Thieves strike Cass City store

An estimated $40,000 to $50,000 in merchandise was stolen from Schneeberger's TV, Appliances, Cass City, Sunday night or early Monday morning, after thieves cut a lock off a protective steel grated door, to gain entry into the store.

Clarence "Bud" Schneeberger said he discovered the theft Monday morning after he unlocked the store at 7:00 a.m. To get into the store the thieves also had to pry the locks open on two other doors. Schneeberger said a majority of the merchandise taken was video recording equipment, cameras, and video cassettes. About 370 video cassettes with an estimated value of $12,000 were stolen. Television sets, satellite receivers, walkie talkies and radio telephones were also taken.

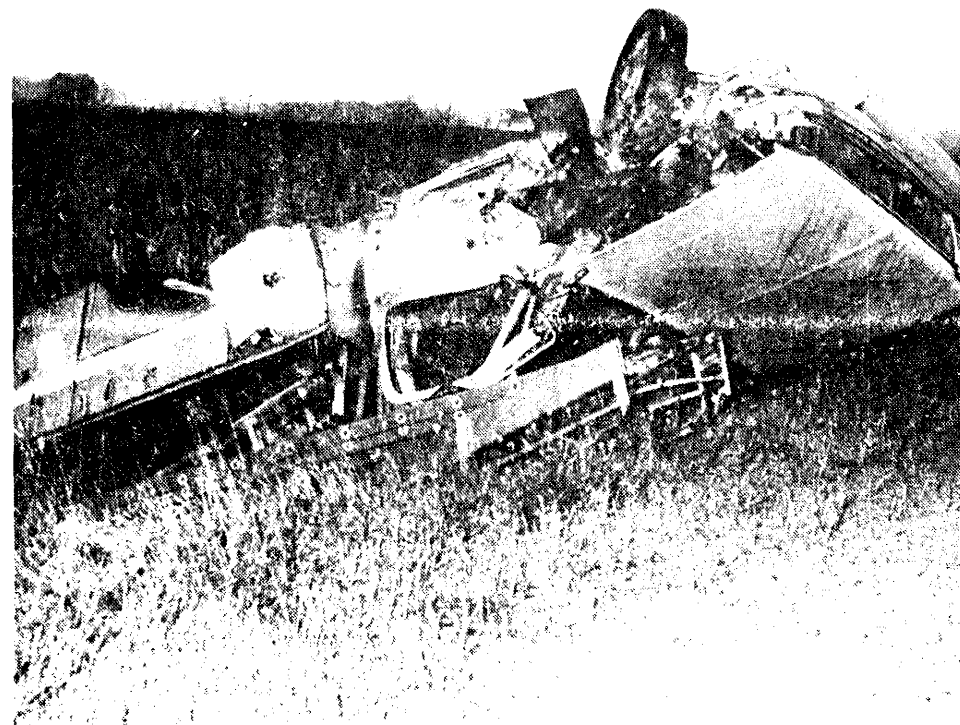

Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Det. Larry Walker said the robbery is similar to two recent robberies in the area. Thieves broke into Richard's Television Sales and Services, Caro, sometime after 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 12, but before the store opened Monday, Oct. 14, stealing an estimated $20,000 in video equipment. Two weeks later, thieves stole about $20,000 of similar merchandise from Leitch Refrigeration and Appliance Store, Bad Axe. In both robberies a rear door was pried open to gain entry.

Schneeberger said, because of the recent robberies in the area, he hired someone to watch the outside doors of the building. He added when the doors were checked at 11:30 p.m. Sunday there was no sign of a forced entry.

Schneeberger said this was the first break in to the store since they started 25 years ago. The loss is covered by insurance.

Weather woes continue to plague area farmers

Despite a dry summer, and what area agricultural experts are calling a "very wet" fall harvest, the Michigan corn crop is expected to be the second largest ever. According to the Michigan Department of Agricultural Reporting Service, 275 million bushels of corn are expected to be harvested in the state this fall.

Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service Director Bill Bortel estimated about 70 percent of the county's corn crop has been harvested, with yields down about 15 to 20 bushels per acre. "We are seeing a lot of corn coming in averaging from 70 to 120 bushels per acre," Bortel said. He explained this is down from a normal year when some fields would be yielding up to 160 bushels per acre.

Bortel said farmers need dry weather conditions to give them the chance to get out into the fields and harvest corn and soybeans.

Since Oct. 1, the area has received more than 6.5 inches of rain.

About 80 percent of the soybeans in Tuscola County have been harvested so far this year. Bortel estimates an average yield of 25 to 40 bushels per acre. He added during a normal year, yields would be 30 to 50 bushels per acre.

Bortel said 80 to 85 percent of the county's sugar beets have been harvested, with good yields this year. He is concerned about farmers harvesting sugar beets still in the fields. "It's going to be terrible," Bortel said, about farmers trying to "mud out" the crop in wet fields.

He added that a small percentage of dry beans have not been harvested, and what is left in the fields will not be combined. The state average for dry bean yields was 1,300 pounds per acre. The total state production is about 5.5 million hundredweight (cwt.). Please turn to page 16.

Sanilac commissioners spur Brown resignation

Charges of wasteful spending, made by Sanilac County commissioners over a new Thumb Area Commission on Aging (TACA) meal site in Sandusky, have resulted in TACA Executive Director Bob Brown resigning his position at a Monday meeting in Cass City.

In his letter of resignation Brown explained he is quitting because Sanilac

County has withheld funding from the agency, which he feels could "place the lives of some people in jeopardy." Brown said the money is used to fund meal programs and services in the county. Without the funding, services would have to be cut.

The problem in Sanilac County stems from TACA's choice for a new senior citizen meal site. Until Nov. 1, senior citizen meals have been served at the Sandusky High School cafeteria. High school cafeteria employees prepared the meals for the seniors at the site.

The cost of renting the new site is $900 per month, which is more than Region Seven Area Agency on Aging, TACA's monitoring agency, will pay for a meal site. The maximum amount Region Seven will pay for a meal site, including utilities, is $500 per month. Additional funding came from local funds.

In October, Sanilac County commissioners decided to withhold $20,000 of their $80,000 annual payment to TACA until the issue was resolved. The $20,000 was their last payment to TACA for the 1984. Please turn to page 16.

School board meeting

AIDS and asbestos problems aired

The Cass City School Board wrestled with two pressing health problems Monday night at its regular meeting at the high school.

One of the problems is asbestos in the school. Supt. Don Crouse revealed that the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is fining the school $8,600 for improper inspection.

The school had been inspected by the Tuscola County Health Department earlier and been declared asbestos free. An EPA inspection revealed that there is a problem. Crouse said that it's possible that all five schools may have areas affected.

In a similar case in Bay City, the EPA fined the district $25,500 for "improper inspection" but later agreed to reduce the levy to less than $1,000 when that district eliminates the problem to the satisfaction of the EPA.

Crouse also boosted his rough estimate of what the cost may be to repair the buildings between $100,000 to $200,000.

A $200,000 cost means a two-mill levy for one year as a mill raises about $100,000 in the Cass City District.

The board moved to start preliminary work on the problem. It authorized the superintendent to spend up to $3,000 for an inspection with an outline of the work that needs to be done.

The superintendent has the name of a firm that has surveyed about 25 schools in Michigan. The board requested that he investigate to determine if the company would assume liability if its recommendations proved to be inadequate in the future.

AIDS POLICY

A good deal of time was spent trying to devise a policy for handling a child suffering from Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS). Guidelines recommended by a State Board of Education Advisory Committee were presented for study.

Most of the 10 suggestions in the policy were not ones that board members were ready to accept.

Trustees were not sure that the committee's suggestion that "most children with AIDS should be allowed to attend school" should be adopted. They felt that not enough is known about the disease at this time to reach that decision and be fair to all the students.

The policy will be submitted again at the December board meeting and the board agreed with this statement. "The best educational setting for a child with AIDS should be determined by a team approach involving the child's parents and doctor, public health officials and school personnel."

REVISED BUDGET

A revised budget for 1985-86 was presented and adopted by the board. It reveals that Cass City will be $75,630 in the red at the end of the year.

The district started the year with a fund balance of $442,435 and that will be reduced to $366,805, marking the second successive year that the fund balance has been reduced. Last year's deficit was $41,349.

Although state aid money per pupil was sharply increased this year, the amount that the Cass City Schools received was less.

That's because school enrollment declined by 61 students. Revenue from state sources totaled $796,609 in 1984-85 and is budgeted at $789,070 for 1985-86, a decrease of $7,539. Revenues from Federal sources dropped $9,601.

Revenues from local taxes rose $85,880 to $2,961,116. Total revenues were up $69,614.

Expenses are budgeted to rise to $3,947 million from $3,843 million, an increase of about $104,000.

OTHER BUSINESS

A request from Bill Sattelberg to have his son, Steven, continue in the fourth grade at Campbell Elementary was approved. The Sattelbergs are moving to the Deford area. There is no extra cost to the district.

A request from Kathleen Mallory to have her son, Darryl, attend Campbell from Deford was denied.

In a letter to the board Mrs. Mallory said that her son has a personality problem at Deford. The board was told that a professional had advised Mrs. Mallory that changing schools Please turn to page 16.

Tuesday recital to open 7th annual Bach Festival

The seventh annual Village Bach Festival will open Tuesday, Nov. 26, with an organ recital by Thomas Brown at the First Presbyterian Church in Caro.

The recital will be the first presentation of a busy Thanksgiving week end for the noted performers, most of whom return year after year, to present the concerts in Cass City and assist in the educational programs that are also a familiar part of the Festival week end.

One of the primary reasons that the nationally acclaimed musicians return is the friendly welcome that they always receive.

The orchestra will rehearse after a traditional Thanksgiving dinner in Cass City.

Rehearsals will also be held Friday, Nov. 29, and Saturday, Nov. 30, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 12:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. Rehearsals are open to the public and are free.

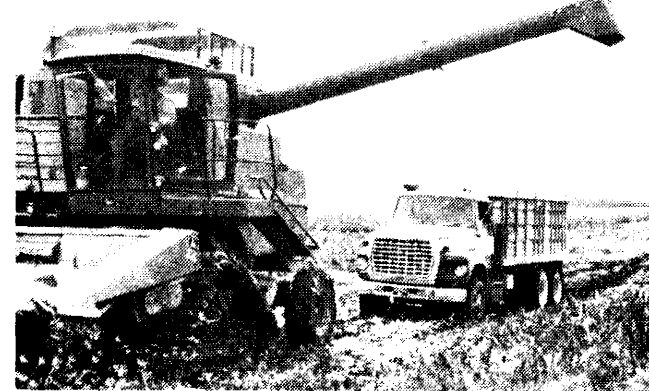

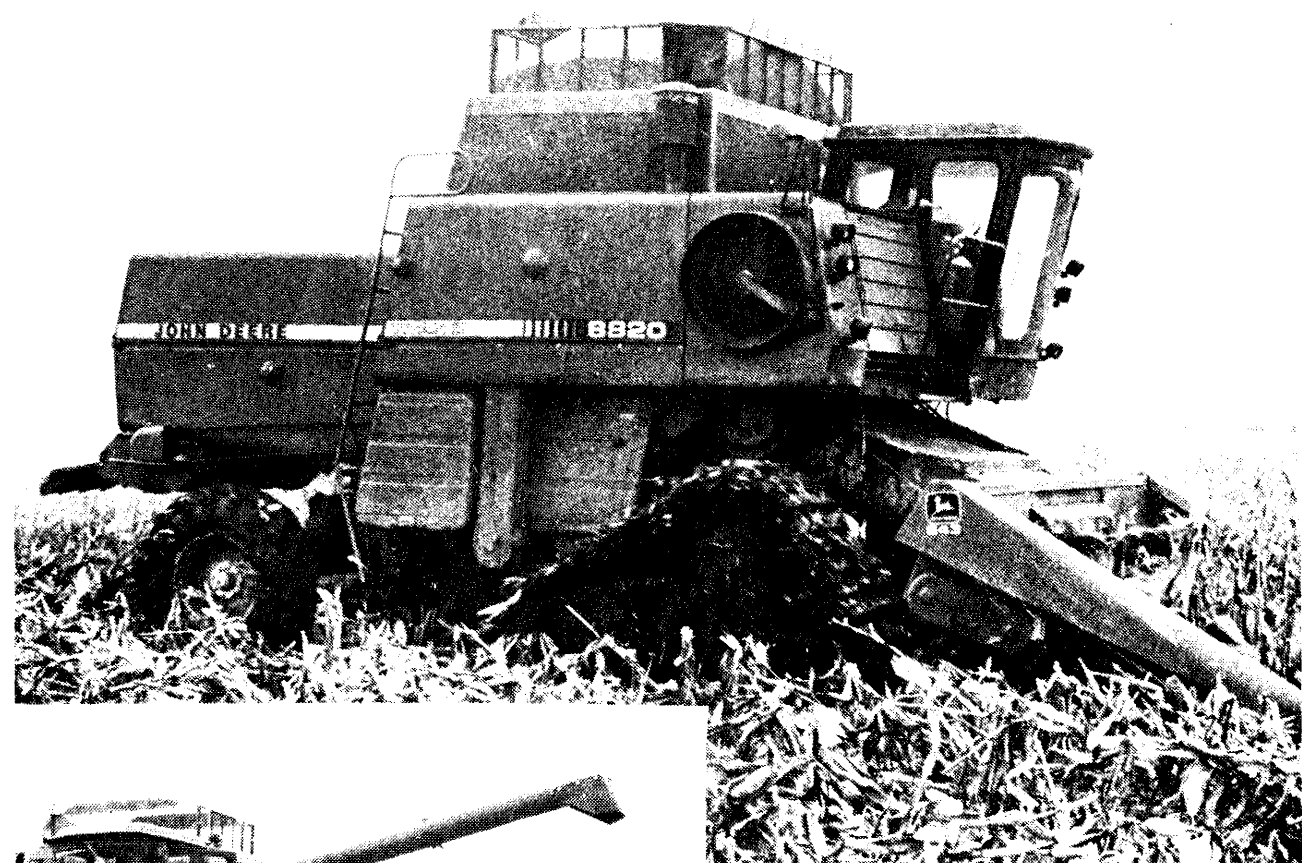

Under the direction of a volunteer board, housing, transportation and a brunch for host families is arranged. The board also provides hospitality for the musicians after concerts, baby sitters for musical families and handles all the other details needed to make the concert successful.

The home economics students at Cass City High School assist with the preparation of food for the annual event. Please turn to page 16.

Two weeks ago, the Chronicle printed the wrong date in the headline of a story about Brewster Shaw's second space flight. It said Nov. 27 instead of Nov. 26. (The story gave the right date).

Since that time the wrong date has been picked up by the paper in Pigeon and the tiny throwaway sheet that is placed in areas restaurants.

In addition, the Sanilac Board of Commissioners used the Nov. 27 date in a resolution honoring the astronaut.

Here's another chapter in the continuing saga of the "coffee game" in Cass City. In case you've forgotten, the game is to see who gets stuck for the coffee. Usually there are between five and 10 players.

Someone writes down a number between 1 and 1,000 and the guessing continues until someone says the number and has to buy the coffee.

Most times, about the same crew plays. But on Saturdays recently, Fred Leeson, who is not around during the week, joined the fun.

He has played the last three Saturdays and only on Saturdays and (you guessed it) got stuck all three times. Honest, Fred, the game is honest.

Congressman Bob Traxler has announced that the Energy and Water Development Appropriations bill for 1986 has been signed into law, meaning that $3.2 million is on its way for Thumb water projects.

At Traxler's urging, three projects were included in the yearly appropriations bill. The largest of those projects calls for the $2.8 million construction of a northeast breakwall at Port Austin.

3 Thumb grants approved

In addition, the bill contains $300,000 for additional dredging at the Harbor Beach Marina, and $150,000 to complete plans and specifications at the Vassar Flood Control Project.

"The cooperation and initiative of local officials was essential in securing funds for these three projects," Traxler said. "I know that these communities have worked long and hard to make these projects a reality."

Now there are four students at Central Michigan University and eight persons sponsored at Christian Children's Fund, a world-wide organization for orphans. If all went well last Saturday, I attended my first college football game in a decade. This is written on the previous Friday and frankly, the game hasn't got me all a twitter.

I expect to have a fine time and experience indicates that the game will be enjoyable.

The real reason I'll be in the stands is that I'll be headed that way with three friends and expect to have an enjoyable day in their company. The game is secondary.

That's a marked change to what those games meant to me 30 years ago. I was I-M-F-O-R-T-A-N-T to me then. A Michigan State win was cause for rejoicing, an MSU loss put a cloud over the week end.

It's not that I'm not an MSU fan today. I am. But there are fans and there are fans.

I can remember games during my super fan days when I huddled up in the rain and wondered why half of the crowd went home.

If it rained at the game this year, I'll guarantee you would have found me talking it easy in the Union building.

I started drifting away from Saturday afternoon football when I was first bitten by the golf bug. At first it was a bitter choice. Between playing or watching. But as the years slipped by,

"If It Fits..." Grandpa call home

By Jim Fitzgerald

I was requested to write a column telling the grandfather of Rose, Brandi, Deangelo and Amber that his grandchildren want to see him. So does his daughter. The children's mother.

Maybe I shouldn't do it. The request was made by the mother, who explained that she and her dad "have been like strangers for the past 15 years." But "he reads the Free Press from front to back every day" and perhaps something he read on the back page would influence him to "come home."

I don't know the reason for the estrangement. It's none of my business. But, whatever the reason, the mother says it's no longer important. Probably it never was. That's the way it often is with family disagreements, and too often the unimportance isn't realized until too late.

The grandfather recently found out he has lung cancer. "Because of the severe side effects, he doesn't want me to see him," the mother said. Because the family hasn't been close in recent years, he thinks "to show concern now would be awkward and not heartfelt. He's so wrong."

I'm sure he is. But does he want to hear it from me? Does he want to read here that his daughter said: "My dad has four adorable grandchildren who love him and are constantly asking about him. He probably feels he doesn't know us anymore and hasn't the right to try to know us now, but he's wrong. He's still a part of our everyday lives."

Also, I was asked to tell the grandfather that his daughter remembers all he taught her about the appreciation of reading and music, how to bake cookies, the importance of good manners, the evils of prejudice, so many worthwhile things — and she's taught the same things to his grandchildren.

Amber, only two, always says "Thank you, Ma." Five-year-old Brandi can get dressed for kindergarten all by herself. Deangelo, 10, is taking guitar lessons and 14-year-old Rose makes great oatmeal cookies.

To me, that sounds like welcome news for any grandfather. But should he read it in a newspaper, written by a stranger who maybe should mind my own business?

Your neighbor says

Deer hunter enjoys chance to be outside

Why do you go deer hunting? Rick Guilds, a 17-year-old Cass City resident said he enjoys being outside, and for Guilds deer hunting is part of a family tradition. He hunts with his father, grandfather and older brother.

Guilds shot his first deer Friday morning, a nine-point buck weighing about 180 pounds. This is the second year Guilds has been hunting. Guilds shot the deer east of Cass City, near Schwegler Road. After downing the large buck, Rick and his brother Brad had to drag the deer about 1½ miles to the nearest road.

Guilds didn't make any special plans for where he was going to hunt this season. He decided he would go hunting two days before the season began. He chose his site, and waited for the buck to come to him. He fired five shots, three of which hit the buck.

Guilds feels a deer season is necessary to control the large deer herd in the area.

McLeody Days

By Bill McLeod

This Sunday's Detroit Free Press had a front page story about how lottery millionaires are (actually aren't) spending their new found fortunes. The headline: "They're just ordinary folks," leaves no doubt the money has not gone to their heads.

I'm afraid if I won the mega bucks, the headline wouldn't apply to me. Since I have purchased only one Lotto ticket (needless to say, I didn't win), I will look at that $9.1 million pot as the one I would spend the rest of my life spending. The man who guessed the six two-digit numbers correctly is now receiving $385,000 (after taxes) for the next 19 years. That seems like enough to keep the wolf away from the door, at least for a while.

After making donations to the church, and making sure all of my family members share in my new found fame and fortune, my first major purchase would be to keep a promise I made to Diane about six years ago. I told her someday (notice how I didn't pin down an exact date) I would buy her a diamond ring. Someday for me always seems to get pushed back later and later. There always seem to be mortgage payments, car payments, college loan payments or emergencies that continually crop up.

My next major purchase would be to replace two vehicles that were sold soon after I got married, a 1966 black 2+2 Mustang, and a 1953 Ford pickup. Both vehicles turned a lot of heads whenever I pulled into a gas station. I bought the vehicles when I lived south of Michigan's rust out border, and somehow I managed to keep them in good shape.

But the days of turning some high school kid's head ended when Diane and I signed a contract on a handyman special that needed a lot of handy (and money) to keep it from falling in.

The Mustang went to pay for the materials for a new foundation, and siding on the house. The '53 paid for a new garage.

My last major expenditure would be made at a lumber yard where I would buy enough material to build a four-bedroom house, with two bathrooms. From the living room, I would be able to watch the sunset over Lake Michigan.

I am sure my father-in-law and I would join forces and build the house. The only difference is this time we wouldn't be driving around the country, looking for old buildings to tear down for lumber. It might be fun to build with a 2 by 4 that wasn't already full of nails.

To guarantee I didn't get bored, I would probably buy a farm to keep me preoccupied, and give me a tax write-off. It seems like a lot of the area farmers have a good thing going right now, working for non-profit organizations.

Hourly workers at Evans Products, Gagetown, are now entering the third week of a strike against the automotive steel rack producing company.

"One of the big issues is the insurance," said Tom Reehl, a union vice-president and committee man.

Reehl explained the company has made two three-year contract offers that workers have rejected. In both offers, the company offered a two percent wage increase for the last two years of the contract, and a clause that would require workers to pay increased costs of Blue Cross insurance coverage. In the first offer, narrowly rejected by workers by a 23-24 vote, any increased cost in insurance coverage would be passed on to the employees in July, 1986. A second offer, made Nov. 11, would pass on any increased insurance costs to the worker beginning in November, 1986. The second offer was rejected by a 28-21 vote.

"We don't know what it could be down the road," Reehl said, about possible increased costs of insurance. "I've never seen it go down, it always goes up. We don't know what it is going to be in two years, it could be up $50 (increased costs) a month, or more."

This is the third strike since the union started in the plant in 1963. The workers' longest strike came in 1978, when work at the plant was shut down for six weeks.

Reehl said workers are also seeking a larger wage increase than the company is offering. The pay scale for hourly workers presently ranges from about $7 to $8.56 per hour. A two percent wage increase would amount to about 14 to 17 cents per hour during the second and third year of the contract. In the last three-year contract, which expired Nov. 3, workers received a 50-cent per hour increase for the first year, and 30 cents per hour for the second and third years.

"Very few people in our factory can go out and buy a new car, unless both husband and wife are working," Reehl said.

Reehl added, the factory is entering into what is usually a slow time of the year. "I don't know how long the strike is going to last," the committee man said. Generally, factory work orders begin to pick up in February and March. "We could be out for quite a while."

Reehl added that supervisory personnel are presently doing production work to fill an existing order. Last week, a non-union truck driver came into the plant to take out finished parts.

"This morning (Wednesday), when I went over to take some coffee to the picketers, I could hear the machines

Reehl said. No negotiations are scheduled. The workers belong to the United Steel pounding."

Workers Union, Local 6368, Bay City.

A company official refused to comment on the strike.

Ubly board discusses property sale

At a Nov. 11 board meeting of the Ubly School District, trustees discussed the possible sale of property that was originally purchased as a building site for a new elementary school.

Business Manager Mark Tenbusch explained the property, about 57 acres, was purchased when the school district had about 1,400 students and the board was considering constructing a new elementary building. Dwindling enrollment has since dropped the school's population to about 850 students. The existing buildings are capable of taking care of the classroom needs.

Tenbusch said the school district has not let the land stand vacant. He explained the school has operated a building trades class for students in Huron County. So far, eight houses have been built. The district no longer needs the vacant lots, located about one-quarter mile southeast of the school, because the building trades class will be taught at the new Huron County Skill Center. The skill center is expected to be open for the start of the 1986 school year.

Tenbusch said the school has been contacted by a realtor who has someone interested in building in the area. The land has been surveyed, but it is up to the village to put in water, and curb and gutter. A committee is expected to report back to the board at the December meeting on which lots are available, and an estimated price on each lot.

Trustees also discussed the possibility of putting a ramp in at the school to accommodate two students who are confined to wheelchairs. Tenbusch explained the students presently have to be taken outside, then back inside and across the gymnasium to avoid having to be carried up seven steps. Tenbusch said the possibility of putting in a wheelchair lift to take the students up the stairs has also been investigated. The estimated cost of putting in a wheelchair lift is $10,000. This is the first year the two students have had classes in an area of a building that requires them to go up and down a flight of stairs.

Tenbusch said repair work on the gymnasium roof is expected to be completed next week. The gym roof, which has slid about two inches to the south, is being repaired by Sobczak Construction of Bad Axe. Braces have been added to the interior of the gym roof, and damaged bricks on the south side of the building have been replaced.

Trustees accepted a snow removal bid from Longuski Silo Co., Ubly, for the school's parking lots. Longuski's bid was for $24 per hour for the use of two tractors to pile up the snow, and $30 per hour for a dump truck to haul the snow away. Longuski submitted the only bid.

Trustees tabled three bids that were submitted to repair the football tower announcing booth and concession stand. The three bids, ranging from $3,318 to $8,950, were to replace rotted siding and roof boards, and to put a new roof on the three-story tower. Tenbusch said trustees want to investigate the cost of constructing a new tower.

Tenbusch said at a Nov. 7 parent-teacher meeting 94 percent of the parents with children in the elementary school came to meet with their child's teacher. In the junior high 75 percent of the students' parents came to school, and 58 percent of the high school students' parents attended the meeting. Meetings were set up for the afternoon and evening hours.

Ubly will host the Michigan High School Athletic Association's Girls' 88th

District basketball tournament beginning Nov. 21. Games will also be played Nov. 23 and Nov. 25. Ubly will host league leading Harbor Beach in the first game. Harbor Beach has a 9-1 record. Ubly is 0-9 this year. Games will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Commissioners nix social services millage request

A meeting between the Tuscola County commissioners and members of the Social Services board ended without Social Services trustees receiving a guarantee of a special election to fund the county-owned Medical Care Facility.

The meeting, held at the regular commission meeting Tuesday, Nov. 12, was set after employees and patients' family members circulated petitions requesting commissioners to put on an upcoming ballot a 0.25-mill request to raise funds to maintain and operate the 123-bed facility. The petitions were circulated after employees found out commissioners had talked to local hospital administrators about the possibility of taking over some or all of the facility's operations.

Commissioner Royce Russell feels the commissioners were split over putting the issue on an upcoming ballot. "I think some would have gone (put a separate issue on the ballot) right then, but others want to wait until after the budget (was prepared)," Russell explained the commissioners will soon begin preparing the budget for the 1986-87 fiscal year. "There is plenty of time after the first of the year," Russell said. He explained there is "no sense" in holding a special election, because the levy would not apply to this year's tax roll. The cost of a special election is about $20,000.

Russell added he was upset over how employees and members of the Social Services board reacted to commissioners investigating alternatives to operating the facility. He called actions by employees, and supervisors, such as one employee being told when he received his pay check it would be the last he would receive from the county, as foolish and uncalled for.

HEALTH TIPS Smokers' wives face higher cancer risks

Noted researcher, Lawrence Garfinkel, vice-president for Epidemiology and Statistics and director of Cancer Prevention Study II at the National office of the American Cancer Society, said, in a news conference at the Lansing Capitol that, "Living with someone who smokes can be dangerous to your health."

Garfinkel said that, "We analyzed a group of 134 non-smoking women with lung cancer and found that the risk was greater among those whose husbands were smokers."

The study showed that a non-smoking woman was ten to thirty percent more likely to develop lung cancer if she was exposed to smoke of others than a woman who was not exposed."

The report, published Sept. 13 in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute, was based on the largest group of non-smokers with lung cancer than any of the other case-control studies of passive smoking to date.

Dr. Lonson L. Barr, president of the American Cancer Society, Michigan Division, noted that this study should give new impetus to the current anti-smoking legislation pending here in Michigan.

Barr noted that the Coalition on Smoking OR Health, composed of 35 voluntary health and public health organizations -- including the American Cancer Society, the American Lung Association and the American Heart Association -- has ammunition to convince the Michigan public and legislators that it is time to get passage on a number of key bills, specifically providing smoke free areas in the public workplace, a tax on smokeless tobacco products, and a bill to strengthen restaurant smoking laws.

In his presentation, Garfinkel mentioned that "American Cancer Society findings indicate that overall, there is about a twenty percent increase in the incidence of lung cancer in the non-smoking women married to smokers versus those married to men who don't smoke."

Women who are married to men who smoke at least twenty cigarettes a day, at home, "may have as much as double the risk of developing lung cancer as those married to non-smokers," Garfinkel said.

"The belief that exposure to cigarette smoke can lead to health problems in non-smokers is widespread among researchers, but the study published recently in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute is the largest of its kind," said Garfinkel.

The study is new in two respects, stated Garfinkel at the news conference in Lansing. "It used the largest number of case histories so far and made an exhaustive attempt to exclude those women who had been smokers and those who really did not die of lung cancer."

Garfinkel, who is also the director of the ACS sponsored Cancer Prevention Study II, said that the study will show a tremendous change since the first ACS study in 1959.

In CPS II, forty percent of the men had quit cigarette smoking, more than twice the proportion who reported they had quit in the earlier study. Only twenty-six percent of men were still smoking. Among women, fewer had never smoked (fifty-six vs sixty-seven percent) but fewer were current smokers (twenty-one vs twenty-seven percent) and nearly four times as many had quit smoking (twenty-two vs six percent).

KILLASHANDRA BY Anne McCaffrey (fiction). Killashandra accepts a mission to the planet Ophtheria to install a replacement crystal in a sensory organ and also to investigate the Ophtherian government's prohibition of interstellar travel. Kidnapped and then stranded on a remote, uninhabited island, ultimately she makes way to a rebel stronghold. She and her abductor, a rebel leader who doesn't recognize her in her changed state (suntanned, bleached hair, almost gaunt), feel a mutual sexual attraction that develops into a genuine love relationship. Killashandra soon finds herself on the side of the rebels, helps them expose the governing elders, and opens the planet to off-world travel.

THE MAMMOTH HUNTERS by Jean M. Auel (fiction). The Mammoth Hunters is the third installment in the Earth Children series. The story follows the trials and tribulations of Ayla, a woman of strong passions and the owner of enough amazing talents to make Wonder Woman appear tawdry by comparison. Ayla's quest encompasses her chance encounter with the Mamutoi people, her gifts to them, and her acceptance by them. Along the way secrets are discovered and mammoths slaughtered in the traditional caveman way.

WORLD'S FAIR by E. L. Doctorow (fiction). Doctorow transforms fragments of his own childhood and of history into the story of a Bronx nine-year-old named Edgar. Edgar finds excitement and mystery everywhere - in his brother's dance band, his father's Times Square music store, the Depression, the Zeppelin Hindenberg, rumors of war, and the World's Fair. And, at the fair, Edgar confronts for the first time the advancing hard edge of reality.

*Use porch or pan of snow to chill juices, pudding, etc. Foods on emergency food shelf can be stored for six months to one year. Foods will still be safe after one year, but the quality may not be as good. So, stock the emergency food shelf with foods you ordinarily get and replace them occasionally, using the older items in family meals, states Pattullo.

If there is no electricity, you may cook in a fireplace with food wrapped in heavy aluminum foil. A skillet can be used to cook in the fireplace or heat on top of a wood stove. A cold porch pan of snow can be used to chill puddings, beverages and canned fruits.

Blizzards may seem a long way off, but remember last year? Bad weather can make you temporarily homeless. Here are some foods to have on hand to get you through those days when you can't get to the store or when the power is out, says Betty Pattullo, Extension Home Economist from Tuscola County.

Milk and dairy products: canned evaporated, powdered nonfat dry milk, and instant cocoa powder. Use milk for soups, instant puddings, sauces, and hot and cold drinks. Cheese spreads are available in aerosol cans.

Fruits and vegetables: canned fruit juices, tomato juice, canned tomatoes, corn, beans, peas or other favorites; canned fruits and applesauce, dried fruits such as raisins and prunes, instant potatoes.

Breads and cereals: crackers, ready-to-eat or cooked cereal; rice, spaghetti, noodles or other pasta; small box of baking mix; canned date and nut breads.

Meats, fish and poultry and beans: peanut butter; canned tuna, chicken, deviled ham, and dried beef; dried beans and peas; canned beef stew, and small canned ham not needing refrigeration.

Other: nuts, jam, coffee and tea, canned or dried soups (chunky style or split peas or bean); canned spaghetti sauce, canned dishes such as spaghetti and meatballs, hash and baked beans. Tightly wrapped cookies, hard candy.

With foods like these on hand, you can have meals even when the electricity is off. Meals may be less varied but you can increase quantities served to meet calories and nutrient needs, states Betty Pattullo.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

First successful hunter to stop by the Chronicle Saturday morning was Bob Coryell of Garfield Street. He shot a seven-pointer at 7:45 a.m. a mile east of Cass City. It was his third buck in 14 years of hunting.

Sheriff-elect Paul Berry stayed within the sheriff's department in selecting his new undersheriff. Paul Megge, presently a lieutenant, was named to fill the position. Elevated to lieutenant was Sgt. Jerry Osborne.

Bethany Thies, daughter of Manuel and Carol Thies of Owendale, has been selected for the Owen-Gage Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen of the Year Award. She is a senior.

Seventeen women were present Monday evening when the Hobby Club met with Mrs. Harold Perry. Co-hostesses for the dessert meeting were Miss Muriel Addison and Mrs. Donald Reid.

TEN YEARS AGO

The Cass City Christmas decorations went up Tuesday under sunny skies and temperatures in the 60's.

Ted Lauria proudly displayed his giant 11-point buck that weighed 220 pounds at the Chronicle office. It was shot Saturday morning seven miles east of Cass City.

Frederick McClorey, Mrs. Glenn McClorey and Larry McClorey were Sunday dinner guests at the George Frank home when the sixth birthday of Sandra Frank was celebrated.

The monthly meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club was held Nov. 5 at Veronica's. Miss Carolyn Benscoter and Mrs. Irene Schwaderer were in charge of the program. Mrs. Laura Bryant, Mrs. Leota Anthes and Mrs. Normaleen McIntosh are on the committee for the Christmas meeting.

Delores Sherrard, a sophomore accounting major at Bethel College, was elected by her classmates as one of the three sophomore girls to participate in the Homecoming pageant. Miss Sherrard graduated from Cass City High School and is the daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Sherrard of Seeger St., Cass City.

25 YEARS AGO

First person to report to our Buck Luck column this season was Ray Surbrook. Hunting in Evergreen Township, he bagged a six-point buck at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The biggest task facing basketball Coach Irv Clasen will be to try to find an adequate replacement for Roy Tuckey, the club's top rebounder. Three top flight regulars back for their final season are Tim Anthes, Art Randall and Gary Hutchinson.

At a first quarterly conference, held at the Methodist Church at Bad Axe, Philip Brack of Cass City was elected chairman of the commission on Christian social concerns for the Cass City Methodist Church to replace Fred Withey. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hunt spent the week end in Chicago. They spent Saturday with their son Dick at Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Battel were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schwegler. Aaron, James and Richard Lefler left last Monday to go deer hunting near Grayling.

35 YEARS AGO

Deer hunting license outlets in Cass City are the Western Auto Store, Hu-lien's Clothing, Bishop's and Albee's Hardware stores. A total of 438 licenses have been issued.

Miss June Schwaderer of Detroit and Gil Schwaderer of Ann Arbor spent the week end at their parental home here.

The property of the late Arthur Jones of E. Third Street has been sold to Alger Freiburger.

Sunday evening, members of the Westminster Fellowship of the Presbyterian Church will meet at the home of Joan Holmberg.

Governor G. Mennen Williams was reported as having a lead of 1,152 votes over Republican candidate, Harry F. Kelly, in radio and newspaper election news Thursday morning.

Three injured in Tuesday accident

Three persons were injured Tuesday, Nov. 12, after two vehicles collided on Cemetery Road, near Bay City-Forestville Road in rural Elkland Township.

According to a report, filed by Michigan State Police Trooper Richard Harrington, a northbound vehicle driven by Kimberly S. Higgins, 18, 319 E. Hillside Apt. 9, Lansing, crossed the centerline and collided head-on with a GTE ladder truck driven by Raymond J. Garety.

Garety, 47, 7405 Bay City-Forestville Rd., Cass City, told Trooper Harrington he saw the Higgins vehicle cross the centerline into his lane. He swerved to miss the vehicle, but was unable to. The impact from the car forced the GTE truck into the ditch on the west side of the road. The truck rolled over. Garety, who was wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident, was reated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital. Witnesses to the accident told the trooper they saw the Higgins vehicle cross the centerline.

Firemen from the Elkland Township Fire Department were called to free Higgins, and passenger William Freeman, 19, 3645 Elmwood Rd., Akron, from the vehicle. Higgins was admitted to Hills and Dales Hospital, and was released over the week end.

Freeman was treated and released from the hospital. Trooper Harrington reported he questioned Higgins while she was in the hospital, and she does not recall what happened. Higgins and Freeman were not wearing seat belts at the time of the accident.

TWO PERSONS notified the Chronicle that they could identify the names in this picture and three persons informed the paper that the McHugh School, class of 1911, was located at Severance Road and M-53, not Huron Line Road. First to call was William Kitchin with the names. Mrs. Lyle Zapfe also knows every person in the photo.

Commissioners nix Sunday package liquor sales

For the second time in less than three years, Tuscola County commissioners held their ground and refused to allow Sunday sales of packaged liquor in the county.

This time, commissioners, at a regular meeting Tuesday, Nov. 12, rejected a request by Jeri Herington, owner of the North Lake Grocery in Watertown Township. Commissioner William Worth (Millington), made a motion to allow packaged liquor to be sold, but no commissioner seconded the motion. A vote was not needed on the issue. During an interview last week, Herington said in 1981 the state allowed local counties to determine if they wanted to allow Sunday packaged liquor sales. Seventy-two of the 83 Michigan counties decided to legalize Sunday sales. Tuscola County is one of the 11 Michigan counties that does not allow packaged liquor sales on Sunday.

"We feel it is discriminating against us," Herington said, about the packaged liquor sale ban. "You can't in Tuscola County, but you can in 72 other counties."

Herington said the issue isn't whether people can drink on Sunday or not, because stores can sell beer and wine, and a person can drink liquor in a tavern. "Why send them to a bar? Let them buy it and drink it in the privacy of their home."

Herington feels the Sunday packaged liquor ban is costing her business. The North Lake Grocery store, which sells food items, gas and other convenience items, is located three miles north of the Lapeer County line, where Sunday packaged liquor sales are allowed. She said because people are not allowed to buy liquor on Sunday, they are taking their business, including purchases of gas and groceries to stores in Lapeer County.

She added, the ban is also a tax revenue loss for the county. She pointed out that liquor sales generated the county over $28,000 in the 1984-85 fiscal year.

Herington plans on forcing commissioners to put the issue before the voters by getting enough signatures to require it to be put on an upcoming ballot. About 1,280 signatures are required to have a Sunday packaged liquor sale issue placed before the voters.

Commissioner Royce Russell (Cass City), said he doesn't feel the Sunday packaged liquor ban is a hardship on places that sell liquor.

Russell pointed out it was Herington's right to request that the county residents decide the issue instead of the commissioners.

"I never had anybody call me and tell me they were in favor of it, outside of a few liquor store owners," Russell said, about the last time commissioners decided not to allow Sunday sales. "But I had a lot of compliments from people congratulating me on my stand."

State tests results show improvements

Counselor Jerry Cleland presented the results of the State Assessment Tests for 1985-86 to the Cass City Board of Education Monday night at its regular session in the high school.

There was a slight improvement in the results in grade four and a substantial improvement over the previous year in grade seven in both math and reading.

However, scores in the 10th grade were lower than the previous year.

While scores were generally better than the previous year, they trail the results achieved in neighboring schools, Bad Axe and Lakers.

The reason, Cleland said, is that both of these schools make passing the tests one of the requirements for graduation.

Supt. Don Crouse frowns on this practice because it could hold back a student who was passing in all subjects but, because of the failure in one test, not pass the grade.

An alternative for Cass City under discussion is making students who fail take a remedial course in the subject.

That will provide incentive for students to pass the tests which is missing now, administrators believe.

The averages for the state have not been compiled. In the past, Cass City students have generally exceeded the state averages, although math scores in the seventh grade last year were below the state average.

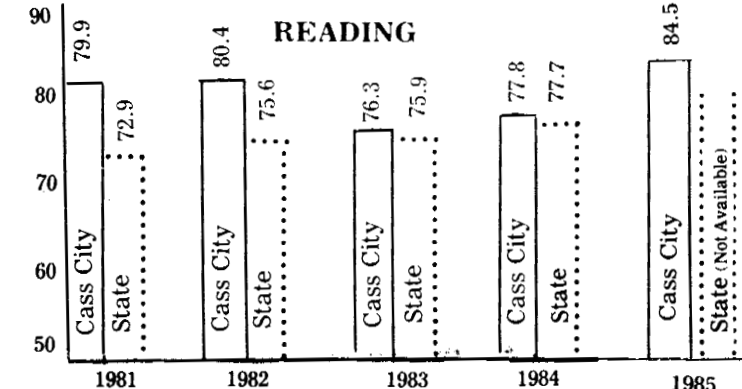

The percentages listed in the accompanying chart indicate the percentage of students who answered 75 percent or more of the questions correctly.

In grade seven, math scores jumped from 59.1 to 75.5, the largest year-to-year improvement recorded since tests started.

Wisner farmer strikes "mother lode"

Oil well produces 100 to 200 barrels daily

SCRAPED into the mud and dirt of the Nixons' rusted Chevrolet pickup truck are the initials JR, the name of the oil baron on the popular television program Dallas.

The strike of "sweet oil" on the Raymond Dale Nixon farm in Wisner Township has the sweet smell of success for the Nixons and other investors in the oil well.

"Nobody's going to be mega-rich, but everybody is going to get a piece of the cupcake," said Aaron Elek, owner of Elek Oil Inc., Bay City, coordinator of the oil well drilling project. The estimated gross from the one oil well is $1.9 million per year.

Elek explained the one well drilled on the Nixon farm was into the Richfield Pay Zone, an oil rich rock formation about 4,000 feet below the Nixon corn field on M-25. From the one well Elek estimates about 200 barrels of oil will flow daily. "This is absolutely rare," Elek said about drilling a well into the Richfield Pay Zone. "I guess Mr. Nixon is lucky."

Elek said oil from the well is called sweet oil because it doesn't have a high sulfur content. Oil containing high amounts of sulfur, called sour oil, smells like rotten eggs. Five other wells drilled on the Nixons' farm this summer have a high sulfur content. Each sour oil well produces about 20 barrels of oil per day. "When they are your wells they don't smell at all," said a smiling Shirley Nixon, Dale's wife.

One other well drilled on the Nixon farm has struck the Richfield Pay Zone, but it is only producing about 30 barrels of oil daily. In the oil business one barrel of oil holds 42 gallons. The cost of drilling a 4,000-foot deep well is $300,000.

Oil from the Richfield Pay Zone well does not have to be pumped out, natural gas pressure forces the oil to the top of the well casing. Saturday morning, when Elek opened the valve to release the oil from the well cap, a gauge showed the oil was under 1,100 pounds of pressure. "It's like a bottle of pop down there," Dale Nixon said, explaining the pressure forcing the oil to the surface. During the day, while the valve is open, the pressure will decrease. The well has been in operation less than two weeks, but every morning the pressure has come back up.

Elek, who grew up in Wisner Township, said a nearby well on his grandparents' farm has been producing oil without the need of a pump since 1953. When asked if the new well will take oil from the existing wells, Elek explained the theory is an oil well will never deplete a 20-acre area around the well.

"This is a tremendously underdeveloped area. It will just take time and money," Elek said. He added developers knew the oil was in the area, but when oil was cheap it wasn't worth going after. Last month the price of a barrel of oil increased by $1 because of an anticipated shortage of heating fuel.

Elek said drilling an oil well "is like seeing a beautiful car in the showroom. You don't know if it is a beautiful car until you put your keys in the ignition and test drive it." The test of an oil well is if it produces oil.

Elek said the pressure from the one well is equal to gushers shown in movies of the 1930's where oil spews from the top of a drilling rig. Advances in drilling techniques have eliminated the loss of oil from a gusher. "If you had a gusher today you would be in jail, because the DNR wouldn't allow it."

Oil from the seven wells on the Nixon farm is pumped to three storage tanks with a holding capacity of 800 barrels. Twice a week a truck hauls the oil to Bay City where it is pumped into a pipeline to Alma for processing.

"This is a little better than farming," Dale Nixon said, as he looked at the oil well. This spring, before the wells were drilled, Nixon had decided he would leave farming and try something new. He explained he has owned the 500-acre farm, where the wells are located, since 1973. Things went well until the early 1980's, when crop prices fell off, forcing many farmers to leave the business.

"Hopefully it's (the oil well) enough to save our farm," Shirley Nixon said. "It's too bad every farmer doesn't have one."

BURN OFF - Natural gas with a high sulfur content is burned off from an oil well at the Dale Nixon farm.

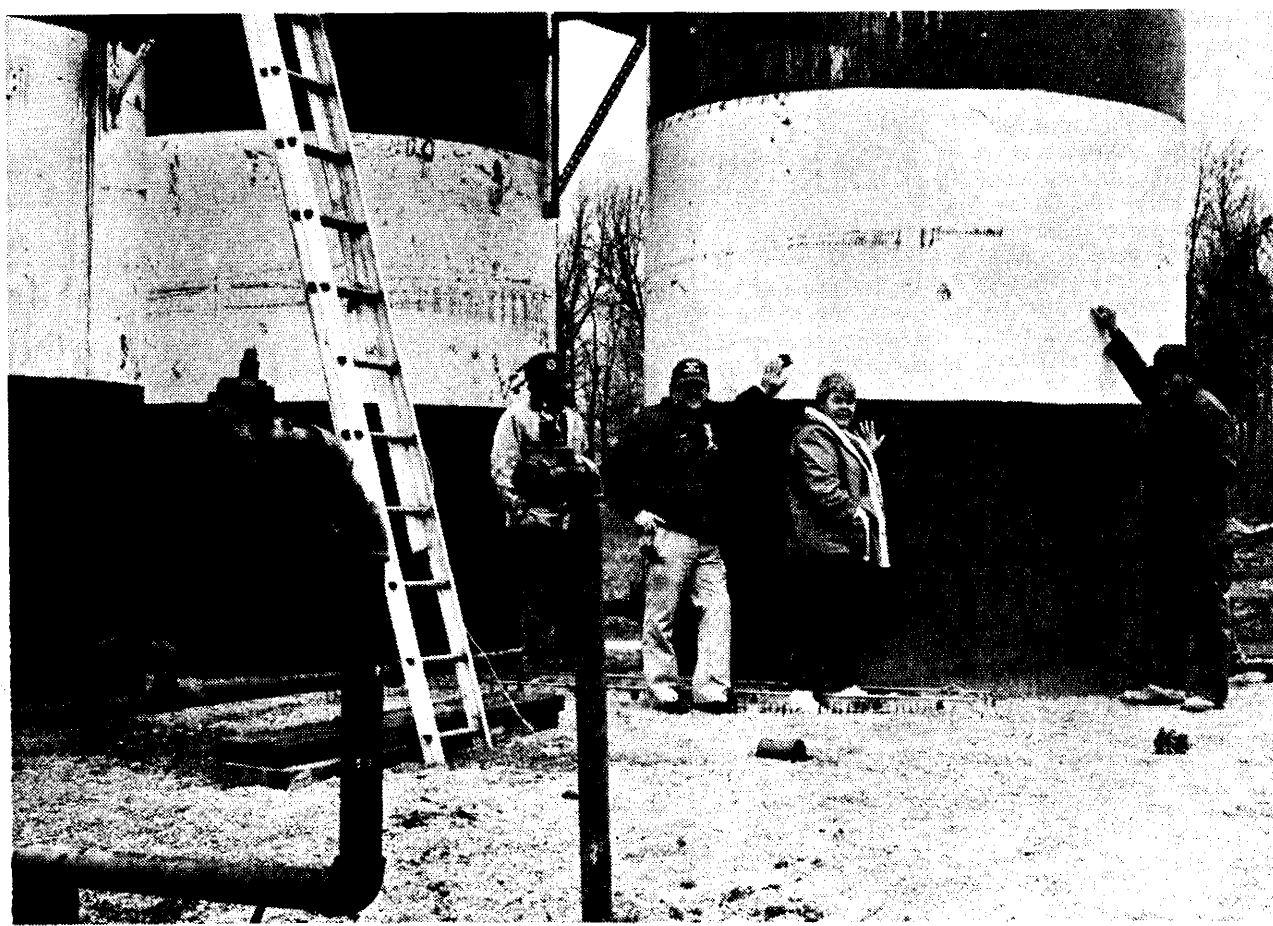

THE MOTHER LODE - Aaron Elek opens the valve on a Wisner Township oil well that is producing from 100 to 200 barrels of oil per day.

Firemen respond to chimney fire

Firemen from the Elkland Township Fire Department responded to a chimney fire at the Henry Nolan residence, 4421 Crane Rd., Cass City, Saturday at 6:58 a.m. The fire, caused by a creosote buildup in the chimney did not cause any damage to the house. Twelve firemen responded to the alarm.

The earth's surface holds 324 million cubic miles of water.

Michigan Mirror

State financially sound

Governor James Blanchard certified that Michigan has its financial house in order for the first time since 1975, and said the state's regained solvency puts it in a much stronger position to deal with its problems.

The certification that over $800 million in an accumulated debt has been repaid will trigger a Dec. 1 income tax cut of .25 percentage points to a 5.1 percent rate, and transfer a previously earmarked cigarette tax to the general fund.

The Governor said he is encouraged by a new Senate Republican tax plan with an earlier rollback and property tax relief, and expects an agreement — although perhaps not yet this year — on when to drop the tax back to a 4.6 percent level.

Blanchard proclaimed Friday, Nov. 8, as "Solvency Day" and next week as "Solvency Week" to celebrate the completion of his financial recovery plan enacted in 1983 to deal with the debt — which had been masked by accounting gimmicks — as well as a $900 million deficit in that fiscal year caused by a recession.

The plan included boosting the income tax rate to 6.1 percent, from 4.6 percent, cutting that year's spending, and reducing state employment.

Solvency Day "is a day for Michigan citizens to take pride in the fact that their sacrifice and hard work have made Michigan solvent and an example for the rest of the nation. Our financial health makes possible economic health and jobs, and that makes for a future. Our future is the brightest it has been at any time in our history," Blanchard said.

He said when the next recession hits, the state will be better able to deal with it because of stronger institutions from increased aid for schools and colleges, a bigger budget stabilization fund, fewer state employees, and a more diversified state economy.

The Governor said that with the Dec. 1 drop in the income tax, "We are keeping our pledge that the temporary tax was and is temporary."

The cut means a $175 million tax cut this fiscal year, while the transfer to the general fund of a 10-cent per pack cigarette tax carries $90 million this year, both of which were reflected in the current year budget.

Blanchard has proposed, and the House has approved, dropping the income tax rate back to 4.6 percent May 1 (instead of Oct. 1, 1987 as now set in law), but Senate Republicans are pushing a new plan with a Dec. 1 rollback.

They contend that since the tax increase was intended to deal with a problem that is now solved, it should be rescinded immediately.

But the Governor said that would mean a return to "voodoo bookkeeping," since he said he does not trust Senate Fiscal Agency figures which indicate the earlier rollback could be accomplished and still leave the state with a surplus.

But when asked if his May dates were negotiable, Mr. Blanchard said, "I have to believe there is some way to work it out. My concern is the financial plan remains on track."

Senate Finance Committee Chairman Norman

Shinkle (R-Lambertville) said he will propose advancing that to Nov. 11, which would coincide with the beginning workweek of a solvent state government. He said the change would still leave about $7 million in a special account which had been set up to reverse the accounting measures.

The Governor said the inclusion by Republicans of senior citizen property tax relief "could be a major breakthrough" because they now support moving in that direction. He had proposed a more general expansion of property tax relief through more generous income tax credits.

Blanchard and Treasurer Robert Bowman certified the elimination of the debt during a Detroit press conference, which was linked by telephone to conferences in 10 other cities around the state.

Additionally, Bowman sent letters to the two major New York credit rating agencies informing them that the state has fully returned to accepted accounting practices. The state has won the highest credit rating on short-term debt from the agencies, but is still seeking improvement in its long-term bond rating.

Hawk cagers defeated by Lakers and Caro

The Cass City Red Hawks were to have ended the regular basketball season Tuesday with a non-conference game against Unionville-Sebewaing Area Schools in Cass City.

It will be the final opportunity for the team to register a win this season and the odds are against a win over the potent Patriots.

The Hawks absorbed two more defeats in games during the week. Tuesday, Nov. 12, Cass City bowed to the Lakers, 70-42, and Friday Caro topped the Hawks, 65-40.

Against the Lakers, the game was decided in the first quarter. Paced by rugged Julia Sturm, the Lakers jumped off to a 21-6 point lead at the end of the period and then coasted in for the victory.

Sturm finished the night with 34 points. Cass City's Christine Britt had her best night of the year with 16 points and 11 rebounds. Kelly Deering was in double figures with 14.

It wasn't enough to turn the tide, as the winners were in front 32-20 at the half and 49-32 at the end of three quarters.

Cass City got off to another slow start against Caro and trailed all the way. The Tigers roared to a 14-4 lead in the first quarter, played even with the Hawks in the second quarter and then salted away the game with a 23-12 advantage in the third quarter.

Kelly Deering was the only player in double figures for Cass City, with 10 points. Caro's Beth Stockford, 25 points, Tracey Galsterer, 12, and Mariesa Hebert, 13, led the Tigers.

Host Kingston squad wins cheerleading contest

More than 450 cheerleaders from 20 Michigan high schools were in Kingston Saturday to compete in the second annual Kingston Cheerleading Championship Day.

second place. Cheerleaders from Akron-Fairgrove took third place.

In Class C, cheerleaders from Brown City High School took first place. Mayville took second place, and Harbor Beach took third.

North Branch cheerleaders took first place in Class

B competition. In class A, Lapeer East was judged to be the best.

O-G girls hope to break loss string in tourney

Despite heading into girls' basketball district tournament play with a winless 0-20 season record, Owen-Gage Coach Cathy Kropewnicki is looking forward to Thursday's game against Harbor Beach.

"We're going to win Thursday. I haven't lost my enthusiasm," Kropewnicki said. To prepare for the Michigan High School Athletic Association's 112 District Tournament, to be held at the Owendale gymnasium, Kropewnicki has brought up four junior varsity players. She said practice with the new players has been going well. The junior varsity finished the season winning 17 games, and losing 3. This is the second winless season in a row for the varsity.

The Bulldogs will be entering the tournament after losing to Caseville Nov. 12, and to Deckerville in the season finale Nov. 14.

Against Caseville the Bulldogs bowed 34-68. Barb Hellebuyck led Owen-Gage with nine points. Marsha Lopez and Susie Salcido each scored eight points. The junior Bulldogs, led by Dawn Dorsch, with six points, won 15-20.

Against Deckerville the Bulldogs succumbed to a 43-point attack by Mary Oswald, and were defeated 40-76.

Lopez led the Bulldogs with 10 points.

The junior varsity went down to defeat 23-30. Angie Bolzman led the Bulldogs with 12 points.

The first tournament game will be held Thursday at 7:00 p.m. A 6:30 p.m. starting time is slated for games Saturday, and the final game is to be held Nov. 26 at 7:00 p.m.

Pair ticketed

A burned out taillight bulb ended up in the arrest of a 20-year-old Cass City man on a charge of driving with a suspended driver's license, by Cass City Police Officer Donald Miller Jr.

Officer Miller reported he observed a vehicle driven by Terry L. Czekai, 20, 7279 E. Elmwood Rd., Cass City, driving with a burned out taillight. After Miller pulled the Czekai vehicle over Nov. 12 at 10:20 p.m. he discovered Czekai had a suspended driver's license.

Officer William Hartzell arrested Melissa A. Kraus (Kelly), 21, Hill Street, Apt. 5, Cass City, on a charge of driving with a suspended driver's license.

Hartzell observed the Kraus vehicle fail to stop at the intersection of Oak and Main Streets. After he pulled Kraus over, he discovered her driver's license was suspended.

The arrest was made Saturday at 2:40 p.m.

Thumb Ag Day scheduled Dec. 18

This year's Thumb Ag Day is scheduled to be held Wednesday, Dec. 18, at the Colony House, located on M-53, four miles north of Cass City Road.

This year's program features a key speaker, Dr. David Landsverk of Minnesota. Dr. Landsverk's speech is entitled "It's Up to You!," a motivational topic showing how individuals can be in control of what goes on in their life. It is a very appropriate topic, given the depressed outlook in the agricultural industry today.

In addition to the speaker, approximately 60 exhibitors' booths will be available to tour. Several mini-sessions will also be held covering such topics as Alternative Feeds and By-Products, Feeding Holstein Steers, New Pesticide Certification Rules, etc.

Exhibits open at 9:00 a.m., mini-sessions will be held from 10:00 a.m. to noon, the keynote speaker will be at 1:30 p.m. and lunch will be served from 11:30 until 1:30. A $1.00 fee will be charged and will include morning refreshments, lunch and all activities.

Vassar man stands mute on B and E charge

A 20-year-old Vassar man stood mute in Tuscola County Circuit Court Tuesday, Nov. 12, on charges of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny. A not guilty plea was entered by the court for David K. Bickel, 4354 S. Kirk Rd., Vassar.

The charges stem from the Sept. 17 breaking and entering of a house occupied by June Datz, 4324 S. Kirk Rd., Vassar.

Judge Patrick Joslyn set a pretrial hearing for Dec. 16. Bond continues at $7,500.

In other circuit court action, the court accepted a guilty plea from Robert J. Greer, 18, 3774 Leix Rd., Mayville, on charges of conspiracy to commit simple larceny, and larceny in a building.

The charges stem from an Oct. 31 breaking and entering of a pole barn owned by Jerome Sauer Jr., 7335 Oak St., Vassar, and the Oct. 28 breaking and entering of a factory owned by Lee Miller, 6201 Ormes Rd., Vassar.

Greer will be sentenced Jan. 13. Bond continues at $7,500.

$7,500.

Marty L. McLellan, 20, 1727 Luder Rd., Caro, stood mute on a charge of breaking and entering of an unoccupied building with intent to commit larceny. A not guilty plea was entered for McLellan.

The charge against McLellan stems from his alleged breaking and entering of the St. Paul Lutheran Church, 503 S. State St., Caro. Because McLellan has two other charges of breaking and entering that were filed in 1981 and 1982, he also faces a habitual offender charge.

A pretrial hearing has been set for Dec. 16. Bond continues at $25,000.

A guilty plea of unlawful use of a vehicle was accepted by Judge Joslyn from John T. Ross, 19, 327 Green St., Caro. Ross was originally charged with the unlawful driving away with an auto of another Nov. 1, in Caro.

Ross will be sentenced Dec. 16. Bond continues at $10,000.

A guilty plea was accepted from Thomas J. Szagash Jr., 999 N. Cass Ave., Vassar, on a charge of larceny over $100. The charge stems from the Sept. 16 theft of over $100 in cash from Shoonie's Family Dining restaurant, 183 E. Huron Ave., Vassar.

Szagash will be sentenced Jan. 13. Bond continues at $5,000.

Judge Joslyn sentenced Stephen L. Stricker Jr., 18, 3030 Bruisee Rd., Caro, to a one-year delayed jail sentence on a charge of conspiring to commit larceny under $100. The charge stems from Stricker's July 17, 1984 attempt to stealing of gasoline from a vehicle. He was originally charged with breaking and entering of a vehicle with intent to steal property valued over $5. He pleaded guilty to the reduced charge Oct. 14.

Stricker will pay court costs of $300, payable at $50 per month.

2 in Germany after training at Fort Benning

Army Private Eric H. LaJoie, son of Elaine B. LaJoie of Cass City, and Army Private Todd M. Hunter, son of Laura M. Hunter of Cass City, completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

ERIC H. LAJOIE

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Both are 1985 graduates of Cass City High School. LaJoie is now serving in Frankfurt, Germany, and Hunter is in Berlin.

Beware of grain mold problems

The bountiful rainfall, warm daytime temperatures and high humidity this fall have been ideal for mold development on corn in the fields.

"The mold growth is caused by warm wet field or bin conditions which are very present this fall," says Dennis Stein, Agricultural Agent. Under the right conditions the mold can penetrate the corn kernel and start growing inside. This could develop in the field or in the storage structure.

Not all mold on grain will contain the mycotoxins, but producers should be aware of the development of toxins that could affect the feed value of the corn grain. The actual reaction and range of symptoms that are shown in swine, poultry, and cattle vary greatly. Pigs will react very quickly to rather low levels of Fusarium mold (mycotoxins) by going off feed or refusal to consume feed containing mold. Trying to force toxin present feeds could greatly reduce productivity in swine.

When cattle are fed grains containing mycotoxins the reaction can be much less. Often producers will blend feed to maintain low levels in total feed to keep consumption up to normal levels.

Laboratory analysis is the only way to determine conclusively whether mycotoxins are present in the feed. It may be very advisable to have samples of feed supplies that are to be purchased or stored for feed use on the farm checked. If you are in the process of purchasing larger amounts from other producers or grain suppliers, it is not unreasonable to request pre-purchase or representative samples prior to final sale. Take care to avoid mixing moldy grain with clean grain in your storage structures to avoid contamination of your entire feed supply. The local Cooperative Extension Service Office would be glad to assist you in checking your feed samples for mycotoxins.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

MIXED BAG this week. Something for everybody. Here are investment returns from various kinds of things you could have bought a year ago, and five years ago. The % of return is on an annual basis, compounded.

Investment	1 year		5 years
	Return	Rank	Return	Rank
Bonds	42.9%	1	13.2%	2
Stocks	28.7	2	15.2	1
Old masters	13.6	3	1.5	6
U.S. Coins	11.5	4	.1	9
Treasury bills	9.5	5	12.0	3
Cons. Price index	3.7	7	5.7	4

Following in order for return in the last year (ended June 30) were housing, diamonds and then oil, stamps, U.S. farm land, gold and silver. Of those, housing was the only one with a plus return. Others all cost you money, just to hold.

Returns were all taxable — either capital gains or regular income tax. That's where tax-exempt bonds would show up better than regular corporate bonds, or government bonds.

For example, if you're in just a 33% bracket, a 12% corporate bond would net you only 8%, where a comparable municipal could be bought to yield 10%.

Except for U.S. Treasury bills in the list, none of the others compares in quality with bonds for safety of principal.

Speaking of bonds, as I usually am: The best buy I've made in some time was some zero coupons, for a friend who wants to set up a fund for her daughter some 30 years hence.

I found some single family mortgage bonds of Cook County, Ill., insured by MBIA and thus given an AAA rating, non-callable, and with a tax-free yield of 10.75%. True, they are long ones — but that's what my friend wanted. They mature 1-1-16.

Would you guess how many bonds, par value, we got for $9,492? $225,000 worth, that's what. Nearly a quarter of a million dollars, mind you. And it will all fall like the gentle rain from heaven on this lucky daughter 30 years from now, without a penny of tax to pay.

Look at the features of the investment — top rating of AAA, non-callable, so the holder is assured the bonds will not be redeemed ahead of maturity. A most generous yield of 10.75% — more than a fully-taxable government bond — and entirely tax free. And no re-investment problems during the whole span of 30 years.

What a wonderful era the young are in, to have such an investment available to them. If zero-coupons had been on the market some 30 years ago they would have returned about 2.5% tax free. If we had taken the $9,492 stated earlier, our investment today would have been worth about $20,000, less than one tenth what young Susan will have waiting for her in 2016.

If you use a car for business and take a deduction for mileage, this year you're allowed 21 cents. Last year it was 20.5 cents. All heart, aren't you, Uncle Sam?

When my friend Charlie Redfield, the Juno Beach guru, starts singing the praises of common stocks, I get out the page from the Financial Weekly that brings stock prices back to a constant dollar. In other words, the figures wring out inflation from the stock averages. The results are sobering.

The market high of August, 1985 of 1355 was slightly lower in constant dollars than the market figure of 1937 when the stock averages were only 194. So you thought you had a great ride from 1937 when the market was 194 and now has soared to 1355. Well, it was worth more in real dollars than it is now.

In fact, in nearly every year from 1954 (except 1979 to '83) the market has been worth more in real dollars than it is today.

Stocks have some other qualities, I am sure, but as an inflation hedge, forget 'em.

A "Stop payment" order on a check you've written is usually a waste of money. If the check was stolen and cashed by someone other than the payee, it's a forgery and the bank is responsible. If the check went to a reputable company and it got lost, it won't be cashed, or if it is later, you can get a refund. A stop-payment order at a bank doesn't go on forever, anyhow — a few weeks is all a bank will keep it active. And it costs you $10.

And don't think if you buy something and you take it back, and it's not the store's policy to make refunds, a solution is to stop payment on your check. The sale was made when you first gave the check, and the store can sue you if it wants to.

AS A PRELUDE to the upcoming Bach Festival, to be held at the First Presbyterian Church, Cass City, during the Thanksgiving week end, musicians Cynthia Ferris (left) and Christa Griz demonstrated musical concepts to kindergarten through sixth grade students of the Cass City School District. The musical performance, held Monday at the Campbell Elementary School, was sponsored by the Bach Festival Committee and Cass City Schools.

Corn crop down in Thumb area

tion-wide dry bean production is estimated at 22 million cwt., six percent above last year.

Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Agent Roberta "Rob" Weber estimated about 60 percent of the Sanilac County corn crop has been harvested. She added this is an "optimistic estimate." "We have water standing everywhere," Weber said, explaining that Sanilac County has "heavy soils" that hold moisture, making it difficult or impossible for farmers to drive a combine across the field without getting stuck. Because of the dry summer, she estimated corn yields to be down about 10 percent from last year. Weber said it was so dry in some parts of the county this summer that farmers didn't get a second cutting of hay.

Andy Sommers, Huron County agricultural agent, estimates about 60 percent of the corn crop has been harvested so far this year. Sommers is projecting average yields. He explained the county has not had a root worm problem this year, and most of the county got rain showers this summer when they were desperately needed.

"All of our yields have been pretty respectable. There has been a lot worse years," Sommers said the corn harvest is behind schedule this year because the rain has delayed the sugar beet harvest, and in Huron County the sugar beets are the top priority crop. He estimated sugar beets are yielding more than 20 ton to the acre. About five percent of the county's sugar beets have not been harvested.

School board debates 2 problems

would not help her son. Chris LaBerge was granted a maternity leave from Dec. 6 through March 17.

A bond issued by the school was lost and the board authorized the issuance of a new bond to replace it at no cost to the district.

Intermediate Principal Bob Stickle reviewed the exploratory program for seventh and eighth grade students.

A request for the purchase of a video camera was tabled until next year. Trustees thought that it may be something that a booster club could do for the school.

A long discussion of general school goals was held. Trustee Lou Horner said that if they were adopted they should not be tossed in the file and forgotten.

Supt. Crouse said that it would be impossible to measure if the proposed goals were achieved.

The board passed the goals as a reference for what it wanted the school to try and achieve.

Smoking problems

Here are a few facts about smoking you may find healthy to know:

*Young people who know how to enjoy life, observers say, don't smoke.

*Smoking, they point out, can interfere with one's social life, as well as shortening one's life altogether and thus shortening one's chances to enjoy all life has to offer.

*Unlike previous generations, most of today's health-conscious teenagers are well aware of the danger of smoking.

*Many psychologists believe the self-confident young person, one who is content with his or her lifestyle, has no need to start smoking or to give in to any peer pressure to do so.

Sanilac commissioners spur Brown resignation

fiscal year. The county collects the $80,000 from anilac property owners through a special senior citizen millage levy.

In a recent interview Brown said the new meal was needed to keep up with growing demands for senior citizen meals, to centralize Sanilac County services, and to increase the total number of meals served at the Sandusky meal site. Brown explained in the past three years the Sandusky High School has averaged about 16 meals per day. The state requires that 25 meals per day be served at a meal site. Brown has gotten three special waivers of the state requirement, but he would not be able to get another waiver.

Brown added that a growing need for more prepared meals in the county cannot be met with existing kitchen facilities.

A recent audit of TACA records by Region Seven auditors discovered several errors in record keeping. Tuscola County Commissioner and TACA board member Royce Russell said Region Seven Director Mohammed Khan told board members Monday the inequities in the record keeping were discovered, and they were the result of poor bookkeeping methods.

Russell added some of the problems have been in the records before Brown took over as TACA executive director.

Brown has been TACA executive director since 1982, before that he worked for Region Seven. Monday, Brown said he is looking at several career opportunities, and hopes to remain in the human services field. His resignation will take effect Nov. 29. A new director is being sought.

Bach Festival a community affair

nual event. Others cater food for the family gatherings held after each concert.

The Sunday morning community brunch is open to the public and is sponsored by Cass City Masons and Eastern Stars.

Following Tuesday's recital in Caro at the First Presbyterian Church, a reception will be held sponsored by the hospitality committee and the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church of Caro.

Ticket information and schedules for the Festival can be obtained by calling 872-2844.

The organ recital will be by Thomas Brown, who returns for his seventh year. Brown has been named an "Outstanding Young Artist of America" by the editors of "Musical America" and is the youngest organist ever to be presented in recital at the United States Air Force Academy.

He has been associate organist at the Church of Saint John the Evangelist, the Chancery Church of the Archdiocese of New York and director of music and organist for Sunday religious services at Lincoln Center's Alice Tully Hall.

Most recently he finished his second term as sub-dean of the New York City Chapter, American Guild of Organists. He continues to serve on the music committee of New York's famous Saint Thomas Episcopal Church.

MEAT NUTRI-FACTS

This Weeks Feature:

YOGURT-MARINATED SIRLOIN STEAK

1 beef sirloin steak, cut 1 inch thick
(about 2 pounds)
1/2 cup plain yogurt
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 clove garlic, minced
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
Combine yogurt, oil, garlic, curry, hot pepper sauce and salt. Place steak in plastic bag; add marinade, spreading evenly over both sides. Tie bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 6 to 8 hours (or overnight, if desired), turning at least once. Remove steak from marinade. Place steak on grill over ash-covered coals (or on rack in broiler pan) so surface of meat is 4 inches from heat and broil 16 to 20 minutes to desired doneness (rare or medium), turning once. 5 to 6 servings
