Crash kills Florida man

A 71-year-old Florida man died and a woman and her daughter were listed in serious and good condition Monday morning as a result of injuries sustained in a 2-car accident at the M-24/M-46 intersection Friday afternoon.

Henry J. Rossi, Palm Beach, was traveling southbound on M-24 at 12:38 p.m. when he failed to yield and ran into the pathway of a milk truck, driven by Jerome F. Polk, 27, Bad Axe, traveling on M-46 in Fremont Township. Rossi's vehicle was struck broadside, according to a Tuscola County Sheriff's Department report.

Anne M. Armstrong, 26, Rockwood, a passenger in Rossi's vehicle, was listed in serious condition at Saginaw St. Mary's Hospital, while Amanda Armstrong, 7, Rockwood, was listed in good condition at St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw, spokesmen from the hospital said.

Rossi's vehicle sustained moderate to heavy damage and Polk's truck sustained slight to moderate damage, the report stated.

Reports indicated seat belts were not used in either vehicle.

Crowd estimated at 10,000

Perfect weather greets July 4 Festival throngs

Crowds pressed both sides of Main Street Saturday to view the annual Fourth of July parade and to take advantage of the beautiful warm weather to take part in activities that ranged from arts and crafts to athletic events and mud volleyball to fireworks.

Some 90 separate units took part in the parade, including a breathtaking flyover by 4 jet flyers from the Michigan National Guard.

Guestimates of the number of people who enjoyed the day-long event differ but "I'd say about 10,000. But who really knows?" said festival committee member Geraldine Prieskorn.

Despite the large crowd, there were no reports of serious injury, or vandalism.

A few minutes following the parade were hectic as people migrated to the park to enjoy the afternoon festivities, but no mishaps were reported.

The parade was preceded again this year by the popular bed race, in which 9 teams competed for trophies.

The Hills and Dales Hospital men's and women's teams rolled their way to victory, with the best decorated bed award going to the Beach Bums.

Some 8 men's and 2 women's teams competed in the fire fighters' water-ball fight, with the Mayville team placing first, followed by Vassar and Rochester.

Kingston's women's team placed first in their division, with Owendale rounding out second place.

About 12 people participated in the horseshoe throwing contest as part of the activities Saturday.

The singles contest winner was Rick Lopez of Gageton and the runner-up was Scott Ackerman of Cass City.

The doubles winners were Scott Ackerman and Dean Rabideau of Cass City and runner-up winners were Larry and Mary Williams of Cass City.

There were 19 teams with about 120 players who participated in the mud volleyball tournament - 11 in the men's division, 4 in the women's and 2 each in the junior boys' and girls' divisions.

The men's division winner was M & G Trucking of the Bad Axe/Uby area. The women's winners were the "Tippers" led by Shellie Miller and Karen Nurnberger; the junior boys' division winner was the "6 packers" team led by Jeff Dillon and Brent Beecher, and the junior girls' division winner was the Hot Shots.

Some 41 riders got muddy for the Jaycees' mudbog competition.

First place winners in the motorcycle division were Fred McIntyre of Bad Axe in the 125-250 cc class and Doug Barnes of Cass City in the 251-500 cc class.

Winners in the junior bog were Matt Gilliam of Deford in the 0-70 cc class, Russ Speirs of Cass City in the 71-125 cc class and Keith Russell of Cass City in the 126-130 cc class.

In the senior bog, winners were: in the 125-130 cc class, Chris Keller of Cass City; in the 231-350 class, Beth Brinkman of Cass City, and in the open bog, Ron Pettinger of Snover.

About 75 kids from ages 3-12 participated in the paint-in west of the pool in the afternoon.

There were 53 participants in the Memorial pool games Saturday afternoon with ribbons going to the first 6 places.

Provincial House, a virtual perennial winner in the float contest, won the Dr. Harry Crandell award for the most sentimental float.

First Baptist Church of Cass City won the President's Award for the most patriotic float.

Osentoski Realty, Inc., won the Meredith B. Auten award for the most original float and the Cooperative Elevator of Pigeon won the Belle Schwaderer Award for the prettiest float.

There were so many interesting marching units.

Clowns abounded, tossing candy to children along the parade route. There were antique and classic cars, marching servicemen and women, fire trucks, and color guards.

Also there were Cass City's Homecoming Queen Shannon McIntosh, Michigan Sugar Queen Barbara Merchant and Michigan Bean Queen Christene Ackerman.

It was the ninth annual Fourth of July celebration here in Cass City. If you were out of town, you missed a grand day.

Sometimes overlooked by revelers attracted here to view festivities, but not by service organizations and relatives were the area cemeteries, festooned with colorful American flags, waving proudly over well cared for grave sites of loved ones who gave the last great measure of their devotion serving in past wars.

This year's Fourth of July was marked by Michigan's 150th birthday and the 200th anniversary of the Constitution of the United States, with people across the nation celebrating our freedom and the immigrants who came to this country in hopes of a better life.

POLICE ARE LOOKING for the driver of a pickup truck which severed this utility pole at the intersection of Seeger Street and Garfield Avenue early Friday morning. The vehicle also knocked down a street sign and hit the porch of a nearby residence.

July 4 festival brings few calls for Cass City Police

Despite large crowds in Cass City over the holiday weekend, the Fourth of July was quiet for area law enforcement agencies, with only 2 vehicle mishaps reported, Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson said.

"We did end up making arrests, but they were all on traffic warrants, Wilson remarked. "We didn't arrest anyone on disorderly (conduct) or drinking."

Wilson noted that 4 out-of-town youths were detained and released after police discovered 3 real estate signs in the vehicle they were riding in. The parents of those youths will be contacted, he added.

Members of both the Cass City and county sheriff's departments were on duty over the weekend, with 4 Cass City officers on duty during the parade and 3 working during the evening hours, Wilson said. He added that 2 members of the Sheriff's Posse patrolled in the park and were on hand for the teen dance Saturday night.

MORNING CRASH

Both mishaps reported

locally during the holiday occurred Friday, including an early morning accident in which a pickup truck hit and severed a utility pole, knocked down a street sign and crashed into the porch of a house at the southeast corner of the Seeger Street/Garfield Avenue intersection.

According to Wilson, the mishap remains under investigation as the driver of the pickup, owned by Garry L. Spencer, 1036 N. Kingston Rd., Deford, hasn't yet been identified.

27-year-old Robert Brady's life turned by Aplastic anemia

by Tom Montgomery
News Editor

A hushed moan escapes from Robert Brady's lips as he settles into a kitchen chair at his mother's home, trying in vain to find a comfortable position.

The 27-year-old Deford resident would rather be working outside as he did for several years as a construction worker.

He'd rather be doing anything but sitting around.

But, he acknowledges, it's difficult to live an active life when a minor scratch leaves you bleeding for 3 or 4 hours; when a simple blood pressure test leaves your arm black and blue; when your joints ache to the point where you just want to lie down.

Brady's bride of only 3 1/2 years, Angela, sits quietly at the kitchen table, smoking a cigarette, as her husband talks about the disease which has turned their life around. The couple's 2-year-old son, Robert Jr., runs around the house, playing and jabbering.

Brady, whose chest and abdomen are marked by scars and faded suture lines from various medical procedures, was diagnosed 3 1/2 years ago with Aplastic anemia.

The disease, thought to have been sparked in Brady's case by a battle with a rare form of hepatitis in December 1983, is caused by the failure of bone marrow to produce red blood cells. Symptoms include fatigue, heart palpitations, ankle swelling, canker sores, frequent infections, bruising and prolonged bleeding.

The disease often leaves its victim dependent on repeated blood transfusions.

THE NEWS

Brady, 1539 Cedar St., learned he had the disease in January 1984, less than a month after being diagnosed with hepatitis. He spent 30 days at Saginaw General Hospital after a 3-day stay at Caro Community Hospital.

"I was bleeding from my teeth, I bruised easily and I was falling down quite a bit. I was constantly dizzy," he remarked.

Brady's mother, Deloris Richardson, said she learned about the disease through a family friend who has it. "I called the hospital and asked them if my son had Aplastic anemia, and they said, 'Yes,'" she said.

"They came out and told me he could bleed to death—he could drown in his own blood."

Brady was transferred to the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor, where doctors continued daily transfusions, and began administering drugs which they hoped would curb the disease.

"Everything's experimental; there is no cure," Brady commented, adding that he agreed to undergo an experimental treatment program 1 1/2 years ago which involves the use of certain forms of steroids.

Since he began the treatment, which requires that he commute to Ann Arbor twice a week, the blood transfusions have stopped.

"All my (blood) counts are back to normal except the platelets," Brady explained. He added that platelets are directly related to the blood's ability to clot, and that his platelet count is 2,000 to 2,500, compared to a normal count of 200,000 to 400,000.

"If I cut myself doing anything, I can die in a matter of minutes."

Unfortunately, he noted, there are a number of serious side effects involved with the experimental treatment, and the use of steroids. Joint stiffness, severe muscle spasms and dizzy spells are among the least dangerous side effects; deterioration of bone is among the most serious. "They're saying my bones are bad enough to break right now," he said.

NEW SOCKETS

Brady is scheduled to undergo surgery soon to replace both of his hip sockets. The operation follows a number of other procedures related to his disease, including removal of his spleen 8 months ago. Doctors also discovered that Brady had kidney stones, which were removed ("blasted") in December.

Despite past and pending surgeries, Brady says the treatment is not as bad as the alternative. And, there has been some improvement, he added.

A tube placed in Brady's chest, which was used for the past 3 1/2 years as a conduit for drugs (using needles risked bleeding), was removed recently because of an infection.

Commercials and Sniglets

By Melva E. Guinther

Our old buddy and former editor, Mike Eliasohn, shared some insight recently into the Rich Hall Pizza Hut commercials, which get a high 8 on my tough commercial rating scale of 1-10.

The ad featuring the "Benton Harbor bowling team" was filmed at the restaurant in Benton Township, and Mike interviewed the 3 local actors, for the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph Herald-Palladium.

Commercials aren't nearly as simple as they appear. Mike says that shooting the bowlers scene and one other entailed closing the restaurant for the day. It also required 2 semi-trucks of equipment for the film crew, 2 motor homes and a lunch wagon.

The only food prepared in the kitchen that day was the pizza used in the commercials, according to Mike.

Speaking of Rich Hall, who wrote Sniglets before he started pushing pizza, let me pass along a few more of my favorites for the benefit of those who may not have a daughter with a copy of the Sniglet book:

Frust-The small line of debris that refuses to be swept onto the dust pan and keeps backing a person across the room until he finally decides to give up and sweep it under the rug.

Hempennant-Any coat-tail, cuff or dress hem dangling outside the door of a moving vehicle.

Bevameter-(a unit of measure) The distance a coaster, attached to the bottom of a wet glass, will travel before it falls back to earth.

Pelp-The crumbs and food particles that accumulate in the cracks of dining tables.

Rovalert-The system whereby one dog can quickly establish an entire neighborhood network of barking.

We have come up with a few that, to the best of our knowledge, Rich hasn't covered yet:

Vocaperkle-The art of making your voice sound like you're wide awake when the telephone rings, because you feel guilty for sleeping late.

Cosyfrizphobia-The feeling of panic upon realizing that your lips are frozen to a Jell-O Pudding Pop.

Retro-oozle-The toothpaste that slips back into the tube before you can get it on the brush. (This occurs most often when the tube is almost empty, seemingly reluctant to give its all.)

If anyone would like to contribute to these should-be words, send them along. Perhaps we'll call them Meglets, to avoid infringing on Mr. Hall's territory.

As my daughter pointed out, though, Rich might well be on the road and miss my column this week.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

by

Pastor John R. Wood, First Baptist Church, Cass City

Do you know anyone, anywhere, who "fears the Lord"? It would seem that the favorite pastime of many today is to openly defy God, disregard His person, and even dare Him to show His face.

Actually, the phrase, "the fear of the Lord", found often in Scripture and at least seventeen times in Proverbs alone, has various shades of meaning, depending on the circumstances in which it is found; but in the main it implies a right state of heart towards God in contrast to what the unconverted man might have. That word "fear" does not mean "dread", but involves confidence, reverential awe, peace and love, respect for God.

With that in mind, let me ask the question again: do you know anyone, anywhere, who truly fears the Lord? There are some, but not many.

In the Bible, in Proverbs 1:7, we find this statement, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge". He who does not reverentially trust God, respect Him, and stand in awe of Him, knows nothing as he ought to know and never will. All knowledge starts with an acknowledgement of God and Who He is.

But someone will say, "Have not atheists and agnostics attained high levels of knowledge? Some of our greatest scientists and inventors do not believe in God." That may be true; but such men possessed fragments of the superstructure of knowledge, but lacked the foundation. They were familiar with the branches but not the root. Men may know much about the stars without knowing the God of the stars.

The unbelieving astronomer may know physical laws, but the believing astronomer knows both physical and moral laws because he knows God. Of the two, knowledge of the moral law is more important because it reaches further, lasts longer, and produces greater results.

When a person is lacking in the fear of the Lord, it usually manifests itself in various ways. The most common may be their use of the tongue. No one who truly respects God and regards His person, will abuse or misuse His name. The third Commandment is: "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh His name in vain".

Another evidence of this attitude is the way one observes Sunday. Interestingly, this day is referred to in the New Testament as "the Lord's day". It is not only a day of rest, but a day of worship. It is a weekly celebration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. While it is true we can do anything we like on Sunday since this is America, and no one puts a gun to our head and forces us to attend church, the person who truly "fears the Lord", will desire to honor Him on His day and will observe the Lord's Day appropriately.

Your attitude towards God's house is also a clue as to whether you truly fear the Lord. I realize that the Lord of heaven and earth "dwelleth not in temples made with hands" (to borrow a statement from the Apostle Paul to the Athenians); yet, in a very real sense, a building that is built by God's people, with God's money, and dedicated to the worship and service of God is God's house. Our attitude towards the local church reflects our attitude towards God Himself.

In fact, we can well measure the degree of reverence and respect we hold towards God by measuring the reverential awe and respect we have for those things which relate to God, including His holy word, the Bible. Do you own a copy of the scriptures? Do you read it regularly? Are you familiar with its contents? Do you know what it says, and what it does not say?

May I suggest to you, on the authority of God's Word, that the wisest thing you, or anyone, can possibly do is to give the Lord, and His Son Jesus Christ, the place in your life He so richly deserves. Do more than merely respect Him; trust Him as your very own savior. Receive Him into your heart and life today.

Good to see the main stem spruce up a bit. Special Scents and Sutter's Bakery are sporting new awnings that add a touch of class to the buildings.

To me after the July 4 celebration is over, it seems as if summer is on a downhill slide and there is only a very limited time left to enjoy it. You, too?

No news is good news. Despite the crowds in town for the Festival, things were as quiet or quieter than on a normal weekend, area police report.

Misery loves company. Tom Herron was in the office and cussing his luck. About all I've been doing is repairing broken down machinery, he lamented.

That's been the story at the Chronicle, too. All this year it seems one or more machines have been broken or running at less than top efficiency.

I cheer myself up by remembering the times when everything ran and ran without trouble.

Those things run in streaks and we're due for a period when Murphy's Law that says anything that can go wrong will go wrong is not in effect.

It can't start too soon.

Elkland Fire Dept.

$3,200 raised for pagers

The Elkland Township Fire Department has passed the 1/4 mark toward its fund raising goal of $10,000 for the purchase of pagers.

Some $800 raised in the department's raffle over the weekend, in addition to a $377 donation from Provincial House last week bring the pager fund total to about $3,200, a department spokesman said Monday.

Patsy Longuski, 8237 N. VanDyke Rd., Cass City, was the top cash winner in the raffle. She received a $200 prize in the event, which saw a number of area businesses and individuals contribute.

Provincial House Administrator Connie Schwaderer, meanwhile, presented a check to department representatives last week.

The department hopes to purchase pagers for 25 volunteers, who currently are alerted of a fire via 2 methods—a fire siren and a system in which a fire call reaches 25 fire fighters' homes. The existing methods have been less than satisfactory, according to department officials, who say that the use of pagers will help insure a shorter response time with more volunteers being alerted when a fire breaks out.

According to members of the department's Pager Committee, which is overseeing the fund-raiser, the Provincial House donation is nearly enough to purchase a pager and auxiliary equipment for one volunteer.

Committee secretary Janet Hurley explained that the purchase price to equip one volunteer totals some $400, including a charging unit and carrying case.

Other members of the committee are President Ron Pawloski, Treasurer Milt Connolly and Trustee Charles Tunis.

A complaint involving possible breaking and entering, and larceny over $100 at the Sunny Side Of The Street store in Cass City remains under investigation.

According to a report filed with the Cass City Police Department, the store apparently was broken into sometime after 10 p.m. June 30 and before 9 a.m. July 1.

A VHS video cassette record valued at some $373, and a 21-inch color television valued at $200 were among items discovered missing, store owner Marion Keating reported.

Police, during an investigation at the scene, found tool marks on the rear door of Whimsies Alterations, which is housed in the same building and gives access to Keating's shop, the report stated.

It's a natural assumption that when the community is booming, all of the businesses in it share the wealth. It ain't necessarily so, Joe.

Boyne City, Mich., tucked away at the east end of Lake Charlevoix, is a boom town. In the last 4 years or so there has been a minimum of $30 million spent in development and more is underway. Added to this, a couple of small plants hiring 40 or 50 persons have committed to the town.

The result is that many of the businesses have spruced up and the downtown is bustling.

All of this hasn't helped a couple of firms that have been in business ever since I first noticed those things as a youngster.

One of them is a tobacco, newspaper and paper book store. It's been in business since June 22, 1922. I know because that's the day I arrived on the scene in a house about 5 blocks away.

In its heyday, it was a meeting place for the town, a Boyne City trademark. Today its customers are a few of the long-time residents who make a special point of stopping in.

The trouble is that the newcomers from the neighboring condominiums that are springing up like mushrooms aren't interested in the town, its history or its traditions. They probably don't know anything about that now dingy building that hasn't changed ownership or decor since it opened 65 years ago. And if they did, they wouldn't care.

Realists could say that the trouble is that the store didn't change with the times. That it's the fault of the owners.

That's true, too. It's also true that the 2 huge grocery stores that now service the area don't have owners that have a personal interest in Boyne City, its schools, its sports teams or its institutions. Both stores are part of northern Michigan chains and, given the competitive nature of the business, it was almost certain that the demise of local ownership stores was coming.

Boyne City hasn't yet reached the stage where it can't be distinguished from a prosperous suburb in the major population centers. There are no McDonalds or any other fast food franchises dotting the lake front. Not yet.

It's sure that the young business owners in the community would welcome any or all of them to better compete with the 3 county seats which circle the town just like Sandusky, Bad Axe and Caro surround Cass City.

It's selfish to hope that it doesn't reach Boyne City, I know. And if they come, it's sure that we'd get a hamburger and fries at one of them or call up and have a pizza delivered to the cabin.

You can't stop progress, but you can hope it doesn't reach out and devour what has made the area so attractive over the years.

"If It Fitz..."

Happy, sad moments

By Jim Fitzgerald

Sometimes I see something that makes me very happy, or very sad, and I wish I were a poet, so I could do a better job of telling you about it. Newspaper writing doesn't seem up to the job, but it's all I can do, so...

Begin with very happy: I see this scene often, in front of the U.S. Courthouse on West Lafayette, where my downtown walking route takes me most mornings. Two or 3 small clumps of people are posing for snapshots.

Usually there are a youngish couple, an older couple, and a child, maybe 3 or 4 years old, per clump. I figure they are child, parents and grandparents. I guess their picture is being taken by an aunt or uncle.

Sometimes a clump is larger — 2 sets of grandparents and several older children — big brothers and sisters of the small child.

Sometimes a clump is smaller — just the youngish couple and the small child. The father and mother alternate taking snapshots of each other posing with the child. I have an impulse to ask the couple if they would like to borrow a grandfather, but I never do.

Usually the couples are Caucasian: average-looking Americans, dressed in clothes that are undoubtedly more used to going to church than to the federal courthouse. The children are also in their Sunday best.

And the youngest child is always Oriental, probably Vietnamese or Korean. And many times they are waving small American flags.

They are celebrating a grand occasion. Just a few minutes earlier, inside a courtroom, the child became an American citizen.

No one in the clumps can stop smiling. Neither can I, passing by. I'd like to talk to the parents and grandparents of the new citizen, but I don't want to intrude on a family moment. I'd like to tell the parents how much I admire them. I'd like to tell the child how lucky he or she is to have been adopted and brought to this country by these marvelous people.

At no small cost of money, energy and emotion, they are giving a loving home to a child of another race who really needed it. They don't want applause. They think they are the lucky ones, to have a chance to love a child who otherwise might never have been loved.

Our culture makes heroes out of athletes and actors who don't deserve the adulation. Those adoptive parents are real heroes. It makes me feel very happy to see them and their new citizen laughing, taking snapshots and waving flags in front of the U.S. Courthouse.

As for what makes me feel very sad: Almost everyday I used to see the elderly, white-haired couple walking in the neighborhood, always holding hands. When they walked downtown to lunch, or across the street to the supermarket, or around the park for exercise, they held hands. I never saw one without the other. I used to watch them and tell myself I should hold my wife's hand more often.

Last week I saw him twice, walking to the store, walking alone. His wife died.

I'm not sure why I wrote all this stuff. Probably I intended to make some meaningful connection between the new citizen-child at the beginning of life, and the old man, nearing the end of life, without his wife's hand to hold. Probably I wanted to make a corny point about what's really important — what's really happy and really sad. About loving and appreciating each other while we can, and to hell with the Iran-contra affair.

A poet would have done a much better job, but newspaper writing is all I can do.

Shy birds

Turkey vultures of North America don't deserve their sinister reputation. According to National Wildlife magazine, these shy, inoffensive birds are actually helpful to humans. Not only can they eat food so rotten that it could kill any other creature, they benefit people and the environment by preventing the spread of diseases, such as botulism.

Church plans for summer festival

The committee for the annual summer festival of St. Mary's Catholic Church of Parisville has met several times to formulate plans for the event slated for Aug. 15 and 16 at the parish grounds.

Jim Maurer of Ruth is General Chairman. Members of the festival committee are Kenneth Dekoski of Ruth and Joseph McCoy of Harbor Beach, games and amusements; James Donnellon of Minden City, refreshments; Donald Schumacher of Ruth, bingo; Mrs. Gloria Smalley of Ubyly and Mrs. Marie Pionk of Ruth, kitchen and dinners, and Mark Tenbusch of Ubyly, finance and publicity.

The festival will kick off on the evening of Aug. 15 with the crowning of the queen, who will reign throughout the festivities. A free dance will be held with music provided by the Tenbusch Brothers Orchestra of Bad Axe.

The celebration Aug. 16 will begin with a Polka Mass to be celebrated by the Rev. Leonard Wilkusi, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church. Accompanying Fr. Wilkusi will be members of the Terry Dekoski band and the church choir.

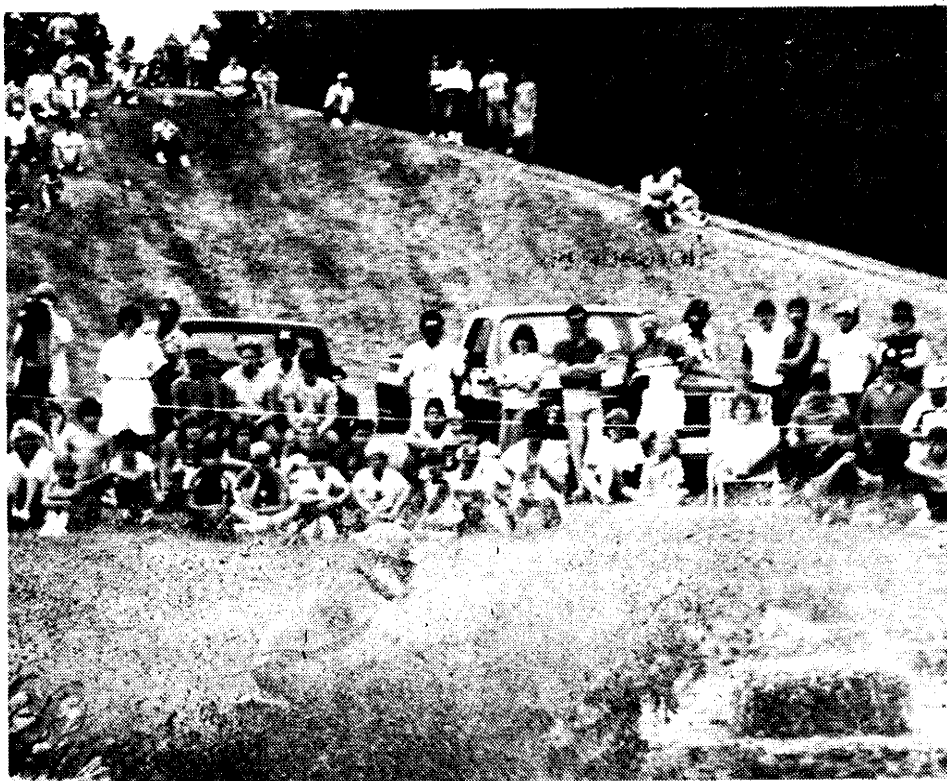

A family-style chicken and ham dinner will be served beginning at noon in the school social rooms. Games and amusements along with refreshments and lunch tents will be available for entertainment for all ages.

Some 16 prizes will be given away at 10:45 p.m. Sunday evening. Music for dancing, beginning at 1 p.m. and lasting until midnight, will be furnished by 2 bands -- Floyd Grocholski and His Little Naturals of Beaver, Mich., and Terry Dekoski and the Golden Stars of Ruth.

St. Mary's of Parisville is recognized as the oldest Roman Catholic Church in the United States with a heritage and tradition that is still maintained. Hundreds of people anxiously await to travel to Parisville each year for the gala event.

A GROUP OF DAREDEVILS thrilled the parade crowd lining Main Street with motorcycle stunts. The cyclists rode and jumped their bikes up, on and over 2 junk cars in just about every imaginable direction.

MUD FLEW at the Jaycees' mudbog as Mike Ware of Cass City competed in the 125-230 cc class in the senior division.

Sheriff's Department

No serious injuries listed in area accident reports

Slight damage was reported by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department in Novesta Township June 26.

According to a report, Susan L. Hammond, 22, 7014 Kelly Rd., Cass City, was traveling eastbound on Kelly Road east of Cemetery Road when she struck the back of a vehicle parked on the traveled portion of the eastbound lane of Kelly. The vehicle was owned by Brian D. Hacker, Cass City.

Hacker told deputies the vehicle had been parked and he had exited the vehicle to look at a baby raccoon on the edge of the roadway, the report stated. He had left his lights on but did not have 4-way blinkers on.

Hammond sought her own treatment and both vehicles sustained slight damage.

A 2-car accident was reported on M-81 in Elkland Township June 28.

John R. Wojcik, 24, Rogers City, was traveling eastbound on M-81 and began passing a vehicle driven by Mark W. Rutkoski, 20, 4271 Seeger St., Cass City.

Rutkoski attempted to make a left-hand turn onto Schwegler Road while Wojcik's vehicle was passing him and the vehicles collided, the report stated.

Both parties agreed that Rutkoski did not use his signal but no citation was issued, the report stated.

A vehicle turned onto its side in a one-vehicle accident in Novesta Township June 27.

According to the report, Frank M. Spencer, 3880 Cemetery Rd., Cass City, was southbound on Lanton Road at a speed too fast to make an eastbound turn onto Pringle Road and the vehicle went up onto its side, breaking the right rear tire from the rim.

Spencer's vehicle sustained moderate damage. No citation was issued.

Three car-deer accidents occurred during the past week, 2 of them occurring within 20 minutes of each other June 30.

Edward E. Thorton Jr., Millington, was traveling westbound on Akron Road east of Green Road in Elington Township at about 9:30 p.m. when a deer crossed from the north into the path of the vehicle and collided, the report stated.

Thorton's vehicle sustained slight damage.

About 20 minutes later in Novesta Township, Wayne A. Heckman, 6305 Denhoff Rd., Kingston, was southbound on Cemetery Road north of Severance Road when a deer crossed from the east into the path of the vehicle and collided.

Heckman's vehicle also sustained slight damage in the mishap.

The third car-deer accident occurred June 29 in Dayton Township on Snover Road.

John Flikkie, 4845 Phillips Rd., Kingston, was westbound on Snover Road west of English Road when a deer crossed in front of his vehicle from the south, the report stated.

Flikkie was unable to avoid the deer, the report added.

The vehicle sustained slight damage.

Moderate to heavy damage was reported in a one-car accident June 14.

David J. Vandemark, 26, 1990 E. Deckerville Rd., Caro, was traveling westbound on M-81 east of Cedar Run Road in Elmwood Township when his vehicle left the roadway on the north side and traveled until striking and shearing off a utility pole before coming to rest in a grassy field.

No citation was issued.

"Fieldtrip Day" slated for youth July 14

Tuscola County youth have another opportunity to explore by attending the third of 7 Summer Enrichment Programs entitled "Fieldtrip Day" slated for July 14. The event will give kids a chance to get an inside look at some of our area's businesses.

Scheduled for the tour is the Tuscola County Courthouse and jail, the Heritage Press Printing Company and Walbro Corporation.

Each day of programming meets at the Wilbur Memorial Hall, located on the fairgrounds in Caro, and runs from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Children who attend get their name entered in a drawing for 4-H scholarships ranging from $10 to $40. The scholarships will be funded through Walbro Corporation and the 4-H Council, and prize money can be used throughout the year for various 4-H-sponsored events. Additional programs will meet July 21, Aug. 4, 11 and 18, and are open to all youth, ages 8 to 18.

Additional information is available by contacting the Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service at 673-5999.

CASS CITY'S OWN Barbara Merchant, newly elected Michigan Sugar Queen, was one of the lovelier sights along the parade route.

Owen-Gage reunion slated for July 18 at Colony House

Mrs. Veneta (McCullough) Kling, now 77, is hoping many people will show up for the reunion of the Owendale-Gagetown high schools July 18.

"I'm very pleased to be going and seeing some of the former teachers there. Out of about 13 who graduated with me, 3 are still living and I hear one is coming so it should be a nice event," she said.

"It doubt if I'll dance, though. Not many old-timers will ask me to dance anymore," she remarked.

Kling graduated from Owendale High School in 1927. She married Matt Kling in 1929 and they raised 2 children, Nancy Whaley of Gagetown and Roger, now a village maintenance man in Owendale. Her husband died 6 years ago.

"I played basketball in high school in 1926-27, my son played basketball 30 years later, and now my great-grandson is playing at Owen-Gage. I've been at a lot of basketball games over the years," she said.

She attended the last all-class reunion 4 years ago and is looking forward to enjoying it again.

About 700 reservations for the reunion are already in, and reunion committee members are hoping 800 will show up when the doors open at 5:30 p.m. at the Colony House, located 4 miles east of Cass City, and 4 miles north on M-53.

Cocktails will be available and dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Following dinner there will be a band for dancing or listening.

The all-class reunions are held about every 4

Gun blows up; area 10-year-old injured

A complaint was filed with the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department June 27 as a result of a firearm mishap.

A 10-year-old Cass City youth was treated and released from Hills and Dales Hospital after the mishap, the complaint states.

The youth told deputies he was shooting at birds in a relative's back yard in Elmwood Township with a 410 shotgun when he attempted to fire a round and the top of the gun blew up and injured his hand, according to the report.

His uncle saw that the youth was injured and rushed him to the hospital.

An investigation on the weapon showed the accident was caused by an overload of the shell, the report states.

Flood recovery answers

Q: I am a farmer in Tuscola County. Between planting and harvest, my cash-flow is nonexistent. We need help now to meet our bills. What can you do?

A: The Flood Outreach Program is designed to help find resources for people still experiencing difficulty because of the flood of 1986. In your case, the following agencies can still provide some financial help:

Michigan Ecumenical Forum (request for funding must come through your local church). Phone: (517) 485-4395.

Michigan Farm Unity Coalition. Phone: 1-800-MI-FARMS. Ask for Dick Stout. You must contact this organization personally for assistance.

We would like to answer your questions dealing with Flood Recovery concerns. Please address them to:

Flood Outreach Recovery Team, Broadcast House, Suite 100, 1184 Cleaver Rd.,

Caro, MI 48723, phone 673-8565.

All letters must be signed to be printed; however, all names will be kept confidential.

New books at the library

FROM THE HEART by June Carter Cash (non-fiction). The trials and tribulations of motherhood, country music superstardom, and marriage are just a few of the topics explored in this heartfelt and unassuming autobiography. June Carter Cash is unsparing in documenting her husband's drug problems, her showbiz beginnings with the Carter Family, and the struggle to keep her family together. She tells how her Christian beliefs provided the strength she needed to deal with the dehumanizing routine of life on the road and to help her daughter, Rosey, battle cocaine addiction.

AFTER THE STORM by Judith Richards (fiction). The setting is near the Everglades towards the end of WWII. Terry Calder, his mother and sister await the return of his serviceman father, who is investigating the liberated concentration camps. This is a time of discovery for the inquisitive redhead, who befriends a smart-alecky half-Indian boy, a brain-damaged, unintentionally violent adolescent and a veteran who lost both his legs in the Pacific theater. Terry yearns to explore the Florida swamps with the disabled Deke, and when his mother forbids him, he turns for help to a gypsy conjurer. Moving among adults, he observes but doesn't fully understand sexual relationships, latent racism and the terrible reports from Europe.

FLIGHT OF THE OLD DOG by Dale Brown (fiction). It is not the Reagan Administration that has secretly been developing a Strategic Defense Initiative in this first book by retired USAF Captain Brown, but the Soviets, and as soon as the system comes on line, the Russians flagrantly attack American intelligence and military craft with their laser weapon. The President and his advisors appeal to the UN Security Council; they even dispatch sophisticated B-1 bombers and a new, armed space satellite, but both are thwarted, and the U.S. is left dangerously incapable of detecting a missile launch from the eastern U.S.S.R. Desperate, they decide to send a souped-up veteran B-52 bomber, the Old Dog, and its expert navigator Patrick McLanahan on a crucial mission into Siberia to neutralize the death ray.

All-star game ends softball year

The Cass City Girls' Softball Little League played their All Star game June 30 to cap off the season. The West All Stars had members from the Braves, Tigers and Hawks (placing second, fourth and sixth place in the regular season). The East All Stars consisted of players from the Cubs, Reds and Pirates (first, third and fifth in regular season).

The West All Stars were led by Jodi Benitez with 3 hits and Jodi LaRoche, Janet Kubacki, Shelley Mellendorf, Stephanie Leiterman with 2 hits each. Tracey Patera, Stephanie Leiterman and Jenny Storm each pitched 3 innings for the West team.

The East All Stars were led by Jandi Hillaker with 3 hits (including a home run and a triple) and Jodi Hillaker with 3 singles; Jodi Wright, Rhonda Fee and Keri Santos each had 2 hits. Mindy Fulcher also homered.

Kathy Bolton, Jandi Hillaker, Kim Morley and Keri Santos did the pitching for the East squad.

The West All Stars were behind 13-15 after 8 innings but they scored 2 runs in the top of the ninth to go ahead. The East team came back to score 2 more runs in the bottom of the ninth to win the game.

A picnic and awards presentation followed the game to close out the year.

A pinch of baking soda added to the water when cooking dried beans will improve their texture and prevent mushiness and cracking. Don't salt until the beans are tender.

Bean Queen deadline set

Applications are still being taken for the 1987 Bean Queen crown, according to Bill Bortel, Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service director.

All contestants will receive a minimum of $50 and the winner will receive $100.

"The Tuscola County Bean Queen committee is still seeking eligible candidates, and this would be an excellent opportunity for communities or groups to select a candidate from their area," Bortel remarked.

The event will be held in conjunction with the Tuscola County fair July 29. July 20, the contestants will be meeting with the judges for a dinner interview.

Rules for entering are:

1. Must be single and a farmer's daughter, who has grown beans within the past 5 years.

2. Age limitations -- 17 to 25, inclusive (as of July 1 the year of the contest).

3. County bean queens of previous year are not eligible.

4. Dress must be formal.

5. An $8 check must accompany the entry blank by the sponsors to cover the cost of the contestant's corsage, which will be presented the evening of the fair.

The Tuscola County Bean Queen committee members are Mike and Mary Findlay of Caro, Jeff and Lorraine Herrington of Reese, Barry and Sally Hedley of Unionville and Brenda Ryan of Akron.

The deadline for entering the contest is July 15. Entry forms are available at the Cooperative Extension Service office in Caro, or at the County Farm Bureau office in Caro.

Nationals top All-Star tilts

The National League won both games in the Little League All-Star double-header held the Fourth of July.

The first game was decided in extra innings. Starting pitchers were Mark Kubacki for the National League and Ben Schott for the American League. The A.L. struck first in the third inning after Lyle Severance tripled and scored on a throwing error. Ben Schott held the N.L. scoreless for the first 3 innings. Greg LeValley pitched the remainder of the game for the A.L.

The N.L. tied the game in the fourth inning on a walk to Billy Graham and a hit by Tavis Osentoski. Graham pitched scoreless ball for the N.L. in the fourth and fifth innings, sending the game into extra innings. The A.L. was unable to score in the sixth inning off Steve Muska.

The N.L. won the game, 2-1, by scoring a run in the sixth inning on hits by Graham, Joe Luana and Osentoski.

The second game was won by the N.L., 9-1. The N.L. scored a run in the first inning off starting pitcher Kent Winter. The N.L. forced Winter from the mound after scoring 5 runs in the second inning. Winter was relieved by Paul Ulfing.

The N.L. continued the scoring attack by adding 3 runs in the third inning. John Phillips pitched 3 scoreless innings for the N.L.

The lone A.L. run came in the fourth inning off reliever Steve Muska. Jeff Swiderski relieved Ulfing in the fifth inning and Graham relieved Muska for the N.L. to close out the victory.

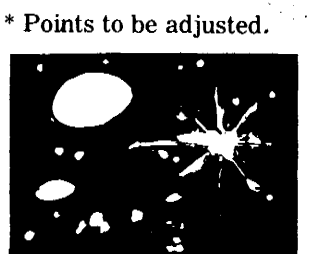

Members of the N.L. All-Stars were John Phillips, Alan Proowski, Brent Howe, Joe Luana, Billy Graham, Jim Golden, Aaron Hewitt, Dirk DeLong, Mark Kubacki, Tavis Osentoski, Wendell Gunther and Steve Muska.

Meetings slated to teach government's procedures

Tuscola County Economic Development Corporation officials are looking for area business people who would like to start doing business with the state and/or federal government.

The EDC, in cooperation with the Thumb Growth Alliance, has scheduled 3 meetings designed to show how to go about procuring government work contracts.

The sessions are slated for 9:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. July 14 at the EDC office, 1184 Cleaver Rd., Suite 800, Caro.

According to EDC Director Jim McLoskey, the ideal goal of local businesses netting government contracts is an improved economy, with the increase in work possibly allowing some local businesses to expand, creating additional jobs.

"We do have some manufacturing businesses in the county who have already been pretty successful in procuring federal government contracts," he pointed out, adding that smaller businesses, such as those involving construction or janitorial services, are more apt to go after state contracts.

"There is paperwork involved in the process, but a number of businesses that have signed up for government procurement have found that it is worthwhile," McLoskey added.

The upcoming training workshops have been organized by the county EDC and Sue Kraft, the Local Procurement Office specialist with the Thumb Growth Alliance in Marlette.

Additional information on the program and registration for one of the informational sessions is available by contacting the county EDC office at 673-2849.

Flower sale slated by local vets

A tradition for several years is slated to be continued Friday by Cass City's Disabled American Veterans Post 50.

The annual forget-me-not sale will be conducted to raise funds to help ensure the welfare of veterans and their dependents, Post Commander Andy Kozan said.

"We give to hospitals in Iron Mountain, Saginaw, Ann Arbor and Allen Park - they're all (Veterans Administration) hospitals," he noted.

Post members will be on the Main and Seeger streets intersection at 7 a.m. and stay all day until 5 p.m., Kozan remarked.

The organization was formed in 1921 to assist veterans in obtaining VA benefits.

RUNNING TOWARD THE finish line in the tot run is 6-year-old Nathan Haag of Cass City. Haag competed in the 5-6 age group in the tot run and is the son of Dan and Shirley Haag of Cass City.

To discuss a request for a variance on setback requirements brought by Simon Pollum of Nettleton Street in Wilmot.

A PERENNIAL AWARD WINNER, this year's Provincial House float was no exception. The 1987 entry netted the Dr. Harry Crandell Award for being the most sentimental float.

THE CO-OP ELEVATOR float, featuring 1986 Bean Queen Christene Ackerman, received the Belle Schwaderer award for the prettiest entry.

BEING RECOGNIZED for putting together a good float is nothing new for the First Baptist Church in Cass City, which again claimed the President's Award for the most original float.

HEALTH TIPS

Recognizing symptoms of heart attack is vital

More than 550,000 people will die of heart attack in 1987. Of those, some 350,000 will die before reaching the hospital. "Sadly enough, many people don't know the warning signs of heart attack and refuse to take their discomfort seriously," says Andrew M. Hauser, M.D., immediate past president of the American Heart Association of Michigan (AHA/MI).

"The key to surviving a heart attack is to recognize the symptoms and act immediately," says Hauser, a Southfield cardiologist. Death or disability is more likely to occur the longer medical treatment is delayed.

The symptoms of heart attack are: uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of the chest lasting 2 minutes or more; pain that may spread to the shoulders, neck or arms, or severe pain, dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath. Not all these symptoms may occur and you should act immediately. If you are having chest discomfort which lasts 2 minutes or longer, call the emergency medical service (EMS). Or if you can get to the hospital faster, have someone drive you.

Other pain or discomfort in the chest and breathlessness are not necessarily warning signs of heart attack. Nervous tension may cause a breathless feeling, difficulty in swallowing or lightheadedness, or tingling or numbness in the fingers or toes. Chest pain that increases when you move your arms or that is associated with a sore area on the surface that becomes more painful when touched isn't generally associated with heart attack. Pain that worsens when you take a deep breath may not indicate a heart problem either. Sharp pains that only last a few seconds aren't generally indicators of a heart attack.

According to Hauser, "If you're not certain your symptoms are serious, seek medical attention anyway. If you are having a heart attack, your chances of survival are far better if you receive medical attention right away."

You should keep the phone number of the EMS service in your area next to your phone and in a prominent place in your wallet or purse. Also, learn which hospitals in your area offer 24 hour emergency cardiac care.

If you don't know CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) you should learn it. You could save the life of a loved one. If you learn the warning signs of heart attack and respond quickly, you might save someone's life - maybe your own. To learn more about heart attack or to obtain a free wallet card listing the warning signs of heart attack, contact your local office of the AHA/MI. "Heart Attack Survival Kit," "Heart Attack," and "Why Risk Heart Attack" are available free of charge. Other brochures on CPR and the risk factors of heart attack are also available free. You can ask for them by writing the AHA/MI at: 16310 West 12 Mile Rd., Lathrup Village, MI 48076, or contact your local office.

Obituaries

Mary Buehrly

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Buehrly, 96, a lifelong resident of the Cass City area, died Sunday, July 5, at Provincial House.

She was born July 24, 1890, in Cass City, the daughter of Archie and Emeline (Striffler) Mark.

Miss Mark married Fred L. Buehrly Dec. 21, 1915, in Cass City, where they made their home. Mr. Buehrly died Aug. 24, 1971.

She was a lifelong, and the oldest, member of Salem United Methodist Church of Cass City, and was a past president of the Ladies Aid Society.

Surviving are one son, Keith Buehrly of Livonia; one daughter, Mrs. Alice Elliot of Uby; 4 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren. One brother, Edward, and 3 sisters, Leona, Martha and Alma, preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 11 a.m. at Salem United Methodist Church, with Rev. Clare Patton, pastor, officiating.

Interment was in Elkland Cemetery.

Little's Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Camp offer for area kids with cancer

Area children stricken with cancer are being invited to attend a new summer camp sponsored by the American Cancer Society, Tuscola Unit President Betty LaFave announced.

There's no charge for the summer event, known as Camp "Catch-A-Rainbow," which will be held north of Muskegon near Montague Aug. 29 through Sept. 1.

According to LaFave, activities offered will include a 2-hour canoe trip, non-competitive games where everyone wins and other traditional summer activities such as swimming, boating and fishing.

Camp Catch-A-Rainbow is only possible because of the on-going support that the American Cancer Society receives from people here in Cass City, LaFave remarked, adding that additional information about the camp is available by contacting the society at 1-800-ACS-2345.

Dorus Klinkman

Dorus Robert "Dutch" Klinkman, 71, a lifelong resident of the Cass City area, died Thursday, July 2, at his residence after a lengthy illness.

He was born May 20, 1916, in Elkland Township, son of Harvey and Cora (Helwig) Klinkman.

Klinkman and Miss Ann Jarvis were married Oct. 13, 1940, in Owendale.

He served with the United States Army during World War II in the European Theatre.

He attended the Salem United Methodist Church of Cass City. He was Past Commander of the Tri-County Post American Legion, Cass City.

Survivors, besides his wife, Ann, are one daughter, Mrs. Richard (Janet) Wright of Cass City; 2 sons, William Klinkman and Frederick Klinkman, both of Cass City; 6 grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. William Roblin of Caro. Two brothers, Keith and James, preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held Sunday at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Clare Patton, pastor of Salem United Methodist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Elkland Cemetery, Cass City.

Work approved for Kelly Rd. in Novesta Township

Road work and proposed construction of a memorial were discussed by the Novesta Township Board during a 90-minute monthly meeting Monday night.

Two residents, including Kay Warner, requested that the board approve road work on Kelly Road, township Clerk Nursie L. Kloc said, adding that the board approved work on one mile from Englehart Road to Crawford Road.

The work, placing gravel in bad spots and possibly instead of proposed graveling on Warner Road from Kelly Road to the south, Kloc explained.

Turning to the memorial proposal, Kloc said that a committee appointed at the recent Old Settlers Reunion has proposed placing a memorial, in honor of township veterans, near the entrance of the Novesta Township cemetery.

The committee is composed of Everett Field, Bruce Holcomb, Audley Horner and Grant Kelly.

Kloc stated that the board discussed the project, but made no decision. Action on the proposal is expected next month, she indicated.

Also Monday, the board learned that the Department of Natural Resources has issued a permit for replacement of a bridge over Mud Creek, located on Cemetery Road between Shabbona and Deckerville roads.

Kloc said she isn't sure when that project will get underway.

H. Muntz named new member on Board of Appeals

The Elkland Township Board selected Howard Muntz as the new member of the Zoning Board of Appeals Monday evening.

Muntz is replacing Jack Laurie, who has resigned from the Board of Appeals.

In other action, the board agreed to designate gravel roads according to the official Tuscola Road Commission map, Township Clerk Norma Wallace said.

Maharg named to new Thumb Tourism Council

Cass City resident John Maharg is one of 5 Tuscola County residents named to the recently formed Thumb Area Tourism and Recreation Council.

The council, formed to address and improve tourism in the Thumb, consists of 22 Thumb residents representing Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac and Lapeere counties.

The group is slated to meet at 7 p.m. July 14 at the Thumb Business Center, 3270 Wilson St., Marlette, to discuss the mission, goals and structure the council will adopt.

"This is an exciting meeting, (because) it will set the direction of tourism in the Thumb area for years to come," Thumb Growth Alliance manager Carl J. Osentoski remarked.

"The make-up of the council is a deep well of knowledge and experience to draw on," he continued. "The members of the council are not only interested in drawing more visitors to the area but in improving the Thumb as well."

Maharg, owner of Rolling Hills Golf Course, is active locally in the Cass City Chamber of Commerce and is president of the Cass City Lions Club.

He will be joined by other Tuscola representatives James McLoskey, county Economic Development Corporation director; Janet Boergert, owner of Mallory's Restaurant; James Kimmel, Pennywick Tree Farm; and Harry Burchett, co-owner of Wanderland Stage Coaches.

Sea getting clean

The tide is turning for the Mediterranean Sea. After serving as a dumpsite for decades, it's now coming clean.

International Wildlife magazine reports that, under a multi-nation agreement, treatment plants have been built, and governments have cracked down on dumping of toxics by ships, planes and industries. The latest agreement calls for national governments to create protected areas for some 500 threatened wildlife species.

Maikrzek stationed in England

Air Force Airman First Class Gregory J. Maikrzek has arrived for duty with the 501st Tactical Missile Maintenance Squadron in England, where he will be stationed for the next 2 years.

Maikrzek, 21, is a missile maintenance specialist. He joined the Air Force in 1984, the year he graduated from Ubyly High School.

Maikrzek is the son of Richard W. and Rose A. Maikrzek, 1980 Clem St., Ubyly.

Elephant artist

"Art is a human activity," wrote Leo Tolstol. Obviously he never read National Wildlife magazine. According to a recent article, elephants also have an artistic bent. One elephant at a Syracuse, N.Y., zoo, for instance, has created more than 200 drawings and paintings since being given paper and pens in 1976. Experts say that the fact that the elephant's productions are reasonably centered on each page and that each one is "finished" indicates that the elephant does have some sense of art and good form.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

From the Fort Lauderdale News of June 7, quoting a local official: "His comments were kind of off the hip."

That's the kind of fellow who shoots his cuffs.

In Palm Beach County there were 12 valedictorians of the senior classes of the public schools. Three were Orientals, one was from a family from India. In Palm Beach County maybe 5% would be of Oriental or Indian origin.

Add your own comments...

It was intriguing, too, to see their grade point averages. On a scale of 0 to 4.0, 4.0 presumably being perfect, the 12 scholars had averages from 4.2 to 4.4.

By adding this extra layer on the marking system it does enable more students to boast of an A, or 4.0 average.

We used somewhat the same system in our annual homecoming parade in Lapeer in awarding prizes. First there were blue ribbons for firsts in all the classes. But often political or personal factors crept in, so we had on hand some purple ribbons which said "SPECIAL AWARD." The winners of such regarded them highly, because of the color purple. Meanwhile, winners of blue ribbons for first prizes were equally happy.

Notes on our National Parks:

The environmentalists or ecologists or whatever they call themselves had a fit a year ago when the Park Service decided to charge a fee to campers. "It'll be the death of the parks," they wailed.

The outcome: Number of campers who came in spite of the charge, was up 5% over the year before.

As a matter of fact, the admission fee for cars -- $2 or $3 at the major parks, is about the same as it was in the depression days of the 1930's, when first class mail was 2¢, and post-cards were a penny.

I swear, people can always find a way to rationalize NOT buying bonds. They worry about safety, for one thing, but never think about this matter when buying stocks.

"But here's an issue that's insured," I pointed out to my friend Oscar. "Is the insurance company any good, though?" he asked.

"Do you ask the same question when you buy a Homeowners policy?"

"Well, no, except if bonds in general go bad then the insurance company will never be able to pay off."

That's a point. Now if the whole country caught on fire, the companies couldn't pay off Homeowners policies, either. If every automobile got smashed up tomorrow. Allstate and State Farm would default.

Personally, if I can buy an insured bond (GEMIC, FGIC, MBIA, AMBAC) for little more than one of the same issuer, uninsured, I'll take it, because it is slightly more marketable.

I have a country boy approach to the matter: If the bonds are worth insuring, then they probably don't need this protection. The big insurance companies doing this are pretty smart. They aren't insuring dogs.

Now let's move to a more stimulating field: Vodka.

My elite friends all swear by Smirnoff vodka. Or at least they buy one bottle and then when it's empty re-fill it from cheaper brands.

In San Francisco they call this sly trick "decanting."

Since there's a couple dollars difference in vodka prices, we went to some people we know at one of the major distilleries in America in search of the truth about vodka.

In the first place, American vodka is plain old grain alcohol, 80 proof, usually, meaning 40% is alcohol and the rest is water.

A carload of grain comes to the distillery. Ten days later, a carload of vodka in bottles is shipped out.

Said the distillery official:

"It makes little if any difference if it is distilled from grain or potatoes. In America we use grain. In Europe they use grain or potatoes, whichever is at hand.

"The Smirnoff people who say it is filtered through more charcoal, are correct. Others purify it through what amounts to double-distilling, and get a similar end product.

"When your friend speaks of Smirnoff using especially-purified water, he again is correct. However, this is true of almost all American suppliers of vodka. This process of taking all the salts out of water is called de-ionizing. Most companies, including ours, use de-ionizing resins. Some distill the water before adding it to the 190 alcohol, or vodka, as the public knows it.

"Europeans often use just natural water, because their water is quite soft.

"Russians add flavors to their vodkas. American producers do not.

"Differences between vodkas (excluding the flavored products) can sometimes be picked up by experts -- but not after the first drink or two."

So there. Buy cheap vodka, put it in a Smirnoff bottle and save the price of your subscription to this wonderful paper.

Area man fights disease, experimental treatment

"It makes me feel like a man again--to be able to peel my shirt off and go swimming," he said.

Brady noted that he's probably more active than his doctors prefer. Two months ago, he replaced the engine in his 1974 Nova for the second time since he bought the car 3 years ago. Despite the danger involved, Brady pointed out that he needs to maintain the vehicle for trips to Ann Arbor.

MOM'S HOPE

Brady's mother would like to help her son and his family financially, but the mother of 8 just recently began working again after 10 years of staying at home, raising her family.

According to Brady, the couple's monthly income since his illness was discovered and he was forced to quit work has been some $700. The couple receives Aid to Dependent Children funds and Supplemental Security Income monies--Brady was ineligible for Social Security benefits.

Medicaid covers most medical expenses, he explained, but the 260-mile round trips to Ann Arbor cost an additional $50 each week.

"I would like to start a fund for him," Richardson said. "I would like to see him get a comfortable chair to sit in."

"He's the most active person I know; he's always doing something," she continued. "The doctors are really amazed at him. They don't understand how he's walking around. They call him the man with no platelet count."

Richardson speaks with a certain strength in her voice when she talks about her son. She's no stranger to tragedy--both of her parents died over the past 3 years, and her oldest son, Ross, was killed when he crashed into a bridge on M-53 near her home at 8537 Hadley Rd., north of Cass City.

Brady, meanwhile, also appears relatively optimistic about his illness. It's a trait he shares with his wife, who noted that she is scared of the disease. "I help him a lot," she added.

Brady, whose diet includes blood clotting drugs as well as steroids and pain killers, including morphine, said he isn't worried about tomorrows.

"They gave me 6 months to live when I walked out of" the hospital in Ann Arbor the first time, he explained.

"I constantly try to keep busy doing something--I just take it day by day. If somebody asks me what I'm doing tomorrow, I say, 'I'll worry about that when it gets here'."

FESTIVAL COMMITTEE member Geraldine Prieskorn was in the limelight Friday evening. Above, she's interviewed by WJEM-TV 5 weatherman Chuck Waters, who luckily spotted some of the native "flying mice," which assured good weather over the holiday weekend.

July 15 deadline

Wheat-loss program aired

Farmers nationwide who were unable to plant less than 50 percent of their wheat last fall due to wet weather can contact the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office to see if they qualify for payments under a program called the 0/92.

"It's a program where wheat farmers who were unable to plant wheat last fall can, if they follow the rules and regulations, be able to set aside ground and be eligible for payments determined by the market price," said Jimmy Lavoie, Huron ASCS County Executive Director.

The "0" stands for zero or close to zero percent of acres planted, while the "92" refers to the percentage of acres permitted to be compensated for.

A farmer with a base, or a 5 year average, of 100 acres of wheat planted would be required to set aside 27 1/2 percent of that or 27 1/2 acres. The rest of the 100 acres, or 72 1/2 acres, would be acreage permitted for possible payments, Lavoie said.

"Out of the 72 1/2 acres permitted for payments, 92 percent, or 66.7 acres, would be compensational to the farmer for market price," he noted.

Applications for the program are available at a farmer's local ASCS office. The deadline is July 15.

Akron, Ohio is the location of the annual All-American Soap Box Derby.

Annual Lamb and Fiber Affair slated

Natural fibers and the animals producing them is the slated focus of the second annual Lamb and Fiber Affair July 17-18. The Affair will be at the Huron Community Fairgrounds in Bad Axe. Activities are slated to begin at 2 p.m. July 17 and continue through the afternoon of July 18.

During the 2-day event, there will be a Jackpot Lamb Show for FFA and 4-H members. There will also be shows of angora goats, angora rabbits, long wool and colored wool and Suffolk breeding stock.

Demonstrations are slated throughout the event and will include spinning, weaving, wool carding, sheep shearing, working sheep dogs, wool picking, rabbit plucking, soap making and wool dyeing.

There is a "sheep-to-shawl" contest scheduled for July 18. In this activity, a sheep is shorn and the wool is immediately carded, spun and woven into a finished product.

In addition to the above activities, there will also be booths with a variety of natural fiber products for sale, including wool, mohair and angora products, hand-crafted items and spinning and weaving equipment.

The public is invited to attend this event to learn more about natural fibers and fiber-producing animals.

The Thumb Area Lamb and Fiber Affair is co-sponsored by the Thumb Fiber Friends, Thumb Sheep Breeders, Northern Angora Goat Ranchers Cooperative and Huron County Cooperative Extension Service.

Driver sought in early morning vehicle accident

Wilson, who arrived at the scene at about 6:05 a.m., stated that the driver apparently walked away following the accident, which occurred at 5:55 a.m.

No damage estimate is available yet, but Wilson said that the truck, sign and utility pole all sustained massive damage. A post on the porch of the Robert Ryland residence, 4242 Seeger St., was moved, but the house wasn't damaged, he added.

Also reported over the weekend was a minor 2-car mishap at 11:45 a.m. on Main Street at Weaver Street.

According to the report, a vehicle driven by James E. Baker, 6469 Garfield Ave., was southbound on Weaver Street and attempting to make a left turn onto Main Street when he drove into the path of a westbound vehicle driven by Betty A.

Smith, 6387 Houghton St. Baker "failed to yield the right of way," but was not cited, the report indicated. Both drivers stated that their view was obstructed by a nearby parked truck and trailer.

Chicken Almondine

1 package Holly Farms® Thin 'n Fancy Chicken Breast Fillets

1/4 cup unseasoned dry breadcrumbs
1/2 cup sliced almonds
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
Salt and pepper to taste
1 egg, beaten
3 tablespoons butter
Lemon wedges with parsley, for garnish

In shallow dish combine breadcrumbs, almonds, parsley and lemon peel. Salt and pepper chicken and dip into egg. Then dip into almond mixture, pressing coating in with hands to adhere.

Heat butter in large skillet and saute chicken over medium heat for 5 to 6 minutes turning carefully until both sides are golden brown and cooked through. Serve garnished with parsleyed lemon wedges. Serves 4.
