tion of the salary committee but with one change, the board approved a salary of $49,500 for the superintendent and continued the insurance package that he had as high school princi-pal. In addition, the payment for the use of a car was changed from the flat fee paid Supt. Donald Crouse to 21 cents per mile.

The change in the final contract as approved by the board from the recommendation of the salary committee was in the length of the contract. The committee recommended that the contract be for 2 1/2 years with a salary review after 18 months. The salary review authorized will start at the end of 6 months, June 30, 1988. The change will enable Micklash to have a 3year contract after the first 6 months, the traditional way that the superintendent has been hired.

The board met in a closed session to consider several against firms that manufactured asbestos. No hourly fees are involved for the school.

A resolution was passed and policy for adult high school completion program adopted so the program will be eligible for state aid. Board President Dr. Ed Scollon reported that it was his feeling that the Tuscola Intermediate School District was not prepared to offer a county-wide agriculture program, after he attended a meeting Sept. 23. Organizers of the local campaign announced the dates last week following a planning meeting Oct. 13 Taking over this year as campaign director is Doug Herringshaw, who became president of the local United Way chapter after last year's campaign.

He replaces former director Art Holmberg, who is vice-president of the chapter this year. Other officers are Margie Curtis, secretary, and Florence Karr, treasurer.

Herringshaw, a board member last year and a 3year campaign solicitor, said that the local United Way goal for this year is $17,000, the same as in 1985. Last year's goal was reduced to $15,000 due to economic hardship related to unprecedented flooding last fall.

Proceeds collected by local volunteers, who tradi-tionally meet their goal, are used annually to support several local agencies and, through the Tuscola and Michigan United Way groups, contribute to at least 40 county, state and national charitable organizations.

"Locally, we support the Bach festival, the park, the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, the Little League and the Pony League," Herringshaw remarked.

A Gagetown man was Cemetery Road Oct. 14. treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital after his vehicle left Bay City-Forestville Road, struck a ditch and rolled over in Elmwood Township Oct. 14.

Heart appear to be the grandparents of Ken and Joseph M. Wood, 25, 4703 South St., was eastbound on Bay City-Forestville Road children. Grandma is stylishly dressed with sexy curves. Grandpa has Vic Tanny near McEldowney Road when his vehicle left the muscles and wears a purple south shoulder of the road for about 264 feet before jumpsuit. His underwear is swerving back across the roadway and hitting the ditch, according to a Tus-cola County Sheriff's Department report.

Wood's vehicle sustained heavy damage in the mishap.

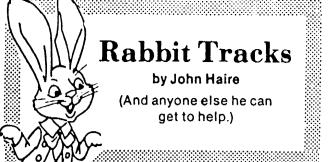

An 18-year-old Cass City man was cited for violating the basic speed law after his vehicle lost control on Milligan Road west of Deputies reported that William J. Profit II, 6493 Bay City-Forestville Road, was traveling west on Milligan Road when he lost control of his vehicle, which then entered a ditch, hit a mailbox and flipped over on its top.

Jason R. Smith, 16, 6786 Main St., Cass City, sought their own treatment for minor injuries, the report indicates

Also reporting a vehicle accident was Gary S. King, 6801 Chapin Rd., Deford, who was eastbound on Bevens Road east of Clothier Road Thursday when a deer ran into the driver's side of his vehicle.

A landmark in the village disappeared a couple of weeks ago when the fire escape at Kritzmans' was taken down. It was the last escape in town to go.

The removal is part of a new front that the company is installing.

Also on the business front, add the Ben Franklin Store to the firms that have installed awnings on the rear as well as the front entrances.

Gov. James Blanchard has appointed a citizens' committee to investigate why the Michigan Lottery profits are $100 million short of projections.

Maybe it's because the players are getting tired of losing?

Cass City Rotary is in the midst of a campaign to raise funds to help Rotary International's battle to protect third world children against polio with immunization shots.

It's unlikely that the club will equal the efforts of the Caro Rotary Club. A member of the Caro club is Doug Gallery, former co-publisher of the Tuscola County Advertiser. Gallery has pledged $25,000 to the program and challenged the club to match it.

Whew!

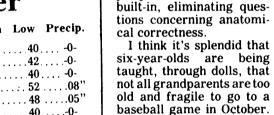

Former Owen-Gage Superintendent Ron Erickson, who was recently fired from his job as superintendent at Allendale, is an applicant for the post of State Superintendent of Schools, a post left vacant by the resignation of Phillip E. Runkel.

It's not Erickson's first attempt to be involved in education at the state level. He was an unsuccessful candidate for election to the State Board of Education.

Erickson is one of many. A total of 53 have applied for the job.

The Saginaw Region Poison Center at Saginaw General Hospital is open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. It is staffed by registered pharmacists knowledgeable in the treatment of accidental poisonings.

It's a moot point, say folks who have known Walt Goodall of Cass City over the years, whether it was his interest in sports that made him Cass City's number one fan or his interest in kids.

One of Cass City's successful businessmen, now middle aged, recalls the days when he was in high school and cooning watermelon at Goodall's farm was an annual fall event, like going back to school. It was something that you did. I'm sure, he says, that Walt planted those melons just so he could have the fun of trying to catch us when we went out there to raid.

Another man also in the business community tells another story about Walt and his melons. There were 5 or 6 of us out in the field when Walt fired a shotgun in the air. Scared silly, he says, we dashed for the car and took off. The only trouble was that after we got down the road and started counting heads, we had one extra. You know who that was, Walt Goodall.

Over the years the paper has had several occasions to talk to the 75-year-old retired farmer. He was connected with prize winning livestock. But to tell the truth just what honors he won or what projects he was connected with have gone fleeting out of memory

One episode not forgotten came when we were out to his farm to do a story on the deer and other wildlife that he cared for. The farm was unusual and attracted frequent visitors. It also took a lot of time and some money to maintain.

I asked him why he did it and his answer still sticks with me today. Oh, I kind of like to look at them and a lot of kids are getting a lot of enjoyment out of it, too.

Over the years, Goodall's interest in sports has made him a host of friends. I've been invited to their weddings and their homes, he says. Any particular person that stands out over the rest? No. There are so many, that I can't name them for you. I would forget some, sure, and that wouldn't do at all. While Goodall is an avid sports fan and his record of attendance at Cass City events as chronicled on this week's sports pages is one that probably will not be approached, it does not extend past high school. I don't follow professional teams at all, he says. Just high school, mostly. It's the kids and what they are doing that is important and interesting to me. For several generations of Cass City students that's not news at all. Everyone who knew Walt while growing up knows that.

THANK YOU!

The employees, officers and Directors of Walbro Corporation wish to thank the people of Cass City and Caro for their generous support during the recent takeover attempt. We are indeed grateful.

Thanks to this community involvement, along with the assistance and support of countless others, the independence of Walbro has been preserved. This recent challenge proved that Walbro's strength lies in its employees and in the citizens of the communities in which it does business.

The people at Walbro look forward to an exciting future which promises continued growth and with it expanded opportunities to serve.

budget. Commissioners proved a number of resolutions based on an agreement between the board and Judge Patrick R. Joslyn earlier this year. The resolutions okayed an additional $75,000 for the FOC budget--$40,000 from the FOC fund and $35,000 from the county's general contingency.

But a proposed 1988 FOC budget of $257,107 was met with a cool response from commissioners. The proposal includes $27,000 more than in 1987.

Friend of the Court Edwin Comber stated that the additional $27,000, which would be used primarily for salaries and small raises, would generate an additional $71,000 for the county through state reimbursements.

He stated that the money would be used to fund salaries for part-time employees and a deputy friend of the court hired recently in addition to across the board raises of $260. Comber would receive a 4 percent raise under the proposal.

Comber added that most, if not all, of the additional $27,000 could come from the Friend of the Court fund, depending on what commissioners decide to do. Some $190,000 of the FOC's 1987 budget came from the general fund, while the remaining $40,000 came from the FOC fund.

According to county Controller Michael Hoagland, the FOC budget is one of a few remaining loose ends 1988 budget. The others are cial offices. PUBLIC HEARING

A public hearing on the new budget is expected to be held Nov. 10, with adoption tentatively set for Nov.

Hoagland remarked that the 1987 general fund revenue/expenditure budget, which was amended last week from $5,513,227 to $5,553,227, is "pretty well resolved and settled.'

Major adjustments made in the spending plan are attributable to the $40,000 in FOC funds, some $8,000 in expenses related to a $35,000 Juvenile Justice grant and about $5,000 in expenses related to a $28,000 alcohol enforcement grant, he explained. In a related matter, Tuscola County Sheriff's Deputy Richard Blakely was approved for the juvenile grant position, and authorization was given to replace him in the sheriff's department problem, said Dr. Brues-chke. "Many physicians need to be educated about this and learn how to effectively screen, counsel and treat patients with anxiety disorders.

Joseph Messer, M.D., professor of medicine at St. Luke's Medical Center, and moderator of the second session, chaired a discussion that probed the connection between anxiety and stress and their effects on the cardiovascular system.

"We are seeing serious consequences of emotional distress, although we're not sure that it is clearly related to anxiety," said Dr. Messer. "Part of the problem stems from not having clear definitions of stress, anxiety and depression. It seems that many cardiovascular conditions (arrhythmias, coronary artery disease, hypertension, high cholesterol levels, mitral valve prolapse) may somehow be related to anxiety, but cardiologists are really not trained to recognize psychiatric problems in chronic conditions.

House committee approves research, disaster funds

Bob Congressman Traxler (D-Bay City) reported that the Subcommittee on Agriculture of the Appropriations House Committee has approved research and disaster funds of special interest to farmers in the 8th Congressional District.

This action came as part of the work done on the fiscal 1988 Agricultural Appropriations bill.

"This bill will provide the last installment for payments due to farmers affected by last year's rain storms," Traxler said. "Some farmers in our area who produce soybeans or sugarbeets received only about 44 cents for each dollar of loss on a portion of their production. Rita Loeding, Cass City

Area lady is mom first, businesswoman second

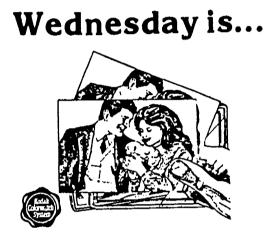

Cass City resident Rita Loeding is enjoying what she describes as the best of 2 worlds--owning and managing a budding craft business while at the same time remaining at home to care for her children.

Loeding, who says she's always enjoyed making various crafts, 4 years ago discovered a demand for her work. This year she made it official by registering as a wholesaler with the state.

The work, especially this time of year, can get busy, she admits, particularly with 3 children--Elizabeth, 1 1/2; Daniel, 4, and Rikki, 5, at home.

Still, Loeding remarked,

EDC airs plans
to help business

Two new programs designed to help businesses start or expand were approved during a meeting of the Tuscola County Economic Development Corporation board of directors, held Oct. 14.

Funding for the prog-rams came from a $10,000 allocation from the Thumb Area Private Industry Council, as part of the council's Special Projects Fund.

EDC Director James McLoskey said the board decided to spend $5,000 as an added incentive for companies to hire employees through the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) program, which is administered by the Thumb Area Consortium.

"Under the Added Incentive Program, the EDC will be able to make 10 awards of $500 per employee hired to companies participating in the program. $1,000 per company," McLoskey said. Companies wishing to be considered for this funding must submit an application to the EDC director. Information to be reviewed by a committee will include the number of people to be hired, their wages, job skill levels and any training that will be required.

Under this program, McLoskey said JTPA-eligi-ble employees must be hired by Dec. 31, 1987.

"Participating com-panies will be required to assist in the promotion of JTPA benefits."

The second item ap-proved by the EDC board is called the Customized Counseling Program, which is designed to help start-up and expanding firms needing assistance in such areas as accounting, business planning, marketing and management. McLoskey said the EDC has set aside the remaining $5,000 for at least 3 companies participating in the Customized Counseling Program, with a maximum award of $2,000 per company.

Firms wishing to be considered for this funding should also submit an application to the EDC office in Caro. Information to be reviewed will include the type of counseling needed, the anticipated number of jobs to be created, and the wage and skill levels of these jobs."

The director added that counseling awards will be made by June 30, 1988. Additional information and applications for either program are available by contacting the EDC office at 673-2849

The next meeting of the Tuscola County EDC board is scheduled for Nov. 18 at 7:30 p.m. at the county annex building in Caro.

When you are beaten on end up on the short end of Thursday when visiting the boards and shoot poorly the score and that's exactly Marlette soundly defeated it usually means that you what happened to Cass City the Hawks, 47-26.

Although the Hawks committed 19 turnovers, Coach Daryl Iwankovitsch said that the turnovers were actually down.

A very low scoring first period put the Hawks in a hole from which they never recovered. Cass City's total scoring in the period was a basket by Andrea Isard and a free throw by Darlene Monroe. The Raiders, paced by 5 points from Ronda Behr, scored 11.

Although never seriously threatening, Cass City re-mained within shouting distance for the first 3 periods. Going into the final quarter the score was 31 to 21. But the Raiders' big 16-5 last quarter margin let the visitors walk off with a onesided win.

One of the Hawks' trou-bles was trying to stop Jill Atkins. After being blanked in the opening quarter, she came on strong to rack up 20 points. Before fouling out, Monroe netted 11 points to lead Cass City.

Starting on their own 35, Cass City racked up 3 first count it as 2 seasons, says Schelke. In our "second" downs, one on a pretty pass from Paul Tuckey to Jeff season we are aiming to be Sontag that covered 25 yards. With a first on the 2-yard line, Cass City fum-In the first quarter bled and Marlette recovered in the end zone. The next time the Hawks got possession they started another drive, this one from their 30. Three first downs

The score was set up by some fine defensive play by Cass City. Darin Monroe broke though to smear the quarterback for an 11-yard loss and the Raiders were forced to kick from their 5-yard line. The kick was downed on the Raider 27 and a face mask penalty put it on the 15. Tuckey passed to Sontag in the left corner of the end zone for the TD. The kick was good.

It didn't take the Raiders long to get that touchdown back. The kickoff was run back to the Marlette 4l. The Raiders used a couple of long runs to score. James Gonzalez scored from 28 vards, breaking 2 tackles on his way to the end zone. The marker came just came 2 minutes and 16 seconds after the Hawk score.

Cass City lost another golden opportunity on the next series of downs when it moved steadily down the field from its own 37 to the Raider 7. But Gonzalez intercepted Tuckey's pass to end the threat.

Cass City cashed in a moment later anyway when Al Rosenstangel crashed through and smothered Gonzalez in the end zone for a safety.

The Hawks battled Marlette and the clock successfully to widen their lead to 21-7 at the half. Starting at midfield, the Hawks combined passes and runs for a first on the 15. Sontag made sure he held the ball when he ran over from the 6 with 28 seconds left in the half.

The Hawks put the game virtually out of reach when they stretched their lead to 21 to 7 when Tuckey capped a drive by sneaking over from the one.

> The Bulldogs, meanwhile, managed only two first downs on the night, the first one coming with 20 seconds remaining in the first half.

The Eagle defense set up the game's first 3 scores. Stopping the Bulldogs shy of a first down on their first 3 possessions, the Eagle offensive had to cover less than 40 yards on each of their first 3 markers. Scott Popilek recorded

Deckerville's touchdown on a 22-yard jaunt. Popilek finished the night with 138 yards on 16 carries Deckerville's Richard Barker, who is arguably the North Central Thumb's best player, scored the Eagles' next 2 TDs on 8 and 7 yard runs, which put the Eagles on top by 23 at quarter's end. Barker would add 114 yards on 13 carries to his season's total before the night was through.

The Bulldogs played their best football of the night in the second quarter, holding the potent Deckerville of fensive to only one score, which came at 1:36 in the first half when Daryl Bolsby ended a 7-play drive which covered 37 yards. The 3rd and 4th quarters seemed to echo the first half, only with different Eagle players accounting for the Deckerville scores. Graham Besonen was the only Owen-Gage back to end up on the plus yardage side against the strong. Eagle defense. Quarterback sacks and plays that were stopped short of the line of scrimmage netted the Bulldog offense 0 yards rushing for the night The Bulldogs' defense was led by the usual trio of Marc Reinhardt, Nick Pavlichek and Chris Abbe. Reinhardt led the defense with 11 tackles. Close behind were Pavlichek with 10 tackles and Abbe, who got credit with 8 tackles. one fumble recovery and one blocked punt. The Bulldogs will look to bounce back next week when they entertain the North Huron Warriors, while trying to post their first NCTL win. The Bulldog record stands at 1-6 on the year. 'We will be working on different blocking schemes for next week," lamented Besonen. The Warriors, like most of the teams in the NCTL this year, are bigger and quicker than the Bulldogs and also have a balanced running and passing attack.

New record bass taken

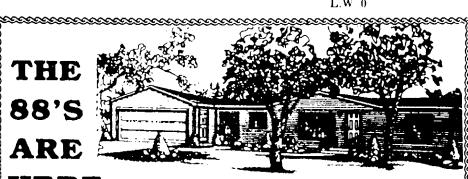

A 19-inch, 3-pound - 8ounce white bass, taken from Lake Macatawa in Ottawa County, has been confirmed as a new state record, Department of Natural Resources Fisheries Division personnel announced Aug. 18. The record catch was landed by Martin Leach, 23, of Wyoming Aug. 8. Leach was drifting for walleye at the south end of the lake about 75 feet from shore, when he caught the fish using a night crawler on a week.

Diehard Tiger fans may never know the reason for their team's downfall in the American League play-offs, which ended Oct. 12 with the Minnesota Twins clinching the title, 9-5. Was it too much confidence? Not enough?

Questions will likely continue to surface for some time among local baseball "experts," who saw visions of a repeat of the "Roar of '84'' slip away.

Regardless, the Bengals simply didn't display the same poise, clutch hitting and strong pitching the Twins did. Minnesota, which 5 upper are finished which 5 years ago finished in last place with 102 losses, took the title this year in 5 games.

Tiger fans, meanwhile, will have to be content with hoping for next year.

Your neighbor, Steve Guoan of Bay City, indicated he's not as disappointed about the Tigers as those who believed Detroit was destined for another World Series title.

"They did better than I thought they would. I didn't think they'd do anything," Guoan said, adding he doesn't believe Detroit deserved to beat Minnesota. Among Guoan's favorite

And what about next year? "They'll probably be second or third," Guoan predicted.

Originally from Essexville, Guoan is a "neighbor" of sorts to a number of Thumb and Cass City businesses. He's a driver for Banner Linen Service, Bay City, and makes daily trips to Thumb-area businesses. His delivery route brings him to Cass City once a

Bank merger to

(First of 3 articles)

In some 10 years of writing financial columns, no subject has drawn as much interest as estate planning. I held a couple seminars on the subject and we had overflow crowds. I continue to get calls and letters about the topic. While I like to visit about the subject, the real answers have to come from lawyers. I refer such people to firms I have had experience with in Florida and Michigan, who will do a good job This is the first of 3 columns on the subject. Let us look at the 3 choices you have in planning how your estate will be handled -- who gets what, and how it will be distributed:

1. DO NOTHING. Have no will at all, or no trust. No nothing. Then the state will write a will for you. It will be costly, and chances are half to the spouse, half to the children of both of you. your assets will not be divided the way you want. Examples of what happens with no will, will follow later in this column.

2. HAVE A WILL, and keep it updated as years go by. Until fairly recent years, this was the typical way of most people. It in-volves "going through probate," which means a lot of legal costs, and considerable delay. Likely the pro-cess will take over a year. It does distribute your property the way you want, and not the way your state law prescribes, when you have no will. 3. A LIVING TRUST (along with a brief will as a corollary). Your property again will be divided up the way you say. The process is quicker and cheaper. There are other advantages to be described in Part III of this series.

Now let's back track to Choice No. 1 -- Doing nothing, having no will at all.

The data that follows was supplied by Attorney Michael Carter of the prestigious firm of Taylor, Carter, Butterfield, Riseman, Clark and Howell of Lapeer, Mich. Mind you, this is Michigan law only. Each state is a little diffe-
