Caro store break-in halted

The sharp eyes of officers with the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department are being credited with putting a quick end to another major breaking and entering in progress early Tuesday morning near Caro.

Authorities said sheriff's deputies were on routine patrol shortly after 3:00 a.m. when they saw a suspicious vehicle parked in front of the U-Foun-Dit furniture store, at 1517 Decker-ville Road. As officers pulled up to the truck, stolen from a rental agency in Caro, police said they saw a man run from the scene.

Upon investigation, police found that about $4,000 worth of furniture had been neatly loaded into the back of the truck. The items that were about to be stolen included dining room sets, lamps, chairs and tables.

Police set up road blocks throughout the area, but the suspect remains at large. He is described as weighing between 180 and 200 pounds.

Accident claims toddler

A 3-year-old boy died Thursday when he fell head first into a grain bin at his family's farm, 3 miles north of Kingston.

Jonathan L. Walkiewicz was reportedly playing with his twin brother Joseph about 5 p.m. when the accident occurred.

He was found buried in the grain by his father Kenneth and taken to Hills and Dales Hospital where he was pronounced dead of suffocation at 6:40 p.m., according to a hospital spokeswoman.

Jonathan was born Oct. 31, 1982 and is survived by his parents Kenneth and Louise and his twin brother Joseph.

Funeral services were held Saturday at Kingston United Methodist Church with Rev. William Bollinger officiating. Burial was in St. Michael's Cemetery in Wilmet.

RARE OCCURRENCE: Lyle Severance, 10, proudly holds quadruplet lambs born March 14. According to agriculture agent Dennis Stein, the chances of a quad birth is one in 20,000. The births were unusual in other respects since the ewe had them unassisted and feeds all 4. Lyle's father, Leslie, said that these are the first quadruplets he's had in the 25 years he's been raising sheep.

Cass City council applies for fuel conservation program

The Cass City village council agreed to apply to participate in the Michigan Energy Bank by becoming a contact point for the program during its meeting Tuesday, March 25.

The State-wide program was explained to the council members by Charles Pagel, a representative from the Southeastern Michigan Gas Company. He said the program involves federal money being awarded for grants when people renovate or remodel their homes to make them energy efficient. The Port Huron-based company is promoting the program with the overall goal of improving fuel conservation. Pagel told the council that the program has been in effect for the past 3 years, but has received very little publicity. "When the program first started, it was designed only to help low-income people with such things as insulation, caulking and the placement of storm windows. But now that this money is not being used, the officials have decided to expand the program. For example, a family of 4 with an income of $21,000 could be reimbursed for up to half of their expenses," he said.

Since the program is administered at the state level, Pagel said participants in the program apply through a local municipality, whether it be a village, city or township. "If Cass City is accepted into the program, the Village takes care of the paperwork and would be reimbursed by the state. One bank in Sandusky has already agreed to take part in the program, but the local banks could also be approached to see if they would like to be involved as lenders of the money. The program has also received a good deal of support from contractors

Elkland Township to seek protection by Cass City Police

The possible contracting of service for police protection from the Cass City Police Department was one of the items discussed during the annual meeting of the Elkland Township board of trustees Saturday.

The topic was brought to the board's attention by Jack Laurie, who was one of 5 guests in attendance for the meeting. With the cuts that have been made at the county level, Laurie told the board that he is a little concerned about the lack of police protection in the rural areas of the township. "There are some townships that share police departments with a village or city. I am most familiar with what has been done in Frankenmuth. But if we continue to see the cuts in police at the county level, is there some way for the village and township to cooperate?" he asked the board. "I don't really see the need for 2 departments," Laurie said.

Elkland Township Supervisor David Milligan pointed out that some townships have contracted with the county for police protection. But Laurie said he prefers to contract with the Cass City Police Department. He said, "I think the village has a good department, and good administration. I think part of the benefit is that the smaller the area being covered, then the more familiar the personnel become with the area."

Milligan mentioned a few other benefits that could develop. "Nine times out of 10, most of the county police cars are in the southern part of the county during the night. Even when a car goes into a ditch, there could be a wait of up to an hour, where the village would be out there in 3 minutes," said Milligan.

Laurie concluded his input to the discussion by saying, "If I'm the only guy out in the country who is thinking this way, then it isn't worth it, and we'll forget it."

Milligan said the next step in the process would be to approach the village on the proposal. "I think we should look into it. For one thing, we can see if the village is interested, and find out what the cost would be," he said.

In dealing with monetary matters, the board approved raising the salary of election workers from $3.50 to $4.00 per hour. The request was presented by Township Clerk Norma Wallace, who said the increase would bring the election workers' salaries more in line with those being paid by the village and the school district.

The township budget for 1986-87 was approved by the board as presented. It calls for expenditures of $176,115, which is down from last year's budget of $231,722. The largest area for expenditures under the new budget is $48,000 slated for road maintenance. Revenue from property taxes is expected to be down slightly from last year.

Board members said tentative plans have been made to put gravel on several roads in Elkland Township this year. The list includes Hurley and Muntz Roads, and parts of Reed, Daus, Buehly and Schweger Roads.

The board said plans are also being made to take care of dust control in the township. However, Supervisor Milligan said the work crews will not be using the same type of asphalt emulsion that was used last year. He said in most cases, the emulsion did not work very well.

Also approved by the board were a cemetery fund budget of $25,590 and a fire fund budget, which came to a total of $39,450. The new perpetual care budget approved by the board totals $1,420, and the federal revenue sharing budget came to $14,700. The board was told that this may be the last year for the township to receive the allocation from Washington. Board members said they had been told that the program would end.

Dry weather sparks various grass fires

Damage has been estimated at $1,500 from a fire Friday at a barn that was in the process of being taken down in Deford.

Elkland Township Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. said the fire was reported at 2:39 Friday afternoon from the Robert Burleson residence, located at 470 Cemetery Road, south of the intersection with Deckerville Road.

Root said the cause of the fire may be connected with a tractor. "The people there were busy taking the barn down when they turned around and saw the flames. They tried to put out the fire by themselves, but could not because of the high winds," he said.

Root said destroyed in the fire were some bicycles and siding valued at $500. Also destroyed were the remaining beams from the barn, which were valued at $1,000.

Fire fighters stayed on the scene until 4:00 p.m. Friday. There were no injuries reported.

The Elkland Township Fire Department has also been kept busy with its share of grass fires, which have been reported in large numbers throughout the Thumb area over the past week.

At 1:44 p.m. Sunday, a grass fire was reported at the James Kitchen residence on East Gifford Road in Novesta Township.

Fire Chief Root said the fire was started by a spark from a trash barrel, and burned between 3 and 4 acres of grass and a few trees. "This was a good barrel that was being used, but just one spark got out through a small hole, and that's all it took," said Root. Fire fighters were on the scene for an hour, and there were no injuries.

The Elkland Township Fire Department also provided an assist in putting out a grass fire in Huron County Monday afternoon.

Because of the dry conditions over the past week, Fire Chief Root is advising residents to be very cautious with any kind of burning. "Open burning should be done only after 6:00 p.m. after the winds have died down. People should also make sure they have a burning permit, which may be obtained at the lumber yard, the elevator, or from some members of the Elkland Township Fire Department," he said.

Even with the rain that is predicted for this week, Root said it doesn't take too much wind to allow for the very dry conditions to return to the area.

Your neighbor says

Speed limit not always enforced

The 55-mile-per-hour speed limit has a friend in the opinions expressed by Connie Klinkman, of 3711 N. Cemetery Road, who calls herself a well-traveled person both within and outside the state of Michigan. The teacher at the Cass City Pre-School Nursery says it is her understanding that the 55 m.p.h. speed limit was implemented several years ago because of the energy crisis and the rise in gas prices. "My husband and I do a lot of traveling on expressways and have found that most people don't drive 55. It's more like 65 m.p.h. and then some," she said.

Klinkman says she has also noticed a difference in the enforcement of the 55 m.p.h. speed limit as she has traveled from state to state. "I can remember going down to Kentucky for a wedding, and we were going between 65 and 70 just north of the Michigan-Ohio border. But as soon as you hit Ohio, you went 55 because the state police are there, and were really patrolling the area. By the time we got to Kentucky, it was back to 70 m.p.h. and this is just going with the flow!"

Klinkman says when the 55 m.p.h. speed limit was first implemented, she thinks people thought that the number of accidents would be cut down. "I don't know if it really has made that large of an impact on the accidents taking place. But I would like to think that the speed limit would not be put back to 70 m.p.h. because then, we would have people going 85 m.p.h. It seems that most people allow themselves to go 5 to 10 miles per hour over the speed limit thinking that no one will pull them over," she said.

Klinkman says enforcement of the 55 m.p.h. speed limit may just be a matter of priorities. "I think the situation would be different if police officers were more likely to crack down on violators. I don't think they do here, but the police do in Ohio. You see the speeders being pulled over there. In Michigan, they don't seem to have the time and don't think it's important."

Klinkman feels what happened to the 55 m.p.h. speed limit may also be happening to the mandatory seat belt law. "For the first few months after the seat belt legislation went into effect, people wore the belts. But I heard the results of a survey which found that seat belt use has fallen off. It's like these are laws that our government is enacting, but nobody bothers to enforce them. Even so, I wear a seat belt. Because I was wearing one, it saved my life and the lives of my kids when I rolled my car in an accident last winter," she added.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Now they tell us. Right now, there is a discussion about whether or not the village will sweep leaves that are placed in street gutters this spring as it did last fall.

That it wasn't to be a spring-fall service was news to me and most likely to most other villagers. It's especially distressing this spring because the lousy weather last fall kept many from completing the fall raking. There were several in my block and I don't need to tell you who was one of them, do I?

If the decision is to clear leaves in the fall only, why not start next fall?

Tuesday of last week was one of those great spring days we've all been sweating out all winter. A hint of things to come. March is notoriously fickle in Michigan. Ray Fleenor dropped in to remind us of that. He said it was exactly 39 years ago to the day that the entire area was snowed in and it was necessary to call in special rotary plows to open the roads.

After reading story after story about the danger of flooding on the Great Lakes this spring, it was with more than usual interest that we viewed Lake Huron as we took a Sunday afternoon drive from Harbor Beach to Port Huron.

In that particular area there didn't appear to be any danger. Nearly all of the ice in Lake Huron has melted. There is no shore line ice and only a few small chunks of ice floating in widely spaced intervals.

OUT FOR A STROLL Friday were the new owners of this 5-foot-tall Easter bunny, Stephen and Sarah Yax. The 23-month-old children of Donald and Sandra Yax won the bunny in the annual Easter drawing at the Coach Light Pharmacy.

Bond is newly appointed Prosecuting Attorney

Patrick R. Joslyn, Circuit Court Judge for the County of Tuscola, has announced the appointment of William A. Bond as the new prosecuting attorney for Tuscola County.

Bond is scheduled to be sworn in as county prosecutor April 7 at 9:00 a.m. in the circuit court.

Judge Joslyn said Bond has extensive prosecuting experience and has been involved with criminal prosecution since 1978. He was most recently employed by the United Auto Workers Legal Services Division in Monroe County. Prior to that, Bond was an assistant prosecutor for Monroe County.

Judge Joslyn said Bond comes to the position in Tuscola County highly recommended by the Prosecuting Attorney's Association of Michigan. He also received outstanding recommendations from his fellow lawyers and judges before whom he has practiced in Monroe County.

Bond is a graduate of Michigan State University and the University of Toledo College of Law. He is married and has two children.

Judge Joslyn has been interviewing candidates for the prosecutor's position since January 1. The appointment of Bond fills a vacancy created by the resignation of G. Scott Stermer. The former prosecutor is currently in private practice in Mt. Morris and is a partner in the firm of Doerr and Stermer.

Schools sponsoring a leadership forum in April

The Tuscola Intermediate School District, along with area schools, is sponsoring the second annual Tuscola County Leadership Forum.

The Forum will be held at the Tuscola County Skill Center in Caro April 9, from 8:30 a.m. to 2:45 p.m.

The purpose of the forum is to provide students with the opportunity to gain new insights, communicate with peers, develop leadership skills and provide feedback to the educational community relative to the types of educational programs, services and activities which the students consider to be priority issues.

Nearly 1,900 students from public and nonpublic schools in 9 counties will participate in the April forums.

Participating area schools include, Akron-Fairgrove, Caro, Cass City, Kingston, Mayville, Millington, Reese, Unionville-Sebewaing Area and the Michigan Department of Education.

The day-long Leadership Forums are held as part of Project Outreach which was started by the State Board in 1981 to improve public attitudes about public schools.

An estimated 15,000 high school students are expected to take part in about 75 Student Leadership Forums that will be held throughout the state during the 1985-86 school year.

MTU names 2 area students to Dean's List

Two area students were on the Dean's List for the winter quarter at Michigan Technological University.

Scott Geiger of Cass City, a junior in electrical engineering, and Carol Kietzke of Kingston, a junior in science and technical communication, were part of the 553 students who earned a grade point average of 3.5 or higher.

Diurnal

As we all know, a nocturnal animal is one that is active at night. But what is a day-active animal called? Diurnal, says International Wildlife magazine.

Hey, man, you are now looking at a high society family. Regular high-rise Park Avenue stuff.

The kind where the doorman at the apartment takes the dog with the ermine coat for its daily walk.

Well, our dog, Foozie, doesn't have a fur coat other than his own. He does have a slightly flea-bitten collar and a well worn leash. And, for sure, he never takes a walk anywhere with anyone.

It's possible to take him out and let him pull you around where he wants to go, but that's definitely all.

Foozie is an Airedale and he looks strong and the real truth is that he is stronger than he looks.

But that's another story. We are talking here about the Haires entering the high society set. All those big time operators will have a hard time matching the panache which we had dealing with our monster.

By the time you read this the Haires will be out west on a skiing trip. It takes a little doing to get the whole family together at one time and each time it happens I figure it may be the last time everyone can escape their jobs at the same time to have a good time.

It didn't take long to figure out how to manage the work load when we are gone, although in the last 35 years all of us probably have not missed a whole week together more than 2 or 3 times. The real problem was what to do with our dog. Now that shouldn't be a major problem, but it is because we have spoiled that dog rotten. No kennel for a week for him.

After considering and discarding several options, it was decided that what was necessary was a sitter.

So, as I said, those high society types will be taking a back seat. Anybody can hire a dog walker. But a dog sitter? You need to find someone who can handle the monster and is willing to help out.

Friends like this might be very hard to come by on Park Avenue. It's lucky for Foozie that it isn't impossible in Cass City.

"If It Fitz..."

Marvelous vacation

By Jim Fitzgerald

On another morning during the Nassau vacation. Emily burst into my dark bedroom and illuminated my sleeping face with a huge flashlight.

"FREEZE!" she yelled in her toughest TV-cop voice.

Oh God. I managed to blink a slit into one eye. "What will you do if I don't."

"I will kill you," she said. Oh God again. I'd been up way too late the night before.

"Go ahead," I said.

End of Bahamian vignette. I told it to illustrate the attitude of several people who said I must be insane to vacation for two weeks in the same condo with a 4-year-old girl and her 2-month-old sister.

After all, I finished serving my diaper-and-tantrum sentence years ago. Grandchildren are nice for short visits but a man my age needs a tranquil vacation. He doesn't need a baby crying early every morning, or a little girl jumping into the deep end of the pool "just one more time" 2,345 times and demanding to be caught each time by a pooped grandpa.

From the beginning, I had trouble explaining. When I made the plane reservations, three months before our party of six took off, I could give the travel bureau only five names.

"One of us isn't born yet," I said.

"My goodness," the woman said. "I've never made a reservation for anyone that young before."

When Tricia is old enough to understand, it will be fun to tell her she was a pioneer in space. I'll also tell her that her sister spent the entire flight south, including the layover in the Atlanta airport, drinking Coke out of an airline liquor bottle. When people stared, I told them I was taking the poor child to Betty Ford's clinic to dry out.

In Nassau, we rented a car with the steering wheel on the right side, and had to drive on the left side of the road. Also, in the Bahamas, in a complete reversal of my Catholic upbringing, they put a slice of lime on fish, and a slice of lemon in a vodka and tonic.

But those aberrations didn't surprise me nearly as much as learning that a newly changed baby is no longer powdered. My daughter said it was discovered that talcum powder adds nothing to the comfort or appearance of the butt. That must have been tragic news for the baby-product industry; worse than glass in baby food. I love the smell of Johnson's talcum because it reminds me of the wonderful days when I was a young father and used it to make the pool cue slide easily between my fingers.

Anyway, there's no denying I couldn't do a lot of things in Nassau that I would have done if the children weren't along. But there's also no denying it was a marvelous vacation. How come? Reader Edith Ella Davis of Royal Oak helped me explain when she drew a picture of a grandfather holding a little girl and sent it to me with this poem titled "Emily":

Balls and swings and circuses,

Ice cream cones and wonder;
Auto rides and popcorn bags
And arms to cuddle under.
Never want to leave his arms,
Even when I'm older,
Know that I shall always love
The comfort of his shoulder.

So to speak . . .

by Jim McLoskey

Michigan weather is so confusing! That probably comes as no surprise to those of you who are native Michiganders (or Michiganians), but the past few days seem to have everybody talking about the weather!

To investigate why this is happening, I took a survey of the medical community and found that it is possible to be suffering from spring fever, even when the temperature outside is more summer-like. I was told that the main thing to consider when a person is being diagnosed as a victim of spring fever is the weather prior to the onset of the symptoms of the illness. (Does that sound like something a doctor would really say?)

Putting that theory into my own words, I have come to the conclusion that it is possible to suffer from a case of spring fever, even though Mother Nature may have decided to skip spring in Michigan this year. So that means whenever there is an increase in the temperature of at least 20 degrees over a 24 hour period, the possibility of spring fever hitting the majority of the population does exist.

Another part of my investigation led me to a friend of Sparky Anderson of the Detroit Tigers. This individual told me that the earlier-than-usual arrival of the warm weather is due to the fact that Sparky does not want to play this year's season opener in temperatures below 50 degrees! Not too many people know this to be true, but this source told me that Sparky can control what the weather is going to be like by watching the smoke curl up from his cigar! (I wonder if Sparky has been watching too many of Chuck Waters' forecasts on TV?)

The final part of my well-planned investigation led me to the Michigan Department of Commerce in Lansing where I learned that even politics may be playing a role in why the weather is so nice this early in the year. An unidentified staff aide told me that State officials close to Governor Blanchard have seen to it that voters across the State will be so happy with all of the good weather that they will finally forget about the 38% income tax increase endorsed by the governor.

Throughout my discussions with all of these authorities on the subject, not one person mentioned the possibility that Mother Nature could be playing a mean trick on us, and we'll be back to the sub-freezing temperatures later this week. But since I have already spent the time to take the snow tires off my car, that could never happen here in Michigan! Right, Sparky?

Commissioners give go-ahead to new program

The Tuscola County board of commissioners went on record as supporting a State Department of Natural Resources proposal to close the pheasant hunting season in the county for a 2-year period, during its meeting Tuesday, March 25.

The action taken by the board was in conjunction with the release of a new crossbred strain of pheasant developed by the DNR. Commissioners were told the birds are the offspring from a cross between Michigan's ringneck pheasant and the Sichuan pheasant which were brought from China in February of last year. State officials said the hunting of pheasants needed to be restricted until the birds have had enough time to establish their population.

Voting to approve the motion to close the hunting season was Commissioner Royce Russell, (R-Cass City). He said, "I am pretty proud of the fact that the DNR considers part of the district I represent to be one of the best habitats in the entire State for these pheasants. This is kind of an honor for the county."

Russell said DNR wildlife biologists are asking for the cooperation of local landowners to assist in the protection and report undue disturbance of these birds.

"All of the board members agreed with the move that was made and thought that this should have been done before. I can remember back in the 1930s and '40s when pheasants were very heavy in the county. After a while, people tend to lose interest. I think this new breed will help to build up the sport," said Russell.

Dorr Wiltse appeared before the board to give an update on tentative plans for the county's participation in Michigan's sesquicentennial celebration. He told the board members he would like them to recruit people to serve on a committee for the project.

Commissioner Russell said each of the members was asked to recruit a person who is familiar with the early history of their district. Tentative plans are calling for a kick-off celebration in Tuscola County in September.

The board was also given an update on the installation of new, thermal windows at the court house in Caro. Commissioner Russell said, "A lot of good reports have been received on those windows. The noise level from outside has been reduced a whole lot and they are more attractive than the old ones. They sure are nice, and we should see a difference in the heating bills down the road."

The board authorized the spending of up to $500 following an incident of vandalism to the front of the sheriff's department building. Commissioners were told that spray paint was put on the outside wall of the structure and sandblasting would be needed to repair the damage.

A resignation was received from Ervin Dean of Millington who had served on the Tuscola County Economic Development Corporation board of directors. A search is underway to find a replacement for Dean.

The board also approved contracts between the State Department of Social Services and the Friend of the Court and the Prosecutor's office. The 2 contracts have been renewed annually as part of the state's cooperative reimbursement program.

DISASTER DRILL VOLUNTEER Linda Herron is wheeled into the emergency room at Hills and Dales.

Disaster drill held at Hills and Dales Hospital

The scene is set: A tornado in Cass City Wednesday night took out the west wing of the Provincial House and hit the Salem United Methodist Church. There were 10 people at each location and rescue units were called in to search through the rubble for the injured. One woman was reported dead and several others were taken to Hills and Dales Hospital for treatment.

This is what happened during the disaster drill put on by the hospital, in which 20 injured were brought in and treated. Hills and Dales is required by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals to hold 2 drills a year. This one was more extensive and put on as part of National Tornado Week. The second one will be a total surprise, said Isabel Wright, Director of Support Services at Hills and Dales. The "injured" were volunteers from the hospital auxiliary and their families.

To continue the scenario: the most critically injured were brought in first and taken to the emergency room entrance where they were met by a doctor and registered nurse, diagnosed and sent to one of 3 places - Intensive care, Step-down care (the injuries aren't major but do need immediate attention) or minor care. A temporary morgue was set up. Runners, who were gofers of a sort, took the injured to the appropriate place.

Security at the hospital was tight to keep out hysterical family members and the media who would get underfoot, but Lisa Russell got through. Hysterical, she approached a nurse looking for her parents. She was immediately led to a visitors' room and calmed down. It turned out that her mother, Betty, was uninjured and her father, Royce, only sustained a sprain when a piece of lumber fell on him. There were a wide range of injuries, from minor abrasions to one death.

According to Wright, many volunteers helped to make the drill possible: Cass City ambulance service and fire department, the village of Cass City, Cass City police and the Provincial House. Hospital employees are called from home and must come in.

Jim McCann, County Emergency Services Director, was there and said the hospital must put on the drill to be recertified. He thought that, aside from being a little short staffed, everything looked pretty good. Roxanne Somerville, an observer, said that she thought it went quite smoothly.

Balloon release concludes program

Although they didn't have much cooperation from Mother Nature, students at the Deford Elementary School concluded a 5-month-long reading program Wednesday, March 26, with the release of a large number of balloons.

The program was called "Carried Away With Reading," and was launched by the Deford Student Council in November of last year. Under the guidelines of the program, organizers said students were credited with the pages of books that were read. They then earned a balloon when they reached a certain number of pages read for their particular grade.

In first grade, the goal was for the students to read 90 pages of books. Second-grade students had a goal of 125 pages. The goal for third-graders was 150 pages. Fourth-grade students were hoping to reach 175 pages, and students in fifth grade were aiming for a total of 225 pages read.

Corie Churchill read more than 10,000 pages, and earned a record number of balloons for her reading efforts. Other top readers in the program were Robin Voss, Tammy Stein and Lisa Deering.

As part of the celebration of Reading Month, the students at the Deford Elementary School took part in the initial release of their balloons last week. Several parents joined the students and their teachers to watch the sight which was held on the front lawn of the school.

New books at the library

GRANIA: SHE-KING OF THE IRISH SEAS by Morgan Lilywelyn (fiction). Grania, a formidable figure of hearty appetites, is the leader of fractious Irish clans and burns with zest for her seafaring life. She endures many brutalities, narrowly escapes death several times and eventually feels the power of her challenger across the water, Elizabeth of England. Their confrontation in the waning years of their lives is one highlight of the sprawling tale. Other characters include the fabled leaders of the Irish tribes who were Grania's liegemen, and her lovers, among them Sir Philip Sidney (whose poetry did not stir her).

CHILDREN OF LIGHT by Robert Stone (fiction). Gordon Walker, sometime actor and successful screenwriter, is on an alcohol-cocaine binge after playing King Lear on stage and being deserted by his wife. He's drawn to a former lover, actress Lee Verger, who's on location filming his screenplay of Kate Chopin's "The Awakening." Lee is insane; Gordon becomes her helpless accomplice. The claustrophobic, high-tension world of the set, located on the eerie, primeval coast of Mexico, crackles with conflict, intrigue, and malice.

DEAD GIVEAWAY by Simon Brett (mystery). Charles Paris, the washed-up actor, is asked to be a panelist on the pilot of a new British game show hosted by the narcissistic and venal Barrett Doran. After fortifying himself with a glass of gin midway through the show's taping, Doran drops dead on stage of cyanide poisoning. Paris, always with time on his hands, puts the suspects — a washed-up boxer, a dim-witted actress, an agony columnist, and a TV journalist — through a thorough investigation. The bureaucratic mayhem of TV production is examined; its behind-the-scenes falsity and jockeying for position, and the desperate jollity of celebrities.

HEALTH TIPS

Vaccines prevent disease

When certain types of bacteria or viruses invade the body and live off it like a parasite, an infection results. Unbroken skin is a barrier to such disease causing organisms, and to a certain extent so are the mucous membranes of the digestive system and the lungs. Certain microbes, however, can penetrate the mucous membranes.

Others can pass through breaks in the skin. If microbes get by this first line of defense, types of white blood cells are rushed in to attack. In addition to these general defenses against foreign invaders, the body also reacts in a very specific way to each separate type of infection. It produces antibodies, protein molecules that specifically fit each infecting agent and cause it to be neutralized. This reaction is called an immune response. Unfortunately, the immune response is at times too little and too late to prevent an infection. However, once we have had a disease we may find that we do not get it again. In effect, we are immune to it. Ideally it would be nice to gain this immunity before we get the disease, since the effects of certain diseases like polio or typhoid can be catastrophic. That is where vaccinations come in.

In the early 1700s, England's Lady Montagu, who had been severely scarred by small pox, accompanied her husband to Turkey. She discovered that Turks rarely got small pox. Turkish women collected material from the sores of persons with mild cases of small pox and placed it in walnut shells. Then they had "parties" where whole families would get the treatment. A needle was used to open a vein in a person and a small amount of the material was removed from the walnut shell and placed in the vein. A very mild case of small pox would develop, but no scarring would occur and afterward, the person was immune to small pox. The Turks were vaccinating against small pox!

In 1796, an Englishman named Edward Jenner vaccinated a small boy with material from a cowpox sore. Several weeks later Jenner infected the boy with small pox and the boy did not get the disease. The extremely mild reaction to the cowpox was enough to provide immunity to small pox. Today, vaccinia virus, a laboratory developed virus similar to small pox is used for small pox vaccinations. How does the vaccination work? The foreign invader, whether it be small pox virus or the bacteria that causes typhoid fever, is generally called an antigen. When an antigen enters the body, a type of white blood cell known as lymphocytes encounters the antigen. The body has millions of different types of lymphocytes. Only those few types that match precisely with the antigen will be stimulated to develop. Some of these cells will produce antibodies to neutralize the antigens. The process, however, is slow and the amount of antibody produced is not very much. That is the reason that a person generally gets a disease the first time it strikes. However, other lymphocytes will multiply and become memory cells. These cells "remember" the antigen. The next time the disease enters the body, the specific antibodies are made very rapidly and in large amounts. They neutralize the antigens and one does not get the disease.

The idea behind the vaccination, then, is to give one a mild case of the disease to stimulate the production of memory cells for that disease. If the disease is caused by a virus, the virus can be weakened by heat or chemicals where it will cause little or no infection and yet still stimulate the formation of memory cells. If the disease is caused by bacteria, either heat-killed bacteria or their chemically weakened toxins can be used as vaccines. Since the memory cells are specific only to that one disease, different vaccines must be given for each disease against which one wishes to be immune. Even then the immunity may not last a lifetime. If not, booster shots must be taken.

and cowpox, is used for small pox vaccinations.

The annual kindergarten roundup for the Owendale-Gagetown area schools will be held Monday, April 14, in the gymnasium of the Owendale - Gagetown Elementary School in Gagetown.

Britt said parents are asked to bring the official birth certificates of their children with them to the roundup. He said if parents are not able to bring a birth certificate, they should bring a hospital certificate and an immunization record with their child.

Britt said the school nurse will be available during the kindergarten roundup to answer questions about immunization. Hearing and vision testing will also take place at the school.

Members registered for the April 17 dinner at St. Peter's, Bach and anyone still wishing to sign up will be able to do so at the business meeting April 3.

AROUND THE FARM

Problems due to wet fall

By Bill Bortel

Most farmers who normally perform fall tillage were unable to complete those operations last fall because of wet field conditions. As a result of the poor harvest conditions, farmers face a variety of potential planting problems this spring, such as unharvested crops, ruts and tracks in the field, and incomplete field preparation last fall. Producers will need to consider their options for correcting those problems this spring. If corn or soybeans remain in the field, harvest them in the early spring when the soil is frozen if at all possible. If harvest is not completed by the time the ground thaws, producers will need to wait until the soil has dried enough to handle field traffic.

Producers who were unable to complete fall tillage may want to consider reduced tillage this spring. No-till and minimum till farmers have fewer problems with spring tillage following poor fall field conditions than farmers who use conventional tillage. The amount of crop residue and the equipment used will be the limiting factors for producers who wish to go ahead with spring tillage and plant conventionally. Older conventional planters may not be equipped to plant in surface residue, but newer conventional planters have heavier frames that can be modified to plant in those residues. Stalks can be shredded in the spring when the soil moisture is right for tillage, but many farmers find this operation unnecessary.

Spring moldboard plowing is not recommended on most soils and, when wet soil conditions exist, will serve only to damage soil structure. Therefore, spring tillage should probably involve chisel plowing or disking when soil moisture becomes acceptable to the depth of tillage. A disk has a greater downward pressure and therefore a greater potential to cause soil compaction, therefore, caution should be used with a disk in wet soil conditions. A disk will be useful for fill in and leveling ruts when soil conditions are drier, however.

Usually, spring tillage should not exceed 6 inches because of soil moisture limitations. Chisel plows with twisted shanks work well in fields with heavy residues and will bury about 50 percent of the residues if the shanks are 3 or 4 inches wide. If tillage promotes formation of clods of soil that may become very hard when dry, farmers should consider using a tool behind the tillage implement such as a cluster bar to break up the clods.

Regardless of tillage system, ruts and tracks created while harvesting in wet conditions last fall must be filled and the soil surface leveled before planting can proceed normally. Ruts formed by wheel traffic during fall harvest will probably be the last areas to dry and may hold standing water much of the spring.

Farmers who plan to no-till or ridge-till, should fill shallow ruts with a tandem disk to level the field. Producers should avoid disking too deeply by using the transport wheels or depth control segments on the hydraulic cylinder to limit tool penetration. The disk gang angle can be increased for filling deeper ruts.

Producers may consider enrolling badly rutted fields in the government set-aside program. For details and eligibility information, contact your local ASCS office or the Cooperative Extension Service.

Leipprandt receives one of 3 MSU awards

Ted Leipprandt, man-

ative Elevator in Pigeon, was one of 3 persons to receive Michigan State University's Distinguished Service to Agriculture award Mar. 20. Others were Bruce A. Bordine of Rochester and Carlos Fetterolf, executive secretary of the Great Lakes Fishery Commission.

Leipprandt began his career with the Pigeon Cooperative Elevator following his graduation from MSU in 1958. He was appointed manager of the elevator in 1974.

He was cited for his leadership in introducing several alternative crops
for farmers in his region, including colored dry edible beans, premium oats and malting barley, and for helping transform Huron County from an importer of corn to Michigan's top corn-producing county.

He also helped create the Valley Marketing Cooperative, which sells 80 percent of Michigan's dry bean crop, and developed the Pigeon elevator into an ultramodern dry bean processing plant.

In addition to his business responsibilities, Leipprandt is active in local civic organizations and is a member of numerous state-level organizations including the Governor's Ad-

MERCHANTS' "A" March 26, 1986

WWII Bronze and Silver Star holder becomes VFW member

A Caseville man was made an official member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Thursday at the Provincial House.

Bronze and Silver star recipient, was honored by fellow veterans at the Provincial House with a membership card and lapel pin.

Cormendy, 69, served in WWII from 1941 to 1944 in the army artillery in Europe. He was given both the Bronze and Silver stars for his bravery and meritorious achievement during combat.

He earned the medals for modifying a 270mm Howitzer to shoot 3 rounds a minute instead of one, while taking fire and shrapnel. "We had to jump into the foxhole a few times," said Cormendy. At the time, he was in Germany near the Battle of the Bulge.

The Bronze and Silver Star Medals rank numbers 2 and 3 in medals for heroic service in combat. The Congressional Medal of Honor is the highest U.S. military decoration for bravery. "It wasn't much," he said modestly.

New crossbreeds released

A new strain of pheasant has been released in Tuscola and Huron Counties. Tuesday, March 25, Department of Natural Resource (DNR) officials released 120 of the 38-week-old birds in a 220 acre state owned mini-game area, northwest of Cass City, and 120 were set free in a mini-game area southeast of Owendale.

The pheasants are the offspring from a cross between Michigan's ringneck pheasant and the Sichuan or blackneck pheasants which were brought over from China in February, 1985. The breed, was developed here in Michigan by DNR wildlife biologists.

According to wildlife specialist Martin Pollock, this is a crossbreed they don't know anything about, but it is hoped that the birds retained the adaptability of the Sichuan parent.

The Sichuan pheasant differs from the ringneck in habitat preferences. The Sichuan prefers bushy fringes of farmland and suburban areas common to southern Michigan. Unlike ringnecks, these birds roost in trees, reducing their susceptibility to predators. During the winter they feed on tree buds while the ringneck limits itself to ground forage.

According to a report by wildlife biologist Pete Squibb, the Sichuan in China has adapted well despite heavy predation and intensive farming, thus it is hard to be anything but optimistic about the hybrid's and Sichuan's future in Michigan.

A group of nearly 25 persons, which included DNR biologists, media and county officials, gathered around to watch and record the event that is hoped to breathe new life back into the pheasant population.

Prior to release, all of the birds were banded with identification tags. In addition, 32 birds were equipped with radio transmitters, which will enable DNR wildlife biologists to monitor bird distribution following the release and check mortality and nesting success.

It is unknown how far the birds will travel, but birds tracked after a similar release in Ottawa County March 12 went up to 4 miles from the release site. Pollock believes that the birds have a 50 to 75 percent survival rate. The release site is a traditional pheasant habitat with plenty of food and good cover.

The drawback to the release is that the site will have to be closed to hunters for at least 2 years to let the pheasants establish themselves, and make sure the population is self-sustaining once again.

At their peak in the 1940's and 1950's, pheasants were sought by nearly 600,000 small game hunters in Michigan, who took one million rooster pheasants annually. Today less than 100,000 birds are taken in a season.

There are different theories as to why the population declined. Some say it was pesticides. Others believe it was farming techniques, urbanization, industrialization and improved technology which have changed the lay of the land, or that it was possibly the natural cycle of an introduced species.

This release is not the ultimate goal, pointed out Pollock, but if it is successful it will be followed with a release of the purebred Sichuan pheasants in the spring of 1987.

DNR WILDLIFE Specialist Martin Pollock has been involved with the Sichuan pheasant project from the start.

FREE AT LAST - One of 240 pheasants released in Huron and Tuscola County flies from its cage.

Tickets available for MSU alumni

Tickets are still available for the annual meeting of the Tuscola County Michigan State University Alumni Association which is scheduled for April 8 at the Caro Knights of Columbus Hall.

The guest speaker for the event will be Dr. John DiBiaggio, who was named president of MSU last year.

Association Secretary Harold Perry said the price for tickets is $8.50 per person. They may be obtained by contacting Perry at 872-3016. Tickets for the meeting may also be purchased at the door.

Perry said the annual meeting is scheduled to begin at 6:00 p.m. Dinner will be served beginning at 7:00 p.m.

The meeting is open to all friends and alumni of Michigan State. Perry said an effort has been made to invite alumni living in Huron and Sanilac counties, as well.

The Caro Knights of Columbus Hall is located on Ryan Road, south of Caro.

Buyout to cut milk output 9%

Officials with the U.S. Department of Agriculture have announced that more than 1.5 million cows are to be slaughtered or shipped to other countries, as part of an effort to reduce milk production under the dairy buyout program.

Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng said nearly 40,000 dairy farmers have offered to dispose of their herds in exchange for a one-time payment under the program.

The program was announced a few months ago, and will be financed by assessments on the dairy industry. Producers submitted buyout bids based on their average milk production figures.

It was announced by U.S.D.A. officials that bids to be accepted are those at or below $22.50 per 100 pounds of milk produced. It is expected that between 20 and 35% of the bids submitted from the Thumb area will be accepted into the program.

Lyng said the buyout program will reduce annual milk output by 12.3 billion pounds or 9%.

The effort is the latest government strategy designed to reduce the huge surplus of dairy products which has cost taxpayers billions of dollars in recent years.

Mall bill

proposed

Legislation opening shopping centers to petition circulators and individuals giving speeches has been introduced in the Michigan House.

The bill would nullify a 1985 state supreme court decision that allowed mall owners to ban petition circulators.

The proposal would allow malls to impose restrictions upon petitioners, such as not allowing them to petition inside individual mall stores.

NOTICE

The Village of Cass City will be accepting applications for their summer recreation program at the Municipal Building, 6737 Church Street, Cass City, until April 15, 1986.

Softball league sets dates for 1986 sign-up

Sign up for the 1986 Cass City Girls' Little League softball program has been scheduled for April 15 and 22 from 6:30 p.m. until 8:00 p.m. at the Cass City Intermediate School cafeteria.

Organizers said the program is open to all girls in the Cass City area who are at least 10 years of age by May 19, but not yet 15 years old by August 1. There is an entry fee of $6 per person.

For new players only, those who did not play during the 1985 season, there will be a workout on Tuesday, April 29, from 6:30 p.m. until 8:00 p.m. at the Cass City Intermediate School gym. This is also the last date for girls to sign up. League official Jim Turner said every girl who signs up will play in the league. "The workout on April 29 is only designed to help place girls on teams where they will hopefully play the most. This is also being done to help the teams become more evenly matched," he said.

Depending on the number of girls and teams participating, Turner said the season will be played from approximately the week beginning May 19 through the week beginning July 7.

"Coaches and volunteers are badly needed," said Turner. "We are also considering several new events for this year such as playoffs, an all star game and an awards picnic." Anyone who is interested in helping with the program is asked to contact John Connolly at 872-2967, Tom Kelly at 872-4557, or Turner at 872-2474.

"Each year, we have more and more girls who are interested in participating. However, we must have help, in order to make sure that all those interested are able to play and have a good experience. I hope that as many people as possible will consider offering to help in some way," Turner said.

Gun Club to hold safety program for young people

The Cass City Gun Club will sponsor a hunter safety class for young people between the ages of 11 and a-half and 16, April 10, 11 and 12.

Registration for the class will be held Thursday, April 10, from 6:00 until 7:00 p.m. at the gun club. The first class will go from 7:00 until 9:30 that evening.

The second part of the class is scheduled for Friday, April 11, from 7:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m. The final session will be offered Saturday, April 12, from 8:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m.

The fee for the class is $5 per person and includes a lunch on Saturday. In order to pass, students must attend all 3 classes.

The hunter safety class will be held at the Cass City Gun Club, located 4 miles south, 1 mile east, and a quarter-mile north of Cass City.

Coaches needed for Cass City Little League baseball

Tuesday, April 8, and Friday, April 11, have been set as the dates for sign up for this year's Cass City Boys' Little League baseball program.

Registration will take place from 6:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m. both dates at the Cass City Intermediate School cafeteria. There is an entry fee of $6 per person.

To be eligible for the program, boys must be at least 7 years of age by August 1, but not 13 years old by the same date.

League Secretary-Treasurer Ken Schott said the season is scheduled to begin on May 12 and will finish during the last week of June. An all star game will take place the first part of July.

"We do need some coaches for the teams this year. Right now, there are 3 coaching positions that are vacant and we would like to fill them as quickly as possible," Schott said.

Persons who would like to coach a team, or help with the program should call Schott at 872-3589, or League President Dan Ulfing at 872-2702.

Cass City Hawks field veteran team this year

The good news for Cass City High School baseball fans is that the Hawks will field a veteran team this spring. The bad news about Coach Don Schelke's charges is that the team finished last in the Thumb B Conference in 1985. What's more, the Hawks also lost via graduation the best player on the team, Jim Crawley, an all-league center fielder.

Also missing from the team that finished 4-17 overall and 2-12 in league play will be Steve Fox and Dennis Ziemba.

Cass City figures to be improved this year. Schelke is banking on top performances from Dave Miller and Lee Langenburg to spark the team. Both are veterans and both were among the top hitters on the squad last season. In addition, Miller is expected to anchor the mound crew with his southpaw slants. Langenburg is also a veteran hurler who moves into the outfield when not on the mound to keep his potent bat in the lineup.

There are experienced players at the other positions, too. The infield will be patrolled by Keith Czekai, Andy Nicholas and Chip Creason. Mike Stevenson can catch or play in the infield. Kevin Parrish will help on the mound and move behind the plate when not pitching and Paul Mika is working out at first and in the outfield.

Schelke sees an open race but feels that Vassar will be one of the teams to beat in Thumb B Association competition. The Hawks are expected to lift the curtain on the 1986 season Tuesday, April 8, when they entertain Frankenmunth in a non-conference affair. The conference competition is scheduled to start at North Branch Thursday, April 17.

Red Hawks softball team looks to defense, speed

We'll be strong up the middle, Coach Jim Fox said as he discussed the prospects for the Cass City High School softball team in 1986. The middle of the diamond will be anchored with letter winners and Yvette Hurd will be back again on the mound.

Hurd is tiny but terrific when it comes to working games. She was practically a one-woman show for the Hawks last season and Fox looks for a similar performance from the 3-year veteran now entering her final season.

The keystone combination will feature Deb Cook and Kelly Deering. In center field will be Brenda Severance, a veteran although she is just a sophomore.

There are just enough veteran senior players to lend stability to the squad. Fox has 4 seniors, although 2 of them were not out for the team last season. In addition there are 5 juniors, 6 sophomores and a freshman on the squad.

Fox says that the Hawks will go as far as their defense and speed will take them. We've got talent, he declared, but it remains to be seen if we can put it all together. Our trouble may be generating enough runs. One reason for the concern about the offense is the loss by graduation of Lisa Benitez, a 2nd team all state player and the leading slugger on the squad last season. Also gone is Julie Smith and first sacker Julie Miller. Becky Severance, an outstanding outfielder, has also graduated.

While not predicting anything this season, Fox feels that the team will finish better than it did last year when it was 4-10 in the Thumb B Association and 7-17 overall.

In the conference, Fox sees Vassar as the team to beat and says that strong pitching will make Bad Axe a threat. Marlette and North Branch could challenge for the title, too, Fox feels.

The girls swing into action Tuesday, April 8, at home against Frankenmuth and will open the conference schedule April 17 at North Branch.

He was arrested by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department in December, 1985.

Area township boards hold annual meetings

ram may end in September. Lastly, the board was given an update on the recent sale of the Cultural Center to Walbro Corporation. Township Treasurer Arthur Randall said he was informed of a possible problem by officials with the abstract company involved in the sale. "Apparently when the building was built, the workers did not put it to the lot line on the east side. They said the next building would want to use a common wall, rather than there being a gap between the two. So, the people with the abstract company feel they have a problem," he said.

EVERGREEN

Registered voters in Evergreen Township will be going to the polls later this year, following action taken during Saturday's annual meeting of the Evergreen Township board of trustees.

The board adopted a motion to seek one mill for a 5-year period to allow for work to be done on Germania Road. If approved by the voters, $12,000 would be generated each year by the millage levy.

Evergreen Township Clerk Otis Dorland described Germania Road as being in pretty bad shape. He said part of the road in Greenleaf Township has been improved, and the board would like to continue the process by rebuilding a 5-mile stretch of the road in Evergreen Township. If possible, he said the board would like to place the millage issue on the August primary ballot. No specific date for the millage election was included in the motion approved by the board.

A 1986-87 budget coming to $101,926 was given a stamp of approval by the board. The money plan represents an increase over last year's budget of $93,900. Township Clerk Dorland said most of the spending areas will remain the same, with the board designating $60,000 for roads. He said the annual financial statement found the township books to be in good shape.

The board also approved its budget for the use of federal revenue sharing funds. The $5,000 scheduled to be received by the township will be used for the patching and gravel work on roads.

Flood proclamation extended

Flooding along the Great Lakes has caused the Legislature to extend a disaster area proclamation 180 more days.

Gov. Blanchard signed the proclamation in February.

The proclamation covers the counties of Allegan, Arenac, Bay, Berrien, Grand Traverse, Iosco, Macomb, Marquette, Menominee, Monroe, Muskegon, Ottawa, Saginaw, St. Clair, Tuscola, Van Buren and Wayne.

Both residents and communities in the designated areas can apply for special emergency flood protection assistance, including state subsidized loans.

cal Bank of Cass City, and also agreed to keep the salaries of township officials the same as last year. Ten persons were in attendance for the annual meeting.

ELLINGTON

The approval of budgets and salary increases were on the agenda for the annual meeting Saturday of the Ellington Township board of trustees.

The new general fund budget approved by the board comes to $194,803. Township Clerk Clayton Turner said the new budget is slightly less than the one from last year. He said there is also a slight reduction in property taxes to be received by the township.

A budget for federal revenue sharing funds was approved by the board. The township expects to receive $8,849, which will be used on roads. Some of the road work this year will be on Orr Road. Clerk Turner said the bulk of the road work in the township did not progress on schedule last year, and will be continued.

In dealing with salaries, the board decided to increase the pay of election workers from $3.50 to $4.00 per hour. The salary received by the cemetery worker was raised from $5.00 to $5.50 per hour. Members of the board of review will see their salary increase from $100 to $125 for their two days of work. There will be no change in the salary received by township board members.

In other business, the board talked about the need to install a barrier-free entrance to the township hall. Clerk Turner said, "The board feels that the hall is a classic-looking building, and we can't envision detracting from its looks by placing something in front of the structure. But there does appear to be a way where a ramp could be placed at the side entrance, and would still serve the purpose."

It was announced that Turner has been asked to speak during the annual meeting of the Michigan Association of Municipalities. The township is a member of that group.

KINGSTON

Elected officials in Kingston Township will see an increase in their salaries as a result of action taken during the annual meeting of the Kingston Township board of trustees Saturday.

The board approved salary increases of 15% for the township's elected officials, including the supervisor, clerk, treasurer and 2 trustees. Clerk Victoria Wolak said the increase represents the first raise received by the officials in the past 2 years.

A budget for 1986-87 was approved by the board. It calls for expenditures of $128,893, and is an increase from last year's budget of $111,199.

The board was told that the bulk of the expenditures will be for road work. It was announced that a decision has not yet been made as to which roads will be done, but a check will be made in the near future.

The board also held its final public hearing on the spending of revenue sharing funds. It was decided to allocate the federal money for road work in the township.

Board members were told that plans are being made for the township to do brush spraying and roadside grass cutting this year. The board also hopes to provide the service of dust control on the roads.

One guest was in attendance for the annual meeting in Kingston Township.

ELMWOOD

The 1986-87 budget is $100,000, slightly lower than the $105,450 budget from last year.

The township will see a revenue drop of $5,000. Liability insurance for the township saw a large increase to $12,500, of which $7,200 had to be paid up front this year.

Another large increase in expenditures was for the "drain at large" fund which increased from $3,300 last year to an estimated $16,000 this year for cleaning out drains.

Like other townships roadwork is a priority, but due to a lack of a road millage, a total of $34,700 is budgeted, with $30,000 from the township and $4,700 from federal revenue sharing.

A mile of Elmwood Rd. needs improvement, but because of cost the township will just be putting down gravel.

It was also decided to spend $2,100 on a hydrostatic lawnmower.

There were 2 people at the meeting in addition to 5 board members.

The township meets the third Wednesday of every other month in the summer and every month through the winter. They are held at the Elmwood-Gagetown Municipal Building in Gagetown at 7:30. The next meeting will be held on April 16.

GREENLEAF

The 1986-87 budget is $129,226.90 almost the same as the $129,000 budget of last year. There is a fund balance of $30,000.

Roadwork was top priority with $70,000 in the budget for repair. The township plans to build up with grade and gravel one mile of Greenleaf, north of M-81 and one mile of Huron Line Rd. east of McMillan. Bids for the work are being taken from the County Road Commission and a private contractor.

The fire budget is $9,000 and ambulance is $5,000. There were 17 at the meeting. The board meets the third Thursday of every quarter, at 8:00. The next meeting will be in June.

GRANT

The 1986-87 budget is $74,000 with expenditures the same. It is down from last year's $138,000.

Roads were the largest expenditure with $35,000 budgeted, up $5,000 from last year.

No specific roads have been decided on yet, but a petition was brought in by Brookfield Township residents to have 2 miles of Gagetown Rd. worked on. No decision was made in the matter.

There were 11 people in attendance.

The board meets the first Monday of every month at 8:00. The next meeting will be held on April 7.

Council receives proposal for new police contract

who benefit from work provided through the program," he added.

Village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie said he agreed with the council in that the Michigan Energy Bank program could benefit the community. "We have the staff to take care of the paperwork and I don't think we'll be swamped with applications," he said. The council was told that funding for the program is expected to last a minimum of 6-7 months. LaPonsie was directed by the council to proceed with the necessary paperwork for Cass City to apply to participate in the program.

OTHER BUSINESS

The final part of Tuesday's meeting of the council was held in executive session as members discussed negotiations for the new contract for officers with the Cass City police department. Superintendent LaPonsie said the committee dealing with the issue had not met, but the group had received a proposal from the police officers. No action was taken by the council after coming out of its closed session.

Lloyd Vyse appeared before the council to express his concern about a drainage problem at the corner of Scotty McCullough Drive and Church Street. He was told that a drain at the corner has a tendency to become plugged, and a change in the grading of the area may be needed to solve the problem. Vyse was told that the situation there will be looked into.

Council members were made aware of a problem that has developed with residents raking grass, leaves and yard trimmings to the curb in front of their houses. The council was told that severe damage can be done to the Village's sweeper unit when a pop bottle or a large stone becomes lodged in the machine. Residents were reminded that all types of yard trimmings should be placed in bags for regular pick-up.

The council adopted an ordinance to repeal 59 various ordinances from the Village books because they are outdated and no longer needed. Village Clerk Joyce LaRoche said the ordinances were the same ones deleted by the council during its February meeting, but that a roll call vote was needed for the new ordinance to take effect.

As part of the superintendent's report, the council was told that the water department has installed 41 read-o-matic water meters since January 1. The department started a program this year of replacing all water meters over 10 years old. LaPonsie said the effort should make a difference in water usage that has been unaccounted for, because it is felt that many of the old meters have not been recording properly due to wear. Village records indicate that some of the water meters have been in operation since prior to 1937.

In other action, the council talked about some problems with potholes on portions of Leach and Third Streets; and it was announced that the annual, regional meeting of the Michigan Municipal League will be held May 1 at the Colony House. It was also announced that police officer Philip Klaus had received a State Police management development certificate for completing 80 hours of training in advanced criminal investigation, prosecuting the drunk driver, survival and under-ice diving techniques.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

Last fall, my friend Alex had $50,000 to invest. He was in a 35% tax bracket, and looking for income, among other things.

I ran across his letter of Sept. 16 in my files the other day. An excerpt:

"I was playing golf with George B. the other day and he told me he had just invested $50,000 in some short term (6-month) municipals, as he thinks this is not a good time to go long term. He expects interest rates to go up."

George is a respected, old-time banker. Like the old breed he is conservative. If he was right in his hunch that interest rates were going up, then the way to go is for short bonds, because they soon pay off at par, and you're not locked into the market.

I happened to disagree with George and his guess about interest rates. I thought, as I usually do, that they're going to stay at the level they are at the time I buy. I feel the consensus is exactly that—a state of equilibrium. If everyone thought interest rates would go up (and prices down, of course) then there would be no buyers now. That would be dumb, to buy now when prices would be cheaper later. And the reverse is just as true. If prices are going up for sure, then nobody would be selling at present levels.

But another reason influences me in buying bonds: Long bonds pay a much bigger return—2 to 3 percentage points more. Even if prices do fall off, the loss can at least be cushioned by the higher return you are getting all along, and will get in the future.

So what happened? George the Banker bought $50,000 in short-term municipal (tax-free) bonds. The yield was 6.5%.

Simple country boy (namely, me) decided to get long bonds. He bought $50,000 worth of Georgia Municipal Electric Power, 9.87% due Jan. 1, 2016. Where is everybody today—6 months later?

Bonds of George the Banker have matured and he got his $50,000 back. He got 6 months interest at 6.5%, a total of $1,562. Now he has $51,562. The available short term bonds he can reinvest in now will yield about 5%.

My friend Alex has had interest on his $50,000 Georgia bonds of $2,468. And the bonds are now quoted at 112. His investment is worth $56,000. Add interest for a total of $58,468.

Banker George has gained $1,562.

Oh! Alex has gained $8,468. He did about five times as well.

And Alex will continue to get his $2,468 in interest every six months to 2016. Currently, the banker is getting on his latest batch of short bonds, only $1,250.

This story benefits by hindsight, and also by spectacular rise in the bond market. If the market had gone the other way, the long bonds of Alex would be worth $8 now instead of 112. But he still would be getting his $2,468 every six months, and he still would cash out at par in 2016 when the bonds matured.

You could debate quite a while on this point. At this point the defense rests. You're on the jury.

Traxler in Caro Wednesday

Area residents will be given the opportunity to air their grievances Wednesday, during Congressman Bob Traxler's office hours.

Traxler will be at the Caro Municipal Building from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. to listen to anyone who is having problems with the federal government.

A black and white cartoon illustration of a bearded man, likely a chef or butcher, wearing a striped hat and an apron. He is holding a large, oval-shaped sign that reads "GOOD 'N FRESH" in a bold, stylized font, with "IGA" in a smaller circle below it. The man has a friendly expression with large eyes and a mustache. The background is simple, with some horizontal lines suggesting a wall or a signpost.
