

The name of Ubly High School Principal Richard Holdship was on the agenda for both the Ubly and Huron Intermediate school boards during meetings held Monday, April 14.

Holdship was hired to become the first principal of the Huron Area Skill Center which is scheduled to open its doors to students in September. In addition to naming Holdship as principal, the Huron Intermediate Board of Education offered contracts to 6 future teachers at the skill center. The resignation of Holdship as high school principal was accepted Monday by the Ubly Board of Education. District officials said Holdship has held the position of principal for the past 4 years. Prior to that, he served as a teacher in the Ubly schools for 17 years.

The resignation from Holdship was accepted by the board, and will allow him to assume the duties as skill center principal later this year. Discussion on finding a replacement for the high school principal is expected to take place during the board's next meeting.

In a related move, the Jbly school board voted to place on lay-off high school home construction teacher Terrance Kelly. Board members were told that Kelly's class will not be offered in the district next year because Ubly students will attend the new home construction class at the skill center in Bad Axe.

It was also announced to he board that the 1986 commencement ceremonies at the Ubly High School have been scheduled for May 25.

The Cass City School Board decided to spend at least $50 so that the district will be protected in case more money is judged to be due from the State of Michigan for special education. At its regular meeting Monday night held at Evergreen School in Shabbona, trustees voted to hire a law firm so that a claim can be submitted to the state for money that may be due because special education was under funded and is in violation of the Headlee Amendment.

The firm, Thrun, Maatsch and Nordberg, seeks to file claim for most schools in the state. The $50 was authorized for a filing fee

According to the proposal, more work for the school would be charged at the firm's regular rate. Trustees balked at giving the firm a blank check and the proposal that passed made it clear that the school's commitment at this time was for only $50. The board regarded the filing fee as insurance against being left out in case the courts award more money as suggested by the law firm.

CHALLENGES SYSTEM

Tammy Iseler, valedictorian at Cass City High School this year, appeared before the board to ask that valedictorian and the salutatorian be the speakers at graduation exercises. For the last 10 years

Louis Horner said that graduation is a time for all students and he feels the school policy should be what the majority of the students desire.

Ben Hobart said that under the present system the school has had able graduation speakers. At least one time in the past, he added, the top student was not a good public speaker. Fred Matthews said that he felt that the top students should be given the opportunity to speak.

Principal Russell Richards told the board that on one occasion the school had a bad experience with the speech of the valedictorian. Although there will be no change in procedure this year, a survey was ordered to determine what this year's junior class would like. The topic will be discussed at a future board meeting.

jectors and camera would cost $1,055.50 and the new books $1,039. Supt. Donald Crouse said that he would prefer to replace the equipment on a gradual basis instead of all at once. The request will be considered when next year's school budget is formulated.

In addition to her equipment requeșt, Emerson also reported that student use of the Intermediate Library had greatly increased over the previous year. She said that a total of 3,633 pieces of library material had been circulated for nonschedule use by students in 1983-84 and that had increased to 5,640 in the current school year

Cleland reported on the 'Project Graduation'' designed to keep students from drinking during prom and graduation time. He said that the response has been good and that about 75 percent of the students had signed pledges to commit to the program.

The cost of liability insurance for students is going up, but the board voted to continue catastrophic accident insurance for all students. When the insurance was first purchased in 1983 the cost was 35 cents per student for a total cost of $440.50. Next year the cost will be $1.00 per student for a total cost of $2,253. In addition, cost for insuring athletes jumped from $1.00 to $2.00 each.

Board members were brought up to date on communication between the township and the Village of Cass City on the possibility of Elkland Township contracting for service from the Cass City Police Department. The idea was ärst brought up for discussion at the township's annual meeting in March. Township Supervisor David Milligan said he has talked to Village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie about the possibility of the joint venture. "The village has a few questions about such things as insurance. and what effect there would be if the Cass City Police Department was to expand its jurisdiction," Milligan

The township supervisor said the board may put to-

Another topic that was mentioned at the annual meeting last month was discussed during last week's regular meeting. In church on Easter Sunday, Emily was a backward child. It was my fault. Early in the service, the her minister asked the little children to come forward and sit on the floor at his feet while he told them Easter meant more than Easter eggs.

It was my first trip to Emily's church since Christmas, at which time the minister did the same thing, except he told the kids Christmas meant more than Christmas trees. So I knew the routine.

Just before she went forward on Easter, I told Emily to be sure to sit where I could see her from where I was sitting. I told her that on Christmas she sat in the middle of around 30 children, several of them quite large, and my view of completely was blocked.

I don't drive 130 miles to look at other people's grandchildren. On Christmas, I had to leave my pew and stand in the aisle, and then I could see only the top of Emily's head. For Easter, I didn't want to make such a goof of myself.

Also, Easter was a good time to remind Emily that I like to look at her. On Christmas, she didn't have a little sister, but now there is her three-month-old sister, Tricia. It is difficult for a four-year-old to understand why she is suddenly no longer the whole show and must relinquish a large share of the spotlight to a tiny crybaby whom adults keep cuddling and engaging in intelligent one-sided conversations such as this:

"Hello Tricia, you little doll, this is your grandma talking to you, yes it is, it really is your grandma, yes it is...

That is an exact quote, I swear to God. I took notes. A few days before Easter, Emily ran away to a neighbor's house. She said her parents didn't love her anymore. "When that little kid was born, that was it for me," Emily explained, pushing the open palms of both hands toward the ceil-

The quartermaster for the Cass City VFW Post said the newly planted trees will serve a dual purpose. "We felt that the trees will serve as a windbreak on the property. They will also help to add more green color to the area, since the post is thinking about adding a picnic site on the property," he said. Esau said the actual construction of the hoped for building will be one of the Esau said he was very impressed with the efforts of the Girl Scouts who helped in planting the trees. "The girls did a good job and on top of that, they seemed to have a good time. Our post is the sponsor of one of the Girl Scout troops that took part in the project.'

Those Girl Scouts involved are members of troops 929, 642, 221, 414 and 958. Girl Scout leaders said as a result of their participation in the tree planting project, the scouts will qualify to earn their Keep America Beautiful badge.

The great feature of writing a column for a weekly is that there is only one a week. What makes writing a column for a weekly the pits is that there is only one a week.

> Column writing should be done early in the week before the pressures of cramming in breaking news jams up the reporter's and the production staff's time. For instance, this is going into the computer Thursday morning, 6 whole days before it comes to you.

That's no problem when the column is about the weather or recounting the saga of my experiences with Foozie, our monster dog.

When it comes to talking about the affairs of the day, there's always the chance that breaking events will leave me with egg on my face.

If, for instance, Khadafy and Libya are the topic and the column says that the bombing will do nothing to stop the terrorists, and then Khadafy is overthrown and peace declared, the only thing left is to leave town for a week. Having said all this, let's plunge ahead anyway. Rather than curb the acts of terror I feel that it will grow worse.

It's certain that the action instigated by President Reagan has popular support. In times of war most citizens rally in support. From the reports coming out of Libya, residents there are rallying behind Khadafy as strongly as this nation is behind Reagan. Speculation by observers says that the dictator's position may have been saved by the bombing.

How long are we going to put up with his actions?, is the question supporters invariably ask.

Certainly the relatives of innocent Americans lost through terrorist acts would say it's already been too long. The loved ones of the American pilots lost in the bombing may feel it was not long enough.

It would seem to me to be much more effective to hit the country where it hurts, the production of oil. No oil, no money. Perhaps we could start by insisting that the 5 American oil companies that are helping produce the oil that produces the money for the arms, men and equipment in Libya cease operations at once.

Four of the companies have gone on record as saying they are seeking ways to sell their interests in the country while one has made no announcement as this is written. (See how the delay between writing and publishing poses a problem? By the time this is read they may all have pulled out and I hope they have.)

If this condition in Libya is serious enough for us to risk the lives of Americans, it should be serious enough for our government to insist that no American company do business with Libya.

If abandoning their interests in Libya poses an insurmountable hardship on the companies involved, let the taxpayers help them out.

Money spent this way beats all hollow money tossed away on bombs and war games.

Kish, 23, killed after collision with a semi truck

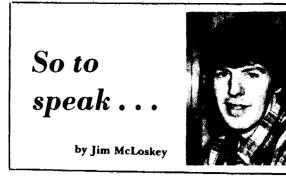

A 23-year-old Caro woman was killed Saturday night when her car struck a semi truck which was carrying farm machinery.

Veronica R. Kish was eastbound on M-46 at approximately 4:15 a.m. when she crossed the center line and struck the westbound truck driven by Steven Ramage, 26, of Yale. According to a Tuscola County Sheriff's report, Ramage drove off the shoulder of the road when he saw her coming. Her car struck the left axle of the cab and continued down the side of the trailer. The report also stated that she had been drinking and was not wearing a seatbelt.

State Police at the Caro Post report that Tim Severance, 24, of Decker was traveling west on M-81 Saturday evening when a deer came from the south shoulder and he was unable to avoid it.

Students participate in annual festival

The Cass City High School French and Spanish language students traveled to Central Michigan University Friday, April 11, to participate in the annual Foreign Language Festival.

The theme of the day was "Opening Doors with Foreign Language.' At the festival, schools from all over the state competed in different areas, and workshops were offered to students after they finished their competitions. According to Deb Martin, anguage teacher at the high school, the students earned all of the funds for the activity. "They paid for the bus, the driver and the substitutes for my English classes," stated Martin. Walbro reports record 1st Cass City earns 2 trophies TISD offers new quarter sales and income in Academic Games pre-school program

A new program called First Steps, designed for high ability pre-school children and their parents, has been scheduled for Thursday, May 8, at the Tuscola Area Skill Center in Caro.

Trix Harbin, supervisor of the Tuscola Gifted and Talented Consortium, said the purpose of the program is to provide support for parents and to create an enriched learning experience for their children. "The program provides an opportunity for high ability children to interact with each other, and at the same time, parents will have an opportunity to learn more about their children's special needs," Harbin said.

First Steps represents a cooperative effort between the Tuscola Area Skill Center and the Tuscola Gifted and Talented Consortium. Harbin said, "No formal testing or identification is required to participate in the program. However, we want First Steps to be a successful experience for everyone. It is important that parents use their judgement and bring children who would feel comfortable participating in a one-morning or one-afternoon workshop.'

The morning session will go from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m. The afternoon session will be held from 12:30 until 2:30 p.m. Parents and their children may attend one of the 2 sessions.

Harbin said there is a registration fee of $5.00 per child. The deadline for registration is May 6. For more information about the program, interested persons may call Harbin at 673-2144, extension 439.

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN Loan Fund dinner to ^e be sponsored by EDC

A dinner to announce the expansion of a Revolving Loan Fund in Tuscola County is scheduled for Thursday, April 24, at the Tuscola Area Skill Center in Caro.

The guest speaker for the special event will be Doug Ross, Director of the Michigan Department of Commerce. Ross is considered by many to be a top authority on the future cooperation between the state and the private sector.

The program with Ross r is sponsored by the Tuscola County Economic Development Corporation (EDC), whose concern about the economy has led to the formation and initial funding of a revolving loan fund. EDC Board Chairman Lambert E. Althaver said, "The loan fund is unique in that it is being funded primarily by money from the private sector. We be-Dreve this shows that those people who derive their hivelihood from Tuscola County are willing to help others within the county." *Althaver said the Economic Development Corporation of Tuscola County is seeking donations to further develop the revolving loan fund. "Donations may be offered in the form of a lump sum or in equal parts over three years. This will help the fund insure continual support for the county's businesses. The fund will be used for almost any small business in Tuscola County that needs assistance in order to become eligible for normal commercial funding," he said. The EDC Board Chairman stated that the revolving loan fund is in existence for business people to use. "We are very pleased that Doug Ross will be joining us in helping spread the word," he added. A reception for Ross is scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m., April 24, at the Skill Center, 1401 Cleaver Road, Caro. The program will start at 6:30 p.m. with dinner to follow.

Tickets are available at $10 per person and may be obtained by calling the Tuscola County Economic Development Corporation at

It was a nostalgic return for Ray, who was one of the three Gagetown men who were stationed at Hickam Field at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack, Dec. 7, 1941. The others were Jim McGinn, now a resident of Santa Ana, Calif., and Clinton (Frisky) MacRae, deceased. One disappointment of the trip for the Comments, was that entry to Hickam Field was denied visitors because Ferdinand Marcos and his entourage were in residence in the Officers Quarters there and security was heavy.

Girls' attitude big plus for green O-G softball squad

Owendale - Gagetown softball coach Judy Porter s hoping that a combination of enthusiasm and youth will lead the way towards a winning season for the Bulldogs in 1986.

Coach Porter said the team has lost 8 players from last year, but has also added something new to the eam's outlook. ''I have got some girls this year who really want to play and have a lot of enthusiasm to put to good use. That is one thing the team has lacked over the past 5 years, and if makes my job easier," she said. Porter is in here ith year as coach of the Gwen-Gage softball team. Last year, the Bulldogs ad a record of 5-11 in the league, and the team was 7-12 overall nitely have a youthful look. "There will be a lot of youth out there on the field. The team this season is made up of 7 freshmen, 4 sophomores, 5 juniors and 2 seniors. Since we will be losing only 2 players next year, the ones who will come back should be better after they get a little experience.

Because of losing 8 players from last year, Coach Porter said most of the girls have been getting a first-hand look at new positions during practice sessions over the past couple of weeks. "Of the 8 players gone from last year, I lost the whole infield, a couple from the outfield and a while, and I had 3 girls vol-

Coach Porter said her cido back. She was our secteam this year will defi- ond pitcher last year and will probably start this season. Susie is much improved from last year," the coach said.

Porter also has quite a bit of pride in the team's veteran catcher, Cindy Enderle, a junior who is returning to the squad. She said, "In girls' softball, it is usually real hard to find someone who wants to be the catcher. When Cindy came on the team, the catcher's position was the only one open, and she took it so she could play.'

Coach Porter said "that same type of objective attitude seems to be spreading throughout the team. "Cindy was gone for a pitcher. I did get Susie Sal- unteer for the catcher's job.

I think this goes to show that the girls are not so hung up on their position, and just want to play," she said. Porter added that the team has 7 or 8 girls who are working on pitching this season. Looking forward to the competition this year, Coach Porter said she is keeping her eye on 2 teams league for the past few squad from Akron-Fair-grove should be up there in the standings, too.'

double-header against Cass Hurd found her best stuff City Thursday in the Thumb B Association opener for both clubs. Coach Jim Fox said that Ruhlman threw harder than many of the young Hawks had ever seen. A couple of errors ruined a strong pitching performance for Yvette Hurd as Cass City lost 2-0.

Hurd was good, but Ruhlman was better. She pitched a no-hitter, struck out the side twice and ended with 11 strikeouts. A pair of walks was the best Cass City could muster.

Ruhlman also won the second game although the Hawks did touch her for 3 hits and 5 walks. The score was 5-4. Hurd suffered the loss as she also pitched the double-header.

The Hawks had gone ahead with a 4-run third inning but the Broncos rallied to tie it up and went on to win it in the last inning when one of the Hawks sure-handed outfielders dropped a line drive and the winning run trotted across. Deb Cook was the top slugger for Cass City with a key hit that drove in 2 runs in a 4-run Cass City rally. Hurd yielded 6 hits. walked 4 and was charged

Hawks lose to Broncos, top A-F in opener

The Cass City Red Hawks won and lost double-headers in the first week of the baseball season. The results were not as good as that sounds for Coach Don Schelke's charges. The reason is that the wins came at the expense of Akron-Fairgrove in nonleague encounters, while the losses were administered by North Branch in Thumb B Association competition What makes the losses even more frustrating for Cass City is that the Hawks could have won both of the games that they lost to the Broncos. Both losses were by one-run margins. In the opener, the host Broncos scored the winning run in the bottom of the sixth to win it, 6-5. Dave Miller started on the mound for Cass City. He was touched for 3 hits and 4 runs in 4 innings. Duane Wright relieved him and allowed 2

runs, to be charged with the

Miller led the Hawk attack with 3 hits in 4 tries.

He had help from Mike

each.

The second was a brilliant pitching duel between Cass City's Kevin Parrish and North Branch's Dan Groce.

The entire offense of the game came in the first inning when the Bronco leadoff man walked and came home on one of the 3 hits that Parrish allowed in 5 innings. The Hawk moundsman also struck out 8 and walked just 2.

A-F GAMES

The Hawks had their hitting togs on in the twin bill Akron-Fairgrove. with Cass City won the opener, 14-2, to make things easy for Miller, who picked up the win with a 2-hitter while whiffing 5. Nicholas and Miller led the attack with 2 hits each.

Cass City had little trouble winning the nightcap, which was called after 3 innings because of darkness. By that time the game was decided for all practical purposes as the Hawks were comfortably ahead, 8-1. Capps picked up the win, allowing 3 hits and striking out 2.

Cancel meets

The members of the Owen-Gage High School boys' and girls' track teams were all set for their first meet of the season Tuesday, April 15, but Mother Nature failed to cooperate with their plans.

Coach Dick Glidden said the meet with Kingston and Carsonville-Port Sanilac at Kingston had to be postponed because of rain and cold temperatures. The meet has been re-scheduled for Friday, April 25, at Kingston.

The farmer's plight is a real problem

A lot of attention has been devoted to the plight of farmers by the news media, both locally and across the country, over the past several months. Gary Hoist, of 5879 Bruce Street, Deford, points out that farmers are not the only people being affected by the present economic situation in agriculture.

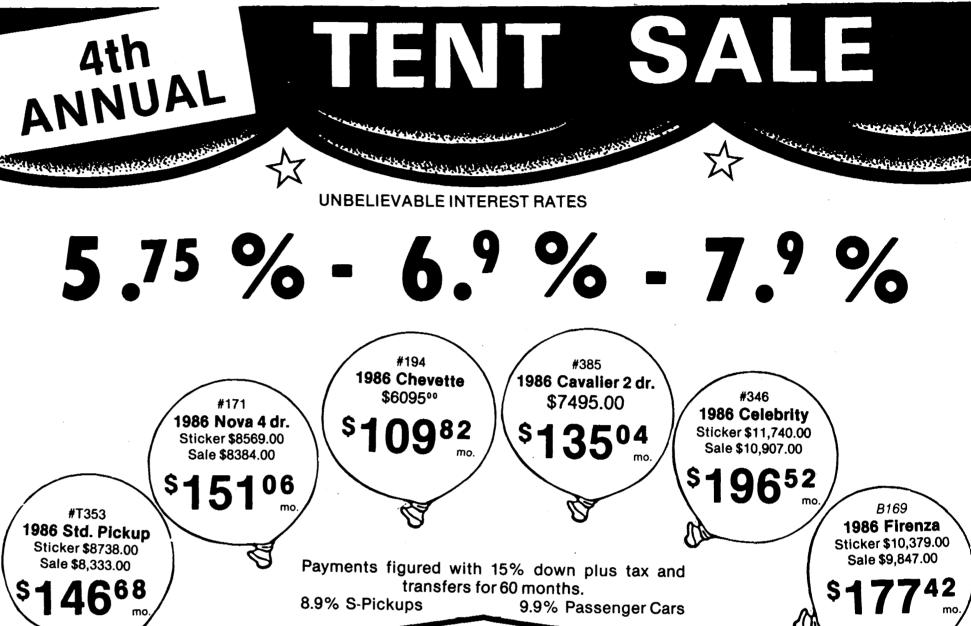

Hoist, 32, is the owner of Gary Hoist Agricultural Products, a sales company for chemicals, fertilizers and seeds. He was a farmer from 1972 until 1978, when he entered the field of agricultural sales. He has owned the business the past 4 years.

Hoist feels the plight of farmers is real, even though the degree of the problem may vary in different parts of the country. He said, "You don't have to go too far from home to find out what is going on. I pay attention had 2 or 3 bad years and now, he can't get any money. I feel sorry for them, but what can you do? The prices for the crops were not there, and the yield wasn't there," he added. Hoist says he has been told that banks are tightening down on loans, and are really careful whom they lend money to. "The farmers who have the best luck with the situation are those who pay cash. They don't borrow, but they are have 5 to 8 farmers in that situation. The rest are depending on money that is scheduled to arrive from the government. They have 2 checks coming up that really are going to be their operating money. I have a lot of products right now that are going to be paid with money from those checks. As far as what lies ahead for area farmers, Hoist said it is hard to make a prediction. "I'm not going to be a banker and stick my neck out, but I think there will be some hard times for farmers for the next 2 to 5 years. A restructuring has to occur where a farmer can justify farming, and make a living at it. I can't say how long that will take. but I do wish the farmers the best. I don't know what answers are out there. However, I hope they find them because I do depend on farmers for a living," he added.

situation because it is part of my business."

In his line of work. Hoist says he has an opportunity to learn firsthand what farmers are facing in the present economy. "Some of the farmers I talk to have the attitude that they will get through it. The ones who are really hard-pinched are those who are heavily financed. I can see that some of the farmers going out are being forced out of business. They can't get any more loans through their normal lending institutions," he said.

Hoist said he feels that a number of farmers have found themselves in trouble through no fault of their own. "I think with the marginal farmers, it may not be their own fault. It could be caused by their crop from last year or the year before. It could be the area that they were in where the crops did not grow well. I know one farmer who has

Car rear-ended on Main Street

Cass City police reported a 2 car accident on Main St. near Sherman St. Monday. April 14.

Harold Campbell, 69, of Caro and Tony Yost, 16, of Deford were both traveling east on Main when Yost stopped for a car making a left turn in front of him. Campbell, who was following the Yost vehicle, was unable to avoid hitting Yost because a brake line had broken.

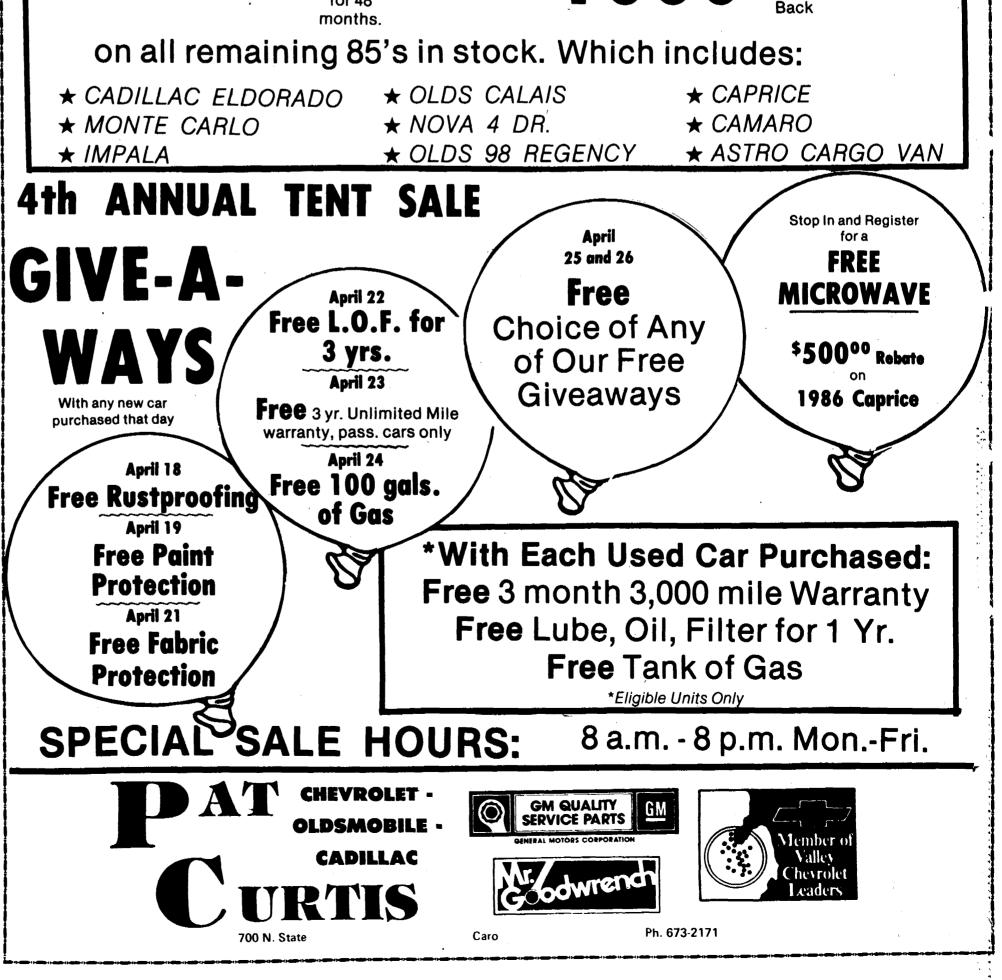

Cheryl Gee reported a break-in at F&D Wholesale, 6491 Main St., sometime Thursday night. According to police reports, it appears that the suspects entered through a plexiglass window in the rear door. A number of items were taken, including a television set, 2 stereo speakers, a number of hand tools, watches and more. The incident is still under investigation.

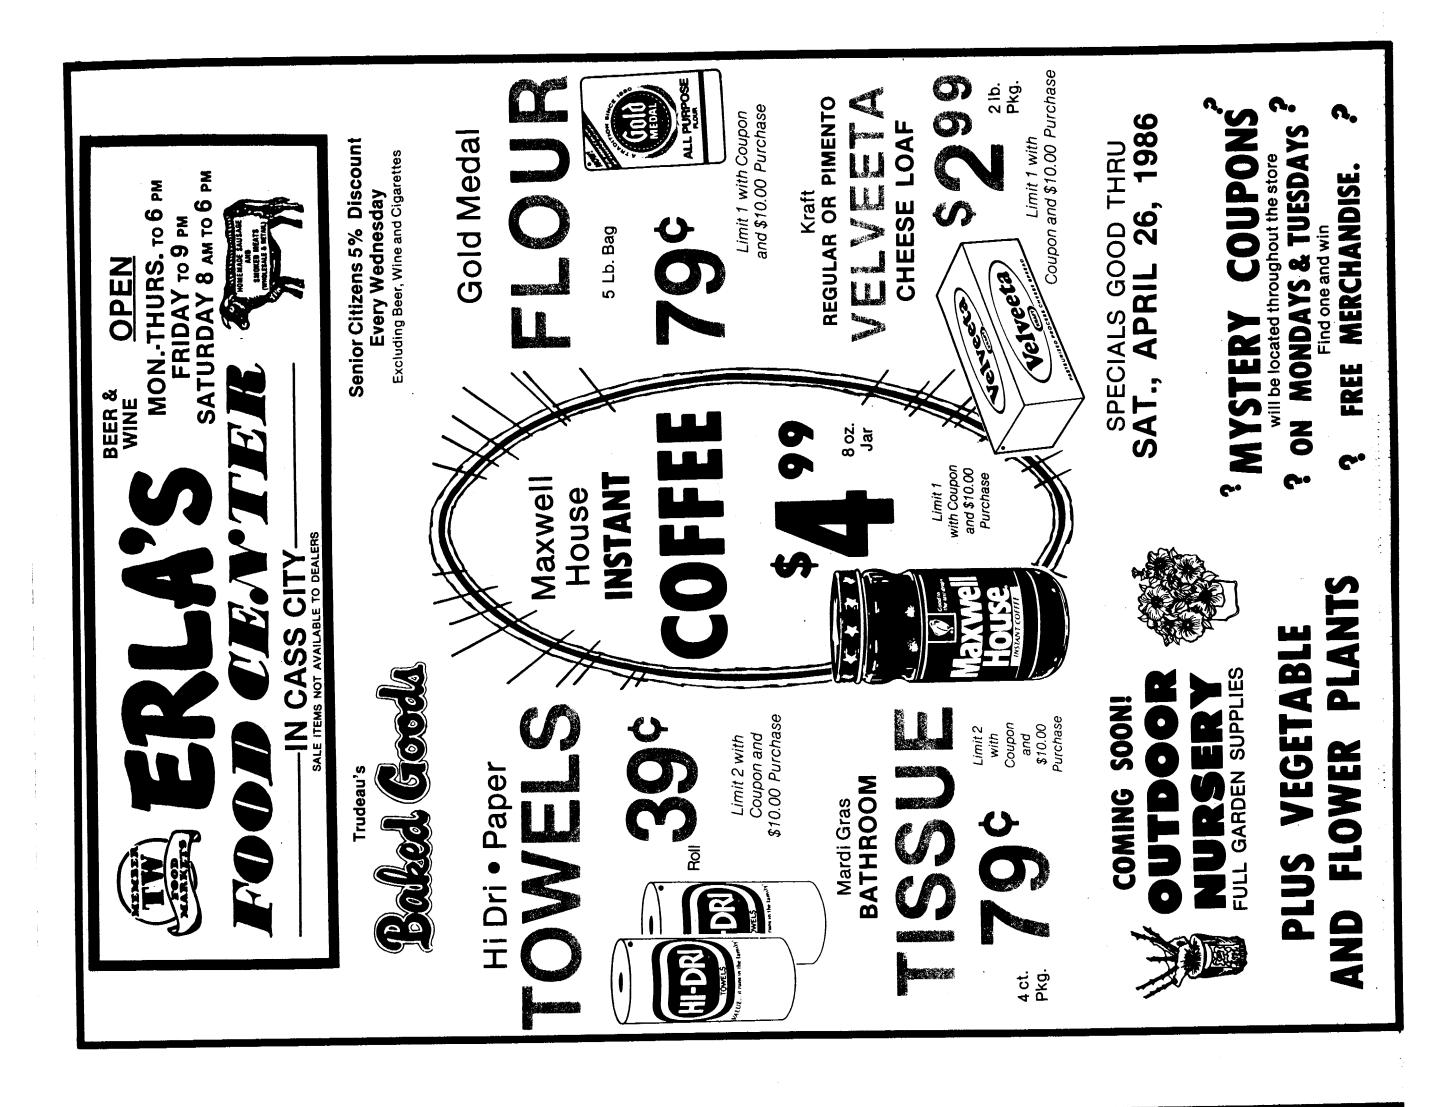

A window was broken at Salem Methodist Church on

Ale St. sometime Saturday, April 12 or early Sunday, April 13, according to a

Cass City Police report. Approximately $100 of damage was done to the window located on the east side of the building. It appears the damage was done when a rock was thrown through it, breaking through the double pane window and the screen.

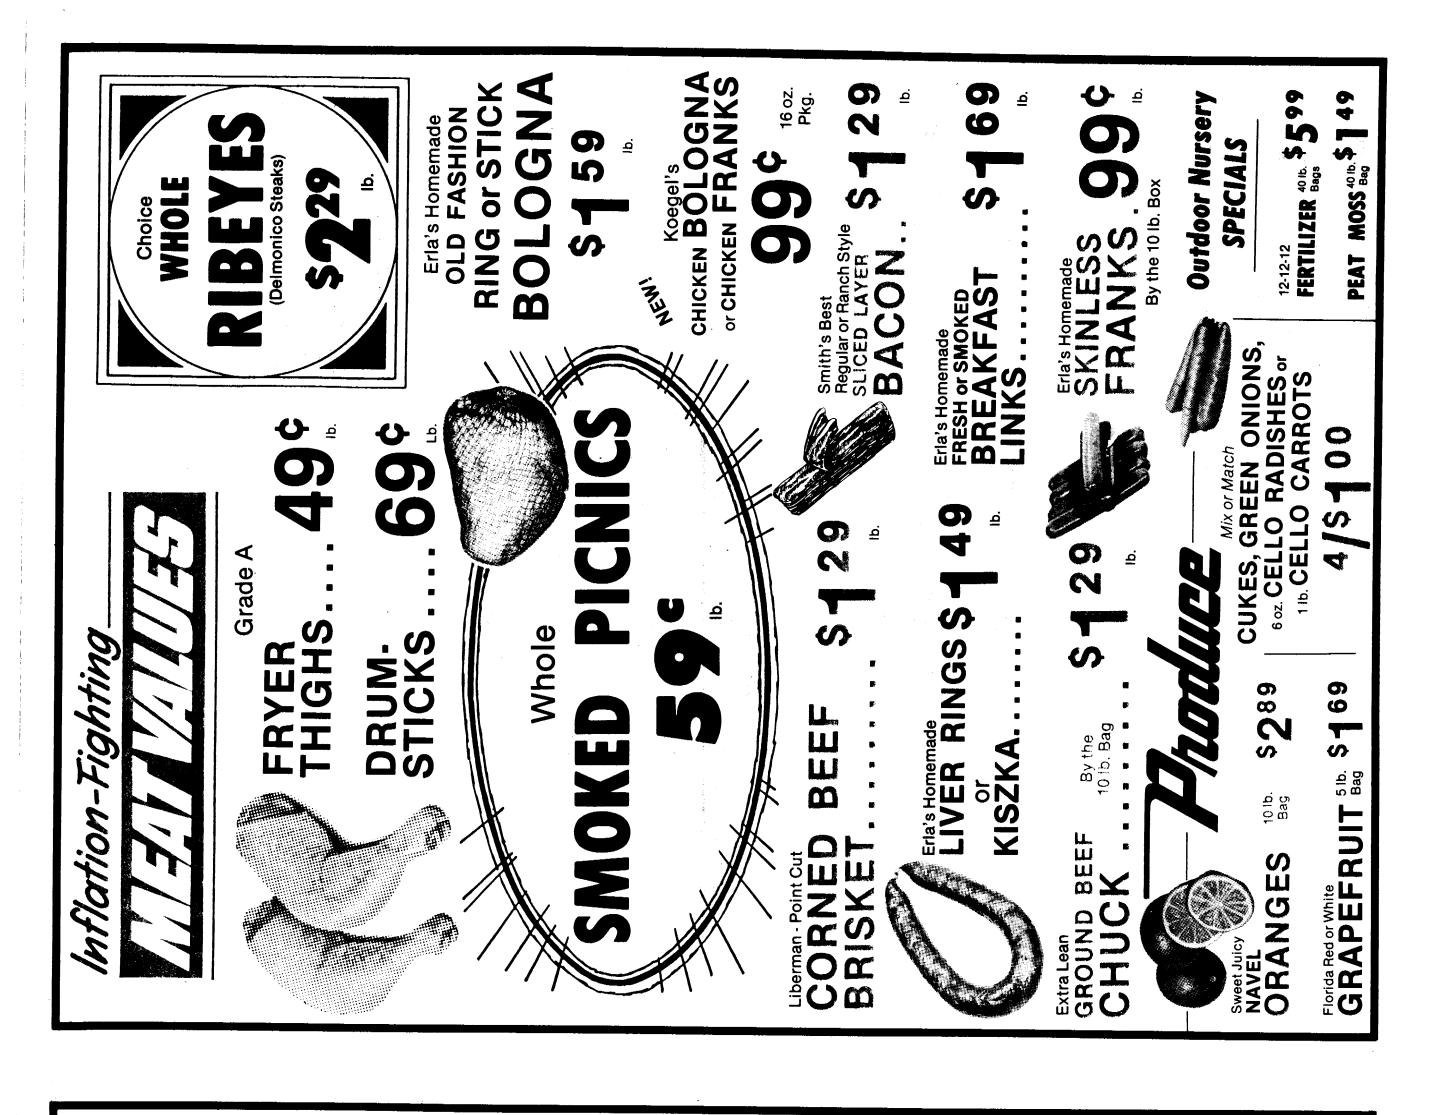

Ralph Chapman, 62, of 3554 E. Cass City Rd. was eastbound on E. Cass City Rd. near the intersection of Dodge Rd. Friday evening, April 11, when he was unable to avoid hitting a deer. A car driven by Larry Dickinson, 41, of Deford was struck at the intersection of Oak and Main Tuesday, April 18, by a car driven by Barbara Merchant, 17, of 6559 Seed St. Merchant, who was making a left turn, did not see Dickinson who was traveling west on Main St.
