CASS CITY, MICHIGAN — WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1987

PLUS ONE SUPPLEMENT

ONE STEP AT A TIME -- Area resident Terry Wylie, who has carried his cross and a message about Jesus Christ all over the world, is now setting his sights on the Thumb, where he hopes to preach over the next several months. The sticker on his vest says "Jesus is Right On!". It's a message he's determined to share.

God told him to do it

Terry Wylie totes cross to take God to the people

by Tom Montgomery
News Editor

Terry Wylie has a mission. His goal is to share Jesus Christ with anyone who will listen, and even those who won't.

But the 34-year-old Thumb resident can't be found preaching from a pulpit on Sundays.

Bearing a 60 pound, 6- by 12-foot wooden cross, he's taking God to the people, one step at a time.

Wylie, who recently began a journey on foot which he hopes will take him throughout the Thumb in the coming year, took time for a brief interview last week while walking south along M-53, about 4 miles north of M-81.

The walk began south of Bad Axe, his first destination. As of Wednesday, he had covered 2 weeks and some 20 miles.

His cross draws double takes from passing motorists, each of whom receives a warm smile and friendly wave from the bearded young man, who is quick to ask anyone stopping if they know Jesus and if they're saved.

"There are 2 main reasons I'm doing this," he remarked. "One of them—I guess probably the reason that makes the most sense—is that I'm trying to make a statement that America was founded on Christian principles, and it's (the country) taken a giant step backwards."

"Our kids can't pray in school anymore," he continued, adding, "I believe that church and state should be separate, but the way the founding fathers had in mind; to keep the government out of the church, not the church out of the government."

INDIVIDUAL CHANGE

"The second reason is I believe that the Lord wants to change our nation, but he won't change it in a broad sweep," he explained. "I believe He moves on individuals. Jesus Christ came to earth personally and personally died on the cross.

He's a very personal God."

And the cross? "When people see the cross—being the obvious sign of Jesus Christ—it works on their mind," he explained. "The Holy Spirit can work on them."

Preaching in the streets isn't new for Wylie, who grew up in Sandusky and later moved to Florida, where he lived for 10 years before returning to the Thumb last January.

The area resident has shared his message for a decade throughout central Florida as well as England and Jamaica. He traveled with a small team of evangelists to the Mardi Gras in New Orleans in 1983 and 1984.

"It's been just the past couple years that I had to go back to the shop," he said, referring to his trade as a tool and die maker. Wylie noted that he has missed work following surgery in mid-September to remove a portion of a disc in his back.

The surgery has somewhat affected his current ministry as he is spending only about 3 hours per day on the road. He said that he hopes to increase that number by 5 to 7 hours.

What Wylie lacks in physical endurance, however, he more than makes up in zeal.

NO SURPRISE

He noted that he isn't surprised that he could return to preaching so soon after surgery.

"You know why? This is something that God told me to do, and I feel that if he gives you something to do, he gives you the strength," he said. "This is living proof."

Wylie, who resides at 5445 VanDyke Rd. with his wife, Dolly, and the couple's 13-year-old daughter, Dominique, had hoped to make it to Cass City late last week. His plans included preaching along with a small group of street evangelists from the Faith Gospel Tabernacle, where he attends services.

Biefer salary $42,500

Stickle quits after 32 years at school

Two more steps in the changing of the guard at Cass City Schools were taken at the regular meeting of the board Monday night at the high school when Intermediate Principal Robert L. Stickle resigned after 32 years, effective Jan. 30, and a contract was established for Russ Biefer, high school principal-elect.

Biefer will be paid $42,500 per year and will be given 4 weeks' vacation in the summer. His present contract as assistant principal-athletic director is for 2 years and that will be continued.

However, his salary will be reviewed June 30, at which time a salary adjustment will be considered. After that his contract will be for 2 years and reviewed yearly the same as the rest of the principals. His fringe payments will continue as they are.

After accepting "with regret" Stickle's resignation, the board voted a change in the job specification for the intermediate school principal. In addition to the regular duties, the new person will be required to serve as athletic director. The change was made necessary because the post of assistant principal-athletic director will be eliminated.

President Dr. Ed Scollon said that his committee, which included Beverly Auten and James Turner, reviewed principals' salaries in the 9 Tuscola County school districts and that the salary authorized was about in the middle of the various salaries paid.

GRIEVANCES HEARD

Lloyd Schinnerer, representing the Tri-County Bargaining Association, presented 2 grievances to the board. The first was a provision in the salary schedule for teachers in the master contract.

Schinnerer said that the way the contract is written, a teacher coming into the system from outside the system with up to 10 years experience would get one year more increment (pay for length of service) than teachers already in the system. Supt. Don Crouse said that was correct and that was what the teachers agreed to in the contract.

After discussion, Schinnerer said that he was dropping the grievance, but warned that it would certainly be a topic for negotiation in the new contract.

The present contract expires at the end of this school year.

While he dropped the first grievance, Schinnerer did not drop the second. It concerned teachers who attended in-service training for the Michigan Model Health Program. His concern was that the teachers attended in the summer for substitute teachers' pay of $45 instead of their regular salary. He said that the board minutes said that the teachers had to attend and when it did that regular payment was necessary.

Crouse pointed out that each teacher had signed an agreement for the training at the $45 per day payment level. He said that it was not necessary for the teacher to attend in the summer, but could attend during the regular school year as some of the teachers are doing. When they leave during the regular school year, a substitute is hired for $45 per day. Either way the cost to the district is the same, he maintains.

The union now has the option of asking for a mediator and after that going to binding arbitration with each side paying half the cost.

Al Luce, school negotiator, estimated that the cost for going to arbitration would be about $1,200 and would take about a day for the hearing. He also estimated that if the teachers were paid regular salaries the extra cost to the district would be about $7,000.

SIGN WORK

Because they did not want to take sewing in the family living class, 6 high school students appeared before the board for partial funding and permission to improve the sign in front of the high school building.

The group will straighten and renovate the sign, landscape the area and install new floodlights. They hope to have the work completed by Dec. 1 if weather permits. Total cost is estimated at $630.41 with $300 coming from student sources and the remainder furnished by the board.

Students in the project are Barry Brown, David

House, Mike James, Aaron LaPonsie, Dave McArthur and Martin Smith.

In other business, the retainer agreement with Luce was renewed for 1988 at a cost of $6,400, an increase of $300. Dave Fritz explained to the board the "Eyes and Ears" program sponsored by the company he works for, Thumb Electric Co-op, Detroit Edison and Consumers Power. The companies' employees will have signs on trucks showing that they will help by reporting suspicious persons and situations that could be a threat to children. A cartoon film warning children of danger and what to do in various situations will be shown at area schools.

The board granted permission for Glenda Mester to continue to send her 2 children to Owen-Gage district for the remainder of the school year. They live in the Belk parcel, which was recently confirmed as belonging to Cass City by the State Board of Education. The children are Shane Ross, 13, and Ryan Ross, 10.

Record area deer hunt predicted

Hunters: The Chronicle will publish the picture of the first deer brought to the office and any others that are trophy animals. All hunters are urged to report if they get their deer for publishing in our "Buck Luck" column.

Hunters who choose to comb Thumb-area woods during the 1987 firearms season can expect a good chance for success, with the best results expected in eastern Tuscola, eastern Huron and northern Sanilac counties.

"We're looking at possibly (another) record year; it looks pretty good," Department of Natural Resources District 11 wildlife biologist Dave Dominic remarked last week.

District 11 covers 7 1/2 counties, including the Thumb, stretching from Lansing to Port Huron to Saginaw.

Dominic stated that the DNR isn't certain how large the deer population is, largely because of inadequate census methods, but indicated that it appears that estimates in recent years may have been low.

"We don't have a good handle on the deer population in southern Michigan," he explained. "We've had 2 very good hunting seasons (and) we thought that we were starting to cut into the herd, but it doesn't appear that way now," he pointed out, adding that last year's record kill statewide, as well as this year's outlook are partly due to 2 consecutive mild winters and springs.

Higher winter survival and healthier fawns have shown up in other state and Thumb statistics, which appear to support increases in local deer herds. Crop damage is one area which seems to be on the rise, according to Dominic, who added, "Overall, the landowners are becoming more vocal on the damage they're receiving."

Wildlife biologist Bud Jarvis, who's stationed at the Cass City DNR office, agreed. Jarvis said he's issued more special deer permits (40) to farmers this year than ever before.

CAR KILLS UP

Another statistic important to the DNR, Dominic said, is related to car-deer mishaps. "The car kills Please turn to page 14."

O-G board lifts freeze, grants 5 percent pay boost

A wage freeze for Owen-Gage School District non-certified employees, in effect for more than a year, was lifted Monday night by the board of education, which approved a 5 percent raise for the workers.

The raise, which is retroactive to the beginning of the current school year, was approved unanimously and without public discussion following a nearly 2-hour executive session.

According to school Supt. Harley B. Kirby, the hike is expected to cost the district about $8,500.

"They've been working at the salary of the 1985-86 school year—it's a long time," he remarked after the meeting.

Approval of the raise, which affects about 19 employees, including custodians, bus drivers, maintenance workers and cooks, comes nearly 10 months after the board rejected a proposed 2.5 percent wage increase. Rejection of that measure came on a 4-3 vote during a 3-hour special meeting Jan. 28.

In other business during the monthly meeting, which lasted about 3 1/2 hours, the board approved a resolution presented by Kirby regarding class action suits against manufacturers and distributors of asbestos.

The resolution states that the district is dropping out of a national suit and joining a state suit.

Kirby stated that the resolution was recommended by the district's law firm, Thrun, Maatsch and Nordberg, P.C., Lansing. He said that the school would be, in effect, joining the state in opting out of the federal suit.

Kirby pointed out that the district is in compliance with asbestos regulations, but noted that the state may institute mandatory asbestos testing every 3 years. "It's a catch 22," he remarked about conducting asbestos surveys. "Your danged if you do, danged if you don't, but if you don't, the state's going to have someone here to slap some fines on you" if you're not in compliance.

Kirby noted that the school's last asbestos survey was conducted Feb. 21, 1984. A small area in the old high school boiler room was the only place asbestos was found, and steps were taken to correct the situation, he said, adding that the survey cost about $600.

OKAY SALARY

A salary of $3,260 was approved for Diane Warack, who heads the district's pre-developmental kindergarten program, which became licensed last year.

The salary is the same as last year, according to Kirby, who stated that there are more than 40 children in the program.

Warack's husband, school board member

Joseph Warack, excused himself from discussion and a vote on the issue, citing a possible conflict of interest.

Also Monday, the board appointed Margaret Timmins to represent the district on a county parents' advisory committee, approved the use of school recreational facilities for 2 weekends by the Huron County Men's Basketball League, and approved a community winter recreation program, which will be held Sunday evenings beginning after the Christmas break and ending the week before Easter.

The board learned that seniors Amy Thies and Susie Salcido were chosen "Students of the Month" for September and October, and that the elementary school's K-6 musical will include 2 performances (9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.) Dec. 10. Also, the high school will again sponsor a Thanksgiving food drive.

Negotiations

on hold for

teacher pact

Negotiation of a new contract for Owen-Gage School District teachers apparently remains on hold, at least for now, with no meeting dates set between school and union officials.

School Supt. Harley B. Kirby noted Monday night that union officials had been waiting until the district's annual audit was released last month before continuing negotiations. He said that he hasn't been contacted by union officials yet regarding continuing talks.

"We've TA'd (tentatively approved) quite a bit of language, which is a lot," Kirby remarked about negotiations to date. He added that financial issues in the contract are yet to be settled.

Owen-Gage teachers have been working without a contract since Aug. 31, when their 4-year pact expired.

For Joyce Schwartz

“On Approval” is a dream fulfilled

“On Approval” is a dream horse that is fulfilling a dream for Joyce Schwartz, 6128 Deckerville Road, Cass City.

All my life, the petite young matron confides, I wanted to have a champion horse and now, after 20 years in the business, I have one.

“On Approval” is a 2-year-old quarter horse that has won halter class honors in every show he has entered. One of the records of which Schwartz is most proud was made in the nation’s largest quarter horse show at Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 16. There were over 2,000 entries that included most of the best horses in the nation. “On Approval” finished 10th among the 19 horses in the halter class.

Leading up to this world series of horse shows the stallion captured honors all over mid-Michigan. He was the grand champion at the Tuscola County Fair and was first in his class at the Jeff Bujack 3-day quarter horse circuit and was reserve champion all 3 days. He was the 2-year-old circuit champ at Mason and was fourth in the 2-year-old stallion class at the Michigan State Fair. He was third in the state in halter competition.

LOTS OF WORK

Schwartz says that you have to love the horse business to be in it because even when you are lucky enough to have a champion there is no end to the work. On show days she’s up at 2 a.m. The horse has to be bathed, have its whiskers trimmed and its feet blackened.

There’s also plenty to do as part of the regular routine. Schwartz gets help here. “On Approval” is stabled at the Dave Bullock farm and Rose Bullock feeds the horse 4 times a day. In addition he is exercised every day and brushed every day.

Besides the work, the show horse business requires a considerable investment. “On Approval” is the progeny of an old cattle horse mare. The sire was “Impressive Tommy,” one of the better studs, and his fee was $2,500. Despite that, Schwartz says that she makes money with the quarter horses. She does if the amount of time she spends with the horses isn’t considered. Besides her prize stallion, she has 2 mares and a filly.

Despite all the honors, the stallion has yet to be ridden in competition. The first time is expected to be next spring in the Snaffle Bit Futurity. After that, the plan is to have him stand at stud.

It may be that “On Approval” will be moving on before that time. He’s for sale. It’s a little hard to tell what he’s worth, but the first asking price will be $15,000 and if the actual sale is close to that, the champion stallion will have bought a lot of oats for the horses that are left.

Although “On Approval” is for sale, Schwartz says that she is not getting out of the horse business. She will continue to work the business-hobby into her busy schedule. She also is an artist, sells a few paintings and gives them for Christmas presents to friends and relatives. That’s in addition to caring for her 2 children with her husband, John, and working full time at Walbro Corporation.

Heart disease and diabetes: evidence shows deadly link

Heart disease, as most people know, is the leading cause of death by disease in the United States.

But here's another fact -- one which all too few people know: Diabetes, together with its complications, is the third leading cause of death by disease in this country.

New evidence shows a strong and deadly link between diabetes and heart disease.

Compared with non-diabetic people, approximately twice as many people with diabetes have heart conditions.

Coronary heart disease is present in about 13 percent of diabetic adults and congestive heart failure in about 7 percent.

Heart disease is involved in about 50 to 60 percent of all recorded deaths of diabetic adults and in about 15 percent of fatalities among diabetic children.

The risk of death from heart disease in people with diabetes is about twice that among nondiabetic individuals.

Heart disease due to blocked coronary arteries is the direct cause of at least one-third of all deaths occurring in diabetic patients over 40 years of age.

Diabetic patients who smoke have an even greater risk of heart disease than do nondiabetics who smoke.

Blood Fats Play Role

According to the American Diabetes Association (ADA), most of the risk factors for atherosclerosis and coronary heart disease are much more prevalent in patients with diabetes than in the general population.

Among the most widely studied of these risk factors are alterations in cholesterol brought about by the faulty metabolism that characterizes diabetes.

In untreated non-insulin-dependent diabetes, which accounts for about 80 to 90 percent of all diabetes in the U.S., 2 prominent components of cholesterol may be altered.

High levels of VLDL are suspected of contributing to atherosclerotic heart disease in some individuals. High levels of HDL, on the other hand, appear to lessen the risk of heart disease.

Steps That Can be Taken

The picture is undeniably grim, but not hopeless. Whereas there is no way known to prevent or cure diabetes, ways are known to control the risk factors for heart disease -- and that is just what the American Diabetes Association is recommending.

Diet and exercise have long been the cornerstones of non-insulin-dependent diabetes therapy.

The basic diet for people with diabetes calls for a reduction in total fat and an increased proportion of polyunsaturates.

Thus, strict compliance with the diet recommended by the ADA can, in many cases, not only bring down the high blood glucose levels that plague diabetic patients, but also forestall the atherosclerotic buildup that can lead to heart disease.

Although both the ADA and AHA emphasize that diets should be developed to serve each individual's specific needs, both recommend diets that restrict total fat intake to less than 30 percent of total calories consumed.

The ADA also notes that current evidence suggests high-fiber diets and soluble-fiber supplements are helpful in improving metabolism, lowering total cholesterol levels and decreasing VLDL concentrations. It says an intake of 40 grams of fiber a day (the average daily intake for most adult Americans is around 10 to 30 grams) can be particularly helpful.

Exercise is an integral part of any weight-reducing program, of course, but the ADA emphasizes that exercise alone, without concurrent caloric restriction, rarely results in significant weight loss.

Robert Levy, M.D., the senior associate vice-president for health sciences at Columbia University in New York, quotes one projection that says we could lower the heart disease death toll by 100,000 deaths a year if we could lower the average cholesterol level by just 10 percent.

Effective means of cutting the heart disease toll in the diabetic population, as well as in the population as a whole, exist.

It's a goal worth setting our sights on.

Poor shooting, fouls, turnovers, still costing Cass City victories

The Cass City Red Hawks lost a pair of games in Thumb B Association competition, overpowered by league leading North Branch and outlasted by Imlay City.

Tuesday, Nov. 3, host North Branch had no trouble rolling past Cass City, 54-41, with the help of a tight half court press that the Hawks have been unable to solve this season. The Broncos scored many of their points on turnovers caused as they were bringing the ball down the floor.

A big second quarter put the game away for the league leaders. The Hawks trailed, 10-5, at the end of the first 8 minutes, but came apart in the next quarter as North Branch whipped in 22 points while the best Cass City could muster was 2 field goals each by Darlene Monroe and Cindy Powell and another by Sue Papp.

It was a big night for Monroe in a losing cause. She was credited with 18 points from her pivot position. Scoring honors went to Marian Grace with 22 points. Stacy Lamphere added 13.

IMLAY CITY GAME

The Imlay City Spartans used balanced scoring to counter Cass City's one, two punch of Powell and Monroe and defeated the Hawks 47-40 at Cass City

Hawks play Mayville in district tournament

Drawings for the district 87 class C Michigan High School Athletic Association tournament at Deckerville were held Monday. Cass City will play Mayville at 7:45 p.m. Friday, Nov. 20. The game will be the second played that night. The first game, at 6:30 p.m., pits Deckerville against Vassar.

There are 6 teams in the Friday. Coach Daryl Iwanovitch said his charges played poor defense most of the night. The Hawks were plagued by fouls much of the night and that, coupled with a poor shooting night, cost Cass City any chance of winning. The Hawks hit just 36 percent of their shots and shot just 42 times. When you just shoot 42 times, the coach said, you have to hit about 50 percent to win. The Hawks were not very good from the charity stripe either, hitting just 10 of 20 for 50 percent. Imlay City was even worse percentage-wise, cashing in just 12 of 28.

The game was close most of the way. The Spartans jumped off to a narrow 9-8 lead after the first quarter and then posted a 15-8 edge in the second half to lead 24-16 at the half. Cass City chopped away at the lead in the third quarter and stayed within range of the visitors, 31-26, going into the final 8 minutes. But the Spartans were equal to the challenge and outscored Cass City 16-14 to take the win. All but 8 of Cass City's 40 points were put on the board by Powell and Monroe. Powell scored 18 and Monroe added 14. Imlay City had 2 players in double figures, but 8 players shared in the scoring. Tracy Moenaert scored 16 and Amy Ramirez, 11.

Results of the Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP), a state test given to students in the seventh grade at Cass City Intermediate School, revealed many students with perfect records in math and reading.

Many area 7th graders perfect in math, reading

There were 34 students reaching 100 percent of the objectives in math and 40 students with 100 percent in reading. The average for all students is 94.9 percent of the objectives in math and 89.8 percent in reading.

Each question on the test has 4 parts and to reach the objective 3 of the 4 parts must be answered correctly. Twenty students scored 100 percent in both math and reading. They are:

Tracey M. Burns, Jeff C. Doerr, Sarah A. Edzik, Jennifer A. Fruendt, Kristy S. Gnagey, Laura A. Jamison, Sarah A. Keller, Heather M. Kelly, Jason D. Klein, Brenda K. Meredith.

Melissa E. Micklash, Rick J. Parrott, Alexander S. Pratt, Renee A. Rabideau, Roxanne L. Rutkoski, Ben F. Schott, Steven M. Smith, Stephanie M. Szarapski, Dan A. Witkovsky, Scott A. Wren.

CASS CITY'S Cindy Powell (front) and Darlene Monroe were around loose balls like this all night against Imlay City Friday night. The 2 lady Hawks combined for 32 of the Hawks' 40 points in a 47-40 Thumb B Association loss.

Prison policies questioned

The safety of state prison guards, an inherently dangerous occupation, remains a problem because of staff shortages and other failures associated with the recent system expansion, but the murder of a Jackson guard earlier this year is not reflective of an epidemic, Attorney General Frank Kelley reported. His report to Governor James Blanchard, who requested the review after the March killing, said the Michigan system is no more or less dangerous than those in other states, but said several policies and procedures need to be changed.

And although some legislators said Josephine McCallum's murder showed an inherent flaw in assigning females to male prisons, Kelley said, "There is no empirical evidence that the gender of a guard makes a difference or has an inherent impact on safety."

He also emphasized only two guards in history have been killed by inmates (the other was in 1973 in Marquette) in declaring there is no "epidemic" problem. Blanchard said the recommendations "can serve as a blueprint for increased safety for the officers."

The governor said the cost of the recommendations would be "a very small amount" and said many of the suggestions have already been addressed by the department. Corrections Director Robert Brown Jr. said several areas in the report have been addressed, including improved training and supervision of new guards and studying other systems to better control the most dangerous prisoners.

The report found 3 factors which repeatedly surfaced: department policies which are ineffective or poorly followed; shortages of experienced staff due to prison expansion, and the size of the Jackson prison. Kelley said certain procedures were not followed because of the inexperience of employees, and the best seniority typically transferred to new and better equipped prisons.

Blanchard said the rapid prison expansion program, resulting in the addition of 4,700 more guards since 1982, was not a mistake despite the problems associated with large numbers of inexperienced personnel and relatively new employees training recruits.

Recommendations in the report include:

-Placing prisoners in cells that reflect their security classifications.

-Prohibiting release of prisoners from segregation due to shortages of cells.

-Using wage and other incentives to keep experienced officers at maximum and close security prisons.

-Establishing prisoner passes and details to better control movement; limit general population prisoner movement to smaller groups.

-Using physical, staffing and technological tools in designing post assignments to minimize risks of serious injury.

-Improving metal detector devices to screen for weapons.

-Expanding supervision and on-the-job training of new and probationary employees, with more attention to self-defense techniques and methods of informing officers of potential disturbances.

-Improving the processing of prisoner misconduct reports, which are often defective.

Pirates hold off Bulldogs to remain undefeated in NCTL

The Owen-Gage basketball team, having endured 3 straight North Central Thumb League defeats to their league's leaders, including 2 last week to Peck and Akron-Fairgrove, will have been glad to finish up their regular season with basement dweller Carsonville-Port Sanilac Tuesday.

The game will have served as the Bulldogs' last preparation before district play, which commences Nov. 19. And Coach Dean Roller's cagers could use a patSY to regain some momentum heading into state play.

PECK GAME

"Over all we played well. I was pleased with our effort. Poor shooting cost us a victory," said Roller.

And although the Bulldogs shot a paltry 16-67 gether a dandy 2nd quarter, and closed the Pirate lead to a single bucket by the half, thanks to the efforts of reserve Andrea Goslin and center Jane Billy. The pair combined for 13 points and more importantly helped control the defensive boards for the Bulldogs.

"Andrea did a good job coming off the bench, and Jane played one of her best games of the year," said Roller.

The Bulldogs matched the Pirates bucket for bucket in the 3rd stanza and entered the final period with a good shot at knocking the NCTL leader from the undefeated ranks.

But Durand displayed why she is considered the NCTL's best player and poured in 12 points to lead her team to the 11-point win.

Billy led the Bulldogs with 16 tallies. She was flanked by Goslin, 13. Also in double figures for the Bulldogs was junior guard Andrea Mandich, who netted 13.

Besides Durand's 29, Shelly Parker finished with 13 points for the winners.

AKRON-FAIRGROVE GAME

The Bulldogs played horrendously against the Vikings Tuesday, Nov. 3, as the 65-40 final margin suggests.

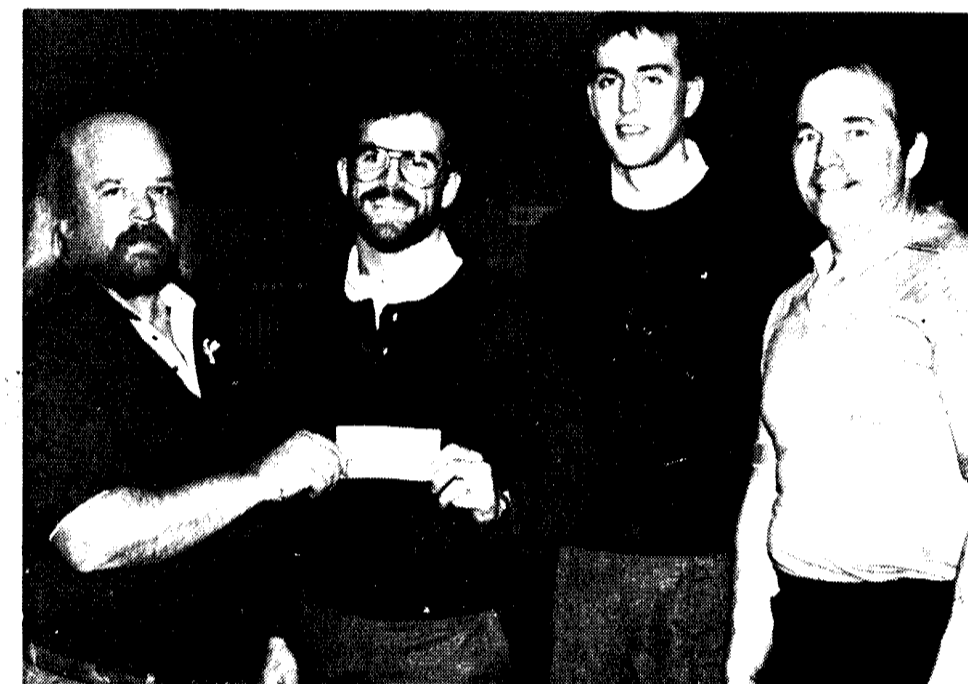

It was the Vikings' 2nd and 3rd quarters that spelled defeat for the Bulldogs as the host team stoked up their offense and poured in 49 points.

Both coaches went to their benches in the final period as the Vikings enjoyed a 61-29 lead after 3 quarters.

Angie Bolzman led the Bulldogs with 11 points and was the only Bulldog to finish in double figures.

PECK'S Tina Tenniswood could just watch as Owen-Gage's Angie Bolzman went up for an easy layup last Thursday in first quarter action against the North Central Thumb leader.

DNR predicts record harvest

Thumb among state hot spots

have been going up every year and that seems to be a given in the Thumb area," he said. According to DNR Safety Director Bill Gutos, deer-car accidents in the tri-county area in 1986 were up at least 13 percent compared to 1985. Tuscola County had 472 mishaps in 1985 and 555 last year (up 15 percent); Sanilac County recorded 525 accidents in 1985 and 605 in 1986 (up 13 percent), and Huron County had 438 mishaps in 1985, compared to 510 last year (up 14 percent). Overall, 32,746 deer were killed on Michigan roads last year, causing some $75 million in personal injuries and property damage, Gutos said, adding that 1,469 persons were injured and 5 were killed. This year's totals are expected to be up, officials say. Sanilac County last month recorded a deer-car accident fatality when an 18-year-old Ubyly man lost control of his vehicle after hitting a deer in Minden Township Oct. 17. Dominic estimated last year's total firearms season deer kill at 11,600 for District 11, with hunters bagging 8,400 bucks and 3,200 does. He noted that the total figure includes 3,441 deer in Sanilac County, 2,883 deer in Huron and 2,054 in Tuscola. Last year, hunters took 11,140 animals in the district, with 8,280 being bucks and 2,860 does.

1986, including 205,340 animals bagged by firearm hunters. This year's total kill is projected at a record 300,000 animals, with some 700,000 hunters expected to participate in the firearms season. Dominic remarked that hunting pressure in the Thumb is generally light, with 10 to 19 hunters per square mile in Tuscola and Huron counties, and fewer than 10 hunters per mile in Sanilac County. On the average, he said, there are an estimated 1 to 2 bucks per square mile, with one in 5 hunters getting a buck in Huron and Sanilac counties (the best success rate in the district), and one in 8 hunters getting a buck in Tuscola County. Jarvis agreed that hunters in the Thumb should enjoy a plentiful deer herd, but pointed out that Sunday's opener presents a problem to hunters in Huron and Sanilac counties, who aren't allowed to hunt on private lands on Sundays. Hunting pressure will probably be somewhat heavy at the new 6,800-acre Verona State Game Area in Huron County, he indicated, adding that safety will play an important role opening day. Hunters will again be allowed to purchase 2 deer licenses, Jarvis said, and all hunters must possess a valid "kill tag" while in the field.

tion, licensing hunters who hunt with dogs, and shining. Shining wildlife will not be permitted beginning this year during the entire month of November. From Dec. 1 through Oct. 31, 1988, shining is banned from 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. Beginning Jan. 1, 1988, all hunters who were born after Jan. 1, 1960 will be required to complete an approved hunter education class and produce proof of completion or produce a previous hunting license in order to purchase a license for the 1988-89 hunting season. Currently, only those between the ages of 12 and 16 are required to do this. Also, all persons must now have a valid Michigan hunting license to participate in any way in pursuing a game animal with dogs during the open season for hunting that animal with dogs. In the past only the person shooting the animal was required to have a license.

Tell 10 commandments for better hunter safety

An expected 700,000 Michigan residents are expected to take part in the 16-day 1987 firearms hunting season set to begin Sunday. It's a time for excitement among sportsmen and women; it's also a time for caution and common sense. Department of Natural Resources and Michigan United Conservation Clubs' officials are urging hunters take time to consider safety practices before entering the field. According to DNR wildlife biologist Dave Dominic, last year's total of 33 hunting accidents in the state, including 5 fatalities, was the lowest since 1940. In 1985, there were 37 accidents, including 6 fatalities. Aside from wearing "hunter orange," which has been required by state law since 1977, Dominic attributes the decrease in accidents to required hunters safety courses.

ble check ammunition specifications. 4. Don't load your gun before you're ready—when traveling to and from your hunting blind, take down or have your actions open, and always carry firearms unloaded in their cases. 5. Be sure of your target—and beyond—before you squeeze the trigger, make sure you have carefully identified your target, and looked past the target. 6. Beware of fatigue when hunting—when you've been out in the woods a long time, fatigue can cause carelessness, which can cause accidents. A loaded firearm can accidentally fire with a single, unexpected jar.

7. Don't take chances with a loaded firearm—never step over fences, jump ditches or make other awkward or unbalanced moves while holding a loaded firearm. 8. Use care when practicing—when shooting for practice, make sure your backstop will prevent ricochets. 9. Store guns safely—always store firearms unloaded away from ammunition, and out of the reach of children and inexperienced users. 10. Remember—alcohol, drugs and firearms don't mix—never consume alcohol or other mood altering drugs before or during shooting practice or hunting.

NEW RULES
New rules this year cover mandatory hunter education.

The following are some safety tips, entitled the "Ten Commandments of Firearm Safety in the Field," which have been

Veterans Day apathy reduced

Cross totter tells why he does it

Continued from page one. He then planned to move on to other areas in the Thumb. His goal remains the same, despite any negative reactions he might face. "The first thing you think is he's a fool, a fanatic... he's crazy," Wylie said about his approach to ministering. "But God said that we should preach the word to all creatures, and if we confine that to the Christian community, we're not doing it." "It doesn't mean everybody will accept the gospel; it means everybody having an opportunity to accept the gospel," Wylie continued. He added, "I know I can't reach everybody, but I've got to do my part."

Veterans Day over the past two decades seems to have been all but lost as celebrations go. For many, the day is little more than a holiday for government employees. Apathy toward recognizing those who served in the armed forces is attributed to several reasons, particularly negative feelings in this country surrounding the Viet Nam era. But as various veterans organizations again prepare to honor veterans today (Wednesday), some, including local historian Jack Esau, believe the holiday is experiencing a comeback of sorts. Esau, along with other VFW members from the Cass City and Caro posts, plan to honor 13 veterans residing at Provincial House today. Originally Armistice Day, the holiday celebrated the end of World War I Nov. 11, 1918. The date was later changed for a brief period, according to Esau, who remarked, "Really, it didn't go over well, like (when) Roosevelt changed Thanksgiving." "There was a lot of pressure, especially from veterans organizations, to change it back to Nov. 11," he added. In the 1950s, Armistice Day was changed to Veterans Day. "There was something about Armistice Day back in the 1920s and 30s that made it stand out on the calendar. It was clear, it was definite, it was black and white, it was the force of good over evil," Esau said. "In schools, factories and institutes, a moment of silence and maybe a short patriotic program was observed."

A World War II veteran who served with the marines for 6 years, Esau, 69, noted that 15 to 20 years ago, Veterans Day was "almost ignored." "That Viet Nam period... anything connected with the military directly or indirectly was almost frowned on," he explained. He added, however, that the scars of that period may be healing. "It (Veterans Day) seems to be coming back. It's definitely respected more," Esau observed.

LOST SIGNIFICANCE

Esau noted that the holiday lost much of its significance after 3 additional wars. "I guess it's like if you were married 3 or 4 times," he added. "You wouldn't know your anniversary."

The veterans residing at Provincial House will receive certificates of appreciation from the VFW groups today "for services rendered," Esau remarked, adding that Veterans Day "is really not supposed to be a gala thing; it's supposed to be a quiet, reflective" time.

Taking stock
By Bill Myers

Morsels from the lead story on page one of the Fort Lauderdale News in their Sunday paper after the Monday stock market massacre: 1. "Recessionary fears may be overdone. Investors who held onto their stocks and mutual fund shares will see them rebound if the market continues to recover..." 2. Moreover, most people didn't have any money in the stock market to begin with. 3. An estimated 47 million people nationwide -- 2.3 million Floridians -- were shareholders in 1985...In 1980 only 30 million owned stock. 4. "The increase has been even more dramatic with mutual funds...which had 53 million accounts as of last June." For these dumb statements and contradictions, the reporter actually gets paid in hard cash.

My friend asked: "What do you suggest?" "Same old thing -- zero-coupon tax-exempt bonds...May I use your phone?" I called up ol' John Grant at Thomson McKinnon in Bloomfield Hills, Mich. (Praise be for WATS lines.) "What can you find in zero tax-frees -- due in 5 or 6 years?" He came back in a minute. "Here's some Shreveport, Louisiana, due February 1994. Yield of 7.5%. Price of 63." ($630 for a $1,000 bond). "Call you back shortly." I looked across the desk. "For $25,200 you could get 40 of these -- they'll be worth $40,000 on 2-1-94." "I used to live around Shreveport. Take 'em." So for $25,000 now, the buyer will get back an even $40,000 in 6 years and 3 months. No tax in the meantime. No tax at maturity. No reports to the IRS while the interest keeps building and compounding, $15,000 gain for the buyer, and with no re-investment penalty. If the buyer wants to get out before maturity, the bonds can be sold with no penalty except the cost of a commission -- say, 1%. Epilogue of this story came a day later when I got a phone call from the buyer. "Mr. Myers, I did some figuring on that annuity and what I'd get out of it at the end, after tax. You know what -- those Shreveport bonds will net me $4,000 more in 6 years." I don't know my friend's method, but figuring is his career, so the $4,000 answer is probably right. Anyhow, she's happy and so am I. Bill Myers is a retired editor and investment counselor.

Benefit ups Emmons fund

A benefit basketball game and auction, held Friday night at Owendale High School, raised some $1,400 for the family of Owen-Gage High School junior Becky Emmons, who is battling Ewing's Sarcoma, a form of bone cancer. The benefit brings the total raised for Becky to about $3,920, including $1,970 from a benefit dinner held last month and a $500 donation from the Owen-Gage Band Boosters. Friday's basketball game, between Owendale and Gagetown merchants, was a great success, according to Owendale Market owner Jerry Williams, who along with Rod Wright, owner of Wright's Service in Gagetown, helped organize the game. Williams noted that the Owendale merchants emerged victorious. "I was surprised with the turnout," Williams remarked, adding that merchants from several area communities donated items for the auction, which was sponsored by the Owendale Lions Club.
