Peters injured in cycle crash

A 20-year-old Cass City man was listed in "serious" condition Monday at Saginaw St. Mary's Hospital after sustaining head injuries in a motorcycle-car accident Friday at the intersection of Main and Seeger streets.

Patrick A. Peters, 5822 Cass City Rd., was taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital and then transferred via helicopter to Saginaw.

According to Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson, Peters was eastbound on Main Street at about 8:30 a.m. when he collided with a vehicle driven by Dorothy J. Taylor, 6351 Greenland Rd., Cass City. Taylor was attempting to make a left turn onto southbound Seeger Street when the accident occurred.

Wilson said that Taylor's vehicle was meeting a school bus which was turning left onto northbound Seeger Street, and that she failed to see Peters in the right lane.

Both vehicles sustained light damage. No citation was issued.

CASS CITY POLICE Chief Gene Wilson stands near a downed motorcycle which minutes earlier collided with a car at the intersection of Main and Seeger Streets. The driver of the motorcycle, Patrick Peters, Cass City, is listed in "serious" condition.

Tot slips, loses toes in mishap

A 5-year-old Cass City girl involved in a lawn mower accident May 25 was listed in "good" condition Tuesday morning at Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Sarah Rutkowski has undergone several bouts with surgery, including amputation of all the toes on her right foot following the incident, which occurred at her grandparents' home at 4793 N. Seeger St.

According to Sarah's grandparents, Wayne (Buck) and Mary Rabideau, Sarah was playing near the lawn mower when she slipped and the mower backed over her. Sarah and her mother, Nannette Rutkowski, reside at the Rabideau residence.

The youngster, who suffered lacerations of the foot and leg, and broken bones, was rushed to Hills and Dales General Hospital, and then transferred via helicopter to Ann Arbor.

"They said she was so lucky she hadn't cut the nerves," Mary remarked Tuesday about her granddaughter. She added that the family has received a lot of support since the mishap occurred. "We appreciate all the prayers," she added.

Persons interested in sending a card to Sarah can write in care of Floor 5E, Bed 22, Mott Children's Hospital, 1500 E. Medical Center Drive, Ann Arbor, 48109.

Boat capsized

Elderly Vassar man drowns

An 89-year-old Vassar man drowned May 27 when a boat he was fishing in capsized in the Cass River.

Earl J. Phelps, 2922 Washburn, was pronounced dead at the scene by a medical examiner.

According to a Tuscola County Sheriff's Department report, Phelps and Donna Becker, 51, 2922 Washburn, Vassar, were fishing in a small boat in the Cass River about 1/4 mile south of Romain Road in Almer Township. They were drift fishing and the boat's motor was not turned on, the report stated.

A witness told deputies the boat capsized at about 1:30 p.m. when the victim stood up in the vessel. Becker sustained no injuries and Phelps was found by a volunteer diving team at 6:34 p.m., the report stated.

An autopsy was requested to determine the cause of death. There were no lifesaving devices on board the boat, according to the report.

In Monday's elections

4 school districts seeking millage

Requests for additional millage will be decided in 2 of 4 area school districts, and 6, 4-year board of education seats and one, one-year seat will be decided in annual school elections Monday.

The Cass City and Kingston School districts are asking for millage renewals, while Ubyly School District voters are being asked to approve an additional 3.2 mills.

The Owen-Gage School District, the only out-of-formula district among the 4 school systems, is asking for renewal of 6 mills plus 9.5 additional mills.

CASS CITY

Voters in the Cass City

district will be asked to approve renewal of 16.9 operational mills for 3 years. Currently, the district levies a total of 26.9 mills, including one mill for asbestos removal.

That 2-year millage will raise a total of about $210,000 provided the district's state equalized valuation, which has dropped nearly 15 percent ($15.5 million) over the past 2 years, remains the same.

With a 1987 SEV of about $92.2 million, compared to $107.7 million in 1985, a request for additional millage can be expected in another year or so, according to school Supt. Donald Crouse.

While the state's formula for school aid picks up losses in SEV—Cass City receives some $2,065 per pupil in aid—the school district has operated with deficit budgets in 1985 ($41,349) and 1986 ($72,661), and expects a deficit of some $100,000 in 1987.

Also to be decided by voters are 3 school board seats. Incumbents Louis E. Horner and Edward C. Scollon are being challenged by James G. Turner and Martin R. Daniel for 2, 4-year seats, while incumbent Beverly Auten is being challenged by Kay Warner for a one-year seat.

KINGSTON

The Kingston Board of Education has approved seeking renewal of 16 mills for 5 years for a continued total levy of 29.5 mills.

The district currently levies 4 mills for 4 years (through 1989), .5 of a mill for 6 years (through 1991) for major maintenance, and 16 mills for 3 years (expires this year). A mill in the district, which has sustained a 19 percent drop in SEV over the past 2 years, raises about $50,000.

As an in-formula school district, Kingston receives $2,476 per pupil from the state.

Marlene Powell is challenging incumbent James Green for his 4-year school board seat.

Ubyly School District voters will be asked to approve an additional one mill for 5 years to purchase new school buses, plus another 2.2 mills for one year for operations.

A continuing trend of declining enrollment is partly responsible for the request, which would bring the district's total operational levy to 28.8 mills. School officials say they expect to lose some 50 students in the high school over the next 2 years. The state currently pays Ubyly $2,200 per student in aid.

One mill raises about $64,000 in the district, which has sustained a 16 percent drop in SEV over the past 2 years.

Two, 4-year school board seats will be decided by voters. The candidates are incumbent J. Kevin O'Connor and challengers Harold "Harry" Swartzentruber and Roger C. Kincaid. Incumbent Arthur Jahn decided not to seek re-election.

OWEN-GAGE

Clearly one of the hardest hit among area schools by plummeting agricultural land values is the Owen-Gage School District, which is asking its voters to approve a total levy of 41 mills, including the 15.9 mill request.

The district has sustained a drop of 28.5-29.5 percent (nearly $13.3 million) in SEV—none of which is made up by the state—over the past 2 years.

According to school Supt. Harley B. Kirby, an additional decrease of 10.5 percent in SEV would be required in order for the district to be in-formula.

The district's 1987 SEV has been set at nearly $34.6 million, compared to $44.7 million in 1986 and $47.8 million in 1985.

Kirby says that without approval of the special 15.9 mill request, the district will face a budget deficit of $525,993.

With no fund equity, the district would probably net $10,289 if the proposal passes, but the superintendent says the extra would quickly disappear. He cited upcoming teacher contract negotiations, frozen non-certified staff wage levels and an expected 10-20 percent hike in insurance rates.

If approved, the 6 mill renewal would raise $207,593, the additional 9.5 mills would net $328,689 and the remaining 25.5 mills will raise $882,270.

School board trustee Patrick Goslin is seeking re-election unopposed.

O-G Supt. Kirby outlines bleak future if millage request fails

Only 7 persons turned out last week for 2 public meetings called for the purpose of explaining the Owen-Gage School District's total 41 mill request; to be decided in the annual school election Monday.

The request includes a single question of renewal of 6 mills plus an additional 9.5 mills.

School Supt. Harley B. Kirby, visibly frustrated Thursday night by residents' comments about voters' negative feelings on the millage, wasted no time in stating his case as he did during a similar meeting May 26.

"If the millage doesn't pass, we will have enough money to go one semester," he remarked after presenting figures on the district's financial status (see election roundup story). "It wouldn't be any benefit to put (the requests) into 2 different issues because if they passed (only) the renewal, we still couldn't make it."

"You drop over $10 million and you have no fund equity—it's serious," Kirby said. "I know it's going to cost us more to operate next year."

Board President Ron Good, who also attended the 2-hour informational meeting Thursday, agreed.

"Let's face it, your biggest cost is the people... and I don't think they're being overpaid compared to other schools," he commented.

Good noted that despite the financial problems and implications of a rejected millage proposal, he won't try to force district residents to vote. "Do we as a board have to threaten people to get them to buy a millage? I'll never do that."

COMPLAINTS

Mike Mandich, Owen-Gage, who regularly attends Owen-Gage Board of Education meetings, indicated voters are dissatisfied with the board's handling of school finances.

"I don't think the board is well informed," regarding why people are against the millage, he said. Mandich added that the board appeared to be spending excessively following approval last year of the special 6-mill request.

Linda Mellendorf, an Owen-Gage School bus driver, also commented, noting there's dissatisfaction among residents concerning a number of issues ranging from athletics to personnel.

Kirby and Good disputed the charges relating to financial management of the district. They also asked why, if there are numerous complaints on management of the school, are residents not attending board meetings.

"IF THE MILLAGE doesn't pass, we will have enough to go one semester."

--Owen-Gage School Supt. Harley Kirby.

Meg's Peg
Cool sales tactics
by Melva E. Guinther

Last week I experienced what may have been the ultimate in garage sales -- air conditioning.

It was 90 degrees in the shade and the enterprising sellers had plugged in the large air conditioner they wanted to sell. Besides keeping them cool, it showed potential buyers how well the unit worked, and the relief from the heat encouraged them to linger longer over other wares.

Garage sale aficionados are in their glory these days. Eighteen were advertised in our little community last week.

A lot of psychology is involved in a garage sale, on the part of both buyer and seller.

The fanatic shopper turns to the household sales page when the local paper's hot off the press and begins planning strategy, checking the date, time and location of each sale. One can waste valuable time by haphazardly randomly from one side of town to another.

If the sale is to start at 9, they arrive no later than 8:30. Some even wheedle the seller into an advance showing, in which case they can park in another driveway at 8:30.

"Early sales" infuriate other garage sale enthusiasts, who either didn't have the nerve to ask or didn't think of it.

Snob shoppers, on the other hand, like to give the impression that this is not something they ordinarily do. They just happened to be driving by and thought it might be interesting.

Practiced negotiators recognize that it's an art. It may mean making the seller believe that you want that blue blazer in the worst way, but you just don't have $7.50. Or it could involve pretending nonchalance over a crock for which you'd sacrifice your firstborn.

If a shopper finds someone else eyeing an item in which she's interested, she's much more likely to clutch it to her bosom without hesitation. Otherwise, she'll consider the pros and cons, and whether it might be marked down later.

Some customers feel it's their inalienable right, if not their duty, to dicker. "What's the least you'll take for that Christmas tree stand?" (marked 50c).

Preparing for and conducting a sale makes you a little crazy. You find yourself putting the spit 'n' shine on a dish you're going to mark 10c.

You alternately wonder, depending on how sales are going, whether you've priced things too high or too low. If a $5 picture sells quickly, you think, "I should have asked $10."

If 3 customers pass up a lamp at $5, you quickly mark it down to $4.

Make no mistake. Garage sales are big business. How-to books are available on the subject. As soon as the shopping season winds down a bit, I plan to take time to write one myself.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire
(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Let it be known, Supt. Donald Crouse said, that the Cass City School Board nominated a person to be honored at the Thumb Meet of Champions at Caro. The information was furnished the committee before the deadline, according to Crouse, but somehow was overlooked.

Nominated was Robert Stickle. He's been associated with the meet since it originated and has a sparkling record of working with track athletes at all levels in Cass City.

It doesn't figure, but it happened, reports Laura Richards, daughter of Russ and Harriett Richards, who now live in Florida. Russ was Cass City High School principal until this school year and his wife ran a barber-shop here.

What doesn't figure is that the Richards, who have been married around 30 years, were selected to be taped on the Bob Eubanks' newlywed game.

Auditions were held in a Florida mall and from among 100 contestants, the Richards were among 4 selected.

No word on whether it will actually get on the boob tube, Laura reports, but the Richards have a tape of their participation in the show.

My spies who live on the beach on Saginaw Bay gleefully report that the water temperature was around 70 degrees. That would make ideal swimming, but Saturday evening on a ride around the shore we saw not a single swimmer in the water from just east of Sleeper State Park to Port Austin.

Area pupils honored by Army

Five students from area high schools are among 20 high school seniors honored recently for their combined scholastic and athletic achievements.

The students received the U.S. Army Reserve National Scholar/Athlete award.

Among the Thumb recipients are Stu Stirrett and Cindy Enderle from Owen-Gage High School, David Landeryou and Karen Goniwiecha from Ubyly High School and Lisa Meier from Kingstons High School.

A LITTLE MESSY, maybe, but Charissa Geary, 4, didn't seem to mind in Friday's sweltering heat. Above, she holds 2 cones at Kar Mikel's Dairy Cone in Cass City while her brother, Joseph, 6, went in search of napkins. They are the children of the Rev. and Mrs. Randy Geary.

Enderle was among 2 pupils receiving special recognition. She has a 4.0 grade point average and was chosen valedictorian of her class. Enderle is a National Merit Scholarship winner, a member of the National Honor Society, an all-conference athlete, team MVP in basketball, a member of the volleyball and softball teams, class president, band member and a Student Council representative.

Last year, teachers, coaches and administrators from 9,708 high schools throughout the United States chose 18,125 pupils as National Scholar/Athlete winners. This was the highest number ever to attain the levels of excellence required to qualify for the award.

The Haire Net

Usually when there is competition for a position on the Cass City School Board it's because things haven't been running smoothly and there is dissatisfaction with the way things are running at the school.

There don't appear to be any major hang-ups at this time and that's why it is surprising that 6 candidates are seeking the 3 open posts in the June 8 election.

It's not surprising that the Chronicle knew about the 6 before they decided to run. Persons willing to devote the time to jobs like the school board most often are active in all kinds of civic endeavors.

It's also not unusual that all of the candidates are known personally by the writer. And that's the blessing and the curse of writing in small towns and close-knit communities.

The candidates, their backgrounds and positions on selected issues are in this paper. Chances are that many of you know each individual the way I do. Seeking the 4-year term are incumbents Louis E. Horner and Dr. Edward Scollon and challengers James G. Turner and Martin R. Daniel.

We believe that the incumbents have earned the right to reelection. Both have exhibited a willingness to work outside of the board meetings on school related problems. His job sometimes keeps Horner out of town, but he compensates by the extra hours he devotes to school business. One of Scollon's strong contributions is the way he conducts the meetings, helping keep potentially volatile situations from exploding.

We were happy to see Daniel decide to run. He hasn't been in town long, but he has shown an interest in what the school is doing. He could bring a new perspective to the board and if he doesn't make it this time, we'd hope that he will try again when the competition is not as competent.

Turner is no stranger to the community. He has sponsored softball in town and has a business background. We wouldn't stay up nights worrying about the school if he won a seat on the board.

An interesting situation is the election to fill a vacancy. Appointed to the position last year was Beverly Auten. The winner of this post will serve for one year. Opposing Auten is Kay Warner. In the short time she has been on the board we haven't heard much from Auten. Warner has shown an interest in the school board and its actions, attending several meetings about school problems.

In an unsuccessful campaign to have the Girl Scouts use the school bus for transportation, she has shown that she isn't afraid to work for programs she feels worthy.

It may well be that Auten is waiting to get a firm grasp on the issues before exerting herself. It's not bad to watch, listen and learn when you are the new kid on the block.

And the term of office is just for a year. She deserves a "honeymoon" period. In 1988 when she will run again, it will be fair to assess her contributions.

One final note. At the risk of boring you with a tired cliché, let me remind you again that your vote counts. There are a lot of bucks at stake here and more than half of you who are eligible won't go to the polls. If you are in that half, don't say a word about the way the school is operated.

"If It Fitz..." School sweep

By Jim Fitzgerald

Emily got caught in a school sweep. She attends something called Early Fives, which is for children not quite old enough for kindergarten. Early five is a scary age to be forced to wait in the principal's office while your mother is summoned to come deal with your infraction of school rules. There were some tears.

Many people are concerned about the rights of those children required by law to attend school but not allowed to enter the building without first submitting to a weapons search, not because there's any good reason to believe they're carrying weapons, but only because they belong to the same age group as a comparatively minuscule number of youngsters who have been caught with guns.

If that's not a violation of constitutional rights, then I'm not making a lot of people angry by questioning the school weapons sweeps now in vogue in Detroit.

It is impossible to argue against those who say treating all kids like suspicious characters is better than letting one gun slip by and eventually kill a youngster. And if airline passengers pass through metal detectors, why not students?

There is the argument that no one is forced to fly — as kids are forced to attend school — but that's weak. Air travel has become too pervasive in a society that increasingly moves too fast for trains and other old-fashioned transportation. It is stronger to point out the huge difference between the damage caused by an explosive device on an airliner and a pistol in school.

But the best argument is the overwhelming evidence that weapon sweeps are ineffective. Gun-toters can easily stash their weapons before going to school, and society should protect its children outside school as well as inside. A boy shot 2 blocks from school dies just as quickly as a boy shot in the school cafeteria.

People in a position to know say it's generally possible to identify the few youngsters most likely to be carrying guns. Authorities should concentrate on them — and also concentrate on penalizing them severely, evenly and without fail.

Otherwise, when everyone eventually agrees that searching all students hasn't stopped the shooting, what will be the next step — searching everyone else, or searching all homes?

Sweeping searches are simply a high-visibility maneuver aimed at persuading the public that something is being done. It may be harder and less glitzy to base searches on reasonable cause, but that's the way it's supposed to be done in the United States.

On a much, much less serious level, consider the case of Emily. She didn't pack a gun to Early Fives class, but — are you ready? — she wore a skort! Skorts are the same as culottes — divided skirts. In Emily's small-town public school system, little girls are forbidden to wear shorts to school (but shorts are OK for high school girls; figure that one out). Emily's mother thought a skort reaching the knees would be acceptable, but she was wrong.

It was a reasonable mistake, and there was a reasonable solution: quietly phone Mother to bring a dress to school, or send a skort-scorching note home with Emily. It seemed unreasonable to tell a five-year-old she was dressed wrong and banish her to the principal's office.

And, of course, there is the bigger question of the limits on a public school's right to regulate students' clothing. Are culottes on a five-year-old girl really more disruptive to classroom decorum than shorts — or glued-on-jeans — on a 17-year-old girl?

But I'm not going to worry about it. Instead, I'm worrying about all the Detroit youngsters — and parents — who would love to live in a city where school officials can crack down on skorts instead of guns.

Your neighbor says

Swimming great way to beat heat

Temperatures hovering around the 90 degree mark for some of this past week, coupled with the high humidity, let us know that summer may already be here, even if it is only the first week in June. A local radio station is promoting a contest where listeners wager when the temperature will reach 100 degrees.

Just thinking about those hot, sticky nights may have some people wondering when, and if, snow will ever fall again. With Michigan's unpredictable weather, it may be next week.

In the meantime, people are starting to think of some ways to keep cooler until the temperature is more to their liking.

Your neighbor, Tena Ashcroft, 21, says her ideal way to stay cool this summer will be swimming.

"My parents have a big pond in the backyard that I swim in when it's real hot out. If they're not around, I'll go to my uncle's and swim over there," she said.

When her parents are home to watch and make sure someone doesn't get hurt while swimming in the pond, sometimes her neighbors will come over and swim, she added.

"Another way my family stays cool in the summer is the air conditioning in my mom's and dad's bedroom. Everybody goes in there and closes the door," Ashcroft explained.

She noted that her own bedroom has a fan for those hot summer nights.

"I had it on all (Wednesday) night. I'm not about to roast up in my room," she said.

She remarked that her favorite beverage to quench her thirst is Kool-Aid.

The Ashcrofts also have a patio overlooking the pond in their backyard where they can relax, she said.

Ashcroft lives with her parents Tom and Rose Ashcroft at 504 S. Kingston Rd., Deford.

Kostanko has returned to base in N. Carolina

Marine Lance Cpl. Del Kostanko has returned to his base in Cherry Point, N.C. after completing participation in cold weather exercises in Wisconsin and Norway.

Cpl. Del Kostanko

He was involved in rigorous cold weather training and helped fulfill his unit's role of close-in Air Defense for Marine Air and Ground Forces during exercises "Alpine Warrior" and "Cold Winter-87."

A 1985 Cass City High School graduate, Kostanko, who joined the Marine Corps in June 1985, finished a 1-year tour of duty in Japan in December.

He is the son of Marcie Kostanko, 6909 Pringle Rd., Cass City.

The candidate who ran most often for President was Norman Thomas who ran—and lost—six times: 1928, 1932, 1936, 1940, 1944 and 1948.

Pine to compete in national competition

Cass City High School senior Kerri Pine will take part in a national vocational competition following her second-place finish in the state Vocational Industrial Clubs of America competition.

Pine, who competed in the category entitled, "job interview," will compete in the national competition June 23-28 in Wichita, Kan.

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America were created in order for students to develop individual leadership skills and further their vocational education experience through competition in the clubs' Skill Olympics.

CASS CITY High School senior Kerri Pine poses with a plaque and medal she won in the state Vocational Industrial Clubs of America competition. Her performance earned her a spot in national competition.

Gagetown resident arraigned on 3 charges in District Court

A Gagetown man was arraigned Friday on charges of malicious destruction of property over $100, driving with a restricted license and reckless driving May 15 in Gagetown.

A preliminary exam has been set for John R. Olszak, 5584 Walsh Rd., for June 9. Bond was set at $5,000.

If convicted, Olszak faces a maximum sentence of 4 years imprisonment or a $2,000 fine.

Arraigned Monday was Gene L. Gilmore, 26, Vassar, on charges of possession of stolen property under $100, delivery and manufacturing of marijuana, possession of a switchblade firearm and safety inspection violations. Gilmore's arraignment stems from an April 3 arrest at his residence in Vassar Township.

A preliminary exam was set for 8:30 a.m. June 10. Bond was set at $7,500 and Gilmore was released on his own personal recognizance.

If convicted, Gilmore faces maximum sentences of 5 years imprisonment and/or a $2,500 fine for the stolen property charge; for the delivery/manufacture charge, 4 years imprisonment and/or a $2,000 fine; on the firearm possession charge, one year imprisonment and/or a $300 fine, and for the safety violation charge, 90 days jail term and/or a $100 fine.

Arraigned Monday was Daniel L. Kennedy, 30, Caro, on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon in Juniata Township May 28.

A preliminary exam was set for 8:30 a.m. June 10. Bond was set at $10,000.

If convicted, he faces a maximum sentence of 4 years imprisonment or a $2,000 fine.

Bryan C. Adams, 27, of Caro was also arraigned Monday on charges of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicating liquor, third offense, and operating a motor vehicle while license is suspended, second offense.

Adams was stopped by a Tuscola County Sheriff's Department deputy May 14 on Chambers Road in Indianfields Township.

A preliminary exam was set for 8:30 a.m. June 10. Bond was set at $400.

Adams faces a maximum sentence of 1-5 years imprisonment or a $5,000 fine and a revoked license.

Deborah L. McLaughlin, 33, 3320 River St., Kingston, was sentenced Monday on a May 5 conviction of impaired driving.

McLaughlin was given 2 years probation, ordered to pay $207 in fines and $143 in costs, restitution of $60, and her license was restricted for 3 months.

McLaughlin's conviction stems from an incident March 20 on M-46 in Dayton Township.

SOME 43 DEFORD Christian Academy students pose with boxes filled with workbooks to be sent to Christian Schools in India. The area school will spend some $500 to ship the books, which cover English, math, social studies, science and spelling.

Area school donates workbooks

Some 2,000 used Christian workbooks designed for students in grades K-5 will be erased and used again by pupils in Christian schools in India, thanks to the Deford Christian Academy, which is donating the books.

According to kindergarten supervisor Karen Cox, the workbooks were previously used by the academy's 43 K-fifth graders. The workbooks, called Packets of Accelerated Christian Education, cover topics such as English, math and spelling.

"This is the first year we've tried" donating the used workbooks, Cox remarked, adding, the books "would have been thrown out, so we're just putting them in boxes and mailing them."

The academy is also paying 55 cents per pound, about $500, for postage. The money was raised last fall by students, who sold fruit.

Cox added that the project has been a good experience for her pupils. "Selling the fruit was the hardest part for them," she said.

County Board

Purchasing plan okayed

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners last week approved implementing a central purchasing plan for county government following months of study on the matter.

According to county Clerk Elsie Hicks, the action means that county departments, which previously purchased supplies separately, will now submit requisition forms to a central purchasing office in an effort to coordinate the ordering of supplies and equipment. County Controller Michael Hoagland's office will be in charge of purchasing, she said.

The purchasing system will be administered by the board's Building and Grounds Committee.

The board also approved sending a letter to the various departments outlining the system procedures and explaining the timetable for making the first central purchase.

Hicks remarked that central purchasing is expected to be more efficient and net savings to the county. She had no estimate on how much is expected to be saved by switching to the new purchasing plan.

In other business during the May 26 regular meeting, the board heard from Probate Judge Wallace Kent, who requested that the probate court recorder's salary be raised to the level received by the district court recorder. He also requested an extra recorder machine.

According to Hicks, the difference between the 2 salaries is about $2,000. The current probate recorder, Minnie Brown, has served as recorder for both courts since the district court recorder quit.

Kent's requests were referred to the board's Personnel Committee for further study and a recommendation.

DRAIN RESOLUTIONS

The board approved 2 drain borrowing resolutions as presented by county Drain Commissioner Stanley C. Henry.

Henry presented one borrowing resolution for the State Inter-County Drain showing the county's share of the cost to be $186,200 plus $31,076.88 in interest. The drain runs through Columbia, Elmwood, Almer and Ellington townships in Tuscola County, and in Sebawaing and Brookfield townships in Huron County.

The other resolution is for the Kemp Inter-County Drain, located in Columbia and Sebawaing townships. That resolution sets Tuscola county's share at $201,000 plus $35,932.61 in interest.

Both projects are to be repaid from special assessment tax collections.

The board also approved a resolution requesting the Michigan Association of Counties to join the Michigan Committee to Continue the Revolving Fund Program.

The committee is working towards relief from the Internal Revenue Service, which has questioned whether interest on General Obligation Limited Tax Notes is exempt from taxes.

Locally, Tuscola County's sale of such notes has been canceled as a result of action by the IRS. The tax notes are sold to provide dollars that go into the county's Tax Payment Revolving Fund, which is used to pay delinquent taxes to cities, townships, school districts and other units within the county.

FOC COSTS

Also approved was a resolution allowing the Friend of the Court to collect costs assessed in certain domestic relations cases.

In a related matter, no agreement had been reached as of Monday afternoon on negotiations between the board and Circuit Court Judge Patrick Joslyn on FOC staffing and funding.

Personnel Committee Chairman John Goodchild, however, indicated he expects to see the issue settled soon.

Commissioners during their last meeting proposed giving an additional $35,000 for the FOC budget following Joslyn's rejection of a proposal earlier this year.

Also May 26, William Partlo, representing the veterans organization, appeared before the board regarding plans to hire a Veterans Counseling administrator.

The board received a letter and petition from David Dunn in opposition to the Department of Natural Resources proposed walleye fishery in the Cass River.

Jerome Root Jr. retires as chief; replaced by brother

The Elkland Township board voted to hire Lyle Kreh to do roadside cutting of tall grass, at its Monday meeting.

Kreh will be paid $1,000 to cut township roadsides a first time, and $700 if a second time is needed, the board decided.

It was also decided that chloride would be applied for each mile that is inhabited. If there is at least one house on a particular mile, the whole mile will have chloride applied to the road.

In other business the board:

Will pay Walt Jezewski $250 to be maintenance supervisor for the township.

Dick Root was hired at the meeting as the township's fire chief.

AROUND THE FARM

Watch for insect damage

By Bill Bortel

Farmers should start watching their fields for early signs of alfalfa weevil and cereal leaf beetle damage.

"This year, because of the mild winter and warm spring weather, insects became active earlier than usual," Bill Bortel, Tuscola County Extension Director, said. "By examining fields early, farmers can begin control measures before the insects do extensive damage," he added.

The adult alfalfa weevil has already been active for several days this spring, and farmers may find alfalfa plants on which the insect has eaten small holes in the tips. Adult weevils will stay at the bases of plants and are difficult to find, but in the larval stage, they are easy to spot on the leaf surface. Growers should look for a small grub, about 1/4 inch long with a black head, a green body and a white strip down the back.

To determine if an insecticide is needed to prevent further damage from the insects, growers should examine leaf tips for small holes in the top surface. If one fourth or more of the leaf tips show damage, we would suggest harvest immediately and farmers should spray the new growth with an approved insecticide. Several insecticides are available to control the weevil, such as Furadan or Lorsban, which give excellent control, but you must have at least 2 weeks prior to harvest.

If less than one fourth of the leaf tips are damaged or if harvest is scheduled within a week, there is no need for an insecticide application. Delaying the harvest will result in increased damage.

When inspecting small grain plantings for cereal leaf beetle damage, growers should look for small, elongated holes in plant leaves. The adult beetle is about 1/4 inch long with a red neck and metallic blue wing cover. Eggs of the cereal leaf beetle are yellowish and are found on the upper leaf surface. In the larval stage, the cereal leaf beetle is black with a slimy covering.

Beetles prefer spring planted small grains such as oats and barley to fall planted winter wheat crops. This year, because of the earlier than usual planting of these spring crops, growers can expect to find more beetles in their oats or barley than in wheat crops.

To determine if an insecticide spraying is needed to control cereal leaf beetle populations, growers should carefully examine the leaves of the crop. "If growers find 3 or more larvae and eggs on a plant, they should spray the fields to prevent further damage. Several recommended pesticides are available for cereal leaf beetle control," Bortel said.

HEALTH TIPS

Stroke's psychological effects are difficult

"It was like having another child in the family, and I felt that she would probably never outgrow these problems," said the husband of a stroke patient. "The worst part was, the more I tried to help her, the more agitated she would get." This husband's concern is a typical first reaction of a stroke victim's family.

There is hardly a family that hasn't been touched, perhaps devastated, by stroke. But if the victim survives the stroke, the family is far from helpless in influencing recovery, according to the American Heart Association of Michigan (AHA/MI). Many times, though, the influence and needs of the family are overlooked.

The more noticeable symptoms of stroke damage, such as loss or slurring of speech, partial or total paralysis of the limbs, and loss or impairment of vision or hearing, are not necessarily the most devastating for the family to deal with. Less-apparent psychological effects are often more difficult to manage or overcome.

It's often much harder for family members to deal with the depression and negative personality changes that may take place in the patient than it is to understand and accept the fact that Dad can't talk or Mom can't use her hands. "The sudden limitations the stroke patient encounters quite often lead to despair and thoughts of suicide. This is where stroke clubs are useful. If he sees other stroke patients recovering, he becomes more encouraged," says Fernando Diaz, M.D., chairman of the American Heart Association of Michigan's stroke committee.

The more a patient's behavior and personality changes for the worse, the harder it is on loved ones trying to care for him. If a patient is demanding and dependent, but simultaneously irritable, inconsiderate and hostile, it can create a seemingly impossible situation for the family. It may be hard for them to keep from responding with anger, guilt and depression of their own.

Families need to understand that brain damage is responsible for these emotional reactions, and that the patient has no more control over them than the physical functions impaired by the stroke. Many times, therapy emphasizes physical problems, while the harder-to-reach psychological problems are overlooked.

The longer the rehabilitation takes and the less complete the recovery, the more distressing the situation can be for the family. At first, the family is relieved that the patient is still alive and confident that he will soon be "back to normal." But recovery from stroke is much more complicated than getting over a broken leg or routine surgery.

"It's often a very long process," says Maury Ellenberg, M.D., who works in rehabilitation medicine at Detroit's Sinai Hospital and is also a member of the AHA/MI stroke committee. "Families should never give up hope, but must also face up to the reality of the situation."

While stroke patients should be encouraged to express their feelings of depression, it is important for family members not to be over-indulgent or overly protective. The idea is to show love and care for the patient while encouraging him to do as much as possible for himself.

"Families commonly do not expect enough of stroke patients and feel they need more help than they actually do," says Ellenberg. I have seen patients' progress severely hindered by well-meaning families. Someone who has an excellent chance of full recovery can become extremely dependent if they are waited on "hand and foot."

"Two out of every 3 stroke patients have a good chance of being fully independent again, but only if the family supports them and sees that they do as much as possible for themselves," says Ellenberg.

AHA's pamphlet, Strokes: A Guide for the Family, also emphasizes that "only family members can reassure patients that they are wanted and needed and still have an important place in the family unit."

If you're trying to help someone recover from a stroke, here are some important tips to remember:

(1) Consult with therapists as soon as possible to assess the extent of the damage and set realistic rehabilitation goals; then see that rehabilitation is started as soon as possible.

(2) Be active participants in the patient's therapy and exercise program, not merely observers. Therapy benefits covered by insurance may run out before recovery is complete, and private-pay therapy is very costly, so learn the procedures yourself.

(3) Talk frankly and regularly with the doctor about mental changes or other conditions that concern you. He can help you arrange for physical, occupational, speech or even psychiatric therapy as necessary.

(4) When it's time for the patient to come home, make sure that necessary household adjustments are made, such as installation of handrails and wheelchair ramps, and that troublesome obstacles are removed.

(5) When long-term, at-home care is required, divide duties and responsibilities so that the full burden doesn't fall on any one family member.

(6) Take concrete steps to build the patient's overall health and prevent another stroke through proper nutrition and good health habits. It is important that any prescribed medication is taken regularly. Also help to eliminate such risk factors as smoking and undue stress.

(7) Don't be discouraged! Keep working toward specific goals. Recovery of lost neurological functions generally can be expected within 2 years after a stroke, but long-range improvements in the quality of life still occur after that.

(8) Try to realize that neither you nor the patient is to blame for the trying episodes that may occur or the emotional upsets that grow out of the illness.

(9) Be aware that indifference or resignation can be worse for the patient than anger or irritability; keep encouraging him and trying to build his confidence.

(10) Don't relegate the patient to the sidelines or leave him with only TV or radio for company. Encourage him to participate in family activities, develop a hobby, and stay in touch with the world he has known.

(11) Contact the American Heart Association of Michigan for the listing of stroke clubs in your area. All of the 43 stroke clubs provide a supportive environment for stroke patients and their families. Members help each other to realize that they are not alone in their hardship, while encouraging and cultivating recovery.

For more information or literature on stroke, contact the American Heart Association of Michigan, a United Way Agency.

Cass City Board of Education

School board candidates discuss issues

Voters in the Cass City School District will choose between 4 candidates for 2, 4-year Board of Education seats and between 2 candidates for a one-year seat during the annual school election Monday.

Vying for the 4-year seats are incumbents Louis E. Horner and Edward C. Scollon, and challengers James G. Turner and Martin R. Daniel. Incumbent Beverly A. Auten and challenger Kay Warner are running for the one-year seat.

All 6 candidates were invited to answer the following questions concerning various issues faced by the school board.

1. One of the complaints heard about Cass City Schools is a lack of communication. Do you believe such complaints are justified and if so, what would you like to do about it?

2. Cass City Schools in another year are expected to seek additional taxes for operations. Will you support extra millage, or want to cut curriculum and services to balance the budget? If you favor cuts, in what area(s)?

3. Please outline why you want to be on the board and what changes, if any, you would like to see in the curriculum or discipline at the school.

BEVERLY A. AUTEN

1. There have been times I feel the communication complaint is justified. I would suggest a school calendar of events be published on either a weekly or a monthly basis that would give information to all residents regardless of whether they have children in school or not. The calendar should include grades K-12 and all the schools.

2. If the Cass City School District should need to seek additional millage for operations I would support it. We are getting some academic programs back into the school system now that were eliminated in the past for various reasons. The millage residents of the district pay now is less than most surrounding districts. I feel the school has been budget conscious for several years and spent funds wisely.

3. I think it's important to have members from various professions, employers, and areas represented on the board. Being a registered nurse employed at Hills and Dales Hospital, I can continue to represent the health profession along with the female viewpoint on the board. Changes in the curriculum, other than those required to meet graduation requirements should come from students' interest and requests. I listen to my fellow taxpayers input and make decisions accordingly.

MARTIN R. DANIEL

1. Lack of communication is often mentioned when there are opposing viewpoints. The real problem is probably failure to listen objectively to others' opinions. The most common being administration-teacher association conflicts. My suggestion would be to develop a discussion group to meet monthly to discuss teacher as well as administrative viewpoints on problems facing the school system.

2. Like many people, I oppose additional taxes being assessed, but I also oppose the cutting of curriculum or school-sponsored student activities. I first feel you must review and seek state and federal monies that are available to support present curriculum or to implement new programs. If need be and if in reason I can not think of any better investment than a good balanced education for all students non-academic and academic.

3. Being a parent with, soon to be 4, children in the school system, a businessman, and a former teacher I believe I can give a unique view to budget, staff and curriculum problems of the present and future.

I would like to see a continued emphasis on early developmental skills testing and detection of learning difficulties so that students are given the opportunity to achieve and succeed in the classroom even though they may have learning disabilities. This could include additional staffing to aid existing staff members with detection and implementation of strategies as early as possible.

LOUIS E. HORNER

1. The Cass City School Board and administration have made a concerted effort to improve communications through increased written and verbal communications with parents, articles in the local newspaper, meetings with school personnel and recognition of the many achievements of our students and faculty. Continued emphasis is needed to further improve our communications within the school and the community.

2. When we will have to seek a millage increase is unknown, since it depends on the number of students enrolled and the amount of state funds appropriated for education by the legislature as well as expenses of the school. I do not think expenditures can be reduced significantly without reducing programs so I will support a millage increase when necessary to support our programs.

3. We need to continue to improve our school programs if we are to keep pace with the increasing demands for education that today's society demands. Whether our graduates go on to college, vocational training, the military or directly into the work force, they must have a good education to be successful. I think my 4 years' experience on the school board, 6 years college, 5 years military and 16 years as a manager in industry give me a good perspective of the requirements for education and practical experience to help manage our school system to fulfill these requirements. We need to continue to evaluate our curriculum and adjust it to best meet the current requirements of our students within the constraints of our financial capabilities.

EDWARD C. SCOLLON

1. Everyone needs to strive for better communications. In the Cass City Schools we have board-staff round table meetings, building open houses for the public, parent-teacher conferences, newspaper school column every 6 weeks from the superintendent, and board meetings monthly which are open to the public. Staff members and the board welcome public participation.

2. We have a basic program. If we see the present program can not be funded adequately I would support the millage we need to maintain our present curriculum.

3. I have a continuing interest in education. Doty and I have had 3 children graduate from Cass City, and presently have 2 enrolled in the High School.

We also have 2 students enrolled at MSU and one graduate of MSU. I feel my experience as a board member would be of value in the setting of school policy and in the operation of the Cass City School system. I would like to see debate, forensics and more art and music incorporated into the curriculum. I think our present discipline policy is working satisfactorily.

JAMES G. TURNER

1. Neither the specific type of complaints nor the area of communication affected was indicated in the question. However, I am aware, from my own experience in a public service agency, that open, honest, ongoing, 2-way communication is essential for an organization such as our school to be able to solve problems and operate as smoothly and efficiently as possible.

Since communication is so important, I believe the board needs to promote it on an ongoing basis.

2. Both alternatives, asking for additional millage and making program cuts, appear undesirable at this time. I would not support either action until I was fully convinced it represented the best available option. In the time between now and when such a decision needs to be made, open communication and cooperation on the part of all involved parties needs to be encouraged. These problems belong to all of us as members of our school district. I believe that the best solutions will be found by working together to solve them.

3. I basically want to serve on the board for 2 reasons. The first is that I feel it is part of my responsibility as a father and resident of the district. The second is that I feel that my education (a B.A. in Sociology and Economics, and a Masters in Social Work Administration) along with my experience working in human service agencies, will allow me to provide useful input.

Curriculum and discipline are complex and difficult issues. Any changes would likely have strong impact upon all those involved. Therefore, I would want to carefully study those currently in place along with possible alternatives before suggesting or supporting any changes. This I feel could be done best after becoming a member of the board.

M. KAY WARNER

1. The question is not clear about who the supposed lack of communication is between.

If it is referring to the school board and teachers, I do feel that there was a definite lack of communication during the September 1986 teacher strike.

The answer, I believe, is that each individual board member should research the issues thoroughly. That means obtaining facts and listening to opinions from all sources, including the teachers, before the trustee would be capable of casting a knowledgeable vote.

2. It's difficult to make a statement regarding the budget when I am not yet aware of all the facts.

I do believe that you can't conceivably continue with the same budget year after year and expect to maintain or improve our school system.

That would be like expecting to run our households on the same budget that we used a year or 2 previously. I feel that is impossible.

3. I want to be on the school board because I am interested in and care about the children of our community.

My prime consideration when making a decision, if I were on the school board, would be, "What is in the best interest of the children."

As to curriculum changes or disciplinary actions, I would have to follow the guidelines I stated in question #1 before being able to make a reasonable remark.

Stolen oil, fuel caps reported

A malicious destruction of property complaint involving 2 road graders remains under investigation by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

Owner Don Ball, 4328 Main St., Cass City, who filed the report, told deputies that between the early morning hours of May 16 and May 18, oil and fuel caps were removed from 2 parked road graders, on Cemetery Road north of Deckerville Road, and thrown into the river.

The damage is estimated at $2,000, the complaint states.

Mark Grubba, 6905 Bevens Rd., Kingston, reported that trespassers were using firearms on his property May 25.

Grubba told deputies that he was on his property on Legg Road in Kingston Township when he heard someone fire several shots over his head.

An all-terrain vehicle was found in Gagetown and reported to deputies May 24.

Terry McKee, 4784 South St., Gagetown, told deputies a friend's son, Donald Coultier, playing along the railroad tracks, found an all-terrain vehicle and brought it to the McKees.

The vehicle was turned over to the police and is at the sheriff's department.

THERE WERE PLENTY of empty seats during Thursday night's public information meeting at Owendale High School. The meeting, the second of 2 called to explain Owen-Gage's millage request, drew 3 residents (above, front), school Supt. Harley Kirby, trustees Mary A. Abbe and William Kretschmer and school board President Ronald Good.

Painted ladies are world long distance champions

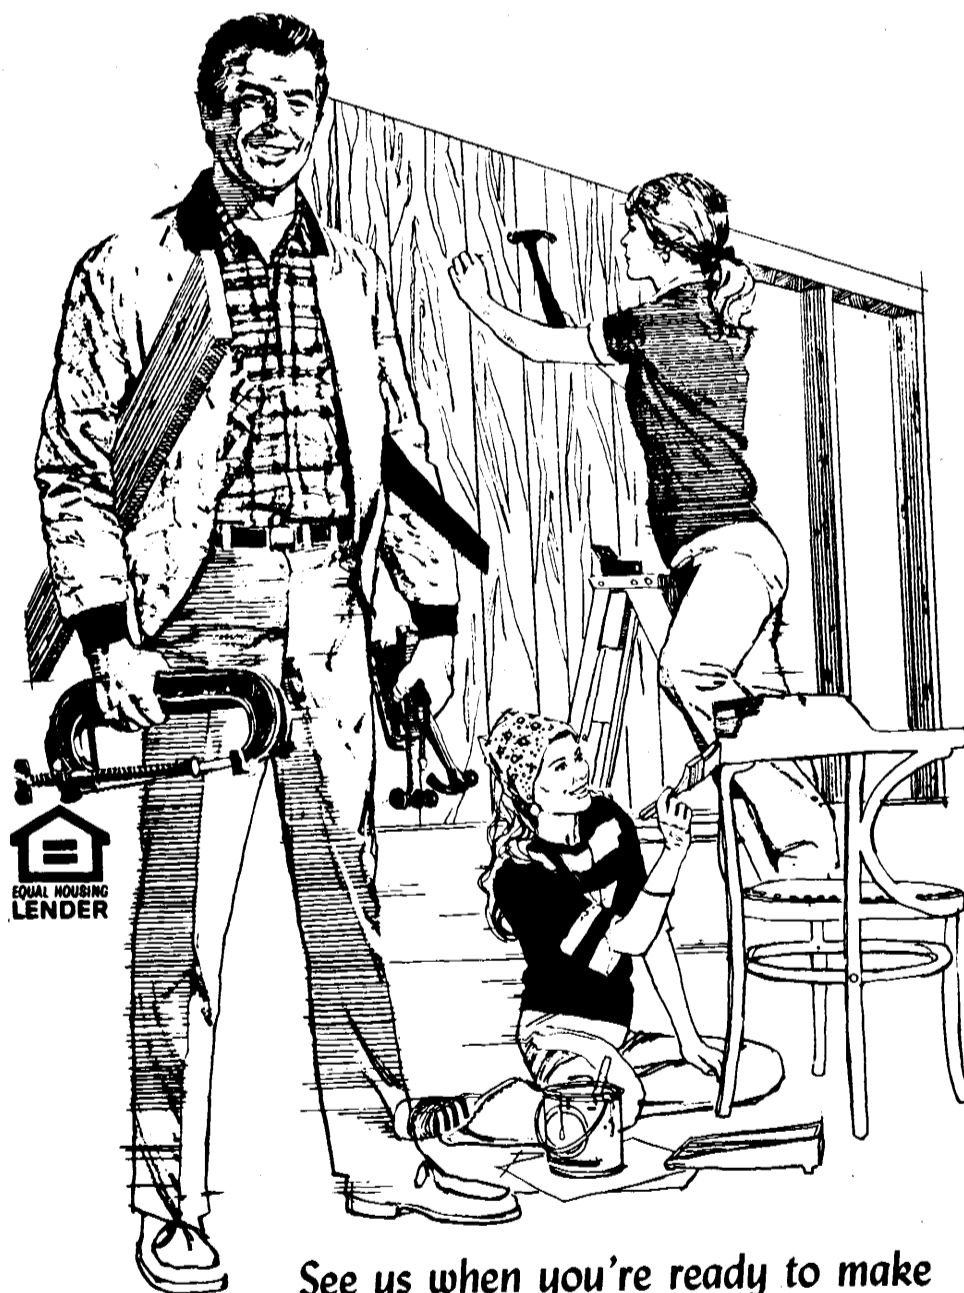

How far can a butterfly fly? According to Ranger Rick magazine, the world's champion butterfly long-distance flier is a kind of painted lady. Each spring hundreds of thousands of painted ladies leave their winter homes in North Africa and Asia Minor. Most stop off in southern England and spend the summer there. But a few painted ladies fly on to northern Ireland near the Arctic Circle. That's nearly 4000 miles, or almost one sixth of the way around the world!

At Central Michigan University

Area athletes ready for Special Olympics

There are 2 Cass City girls gearing up for the State Games this week.

No, it's not the state track finals nor are they heading for a state championship softball game.

Rather, it's the Michigan Special Olympics State Summer Games slated for Thursday through Sunday at Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant.

Amy Hoppe, 15, is the daughter of Mel and Pat Hoppe, 2151 Elmwood Rd. Cindy Opanasenko, 17, is the daughter of Mary Opanasenko, 6674 Huron St. Both girls attend Highland Pines School, Caro, and are planning to compete with their teammates on the school volleyball team, according to Bob Miner, Highland Pines School teacher and volleyball coach.

In all, 17 mentally impaired children and adults from Tuscola County are planning to attend the State Summer Games.

"All the kids are really excited about going to Mount Pleasant to the games," Miner added.

Hoppe and Opanasenko, along with the rest of the girls' volleyball team, have completed at least a season of training in preparation for this week's competition. Although there are 15 members on the team, 8 girls are going to the State Summer Games, Miner noted.

"We play by the same rules set by the United States Volleyball Association, except we play with a beach ball and the teams are allowed an extra hit (4 instead of 3) for the ball to get over the net," he explained.

Special Olympics may be better known for individual efforts, but Miner says team effort is just as important.

"It's good to see the kids play as a team, to learn responsibility as part of a unit. On a team they can win as a team and fail as a team, instead of doing it all individually," Miner explained.

FIRST COMPETITION

This is to be the first official competition for the team, which was formed this academic year, Miner remarked.

"While the track and field events are held during the Caro Summer Games, those are usually for individuals. There was no way for the team to play then, so this will be the team's first competition," Miner added.

While Hoppe is a first-year student at Highland Pines and never has been to the State Summer Games, Opanasenko went in 1986.

"I did horseshoes, running, tug-of-war and a ball throw," she noted. "I enjoyed it a lot. The town (Mount Pleasant) is hot."

"I've heard about it and I really want to see what it's like up there," Hoppe remarked.

In addition to athletes from Tuscola County, more than 3,100 mentally impaired athletes from across the state are scheduled to gather at the Summer State Games and compete in athletics (track and field), aquatics, bowling, weight lifting, tennis, gymnastics and volleyball.

"The State Summer Games is a chance for these athletes to demonstrate their skills and test themselves in the events they have been training for all spring," said Lois Arnold, Michigan Special Olympics Associate Director. "It is an opportunity for them to show what they can do."

Opening ceremonies will kick-off the event Thursday at CMU's Kelly-Shorts Stadium. The Osmond Brothers are slated to entertain athletes, coaches, volunteers and spectators that evening. Competition runs all day Friday and Saturday with closing ceremonies Saturday evening.

"We challenge the athletes to learn and compete by the rules," Arnold explained. "If they do that and go out and give it their best shot, they have succeeded. What we want people to realize is that the mentally impaired do not need to be, nor do they want to be, pitied. They are capable of remarkable accomplishments when given the opportunity, the training and the encouragement."

Special Olympics is a year-round program of sports training and competition for mentally impaired children and adults. More than 1.3 million special athletes participate worldwide, with 27,000 registered in Michigan.

Additional information on the program is available by contacting 127 Rowe Hall, Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, Mich., 48859, or calling 774-3911.

THESE SPECIAL ATHLETES, Amy Hoppe (left) and Cindy Opanasenko, both of Cass City, are on their way to the Special Olympics State Summer Games June 4-7. They are both on a volleyball team.

Bulldogs claim district title; Peck is next

Owen-Gage High School softball coach Judy Porter has always said that her lady Bulldogs would go far if they could just keep their errors down.

Her squad proved her right Friday.

The Owen-Gage team will head for regional action Saturday at Genesee High School after taking the district title Friday with wins over Akron-Fairgrove and Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

The 17-4 lady Bulldogs, who will face Peck Saturday, will play without 3 seniors—catcher Cindy Enderle, second baseman Charlene Goslin and left fielder Barb Hellebuyck—who will be on a senior trip.

Porter acknowledged that playing without the trio, who have provided consistent hitting for Owen-Gage, is going to hurt. But, she added, win or lose Saturday, the lady Bulldogs have already had an excellent season.

"We're super happy—last year we ended up 9-9," she said, adding that it's been a long time since Owen-Gage has claimed a district title. "We'll have just about everybody back next year," the coach added.

Andrea Mandich cracked a grand slam home run in the second inning to put Owen-Gage up by 5 runs en route to a 15-2 victory over CPS Friday.

The lady Bulldogs held

CPS to just 2 hits while lacking 8 hits in the contest. Angie Bolzman also slammed a home run in the winning effort, while Tanya Haldane and Hellebuyck each picked up a double and Enderle had 2 singles.

Mandich, who relieved Susie Salcido in the second inning, claimed the win despite some control problems. Melissa Carter took the loss.

Owen-Gage took advantage of 5 walks, 2 errors and one hit in the fifth inning of its game against Akron-Fairgrove to break a 4-run deficit. The lady Bulldogs went on to win, 12-9, behind Salcido's pitching.

Hellebuyck and Salcido each had doubles, while Enderle and Goslin laced singles. Marcia Stewart was charged with the loss.

Natural Resources Week

Offer free fishing, boating

A weekend of free fishing, boating and camping will kick off a number of scheduled events planned by the Department of Natural Resources for Sesquicentennial Natural Resources Week, June 7-14, as proclaimed by Gov. James J. Blanchard.

"These scheduled events will afford a special opportunity for Michigan residents and our outstate visitors to not only enjoy the state's many natural recreational resources," said DNR Director Gordon E. Guyer, "but also, to recognize and appreciate those same resources that have made Michigan one of the major travel destinations in the United States."

Michigan's free fishing weekend, June 6-7, will headline the list of events by allowing residents and non-residents to fish without a fishing license. The weekend was approved by the Natural Resources Commission, which additionally approved an annual Michigan free fishing weekend over the next 5 years, to coincide with National Fishing Week, held annually, the first full week of June.

Other events scheduled during the week include: --Free overnight lodging at all of the 150 State Forest Campgrounds June 6 and June 7.

The Tigers triumphed over the Hawks 23-8 May 28. Jodi LaRoche pitched the winning game for the Tigers and Monica Rockwell threw in the Hawks' losing effort.

Barb Kelly and Stephanie Leitman had 3 hits each for the Tigers, while teammates Jodi LaRoche, Stacy Klinkman, Julie Knowlton and Stephanie Spencer each had 2 hits.

Hawk Jodi Benitez had 3 hits and her teammates, Kristi Turner and Wendy Weaver, each had 2 hits.

Area bowlers lead special Thumb tourney

The Fourth Annual Bowler of the Year Tournament of the Thumb Area Women's Bowling Association was held this year at the Crazy Horse Saloon, Uby, May 11-13. Of the 134 that qualified, 54 ladies decided to take the challenge and enter this 3-game scratch series tournament. Ladies must have been a WIBC sanctioned bowler, a member of the TAWBSA and have bowled an actual 550 or higher series in the current bowling season to qualify.

After 2 qualifying bowling nights, the top 5 finalists were: Delores Mathewson of Deford (569), Norma Wallace of Cass City (513), Bea Harwood of Port Hope (512), Sharon Schornack of Fillion (512) and Dody Yahn of Pigeon (511).

The final night found these 5 finalists competing in a stepladder format. Dody Yahn defeated Sharon Schornack (176-126), went on to defeat Bea Harwood (193-146), but then fell short of defeating Norma Wallace (122-154). Wallace also came up short in a very close final game to Delores Mathewson (149-156).

Mathewson said, "I was so nervous, and couldn't believe I had actually won! I guess it just goes to prove that it is not always your high average bowler that wins."

Delores and her husband have 6 children, all of whom have bowling interests. She bowls at Charrmont Lanes in Cass City on the Thursday Morning Coffee League and, along with her husband and eldest daughter, on the Sunday Night Dirty Dozen League. She has been bowling on a league for about 18 years and holds a current season average of 158. Another hobby she enjoys is crocheting.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

It's vacation time, and this writer thinks you need a switch from financial gobbledygook.

We'll tell you about the most unoriginal place in the country to go to—Washington, D.C. We bet you haven't been there since your senior trip, except maybe overnight. My associate, Jennifer Birdsong (otherwise known as Jeanne Myers) and I just got back, and we had a great time.

Here's what we managed to do in a very busy 6 days, which started at 9 in the morning and finished in late evening:

(First of all, avoid the worst crowds by arriving Sunday afternoon and leaving Saturday morning.)

1. Congress and Senate sessions. Get tickets from your Congressman or Senator at his office. The sessions don't usually amount to much, because all the work is done in the committee rooms, but you might hit a lively one. Anyhow it will give you a chance to sit down. Find out from the hotel or by a phone call if there will be a session. Usually they don't convene until afternoon.

2. The White House. Ask your Congressman for special passes, and if a time is allotted, get it as early in the day as possible. Groups of about 40 are whisked through some of main floor rooms. If you have a really good VIP connection there are private evening tours, 2 or 3 people at a time, and you get much further behind the scenes. We did both tours, and I won't mention my highly-placed friend's name, who did us such a nice favor.

3. The Supreme Court. Again, ask your Congressman for a ticket for a "Congressional Tour." It will be a small group and you'll see much more. The school classes and the public at large get a very superficial visit. We thought the reception rooms at the court were beautiful indeed, and the whole place most impressive.

4. The Memorials—Jefferson, Lincoln Memorial, the Vietnam Wall of Names of the fallen, the two Jima flag raising. Take cabs from one to the next and see them at your own speed.

5. The National Cathedral, now essentially finished, and to us, more impressive than most of the Old World cathedrals. It's in Georgetown, and about a $7 cab ride. He'll wait for you for 15¢ a minute.

6. The FBI building. Conducted tours, and pretty boring.

7. The Ford Theater, where Lincoln was shot. Some mementos in the basement and a short lecture by the National Park Service rep. We went back in the evening for a stage show, and had a doubly enjoyable evening, watching a good show in a most historic theater, beautifully restored.

8. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. There is always something going on there—ice shows, drama, musicals, ballet, concerts and opera. Easy and quick to get there by cab, and unlike New York, lots of taxis after the show.

9. Bureau of Engraving and Printing. You'll need a ticket from your Congressman for this. Tours start at 8 a.m.—about the only place in Washington that opens early. It's fun to see the presses turn out millions of dollars while you watch. Not high on our list, though, of "places to see."

10. Washington Monument. Looks better from a distance, and there's always a crowd waiting to go up the elevator.

11. The art galleries of the Smithsonian. You'll be hard to please if you don't find one of them you like. Next time I am going to pretend a gimpy leg and ask for a wheelchair. As it was I nearly did need one before I got out.

12. National Air and Space Museum. What a dandy! More people go through this than any museum in the world, and everybody likes it. Everything from the Wright Brothers' first plane to Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," to the capsule in which John Glenn orbited the world. The place is remarkably uncrowded because so many of the exhibits are suspended from the ceiling.

13. Mt. Vernon, on the Potomac. When you're thoroughly beat by the end of the week, book an afternoon cruise down to this famous house. It's a pretty trip, and you'll like going through the home.

Tips: Leave your car at the hotel and take cabs. They're not expensive and charge by zones. Typical trip is $3.35. Lord knows where you'd park if you tried to take your own car.

We stayed downtown at the old Willard Hotel, now handsomely re-done in its original glory, with some embellishments of the modern age, such as telephones in the bathrooms, and a speaker from the TV. A bouquet of orchids awaited, along with an iced bottle of chardonnay from the Vallejo vineyards of California.

Pretty heady livin' for this country boy.

Youth suspected of taking $41 from unlocked safe

The Cass City Police Department has a suspect in connection with a larceny complaint filed last week by Old Wood Drug store owner Tom Proctor.

According to a report on the complaint, Proctor reported $31 missing from an unlocked safe at his store May 19, and another $10 missing May 27. Both incidents occurred from 8 to 9 a.m., Proctor stated.

The suspect is a juvenile male who was employed by Proctor at the time of the incidents, according to the report.

The case remains open pending action by the county prosecutor's office and probate court.

Also filing a complaint last week was Joe Frederick, 6227 Main St., who told police that someone broke off the driver's side mirror on his 1972 van sometime during the evening hours of May 27. The vehicle was parked next to the Mutual Savings and Loan parking lot, he said.

Frederick told police that he's had gas stolen and air let out of his tires on previous occasions.

Novesta board rejects proposal

The Novesta Township Board Monday night rejected a proposal for lease of township land, and approved repealing a request to the county drain commissioner to have a partially open catch basin closed.

Michigan Oil and Gas Brokerage Services, Inc., made the lease proposal, according to township Clerk Nurse L. Kloc.

The firm proposed leasing about 8 1/4 acres of township cemetery property for $50 per acre the first year, and $1 per acre in each of the remaining 4 years, she said. Kloc added that the board felt the offer "wasn't worth" the trouble.

Turning to the catch basin, Kloc said that the township 2 months ago requested that the drain commissioner take care of the basin because of the danger involved.

"It's big enough for a child to fall through, and we want it closed right away," Kloc remarked, adding that the basin is located just north of Cedar Street in Deford.

In other business during the 75 minute monthly meeting, the board tabled a request from county Treasurer Elgene Keller regarding the county's Revolving Delinquent Tax Fund.

Kloc said the issue was tabled pending further investigation by the board. She added that the township is being asked to sign a resolution asking the Michigan Township Association to back county treasurers, who are opposed to recent action by the Internal Revenue Service which has resulted in cancellation of the sale of bonds by the county for the revolving tax fund.

The fund is used to pay delinquent taxes to various units of government in the county.

Driver ticketed in Saturday accident

A 24-year-old Cass City man was cited for violation of the basic speed law by a state police trooper Saturday morning.

According to the report, Anthony E. Sweeney, 3490 Bach Rd., was traveling in his westbound vehicle on River Road 1/2 mile west of Cemetery Road at about 55 mph when he lost control of the vehicle at a curve.

The vehicle left the south side of the roadway and struck a tree, the report stated.

His vehicle sustained moderate damage.

Minor damage to 2 vehicles was reported in a 2-car accident Saturday morning in Reese.

Kimberly S. Adams, 19, 13353 W. Forest Lane, Bear Lake, had slowed her vehicle at the W. Caro Road (M-81) and Reese Road intersection in preparation for a left turn, according to the report.

Adams made the turn onto Reese Road into the path of a westbound vehicle driven by Francis L.

Stewart, 73, 1862 Sunrise Dr., Caro, and collided with the vehicle, the report stated.

Neither driver nor a passenger in Stewart's vehicle, Alverta Stewart, 68, 1862 Sunrise Dr., Caro, were injured.

Adams was cited for failure to yield.

Kirby tells why O-G needs funds

School district residents, particularly those who receive a tax break—senior citizens and those participating in Public Act 116, for example—have more to gain by approving the millage than by rejecting the request, he added.

"...the millage is expensive, but ignorance is even more expensive."

Loans available

Under new guidelines announced May 26, producers of alfalfa can file for 36 month, no-interest loans up to $250 per acre on alfalfa fields that are a total loss, or a pro-rated amount on damaged fields with lower stands. This opens the door for nearly all alfalfa producers in the area to file for assistance to cover losses to productive alfalfa stands that were damaged or lost due to last fall's flooding.

For many farms, the value of the State Disaster Relief Program has been substantial, according to Dennis Stein, Tuscola County Ag Agent. Forms and assistance are available at the Cooperative Extension Office, 362 Green Street, Caro, or by calling, and information can be sent to interested persons in the area.

A special program to cover the new forage and alfalfa options under the Michigan Disaster Relief Program will take place June 9 at the cooperative extension office from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Other losses for livestock producers may include feed and forage harvested in the fall. At this time many producers can determine the amount that last fall's flooding shorted the annual feed supply. This topic will also be covered at the June 9 meeting.

You should contact your credit agency as soon as possible about this program for more information about cut off dates for loan applications. The program ends June 30 (the last day banks can sign notes for this purpose), therefore many banks will be unable to help those that request assistance late in June. This type of assistance is not offered often, Stein said.

Senior citizens meet

The Owen-Gage senior citizens group heard a presentation on a social services project for kids and received a public address system demonstration during meetings in May.

Some 40 group members attended a potluck dinner May 21, with Mary Miklovich Hook and Mattie Deering as guests. Vice-president Stella Pisarek conducted a brief business meeting.

Also during the meeting, Ron Hart of Cass City presented a demonstration on use of a PA system.

Luther Durham and Thelma Mellendorf won the door prizes, while euchre winners were Art Thomas and Iva Peterson (high), and Deering and Pisarek (low). The traveling prize went to Iva Peterson.

About 37 members met May 7 at St. Agatha's Parish Hall.

Guest speaker was Dave Bluem, volunteer services coordinator for the Tuscola County Department of Social Services. He told members that the DSS would like to provide "just made for you" hat and mitten sets for each of the department's 130 protective service foster children this Christmas.

Bluem, who can be reached at 673-4144, stated that he provides yarn and patterns for anyone who would like to help. Eight Owen-Gage seniors volunteered.

MEAT NUTRI-FACTS

This Weeks Feature:

BEEF-ZUCCHINI 'N PEPPER KABOBS

1½ pounds beef sirloin steak, cut into 1½-inch cubes
¼ cup salad oil
½ cup red wine vinegar
2 teaspoons sugar
¼ teaspoon leaf oregano
¼ teaspoon cracked black pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
3 small zucchini, cut crosswise into 1-inch pieces
2 red peppers, each cut into 12 pieces
Salt
Combine salad oil, wine vinegar, sugar, oregano, pepper and garlic in small saucepan; cook slowly 10 minutes. Cool. Place beef cubes and marinade in plastic bag or utility dish, turning to coat meat.
Tie bag securely or cover dish and marinate in refrigerator 6 to 8 hours (or overnight). Pour off and reserve marinade. Cut crosswise slits, ¼-inch apart, halfway through each piece of zucchini.
Alternately thread beef cubes, red pepper and zucchini pieces on 4 skewers. Brush vegetables with marinade. Place kabobs on rack in broiler pan so surface of meat is 3 to 4 inches from heat.
Broil 15 to 20 minutes, depending on doneness desired (rare or medium), turning and brushing with marinade occasionally. Season with salt.
4 servings.

It is our policy to have all items advertised in this circular in stock during the sale period. However, because this circular is printed approximately 90 days prior to the sale date, there could be an unforeseen delay, or in some cases, non-shipment of an item. We regret any inconvenience it may cause. If an advertised item is unavailable during the sale period, we will, to the best of our ability, offer a substitute item of comparable value with an equal savings over the regular price. We do reserve the right to limit the quantity on some items and special prices
