New superintendent

Ken Micklash outlines challenges

Don't look for any radical changes in the operation of Cass City Schools when new superintendent Ken Micklash, 37, takes over Jan. 1. Basically I'm a conservative, said the 37-year-old Micklash, who was the only candidate considered by the board in a special meeting held Friday night at 10:15 p.m.

Most persons connected with the school agreed with the statement of Trustee Ben Hobart, who said after the vote that the selection of Micklash was a "cut and dried" issue. Micklash was the only person in the system to submit an application for the job.

One of the references in his application was Board President Dr. Ed. Scollon. Although Micklash was highly regarded by all members of the board, he was appointed by a 6-1 vote. Trustee Jim Turner voted no. I think that Micklash is an excellent man, he told the board, but I feel that he should be interviewed before being given the job so that the people could have a chance to come and find out about him if they desire.

Hobart, Scollon and Dick Wallace felt that was unnecessary. We served with Ken on the board and he has been high school principal for more than a year, they said, and we couldn't find out any more than we already know. Micklash has been a member of the community for many years and folks should know about him, was the consensus of his supporters.

Micklash said that he will continue the policy started by Supt. Donald Crouse of being one of the chief negotiators for the school with the Tri-County Bargaining Association. We need to be fair with people, he said, while remembering that resources we have are limited.

Long term the challenge that we will be facing, Micklash feels, is adapting to the changes in technology as they affect our lives. There have been more changes since World War II than in all the time that preceded it and we are still on the cutting edge of that technology.

We will see startling changes by the end of this century, the new superintendent says, and I hope to be right here to see them through.

The changes won't come all at once, of course, and the school won't have drastic changes all at once either. I believe in evolution not revolution, he said with a grin.

Still to be settled, but not expected to be a problem, is the salary to be paid. A committee was formed to discuss it with Micklash and report back to the board. Serving will be Beverly Auten, Wallace and Turner.

Supt. Crouse was instructed by the board to post a vacancy for the principal's position at the school. The union contract calls for the job to be posted for 2 weeks before any action can be taken.

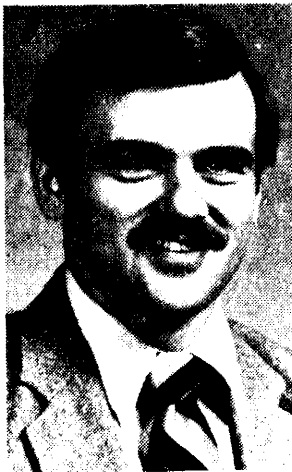

Two routine items were also polished off by the board. A request for Donald Adams, who has been at Teen Ranch in Kingston and attending Kingston High School, to continue there was approved. Adams is now staying at a foster home in the Cass City district. Because the "fourth Friday" count is over, his absence will have no effect on revenues for the district, Crouse said.

Two new copying machines were authorized at a cost of $3997 each.

QUALIFICATIONS

Besides receiving high marks for ability from teachers, students and former employees, according to Scollon and Hobart, Micklash has extensive education and job qualifications. He has an EDS (education specialist) degree, earned his master's degree in 1973 from Eastern Michigan University and his bachelor of science degree from the same college in 1973. In addition to various teaching jobs, he is a former principal (1978-79) at Port Austin, where his efforts in securing a consolidation eliminated his job. He was administrative assistant at Huron Intermediate School District from 1980 to 1986.

In an effort to halt Walbro Corporation's anti-take-over measures UIS Monday filed suit in Delaware asking for a restraining order prohibiting Walbro from selling shares to General Electric Credit Corporation.

Walbro officials say that they expect a hearing on the motion to be heard later this week.

President and chief operating officer Lambert Althaver said Monday that Walbro Corporation would be able to announce details of a proposed purchase, probably in 30 days and definitely by the end of the year.

Funds for the purchase will come using part of the $35 million raised from the sale of a new issue of preferred stock to General Electric Credit Corporation issued in the company's battle against a takeover by UIS Corp. of New York City.

Although the sale of the stock and with it voting power of 1,075 million shares is a tool in the battle with UIS, Forrest Walpole, vice-president and general counsel, said that the plans to raise capital were in progress before the takeover attempt by UIS.

It's expensive to raise capital, Walpole said, and the $15 million finders fee paid to General Electric Credit Corporation (GECC) is not excessive. It cost us nearly that much to raise $10 million in a previous stock sale, he said.

An extra expense to the company was the assistance of 2 financial advisors, Goldman Sachs & Co. and Stifel, Nicolaus & Company, Incorporated. It is estimated that their fees will amount to over $1 million or about 28-30 cents per share of the 3.5 million shares outstanding.

The new shares issued to GECC are an increasing and variable rate convertible preferred and carry an initial dividend approximately equal to the prime commercial lending rate. It is convertible beginning in October 1988 at $32.50 per share into approximately 1,075 shares of common stock. It is convertible and is redeemable at any time at the option of the company.

The company also has secured an agreement from all directors and officers, certain company employees and others friendly to the company, which together own about 30 percent of the stock, not to sell or otherwise dispose of their Walbro shares until Dec. 31, 1988.

Friday Walbro received a request for additional information from the Federal Trade Commission concerning the $27.25 partial tender offer from UIS. Under the law the request extends the waiting period for 10 days after the FTC receives information from UIS before the company can buy any more Walbro shares.

Walpole said that the investigation concerns the antitrust laws, especially in the manufacturing of pumps.

Althaver said that the company's position in the fuel systems industry offers significant opportunity for appreciation of shareholder values.

Shareholders who have tendered shares to UIS can withdraw those shares any time before midnight, New York City time, Oct. 7.

3 of 4 schools in area report enrollment decline

Three of 4 area school districts sustained drops in their student populations compared to a year ago, school officials reported following the Fourth Friday count last week.

Student totals gathered during the annual count are used to determine the amount of state aid "in-formula" school districts receive.

The Cass City School District, which last year experienced its first enrollment increase in years, this year posted a loss of 41 students compared to 1986-87.

This year's pupil total is 1,652, including 519 in high school, 410 in the intermediate school, 499 at Campbell Elementary, 108 at Deford, 76 at Evergreen and 40 in community education. In contrast, the district counted 1,693 students a year ago—542 in high school, 415 in intermediate, 515 at Campbell, 104 at Deford, 83 at Evergreen and 34 in community ed.

According to school Supt. Donald G. Crouse, the drop in enrollment is going to hurt financially. The district, he added, will receive $97,000 less than if it had retained the 41 students.

Crouse explained that revenue received by the district in the form of basic state aid and local taxes this year will be about $40,000 more than last year. "We haven't made out a budget yet, but normally our expenses increase 4 to 5 percent a year," or about $160,000, he said.

Crouse attributed the drop to a smaller kindergarten enrollment as well as a wave of lower enrollments in the 9th grade. "We can anticipate a decrease in enrollment over the next 3 years," he added.

KINGSTON

Also seeing a drop in enrollment is the Kingston School District, which recorded 15 fewer pupils this year.

"It's going to hurt us," Supt. Jerry H. Laycock remarked, adding that the drop originates primarily

Owen-Gage turns out 300 strong for Becky's benefit dinner

Bone chilling temperatures, wind and rain failed to hamper members of the Owen-Gage and surrounding communities Friday night as more than 300 persons were served at a dinner/fund raiser held for Becky Emmons.

The fund raiser, which netted $1,860, was one of several slated to be held for Becky, who was diagnosed in August with Ewing's Sarcoma, a form of bone cancer.

Despite the illness and related treatments, including chemotherapy every other week, Becky continues to attend school when possible in addition to participating in other school events.

Attendance during Friday's fund raiser, held at Owendale High School and sponsored by the employees of Owen-Gage Schools and Hills and Dales Hospital, was better than expected, according to Kay Karg, head cook at Owen-Gage Schools.

"Things went beautifully. We had a very good turnout; we're real satisfied," she remarked.

Karg, who lauded volunteers and community members for their participation, noted that the money raised has been placed into a trust fund at the First of America

Bank in Gagetown.

"It's a sad situation when it's a young one," Karg remarked about Becky's disease. However, she added, "Nobody talks about it. We treat her the same way as last year and I think that's the way she wants it."

Barb Stein, an LPN at Hills and Dales Hospital, agreed. Stein, who has worked with Becky's mother, Diane Hovey, also an LPN, for the past 10 years, said she was surprised with the number of persons who showed up Friday before workers began serving.

"The community has really put forth a lot of effort," she added.

Plans for another fund raiser already have been set.

A basketball game between Gagetown and Owendale merchants will be played beginning at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 6 at Owendale High School, with proceeds to benefit Becky and her family. An auction of donated items from the merchants following the game also is tentatively being planned.

According to Karg, individuals wishing to make a donation can inquire at the First of America Bank in Gagetown, or by contacting her (Karg) at the high school.

CANCER VICTIM BECKY Emmons, 16, (standing, center) took some time to visit with friends, who attended a benefit dinner for the Owen-Gage High School junior Friday night, before participating in the school's homecoming activities.

SO syndrome

By Melva E. Guinther

The NFL players' strike could be a blessing in disguise. This is, after all, the season when many fans are in danger of succumbing to the dreaded SO (Sports Overload) syndrome.

SO syndrome is the direct result of the inner conflict resulting from having to choose from among too many desirable activities occurring at the same time.

Symptoms may be manifested in blurred vision, confusion, inability to concentrate, and aversion to domestic chores.

VCRs work overtime, back yards become jungles, and storm windows linger in basements, as sports spectators struggle to keep up with high school athletic contests, college and professional football games, hockey, and the race between the Tigers and the Blue Jays.

Victims of SO have been seen watching 2 different games on TV sets while listening to a third on the radio. This produces stress.

Besides all the spectator sports, the weather is still conducive to golf, tennis and fishing. And if you're into archery, as the men in my life are, deer hunting season started Oct. 1. That causes a severe itch that has to be scratched.

(Poor deer widows who lament a 2-week hunting season in November get little sympathy from this corner. We're talking 3 solid months!)

A couple years ago during Overload season and a schedule conflict, Stan asked me to tape the Super Bowl game. He went to great lengths to be sure he didn't know the outcome before watching it.

"Don't tell me anything!" he instructed.

Well, it was the pathetic contest in which the Chicago Bears whipped the New England Patriots 46-10 in the most decisive victory in Super Bowl history, and he watched it to the bitter end.

The next game he had me tape was a lopsided loss for Michigan State. By halftime, he wanted to know if it "gets any better."

When assured that it got worse, he fast-forwarded through most of the disastrous second half. He learns.

Not being a sports enthusiast, it's hard for me to grasp the impact of Sports Overload.

The closest comparison I could come up with was imagining that every store within shopping distance had a monumental sale at the same time....and I had money to spend. Or maybe having Password, Scrabble, Wheel of Fortune and Jeopardy aired simultaneously on TV.

Shoddy comparisons, admittedly. But although I can't comprehend the sports compulsion, at least I recognize it.

And if the NFL players choose to ease the strain by striking, perhaps it's in everyone's best interest.

Girl Scout Pow Wow kicks off new year

Mid Thumb Area Girl Scouts kicked off a new year with their first annual "Pow Wow" held at the Cass City High School cafeteria Sept. 10 with some 230 people present.

Registration was held and girls received membership stars from last year. Approximately 40 new girls registered this year.

According to Service Unit Director Kay Warner, rededication and investiture took place Sept. 24 at the high school with more than 200 people in attendance. At this time girls officially became Girl Scouts, receiving their "pin" and making the Girl Scout promise or remaking it if they had been in the program last year.

Warner said that the 609 Mid Thumb Area Service Team met at Pizza Villa Sept. 16. This year's Service Team includes registrar, Lois Sugden; trainer and troop service directors, Evelyn Hardwick and Lila Arroyo; consultants, Helen Bartle and Clara Gaffney; press representative, Evelyn Zmierski and cookie chairman, Arlene Szarapski.

"We sell cookies in the fall," says Warner, "so girls have money to use for the entire year."

This year's cookie sale runs from Oct. 2 to Oct. 18. This provides a chance for girls to learn selling skills, meet new people and raise money for troop projects. It also gives the local people an opportunity to support a great community cause.

Proceeds from the cookie sale are used to maintain and improve Girl Scout camps, and fund field trips for the girls and service projects for the community. This year's cookie sale theme is "Color Your Rainbow."

According to group spokesman Marie Ravel, Bad Axe, potential singers don't have to be able to read music, just be able to "carry a tune." Carpooling is available, she said.

Sweet Adelines is a non-profit international organization dedicated to teaching 4-part barbershop harmony unaccompanied by musical instruments. There are 740 chapters across the world with more than 34,000 voices.

If you are planning to receive mail next Monday, change your plans right now. Monday, Oct. 12, is Columbus Day and it's a holiday for government employees. Anybody else, forget it.

It was one of those weeks. There were errors in both columns written. In "The Haire Net" we said it was Detroit Edison with the Nuclear Plant in Midland when everyone knows (including me) that it was Consumer's fiasco. The Edison fiascos were the Fermi plants.

In this bit of trivia I said it was homecoming time last Friday when it actually is Oct. 16. Thanks to Willard Dodson for pointing out the company mistake and a host of you for telling me about the homecoming goof.

The Michigan Department of Transportation has published a new public transportation directory. It lists bus, rail and air services in every town, village and hamlet in the state.

Ben Hobart called the appointment of Ken Micklash "cut and dried" in the special meeting Friday night at Cass City High School.

The discussion came when the board was trying to determine if the high school principal to replace Micklash should be interviewed.

In the past the wishes of the superintendent have been respected in the hiring of the principals. There won't be any action on a replacement for 2 weeks while the job is posted as required by the school's contract with the Tri-County Bargaining Association, but insiders feel that Russ Biefer has the inside track for the post.

Michigan's proposed 65-mile-per-hour speed law and Florida's recently enacted liberalized gun law have something in common. Both are sure to boost the death rate.

Of the 2, the increased speed on rural interstate highways will probably claim the most lives, but the new gun law is the one with the least to recommend it.

Pushed by the National Rifle Association, the new law allows Floridians, except convicted felons or incapacitated persons, to openly carry arms.

Maybe there will be a shoot out like they had in the days of Wyatt Earp near the edge of Disney World. The NRA says that guns don't kill people, people do. That's right. Armed with guns, more people are going to kill other people than ever before as the result of arguments and accidents.

In Earp's days, the marshal says check your guns at the entrance to town. In Florida the law says strap 'em on when you enter Miami.

Applications are pouring in at the rate of 1,800 a day for the license to carry the guns. I just wouldn't want to get in an argument after a traffic accident in the Sunshine State. It just might be that the California syndrome of shooting passing motorists would be catching and with every other person sporting a gun, whew, boy!

Police report that merchants are asking if they can legally exclude armed customers from stores. Can't you picture it? What do you mean I can't return these shoes? Bang. Normally, when someone comes in and waves a gun around it's fair to assume that they have something other in mind than buying a candy bar to take home. In Florida he could just be practicing a quick draw to bang away at potential assassins.

The reason that the politicians have rushed through this law is that people in urban areas everywhere are scared stiff of felons who threaten their lives and their property. Carrying a gun to protect themselves against a real crook offers as much protection as an umbrella in a cyclone.

In Michigan one of the arguments for increased speed is that motorists won't obey the present one. They don't, that's sure. The average speed today has to be over 65 miles per hour on the expressways and cars have to be in the 70-plus range before they get the attention of the highway patrol. There are lots of those to keep them busy.

The new law has stringent fines for exceeding the limit and one of the reasons it has been delayed in the legislature is that with that kind of money at stake, court cases will clog our judicial system.

The obvious answer is to put points on the driving record for travelling over the speed limit. Drivers fear that much more than they do losing money. Money can be replaced, but an operator's license can't.

The plain fact is that the vast majority of us want to go hell bent for leather down the road no matter where we drive.

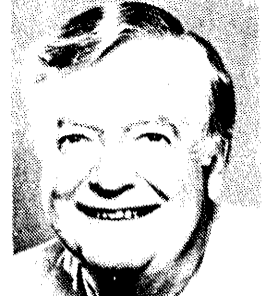

After all, accidents always happen to the other guy.

By Jim Fitzgerald

After giving concerned thought to the topic under discussion, Otis Smith posed a penetrating question to Emily Smith. I wasn't surprised at her answer.

The two Smiths aren't related. Otis is the former state Supreme Court justice and retired chief counsel for General Motors. He should know how to ask an effective question. Emily is my five-year-old granddaughter. I have a wary admiration for the honest, succinct answers she often gives.

Probably the best example was when she was three, leaving after a short visit, and, with customary originality, I absentmindedly asked the creaky bromide: "What am I going to do without you?"

"Get me," Emily answered.

On this day, Emily and I were returning from shopping and ran into neighbor Otis Smith on an elevator. One of Emily's purchases — a fat balloon — bobbed in his face. She also called his attention to other assorted loot she'd bled me for during a long afternoon that included repeated round-trips on the People Mover, countless ups and downs on escalators, and much foraging in several overpriced shops and one big supermarket where speeding Emily could find everything she wanted and I couldn't find Emily.

The company has made several appearances at the White House, the Kennedy Center, the National Theatre and hundreds of schools in the Washington area. Young people recognize the company for its guest performances on "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood," and the "Wordshop."

Then came the penetrating question. A kind man, Otis probably intended to evoke from Emily a warm description of her relationship with me. "What do you enjoy most about going out with your grandpa?" he asked.

"I get to get things," she answered.

Among the few unpriced things Emily got on this visit was my usual entry into her fantasyland. The result was a couple more colorful remarks that will herewith be repeated just when you thought it was safe to enjoy Art Linkletter's retirement.

Dressed in silk bloomers and Grandma's high heels, and using an umbrella the way Sally Rand used a fan, Emily staged a one-woman musical production. After each act, she invited questions from the audience. I was the only audience and my attention was divided because the Tigers were on TV with the sound off. Sometimes I couldn't think of a question.

"Ask me how I learned to sing and dance so great," Emily hissed from on stage. "Ask me who does my makeup."

I did, and the answers are she was born talented and does her own makeup because no one else does it as well.

Another time I played the part of a victim in a TV show, Emily gave me my only line, which was "I'm tougher than you are." She also gave me a crayon with instructions to pretend it was a knife.

It was a short show, but repeated interminably. After I said my line, Emily strongly disagreed with my evaluation of myself as compared to her. She took off her belt which, she said, was actually a snake, and whipped me into total submission with it. After about a dozen performances, I wearied of losing. I stuck the snake.

"I killed the snake with my knife," I said.

"You're crazy, that's not a knife, it's a crayon," Emily said.

If Otis Smith penetrated me with a thoughtful question concerning my reaction to three straight days of being Emily's patsy, I could not tell a lie. I admit there are times I'd rather be doing anything except playing restaurant in a bus shelter. When Emily is around, I fall way behind in my reading and never lean on a piano bar.

But I get to get things, too. Her mother told me Emily came home from kindergarten one day and said, so seriously, that the strangest thing happened. She'd been bored in school, so she started thinking about Grandpa and missed him so much she got tears in her eyes.

I'll take that and you can have everything else.

A "watch" of nightingales is how you refer to a big bunch of those birds.

SCHOOL INFORMATION

The 1986-1987 audit shows a surplus for the year in the General Fund of $45,700. That surplus exists on the books because $105,027 that was collected for asbestos abatement was not used until late in the summer. Last year the General Fund actually ran a deficit of $59,300. The General Fund balance decreased from $369,774 to $310,447. When considering the General Fund balance, it should be kept in mind that there is $184,823 in bus notes which the district is responsible for from general revenue.

All debt retirement payments were made on schedule and the accounts retain sufficient balances to meet payment needs.

During the past year the major maintenance project for the school system has been the asbestos abatement program. All identified asbestos materials in the areas occupied by students and teachers have been removed and replaced. The boiler rooms and pipe connections remain a project for next summer.

This year our school system has once again experienced a decline in enrollment. The student count appears to be down 41 students from last year. This decrease in students will result in a loss of revenue of over $97,000.

HILLS AND DALES physical therapist Charles Ekiert uses a probe and the Electro-Acuscope to apply electrical current to points in the ear that correspond to J. R. Boldizar's shoulder area. Boldizar, Cass City, who dislocated the shoulder in July, reports being mostly pain-free following 9 treatments after several days of severe pain.

At Hills and Dales

New high-tech machines cut healing time in half

The pain in Jane Ryba's shoulder grew progressively worse for several weeks after she was seriously injured in a car crash in March.

The Cass City-area resident and mother of 3 grown children was involved in a head-on collision that left her right ankle and left elbow shattered—both had to be re-built—and resulted in 6 fractured ribs, contusions and multiple cuts.

"Because of my left arm being immobilized for so long, I developed bursitis (inflammation of the joint) in my left shoulder," she explained last week. "It was very painful."

Despite weeks of pain, Ryba found some relief after the first of 9 high tech treatments recently made available at Hills and Dales General Hospital, and following the last treatment 2 1/2 weeks ago, her shoulder pain is completely gone.

For Ryba, who is employed at Primary Vision in Cass City, the treatment was a "miracle" of sorts. "I was very surprised. I'm anxious" to try it out on my ankle and elbow, she remarked.

The new treatment, available at the hospital for only a few weeks, comes in the form of 2 pieces of equipment—a Myopulse and an Electro-Acuscope—and consists of utilizing electrical impulses via a variety of hand held probes to treat nerve and muscle injuries.

The high tech equipment isn't new to Cass City as Walbro Corp's Rehabilitation Center obtained identical equipment within the past year. But the hospital purchase means the treatment is now more widely available to area residents, who otherwise would have to travel to hospitals in Port Huron or Saginaw.

Charles Ekiert, physical therapy director at Hills and Dales, says the results he's seen after administering treatments have surprised even him.

EFFECTIVE

"The thing it seems most effective at doing is relieving pain and speeding healing time," Ekiert remarked. "It cuts healing time in half as a general rule."

Ekiert explained that all tissues contain small amounts of electric current or potential, and that following an injury or damage to the tissue, the electric potential becomes abnormally high or low.

"Ultimately, the abnormal electric potentials make injured people heal slower and hurt longer," he said, adding that the Myopulse and Electro-Acuscope automatically deliver an electrical impulse to a patient according to that individual's need. The equipment evaluates tissue, calculates the difference between existing potential and the normal potential, and adjusts the treatment.

Ekiert pointed out that the computer in the Myopulse is programmed to work with bone, muscle, tendons, ligaments and fascia (a type of connective tissue), while the Electro-Acuscope is designed to specifically treat nerve tissue.

"Some patients need only one or two treatments, but it's not unusual to have a fairly lengthy series of treatments," Ekiert continued. He added that many clients find their need for pain medications sharply reduced or even eliminated after just a few treatments.

COST

The cost is $40 per treatment, most of which is covered by medical insurance, according to Ekiert. The vast majority of treatments, which last 10 to 20 minutes, are painless, he said.

Although the high tech treatments aren't a "cure all," Ekiert remarked that positive claims made about the equipment are "generally proving true."

"Quite frankly I was initially skeptical of the claims... but in the period we've had these machines, I've seen many amazing 'cures' and a few failures." "One individual had suffered 10 years with considerable pain and stiffness in both hands due to arthritis," Ekiert said. "Following one treatment, this woman was pain free."

Ekiert noted that when the woman's pain returned, she underwent another treatment, and now continues to be pain free.

Based on treatment of about 2 dozen persons to date, Ekiert noted that

"most clients experience at least partial pain relief."

"A few individuals have shown little or no improvement, indicating certain conditions don't respond reliably to this therapy," he continued, adding problems that do respond positively to the treatment include sprains, strains, muscle tears, back ache, migraine headaches, arthritis, dysmenorrhea and joint stiffness.

In terms of future use, Ekiert said that he's looking into utilizing the new treatment for surgical patients at the hospital.

and costs, and $60 restitution. Also, his operator's license was ordered suspended for 3 months.

Haley was stopped by a Cass City Police officer July 23 while driving on Houghton Street near Seeger Street in Cass City.

Sebewaing resident Keith D. Jubar was charged Monday with unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle.

A preliminary exam for Jubar, 18, has been scheduled for 10 a.m. Oct. 15. Bond was set at $5,000.

The charge stems from an incident Sept. 19 in Akron Township involving a truck owned by James H. Weber.

If convicted, Jubar faces a maximum sentence of 5 years imprisonment.

A preliminary examination was to be held at 9 a.m. today (Wednesday) for a 20-year-old Caro man charged Sept. 28 with felonious assault and resisting and obstructing a police officer.

Paul R. Lyttaker, 2538 Lazell Rd., is charged with assaulting Mary Evans with a knife, and obstructing a Tuscola County Sheriff's Department officer Sept. 25 in Ellington Township.

If convicted, he faces a maximum sentence of 4 years imprisonment and/or a $2,000 fine.

Cass City man files complaint

A complaint involving larceny of a leather jacket and a pair of designer jeans from a Cass City resident Sept. 30 is being investigated by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

According to a report filed with the department, Jeffrey Turnbull, Cass City, reported that he had left the items at a residence at 282 W. Deckerville Rd. and that they were later taken.

The jacket is valued at $100, while the jeans are valued at $42, the report states.

Also filed with the department Sept. 30 was a dog bite incident involving a 5-year-old Deford girl.

Amanda Jaques, 1220 Phillips Rd., was treated at Caro Community Hospital after being bitten on the leg by a dog in Novesta Township. Reports indicate that the incident occurred near an Englehart Road residence owned by Steven Filprik, the owner of the dog.

Girls' basketball officiating is bad

Being a high school sports fan for many years, I have to get something off my chest. The quality of girls' basketball officiating referees is bad.

There are a couple of crews that work our conference that do an excellent job. There are a few good ones, while the rest just outright stink.

Understanding that basketball is a fast game with 10 girls and 2 refs, some calls will be missed. However, a blocking foul on one end of the court should also be a blocking foul on the other end, (or an offensive charge, which is unheard of in today's offensive-minded games). I'm not talking about rules interpretation or an occasional missed call, I'm talking outright negligence on one end of the court.

Most schools now tape their games so one can go back and review them, and to my amazement, anyone would be astonished at the inconsistency in some of the games.

Calling a foul on a number who wasn't even near the actual foul is totally unexcusable and unacceptable, especially after it was brought to the ref's attention the first time.

I think consistency is the key word here. If a referee is good, bad or indifferent it would all equalize out if he or she were consistent on both ends of the court. Neither team should have an unfair advantage over another because of poor officiating.

If anyone thinks I'm being too critical or just blowing smoke, then I challenge you to go back to the schools where you called your games and review the tapes. This will prove one of 3 things. First, it will in fact confirm you did a good job; second, you will recognize your shortcomings; or third, it will prove that you still can't see, even in slow motion.

When a foul is committed - call it. When another type of violation occurs - call it. But please be consistent on both ends of the court. The players and coaches would certainly be happy with that, as would I, and I'm only a fan.

N.E.W.S. to offer free service to groups

The Thumb Area Consortium, and the Thumb Area Growth Alliance have combined their personnel resources to offer a no-charge service to clubs and civic organizations in the Thumb Area.

The recently formed N.E.W.S. (Network of Employee Writers and Speakers) Bureau was developed to inform members of area organizations how they can benefit from business, economic development, and job training programs available in Michigan's Thumb Region.

David Borck, chairperson for the bureau, commented, "We realize that occasionally organizations have difficulty in securing public speakers for meetings or other activities, and that's one of the reasons we have developed the N.E.W.S. Bureau - to provide speakers to organizations free of charge." Borck added, "Another reason the N.E.W.S. Bureau was developed is to help promote the wide range of economic development, job training, and business services that are available in the Thumb Region through the Consortium and the Growth Alliance."

The N.E.W.S. Bureau is currently asking for input as to what types of groups are interested in securing a speaker, and in identifying what topics they would like presented. Numerous video tapes are also available for no charge presentation to Thumb Area clubs and civic groups.

Additional information and speaker engagement reservations may be obtained by calling a N.E.W.S. Bureau member at any of the following telephone numbers: Bad Axe (517) 269-2311, Sandusky (313) 648-4731, Marlette (517) 635-3561, Lapeer (313) 664-1680, Caro (517) 673-8103.

A Halloween costume party slated for Oct. 24 was among the activities discussed during a business meeting of the Thumbs Up Chapter of Parents Without Partners, held Sept. 8.

Also discussed was a planned visit to a children's petting farm, and a trick-or-treat excursion via a hay ride. Both activities are being handled by the group's family and youth activity committee.

The group also decided to hold its regular meetings on the first and second Fridays, and the second Saturday of each month.

months of probation for a Sept. 22, 1986, conviction of joy riding, violated his probation by being unsatisfactorily discharged from a rehabilitation center in Memphis July 4 for non-compliance of program rules.

A 25-year-old Caro woman received a one-year delayed sentence and was ordered to complete 100 hours of community service within 90 days for a Sept. 15 conviction of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100.

Tammy L. Carpenter, 2194 Gilford Rd., was convicted for possessing a stolen diamond ring Aug. 4 in Caro.

Also sentenced was Michael R. Myers, 2940 Cass St., Unionville, who received a one-year delayed sentence and was ordered to pay costs of $300 and restitution of $483.28 for a conviction of attempted breaking and entering an unoccupied building.

Sheriff invites new membership

Tuscola County Sheriff Paul Berry recently announced that county citizens who would like to join him in the fight against crime are invited to become associate members of the Michigan Sheriffs' Association.

The Michigan Sheriffs' Association is a nonprofit, professional and educational organization dedicated to the preservation of the peace and the protection of the lives and property of the citizens of Michigan, according to the sheriff.

The Associate Membership Program was begun to provide citizens with an opportunity to lend their support to more effective law enforcement and to better help local sheriffs serve and protect the lives and property of citizens.

"We are inviting the public to help us better serve them by joining the fight for effective law enforcement," Berry said. Tuscola County residents should soon receive membership applications in the mail. "It is difficult to get an application to everyone who might want to join the Michigan Sheriffs' Association as an associate member," the sheriff said. "If you don't receive an application by mail, you can come by the sheriff's department, or you can write to the Michigan Sheriffs' Association, 1410 E. Kalamazoo Street, Lansing, Mich. 48912.

Membership dues provide numerous services and resources to sheriffs that help them protect the men, women and children in each county. All associate members will receive a membership card, a decal, a year's subscription to the quarterly publication, The Sheriffs Star, and $2,500 accidental death and dismemberment insurance benefit.

On April 12, 1776, North Carolina became the first colony to instruct its delegates to vote for independence in the Continental Congress.

Volunteers sought to be visitors

The Friendly Visitor Program for residents in Adult Foster Care homes is an important part of the service, provided by the Tuscola County Department of Social Services, according to David Bluem, volunteer services coordinator for the Tuscola County DSS.

"Many of the residents have outlived their families or have no one who will visit them from time to time," he remarked. "If a person would befriend a resident in adult foster care, they would become an important part of his or her life."

Any individual, group, or organization interested in volunteering some time to this program or that needs additional information can contact Volunteer Services at (517) 673-4144, or the DSS office, 1900 West Caro Road, Caro, Mich.

Your neighbor says

Football players have the right to strike

Sunday football just won't be the same, at least not for a while.

On one side, you have the regular National Football League Players, most of whom are on strike primarily because of their union's desire for uncompensated free agency for players with more than 4 years' experience.

On the other hand, you have the owners, who are intent on continuing the NFL season with teams composed chiefly of players who didn't make it when final cuts were made about a month ago.

There also are the fans, some of whom are striking the games in support of the players, others who are striking both players and owners in disgust over the whole situation.

Not even all the players are united—some 49 players, including Tony Dorsett and Danny White, had crossed the picket line at the strike's 10-day mark last week.

Your neighbor, Matthew Priesskorn, says he believes both the players and owners are within their rights in terms of the strike and continued NFL season.

"It's a business, a job. They (players) have a right to strike," he said, adding, "The owners have an obligation to the fans and they're delivering. It's a 2-way street."

Priesskorn, who attends one professional football game a year, indicated he would be watching one of Sunday's games. "I think it will be good," he continued.

Alvin Benkelman

Funeral services were held last month for former Cass City resident Alvin C. Benkelman, who died Sept. 9 in Elk Creek, VA.

Alvin Benkelman

Born May 8, 1895 in Cass City, Benkelman was a well known civil engineer in the design of flexible pavement. He graduated from the University of Michigan in 1919 with a B.S. degree in Chemical Engineering and began his professional career as a pavement and soils engineer with the Illinois Division of Highways, serving on the Bates Road Test.

He then became associated with the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads and did research at Purdue University and on the Virginia Demonstration Road in 1926-28. Benkelman continued to work in research and design of flexible pavement with the Michigan State Highway Department in 1928.

Returning to the bureau in 1934, Benkelman was in charge of research for the Hybla Valley Test Track and on the WASHO Road Test in Idaho. His work as Research Engineer on the AASHO Road Test in Illinois brought him in contact with engineers from all over the world who gathered to learn of road construction and durability. Benkelman is well known for his invention of the "Benkelman Beam" which is widely used in highway construction to measure pavement deflections.

After retirement from the Bureau of Public Roads, he traveled extensively as a consultant for the Asphalt Institute. Benkelman was awarded the Highway Research Board's Roy W. Crum Distinguished Service award in recognition of his work in the field of highway research.

In 1967, he retired to the Elk Creek Valley where he became a member of the American Tree Farmer's Association. For the past 20 years, he has enjoyed living in the Blue Ridge Mountains with his wife, the former Olive Porter Scott.

Mr. Benkelman is survived by his wife, Olive S. Benkelman; one son, A.C. Benkelman Jr. of Warren, VA; one daughter, Mrs. Ann Scott (Benkelman) Prichard Jr. of Sacramento, CA; one sister, Marie Brown of Saginaw; 7 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren.

OWEN-GAGE'S Marc Reinhardt picks up 40 yards on this play during first quarter action with Akron-Fairgrove. Reinhardt's run set up the Bulldogs' only touchdown in their 18-7 homecoming loss.

Bulldogs toppled by Vikings

meet winless Caseville next

Coach Arnie Besonen said it best.

"It's tough to have a zoo without any animals." Besonen was referring to the size differential between his players and the much larger Akron-Fairgrove team which spoiled the Bulldogs' homecoming last Friday on a cold and rainy evening, 18-7. The Bulldogs have yet to post their first North Central League win after 3 games.

That could change this Saturday when the Bulldogs travel to Caseville to quarrel with the Eagles at 1 p.m. The game is rated a tossup.

After staking the Vikings to a 6 point lead on a 15 yard scoring strike from Brad Hebert to Brent Laursen, the Bulldogs dug in and captured a first quarter lead.

Owen-Gage quarterback Marc Reinhardt set up the Bulldogs' only touchdown with a nifty 40 yard run when he busted loose around his own right end. Two plays later Reinhardt connected with speedster Nick Pavlichek to cap the 4 play, 70 yard drive. The kick for point was good and the Bulldogs enjoyed a one point lead at the end of the first period.

The two teams traded field position for most of the second quarter, but a costly fumble enabled the Vikings to capture a half-time lead. After stopping the Vikings, who had a first and goal on the 4 yard line, Owen-Gage fumbled their first play from scrimmage with about 2 minutes remaining in the half. One play later Hebert teamed up with Laursen, this time with a 24 yard scoring toss, which ended the first half scoring with the visitors on top 12-7.

Neither team was able to mount much of a scoring drive in the second quarter, though the Bulldogs did move the ball effectively on occasion.

"Our kids played their hearts out, but that wasn't enough. It's hard to win when you have 14 penalties game early in the fourth quarter. Jeff Green provided the knockout punch for the victors when he crossed the goal line on one yard run through the middle. Green's touchdown run was the finishing touch of a 70 yard drive which consisted of 10 plays.

The Bulldog defense, which played another fine game, was led by Chris Abbe with 15 tackles, while Pavlichek added 10.

North Central Thumb leaders rip Bulldogs

Three straight North Central Thumb League losses, including two last week to Peck and Akron-Fairgrove, all but vanished the Bulldogs' hopes of landing the NCTL crown. It was a painful 57-54 overtime loss to Akron-Fairgrove, Tuesday, Sept. 29, that started the Bulldog slide. The Owen-Gage girls' record now stands at 4-3 in league play and 5-5 overall.

Owen-Gage jumped out of the blocks in splendid fashion against Akron-Fairgrove and captured an early 10 point first half lead, due mostly to the efforts of senior standout Susie Salcido, only to see it fade by the intermission as the Vikings clung to a 26-24 advantage.

Salcido, playing her usual stout inside game, staked the Bulldogs to a 6 point lead after one period, 14-8. Salcido registered 4 baskets, mostly on offensive rebounds in the early going.

Continuing her grand offensive showing into the second quarter, Salcido scored 9 of her team's 10 period points to keep the Bulldogs within range of the Vikings, who started heating up behind the efforts of all conference guard Jennifer Foster.

But a bad shot by the Bulldogs, rebounded by the Vikings, put Foster on the foul stripe as she calmly converted both tosses to send the game into overtime.

The overtime period was dominated by Foster and Salcido, the only players to score in the extra stanza, as Foster's 5 tallies to Salcido's 2 provided the margin of victory. Salcido finished with 25 points and she and Foster were the only players to post double figures.

PECK GAME

Peck's all-stater Char Durand single-handedly defeated Owen-Gage last Thursday as she netted 37 points, equalling her season's best, while giving the NCTL leaders an easy 62-42

Rock-ribbed defense nets Hawks' first win this year

Chalk one up for the defense.

The Cass City Red Hawks used a rock-ribbed defense to chalk up the first victory of the year, topping the visiting North Branch Broncos, 8-0. The victory was especially sweet for the Hawks. It was the first win of the year for Coach Don Schelke's charges and it came over a team that has traditionally caused the Hawks much grief, including the only loss for Cass City when the Hawks had a team of true championship quality.

It's possible that the Hawks could make it 2 in a row when they travel to Imlay City Friday for another Thumb B Association contest. Based on comparative scores, the game is rated a tossup.

It's likely that Schelke would like to find a little more offense to go with the defense the team showed against North Branch.

It was the defense, with help from bonehead antics of a Bronco griddler, that netted all the points in the Hawk win.

Bryan Beecher intercepted a Bronco pass on about the North Branch 35 and ran it down to the 15. The tackler received a 5-yard penalty for grabbing the face mask. He took another penalty for a personal foul when he took a swing at Beecher and then another half the distance to the goal for swearing. With the ball on the 2-yard line, it was a simple matter for Jeremy Capps to pound over for the only touchdown of the game. Later in the period Dennis Dadacki tackled the North Branch quarterback in the end zone for a safety.

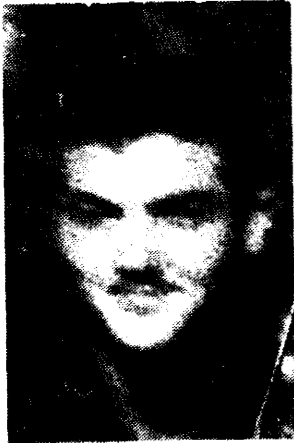

The Hawks might very well have charged into the lead in the first half except for a couple of key turnovers. Two great punts by Jeff Sontag, one to the 5 and the other to the 4-yard line, placed North Branch in very poor field position, but turnovers ruined both of the scoring opportunities. In the first quarter Cass City held and forced the Broncos to punt from near their own goal line. The ball had stopped on the Bronco 32-yard line, where the ball was inadvertently touched by a Hawk player and a golden scoring opportunity was lost.

Cass City blew an equally good scoring chance in the second quarter after the second great punt by Sontag. After the defense held, the Broncos kicked to their own 28, but the great field position was lost when Cass City committed one of its 6 fumbles.

Both teams had trouble hanging on to the ball, due in part to the light rain and unseasonably cold weather during the game.

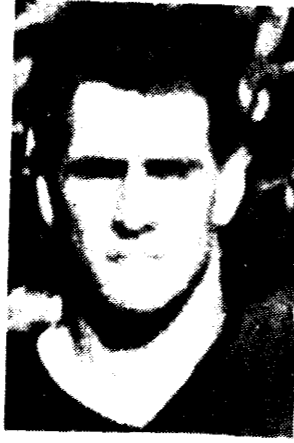

Jeff Dillon and Chuck Merchant led the defense that limited North Branch to 40 yards rushing with 13 and 14 tackles, respectively. Capps led the Hawk rushers with 36 yards in 13 carries, while Paul Gill, with 78 yards in 22 tries, was the leading ball carrier for the Broncos.

Team effort, better shooting key in Cass City girls' win

The Cass City Red Hawks basketball team broke into the win column Tuesday, Sept. 29, with a close win at Mayville, 49-43, in what Coach Daryl Iwankovitch called a team effort. We finally shot well enough to win and all the players played a key role at different times during the game, he said.

Darlene Monroe had 11 rebounds, 3 steals and shot 6 for 12. Lisa Nicholas saved her best for the last. In the final minutes she came up with 2 key rebounds. Amy Francis helped out with a pair of clutch free throws when fouled as the Hawks were stalling to protect a narrow lead.

Cindy Powell helped control the ball while leading the club in scoring with 6 of 12 from the field and 3 of 4 from the foul line for 15 points. Sue Papp was singled out for good defense and was credited with 8 boards. Beth Powell helped break the Mayville press late in the game and Andrea Isard helped slow down a Mayville rally when Monroe was out of the game in the second quarter. Jenny Tracy took over in the 4th quarter with 6 points after Monroe had fouled out to help the Hawks to the win. Mayville's Snyder led all scorers with 23 points.

For a change the Hawks jumped out in front early and it looked like it might be an easy victory at half time. The Hawks exhibited balanced scoring in the opening period to jump out to a 12-7 lead. Cass City used the same scoring formula to add 2 points to the margin in the second period and was in front 26-18 at the intermission.

Mayville rallied and got most of those points back in the third quarter as Wilson rammed home 9 of the Wildcats' 13 points in the period and Cass City's scoring was limited to 2 buckets by Powell and one by Monroe.

The rally set the stage for the last quarter excitement and Cass City was equal to the challenge, as previously described.

Broncos hand Hawks 64-37 loss

The North Branch Broncos gave the Cass City Red Hawks a lesson in defense Thursday and waltzed by the Hawks, 64-37, as Coach Sandy Rutledge was able to give all players who were suited an opportunity to gain game experience.

Coach Daryl Iwankovitch's charges were unable to solve the Bronco press and time after time failed to get the ball past the center line against the visitors who played 11 girls with 9 of them contributing to the North Branch point total.

The Hawks stayed in the game only for the first 8 minutes. Cass City was in range after the end of the first period, 11-6, but were blown away in the second quarter as the Broncos used balanced scoring to outscore Cass City 22-6.

Cass City played better in the second half as Cindy Powell, who was blanked in the first half, scored 8 points. The Hawks scored 25 points in the final 2 quarters to double their point total in the first 2 periods. Mayville countered with 31 to erase any faint hopes Cass City had of coming back to win.

Jenny Tracy was the only Hawk in double figures with 12 points while Mayville had 4 players with 10 points or more led by Marian Groce with an even dozen.

THE FIRST hunter to report killing a buck with a bow and arrow is familiar to many readers. He is Tom Coleman, 24, of Cass City and this 8-pointer is his second deer with bow and arrow in 4 years of hunting. He used a tree stand hunting near Cumber Road Friday evening. Coleman was the first hunter to report success in the regular gun season 2 years in a row (1984-85) and was second in 1986.

Cass City golfers down Vassar with team balance

Cass City High School broke into the Thumb B Association victory circle for the first time this year with a fifth-man tie breaker victory over the Vassar Vulcans at Vassar Golf Course Wednesday.

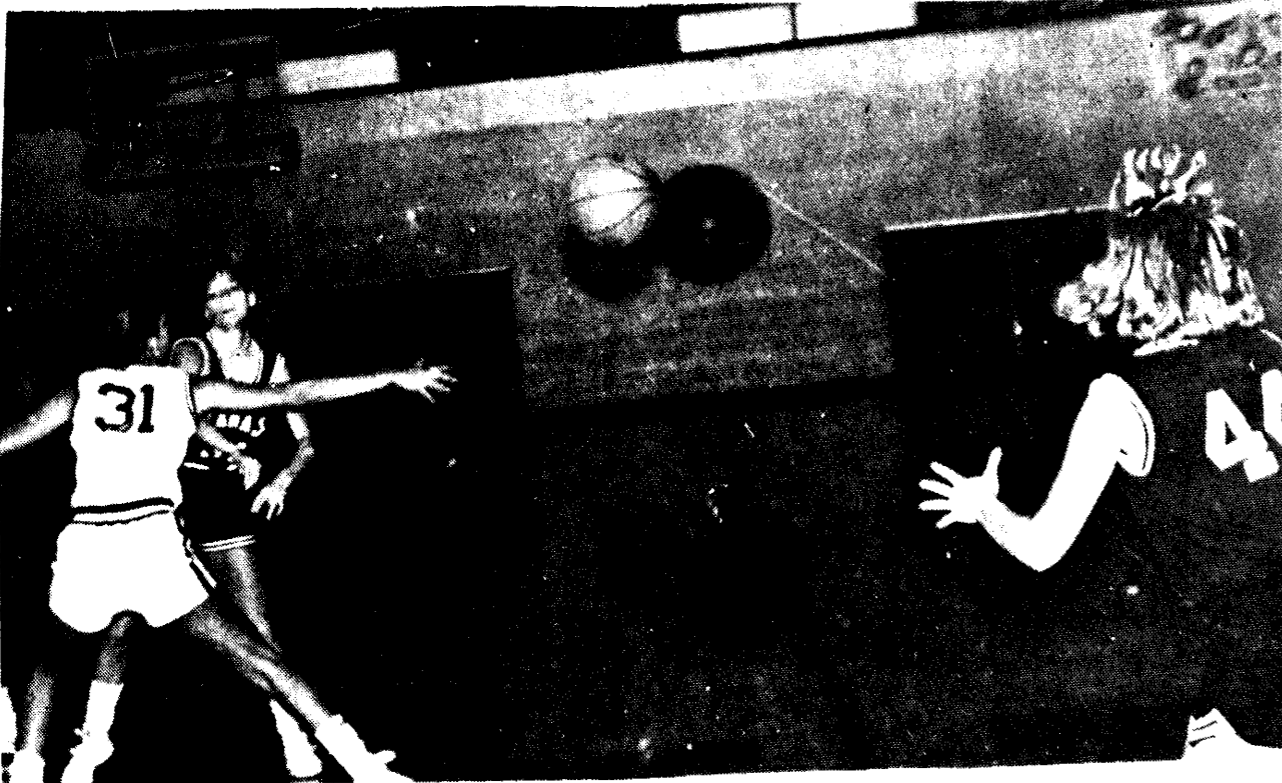

The composite score of the top 4 players on each team was 185. Cass City got the win when Dave Burnette defeated Jerry Warner, 52-54. Jason McCallum was low scorer for the Hawks and the medalist of the match with a 42. Other Hawk scores were: Mike Francis, 49; Mike Scollon, 46; Ken Micklash, 48.

Mike Gohsman topped

Vassar with a 43. Other Vulcan scores were: Paul Embrey, 44; Jeff Miner, 50; Brett Szagash, 48.

Coach Jim Fox said that the Hawks finally achieved team balance. If we chop a stroke here and there we stand a fighting chance of jumping up in the league and finishing in the top 3 at the regionals. The Thumb B league meet was scheduled Monday and the regionals are slated at Vassar Friday, Oct. 9.

LISA NICHOLAS THROWS a no-look pass to wide open Jenny Tracy during action against North Branch Thursday. The Hawks lost, 64-37, to the Thumb B Association leaders.

Flood recovery answers

Q: I am a homeowner involved in the buy-out in Vassar. Very much to my surprise, the offer I was given is very decent. My question now is, should I snap it up before they change their minds and reduce the offer, or could there be a better alternative?

A: We recommend that you slow down and review all your options before you make a final decision. You may have an offer from SBA, your local bank or some other agency to consider. Make sure that you consult with the relocation people so that you are aware of where you are going, the amount of your new mortgage, and the time element involved. Once you've seen the whole picture, then make your decision so that you can move forward with confidence. Please feel free to call us if you need further assistance.

*****

We would like to answer your questions dealing with Flood Recovery concerns. Please address them to: Flood Outreach Recovery Team, Broadcast House, Suite 100, 1184 Cleaver Rd., Caro, MI 48723, 673-8565.

New books at the library

ICE TREK by Ewan Clarkson (fiction). American Steve Larsen, a scout for a travel company, agrees to take along Eskimo Joe Umiak on a flight to remote Anaktuvuk Pass; the light airplane crashes, killing the pilot. To survive, Larsen and Umiak must trek hundreds of miles over mountainous terrain, through freezing conditions. Strangers until the crash, the men must come to terms not only with their desperate plight but also with the vast cultural gap that separates them. Larsen finds that despite his experiences in Vietnam, he is dependent on Umiak for his life; Umiak resents Larsen, fearing his dependency may be their death. As they trek painfully and slowly onward, they are also menaced by an old, mean grizzly bear who has acquired a taste for human flesh and is tracking them.

A SOUTHERN FAMILY by Gail Godwin (fiction). Theo Quick has married Snow, the uneducated (but shrewd) hillbilly woman, to the chagrin of his upper-middle-class parents and siblings. Ralph and Lily Quick are not role models: their marriage has been deteriorating for many years, and their house on Quick's Hill in Mountain City, S.C., mirrors both their aspiring gentility and general decline. When Theo, separated from Snow, shoots another woman who apparently has rejected him, the shocking and never fully explained event is a catalyst for many changes and insights in the survivors' lives. Both Clare Quick, Lily's daughter by a first marriage, and Rafe, the younger brother, are plagued with guilt over their failures to heed Theo's desperation.

LEAVING HOME by Garrison Keillor (non-fiction). On June 13, Keillor packed up his 13-year-old radio variety show, "A Prairie Home Companion," and a few days later took off for Copenhagen with his Danish wife. He thus ended his reports on the citizens of Lake Wobegon, a mythical Minnesota town in which, he said every week, "all the women are strong, all the men are good-looking, and all the children are above average." This book contains 36 of the radio monologues. They are funny, intentionally sweet, and almost morbidly nostalgic, leavened with a whisper of condescension toward mundane foibles of the hickish protagonists. Fans will chow down on them like Lake Wobegonites at a church supper.

"Char Lot Marie Tooth"

Stuart Merchant battles disease that destroys nerves

There are many who have suffered more physically and have been hospitalized more than Stuart Merchant, 61, of Cass City, but if you were rating his illnesses on a scale from one to 10, he would rate at least an 8.

While he certainly has been on the operating table much more than the average, it is not the 8 operations that make most of us realize how lucky we are after talking with the co-owner-manager of Somers' Bakery in Cass City.

It's the type surgery and the continuing battle with a crippling disease that sets Merchant apart. Most of us have never heard about Char Lot Marie Tooth disease and that included Merchant before he discovered that he suffered from it.

Essentially, what it is, Merchant explains, is a muscle disease which destroys the nerves. It's progressive, but not life threatening and since his disease was diagnosed, he has found other sufferers. Occasionally someone comes into the bakery and at a convention in Toronto last July, 235 persons attended.

The affliction has had Merchant in leg braces since 1972 and he is unable to tie his shoes or do activities that require finger dexterity.

It's possible that Char Lot Marie Tooth may have been responsible for the problems that Merchant has encountered with joints in his leg and hip and made him quit farming and working at General Cable Corp., Cass City, in 1968.

It was in 1970 that arthritis forced him to seek relief with a comparatively new surgical procedure at famed Mayo Clinic, where doctors put an artificial joint in his right hip. That required a hospital stay of 14 days and put him on crutches for 8 weeks.

I returned to Mayo in April, Merchant says proudly, and that joint is as good today as when they put it in.

The next bout with the surgeon's knife came about 5 years later in 1977, when the knee joint in the left leg was replaced. That helped, but was not quite as successful as the hip replacement. I still have pain after sitting for awhile, says Merchant.

There is speculation that Char Lot Marie Tooth can affect the eyes and hearing, although that hasn't been proved. What is certain is that Merchant has had surgery for cataracts on both eyes. A year ago was the first and the second was completed July 28.

That's minor surgery for someone who has the medical history that Merchant has. Because he was in constant pain with his chronic disease, in May of 1985 surgery was required where the nerves in 8 toes were cut and pins installed to hold the toes together. It was 8 weeks after the surgery before he was able to stand without crutches. It was July 4, Merchant remembers.

Not all surgery has proved beneficial. One that didn't work well and put Merchant back on crutches for 6 weeks was a tendon transfer to the leg, that was completed in May 1986.

More successful was a hernia operation in April this year. Merchant almost forgot to mention 2 earlier surgeries that started him on the road to the operating tables. About 20 years ago another hernia operation was completed and when he was 12 years old the operation that started it all was one that many persons submitted to then, tonsils and adenoids.

Although the disabilities have kept Merchant from working manually around the bakery, he's still there most every day keeping an eye on things. It also has not curbed his love for flying. He needed a special medical physical to be eligible to earn his pilot's license. That license has expired and if he wants to resume flying he must be re-examined.

That he intends to do at the first opportunity...providing he can find time away from the operating table to do it.

The Hummingbirds have long since left. Crystal Lake has taken on a chill that even our hardy neighbor, Frank Foster, can no longer endure, and now has to bathe indoors.

The hardwoods are putting on their coats of many colors in one glorious final fling before they shed their garb completely.

Ol' Del Parsons has taken in our dock, and stacked it along side the house, out of reach of next spring's ice jams.

The sun is setting a little south of west. We checked its direction at sunset at the time of the equinox and sure enough, it was exactly west, as it was all over the world on that day.

founder, Roy, J.D. and Bill Tuckey, were active in the business.

The Caro business and the block plant were sold previously and when Roy Tuckey sold, the family was out of the concrete business.

The Wisners are also a family concern. Victor is the president and 2 sons are vice-presidents.

Scott works in the Sebawaing plant and Terry, 31, will manage the Cass City plant.

The Wisners will operate the Cass City plant under the name of Tuckey Concrete Products.

"We will offer concrete blocks here," says Terry Wisner, "and also have lawn ornaments, stone and anything else that is made from concrete."

Because of the increased capacity from the Sebawaing plant, the new owners feel that they will be able to offer better service for customers.

Road work completed in Novesta

Completion of summer road work in Novesta Township was announced during a 90-minute monthly township board meeting Monday night.

Township Clerk Nursie L. Kloc stated that the township has paid nearly $35,190 of its $51,329.50 bill for the work, which includes several graveling projects.

The work consisted of resurfacing one mile of Kingston Road from Shabbona Road to Deckerville Road, and graveling Dodge Road from Shabbona Road to Severance Road, River Road from the old railroad crossing to Cemetery Road, Elmwood Road from Crawford Road to Lamton Road, and Kelly Road from Englehart Road to Crawford Road.

Also included in the work was $973 for maintenance and $5,280 for dust control, Kloc said.

Elkland board okays officials liability insurance

The Elkland Township Board during a 45-minute monthly meeting Monday approved purchase of a public officials liability insurance policy at a cost of $2,830.

According to township Clerk Norma Wallace, the annual premium for the $1 million policy has increased sharply. She explained that the same policy, through Harris-Hampshire Agency, Inc., of Cass City, previously cost $500 for 3 years.

The policy went into effect immediately, Wallace continued, adding that the township's previous policy expired last month. The township delayed renewal, she said, because officials were considering purchasing insurance from a new company along with Cass City Village, which later aborted its plan to buy coverage from the new company.

By Bill Myers

long drawers. So am I.

The flock of mergansers that has paraded along the waterfront all summer is now fully grown, but Mother Merganser is still shepherding them to the schools of minnows in shallow water. Soon it will be every duck for himself, and woe unto tail-end Charlie, unless the hunter is smart enough to know that merganser meat is fishy, and to hold his fire.

So it's the end of another lovely summer at Crystal Lake in the woods of northwestern Michigan. In getting ready for the migration, we clean off the desk, and find such items tucked under the blotter:

1. Japan has 11 lawyers per 100,000 people. U.S. has 279. My home town of Lapeer, pop. 6,000 then and now, had 11 working lawyers at the end of the war. Now it has 49.

2. Drexel Burnham Lambert, leading broker in sale of junk bonds, has some trash, too, in its investment letter. Telling us how to increase income with bond swaps, one of Drexel's suggestions is to make an additional investment. We agree, and grant the assumption that it will work out exactly that way, if the bonds don't default. We will go further and admit that if you double your investment your income will likely go up twice what it is now.

3. Mayor Coleman Young bragged about Detroit being able to sell its first bonds since 1979. Its shaky credit barely makes it to the BBB investment level. The long, tax-exempt bonds went at 8.625%, hardly a reflection of quality. One of the top bond salesmen in Detroit said it was an awful chore for him to peddle Detroit bonds, and he spent his time on other issues more attractive.

4. Forbes magazine agrees with an earlier column of ours that statements of American savings ratios have not really fallen off. Quoting economists from Ohio State and Boston University. The professors say, as we did, that contributions to pension funds and Social Security should count as savings. This item, plus others restores the savings rate to the level of the 1950's. Even the profs overlooked the inherent savings in interest accumulating in zero-coupon bonds, and U.S. Savings bonds, not reflected in government figures.

5. Will there be enough Presidential candidates left a year from now to head 2 tickets? Besides Biden, Hart, Laxalt, we'd like to suggest Paul Simon quit after his remark about the CIA: "I don't believe our government should be engaged in covert activity."

6. The Wall Street Journal reported that Citicorp would be "selling off some assets to improve its capital position." My recollection of Accounting 101 is that if you sell assets you just substitute either cash or accounts receivable for the asset sold. It seems times and accounting have changed.

7. From Baby Sister in California comes a quote from the Governor of Arizona made at the time of the Pope's visit:

"I think today that a few remarks I might make, we go back to the relationship in this great nation with the people who was the foundation of America, the people that they've paid such a price that we might enjoy the blessings of enjoyment that we have, has been spoken this morning."

8. One of Amtrak's main routes is from Chicago to Toronto. We caught the train at Lapeer, and found the 5-hour ride to Toronto a pleasant one, even though an hour late. We had to get off at the border at Port Huron to buy a ticket because there was no agent at Lapeer, and the conductor couldn't sell one on the train. The train politely waited for me to hike to the station for the ticket, which eventually a computer disgorged. The old-fashioned way would have taken 10 seconds.

While we were fretting over the delay we asked the nearby train official what he thought of the system.

"Not much," he said. "The American computer is not compatible with the Canadian one, so that say on a westbound train, Toronto could book a trainload of people and Port Huron or Flint could also book a trainload the same day, and not know of the Toronto bookings. So we could have 2 trainloads but only one train."

Onward!
