VOLUME 81, NUMBER 14

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN—WEDNESDAY, JULY 15, 1987

July balmy compared to '83 scorcher

If the dog days of summer are yet to come, area retailers of air conditioners, fans and ice cream should enjoy a banner summer.

For area residents, who welcomed news of "cool" temperatures in the 70s this week after 5 consecutive 90-plus degree days, however, the recent stretch of hot and humid weather has been sticky at best, dangerous at worst.

Although temperatures this summer haven't been far warmer than in past years, it has been warmer to date than in the same period in 1986, 1985 and 1984.

Humidity, which residents and weathermen agree has been the real culprit recently, has made the heat even more uncomfortable.

Forecasters say they expect temperatures to climb back up into the 80s this weekend, which will continue the trend of warm days. While June's average high temperature was 81 degrees, with 4 days in the 90s, this month's average to date is 87 degrees.

Temperatures peaked at 94 Saturday and Sunday, according to data collected at the Wastewater Treatment Plant in Cass City.

Average high temperatures in June and July in each of the past 3 summers were: 75 degrees in June 1986 (high of 88) and 82 in July (high of 94); 73 in June 1985 (high of 86) and 84 in July (high of 92), and 82 in June 1984 (high of 90) and 84 in July (high of 90).

The recent heat wave doesn't compare with the scorcher recorded in 1983—at least not yet. In July 1983, the average high was 96, with 12 consecutive days of 90-plus degree temperatures beginning July 10. Highs during that period were, in order, 90, 94, 94, 96, 97, 99, 99, 99, 96, 98, 99, 93.

POOL STAFF BUSY

Cass City area parks have remained nearly deserted over the past week, with the exception of the village pool, which has been swamped by kids of all ages from Cass City as well as the Owendale, Uby, Deford, Snover and Unionville areas.

"This is the earliest I can remember we've had this many," pool director Diane Russell remarked. We've had, since the Fourth, over 200 (people) each day, and even night sessions have been busy."

"We've been going strong ever since we opened Memorial Day," she continued. Russell, who's in her fifth year of working at the pool, said that there's been only one day in which the pool's maximum 250 person limit has been reached, and that was before the Fourth of July.

But, she added, the pool

has been used by an average of 150 persons during the 1 to 3 p.m. session—typically the busiest session of the day.

Although the pool staff includes 7 full-time employees, 3 substitutes have also seen plenty of working time since the heat set in, Russell said.

DOS AND DON'TS

Although temperatures locally are expected to ease, residents can probably expect to see more of the same in the near future.

According to Cass City physician Dr. Richard Hall, persons who follow some common-sense guidelines regarding work and play in the heat can prevent serious health problems.

Hall noted that persons should avoid a lot of physical exertion in the heat of the day and not overdo. Drinking a lot of fluids also is a safeguard against heat-related problems such as heat stroke, he explained. Other suggestions for beating the heat are taking frequent showers or going swimming, wearing light-colored clothing and limiting outdoor activity to the cooler periods of the day.

Dr. Hall pointed out that persons who are sweating and then suddenly stop sweating should get out of the sun and contact a physician. That symptom is a strong sign of an impending heat stroke, he said, adding that other symptoms include weakness and dizziness.

TUSD one mill in Monday vote

Tuscola County Intermediate School District officials say they're optimistic regarding a special 1-mill request to be decided Monday by voters in 9 local school districts, including Cass City.

Voters can cast their ballots at their respective school election sites from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The millage, which would raise some $690,000 for operation of programs for handicapped students in the local districts, would remain in effect until voted out.

"It's our task to be an educational cooperative for 9 local districts," Al Mahan, assistant superintendent of special education with the district, remarked Monday. "I guess it's a question of the local districts providing the services or the ISD" providing the services. He added that he believes the ISD has done a good job in providing programs for students.

Mahan said that intermediate school officials are "positive" in terms of the outcome of the election, but indicated a large turnout at the polls isn't expected. "Typically, county-wide millages like this usually have low turnouts," he said.

Currently, the intermediate district, which serves some 1,300 handicapped students in the county, levies 1.6 mills. The levy raised $1.35 million in the 1986-87 school year.

But Mahan has pointed out that the district has been forced to dip heavily into its fund equity in each of the past 3 years, causing the fund to diminish. If the millage doesn't pass, the district will face a fund equity of $60,000 as of July 1, 1988, the official remarked.

The district has been feeling a financial pinch due to plummeting land values, decreases in the state and federal governments' shares of the cost of special education and increases in the cost of running such programs, Mahan said, adding that there are few options in terms of cutting costs.

Aside from 3 programs—music, physical education and aquatics—the intermediate district's offerings are mandated by state or federal government. Staffing levels, too, are mandated, Mahan explained.

He said that cutting the 3 non-mandated programs would probably save some $100,000, compared to an expected budget deficit of $345,000 in the 1987-88 school year.

12-year-old is drowning victim

A drowning accident claimed the life of a 12-year-old Detroit boy in Dayton Township Saturday.

While a car accident in Tuscola Township Thursday claimed the seventh life on Tuscola County roads this year.

According to the report, Corey T. Greenfield was wading in water on the east side of Shay Lake when he stepped and dropped off a ledge, under water at about 5:30 p.m. and never came back up.

The boy was swimming with family and friends at the time, the report stated.

The body was recovered by divers from the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department about an hour and 45 minutes later. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

One Millington man was killed and 2 others injured when their vehicle left the roadway and rolled over a noon Thursday on Orme Road.

Dead is Kenneth E. Glover, 19, who was riding in the back seat of a car driven by Dale S. Workman, 18, who was injured. Another passenger, Lawrence K. Canfield, 18, was also injured.

Deputies said Workman was driving eastbound on Orme Road and failed to complete a turn, causing the vehicle to leave the roadway and roll in a ditch. Grover was thrown from the vehicle upon impact, the report states.

Grover was pronounced dead upon arrival at Caro Community Hospital. Workman and Canfield were treated and released at Saginaw St. Luke's Hospital.

Reports indicated none of the victims were wearing seat belts.

O-G abandons decade-long struggle to reacquire Belk parcel

A recent decision denying the Owen-Gage School District's request for another stay in the Belk property settlement prompted the board of education Monday night to shelve a planned appeal of the settlement.

The board also voted to freeze administrators' wages, and approved purchase of 2 school buses during the monthly meeting.

The board's action on the Belk property issue ends a battle spanning more than a decade between the Owen-Gage and Cass City school districts for the parcel.

"The board had decided that... if we could get the stay, then we would file an appeal, and if we couldn't, then we would drop the case," school Supt. Harley B. Kirby reminded the board Monday.

Kirby's remarks referred to the board's position regarding a State Board of Education hearing held earlier this year in Lansing.

The district's request to regain the land was later denied.

Kirby, who announced that he was notified July 7 that the district's request for the stay had been denied, recommended that the board stick with its decision not to pursue the matter further.

The Owen-Gage district lost its fight to keep the property, but has been able to collect property taxes on the land because of stays granted to the district over the years, board Treasurer Jack Brinkman explained. He added that the district will no longer be collecting those revenues.

Brinkman estimated that the property is worth $25,000 to $30,000 per year in tax revenues based on last year's state equalized valuation.

WAGE FREEZE

The board, following a 50-minute executive session, voted unanimously to freeze all administrators' contracts at last year's weekly wages.

Board members said the freeze is necessary due to financial difficulties faced by the district.

Base salaries for the district's 3 administrators last year were: Kirby, $44,909 based on a 52-week contract; high school Principal Robert Andrews, $28,500 based on a 47-week contract, and elementary Principal William Britt, $28,662 based on a 43-week contract.

The board's attempt to add to the district's bus fleet was again a main topic of discussion.

The board, after several weeks of investigating purchasing and refurbishing options, decided in March to have a 1978 bus refurbished by Lamco Corp., Pinconning, at a cost of $18,250, not including tires.

But the company has since gone out of business and will remain so until at least October or November, Kirby said Monday.

The board, following discussion, decided to purchase 2 new 1986 model buses at a quoted price of $29,351 per bus for a total cost of $58,702. Brinkman remarked that both the price and interest rates are favorable.

Cass City board names officers in routine meeting

It was strictly routine as members of the Cass City School Board quickly completed the shortest session of the year Monday night at the high school.

A few reports and the opening of 2 bids highlighted the meetings. The school received 2 bids to borrow $82,948 for 5 years to purchase 3 school buses. The low bid was submitted by Chemical Bank of Cass City at a rate of 7.25 percent.

The board also opened bids to borrow $1.2 million until April 1, 1988, against anticipated tax revenues. Four bids were received and the low bid was by Thumb National Bank and Trust for 4.73 percent.

In the past the school has been able to deposit the money when received and receive a high enough interest on funds until they are used to more than pay the cost of borrowing the money. The reason, of course, is that money that the banks receive in interest is tax free.

The board also gave Supt. Donald Crouse and the school bookkeeper the right to sign payroll checks. Crouse is also authorized to sign payroll transfer checks. In addition all board members are authorized to sign general fund checks.

The superintendent was also authorized to invest school funds in any of 5 banks: Citizens Commercial and Savings Bank, Flint; Second National Bank, Saginaw; Thumb National Bank and Trust, Cass City; Chemical Bank, Cass City, and Cass City State Bank.

ELECT OFFICERS

Officers for the 1987-88 school year were elected. All were elected or re-elected without opposition. Re-elected were President Dr. Ed Scollon, Secretary Ben Hobart and Treasurer Dick Wallace. Elected vice-president was Allan Hartwick.

The board approved a request by Rex and Peggy McKnight to allow their daughter, Crystal Ann, to continue attending Campbell Elementary in the fourth grade.

The McKnights have

Benefit concerts bomb in Sanilac

A Shabbona couple say they're disappointed but not bitter with the dismal turnout over the weekend for 2 benefit concerts they organized to raise funds for Sanilac County farmers.

Dean G. Smith, 51, his wife Yvonne and their 21-year-old daughter Cynthia promoted the "Helping Hands to Save Farmlands" show, proceeds from which were to be used to help pay struggling farmers' property taxes.

But the concerts, held at the Sanilac County Fairgrounds in Sandusky with featured performers Porter Wagoner Saturday night and Whispering Bill Anderson Sunday, drew a total of only a little more than 200 persons.

The fairground grandstand, meanwhile, seats 3,000 to 3,500 persons.

"It's really discouraging; it's disappointing," Yvonne remarked Monday. "It (the turnout) was very, very bad."

"We probably won't be doing any more benefits for the 'Helping Hands' project," she continued. "We feel the farmers could have been more supportive since we had done it for them."

"But we went into it with our eyes open, so we'll take the loss. We're not bitter."

The Smiths' losses were substantial, with performers, fairgrounds rental and other related expenses totalling some $23,000. Tickets for the performances were sold for $15 per concert, or $20 for both shows.

The family had planned to give farmers 60 percent of the proceeds after expenses, while the remaining 40 percent was to be divided among the Smiths, the Shabbona RLDS Church and a Sandusky radio station, which volunteered to help promote the concerts.

"As far as recovering the money that we have invested, no way," Yvonne said. "It will take us a while to recover, (but) we've been through a lot worse."

The Smiths had hoped for much better, particularly because the benefit concert was the first major project undertaken by the family's "Southern Country Booking Agency," which was

Sidewalk events start Wednesday

Plans are complete for the largest sale event of the summer and one of the largest at any time, members of the Cass City Retail Committee announced this week.

The 4-day sidewalk sale starts Wednesday and concludes Saturday. There are special events scheduled for each day.

The Girl Scouts of troop number 221 will sell hot dogs at the Chemical Bank parking lot at the corner of Seeger and Main streets Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Wednesday morning from 9:30 to 12 noon clowns will be in town passing out free candy to the kiddies.

Friday will be a busy day. Special events will be kicked off with a parade starting at 9:30 a.m. at the Thumb National Bank and proceeding down Main Street. Participants in the parade will be treated with free ice cream.

At 10:15 kids' games will be held with plenty of prizes awarded.

On all 4 days arts and crafts will be on display and sale. The special events add enjoyment to the sale days, but the primary attraction for area shoppers will be the values that are offered during the sale that aren't available at any other time of the year.

Walbro partner in new Mount Pleasant plant

An announcement was expected today (Wednesday) at Mt. Pleasant of a joint venture between Mitsuba of Japan and Walbro Corporation of Cass City which will result in the establishment of a 40,000-square-foot building in Mt. Pleasant's University Park, Walbro president and chief executive officer Lambert Althaver said. The building will be situated on 20 acres purchased for the venture.

It will be about a year, Althaver estimated, before the new business is in production and the initial product will be the production of electric motors. It is expected that automotive parts will also be produced in the new facility.

Walbro is a minority partner in the venture, Althaver explained, and will provide manufacturing support and marketing expertise for the new business.

Details of the venture were to be announced today at a special press conference and luncheon meeting scheduled in Mt. Pleasant.

Spittin' image

By Melva E. Guinther

Watching the girls' Little League All-Star softball game was an enjoyable experience.

Rona Hillaker's announcing made it easy to keep track of who was at bat, how many outs, the inning, score, etc.

Another pleasant factor was that nobody spit. Admittedly, I'm not much of a sports fan, but what really turns me off TV baseball is the close-up, living color shots of Sparky and his boys spitting.

Is this disgusting practice an integral part of the game, or are they working to develop a second career in case baseball goes sour? Actually, the art of spit (How's that for a contradiction in terms?) is big time stuff.

Just a couple weeks ago, Jeff "Faucet Man" Barber, a 14-time spitting champion and world record holder, was dethroned in the 33rd annual National Tobacco Spitting Contest in Raleigh, Miss.

The modest Gary Burrows, who defeated the champ, admitted that "the wind made everybody spit shorter today."

"This morning we were spitting with the wind, but this afternoon there were some crosswinds," the 23-year-old spitter said. Capricious winds, I imagine, would affect expectorators and spectators alike in such an event.

The winning globule traveled a mere 24' 11 1/2", far short of Barber's 33' 7 1/2" listed in the Guinness Book of World Records.

The spitting game is in no way limited to tobacco juice, though. The 14th annual International Cherry Pit Spit contest was held the 4th of July at the Tree-Mendus Fruit Farm in Eau Claire, according to an Associated Press story.

About 1000 spectators and a couple hundred contestants were on hand when Rick "Pellet Gun" Krause of Arizona sent a pit 66' 6", setting a new world record. Would that qualify as a missile?

The top woman spitter managed a dainty 40' 4", and a 13-year-old boy captured the youth division with a projectile of 33' 11". A man from Lebanon won the dignitary (another contradiction?) match with a 38' 11" spit. Possibly a more vigorous effort would have endangered his eligibility for the category.

It was my intention to share the details of a recent watermelon seed spitting gala, but I misplaced the clipping. It's just as well. Filling a column with material like this is sticky business, at best.

Parrott's Tours of Deckerville was recently honored by Princess Cruises and Princess Tours as one of its top 100 sales agencies in the United States. Bob and Margaret Parrott, representing the agency, were flown to San Francisco to attend the awards banquet and show aboard new Princess Super love boat, the Royal Princess. The affair was hosted by Gavin McLeod, "Captain Stubbing," of Love Boat fame.

Verna McConnell was honored at a surprise birthday party Saturday evening at the home of Bob and Norma Speirs. About 35 relatives were present.

Pastor and Mrs. Chuck Richardson and family were honored at a farewell get-together after the Sunday evening service at First Baptist Church. Richardson has accepted the pastorate of Hemlock Road Baptist Church at Tawas, after serving as youth pastor at the Cass City church. They received a gift of money from the congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Doss and sons of Frankfort visited Mr. and Mrs. Andy Kozan from Saturday until Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord LaPeer visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lynwood LaPeer. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Daryl LaPeer, Lynette and Belinda of Loring Air Force base in Maine. The Daryl LaPeers are spending a month visiting relatives friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Smith of Deford spent last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Fox in Atlanta. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bellowich in Cheboygan and Miss Cindy McKee in Big Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Tracy attended the picnic of the Sutton Sunshine UM Church at the Paul Findlay cottage at Sand Point. The large group present enjoyed a potluck supper in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hunt of Westland and John Hunt of Livonia spent the weekend with their grandmother, Lilah Wilhelm.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wright of Kalamazoo came Friday and Saturday they took Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright to Reed City to visit relatives. While there, they visited Mable's aunt, Mrs. Gladys Miller, a patient in the Cadillac hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kozan, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Kozan, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Czekai and family attended the funeral of Mrs. Mildred Anderson in Flint Sunday. Following the funeral, Andy Kozan visited his brother George, who is a patient in a Flint hospital.

"If It Fitz..."

Signature shock

By Jim Fitzgerald

Recently, a teller at National Bank of Detroit's downtown headquarters rejected my signature on the back of my paycheck.

"I can't read that," she said.

Well, there is no denying my signature is scrawlish. But it is mine. That's the way I write my name.

"Please write it again so that I can read it," the teller said. She was nice about it.

But if I write my name so it can be easily read, it won't be my signature. It won't match the signature card I signed when I began banking at NBD 11 years ago. Forgery will be suspected.

The teller smiled. "Please, what you've written could be anything. I have to be able to read it."

This was something new. I've been signing checks, front and back, for 45 years, and this was my signature's first rebuff. It was a shock. Had my handwriting deteriorated that much in the mere week since the same bank accepted my signature without question?

I sign "James E. Fitzgerald" and the 3 capital letters appear easily decipherable to me. (The "E" stands for Edmund, which gives you some idea how close I came to sinking in Lake Superior.) And the lowercase letters, especially the "t" and "z," are fairly clear. I've seen many signatures more unreadable than mine. I know a wealthy lawyer whose signature is a straight line with a curl on the end. I'll bet NBD doesn't reject his signature; he'd sue their socks off.

I wanted to show the teller how to read my signature, guiding her through it letter by letter. I wanted to ask if I were a victim of a new bank policy, or was she simply more particular than the hundreds of tellers who accepted my signature in the past.

But there was a line of people waiting behind me. In a bank, there is always a line waiting. This is because every bank puts its most competent vice-president in charge of closing another teller window whenever it appears that a line is in danger of disappearing.

(The second most competent vice-president is in charge of making certain that tellers always quit waiting on customers in favor of waiting on fellow employees who approach tellers from the rear to get change for the candy machine.)

I'm afraid to dally at the head of a bank line because someone behind might do to me what I always want to do to the person in front of me when he or she doesn't begin making out a deposit slip until reaching the teller. God help us all.

So I meekly endorsed my check a second time, writing slowly and roundly, as in third grade penmanship class, Palmer method, in 1934. The teller agreed to accept my deposit, and I bravely left without genuflecting.

That evening I took my Social Security card out of my wallet. It is my original card, the one I signed in 1940, at age 14, when I got my first real job. Immodestly, I'm proud that I've carried that card in my pocket every day for over 47 years without losing it. I have a son who loses his car keys twice every month.

I have to admit my 1987 signature looks absolutely nothing like my 1940 signature. It is easy to read every letter written that long-ago summer when I was a soda jerk in the drugstore across the street from my home. By comparison, today's signature is a senseless scribble.

What happened to that boy with the perfect penmanship? I became a newspaper reporter and learned to take shorthand notes only I can read — one legible word brings clarity to 3 pages of weird markings. For communicating the written word to others, there is always the keyboard.

It's no wonder my signature became sloppy. I'm really sorry, but it's the only one I have, and the NBD vice-president in charge of maintaining long lines should realize anything else is forgery.

The Haire Net

Jimmy Stewart is a perfect Lt. Col. Oliver North (or vice versa). Whatever way it comes down, the administration couldn't have a better representative before the nation and incidentally before the congressional investigating committee.

Let's grant for a minute that North was and is a patriot. Admit, too, that the battle between the Democrats and Republicans for a toehold in the coming elections appears to be of greater interest than getting to the bottom of a sticky at best and criminal at worst situation.

North can wrap himself in the flag and repeat that he did what he was told as a marine and feels today as he did then that his actions were in the best interest of

Area pastor plans move

The Rev. Chuck Richardson was scheduled to serve his last day today (July 15) as youth pastor at the First Baptist Church in Cass City following his decision to accept a call to become pastor of a church in Tawas City.

Richardson, who has served as a youth pastor in Cass City for a little more than 2 years, was honored along with his family at a reception held at the church Sunday evening.

He will begin his new position, at the Hemlock Road Baptist Church, Aug. 1.

Originally from Mayville, Richardson, who was ordained in October, joined the Cass City church in July 1985 after graduating from Spurgeon Baptist Bible College in May 1985. He graduated from Mayville High School in 1977.

Richardson and his wife of 8 years, Diane, a Cass City native, have lived at 4534 Oak St. The couple have 3 children; Amy, 6, Chuck, 4, and Christopher, one.

Surplus food distribution scheduled for July 23

The Human Development Commission will be having a surplus food distribution July 23 at the Cass City Village Park, Caro Fairgrounds in Caro and at the Ivan Middleton Hall in Vassar.

Due to the volume of commodities, individuals are asked to take cardboard boxes to carry their commodities.

Individuals must report to a distribution site and present their surplus commodity registration card in order to receive surplus food. Persons unable physically to attend a distribution site may have someone pick up their food providing the registration card is presented.

Additional information is available by contacting the HDC office at 673-4121.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

After spending a year gathering dust in a barn at Roger Marshall's, the Cass City Rotary Club's giant Statue of Liberty replica has become a well traveled lady.

It sauntered over to the driveway at the home of Tom Proctor on North Seeger and from there mysteriously wound up in front of Little's Funeral Home.

From there (hopefully) it will be given a decent burial.

Interesting statistic: Michigan farmers and farm-related business that suffered losses due to the record floods last fall received more than $188 million from a total of $210 million earmarked for relief.

There has been very little publicity about next Monday's vote for another mill for operation for the Intermediate School District.

There is no disputing the need. The question that remains is, are there enough taxpayers this time around to approve the charter levy which will continue until voted out?

Passed through a Sanilac County community Sunday for the first time in years. The last time I visited, the town's business section looked about like Cass City's, perhaps better.

The town's evidently been in a down hill slide since our last visit. It looks about like I imagine Cass City would be looking without the boost provided by local industry.

Kingston appeals board to hear variance request

A Wilmet man's request for a zoning variance to build a storage shed will be decided by the Kingston Board of Appeals at a meeting slated to begin at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Township Hall in Wilmet.

Simon G. Pollum, 1793 Nettleton Drive, is requesting a 12-foot variance to build the structure, according to Zoning Administrator Robert Sims.

Under the zoning ordinance, a 15-foot setback is required for such buildings, while Pollum's proposed building would have a setback of 3 feet, Sims said.

the country. He comes across sincere. You'd be comfortable if he took out your sister.

Although North is a proven liar, most of the country feels that at least this much of his testimony is true. A sizable minority (hopefully it is a minority) believe that he is a super patriot and the money is pouring in for his defense.

Forgotten in the dramatics is the basic fact that North has admitted to conspiring to set up a covert agency in the United States that would be answerable to no one and completely ignore the laws under which this country has flourished.

That's a greater threat and more serious crime, in my opinion, than the Watergate scandal that unseated Nixon and sent members of the committee to jail.

I don't know why it is, but it appears in most any organization or level of government, the tendency to feel that they have all the answers and that they really don't have to answer to the membership which they represent. It's too true that power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely.

If you could prove that the administration's position in Central America is absolutely right and to take any other course is one loaded with peril, North's action would still be wrong.

And in the long run more dangerous to United States citizens than any supposed threat to us from Russia or any other foreign power.

If the perpetrators of this circumvention of the laws of the land get by with this, we have an open invitation for the executive branch to take over more of the power of the country and to forget about the constitution that helped make us great.

Sure, you're thinking that really that can't happen here. That's the same feeling that ran across Germany in pre-Hitler days when the country was operated as a republic and Hitler was merely another minority fanatic.

And that's no lie.

Mary Wald

Veteran quilter still going strong at 91

It takes nimble fingers, a sharp eye and a certain flair for design to create what today is considered by many to be not only useful, but also a special bedroom showpiece—the quilt.

Area resident Mary Wald is an expert of sorts on quilts. At 91, she's a veteran of the art. And she says she has no plans to slow down.

Wald, who remembers well a time when household items were things you either made or did without, actively pursues her interest in sewing both at home and as a member of the Elmwood Quilting Circle.

The area native, as well as some of her fellow quilters, took time to talk during a gathering of the quilting circle recently.

"It's something to do—you might better do that than sit and twiddle your thumbs," Wald remarked.

"I could sew ever since I can remember. I could always sew, it seems," she continued. Wald recalled that she learned how to sew as a young girl at her parents' farm east of Gagetown, where she was born.

Back then, she explained, "You didn't go out and buy a blanket; if you didn't make it, you didn't have it." Wald grinned, adding, "If kids today had to do everything that we had to do then, they wouldn't know how to get along, would they?"

Wald, the daughter of the late Theresa and George Wald, lives with her sister-in-law, Alma Wald, and nephew, George Wald, at 4200 Dale Rd. She never married, she said, adding, "Maybe that's why I've lived so long."

ELMWOOD QUILTERS

Despite her years, Wald's skills as a quilter equal those of her younger Elmwood quilters.

"As far as doing it (quilting), I can do it as well now as I ever could," she commented.

Wald got no argument from Irene Tracy, a second generation Elmwood Quilting Circle member and host of a recent group meeting.

"That's for sure, (Mary's) one of our best quilters," she said.

Tracy pointed out the Elmwood Quilting Circle's long history, which dates back at least 75 years.

"It started out as a ladies aid to a Baptist church called Frog Island. I couldn't tell you how long ago," she said, adding that the church was located about 1 1/2 miles west of Cedar Run Road on Dale Road.

At first, the ladies aid did a lot of sewing for the Red Cross and Salvation Army, Tracy remarked. "When the church closed, they kept the ladies aid going, and it eventually evolved into quilting. Now, that's about all we do."

The group now quilts for people on request, and donates proceeds from the projects to a variety of charities and community service groups. Among past recipients are the Cass City Zonta Club, Elkland Township Fire Department and Provincial House.

According to Marion Gray, a member of the circle for some 50 years, the group usually meets on the third Wednesday of each month, but recently the number of meetings has increased because of an upcoming quilt show to be held in conjunction with Cass City's Sidewalk Sale Days. The ladies expect to display some 80 quilts during the event slated for this week.

On the average, the quilting circle completes 10 to 12 quilts per year, with each quilt being worked on during 2 to 3 all-day sessions, Gray, a third generation Elmwood quilter, added.

OTHER PROJECTS

Quilting "friendship quilts" is a major project now underway, according to the group, which explained that each of the circle's 18 members is creating a personally signed quilt block for each of the other members. When the project is completed, each member will have a quilt composed of squares created by her fellow quilters.

The project means plenty of work for the ladies, who seem to enjoy getting together to visit as much as working on quilts.

But for many of the circle members, there's still enough time for other projects.

"I make quilts at home all the time; I've got one started now," Wald, who's been with the Elmwood Quilting Circle for about 30 years, remarked.

Asked if she has plans to take it easy in the near future, she replied, "That will all depend on the Lord, I guess."

One day at a time:
Flood recovery answers

Q: I heard you mention a Support Group on the radio the other day. Could you tell me a bit more about it?

A: Support Group is where individuals can get together and express their feelings in a safe and accepting environment. The group offers emotional support and practical suggestions for problems that are common to all members.

A support (self-help) group operates under the following assumptions:

- 1) People can give and receive more in a group setting than they can by themselves.
- 2) People going through difficult times feel better when they can share their feelings and experiences with others who are "in the same boat."
- 3) What is shared within the group is kept confidential.

There is an existing group meeting at Co-op extension Monday evenings at 7:00 p.m. — although this particular group is for farm women, any type of group may be formed. The Flood Outreach Recovery Team is available to assist any individual or group that is interested in starting their own support group.

*****

We would like to answer your questions dealing with Flood Recovery concerns. Please address them to:

Flood Outreach Recovery Team, Broadcast House, Suite 100, 1184 Cleaver Rd., Caro, MI 48723, phone 673-8565.

All letters must be signed to be printed; however, all names will be kept confidential.

AT 91, AREA QUILTER Mary Wald has probably worked on enough quilts to warm the entire population of Cass City. When not working on projects at home, she's quilting up a storm with the Elmwood Quilting Circle, which will display its best work at a quilt show set for today, Thursday and Friday at the Cultural Center.

IN OTHER BUSINESS

In other business during the 2-hour regular meeting, the board approved rent payments of $200 per month for a district-owned house in Gagetown.

The tenant of the house is some $1,400 behind in rent payments (normally $150 per month), but Brinkman said that the tenant has agreed to make regular payments prior to each board meeting.

A letter of consent allowing resident high school senior Marilla Milbocker to attend Dryden Schools was approved. Kirby noted that if the Owen-Gage district were in-formula, the request would be denied unless the other school district agreed to reimburse Owen-Gage for lost state aid.

A request by some area residents to paint a cafeteria at the high school was also approved.

The board again appointed Abbe to serve as the board's representative to the Huron Intermediate School District's Board of Directors for one year. Brinkman agreed to serve as an alternate.

REELECTED

Each of the board's officers was reelected during a brief organizational meeting held prior to the regular session.

Board members and their offices are Ron Good, president; Joseph Warack, vice-president; Brinkman, treasurer; Pat Goslin, assistant treasurer; Mary Abbe, secretary; William Kretzschmer, assistant secretary, and Donald Cummins, liaison officer.

The board voted to continue alternating its meeting sites between Owendale and Gagetown, but adjusted meeting times. Board sessions will begin at 7 p.m. November through March, and at p.m. in each of the remaining months.

A committee of Scollon, Wallace and Beverley Auten was appointed to open bids for a new sidewalk on the west side of Cemetery Road between the Intermediate School and the high school. They are authorized to award the contract to the low bidder.

A proposed change in policy concerning teaching aides that included a slight increase in wages was tabled until the next meeting when the exact proposal can be presented.

The board voted unanimously to approve the request with the notation that it is for the McKnight girl only and not for any other family that might become owners of the property.

Illegal entry reported in Cass City

A complaint involving an unlawful entry/larceny was reported last week to the Cass City Police Department.

Police are investigating a report made by Tina Collins, who said that her apartment at 6424 E. Main St. was entered and money taken by unknown person(s) between 4:30 and 11:05 p.m. July 8.

The report states that entry was gained through an unlocked window in a south bedroom, with access gained by climbing on a roof. Collins stated that she found $1.09 in change missing and 2 empty pop bottles on a coffee table.

Dean Smith, an elder in the Shabbona RLDS Church and now a carpenter and construction worker, had said prior to the weekend concerts that he had hopes of organizing similar concerts in the future and possibly trying to bring Willie Nelson to Michigan.

But those plans are on hold for now, according to Yvonne, who maintained that despite the recent failure, the family's booking agency will stay in business.

"We're going to continue. We're not going to give up—we're having good luck with people who need booking," she said. "We're going to go ahead and try."

More air traffic expected as military exercise begins

A large scale military exercise slated for Thursday through Sunday out of Selfridge Air National Guard Base is expected to include some flying activity over the area, law enforcement officials announced Monday.

Italian Air Force Tornados, Canadian CF-18 Hornets and U.S. aircraft from bases throughout the country—a total of more than 95 aircraft—will take part in the training exercise, referred to as "Sentry Wolverine 87."

The exercise, which will include simulated combat in skies over the state and Lake Huron, is the fifth in a continuing series of joint service air-to-air, air-to-ground combat exercises hosted by the 127th Tactical Fighter Wing, Michigan Air National Guard.

According to exercise director Lt. Col. Brent Maxon, the operation is "a way to increase a pilot's ability to survive in a combat environment." An important element in the joint service exercise, he added, is the development of better understanding of tactics and terminology used by the different branches of the service and by the forces of different countries.

"Effective communication is essential in combat, and Sentry Wolverine is helping pilots from different backgrounds to bridge the gap," he remarked.

Guard officials stated that all aircraft will be flying within limits set by the Federal Aviation Administration and the U.S. Air Force, and all flying will be done between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. to avoid disturbing residents at night.

In Ellington Township

Zoning requests aired

The Ellington Township Planning Commission recommended denial of one rezoning request and took no action on 3 others during a public hearing held July 8.

According to planning commission secretary Jerry Zuercher, 2 of the rezoning requests were not acted on because the individuals involved didn't follow up on their requests.

A request from Mike Hanes to rezone 10 acres from agriculture to residential, meanwhile, required no action. Zuercher explained that the township zoning ordinance requires a minimum of 40 acres to build on agriculture-zoned land, but that Hanes' property was a lot in record before the ordinance was put into effect.

The commission recommended denial of a similar request from Ron Lenzer, who wants to have 13 to 14 acres rezoned from agriculture to residential.

Zuercher, who noted the minimum acreage for building on residential property is 2 acres, added that Lenzer was unable to attend the hearing.

"We had a lack of information at the meeting (and) we had some objections," Zuercher remarked, adding that Lenzer's request would mean "spot" zoning because his land isn't in an area where there are other residential-zoned parcels.

Zuercher pointed out that the planning commission cannot rezone land, but rather makes recommendations to the township board, which was to conduct its monthly meeting Tuesday night.

First Baptist WMF meets

The Women's Missionary Fellowship of First Baptist Church held their monthly meeting Monday, July 6, in the church fellowship rooms.

President Shirley Shaw opened the meeting with prayer and a memory verse from I Thes. 5:24.

Mrs. Shaw reviewed a letter from Linda Short, a missionary from Bangladesh. It told of how young native men are trained to be teachers and pastors at the Bible Institute, and of language translation.

Jean Fisher gave the secretary and treasurer's report.

Ruth Fisher was in charge of prayer time and read letters from the Ruffs, missionaries to Japan who are home on furlough, and from the Marshes, missionaries in Alaska, who told about people leaving the state because of economic conditions.

Olive Stark and Mrs. Shaw were in charge of decorations and refreshments.

Cass City hosts 1987 Thumb District Cub Scout Olympics

Cass City Park was the site of the 1987 Thumb District Cub Scout Olympics Saturday.

Some 30 boys, including 14 scouts from Cass City

Pack 3594 and others representing Caro, Caseville, Millington, Pigeon and Sebawaing competed in 6 field events with 3 age groups.

The events for the 7-8 year-olds and the 9-year-old divisions were the 30-yard dash, tire roll, sack race, softball throw for distance, softball throw for accuracy and obstacle course.

Events for the 10-year-old and above division were 50-yard dash, javelin throw, shot put, discus throw, long jump and rope walk. Ribbons were awarded to each participant.

Some people believed they could calm a whirlwind by throwing ashes into it.

If ants would only stay outdoors, most people would probably find them a lot easier to tolerate. Ants that come indoors in search of food or nesting sites rarely find the welcome mat out.

Gary Dunn, Extension entomologist at Michigan State University, says most ants that come into the house become kitchen pests. Whether they nest in the house or simply trek in and out, their main interest is food.

The exception is the carpenter ant. These large (1/4 to 1/2 inch), black ants excavate wood and other soft materials, such as expanded plastic insulation, for their nest. They usually start their excavation in moist wood. Once established, the ant colony generates enough moisture to keep itself going.

Carpenter ants often come into the house in fireplace wood. They may also wander in from outdoors.

The most effective way to control an ant invasion is to find and treat the nest, Dunn says. If ants are nesting indoors, this may be easier said than done. You may be able to trace the ants to the back of a door-frame or electrical outlet, but the nest may be some distance away in the frame of the house.

If that's the case, spray or dust as close as possible to the place where you think the nest is. Put insecticide into cracks or openings and on surfaces the insects use or crawl over to enter a room. These insecticides kill the ants on contact before they can crawl on countertops or tables and get into food. Any that turn up after you've sprayed or dusted probably entered over surfaces that you missed.

Another approach if you can't treat the nest directly is to use poisoned bait that the ants carry to the nest themselves. To use these successfully, you must place them where the ants are foraging and sure to find them, and you must select a bait the ants will find desirable. Ants that prefer greasy foods will not throng to a sugar-based bait, and vice versa. If you do find a bait they like, they will carry some of it back to the nest to feed to the queen. That will quickly shut down the whole ant colony.

If ants are coming in from outdoors, the best way to stop them is to find and treat the nest. If you can't locate the nest, apply a chemical insecticide barrier around the outside walls from the ground up to the window and door frames. Treat these, too, along with any open spaces under the house, cracks or other openings in the foundation or basement walls, and possible entryways under or behind porches or exterior stairs. ## Two Owen-Gage graduates

Complete China tour with Lions Band

Some 3 days after returning from a 2-week trip to China and Hawaii, 2 recent Owen-Gage graduates have found that some people aren't asking what it was like to be in a foreign country.

Some people, however, want to know what Hawaii is like.

"When I tell people I went to China and Hawaii, they don't ask about the foreign country, they say, 'Hawaii? Really? Wow ...,'" said Kendra Reehl, 18, of State Street, Gagetown.

Reehl, a piccolo player and Cindy Enderle, 18, of McAlphin Rd., Owendale, a baritone player, were selected to tour with the estimated 200-member Michigan Lions All-State Band in China June 22-July 7. Both young women traveled with the band in 1986 to New Orleans and auditioned again this year.

"Both my sisters Marcy and Julie were in (the band) and had a good time, and we both had a lot of friends encouraging us to try out for it," Enderle said.

"Once we were selected we had to come up with $2,500 through donations and on our own. We had help from the local Lions," Reehl added.

The tour included cities in all 3 "countries" of China - Hong Kong, Taipei in Taiwan and Canton (Canton) in mainland communist China, Reehl said.

"It was a fantastic tour, the people responded well. In a Hong Kong newspaper they did a story on the band. We brought the article back home and people were a little disappointed that it was in English, quite a few of the younger people can speak English," Enderle remarked.

performance at Zhongshan University in Guangzhou, Enderle noted.

"The director met with the president and he told us he was really formal before the concert. During the concert we played some songs like 'Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy of Company B' and the kids started boogieing. When the director talked to him (the president) at the end of the concert, he seemed to be a lot looser," she said.

Most of the pieces played during the performances featured a specific section of the band, such as the trombone or percussion section. The style of songs played depended on the audience, they said.

"At a commune in Canton we played the fun songs for the children. They were really adorable kids," Reehl remembered.

"Yeah, I wanted to take one home," Enderle added. The places they stayed in during their tenure in Hong Kong and Canton were "really nice," they said.

"In Hong Kong we stayed at a Y.M.C.A. It was really a nice place compared to the high-rise apartment buildings they had through the rest of the city," Enderle said.

The single homes in Hong Kong were scarce, except for the slum areas where the houses were like shacks, Reehl remarked.

"There were boat people who had lived in boats all their lives, too," she said.

"In the slums they were trying to tear them down to build more high-rises. We weren't used to living so close together coming from where we do. There was a lot of construction going on with buildings and highways," Enderle noted.

BATHROOMS IN CANTON

"I felt the living conditions of the average Canton man were inhumane. They had open sewers and in the best restaurant in town everyone was taking their camera in the bathroom and taking pictures," Reehl said.

"There was this concrete slab and pieces of wood to put your feet in and a little hole in the concrete," she remarked.

"They did get it to flush, but I don't know how," Enderle said.

"The employees were chuckling at us taking pictures of their bathroom. They were probably saying, 'those silly Americans,'" she remarked.

Enderle, Reehl and the rest of the band were never told what they were eating but it was probably just as well, they said.

MICHIGAN LIONS ALL-STATE band members Cindy Enderle, 18, Owendale, and Kendra Reehl, 18, Gagetown, recently returned from their 2-week trip to China June 20-July 7.

Several employees leave Cass City's schools

The end of the 1986-87 academic year meant Cass City Public Schools lost 6 employees to either retirement or employment elsewhere.

Veron Gingrich spent several years with the school system in maintenance and as transportation supervisor.

He has retired and says he plans on "sitting home and watching television on the set (the staff) got me for my retirement present."

He may be retiring but he says he still plans on making visits to the school every so often "to make sure my successor's doing things right and not letting the place fall down."

Les Kappen spent about 10 years of "retired life" driving a school bus for Cass City students.

"I came up to Cass City to retire from my factory job and I got bored, so I started driving a bus," he remarked.

Superintendent Donald Crouse commended him on his tenure, saying Kappen "was a favorite with coaches and players. He brought them to the games and back fast."

Kappen defended himself saying, "I was trying not to let the motors carbon up."

Linda Yost was a bus driver with the school system for 7 years.

"I decided I wanted to drive a bus and 7 years after that, I'm not going to drive a bus anymore," she said.

Gail Parrott, a custodian retiring during the academic year, is now residing in Caro enjoying his

"They told us the vegetables were fertilized with human sewage and the water was contaminated, so we didn't eat many vegetables and we drank a lot of distilled water," Enderle pointed out.

"It was the first time I've ever had to pay for water," Reehl added.

They didn't get much of a chance to speak to people their own age, but the chances they did have proved to be very entertaining.

"After marching in a parade in Taiwan, we were exchanging pins from Lions from around the world. I ran out of pins so I started giving out American currency. Everyone really got excited about that, by the time I was done I was bankrupt as far as change went," Reehl remembered.

"There was one girl I remember giving an American quarter to as a gift and she came back and gave me a piece of her currency. I told her she didn't have to do that but she said it was a gift," she added.

"Then at McDonald's this man came up to us and started telling us about the history of China, how the kids go to school all year around with 4 weeks off during the year," Enderle said.

"He also told us that the Chinese government will only let them have one child and if they have more and are found out, they get fired from their jobs," she said.

"We asked him what would happen if you had a child without getting married and he said that never happens in China. We laughed because it happens every day in America," Reehl said.

"He said if it ever did happen they would be considered an outcast," she noted.

The group did experience some homesickness when they arrived in Taiwan, they said.

"We were used to plush hotels and this place was more like a dorm. There were 4 people per room and there was just enough room to walk in, and there were community bathrooms," Reehl said.

"After everyone got done with their shower in the morning, there'd be 5 inches of water on the floor," she added.

After Taiwan, they spent 4 days in Hawaii relaxing before coming back to Detroit Metro Airport July 7.

"It was nice in Hawaii because we didn't have to keep going to the bank to switch currency. A dollar was a dollar and besides people in America watch for pedestrians."

"In Hong Kong they drive like maniacs. They'll just run over pedestrians," Enderle said.

"When we got to Hawaii we'd stop at a sidewalk and the cars would stop and us through while we stood there for fear we'd be run over. After a while we saw other people going so we decided it was safe," Reehl said.

Area couple's granddaughter wins in regional show

Big Rapids resident Rebecca Bishop, granddaughter of Lew and Janet Bishop of Cass City, recently continued winning honors with her championship show horses.

The 15-year-old high school junior, the daughter of Jim and Jan Bishop of Big Rapids, recently returned from the American Horse Association Gold Cup Regional Championship Show held in Columbus, Ohio, with 2 gold cups and several ribbons.

The awards include a first-place finish in the Amateur Driving, a first in the Fitting Class and top honors in the Showmanship Class. She also was selected Reserve Grand Champion in the Junior Exhibitor Pleasure Driving Championship class.

Rebecca's interest in showing horses began in 1979. She was the high point winner at the Mecosta County Fair in the Pony Division for 3 consecutive years and she was chosen to represent the county at the state 4-H Horse Show in 1984, when she earned a gold medal, a silver medal and 2 bronze medals. In 1986, she was selected as the Equitation Grand Champion within the 13-16-year-old age group.

How can you count on great claims service? No problem.

Many may say they have great claims service. Only some can prove it. Auto-Owners polled their customers, and found almost all of them are satisfied with Auto-Owners Claims Service. (Nobody's perfect, but we're trying.)

So right now there is a great effort to please the few that aren't and continue the "common sense" approach to settlements that made Auto-Owners so popular in the first place.

Man hurt in Friday accident

A Cass City man was listed in "fair" condition Monday at Hills and Dales General Hospital following a Friday morning accident in which he rolled his vehicle near Grassmere Road about 1/2 mile south of Huron Line Road.

William H. Ingalsbe, 66, 4401 Brooker St., was northbound on Grassmere Road when he drove his vehicle toward the east side of the road to allow a southbound truck more room, a report filed by a Cass City Police officer states.

Ingalsbe lost control of his vehicle, crossed over to the west side of the road, drove through a ditch and rolled the vehicle once.

Ingalsbe's vehicle sustained extensive damage in the incident, which occurred at about 8:01 a.m.

Essexville man found murdered

Funeral services for a Cass City-area woman's nephew, who was found murdered in his Grand Rapids Apartment June 29, were held July 4 in Bay City. Interment was in Eastlawn Memorial Gardens near Saginaw.

Rodger D. Martinek, 22, of Essexville, was found murdered, apparently strangled, according to Martinek's aunt, Dagmar Brown, Cass City, who said that robbery appears to have been the motive for the slaying.

Martinek's wallet, car keys, telephone, television, stereo and computer were discovered missing at the scene by Grand Rapids Police, who have 2 suspects—white males aged 18 and 22—in custody, Brown remarked.

Martinek was a student at Grand Valley State College and was employed at a McDonald's restaurant.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martinek of Essexville.

3 weeks left in season

Close races mark action in both fast pitch divisions

by Kevin Shaw

The Cass City Church fast pitch softball league finished its sixth week of play last week, with 3 weeks remaining in the schedule.

The league is divided into 2 divisions. The American Division hosts 5 teams (Evangelical, Free, Lamotte, Baptists, Cass City Missionary and Deford), while the National Division fields 6 (Catholics, Colwood, Trinity, Novesta, Shabbona and Lutherans). Each team plays every team in its respective division twice, and each team from the opposite division once.

The standings after 6 weeks are:

AMERICAN DIVISION

Team	W	L
Evangelical	7	3
Lamotte	6	3
Baptists	4	6
Missionary	2	8
Deford	0	9

NATIONAL DIVISION

Team	W	L
Colwood	8	1
Catholics	8	1
Trinity	6	3
Novesta	4	5
Shabbona	4	5
Lutherans	1	9

Recapping last week's games...

TUESDAY, JULY 7

Lutheran vs. Deford: A battle between the league's 2 winless teams ensued Tuesday evening as the Lutherans played Deford.

Deford drew first blood, scoring 3 runs in the first inning, adding one more in the third and 3 more in the fourth making the score 7-2. However, the Lutherans' Randy Guinther hit a bases loaded, 2-out single in the bottom of the fifth which eventually helped tie the game at 7. The Lutherans added 7 more runs to give them a 14-8 victory.

Johan Schultz was the winning pitcher for the Lutherans, while Dan Allen took the loss for Deford.

Shabbona vs. Missionary: Shabbona scored 9 runs in the top of the first and never trailed en route to a 10-6 victory.

Missionary made a small run in the fifth when pitcher Al McKee ripped a triple and later scored on a wild pitch. Dave Martin later scored on Jim Tuckey's ground out, but Shabbona held on for the win.

Dean Severance was the winning pitcher for Shabbona, while McKee was pegged with the loss for Missionary.

Baptists vs. Colwood: Colwood's Jerry Toner led off with a double and later scored on Bob Tobey's triple as Colwood exploded for 11 runs in the first inning to beat the Baptists, 14-8.

The Baptists escaped a 10-run mercy rule in the fifth when they scored 5 runs, making the score 13-6. They scored 2 more in the sixth, but Colwood pitcher Mike Wilson retired the side in the seventh for the win. Gary Mellendorf was the losing pitcher for the Baptists.

Evangelical vs. Novesta: Novesta tallied 2 runs in the first and 2 more in the third to take a 4-2 lead. However, Evangelical tied the score in the bottom of the fifth, setting the stage for a dramatic seventh inning.

Novesta took the lead, 5-4, in the top of the seventh, but Evangelical responded by loading the bases in the bottom of the seventh. With one out, Darin Ross's fly ball to right field was misplayed, allowing one run to score. Then Gary Martin's grounder to the infield sent in Burt Brinkman for a 6-5 victory.

Bill Bader took the win for Evangelical, while Dave Speirs was credited with the loss for Novesta.

THURSDAY, JULY 9

Baptists vs. Trinity: A high scoring game found the Baptists one run short in a 18-17 win for Trinity.

Trinity scored 9 runs in the first and led 11-1 in the fourth when the Baptists rallied for 12 runs, 4 coming from Tim Dorland's grand slam. Suddenly the Baptists owned a 13-11 lead.

Trinity combined for 7 more runs in the final 2 innings to make the score 18-13. Then Ron Ouvry punched out his third home run of the year, a grand slam, to move the Baptists within one. But Mike Stec got the final out and got the win in relief for Trinity. Chuck Hartwick took the loss for the Baptists.

Lamotte vs. Lutherans: Lamotte won their sixth game of the year as they defeated the Lutherans 11-6 in 6 innings.

The Lutherans scored all 6 of their runs in the final inning, but Rev. Jim Keller recorded the win for Lamotte. Jim Marshall was 3-4 for Lamotte, which moved into a tie for first place with their victory. Nelson Willy was the losing pitcher for the Lutherans.

Missionary vs. Catholics: The Catholics hung on for a hard fought 4-3 victory, keeping them in a tie for first place in the National Division.

Tim Gardner's 2-out single scored 2 runs in the fourth to give Missionary a 3-1 lead. However, the Catholic's Jurgen Roth ripped a 2-RBI double in the top of the sixth to give the Catholics a 4-3 win.

Gary Robinson was credited with the win for the Catholics, while Al McKee took the loss.

Colwood vs. Evangelical: Colwood's Bob Tobey went 3-4 with one RBI and teammate Jerry Toner was 2-3 with 2 RBIs as Colwood defeated Evangelical 9-3.

Dale Smith was the winning pitcher for Colwood. Bill Bader was pegged with the loss.

Colwood's victory set up a National Division showdown between them and the Catholics this Thursday, July 16. Both teams have identical 8-1 records, and the winner of this game could prove to be the top seed in the church-league playoffs.

McNaughton earns music scholarship

A Cass City student was awarded a music scholarship to attend Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp for summer study.

This will be the second year McNaughton has attended the camp, winning the same scholarship this year as in 1986.

McNaughton will be a ninth grader at Cass City High School this fall. She is the daughter of Dave and Connie McNaughton, 4875 Seeger St.

Clubs see the lights in co-op project

There have been times when various service organizations have been looked at as each organization working in competition with the others instead of working together.

Not this time. Matt Prieskorn organized the project, with Kirn Electric installing the 4 lights at the Cass City Park's basketball courts.

The groups donating funds for the project were the Jaycees, Gavel Club, Lions, Rotary and the Chamber of Commerce. The donations covered the full estimated $800 cost of the project.

New books at the library

A SIGN OF THE EIGHTIES by Gail Parent (fiction). Shelley Silver is a successful career woman who has set her sights on the one thing she thinks her life lacks - a husband. The object of her pursuit is Mickey Burke, a divorced sitcom writer who has no desire to test the matrimonial waters again. Shelley plots her strategies with the care of an army general planning an invasion, but to no avail - Mickey remains firmly, happily unmarried. Into their lives comes Astra Rainbow Blakely, Mickey's new secretary, a love child born in the late '60s who wants nothing more than to be like everybody else. Astra Rainbow is a walking textbook of proper office practices, but as Mickey and Shelley get to know the young woman, they discover there is more to her than meets the eye.

MISERY by Stephen King (fiction). Paul Sheldon, a writer of historical romances, is in a car accident; rescued by nurse Annie Wilkes, he slowly realizes that salvation can be worse than death. Sheldon has killed off Misery Chastain, the popular protagonist of his Misery series and Annie, who has a murderous past, wants her back. Keeping the paralyzed Sheldon prisoner, she forces him to revive the character in a continuation of the series, and she reads each page as it comes out of the typewriter; there is a joyously Dickensian novel within a novel here, and it appears in faded typescript. Sheldon is a revealingly autobiographical figure; Annie is not merely a monster but is subtly and often touchingly portrayed, allowing hostage and keeper a believable, if twisted, relationship.

RAISING PG KIDS IN AN X-RATED SOCIETY by Tipper Gore (non-fiction). You've seen her in the pages of Time, Newsweek, People and The New York Times. In living rooms coast to coast through appearances on Donahue, Entertainment Tonight, MacNeil-Lehrer, Today and more. Everywhere, Tipper Gore has stood up for today's kids and their parents - conscientious parents who are trying to raise emotionally healthy children in a world full of explicit song lyrics, videos, ads, movies, and TV. Tipper shows parents how to fight back; how to protect children from the cynical excesses of explicit media that can contribute to a climate of teen promiscuity, violence, suicide, and drug and alcohol abuse. Mrs. Gore is the co-founder of the Parents Music Resource Center in Washington, D.C., and the wife of U.S. Senator Albert Gore Jr. of Tennessee.

Your neighbor says

Has mixed emotions on the Iran-Contra hearings

The lead story in most television broadcasts state and nation-wide this past week has been the Iran-Contra congressional committee hearings, more specifically, the testimony of Marine Lt. Col. Oliver North.

North started giving his testimony to a congressional committee Tuesday and although he was supposed to be finished Friday, he was still answering questions Monday.

He has admitted to making mistakes when the operation of the National Security Council was conducting, without the Senate's knowledge or consent, was exposed.

While his face may be on television screens anywhere from 5-7 hours a day and his picture in most major newspapers in the country, there are people who don't follow the hearings.

Your neighbor, Connie Keehn, says while she really doesn't listen and watch the hearings, she has seen what he says in television broadcasts.

"I haven't really kept a close watch. I've got mixed emotions about the whole thing," she said. "I think Oliver North is telling the truth, or what he thinks is the truth, but I don't know. A lot of them do nothing but lie," she remarked.

She said she also thinks President Reagan's reputation has been damaged. "He claims he didn't know anything about it. That's a little hard to believe, or want to believe," she noted.

Keehn lives with her husband Robert and daughter Renee, 11, at 6643 Shabbona Rd., Deford.

Historical home tour

set July 25-26

The Bad Axe Historical Society is planning a Historical Home tour for the weekend of July 25 as a one-time project in honor of Michigan's 150th birthday.

Eleven Bad Axe area families have agreed to show their homes to the public Saturday and Sunday between 12:30-5:30 p.m. Historical Society members in costumes representative of the period will act as guides.

The homes on the Saturday tour are the farmhouse of the Robert Bennetts (Nugent farm) on Wadsworth Rd.; the Hensch home (Dundas) on West Huron; the Feren home (Cross) on East Huron; the Allen home on North Port Crescent, and the Dr. Straight home (Nugent) on West Hopson.

The Sunday tour includes the Umphrey home (Watson) on West Huron; the Clark Herrington home (Whitney) on North Port Crescent; the Copeland home (Maywood) on W. Woodworth; the Peters home (Stevens) on North Hanselman, and the Meyers home (Wakefield) on Pinnebog Road.

As an added bonus, the Weitenberner Funeral Home (Sleeper Mansion) on West Huron may be toured both days if it is not in use for business purposes.

The homes may be toured in any order and advance tickets may be purchased in designated businesses in most Huron County towns and Cass City and Caro.

GTE airs 2 area projects

General Telephone of Michigan officials recently announced plans for a major cable project in the Kingston area, and an expansion of services in Minden City.

GTE announced that it will begin a $123,042 cable construction project in the east and west suburban areas of Kingston in August. The project is slated to be completed by December, district manager Kevin Hammer said.

The project calls for the placement of about 2.1 miles of aerial cable and 6.4 miles of buried cable. The cable is being placed to meet service requirements for anticipated growth in the area and also to allow for future conversion of area residents to private-line telephone service.

In addition to providing new facilities, the new cable will eliminate a structural clearance over a downtown business and eliminate 2 aerial crossings on highway M-46.

Residents throughout the north and east suburban areas of Minden City will have new improved lines due to a $223,239 construction project.

The project will require installation of more than 19 miles of new cable. More than one mile of aerial cable and 17.4 miles of buried "feeder" cable will be placed beginning this summer.

The new cable will extend one to 7 miles to special electronic equipment which will be placed at a later date. The specialized equipment will act as a "middle-man" telephone company," receiving and sending out telephone calls quicker and more efficiently.

Construction of the cable project is expected to be completed and in service by November.
