Cass City school is lauded for quality

Cass City High School is one of 17 middle and secondary schools to become finalists in the Michigan Secondary School Recognition program designed to identify outstanding secondary schools in the state.

Cass City was selected from among 73 nominations by a panel of state educators. As a finalist in the competition, the school will be subject to an on site inspection that Principal Russell Richards said last week was due at any time. According to a communication he has received, the inspection of the finalists is expected to be completed by Friday.

To enter the competition required the completion of 20 typewritten pages with 62 questions.

Among the many standards used to judge the school is the ability of the school to "demonstratively meet the needs of all students, overcome obstacles and concentrate on improvements."

Some of the characteristics used in judging were high expectations for the school, a positive school climate and administration leadership. The judges also looked for a well articulated curriculum, on-going staff development and community support and motivation.

Among the 7 schools that are finalists, 2 may not receive the top designation after the inspection. Richards said that schools judged outstanding after the visits will not be ranked. Schools that are not removed from the competition will be called outstanding and none will be ranked over the others.

The official announcement that Cass City was a finalist in the Michigan Department of Education's outstanding school program arrived Monday. This is the letter that the school received.

Dear Mr. Crouse:

I am pleased to inform you that Cass City High School has made it through the first round of the review process in the Michigan Secondary School Recognition Program and has been selected for a one-day on-site school visit. A member of the selection committee will contact you soon to arrange for a convenient time for this on-site visit.

The purpose of the on-site visit will be to verify information from your application form and also to gain additional insight into aspects of your school's program. All of the on-site visits must be completed by March 14.

When all of the school visits are completed, the entire selection committee will convene to make the final recommendations for this year's program. You will be contacted after these recommendations are made.

If you have any questions, please contact Dr. Joseph Riley, School Program Services, Michigan Department of Education at (517) 373-4223.

Sincerely,

Teressa V. Staten, Ph.D.
Associate Superintendent for Educational Services

Most of the other finalists come from the metropolitan suburbs. One other small town school to be selected was Grayling.

Area job picture brighter, but problems remain

by Cymbre Sommerville

The good news is that the unemployment rate is down. The bad news is that there are still 23,000 people at or below poverty level in the 4-county area.

In Sanilac, Huron and Tuscola Counties the unemployment rate for 1985 steadily declined from January 85 to December 85. Since the shutdown of the MESCO offices in Caro and Sandusky, the Bad Axe office has taken on the case loads. Aside from that extra work, Robert Wehner, branch manager, reports that the case load is down from the same time last year. "The rise and fall over the year is seasonal and is considered normal in this area," he said.

Local industry has not seen much of a changeover the past year. Don Tonti, director of human resources for Walbro Corp., says that their unemployment rate is down over the past year and that they are hiring on a fairly steady basis.

Greg Biddinger, president of Anrod Screen Cylinder, says that the employment picture has been basically stable over the past year.

General Cable changed its product mix in October 1985. This reduced worker count from 240 in September to 166 in October. "But we are hiring a few more," said John Cooper, personnel manager.

Although employment appears to be relatively unchanged in the 3-county area, the numbers are deceiving. It is still higher than both state and national averages.

"One person in 10 is at or below the poverty level in the 4-county Thumb area," according to Val Osowski, agency planner for the Human Development Commission (HDC). "In a primarily rural community such as this, the major problem is that most jobs are minimum wage, service oriented positions and though someone is working, they can still be at the poverty level," she said.

But there is help available for those who have been laid off, are unskilled or have lost their job for whatever reason. Various programs have been set up for those seeking assistance in the work field.

Job opportunities for women are especially scarce in this area. In the 4-county area, 62 percent of the households are female headed, with 83 percent at the poverty level, according to Osowski.

An important program that the HDC is trying to bring back is the Displaced Housewives Program (DHP). It was cut due to lack of funding.

The DHP concentrated on improving a woman's self-esteem and teaching her employability skills such as resume writing and office skills," said Mary Ann Vandermark, executive director of the HDC. "Many of these women have no marketable skills and they don't want to relocate. This makes it hard for them to find a well paying job," she said.

Another program offered through the HDC is the Foster Grandparent Program. It currently employs 60 to 70 people. It's a part-time job and pays $2 an hour. That's enough money to buy groceries each week without reducing Social Security checks. They are placed in classrooms and put with children who need special help, either emotional or academic. "It gives them a sense of self-worth," said Vandermark. "You'd be surprised at how many of them hate to miss a day of work."

For a troubled farmer there is the Michigan Agriculture Hotline that they can call for information packets, ask questions and get a list of alternate resources.

Osowski believes that retraining the farmer is not the answer. Often after they are trained in a skilled trade, they come back to find no jobs.

Instead, she believes that it is important to work to attract businesses to the area so that people can put their skills to use.

There are various organizations and programs that work toward an increased retail and industrial business.

One such program is the "Small Business Incubator Process." According to Osowski this means getting people together with "feed" money to start a business. Women with limited skills, for example, could start a craft shop or a child care center.

The Thumb Area Community Growth Alliance (TACGA) holds a seminar one day a month to teach people how to start their own business.

The TACGA has been in operation since April, 1985 and serves the 4-county area.

Its goal is to keep the small business person up to date through education or training. Seminars cover such topics as communications or financing a business. They are open to any public person who needs assistance from the center. The next seminar is March 24.

The purpose of the Tuscola County Economic Development Corporation (EDC) is to attract new industry to the area. If an industry is looking for a site, the EDC has a complete list of what's available in the area. A monthly newsletter also sends a list of companies looking for a site and if it is feasible the EDC will approach them about the possibility of using an area site.

Sanilac County to quit?

Meal site problem threatens commission

As new director of the Thumb Area Commission on Aging, Alan "Duke" Sward said he hopes to improve communication between senior citizens in Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac Counties by "telling it as simply as possible and hoping for a consensus of the TACA board." The 12-member board is made up of one county commissioner and 3 senior citizens from each county.

Sward was named director of the TACA Feb. 17 during a board meeting in Cass City. He is replacing Bob Brown who resigned Dec. 1. Sward begins as director Feb. 24.

Sward would like to think that his membership on the

County seeks compromise

The battle over a senior citizen meal site in Sandusky continues. The Sanilac County Board of Commissioners is threatening to dissolve the Thumb Area Commission on Aging in Sanilac County if some kind of compromise is not met.

The current meal site is at Sandusky High School. TACA voted to close the site and proposed a new one on Argyle Street that it feels is a better alternative. Alan Sward, newly appointed director of TACA, feels that the new proposed meal site is better in terms of space, and is more efficient and economical. Sandusky commissioners disagree. If TACA is dissolved in Sanilac County it would mean TACA could become a 2-county organization or dissolve completely, according to Sward.

There has been a large amount of protest from the area seniors who receive meals at the high school. Sward would like to believe a compromise can be met in this highly charged emotional issue.

Branch County Commission on Aging and his work at the Provincial House Nursing Home during the past several years have given him added insight into the problems that the elderly face.

He believes that the TACA has been the victim of bad publicity in the past. He hopes to change that by keeping an open mind in each situation. "I plan to talk to people, listen and then take the best course," he said.

There has been controversy over a senior citizen meal site in Sandusky. The TACA voted to close the high school meal site, because of rising costs, but there remains a problem because people aren't happy with the alternate site. As of now the situation is at a standstill and Sward is not involved, but he respects the decision that has been made, and "I'm going to make the best of it," he said.

Budget has been another concern of the TACA. The Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Bill may have an impact on the agency. It states that if the federal budget is not balanced the budget will be cut and funding to federal programs will also be reduced.

"If the federal budget is cut 5% then the TACA will lose a proportionate 5%," stated Sward.

"We are anticipating some sort of cut but hope that it never happens," he said. "In the meantime, board members are encouraged to learn such things as how to write a grant and promote good public relations. 'I would like to gain the people's support,'" he added.

Sward is currently a substitute teacher in the Kingston school district. He and his wife Nancy have been residents of Cass City since 1984.

FmHA delinquent letter notices sent to 26 farmers

The outgoing mail last week from the Caro office of the Farmers Home Administration included 26 letters that were sent to farmers who are delinquent on their loans.

Henry L. Knier, Jr., the Tuscola County supervisor at Caro's Farmers Home Administration office, said 2 types of letters were mailed to farmers in Tuscola and Saginaw County, which is the area serviced by the office. "The first letter was sent to borrowers who have not made a payment on their loan since before December of 1982. Thirteen of those letters were issued, including 6 to farmers in Tuscola County. The second kind of letter was sent to farmers who are more than $100 delinquent on their loans, as of December 31, 1985. Thirteen of those letters also went out, with 5 going to farmers in Tuscola County," Knier said.

In Huron and Sanilac County, the Farmers Home Administration office in Bad Axe has mailed notices to more than 30 farmers who are delinquent on loans by at least a year.

Knier was unable to predict how many foreclosures there might be in Tuscola County, but said there will be some. To keep the number as low as possible, he said there are several alternatives available to farmers in the area. They include the restructuring of payments, having the payments deferred, or having the loans rewritten. "We want to be able to sit down with the farmer to analyze the situation, and see if there is a way of generating a positive cash flow for the operation," he said.

Knier said the element of time is very important in the effort to help farmers with delinquent loans. "I encourage them to get in touch with this office within 30 days of receiving their letter. To be eligible, farmers who received the first type of letter need to contact the office within a month. Otherwise, they will no longer qualify for the various options," he said. Knier says he is also advising farmers to start their financial planning earlier this year. "With the funding limitations that have been placed on the FmHA from Washington, farmers should look at their individual needs early. Because of this, they should get loan applications to the bank or to the Farmers Home Administration early," he added.

Area farmers may also want to check the possibility of qualifying for a program where the FmHA can guarantee a loan in cooperation with a local bank. Knier says another program is in the works in Washington that would allow for part of the interest owed by farmers to be paid by the federal government. "We don't have such a program today, but hope to have all the paperwork in the office by March 1," Knier said.

A WELCOME SIGN to most area motorists is the return of less-than-a-dollar gasoline prices for regular leaded gas to Cass City at the Village Service Center. Prices at all stations are dropping as crude prices plunged to $15 a barrel.

Village filling road potholes

It's that time of the year again to be on the lookout for potholes, and that is exactly what members of the Cass City Department of Public Works are doing.

According to Village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie, the DPW has used 5 tons of asphalt over the past week to fill potholes and make other street repairs. "This is an activity that takes place every year about this time, as soon as the weather begins to warm up," he said.

The Cass City DPW uses what is called a cold patch, or a cold mix of asphalt, for the filling of potholes on a temporary basis. LaPonsie said that moisture is able to get inside the asphalt as the temperatures vary from day to day. "With some of the larger potholes, the DPW men will go back at a later date and use a hot mix of asphalt, which will last quite a while longer."

LaPonsie says the Cass City Department of Public Works Please turn to page 16.

Owendale tool larceny probe continuing

Huron County sheriff's deputies are continuing their investigation of a larceny of tools from a shed near Owendale that was reported Monday, Feb. 17.

Police said tools valued at more than $500 were taken from the building at the Elenore Voelker residence, at 3046 S. Brown Road. Among the items stolen from the 40' by 60' shed were wrenches, a socket set, hand tools, a sledge hammer, and allen wrenches. Deputies said the thieves who stole the tools entered through a door on the east side of the shed.

Police believe the larceny occurred sometime over the past 5 weeks, but was not reported until last week.

Money awarded for food and shelter

Recently the Federal Emergency Management Agency gave 59 Michigan counties 4.5 million dollars for the Emergency Food and Shelter program.

Tuscola County received $30,907, Sanilac received $23,867 and to Huron County $17,836 was awarded. The money is channeled through the Human Development Commission (HDC) in Caro and it goes toward buying food for established food pantries, according to Pat Christie, community service coordinator for the HDC.

"What we do is perform certain fiscal operations and handle the finances, like making sure the bills get paid," she said.

The food is purchased by the volunteers at each pantry. "They are given a budget each month of about $300 and they go to local grocery stores and the food bank in Flint to purchase the food as it's needed," remarked Christie.

The food pantries are often run through churches and are voluntary. "No one is turned down the first time they go to a food pantry," said Christie. They are required to fill out a one-page application, which the HDC keeps on file to keep track of duplication.

"It prevents someone from going from food pantry to food pantry, though that happening is rare," she said. Each food pantry only serves a certain area so for example if someone is from Cass City they must use the Cass City pantry, located at First Baptist Church. In Caro, food can be picked up at the Dept. of Social Services.

Often no questions are asked even after a second visit is made, but by the third return trip some social service information is taken. "The food pantries are run by volunteers and they don't like to ask a lot of personal questions so by the third trip those needing the food are usually referred to the HDC. The situation may be found serious enough to make them eligible for another program," said Christie.

People learn of the food pantry through news releases to churches or word of mouth. Tuscola County has never had to advertise. "People know it is there," remarked Christie.

For the month of January, the food pantries in the 3 county area served 964 persons.

There are 4 pantries in Tuscola County, 6 in Huron and 8 in Sanilac. "We always have food available," she said.

When arranging flowers, experts say, put dark, full-blown, heavy flowers at the base or center, buds and lighter flowers at the edges.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Flossie Farrelly of rural Cass City says she is not much of a gambler. Since the lotto started, she confides, I have bought about 10 tickets. One of them was purchased Wednesday, Feb. 19. She wrote the numbers down and her son bought the ticket for her at Quaker Maid Dairy Store. She was at a meeting after the drawing and someone came in and announced the winning numbers.

My friend told me the strangest look came on my face when they were announced, she said. I could remember having most of the numbers. She immediately checked and found that she had selected 5 of 6.

Picking 5 of 6 earned Mrs. Farrelly $2,001.00.

Will she try again? Probably one ticket a week at the most. I figure I better quit while I'm ahead, she added.

A feature of the regular meeting of the Cass City School Board Tuesday, Feb. 18, was a mini birthday celebration for Deford teacher Barbara Tuckey, complete with cake and coffee.

An impromptu feature was a chorus of "happy birthday" led (off key) by board member Dick Wallace.

The Internal Revenue Service has ignored Rawson Memorial Library this year. No, that's not good news, that's bad news. In years past the library has received tapes from the IRS with tips on paying taxes. The tapes have been distributed again this year, but none were sent to Cass City although the IRS sent a release saying that most libraries have them.

Although you can't get detailed instructions on tape this year in Cass City, you can get all the reproducible forms necessary for claiming deductions, library authorities said.

Time wasted department. When the Tylenol poisonings were announced, Editor Jim McLoskey immediately called 5 local businesses to see whether or not they were pulling the drug from the shelf and reporting how each handled it. The only trouble, of course, was that later the company ordered all the capsules pulled and the story had to be killed.

Speaking of time wasted, last week was the first with a complete switch to computer typesetting.

No, things didn't go along without a flaw. On the negative side of the scoreboard were 2 stories that needed to be rewritten and one (Cass City police report) that disappeared into the bowels of the machine and never did surface.

Icy roads no help to area motorists

No injuries were reported in a one-vehicle, roll-over accident that occurred in Elkland Township Friday night handled by the Cass City Police Department.

Police said the accident was reported at 9:15 p.m. Friday, as Charlene L. Michalski, 21, of Gagetown, was traveling southbound on Cemetery Road, north of the intersection with Elmwood Road. Officers were told by Michalski that a vehicle in front of her was braking, and she then began braking. Police said her car slid on the icy pavement, went to the left of the center line, and then into the ditch on the east side of the roadway. The vehicle came to a stop after rolling over on its top. The Gagetown woman was not injured in the accident.

Less than an hour later Friday night, a two-vehicle accident at the corner of Main and Seeger Streets was reported to Cass City police. Officers said Larry G. Pitcher, 48, of Elkton, was eastbound on Main Street, when he made a left turn onto Seeger Street, and drove into the path of a westbound car. That vehicle was driven by Mark M. Hobart, 18, of Unionville. Pitcher told police he did not see the oncoming car, and was issued a ticket for failing to yield. Neither driver was injured.

Thursday at 6:00 a.m., Cass City police handled a car-deer accident in Greenleaf Township of Sanilac County. Police said Kell A. Hoffman, 35, of 5049 Cass

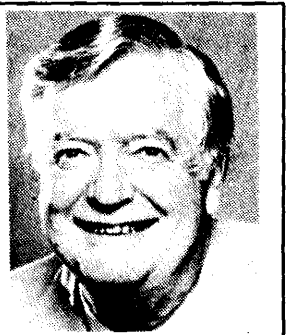

City Road, was westbound on Cass City Road, east of the intersection with Hoadley Road, when a deer ran into his path from the south side of the roadway. Hoffman was not injured.

A hit-and-run, property-damage accident was reported to Cass City police Tuesday, Feb. 18, at 4:00 p.m. Officers were told by Gloria J. Roe of Snover that her car was hit on the driver's side while it was parked in the parking lot behind the Ben Franklin store, at 6420 Main Street. Police said the accident was not reported by the hit-and-run driver. Upon investigation, police found damage to the Roe car's left fender, and to the rear-view, outside mirror. The car was legally parked and unoccupied. Cass City police believe the accident occurred between 2:30 and 4:00 last Tuesday afternoon.

"If It Fitz..."

Emily & Grandpa take a cab

By Jim Fitzgerald

As a test, my plan was to try to take a taxi home after seeing "Sesame Street Live" at Cobo Arena. I was testing to see whether Emily is more influenced by heredity or environment.

It's an old argument. I remember writing a paper about it for a college class, just a few years after the death of Lincoln. I was studying journalism because I didn't know I'd have to grow up to be a banker if I didn't want to work on Lincoln's birthday. In fact, in those olden days I was so dumb I didn't even know Lincoln and Washington were born on the same Monday, in the middle of a shopping mall, and that prices were cut up to 50 percent so people wouldn't mind shopping near two infants crying for liberty.

The question is simple: Is a growing child shaped mostly by the genes inherited from his or her parents, or mostly by the people closest to him or her during the formative years?

Emily is four years old and this is the first word I've written about her in six weeks. Several readers have demanded more Emily columns, but there was also a note from Lee Coburn of Lansing that said:

"Congratulations! You actually let a few days go by without 'bringing up Emily'...How about an adult column for and from adults without constant drivel about the grandkid."

So OK. The past six Emily-less weeks were for Coburn and other adults. Today's drivel is just for us kids. And for Emily's mother, Ferd, whom I also took to a show at Cobo Arena when she was four years old. And I also tried to take Ferd home in a taxi.

In 1961, we weren't actually going home, we were going back to our hotel, the old Wolverine, north of Grand Circus Park and a darn long walk for weary parents with two small youngsters in tow, especially in the winter, which it definitely was. The taxi ride seemed like an appropriate extravagance, even for a poor country editor who was staying at the Wolverine because it was the only hotel in downtown Detroit that would trade lodging for an advertisement in the Lapeer County Press.

But Ferd refused to get in the taxi. She said she was afraid of it. She said she'd never been inside a taxi before and she wasn't about to start now. She pitched a fit that prevented me from forcing her into the cab without being arrested for kidnapping.

We had to walk to the hotel, freezing every step, with me carrying Ferd. Twenty-five years later, I'm still mad at her for being such a brat, and I still don't understand why I didn't just leave her to get her picture on a milk carton.

So it was interesting, last Saturday, to confront

Emily with her first cab ride. Would she balk and run, influenced by her mother's anti-taxi genes? No. She climbed in with a smile, not a whimper.

Ergo, it must have been something in Ferd's early environment that turned her against cabs (a condition, incidentally, that she got over as soon as she was too big to be carried). It was probably something her mother snarled to her in her crib the night I came home in a cab because I'd mislaid my car.

Anyway, when I told the driver it was Emily's first taxi ride, he said he was sorry his cab was so dirty, but the weather was slushy. Emily liked that. And she was puzzled when it was explained that there was a glass barrier between the front seat and back seat so a passenger couldn't shoot the driver and take his money.

"Why would someone do that?" she asked.

Fortunately, today's column isn't for adults, so I don't have to explore whether the cause of adult crime is mostly environmental or hereditary.

The Haire Net

Dimly recalled today is the anticipation and excitement of a trip to Niagara Falls which was one of the highlights of my graduation from high school. We went in privately owned cars. Can you believe it, there were no school buses.

It was the highlight of the year for all those that took the trip and that included about 90 percent of the class. It was great because for all of us it was the first time we had visited the falls.

All of this came back to me when the conversation turned to seniors today and senior trips.

It's been a few years now since the traditional senior class trip was abandoned at Cass City High School. At the time, the thought here was that the students were missing something that in later years would have been something to look back on with fond nostalgia.

That was a mistake of course. I was equating conditions in the 1940's with conditions today. Going to Niagara Falls was a big deal then, now it's a safe bet that more than half the students have already been to the falls and a good percentage have been there more than once. To them the falls are no big deal. Even if there was a desire by the students to take the trip, it would be impossible to go the way we did. We went in private cars but we were chaperoned and it was an official school function. No one sued every time they turned around back then.

So the official school trip is a thing of the past in most schools and likely to become passe in all schools.

That doesn't mean that trips by seniors have gone the way of the Passenger Pigeon. This year for example during the spring break a group of senior boys will be trekking to Florida and I'd guess that before the year is out there will be quite a few who join friends for trips to one place or

Millington man gets 2 sentences in assault case

One of the suspects in a deer poaching incident in Oct. of 1984 appeared before Judge Patrick Joslyn in Tuscola County Circuit Court, Tuesday, Feb. 18.

Steven S. Simon, 21 of Millington was sentenced on charges of attempted assault during commission of a felony and malicious destruction of property valued over $100. He was sentenced to serve between 40 and 60 months on the first charge and between 32 and 48 months on the second charge, both in the Michigan Department of Corrections. Credit was given for one day already spent in jail. ## HDC readies distributions at 3 sites in county

The Human Development Commission will have a surplus commodity distribution at 3 locations in Tuscola County, including Cass City, Thursday, March 6, from 12:30 until 2:30 p.m., or until the supply is exhausted.

The distribution will take place at the Cass City Village Park, the Tuscola County Fairgrounds in Caro, and at the Ivan Middleton Hall at the fairgrounds in Vassar.

HDC Executive Director Mary Ann Vandemark said

the agency anticipates that cheese, butter, milk and rice will be available for this distribution. She said due to the volume of commodities, individuals are asked to bring cardboard boxes to carry their commodities home.

Individuals must report to the distribution site in person, and present their surplus commodity registration card. Persons who are unable physically to go to the distribution site themselves may have someone pick up their commodities only if the surplus commodity registration card is shown. Vandemark said the cards can be obtained from the HDC office, at 429 Montague, in Caro. Persons are asked to please call for an appointment.

The surplus commodities have been made available to the Human Development Commission, which is the local community action agency serving Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac and Lapeer counties, from the federal government. They are intended for personal consumption only by eligible, low-income families.

Buy out bid deadline scheduled for March 7

Dairy producers in the Thumb area have from now until March 7 to register their bids in the whole herd buy out program under the 1985 farm bill. Participating producers must either sell for slaughter or export all female dairy cattle in which they have a financial interest.

According to Michigan Farm Bureau dairy specialist Kevin Kirk, it's important for producers who participate in the program to understand they cannot have any female dairy animals on their farms during the next 5 years. "They will be required to certify each year upon applying for payment that they have no financial interest in any dairy cattle or milk production, and that their facility is not being used for milk production," Kirk said. "In terms of future uses of their facilities, they can raise dairy bulls or other livestock, but they cannot have any female dairy animals on their farms during the next 5 years." Kirk said participants will have 4 payment schedule options: no payment the first year, and 4 equal payments thereafter; up to 80% payment the first year, and equal payments the remaining 4 years; up to an 85% payment the second year, and then 3 equal payments; or equal annual payments.

The buy out program is not subject to payment reductions under the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings deficit reduction measure, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced.

New books at the library

A FRAGILE PEACE by Jonellen Heckler (fiction). Mike Stockman's drinking problem is destroying his public relations career, his health and his family. His wife, Katy, unwittingly contributes to the predicament by refusing to recognize the extent of the crisis, and by her blind determination to "nuture him back to the man he used to be." Their two teenage children, Rick and Lee, are emotional wrecks, unable to distinguish between love and hate. Although both of them find solace in healthy (and beautifully portrayed) relationships with friends of the opposite sex, they remain alone in their fear and anger. Katy gradually realizes that she can no longer protect Mike in his alcoholic cocoon, but is unable to act until Lee attempts suicide.

MONSIEUR PAMPLEMOUSSE AND THE SECRET MISSION by Michael Bond (mystery). At the express wish of the director of the food guide he works for, Pamplemousse and friend leave their Paris base and head for the Loire, a region famed for its fine wines and haute cuisine, to investigate strange doings at the Hotel du Paradis. The establishment apparently cares little about the comfort of its guests, and even less for their tastebuds, as the gastronomic sleuth learns when he samples the ghastly fare. However, the food has one redeeming quality — it is highly aphrodisiacal. Its effect on master and dog leads them both into adventures of a most indiscreet kind, as Pamplemousse becomes hopelessly entangled with a girls' marching band, encounters an unknown assailant who keeps bopping him with baguettes, and engages in an ongoing battle with a public pay toilet — while Pomes Frites runs amok among the female canine population.

FIRE IN HEAVEN by Malcolm Bosse (fiction). The story is set mainly in 1948, year of Gandhi's assassination and Communist victory in China. Philip Embree — veteran of the recent war in Burma who 20 years previously was attached to the army of a brilliant Chinese general whom he betrayed for love of the general's Russian mistress, Vera — leaves India, where he had gone to heal his spiritual wounds, for a journey of emotional stocktaking. He returns to Burma, to Thailand (where he rejoins Vera, whom he had deserted there) and finally to China, now in the last agony of civil war, in order to retrieve Vera's daughter Sonia (with whom he falls in love) and revisit the city where the general had been headquartered.

It's a change, but she likes it

Zimbabwe girl is new Cass City resident

by Cymbre Sommerville

Zimbabwe - the name of this African country, slightly smaller than California, is little known to most of us, but it is home to Ingrid Shepard, 16, a Rotary Exchange student from Harare, the capital city. She is currently living with the Newell Harris family and is a senior at the Cass City High School.

The biggest adjustment she has had to make is in school. "In our school there is much more discipline and more respect for the teachers. We have to stand up when a teacher comes into or leaves a room and address them whenever we see them. Here teachers are more like friends," said Shepard. Swearing for instance, is forbidden and if it is heard, detention is likely. This means that "the student will probably spend a Friday afternoon doing something awful...like knitting or writing lines," she said, with an accent that sounds English.

She said that most children attend a top government all-girl or all-boy school. Shepard attends an all-girl school which requires a uniform and a colored name badge. The badge represents the "house" a student belongs to. A house is randomly assigned to each student and when they compete in sports the points are credited toward their house. The winners usually receive a cup. "There aren't as many sports for girls here," said Shepard. In Harare she played grass hockey, team gymnastics, swimming and tennis. She was also the leader of a marching band. The band marches in patterns to a band with the leader giving them signals. They march on a large field and compete with other schools and towns. "It's a very popular sport in Zimbabwe," she said.

Academically, the Zimbabwe school system is very different from ours. At Shepard's school, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday the entire student body meets before school to say a prayer, sing a hymn and receive messages. Then it is on to class.

"We study basically the same courses but in Zimbabwe learning is more in-depth. We write a lot more essays." They follow a syllabus and have exercise books and textbooks on each subject. The exercise books are checked on a regular basis.

All the studying is to prepare them for an international exam around the age of 16. It is called "O" Level. The exam is over 8 or 9 subjects and they are required to pass 5. The next level is "M" followed by "A". "Levels 'M' and 'A' are taken around the ages of 17 and 18. They are very difficult so most people stop at 'O' Level," remarked Shepard.

In Zimbabwe the school starts in January. "We go to school for 3 months and then get a 3 to 4-week break." At the end of each term, students take smaller exams preparing them for the "O" Level exam.

The "O" Level is taken by the entire student body at the same time. It is stretched over a two-week period giving everyone enough time to take each part. "You might have a 2 1/2 hour essay Monday morning then another Tuesday afternoon. I just got word that I passed my 'O' Level." This means that if she chooses, she is finished with school. "We don't have graduations like you do here." "People can go on to

"M" and "A" Levels but it's usually the very clever that do," she said.

Her home town of Harare has a population of 1/4 million, so coming to Cass City was quite a change. Though it's smaller, she said coming to a new town and starting in the middle of the semester was still scary, but she finds the people very friendly and feels right at home.

She is in Cass City until December but she stays with a different family every 4 months. Changing families will give Shepard an opportunity to travel. "I'm going to Texas and Mexico with my second family and to New York with my third family. I have an uncle in Canada and will spend Easter there. The Rotary is also sponsoring a bus tour around the Great Lakes, this summer," she said.

She is going to try downhill skiing. She had never seen snow before coming to the U.S. Zimbabwe is bush country, rich with wild life and African culture. "Often, there are roadside stands where women sell crafts such as baskets and hand crocheted dresses," she said.

The change from white government to a black government in 1980 had no effect on her. She felt that the only change was the color of their skin.

To keep herself busy, Shepard plans to get a part-time job and join track and softball in the spring.

"I have to watch my weight here. You seem to eat more fattening foods, like doughnuts and waffles for breakfast, buttered popcorn and pizza. We have those things but they aren't as popular as they are here," she said.

Zimbabwe sent 20 students to the U.S. and they are scattered all over the country. The U.S. also sent about 20 students to Zimbabwe. Each student is here for a year and during that time the Rotary sponsors various luncheons and activities for them. Often other exchange students are present and they swap pins they have collected in various places with the other students.

ROTARY EXCHANGE STUDENT Ingrid Shepard displays some pieces of African culture, such as a hand-crocheted dress and hand-woven basket.

Big Brothers-Big Sisters tribute

State Senator Jim Barcia, (D-Bay City), was in Tuscola County Wednesday night at the Caro United Methodist Church to assist the Tuscola County Big Brothers-Big Sisters program staff, volunteers and board members, in paying tribute to the big brothers and sisters who contribute their gifts of time and love to help children of one-parent families in the area. The agency's volunteer appreciation dinner and annual meeting featured a "go Hawaiian" theme with a potluck luau, Hawaiian decorations, and attire appropriate to the islands. Senator Barcia presented the agency with a framed copy of a concurrent resolution of tribute honoring Tuscola County Big Brothers-Big Sisters, that had been passed in the State Senate and House last month. The tribute was accepted by Executive Director Lucy Schiller, on behalf of the volunteers. She said the resolution will occupy a very special spot in the agency office.

The purpose of the event, held during National Big Brothers-Big Sisters Appreciation Week, was also to express thanks to the many community supporters who assist in the organization and operation of the program and the Second Chance thrift shop. Schiller said, "These special people were honored for their gifts of time, talent, and monetary contributions that are so necessary to the continuation of the program." She emphasized that the agency still has a great need for volunteers to be matched with children who are waiting for big brothers and big sisters, as well as the growing number of children who the agency anticipates will be referred during the next year. She also stressed the need for financial support from the community to ensure the continuation of the program during 1986.

Big sister Kathy Kuehne was honored as the volunteer of the year following the dinner last week. The award was announced by big sister and long-time friend, Donna Derwinski, who described Kathy's commitment to the program for nearly 10 years prior to her untimely death in December of last year. Seven members of Kathy's family were on hand to accept the award presented by 2 little sisters, Chris and Paula, with whom Kathy was matched at the time of her death. "The Big Brothers-Big Sisters program in Tuscola County benefited from her generosity in so many ways, since she not only gave her time to the children, but she also gave of herself to assist with fundraising, and with activities designed for the children still waiting for a big brother or a big sister," said Director Schiller.

"Bean" bill helps farmer

An amendment designed to correct a provision in last year's Farm Bill, and to help Thumb area bean farmers was approved by the Wheat and Feed Grain Subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee last week.

The amendment, sponsored by 8th District Congressman Bob Traxler, (D-Bay City), specifically prohibits the planting of dry beans on so-called permitted acres, under the price support programs of the recently-passed 1985 Farm Bill.

Traxler said, "The problem is that if some farmers in other states start planting beans on wheat and corn acreage, and still get their deficiency payments, then we will see a drop in the price of beans that will hurt Michigan's dry bean producers."

1986: a busy start for TCSD

1986 got off to a busy start for the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

In his monthly report to the board of commissioners, Sheriff Paul Berry said 549 criminal calls were received by the department in January. That compares to 559 calls reported in December of last year. The number of emergency calls during the 2-month period also increased from 156 to 184.

Comparing the figures from January and December, the report from Berry shows that complaints of vandalism were up from 41 to 51. There was also a smaller increase in the number of assaults, which went from 20 to 23. Decreases were noted in the area of burglary from 33 to 27 last month, and in the number of disorderly/vagrancy complaints, which went from 19 to 17. The number of larceny complaints during January remained the same as the month before at 41.

Business continues to be brisk at the license bureau operated by the sheriff's department in Caro. Berry reported that a total of 253 applications was received during January, compared to 282 in December.

The county jail received 152 inmates for the month, of which 23 were females, one was a juvenile, and there were 131 released. One inmate was transported to the Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson to serve a sentence.

HEALTH TIPS

Alcohol keeps you awake

Insomnia can drive some people to drink, but downing a few hot toddies before bedtime can make a good night's sleep even more elusive.

Consuming two -- or three or four -- shots of alcohol may "knock out" the weary insomniac, but that nightcap may damage the quality of sleep for the rest of the night. And in some cases, alcohol can trigger life-threatening health problems.

Alas, the before-bedtime cocktail is too often among the misguided but well-intentioned home remedies for insomnia. Experts differ on exactly the amount of alcohol that will affect sleep, but some believe that even one shot of liquor taken an hour or less before going to bed disturbs the pattern of slumber, making it light, unsettled and less than refreshing.

The person initially lulled to sleep by drink may sleep soundly for the first few hours, but then awaken or sleep poorly. The sleeper may also experience nightmares and feel unusually tired the next day. People who drink regularly may experience nightmares on nights that they refrain from alcohol.

The potential for abuse of this insomnia "home cure" is high because the amount of alcohol needed to invite drowsiness increases rapidly in a short time with regular use.

What is Insomnia?
As many as 33 percent of adults in the United States report that they suffer from occasional sleep problems, and an estimated 10 million adults annually seek doctors' advice about the problems.

Insomnia is defined as the complaint of unsatisfactory sleep, and it can appear as difficulty in falling asleep, difficulty in staying asleep, or unrefreshing sleep.

This lack of sleep usually causes the person to feel irritable, fatigued and uncomfortable during the day. Indeed, a major consequence of insomnia is that it may impair daytime functioning.

Insomnia is not a disease, but the sign of an underlying problem -- often one that deserves medical attention.

Most normal sleepers have probably experienced transient insomnia -- a disruption in sleep for one to three nights. Jet travel across time zones or hospitalization for elective surgery may induce transient insomnia.

Short-term insomnia, lasting from three nights to three weeks, may be caused by personal problems such as the death of a loved one or by loss of a job. Although this type of insomnia usually disappears a few weeks after the specific stress lessens, sleep medications are often helpful in the interim.

Long-term insomnia, lasting more than three weeks, may stem from chronic medical illness, depression or other psychiatric problems, alterations in biological clocks, chronic drug or alcohol misuse, anxiety about sleep, poor sleeping habits, or a sleep disorder such as nocturnal myoclonus (thrashing of the legs during sleep) or sleep apnea (a breathing problem).

The Chronicle

Alcohol is a major cause of insomnia in part because it disturbs the Rapid Eye Movement (REM) cycle of sleep.

REM sleep appears about 80 to 90 minutes after the onset of sleep and the first REM phase lasts about 10 minutes. During a typical night's sleep, REM sleep will recur four or five times, increasing in duration each time, with the final REM cycle lasting up to 40 minutes. REM sleep can occupy a total of two hours during eight hours of slumber.

But for the sleeper who has had a few drinks of alcohol before retiring, alcohol in the bloodstream acts as an enemy to REM, fighting off the cycle.

About five hours after sleep occurs, as the body eliminates the alcohol, sleep becomes disturbed for the rest of the night. One reason for this disturbance is that REM sleep "re-bounds" and can return with a vengeance to intrude on the other cycles and deprive the body of deep, restful sleep.

For several nights after a habitual drinker stops drinking, the person may suffer from nightmares stemming from REM sleep rebound. An alcoholic on a drinking binge may suppress REM sleep for so long that it will rebound when the individual is awake. Researchers have theorized that delirium tremens, or d.t.'s -- hallucinations and muscle jerks -- are actually portions of the REM cycle in action while the alcoholic is awake.

Alcohol May Trigger Fatal Condition.

In many people, alcohol also is believed to trigger or aggravate sleep apnea, a disorder characterized by snoring and periods of not breathing during sleep. This potentially life-threatening problem is common and seen more frequently in older people. Sleep apnea is especially dangerous to those with a history of pulmonary or cardiac disease.

The disorder is defined as frequent halts in breathing, lasting from ten seconds to as long as three minutes. Sleep apnea is another roadblock to a good night's rest because the sleeper, though typically unaware, is awakened briefly but repeatedly as he gasps for breath. These stirrings, occurring perhaps hundreds of times a night, fragment the flow of the sleep cycles.

Some degree of sleep-related respiratory impairment affects an estimated 20 percent of the population, and 60 percent of men over 60 years old. Men who are overweight and snore are more apt to have sleep apnea.

A group of my colleagues, sleep experts in Gainesville, Fla., studied 20 healthy men ranging in age from the 20's to the mid-60's. The men were given four shots of vodka less than an hour before bedtime. Their sleep was monitored, and the episodes of sleep apnea were significantly longer and five times more frequent than for the same men when they had not imbibed alcohol.

Alcohol worsens the condition because it relaxes the muscles in the throat and suppresses the awakening mechanism, adding to the time it takes for a sleeper to stir and take a breath.

Sleep apnea can trigger potentially fatal conditions, including an erratic heartbeat, severe drops in oxygen levels in the blood and a rise in blood pressure. For those already suffering from cardiac and pulmonary disease, even moderate drinking before bedtime presents a risk. This effect of alcohol may be even greater in men than in women.

Falling Asleep the Old-Fashioned Way.

Sleep is integral to keeping the body a humming machine. The body's growth hormone, a secretion linked in the formation of bone and red blood cells, is released during deep sleep, and REM sleep is believed important in maintaining memory.

Insomniacs in search of sleep are sometimes tangled in a Catch-22. The more worried the weary person is about falling asleep, the more tossing and turning is likely to follow.

The caution against using alcohol as a self-help for insomnia does not rule out common-sense steps that may alleviate the problem. Of course, if sleeplessness persists, a trip to the doctor is in order to determine the root of the problem and find a treatment.

For an occasional problem:

*Instead of taking an alcoholic drink, try a glass of warm milk or a light snack.
*Exercise during the day or in the early evening but avoid strenuous activity too close to bedtime, as this may be more stimulating than relaxing.

*Avoid caffeine and nicotine before retiring -- both are stimulants.

*Read, listen to music, watch television or do anything else that invites drowsiness. Avoid going to bed before feeling sleepy.

*Try to get up at the same time every day to establish a solid sleep and wake cycle.

And, if all else fails, sometimes the oldest home remedy -- counting sheep or any other object -- may prove distracting enough to lull to sleep all but the anxious sheep rancher.

Your neighbor says

Recruit teachers from local area

The Michigan Education Association sponsored a number of news conferences across the state a few months ago, including one in Cass City, to talk about the shortage of teachers in this country.

One of the people who continues to discuss the subject is Sheldon Markley, the executive director of the Tri-County Bargaining Association. The TCBA is a division of the Michigan Education Association, and has its local office at 6146 E. Cass City Road.

Markley feels the recruiting of new teachers should be a local matter, and this is one of the reasons why his organization is bringing the issue to the attention of school boards and communities. "It is a problem coming in the near future, and we have to deal with it now. It currently takes at least 4 years to become a teacher, and in the future, it may take longer," he said.

When asked if he would encourage someone he knows to become a teacher, Markley said,

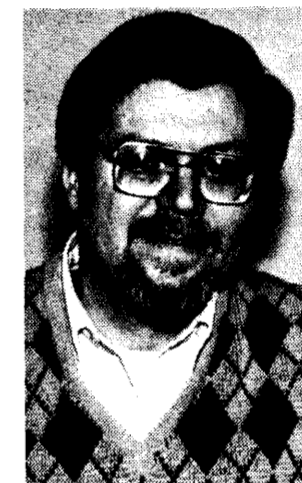

"As a person who works with educators, I have an obligation to solicit people for the field, not just anybody, but the best candidates. There are a number of teachers today who would not recommend that people consider education as a field, both from a monetary standpoint, and based on working conditions."

Markley said he is sure there are school boards in the area that are forward-looking enough to recognize there are some problems, and will be looking for ways of attracting people by being more competitive with wages. "I also know the Michigan School Boards Association is recommending that boards take a look at knocking steps off the bottom of the salary schedule, in order to raise the base pay. This would make it possible for people to attain the maximum wage quicker than they can now. For example, a person with a math or science background can go into private industry and start at about $25,000 per year. Locally, a teacher makes $25,000 after staying in the district for 12 years," he said.

At the same time that some teachers are retiring, Markley feels that older teachers who could not find jobs earlier will be re-entering the teaching field. "I think it would be beneficial to have those kind of people in the classroom. People who come from backgrounds with diverse experiences would be very valuable in the teaching area," he added.

Markley has been the executive director of the Tri-County Bargaining Association for the past 2 years.

AROUND THE FARM

Farm workshops set at MSU

By Bill Bortel

Crop producers will find many educational sessions, workshops and displays at Agriculture and Natural Resources Week, March 17-22 at Michigan State University, which will help them improve farm management and increase profits.

A workshop on fertilizer use and recommendations, sponsored by the MSU Department of Crop and Soil Sciences, is designed for farmers, agribusiness representatives and farm advisors who want to further their knowledge of fertilizer use. Participants will use samples of their soil for analysis and discussion.

Other workshops will cover anhydrous ammonia use, farm safety, field crop scout training and pesticide applicator certification.

Topics of educational sessions include what's new in corn tillage systems, a farmer's rights when in financial difficulty and crop marketing ideas.

A farm marketing trade show and tours of the Agricultural Experiment Station will provide producers the chance to see recent advances in crop production research and technology.

Hundreds of exhibits and displays will be on hand, including a demonstration of Telfarm, an easy-to-use, microcomputerized, on-farm-record-keeping system.

The Corn Growers Association and the Michigan Certified Farm Market and Farm Market Cooperative are among the many groups that will hold their annual meetings during ANR Week.

ANR Week programs, workshop costs and association meetings are detailed in a free guidebook available through the Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service Office in Caro.

Hints on sewing

by Betty Pattullo
Extension Home Economist

Attention, home sewers! March 19 and 20, the Tuscola and Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Services will host two special sewing-related programs entitled: "Hints for the So-So Sewer" and "Updating Your Pattern Fitting Skills."

The "Hints for the So-So Sewer" program will focus on sewing techniques and shortcuts. The participants will learn how to lay out and cut patterns without pinning, to mark patterns easily and accurately, and to create darts and hems that do not shout, "I made it." Also included will be setting in sleeves without pinning or basting, sewing on an invisible patch pocket, creating collars where the seams disappear like magic, sewing without fabric, gathering without pulling thread, and sewing zippers and v-neckline inserts. This program will be held from 1:00-3:00 p.m., and repeated from 7:00-9:00 p.m., in Sandusky at the County Conference Room, 37 Austin Street, March 19.

In the "Pattern Fitting Skills" Workshop, the participants will learn how to buy the right size pattern for dress and slacks, take the required measurements, and to check the pattern with her measurements adding the needed ease for each area. She will then learn how to pivot and slide the pattern using waxed paper and a tracing wheel to make necessary alterations for length and width. The participant will then practice these pivot and slide techniques on mini patterns. There is no slashing or spreading of the pattern, no cutting larger seam allowances, no guesswork. Patterns fit first time, every time, and without smiles, frowns, or other wrinkles! A few sewing shortcuts will also be covered. This program will be held from 10:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m., at the Brentwood in Caro, March 20.

Ms. Linda Woyshner Strom, instructor for the programs, is a graduate of Michigan State University and a certified Sew/Fit Instructor. For the past two years, she has presented sewing related programs at College Week to capacity crowds. She has also traveled extensively throughout the U.S., lecturing and teaching sewing and pattern fitting.

There will be a $4.00 fee for each person attending the "Hints for the So-So Sewer" class in Sandusky and a $6.00 fee for the "Updating Your Pattern Fitting Skills" workshop in Caro. Books further explaining the techniques and pattern weights for pattern layout and cutting without pinning will be available after the classes. For reservations and further information, contact either the Sanilac County Extension Office at 313/648-2515 or the Tuscola County Extension Office at 517/673-5999, Ext. 228.

Cooperative Extension Service programs are open to all without regard to race, color, national origin, sex or handicap.

On weekends he can be found driving an off-road odyssey

by Jim McLoskey

About 6 years ago, Jim Benkelman of Cass City was looking for a sport that he could participate in that would be exciting. It had to be a sport that in the event of an accident, would not keep him from work the very next day. Benkelman found the sport with both of those characteristics in off-road racing in odysseys.

Benkelman, 28, lives at 4947 Schwegler Road, and is employed as the manager of the Broadcast House office in Caro. He and his racing partner, Joe Howard, of 4261 Oak Street, race under the team name of Selective Engineering.

Benkelman drives a regular car to work Monday through Friday, but the vehicle he enjoys driving as often as possible is called a suspended odyssey. The odyssey is described as a small, 4-wheel machine that resembles an all-terrain vehicle, with the exception of a partially-enclosed frame, and a required roll cage.

Benkelman bought his vehicle new in 1980. "It's called a modified Class 3 odyssey, and it was made by Honda. Since I got it, though, just about everything on the vehicle has been changed," he said. Among the modifications are changes in the frame, roll cage, steering, suspension, gas tank, wheels and tires. Some of the changes involved parts made by Benkelman while other parts were purchased from various companies.

Not only does the racing enthusiast's odyssey look different now, but it also travels quite a bit faster. Benkelman said his vehicle is powered by a 250 cc (cubic centimeter) engine which is cooled by water. "When I first drove it, the engine was putting out 18 horsepower. That figure is now up to between 30 and 40 horsepower. We use as high an octane fuel, mixing gasoline and oil, as we can get," he said.

The extra power from that engine was what Benkelman needed to finish in second place in competition held at the Pontiac Silverdome Saturday, Feb. 8. That was good enough to earn Benkelman a total of 16 points, while the other member of the Selective Engineering team, Howard finished fifth and received 7 points in the competition. The event was sponsored by Mickey Thompson's Off-Road Championship Grand Prix Racing Division, which is based in Bradbury, Calif.

Benkelman said he was very pleased with his performance against the top racers from all across the country. He also had high praise for his partner. "Joe really did his homework for this race at the Silverdome, and I'm real proud of him. Had it not been for a blown engine near the end of the race, Joe could have been the winner," he added.

Benkelman said one of the close calls for him during the race was going over one of the many ramps on the course, and getting the rear tires of his odyssey about 4 feet off the ground. He was able to maintain control of his machine while going between 60 and 65 miles per hour on the circle track. The race lasted about 15 minutes.

Although he has raced both indoors and outdoors, Benkelman says he prefers the roar of the crowd and all the excitement that goes with it. 27,000 spectators were watching from the stands at the Pontiac Silverdome earlier this month. With visions of the Indianapolis 500 in his head, Benkelman says, "You always dream about being a race car driver, and this is kind of like being in the same seat as Mario Andretti. This is something I have always wanted to do, and if I thought I could ever afford to do something like Indy, then that would be great. But the next best thing is to scale it down to this form."

The owner of vehicle number 15 says racing an odyssey can cost a lot of money. "It started out inexpensive, but didn't stay that way for long. I bought my machine for $1,400 in 1980. Today, a new odyssey will cost you about $2,400. We have about $1,400 into the motor alone on this one," Benkelman said. With the design work and various parts added to the total, he said there is between $5,000 and $6,000 invested in the vehicle.

Since his racing career began, Benkelman says he has kept in mind the idea of staying in one piece while behind the wheel of his odyssey. "There is a possibility of people getting hurt in this sport, but we really went safety first. There are safety nets around the frame, so nothing can come in, and to prevent your arms from flying out. I also wear a 5-point seat belt, a head restraint, a helmet, gloves, knee pads, and a padded horse collar around my neck," he said. So far, the Cass City racer says all of those safety features have been doing their job. "All you have to do is strap yourself in, and go out and have fun."

Benkelman uses the term "super simple" when asked how difficult it is to learn how to drive an odyssey. "There is no transmission, so you don't have to worry about changing gears while driving. The vehicle has an accelerator and a brake that are both operated by hand. So you just grab the steering wheel in front of you, and there's nothing to it," Benkelman said. His odyssey has 2 kill-switches in different locations that can be used to shut down the vehicle.

The off-road racing of odysseys is a sport that has drawn the interest of both men and women of all ages. Benkelman said, "2 years ago, a woman won the Illinois State Championships. She beat all of us. There are also a lot of guys in their late 30's and early 40's who are active in the sport. It's just something that they love to do, and it brings out the race car driver in everybody."

As far as his next big race is concerned, Benkelman says he doesn't know for sure when that will be taking place. "Sometimes, my partner and I will race 15 times a year, and the next year, only 2 or 3 times. Last year, it was the 4th of July Festival in Cass City, but we also race at Deford and at the Owendale Speedway. We always like to go to the national championships held in Ohio. That's where 2 years ago, I took a fifth-place finish, and last year, Joe came in fifth place in the nationals."

Benkelman is hoping that the popularity of odyssey racing is going to be on the increase in Michigan over the next few years. "It is an up-and-coming sport that is getting bigger and bigger every year. Although it is very big in California, the sport hasn't really caught on in Michigan as we thought it would," he said. Benkelman knows of about 5 persons living in the area who race their odysseys on a regular basis.

For those who would like to learn more about the sport of odyssey racing, Benkelman says he is willing to do all he can to spread the word. "All you have to do is get a hold of somebody who knows about odysseys. Either myself, or Joe Howard, would be more than happy to show them what it is all about."

Benkelman has this advice for what can be done with odysseys when it's time for the driver to retire, and hang up his racing helmet. "You can always hand them down to your kids," he said.

Ladies make quilt

for Reagan's birthday

Editor's note: Copies of the following letters were sent to the Chronicle by Mrs. Walter Parrott because of a story and picture published about the project in the paper.

Jan. 21, 1986

Happy Birthday President Reagan,

This beautiful patriotic quilt was completely hand made from start to finish by a group of ladies that are very active in their church and community. I was high bidder for this quilt at the harvest day festival Sept.

Thanks are sent by the President

Dear Friends:

Many thanks for your special efforts in creating the handsome quilt which I received through the kindness of Mrs. Barbara Lance on the occasion of my birthday. I truly appreciate the time and talent you devoted in creating this special quilt. You have my heartfelt gratitude.

Nancy joins me in sending you our very best wishes.

Sincerely,
Ronald Reagan

21, 1985. At that time I said I was going to send it to you, President Reagan, on behalf of all the ladies that worked so hard to make this unique quilt.

On behalf of my husband, my four sons, their families and myself, I want you to know we are devoted Republicans and proud Americans. I am honored and proud to be a member of the Republican Presidential Task Force.

Thank you for accepting this unique quilt. The ladies of the Kingston United Methodist are happy and proud that one of the many quilts that they have worked so hard to make has made its way to the leader of our great land.

We sure hope Nancy will like this gift also.

God bless you on your 75th birthday and may He grant you many more.

Novesta Corners

remembered

Mr. Haire,

Enclosed is a check for eighteen dollars ($18) for the renewal of my subscription for two years.

I look forward each week to receiving the paper and especially enjoy the pictures of people whom I remember when I lived up there.

The picture of Mrs. Max Agar (Gladys) was interesting. Her sister, Leila Clark, was one of my music pupils. Also a group picture of Avis Youngs and Lena Patch who were also music students of mine. A picture of Rev. Eldred Kelley made me think of his grandparents, Walter and Blanche Kelley, who were very good friends of mine. My grandson, John McLaughlin, is also a minister (Methodist) in California.

The picture of the Novesta Church brought back many memories. My parents (George and Genie Martin) had a farm on the Kingston-Novesta townline and I went to many services and activities in the Novesta Church.

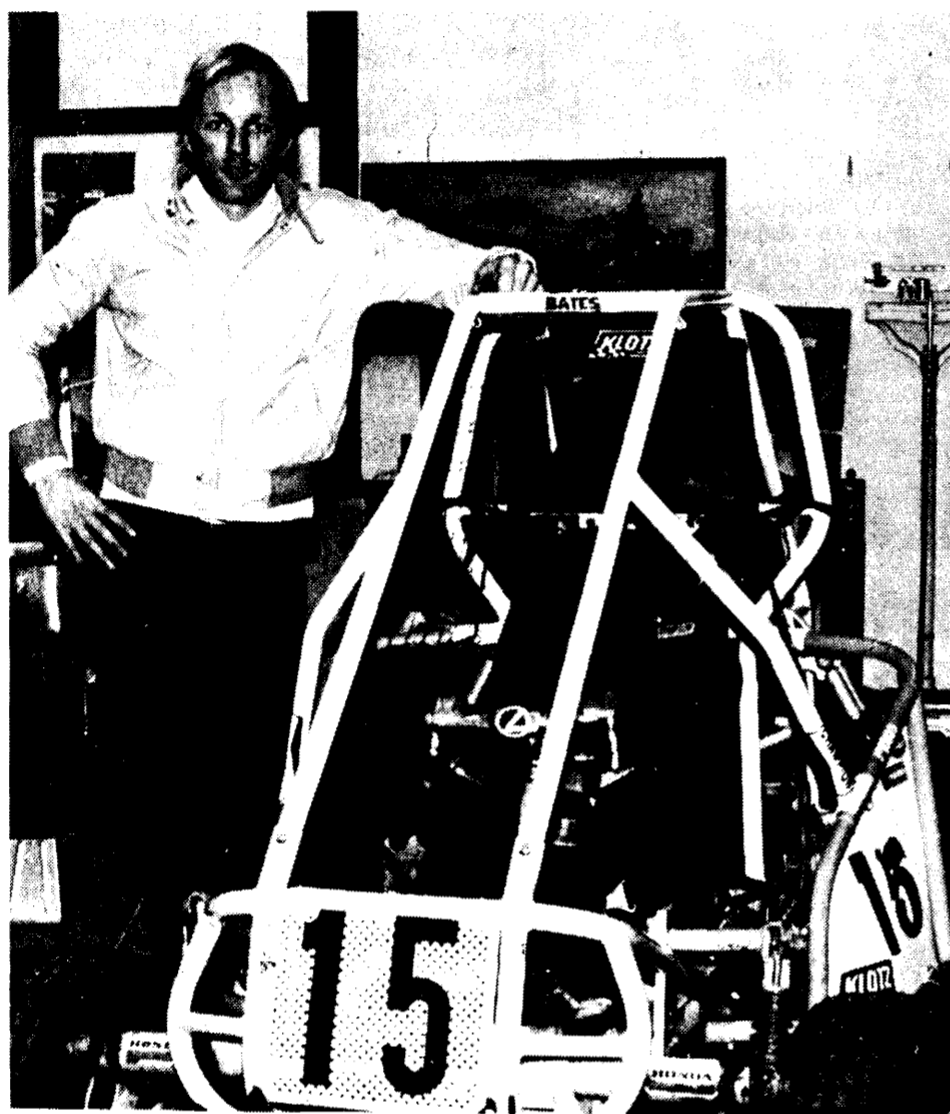

Many "Old Timers" may remember that at one time Novesta Corners had two stores, a blacksmith shop, a post office and there was a doctor whose name was Dr. Beyers. We got our mail there directed just Novesta Mich. and I have a postcard with that address.

My first school days were at the Crawford school so that neighborhood is very familiar to me.

Altho I have been gone from there for more than sixty years, I still like to keep in touch with old friends.

Sincerely,

Polls closing time would be affected by Riegle bill

U.S. Senator Donald Riegle has introduced legislation to establish a single poll closing time in the continental United States for presidential elections.

In introducing the bill, Senator Riegle said, "This bill addresses the problem we have encountered in recent national elections where voters are discouraged from going to the polls because of projections about the outcome by the mass media prior to the closing of voting in all parts of the country. We need to make sure that elections are not decided before every citizen has had an opportunity to cast his or her ballot."

The Riegle legislation, which is identical to a bill passed by the House of Representatives Jan. 29, will establish a single poll closing time of 9 p.m. Eastern Standard Time for all states except Alaska and Hawaii in presidential years. In order to provide as long a voting day as possible in the West, the bill will also extend daylight savings time in the Pacific time zone states for a maximum of 2 weeks. The polls in Pacific time zones would then remain open until 7 p.m. Pacific Daylight Time.

Riegle noted that broadcast and polling technology has become increasingly sophisticated, making it possible to make projections very early in an election. He said, "In 1980, this controversy came to a head when television networks indicated that President Reagan was leading President Carter as early as 6:30 p.m. EST. At that time, only 2 states, Kentucky and Indiana, had finished voting. By 8:15 p.m. EST, NBC News projected Reagan as the winner on the basis of exit poll data."

Senator Riegle concluded, "As a nation that values free elections as the basis of our democratic system, I believe that a uniform poll closing time will protect the voters from the infection of voting projections, and will help encourage voter turnout at the polls. This solution is the least intrusive and is the only realistic one to a problem that modern technology has created."

Balanced proposal

President Reagan's fiscal 1987 budget request for the Department of Labor "is a balanced proposal that protects the interests of American workers," said Labor Secretary William E. Brock. The budget calls for $28.5 billion in budget authority, and $23.2 billion in outlays.

NFO to sponsor strategy meetings

DeVon Woodland, president of the National Farmers Organization, announced this week that he is inviting farmers, merchants and agricultural lenders to a series of commodity strategy meetings to be held in 17 states, including Michigan.

Woodland said the series, called "Meetings To Cash Flow Agriculture-Phase II", will begin March 3 with meetings in Iowa and Kansas. He said NFO members will urge farmers from all farm organizations to attend the meetings.

William Jones, president of the Sanilac County NFO, said the meetings are scheduled geographically, so that all farmers and business people can attend. "I want to emphasize that 'The Plan To Cash Flow Agriculture' is introducing a new marketing system that will benefit all producers who understand it, and main street rural America will benefit from an influx of new earned capital," said Jones. The meeting for this area will be held March 12 from 1:00 until 4:00 p.m. at Walli's West, at the intersection of I-75 and Pierson Road in Flint.

Initial meetings were held last August and September to introduce the NFO's cash flow commodity programs to rural America. The meetings this year will explain the details of commodity programs, so that farmers will recognize the simplicity of how they can participate, and raise farm commodity prices together. "The money to pay our bills and retire debt is in the market place, and all we have to do is go after it together," said Woodland.

Hawks top Imlay City to keep slim league title hopes alive

Going into the final game of the season Friday when the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port Lakers come to town, the Cass City Red Hawks still retain a very slim chance of tying for the Thumb B Conference crown.

The Hawks defeated an inept Imlay City Spartans team Friday, 83-55.

For the Hawks to tie for the title the Lakers would be forced to lose a make-up game to Vassar and Cass City would have to win the season's final Friday. The make-up game was to be played before Friday's game and when the 2 teams take the floor for the final game of the year fans will know if it's just another game or a title deciding encounter.

The outcome of the tilt with the Spartans was in doubt for just the first 4 minutes of the first quarter. With 3:04 gone in the period the Hawks led, 7-6. Dave Miller then hit the first of 5 buckets in the quarter and Cass City was off and running. By the time the carnage was over, Cass City was in front 23-8 with Kurt Bliss contributing 6 points, Mike Kelley adding a basket and a free throw and Dan Ware chipping in with 4 free throws in as many tries.

The game turned into a rout early in the second period. With Miller and Scott Adams carrying the scoring load, the Hawks ran up a 30-12 lead with 5:10 left. Adams had his most prolific scoring quarter of the season as he counted 10 points on 4 buckets and 2 free tosses.

After that it was only a question of how big the final score was to be and Coach Ron Nurnberger was able to turn to his bench the rest of the way.

The regulars played sparingly in the rest of the third quarter and also sat out practically all of the final period.

Everybody played and for the first time this season everybody scored.

Miller led the scoring parade with 22 points. Also in double figures for Cass City were Adams with 14 points and Bliss with 10. The Spartans were led by Matt Ankley, 20 points, and Dan Campbell, 18 points.

CLOSE GAME

There was a good deal more excitement in the junior varsity game. It went to the wire before Cass City won, 44-42.

Box score. Cass City: Peters, 1-1, 0-0, 2; Lefler, 2-3, 0-1, 4; McPhail, 2-3, 0-0, 4; Suzor, 1-5, 2-2, 4; Adams, 6-7, 2-2, 14; Ross, 3-6, 0-1, 6; Randall, 0-4, 1-2, 1; Ware, 2-4, 4-4, 8; Miller, 10-12, 2-2, 22; Bliss, 4-6, 2-3, 10; Kelley, 3-7, 1-3, 7; Hyatt, 0-0, 1-2, 1. Totals, 34-64, 15-22, 83.

Bad Axe, Sell, 0-0, 0-1, 0; Belz, 1-2, 2, 1; Hoeksema, 2-2, 2, 6; Dennis, 2-3, 4, 7; Campbell, 9-0, 0, 18; Ankley, 7-6, 6, 20; Vaubel, 1-1, 3, 3. Totals, 21-60, 13-18, 55.

Tuesday is Friday's best day as Hawks bow to Mayville, 65-61

Terry Friday staged an offensive show at Cass City High School Tuesday night and the visiting Mayville Wildcats took advantage of it to post a narrow 65-61 decision over the Red Hawks.

Friday took charge of the game and scored 37 points including a pair of clutch free throws in the last period to seal the win for the visitors.

Friday didn't wait long to get his team off and running in the first quarter. He burned the nets for 12 points as Mayville jumped out to an 18-12 lead.

Cass City came back with some balanced scoring to close the gap at the intermission to 35-32. Notable in the period was Mike Randall. Randall is a freshman who started the year on the freshman team, moved up to the junior varsity and joined the varsity for the Mayville game.

They were impotent when we had the lead. No one took charge when the game was on the line and we couldn't put them away.

Cass City obviously felt the loss of Mike Kelley who was out for the game. The Hawks were led by Dave Miller and Ware with 16 points each. Scott Adams netted 11. Helping Friday for Mayville was Duncan Thornton with 16 points.

Cass City draws bye in tourney

Cass City has drawn a bye in the Michigan High School District '86 basketball tournament next week at Sandusky.

There are no clear-cut favorites in the tournament although Sandusky may have a slight edge because the tourney is on the Redskins' home floor.

Coach Ron Nurnberger has to be happy with the draw. Cass City will play Deckerville, which also drew a bye. The game is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 4. The winner goes to the finals, which are scheduled Friday, March 7.

The bottom bracket in the draw has 3 teams, any of which could be considered bona fide candidates to win it all. All but Sandusky, which Cass City did not play, split with Cass City during the regular season. Marlette will meet Sandusky in the opening round Monday, March 3, and Mayville will meet the winner Wednesday, March 5.

All games are at 7:30 p.m. A pre-game ticket sale will be held at the high school for the Cass City-Deckerville clash.

Randall went to the free throw line 6 times in the second quarter and converted 5 of the tries. He finished the game with 8 points.

Cass City kept applying the pressure in the third quarter and going into the final period had edged in front 49-48. Dan Ware was the key performer in the rally with 3 buckets.

But the Wildcats refused to fold and came back to earn the season's split with Cass City.

WIN PRELIMINARIES

The Hawks salvaged something for the night with wins in the 2 preliminary games. The freshmen topped Deckerville, 58-39, and the junior varsity defeated Mayville, 50-43.

The box score: Cass City - Adams, 4-3, 4-11; Ware, 7-2, 5, 16; Miller, 6-4, 5, 16; Bliss, 2-0, 2, 4; Hyatt, 3-0, 0, 6; Randall, 1-6, 9, 8. Totals - 23, 15-23, 61.

Mayville - Thornton, 8-0, 1, 16; Bailey, 2-0, 4; Tophan, 1-0, 2; Friday, 16, 5-7, 37; Terbush, 2-0, 1, 4; Prystajko, 1, 0-1, 2

Cass City hosts Marlette Wednesday in pre-district

The Michigan High School Athletic Association pre-district volleyball tournaments will be held this week in preparation for the districts to be held Saturday in Cass City starting at 9 a.m.

Cass City will host Mar-lette Wednesday night starting at 7 p.m. Other pre-districts will pit USA against Sandusky at USA and Ubyl against Harbor Beach at Ubyl.

Teams that drew byes and automatically advanced to Saturday's district play are Lakers, Bad Axe, Mayville and Deckerville.

The Lakers are prohibitive favorites to capture the Class C district crown as they are the top rated team in the state in the division.

O-G draws bye in class D cage tourney

The Akron-Fairgrove schools will be the hosts for this year's Class D basketball tournament, as "March Madness" moves into full gear next week with the district finals in Akron.

In the pairings announced Monday, both Owendale-Gagetown and North Huron drew byes in the first round.

The winners of the 2 semifinal games will square-off Friday, March 7.

All of the Class D tournament basketball games are scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Injuries avoided in crash

A Gagetown man avoided injury when the car he was driving flipped on East Caro Road, Monday, Feb. 17. Scott Mills, 30, swung out to avoid a car that had stopped to turn into a driveway and lost control. His two passengers, Mary Jean Czapala, 20, of Caro and Wayne Parker, 39, of Cass City, were also uninjured.

Sheree Jean Lapeer, 24, of 6484 Main Street, was eastbound on M-46, Saturday, when a deer ran into the path of her car. Lapeer was uninjured.

Brian Lee Kelley, 29, of 207 Doerr Road, reported the theft of 2 snowmobiles from his home on Thursday. Kelley owned one of the snowmobiles, while the other belonged to a friend, Dale Bader. Each snowmobile was taken off a trailer.

Laweda Kay Shake, 18, of 1325 Crawford Road, was headed east on Deckerville road Tuesday, Feb. 18, when the car she was driving hit a patch of ice. The car went out of control and rolled over into a ditch. Shake sought her own treatment.

Public hearing scheduled

Pheasants arrive next month

A new strain of blackneck pheasants is about to become the new residents of Huron and Tuscola counties. The DNR is planning to release the birds the second week in March. The exact date is still not known.

The drawback to the planting of the birds is that the selected site must close down hunting in the area for up to 3 years. Bruce Kuhl, Huron county commissioner, says that the yearly planting is optional. "If they take hold after the first year, then it would be unnecessary to continue the plants," he said. He believes that they will take hold, and so does the DNR. A public hearing is scheduled for Tuesday, April 8, at the Bad Axe Community Building to let area sportsmen comment and answer any questions they might have. Another similar meeting in Caro is scheduled for sometime in April.

The DNR will close down hunting in the township surrounding the plant site, and according to Michael Green, Tuscola County Commissioner, they would like to close it down in the entire county if there is not too much public opposition. "The people I have talked to are for it 20 to 1," said Kuhl.

According to Kuhl, the plant site closest to Cass City is on state land in the Gagetown area, on the Huron and Tuscola county borders.

The pheasant population has been declining since the 40's and 50's. It is hoped that the blackneck pheasants will bring back the bountiful harvest once enjoyed by pheasant hunters.

Vicky Robinson state qualifier

Vicky Robinson of Cass City is on her way to the state finals in free throw competition sponsored by the Knights of Columbus organization.

She was one of 4 local young people entered in the regional competition held Saturday in Saginaw. Vicky won the 14-year-old girls' division by shooting 17 of 25 baskets, in shots taken from the free throw line of a basketball court.

This is Vicky Robinson's first year in the Knights of Columbus contest. She will now advance to the state finals of the competition scheduled for March 15 in New Lothrop.

Competition during the regional contest Saturday was described as tough, with one of the 11-year-old boys getting 23 baskets out of 25 shots.

Also taking part in the regional competition from Cass City were Brad Gray, 11; Mindy Fulcher, 12, and Keri Santos, 11.

Bulldog spikers capture title

The Owen-Gage girls' volleyball team ended the regular season Monday night with a dual win over Caseville 11-15, 15-5, 15-2 and 15-6, 15-3.

In the action Monday against Caseville, Barb Hellebuyck had 20 service points for the Bulldogs, Cindy Enderle had 18 service points and 20 sets, and Susie Salcido had 20 kill spikes and 30 good spikes.

In the JV game, Owen-Gage defeated Caseville 15-7, 15-17 and 15-7. The JV Bulldogs ended their season with a record of 11-2 overall, and 7-1 in league competition.

PUTTING THEIR consumerism studies to the ultimate test Monday were third grade students (from left): Brian Hicks, Tracy Simpson and Jon Englehart

Students to become good consumers

The students in Mrs. Shirley Tuckey's third grade class at the Campbell Elementary School in Cass City had the pleasure of eating what they studied Monday afternoon.

Classmates sat down to a full-course meal as part of a study of consumerism, under the direction of student teacher Laura Wolverton, and Mrs. Tuckey. The teachers said most of the food was made by the students, who also put together the menu, set the tables, and learned how to serve the food. The students were also scheduled to go shopping, as part of the unit on consumerism, but that activity was rained out.

Both teachers said their students seemed to enjoy learning about becoming smart shoppers, and everybody had a good time consuming their meal in school, instead of their regular lunch.

Judge Joslyn sentences Flint robber to Jackson state prison

A Flint man appeared before Judge Patrick Joslyn in Tuscola County Circuit Court Monday.

Christopher Allen Inman, 20, was sentenced from 7 to 15 years for armed robbery to the Southern Michigan Prison. He was given credit for time served and he will receive vocational training. He was charged with armed robbery and a felony firearm conviction. The charges stem from the armed robbery of John and Emily Piske, of W. Sanilac Road, Sept. 19, 1985. The elderly couple were tied up in chairs and their automobile, a rifle and money were taken. The car was later recovered with the transmission and engine missing.

Martin A. Willsey, 19, of Deford, was sentenced for attempted larceny over $100, stemming from an incident that took place Nov. 7, 1985. He received a delayed sentence of one year and was ordered to put in 80 hours of community service.

Alan N. Ferguson, 23, of Millington appeared in court and was sentenced for larceny in a building. He was put on probation for 5 years and fined $200. He was also charged costs of $300 and a restitution and attorney fee of $2,155. Ferguson was sentenced to one year in the county jail, with 6 months deferred to end of probation. He was given 5 days credit for time already served in jail. Charges stem from the breaking and entering into a factory in Vassar.

Joseph H. Brady, 19, of Caro was sentenced for larceny in a building. He was given probation of 3 years and fined $50. He was sentenced to vocational rehabilitation and must put in 180 hours of community service. Brady was also sentenced to 120 days in the county jail with 30 days waived and 17 days credit for time already served. Brady was charged with breaking and entering into an occupied house with intent to commit larceny.

Marty McLellan, 21, of Caro appeared in court on a charge of delivery of marijuana. A plea of guilty was entered and accepted by the court. A pre-sentence investigation of the June 11, 1985 incident was ordered.

Elmwood board says yes to state league insurance

The Elmwood Township Board of Trustees decided Wednesday night to join an insurance pool associated with the Michigan Municipal League.

Township Clerk Joanne M. Sattelberg said the board members went over and discussed the insurance package that was presented to them. She described it as the best one seen by the board, with the cost of the package being a 25% increase over last year.

Sattelberg said the insurance quote given to the board did not include workman's compensation and one other item, which will be picked up in June at an increased cost of about $2,000. She said the rising cost of insurance is affecting all units of government, and the board can't do too much about it.

In other action during its regular meeting Wednesday, the board discussed the pending resignation of Township Assessor Joan A. Sattelberg of Gagetown. She is expected to step down from that position in April, although no written resignation has yet been received by the board. Sattelberg will continue to serve as a trustee.

It was also announced that the Elmwood Township Board is still looking for a cemetery sexton to replace William Winchester, who is scheduled to resign on March 31. Anyone who is interested in applying for the position is asked to contact a member of the board.

The next meeting of the township board is set for March 19.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

A new slant on bonds as an investment comes from Kidder Peabody, the big stockbroker, in an ad.

BONDS CAN OUTPERFORM STOCKS

—That's the head over this catchy idea. Then it shows graphically what investments of $20,000 in stock averages, zero-coupon tax-free bonds, and zero-coupon government bonds amount to in 12 years.

The novelty in the comparison is that the stock investment is for the past 12 years. The bond investments are for the next 12 years, but based on present rates.

Here are the figures: $20,000 investment in "S & P 500" stock averages made 12 years ago, with dividends re-invested, now amounts to $49,660. $20,000 in zero-coupon tax-free municipal bonds made now will amount in 12 years to $57,520. $20,000 in zero-coupon taxable government bonds bought now will amount in 12 years to $68,290.

It's surely a provoking comparison. All sorts of comments spring to mind: 1. Why compare the past 12 years with what may happen the next 12? Well, if you buy zero-coupon bonds you know what will happen the next 12. The results are guaranteed. 2. The stock figures don't include the effect of income taxes, and neither do the figures for zero-coupon government bonds.

An important point. Stocks on average return about 5 percent. If you're in as low as a 30 percent bracket, then you net 3.5 percent. Stocks in the last 12 years showed about 30 percent gain in price. Capital gains tax on that (again using a tax bracket of 30 percent) would reduce it to an after-tax gain of 26.4 percent. Roughly, taking out the taxes the stock-owner would pay would cut his net result from $49,000 to $39,000.

3. What about the taxes on zero-coupon governments? They're taxed, too, same as stock dividends, or any other regular income. And you pay the tax each year on the imputed income — imputed, because you actually don't get the interest until the bonds matures.

Say you buy these government zeroes, to yield 11 percent, and due in 12 years. In this 30 percent tax bracket we assumed, your after-tax yield will be only 7.7 percent.

If you compound the $20,000 investment for 12 years at 7.7 percent you'll wind up with $48,710 — not the $68,290 that Kidder Peabody uses in their ad.

After all this picking at the figures, we're down to the real nitty-gritty — what you'll have in keeping money in bonds 12 years from now, and what you would have had in stocks today after investing $20,000 12 years ago:

Stocks ..... $39,000
Tax free zero-coupon bonds .... $57,520
Govt. zero-coupon bonds .... $48,710

4. What about inflation? Twelve years ago the consumers price index was about 150. Today it's over 300. Stocks were no inflation hedge in that span. The index went up 30 percent and the value of your money went down 50 percent.

An investment in bonds was hit by the same inflation. But the big difference was that bonds returned twice as much before taxes, and three times as much if you had tax exemptions.

It was after 1973 that inflation socked the investor, and it didn't taper off until 1982. Now it's running at 3.3 percent.

Looking ahead, while we know what the return from zero-coupons will be for the next 12 years, we have to guess at inflation. But we do have the interest rate locked in. In the Kidder Peabody figures, zero-coupon tax-exempts were figured at a 9 percent rate — a real modest return — for many are advertised at 9.5 percent.

So guess what the inflation rate will be on average the next 12 years. Better consult your phrenologist first. I asked the Okafeneke witch, Horrible Hattie, and she snarled, "4 percent" and went back to eating alligator tails.

So take the Kidder Peabody $20,000 investment, writing out your guess of inflation ahead. Compound $20,000 at 5 percent net (9 percent return — 4 percent inflation) in zero-coupon municipals for 12 years and you get $35,917.

In stocks, say dividends run at 5 percent and increase in prices at 3 percent. Wring inflation out of that and you have 4 percent net. Take taxes out of that at 30 percent and you have 2.8 percent net.

Compound $20,000 at 2.8 percent for 12 years and you get $27,857.

This is assuming, mind you, that the present stock averages of 1320 will be 1882 in 12 years. That figure comes from compounding a 3 percent annual price gain.

We conclude with that great statement that ends all discussions: Time will tell.

CASS CITY high school students Matt Clara and Tammy Jantz entered their art in the Scholastic art competition at Hampton Square Mall, with Matt receiving a gold key award. Both are students of Mrs. Karen Wallace.

Sigel Township receives money to close dump in Huron County

Clean Michigan Fund grants totaling nearly $7.4 million were awarded this month to 99 applicants, including Huron County's Sigel Township, by the Natural Resources Commission.

The Clean Michigan Fund was announced last summer in response to the state's growing solid waste disposal dilemma. The program is aimed at reducing statewide dependence on landfills by promoting resource recovery technologies, and attracted 295 applicants during a limited application period last fall.

The grant recommended for Sigel Township totals $101,217. The award was made under the category that provides funding for the complete closure of landfills and open dumps owned or operated by municipalities. State officials said a 25% local match is required. Landfills and dumps in this category must be closed to state specifications.

Grants and study awards were distributed around the state to local governments, private industry, and non-profit organizations interested in implementing or expanding programs for recycling, composting, and waste-to-energy incineration. In addition, many unlicensed or at-capacity landfills and dumps will be closed, transfer stations constructed, and household hazardous waste collection programs funded, to help remove toxic materials from the waste stream.

"Michigan must continue to move away from past landfill mistakes," Governor James Blanchard said of the program. "Implementation of the Clean Michigan Fund will make our state a leader in the adoption of resource recovery alternatives."

Walbro sales reached a record level in 1985, reports Althaver

L.E. Althaver, President and Chief Executive Officer, Walbro Corporation, reported sales from continuing operations for the year ended Dec. 31, 1985 of $73,008,000 compared with $60,555,000 for 1984. Income from continuing operations was $4,936,000 less a loss from discontinued operations of $1,622,000 for net income of $3,314,000 for 1985. This compares with income from continuing operations of $3,551,000 plus income from discontinued operations of $184,000 for net income of $3,735,000 for 1984.

On a per share basis, 1985 income from continuing operations was $1.68 less a loss of $0.55 per share from discontinued operations for net income of $1.13 per share based on an average of 2,942,124 shares outstanding. This compares with income from continuing operations of $1.30 per share plus income from discontinued operations of $0.7 per share for net income of $2.00 per share in 1984, based on an average of 2,736,286 shares outstanding.

These figures have been restated to take into account the 2-for-one split of Walbro common stock which occurred May 28, 1985.

Sales from continuing operations for the fourth quarter of 1985 were $20,912,000 compared with $14,761,000 for the fourth quarter of 1984. Fourth quarter income from continuing operations was $1,018,000 less a loss from discontinued operations of $1,235,000 for a net loss of $217,000 for the fourth quarter of 1985. This compares with earnings from continuing operations of $1,003,000 plus earnings from discontinued operations of $83,000 for net earnings of $1,086,000 for the fourth quarter of 1984.

For the fourth quarter, per share income from continuing operations was $0.35 less a loss of $0.43 per share from discontinued operations for a net loss of $0.08 per share based on an average of 2,942,124 shares outstanding. This compares with fourth quarter 1984 per share income from continuing operations of $0.35 plus income from discontinued operations of $0.02 for net income of $0.37 per share based on an average of 2,938,530 shares outstanding.

Althaver noted in announcing the results that Walbro's sales reached a record level in 1985, up 20 percent from the previous year. "Income from continuing operations increased 39 percent in 1985," Althaver added. "However, net earnings for the year were significantly affected by the previously announced adoption in the fourth quarter of 1985 of a plan to discontinue the company's diecasting operation, Auburn Diecast Corporation, Auburn, Michigan."

"The decision to discontinue operations at that facility resulted in a charge of $1,030,000 or $0.35 per share against fourth quarter 1985 earnings to record the estimated losses associated with the discontinuance. This is in addition to operating losses of $592,000 or $0.20 per share incurred by Auburn in 1985.

"While the decision to discontinue operations at Auburn was a difficult one, we are confident that it was appropriate, and that as a result the company will be in a position to direct its resources as effectively as possible to take advantage of the many opportunities for the company today."

Althaver noted that "1985 was a very good year, with a strong showing in sales and income from continuing operations. In addition, a number of major expansion and modernization programs were completed throughout the world, and the company's capabilities were further expanded with the addition of personnel and equipment."

"We look forward to 1986 as another year of growth for Walbro. The market for the company's fuel system products continues to be strong, especially in the areas of automotive fuel injection components and carburetors for small engine applications including lawn-and-garden and industrial engines," the Walbro executive noted.

Unexpected origins of wedding customs

It happens in every wedding. The bride and groom exchange rings. They share cake. The bride throws her bouquet. But do you know how these customs began? THE BRIDE: A Celebration (Harry N. Abrams, Inc.), a book by Barbara Tober, Editor-in-Chief of Bride's magazine, reveals their sometimes surprising origins.

The bride throws her bouquet so an unmarried friend can "catch" some luck in romance, goes the modern explanation. But the custom actually started as a form of self-defense.

What's behind it

In times past, belief in the mystical value of a bride's adornments prompted friends and strangers alike to try to grab a piece of her outfit. Eventually, some clever bride found that by flinging her flowers away from herself, the crowd would have something to fight over—and she would escape intact! The wedding party originally served the serious purpose of protecting the bride and groom from the curses of evil-wishers. They dressed in clothes exactly like those of the bride and groom, so the identity of the happy couple was kept secret on the way to the church and until they were safely married.

Food of love

The first piece of wedding cake is cut and eaten by the bride and groom as a carryover from the time when the sharing of food or wine often was the marriage. Teutons, for example, were considered wed after drinking mead together for thirty days. (The word brideal comes from bride-ale.)

The aisle runner protected the bride from evil spirits who, it was thought, lived below the ground. These demons were also feared to lurk around doorways, hence the bride is carried over the threshold of her new home.

The why of rice

Rice symbolizes the age-old hope that the couple will be as fruitful as the earth.

Pick the wedding style that's just right

SILHOUETTES

Bourani Demi-bell A-line Princess

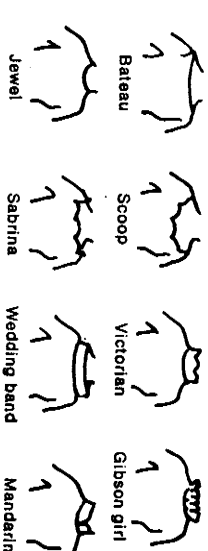

• Today's most important silhouette is the A-line. Empire, caught directly under the bustline and flowing therefrom to a flare at the hemline.

• The Princess silhouette assumes a tailored look, completely fitted at the bodice. This silhouette may flare to a full, bouffant hemline and can be worn over a crinoline or tiered hoop underskirt.

• The Demi-bell features the natural waistline or an inch higher than natural. It has a snugly fitted basque bodice, dipping a little in the back. The skirt is slightly shaped.

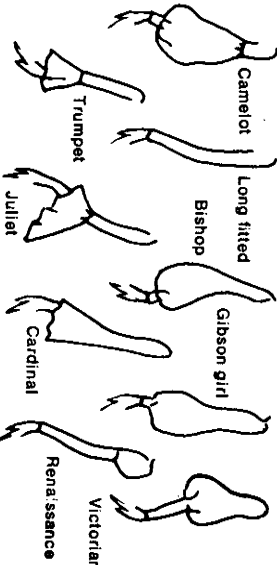

• The bouffant silhouette, with snugly fitted bodice, falls away from the waistline into a full skirt requiring crinoline and hoop underskirt.

NECKLINES

Most popular fashion trends today feature the Victorian look with adaptations like the Gibson girl.

SLEEVES

Sleeves come in many popular variations, most important of which are the Bishop, Camelot and Renaissance.

TRAINS

YOUR CORRECT SIZE

A tape measure becomes a valuable "tool" now that you are about to shop for your wedding gown. Know your size. Carefully measure and record bustline, waist and hips. This being done, check these measurements against the chart below and obtain your nearest size. Bear in mind, too, that alterations are usually required for a perfect fit.

The detachable Chapel train is advantageous since it may be removed for dancing after the ceremony. The full floor length and train-forming mantilla (made of or trimmed in lace) gives your bridal costume the "total look" . . . adds a touch of ethereal beauty.

Wedding etiquette

- IT ISN'T NECESSARY, BUT IT'S NICE!
Although not considered necessary, it is nice for the bride-to-be and the groom-to-be to exchange gifts before the wedding. Jewelry is ideal for this purpose. Items of wearing apparel are not considered in good taste.

It is bad taste to disappear from the wedding scene secretly. About half an hour before you intend to make your going-away, have your bridesmaids spread the word that you are leaving so that all on hand may assemble when you toss your wedding bouquet.

The bridal bouquet is thrown to a group of unmarried girls after the bride has dressed in her going-away outfit.

On Your Wedding Day

We'll provide a special appointment for you and your attendants. From the haircut to the makeup, our skilled stylists will practice their art to arrange your appointment for you. Beautiful prices are what we create. Call 872-3535.

Wedding gowns should match figure of bride

Certain fashions and fashion details enhance the figure, others undermine your appearance, depending upon your body structure. Listed below are a few hints to bear in mind.

SHORT FIGURE

For brides-to-be under five feet, five inches, there are specially cut gowns known as petite, junior or "doll sizes." If you are diminutive, inquire from the bridal shop about having the manufacturer produce a gown for you on Special Order.

Short girls should select gowns with vertical treatment to add the illusion of height. Try a bell skirt or controlled silhouette instead of more voluptuous styles. A high coronet headpiece adds to the picture of height. Above all, avoid the low cut scoop necklines.

THE FULL FIGURE

The most flattering silhouette for this figure is the A-line Empire. Select a gown with detachable train. If you are ruffie minded, keep the ruffles on the detachable train. Do not wear a dress with the bouffant look. Do not select the cage look silhouette. And try to avoid long sleeves, since short or elbow length sleeves will add an appearance of slimness.

If, in addition to having a full figure, you are short in height, select a Princess silhouette to add height.

If you are over Size 16, select a slim headpiece, too.

THE TALL GAL

Ask your bridal consultant about a dress with extra skirt length or, perhaps, a longer than usual bodice line. Or a longer sleeve. Value her opinion.

If you're extremely tall, everything should be a bit longer. The veil, too, can be had a few inches longer on Special Order, if necessary. It's worth the little bit extra cost to have everything look right on you.

Tips

- "Shop" through the bridal magazines thoroughly to study and become familiar with fashion right styles.
- Purchase your gown about three months before the wedding.
- Rely on the good judgement of your mother and the bridal shop consultant.
- Choose a gown that flatters your figure.
- Your headress should complement, not fight, your gown. When selecting a headpiece, arrange your hair exactly as you will wear it on your wedding day.
- A lace mantilla is worn only if the gown is simple and tailored.

CATCHING A MEMORY to be treasured is a must on the wedding day. Unusual photos such as this one by Partio Photography capture the spirit of the day.

Honeymooners' survival kit

Late in your wedding day you'll both drive off with tin cans clanking, while friends and relatives pelt your car with rice or bird seed for good luck. Alone at last!
Somehow the breakfast you both missed for pre-wedding jitters, and reception dinner missed for all the dancing and excitement of the day, begin to catch up with you. Now that the day's events have come to a close, you find yourselves hungry and relaxed for the first time all day.
Stopping at a restaurant would hardly seem logical, and even ordering room service at the hotel would be another unwarranted interruption.
Ah, but you find a gaily decorated basket in your getaway car en route to the hotel. A note attached reads: "Food Is Love," and is signed by a thoughtful member of the wedding party who packed the surprise.

The basket is filled with all the essential treats for two famished honeymooners:
Fresh French bread, cold lemon chicken, a wedge of cheese and luscious strawberries.

There is sparkling Perrier for pure thirst quenching, and Lindt bittersweet chocolate truffles for pure indulging. The final ambrosia is two slices of wedding cake and a split of champagne.

And tucked into the side of the basket is a small bunch of daisies, because daisies don't tell ...

CHINESE PEPPER STEAK

1 pound top round steak,
cut 1/4 to 1 inch thick
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/4 cup soy sauce
3 medium green peppers
3 small tomatoes
2 tablespoons cooking oil
1 clove garlic, minced
1/2 cup water

Partially freeze steak to firm and slice diagonally across the grain into very thin strips. Combine cornstarch, sugar and ginger and stir in soy sauce.
Pour mixture over meat and stir. Cut green peppers into thin strips and cut tomatoes into wedges. Quickly brown beef strips (1/2 at a time) in hot oil and remove from pan. Reduce heat; add green pepper, garlic and water to pan and cook until green pepper is tender-crisp, 5 to 6 minutes.
Stir in meat and tomatoes and heat through.
4 servings.
