The low-to-moderate income housing project, fi-nanced through the Far-mers Home Administration, was proposed last month to the Cass City Village Council by Tom Purman, an agent land buyer for Management Resources Development of East Lansing.

Purman pointed out a 6acre village-owned tract in the southeast corner of the village as a site preferred for the project-up to 48 units--which would be de-veloped by William and Tom Breakey.

But 2 area residents who live near the proposed site voiced their opposition to the project during the coun-cil's regular meeting Monday night.

"We're here to renew our opposition," Gerald Polk told the councilmen, adding that he and his neighbors proval of the project would be preceded by public hearings, such as that required to rezone the land in question. According to councilman Michael Weaver, member of the committee asked to review the request, a price of $25,000 has been set for 4.5 acres available at the site for the project.

The price is less than that for other property used for a similar purpose, but development costs are ex-

The project will cost an additional $3,548 in the first year, and $1,828 per year in lighting costs thereafter, LaPonsie said.

The project is expected to increase lighting in the affected areas by 28 percent.

Also Monday, the council approved a 3-year agreement with Tom Jackson for lease of a parking lot behind McMahan Auto Supply and neighboring businesses along Main Street.

The lease calls for rent payments of $470 per month, the current rate paid by the village. Two representatives of

Township okays change in zoning

There was no objection to the proposal to extend the business district by about 3 1/2 acres, just south of the Charmont, at the public hearing Monday night. The Elkland Township Planning Commission and the Zoning Board passed the proposal unanimously.

The extension will allow Alfred Wright, owner of Wright Painting, to build a mini-storage warehouse on the property. David Milligan, township supervisor, said that the land Wright wanted was in the residential-agricultural district according to the paper work is out of the way he plans to start exevating the area this week and to have the hopes warehouse up in a month. He estimated the construction costs at $26,000, but added that the price doesn't include the side work that needs to be done.

of the building must be used as a landscape barrier. 'We want a little buffer,' Milligan said. "A dividing line between residential and business areas."

REVISED BOOK

It has taken almost a year for the township to get the revised copy of the zoning booklet from Saginaw Building Consultant How-ard A. Kundinger, who, Milligan said, "has been dragging his feet." Milligan received the revised copy April 22.

Cass City dairy farmer Harold Wills has lived with a costly dilemma over the past several years.

A 28-acre field of alfalfa, just west of his home at 6690 Greenland Rd., tells the story. The field, which borders a wooded area about 3 miles east of Cass City, is lined with small, worn paths.

Hundreds of hoof prints and stripped tree limbs along the land also are prominent.

Wills, like many of his neighbors, annually sustains crop damage due to a significant deer herd in the area. He could get shooting permits from the Department of Natural Resources, but that alternative, he says, wouldn't solve the problem.

For one thing, Wills is also a sportsman and would like to see a different solution. The mounted head of a 10-point buck in his home testifies to his enjoyment of the sport. "I love to hunt bucks and I'm a real deer hunter," Wills remarked. "I really don't go for unthoughtful killing." "It's a yearly thing," he said of the crop damage. "They (the deer) go for the second cutting of alfalfa because it's tender.

Wills noted that up until 'ast year, he was losing $2,000 to $3,000 a year in crops to deer foraging in a number of the 300 acres he farms. "It's nothing to see 35, 40 or 50 deer in the alfalfa fields right now because they're coming out of winter and they want to feed," he observed.

Still, Wills added, "I didn't really have enough damage last year (a loss of about $1,000) to complain about.'

One of Wills' neighbors to the east, Bill Hacker, hasn't been so lucky.

NOT SHY

Hacker, a dairy/cash crop farmer who works about 500 acres, pointed out that the deer don't seem othered when it comes to helping themselves to his crops. "They got about 5 acres of soybeans last year," he commented, adding that he couldn't get about 8 acres of corn harvested in one field last year because of heavy rains. "They took it completely," he said.

"They're eating right out of our corncrib," Hacker, 6166 Greenland Rd., continued. The farmer, who also cited $2,000 to $3,000 a year in lost crops, indicated he uses an occasional shooting permit. But "we don't like to take anymore than we can use," he" added. 'We're not going to shoot them and let them lay.'

The problem faced by Wills, Hacker and other farthroughout the mers Thumb and state is being met head on by a special DNR task force, recently organized by new Wildlife Division Chief Karl Hosford.

"It's a distribution problem, really," Hosford said. We have some areas where the deer population is high, and it's causing problems. We have other areas that could certainly use more deer.'

The task force, which includes representatives from the DNR as well as cludes extension, agriculture and sportsman groups, will attempt to alleviate expected increases in crop damage following a mild winter.

"We will target on de-research on repellants and other control methods and hunter-landowner tions," Hosford explained.

"We hope to provide some relief this year and have a comprehensive program in place by 1988.' According to District 11 wildlife biologist Dave Dominic, crop damage in the Thumb "isn't a major issue by any means" compared to other areas of the state.

"We are sensitive to crop damage and we try to assist the agricultural people. With this easy winter and the deer being in excellent shape, we probably will have more of a problem,' Dominic said.

While shooting permits are issued to farmers suf-fering significant crop losses, the permits don't put much of a dent in the problem.

"You have to cut into the deer population during the hunting season," he said. Dominic added that antlerless deer quotas, to be set in June, will probably be increased this year in the Thumb. For some farmers, like Roy Tuckey, East Cass City Rd., the crop damage prob-lem has led to changes in farming methods.

pected to be higher at the' site proposed by Purman, Weaver explained. He added that sewer and water extension costs would probably be unusually high.

Village Manager Lou S. LaPonsie stated that the Village Planning Commission has some concerns regarding whether there is a need for additional apartments. The council requested that the committee again review the proposal.

MORE LIGHTING

In other business during the 45-minute monthly meeting, the council approved a plan in which remaining downtown lighting extending to the village limits will be converted from mercury vapor to high zoning book for the township.

The township is in the process of updating the zoning book that hasn't been revised for more than 12 years. Milligan stated that the land Wright wanted wasn't listed in the business district in the updated version, so the boards decided to change it. "It's adjacent to the business district," he said. "If it was in a residential area surrounded by houses and he wanted it in the business district, then it wouldn't go over.'

The 30 to 40 page book will not go into effect until it is passed by both boards, but Milligan said they will jump a little ahead of themselves to allow Wright to build the warehouse in the business district.

he wants to have his 28 stor-He added the board had age units built before the approved a new revision to competition moves in. "There are a couple of businesses looking for land to build warehouses," he The warehouse will have

6 9' by 10' overheads, for people who want to store their boats or other bigger items. 10 units will be 7' by 8' and 12 will be smaller ones for people who are living in apartments and need some storage space.

The only utilities needed for the building will be 2 security lights on each side of the building.

At the meeting, Milligan said that the only stipula-tion is that the warehouse must be build 100 feet from any residential area, which doesn't include Wright's the booklet in June or July of 1986 and Kundinger presented the draft then and said that he would clean up some areas and send it back. The board got a copy of the booklet, but sent it back with corrections.

'Both boards will review the new zoning book and see if there are any screwy things that we did," Milligan said.

He stated that Kundinger forgot to include the "junk ordinance" that was in the old booklet. "All he had to do was take it out of the other one, but he forgot," Milligan commented.

Milligan doesn't know when the revisions will be approved.

The 1963 Cass City High School graduate will also make presentations May 8 to Cass City School students.

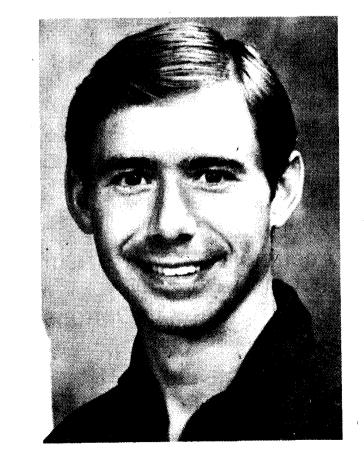

Shaw's experience in the space program includes serving as co-pilot aboard the space shuttle Columbia in November 1983. He also served as commander of the shuttle Atlantis for a mission in November 1985.

In addition, he was appointed to the staff of the commission in charge of investigating the January 1986 crash of the space shuttle Challenger.

More recently, Shaw made the headlines when the T-38 jet he and another pilot were flying appa-rently was hit by lightning and caught fire Feb. 24.

Shaw and pilot Robert A. Shaw, 35, left the burning jet after an emergency landing at the Los Alamitos Army Air Field near Los Angeles, Calif. The pair had refused to bail out of the burning aircraft because the jet was flying over a residential area.

Do unto others as you would have them do unto you. That is the hackneyed opinion I usually express when the subject is imports. Free trade is great, but only if it's equally free for both sides.

Admittedly, mine is an exceedingly simplistic — and uninformed — opinion. It is nice, of course, when imported products cost me less than homemade, but what about the exploitation of foreign workers when General Motors goes to Mexico to manufacture cars sold in the United States? What about the jobs lost in the United States?

On such questions I like to defer to someone who knows more about them knows more about them of what we buy is than I do — Ralph Orr, made somewhere else." former Free Press labor writer, now retired and greatly missed. "The tragedy of all this is that the Korean woman getting 50 cents an hour obviously couldn't afford to buy the product she makes (it probably costs $20 to $25) any more than the Mexican autoworker getting $1 an hour can afford to buy the American car he assembles in Mexico.

It is something to think about.

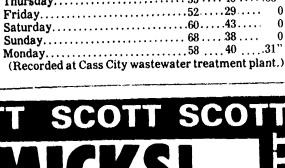

When imported products are a much better value, why shouldn't I buy them? It irks me to drive into a union hall parking lot and see a sign saying "No Foreign Cars Allowed." Why should I pay through the nose to support U.S. autoworkers' union-inflated wages?

And I'm a lot more irked by auto industry executives who fell asleep on their fat bonuses and let other nations gouge into the U.S. market.

But if I save money by buying a Korean car, I'm taking advantage of the slave wages paid Korean workers. If I buy a GM car assembled in Mexico, I'm likewise exploiting Mexican workers. And either way I'm putting U.S. citizens out of work.

In the real world, free trade based on the Golden Rule is an idealistic dream not dreamed by the exploiters. So, when there's a

Piggy bank, VCR thefts reported

Larcenies on the increase in Cass City as summer weather moves in

A rash of larcenies accompanied mild temperatures in Cass City over the past week, with loot ranging from a piggy bank to a video cassette recorder being reported stolen to the Cass City Police Department

A $400 VCR and a carton of cigarettes were reported stolen sometime after 6:45 p.m. Friday and before 12:30 a.m. Saturday from an apartment at 4510 N. Seeger St.

Trevor Kain told police that upon returning Saturday from a trip to Caro, he found his apartment door kicked open and the items missing. Also reporting a larceny was Susan Healy, 6309 Church St., who stated that 3 pieces of white wicker lawn furniture were taken from in front of her residence after 7 p.m. April 22 and before 4:30 p.m. Thursday. The furniture is valued at a total of $449, according to the report. Sharon Kraft, 4405 Leach

St., reported a number of items stolen from her front porch after dark April 22 and before 4 a.m. Thursday. Kraft said that an um-feet wide and several feet high, in addition to an antique teapot and a wooden goose, was found missing from the porch. No estimate on the value of the property was available.

Four 15-inch hubcaps were reported stolen from a 1982 pickup truck at 6559 Seed St. Joan M. Merchant told police that the hubcaps apparently were taken sometime Friday or Satur-

Michael J. Rozumny, 6362 Fourth St., reported that someone entered his home after 7:30 p.m. and brella plant measuring 4 before 10 p.m. Sunday, and took about $17 in loose change from a piggy bank. Rozumny, who stated that there is no lock on the front door of the residence, gave police the name of a suspect.

Also reported was a mali-cious destruction of property complaint involving a broken window.

Leo Gengler, 6817 E. Cass City Rd., told police that someone threw eggs at his residence, resulting in a 6inch hole in a picture window. Eggs were also found smashed against other portions of the home, the report stated.

Caro woman, 42, injured after being thrown from 4-wheel ATV

Four accidents were reported during the past week by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department and the state police, only one involving a Cass City resident.

A 42-year-old Caro woman sustained injuries after being thrown from a 4-wheel all-terrain vehicle (ATV)

Sheryl A. Ward, 628 West Lincoln St., was taken to Hills and Dales Hospital by the Cass City ambulance service and then moved to Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. An employee of Hills and Dales would not comment on the extent of Ward's injuries. Ward was riding the ATV on private property just west of Cemetery Road April 18. According to a report filed by the sheriff's department, Ward "left the top of a hill in a northerly direction, was airborne and then hit a second ridge out of control. The vehicle then hit a tree and rolled over, throwing the driver off.' On April 20, a 56-year-old Detroit woman was uninjured after she lost control of her car on Crawford Road in Novesta Township and went into a drain ditch. Regina L. Tadrzynski, 6841 Atesian, said she was southbound on Crawford just south of Kelly Road, the ditch. Minimal damage was done to her car. In the last accident report filed by the sheriff's department involving area resi-dents, Edwin C. Browning of Kingston struck and killed a deer April 21 on Kelly Road. Browning, 40, 2500 South Phillips Rd., was driving west on Kelly when a deer entered the road from the south side. He added that he was not able to avoid a collision. Browning was uninjured in the incident and only a small amount of damage was done to his car.

A 26-year-old Marlette man swerved to avoid a deer and went off Mayville Road, hitting a tree, in the only area accident reported by the state police post at TEXASVILLE by Larry McMurtry (fiction). The small Texas town of Thalia has gone from boom to bust practically overnight, a victim of the mid-80's oil glut. Under the strain of financial calamity, the townsfolk are becoming increasingly irrational - one man dreams of bombing OPEC, the mayor is going quietly mad, sexual mores are turning bizarre, and the civic leaders are pressing on with a centennial celebration even though there's nothing to celebrate. The stresses of the time seem concentrated in Duane, a one-time oil millionaire on the verge of bankruptcy who has four untamable children, a disaffected wife and a diminishing grip on his sanity. Duane's problems are exacerbated when his high school sweetheart, Jacy, now a movie actress, comes bowling into town like tumbleweed.

Small turnout for Big Brother/ Sister rally

Organizers of the Tuscola County Big Brothers/Big Sisters program plan to continue a drive to get more volunteers following a recruitment rally April 13 which drew only 10 persons.

The rally, hosted by members of the program's board of directors, netted 3 new volunteers, according to spokesman Lucy M. Schiller. She added that future rallies, which will include a brief informational program and informal discussion, are being planned, with dates to be announced.

Currently, some 51 children, including 6 from Cass City, are waiting for individuals to volunteer their time for the program, Schiller said.

Persons interested in volunteering or obtaining additional information about the program can contact the Big Brothers/Big Sisters office, 129 E. Burnside St., Caro, by calling 673-6996

Timothy Sawyer of Caro filed a report with the Tus-cola County Sheriff's Department April 16, after he discovered a large amount of garbage that had been dumped in the old Elmwood Township dump. The dump is located on Hutchinson Road approximately 1/2 mile east of Colwood Road.

Sawyer said he had been running his dog when he discovered the illegal dumping. He added that he had been near the dump about a month ago and didn't see anything at the time.

The deputy who wrote up the report went through the trash but couldn't find anything with a name on it. He plans to contact Elmwood Township authorities and have them secure the gates at the dump.

tomorrow (April 30), Peck. They played North Huron Monday.

It was a close opening game against CPS April 23. The Bulldogs tied the Tigers 5-5 in the top of the fifth. CPS managed to get a run in the bottom of the inning and Owen-Gage couldn't make the tying run.

"It was a well played game," Coach Jim Wissner said. "We had numerous chances to score, but just couldn't push across a run." The Bulldogs had bases loaded with one out in the fifth, but couldn't capitalize on the situation. Only 5 innings were played in the nightcap because of darkness. CPS led the game 9-2, with the Bulldogs never really getting in the game. The 4 walks in the first come," said Wissner. The Tigers scored 4 runs in the first inning and 3 in the second. Marc Reinhardt pitched the entire first game, with 2 strikeouts and 2 walks. Randy Turcott, Tiger's pitcher, had 12 strikeouts and 7 walks.

Bulldog Stu Stirrett was the top slugger in the first game with 2 singles and a double, followed by Chris Abbe, who got one base hit and a double.

Dennis Maxwell was pulled earlier in the nightcap after he allowed 4 walks and struck out 2 CPS batters. Kevin Koch relieved him in the second inning, striking out 2 and walking one.

Abbe was able to smash a ball that sent him to sec-ond and Stu Stirrett, Steve Czap and Chad Stirrett all got base hits.

PORT HOPE

Port Hope literally killed the Bulldogs in their season opener double- header, winning both games by the mercy rule. The league plays 2 6-inning games with a 10-run mercy rule after 3 1/2 innings.

LADY RED HAWK Brenda Severance had little trouble beating a Lakers' throw to first after cracking a base hit in a double-header Thursday. Cass City lost the first game, 1-12, but came back in the nightcap to win, 5-4.

Opening week spells victory for lady Bulldogs

The Owendale-Gagetown High School softball team's season started out with a bang as they swept past Port Hope and Carsonville-Port Sanilac in last week's double-headers.

Port Hope was no contest for the lady Bulldogs, who won both games by the mercy rule on opening day, April 20. Owen-Gage's league plays 2 6-inning games with a 10-run mercy rule after 3 1/2 innings.

CPS proved a little tougher in the nightcap April 23, but the Bulldogs walked away with the wins. The girls are up for a real CASS CITY pitcher Kevin Parrish picks up a single in the first game of a doubleheader against Lakers Thursday. The Red Hawks, led in the first game by Parrish's consistency on the mound, took both games, 5-4 and 10-0.

It was a rough and disappointing week for the Cass City High School girls' track team, losing to both Bad Axe and North Branch.

The lady thinclads turned their attention to their first home game against Imlay City Tuesday and probably their only win of the season. "We'll really have a shot at this one," Coach Larry Robinson said. "If we have a good day."

Robinson doesn't mince words when talking about his inexperienced team. "We just don't have a lot of talent. The girls, outside of Sue Papp, who has natural talent, and a couple of others, have no talent.'

The first meet was held in Bad Axe with the Hatchets coming away with a 96-53 win over the Hawks. The star of the day was Papp, a freshman, who earned the team 4 first place points in the high jump, long jump, 110 hurdles and 300 hurdles. Another first was taken by Laura Stine in the 400 dash. Robinson said that the highlight of the meet was the Hawks winning the mile relay. "The girls were so excited. It makes it worthwhile," he said.

Their excitement quickly died however, when they stepped onto the track Thursday with North Branch. The Broncos galloped past them 122 1/2 to 29 1/2

Papp had a bad day all around. She fell twice on the 110 hurdles and Robinson said she never regained ground in the rest of her events. She finished second in the 300 low hurdles and 12:31.55. tied for second in the high jump.

Tracey Haas was the only individual runner to place first. She ran the 800 in 2:53.96, beating her time at Bad Axe by 59 seconds.

The teamwork of Jeanie Sweeney, Julie Auten, Krista Nurnberger and Lisa Nicholas brought the team its second, and last, first place of the day when they beat North Branch in the 800 relay.

HARBOR BEACH INVITA-TIONAL

The lady Hawks came in seventh out of 9 teams at the Harbor Beach Invitational held Saturday. The Hawks' points to-taled 26, beating Ubly with 12 and North Huron with 0. Harbor Beach won the invitational by a wide margin, scoring 155 1/2 points. The closest teams were North Branch with 90 and Unionville-Sebewaing Area with 67. In fourth place, with 53, came Yale, followed closely by Bad Axe with 48. Imlay City came in sixth with 41 1/2 points.

Papp placed in all four of her events. Her best results came when she participated in the high jump and the 300 hurdles, taking third in both.

She placed fourth in the 100 hurdles and sixth in the long jump. The only other Hawk to place was Missy Nicholas, who placed fourth in the 300 hurdles and sixth in the 100 hurdles.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE-WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1987

Hawk boys' relay team saves 2 meets

It came down to the wire, with the last event deciding the 2 meets for the Cass City High School boys' track team.

The Hawks prevailed. The week started off with a meet against Bad Axe April 21. Cass City had to win the 3200 run and 1600 relay to pull ahead of the Hatchets by one point, and they did.

At the start of the 2-mile run, the Hawks were trailing 67-80 but the thinclads closed the gap by 10 points when they took first, second and third in the event. Brett Toner was the first over the finish line with a time of 11:44.7. Brent Kostanko was less than a second behind him and Mike Scollon easily added the third place points for the team.

The score was 77-81 and the boys needed to win the 1600 relay. Coach Don Markel said he was a little tense, but knew his relay team was one of the best. With a time of 3:46.7, the Hawks won the relay and the meet by one point. "If it's going to be close in the end that's great, because that's where I have my horses," Markel said.

The excitement wasn't over yet. The Hawks found themselves in the exact same situation in Thursday's meet against North Branch.

Cass City was winning going into the 3200 run, but Toner couldn't pull a first place and came in just behind North Branch. The Broncos were ahead 79-78. It was all up to Jeff Lefler, Jeremy Brown, Andy and Izydorek Ken Pasanski, the undefeated 1600 relay team.

With a time of 3:53.15 the thinclads swept past the Broncos to win the meet 83-79

Markel said he was proud of his charges' perfor-mance, especially in the meet against North Branch. "I was missing a lot of people. Four of my top athletes weren't participating for one reason or another," he said.

The Hawks are 2-1 in the Thumb B league and 3-1 overall. "The kids are really coming through for me. We'll do well the rest of the season." Markel commented. Cass City is now looking to tomorrow's meet against Marlette and Markel added it will be a tough match up. The team took on Imlay City on Tuesday.

only one point away from third and Cross-Lex, with 57 1/2, was fifth. Bringing up the rear were: Bad Axe with 41, Ubly with 38 1/2, North Huron with 30, Harbor Beach, 19, and Imlay City trailed with only 7 1/2 points. The Hawks won both the 400 relay and the 1600 relay and Steve Ross was the only individual to place first, winning the 300 hurdles. Cass City overran the long jump event with three Hawks placing. Dennis Dadacki took second and teammates, Lefler and Dan Schmaltz, took fifth and sixth. In the discus, Al Rosenstangle took fifth, throwing 124 feet, 6 1/2 inches. In other events, Brown took second in the 400 dash, Toner took sixth in the 3200 dash and Schmaltz ran for a fourth place in the 300 hurdles

Goslin sisters

Find it hard to be teammates

There's a lot of strain on a relationship when you go to the same school, play on all the same teams and live with each other.

The 3 Goslin sisters know, because they have played on the same basketball, volleyball and softball teams, go to school with each other and have to live together.

"We fight a lot," said middle sister Andrea, who is a sophomore at Owendale-Gagetown High School.

Charlene, the eldest, ag-rees. "We fight too much." The youngest, 14-year-old Marla, sits quietly on the couch listening to her older sisters. When asked if she thinks the sisters fight too much, she nods her head. But, fighting is just part But, fighting is just part of growing up. "They don't realize it now, but they'll think it was a good thing later in life when they look back on it," their father Francis said wisely.

The tiff seems to be with Charlene and Andrea. Marla said she gets along with both of her sisters, but they don't get along at all. "She always says can't," Andrea said looking over from her chair at her older sister. "That's why we don't get along. Through don't get along. Through our teachers and stuff we were taught to have a posi-tive attitude and ac-complish something." Charlene agrees with her sister. "I don't think I set a good example all the time. I get mad too easy and can't is the first thing that pops into my head."

Being the oldest, Char-lene said she feels that she has to help her sisters out. "I tell them what they are doing wrong. I help them with batting, catching and throwing."

Andrea and Marla said they can't think of a thing Charlene taught them. Marla added, however, that she learned "a little" from her more experienced sis-

COLLEGE TUITION PLAN IN MICHIGAN SEEN AS MODEL

This was the head on a story in the Journal recently. It told how one more child of bureaucracy has been conceived, and indeed, is about to be delivered.

The idea is for parents to turn over some money to the state, let it sit there without drawing interest, and some years later Michigan will guarantee the amount will be enough to pay their child's tutition.

The amount turned over now depends on the age of the child. The younger the child the longer the state will have the money to invest.

Michigan is trying to get the IRS to make the plan tax-exempt.

Present average tuition is $8,000 in Michigan. This compares with about $120 at U of M and at Michigan State 50 years ago, to give you some idea how fat these cats are.

Some 42 states are considering these pay-now, study-later plans. In Michigan alone there have been 24,000 inquiries. Politicians are stumbling over themselves to enact such plans.

Obviously, people feel that college costs will continue to go through the roof, climbing higher and faster than other costs of living. Apparently there is little effort being made to contain these costs. Professors will teach 8 hours a week and get paid $60,000 a year for this life of ease, while they get fat fees for lecturing and consulting in the private field.

Such a plan as Michigan's takes the heat off the colleges, which will likely let their costs soar and soar. It gives the state treasury a lot of cash now, and a delay in the day of reckoning when they will have to repay the parents a sum guaranteed to equal the tui-tion rate when Junior goes to college.

If there's not enough money in the fund, then the state will raise taxes to pay the difference.

to administer this plan. They don't work hard at Lansing, the state's capital. People who do business there say there are about 2 hours in the morning you can find someone at his desk, between late breakfasts, coffee hour, and an early lunch.

The arithmetic of the plan doesn't grab me. The state puts out figures that the $8,000 present average tuition in 18 years would jump to $22,835 if rates went up 6% a year. (That's 3 times as much as the cost of living increase in 1986, twice as much as the current climb, yet the state blithely assumes it will be

6% anyway.) If Michigan is going to break even on the plan, the fund will have to net 6% after administrative costs. If it doesn't, then the deficit will be met with higher taxes. This assumes tuition rates will somehow be held to the same as cost-ofliving, and they surely haven't been in the past. It's so much simpler to provide for a child's college costs by putting aside some money now in tax-exempt zero-coupon bonds. Here's what you could buy these bonds for now maturing at different times, depending when Junior will be going to college

These bonds are tax exempt all the time, and there's no capital gain when they mature. The deferred tuition schemes surely won't be tax exempt when the money is paid, any more than college costs today are tax deductible. Michigan's deal commits you to sending Junior to a Michigan school some 18 ears hence, willy-nilly. If he doesn't go, you're out all interest investment earned, and maybe the principal, too. You buy some tax-free zeros now, you have control over the money all the time, and you'll not forfeit it if Junior changes his plans. It's just possible, too, that

TWO ELKLAND Township firemen spray the inside of Valerie Clark's Van Dyke Road home before entering the building. Approximately $80,000 damage was done to Clark's house and belongings. The fire is believed to have started in the basement.

Elkland Fire Chief Jerome Root estimated there was $50,000 damage to the house and Clark added that antiques, worth about $30,000, were also destroyed in the fire.

Root said he thinks the fire started in the furnace located in the basement, but the investigation isn't over.

According to Clark she lit the furnace at about 7 a.m. then went to her mother's house, which is next door, and stayed until about 11 a.m. when she saw the Tony R. Wickings, 4705 Walton Rd., faces up to life in prison for both charges of CSC in the first degree and 15 years for CSC in the second degree.

The court charges Wick-ings with allegedly engag-ing in sexual penetration with a person under 13 years old and sexual contact with a person being under 13 years old. Wickings is out on bond after he paid 10 percent of the $30,000.

In a separate case, Kevin Urban entered a plea of guilty to attempted breaking and entering an oc-cupied dwelling with the intent to commit a felony, at his arraignment Monday in circuit court. Urban, 17, South State

SENTENCINGS

There were 2 sentencings in circuit court Monday. The first dealt with an 18-year-old Millington man who was sentenced to 2 to 6 years in the Michigan Department of Corrections in Ionia after pleading guilty March 30 to larceny over $100.

Bradford Henderson, 5500 Swaffer Rd., was given credit for 53 days already served.

If Junior dies, or doesn't want to go to college, or moves away, or just plain isn't smart enough, the state doesn't give back the interest the money has earned. In some plans not even the principal is returned
