AGES PLUS SUPPLEMENT

ASTRONAUT COL. Brewster Shaw shared his views on the status of NASA programs with some 250 residents Thursday night. Shaw, asked by an area youth if he'll ever visit another planet, replied, "No, I'm too old, but you're not." (Related picture page 14.)

Manned space program to move ahead-Brewster Shaw

The United States' space program will continue to recover from last year's Challenger space shuttle tragedy, and move ahead with manned space flights and construction of a space station.

That's the future described by Cass City native and Astronaut Air Force Col. Brewster Shaw during a 2-day return visit home last week.

"It's taken us a long time to recover from that (the tragedy). We're still recovering," Shaw, a member of the commission charged with investigating the disaster, told a crowd of some 250 persons at Cass City High School Thursday night.

"When you lose a quarter of your assets... not to mention the loss of human life, you have to figure out how to preclude" it from happening again, he commented.

Following an extensive review of the shuttle explosion, he said, "We think we have a pretty good handle on" the problems which led to the tragedy. "After we have gained enough confidence through testing, we'll be ready to fly again," Shaw predicted.

"We're spending a lot of money and a lot of time" researching and testing safety enhancement improvements to the shuttle. "We're going to have a better vehicle, we're going to put up a space station (and) we'll get on with the business at hand," he continued. "We'll get on with the things NASA has been doing and should be doing."

NO GUARANTEES

Although Shaw indicated he's optimistic concerning the future of the space program, he cautioned that there are no guarantees.

Improvements and revisions are underway to prevent another tragedy, he remarked. "That does not mean that we're never going to have another accident. As sure as I stand before you today, we're going to have another accident in the space program, but that doesn't mean we're going to lose another orbiter... or another crew."

Shaw said he intends to remain very much a part of future flights, adding, "I personally am going to fly again soon after we resume flights." The 41-year-old noted his next mission, probably the third flight when the program resumes, will involve a classified national defense payload, meaning he won't be able to share as much of his trip with the public, for security reasons.

He stated that future flights will emphasize minimizing the risks by minimizing the number of crewmen involved. He said that crews will probably be cut down to 5 members for awhile.

Shaw announced that NASA, during the past 2 weeks, has released requests for proposals on a space station, which he said he hopes will be transported to space on several flights in the 1990s.

Financing for the project, initially estimated at a total cost of some $8 billion, however, has forced NASA officials to scale down their plans, Shaw added.

"That's one of the problems that the agency faces right now—severe budgetary limitations. But we are going to have the space station."

Shaw said that the space station would enable NASA to conduct experiments in space for longer periods at a time—30, 60 or 90 days, for example.

LEADERSHIP NEEDED

Shaw emphasized the importance of continuing the space program as a matter of world leadership by the United States. Last year, he explained, the USSR launched some 90 space crafts. "We flew practically no launches at all—none were manned," he continued, adding, "The U.S. cannot rest on its laurels; leadership (in space) is very important to us."

Shaw narrated a slide show and movie relating to his flight aboard the Atlantis in 1985 during his 90-minute program. He outlined the mission, including his crew and their duties, and explained various experiments carried out during the flight.

Following the program, he was named a Paul Harris Fellow by the Cass City Rotary Club spokesman Ken Jensen. Along with the honor will be $1,000 placed in the Rotary Foundation in Shaw's name.

Please turn to page 14.

In closing Thursday, Shaw, who received a standing ovation, thanked members of the audience for their support. The best way Cass City residents can help the space program is by "instilling your confidence in your representatives," he said. "That's the best way to help us out and help yourselves out—it's your program."

Smash 4 windows at high school

Four windows were smashed and $5 taken early Friday morning at Cass City High School, according to a burglary complaint filed with the Cass City Police Department by high school principal Ken Micklash.

Windows in a teachers' lounge, agricultural room, counselors' section and Micklash's office were discovered broken, and the money found missing from Micklash's office, according to the report.

Micklash, who indicated the crime probably occurred sometime between 2 and 7 a.m., estimated total damage at about $100.

Also reported during the past week was a breaking and entering complaint, which led to the arrest of a suspect who was found early Sunday morning at the Elmer Francis residence, 6446 Pine St.

According to the report, Francis contacted police at about 3:10 a.m.

Police Sgt. Donald Miller said that the suspect, Donald D. Daniels of North Branch, was arrested on a warrant for suspicion of unlawful entry, and for damage under $100 relating to a broken window.

Julius Navarro, 4607 Huron St., reported that someone placed toilet paper in his van and around his residence, and used shoe polish on and in the van early this month.

Navarro indicated the vandalism took place after 1 a.m. May 2.

Lois Papp, 4462 Jacob Rd., reported that someone put a dent in the passenger side door of her vehicle May 5 while parked at the village park in Cass City. The incident occurred sometime between 4:30 and 7:30 p.m., the report stated.

Report little damage in 3 grass fires

Elkland Township firemen responded to 3 fire calls Friday, none of which resulted in major damage or injuries.

Fire fighters were called to a field just south of the Koepfgen/Elmwood road intersection west of Cass City at 10:50 a.m. Friday to extinguish a one-acre brush fire.

According to fireman Ron Pawloski, the fire may have started because of friction of wires on a nearby Detroit Edison electrical pole.

Pawloski, who noted that the Department of Natural Resources also responded to the blaze, added that fire fighters spent about one hour at the scene.

The fire department was again called to the scene at about midnight. Pawloski stated that a nearby resident reported sparks coming off the top of an electrical pole near the field which had burned earlier in the day.

Firemen remained at the location for 4 hours, while Edison employees were called in to work on the pole, Pawloski said.

Another fire broke out about 1 1/2 miles east of Cass City near M-81 at 8:30 p.m., according to Pawloski, who noted the land involved is owned by Jim McDonald.

Shingles and other debris were burning at the location, he said, adding that the fire remains under investigation. Officials have been unable to determine the cause of the fire to date.

Fire fighters, who earlier this year put out a debris fire at the same location, spent about 30 minutes at the scene.

Owen-Gage axes student health insurance coverage for 1987-88

Health insurance coverage offered to Owen-Gage School students at the expense of the school district was axed Monday night by the board of education.

The board cited continuing efforts to tighten school finances during a lengthy discussion on the matter.

School Supt. Harley Kirby, who recommended the action, explained that the district this year paid some $2,200 to cover about 374 students. The policy, he said, pays up to $250 beyond other insurance coverage.

"I'm not saying it's not a good policy for the kids, but it's not the responsibility of the school to sign the check," Kirby told the board. "It's not our responsibility" to provide individual insurance to the students.

Kirby indicated that it's illegal for the district to use tax dollars to fund insurance coverage for individuals. The district already carries liability insurance, he noted.

"If we were to continue,

I would suggest that every student who wants it (insurance) should pay for it," he continued.

A majority of board members indicated agreement with Kirby. But board President Ron Good voiced concern regarding students whose parents have no insurance.

"I'd sure hate to see one student hurt and no insurance at home," he remarked.

Good suggested that the school could continue providing the insurance at about $5 per student rather than force each student to pay $25 for similar coverage.

He added, and the board agreed, that if the school-provided insurance was to be cut, then students who participate in sports which require a physical examination will be required to show proof of insurance before they are allowed to participate in a sport.

According to high school Principal Robert Andrews, $1,000 to $2,000 has been paid out during the current school year in claims on the student insurance policy. Many of those claims involved medical procedures or supplies not covered by other insurance, he said.

The board voted unanimously to stop paying for the student policy and to require proof of insurance from students who plan to participate in athletics. Kirby agreed to investigate policies similar to the student coverage to determine the costs for students to obtain such insurance.

SEV WOES

In other business during the 2-hour regular meeting, Kirby presented updated state equalization figures showing a larger than expected drop in SEV in the school district.

Owen-Gage voters will be asked at an annual school election June 8 to approve renewal of a 6-mill request plus an additional 9.5 mills for a total of 41 mills to cover record losses in SEV.

Preliminary figures indicated that the 1987 SEV would be about $35,271,293, but Kirby pointed out Monday that the actual figure is $34,598,823, a total loss of $10.1 million from the 1986 SEV.

The superintendent added that the school district expects a surplus of $10,289 if the millage requests are approved, while approval of a total of 40 mills would mean a deficit of $24,310, and a total of 31.5 mills (currently levied) would mean a deficit of $318,400.

Kirby said that any extra money netted as a result of the approval of additional millage would be used in areas such as personnel. He noted that teacher contract negotiations are coming up.

In related matters, the board set informational meeting dates to discuss the millage request with school district residents, and scheduled a meeting date for a committee appointed to represent the board in upcoming contract negotiations.

The informational meeting dates are 7:30 p.m. May 26 at Gagetown Elementary School, and 7:30 p.m. May 28 at Owendale High School.

A committee representing the board in contract negotiations—Kirby, Good, Joseph Warack and Jack Brinkman—decided to meet May 18 to review negotiations.

TUITION

Also Monday, the board discussed future adjustments in the amount of tuition being charged to students living outside the school district.

Currently, the policy concerning tuition requires an annual fee of $1. Such students also are asked to do small jobs, such as washing a bus, as part of their tuition.

Kirby recommended that the board consider adjusting the tuition rate. He added that parents of out-of-district students don't contribute to the district in terms of tax revenue. Warack agreed that such

61-year banking career ends for Fred Pinney

After 61 years, Frederick H. Pinney has ended his career at Chemical Bank Cass City and was given a vote of thanks by the board of directors at the bank.

Pinney announced his retirement at the annual meeting of the board of Chemical Financial Corporation because he has reached the age of mandatory retirement in the corporation.

He served as president continuously through Dec. 31, 1976. He became chairman of the board in January, 1977, and retired as an active employee until April 15, 1983. He continued as chairman of the board until his April retirement.

Meg's Peg

Odds and ends

by Melva E. Guinther

Overheard the day after we sprang ahead to daylight-saving time: Those flowers will really start growing now, with an extra hour of daylight.

Several people responded to a recent column with additional childhood misinterpretations.

The Lord's Prayer seems to be especially susceptible: "Our Father which art in heaven, Hal Lloyd be thy name..." "Our Father Richard in heaven, Harold be thy name. Buy kingdom gum..."

"Lead us not into Penn Station..." "Give us this day our day-old bread..."

It's good that the Lord knows the thoughts and intentions of our hearts.

One lady remembers reciting the books of the New Testament with "Ax and the pistols to the Romans." Another recalls Philipians and Galoshes.

And the songs, oh my! From "Mansion over the Hilltop," one youngster sang lustily of the day when he would "...nevermore wander those doggone streets that are purest gold."

Another picked up a song her mother often sang around the house, "Jesus knows all about our straw gulls." She admitted that it made more sense when she had learned to read and knew what struggles were.

Margaret Boag tells of an acquaintance whose favorite was the "Andy Song"... "Andy walks with me, Andy talks with me..." Most old-timers know the real words to the chorus of the hymn, "In the Garden," are "And He walks with me and He talks with me, And He tells me I am His own."

In the name of patriotism, a solemn 6-year-old was overheard reciting the pledge of allegiance to the flag, "...one naked individual, with liberty and justice for all."

From a list of accident descriptions which my informant vows were taken from actual insurance claims, these gems were passed along:

-In an attempt to kill a fly, I drove into a telephone pole.

-I had been driving for 40 years when I fell asleep at the wheel and had an accident.

-I was on my way to the doctor with rear end trouble when my universal joint gave way, causing me to have an accident.

Little things that bug me: The 40th birthday wishes-Lordy, Lordy, Joe Blow is 40!

Admittedly, a limited number of words rhyme with 40, and Lordy isn't one of them. I'm not sure what could be done with sparty, sortie, warty or shorty, but there has to be something more imaginative than that rhymeless verse.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cross of Cass City, April 23 in Hills and Dales General Hospital, a daughter, Shanna Lee. The baby weighed 6 pounds and 1 1/2 ounces and joins a sister, Amanda Lyne, 5, and brother Ryan.

Miss Barbie Merchant, a student at CMU, returned home Thursday for the summer. She celebrated her May 12 birthday with family and friends at Sullivan's North in Saginaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Buehly of Livonia spent Saturday night with her mother, Verneta Stilson. Sunday morning they accompanied his mother, Mary Buehly, to the church service at the Salem U.M. Church.

Among those attending the Novesta Church of Christ mother-daughter banquet Saturday evening, when Verna McConnell received an award as mother of the year, were her 4 daughters, Norma Speirs, Melva Guinther and Peggy Nordquist, all of Cass City, and Patricia Blue of Millington. Six granddaughters and 3 great-granddaughters were also present.

Linda Smith, Kerri and Jenny of Mayville and Jennifer Jones of Ionia were guests of Betty Hammond May 9 for the mother and daughter banquet at the Salem United Methodist Church. Linda and Jennifer are Betty's daughters.

Bock earns top award

Cass City resident Kathy Bock entered her first ceramics competition ever, recently, and netted 3 honors, including Best of Show.

Bock, a certified ceramics teacher employed at Betty Lynn's

Country Crafts in Cass City, received second-place awards for her "spring girl" and "Indian" busts. Her "pink reindeer" received Best of Show honors from the Michigan Ceramic Association in the professional non-members category.

The ceramics show was held May 2 and 3 at the Bay City Fairgrounds.

The 24-year-old Cass City native said that her entering the contest wasn't exactly planned. "I got the (entry) form in the mail and everybody kept telling me to go for it, so I did," she remarked. "I was surprised."

Bock, who noted that she spent about 12 hours on each of her ceramic pieces, added she's been working with ceramics for about 4 years.

Currently, she conducts ceramics classes at Betty Lynn's on Mondays and Wednesdays.

"If It Fitz..."

Manizer?

By Jim Fitzgerald

On ABC-TV's "Nightline" program last Monday, Geraldine Ferraro said the public isn't interested in whether or not Gary Hart is a womanizer because it's irrelevant. She accused the press of prying into the private life of political candidates. She said the public was interested only in important issues, such as foreign policy.

It will be recalled that Ferraro made similar charges when she was running for vice-president on the Democratic ticket with Walter Mondale. (After losing the election, Ferraro appeared regularly on TV to focus public attention on such relevant important issues as the taste of Pepsi-Cola. No one knows what happened to Mondale.)

Unlike the Hart situation, Ferraro's complaint in 1984 wasn't that the press was spying on her irrelevant sex life. She was angry because the press kept harping on her husband's irrelevant questionable business dealings. Every time Ferraro wanted to talk about foreign policy, some reporter asked about her husband's real estate policy.

Ferraro was never accused of being unfaithful to her husband. Too bad. It is easy to call a male candidate a womanizer, but the tongue trips when the same charge is made against a female candidate. It would have been interesting to see what the press would have called Ferraro if reporters had observed her entering her home with a young blond man while her husband was out of town.

Manizer? "Ferraro Accused of Manizing"?

There is no such word. Also, I've never heard a woman called a philanderer or a rake. A married woman who frequently changes sexual partners is most often called a tramp or even a whore. And that's not equal opportunity employment.

The general impression is that there's something attractive, or at least acceptable, about a womanizer. He's a devil, of course, but oh you kid! In fact, also appearing on "Nightline" was an astute male commentator who suggested Hart might profit from publicity about his alleged womanizing. If he got the vote of every married man who ever played around, Hart would be elected president "in the greatest landslide in history," he said.

On the other hand, how many votes would a female presidential candidate get if reporters accused her of having an attractive young man for an overnight guest? Geraldine Ferraro claims she was shot down simply because of publicized suspicions about her husband's business ethics. If the suspicions had concerned her sex life, Mondale would have dumped her and Pepsi-Cola would have preferred hiring Fidel Castro as a TV spokesperson.

But gender equality is not the point raised by Ferraro and others who insist the identity and number of a candidate's bedmates is irrelevant. They insist the public really isn't interested, and the scurrilous media are using titillation to sell newspapers and increase ratings. What does philandering have to do with being a good president?

The media's defense is that the character of candidates is reflected in their private life just as much as in their public life. If a presidential candidate cheats on his wife, voters should have that information to help determine if he might also cheat on foreign policy.

And if the public really weren't interested in a candidate's sex life, newspapers and networks couldn't increase their audience by reporting on it. Which articles in yesterday's newspaper did you read to the last line — the ones about Gary Hart and the blonde actress, or the ones about foreign policy?

Like it or not, the truth is that most of us gobble it up when the news concerns the sexual peccadilloes of well-known people. The question is whether that peccadillo will prevent a person from being a good president.

A peccadillo, incidentally, isn't a condiment for a manizer, which is probably a big sandwich.

Year-end Cub Scout meet aired

Several Cub Scouts of pack 3594 received awards and activity pins during a final meeting of the school year held Thursday at Campbell Elementary School.

Both Matt Lynch and Jeff Powell were awarded the bobcat badge, while the wolf badge went to Powell, Chad Zawilinski, Eric Decker, Kareem Khoury, Joseph Khoury and Matt Klinkman.

Scouts receiving arrows were Jared Roth (gold), Klinkman (gold and silver), Jimmy Park (gold and silver), Joseph Khoury (gold and silver), Anthony Rolando (2 silver), Josh Little (silver) and Ken Roehl (3 silver).

"Whittling Chip" cards for pocket knife safety were given to Scott Iwankovitsch, Justin Hulbert and Luke Taylor. Dean Gee, meanwhile, received naturalist and outdoorsman pins, and Aaron Biefer and Ryan King were awarded naturalist pins.

Iwankovitsch was inducted into the Webelos den, while Nathan Hurley and Gee were graduated into Boy Scout Troop 594.

The scouts rounded out activities last month. Special activities included distribution of literature April 28 at Cass City High School for the "Donor Awareness" program; a tour of the Cass City Chronicle April 23 by den 4; a "clean-up" day in Cass City April 22 by 22 cub scouts, and a pizza and bowling party April 14 at the Charmont.

The Haire Net

There's a sharp difference in opinion at our house over the significance of the activities of Gary Hart. The woman in the house says that Hart's womanizing shows a fatal flaw in character and he deserves to be run out of a chance to compete for the highest office in the land.

She just snorts when I say that his personal peccadilloes really are no indication on his ability to serve as president. Would we have been better off without the services of Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and a host of other presidents?

We agree with George McGovern, who made an unsuccessful run for the presidency, when he says that we would be better off examining Hart's position on the affairs of the day rather than peeking in his bedroom window.

His indiscretions certainly don't do him credit, but they are not important to this country like the current funding of the Contras investigation now underway. McGovern says, and I agree, Hart's failures are not great enough to eliminate him for consideration for the presidency. Or rather, they shouldn't be, because obviously they have.

Certainly you have to have been on another planet not to be exposed to various opinions about the Hart affair. Sex sells. One day last week 4 different columnists in the Detroit papers wrote about it.

None talked about what may prove to be the most debilitating effect of the whole affair: What impression will be left about our system and the persons who run it?

Poll after poll indicates that politicians are low in the public esteem already. Chances are you've heard more than once someone exclaim that they (politicians) are all a bunch of crooks anyway. Affairs like this reinforce these opinions.

If that's so, should the media do as it once did and not print information of a personal nature? No, but we agree with those who say that the Miami Herald wasn't responsible when it printed the story on flimsy evidence without giving Hart a chance to refute the charges.

The unfortunate aspect of this affair is that everyone jumps on the sex story bandwagon, but you would be hard pressed to find stories that examine Hart's background and political stance on affairs of the day. Certainly it would be impossible to find any paper, radio station or television network that devoted a tenth of the manpower to Hart as a candidate as they did to Hart, the philanderer.

It's too bad, but Hart is stuck with his image and when he talks about a new approach now it won't conjure any new political vistas in the minds of the rank and file, but the entertaining of comely ladies on a boat or in an apartment.

Hart could have had something important to offer his country, but we'll never know now if he did. That's what is sad about this whole affair.

A report was given on Eastern Michigan Missionary dime bank progress and the dime bank project for 1988 for Bibles International. Work day was set for May 13.

A letter was read by Mrs. Whittenburg from Linda Short, a missionary in Bangladesh.

For devotions there was a quiz on mothers of the Bible and Ruth Fisher had prayer time. The June meeting will be men's night.

Decorations and refreshments were by Myrtle McColl and Lillian Hanby.

A MONTH LONG observance of the Golden Anniversary of Sommers' Bakery was capped Wednesday by the erection of portraits of the founders, Joe and Lucille Sommers. Mrs. (Sommers) Frank, left, and daughter, Joan Merchant, display the pictures prior to placing them on a wall.

Walbro Corporation

Announce operations restructuring

Walbro Corporation has announced the restructuring of its operations, it was announced by Robert H. Walpole, Executive Vice-president.

"Walbro's fuel systems activities will now be organized within a new entity, the fuel systems group," Walpole said. "The fuel systems group will consist of 2 divisions: the small engine division and the automotive division," he noted.

Previously, Walbro's fuel systems activities were handled by 2 groups: the Carburetor Group, with customers in both the small engine and automotive industries, and the automotive products group, which served the automotive industry.

"Under the new structure, the small engine division will devote its attention entirely to the outdoor power equipment and marine markets, while the Automotive Division will concentrate its activities on the automotive OE and replacement markets. By focusing our efforts in this way, we will be able to more effectively satisfy the needs of our customers within these 2 core businesses," Walpole explained.

"In developing the new operational structure, we have specifically made provisions to strengthen the transfer of technology from one market area to the other," Walpole added. "We have done this by establishing key engineering and manufacturing positions within the Fuel Systems Group with involvement in both the automotive and small engine areas. In this way, Walbro customers are assured of receiving the benefit of the latest technology, regardless of its origin."

As a result of the restructuring, Louis E. Horner, Walbro vice-president in charge of the small engine division, assumes responsibility for all Walbro outdoor power equipment and marine outboard fuel systems products manufactured and sold in North America and Europe. Sales, engineering and manufacturing operations for these products will report to Horner. Activities related to the company's joint venture with Orbital Engine Company, of Perth, Western Australia, will continue to report to Horner.

Kenneth E. Selzer, Walbro vice-president in charge of the Automotive Division, assumes global responsibility for all Walbro automotive fuel systems products. Automotive sales, engineering, and manufacturing operations will report to Selzer. Walbro currently manufactures electric fuel pumps, pressure regulators, and throttle bodies for automotive fuel injection systems and has recently announced 2 new automotive products, in-tank fuel modules and fuel rails.

Clark A. Searle, Walbro vice-president in charge of international business development, will be responsible for offshore business development and planning. Searle will pursue the expansion of Walbro's international business through the initiation of joint ventures and other business arrangements.

Hornor, Selzer and Searle will report to Walpole.

Letters to the editor

Residents cautioned on drinking/driving

Dear Parents,

Spring high school graduations are viewed by most as a time of pride and anticipation of bright futures. To your area law enforcement agencies, however, this same period is filled with apprehension. Rarely does a spring go by without the tragedy of a teenage alcohol related fatal traffic crash. Oftentimes, it is suspected that the intoxicated teenager was coming directly from a graduation party where adults are freely dispensing alcohol to minors. Parents and guardians, please understand the consequences of such actions.

First, the service of alcohol to minors under age 21 is illegal, even on private property. Michigan citizens stated their desires clearly in 1978 by repealing the short lived 18-year-old drinking age. Second, persons injured in alcohol traffic crashes can and do sue for damages in civil court under Michigan's Dram Shop Act. If it can be shown that an underage person contributing to the crash consumed any alcohol at your son's or daughter's party, you can lose most or all of your material assets. Finally, and most importantly, you are setting the stage for tragedy by providing alcohol to these youth. Young people have both a lower tolerance for alcohol and less experience as drivers. This causes them to be vastly over represented in our state's alcohol fatal traffic crashes.

To the many of you who never planned on serving alcohol, thank you. To those who are, please carefully consider the possible consequences.

Our young people are our greatest resource, so please, let's not waste them.

Readers blast May 6 district court story

To the Editor:

Due to an article in last week's Chronicle, two people in Cass City have experienced a feeling of complete devastation. We realize that as owner of a newspaper you have the right to deal with the news as you see fit. It is beyond all understanding, however, how you can display such utter disregard for other people's feelings. Did the article call for shocking, offensive headlines? There were, after all, two sides to the incident, an incident that occurred accidentally and unintentionally, but deliberately blown out of proportion in your article.

Obviously, it doesn't matter to you that innocent people are left with emotional scars as a result of your insensitive "sensationalism."

Deeply humiliated and emotionally hurt,
Dave and Emma Ackerman

Area minister says headline insensitive

Dear John,

The Ackermans have been long time active members of the Presbyterian Church, contributing to the work of our church in ways too numerous to mention.

As concerned Christians, respected former teachers and highly regarded residents of Cass City, having made their home here for many years, it is an understatement to say that they have been treated very shabbily by the press. This family along with other families who face similar situations deserve more than blatant, negative attention drawing headlines as printed in the Wednesday, May 6, issue of the Cass City Chronicle. Having known Scott Ackerman personally for these past twelve years, I have reason to believe that he did not perform the behavior for which he was fined and placed on probation. However, this is beside the point. That which shocks and appalls me most of all is not the supposedly exhibitionist behavior of Scott Ackerman, but your style of journalism that insensitively disregards the myriad of feelings that families such as the Ackermans' experience in times of crisis.

Sincerely,
Rev. Harry E. Capps

Gettels relive trip of a lifetime to the Orient

It was a chance of a lifetime for Mark and Cindy Gettel to experience a different culture and people and the Pigeon couple didn't pass it up.

Through a nationwide sales incentive program put on by John Deere the Gettels, and 167 other couples, won a trip to visit Hong Kong and China.

Neither had been abroad before and to them it was to be an adventure, but the adventure turned into a learning experience. "You go there to learn something," said Cindy, who kept a journal during the trip. "When you travel like that you have to be open-minded. I felt very fortunate to be in another country and see how they live."

The tour group left on March 24 at 5:30 a.m. and 30 hours later their plane touched down in Hong Kong.

Mark said the flight should have taken 18 hours, but they had to layover for part of the time.

"It was a cultural shock," said Cindy, as the group entered Hong Kong. "Everything was backwards. The steering wheels were backwards and they drive on the opposite side of the road than we do. Even their escalators are backwards." She added that Hong Kong is a British colony and 5 million people live on the 40 mile island.

THE CITY

Hong Kong is becoming very westernized, but remnants of how the people used to live are still around. The Gettels took pictures of high-rise buildings surrounding the poorer sections of town. "Land is so expensive that the people live in boats or apartment buildings stacked on top of each other," Cindy said.

The boat-people live on sampans, large, flat, wooden boats, in the harbors that surround Hong Kong. They sell their catch of fish, eel, squid and other marine life, to make a living. Some also rent out their sampans to tourists and give them a ride around the harbor to look at the city. Most of the boat people and the poorer sections are in the central district of Hong Kong while many of the new high-rises are on the Kowloon side of the city.

Hong Kong is separated into 2 sections that are divided by the Kowloon Peninsula.

"The hotel we stayed in was so elaborate, so beautiful and you look out your window and you see the boat-people," said Cindy. "They live on these sampans and they have no T.V., no radio, no toilet, no nothing."

Mark said that Hong Kong is the financial center of the eastern hemisphere and garments are its number one industry. "The cost of labor is so much cheaper," he explained. "A lot of what you buy in the U.S. is from Hong Kong."

"Everywhere you go (there) you see clothes and jewelry for sale. You get sick of looking at it," Cindy laughed. "It's so intense."

The Gettels said they have never seen people work so hard. "I have a lot of compassion for these people," Cindy said. "They can't work hard enough. They work 12 to 14 hours a day, probably because if they don't they are afraid they'll lose their job."

One of the biggest shocks for the Gettels and the other tourists was the congestion and the number of people in such a small amount of space. Mark said he really didn't feel it until they went on a day tour of China.

CHINA

The John Deere group took an hour and a half jet foil ride through the South China Sea to the village of Macou, a Portuguese colony a few miles from the Chinese border, on March 28. "It was very interesting how space affects people," Mark said. "There were 400,000 people in 6 square miles and everybody was shoulder to shoulder. It's a way of life for these people; to us it is invasion of space."

Cindy said that going through China was like going back to the Middle Ages. "A few people were very upset that they went into China because they couldn't deal with the culture shock," she added.

"People were a little colder there (in Macou) and didn't speak English well," Cindy said. "The people were touchy and they scared me," she admitted. "I felt they were rude to us."

But, once through customs, the buses entered China bringing the tourists to the little village of Yong Mao. "The village is 200 years old and has one bathroom for 2,000 people, if they want to use it," Cindy smiled.

"This (the village) was the real highlight of the whole trip," she added.

THE CULTURE

The Gettels got a real taste of Chinese culture when they entered Yong Mao, even though the village's main income is from tourists.

"The people there were real friendly," Cindy stated.

Mark said that the Chinese have very close knit families, especially since the cultural revolution of 1979 which only allowed a couple to have one child. "The children are loved so much there," Cindy exclaimed as she looked at the pictures they took of the village children.

A couple who has more than one child is penalized, according to Cindy. Women who become pregnant a second time can have an abortion or be fined 20 percent of their monthly pay. Also the second child will not be given free government medical care. Cindy stated that the average monthly income of both parents is $65.

If a woman has a multiple birth, the family is not penalized and is considered lucky.

China's climate is perfect for its agricultural industry of rice. "The climate is predominantly humid and they have a lot of rainfall," Mark said as he showed slides of the normal Chinese overcast sky.

Cindy stated that the government gives each single farmer one acre of land and if the farmer has a son he will get 2 acres to raise rice.

Most of the farmers use water buffaloes to plow their watery fields and both the wife and the farmer will spend 12 to 14 hours planting the rice while the grandparents take care of the child. "They always work in their bare feet and pick and pick all day long," Cindy said.

"The government gets 25 percent of all crops," she added.

In the near future China may be going through its industrial age. "There is an effort to develop an industrialized state," Mark said.

"The market is virtually untouched. They have a huge labor market to tap in to."

He added though that the government will control the industries as they control the land and people. "Through the cultural revolution China was opened up, allowing western interest in the industries," Mark stated. Western companies will buy or build facilities and start a business, but the business will be turned over to the government after a specific time. He added that both the government and the investor will profit from this arrangement. "If you have a $20 million investment it will be paid off the first year (low labor costs) and the following years you'll make a profit."

The Gettels said that they were glad they only spent a day in China, because it was such a cultural shock and it upset them to see how the people lived. "When we came back it took awhile to adjust. It takes time to digest everything you've seen," Cindy said.

She added that when the tour group first arrived in Hong Kong, "it smelled like Chinese food, it was crowded and the people were so different. When we went to China and came back to Hong Kong, people said 'I'm so happy to be back,'" she chuckled.

The Gettels are thinking about taking another trip abroad. "This one was so fascinating," Mark said. "I'd like to go to Australia or New Zealand." But both added that another trip is in the distant future.

GTE files request to increase charges

GTE recently announced that it has filed a request with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to increase interstate subscriber line charges from $2.00 per month to $2.60 per month for residential and single line business customers effective July 1.

If approved by the FCC, the charge for business lines would increase from $3.00 to $4.00 per month, according to Max Preston, state vice-president-general manager for GTE's Michigan operations.

The subscriber line charge covers costs associated with providing access to interstate long distance services.

Preston said the filing for the increase was in response to a request from the FCC issued April 30. Preston added that GTE's filing was in line with a recommendation made to the FCC earlier this year by a special conference board appointed by the FCC.

GTE is required to notify its customers within 7 days of filing with the FCC.

Your neighbor says

Project Graduation is good peer pressure

A letter from Tuscola County Sheriff Paul Berry, prosecutor William Bond and Ben Page of the state police post in Caro recently mailed to area residents urges parents not to serve alcohol at graduation parties.

While spring is viewed by graduates as a time of "pride and anticipation," the letter states, area law enforcement officials face the time with apprehension.

"Rarely does a spring go by without the tragedy of a teenage alcohol-related fatal traffic crash," the officials say.

Your neighbor, Diane Richardson, said she appreciates the efforts being made by Cass City High School students to help reduce drinking and driving by area teens.

The local Project Graduation campaign may be particularly effective because the individuals urging kids to not drink and drive are teenagers, she noted.

"Students setting an example for other students is what's important," Richardson said, adding, "It's a hard time in their lives. It's a transition from childhood to adulthood." Richardson, a substitute safety patrol guard for Cass City Schools, remarked that peer pressure is incredible at this stage of a teen's life, and that a program such as Project Graduation is an example of positive peer pressure.

Richardson's husband, Pastor Chuck Richardson, is youth pastor at the First Baptist Church in Cass City. The couple, who reside at 4534 Oak St., have 3 children: Amy, 6, Chuck, 4 and Christopher, one.

A 16-year-old Deford youth sustained head injuries Friday evening when she fell off the vehicle she was riding on in Kingston Township.

Shannon M. Marshall, 6855 Mushroom Rd., was released from Saginaw St. Mary's Hospital Sunday.

According to a Tuscola County Sheriff's Department report, Marshall and 2 other Deford teenagers were riding on the hatchback of a vehicle driven by Thomas R. Bader, 17, 5200 Bevans Rd., Deford. Bader was making an eastbound

If you're planning to do any kind of underground digging, give a quick call to "Miss Dig" 1-800-482-7171. This agency will notify GTE and other member utilities so that underground facilities can be located and marked. The call is toll-free and it can help ensure trouble-free service. It can save time, trouble and interrupted conversation for unsuspecting telephone users.

Maybe someone's just about to pop the question. Or get a great job offer. Then the line goes dead because you cut into their telephone cable.

There is a free service designed to help prevent these accidents. Just call us two working days before the start of construction. Michigan law requires would-be diggers to give utility companies two working days' notice before digging.

So if you're putting in fence posts, building a shopping center or expanding a freeway, call us. We'll come right out and mark the precise location of the underground telephone cable...so you won't cut in on someone's important conversation.

OWEN-GAGE CATCHER Stu Stirrett nabs a throw to home just prior to tagging out a Deckerville runner and then throwing to second for a double play in a double header Thursday which saw the Bulldogs clinch their first win of the season.

2 losses sink Hawk softballers

Cass City's hope for a Thumb B Association softball title went down the drain last week when the Hawks dropped a double-header to the Imlay City Spartans and suffered a disappointing split in 2 games with Vassar.

Coach Jim Fox called the opening game lost to Vassar one of the worst that Cass City has played this season. We lost, 13-9, to a weak team, played with no spirit and had poor pitching and poor defense, Fox said.

Tammy Hurd walked 8 and allowed 5 hits and 6 earned runs. Callahan, the Vassar pitcher, allowed 10 hits and also walked 8, but received better support from her teammates.

Hurd tried to help her own cause with 2 hits in 3 tries. Sandy Franks also collected 2 hits in 3 attempts.

The Hawks bounced back in the nightcap to win in a wild game with very poor pitching on both sides. The score was 25-10.

Shannon McIntosh pitched the distance and was touched for 7 walks and 7 hits, but that was plenty good enough for Cass City to win as Callahan lost control in the second game and walked 30, (count 'em, 30) batters. The Hawks collected only 5 hits, but they came at the right time. Franks and McIntosh showed the way with 2 hits each that drove in 5 runs.

IMLAY CITY GAME

In high school, most experts agree, pitching is 90 percent of the game and that proved to be the case Thursday when the Hawks dropped a double-header to the Imlay City Spartans.

In a nutshell the story of the game was the hurling of Sandy Finton. She won both ends of the double-header for the Spartans. As good as she was, she didn't by any means eclipse the mound job turned in by

Victories in relays spark Hawks' win

Victories in 3 of the 4 relay events sparked Cass City to a close victory over Vassar, 84-79, in a Thumb B Association track meet last week. Cass City lost only the 2-mile relay and that spelled the difference in the meet.

The winners were:

VASSAR MEET

High jump: Stuart, V.

Hurd in the opener. Hurd allowed just one hit and walked just one in a brilliant performance, but poor fielding support cost the Hawks a chance for the victory.

Terri Summers and Connie Robinson cracked triples in the third inning to pace a Hawk rally, but it wasn't enough as Imlay City pushed across a run in the last inning for a 5-4 decision.

There wasn't much good to say about the second game, Coach Fox said, other than a key hit by LaRoche that drove in 2 runs. Other than that Imlay City controlled the game, winning 6-3. McIntosh was charged with the loss.

North Central Thumb League leader Peck won't waltz away with the conference crown pressure-free if the Owen-Gage High School girls' softball team has anything to say about it.

The lady Bulldogs kept the pressure on Peck last week, taking both games of a league twin bill against Deckerville Thursday after blasting North Branch Wesleyan in a double-header May 4.

Owen-Gage, 8-2 in the league and 10-2 overall heading into this week, will host Kingston Thursday after a scheduled double-header with Caseville Monday. Owen-Gage came through with clutch triples to sweep its 2-game series against Deckerville Thursday, 12-9 and 9-8, keeping the lady Bulldogs 2 games behind Peck.

Tonya Haldane cracked a triple in the sixth inning of the first game to break a tie for the win. Haldane also had a single in the contest, while teammate Susie Salcido contributed 2 singles and a double, and Barb Hellebuyck added a triple.

Hellebuyck, relieved by Salcido in the final inning, was the winning pitcher. Together they allowed 3 runs and 8 hits. Julie Rumble, relieved by Michele Slater, took the loss.

In the nightcap, the lady Bulldogs rallied in the final inning to erase a 2-run deficit for the win. Angie Bolzman started the comeback with an RBI triple. Cindy Enderle went to first on a walk. With one out, Salcido slammed a 2-run triple to ice the win.

Top guns for Owen-Gage were Andrea Mandich, who was 4 for 4 with 3 singles and a triple; Haldane, who was 2 for 3 with a home run and a single; and Jane Billy, who added 2 singles. Salcido claimed the win after relieving Bolzman on the mound. Slater was the losing pitcher.

In action earlier last week, Owen-Gage had little trouble putting N.B. Wesleyan away, 13-0 and 14-4.

Everybody on the lady Bulldogs' roster had some playing time in the twin bill. Owen-Gage took control immediately in the first game, scoring 10 runs and holding N.B. Wesleyan to no runs in the first inning.

The game lasted only 3 innings on the "mercy" rule, with Bolzman cracking a home run and recording 4 RBIs, while Charlene Goslin added a double. Salcido struck out 6 batters while walking only one for the win.

The lady Bulldogs picked up where they left off in the nightcap, taking a 9-2 lead in the first inning, and adding 4 more in the third and fourth innings to end the game.

Bolzman continued to be a driving force for Owen-Gage, turning in a 3 for 4 performance, including a home run and triple for 5 RBIs. Haldane, meanwhile, contributed a triple, Salcido cracked a home run and had 2 RBIs, and Hellebuyck, the winning pitcher, added a single and double.

Improved Hawks remain winless in Thumb B track

Cass City girls will end the season without a victory in track, but Coach Larry Robinson says that his charges improved all season and perhaps set the stage for a better season next spring.

If the Hawks can find some help for freshman Sue Papp, there could be brighter days ahead for Cass City. Papp has been a consistent point producer for the team.

Against Vassar, Tuesday, she won 3 firsts and a second, with victories in the high jump, long jump and 100 hurdles and a second in the 330 hurdles. She also won the same 3 events against the Lakers Thursday and added a victory in the 330 hurdles while improving her time to 50.47.

But her individual achievements weren't enough as the Hawks lost to Vassar, 100 to 50, and to Lakers 86-64.

Cass City won 6 firsts against the Vulcans as Melissa Osentowski won the 2-mile and the mile and added a win in the 440 relay. But lack of depth made it impossible for Cass City to mount a serious threat. The Hawks won only 2 second places with Papp in the 330 hurdles and Tracey Haas in the 880.

Lack of depth was also critical in the loss to the Lakers. The Hawks won more events than the Lakers, taking 10 of the 16 events, but were simply overwhelmed in second and third place finishes. Melissa Osentowski took second in both distance events and Jeannie Sweeney and Laura Stine took thirds in the 100-yard dash and discus, respectively, and that was it for Cass City.

The winners and the times were:

SPARKPLUG SUE Papp, second from right, leads the pack en route to a time of 17.17 and a victory for the Cass City girls' track team in the 100 hurdles May 5 over Vassar. Also running for the lady Red Hawks in the event was Lisa Nicholas (far left).

Hawks enter critical week for top baseball honors

This is the week that will decide whether the Cass City Red Hawk baseball team will have a good season or a great one. The Hawks, sporting a 10-2 mark good for a share of the lead with Bad Axe in the Thumb B Association, has 2 double-headers left. The Hawks were to have played Caro Monday, another team with a chance for the title, and then meet North Branch Thursday.

A complication for Coach Don Schelke's charges is that the qualifying round for the state tournament is scheduled Wednesday against tough Unionville-Sebewaing. We won't be able to hold any of our pitchers back for this game, Schelke said, when we have a chance for the conference title. The schedule calls for games Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. Perhaps the best thing that could happen for the Hawks is to have a day of rain Wednesday that will enable that game to be played when the schedule is not quite as tight.

Undoubtedly, what the Hawks would like to do is pitch southpaw Dave Miller in every game the rest of the way. At least he would be the choice if he pitched the way he did in the first game Thursday against Imlay City. The talented senior pitched a one hitter striking out 11 as Cass City coasted to a 6-1 decision. Miller helped his own cause with 3 hits in 4 tries.

The Hawks had on their hitting shoes in the second game to rack up a sweep. A 4-run rally in the fifth decided it. Cass City pounded out 13 hits to register the 7-4 decision. Jeremy Capps racked up 3 hits in 4 tries to show the way. Three other Hawks, Sontag, Krol and Nicholas, chipped in with 2 hits each. The lusty hitting attack made it easy for Kevin Parrish to chalk up the decision. He walked 3 and struck out 8 in the six-inning stint.

In the first game Monday, May 4, Miller won a laughter over the Vulcans, 13-3. The game was decided for all practical purposes after the third inning, when Cass City scored 5 times to take an 8-0 lead. Nicholas and Britt, with 2 hits each, led a 9-hit attack. Miller walked 3 and whiffed 5 in one of the easier outings of the year.

It's too bad that Cass City couldn't have saved some of the runs for the second game as the Vulcans rallied to hand Cass City its second league loss of the year.

Steve Gleeson, with last-inning relief help, pitched the win. The Vulcans won it with a big fifth inning when they scored all of their runs to register the 4-3 decision. Parrish, with relief help from Krol, was charged with the tough defeat. Before the big rally, the Hawks were locked in a tight pitching duel and were in front, 1-0. Cass City made a valiant effort to get back in the game in the last inning, but the 2-run rally was one short of tying the game.

O-G track teams finishing in middle of league pack

Both Owen-Gage High School track teams were expecting to finish in the middle of the pack at the North Central Thumb League meet Tuesday at Lakers after finishing regular season action last week.

Both the boys' and girls' squads picked up a win and a loss in a double dual meet May 5 against Carsonville/Port Sanilac and Port Hope.

The boys' team, 4-3-0, blasted Port Hope, 86-2, sweeping all 13 events.

Chris Abbe took the long jump with a mark of 16' 9 1/2", while teammate Rick Salcido won the high jump with a leap of 6'. Steve Root, meanwhile, won the shot put at 41' 1 1/2" and Stu Stirrett took the discus with a mark of 97' 6".

In the running events, Marc Reinhardt won the 100-yard dash with a time of 11.17 and the 440-yard dash with a time of 62.06. Terry Thorp took the one mile run and the 880 run at 6:29.7 and 2:54.56, respectively; Chad Stirrett took the 330 low hurdles with a mark of 47.98, and Stu Stirrett won the 220-yard dash with a time of 25.11.

The team also took the 880 and 440 relays as well as the mile relay.

The Bulldogs were less successful against CPS, losing 27-88.

Top performances in the meet for Owen-Gage were turned in by Root, who took the shot put with a mark of 41' 1 1/2", and Stu Stirrett, who won the discus at 97' 6". Owen-Gage's 880 relay squad also won.

GIRLS' TEAM

The lady Bulldogs, 2-4-1, lost to CPS, 32-69, but automatically claimed victory over Port Hope, which didn't field a team.

Owen-Gage clinched 4 events against CPS, with Andrea Mandich taking the long jump with a leap of 13' 3", Susie Salcido winning the discus (101' 1"), and the lady Bulldogs' 440 and 880 relay squads emerging victorious with times of 60.92 and 2:08.02, respectively.

Despite no opponent, the girls' team competed during the scheduled Port Hope meet.

Top performances for the squad were recorded by Mandich, who competed in the long jump and 100-yard dash with marks of 13' 13" and 12.67, respectively; Salcido, who finished the shot put with a throw of 26' 7 1/4" and the discus with a toss of 101' 1"; Brandy Salcido, who had a time of 3:29.34 in the 880 run, and Andrea Goslin, who turned in a time of 34.38 in the 220-yard dash. Owen-Gage's 880 relay team finished with a time of 2:08.02.

The Bulldogs, led by doubles from Stu Stirrett and Graham Besonen, held on to a 2-1 lead going into the seventh inning, when N.B. Wesleyan rallied with 4 runs to snatch the victory.

Dennis Maxwell, who had a one-hitter going until the final inning, took the loss.

O-G records first win of season

Owen-Gage baseball mentor Jim Wissner and his charges will head into a North Central Thumb league twin bill against Kingston Thursday with a little more of something they haven't had much of in 1987--confidence.

The Bulldogs, who were scheduled to play Caseville Monday, clinched their first victory of the season Thursday against Deckerville, 11-7, before being blanked by the Eagles in the nightcap, 14-0.

Owen-Gage, 1-7 in the league and 1-9 overall, racked up all 8 of its runs in the first 2 innings of the opener with some help from Deckerville, which had 4 errors in the first inning.

"We just pounded the ball," Wissner remarked, adding that winning pitcher Kevin Koch "really threw a good game."

The Bulldogs' top hitters were Chris Abbe, who cracked a 3-run homer in the second inning; Marc Reinhardt, who went 3 for 4 with a double and 2 singles; Brian Abbe, who was 3 for 4 with 3 singles, and Chad Stirrett and Brad Susalla, who each contributed 2 singles.

Owen-Gage "just ran out of gas" in the nightcap, according to Wissner, who saw his team, including 6 freshman in 9 starting positions, give up 9 runs on 7 hits in the first 2 innings. The game ended after 4 innings on the 10-run "mercy" rule.

Reinhardt was the losing pitcher. Owen-Gage dropped a non-league contest May 4 against North Branch Wesleyan, 5-2.

Owendale native chosen Warden of the Year in Maine

Warden Specialist Michael J. O'Connell of Naples has been selected as Maine's Warden of the Year for 1986.

O'Connell, 38, was chosen by a board of fellow officers and superiors in the Maine Warden Service.

In making his recommendation to the board, O'Connell's supervisor, Warden Lt. William Vail of the Gray Division A Headquarters, (now Commissioner of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife), noted that he has effectively patrolled the busy Sebago Lake and surrounding area for the past 16 years.

Vail's recommendation notes that: "Warden O'Connell's trademark through the years has been his firm but fair approach to the public, and his consistent dedication to duty. He has always been respected by the courts for his excellent judgment in enforcement situations.

"Mike has never been one to seek the limelight but never fails to get the job done. All aspects of Warden O'Connell's work are consistently well done, from report writing to vehicle maintenance. He is a man of few words with a strong, professional work ethic. He is a valued member of the Warden Service and is worthy of consideration for the honor of Maine's Warden of the Year."

O'Connell joined the Maine Warden Service in September 1968, being first assigned to the Burbank (Seebomook Lake) District for one year, and transferring to nearby Pittston Farm for 2 years. He was assigned to the Naples District in 1971, where he has remained since.

He has been a member of

the Warden Service Diving Team since 1982, and has participated in many underwater searches and recoveries of drowning victims. He helped save a victim from drowning who was clinging to an overturned boat at Big Bog Lake, whose companion had drowned. He has also won several shooting trophies as a member of the Warden Service Pistol Team, and is one of the original members of the Warden Service Color Guard.

Warden O'Connell served 3 years in the U.S. Marines, including one year in combat in Vietnam.

A native of Owendale, he is a graduate of Owendale High School. He is married to the former Dorothy Gagnon of Exeter, N.H., and they have a daughter, Carolyn, 18, and a son, Michael Jr., 16.

He is the son of Irene O'Connell and the late Lawrence O'Connell of Owendale.

Kubacki named an All-American

Janet Kubacki

A Cass City Intermediate eighth grader recently was named an Academic All-American by the National Secondary Education Council.

The student, Janet Kubacki, daughter of Anthony and Mary A. Kubacki, was nominated for the national award by intermediate school counselor Richard B. Partlo. Her name will appear in the Academic All-American Scholar Directory, which is published nationally.

The award program was established in order to offer recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The All-American scholars must earn a minimum 3.3 grade point average.

Only those students recommended by a school counselor, teacher or other qualified sponsor are considered for the program. Those pupils accepted as All-Americans are also eligible for other awards given by the education council.

By Bill Myers

Here's a do-it-yourself annuity, the way we do it in the country. No commissions, no lawyers, no book-keeping, no fancy trust documents to cost you a bundle.

THE PROBLEM:

Dear Bill:

My son is 40 years old. He is one of that great group where thrift and frugality are only cross-word puzzle words. He will always be nearly broke.

On the other hand, he's a good boy (boy?—he's 40) and I'd like to supplement his income so he can live better. I can afford to do this, but I'd prefer not to make it a lump sum. Let's say I can hand out $100,000 now.

His income tax bracket is not likely to be over 15%. Got any ideas?

STEVE B.

Dear Steve:

If it's any comfort to you, lots of others have a similar problem.

My suggestion:

Put the $100,000 in a no-load mutual fund investing in Ginny Mae government securities. My favorite is Scudder Stevens & Clark. Their address: Scudder Fund Distributors, 175 Federal St., Boston, Mass. 02110. WATS line -- 1-800-225-2470.

It's a no-load fund, and Scudder has been around for 60 years. I've owned some of their funds at various times.

Current return today is 8.5% with a per share cost of $14.92. Unlike some Ginnie Mae funds, the pay-downs on mortgages in the fund automatically are re-invested, so the yield is not inflated by giving you some of your own money back.

The fund is always fully invested, in other words. Your principal will not erode by mortgages being paid off, for the payments are plowed back into the fund.

You want to discourage your son from blowing the 100 grand all at once. Put the cash in a joint account. Use his Social Security Number as the one to get the year-end information on the tax he'll owe. Use your own home address to get the statements. Tell him at the end of the year how much taxable income he's had.

Be as vague as you want about the details of the account, remembering it is joint with him. You can make it necessary to have signatures for withdrawals.

O.K. So you've started the plan, and plunked down $100,000.

Assuming interest rates stay at 8.5%, you can have $833 a month ($10,000 a year) sent to your son for the next 23 years before the fund is exhausted. By that time Social Security will be along for him and will make comparable payments the rest of his life.

If you want to make the annual payments to him, $9,000 a year or $750 a month, the fund will last 35 years and your son will be 75.

Remember, the $10,000 a year does not affect your gift tax exemption, so you will still have the "unified credit" of a total of $600,000 exemption from estate tax when you die. Bequests to your spouse can be unlimited. You can give up to $600,000 to your children, and the balance to your wife, and there's no Federal tax to pay, and the tax return is a simple, quick and cheap thing to file in this case.

A 35-year pay-out ought to be plenty long, maybe longer than the world will last. Some think the only survivors then may be hippies and crab grass.

Fifth's Disease reported in county

Over the past week, several cases of Fifth's Disease have been reported to the Tuscola County Health Department.

This viral infection is most commonly seen in children from 5 to 14 years of age, and communicability of the disease is high within close contact groups, such as families and school rooms.

Diagnosis is based on

$4,000 in damage reported

Malicious destruction hits business near Cass City

Malicious destruction of property and suspected arson totalling some $4,000 in damage at the old M & M Block plant near Cass City is being investigated by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

According to a report filed at the department, sheriff's deputies were called by the Elkland Township Fire Department May 1 to investigate a suspected arson in which a 1970 pickup truck and camper, and a 1966 farm truck with a dump box caught fire.

Both vehicles were located at the old block plant near Kelly Road. Also discovered were 73 cut tires on various vehicles and farm implements.

Mike Otulakowski told deputies that his father, Eugene Otulakowski, owns the building and property, which are used in conjunction with a used farm equipment business.

Also filed at the department over the past week was a fleeing and eluding complaint by deputy James Jashinske.

Jashinske's report states that he observed a motorcycle northbound on Colwood physical findings, and especially on the presentation of a red rash which occurs initially on the cheeks and runs together to give the face a "slapped" appearance. The rash then spreads to the extremities and takes on a speckled look. The rash may come and go for periods up to 3 weeks. Mild symptoms may occur, including headache, low grade fever, sore throat, and upset stomach.

Complications of the infection are extremely rare and control measures are not indicated. In the event an obvious diagnosis cannot be made, it is suggested that patients contact their family physician or the health department for advice. It is suggested that children be kept home until the initial rash begins to fade.

As with any viral illness, avoid the use of aspirin or aspirin containing products. Allow the child extra rest periods if indicated.

Open house slated today

The Tuscola County Medical Care Facility, 1285 Cleaver Road, Caro, is observing National Nursing Home Week, May 10-16, by sponsoring an open house and ice cream social Wednesday, May 13, from 2 to 6 p.m. at the facility.

Road near Elmwood Road which appeared to be traveling at a "high rate of speed."

Jashinske began pursuit of the motorcycle after clocking the vehicle at 95 miles per hour. The motorcycle continued traveling at a high rate of speed into Colwood, where it made an eastbound turn onto Dickerson Road near a residence behind the Colwood Party Store, the report states.

Jashinske stated that he discovered a motorcycle with keys in the ignition behind the residence, and that the vehicle was hot to the touch. He was unable to locate the driver, however.

The motorcycle, which has been impounded pending contact by its owner with the sheriff's department, is registered to Dennis J. Dillon, 2010 E. Dickerson Rd., Unionville.

DOG BITE

A Novesta Township youth was treated and released at Caro Community Hospital after being bitten by a dog.

Jared A. Bush, 9, 2297 Colwood Rd., received puncture wounds to his upper right arm in the incident Saturday.

He was playing with the animal when the bite occurred, according to the report. The dog, owned by Gary Hoist, 5879 Bruce St., Deford, was tied to a tree in Hoist's yard at the time.

A vehicle parked overnight near Phillips Road north of Mushroom Road in Kingston Township was damaged and broken into Thursday night, with damage and missing items totaling some $2,275.

Sheriff's deputies were contacted by Mike Otulakowski, who stated that windows of a vehicle parked at the location at about 8:30 p.m. apparently had been smashed.

Upon investigation, deputies learned that Sandra Brinkman, 3467 Elm St., Kingston, had left the vehicle near Phillips road after it broke down. All the windows were smashed and there was some body damage in addition to 3 tires being stolen, the report stated.

Also, Arthur Brinkman, who owns the vehicle, stated that a tool box, a battery, a tire jack and an air conditioning pump had been stolen.

A Gagetown woman filed a complaint of larceny--unlawfully driving away an automobile following an incident Friday morning.

Margaret F. Fischer stated that she was at her mother's residence at 6554 Gage St., when her aunt, Julia M. Kiskie, 43, Caro, entered the residence and then left in a vehicle which was parked at the residence.

Fischer reported that keys, $12 in cash and $14 in food stamps are missing from the residence. The case remains under investigation, according to the report.

A malicious destruction of property complaint was filed by Joe Koepf, 5380 Severance Rd., Deford, who reported that someone damaged 12 pine trees near his daughter's residence at 5256 Severance Rd.

Koepf, who estimated damage at $75, stated that the damage was caused by a pickup truck or similar vehicle May 3.

Robin L. Nowland, 316 Hamilton St., Caro, reported that someone scratched the paint on her vehicle May 5 while it was parked overnight at 2186 Tomlinson Rd., Caro. Damage is estimated at more than $350.

LARCENY

Larceny of a log splitter was reported by Derek A. Romain, 4960 N. Cemetery Rd., Cass City.

Romain stated that the log splitter, located near his residence, was taken sometime after May 5 and before noon Friday. No estimate was available on the value of the equipment.

67 pints of blood collected locally

Organizers of a blood drive in Cass City, held May 5 at Hills and Dales General Hospital, fell just short of their goal of 70 units of blood, collecting a total of 67 units.

The drive, sponsored by the Cass City-Gagetown Knights of Columbus, drew 82 persons, including several "veteran" donors.

First-time donors were Aaron LaPonsie, Mike

Kropewnicki, and Delbert, Leona and Vicky Englehart.

Dean Little, meanwhile, made it to the one-gallon mark, while Kathy Rosenberger reached 2 gallons and Owen Pierce, 6 gallons.

Cass City's next blood drive will be held Sept. 16 at the hospital.

The most popular adult sport in Britain is dart-throwing.
