

Retailers outline gala yule program

A holiday open house Sunday from noon to 4 p.m. will kick off the Christmas shopping season in Cass City and the Cass City Retail Chamber has a host of events planned to make the shopping season pleasant as well as profitable.

There will be sale bargains in nearly every store in Cass City this weekend and during the open house. Open stores will have free coffee tickets available.

A popular feature in previous seasons has been the Christmas Dollars drawings. It will return this year and $2,000 will be given away in 4 drawings starting Saturday, Nov. 28. All of the money will be distributed. Five lucky tickets will be drawn each Saturday before Christmas, each worth $100 if the holder is present. $50 if not. If the entire $500 is not given away, it will be added to the funds available at the final drawing when winners must be present and tickets will be drawn until all $2,000 is given away. Drawings will be at 4:15 p.m. in front of the Cass Theatre.

There will be 3 free movies Saturdays at 2 p.m., starting December 5, for children 12 and under.

Santa Claus and Mrs. Claus will make their first appearance Friday, Nov. 27, and Santa will be loaded with free candy for the kiddies on Fridays and Saturdays and the 2 days before Christmas.

Another program that has been arranged again by the Chamber of Commerce and the Cass City Jaycees is the "Caring and Sharing" boxes in village stores. Persons are asked to contribute quality clothing and toys for delivery to area needy families at Christmas.

Also helping make it a festive Christmas season is the Rawson Memorial Library. Saturday, Dec. 5, there will be an old-fashioned tree trimming and on the following 2 Saturdays, Dec. 12 and 19, Christmas crafts and programs will be held.

It all adds up, said this year's co-chairmen Dawn Vandemark and Jeri Tor-dai, to a busy, festive holiday season in Cass City.

For sale cheap: little used name brand cycle

THIS POPULAR JAPANESE motorcycle has less than 4,000 miles on it and is for sale cheap after it was rescued from its watery grave by Kenneth Kern.

Most folks would agree that there is little good that can be said about the drought that struck the Cass City area last summer. It stunted crops and lowered the water table.

But there was a rainbow in last summer's cloudless skies. When the farm pond lowered at the home of Kenneth Kern, at the corner of Pringle and Lampton Roads, southeast of Cass City, a motorcycle was found resting in the mud.

And it wasn't an old, worn-out model either, but a popular Japanese model that owner Kenneth Kern said he learned had to be less than 7 years old. You can tell, he explained, pointing to the wheels, by the way the spokes are constructed.

Another clue would have to be the mileage. According to the odometer, it had been driven for less than 4,000 miles. The cycle was found about 30 feet from the edge of the pond and Kern speculated that someone had set the throttle and deliberately run the motorcycle into the water.

The cycle was spotted by a neighbor and it took a pair of pickup trucks to get it out of the pond. The license plates had been removed.

2-mill levy may face taxpayers

Tuscola County voters will choose next spring between a millage increase and major service cuts in the county, the board of commissioners decided last week.

Acting on a recommendation from an ad hoc committee formed in late August to investigate future financial planning for the county, the board approved a 4-year plan which calls for a request of 2 additional mills for service operations for 4 years, effective with the Dec. 1, 1988, levy.

Also endorsed was the committee's recommendation that the county sheriff's department road patrol, as well as other non-mandated services, be eliminated as needed if the request is rejected.

According to Commissioner Michael Green (R-Mayville), who chaired the ad hoc committee, the 2-mill levy would raise about $1.08 million per year based on this year's state equalized valuation of some $581 million.

Green estimated that the millage would mean an average increase of $30 per household.

The board's action at last week's regular meeting was predicted in late August when county officials called a press conference to talk about the county's financial woes, due primarily to plummeting agricultural land values and the elimination of federal revenue sharing funds.

CAN'T CONTINUE

County Controller Michael Hoagland explained the need for action Monday, saying, "You're talking about the lowest operating millage in the state (Tuscola County's 4.2 mills) times the fastest dropping SEV in the state (17 percent from 1985 to 1987). You just can't continue to sustain those kinds of operational revenue declines... and maintain services."

The county's operational millage rate has remained at 4.2 mills since 1964. Although the committee's recommendations are focused on the period beginning in 1988 and ending in 1991, the county has been feeling a financial pinch for some time.

Drops in county land values have translated into a loss of $184,000 from 1986 to 1987, and $317,000 from 1987 to 1988. A projected third consecutive drop in the county's SEV of 7 percent from 1988 to 1989 would mean the loss of another $176,000.

County officials also point to an annual loss of some $500,000 in federal revenue sharing monies, which were eliminated in 1986.

"We're projecting a need) to use significant fund balance this year," Hoagland said, adding that some $546,000 in banked federal revenue sharing monies and another $350,000 in delinquent tax funds will be used to offset an expected deficit in the 1988 budget.

TAX FUNDS

A total of some $1.8 million in delinquent tax fund monies is expected to be used to bolster county revenues over the next 5 years, including $500,000 in the 1989 budget, Hoagland added.

He noted, however, that a more dependable source of revenue is needed as revenue sharing funds will be depleted after next year, and a reserve of at least $800,000 must be maintained in the delinquent tax fund in order for the county to maintain a good credit rating.

Regarding service cuts if voters reject the proposed millage increase, Hoagland stated that the sheriff's road patrol is a major cost among nonmandated services and would be looked to in terms of cutting expenses. The road patrol costs approximately $800,000 annually, he said.

Other possible cuts could include the areas of cooperative extension, certain health and mental health functions, animal control and other areas.

Commissioner Kim D. Gaspie (D-Cass City), a member of the committee, stated Monday that county officials will actively pursue education of the public on the county's future financial outlook, and then act on the voters' decision.

"You can't build dependency in your budget on federal revenue sharing funds, because they're gone, or on delinquent tax funds," which may not always be available, he remarked.

"We're not out beating the bushes because we want frills; we want to maintain current services now, and we want to maintain (those) services 2 years from now," Gaspie continued. "The time to start planning isn't when you're broke."

Youth killed in train-car accident

A car-train accident Saturday in Tuscola Township, which claimed the life of a 19-year-old Vassar man, remained under investigation Monday by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

According to reports, Mathew D. Piazza, 3645 Rowland Rd., was southbound on Lorenzo Road about 1/4 mile south of Simpson Road when the vehicle he was driving struck the fifth car of a C & O train. The train consisted of 37 cars plus an engine and caboose.

The victim was transported by Vassar Area Ambulance Service to Caro Community Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Officials stated it is uncertain whether Piazza was wearing a seat belt at the time of the 9:20 a.m. accident.

Combining football teams finds little support in O-G, Caseville

A proposed combining of the Owen Gage and Caseville School football programs into a "cooperative" sports program apparently has received little initial support and won't be pursued, at least for now.

No formal talks have been held on the proposal, but athletic directors at both schools indicated last week that the proposal is on hold.

"I think there's negative reaction on both sides to the point to where it's not even worth trying for," Owen-

Gage athletic director and principal Robert Andrews told the Owen-Gage Board of Education last week.

"I'm not going to push it if the communities don't want it," he said after the meeting.

The co-op sports program is an option made available recently to class D schools by the Michigan High School Athletic Association. Under the new rule, schools can merge sports programs beginning in the 1988-89 school year provided certain requirements are met.

The application deadline for schools interested in such a program for the 1988 season is May 1, and schools deciding to merge teams must commit to the program for 2 years.

According to Andrews, a decision not to merge football programs doesn't mean both schools won't have to investigate other alternatives.

Assuming neither school district experiences a boom in enrollment in the near future, that assessment appears sound.

Caseville is the smallest school district (94 students in grades 9-12) in the state to field a football team, and Owen-Gage, with about 118 kids in high school, is second. The schools' combined teams this year totaled about 35 players.

SIZE A PROBLEM

Size has been another major problem for both schools, neither of which has enough players to field a junior varsity squad.

Among Owen-Gage players this year, 6 weigh less than 100 pounds; an 85-pound player started in the team's final 2 games of the season.

Caseville, meanwhile, which began the season with 17 players, ended the 1987 campaign with 12. A lack of bodies resulted in 4 games being cancelled.

Caseville ended the season with a 1-7 overall mark; Owen-Gage, 1-8.

"My feelings are that something (eventually) has to be done, either a separation or a merger. Please turn to page 4.

9th Annual Bach Festival

Cass City ready to welcome artists

Accomplished artists from the Midwest, Florida, Tennessee, Georgia, Pennsylvania and Mandal, Norway, will be in Cass City for the ninth annual Village Bach Festival always presented during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Because of the outstanding support given the Festival by Cass City business, industry and individuals, the talented musical performers can be heard at prices within reach of nearly every budget.

Reserved seats for the 3 concerts in Cass City, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 27-29, can be purchased for $10 each and are available by calling 872-2844. General admission tickets cost just $8 and senior citizens and children admission is just $5 for any performance, including the recital that precedes the Cass City concerts. It is scheduled Tuesday, Nov. 24, in Caro at the First Presbyterian Church starting at 8:15 p.m. There are no reserve seats sold for this performance and tickets are $10 each.

Artists performing will be Martin Porter, Bowling Green, Ohio, and David Schrader of Chicago.

Schrader will play 6 selections on the organ and will be accompanied by Porter on 2 of them with the trumpet.

Schrader has degrees in piano and organ performance from the University of Colorado and from Indiana University, where he is completing doctoral studies. He has performed as featured soloist and harpsichord continuo under major symphony conductors.

Porter is the new director of the Bowling Green State University's Moore Musical Arts Center Concert Office. He was a silver medalist winner in the Third International Brass Competition in Budapest, Hungary, in 1986 as well as semi-finalist at the Fischhoff National Chamber Music competition in 1983 and 1986.

As always, the visiting artists will be guests in the homes of Cass City residents, one of the reasons that the community can secure the outstanding talent that comes to the community year after year. Chairman Holly Althaver said.

Persons who cannot attend the performances can still listen to the musicians as they prepare for the concerts. Open rehearsals will be held Friday and Saturday, Nov. 27-28, at the First Presbyterian Church in Cass City and there is no charge.

In connection with the festival, Onita Saunders, harpist, performed for Cass City School District elementary students Tuesday at Campbell Elementary School.

Tuesday's recital program:

Bruhns-Praeludium in E Minor David Schrader, organ

Handel-Suite in D David Schrader, organ; Martin Porter, trumpet

Bach-Fantasy and Fugue in G Minor, BWV 542 David Schrader, organ

Dupre-Prelude and Fugue in G Minor, Opus 7 No. 3 David Schrader, organ

Purcell-Sonata in D Major David Schrader, organ; Martin Porter, trumpet

Bach-Prelude and Fugue in D Major, BWV 532 David Schrader, organ.

ONITA SAUNDERS, harpist, teaches a pair of grade students during her recital at Campbell Elementary School Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hurd

Gayle Spencer and Raymon Hurd, both of Marlette, were married in a single-ring ceremony Saturday, Oct. 3, at Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Weller's home in Caro. It was an outdoor ceremony on the island in their pond.

The bride is the daughter of Leonard and Betty Spencer of Cass City and the groom's parent is Mrs. Norman Hurd of Deford.

The bride's brother, Lee Spencer of Cass City, gave her in marriage.

She wore a formal length gown of white satin and Chantilly lace designed with Victorian neckline. The sheer off-shoulder yoke sleeves came to a V at the wrist with a white bow. The double skirt was hooped with the top skirt drawn up with white bows. The layered lace underskirt had a full chapel train. Her headpiece was of pearls with long cascading pearls and lily of the valley flowers falling to the waist as long as her hair. She carried rainbow roses with ribbon streamers in rainbow colors and a parasol of white lace with rainbow bows.

Mary Williams, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her formal length hooped gown was medium blue satin. Bridesmaids were Janet Parrish of Deford, Marie Spencer of Gageton, Charlene Kitika of Marlette, Leona Maxson of Kingston and Liz Lyons of Snover.

Rebecca Asher of Cass City was flower girl. She carried rainbow roses in a basket with streamers and was dressed like the bride.

Allan Spencer of Gageton was best man. Groomsmen were Dave Parrish and Mike Parrish of Deford, Jess Parrish of Caro, Harlen Merdick and Mark Webb of Kingston. Ringbearer was Chris Griffith of Sandusky. They wore white tuxedos with bow ties and cummerbunds. Their rose boutonnières matched the bridal attendants' gowns.

The mother of the bride wore a mid-length dress of royal blue with white corsage. Her father wore a royal blue suit with white boutonniere.

About 200 guests attended.

The bride is a 1986 graduate of Cass City High School and is employed at Snover Stamping.

Following a week-long honeymoon in Niagara Falls, the couple is living in Marlette.

"If It Fitz..."

Imagine that

By Jim Fitzgerald

The plan was for me — just me — to surprise Emily as she came out the school door, headed home from kindergarten. Usually her mother meets her, or she walks home alone, it's only a block. Her grandpa lives 65 miles away, and she wouldn't expect to see the old guy waiting there among all the young mothers, tiny siblings and family dogs.

The plan was mine, which was strange. Usually I'm more passive about seeing my grandchildren. It's always nice, but I like it best when they visit me. I hate to leave my downtown Detroit home for fear someone will steal the People Mover while I'm gone.

I don't know what it was. Maybe it was one too many news articles about a little boy being beaten to death by his father, or a little girl stuck in a well, or an infant born addicted to drugs. Every time I read about one of those unlucky children, it seems he or she is about the same age as one of my grandchildren, and I think the what-if thoughts that make me crazy.

Or maybe it was that I hadn't seen Emily in several weeks, I'd never seen her kindergarten persona, and excuse the conceit I thought it would feel good to see her delighted reaction to my unexpected presence at her school door.

Whatever the reason, the plan was proposed and accepted by my wife and daughter Ferd — Emily's mother — who reluctantly agreed to interrupt their long-distance phone conversation with each other just long enough for us to drive to Ferd's house. (The day a phone is installed in my car will be easy for my family to remember because it will be the day after my funeral.)

There was the usual unsuccessful attempt to persuade me to stay overnight and perhaps through the weekend, or maybe until the end of the month. It is so rare that I leave the People Mover unguarded that my wife and daughters feel constrained to stretch every dinner visit into a moving-van experience. It is my wife's admitted ambition for our entire extended family to live inside a compound, much like the Kennedys at play, or the Mafia at war.

More like the Mafia. "It's time to go to the mattresses," my wife might say, meaning there's always room for one more to sleep on the floor, and only a cranky old poop would complain about the feet in his face and the long line waiting outside the bathroom door.

She should sleep with the fish.

Anyway, before getting to what happened at the school door, I should mention one other possible reason for my urge to see Emily. That is the bonus of seeing Tricia, her 21-month-old sister. I'd been told that Tricia had learned to say my name — Papa — and I wanted to hear for myself. It turned out she says "Papa" when she sees my picture in the paper, but nothing when she sees me in person.

Tricia will grow up to be a journalist, not because she has ink in her blood, but because her grandfather is newsprint.

Now, you have all the background and the scene is set. It is noon, and I am standing a few yards from the school door. Dozens of kindergarteners suddenly burst into view, and I immediately spot Emily. I am eagerly anticipating her joy at seeing me. I see the recognition slowly register on her face as she walks toward me.

I see Emily turn around and run back into school.

It was not nearly the joyous welcome I'd expected. What was wrong? Didn't Emily like me anymore? What had her blabbermouth grandmother told her about me?

Not to worry. Emily quickly reappeared and, under questioning, explained she'd run back into school to tell her teacher the happy news — her grandpa was waiting for her. She was bragging.

Imagine that. Imagine if all children and old guys were as lucky as Emily and her grandpa.

Cable project approved

Gagetown and Owendale residents will be able to purchase cable television service in the near future following the Owendale Village Council's approval of a 15-year cable franchise last week.

The franchise, approved during the council's Nov. 10 regular meeting, is with Cable Equities of Colorado, LTD, which received similar approval from the Gagetown Village Council last month.

Cable officials had stated that approval of the franchise by both villages was required in order to provide cable service to the area.

A cable representative outlined the project, saying that an antenna for receiving local and satellite stations will be installed midway between the villages on Owendale Road. Lines will be connected to each village from that central location.

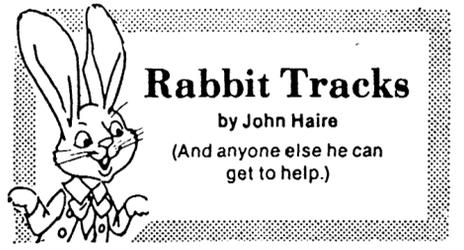

The project is expected to get underway early next spring, with service scheduled to begin in the summer.

The service is expected to include 18 channels at a cost of $13 to $15 a month plus pay channels at an additional cost.

State police list 3 mishaps

The state police post in Caro reported 3 car-deer accidents relating to the Cass City area over the past 9 days.

Betty L. Wilcox, 6600 Centerline Rd., Kingston, was traveling south on Kingston Road 1/2 of a mile south of Denhoff Road in Koylton Township Nov. 10 when her vehicle struck a deer.

Wilcox reported moderate damage to her vehicle.

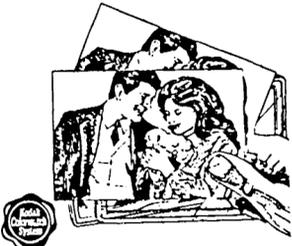

Dale E. Matthews, 2320 Wells Rd. Caro, struck a deer early Friday morning while driving south on M-24 just south of Millington Road in Koylton Township. His vehicle also sustained moderate damage.

Leon C. Westover, Marlette, was traveling east on M-46 south of Clothier Road in Kingston Township Nov. 11 when his vehicle hit a deer.

Police stated that Westover's vehicle sustained moderate damage in the 2:10 p.m. mishap.

The Haire Net

It won't be long now before the first serious attempt since the 1950's to have a Christmas display in the village as the result of a community effort will be available for viewing.

How it fares is certain to influence efforts to at least partially revive Cass City as Christmas Town in Michigan.

There's a little more hope today than there was when the project was first announced. More hope for a successful conclusion.

Don't misunderstand. It's not that there was any doubt about finding enough volunteers to do the job. Cass City has more than its share of those.

What cast a shadow was what might happen to the display after it was erected at the park.

There were reasons for the pessimism and they stretch back a few years.

During the height of the display mania in Cass City the Gavel Club had its nursery rhyme display at the park. It went well for a couple of years, but towards the end light bulbs were starting to be stolen or broken.

Then a few years ago the Rotary Club completed an exercise trail through the woods at the park. In it were stations with various exercises to be performed on apparatus furnished.

It wasn't long before the trail was vandalized and had to be repaired. That didn't last long and today the trail is useless, grown up with weeds.

Then last year at Christmas someone stole one of the figures in the display created by Lloyd Vyse and Carl Schell and it was on Vyse's front lawn.

Those incidents quickly came to mind when thinking about the display now under construction. All that work and then, zip it's ruined.

It may be that we are taking a turn for the better. You have to be encouraged when you consider Halloween night this year. It undoubtedly was the one with the least amount of damage in the last decade. There wasn't one case of malicious destruction. You can give some of the credit to the police department, not because of what happened especially, but because the department evidently has conducted itself in such a way that no one had to try and get even on Halloween.

Certainly that quiet Halloween may have been an isolated incident and perhaps the park exercise trail vandals are lying in the bushes just waiting to pounce.

That, of course, would kill any recovery we might make as Christmas Town and ruin a good thing that brings a little Yule glow to most everyone.

We can all use as much of that as we can get.

INTRODUCING THE HEATING SYSTEM THAT SAVES YOU MONEY BEFORE YOU EVEN TURN IT ON.

For the best built, best insulated homes, the best heating system is all-electric. The combination of insulation and electric heat costs about half of what gas or oil would cost each year, and it's safe, quiet and clean. It's even easy to install yourself. And if you do it now, we'll give you $300 toward the cost. So you start saving money right away. To find out about the benefits of an All-Electric Thermal Efficient Home, and how to save $300, call us. The number is on your monthly statement. We'll be happy to tell you about the most efficient source of heat there is: electric heat.

Savings of $18 million expected this year with state hiring freeze and is in addition to the $131 million in vetoes and $40 million in administrative reductions he ordered in July and the $80 million in extra insurance taxes he is now recommending as a budget cushion.

Expressing concern about the economy over the next 2 years, Governor James J. Blanchard recently ordered an indefinite partial hiring freeze for all departments except Corrections and State Police.

limit spending and keep the budget balanced. The governor said he has not concluded that an additional executive order cutting budgets already approved will be needed, but said the freeze is a prelude to a very tight budget next year, which includes some additional federal cuts and reduced federal matching percentages in welfare programs.

administrative reductions announced in July. The rest is to be ordered unilaterally, although officials said those cuts could also be included in the order. The governor said he had decided several weeks ago to pose the freeze to deal with a "long-standing problem" and announced the action after meeting with department directors. He said revenues, although meeting current projections, are not growing as fast as expenditures, and the cuts are especially needed to protect the 1988-89 budget.

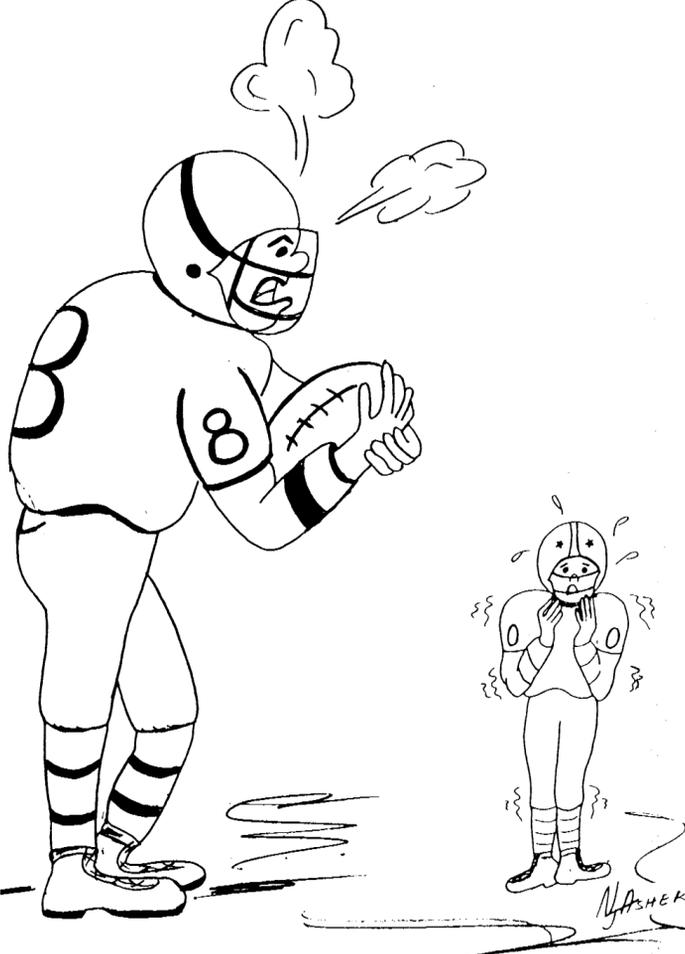

Lack of interest shelves co-op sports proposal

Continued from page one. tion of the league... or dropping the sport altogether and finding another sport," Andrews remarked. "When you see scores of 50, 60 to nothing, you can't see that going on and on."

And although this season was difficult, Besonen indicated it also was pleasant. Andrews pointed out 4 possible options open to Owen-Gage. They are the co-op sports program, switching to another fall sport (soccer, for example), a splitting of the D league into 2 leagues, or doing nothing. Andrews said the latter alternative would mean "smaller schools continuing to get beat up."

"It was more than coaching Xs and Os," he said, "but this year was an enjoyable experience. We worked harder."

And next year? "If they've got a football in the locker room, I'll be there," he remarked. "There's 278 days to go 'til practice."

NOT RULED OUT Caseville hasn't ruled out a co-op sports program, but rather sees that option as a last resort, according to George Bednorek, athletic director/principal at the school. Although Bednorek is optimistic, he admits that aside from this year, he "can't remember having to forfeit a game" in his 11 years in the district.

SUPPORT Veteran Owen-Gage football coach Arnie Besonen, who says he's "definitely interested" in the co-op proposal, remarked last week that he would like to see the schools discuss the idea now. "We can probably field a team for the next 2 years, but after that, after this year's sophomores graduate, it looks pretty scarce," he said. "The writing's on the wall."

Several arraigned, sentenced in busy circuit court Friday

A Caro man was ordered to serve one year in the county jail with work release, for an Oct. 2 conviction of drunk driving, third offense, during a busy Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

George Delacruz, 28, 647 Gibbs St., pleaded guilty to the offense, which occurred Aug. 3 in Caro.

A 21-year-old Akron man was sentenced to 120 days in jail with credit for 108 days for a conviction of larceny over $100.

Joseph H. Brady, 4331 Beach St., also was ordered to pay $100 in costs, a $500 fine and restitution totaling $8,000.

Brady was convicted on a plea of guilty Nov. 2. The conviction stems from money taken July 26 in Kingston Township, court records state.

Also sentenced was Sheryl L. Kennedy, 21, 1537 Clark St., Snover, who was convicted Sept. 28 of uttering and publishing.

Kennedy was ordered to serve 60 days in the county jail, serve 2 years of probation and pay costs of $100, a $100 fine and restitution. The jail term was deferred to 8 weeks.

Kennedy's conviction stems from a nonsufficient fund check for $75 that she wrote May 4 in Novesta Township. The check was drawn on the State Bank of Sandusky.

Courtney E. Bedell, 5933 Hasco Rd., Vassar, received a one-year delayed sentence for an Oct. 2 conviction on a plea of guilty to breaking and entering a motor vehicle.

Bedell, 18, who broke into a 1974 semi-tractor July 25 in Vassar, also was ordered to pay cost of $150 and $786.59 in restitution.

Warford Jr., 2101 Bliss Rd., was continued at $10,000. A pre-sentencing investigation is to be set.

Gary C. Gipson, 2075 Swaffer Rd., Millington, pleaded innocent to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor Sept. 23 in Millington Township.

A pre-trial for Gipson, 26, is to be scheduled.

Also entering a plea was Richard T. Coates, 35, 5612 Hasco Rd., Millington, who pleaded innocent to a charge of writing 3 nonsufficient fund checks within 10 days.

A trial date is to be scheduled for Coates, who is charged with writing checks for $42.08, $80.83 and $30.98 between Sept. 29 and Oct. 6 in Vassar. The checks were drawn on National Bank of Detroit, Saginaw, according to court records.

Shamel is charged with failing to satisfactorily perform 40 hours of community service. The sentence was part of a 24-month probation term he received following a May 21, 1984, conviction of larceny in a building.

A 21-year-old Vassar man was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and an additional year of probation for his Oct. 5 conviction of probation violation.

Robert J. Kralik Jr., 5992 Oak Rd., failed to report to his probation agent Aug. 17, Sept. 3, Sept. 14 and Oct. 1.

Kralik was placed on 2 years probation after he was convicted March 24, 1986, on a charge of felonious driving.

Also sentenced for probation violation was Allen D. Pero, 21, 542 Birch Rd., Vassar, who was convicted of the offense Oct. 9. He was ordered to serve 6 months in the county jail.

Court records state that he violated probation by being disorderly, being convicted of the same June 29, and consuming alcohol June 13 in Vassar.

Pero is serving a 3-year probation term which stems from an Aug. 13, 1984, conviction of larceny in a building.

Car-deer mishaps plague Tuscola sheriff's dept.

A rash of car-deer accidents dominated Tuscola County Sheriff's Department mishap reports over the past week, with 7 of 8 incidents related to the Cass City area involving deer.

A Kingston man was cited for driving left of a road center line Friday after his pickup truck struck 2 other vehicles on Kingston Road 1/4 mile south of Wilcox Road in Kingston Township.

According to reports, Larry F. Adameczyk, 2275 Adameczyk Rd., was northbound on Kingston Road when he misjudged the distance from a parked vehicle on the side of the road, crossed the center line and struck a southbound vehicle driven by Shane D. Jones, 7205 E. Bevans Rd., Deford. Adameczyk's vehicle then struck the parked vehicle.

Jones, whose vehicle sustained moderate damage, sought his own treatment for injuries in the 7:37 p.m. accident, the report states.

Adameczyk's vehicle, meanwhile, sustained extensive damage.

Edwin C. Fleming, 2850 Crawford Rd., Cass City, reported that a deer ran into his vehicle Nov. 11 while he was driving west on Kelly Road 1/4 mile west of Crawford Road in Novesta Township.

Fleming reported light damage in the 6 p.m. mishap.

Also at 6 p.m. Nov. 11, Renae A. Stimpfel, 5725 Kelly Rd., Cass City, was westbound on Barnes Road 1/2 mile east of Barkley Road in Arbela township when her vehicle struck a deer. Stimpfel's vehicle also sustained light damage.

A 16-year-old Gagetown youth was driving east on M-81 east of Crawford Road in Elkland Township when his vehicle hit a deer at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Also Thursday, Carver S. Roy Jr., 5888 Bruce St., Deford, was driving south on Cemetery Road at 9 p.m. when a deer ran into his vehicle 1/4 mile north of River Road. His vehicle sustained slight damage.

Timothy R. Finley, 2459 E. Caro Rd., Caro, was westbound on Shabbona Road east of Cemetery Road in Novesta Township Friday evening when his vehicle struck a deer, causing slight damage.

A 16-year-old Troy youth was traveling west on Decker Road east of Colwood Road Saturday when his vehicle hit a deer. Damage in the 10:10 p.m. mishap was light.

Louann Miller, 7323 Main St., Owendale, also reported a car-deer accident Saturday. Her vehicle sustained light damage when it collided with a deer on Cemetery Road north of Mushroom Road in Novesta Township. The mishap occurred at 1:40 a.m.

Wayne man injured in one-car crash

A 47-year-old Wayne man was treated and released at St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw after the vehicle he was driving late Sunday afternoon on M-53 south of Argyle Road left the roadway and struck 3 trees.

A Sanilac sheriff's dispatcher stated that Robert Murry was southbound on M-53 at 5:05 p.m. when he lost control in Sanilac County's Evergreen Township.

Murry, whose vehicle was sliding on its side when it struck the third tree, was transported to Hills and Dales General Hospital before being transferred to St. Mary's.

Hospital set for smokeout

Hills and Dales General Hospital will participate with the American Cancer Society in sponsoring the Great American Smokeout, set for Thursday.

The object of the event is to quit smoking for a day, according to Hills and Dales in-service Director Jane Mitchell, who added that some persons use the day as a starting point to quitting, while others gain enough confidence from a smoke-less day to give up cigarettes forever. Hills and Dales will be giving out "smokeout kits" at its Emergency Room and gift shop.

The kits include "adoption papers" for a nonsmoker who wishes to support a smoker throughout the day, as well as stop-smoking literature, a Larry Hagman wrist rubber band (to snap when the urge to smoke comes on) and some candy and peanuts.

For waste transfer station

County seeks $300,000 grant

Application by the Tuscola County Health Department for a grant to help fund a county-wide solid waste transfer station received support from county commissioners last week.

Some $300,000 in Clean Michigan Fund monies is being sought for the project, according to county Controller Michael Hoagland.

He stated that the grant would require a 25 percent county match, but that the county's share could be in the form of land for the station.

"At this point, we are dependent on landfills in other counties because we don't have one (open) of our own," he remarked, adding that county refuse currently is hauled to sites in Huron, Saginaw and other counties.

Hoagland noted that the deadline for application is Nov. 20.

Department of Health official Ed Kimbrue indicated that the county has a good chance of receiving the grant because competition for available funds in this region is light.

Hoagland said that it's uncertain whether the county would operate the station or contract the facility out. He said that the station would be used primarily by large private haulers, but individuals also would have access to the facilities.

LONG-TERM CARE

In other business during the Nov. 10 regular meeting, commissioners endorsed a resolution supporting state Senator James Barcia (D-Bay City) in his effort to secure a long-term care veterans facility in the Thumb area.

The resolution specifically supports Caro as the site for the facility as 2 residents in that area, William and Maxine Ashbreck, have offered to donate 12 acres of land near Luder Road north of the village.

Barcia earlier this month announced legislation seeking funds for a feasibility study on the project. He stated that the 9-county Thumb region is long overdue for a long-term facility, and that Michigan, overall, falls "far short" of the federal recommended level of nursing home beds, which is at least 4 beds per 1,000.

Arraigned on sex charge

A 35-year-old Vassar man was arraigned Thursday in Tuscola County District Court on a charge of Criminal Sexual Conduct, second degree.

A preliminary examination for Timothy J. Tracy, 4660 Larbee Rd., was scheduled for 9 a.m. today (Wednesday). Bond was set at $4,000.

Tracy is charged with having sexual contact with a person under the age of 13 years. The offense carries a maximum sentence of 15 years imprisonment.

proved the motion on a 6-1 vote, with Commissioner Kim D. Glaspie (D-Cass City) casting the lone dissenting vote. Glaspie indicated he is in favor of the proposal, but believes it's premature to name a site for the project.

Commissioners transferred $8,875 back into the capital outlay budget because several projects won't be completed this year. They include an audio system for circuit court, a fast-tax system in the treasurer's office and new equipment purchases in the drain and equalization offices. Another project, drapes for circuit court, received approval.

A letter of resignation from Jeanette Walker, a Department of Public Works employee, was accepted with regret, and permission to use the Courthouse lawn for a Christmas nativity display was granted.

mark Township, will be repaid from a special tax assessment collection over a 4-year period at 7.14 percent per year.

AGAINST PRISON

Turning to the now moot issue of whether Tuscola County is a possible site for construction of a regional prison, the board tangled with a small group of residents who voiced their opposition to a prison.

Commissioners last month indicated interest in offering the county again as a possible site for the prison after 3 Caro area residents suggested the idea, but state corrections officials stated that the county could no longer be considered as a possible site.

A request by the residents against a prison in the county last week for an advisory vote on the issue was not acted on by commissioners.

Also last week, the board approved a bonding issue presented by county Drain Commissioner Stanley Henry. The note, which covers a total of about $195,484 for improvements to the Yax North Drain in De-

LEARN TO "LOVE FRANCE," say "Thank you," and Smile! members of the Resurrection Singers were advised by Ridgely Seitz, a missionary to France. Seitz emphasized the lesson for Naomi Mellendorf of Cass City, during the group's recent 24-hour Fast-a-thon. Seitz visited the group to talk about France and help members of the choir with the French pronunciation for several songs they will sing during their spring ministry to France. The 26-member ecumenical group recently completed several successful fundraisers. A story about the group appeared in the Nov. 4 issue of the Chronicle.

Obituaries

John Webb

John Leslie Webb, 83, of Cass City died Monday, Nov. 9, at his residence after a lengthy illness.

He was born June 21, 1904, in Goodells, the son of Duncan and Margaret (McKeller) Webb.

Webb was united in marriage to Miss Neola Mathews May 26, 1937, in Yale. They moved to Grant Township in 1948 and to Cass City in 1975, where they made their home.

He was a member of the Cass City Church of Christ.

He is survived by his wife, Neola; one son, Leslie Webb of Covington, MI, and 3 grandchildren, Charles Webb of L'Anse, MI, Mrs. Everatt (Rebecca) Martin of Moberly, MO, and Miss Janet Lynn Webb of L'Anse, and one great-grandson, Joseph Martin of Moberly.

In business since 1929

Wrubles determined to carry on family tradition

THE WRUBLE ELEVATOR Co. has made several improvements to the facility on Cemetery Road, south of Cass City, since purchasing it over a year ago. A current project is adding a building for seed and fertilizer storage.

The Wruble family has been in the grain elevator business since 1929 and the family is determined to do whatever it can to see that its long-term success is carried on in the years ahead. The firm is being geared for the long haul by the 5 grandchildren of the late George Wruble, who founded the business.

Although veterans in the elevator business, the Wrubles are comparatively new to the Cass City business community. They arrived a little over a year ago, when they purchased the elevator previously operated by National Farmers Organization, a half mile south of Cass City on Cemetery Road.

The Cass City operation is under the direction of Ray Wruble, a tall, blond, huskily built man who appears to be right at home working in the elevator or in the farm fields.

In fact, last fall he and the rest of the crew in the company did just that. It was during the flood emergency that the family made a decision to try and help farmers who were unable to get crops harvested.

The company purchased equipment that was able to work in the mud and water conditions and went to farm customers and helped them with the harvest. After the emergency was over, the company sold the equipment.

If we expect to be in business we have to do whatever we can to help the farmers, Wruble said.

He explained that the family believes that providing service will be the key to success in the future as it was in the past when the late George Wruble started the business at Harbor Beach.

One of the services that he is offering now is customer marketing information with the help of a computer system that has been installed in the company plants at Harbor Beach, Ubyly and Cass City. We have a hookup with the Chicago Board of Trade and can give instant quotes on the markets. We like to talk over problems and be of whatever help we can be to the growers, regardless of whether they are customers of ours or not, Wruble says.

The company also tries to buy locally whenever it can. We have accounts in several stores in town, Wruble points out, because we believe that if the town prospers it will help our business, too.

The family has divided the responsibility. Ron manages at Harbor Beach and Gary directs operations at Ubyly. Bob handles most of the marketing, finance, tax work and insurance out of the Harbor Beach office. A sister, Kay, also works in Harbor Beach.

Controlling interest in the company is owned by Marjorie Wruble, the mother. Clarence Wruble, the father, died in 1982. He was the one that started the children in the business.

The 4 brothers all have college degrees. Ray, Ron and Gary have degrees in business administration and economics. Bob has a degree in sociology and psychology.

When the company purchased the Cass City plant, it increased capacity by an estimated 700,000 bushels and the 3 locations now have a combined storage capacity of 2.5 million bushels. Today there are 20 full-time and 5 part-time employees.

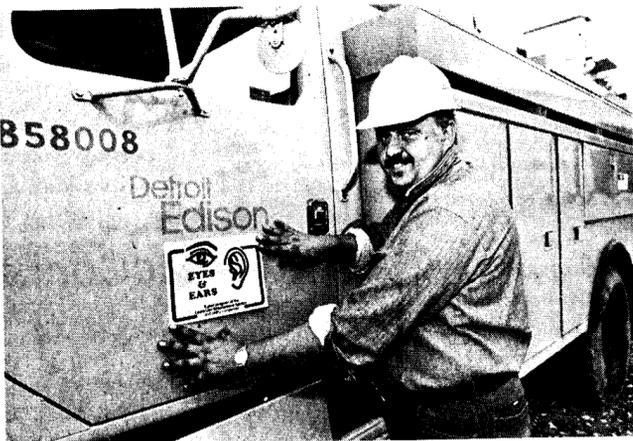

While the company has been in a growth period for a decade, Ray feels that continued growth will depend on the farm economy. We need to have a good year, he says. Last year was a disaster with the rains and this year drought in the summer has hurt yields.

The bean crop was down. Quality was excellent for corn, but yields were down. Despite this, he remains optimistic about the future.

That's reflected in the money poured into the Cass City location. Under construction now is a storage building for fertilizer and seeds. A new truck hoist and better aeration equipment have been installed.

It's designed to improve service, the business philosophy that has served the company well in the 57 years since it started in Harbor Beach.

ROGER JAGODZINSKI of Mayville, a journeyman cable splicer in the Lines area of Detroit Edison's Thumb Division, places an "Eyes & Ears" logo on the door of a company truck. The logo is intended to alert the public that employees operating the vehicle are trained to request emergency assistance and to make their vehicle available for temporary shelters in emergencies. The "Eyes & Ears" program has been developed for use by Detroit Edison, Consumers Power Co., the Rural Electrification Administration and county road commissions to help law enforcement agencies reduce crime and provide temporary emergency refuge. The program is being initiated in Huron, Lapeer, St. Clair, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties.

Warren adds to Scotland trip

Dear John:
At least one person enjoyed the Scotland articles! Met Agnes Milligan at Hills and Dales Hospital, yesterday, and we talked a bit about Scotland.
A correction on the final column: When typing it, I used the £ sign for the amount usually spent for DB&B—it would be difficult to quote in dollars since the exchange rate changes so often! It varied from the rate to the pound of 1.59 to 1.69 while we were there and not always up!
Because of the variance, we came home with most of our travelers' cheques and utilized the checking account that we maintain in Scotland.
If one is to be a regular traveler, that's a good idea: having an account in Scotland. Monies can be deposited when the rate is favorable. And, of course, when you're spending it, it doesn't matter!

Had I known just four would be used, columns, that is, different subjects (perhaps of broader interest) would have been used. Mais, c'est la vie!
You should have seen me while typing those first three. I rented a Canon typewriter from Capital Business Equipment, in Inverness. That was fine—but when we got to Boor Cottage there was no table available except the one in the kitchen/dining room...and we didn't want that used for other than eating. So I sat on the floor in the sitting room with the typewriter on the coffee table! Thank goodness the Gibsons have lots of cushions around and I could sit on two or three!!
Best wishes,
Ilene Warren

New books at the library

THE FORDS: AN AMERICAN EPIC by Peter Collier and David Horowitz (non-fiction). The history of the Ford family and their automotive empire proves to be fertile ground for another generational romp through both boardroom and bedroom. Beginning with the Ford patriarch, Henry himself, the book sets out on a rather unexceptional course but reaches its stride in dealing with, and detailing at length, the marital and business problems of Henry's grandson and namesake, Henry II. And of course, there's all the gossip about the bit players—a cunning Lee Iacocca, a bold Imelda Marcos—as they play their cameo roles to the hilt in this version of the Ford family saga.

VENTURE TO LOVE by Jocelyn Stirling (fiction). Silver-haired orphan Argent Wood arrives in London in 1805, determined to earn her own way in the world. In her first moments there, she makes the acquaintance—quite innocently—of handsome dandy Rawson Carlyon, whose cousin Theodosia Viner is conveniently in need of a lady's companion. Once settled into the Viner's exquisite mansion, the able Argent learns so much about business from Mr. Viner that she soon parlays a small inheritance into enough money to become half-owner of a cotton mill. A determined businesswoman, Argent is devoted to her mill and its workers—but is ever aware of Rawson's presence. Although he mysteriously disappears for months, he sees Argent each time he returns to England, his clandestine role in the war between France and England a secret he desperately wants to share with her. The enticing rebelliousness of hero and heroine, and their devotion to their respective causes, brings substance to the frothy plot.

Researching space for super plants

Reserving space for superplants: Researchers are cultivating super strains of lettuce, wheat, potatoes and other common plants, which may one day feed the first colonists in space. So far, they've increased crop yields, cut the growing season for wheat in half and produced mature leaf lettuce in as few as 19 days. According to National Wildlife magazine, the U.S. should be capable of putting a food-growing module into space by the year 2000.

Letters to the editor

O-G residents agree — officiating is inconsistent

Dear Editor,
We the undersigned, agree with Mr. Tom Wilson's letter that appeared in your column Wednesday, Oct. 7, 1987.
Some of us, being parents of players, thought we might be a little prejudiced, but it seems other fans feel the same way.
One thing that should be added to Mr. Wilson's statement is that it's not just the girls, but also the boys' games that suffer the bad calls. A lot of the games are allowed to become "football" rough and not called in a consistent manner. If two teams play a good game, the fouls generally are committed on an equal basis.
There are a lot of aggressive young players out there (male and female) that haven't had good calls for the last few years. They won't learn "fair play" without "fair calls."
It takes guts to get out on that floor and call a game with all those irate fans in the stands, not to mention a lot of stamina chasing after all those energetic players. We commend them for that, but maybe the referees need more training to ensure better officiating.

Minority jobs up, but pay still low

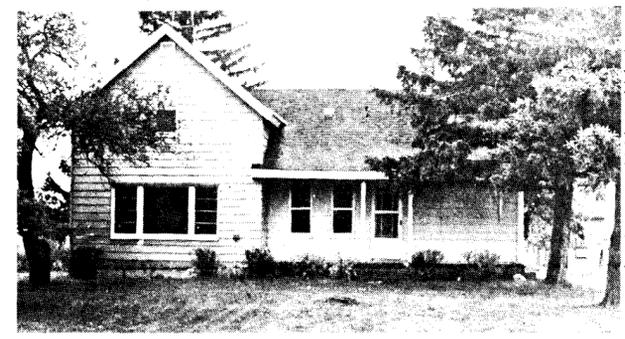

Women and minorities continue to be overly concentrated in low-paying clerical and service jobs in state government, a Department of Civil Rights report shows, although the number employed overall is increasing.
The commission has, however, for the first time, approved affirmative action plans in each department. Director John Roy Castillo said that will make it easier to monitor progress and make specific recommendations to each agency to help minorities, women and handicappers move into all work levels.
The commission recommended development of a training program including tuition reimbursement to assist minorities and women to upgrade skills and professional credentials.
It also recommended Civil Rights and Civil Service work jointly to identify priority job titles where minorities and women are "underutilized," require quarterly reports by departments on promotions or hires in high job classifications, and require that affirmative action plans contain separate work force analysis for minority men and minority women.
The office and clerical categories have "severe concentrations of women, the report noted (95 percent are female), while black and Hispanic men are concentrated in service, maintenance and protective service categories.
Using a population benchmark of 50 percent for females, the report said 10 departments exceed, while 3, State Police, Transportation and auditor general, have less than 25 percent.

2 drivers arrested in Cass City

Cass City police arrested a 25-year-old Decker man after his vehicle nearly collided with a patrol car on Garfield Avenue near West Street Nov. 10.

Todd M. Vatter, 4110 Decker Rd., was arrested on suspicion of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor after the 12:25 a.m. incident.

According to police reports, Vatter was observed traveling south on West Street when he turned east onto Garfield Avenue and failed to stop at the intersection.

An officer who was westbound on Garfield Avenue at the time stated that he had to lock the brakes on his vehicle in order to prevent a collision.

A West Columbia, S.C., man was arrested Friday evening on Pine Street west of West Street for operating a motor vehicle while his license was suspended.

Richard B. Flemington was arrested after being stopped at 11:35 p.m. for having 4 occupants in the front seat of his pickup truck, reports state.

Flemington, whose Michigan operator's license is expired, also was issued a ticket for no proof of insurance.

Cass City resident Dawn Haag, 6651 Huron St., filed a complaint regarding a breaking and entering at her home.

Haag told police that someone forced a west side door open and entered the house while she was away for an extended period of time. She reported 8 rolls of pennies missing.

The case remains under investigation.

David Nolan reported malicious destruction to his vehicle while parked at Cass City High School Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Nolan, who stated that the right taillight on his vehicle had been pushed in by hand, estimated damage at $70.

Buck luck

Eight area deer hunters reported their luck following the first 2 days of the 1987 firearms deer season, which began Sunday.

Cass City resident Jeffery Papp, on leave from the Philippines where he's stationed in the Air Force, bagged a 7-point buck at 8:15 a.m. Monday while hunting near Severance Road 1/2 mile east of M-53.

Papp, who will be returning to duty Saturday, stated that the animal tipped the scales at about 185 pounds (dressed).

Also nailing a 7 pointer was Leonard Smolar-kiewicz of Cass City, who shot his trophy south of Cass City at about 3:30 p.m. Sunday. The buck weighed in at 170 pounds, he reported.

Snover resident Paul Rockwell was one of 4 lucky hunters who took 8-point bucks.

Rockwell bagged his deer

Monday while hunting near his parents' farm in Sanilac county.

Paul Bessler of Cass City nailed an 8 pointer at about 8:30 a.m. Sunday while hunting in the Cemetery Road area. He said the animal weighed in at 145 pounds.

Gerald Heronemus, meanwhile, shot his trophy early Monday morning while hunting at his Decker farm. His buck, shot at 7:30, tipped the scales at 170 pounds.

Stan Guinther bagged an 8-point buck at 7:15 a.m. Monday, hunting in the Argyle area.

Cass City resident Alan Witkovsky bagged a 120-pound (dressed) doe at 7:30 a.m. Monday while hunting in Grant Township.

A spikehorn was shot by Marcie Kostanko of Cass City. She spotted the animal at about 1 p.m. on state land near her Pringle Road home Sunday.

FIRST HUNTER reporting bagging a buck was Ed Adams of Decker. He killed this 11-pointer that dressed out at 162 pounds Sunday morning at 7:05 o'clock on state land east of Cass City. Adams said that it was the sixth buck that he has downed and reports he was successful last year.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

A few -- very few -- people admitted they took a licking in the stock market crash. Those who did, almost to a man, said, "Oh, it was just a paper loss."

So it was. Trouble with that rationalization is that nearly everything you and I own is on paper. Exceptions: your car, your house, and your furniture and personal belongings.

Everything else is on paper. Do you think the money you have in the bank is stacked up in the vault awaiting your withdrawal? You have a credit on paper in your bank book.

Your stocks, your bonds, and all those limited partnerships and tax shelters and annuities. They're on paper. Treasury bills -- they're not even on paper, just a book entry. Lots of new bonds coming out are just book entries, like your bank account.

Your profits on securities were paper profits, credits to your account. Or, if you keep your own certificates, a paper check was sent you. If it makes you any happier, brush off the market collapse as meaning only paper losses. Remember, though, that that green stuff in your billfold or purse is paper, too. Chances are there's somewhat less of it than there was in mid-October.

OBSERVATION: IBM stockholders lost $20 billion in the October crash. The boys in Washington have

Cancer plants

The search is on: Under contract with the National Cancer institute, botanists are scouring the world's tropical forests for plants with cancer-fighting potential. According to International Wildlife magazine, the goal of the search is to find other plants as useful as the rosy periwinkle, which has yielded 2 powerful drugs against childhood leukemia, and the Pacific yew, which is showing promise against the deadly skin cancer, melanoma.

It's never too late - Guinther's World War II Marine medals finally arrive

It's been more than 4 decades since "Hazen" William Guinther saw the shores of Iwo Jima.

Guinther, a Cass City native, was a member of the 5th Division, 27th Marines when U.S. forces invaded the island Feb. 19, 1945.

The 69-year-old was reminded recently of the fierce fighting that took place on the island—one of the marines' bloodiest and most renowned battles—when he received his Purple Heart along with several other decorations he had earned, but never received, during his 4-year duty.

Aside from the Purple Heart, Guinther received a Good Conduct medal, Military Defense medal, American Defense medal, Asiatic Pacific Campaign medal, World War II medal, Navy Occupation medal and Presidential Citation. All of the awards arrived by mail Nov. 2.

Guinther hasn't forgotten what it was like to be a part of the forces which landed on the northwest side of the tiny island he refers to as "Iwo."

The marines had expected to secure the island, located about 760 miles south of Tokyo, in 4 days. But it actually took about 5 weeks and cost some 6,800 American lives.

"I was in the third wave" of the landing force, Guinther, a chief cook at the time, recalled. "Our wave came in and we had to clean up the beach so we could get the tanks in. We were going in behind the troops—we were with the munitions dump," he explained.

WOUNDED

"We had action there—that's where I got wounded," Guinther continued, adding, "I was hit by a piece of shrapnel about 3 hours after we landed."

The injury, to Guinther's left hand, didn't keep him out of action for long.

"The medics put us aboard a landing craft. It started to sink, so they got us on a 'CB' boat," Guinther remarked. He added that he stayed on the craft for 6 days.

"We needed help," he said, referring to the island battle. "We were losing men right and left, so I volunteered to go back." Guinther returned to Iwo Jima, where he stayed for another 21 days.

Guinther, who enlisted 2 days before the Pearl Harbor attack, was one of more than 200 marines who made up the E company, 2nd battalion. About 32 men from that company survived Iwo, he noted, adding, "I lost a lot of good friends."

"I was just glad to get out of there. I'll tell you the truth. I don't know that anybody could go into battle and not be scared; you don't sleep many nights," he recalled.

JOINT EFFORT

Guinther pointed out that he has both friends and family to thank for his medals. It took a group effort, he said, to go through the process of securing the awards. Aside from his wife of 41 years, Elfrieda, and family, Cass City residents

Jack Esau and Cas Bartnik also helped.

"They began around March so they'd have the medals for Father's Day," but they learned that the military records couldn't be released without the individual's permission, Guinther explained, adding that he sent the paperwork in early July.

"I knew I had 5 of the medals, but I didn't know (about) the Presidential Citation or the navy award," he added.

Guinther is a retired, 30-year Fuelgas Co. employee. He and his wife have 3 grown children—Gerald, who lives with his wife in Cass City, David, who lives with his wife in Saginaw, and daughter Susann, a member of the Michigan National Guard and an LPN at Hills and Dales General Hospital—and 6 grandchildren.

The elder Guinthers reside at 4213 Doerr Rd., Cass City.

"HAZEN" WILLIAM Guinther, Cass City, displays his WW II decorations, which arrived Nov. 2, more than 42 years after he served as a marine at Iwo Jima.

How do you find flood insurance that protects your home and business?

No problem.

Because regular homeowners and business insurance policies do not protect you from flood loss, you might be all wet if you wait until the water rises to apply for flood insurance.

You can now purchase flood protection from Auto-Owners Insurance, the "No Problem" people.

So ask your local Auto-Owners agent just how his flood insurance can be "no problem" keeping you afloat if your home or business is flooded.

Free holiday dinner set at local church

A traditional "Community Thanksgiving Dinner" will be held beginning at 1 p.m. Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 26, at St. Pancratius Hall in Cass City.

All interested persons, particularly those not having a large family gathering at home, are welcome. There will be no charge for the dinner—private donations only, and reservations are preferred to assist organizers in planning the event.

Individual takeouts for the house bound are planned.

Additional information is available by contacting any parish house, or by calling 872-4351 or 872-4530.

Battle of books set at library

Preparations for the 7th annual Battle of the Books began Monday, with registration forms becoming available to area children in grades 3 through 6.

The event, sponsored by Rawson Memorial Library and the Cass City Elementary and Intermediate School libraries, encourages more reading among young students by introducing them to 25 books.

Registration will be available at any of the 3 libraries through Dec. 18.

According to Rawson Memorial Library Director Barb Hutchinson, there will be 2 competition divisions; one for third and fourth graders, and another for fifth and sixth graders.

"Each team will consist of 5 children... and each must have a name and team manager," Hutchinson explained. "The team manager will act as contact person between the team and the library, arrange transportation and provide help with scoring and time keeping during the battles."

Registration will be limited to 16 teams in each division. Others will be placed on a waiting list. "Each year some teams have a difficult time getting a team manager," Hutchinson remarked. "Any adult interested in helping with a team is invited to call the library at 872-2856 for more information."

Hutchinson pointed out that students should make every effort to form a team on their own. If they can't find a team, they can take their permission slip to the library, where they will be placed on a waiting list and attempts will be made to assign them to a team.

Reading lists and books are now available at the libraries. The battles will begin Feb. 29, with each team testing its knowledge against another team's.

Ribbons will be awarded to both first and second-place teams in each division, while unsuccessful teams will have an opportunity to compete in an "honors" round for runner-up positions. All participants will receive a certificate and are invited to a victory celebration March 28.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 100

AN ORDINANCE GRANTING TO CABLE EQUITIES OF COLORADO, ITS SUCCESSORS AND ASSIGNS, THE RIGHTS, PRIVILEGES AND FRANCHISE TO USE THE STREETS, ALLEYS AND OTHER PUBLIC PLACES IN THE VILLAGE OF GAGETOWN, STATE OF MICHIGAN, FOR THE PURPOSE OF RECEIVING, AMPLIFYING AND DISTRIBUTING TELEVISION SIGNALS AND PROVIDING FOR THE REGULATION THEREOF FOR USE OF SAID STREETS, ALLEYS AND ROADS.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE VILLAGE COUNCIL OF THE VILLAGE OF GAGETOWN, STATE OF MICHIGAN, Section 1. That there is hereby granted to Cable Equities of Colorado, LTD, its successors and assigns, hereinafter called the Grantee, the right, privilege and franchise, to construct, maintain and operate in the present and future streets, roads, alleys and public places of the Village of Gagetown, State of Michigan, a television signal distribution system consisting of a tower or towers, poles and cables, with all necessary or desirable appurtenances, including underground conduit for the purpose of supplying television signals to said Village.

Section 2. That said Grantee, its agents and employees, may enter in and upon said streets, alleys, roads, and public places at any time for the purpose of making excavations, installing, removing, repairing and maintaining such poles, wires, cables and all other structures necessary or convenient in supplying television signal service. Any and all excavation shall be repaired and obstructions removed as quickly as it is reasonably possible under the circumstances. In the event the Grantee does not promptly repair any streets or sidewalks and roads damaged by it, the Village may make such repairs and charge the amount thereof to the Grantee, which, upon written demand by the Village shall be paid within ten (10) days from the date of said notice.

Section 3. The poles for such distribution system shall be placed and erected in such a manner as not to interfere with the use of the roads, streets, alleys and public places in said Village or the inhabitants or property owners along such streets or alleys and the replacing, construction and manner of erecting the poles and lines of Grantee, as well as fixtures and attachments thereto, shall be at all time subject to the police powers of the Village of Gagetown, Mich.

Section 4. The Grantee, its successors and assigns, shall hold the Village harmless against any and all damages that may be caused by reason of construction and operation of Grantee, its successors and assigns, shall cause to be defended or defend at its own expense, all actions that may be commenced against said Village for damages caused by reason of the construction or operation of such system.

Section 5. This franchise shall be in force and effect for a period of fifteen (15) years from acceptance as provided herein, and shall thereupon terminate and all licenses and privileges shall thereupon cease, unless more than six (6) months before expiration date and not more than one (1) year prior to said expiration date, the Grantee shall tender to the Village, notice of its intention to renew this franchise in which event the same shall be renewed for a term of fifteen (15) years, and in a like manner this franchise may be renewed for successive terms of fifteen (15) years thereafter.

Section 6. The rights herein granted shall cease and be null and void unless substantial proof is furnished by Grantee within twelve (12) months from date of this ordinance that reasonable progress is being made by Grantee toward installation of his system.

Section 7. That the Grantee shall within thirty (30) days from the passage and approval of this ordinance, file with the Village of Gagetown a written acceptance of this ordinance.

PASSED and APPROVED This 2nd day of November, 1987.

Your neighbor says

Great Smokeout is useful for smokers

It's uncertain how many area residents will be among those trying to give up cigarettes for one day this week for the Great American Smokeout, set for Thursday.

The event has claimed some success, at least in reducing the number of smokers nationwide for 24 hours.

Some don't make it through the whole day without a smoke, but some do. And many gain enough confidence to attempt giving the habit up for good.

Some methods for quitting smoking—ranging from chain smoking until sick to hypnosis to various stop-smoking drugs—are useful as the number of ex-smokers today is estimated at about 37 million. Still, there are some 54 million persons who continue to puff away.

Your neighbor, Martin Card of Cass City, says he believes the Great American Smokeout is useful for smokers.

"It's a good idea, but I think it would be better to just quit right away," he remarked. "It would benefit their health."

The 33-year-old noted that he has never smoked and doesn't ever plan to start. "I guess I've never had a desire to do it," he said.

"My brother smokes. I hate to see him smoke, but what can you do?" he continued, adding that trying to nag someone into giving up the habit can be worse than saying nothing.

Originally from Flint, Card and his wife, Gloria, moved to Cass City 1 1/2 years ago after getting married. The couple resides at 6382 Sixth St.

Gagetown Area News

Gen Kehoe
665-2221

In honor of her birthday, Mrs. Sue Penrod entertained family members from Warren and Roseville last weekend. Guests were Bill, Diane and Michael Malapolski, and Dominic and Pat Buffa.

Mrs. Jean LaPratt and daughter, Melissa, and a friend, all of Caro, were callers last Sunday at the home of Mrs. Gerry Carolan and attended the St. Agatha parish breakfast.

Velma Helwig and Harry and Gen Kehoe visited relatives in Caro last Monday. They called on Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rocheleau and Mrs. Carl Sieland, and were dinner guests of Paul and Maggie Langlois.

Some fairly new Gagetown residents are Terri and Billy Merz, formerly of Saginaw. They were married in June, and now reside on Bay City-Forestville Rd. on the farm of the late Patty Phelan, great-great-grandfather of Billy Merz. Last week, Billy bowled a 299 game in team bowling at the Moose Lodge in Saginaw.

Mrs. Martin (Marie)

Bartholomy was a patient at Lapeer General Hospital. She returned to the Suncrest Rest Home Friday.

Marge and Leonard Karr were last Sunday dinner guests of Cliff and Thelma Jackson of Ubyly.

Sunday, Nov. 8, Bishop Kenneth Untener of Saginaw presided over an all day session with candidates for confirmation. The event, held in the gymnasium of the St. Peter and Paul Catholic School in Ruth, was attended by 250 persons from area parishes.

Mrs. Janet Martin, publicity chairman for the Gagetown Methodist Bazaar, announced that the date for the bazaar appeared incorrectly in one publication released recently. The correct date is Nov. 21 at the Gagetown Methodist Church.

ST. AGATHA WOMEN MEET

About 30 women attended the St. Agatha Women's Society meeting Tuesday, Nov. 10, in the church hall.

Each woman donated a quilt square for a friendship quilt.

They answered roll call with the number of quilts in their home and a description and history.

Shirley Lenhard gave a report of the last parish council meeting. An update of church cleaning crews was discussed and the December meeting cookie exchange was cancelled. Members will exchange a $3.00 gift and donate one dozen cookies.

Margaret Generous won the evening's prize. Hostesses Alma Wald, Su Bridson and Vernita Comment served refreshments.

Cathy Sullivan returned home Thursday after a few days at Hills and Dales Hospital, Cass City.

Miss Michelle Schwartz is a patient at St. Luke's Hospital, Saginaw.

Lee's Landscaping of Pigeon has been filling and seeding and doing other improvements in St. Agatha Cemetery recently.

Larry Mauk of Detroit, in the area for deer hunting, spent the weekend with his grandmother, Sue Penrod.

Jeff Lenhard of Sebewaing spent the day Saturday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lenhard.

Harry and Gen Kehoe were callers Thursday evening at the home of Fran and Elmer Kehoe in Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ashmore, Elma Miklovich and Gerry Carolan were among the group from the Owendale-Gagetown Senior Citizens Club who toured the Huron County jail facility in Bad Axe Wednesday.

Fifteen persons attended the monthly group breakfast at Grady's Village Coffee Shop Thursday.

Traxler aide due

A staff aide to U.S. Representative Bob Traxler (D-Bay City) will hold office hours in Cass City and Caro Thursday to discuss problems and concerns of constituents in those areas.

In Cass City, the aide will be at the Elkland Township fire hall from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. In Caro, the hours will be 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. at the Tuscola County Annex, 207 E. Grant St.

The first real word in the average American dictionary is aa. It is the name for a spongy kind of lava.

HEALTH TIPS

People with heart problems should not shovel at all

Ah yes, the activity Michiganians dread most is drawing near snow shoveling. Blessed with the Great Lakes we are in turn cursed with an annual snowfall that residents of most other states cannot fathom. Even though the sturdiest Michigan resident has braced himself and honed a fine edge to his shovel, is he really ready?

Snow shoveling is a cardiovascular challenge as well as a test of one's determination. The American Heart Association of Michigan (AHA/MI) warns that many Michiganians suffer heart attacks while shoveling every year.

Barry Franklin, Ph.D., director of cardiac rehabilitation and exercise laboratories at William Beaumont Hospital, says, "Based on the risk factors for heart disease, we can characterize the type of person most likely to suffer a heart attack while shoveling. The person who's generally sedentary, who smokes, who is overweight or who has high blood pressure or a heart condition is the one that's most likely to have a heart attack."

Anyone with a heart problem should not shovel at all. If you're over 40 or have one or more risk factors, you should check with your doctor before the snow starts piling up.

Franklin, chairman of the AHA/MI exercise and cardiac rehabilitation committee, adds, "People don't realize that the more risk factors they have, the greater their chance of having a heart attack while shoveling."

"There is another strain on the cardiovascular system that a lot of people don't realize -- the cold," says Franklin. Cold weather makes your heart work harder because it has to pump blood through vessels that have constricted in reaction to the cold.

"Snow shoveling involves upper extremity exercises and isometric (static) exertion," says Franklin. Unfortunately, both forms of effort create an excessive demand on the heart.

Exercising in a standing position, especially when the legs are frequently motionless, may cause pooling of the blood in the lower extremities. This may reduce blood flow to the heart while the pulse rate and oxygen demands of the heart are high.

Shoveling itself is harder work than one might think, too. According to research studies, a 154 pound man shoveling a weight of 8.8 pounds (shovel and snow) is exerting the energy equivalent to singles tennis or light downhill skiing. Shoveling a combined weight of 13.8 pounds is equal to the energy required to play basketball or handball or running 5.5 mph. Shoveling 22.5 pounds (wet snow) at a rate of 10 shovels full per minute is as strenuous as running 9 mph for the same amount of time.

Another strain that you may not even be aware of is brought about by a common response to strenuous lifting. This response, holding your breath with your mouth closed, can cause sudden changes in the heart rate and blood pressure. This should be avoided, particularly by people with cardiovascular disease.

Finally, if you have to shovel a large area, do it a bit at a time. Rest when you're tired and don't push yourself. If the snow is winning the battle, hire a youthful neighbor.

Another danger is that some shovelers don't realize they're having a heart attack and dismiss the pain as indigestion. Indeed, more than 25 percent of all heart attacks are unrecognized! In 1984 an estimated 350,000 people died of a heart attack before reaching the hospital.

The symptoms of heart attack include: *Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest, lasting 2 minutes or more.

*Pain that may spread to shoulders, neck or arms. *Severe pain, dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath may also occur.

*Not all symptoms may be present.

If you suspect that you or someone with you is having a heart attack:

*Stop whatever activity you're doing.

*Don't wait; call the emergency rescue service immediately.

*Sit or lie down. *If it would be faster, have someone drive you or the victim to the hospital.

AHA/MI also has free publications called, "The Heart Attack Survival Kit," and "Heart Attack" in addition to a "Fact Sheet on Heart Attack, Stroke and Risk Factors." A handy pocket calendar listing the warning signs and what steps to take in case of heart attack is also available free.

For more information on prevention and warning signs of heart attack, contact your local office of AHA/MI or write: American Heart Association of Michigan, 16310 West 12 Mile Road, P.O. Box 160, Lathrup Village, MI 48076. The American Heart Association of Michigan is a United Way agency.

Free van transportation planned for area veterans

Cass City Veterans need not worry about transportation to and from the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Saginaw.

That hospital is one of 19 VA medical facilities which was to receive a van Tuesday from the non-profit Disabled American Veterans. The donation was made possible through a cooperative effort of the DAV's national organization and its Department of Michigan.

According to Cass City resident Andrew Kozan, who serves as commander of DAV Chapter 50, Caro, the vans will be a great help to area vets.

Although Kozan is uncertain how many area residents will use the new van, he remarked, "As soon as it gets started, there will be a lot of veterans (who), I think, will take advantage of it. Some of these people are too old to drive" and can't otherwise get a ride.

The vans will be driven by volunteers from local DAV chapters and DAV auxiliary units. These volunteers will be participating in a nationwide DAV National Transportation Network. Overseeing the program at the VA Medical Center in Saginaw will be DAV Hospital Service Coordinator Dale Clark.

"The DAV Transportation Network was established last spring when budget constraints forced the VA to terminate beneficiary travel benefits for nearly all veterans using VA facilities for medical treatment," DAV National Director of Voluntary Services Bruce Nitsche said. He added that the benefits were paid to veterans to help them cover the costs of getting to and from a VA hospital or clinic.

"The DAV simply could not stand aside and watch hundreds of thousands of veterans being left without health care simply because they live some distance from a VA hospital and had no means of transportation," Nitsche remarked. "Thanks to contributions from grateful Americans, many of them right here in Cass City, we were able to respond to this great need."

Sanilac economist honored

Katherine Hale, Sanilac County Extension home economist, has received the Award for Excellence of the Michigan Association of Extension Home Economists.

The award, which was presented at the MAEHE annual meeting Oct. 20 in East Lansing, recognized her efforts in behalf of farm families during the past year.

Hale was instrumental in developing a program called "Pastor's Symposium on How the Farm Economy Affects Your People," which helped many pastors become more involved with their farm people.

Since that program, a human services council (the Sanilac Farm Network) was organized to help meet the needs of Sanilac farm families. This group was instrumental in getting information out to farm families during the September 1986 floods.

Hale has also worked with Mental Health and the local Farm Bureau organization to sponsor a farm support group training for their members.
