season and last week bowed to Bad Axe, 48-14, a team that defeated the Hawks by a scant six points.

A victory is what Cass City needs after the pounding taken from the bruising Broncos. As usual, North Branch featured power football to post the win. The offense piled up plenty of yardage, but it was the defense that set up the offense all night. Led by 210-pound linebacker Scott Lamphere, the Broncos held Cass City to a negative one-yard in offense.

Cass City could do absolutely nothing against the Bronco defensive line. In the first quarter only two major penalties and two fumbles recovered by Cass City kept North Branch from a big early lead.

It was scoreless until the second quarter when North Branch launched its first touchdown drive starting from their own 30 and marching on the ground all the way. They scored from 7 yards out on a run by Lee Carto with 2:19 left. The kick by Jason Hopkins was good.

That ended the scoring in the first half. North Branch scored again in the third quarter when quarterback Gary Suzor decided to try and pass for a first down with 16 yards to go on fourth down on his own 34-yard-line.

The pass missed and North Branch went in to score. Moving on the ground for a first and goal on the six, Rod Porritt dashed through the center for the marker. After that the Hawks wilted and the Broncos started tearing off yardage in big chunks.

Dennis Griffin ripped off 17 yards to score with 2:19 left in the period. Porritt came back with a five-yard dash to cap another drive with 8:30 gone in the last quarter. Carto finished the scoring with a 16-yard dash a minute and a half later.

Dan Griffin was leading ground gainer for the night with 80 yards in 12 carries followed by Porritt with 62 yards in 13 tries.

Pete Leiterman topped the Hawks with 21 yards in six tries. Suzor lost 41 yards as he was repeatedly smothered in the backfield while trying to pass.

JV WINS

A bright spot for Hawk fans during the week was a victory over North Branch by the Cass City Junior Varsity, 26-20, Thursday.

Jeremy Capps, Darin Monroe and Jeff Sontag scored for Cass City. It was the JV's first win in three games. Thursday they meet Imlay City at home at 7 p.m.

Common cold takes its toll

What illness results in 32 million days of lost work, 34 million days of lost school, and accounts for more doctor visits than any other illness? Believe it or not—the common cold.

There's no cure for the common cold, but here are some "cold facts" that may help you separate the facts from fiction about this misunderstood ailment:

- What is a cold? A cold is an upper respiratory infection caused by over 150 different viruses. According to the National Institute of Health (NIH), your cold may last from two to 14 days, but will probably last one week.

- It's estimated that an adult will average two colds a year...and school children average eight colds a year. This accounts for a total of as many as one billion colds a year in the United States.

- You can ask your pharmacist about cold medications. He'll be able to tell you about those that are available without a prescription. One such medicine is Drixoral®, the 12-hour cold remedy, from Schering Corporation.

Rebuilding year for thinclads

It's a rebuilding year for Craig Weaver and the Cass City High School cross country teams.

The Hawks have yet to win and there are many underclassmen on the squad. Saturday, the boys and girls competed in the Akron-Fairgrove Invitational. The boys finished fourth behind USA, first; Mayville, second; Michigan Lutheran Seminary, third. Harbor Beach was fifth.

The girls did not have enough runners to field a team.

Kurt Bliss was the leading Hawk runner. He finished 10 and received a medal. Others finished in the following order: Jason Smith, 17; Mike Jones, 20; Paul Asher, 21; Todd Potrykus, 24; Brad Bishop, 25, and Clayton Hobart, 27.

In the Junior Varsity race Darryl Wood was 18th and Charlie Hall, 28.

Among the girls, Katy Scollon was 11th, Ann Leslie, 43, and Laura Stine, 45.

TBA MEET

In the Thumb B meet Tuesday at Laker High, Cass City was fourth. The teams finished in the following order: Caro, Marlette, Vassar, Cass City, Lakers.

Jason Smith was the best Hawk runner with a 20th place finish. Others were: Bliss, 21; Asher, 22; Jones, 24; Hobart, 26, and Potrykus.

The girls did not field a complete team.

Best Hawk runners were: Scollon, 14; Leslie, 18; Stine, 21.

New books at the library

THE IMMIGRANT'S DAUGHTER by Howard Fast (fiction). This is the fifth and final volume of the Lavette saga. Barbara Lavette is campaigning for congresswoman from San Francisco's 48th district. Although Barbara - at 60 still in all ways breathtaking - loses, she is propositioned (and betrayed) by her Republican opponent, courted by her ex-husband, a newspaper publisher who sends her on assignment to El Salvador, and is up to her neck in ban-the-bomb plans.

TOO MUCH TOO SOON by Jacqueline Briskin (fiction). Three beautiful, well-brought-up, British sisters - Honora, Crystal and Jocelyn - come to live in San Francisco with their rich Uncle Gideon. Their encounters with love, money and power unfold over some 30 years and several continents. One man, Curt Ivory, Uncle Gideon's handsome, opportunistic protege, is destined to claim the hearts of all three, but only one sister will win him - and lose the things she holds most dear.

AMELIA EARHART: THE FINAL STORY by Vincent Loomis (non-fiction). On July 2, 1937, Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, disappeared over the Pacific while on a round-the-world flight. One of the great mysteries in aviation history, the fate of the two has prompted speculation for five decades. The author convincingly argues that the fliers went far off course, some 500 miles, and had to ditch their plane in the Marshall Islands, then under control of Japan. The two were taken to a prison on Saipan, where Noonan was executed and Earhart died of dysentery. The author claims that Earhart was not a good pilot, that Noonan was an alcoholic, that the two did not carry the proper equipment to insure radio contact and were, in any case, quite ignorant of radio technology. Also included are eyewitness reports from natives of the Marshalls.

STUDENTS AT THE OWEN-GAGE high school selected Marsha Lopez as their 1985 Homecoming Queen. During the half-time festivities Marsha was escorted by her father Paul Lopez.

Bulldogs bow to Caseville 27-6 in homecoming clash

If the Owen-Gage Bulldogs would have played with the same intensity in the first half that they exhibited in the second half, the outcome of their game against Caseville might have been different. But a football game has four quarters, and Owen-Gage let Caseville dominate play for the first 24 minutes, robbing them of a homecoming game victory by a 27-6 score.

Coach Arnie Besonen said all week long he coached the Bulldogs they had to beat them on the line. They had to be quicker than the Eagles, but Owen-Gage didn't carry through with Besonen's plans. "I think their size intimidated us," Besonen said. "Whatever possessed them to wait I don't know."

The Bulldogs waited too long, giving up 20 unanswered points in the first half. During the second half, after a "fire up" halftime talk from Besonen the Bulldogs finally stopped the Eagle scoring machine, keeping Caseville out of the end zone until the final seconds of the game. "We should have played like that all night," Besonen said about the Bulldogs' play during the last half.

After facing two of the toughest teams in the league, Deckerville and Caseville, the Bulldogs should be able to get their confidence back Friday night when they travel to Carsonville-Port Sanilac. C-PS has lost both league games, the first to Harbor Beach 14-7, and Friday night to Kingston 27-0.

Besonen said he hasn't had a scouting report on C-PS, and they have a new head coach, Daryl Walker, further adding to the problem.

"I have no idea what they are going to run," Besonen said about trying to prepare the Bulldogs for the game. "One thing's for sure, they (the Bulldog players) are going to get tired of blocking, blocking, blocking." Besonen indicated practices would be back to the basics of football this week. Against Caseville the Bulldogs quickly fell behind when the Eagles marched 71 yards to score on their first possession of the game. In less than five minutes the Eagles struck again, this time on a 33-yard run from Greg Langley. Langley punched over one more Eagle touchdown before the first half ended.

In the third period the Bulldogs kept the Eagles in check, and managed to score in the fourth quarter on a 32-yard pass from quarterback Stu Stirrett to Ron Susalla.

The Eagles punched over Steve Root led the their final touchdown in the waning seconds of the game on a 10-yard run by Ray Johnson.

Ron Susalla led the Bulldog offense with six carries for 32 yards. The Bulldogs gained 141 yards on the ground. Stirrett hit on 10 of 24 passes for 82 yards. He had three passes picked off by Eagle defenders.

The Bulldog defensive surge with nine tackles.

Bulldogs drop two games last week

The Owen-Gage girls' basketball team remains winless after their fourth game of the season, dropping two games last week.

In a Tuesday night loss to Akron-Fairgrove the Bulldogs were never in the game, giving up 35 points in the first period to the Vikings. The final score of the game was Owen-Gage 27, Akron-Fairgrove 70.

The Bulldogs' top scorer was Debbie Englehardt with seven points.

Coach Cathy Kropewnicki said Thursday's loss to Carsonville-Port Sanilac was a "real tear jerker," for the Bulldogs who led throughout much of the game. Going into the final period the Bulldogs were on top 29-26, but gave up 21 points to C-PS in the final quarter.

Kropewnicki said they could have easily won if the Bulldogs would have been more successful from the free throw line. The Bulldogs sank 9 of 33 charity shots. Owen-Gage was led by Suzie Salcido's 17-point effort.

The Bulldogs will play at North Huron Tuesday night, and host Port Hope Sept. 26.

SCAMPERING BEHIND a block by Dave Laurie, Ron Susalla turns it on for a short gain against Caseville Friday night. Susalla carried six times for 85 yards, and caught a 32-yard pass for Owen-Gage's only score in their 27-6 homecoming game loss.

Gifted student meeting slated

An informational meeting to discuss the needs and concern that parents and educators might have in the area of gifted and talented education is planned at the Tuscola Area Skill Center at 7 p.m. Sept. 30.

Topics covered at the meeting will include a general overview of county activities, information which will help parents recognize their own child's talent area, and an opportunity to meet with your local school coordinator for a question and answer period.

This meeting is planned by a county-wide parent steering committee formed as a result of each local school's planning activities last year. The committee stresses that all parents are welcome. If you are curious about how planning for gifted and talented education might change your school, or if you have wondered how you can tell whether or not your child might be an able learner, highly creative, or have special abilities in a talent area, plan on attending the meeting. According to Trix Harbin, Gifted and Talented Program Supervisor at Tuscola Intermediate School District, often up to 50 percent of all children who should be identified as gifted and talented, are not.

Jacobs tops Barrow Show

The 1985 Thumb Barrow Show and 2nd Annual Feeder Pig Derby were held Sept. 7 at the Michigan Livestock Exchange in Cass City. There were 15 producers entering hogs in the barrow show and 24 producers entered hogs in the pig derby.

Feeder pigs, ranging in weight from 40 to 77 pounds were weighed in May 24. These pigs were fed for 105 days on the same diet in the same facility. The rate of gain contest for the feeder pigs was won by a barrow entered by Norm Jacobs of Applegate, which gained 1.82 pounds per day. The second place winner gained 1.81 pounds per day and was entered by Thumb Swine of Bay Port.

The grand champion in the pig derby was entered by Willard Smith of Snover. The reserve champion was entered by Wayne Miller of Pigeon.

Grand champion light weight, 210-220 pounds was entered by Thumb Swine of Bay Port. Reserve champion light weight, was entered by John Chaves of Washington. Grand champion medium weight, 225-235 pounds, was entered by Linda Martz of Mayville. Reserve champion medium weight was entered by Joe Haubert of Portland. Grand champion heavy weight, 240-250 pounds, was owned by Mark Palmreuter of Vassar. Reserve champion heavy weight was entered by Willard Petzold of Millington. Grand champion truckload of hogs was entered by Mark Palmreuter of Vassar. Reserve champion truckload was owned by Wendall Maust of Pigeon.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

"Aren't you afraid, going to South Africa?" several friends asked us before our recent trip.

I had been there before, and had no qualms, even though the natives are a little more restless this year.

When my wife and I came back, our friends were amazed we hadn't been harmed.

We were puzzled. We didn't see any disturbances. We walked streets of downtown Johannesburg, Durban and Cape Town at night. We went to the theater in the heart of the city in each case, caught a cab and came back in the hotel without incident.

We toured the notorious area of Johannesburg called Soweto, where a million blacks live, and that's a place I wouldn't want to be at night. Mostly, this is where the fighting and the killings go on — blacks against blacks. Policemen are black, too. The situation is pretty bad.

I am not sure it's worse than Liberty City in Miami, or great sections of the inner city of Detroit. But for darned sure, it does get more publicity.

While the world carries on about apartheid, there might be just a few things to say to soften the tirades.

There has been progress in ridding the country of discrimination, just as the United States has made progress from the days that blacks had to be off the beach areas in south Florida at sundown. South Africa now permits both blacks and whites to use many of the ocean beaches. The world has not fallen apart, no more than it did when Miami a generation ago stopped herding all the blacks onto a special beach for them on Key Biscayne.

Six years ago when I was there, liquor stores had separate counters for the black trade. Post offices had separate windows. And there were separate public toilets, just as all the South in America had separate toilets for the blacks until 25 years ago. Now these silly customs have ended.

Now there are blacks in business, there are hundreds of blacks driving cabs, working in hotels, carrying brief cases on their way to offices downtown. Bishop Tutu's house on Millionaire's Row was pointed out to us. The school system has a ways to go. Bonnie Davidson, a former librarian, of Cape Town, grew up in Rhodesia and South Africa. Now she finds a job as a courier (driver and guide for tourists) is more fun.

"The difference in spending on white schools and black schools is too much," she said. "It's like five to one. It ought to be much closer to equal."

While we were driving around the Cape area we noticed several housing developments, more or less equal in appearance to say, Leisuresville. We asked what they were.

"For the blacks," said Bonnie.

They were compact, substantial, masonry houses. The yards were neat — in fact a darned sight neater than many I recalled in South Florida, of either black or white neighborhoods.

At the same time, Bonnie decried the forced relocation of many black families in the Cape Town area.

"It's very silly," she sputtered. "No reason to uproot people who are living near where they work, near relatives and friends, and make them go to live somewhere else, just because the bureaucracy thinks it will be more efficient."

The government later backed down on that. It was a dumb idea in the first place.

On the plus side is the start this year of seats in Parliament being given to South Africans whose origin was India, or the Arabic nations, and mixed races and who are classified as "coloured."

Blacks are still not represented in Parliament. But at least a step has been taken in that direction.

Foreign firms in South Africa generally abide by the "Sullivan Principles" of equal pay for equal work.

The largest winery in South Africa — and indeed the fifth largest in the world — with a payroll of 2,000 advertises proudly that the pay is based on the job, and not the color of a man's skin.

We spent a delightful evening with the editor of the Financial Mail, an excellent business magazine, better than any in America. Steve Mulholland was born in South Africa, came to America on a swimming scholarship at Southern Methodist University in Houston, and then worked for Merrill Lynch over here for several years.

He's my idea of a journalist — fair, perceptive and intelligent, loyal to his country, but still not blind to its faults. And withal, a steady sort who keeps calm in a tumultuous arena.

Steve sees a lot of things that ought to be changed. Housing, for instance.

"Practically all the blacks live in rented houses around here. The rents are cheap, but the government insists on owning the houses. Like most rental property, the places are not well-kept."

"Why not just give the houses to these people? What does the government get now? — $15 a month in rent. Let the people own their homes, pay a little tax on them, and you'd see them kept up better."

When we were there Steve predicted that "any day now" the law forbidding mixed marriages would be repealed. "Why not?" he asked. "You can't enforce it anyway."

He was right. The law was repealed that same month.

The government of South Africa is controlled by the Africans, or Dutch, majority. With that ancestry, you can't expect change to come quickly. I know. I have some Dutch forebears.

We didn't meet any South African whites who felt that the blacks were capable of running the country. With blacks making up three-fourths of the population, giving them the vote would amount to turning over the government to them.

The whites point out that when they first came to South Africa, there were no settled tribes of blacks. The Hottentots were the most numerous, but they were of Arabic origin, and they are long since gone.

The whites developed the country with their capital and know-how, until it outshines every nation in Africa. Literacy is the highest of any of the four dozen countries on the continent. Per capita income is exceeded only by perhaps oil-rich Nigeria and Libya.

Condemn the system as you may, but here's a telling argument:

A million black immigrants a year from other African countries move to South Africa because there the living is better.

Novesta board to address Deford water problems are full of sand," said Ron Phillips, 5931 Main St., Deford. He explained most of the town has sewers that would be capable of taking excess rain water away, but because the tiles are full of sand, or are broken, they are useless.

Tuscola County Drain Commissioner Stanley Henry said his records show some of the storm sewers were installed in the early 1900's, and they are no longer functioning. If the sewers were correctly working, they would carry excess water to ditches located west and north of town.

Duane and Mary Jane Warner have lived in their Deford home since 1963. This spring's snow melt off was the worst she has ever seen.

"We couldn't have gotten out of our yard without boots on," she said. She explained when their house was built, the soil was built up around the structure, but between the house and the road, the water got deep this spring.

The Warners have a furnace in the basement. To keep the basement dry, a sump pump is needed. "If it weren't for that (sump pump) we would be flooded out," she said. Mrs. Warner added that because the storm sewers are plugged, water removed from her basement by the sump pump lies in the yard, and eventually comes back into the basement.

"The water's not getting away, we feel it (storm sewer) is just plugged up," Mrs. Warner said.

The problem came to a head last week at a special Thursday night meeting with the Novesta Township board.

Township Clerk Nurse Kloc said 28 persons attended the meeting to voice their opinion on the passage of a resolution for a drainage project in Deford.

No decision was reached because only three of the five board members were able to attend the meeting. The issue is expected to be decided at the regular board meeting Oct. 7.

"It has to be done. We realize that," Kloc said, about the storm sewer work in Deford. "We will take care of it at the next meeting."

Police sketch of robber.

Robbers hold up Caro couple

Thursday at about 8:30 p.m. They then produced the weapons, and ransacked the residence. A check is still being made to determine if anything else was taken.

Police feel the two bandits may have also robbed a storage shed at the Bernthal Gravel pit, on Hunt Road in Fremont Township. A 22-caliber rifle was taken from the shed sometime Wednesday evening.

Monday, troopers were checking the Piske vehicle for finger prints.

One of the robbers was described as a white male, 20 to 30 years old. He has light brown hair, a slim build and is 5'8" tall. The other robber is 5'4" tall with dark hair and mustache. He was wearing dark blue pants with a white stripe on the legs. He is estimated to weigh 130 pounds and is in his early 20's.

School finances better than anticipated

A five-minute report from a teacher at each meeting will be continued and recognition for deserving students emphasized.

Investigation for a program for the gifted will be continued. There is a meeting set Oct. 24 at Vassar to update the program for the Tuscola Intermediate District.

Finally, a series of meetings with the teaching staff, bus drivers and administrators will be continued. The format may be changed because board members felt that there was limited dialogue among members and the board in some of the meetings last year.

OTHER BUSINESS

Beth Howard was hired for $16,000 yearly, with no benefits, to be a social worker for the school. Cheryl LaBean, a teacher at Cass City for 11 years, has resigned to accept a position as librarian at Unionville-Sebewaing Area School.

The board hired June Reif, who taught at North Adams and now lives in Reese, to replace her.

Firemen respond to Thursday blaze

The Elkland Township Fire Department responded to a Thursday morning blaze that did an estimated $25,000 in damages to the Floyd Morrish residence, 8020 Grassmere Rd., Cass City.

Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. reported the cause of the fire is unknown, but he suspects it was started by an electrical problem in the wash room of the house. Root said the fire was discovered by Mrs. Morrish when she returned home from work. She awakened her husband and three children who were asleep upstairs. The firemen responded to the alarm at 1:49 a.m. and stayed until 4:30 a.m. Root said when they arrived the fire had spread to the upstairs attic area of the two story house.

The Ugly and Gagetown fire departments assisted. Firemen also responded to a call to the Dennis Wright residence, 4455 West St., Cass City, Wednesday at 2:27 a.m. to investigate a possible fire. When the firemen arrived they found Wright asleep, and contents in a pot he left cooking on the kitchen stove had begun smoldering, filling the house with smoke.

An upstairs neighbor smelled the smoke, and called the firemen. No damages were reported.

Outdoor furniture will last longer with proper care

Outdoor furniture will look better and last longer with proper care. This involves cleaning with products that will protect it and then storing it under cover in the winter, states Betty Pattullo, Extension Home Economist.

The best cleaning products are often not the household cleaners you would buy in the grocery store, but rather auto care products.

"Auto care products are designed to be durable under outdoor conditions," says Anne Fields, Extension resource management specialist at Michigan State University. "In the auto supply store or the automotive section of a supermarket or discount store, you can't find products designed to clean and protect painted metal, aluminum, vinyl and other materials commonly found on automobiles and outdoor furniture."

Painted metal should be washed with warm water and a heavy duty liquid detergent. After rinsing and drying, apply a couple of coats of automobile wax. Preventing chipping of the paint is very important in preventing rust. Touch up chips or scrapes after a thorough cleaning to remove loose paint, dirt and grease. Apply a metal primer or rust-retardant paint as the first coat and a matching enamel or other suitable paint over that. Then apply a protective wax finish.

Aluminum won't rust, but it will discolor and develop a rough or pitted surface as it oxidizes. If aluminum is merely discolored, clean it with soap and water to which you've added some mild household acid, such as lemon juice, vinegar or cream of tartar. Applying an alkaline product to aluminum will cause it to darken. Polish a pitted surface with a soap-filled steel woolpad, rinse and dry. Be sure all the steel wool is removed — any that remains will rust and stain the aluminum. A variety of special cleaners for the aluminum surfaces of boats and cars may help clean extremely dirty or weathered aluminum. Read labels and follow directions. After the surfaces are clean, apply a coat of auto wax to prevent further oxidation and discoloration.

Wood furniture for outdoor use is generally made of redwood, which is quite weather resistant. Even so, it should be protected by a preservative or sealer, applied either by the manufacturer or the buyer. Once redwood is properly sealed, it can quickly be washed with soapy water and then rinsed and allowed to dry. Other woods should not be allowed to sit outside where they will be exposed to rain, dampness and direct sunlight. The wood alternately swell with water and then shrink as it dries. The wood will soon weather and split, and glued joints will come apart.

Clean plastic furniture with a solution of hand dish washing detergent, rinse and wipe dry to prevent water spots. Avoid using strong laundry detergents or other alkaline cleaners, and scouring powders, which will scratch the surface. The special cleaners sold for vinyl surfaces in autos can also be used on some plastic furniture. All plastics are not the same, however, so read the labels on products before you buy or use them. To keep plastic surfaces clean, apply a vinyl protective finish that will prevent soil from sticking to them.

Vinyl cleaner and vinyl protective finish also help keep furniture made from PVC pipe looking new. Cleaning and protecting outdoor furniture when you set it out in the spring, again in midsummer and in the fall before you store it will increase its useful life and keep it looking good. The most important part of care and maintenance, however, is storing your furniture indoors for the winter. This prevents much unnecessary weather damage to materials and finishes.

The reason for the dedication

By Lambert Althaver
Walbro president

Sept. 26, 27 and 28, we have planned a program to dedicate the new Cass City facilities and reorganized Caro facilities, conduct a seminar for our parts suppliers under the heading of Vendor Appreciation Day and hold an open house for Walbro employees, their families and the general public.

For the dedication ceremony, to be held at 12:30 p.m. on Sept. 26, we have invited several hundred distinguished guests including government leaders, customers, vendors, the financial community and stockholders. We are also inviting all Cass City and Caro employees to the dedication and making a special effort to bring them to the headquarters building in time to hear the remarks. Following the dedication ceremony, tours will be provided for our invited guests followed by a reception and dinner.

Vendor Appreciation Day will provide an opportunity to thank our parts suppliers for their support over the years and for our purchasing, quality assurance and production personnel to make a formal presentation relating Walbro's strategies and goals. Specifically, we will be talking about vendor surveys, certification and quality ratings, as well as the importance of cost containment, statistical process control and global competition.

The Open House, on Saturday in Cass City and Caro, offers the opportunity to show our families, friends and citizens of the local communities, the facilities of which we are deservedly proud. There will be balloons and pencils for the children and coffee, pop and cookies for everyone. A chainsaw demonstration will take place all day in which a professional will carve an eagle out of a log five feet tall and 36 inches in diameter.

It is appropriate that our ceremony is entitled "a dedication" and it is doubly meaningful that not only will we dedicate the building, but that we dedicate our Walbro team, world-wide, to continue the level of service and support that has earned us "our place in the sun."

We are dedicated to provide job security, opportunity and challenging work with a good working environment for employees. We are dedicated to provide career opportunities to employees and general economic growth to the community.

We are dedicated to provide innovative products of superior quality at competitive prices with high levels of customer service. We are dedicated to grow and expand operations in a systematic, well planned way.

We are dedicated to our vendors, to seek their support in the manufacture of key components for the products we devise, to pay them a fair price, to work with them to produce quality parts and to give them reasonable lead times and strong communication.

We are dedicated to be a welcome neighbor and citizen in our communities and to enhance the quality of life and encourage employees' participation in community activities.

We are dedicated to our stockholders, many of whom have been with us for more than thirty years, to give them a fair return on their investment, to nurture their company and grow it into a larger and more secure organization so that they may look forward to the future with confidence.

Above all, we are dedicated to the principles of good business, to ethics, to honesty, to fairness and to continue to work together to build a growing, prosperous and strong future for Walbro Corporation.

More is coming

New manufacturing building another step in Walbro progress

Visitors from the Thumb, from Michigan and from outstate could not be blamed if they missed the most significant feature of the three-day dedication of Walbro Corporation Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 26-28.

All the shiny new hardware, the beautiful new building and the new design heating and cooling system will justifiably draw the oohs and ahs of everyone. But the most significant feature is that the major investment will reduce manufacturing costs.

All of the construction and the new equipment that has cost $5.5 million since the first addition to the engineering building started two years ago has been spent with one goal in mind.

It's to have a more efficient facility that meets the needs of Walbro customers and protects the jobs of Walbro people, Lambert

Althaver, president and chief executive officer, said when discussing the expansion.

The new facility and a new quality control procedure have helped Walbro towards its goal of zero defects manufacturing.

While the dedication officially starts Thursday, the most important day for area folks and Walbro workers will be Saturday.

That's the day set aside for visits for the people most concerned with Walbro's continued growth.

Tours will be conducted from 9 to 4 p.m. at both the Cass City and the Caro plants.

The opening day of the dedication will be used to acquaint the out-of-area financial community about Walbro and to entertain Walbro customers.

Invited have been the top political figures in the State. W.E. Walpole, chairman of the board, and Lambert Althaver will speak. Friday, vendors of the company have been invited. Up to 150 are expected.

No matter which day visitors attend they will learn about the six business principles to which Walbro is dedicated.

Plans call for these basic business tenets to be printed on flags for all to see.

They are quality, innovation, community, productivity, employees and customer service.

Persons taking the conducted tours will find large areas of unused space. Part of this space will be available for future growth and the remainder for manufacturing lines which are still being consolidated from other areas.

The addition to Walbro in Cass City started when the engineering building was expanded from 7,000 to 20,000 feet in August 1983.

Next came the expansion of the corporate offices from 5,000 to 15,000 square feet.

The completion of the manufacturing facility concludes the $5.5 million phase one expansion.

This expansion gives Walbro 55,000 square feet on the main floor and 15,000 on the mezzanine.

Half the mezzanine is available for office space and the remainder for employee services.

There has been expansion in the Automobile Products Group of Walbro that is located in Caro. There the research and development area has been expanded by more than 50 percent.

Started last week was an addition to the tool room in the plant that is located on Main Street.

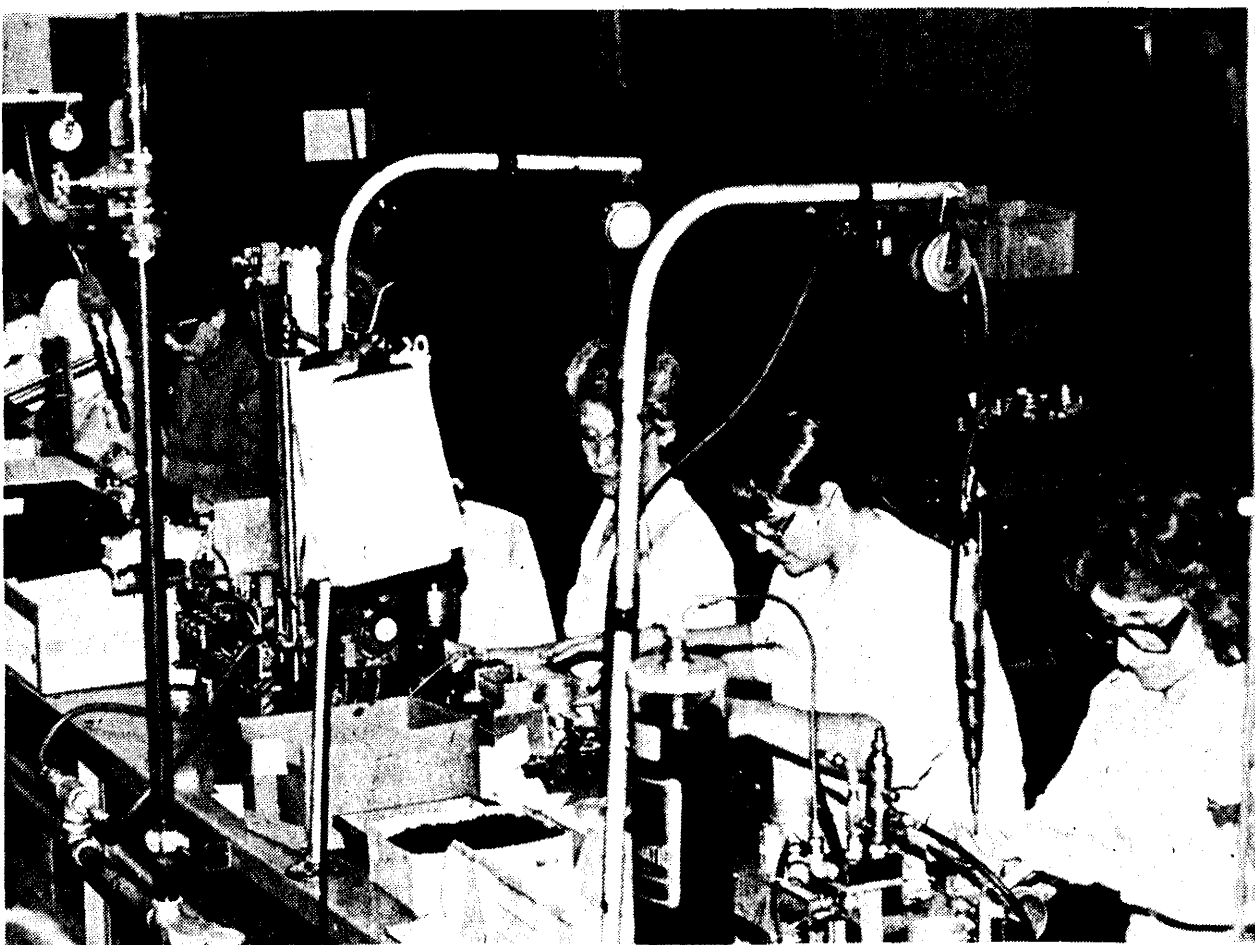

This plant will be enlarged by about 35 percent.

Dedication Ceremonies

ONE OF THE MAJOR new job producing contracts at Walbro is producing throttle bodies for the automotive industry. Production is expected to reach 2,600 daily by October 1 and 3,500 when in full production.

THIS AL-CHROME MACHINE is so new that production standards are yet to be determined. Larry Carpenter says that it coats carburetors in about 6 to 8 minutes. Baskets of carburetors are placed on a programmable hoist which dumps them into the proper vat for coating. The machine can clean coat and yellow coat aluminum and yellow coat zinc.

Solons recognize Walbro

In a concurrent resolution in the house and senate, Walbro Corporation was recently recognized for its contribution to the State of Michigan.

In its entirety this is the resolution:

Whereas, It is with deep appreciation for the strong positive impact this exemplary concern has had on many Michigan lives over the course of its history that we are proud to recognize the Walbro Corporation and honor the men and women whose dedication and vision have made possible its success. In addition to acknowledging its excellence in the manufacture of fuel system components for small engines and the automotive industry, we wish to salute the exemplary atmosphere of cooperation which exists throughout the corporation; and

Whereas, Headquartered in Cass City, the Walbro Corporation is a major figure in its field known for its quality engineering, workmanship, and labor-management relations. In addition to its four locations in Michigan, it operates branches in Mexico, Japan, and Singapore and a facility in West Germany. Of its total of approximately 1,300 employees worldwide, 700 are in Michigan. The corporation's loyalty to this state has helped stabilize the economy, and the major plant expansion nearing completion in Cass City will enable the company to create more jobs and prepare for the future, especially in the area of automotive fuel injection system components; and

Whereas, A key to the Walbro story is the communication which exists between all elements of the company. At a time when American industry is seeking to incorporate quality circles and increase participation on the part of employees, the Walbro Corporation is a model of an enlightened approach which is always seeking to increase the input from the men and women who make the company what it is. We salute them on their achievements and wish them continued success; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That tribute be hereby accorded to honor the Walbro Corporation in recognition of its importance to Michigan's economic well-being and its leadership in many areas.

Best of Luck

Walbro Corporation

on the Dedication of your most recent expansion.

I'm pleased to be of service in moving the necessary equipment at the Walbro plant.

New department keyed to employee rehabilitation

Three of the six business principles that Walbro is dedicated to are community, employees and innovation.

When the company recently hired Martin Daniel, athletic trainer certified, it reflected these principles. Daniel will head Walbro's new rehabilitation and service center.

Equipment for the new center is arriving daily and will be housed in a special room that previously housed the employee cafeteria.

There's a lot of this equipment in the 1,000 square-foot space to house. Nine pieces of it are designed to aid employees to recover from illnesses sooner. Here is what is available:

- Two Nautilus machines. One for working on abdominal muscles and the other on low back muscles.

- Five Eagle machines. The leg extension machine is used for thighs. The leg curl machine for hamstring muscles. There is a machine for the wrist and forearm treatment and an arm extension machine for working the upper back and arm muscles. Finally there is the middle neck machine for increasing mobility of the neck.

- In addition, there are two pieces of Cybex-Eagle machines. The UBE machine is used for exercise of the upper body including the shoulder to the elbow and the Fitron bike is used for exercise for the lower body.

Both are designed to increase cardio-vascular functions.

- Also available are three different types of heat treatment.

The hydrocollator provides penetration heat treatment, as does the whirlpool. If a deeper heat penetration is needed there is an ultra sound machine that can provide heat right to the bone if necessary.

Another method of heat treatment is the paraffin bath which also increases mobility because the heat penetrates beneath the skin surface.

There's a dual purpose to the money, time and effort expended in this new program. First, it improves the quality of work life for the employees, Don Tonti, Director of Human Resources, said.

Second, it makes good business sense. Studies have shown that persons return to work on an average of one-third sooner after surgery because of rehabilitation programs.

That reduces the cost of insurance for time off the job. In many cases we can ease the pain during the recovery, too, Daniel said.

Both Daniel and Tonti emphasized that any persons entering the rehabilitation program must have an order from the doctor.

We work with the doctor and follow his orders, Daniel said.

Although Daniel's primary duty will be rehabilitation, he will wear two hats. A half of the new mezzanine floor will be used for aerobics and physical fitness. Workers will be able to use the area in off work hours for supervised programs.

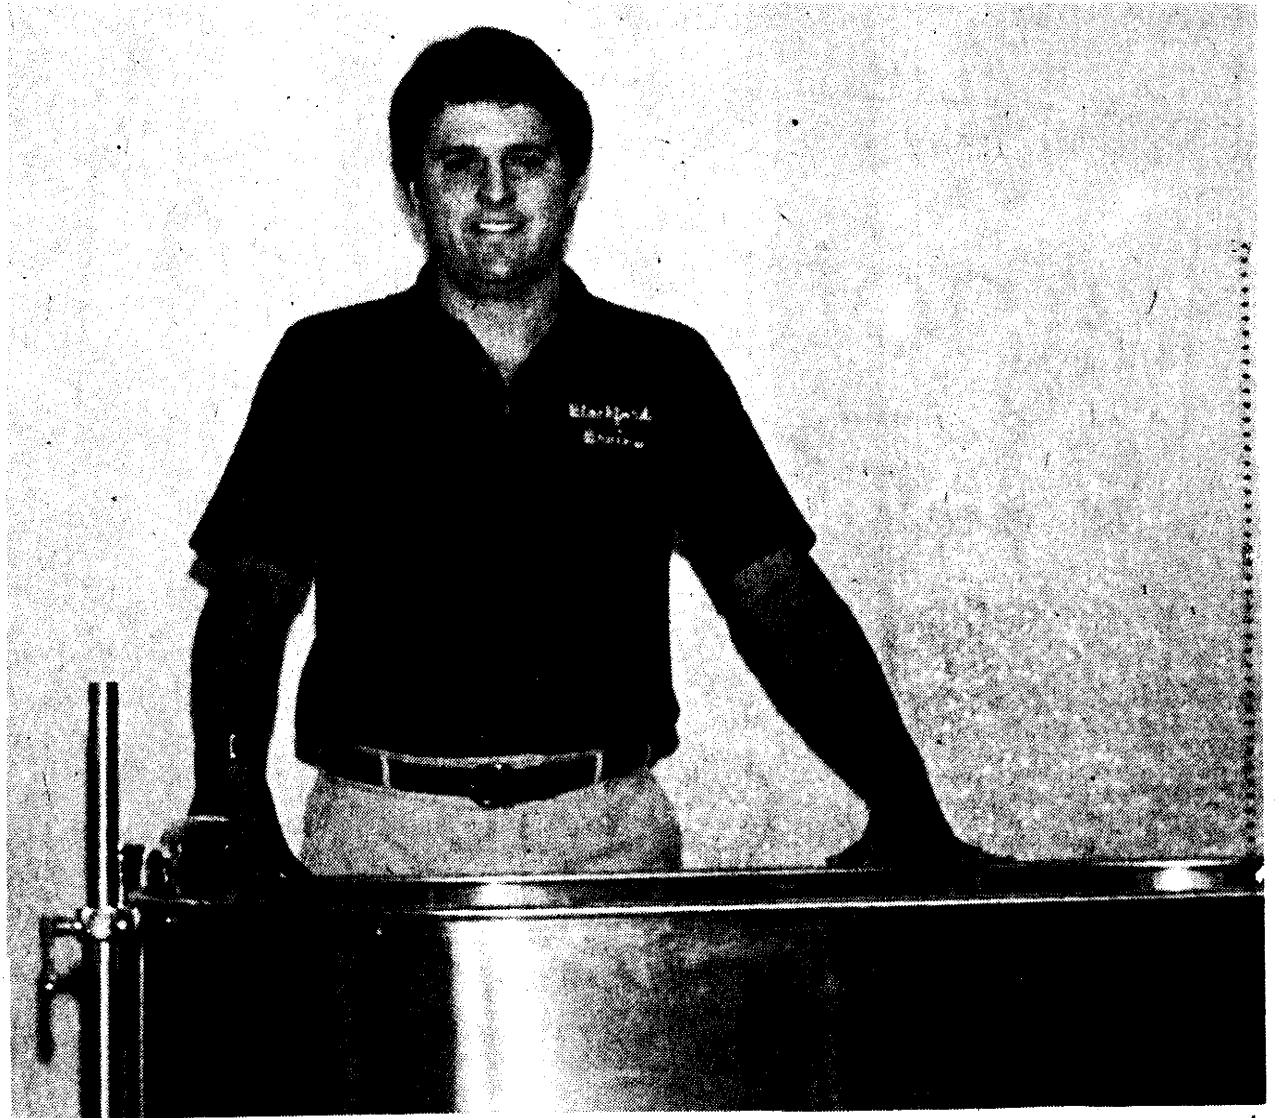

Employees will have access to prevention information in nutrition, alcohol and drug abuse. Stop smoking programs will be available.

Walbro's continuing program of dedication to the community is evident under the new program, too.

Daniel will be available to schools in the area to treat bruised and broken bones or similar problems when authorized to do so by a physician.

The dedication to innovation is apparent in statistics. The program is new. There are only four other companies offering this type of program. All are large multi-national concerns. Walbro is the first among companies anywhere near its size to start a program of this type, Tonti said.

Industrial rehabilitation is regarded as the wave of the future, according to Tonti. We receive many, many applications from persons wanting to break into this field, some as far away as Africa, he concluded.

MARTY DANIEL stands behind a new whirlpool, one of the many new machines used in the new rehabilitation and fitness program at Walbro.

Athletic trainer, certified

Meet Marty Daniel

Marty Daniel, who is qualified as an athletic trainer, certified (ATC) envisions that his new job will start in the morning and many days continue into the evening hours.

What the new director of rehabilitation and physical fitness hopes to do is help Walbro employees and others to faster injury recovery and direct a physical fitness program in the evenings.

He is well qualified to do both. He earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from Ball State University. He was a member of the student trainer program with over 1,100 clinical hours in Ball State's athletic training rooms.

Before accepting the position at Walbro, he was at Blackford High School, where he taught health education classes.

He also was head athletic trainer, varsity assistant football coach, women's basketball coach and junior varsity baseball coach.

$3 million budget for cost cutting equipment

At Walbro Corporation a total of $3 million has been allocated for new equipment.

Some of the equipment will increase production substantially. Some of it will make the quality of work life better.

New machinery will increase capacity by 30 percent, yet require 30 percent less floor space, President Lambert Althaver said.

A half million dollars has been spent to build a mini sewer plant to treat waste generated in the plant before it gets to the village sewer system.

The impregnation room used for repairing casting is fully automated and can be operated by remote control.

The odor that the process creates is quickly swallowed by the new filtration system. That same system filters hot air created by generators so that it can be used in the new heating system.

It has an incredibly short payback time, Brian Althaver said as he explained the system.

Walbro's new building has been designed to facilitate a "flow through" work system. Parts from vendors come in a door at one end of the plant and continue to machine line and then to assembly without back tracking.

This system is one of the major reasons we have invested in the new building and new equipment, Lambert Althaver said.

Along with the new equipment there is a new control system that keeps quality high and has made zero defect statistical product control (SPC).

A small percentage of parts are examined and charted according to a plus and minus error factor previously ascertained. All Walbro employees have received special training in the system. It has improved quality and reduced costs, Brian Althaver said.

Quality starts at the receiving dock in the plant. Parts are examined with a comparator using the SPC system and must meet the tolerances specified in the contract.

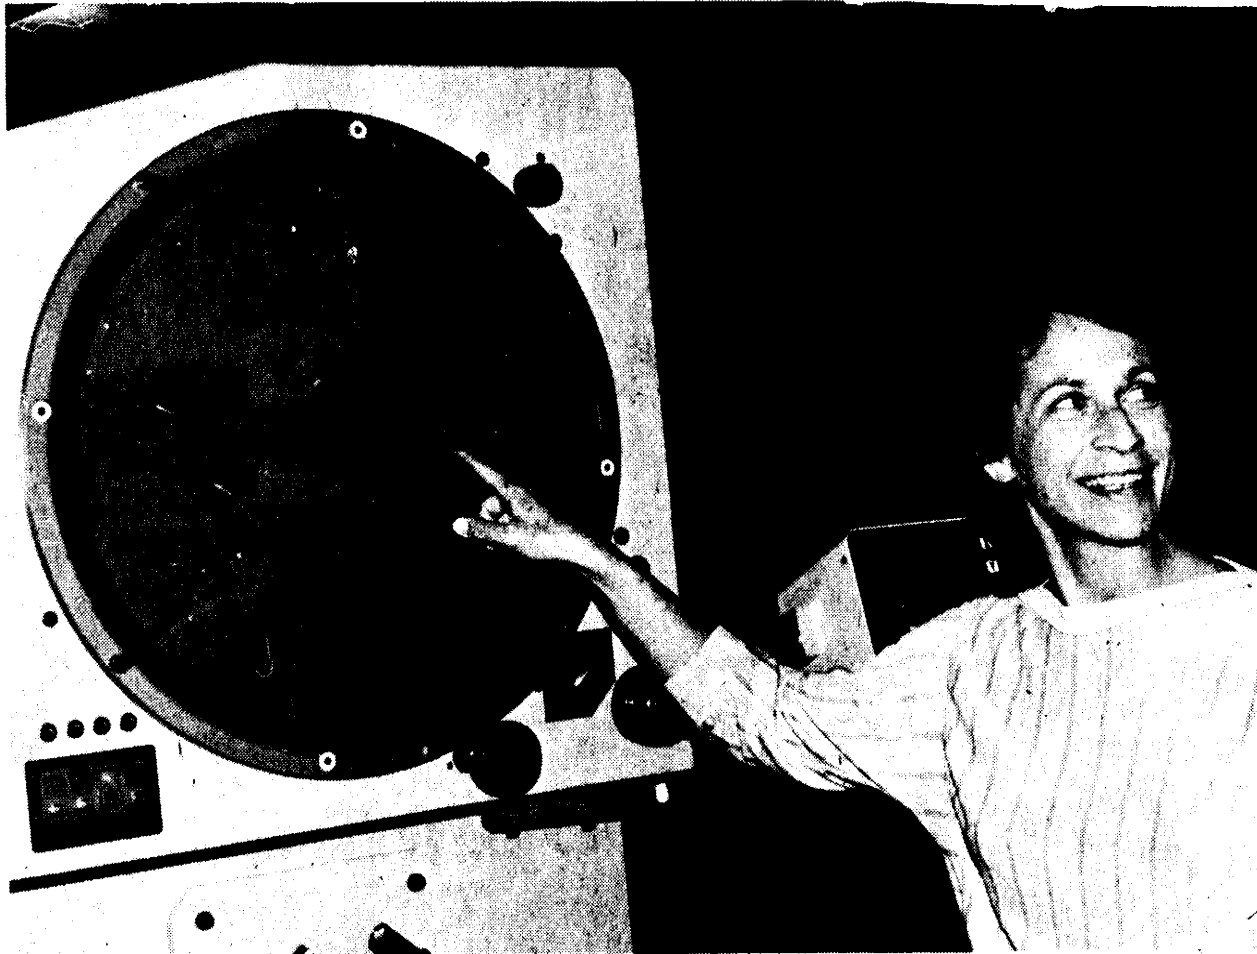

The parts then go to the machine line where automated machines punch the proper holes and prepare the castings for final assembly, after which they flow naturally to the shipping area for distribution to customers.

The new building and the new system enable Walbro to reduce costs because of increased efficiency and reduced inventory.

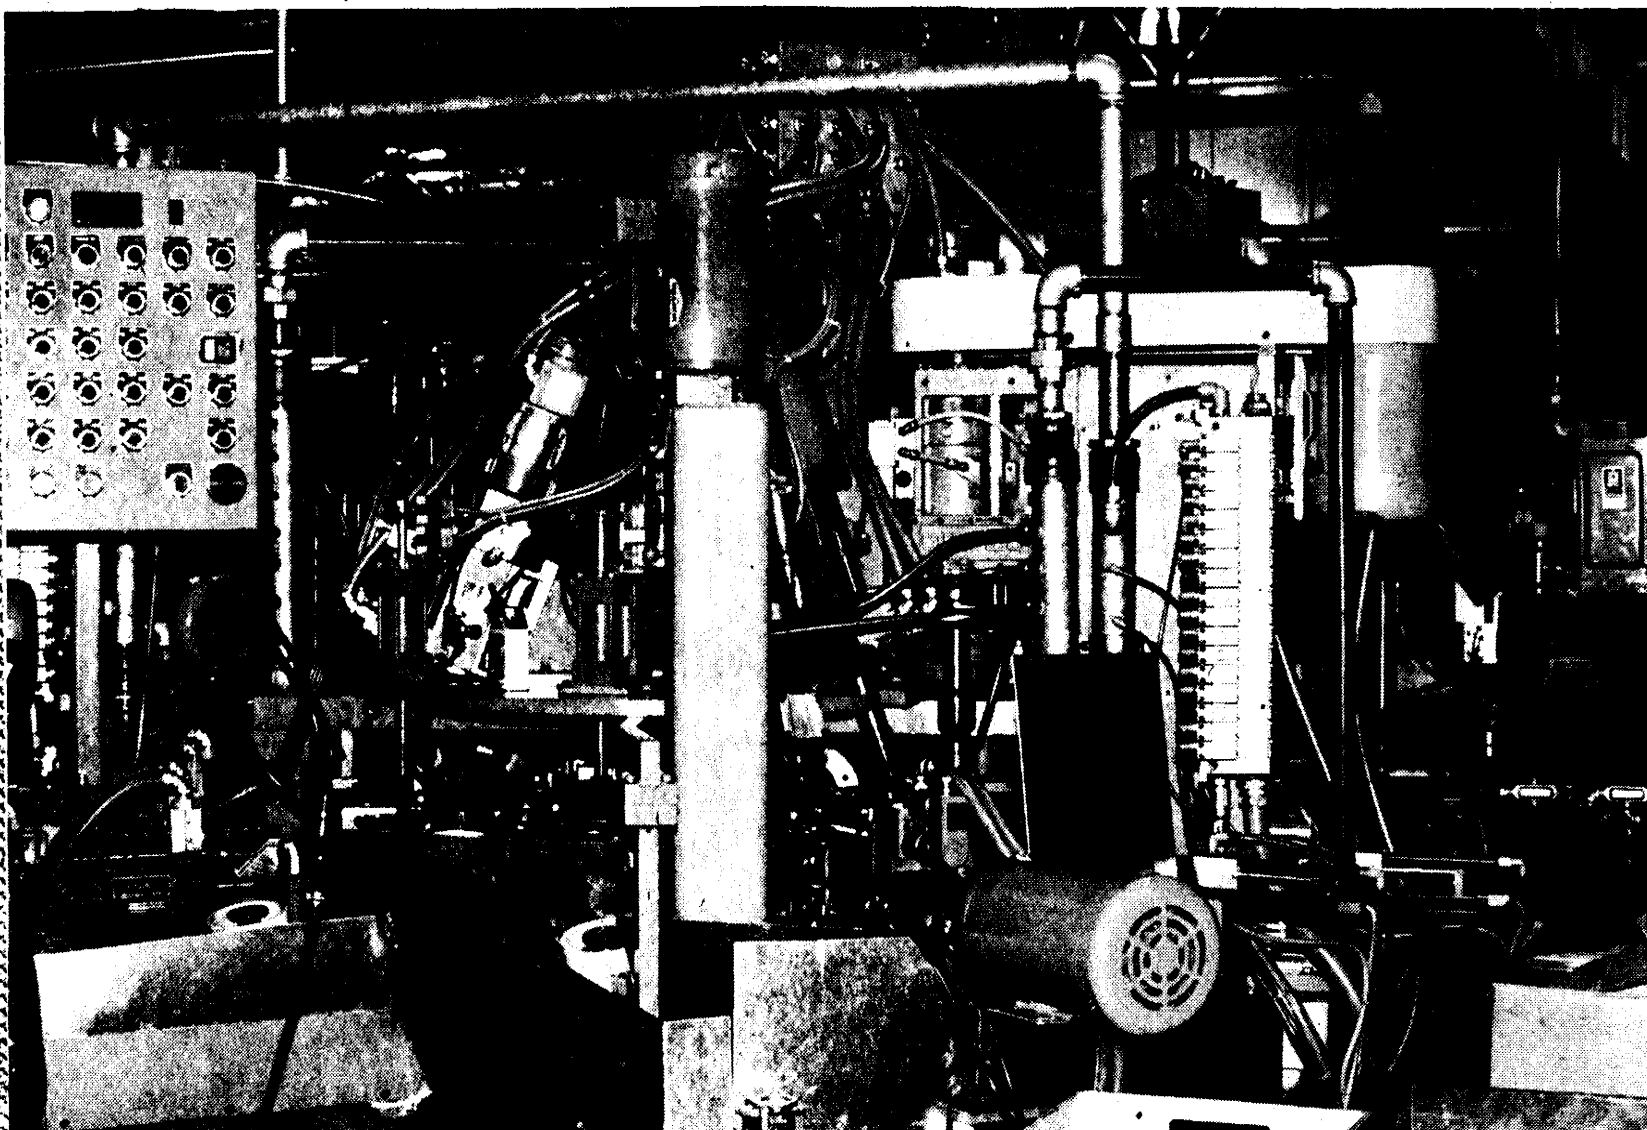

The increased efficiency may be needed by the expansion of work for the automotive industry.

The making of throttle bodies will be increased to 2,600 per day by Oct. 1 and projections are for the production of 3,500 in the near future.

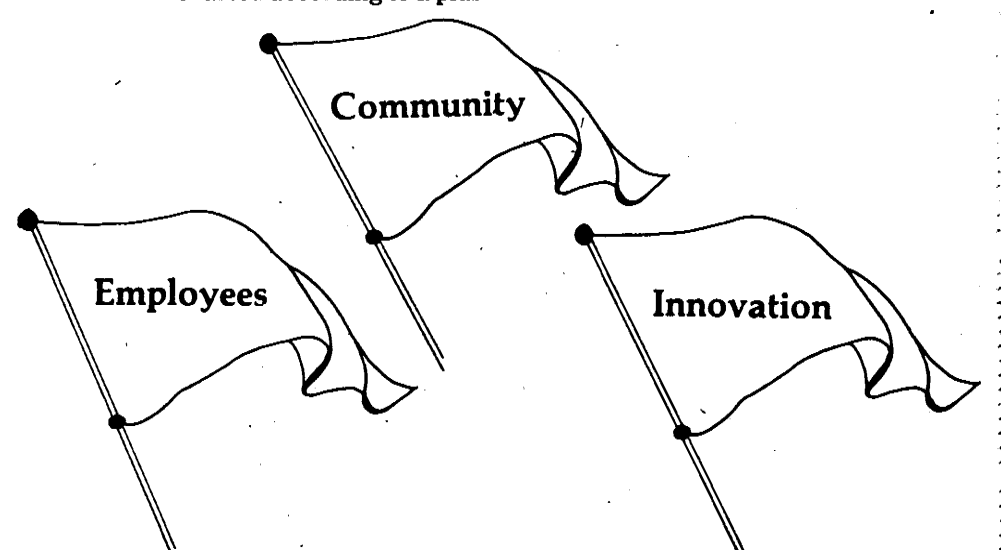

President Lambert Althaver said that the expansion will mean an additional 100 jobs for area residents in the next two years if present plans are followed.

INCOMING PARTS at Walbro are examined under the comparator, one of the myriad new machines at Walbro. Debbie Wright, one of the operators, points to the screen that "reads" the parts to make sure that quality standards are met.

ALL OF THESE myriad switches and parts were custom built at Walbro's plant on Main Street in Cass City. Steadily increasing demand has resulted in an addition to the building that is just starting.
