Graham struck by truck

A 76-year-old pedestrian was injured Thursday when she was struck by a vehicle at the intersection of Seeger and Main.

According to the Cass City Police, Thelma Marie Graham of 4273 Ale St. was walking west across Seeger when she was struck by a pickup truck driven by Gene Kent Hopper, 31, of 6425 Seventh St.

Hopper, who was northbound on Seeger, told police that he stopped for the red light and looked west before starting to make a right turn onto Main.

Graham, who was in the crosswalk, claims that the light was green on Main when she stepped out into Seeger.

Graham was taken to Hills and Dales Hospital where she remains in fair condition.

The incident is still under investigation.

Hyun Jin Yun, 17, of 6806 Herron St. struck an unoccupied parked car Friday on Main St.

Yun who was in the right lane and westbound on Main attempted to pull out around the parked car but there was another westbound vehicle in the left lane and Yun struck the parked car owned by James Baker of 6469 Garfield in the left rear. No injuries were reported.

A car driven by Otto Bacon Jr., 32, of 6167 Main St. was eastbound on M-81 Monday morning when a deer ran into the path of the car.

According to Cass City Police, approximately $400 in damage was done to a front window at the Station Bar, Main St. Saturday night. There are no suspects.

Stuck in mud

Arrest Yost after chase

A Cass City man led Tuscola County sheriff's deputies on a high speed chase Saturday night.

Frederick Yost, 42, was apprehended after his wooden leg became stuck in the mud as he attempted to flee from his car.

Deputies on a special drunk driving enforcement

A CAR-PEDESTRIAN accident at Seeger and Main, Thursday, sent Thelma Marie Graham to Hills and Dales Hospital.

Prizes, bargains galore

Swing into spring sale

Cass City shoppers should be on the lookout for flying saucers Thursday at 6:45 p.m. at the corner of Main and Seeger Streets. These flying saucers are certain not to hurt you. In fact they are nearly certain to help.

The saucers are paper plates and each of them will offer special prices on wanted spring merchandise or free gifts. They will be tossed at random and the owner of the plate will be eligible for a huge discount or a free prize written on the plate.

One of the plates will give the lucky recipient a free VCR. Sponsors say that 500 plates will be tossed.

Following the plate toss, stores will open for a moonlight madness sale from 7 to 10 p.m. Thursday.

Thursday is the first day of spring and merchants will celebrate with a "Swing into Spring" sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Deputies continued the chase 1/4 mile south on Lee Hill when Yost made another U-turn and headed north. As the deputies vehicle approached him, Yost made a left turn into a ditch, over a mailbox and came to rest behind a house.

Uninjured, Yost was caught a short distance from the car when he became stuck in a muddy field.

According to deputies, Yost was held overnight for drunken driving and driving on a suspended license and then released on bond.

480 submit dairy herd buyout bids in 3 counties

More than 480 dairy farmers from Tuscola, Sanilac and Huron counties turned in bids last week to participate in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's dairy herd buyout program.

The bids on paper were opened by members of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service county committees at the ASCS offices in Caro, Sandusky and Bad Axe.

Of the figures available, ASCS officials said the bids submitted ranged from a low of $6.89 to a high of $500.00 per hundredweight of milk production. The bids were based on yearly milk production, and most of them fell into the $26-$51 range. The highest bid of $500 was from Tuscola County.

The highest percentage of dairy farmers submitting bids was also in Tuscola County where 41% of the eligible farmers took part. The figure for Huron County was 35%, while 27% of the dairy farmers in Sanilac County turned in a bid. The paperwork submitted to offices in Caro, Sandusky and Bad Axe has been sent to regional and state offices of the ASCS for processing. The next stop for the bids will be the Secretary of Agriculture in Washington, D.C., who will make the decision as to which bids are reasonable and which are not. Farmers are scheduled to be notified by March 28, if their bids are accepted under the guidelines of the program. The whole herd buyout program is included in the 1985 Farm Bill, and is described on page 16.

Threat of washout of roads easing

Officials with the Tuscola County Road Commission are hoping that the worst is over, as far as problems dealing with washed-out roads in the area are concerned.

Road Commission Clerk James Miklovic said, "Over the past week, we received reports of roads being washed out pretty much county-wide. Most of the problems surfaced on Monday and Tuesday, March 10 and 11." There was a report received by the sheriff's department Thursday morning of a portion of Rossman Road being washed-out near Kingston.

Miklovic said the minor wash-outs across the county were caused by overflowing ditches, streams and rivers. "The ground was saturated and the ditches were full of snow and ice. Fortunately, we had a few evenings of cool temperatures that slowed down the melting process, but we still have a lot of muddy roads out there," he said.

As of Friday afternoon, Miklovic said the worst part of the road wash-outs in Tuscola County may be over, if there is not too much more rain. He said the past week's wash-out to have the largest effect on traffic volume was on M-81, just east of Caro.

Officials with the National Weather Service in Flint said the Cass River at Vassar was expected to reach its flood stage Friday, cresting at 14 feet.

School seeks tax for removal of asbestos

The Cass City School Board made official a plan discussed at the February meeting by voting Monday in its regular session to seek a one-mill tax levy for 2 years to remove asbestos from school buildings. The proposition will be placed before the voters in the regular June election.

A mill is equal to $1 per $1,000 of the state's equalized valuation of property. A mill raises about $100,000 per year in the Cass City district.

If voters approve the levy the work will begin in the summer of 1987 when the first year's tax money will have been collected.

In previous discussion, Supt. Donald Crouse said that he wasn't sure if the tax money would be sufficient as securing firm estimates on the cost were not easily available.

The board was spurred into another action because of changing conditions. Trustees voted to hire Charles Creason as a full-time mechanic to care for the school bus fleet.

Crouse recommended the action to the board for 2 reasons. The first is the closing of the Ford garage in Cass City, leaving no dealership available to service Ford buses in the fleet. The second reason is that the farm shop is now used only 2 hours in the morning and the space can be used for bus repair, eliminating extra cost for a repair area.

Traditionally buses have been purchased from local dealers on a cost plus factor. Because the school will have its own repair shop the district has the option to buy the buses on a bid basis if it desires. The question of how the buses should be purchased, on bid or on cost plus, has been a problem for the school board over the years. Creason will be paid $325 per week and given full family hospitalization insurance.

Crouse said that the method of reimbursement from the state for bus costs will change next year. It will be paid on a formula based on the number of pupils and miles the bus travels. He said that the new system could save the district up to $10,000 per year.

MEETING SET

The board officially accepted an invitation from the Owendale-Gagetown School Board to meet Monday at the Tuscola County Intermediate Building in Caro. On the agenda is a discussion of property in dispute between the 2 districts.

The Cass City board's position has changed following a ruling by the State Board of Education saying that the Belk property should be part of the Cass City district. Prior to the ruling the board had offered to trade property in the "Goslin" tract for property with an equal valuation in the Belk tract.

That offer is no longer on the table following the state's ruling. Trustee Ben Hobart said that a survey of the non-resident property holders in the area indicated that they did not want to become part of the Owen-Gage district.

However, a survey by Marvin Irrer, Hobart said, indicated that there are 8 parcels of land in the Belk district, along Elkland Road, where the owners have indicated they would like to become a part of the Owen-Gage district. The board would not object to the transfer of this property as long as they form a line that is contiguous to the Owen-Gage district.

OTHER BUSINESS

The board voted to pay $5 each towards graduation gowns for teachers who indicated they would participate in the special ceremonies at graduation to mark the 100th graduating class at the school. Principal Russell Richards said that a survey of the teachers and administrators indicated that 54 of the 80 said that they would march on graduation night with the seniors. The Cass City Teachers Association is expected to decide this week if it will donate money towards the rental of the gowns. Gown rental is between $16 and $20 depending on the kind selected, Richards said. Forty-seven teachers said that they would participate even if they were required to rent gowns.

Al Luce, the professional negotiator who has represented the district for 19 years, was granted an increase in salary from $5,400 to $5,800.

Dennis Meck reported on the high school academic games slated at Delta College April 19. The competition is among schools in Tuscola County. This year Marlette has been accepted for the competition.

There are four areas of competition and 5 students plus 2 alternates compete in each subject. The 4 subjects and the schools that won last year are: political science, Caro; Mayville, English; math, Akron-Fairgrove, and science, Reese.

At Cass City Bank

Steps taken to improve condition

Several new steps have been taken as the Cass City State Bank continues a reorganization following a difficult period in which the bank was a matter of "financial difficulty" in a rating issued by Investments Dynamics Corp., Hartland, Wis., and published by IDC Financial Publishing Inc.

The report was issued about the condition of the bank last Sept. 30.

Since that time, President Dick Gorz said, there has been a reorganization of the bank and the auditors are pleased with the progress at the bank.

Two recent steps have been taken to improve the bank and to keep an independent bank alive to serve the community, Gorz said.

Assuming the post of executive vice-president is C. James Bess, 48, who has 20 years in the banking business. He comes to Cass City from the Commercial National Bank of Ithaca, but spent much of his career in Lexington, Ky., where he was president and chief executive officer of the American Bank and Trust Co.

In another action, Gorz announced that Bill Kritzman was elected to the board of directors Friday.

Much of the new capital that has been poured into the bank has come from Cass City businessmen who desire to maintain an independent bank to serve the community.

Cass City is fortunate to have citizens of that caliber in its community, Gorz feels.

Deposits at the bank are protected up to $100,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Petitions due April 7 for board candidates

There will be one vacancy on the Cass City School Board to be filled in the annual June elections and petitions for the position must be filed on or before 4 p.m. April 7.

The law requires at least 20 valid signatures on each petition, but school authorities suggest a minimum of 25 in case some signatures prove to be invalid. The term of Richard Wallace is expiring this year. School board members are elected for 4-year terms.

Petitions can be secured from the office at Cass City High School and filed at the school office or submitted to Ben Hobart, board secretary.

Wallace said that he plans to run for reelection as trustee.

WASHOUTS AND MUDDY roads greeted area motorists over the past week as melting snow combined with saturated ground conditions. This washout reported to the Tuscola County Road Commission Friday was located on Cemetery Road, south of M-46.

Annette M. Stachura of Deford has been awarded a Student Life scholarship at Oakland University, Rochester. She will graduate from Cass City High School in June and will attend OU starting fall 1986.

Awards are in the amount of $1,000 per year and are based on grade point average and involvement in school/community activities. Family income is not a factor, states Jerry Rose, OU director of admissions and scholarships. Student Life scholarship students will live in OU residence halls and help provide leadership for a wide range of campus activities, Rose said.

She is the daughter of Raymond and Antoinette Stachura, Crawford Road.

Six youth from Cass City Church of the Nazarene attended the Thumb Zone Junior Talent Festival at the Colling church Saturday. All received a superior rating in the competition. They were Emily Hopper, Angie Edgett and Grace, Archie, Melissa and Susan Wickham. The youth, all sixth graders and younger, will compete on the district level in Detroit First Church April 19.

NASA space shuttle should continue despite crash

America's space shuttle program continues to be in the news, even though most of the coverage over the past couple of months has been negative, from the fatal crash of the Challenger.

Guy Nanney, of 6205 Cedar Drive, is one person who says he wouldn't mind trading in the space shuttle. "In the years to come, there is going to be a lot more space travel for civilians," said the 23-year-old truck driver for Erla's Food Center. "Once they get a space station up there, I would like to pay it a visit."

Nanney feels he is not ready to take off on a space voyage the day after tomorrow, but thinks it will not be too long before the space shuttle program is back on schedule. "Now that this tragedy of the Challenger explosion has happened, NASA inspectors will have to check through the spacecraft a lot more, and make sure it is safer. If I had the opportunity to go into space, the shuttle would need to be checked out. I think the safety experts with NASA have now figured out what caused the explosion of the Challenger in January."

Nanney said he is predicting a major change in space travel over the next decade. "Based on the way technology has advanced in the last 30 years, I think 10 to 15 years down the road, space travel for civilians will be just an everyday part of life. People may be involved in space travel all the time, and the moon may be one of the first areas to be developed."

Nanney says most of his interest in space travel deals with how people can benefit from things that are learned in space. He pointed to experiments which have been done with medicine, tests for new types of materials, and even the processing of food. "I am not too concerned about space being used as a war zone or a battle area. A lot of the exploration that is now taking place is basically a searching process. We still don't know what is really out there, in some cases. Other countries don't spend as much as the United States does on space programs, but do spend more on defense, and could be putting "Star Wars" satellites up there," said Nanney.

Given the hypothetical situation of being contacted by astronaut Brewster Shaw Jr. about riding in the space shuttle, Nanney said he would try to get his name at the top of the list of possible candidates for the flight. "I think I could handle sitting next to Brewster, and looking at the world through the shuttle window. Although I would not want to go right away, I would like to see what it is like. I know it would be a different feeling, and it definitely would be quite an experience," said Nanney.

One fan at the Uby-Flint Atherton regional final basketball game reported that it was the loudest, best organized cheering he ever experienced in a long career of watching teams in the tournament.

Not only was the regional victory the first in Ubyly's history, the school never before had won a regional game, this same fan said.

All the Thumb is now in Ubyly's corner although a victory Wednesday over DePorres would mean topping one of the best teams in the state, any class.

GEORGE KLEMKOWSKY adds another shamrock to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The shamrocks decorate the walls of the Owendale Bar, and are part of a nation-wide fund-raising drive for the MDA.

MDA shamrocks drive

George Klemkowski, the owner of George's Owendale Bar, is not Irish, but he is trying to decorate the inside of his place of business with as many green, cardboard shamrocks as possible.

Klemkowsky is participating in a Shamrocks Against Dystrophy fundraising project sponsored by the Muscular Dystrophy Association, (MDA). The drive involves people making a $1 donation to the MDA, and then writing their name on a shamrock which is placed on a wall inside the bar in Owendale.

Klemkowsky said this is the first time that he has taken part in the nationwide program for the association. "We began taking the donations about 3 weeks ago, and as of Thursday afternoon, we had 238 shamrocks on display. I am hoping that we can reach at least 300." Klemowsky said if he does receive more than $300 in donations, he will be able to present the check in person during the annual Jerry Lewis MDA telethon to be televised over the Labor Day weekend.

Klemkowsky said he has been surprised with the good response from patrons in helping to make the drive a success. "Most of the people have been making single donations, but they can sign their name on as many shamrocks as they want. All of the money received will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

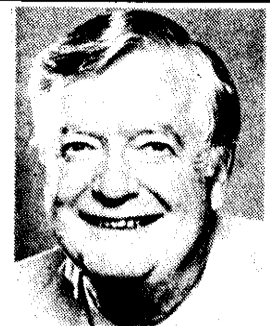

Just as an incentive to give, I am having a drawing to give away a few dinners," he said.

If everything goes according to schedule, Klemowsky said he may decide to make the Shamrocks Against Dystrophy drive an annual activity at the bar in Owendale. "One thing I like about it is that everybody is able to take part, including both the Irish and non-Irish," he added.

“If It Fitz...”

TV show not intellectual

By Jim Fitzgerald

My friend Ralph claims "Endurance" has to be the world's most unbelievable TV show. Produced in Japan, it stars contestants who volunteer to be tortured for prizes.

Twenty-four-year-old Toshi Saegusa recently won a one-week vacation in America on "Endurance" by allowing himself to be suspended upside down in an Egyptian desert with hot coals on his feet and cactus needles jabbing his belly while boys sprinkled him with hot sand. Also he was doused with petrol and yanked through flaming hoops, beaten on the feet while rats ran over his chest, and starved for three days.

That's pretty unbelievable, I'll admit. But somehow I find "Endurance" easier to believe than another Japanese TV program, called "Two P.M. Show," I wrote about six years ago. It featured flatu-

It should be noted that I don't claim to be an expert on unbelievably vulgar or otherwise bizarre TV shows. As a determined intellectual, I never watch television except for news programs. The only reason the TV set in my home is usually tuned to entertainment shows is that my wife likes to watch them. She says they help her to forget that she married an intellectual who observes the space age by making an educational exploration of the space between his toes in the living room.

In fact, the most unbelievable thing that I regularly see on TV is NBC newscaster Irving R. Levine. I can't believe the way he pronounces words. For dramatic affect, he often overstresses the last syllable, especially at the close of sentences, even when whatever little stress required belongs somewhere else. He says "WashingTON" and "TylenOL" and "YonKERS." If I wrote like Levine talks, I'd soon run out of exclamation points!!!!

Recently, Dr. Max Winslow of Southfield, criticized me for writing a sentence "in which you somehow managed to split an infinitive and use a subject as an object in one fell swoop. For shame." I'll bet Dr. Winslow doesn't write critical notes to Irving R. Levine who, I might add, undoubtedly makes too much more money than I do.

Anyway, because I'm too intellectual to watch unbelievable entertainment shows, to judge them I must reply on the written reports of TV critics. That's how I learned about the "unbelievable performance of a contestant on "Two P.M. Show." Columnist Joe Grace of the English-language Mainichi (Japan) Daily News described it this way:

"And what do you do?" asked a comedian addressing a young, sober-looking man in jogging togs. 'I pass gas,' he replied and began to demonstrate while a microphone was held at the seat of the action."

Grace said it was a "tune-ful, incredible repertoire of sounds." He compared it to a similar Japanese act he'd seen a few years earlier in which the artist blew out the candles on a birthday cake.

I hasten to apologize for the vulgar aspects of today's column, but no one ever said it was easy to write - or read - about unbelievable TV shows. Besides, such Japanese programs as "Two P.M. Show" and "Endurance" should make you feel better about Pearl Harbor. It's hard to stay mad at a nation of people doomed to suffer under the yoke of imperial bizarreness via TV.

Also, you should feel less offended by such American TV abominations as "The Dating Game" and commercials for laxatives and feminine hygiene products. Things could be worse.

You could live in Japan, where a TV program can run a little short because of a gas shortage.

The third and fourth grade teams meeting in the finals at 7:00 p.m. are the Radiant Readers and the Rubic Readers. Competing for the third grade team are Sarah Lovejoy, Betsy Gengler, Kristy Messing, Darcie Monroe, Jenny Milligan and Heather Herringshaw. Making up the fourth grade team are David Bills, Nathan Bouck, Eddie Park, Noel Hornbacher, Barry Hornbacher and Ron Hudson.

The other battle scheduled for Thursday at 7:45 p.m. will see the fifth and sixth grade teams taking on each other. Included on the Sparky Spartans team are Heather Shaft, Jodi Hillaker, Mya Pakonen, Alex Pakonen, Kristen Seuryneck and Brenda Batel. Their competition will be members of the Bookettes—Diana Loomis, Leslie Goslin, Jodi Eria, Soo Yun, Debbie Adams and

The competition is scheduled to begin at 9:00 Saturday morning, and will be followed by a magic show for the children. Honors ribbons will be awarded and refreshments served.

SOCIAL WORKER BOB PONDER talked to a group of 3rd-grade students in Cass City last week, as part of a program dealing with sexual abuse among children.

Sexual abuse program presented to area children last week

Theater and county social workers joined forces last week to discuss the topic of sexual abuse in programs presented to third grade students in the Cass City, Deford and Evergreen elementary schools.

Beth Howard, the social worker at the Campbell Elementary school, said on the surface, a play called "The Babylonian Encounter" may not seem like much. "But the play's undercurrents dealing with sexual abuse in children walk a narrow line."

Howard said, "It must warn the children, but not frighten them. It must inform, but not over-dramatize. The play must entertain the young people, but at the same time, it must leave a message behind. And it must use the skills of both professional actors and professional social workers to accomplish these tasks."

Howard said the Saginaw County based Alpha Theater Project, and Pat Parker from the Child Abuse and Neglect Council made the unique theater/social work project possible.

The 3 performers in the play were Deborah Renee as Bub, Bob Edes as Archie, and Ericka Maxie as Betty.

The program presented last week was funded by various projects at the Deford, Evergreen and Campbell schools.

PERFORMERS Bob Edes, Deborah Renee and Ericka Maxie presented "The Babylonian Encounter" to 3rd-grade students last week.

Dearborn Heights man charged with arson

A 41-year-old Dearborn Heights man was bound over to Huron Circuit Court Thursday after appearing before Huron District Judge John T. Schubel for a preliminary examination.

Ralph Wojtowicz is charged with arson of insured property in connection with a May 5 fire at the Ugly Heights Country Club, Ugly. He is scheduled to appear before Huron Circuit Court Judge M. Richard Knoblock for arraignment on the charge.

The charge carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison. Wojtowicz is free on a $2,500 bond.

Ugly village police, Bingham Township firefighters and Michigan State Police Fire Marshalls investigated the fire.

According to police, the fire was in the basement of the building. The estimated damage to the basement area was at $15,000 and there was extensive smoke damage throughout the building.

Wojtowicz is the former owner of the business.

Wood stove the cause of a fire in Gagetown

Damage has been estimated at $1,000 from a fire at a residence in Gagetown early Friday morning.

Gagetown Fire Chief Charles Wright said the report of the fire was received from the second-floor apartment in a building at 4770 State Street. The building is owned by Richard Hines.

"The family living there had a wood stove with a pipe that had come out of the wall which is where the fire started," said Wright. "Property damage was set at $1,000, and was limited to the wall and ceiling of the living room in the apartment."

The fire was reported at 12:53 a.m. Friday, and members of the Gagetown fire department stayed on the scene for one hour. There were no injuries reported.

Budget was priority at Elkland Twp. meeting

Discussion on the budget for next year was the main order of business for the Elkland Township board of trustees during its meeting Monday, March 10.

The proposed money plan for 1986-87 is being drawn up by Township Treasurer Arthur Randall and Clerk Norma Wallace, who are expected to have the budget ready for final consideration by the board's annual meeting.

Supervisor David Milligan said, "With the township's agricultural land values down by 18% from last year, that will mean a loss of about $3,500 in property taxes. On the other hand, the values picked up a hair in residential property."

As with other local units of government, Milligan says whether or not the township will receive federal revenue sharing funds next year is up in the air. "Elkland Township has always had a fair-sized fund balance, but you can't keep dipping into that forever," Milligan said. The budget is scheduled to be approved by the board at the township's annual meeting, which will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, March 29, at the Elkland Township hall.

Board members were given an update on the search for a new van to be used by the fire department. Milligan said the department had been looking for a used van, but was not having much luck. As a result, Fire Chief Jerome Root, Jr. is now planning for the purchase of a new van. He said the old one does not have enough power when it is loaded with people, and the vehicle needs to be replaced.

The board approved a Public Act 116 agreement for tax-relief purposes for 37 acres of land located in Section 7. The property is owned by Bud Clara.

The Elkland Township board of review held meetings last week with 24 people going before the group, telling the board that their property tax assessments were too high. "That number is a little less than the amount of cases heard last year," said Milligan. "There were 11 people out of the 24 who filled out protest forms which were submitted to the board of review. The results of those cases are in the mail," he said.

Mr. Yuk part of poison prevention

March 16-25 marks the 25th anniversary of National Poison Prevention Week.

Hills and Dales Hospital is putting on a special program for approximately 300 kindergarten and preschool children in Cass City, Gagetown, Deford and Ugly.

Otto Bacon Jr., Director of Pharmacy and president elect of the Thumb Area Pharmaceutical Association, explained that the 10 minute program includes identifying the unknown contents of containers. "We let them guess and they're always wrong, and that really surprises them," said Bacon. The exercise ties in with the advice "If you don't know what it is, don't touch it." The children also receive coloring sheets and Mr. Yuk stickers.

Mr. Yuk is a bright green face with his tongue sticking out. He warns children to stay away from any product on which he is found. The theme for the week is "Children Act Fast...So Do Poisons!" Many accidents occur when adults are using a product but are distracted for a few moments, Bacon stresses that the most common drugs used in child poisonings are chewable vitamins and Aspirin. He also stressed the use of child proof caps. "It's done a remarkable job in reducing child poisonings," he said.

Poison centers receive approximately 1 1/2 million calls a year and 60 percent of these involve children under 5. Hills and Dales receives very few calls and Bacon would like to think that their program has helped.

Two years ago their program was written up in the annual report of the National Poison Prevention Week.

The regional poison center is in Saginaw and it handles some 2,500 calls about possible poisonings a year. Poison specialists are there to answer the calls 24 hours a day, every day, at no cost.

So to speak...

by Jim McLoskey

What would life be like without the dedication of the Irish?

I don't know the entire answer to that question, but I do know it would mean a not-quite-so-festive atmosphere for the people who live and work at the Provincial House in Cass City during this St. Patrick's week.

In case you missed the picture in last week's issue of The Chronicle, members of the Caro Veterans of Foreign Wars Post Number 4164 spent 3 and a half hours putting up shamrocks and streamers, and spreading a lot of good, Irish cheer at the Provincial House. One of the people responsible for the project is Cass City native Grant Kelley.

Grant is the type of individual who is so Irish that when you look in the dictionary under the word "Irishman", Grant's picture should be right there next to the definition! He looks and talks like an Irishman, and at times, Grant has been known to even tell a few old war stories which include a finely-worded, Irish twist to the plot!

But Grant Kelley is also a person who cares very much about people and their outlook on life. The St. Patrick's decoration project is just one of several at the Provincial House, and at other locations in Tuscola and Saginaw counties which are designed to bring "a sparkle to the eye," as explained by Kelley.

This fact may wind up in a trivia book some day, but I believe Grant Kelley also holds the record for writing the largest number of press releases for a nonprofit organization during a 2-week period! I have had the honor of reading most of those releases, and even though the typewriter ribbon has been a little faint in some cases, the content has always been worthwhile!

On a more serious note, this year's St. Patrick's Day was not the most memorable for Kelley. The Cass City native was involved in a car accident near Caro earlier this month, and is recovering at home from injuries received in the accident.

During this time, my sources have told me that the Kelley home is receiving more than the usual amount of telephone calls, cards, and people, (both Irish and non-Irish), who are dropping by to check on his progress. I'm not sure if the Irish have a history of being good patients, but I get the impression that Kelley is behaving himself.

On behalf of everyone here at The O'Chronicle, here's hoping that Grant's recovery will be a speedy one, and that his Irish eyes will be back to full production soon!

A European Easter is in store for area students

Good Friday, a group of 10 Cass City high school students and 4 adults leave for Paris, France and Madrid, Spain.

The 10-day trip is unusual because it is not sponsored through the school and the money was raised totally outside its confines. The trip is not recognized by the school because of a liability situation, such as a lawsuit if something happened to the students.

The ongoing problem with hijacked planes and terrorist scares in Europe has had its effects on the trip, but it is not a major threat.

Deb Martin, a French and Spanish teacher at the school, said that parents are concerned, but the tour company, Cultural Heritage Alliance, which sponsors school tours, assured Martin that it is safe. "They aren't going to send a group overseas where there's trouble and risk a lawsuit and possibly losing millions of dollars," said Martin. In fact Martin said that she believes it is safer to travel overseas now than it was 6 months ago. She pointed out that, since the hijacking scares, airports have increased security outside the airport entrances as well as inside.

This is the first time a group of high school students has traveled overseas, and the community has been helpful in raising money for them. "People in the community have been fantastic. We couldn't have done it without them," said Martin. The trip costs each student $1,200 which includes airfare, tours, hotels, meals and $100 spending money. With help from the community, each student earned $200 to $300 apiece, said Martin.

The Gavel Club gave the students a chance to earn money by selling tickets at basketball games and sharing the profits. The Lions Club also helped out. The students sold calendars and shared in those profits. Other fund raisers included a bottle drive and a quilt raffle.

The language barrier will probably not be as large a problem as it is for most Americans traveling to foreign speaking countries because all 10 students have studied a language and, according to Martin, 7 of them are currently enrolled in a language class. Soon the students can put what they have learned to the test.

JIM DEWITT read to students at the Cass City Intermediate School last week, as part of the Artist in Residence program.

Cass City students learn about writing from poet

Jim DeWitt of Marysville, one of Michigan's most active and accomplished poets, spent March 11-14 in the Cass City schools as part of the district's Artist in Residence program.

Marilyn Peters, reading specialist for the Campbell and Intermediate schools, said DeWitt met with groups of 3rd and 4th grade students twice during the week to develop the skill of expressive writing. "That's defined as learning to think of an idea, and then expanding upon that same idea," Peters said.

To conclude the week, Peters said DeWitt met in the gym with all of the 3rd and 4th grade classes, and a few students from each classroom read their writings. DeWitt chose examples of the work where students thought of an idea, developed it, and then stayed with the same idea throughout the entire story. "These special writings will be bound into one book, and placed in the school library for all of the students to read," said Peters.

During his 4-day stay in Cass City, DeWitt made a large group presentation to 5th and 6th grade students. He also worked with members of the district's adult education class.

Jim DeWitt is the author of 18 collections of poems, and has taught creative writing at all levels of education. He is listed in the Poetry Society of Michigan's "Who's Who of Michigan Poets," and was twice selected as Best Poet of the Year by the Sarnia Branch of the Canadian Authors Association.

His visit to Cass City was made possible by a grant from the Michigan Council

Wisdom

Conventional wisdom holds that the African drought is caused by the whims of nature, yet International Wildlife magazine reports some climate experts believe that man may be the culprit. By rapidly destroying African rain forests and woodlands, water runoff has increased. This, in turn, reduces the chances for water evaporation which forms the clouds that bring rain.

Vandemark testifies for commission

Mary Ann Vandemark, Executive Director of the Human Development Commission, a Community Action Agency serving the counties of Tuscola, Sanilac, Huron and Lapeer, testified before the Subcommittee on Domestic Marketing, Consumer Relations and Nutrition.

The Subcommittee conducted this field hearing in the City County Building, Detroit, March 7. This hearing was the 8th in a series of subcommittee hearings, within the last 3 years, documenting the need for emergency food relief to low-income Americans. In the past, these hearings have provided a basis for improvements in the Federal Food Stamp Program, the continuation of Commodity Donation Programs, such as the temporary Emergency Food Assistance Program, and the Commodity Supplemental Food Program.

Vandemark, who was one of many to testify, (including Governor Blanchard) informed Subcommittee members of the hunger problems in the Thumb area of Michigan, especially as it related to women, children and the elderly.

County CRW group

needs members

Persons who would like to learn more about the Tuscola County Community Radio Watch program are invited to the next meeting of the group scheduled for 7:00 p.m. Thursday, March 27.

Sgt. Jim Giroux of the Tuscola County sheriff's department, coordinator of the organization, said the group is made up of communications volunteers who are trained to help law enforcement officers in Tuscola County. "CBers operate thousands of mobile radio rigs in the county and the police need their eyes and ears, as well as their radios, as trained observers," said Giroux.

As a member of the community radio watch, persons will be given 16 hours of concentrated training in observation, reporting and police priorities. Other topics include civil defense, emergency communications and weather watch. Members will be given the opportunity to take an additional course in first aid.

Giroux said periodically the community radio watch may be called upon to assist in other police emergency situations, such as searches, disaster communications and numerous public service special assignments.

Applicants for the CRW do not have to own a citizens band radio to belong to the group. The meeting March 27 will be held in the basement of the Tuscola County sheriff's department building in Caro. For more information, call 673-4515.

How do you find flood insurance that protects your home and business?

No problem.

Because regular homeowners and business insurance policies do not protect you from flood loss, you might be all wet if you wait until the water rises to apply for flood insurance.

You can now purchase flood protection from Auto-Owners Insurance, the "No Problem" people.

So ask your local Auto-Owners agent just how his flood insurance can be "no problem" keeping you afloat if your home or business is flooded.

The Philippines — an inside report

For the last month, the only real issue in my life has been the national election held here. I'm safe and doing ok but maybe this will answer some of your questions and it'll help me say what I feel and get it over with.

This has been the longest month of my life. Never knowing if at some point and time someone would say or do just a little too much and all the Peace Corps volunteers here in the Philippines would be sent home. On the 7th was the election. On that day I stayed as far away from the polls as possible. That night I listened to the radio...There was some talk of violence but not much. The next week was spent listening for results and listening to the firsthand stories of the cheating that went on. It really is mind boggling to hear these stories firsthand from the people and not just reading it in Newsweek or Time Magazine.

Finally came the announcement we had all expected, that Marcos was winning. Then he invited Cory (Corazon Aquino) to be on his special committee for reform and President Reagan supported it. I thought, well this is it. During this whole time there were people who were risking their lives and jobs by expressing their thoughts and feelings. I remember when Cory won in my barrio, I thought WOW! These people want to change. They will even give up special treatments from the government to change. (Although many people took the money or whatever they were offered and still voted for Cory).

It was weird talking to people. Who do you want to win??? Cory! The fear these people had of voting for the people they wanted was depressing.

Anyway the election was over and I, and many other people, thought well this was a waste of time and money, or what a joke. But then Cory said no way folks. I won and I will be the new president. They started to boycott things. It was neat. These laid-back, easygoing people who had been led around for 20 years were saying, no more. They would come up and say we don't buy that any more or we don't drink that it belongs to Marcos. (Again) WOW! These people are not going to give up. Up to this point, I had been low-keyed, but now I felt it made a difference and that just got more and more people interested and excited. Then the big move — the boycotters' turning in two of Marcos' people on him. But who could you trust? Was it a trick? Listening to Marcos on the radio first declaring a state of emergency and then a curfew. No one could sleep.

Our Peace Corps' director was coming down from Manila, so we decided to look for him. Then I was told there were no planes in or out of the city, so I, and some of the other Peace Corps volunteers, decided to call our office in Manila. By now we learned there was no TV, no planes and no phone calls out of the country.

So now what? The Manila office said go home and relax. My only question was, if we need to get out, can we get out? We were not happy, but there was nothing going on here and they were thinking it would end soon. I thought, can't you people see what is going on with Marcos' government. They killed and robbed the people of their lives, their faith and all their hope? What else does he need to do?

This firsthand look at the crisis in the Philippines was related in a letter to Joan Anthes Koch of Gagetown.

It was written by Janelle Rapson, daughter of the late Eric and Onallee Rapson.

But many were afraid of change and that Cory was being used by some organization, but the way I felt was that anything is better than this. Then the news broke. Marcos is gone! (Before getting too excited I remembered two days earlier, as I was walking through the largest Catholic school in Zamboanga, it was announced he was gone. People were going crazy. It was great. There was a parade through town and all that kind of fun stuff. Then, about 3 hours later, we found out he was still here.) I kept thinking, it is time

Senior citizens to enjoy movies Friday

A travelogue and a drama are the 2 movies on the lineup Friday, March 21, at 1:30 p.m., as part of the Rawson Memorial Library's senior citizen movie program.

Librarian Barbara Hutchinson said the first movie is entitled "Discover the U.S.A." It is described as a chance to see the sights and sounds of America from New York City to the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

The second movie is called "Rusty and the Falcon." It is a Walt Disney adaptation of the novel "White Falcon" by Charles Ogburn. The movie is described as the story of a young boy and the falcon that he nurses back to health.

Both of the movies will be shown Friday afternoon at the Rawson Memorial Library, 6495 Pine Street.

to let these people live without American interference. By now I had decided for the second time this month I was going home to Michigan. (The first time was during the middle of all this when people were saying, why did the press come here? Why did they say this or that? Aren't there poor people in the U.S.? Why are you here? All I could think of was public relations and politics that is all this Peace Corps is and I am tired of it. Then I told everyone I was leaving, but look where I am.)

Now it is different — a new feeling in the country. The fact that the people overthrew the government peacefully and so few lives were lost. And it was the people that did it. It gave many people a new sense of pride. For me it has brought about a new faith, back to fighting the windmills because you can win.

Trying not to be naive, I realize the U.S. had a lot to do with getting him out. But I think without the people they wouldn't have had to or it would have been bloody. Talking to people who were in Manila or who have relatives there, it is neat to hear of their fears during those days and then the joy after. You can read it or hear it, but to be part of it is great and I am so happy it is almost over.

I can go on with a new feeling of the Corps and why I am here and so I will continue on with my job and will see you next year.

Man arraigned on drunk driving charge

In Tuscola County Circuit Court Monday, an Ubyli man was arraigned before Judge Patrick Joslyn for drunken driving.

James R. Guigar, 21, pleaded guilty to the charge and it was accepted by the court.

The charge stems from a Dec. 1 incident in which a Kingston teen was killed.

According to the Tuscola County Sheriff Department, Christopher Mathews, 16, of Mayville made a U-turn on Bevens Rd., northwest of Kingston, when his vehicle was hit broadside by Guigar's westbound car. Melissa Ernst, 15, a passenger in Mathews' car, was killed. Guigar is also charged with negligent homicide stemming from the fatal incident.

A 38-year-old Saginaw man walked away from Camp Tuscola minimum security prison in Caro at 11:20 Friday night.

Wayne Roy Honsinger was located and arrested 20 minutes later by Caro police department. According to Caro State Police, he was hitchhiking, west on M-81 near Sheriday Rd. when he was picked up.

Bryan J. Emmons, 17, of 6730 Pine St. was arraigned on charges of malicious destruction of property over $100. His plea of guilty was accepted. Sentence day is set for April 21. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered. The charges stem from an incident Feb. 11 at 6491 Main St.

Emerson Gardner, 44, of Vassar was sentenced to a year in the county jail and work release stemming from a charge of second degree criminal sexual assault. He was also sentenced to 5 years probation and ordered to pay fines of $500 and costs of $500. Three days credit was given for time served. The sentence stems from an incident June 13, 1985, in Vassar.

William Enos, 29, of Caro was sentenced to from 10 to 21 years in Jackson Prison on each of 2 counts of aiding and abetting. He was given 206 days credit. The charges stem from an incident March 8, 1985, in which he wrote falsified checks and presented them to area businesses.

Timothy Tyfair, 20, of 4580 Hill St. was arraigned on aiding and abetting and larceny over $100. A plea of not guilty was entered. April 7 is the pre-trial date. Trevor Tyfair, 19, also of Hill St., was also arraigned on aiding and abetting and larceny over $100. The charges in both cases stem from the larceny of 2 snowmobiles from Brian Kelly Feb. 21.

William Pomeroy Jr., 18, of 6400 Severance Rd., pleaded guilty to probation violation at a probation violation hearing. He was sentenced to a 6 month extension on his probation and 5 months in the county jail with work release.

Pomeroy was arrested by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Thursday. In Circuit Court Friday, Dale Matzke, 20, of Millington, had his motion to withdraw a guilty plea denied. He was sentenced by Judge Joslyn for assault with intent to commit malicious destruction of property over $100. He was sentenced to from 48 months to 10 years in Jackson prison and credit was given for 4 days. Bond for appeal was set at $20,000.

Steven Matzke, 21, also of Millington, was granted a motion to withdraw a guilty plea. Trial will be set at a later date. A pre-trial investigation is to be held. Both Matzkes were charged in the shooting of DNR officer Timothy Burke, stemming from an alleged deer poaching incident Oct. 20, 1984.

Thursday, William Scott Day, 34, appeared in Circuit Court and pleaded guilty to a charge of prison escape and assault with intent to commit kidnapping, stemming from a Sept. 29 incident in Caro.

AROUND THE FARMSlate farm radio show

By Bill Bortel

A number of organizations in the Thumb area are sponsoring a radio program entitled "Farming and the Community" March 22, as part of Agriculture and Natural Resources Week. The program will be aired from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. on WKYO, Caro; WLEW, Bad Axe, and WMIC, Sandusky, states Bill Bortel, Tuscola County Extension Director. The program is a cooperative effort of the Farm Radio Network, County Farm Bureaus and Cooperative Extension Services in Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties, and local radio stations.

The purpose of the program is to inform the public of the state of the farm economy in the Thumb area, the relationship of the farm economy to local businesses and the outlook for the future of agriculture and agri-business. Bob Driscoll of the Farm Radio Network will narrate the program using a guest panel chosen from the community and pre-taped comments from a variety of business people. Among those contacted for the broadcast are farmers Dennis Engelhard, Tuscola; Deanna Stamp, Sanilac; Faye Adam, Sanilac; Wayne Wood, Sanilac and Jack Laurie, Tuscola. Representing Cooperative Extension are Roberta Weber, Sanilac, and Bill Bortel, Tuscola. From the business community, Gene Schoen, Sanilac, and Bob Moore, Tuscola, will discuss the impact of the current financial problems in the farming profession on local business.

Also represented on the panel and in pre-taped commentary are representatives from the financial institutions which provide farm financing; the cooperative elevators with comment from Ted Leipprandt of Pigeon, and Carl Kieser and Tim Lewis, an agricultural teacher and student from USA Schools, to discuss the future of farming. Included in the program are comments from farmers leaving the farming business to begin another profession.

Man arrested for violation

Douglas Howell Jr., 19, of 4200 Little Rd. was arrested Monday, March 10, by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department on 2 charges of probation violation. The probation stems from an incident on Nov. 2, 1985 in which he was charged with breaking and entering into a church in Caro.

No injuries were incurred Wednesday when a vehicle driven by Deborah A. Cosway, 18, of Deford was rear-ended by a car driven by Daryl A. Cummings, 17, of Kingston. Cosway slowed for water on the drive of Kingston Apartments and Cummings was unable to avoid hitting her.

Kingston's tourney trail ends with Kinde victory

The third time was the charm for Kinde North Huron Wednesday in the opening round of the regional class D tourney at Millington. The Warriors defeated the Kingston Cardinals, 74-69, with a rally in the third quarter.

It was a great game, said jubilant Richard Fawcett, North Huron coach. Our defense did it. We stayed with our 2-2-1 zone defense and it paid off, although we were hurt in the first quarter.

The Warriors used the rebounding of Joe Byrne, 6-7 center, to ignite a fast break that resulted in several easy buckets to keep the Cardinals at bay when they were attempting to rally behind the play of Dave Green.

Green, possibly the Thumb's best ballplayer this season, did his best to pull the game out of the fire with 31 points and some fine passing when double teamed by Kinde.

But Wednesday it wasn't enough. North Huron's guards clamped on the Kingston ball handlers and caused numerous turnovers that kept the winners in command.

Halfway through the opening quarter, it looked as if Kingston would top the Cardinals for the third time this season. After 4 minutes of action, the Cardinals had raced to a 14-6 lead and the Kingston press and Green's shooting maintained the lead as the first period ended, 18-12.

That was the widest lead that the Cardinals were to have all night. North Huron came charging back as Bill Case and Mike Fisher hit buckets and Kingston went ice cold from the field.

The Warriors took the lead for the first time, 22-20, with 5:09 left in the first half. After that, the lead changed hands several times with North Huron in front, 33-32, at the intermission.

The teams traded baskets for the first 3 minutes of the third quarter before North Huron staged the rally that won the game. With the score tied at 37 all, North Huron outscored Kingston 14-2 in the next 4 minutes and 40 seconds to lead by 12 points and the Cardinals were never able to recover. The Cardinals made several runs at the Warriors in the final minutes, but each time North Huron answered the challenge with buckets. The closest that the Cardinals could come before the final seconds, when the outcome was certain, was 8 points.

Dave Miller top all-star selection

Coaches in the Thumb B Association selected an all conference basketball team last week and Cass City's Dave Miller was the top vote getter on the dream team.

Miller received 63 points from the coaches. Players are graded on a scale of one through 10. Coaches cannot vote for players on their own team. A perfect score would be 70 points.

Other members of the first team and the points each earned were: Aaron Fletcher, Vassar, 61 points; Chris Eby, Lakers, 58 points; Tim Harbin, Mar-lette, 32 points, and Jim Fleming, Marlette, 31 points.

Miller's statistics show why he was selected. He had 134 baskets in 281 attempts for an 48 percent average from the field and hit 107 of 143 from the free throw line for a 75 percent average. He was also a force on defense and one of Cass City's best ball handlers.

Mike Kelley of Cass City just missed making the first team. He was the top vote getter on the second team with 29 points. Others named to the second team and the points received were: Todd Schember, Lakers, 28; Steve Marchewietz, Caro, 27 points; Jim Shelton, North Branch, 18, and Randy Miller, Vassar, and Josh Monte, Caro, 16 for the last place on the team, 15 points each.

Honorable mention

Jim Troyer and Bob Brown, Bad Axe; Scott Adams and Kurt Bliss, Cass City; Tom Beer, Lakers; R.C. Ryder, Caro; Daren Hazen, Marlette; Mike Groce, Mike Costello, Rich Porritt, Ron Heberd and Willie Deshetsy, all of North Branch.

Delay action on wage request

A request from a police officer for increased wages, and in the number of hours worked was put on hold by the Owendale village council during its meeting Tuesday, March 11.

Officer John Gunsell asked the council to increase the number of hours he is able to work from 16 to 20 hours per week. Gunsell also requested that his wages be increased at the same time, but did not mention any specific amount for the raise. The police officer presently makes $6.50 per hour. Village officials said the dual request was tabled by the council, pending approval of the new budget for Owendale.

In another item that will have an effect on the budget, council members were told that liability insurance costs for village officials have more than doubled. As approved by the council, the village will be paying $1,820 for liability insurance over the next year. That compares to just over $700 spent on the same coverage last year.

"Irish" asked to donate blood during March

What do the Irish and the Tuscola County chapter of the American Red Cross have in common? They both celebrate their month during March, and the Red Cross is urging all green-blooded Irish men and women, (and those who pretend to be this month), to show they are really red-blooded Americans during Red Cross Month.

Locally, residents can do just that by donating blood when the Kingston community bloodmobile drive takes place Thursday, March 20, from 1:00 to 7:00 p.m. at the Kingston United Methodist Church.

"You can celebrate life this month along with the Irish by donating your gift of love," said Kingston blood drive coordinator Debbie Barrons. "Appointments are not necessary, but if you prefer to donate by appointment, please call 683-2897."

Barrons said Red Cross volunteers are hoping to collect at least 100 pints of blood during the drive in Kingston. Donors must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 100 pounds and be in good health. A baby-sitting service will be available to donors.

"Your one blood donation may help as many as 4 blood recipients in one of the 35 hospitals in 27 counties served by the Wolverine Blood Services Region, including Hills and Dales General and Caro Community Hospital," Barrons said.

See,

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

It was a pretty good year for everybody.

For those in the higher tax brackets, "total return" on the stock averages -- price gains + dividends -- was 24% after taxes.

If you were entirely in taxable bonds--corporates and governments, your total return was 21% after taxes.

Those dull old municipal bonds, sneered at by sophisticates who play the market came through pretty well: 10% return as interest and another 10% in price gains. Squeeze out capital gains tax on the 10% price gain and you have 8% left. Net of 18% for the years.

We also slept better the night of Jan. 8, 1986, when the market for stocks dropped 39 points. Bond index the same day was off 2¢.

New head of the Federal National Mortgage Association, David Maxwell, is praised in the N.Y. Times for straightening the outfit around.

It seems that his predecessors had let out a lot of money on mortgages with 5% down, and with shaky appraisals. No country banker would be guilty--or at least, would not have been a few years ago--of such practices. Of course, Savings and Loans do this sort of thing right along, and are now in a peck of trouble.

For the U.S. government to get into such practices I suppose is in keeping with the times. Anyhow, let's hope David Maxwell introduces some sanity into this branch of the government.

And may his tribe increase.

County board says OK to stop survey dealing with prison

With some help from State officials, the Tuscola County board of commissioners closed what may be the final door dealing with the possibility of a regional prison in the county, during its meeting Tuesday, March 11.

A letter was received from the Tuscola County planning commission which was directed by the board to conduct a survey of how residents felt about a medium security prison being built in the county. The board was told that members of the commission contacted State Representative Dick Allen (R-Caro) and officials with the Michigan department of corrections. Both Allen and officials in Lansing said that Tuscola County is no longer being considered as a possible site for the facility.

The board was told that since the search for the prison site is now narrowed down to Midland County, the commission will not continue its survey of county residents. Board members agreed with the decision of the planning commission, and placed the letter on file.

Commissioner Royce Russell (R-Cass City) said there was no use in continuing the survey. "Looking back at what has happened with this issue, I guess we have got a lot of static from the prison-site selection process. For the board's sake, I think it is good that the prison is going to Midland County," said Russell.

The commissioner said there were both pros and cons to the prison being placed in the county. "It is the kind of situation where almost everyone agrees that prisons have to go somewhere, but when it gets down to specifics, we all say don't put it in my backyard. I think there also is a bad taste left in this county from what has happened with the minimum security prison near Caro," Russell said.

The board received a status report on the county's insurance program from a representative of the Schillinger and Schillinger insurance agency. Russell said, "We were told that there is an insurance carrier who will give us an umbrella policy, but he could not quote us a price for that policy. The insurance representative said he will make some checks, and get back to us. This is one of those cases where the board starts to wonder how much money will be spent on seeing that the county is properly insured."

A couple of items dealing with the Tuscola County sheriff's department came before the board last week. Commissioners agreed to purchase 4 patrol cars from the Oakland County cooperative purchasing plan at a cost of $11,015 per vehicle. Bids were submitted by 4 car dealerships in the county, but the board was told that $2,100 would be saved by going this route.

The board also accepted a bid of $11,880 from the Thomas Roofing Company of Cass City to finish roof repair work at the Tuscola County jail. The project of replacing the roof at the jail was started 2 years ago, and is being done in 2 parts.

Walter Parrott of Kingston was appointed by the board to the Area Agency on Aging advisory council. Parrott will fill the remainder of the term left vacant by Mel Price, who resigned from the council.

In other action, the board scheduled a federal revenue sharing budget hearing for April 8 at 9:45 a.m.; an update was heard on the computer system being used in the offices of the clerk and treasurer, and the board met over lunch with members of the Tuscola County Farm Bureau.

Submit bids for buyout of area dairy herds signed to reduce the milk surplus in the country by 10% within the next year and a half. Farmers whose bids are accepted by the Agriculture Secretary will agree to dispose of their entire dairy herds, and not to engage in milking operations for the next 5 years. After contracts are signed, farmers have a 15-day period to brand female dairy animals and then have them sold for slaughter or exported.

ASCS officials said there will be an appeal process for those farmers who are turned down by local committees. Funding for the program will come from a special assessment to be placed on dairy producers who are still in business on April 1.

Kamidoi takes job

Dear John:

I'm just writing to tell you that I will be working as an intern at the Saginaw News this summer. I'm looking forward to the challenge, similar to the one I received at the Cass City Chronicle.

I appreciate the chance you gave me to report at your paper. It was instrumental in my selection at Saginaw. Of the eight clips I showed, five were from the Chronicle, including the health guide.

Tell everyone I said 'hi.'

Thanks again,
Wayne Kamidoi
(Summer intern, 1985)

Commends play cast

Dear John,

Last Thursday we attended the performance of the Cass City High School play, "To Love, Honor and Confuse."

We would like to commend the cast and Jane Reif for all their hours of preparation in giving us an evening of great entertainment.

4 hurt in fog-related accident

Four persons were injured, including 2 from Owendale, in a 2-vehicle accident south of Pigeon Thursday afternoon.

Huron County sheriff's deputies said William Voss, 17, of Owendale, was westbound on M-142 when he passed a car in heavy fog. Voss told police he did not see an oncoming car driven by Fred Haley, 35, of Pigeon, and the 2 vehicles collided head-on.

Both drivers were injured, as well as 2 passengers in the Voss car, Stephanie Danks, 15, of Pigeon, and Tamara Fritz, 15, of Owendale. All 3 young people were taken to Scheurer Hospital in Pigeon for treatment of injuries.

Haley was first taken to Saginaw St. Luke's Hospital, and then transferred to the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The accident near the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port High School was reported at 2:40 p.m. Thursday.

TACA board to have change in representation

A committee that was appointed to review and develop new bylaws for the Thumb Area Commission on Aging decided last week to reorganize the board of directors.

As it stands the board is made up of one commissioner and 3 senior citizens from each county. The new board will be made up of 2 senior citizens and 2 commissioners, from Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac counties.

Alan Sward, director of TACA believes the recommendation will not make a lot of difference. "I'd like to think that they will be choosing from good solid citizens and the reorganization will not change things."

The reorganization stems from an announcement made Feb. 24 that Sanilac County was going to pull out of TACA, claiming it showed "a total disregard for the concerns of senior citizens" and failure to comply with the rules set forth by commissioners and the Region VII Area Agency on Aging, an advisory agency and funding source for TACA. The decision was postponed when members of the TACA board and commissioners from Huron and Tuscola counties persuaded them to appoint a committee to solve some of the problems.

The committee also agreed that each respective county would be responsible for its own actions. If a county chooses to pull out of TACA, it is responsible for all programs in the particular county and any buildings and property TACA has in that county.

Deadline of May 19 set for FmHA emergency loans

Henry L. Knier Jr., County Supervisor for Farmers Home Administration

Caro Office, reminds farmers in Saginaw and Tuscola Counties that the deadline for emergency loans is May 19.

According to Knier, "Applications for emergency loans due to losses associated with damages and losses caused by severe storms and flooding beginning Sept. 5, 1985 will be accepted only until May 19."

Because of the disaster declaration, farmers who suffered a 30% loss of crops last year could qualify for a low-interest loan of up to 80% of the loss. Farmers who can get credit elsewhere would not be eligible for this type of loan at loan interest rates.

Applications and information can be requested from the Farmers Home Administration office at 852 South Hooper St., Caro 48723, or by calling 673-8171.

Common question from my friends: Are they going to tax municipal bonds?

Not likely, I reply. They've been pecking away at this subject for 100 years and have made no progress. Indeed, many items previously taxable, now come under the tent of tax-exempts. Pollution control bonds, housing bonds, and industrial development bonds. Some of these hybrids rightfully should be taken off the tax-free rolls, but even then the ones now out would certainly be "grandfathered," or allowed to keep their present status.

The market doesn't think anything is going to happen. Tax-exempt bonds have gone up in price 20% in the last year. Bonds that yielded 10.5% last spring now fetch 8.5%.

There are better things to worry about.

Chapel nears completion at St. Pancratius Church

St. Pancratius Catholic Church is in the final stages of changing the sacristy, a room used for preparing for mass, into a chapel. The new chapel will be used for weekday mass and private meditation.

"The whole idea behind it is that with the new chapel, we won't have to open up the whole church," said Father Julius Spleet. It gives them a new chapel without adding on.

The remodeling was started a month ago and is almost finished. The construction is being done by Dan Ulfig.

The cost of the project is estimated at not over $10,000. The only actual construction is half a wall, 2 built-in benches and a stained glass window.

"We hope to have a formal dedication of the chapel and an organ we purchased in July, 1985 sometime in the near future," said Father Spleet.
