Cass City doctors join in protest

Most Cass City doctors joined with 200 bus loads of physicians from across Michigan who were to have been in Lansing Tuesday to protest the high cost of malpractice insurance.

To handle emergency cases Dr. H.T. Donahue and Dr. Stanley Wicha were to have been available.

The remainder planned to attend the protest meeting. A look at the cost of insurance for Dr. Sang H. Park, a specialist in obstetrics and gynecology, reveals why doctors agreed to take a day off from busy schedules.

A year ago Dr. Park was charged $7,000 a year for insurance. This year the cost is $20,000. In urban areas the cost can reach $50,000 yearly.

Among the doctors attending the protest were Hoon K. Jeung, Beatriz G. Martin, N.Y. Yun and Richard A. Hall.

The reason for the march to Lansing now is that several bills designed to relieve the financial pain of the doctors have been approved in the GOP controlled senate. The bills face a more rocky road in the house.

The bills put a $250,000 cap on awards for pain and suffering thus preventing huge punitive awards by juries. It also requires claims to be submitted in shorter time periods and mandates a pre-trial review of suits by panels of doctors and hospital administrators to eliminate frivolous suits.

Besides the doctors who are protesting the lawmakers will also be exposed to a counter demonstration by persons who describe themselves as victims of malpractice insurance.

They and their families will be wearing blood-red armbands.

Lawyers were not expected to be involved in the protest. However, the problem from the lawyer viewpoint is incompetence in the medical profession. That's why they say that victims' rights to damages should not be curbed.

Most malpractice cases are handled by lawyers on a contingency basis for the plaintiff for one-third of the cash payments.

Defendants' lawyers are paid by the hour and the cost of defending a case often leads to out-of-court settlements as the cheapest method of settlement.

Seniors angry over high cost of new meal center

While 10 senior citizens from Sanilac County were in Cass City Monday morning trying to convince the Thumb Area Commission on Aging not to open a new Sandusky Senior Center, cooks at the new site were preparing the first meal ever to be served from the kitchen.

The seniors, unhappy about the increased cost of running the new center as compared to keeping the present meal site at the Sandusky High School cafeteria, explained the new site will cost $900 a month to rent. Spokesman Wally Dion, Deckerville, told TACA Director Robert Brown, and Region Seven Area Agency on Aging Executive Director Mohammed Khan that "we as senior citizens are not going to stand for that waste of money."

Dion pointed out that a letter from Khan to Brown stated Region Seven will pay only $500 a month for rent, utilities and other costs of operating a senior citizen meal site. The rest of the money must come from local funding sources. Dion estimated the total cost of operating the center will be about $1,400 a month.

Another spokesman for the group, George Haupt, Sandusky, said the cost of operating the site over the next 10 years, the length of the lease, is expected to cost $250,000 to $500,000. He added the senior citizens were happy to stay at the present site. He explained when asked to vote about keeping the present site, senior citizens voted 26 to 2 to stay at the Sandusky High School cafeteria. School cafeteria employees prepare the meals for the seniors.

"I thought it was a place where votes counted," Haupt said. "But I see it don't mean a thing. You have a place that don't cost anything, and you want to go over here and spend a fortune...It don't even make sense. I can't understand it."

Haupt pointed out that at an Aug. 1 Region Seven meeting in Bay City improvements to the new site were put on hold. "Why wasn't Mr. Brown put on hold?" Haupt questioned Khan. "He kept right on building."

Khan said 90 percent of the renovations had been made at that time. The money was spent to bring the building up to code. After the meeting Brown said the renovation funds, about $19,000, came from a state grant.

Haupt told Khan at the time Brown was told to stop renovations weren't 50 percent completed. "Somebody has misled you."

After the meeting, Brown explained the need for the new meal site is to keep up with a growing demand for senior citizens meals, to centralize Sanilac County services, and to increase the total number of meals served at the Sandusky site.

He explained for the past three years the Sandusky High School meal site has averaged about 16 meals per day, below a state requirement of 25 meals per day at a site. He has received three special waivers of the state requirement, but he will not be able to get another waiver.

The new site will also prepare meals for seniors in Argyle and Marlette. He explained present systems are running into "severe production problems to meet the need in the county." During the 1984 fiscal year 12,000 meals were served in Sanilac County. In 1985, 24,000 meals were served. He projects 27,000 meals will be served in the 1986 fiscal year.

Brown said Sanilac County gives the agency $80,000 a year to help pay for senior citizen services in the county. At a recent meeting, Sanilac County Commissioners stopped payment on $20,000, the last payment for the 1985 fiscal year. The payment has been stopped until the meal site situation has been resolved. Part of the $80,000 is used for matching funds for federal programs.

"The bottom line is we are not asking for more money from the county, but please turn to page 16.

Discover 10% asbestos in Campbell school building

The Cass City School District received a rude jolt this fall, Supt. Donald Crouse told the school board at its regular meeting Monday at the high school, when a representative of the United States Environmental Protection Agency reported that ceilings in Campbell Elementary building contained 10 percent asbestos.

The results of tests taken this summer were entirely unexpected, Crouse explained, because an inspection in January, 1979, was taken by the Tuscola County Health Department.

The report of this inspection indicated that there were no areas either under a roof or in a return air plenum where sprayed-on fibrous insulation was found. The panels in the building were also said to be free of asbestos at that time.

Now the recommendation of the State Department of Public Health is that if there is a significant potential for the materials to be dislodged in the air, the surface be covered to prevent damage to the ceilings and the escape of

At Vassar meeting

200 protest prison site

About 200 residents from the Vassar and Caro areas attended a meeting Monday night at the Vassar auditorium to voice their opinions on the placing of a medium security prison in the Vassar area. A majority of the residents who spoke at the meeting made it clear they did not want a prison in "their back yard."

Joseph Gonzales, policy analyst for the Michigan Department of Corrections, opened the meeting by telling the audience he has received numerous calls and letters from area residents about the possibility of Vassar Township receiving a medium security prison.

"It appears (from the calls and letters) that Vassar has already been chosen for the site," Gonzales said. "That's not true."

He explained the corrections bureau is looking at six sites in the Saginaw Bay area, and they have not decided on a site yet. Gonzales said counties being considered for a possible prison site are Midland, Saginaw, Bay and Tuscola Counties. He added it would probably be two months before any decision would be made.

Gonzales said the state needs to build 10 regional medium security prisons to house the growing number of prisoners. Prisons presently have 1,000 prisoners, more than they can house, and the overcrowding is growing at 230 prisoners a month. A regional security prison is designed to house prisoners from the area, so a prisoner can be eased back into his home area when his sentence is completed. He explained in the past the state counted on large prisons like Jackson to house more than 5,000 prisoners. The philosophy now is to have smaller, regional prisons to house area prisoners.

The prison that will be built someplace in the Saginaw Bay area would accommodate 548 prisoners. The prison is to house 404 medium security prisoners, 96 maximum security prisoners and have a special 48 bed minimum security prison. Medium and maximum security prisoners would be housed inside a facility with two 12-foot tall fences around it. Armed guards would patrol the facility. The minimum security prison would be similar to Camp Tuscola, the new prison in Caro, and would be used to house prisoners who are in a transition period, nearing the end of their sentence.

Gonzales explained it is a myth that once a person is sent to prison the problem is solved. He presented statistics that show in five years the prisoner will be back inside. Gonzales said the old "James Cagney" movies about a prisoner being released and getting an old suit to wear is not the way a prisoner is released today. He explained through a minimum security prison setting the prisoner can be eased back into society.

Gonzales said a prison would be an asset to the community because it provides a yearly payroll of about $6 million. Of the 250 jobs created by a new prison, about 170 would go to local residents within a 30-mile radius of the facility. The starting salary of a corrections worker is $17,000. "Like the mayor of Ionia said...There are no layoffs and it is non-polluting."

"We are not offering something that is going to be destructive or detrimental to your way of life," Gonzales said, before opening the discussion up to the audience.

A Vassar area resident asked Gonzales if residents would have an opportunity to vote on the placing of a prison in the area. Gonzales told the man it was up to the state legislature, but local concerns will be taken into consideration when choosing a possible site.

"Speaking for myself and my family, I don't want a prison here," the Vassar resident said. "We'd like to vote on it, not have it jammed down our throat like the people in Caro had. And furthermore, I think we are going to have it jammed down our throats."

"Why are you picking on Tuscola County?" another person asked. "We already have two facilities and a mental health facility." Gonzales told the person they are still looking at possible sites, and have not made a decision.

Another Vassar resident asked Gonzales how he can "stand there and tell us how great it will be?" He told Gonzales to drive around the minimum security prison in Caro and look at how many houses are for sale that "realtors won't touch."

Gonzales said the state will be building a medium security prison, different from Camp Tuscola, that will not have the escape problems. He added each year about four prisoners escape from medium security prisons. Camp Tuscola has recorded 11 escapes so far this year.

John Engels, a resident of Vassar Township, walked onto the stage and told the audience that Tuscola County Commissioners sent a letter to the Corrections Bureau urging them to build another prison in the Camp Tuscola area or possibly in Vassar. "Do you want a prison in Tuscola County?" Engels asked the audience. "No," came a loud cry from the audience.

Not everyone at the meeting was opposed to the possibility of building a prison. Please turn to page 16.

asbestos fibers in the air.

Asbestos is the subject that tests have shown to be a cancer causing agent and is no longer used in buildings. To place a covering over the affected area is a "major" expense project, Crouse said.

The board must post signs in the schools telling of the asbestos findings.

There is a Federal program to help in distress cases to aid in the repair of schools, but not enough funding is available. Crouse told the board that it would be two or three years before the district would have any chance at funds, if any were ever available to the district at all.

It was suggested that the superintendent check with the school's insurance carrier to see what steps could be taken to solve the problem.

Also tested were Deford and Evergreen schools, principals said, and they were found to be asbestos free.

STUDENT TRIP

The board was informed by Debbie Martin, foreign language teacher, that she plans to take 10 students on a trip to France and Spain during spring vacation.

The board considers the trip not to be an official school function. The teacher will not be released with pay and no fund raising will be allowed on school grounds or on school time. Participation will have no effect on grades.

The official action was taken because the district does not want to assume liability for the students or the chaperones on the trip.

Students indicating they will take the trip agree to pay $800 each. An additional $400 each will be raised between now and spring break to raise the total of $1200 each that is needed.

CO-OP PROGRAM

Wayne Dillon, co-op program director, explained the program to the board. He said that he feels the program is a benefit for all students, regardless of whether they go on to school or not.

He said that 92 students are in the program, serving 50 employees this fall. Sixty-three are seniors, 24 are juniors, four are sophomores and one is a freshman. Students must be 16 years or older to qualify.

Also presenting information to the board was Jerry Cleland, counselor. He reported to the board about programs at North Huron and Laker High Schools that require students to pass Michigan Educational Assessment tests to graduate.

He said that both schools were pleased with the program. Lakers require students to score 75 percent on the test objectives and North Huron, 60 percent now and gradually increasing to 75 percent in future years.

Laker High School authorities said that all but one student passed the test. All but 20 passed the test the first time. Sixteen passed the second time.

The board agreed that putting more emphasis on the test was desirable, but did not want to make it a requirement for graduation.

It's probable that students will be required to Please turn to page 16.

Vassar is doing fine, thank you, when it comes to getting its share of government grants. Wednesday it was announced that a $120,000 Michigan Small Cities grant was approved to help an auto painting company expand. Just two days later on Friday, the U.S. House of Representatives approved a conference report for the 1986 energy and water development bill which allows $150,000 for the Vassar flood control project.

"We're very close to receiving funding on this project," Congressman Bob Traxler said in a news release.

There's support here for the doctors in their quest to put a limit on the amount of damages paid for pain and suffering in malpractice suits.

There's doubtful merit in the bill that sets up a committee to screen out frivolous suits. What bugs me about it is that the committee would be composed of doctors and hospital administrators.

The objection is the same as it is for the committee that judges the unethical activities of lawyers. How can fair judgement be reached when the judges obviously are in a biased position? Any newspaper would be overjoyed if a libel suit were judged by reporters from other newspapers.

Few clues in looting of Richard's TV in Caro

The theft of over $20,000 worth of television sets, video cassette recorders and other electronic equipment from Richard's Television Sales and Services, Caro, remains unsolved after more than a week.

According to owner Dick Jones, the equipment was taken sometime after 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 12, and 9:00 a.m. Monday, Oct. 14. Jones said police theorize the thieves used two cargo size vans to haul away the merchandise. Tracks from vehicles with dual tires were found behind the building, where thieves gained entry by prying open back doors.

"We don't have all of the merchandise back in. It takes a week, a week and a half to get it all," Jones said about replacing the stolen equipment. He added the merchandise was covered by insurance. Recorded serial numbers are on all of the stolen merchandise.

Jones added police have looked into the possibility of the theft being tied into a similar theft in Midland about three weeks ago, where more than $30,000 of similar equipment was stolen. "They figure it was a professional job," Jones said about the robbery. Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Detective Larry Walker said they have no suspects in the robbery. He has no proof the Caro robbery is connected to the Midland heist. Several fingerprints were found during the investigation, but they could be fingerprints of customers, and not necessarily those of the robbers.

Chorale Concert at Caro church

The Chorale of the Caro Arts Society will present its premier concert Sunday, Oct. 27, at 2:00 p.m. in Caro's First Presbyterian Church.

Under the direction of Kurt Singer, and accompanied by Pam Sutherland, the choir will feature works by Issac, Mozart, Morley, Canteloube, Thompson, and the Cantata No. 80 of J.S. Bach, "Eir Feste Burg ist unser Gott." A free-will offering will be taken.

"If It Fitz..."

Circus day

By Jim Fitzgerald

"I never saw Clyde Beatty's belly button."

I said that to Emily as we watched the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus last Sunday. Actually, I didn't say it as much as I intoned it. I spoke the words as though they should be chiseled in granite. That's how I talk when I'm proclaiming a great wisdom, or at least a possible title for the book I will someday write about my childhood.

Emily didn't pay any attention to me. She was busy playing her flute. Actually, it wasn't a flute; it was a plastic sword that lights up. The idea is to turn it on when the circus arena lights are turned off. You can wave the lighted sword in the air and hit the people in front of you on the head.

The sword cost $6 and Emily had to have one because all the other kids had one. "All the other kids are shills working for the man selling the swords," I intoned.

Emily ignored that block of granite, too. Her older cousin plays the flute in the school band, so Emily decided to play with the circus band. Blowing hard, she put the sharp end of the sword in her mouth and fingered it to the hilt. By that I mean she fingered the sword very vigorously and also all the way to the handle, which is called the hilt. I don't waste words.

We were celebrating Emily's fourth birthday, which is the age of imagination. If I'd bought her a $6 flute, she would have run me through with it.

Six dollars, not incidentally, would have purchased two truckloads of circus souvenirs when Errol Flynn and Basil Rathbone were clanging swords on Hollywood staircases. If there had been such a thing as electric plastic swords in those days, those two swordsmen would probably still be alive today, although out of batteries.

Anyway, when 21 elephants paraded by, Emily stopped blowing her sword long enough to wonder what I was talking about when I said I used to water the elephants when I was a little boy posing for Norman Rockwell. It was in the 1930s and the circus always set up in a dusty field a few blocks north of our home, beside the railroad tracks. Terrible Jean, my much bigger sister, and I would show up at 6 a.m. and offer to do anything for a free pass to the big show.

The most common job was carrying water to the elephants from a railroad water faucet on the other side of the field. Our small town attracted small circuses, but even only one or two elephants require dozens of buckets of water. As I recall, Terrible Jean figured out an easier way to earn a free pass. She carried the elephants to the water.

But back to Clyde Beatty. When I was young, he was the most famous lion and tiger tamer in the world. I saw him in person and in the movies. He always wore a safari outfit - leather boots, khaki jodhpurs and shirt, and pith helmet. Just by the way he dressed, you could tell he had a terribly dangerous job.

A different type of tamer performed Sunday. He got into a cage with several huge tigers, but he was wearing a sparkled, spangled two-piece outfit with a bare midriff. No wonder Emily kept right on fingering her sword to the hilt. She knew that no one worried about getting clawed would enter a lion's den with his navel exposed.

It is impossible to be frightened about the life expectancy of a tiger tamer who looks like Dolly Parton cuddling a stuffed kitten. And I don't care if you tell Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey that I intoned so.

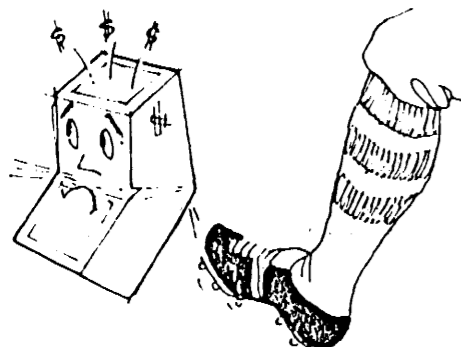

Abraham Lincoln snored.

There's no masochistic desire here to pay any more taxes than absolutely necessary, but I'd put out a few bucks annually to defeat acid rain.

In case you've been hiding out on Mars, or pulled a Rip van Winkle and are just waking up, you should know that acid rain is the pollutants that come from our smoke stack industries that are sterilizing our lakes and the lakes in Canada.

Already five or six lakes in the Upper Peninsula that previously were productive and life supporting are dead. They support nothing. What's more it's no secret that the condition is worsening daily.

One group has suggested a nation-wide tax earmarked for correction of the problem. If we all tossed in $10 each, the fund would be awash in money.

It's naive to say that, really. Given that much money, I'm sure that the bureaucrats would find a way to spend it. Do it so easily that you'd wonder where it went.

Even knowing all this, there would be a yes vote here for a tax to try to stem the tide.

Of course it won't happen. Not right now anyway. Given the Reagan track record on conservation, we are apt to see more pollution, not less.

Really, for adults in their middle years and beyond, acid rain isn't too big a problem. Unless, of course, you happen to have purchased a home or cottage on one of the lakes that became sterile.

Any cure that is effected will benefit your kids and, even more, your grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

The tragedy of it all is that this problem can't be solved by the individual state. It's not even a national problem. It's an international problem as our Canadian neighbors, who are suffering even more than we are, are quick to point out.

Even if an all-out effort were mounted, the results will be less than what we had before. Some of the wonders of undisturbed nature that older folks enjoyed will never be available to the young adults of today.

Increased population, freeways, all terrain vehicles and more leisure time have seen to that.

They just will never have it as good as it was. But we should do whatever we can to make it as good as we possibly can.

That's worth a few extra bucks in my book.

Buff sentenced for assault

Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Patrick Joslyn sentenced a 33-year-old Vassar man to 18 to 48 months in Southeastern Michigan Prison, Jackson, on a charge of felonious assault.

The charge against Ted Buff, 33, 222 Plum St., Vassar, stems from a June 4 knife attack on Vassar resident Garold V. Law Jr. According to an attached police report, Buff attacked Law at Buff's Vassar residence. Law was stabbed with a knife in the chin, neck and hand by Buff. Buff was originally charged with assault to do great bodily harm less than murder. He pleaded no contest to the felonious assault charge June 21. Buff was given credit for 18 days already served.

In other Oct. 14 Circuit Court action Judge Joslyn sentenced William E. Brewer, 17, 6280 Bevans Rd., Kingston, to six months in the county jail after he pleaded guilty to delivery of marijuana. Joslyn deferred 90 days of Brewer's jail sentence until the end of a three-year probation term. Brewer was one of seven Tuscola County residents to be arrested in a July 25 drug raid by undercover law enforcement agents. The drug raid was the culmination of 3½ months of investigation by police departments and the sheriff's department.

About one pound of marijuana and 100 pills of LSD were recovered in the raid.

Brewer pleaded guilty to the delivery of marijuana charge Sept. 3. As part of the agreement, a second delivery of marijuana charge was dropped by the court. Brewer was also ordered to pay $500 court costs, and a $1,000 fine.

Another person arrested in the July 25 drug bust appeared before Judge Joslyn Oct. 14, to plead guilty to a charge of delivery of marijuana. Judge Joslyn accepted a guilty plea from Joey E. Staten, 18, 4892 W. Center St., Millington, on the marijuana charge.

Earlier in the day Staten stood mute on the delivery of marijuana charge. A not guilty plea was entered by the court, and trial was set for Dec. 2. Staten returned to the court at 5:00 p.m. to enter the guilty plea. He will be sentenced Jan. 6, 1986. Bond continues at $5,000.

On another marijuana related charge, Judge Joslyn accepted a guilty plea from Tracey A. Hickey, 26, 205 S. Cass Ave., Vassar, for delivery of marijuana. She was arrested after selling marijuana to an undercover law enforcement officer Aug. 26.

Hickey will be sentenced Dec. 9. Bond continues at $5,000.

A plea of attempted malicious destruction of police property was accepted by the court from Richard R. Lawrie, 17, 502 E. Frank St., Caro. The charge stems from the Aug. 31 damage of three Fine-O-Meter boxes owned by the Caro Police Department. Lawrie was originally charged with malicious destruction of police property. In the incident, three boxes, used to put parking meter fines in, were broken with a tire iron. The boxes are valued at $165 each.

Lawrie will be sentenced Nov. 25. Bond continues at $2,000.

Charles A. Clyne, 24, 5111 Shabbona Rd., Cass City, was sentenced to two years' probation, with credit for 65 days already served, on a charge of attempted larceny over $100. The charge stems from the Aug. 6 theft of tools and gasoline from the George Cooklin residence, 2016 Dodge Rd., Cass City.

In addition to the probation term, Clyne was ordered to pay a $200 fine and $200 court costs.

Edward S. Periso, 22, 5111 Shabbona Rd., Cass City, was sentenced to 210 days in the county jail on a larceny in a building charge. Periso was given credit for 36 days already served. Periso was originally charged with breaking and entering of an unoccupied building with intent to commit larceny. The charge stems from the Aug. 1 theft of gasoline from Edward Leboda, 5216 E. Severance Rd., Cass City.

In addition to the jail sentence, Periso was placed on probation for three years. He was ordered to pay restitution of $52.

A delayed one-year jail sentence was dismissed against Marcus L. Craig, 21, 1140 E. Dayton Rd.,

Caro, on an attempted larceny in a building charge. Craig pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to the one-year delayed sentence Oct. 15, 1984. Craig was ordered to pay court appointed attorney fees of $430. Craig is to make payments of $20 per month to the attorney.

Judge Joslyn accepted a not guilty plea from Ronald J. Carter, 19, 5665 S. Vassar Rd., Vassar, on a probation violation charge. Carter was placed on five years' probation March 5, 1984, on a larceny in a building charge. He was charged with probation violation after a Tuscola County District Court jury found him guilty of assault and battery charges.

No trial date has been set. A $500 personal recognizance bond was set.

Following a forensic psychiatric examination, William W. Brown, 24, 490 Birch St., Vassar, will stand trial Oct. 30 on charges of being a disorderly person, a window peeper, and a sexually delinquent person. The charges stem from March 21 incidents in the Vassar area. Brown stood mute to the charge April 29. A not guilty plea was entered, and the psychiatric examination was ordered. Brown faces a maximum life in prison sentence.

A guilty plea from Stephen L. Strickler, 18, 3030 Bruisee Rd., Caro, on a larceny under $100 charge was accepted by the court. He was originally charged with breaking and entering with intent to steal property over $5 July 17, 1984.

Strickler will be sentenced Dec. 16. Bond continues at $7,500.

Judge Joslyn sentenced Bonnie M. Harvey, 39, 2687 E. Ohio Rd., Saginaw, to a one-year delayed jail sentence on a welfare fraud charge. The charge states from March 22, 1982 to Sept. 1, 1983, Harvey did not report to the Department of Social Services all of her income information. Harvey was ordered to repay the DSS $6,361 plus three percent interest.

Following a one-day Oct. 11 jury trial, Frederick L. Forbush, 24, 107 N. Main St., Vassar, was found guilty of delivery of marijuana. The charge stems from the Nov. 10, 1984 sale of marijuana to an undercover law enforcement agent.

Forbush will be sentenced Nov. 25. Bond continues at $50,000.

McLeody Days

By Bill McLeod

With Halloween just around the corner, I always wish I were a little older, so I could brag about tipping over outhouses, and the other things my father and uncle did. The funny thing is, dad never talks about the things they did as kids. I only find out about them through Uncle Arch.

I guess that's the way it always is. Whenever I tell my nieces and nephews about the things my brother and sister did, they are amazed their parents were that young and wild at one time. When Andy gets older, my sister and brother will probably return the favor, and my son will find out his old man wasn't always so straight laced.

I suppose that to today's kids, tipping over an outhouse or putting a hay wagon on the top of a school house roof sounds like "Little House on the Prairie" antics. But it sounds better than what happens on Halloween night today. Every time I hear about some kid getting hurt on an apple with a razor blade in it, or a candy bar that has been tampered with, I swear Andy will never go out begging.

I can't understand how someone could stoop so low as to intentionally harm a child.

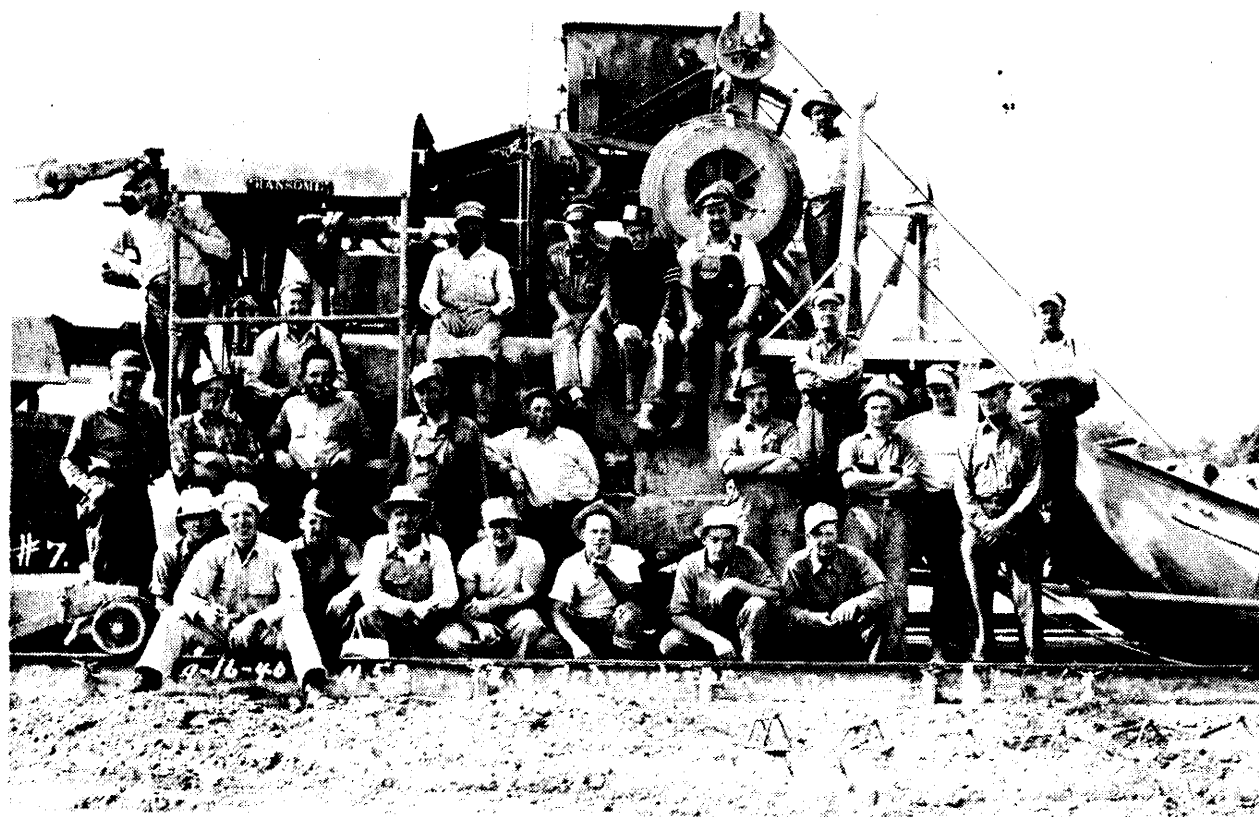

While growing up we were limited in our scope of trick-or-treating to friends and family members in the immediate area. Mom refused to drive us to Brown City where a kid could make a "big haul" on free candy. We occasionally got a candy bar, but most of the people in the area gave out apples and homemade treats. Usually we got enough candy to keep us content for one night.

Every Halloween my wife and I disagree on what we are going to give the little beggars that come to the door. She wants to give out candy. I prefer to hand out cold hard cash, one nickel to a customer.

My theory is, with nickels nobody gains weight, develops zits or gets cavities. Parents should love me. When my two rolls of nickels are gone, I turn out the lights and go to bed.

Last year, my first Halloween in Cass City, I decided to be traditional, and give out candy. I bought a couple of bags of the sweet stuff and put a pumpkin on the porch. I was ready for business. During the first hour I watched 100's of the little munchkins walk by. Not one paid any attention to my house. Anxiety set in as Halloween beggin' hours began to wind down. I was fearful of being caught with five pounds of candy. Dental bills are too expensive. Finally in desperation I went begging for a beggar. I spied some kid returning home, and unloaded about three pounds of miniature candy bars.

This year it will be nickels. If I don't give them away, I can always find something to do with them.

WHEN M-53 BECAME a completed road in 1940, it was the crew of E.B. Schwaderer (now Hunt Construction) that did the work. The road was joined at the Huron County line. The bridge on M-53 that was rebuilt this fall was first constructed in 1927-28.

Ubly schools to have $2.07 million budget

Trustees of the Ubly School District board approved a 1985-86 school year budget with total expenditures estimated at $2,072,681, and revenues at $2,071,210. Ubly Business Manager Mark Tenbusch told board members at the Oct. 14 meeting the $1,471 difference will be made up from a 1984-85 fund balance of $4,100.

The total amount of revenues for the school year has increased $12,992, while expenditures have decreased $7,446. Tenbusch said the district is projecting a savings of about $15,000 for the year by closing the Minden City School. He explained last year the district had a kindergarten class at the school, but the board decided to close it at a meeting this summer. The savings is expected from a decrease in transportation, utilities and insurance costs.

Because the school district has too high of a property evaluation for the number of students enrolled, the district does not qualify for state school aid. The lion's share of the budget, $1,917,650 will come from local tax dollars.

The district will receive $96,555 from the federal government for remedial reading and audio visual programs. Tenbusch said the district has budgeted $46,005 from the state, mostly for transportation expenses.

Tenbusch said 45 percent of the total budget expenditures will be used to meet teacher payroll expenses. This amounts to $932,000. Thirteen percent of the budget, about $269,000, will be spent for operation and maintenance expenses. Transportation expenses will amount to about $207,268.

In other action, the Concerned Parents Association attended the meeting to discuss developing a sex education curriculum for the school district. Tenbusch explained the association recommended forming a committee with clergymen, nurses, teachers, administration personnel and citizens to develop the program. The program may be implemented during the second semester.

Trustees accepted a bid from Sobczak Construction, Inc., Bad Axe, for $18,650 for repair to the gymnasium walls and roof.

Repairs on the roof, which is sliding to the south side of the gymnasium wall, will begin this week. Of the four bids received, one bid of $42,150 was received.

The board also:

Approved a request from Ubly Future Farmers of America to attend the annual national convention in Kansas City, Mo. Fourteen members will go to the Nov. 11-17 convention. The board will pay $205 for FFA advisor Denise Keller's expenses.

Agreed to seek bids for repair of the football tower announcing booth and for snow removal. The football tower needs repair of the siding and a new roof. Bids will be opened at the Nov. 11 meeting. Last year the district paid $2,082 for snow removal.

Commented Rebecca Grifka for being a semifinalist in the national merit scholarship testing program.

Approved a four percent pay increase for non-certified personnel. Those receiving an increase will be secretaries, teacher aides, cooks, bus drivers, bus garage personnel and maintenance and custodian workers.

Set commencement exercises for May 25 at 2:00 p.m.

Rollover injures Cass City man

A 19-year-old Cass City man sought his own medical treatment following an auto rollover Friday at 3:20 p.m.

According to the report, filed by Denmark Township Police Officer Fred Hecht, Malcolm F. House, 19, 6320 Virginia St., Cass City, was westbound on Gilford Road, near VanBuren Road, when he swerved into the eastbound lane to avoid mud on the road. He lost control and went into a drainage ditch on the south side of the road, rolling the vehicle over.

House was issued a citation for driving too fast for conditions.

AUTO-DEER

Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Deputy James Compo reported Franklin D. Todd Jr., 31, 6840 Severance Rd., Cass City, struck a deer Oct. 15 at 4:40 a.m. Todd was eastbound on Severance Road, near Lampton Road, when the accident happened. He was not injured in the mishap. Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson reported Marjorie E. Bellmore, 71, 3924 Cemetery Rd., Kingston, struck a deer Oct. 16 at 8:15 a.m. Bellmore was northbound on Cemetery Road, near Severance Road, when she struck the deer. Bellmore was not injured in the accident.

Cass City Police Officer Phillip Klaus reported Carl S. Keller, 24, 5897 Patterson Rd., Snover, struck a deer Sunday at 5:00 p.m. Keller was westbound on Patterson Road, one-half mile south of Pringle Road, when he struck the deer. Keller's vehicle left the road, and went into a cornfield.

Keller was admitted to Hills and Dales General Hospital where he is listed in fair condition.

MESC Job Service may stay in Caro

The Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) is trying to maintain some Job Service staff in Caro after it closes its branch office there Nov. 1, MESC Director Richard Simmons Jr. announced recently.

Simmons said that the agency has begun contacting local groups in an effort to secure donated space for stationing staff to help meet the employment needs of area employers and job-seekers.

In August the MESC had announced plans to permanently close its Caro office at 362 Green along with 21 other MESC offices around the state.

"We hope to secure a site before our Caro office closes," Simmons said. "If not, then we will continue looking until we can make some arrangement. We fully intend to maintain some Job Service staff in the area if at all possible."

"By retaining Job Service staff in the Caro area, we can continue to offer local employers and job-seekers many of our employment services such as employment registration, interviewing, referral to job openings, referral to support services and the development of job listings," he added.

The MESC anticipates that the Job Service location, once it is established, will operate on a full-time schedule, five days a week. The office will not issue unemployment benefit checks nor take claims for jobless benefits.

Simmons said the closing of MESC offices along with the laying off of 181 agency employees was necessary because of federal budget cuts which have been eroding the agency's administrative budget for several years.

Parked vehicle damaged

Cass City Police Officer Donald Miller Jr. reported a vehicle parked in the Hills and Dales General Hospital parking lot suffered about $100 damages over the week end.

The vehicle, owned by Emergency Room Dr. James E. Lawley, 28590 Lorraine, Farmington Hills, was parked in the lot Oct. 18 at 9:00 p.m. When Dr. Lawley returned to the vehicle Oct. 20 at midnight, the tail and back up lights had been broken.

Surplus commodity distribution

The Human Development Commission will be holding a surplus commodity distribution at the Cass City Village Park Thursday, Nov. 7, from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m., or until the supply is exhausted. According to Executive Director Mary Ann Vandemark, cheese, butter, powdered milk, flour and rice will be distributed to eligible households. Individuals must present a surplus commodity registration card at the site. Persons who are unable to physically go to the site may have someone else pick up their commodities. Registration cards may be obtained from the HDC office in Caro. Food distributed at the site is intended for personal consumption by eligible low income families.

HEALTH TIPS
Stroke rehabilitation

For the stroke patient, the road to rehabilitation is often a long and discouraging journey. It is a journey, however, that can be accomplished, and quite successfully, with the understanding and cooperation of the patient, physician, and the family. "A stroke occurs when nerve cells in the brain cease to function because the blood supply is cut off," said Fernando Diaz, M.D., Ph.D., Henry Ford Hospital, chairman, stroke committee, American Heart Association of Michigan. "The result of a stroke may be weakness, loss of feeling or paralysis of one side of the body, and difficulty in speaking or understanding," Diaz said. According to Diaz, there are three important aspects of a successful rehabilitation:

- 1) Rehabilitation must begin as soon after the stroke as possible;
- 2) The family can be the patient's most important means of support during the rehabilitative process, and
- 3) Rehabilitation is a team effort with the physician, the nurse and their specialists working with the patient and his family.

"Positioning or frequent turning of the patient in bed to exercise the paralyzed limbs should begin as soon after the stroke as possible," Diaz said. "The positioning improves the patient's circulation, maintains joint flexibility, and prevents other complications which may develop from being confined to bed. This process may begin as early as a few hours after the stroke has occurred, depending on the physician's recommendation," he said. Diaz said the exercises are first administered by the physician, nurse or family, with the hopes that the patient himself will soon be able to perform the maneuvering. The family is important to the stroke patient because he must have the will to recover and the desire to be independent, according to Diaz. "The person in the family closest to the patient will probably be able to figure out the most effective way of making him want to recover. The family must be a source of encouragement: a cheerful, encouraging attitude will help with emotional problems, as many patients are depressed." A free pamphlet available from the Heart Association entitled "Stroke, Why Do They Behave That Way?" is an excellent source to learn how to understand a stroke patient. "The family will also take on nursing responsibilities if the patient has to stay in bed for a long period of time. One way family members learn nursing techniques, such as turning, positioning, and exercising the patient, is to practice these skills while the patient is still in the hospital," Diaz said. "In general, the best way the family can help a stroke patient is to offer understanding and companionship. In the long run, it is the individual's own motivation and drive to get well that brings his recovery," Diaz said. "Family members can offer the encouragement and warmth that the hospital may lack." "One way family and patient can come to a better understanding is through stroke clubs. The clubs are groups of people with common problems, who come together to offer support and mutual encouragement. The clubs are dedicated to helping people understand the many physical, emotional and communication problems associated with stroke," Diaz said. "It is also a means of promoting knowledge about stroke, its causes and effects, and how to prevent it. For the patient, the clubs offer social and recreational activities, and special programs such as films or field trips. For the family, the clubs offer get-togethers, or discussions with people in the field, for example, nurses and doctors. More information about the clubs is available from the Heart Association. Finally, a united effort on the part of the doctor, nurse, family and the patient himself is an important aspect of a successful rehabilitation. "Asking your doctor too many questions is better than too few. His regular advice is the finest assistance you can have," Diaz said. Doctors, likewise, may need to call on other resources or specialists in the community to help the patient. The local office of the Heart Association can be helpful in finding and suggesting resources for specific cases. "Stroke patients are not hopeless: even severely paralyzed patients may make good progress," Diaz said. "Prompt measures help greatly in restoring the use of paralyzed muscles. Rehabilitation should be started immediately, but it can be started at any time. If the patient really wants more independence, even a late start on rehabilitation may rescue him from life as an invalid." A pamphlet entitled "Do It Yourself Again," available from the Heart Association, is helpful in putting stroke patients on the path to rehabilitation. The American Heart Association of Michigan is a United Way Agency.

Substance Abuse test for counselors

Substance Abuse Counselor tests are administered by the Human Development Commission quarterly for the five-county region of Lapeer, Tuscola, Sanilac, Huron and St. Clair. The next testing for qualified individuals who have some Substance Abuse experience and have studied the text manual, "Fundamentals of Substance Abuse Counseling," will be Friday, Nov. 15. This test will be given at the Tuscola Skill Center on Cleaver Road in Caro at 1:00 p.m. To be eligible to take this test you must pre-register by calling Ellen Glaza, at HDC office in Caro, (517) 673-4121 between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. any Monday through Friday in October. You will be required to pay a small fee for this test prior to Nov. 1 which is the last day to register for the Nov. 15 test. If you need a study text manual, it can be ordered directly from the Michigan Office of Substance Abuse Information in Lansing by calling them direct (517) 482-9902. Individuals who pass this test will receive from the State of Michigan's Office of Substance Abuse Services, a certificate as Apprentice Substance Abuse Counselors.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Happy hunters opening day of pheasant season Monday were brothers Brent, 10, and Bryan Beecher, 13, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Beecher of 5225 Cass City Road. Each got his limit of two pheasants -- their first ever -- while hunting about two miles east of Wickware.

Jean and Bill Phillips of Grassmere Road, Grant Township, like to grow things big. They raised two pumpkins weighing 120 and 160 pounds. Their sweet corn stalks measured as high as 12 ft., 7 in.

Winners of the recent Rolling Hills Golf Course 36-hole club championship were Jon Zdrojewski, boy's winner; Ed Pasant and Maynard Helwig, men's winners; Mary Rabideau, women's winner, and Dana Zdrojewski, junior girl's winner.

Fifty members attended the Owen-Gage senior citizens' lunch at the Gagetown United Methodist Church Thursday. Door prizes were won by Beatrice Miljure and Floyd Ziehm.

Jack Esau, Basil Quick, Jim Milligan and Clarence Merchant attended the horse show in Detroit Sunday. Mary Beth Esau of Southfield accompanied her father.

TEN YEARS AGO

Kathy Jo Johnston, sophomore at Northwood Institute at Midland, was a member of the homecoming queen's court Saturday. She is the daughter of Bill and Shirley Johnston of Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Bullock and daughters of Union Lake spent the week end at the James Gross home and with other relatives in the area.

The winning pumpkin in the Chamber of Commerce Retail contest last week was grown by John R. Graham of rural Caro. It measured 72 inches in circumference and weighed 107 pounds.

Amasa Ondrajka of Unionville won $15,000 in the Michigan Lottery which he expects to collect in about three weeks. The ticket was purchased at Bill's Grocery in Gagetown.

Carolyn Benscoter, Esther McCullough, Joy Anthony and Edith Little represented the Zonta Club at the Fall District Conference of Zonta International held at Troy, Oct. 3-5.

25 YEARS AGO

Alex Lopez, a freshman at Central Michigan University, is a member of the 33-man freshman football team. He is playing in the backfield.

A gravel truck owned by Jim McDonald of Cass City was demolished by fire Thursday on Cemetery Road. The engine of the truck burst into flames as it was being driven by Paul O'Harris.

Mrs. Warren Kelley and daughter and Mrs. Alex Greenleaf attended a floral design show in Detroit Saturday.

All 17 members of Girl Scout Troop No. 52 attended a campout Monday and Tuesday at Whispering Pines, Tuscola County Girl Scout camp. The troop was accompanied by Mrs. George Getchel, Mrs. Earney Seeley and Mrs. Joe Gruber. Mrs. Wayne Rabideau and Mrs. Robert Rabideau assisted with transportation.

The Cassland Farm Bureau group met Oct. 11 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Carpenter. John Marshall served as the discussion leader. Mrs. Edward Golding Sr. reported on the district fall camp held in September.

35 YEARS AGO

Sally Colbert, Cass City High School senior, was elected to preside as queen of the homecoming game festivities. Marilyn Agar and Arlene Lane will make up her court.

Cass City High School students who were among the 500 attending the fourth annual High School Debate Assembly at the University of Michigan Saturday were Melva McConnell, Robert Fritz, Judy Dickinson, Faith Parrott, Delores Simmons and Jessie Fry.

The Elkland Township Community Chest drive for 1950 will get underway next Monday when a kickoff dinner will be held at the New Gordon Hotel. Leonard Damm will direct the drive for funds. Approximately $5,000 has been contributed to the fund for the past two years.

Dr. James H. Ballard, who is married and has four children, has been ordered to return to active military service Oct. 26. He served almost three years overseas during World War II.

Crim & Gray complete 5-day series

Two employees of Walbro Corporation, Cass City, completed Unit II of Wittenberg University's Management Development Program Friday, Oct. 4.

They are Fred Crim, 3575 S. Elkton Rd., Owendale, foreman, and Mark Gray, Fairgrove, production supervisor.

The five-day on-campus series at Springfield, Ohio, is designed to strengthen the management competency of supervisors and to provide useful insights into management functions.

The series concentrates in three areas -- management methods, organizational behavior and communications.

Popcorn is an American Indian invention.

Doll & basket classes at Community Ed

Cass City Community Education announces a new craft in the area: Appalachian Doll-Making. The class will run for three weeks beginning Thursday, Nov. 7. Caroline Rutkoski is teacher. The class will be held at Cass City High School from 7-9:00 p.m. The cost is $14.00. It is helpful if you have a knowledge of sewing.

Community Ed will also offer a beginning basket-weaving class, taught by Susan Hutchinson, on Nov. 7. Caroline Rutkoski is teacher. The class will be held at Cass City High School Thursday, Nov. 7, from 6:00-10:00.

The cost is $16.00. The fee includes all materials. A list of tools you will need is available from the Community Ed office. Call 872-4151 from 12:00-9:00 p.m. to register.

Detective Miller lauded

Detective Daniel Miller of the Michigan State Police, Caro post, was selected as one of the top 11 law enforcement officers in the United States at an award ceremony in Houston, Texas, Oct. 11.

Miller was selected for the award, sponsored by Parade Magazine and the International Association of Chiefs of Police, because of his unrelenting pursuit for the killer of a 17-year-old Caro baby-sitter. Miller's investigation into the murder of Denise Adams over an eight-year period eventually led to the arrest and first degree murder conviction of Melvin Garza. Earlier this year Miller was honored by the Michigan Fraternal Order of Police when he was named as the Police Officer of the Year.

A true rock hound

Reimann turns stones into works of art

To the untrained eye one rock looks about the same as the next, but when a skilled craftsman like Orrie Reimann looks at a stone he can see hidden colors and patterns waiting to emerge.

Reimann, 77, Kingston, came a rock hound after he retired about 18 years ago. "I was wondering what I was going to do," Reimann said about the need for a hobby to fill his day. "You have to do something. You can't sit around all the time." He decided to become a rock hound, a title he prefers over the term lapidarian.

He began practicing his craft after he purchased a small tumbler that polishes stones. He also traveled to Flint to take lessons on how to cut stones and gems to be mounted into rings and necklaces. He soon expanded his hobby, and purchased saws with special diamond tipped blades to cut larger rocks into slabs for making table tops, clocks and book ends. In his basement shop he also has several different grinders and polishers to put the finishing touches on a stone.

The rocks Reimann uses to make his creations come from Michigan and all over the world. Reimann explained his winters are spent in Arizona, where he is able to purchase stones from Africa, Brazil and other countries. He also spends hours looking for stones in the Arizona mountains.

On a return trip from Arizona, Reimann's large travel trailer, a winter home for him and his wife, is loaded with about one ton of rocks he purchased during his winter travels.

"I bring back a lot of stones," he said about the months spent in Arizona. "I think I've probably got 10 tons of stones around the house." On his dining room floor he has a large uncut California Jade that weighs about 25 pounds. He purchased the jade in Arizona for $10 per pound. Behind the Reimann house are large storage shelves loaded with stones from his rock hunting expeditions. "I always like to find a new rock, something that is entirely different," Reimann said. "A rock hound is never satisfied, he always wants something else."

While en route to his winter home, Reimann usually stops in Texas where he takes time to find petrified wood that he makes into clocks, book ends and table tops. He explained petrified wood develops after a log has been buried underground for millions of years. The wood's grain is still visible in some of the slabs that Reimann has sawed. In one table top in Reimann's living room is a large slab of polished petrified dinosaur dung that was purchased in Arizona.

In addition to the many stones he has from the western states, Reimann also has a large collection of Michigan Petoskey stones that he has made into jewelry. He purchases necklace chains and cuts and grinds the stone to fit the design. Reimann also has a large alabaster stone, shaped like Michigan's lower peninsula, embedded into a plastic table top. He found the stone while rock hunting in the Tawas City area. Alabaster is used for making drywall.

"I don't do this for a living, I do it because I have to have something to do," Reimann explained. He occasionally sells one of his creations, but generally they are given to friends. "I am always invited to weddings because I give away clocks. They make sure I get invited."

One of Reimann's creations has traveled farther than to a friend's fireplace mantel in the Kingston area. Reimann explained during America's Bicentennial celebration he sent a desk top pen and letter holder to President Gerald Ford. Reimann had embedded a stone cut into the shape of Michigan into a block of clear plastic. He received a letter from Ford thanking him for the pen and letter holder that commemorated America's 200th birthday.

Several months later, Reimann was at a crafts show with a similar pen and letter holder on display. A man walked up to the display and said he saw a similar desk top organizer when he toured the White House.

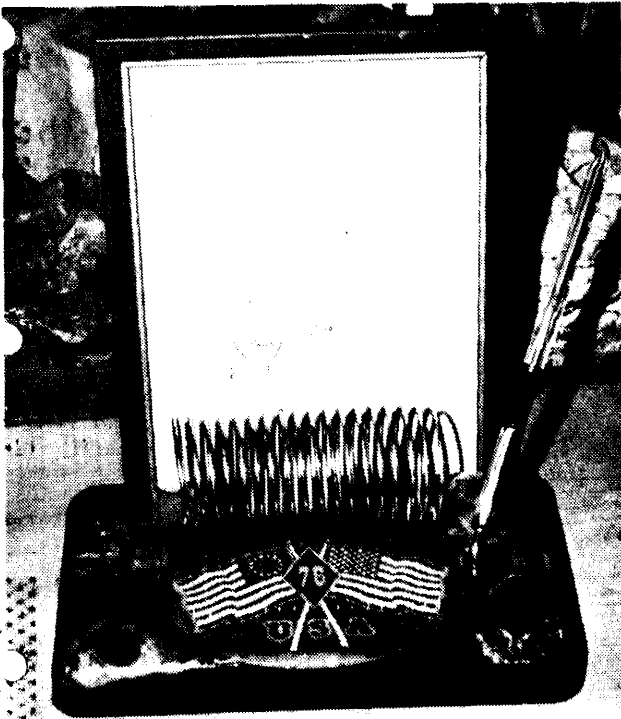

The desk top organizer is now on display in the Gerald Ford Museum in Grand Rapids.

Reimann's favorite stone to work with is the Bruno Jasper, a hard stone from Idaho. He pulled out a display case containing several of the polished brown and white Jasper stones. He ran his thumb over their smooth surface, and explained he can feel any grinding or polishing imperfections in the stones. "When you put that stone on the grinder and shape it, you have got a good stone," Reimann said. "Everything is perfect."

A SIMILAR desk organizer that Orrie Reimann built was sent to President Gerald Ford during America's Bicentennial celebration. Behind the desk top organizer is a letter from Ford thanking Reimann for his gift.

THESE TWO Michigan Petoskey stones, already mounted into necklaces, were cut from a stone similar to the one they are sitting on.

THIS IS ONE of several tables that Orrie Reimann has made in his Kingston home. Embedded into the plastic top on the left side is an alabaster stone that is shaped like Michigan's lower peninsula. Reimann found the stone in the Tawas area.

ORRIE REIMANN carefully trims away excessive material on a small stone that he will grind down and polish into a work of art.

No injuries reported in 3 mishaps

Cass City Police officers reported there were no injuries in three minor accidents last week inside of the village limits.

Officer Ken Schott reported a vehicle driven by John W. Rands, 16, 4362 Brooker St., Cass City, struck a legally parked vehicle in the Cass City High School parking lot Oct. 15 at 3:30 p.m.

Rands told Officer Schott he was eastbound in the parking lot, and had to speed up to avoid striking a vehicle that was backing out of a parking spot. He struck a parked vehicle owned by Duane L. Hurd, address not recorded. Witnesses said Rands was going too fast to make the turn. He was issued a ticket for careless driving.

Chief Gene Wilson reported a vehicle driven by Nadine C. Lounsbury, 48, 6635 Third St., Cass City, collided with a vehicle driven by Thomas K. Lefler, 20, 6718 Houghton St., Cass City. Lounsbury was southbound on Sherman Street, and stopped at the Garfield Street intersection. She failed to see the Lefler vehicle, eastbound on Garfield Street, and pulled out, colliding with him. Chief Wilson reported Lounsbury had a large basket of clothes on the seat, blocking her vision.

The accident happened Friday at 11:30 a.m. No citations were issued.

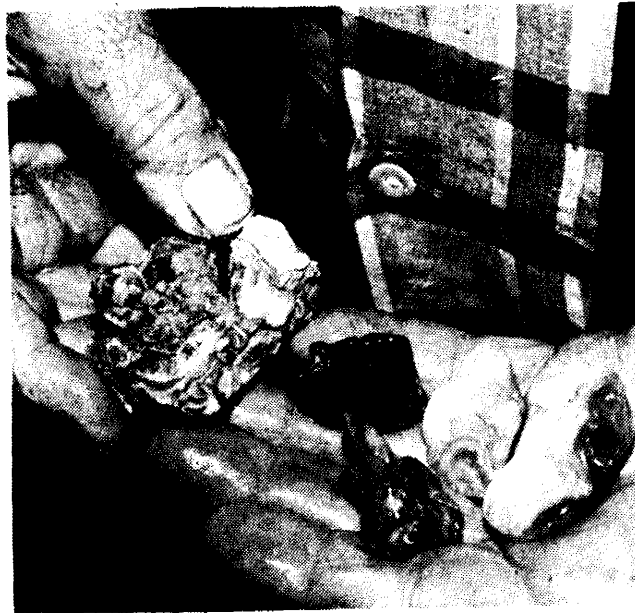

Also on Friday, Officer Donald Miller Jr. reported a vehicle driven by James C. Watson, 16, 4960 Leslie Rd., Cass City, collided with a vehicle driven by Robyn L. Powell.

Watson was pulling out of a parking spot on Main Street, west of Seeger Street, and failed to see Powell, 16, 4284 Hartsell Rd., Cass City, approaching from the west on Main Street.

The accident happened at 3:45 p.m. No citations were issued.

Cass City captures trophy

Gymnastic tourney draws 100

By Dave Asher
Over 100 competitors from around the state came to Cass City High School

Saturday to compete in the Thumb Gymnastics Invitational sponsored by the Thumb Gymnastics Booster Club. Capturing the overall trophy with a total score of 498.8 was the Thumb Gymnastics Center, from Cass City. Second was the team from Milford, Huron Valley Gymnastics, with a score of 379.0. Other teams finishing in order were Hartland, Ypsilanti and Vassar.

A fine spectator turnout helped produce excitement throughout the day. Coach John Waltz of Cass City was pleased with the performance of his squad in capturing the "gold" in the first independent gymnastics meet held in Cass City.

Judges included members of the Eastern Michigan University gymnastics team who put on an exhibition at the conclusion of the meet.

Cass City merchants helped by donating food, money, and tickets. Contributions and money collected at the meet go toward the purchase of new equipment and uniforms.

Helping the team to its first place finish were these boys from Cass City: First grade - Shannon Mohr, first, Ralph Shamel, 2nd, Anthony Rolando, 3rd; fourth grade - Kevin Asher, first; fifth grade - Tom Ward, first; sixth grade - Seth Brady, first; eighth grade - Ken Lloyd, first; high school, 9-12 - Ron Woodruff, 2nd.

Among the girls were 1st grade: first, Rachel Peters, 2nd, tie between Colleen Ball and Melissa Taylor, 3rd, Sara Wisenbach; second grade - Rhonda Holcomb, 2nd; third grade - Kristy Wood, first, Kathy Woodruff, 2nd; fifth grade - Pam Broyles, 3rd; high school, 9-12, Alana Opperman, 3rd.

CHAMPIONS from Thumb Gymnastic Center pose after winning over-all trophy.

MEDAL WINNERS from Thumb Gymnastic Center morning group in grades one through three.

Your neighbor says

Leaf sweeping is the best

This is the first autumn that residents of Cass City haven't been able to burn leaves inside the village limits. What is your opinion on the new vacuum system the village has purchased?

Although this is Paul Branoff's first autumn in leaf ridden Cass City, he feels the new vacuum system will be the best way to handle the piles of leaves that have fallen on his North Seeger Street yard.

Branoff moved to Cass City from Dearborn Heights this summer. In Dearborn Heights he had to bag the leaves that fell in his yard. Branoff explained he had only two leaf bearing trees in his yard, so bagging them was not a major problem.

"Having a choice between burning, bagging or this, I think this is going to be the easiest," Branoff said while raking a large pile of leaves to the curb. He feels by having the village vacuum the leaves it will be safer than burning them, and will not cause health problems from the thick smoke that would fill the air.

But raking leaves wasn't that easy of a task for the new Cass City resident who broke the wooden handle of his rake while trying to move a large pile of wet leaves. Branoff found out how helpful people in Cass City are when his neighbor Don Richards loaned him a leaf blower to easily move the pile of maple leaves to the curb.

Branoff is a quality coordinator for the Walbro Corp. Automotive Products Group in Caro. He and his wife Cynthia have three children.

Charge Meeker with OUIL

Cass City Police Officer William Hartzell arrested a 25-year-old Decker man early Sunday morning on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

According to the report, Officer Hartzell observed a vehicle driven by Steven S. Meeker, 25, 3920 Leslie Rd., Decker, driving erratically on Huron Street, near Leach Street. Officer Hartzell pulled over the Meeker vehicle and administered a curb side sobriety test. Meeker could not pass the sobriety test and was taken to the Tuscola County Jail.

Friday evening, Officer Donald Miller Jr. observed a vehicle westbound on Garfield Street, near Doerr Road, driven by Luis R. Arroyo, 25, address not recorded. The vehicle had a loud exhaust system. When officer Miller investigated, he discovered Arroyo was driving with a revoked driver's license. He was taken to the Tuscola County Jail.

Defense shines against Lakers

Hawks look for offense in clash with Caro

Coach Don Schelke was pleased with the defensive efforts of the Cass City Red Hawks against the Lakers last Friday, but hopes for an improved offense when the team travels to Caro to meet the Tigers this Friday.

The game figures to be a toss-up with the team having the "good" night winning. If Caro comes up with an outstanding passing game that it has shown in some of its games, they could be tough to beat.

On the other hand, the Hawks have showed a steadily improving defense and an offense that could move the ball if costly mistakes were avoided.

We had backs running the wrong way on occasion, Schelke said, when talking about the Laker game, and the wrong play called at a crucial time.

This year, even more than most, it is hard to tell who will be the winner and predicting the outcome of the Caro-Cass City contest has always been tough to call regardless of the record of the two schools.

Cass City was helped against the Lakers by having all of the players healthy for the first time since the start of the season.

The Hawks came out of the Laker game with nothing more serious than a few bumps and bruises and should be at full strength again against the Tigers.

Neither team was able to do anything on offense during the first quarter. It was not until there were just three seconds left in the period that the Lakers registered the first first down of the game for either side.

Cass City moved the ball into Laker territory midway through the second quarter with three first downs in a row. Jeff Lefler made 20 yards on a nifty run for a first down at mid-field.

Dennis Ziembra then made a spectacular catch of a pass from Gary Suzor for a first on the Laker 34, but the drive fizzled there.

The Lakers then started a drive on the ground that led to a score. Moving from their own 39, they drove to the Cass City 15 from where Ken Ziel took the ball on the option play and went in to score. There were just 52 seconds left in the half.

It looked as if the one touchdown was all that might be scored as neither team was able to generate any offense in the third period.

That changed when Chad Seley took a screen pass from Mike McArdle good for 44 yards and a TD. Randy Heckman converted his second of three extra point kicks and the score was 14-0.

The Lakers scored another six-pointer in the dying moments as the Hawks mounted a desperation passing attack to try and score. Brad Krohn intercepted and went 60 yards to the end zone.

Ken Pasanski had three tackles and six assists and Greg Erla had one tackle and eight assists to lead the Hawks on defense.

The statistics:

	CC	L
Rushing attempts	24	56
Rushing yards	86	271
Passes complete	6	4
Passing yards	57	62
First downs	7	8
Passes inter.	2	1
Fumbles lost	2	2
Penalties, yds.	15	65

Crippled Bulldogs fade before power of Kingston Cardinals

A partial Bulldog team, tagged by the loss of seven players because of academic ineligibility, lost 35-0 to a tough Kingston team Friday night.

"As a team, we played as well as we could," said Owen-Gage coach Arnie Besonen, explaining he had to use second, third and fourth string players to replace starters who are ineligible.

The players were not allowed to play because they didn't earn a 2.0 (C) grade point at the end of the six-week marking period that ended last week.

"They (Kingston) won the game, but we had the smarter players," Besonen said. He explained Owen-Gage has the toughest academic eligibility requirements in the league. Anything less than a 2.0 grade point average and the player will not be allowed to play until he receives a C average during the following grading period. If a player receives less than a C average at the end of the school year, he will not be allowed to play during the first six weeks of the next school year. Besonen feels six additional players would be on the team this year, but because they didn't earn a 2.0 grade point average at the end of the 1984-85 school year they weren't allowed to play. Two of the six wanted to join the team last week, but because they haven't practiced, Besonen felt they would not be physically ready for the game.

Besonen and the other football coaches will meet this week to determine if they should forfeit the last two games this season because he doesn't want to see his players get injured. Besonen explained he has lost three of his top defensive players, and will have to replace them with young, inexperienced players.

"Would you want your 13 and 14-year-old kid going up against a seasoned veteran?" Besonen said. He explained if they play Akron-Fairgrove Friday night, his small players will have to stop a fast, 6'2", 230-pound fullback. In their game against Kingston two Bulldogs were injured.

Besonen said he felt the outcome of the Kingston game would have been different if he had his six starters in the game. He added the players have told him they are ready to take on the rest of the schedule, regardless of how big the opponents are.

Besonen said he isn't complaining about the Creque requirement, but he feels all of the teams should play under the same academic requirements. Other teams in the league use state eligibility requirements which require a player to pass at least three classes. He explained a player at other schools could get three D's, and fail the rest of his courses, and still play. At Owen-Gage if a player gets one D and a C in the rest of his classes, he is not allowed to play.

In the Kingston game, the inexperienced Bulldogs found themselves facing an opposing line with two brothers, Jim and Tom Rye, both weighing over 220 pounds. The largest Bulldog lineman was Dave Peters, who weighs 175 pounds.

By the start of the second quarter the Bulldogs trailed 14-0 after Kingston's Dean Sheckles scored on a six-yard run in the first quarter. Early in the second quarter, quarterback Shawn Campbell scored on a two-yard run.

The Bulldogs came back late in the second period, driving to the Kingston four-yard line before they were stopped short of the goal line on the next four plays. The Bulldogs dodged the bullet when a holding call nullified an 80-yard run into the Bulldog end zone by Sheckles in the waning seconds of the game.

In the third quarter, both teams were unable to mount a scoring drive and the score remained 14-0 in Kingston's favor.

Kingston broke the scoring drought in the fourth period when kicker Volker Lange split the uprights from 46 yards out to give Kingston a 17-point lead.

In the fourth quarter it was Owen-Gage's turn to have a long scoring run called back. After receiving a punt on the Bulldog 23-yard line, Jay Susalla scampered 76 yards into the Kingston end zone, only to have the play called back because of a clipping call.

The Cardinals scored three times in the final period. Gary Jaster scored on a three-yard and a 73-yard, run, and Sheckles added six more on a six-yard jaunt into the Bulldog end zone.

The Bulldogs' offense was held to 100 yards. Quarterback Stu Stirrett completed 5 of 26 passes for 47 yards. Mike Mandich gained 33 yards on 11 carries. Jay Susalla gained 20 yards on six carries.

Kingston had a total of 301 yards on 55 running plays. Jaster gained 138 yards on 16 carries. Sheckles rushed 26 times for 135 yards.

If the Bulldogs decide to play Akron-Fairgrove Friday the game will be at Akron.

O-G cagers still winless

The Owen-Gage girls' basketball team dropped two more games last week, losing to Ubyly Oct. 15 and to Kingston Thursday.

Against Ubyly, Susie Salcido was the top Bulldog scorer with five points in Owen-Gage's 63-25 loss.

The junior varsity won 26-19.

Against Kingston Thursday, the Bulldogs were defeated 55-35. Salcido was again the top scorer with 15 points and 13 rebounds. Debbie Engelhardt had eight points. Marsha Lopez netted 14 rebounds.

The Bulldog junior varsity lost 35-41. Four junior Bulldogs fouled out in the game.

The Bulldogs will host Akron-Fairgrove Thursday night and will travel to Carsonville-Port Sanilac Oct. 29.

Hawk golfers fourth

Cass City finished fourth in the Thumb B Association golf competition as the season ended with a league match at Rolling Hills Golf Course in Cass City Monday, Oct. 14.

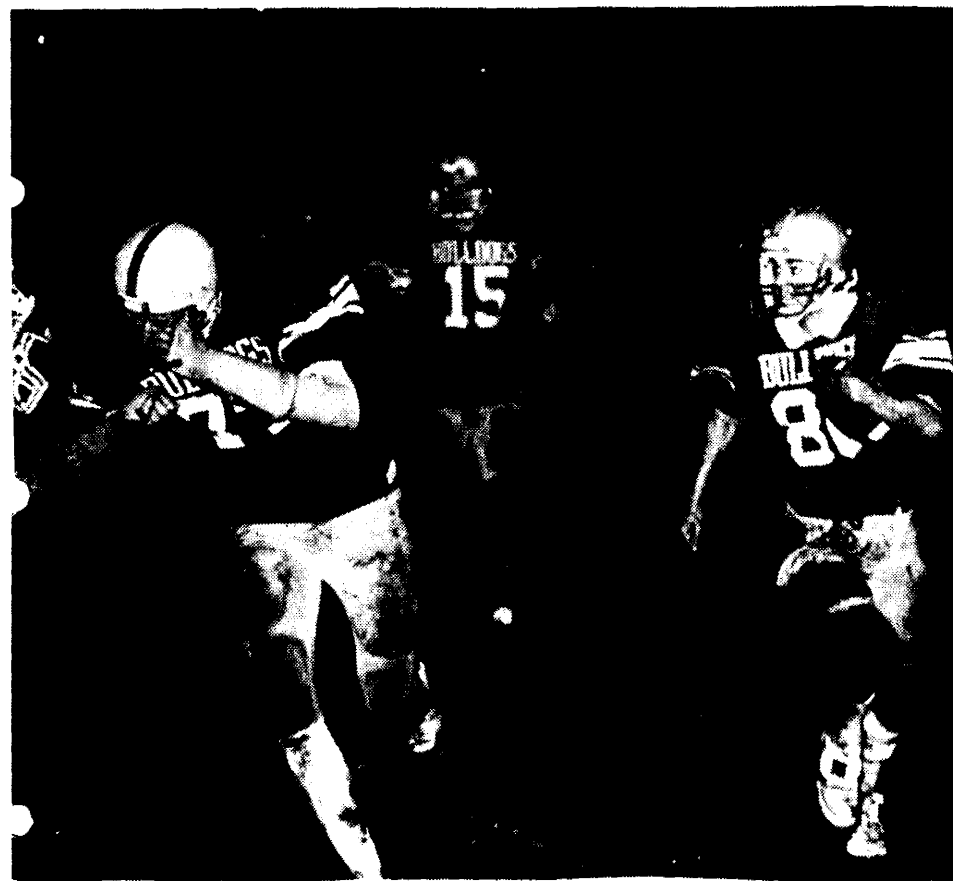

Bad Axe, which was the conference leader, won the tournament with a 337 score and repeated as conference champs.

Second place in the tournament was won by Caro, which moved to third in the over-all standings. Vassar finished third in the league meet and second in the standings.

Cass City was fourth and shot 378. Randy Teichman led Cass City with 82. Other scores were: Rich McCallum, 98; Greg Zdrojewski, 98; Randy Miller, 98.

THE HAWK DEFENSE was on the field most of the time Friday against the Lakers. Two big plays and a Laker interception ruined a superior performance. Cass City broke up this pass to Mike Sturm. Spoiling the completion was Jeff Lefler. Greg Erla, left, comes over to help out if needed.

AROUND LEFT END - Following a block by tackle Dave Laurie, Owen-Gage running back Jay Susalla scampers for a short gain. Susalla, a freshman, ran for 20 yards in the Bulldogs 35-0 loss to Kingston.

Vassar cops cross country

Thumb B League title

Cass City boys finished sixth among six teams in the annual Thumb B Association cross country track meet held at Cass City Tuesday.

Cass City girls did not have enough runners to compete in the team competition among girls.

Vassar won the boys' meet with 53 points. Others finished in the following order: Caro, 60; Marlette, 64; North Branch, 97; Lakers, 117; Cass City, 122.

Among the girls, Caro dominated, winning four of the first five places. Amy Titus of Marlette was first with a last mile sprint that carried her by five Caro thinclads.

Caro finished with 20 points. Vassar had 65 and Marlette, 77. They were the only schools with the required five runners.

Cass City was paced by Junior Kurt Bliss who runs with a bad ankle, but left off his splints for the first time this year. He dropped a minute and a half off his best time and finished fourth with a time of 17:24. Senior Todd Potrykus was 33rd. The remainder of the team is composed of underclassmen. They finished in the following order: Sophomore Paul Asher, 26; Freshman Brad Bishop, 28; Sophomore Mike Jones, 31; Junior Clayton Hobart, 34; Freshman Jason Smith, 35.

The top five finishers in the meet were named to the all-conference first team and presented medals. They are: Josh Monti, Caro, 16:08; Greg Morey, North Branch, 16:38; Trent Hostettler, Marlette, 16:49; Kurt Bliss, Cass City, 17:24; Troy Hewitt, Marlette, 17:26.

GIRLS' BEST

The best Hawk runners among the girls were Chris Tuckey, 12, in 22:56 and Katy Scolon, 13, in 23:05.

The third runner for Cass City was Laura Stine, a freshman, who was 20th in 25:45. Tuckey was running her second week of the season due to illness.

The all-conference girls' team was: Amy Titus, Marlette, 20:48; Tammy Reid, Caro, 20:57; Tracey Galsterer, Caro, 21:01; Amy Galsterer, Caro, 21:04; Kristie Campbell, Caro, 21:05.

New books at the library

CARIBBEE by Thomas Hoover (fiction). Barbados, 1648. Slaves are being unloaded at the water's edge - the first Africans in the New World - to work the lucrative sugar crop under the whips of English planters. Soon after, the great landholders plot to seize their neighbors' five-acre farms. And over the horizon comes a fleet of British men-of-war, sent by Cromwell's Parliament to pummel the rich West Indies into submission. Captain Hugh Winston, gentleman buccaneer and anti-slaver, helps the planters against the British, in a revolt joined by the settlers in the Virginia colony and predated the Revolutionary War by more than a century. And there is a slave uprising, too, when machete-wielding Africans, led by the princely Atiba, rise up and set the island ablaze. Brave ladies join in on all sides: the lovely mulatto, Serina; the town madam, Joan, and Katy, the governor's comely daughter, full of brass and ginger, a sure mate for Hugh.

SECRETS by Danielle Steel (fiction). Midas-touch producer Mel Wechsler casts five actors for his prime-time TV series Manhattan, but the price of soaring opportunity for his stars forces hidden lives into the limelight. Bill Warwick's secret marriage to a drug addict threatens both his contract and his sanity, while Zach Taylor's ambivalent homosexuality imprisons him in an accidental history. Gabrielle Smith hides her family heritage while Jane Adams faces another family secret; a violent and abusive husband. The glamorous and clandestine details, in a New York-Beverly Hills setting, add the usual glitter.

THE CITY OF JOY by Dominique Lapierre (non-fiction). This is a saga of poverty in a section of Calcutta called the City of Joy. Lapierre takes beggars, eunuchs, lepers, starving children and hundreds of other characters through scenes of misery, filth and degradation that readers will be thankful to experience only through the written word. The narrative focuses on the lives of a Bengali rickshaw man, a young Polish priest, a Jewish-American surgeon, an Assamese nurse and Calcutta's very own Godfather. The approach of the monsoon resurrects a people who had seemed half-dead "in a fantastic explosion of happiness, exuberance, and life" at the same time that it increases the unpleasantness of Calcutta's stench, humidity and overflowing excrement.

AROUND THE FARM

Gov't loan best for corn

By Bill Bortel

A projected record corn crop has pressured harvest prices to their lowest level since 1982, making the placement of corn into the government loan program the best marketing opportunity available. This year's corn crop is expected to be nearly three percent larger than the previous record crop in 1982 and this isn't good for corn prices.

Although prices aren't likely to sink further, Jim Hilker, agriculture economist at Michigan State University, expects corn will trade in a narrow range through October. In addition, corn prices are not expected to recover to loan levels until late winter or early spring because of slack export demand on top of the increased production.

To the farmer, this means the best, and essentially only, marketing choice is to put eligible grain into the government loan and reserve program. Cash corn prices are about 50 cents per bushel under loan prices, making the government the highest bidder.

Livestock producers may gain an advantage by putting their grain immediately under loan. They can receive $2.55 per bushel for their corn when they put it under loan, buy cheaper cash feed grain on the market, and then turn around and redeem their grain to feed when prices rise above the loan rate. This may save livestock producers money in feed costs and help them net a profit later.

Producers should not redeem their grain under loan until prices rise above the loan redemption rate, the loan price plus accrued interest.

Grain storage space will be tight because of the size of this year's crop, but that should not stop anyone from using the loan and reserve program. The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service can inform farmers about grain transfers, enabling a person to sell grain locally and buy it back someplace where storage is available. Sometimes it can be financially beneficial actually to ship the grain for storage because of reduced storage costs and increased access to market channels at more central locations. If producers are not eligible for the loan program, consider selling their grain at harvest. The basis is not expected to narrow enough to cover storage costs. If farmers do plan to sell corn at harvest, they should either consider selling it on a basis contract or buy corn futures to sell back at a profit when prices rise. Corn producers should make sure the elevator they sell grain to on contract is financially sound. Farmers need to use the government loan program to their advantage, adding that the current market situation is not expected to change in the next year, so producers should plan on signing up for next year's farm program, too.

Coming Auctions

Thursday, Oct. 24 - An auction of farm machinery and trucks will be held at the Colony House, four miles east of Cass City and four miles north on M-53. Lorn Hillaker, auctioneer.

Saturday, Nov. 2 - Mrs. Virginia Kubacki will sell farm machinery, milking equipment, real estate and some antiques at the place located two miles north and a half mile east of Ubyly on Priemer Rd. Osentoski Auction Service.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

The day of the ballyhooed tax shelter is fading into night. For many years they were the delight of doctors and other high-income people. Out in Vegas they call the type "high-rollers."

They were also the darlings of the stock brokers, and no wonder. Commissions ran around 10 percent, compared with 1 1/2 percent on stocks and bonds. Developers and the trust companies holding all the funds in these shelters nicked off another 10 percent or so.

Thus, a $10,000 investment had only $800 working. The rest had gone to the middlemen.

Besides this basic handicap, two others hit the shelters:

1. Real estate and oil drilling lost their shine in the last two or three years.
2. Internal Revenue focused its beady eyes on all shelters. Report a shelter in your return and it practically guarantees a tax audit.

Another feature of the shelters skipped over by the salesmen was the lack of a market for them. I've told in this column of many such cases where the owner was simply stuck with his investment until the venture decided to liquidate.

There was a friend of mine as one example who put in $10,000, and saved $5,000 in taxes. Great, except that's all she ever did get. The project appears without value, and so she saved $5,000 in taxes and lost $10,000 in capital.

The wisdom of the great philosophers who long ago declared there was no such thing as a free lunch was confirmed once more.

A recent issue of MONEY magazine told of a couple of these shelters that are listed on the New York Stock Exchange:

Shelter	Price	% Yield	% Sheltered
Sabine Royalty	17	16	80
L.L. & E Trust	13	17	85

Residents protest prison

in the Vassar area.

"The state of Michigan is going to build 10 prisons. The only question is who gets the revenue," a Vassar resident said, raising a few cheers and some catcalls from the audience. He added 17 businesses in Vassar have recently closed. "The prison won't solve every problem, but it is a step in the right direction. You had better think about it before you pass it down."

Gonzales was asked why the state had turned down property in the Saginaw area that was offered as a site. Gonzales explained the site was on the flood plain, and was also located on a landfill with chemicals buried inside.

"Those guys don't worry about us. Put them on that damn chemical dump," a resident said. Another person recommended they build the prison on Charity Island because "they couldn't swim away, and in the winter it would be too far to walk on the ice."

Tuscola County Commissioner Bob Russell, Vassar, was asked why commissioners recommended a Vassar site for the prison. Russell explained he has received calls from two Vassar residents offering property for sale for a prison site. One site, 3/10 of a mile east of Vassar, has 75 acres. Another 87-acre site, that Russell refused to say where it was located, has been offered.

After the meeting, Gonzales said he was not surprised at the response from the people. He explained usually only people that want to complain come to the meetings. People who are neutral or in favor of a prison don't show up.

If the things still appeal to you, these listed shelters have the advantage of a market. You can cash in your chips any day, at the market price.

If you're in a 40 percent tax bracket, the more conservative of the above two, Sabine Royalty, will net you after capital gains and regular tax on the two parts of the dividends about 11.8 percent. The other, L.L. & E, will return 14.5 percent, if all goes along the same as it is now.

Neither trust is rated by Standard & Poor.

Compare these returns with those offered by the very simple tax shelter of municipal bonds. These bonds described below are blue chips, and they're 100 percent tax sheltered from Federal income taxes. The yields will go along year after year. No worries of dry holes, or falling oil prices. No problem of Uncle Whiskers auditing your tax return.

You won't get quite as much income but you will get your capital back. That's more than a lot of sad investors have reported to me, of shelters the last few years.

Tax-free bonds I've bought myself the last couple of months have included:

Municipal Electric Authority of Ga., 9 7/8 percent due 1-1-16. Bought at 99 to yield 10 percent. Rated AA.

State of Washington, general obligations, due 9-1-10, priced around 93 to yield 9.5 percent to maturity and also that rate currently. Rated A.

Florida State Board of Education 9.125 percent due 6-1-14 to yield about 9.4 percent and priced around 97. Rated AA. General obligation of the state.

Either the Washington or Florida bonds are in effect a mortgage on all the taxable property in the whole state. You don't need any more diversification than that. Salesmen will try to sell you various bond funds, citing the advantage of "diversifying" — the eggs — in many-baskets idea.

Own these state bonds and you've got your own bond fund, without the 4 or 5 percent entry fee you'll pay to get into one of these bond funds or bond trusts.

School board meeting

take remedial courses in the subject matter where they failed.

That decision won't be reached, however, until after the results of this year's tests are known, probably in November.

OTHER BUSINESS

After several months' discussion, the board approved a policy requiring students who wish to transfer from one school to another within the district to apply on or before the August meeting unless extenuating unforeseen factors are present.

The board approved payment to Marilyn Peters, to attend two conferences while paid her teacher's salary.

The board policy is that the district will pay reasonable expenses, but not salary. Instead the teacher is required to use a personal business day.

The board made an exception to the rule for the remedial reading instructor. Trustees said the exception was because Mrs. Peters is instructing under a new system this year and is expected to teach the new concepts to other teachers in the system.

Walbro earnings hold steady

L.E. Althaver, President and Chief Executive Officer, Walbro Corporation, reported consolidated net sales of $19,964,000 for the three-month period ended Sept. 30, 1985, compared with $17,194,000 for the same period in 1984. The company posted net earnings of $904,000 for the quarter, compared with earnings of $924,000 for the third quarter of 1984.

On a per-share basis, earnings for the third quarter were $.31 based on an average of 2,944,036 shares outstanding. This compares with per share earnings of $.31 for the third quarter of 1984 based on 2,936,286 shares outstanding. The above information is restated to take into account the two-for-one split of Walbro common stock which occurred May 28, 1985.

For the first nine months of 1985, sales totaled $58,401,000 compared with $53,479,000 for the same period in 1984. Earnings for the first nine months of 1985 were $2,898,000 compared with $2,649,000 for the same period in 1984.

Per share earnings for the first nine months of 1985 were $.99 based on an average of 2,941,641 shares outstanding. This compares with $.99 per share based on an average of 2,669,620 shares outstanding for the first nine months of 1984. This data has been restated to take into account the two-for-one split mentioned previously.

In announcing the third quarter results, Althaver noted that year-to-date sales and earnings were up 9 percent compared with the first nine months of 1984, and that demand for the company's major product lines looks strong for the fourth quarter.

Althaver reported continued strength in demand for Walbro throttle bodies and electric fuel pumps for automotive original equipment fuel injection applications during the third quarter, with even stronger demand anticipated for the fourth quarter.

"While sales of small-engine carburetors were reduced in the third quarter due to continued softness in sales of consumer products and seasonal reductions, fourth quarter demand for Walbro's lines of small-engine carburetors looks strong," Althaver said.

Sales of Walbro's custom manufactured die castings declined during the third quarter, Althaver reported. Sales of custom manufactured plastics components were up substantially during the third quarter, however, and demand for these products is expected to continue to grow, according to the Walbro executive.

VOICING THEIR OPINION - About 10 senior citizens from Sanilac County came to a Thumb Area Commission on Aging meeting in Cass City Monday to complain about the opening of a new Sandusky kitchen. Wally Dion (standing) told commissioners the new site is a waste of tax money.

In Lansing area

Camp Tuscola escapee caught two days later

A 27-year-old escapee from Camp Tuscola, the minimum security prison, Wahjamega, was able to enjoy his freedom from prison for only two days before being apprehended by deputies from the Clinton County Sheriff's Department.

Camp Tuscola Director Michael D. Flintoft said James A. Linville, from the Lansing area, was last seen at 2:00 p.m. prisoner count Wednesday, Oct. 16. He was reported missing at a 4:00 p.m. prisoner count. Flintoft said a search of the area failed to turn up Linville, who was serving a 5-to-10 year sentence for armed robbery.

He was arrested Friday at his home in Bath, northeast of Lansing.

Another Camp Tuscola inmate, Donald Gavin, 34, Detroit, is still at large after failing to return from a week-end furlough that was to end Oct. 13.

Another prison escapee, William S. Day, who walked away from Camp Tuscola Sept. 26 and abducted an elderly Caro woman has been bound over to Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Day was to be arraigned Monday in circuit court after he waived a preliminary hearing in District Court Thursday. The arraignment was postponed for one week. He faces charges of kidnapping, assault with intent to rob while armed and prison escape. Day remains in the Tuscola County Jail without bond.

After escaping from Camp Tuscola, Day walked to the Central Shop Rite grocery store, west of Caro, and allegedly abducted Geraldine Balongue, 80, Caro. He forced his way into her car and drove to the Lansing area, where he tied the woman to a tree and fled in her vehicle. Balongue managed to free herself, and was given a ride to the Clinton County Sheriff's Department. She was unharmed.

Day was captured the next day in the Dayton, Ohio, area.

Michigan Mirror

Michigan students score above national average

By Warren M. Hoyt

State high school test results from the American College Test (ACT), one of two major college admission examinations, showed the average Michigan high school student scoring higher than the national average.

Coupled with results released earlier showing the average state student scoring higher than the national average on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip Runkel said the two results "reveal the results of continuing improvements in Michigan schools."

The 1984-85 test results from the more than 66,500 students that took the ACT, five times the number that took the SAT, showed that the average state result among high school graduates was 18.9, up from the 1983-84 average of 18.8 and over the national average of 18.6.

The state overall average on the ACT scores improved for the third consecutive year. It also marked the fifth consecutive year that the state overall average was higher than the national average.

Overall Michigan ACT scores were up in English, social studies and natural sciences, but went down in mathematics, Runkel reported.

The results also showed that Michigan men's scores improved or remained stable in all testing areas, while women's scores improved or remained stable in all areas except mathematics.

Elections Division Offers New Computer Access System

A new system to provide the public, news media, and others easier access to federal campaign reports was announced recently by Secretary of State Richard Austin and Federal Elections Commission Chairman John Warren McGarry.

The system involves installation of a computer terminal in the Department of State Elections Division in Lansing that will be linked to the Federal Elections Commission computer in Washington, D.C.

The Lansing terminal will provide direct access to campaign reports for any federal candidate or committee throughout the U.S. and is available to users at no cost.

Previously, only reports of Michigan candidates for federal office and their committees were available in the state elections office.

Information is organized to show contributions to candidates for federal office, contributions by Michigan-based political action committees involved in federal elections, and contributions by individuals.

Austin reported that the only expense incurred by the state to participate in the system was the purchase of a receiving terminal which costs approximately $400.

"The disclosure of campaign related finances plays two significant roles in our electoral process," he said.

Austin said first the system increases the quality of information reaching citizens, giving voters a complete accounting of the various interests supporting those seeking office, and second, campaign finance disclosure laws provide an effective and clearly visible deterrent against corruption in politics.

The disclosure system was made possible through a cooperative effort between the Michigan Department of State and the federal commission, Austin said.

The state's election division also receives all campaign finance disclosure reports filed by state candidates and committees under Michigan's Campaign Finance Act.

Michigan is the ninth state in the country to participate in the disclosure system.

Arrest Bay City man in Caro holdup

A 32-year-old Bay City man has been charged with two counts of armed robbery for his alleged involvement in the Sept. 19 robbery of a Caro home.

Noian Nash, 32, 107 Fillmore Place, Bay City, has also been charged with breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling, and a charge of committing a felony with a firearm. The charges stem from the robbery of John and Emily Piske, 1910 W. Sanilac Rd., Caro. During the robbery the Piskes were held up at gunpoint, robbed and tied to a chair. The robber netted over $115 cash. A .22 caliber rifle and the Piskes' 1981 Ford Fairmont were also stolen. The car was found three days later in Flint.

Nash was apprehended by law enforcement officers in Flint for possession of stolen property.

In Tuscola County District Court Monday, Judge Richard Kern set bond at $25,000. Nash had been sentenced Oct. 1, 1984 to 20 to 30 months in prison for a larceny by conversion charge. He was paroled Sept. 3, 1985.

each year we are providing more services," Brown said.

Brown added the new site will provide a place for senior citizens to meet throughout the day. At the Sandusky High School the cafeteria is available only for meals. A service office, presently located in the Sanilac County courthouse, will be relocated in the new site.

"In essence, everything would be under one roof," Brown said. "The whole concept of consolidation is to reduce costs, not to increase costs."

Brown said TACA recently opened a new meal site in Bad Axe, and the seniors were "excited" to get into a place of their own. He explained the Bad Axe seniors had been eating in the high school cafeteria. The cost of renting the facility is $100 a month less than rental costs in Sandusky.

*Based on standards of comparison 2000 calories per day is the midpoint of the recommendations by the National Academy of Sciences for normal, healthy, sedentary adults. A maximum of 3500 mg of sodium per day and 180 mg of cholesterol per day are not to be exceeded. The American Heart Association recommends not more than 30% of calories from fat and no more than 300 mg of cholesterol per day.

It is our policy to have all items advertised in this circular in stock during the sale period. However, because this circular is printed approximately 30 days prior to the sale date, there could be an unforeseen delay, or in some cases, non-shipment of an item. In such cases, we will substitute the item of comparable value with the same or better quality. We do not have the right to limit the quantity on some items and special prices are in effect only during the sale period while quantities last. Regular prices shown may vary from market to market. However, the sale price will always be as shown.
