Roller named to O-G post

The Owen-Gage Board of Education hired a new athletic director and discussed administrators' salaries during a monthly meeting Monday night.

Owen-Gage High School art teacher and veteran basketball coach Dean Roller was approved as athletic director for the 1988-89 school year. He replaces former principal and athletic director Robert Andrews.

Roller, who was recommended for the position by school Supt. Harley Kirby, will be paid $2,399 (9.32 percent of his base salary) for the job.

In other business during the 80-minute regular meeting, the board met in executive session for 35 minutes to discuss administrators' salaries. No action was taken on the matter.

Both Kirby and Gagetown Elementary School Principal William Britt have been granted contracts for the 1988-89 school year, but salaries have not yet been set.

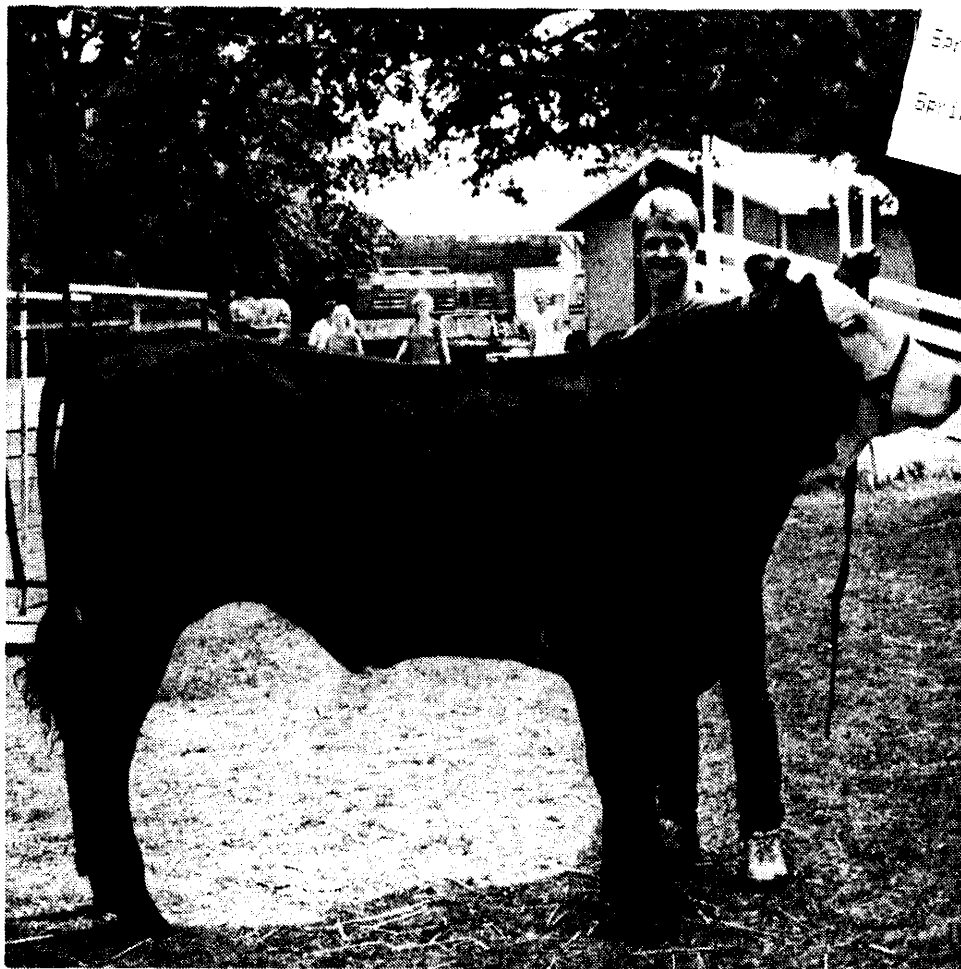

Also Monday, the board accepted the resignation of Lawanda Gnagey, a cook in the school system for some 16 years, with regret. Sandy Karg, who has worked as a cook in the district part-time for the past 8 years, was hired to replace Gnagey as second cook.

The board also approved a resolution to transfer about $600 in the 1967 debt fund account, which was paid off a year ago, to the 1976 debt fund account; granted Kirby the authority to purchase 2 new replacement steel doors and associated hardware for the high school; tabled a request by Greg and Lore Festian to allow their son to attend kindergarten in the Cass City School District (the couple didn't attend Monday's meeting), and approved a resolution stating the price for family passes to school athletic events will not be increased in the 1988-89 school year.

Also, it was noted that Owen-Gage will offer a pre-school/developmental kindergarten program in the 1988-89 school year. Parents who wish to enroll their 4 or 5-year-olds can obtain additional information by contacting Diane Warack at 883-3489.

With agreed forum

Rep. Allen okays debate with David Herrington

Bad Axe attorney and Democrat David Herrington has issued a challenge to 77th District State Rep. Dick Allen to debate the issues before residents of Tuscola and Huron counties.

It's a challenge Allen, a Caro Republican, has indicated he's willing to accept. Herrington, who hopes to unseat Allen as the area's state representative in the November General Election, recently sent a letter challenging his opponent to newspapers in the district.

"With the Primary Election dust pretty much settled, I would like to take the opportunity to publicly invite Rep. Dick Allen to discuss and debate issues and areas of concern to the residents of Huron and Tuscola counties," Herrington wrote. "I look forward to debating the issues with you, Rep. Allen, and offering citizens a chance to make a more informed decision in November."

Contacted Friday by telephone, Allen said he hadn't heard anything about the challenge, but indicated he would debate Herrington provided such a forum were moderated by a neutral party.

"It's hard for me to respond to something I haven't heard anything about," he remarked, "but debating does not bother me. I don't have a problem with it all." He added, "I have a problem with format—I'm certainly not going to let him control the format."

Although primary vote totals aren't a valid forecast for what may come in November, last week's vote leaned heavily toward the Republican side of the ticket in the state representative race.

Herrington received a total of 2,515 votes in the district, comprised of Tuscola and Huron Counties, while Allen garnered 9,118 votes. Huron County voters gave Herrington 884 votes and Allen, 5,175 votes. Tuscola voters gave Herrington 1,631 votes and Allen, 3,943 votes.

Unusual vote patterns apparent in the primaries

Some 30 percent of all registered Tuscola County voters braved stifling heat to vote in last week's Primary Election, but a smaller percentage of voters actually decided all 5 county-wide races and 3 millage questions.

For example, fewer than 50 percent of the 9,641 residents who voted last week decided the race between incumbent William D. Bond and James R. Reed for the office of prosecutor.

Why so many voters opted not to cast ballots in all the races remains a mystery. County Clerk Elsie Hicks, who remarked that voters' behavior in the primary wasn't typical, offered her theory.

"I think there were a lot of questions in people's minds this time," she said. "They didn't vote in a lot of areas, and I don't know why."

Three county-wide millage requests—for senior citizens, sheriff's road patrol and road improvements—drew the most voter interest. Of the 9,641 voters who went to the polls, 7,931 persons (82.2 percent) cast ballots on the road millage question, 8,082 (83.8 percent) voted on the road patrol millage, and 8,077 (83.7 percent) voted on the senior citizen millage.

In contrast, with the exception of the race for sheriff, fewer voters cast ballots in the races for county offices.

More than 80 percent (7,814 persons) of those casting ballots voted for a candidate running for sheriff; 6,742 persons (69.9 percent) voted for clerk, 6,710 persons (69.5 percent) cast ballots for register of deeds, and 6,542 persons (67.8 percent) voted for treasurer.

Despite the number of county-wide races, Tuscola County had the smallest percent of voter turnout among the 3 upper Thumb counties. Still, the 30 percent turnout was much higher than in 1984, when only 16.7 percent of registered voters went to the polls. In that year there was only one county-wide race.

Sanilac County, which had 5 county-wide races in this year's primary, meanwhile, recorded a voter turnout of some 35 percent (8,615 persons). That figure is down from the 44.3 percent voter turnout in 1984, when there were 4 county-wide races.

In Huron County, 37 percent (9,000) of the registered voters turned out last week, when only one county-wide race was decided. Four years ago, when there were 2 county-wide races, 39.4 percent of that county's voters cast ballots.

The unusual voting patterns make it difficult to determine what may happen in the general election. The Democrats made a surprisingly strong showing in

2 injured in crash in area

Two Gagetown residents were hurt in a 2-vehicle crash Aug. 1 at the intersection of Farver and Rescue Roads, about 4 miles east of Owendale.

Ottomar A. Sting, 84, and Ronnie M. Errer, 16, were both treated at Scheurer Hospital in Pigeon.

A spokesman at the state police post in Bad Axe said Sting was eastbound on traditionally overwhelming Republican Tuscola County.

What's not known is how many of the Democratic votes were crossover votes as Republicans voted for a certain candidate because they were strongly for or against a candidate on the ticket. The voting patterns indicated that there were many of them. How many may well determine the outcome of the county races in November.

Rescue Road at about 8 p.m. when his vehicle entered the intersection and was struck broadside by Errer's northbound vehicle.

According to reports, there is no sign at the intersection and trees obstructed both drivers' views.

Reports also indicate Sting was wearing a seat belt, while Errer was not.

new plan to raise road money

The Tuscola County Road Commission may again seek additional funding for road improvements, but not via another millage question following voters' rejection last week of a 2-mill request for 4 years.

The road commission was expected to approach the County Board of Commissioners Tuesday with a proposal to levy a $20 registration fee on motor vehicles in the county for 5 years, according to county Highway Engineer Robert Wellington.

If approved, the measure would be placed before voters, hopefully in November, Wellington said Monday.

"We got the impression that the majority did not want a millage, and there was a comment that people who use the roads ought to pay for it," Wellington remarked. "I guess the big advantage (in this proposal) is those using the roads would be paying for it."

The 2-mill request, rejected 4,464-3,467 by voters in the Aug. 2 Primary Election, would have raised an estimated $1.12 million annually, with the road commission expected to receive some $832,000 and the remaining funds being distributed to the villages and the City of Vassar. The money would have been earmarked for improving major streets and primary roads.

Wellington said the vehicle registration fees would raise an estimated $800,000 per year, with the road commission's annual share expected to total about $693,000 (minus collection fees paid to the Secretary of State).

Wellington pointed out that the legislation passed last December allows counties to ask voters to approve vehicle registration fees of up to $25 per year in addition to what is charged by the state.

GOOD NEWS

There was good news last week for laid off sheriff's deputies and senior citizens, meanwhile.

Approval by a 746-vote margin of 9 of a mill for 4 years for the sheriff's road patrol and dispatch means 12 road officers will return to duty, although a date for reinstatement of the road patrol had not been set as of Monday.

"It'll be discussed at Tuesday's (county) board meeting. We've got to get a consensus among the commissioners at that time, but my guess would be soon," county Controller Michael Hoagland remarked.

For senior citizens in Tuscola as well as Huron and Sanilac counties, approval last week of .2 of a mill for seniors in each of the counties means not only a continuation of existing services, but also reinstatement of some services which have been reduced due to budget shortfalls.

Among the cuts have been the closing of meal sites in Millington and Fairgrove, and a reduction in the number of home delivered meals in each of the 3 counties.

"We're very pleased with the millages," Human Development Commission Executive Director Mary Ann Vandemark said. "We made some drastic cuts in some areas, (but) what we're doing now is looking at those cuts and looking into reinstating some of those."

Vandemark said she also hopes to investigate offering additional services designed to allow seniors to maintain their independence. An example, she explained, is an adult day-care facility, which would provide temporary supervision for seniors while their caregivers or spouses shop or take care of other errands.

Tuscola County voters approved the senior millage on a vote of 4,875-3,202, while the measure passed 4,159-2,428 in Huron County, and 5,400-1,720 in Sanilac County, where voters also approved .2 of a mill for libraries, 4,716-2,233.

Cass City police arrest 5, one on cocaine charge

Cass City Police arrested 5 area residents, including one on suspicion of cocaine possession, over the past 5 days.

According to reports filed at the department, officer Craig Haynes arrested 3 persons at about 4:05 a.m. Sunday in a parking lot at 4786 Hospital Drive after stopping the vehicle they were riding in for a traffic violation.

Gary R. Nye, 19, 4640 Elmwood Rd., Cass City, was arrested on suspicion of cocaine possession and possessing an open intoxicant in a motor vehicle, and Michael E. Home, 21, 4118 Seeger St., and David A. Steely, 19, 4885 Leslie Rd., Decker, were arrested on suspicion of possessing open intoxicants in a motor vehicle.

Steely, who was driving the vehicle, also was cited for disobeying a stop sign.

Two motorists were arrested Friday.

Rick E. Everly, 24, 4100 S. Cemetery Rd., Cass City, was arrested at about 2:20 a.m. on suspicion of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Reports state Everly's vehicle, which had only one working headlight and a loud exhaust, was stopped near the intersection of Pine and Leach streets. Caro resident Lawrence E. Giddings, 20, 1978 Gun Club Rd., was arrested at 11:35 p.m. on suspicion of operating a motor vehicle while his operator's license was suspended.

Giddings was stopped on Main Street near Comment Drive after police observed that his vehicle had no registration light.

Police also handled a malicious destruction of property complaint filed by Carol A. Ingles of Pigeon.

Ingles, who owns the Cass City Floral Shop, 6450 Main St., Cass City, reported someone broke a window at the rear of the business Saturday or Sunday. Damage is estimated at $25.

Ummm. Makes me almost sorry we let the little scratchers go.

There are also directions for making "Corncob Syrup," "Paw Paw Pie," "Hoppin John" and "Pickled Beans and Other Late Garden Sass."

Some of the lesser exotic recipes sound pretty good.

Still chuckling over the hillbilly recipes, sayins and an explanation of "Appalachian Talk," in the book, I came across this article called "Settin and A'thinkin".

"I wish every un could spend a while so fur from the bustle of cities you c'n see the rain forests crawlin up mountain sides, sometimes meltin into the mists.

"The only sounds would be the sighin of wind in the treetops, the shout of a little creek rushin down to gashin the earth.

"There's a sort of peace when you stand on a ridge top and see one range after another, some cloud kisses with nary a highway," crooked dirt road which climbs in loops without gashin the earth.

"Too well I know the outside world is pushin in, too many folks dashin in and dashin out, leavin a mess common in their world, make a clutter. And like disease that is catchin, it spread to our younguns.

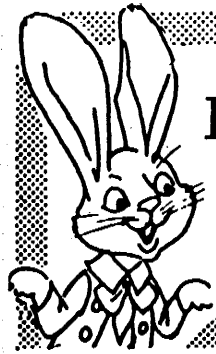

"In this book we have tried to pry open the door to a world that was, when time was so masterful and you could think things out a long time. But we can still laugh at ourselves, and take what changin world gives.

"So come see us, you're welcome. We are still sort of proud and when we grewed up we didn't know we were poor folks. And maybe that counted a heap."

Perhaps these mountain folks aren't as simple minded as we think.

A Cass City man, Gene Elliott, has won a share in a Michigan Lotto $5,333,451 jackpot and will receive annual payments of $12,118 for 20 years through 2007.

Elliott is a member of the Lucky Ten Club composed of workers at Detroit Diesel Automotive Plant.

The Lucky Ten became the lucky 11 as there are that many sharing the prize money. The club received an initial payment of $134,025 and the annual payments will be $133,300.

For personal reasons, Elliott says that he does not want to be interviewed.

Dave Decker, who works for Walbro in Germany, returned for a brief vacation and told about his experience there in an informal talk to the Cass City Rotary Club.

He said that the Germans are really friendly to Americans as long as they know you are making an effort to become part of the community. Decker also surprised many club members when he said that he was very comfortable blazing down the Autobahn (German freeway) at speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour.

The roads are smoother there and the cars are built for the 100-mile-per-hour speeds, he says.

Good roads or no, 100 seems awfully fast, especially in the small, light cars that predominate in Europe.

This is a column of trivia and I have a real piece of trivia for you. It was called to my attention by Larry Bogart, a printer at the Chronicle. Monday the date was 8-8-88 and the next time that happens will be in 11 years when 9-9-99 will appear. Tell 'em you read it in the Chronicle.

There's a piece of trivia going around that says McDonald's accounts for 44 percent of every dollar spent in restaurants. None tells where the information came from or how it was obtained.

It may be true, but it is hard to believe when the thousands of restaurants and fast food outlets are considered. I could buy that figure if it were restricted to fast food chains. But all restaurants? No way.

Motorist escapes injury

A 26-year-old Gagetown man escaped injury Saturday evening when the vehicle he was driving in Akron Township lost control and slid into a ditch.

Troopers at the state police post in Caro reported David W. Fahl, 5460 Notter Rd., was eastbound on Ackerman Road near Bert Road at about 8:50 p.m. when he lost control of his vehicle on a curve.

Fahl, who was traveling at about 45 miles per hour, was cited for violating the basic speed law, and no proof of insurance. His vehicle sustained moderate damage.

The Unionville Fire Department responded to the scene to wash down a gasoline spill, reports state.

A Caro woman sought her own treatment for injuries in a 2-vehicle accident Aug. 3.

According to reports, a vehicle driven by Robert L. Vennevay of Cass City was eastbound on Deckerville Road in Almer Township when it ran a stop sign at the Colling Road intersection and was struck by a southbound vehicle, driven by Karen A. Russell, 625 Court St., Caro.

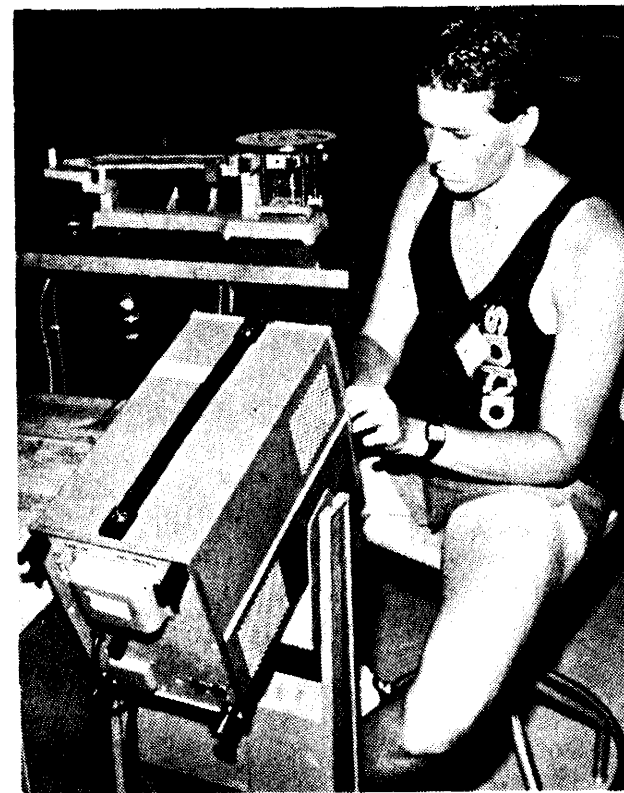

Both vehicles sustained extensive damage in the 2:20 p.m. mishap. Vennevay, who told troopers he had brake troubles but thought the problem had been corrected, was cited for careless driving.

2 Cass City pupils among "exploration" participants

Cass City High School seniors Steve Smith and Martin Smith are among 900 high school juniors and seniors who attended the 16th annual Summer Youth Program, held July 10-Aug. 6 at Michigan Technological University, Houghton.

Each student had the opportunity to participate in one of 47 week-long explorations, which focused on career exploration and development of new skills through laboratory, classroom and field experiences. Each exploration was directed by a Michigan Tech faculty member or a specialist in that area of study.

Steve is the son of Cliff and Helen Smith of Unionville, and Martin is the son of Gary and Louise Smith of Unionville.

STEVE SMITH, a Cass City High School senior, takes part in a mechanical "exploration" during Michigan Tech's annual Summer Youth Program.

The Haire Net

The passage of the millage to restore the road patrol in Tuscola County is an indication of the awareness by the taxpayers of a need for protection. It's naive to feel that it will curb the current trend in the county, in the Thumb, in the state and in the nation. The trend is towards more crime spreading out from the urban areas. In over 35 years observing the Thumb scene I can't recall an armed robbery with the exception of a couple of bank hold-ups. There probably were a couple, but it's sure that incidences were few and far between.

In the last few months there have been 2. One a little over a week ago at Lucky Kountry Korners and the other in Cass City where 4 have been arrested in a dope related case.

The malaise shows no sign of a cure and grows progressively worse as the months and the years roll by. Three decades ago Cass City's law enforcement consisted of one part-time constable. His main job was to see if the doors of the businesses were locked and provide sport for the kids who bedeviled him with pranks that were annoying but not serious.

From that beginning there has been a steady increase in the number of law enforcement personnel needed and there has been more for each to handle.

It's fair to say that part of the increase in crime has been the change in the fabric of the community. When the Haires arrived in the community it was a topic of conversation because there weren't many newcomers. The oft-repeated joke was, if you hadn't been in town for a decade you were a "newcomer." Some folks would tell you that the exaggeration wasn't far from the truth.

The days have long passed when a stranger walking down the street was the topic of speculation. Where did he come from, why was he here? Our population has become more mobile and there are executives and other workers moving in and out. Much of the closeness is gone.

In a way that is lamentable. But there are few of us who would go back to the days when life was more serene, but it was virtually impossible for any young persons outside of business or the farm to stay in the community.

Our quality of life has deteriorated, but it still is far superior to what the metro area, including some of the suburbs, has to offer.

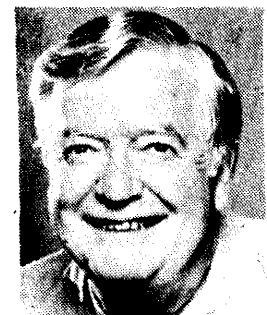

How long we can protect it so we all feel safe walking down the streets, day or night, is open to question.

Judging by the trends the prognosis is not good. There's now a concentrated campaign to get our drug problem under control and that's good. There's no doubt that we needed the road patrol back on the job, but in the long run if we don't attack the problem at its roots it won't matter how many cops are on the street. The quality, relatively crime-free society we want to live in will elude us and will get worse, not better.

"If It Fitz..."

Spooky coincidence

By Jim Fitzgerald

Viki Gingras of East Lansing wrote me this about her four-year-old son, Mitchell, and six-year-old daughter, Leanna: "We are losing our ability to communicate with them. They are losing their speech quality and can hardly be understood. It's forcing them more and more into isolation."

Oh Lord. I read Gingras' letter just before starting today's column. I intended to write something funny about communicating with little kids. The coincidence was spooky.

Tricia, my two-year-old granddaughter, is just beginning to make herself understood on all important subjects of the day. Like most kids that age, she is a tape recorder. Everything she hears is recorded in her head, and when Tricia pushes the play-back button in her mouth, the adults in her family hear an authentic facsimile of their own brilliant conversations.

So it is that Tricia has lately approached her mother several times a day, put one hand on hip, and initiated this thoughtful exchange of ideas:

"How ya doin', Mom?"

"I'm doin' fine, Tricia."

"Well, have a nice day,"

Tricia concludes, and toddles off.

I thought that was a funny communication, but not as funny as my most recent visit to the doctor. Emily, Tricia's six-year-old sister, was the doctor. She was equipped with some sort of kitchen utensil that looked alarmingly like a hypodermic needle.

Climbing on my lap and unbuttoning the top buttons of my shirt, the doctor asked: "What did you come here to have cured - fatness?"

"Do you sit on all your patients?" I asked.

Emily stuck the needle into my chest, and was disappointed with the results.

"That hurts," she said, "you should say ouch."

A few minutes later, after another plunge of the needle, I groaned a great groan.

"Don't do that," the doctor instructed.

"But you told me to act like it hurt," the patient said.

"Yes," Emily explained, "but I didn't know you'd do it so pitiful."

End of funny communications with kids; you probably had to be there. Naturally, because of Viki Gingras' letter, I'm feeling guilty about enjoying such nonsense. But why is she in danger of losing any sort of verbal communication with her children? Why are Leanna and Mitchell becoming more and more isolated? Why aren't they tape recorders like Tricia?

"Both were born with a severe hearing impairment," she explained. "The doctors say soon they will both be totally deaf..."

"They've been approved at the University of Michigan for cochlear implants. These amazing devices can restore a good portion of their hearing, allowing them to develop and maintain speech, understand normal conversation, and even use a telephone (something they've never done)."

"The catch, of course, is money. It costs $25,000 for each child. Insurance won't cover it. My husband and I make $20,000 annually and it's impossible for us to pay for it. And no agency such as Crippled Children's will cover it. We have been fund-raising for five months... We've run out of places to go and we're feeling very desperate because we are still $15,000 short."

I talked with Linda Solomon, who heard about the Gingras' case through her husband, an East Lansing pediatrician, and heads the fund-raising effort.

"The implants will mean the difference between a severely handicapped life and a normal life, and it's important that they be done as soon as possible," Solomon said. "They are wonderful kids. I hope you can help them."

With Tricia wishing me a nice day, and Dr. Emily in my lap, how can I not try to save Leanna and Mitchell from deafness? Checks made out to University of Michigan Children's Cochlear Implant Fund can be sent in care of Linda Solomon, 325 Wildwood Drive, East Lansing 48823.

If you send more than Leanna and Mitchell need, the excess money will help other afflicted children hear and talk. And wouldn't that be great?

The first jukebox was installed at the Palais Royal Saloon, San Francisco, in 1889. It consisted of an electrically-operated phonograph with four listening tubes.

80-plus attend Cub Day Camp

More than 80 Cub Scouts in the District Cub Day Camp, held Aug. 1-4 at the Cass City village park.

The 4-day event offered opportunities for each boy to participate in activities such as arts and crafts, archery, bb gun marksmanship, physical fitness, Indian games, swimming and nature study.

Program Director Debra Eschtruth of Cass City planned a variety of special demonstrations for the boys, including black powder muzzle-loading, carving and whittling, and Michigan Indians. Keeping with the theme for the week, "Indians and Pioneers," Eschtruth came dressed as a cavalry officer, an Indian maiden, Minnie Pearl and a woodland Indian.

Each camper made his own Indian arm-band, designed an Indian sandpainting, and constructed a replica of the "Savannah," the first steam-sail boat.

The highlight of the program was an Indian fitness tournament. Thirty-six boys from Cass City Pack No. 3594 qualified for their physical fitness award.

Information on the scouting program in Cass City will be available after school resumes.

Ladies fellowship slated

A ladies fellowship has been scheduled for Aug. 20 at the Assembly of God Fellowship Hall, located 2 1/2 miles west of the light in Bad Axe on M-53.

A salad buffet is set to begin at 6:30 p.m. There will be special music and guest speaker Anita Bruderick, a homemaker and speaker from Minden City.

Ticket information and reservations are available by calling Marilyn Smithers at 375-4413, Janet Hacker at 375-2375 or Sue Schmidt at 658-8848.

Cass City players set for debut performance

by Tom Montgomery
News Editor

The first theatre group to form locally in years is busily preparing its debut performance, which organizers hope will mark the beginning of another lasting fine arts tradition in the Cass City area.

The newly-formed Cass City Players will present the Broadway farce, "Never Too Late" at 8 p.m. Aug. 19 and 20 at Cass City High School.

Expectations for the new community theatre group are high, particularly among the cast and production staff, who have managed to put together their first production in just a few short weeks.

"This was almost like an experiment to see what we could do, to see what would happen," Michelle Zdrojewski, treasurer of the players and a member of the cast, remarked. "We definitely have a good time. We've been able to help each other. It's been so positive."

"Hopefully this will grow," she said, adding the group's goal is "to provide entertainment (and) to offer something to and from the community—to give Cass City another thing to be proud of."

The Cass City Players formed in early May after Dawn Mulrath and Zdrojewski discussed the idea and decided to hold a meet-

Rawson library to host "Book Pursuit" games

Rawson Memorial Library will host "Book Pursuit" games Thursday, at 3 p.m.

To participate, children must be going into the 5th grade or up and must have read at least half of the 12 books on the "Book Pursuit" reading list.

The game will be played like Trivial Pursuit, with the questions coming from the books on the list. Children will be divided into teams and play will go on as long as time permits.

The afternoon will conclude with a pizza party.

ing to see if there was interest locally in a community theatre program. The meeting, advertised in a Cass City Community Education brochure, drew 22 persons.

"It was surprising," Zdrojewski said, adding some of those attending the meeting were interested in acting, while others wanted to work behind the scenes. "All of us who were there had an interest."

"We figured we could put this together for $500," she continued, adding individual and other donations totalled $875. "The response was amazing."

It didn't take long after that initial meeting to get the ball rolling. Pat Bess, Jane Dickinson and Scott Warner got together to choose a play, and another meeting was called for tryouts. "Those who were interested read and the players were

Career day slated at GLJC

Great Lakes Junior College's Caro campus, 1231 Cleaver Rd., will be the site of an "Exploration in Careers Day" set for Aug. 17 from 5 to 9 p.m.

Bill Guerriero, Caro campus educational director, says that this event is designed to acquaint members of the community with the campus facilities, academic offerings, faculty and staff.

"The Careers Day" will feature tours of our facility, as well as demonstrations in our computer and electronics labs. We encourage anyone from the public to attend," Tim Lloyd, director of admissions for GLJC, remarked.

Great Lakes Junior College completed its $750,000 Caro campus facility in September 1987. The facility contains 8 classrooms, a student lounge, an electronics lab, administrative offices and a library.

Those persons attending the "Careers Day", which is free of charge, will receive information regarding academic areas, as well as the job outlook in the business environment.

selected, and we began rehearsals," Zdrojewski said.

Rehearsals began July 11, and despite oppressive weather recently, the cast, composed of 8 area residents, has met faithfully at the Cultural Center building in Cass City 4 nights a week, with rehearsals lasting as long as 3 hours.

Zdrojewski pointed out that the cast is only part of the community theatre. A production staff of some 20 volunteers is working behind the scenes, she said, adding Mary Wheeler and Jan Daniel agreed to be co-producers. "It takes so many people," she added. "What's been nice is it's all coming together."

Ken Hofmeister, who has been serving as chairman of the players and is also a member of the cast, remarked that he hopes the new theatre group will be a long-term project.

"We're really hoping that this is the first of many summer sessions," he commented.

"The goal is that we provide another opportunity within the community to allow people who are interested in drama or comedy to get involved."

Cast member Jane Dickinson, a familiar name to Cass City High School drama audiences, agreed.

"The people here have been very supportive," she said, adding that she and Mark Wheeler, another cast member, hope to share directing duties in a future production.

"We have a lot of fun. It's small enough so everyone can get to know each other. Everybody helps each other."

Ann Johansson of Sweden

Exchange student returns for reunion

By Jill L. Schmidt
Staff Writer

Cass City and some Cass Citizens recently played parts in an international scheme to move American goods to a foreign nation.

The foreign nation was Sweden, the American commodity, Levi's jeans. Levi's, the rave in Sweden, usually squeeze some $70 per pair out of the fashion conscious there. Recently a Swede not satisfied with the outrageous prices of Swedish denim substitutes found a way to obtain the stylish dungarees without substantially contributing to the Swedish economy.

Familiar with more practical prices in Bad Axe, U.S.A., Swede Ann Johansson inked a shopping list, boarded a plane destined for the United States and made her way to Cass City where she rested for her journey to a clothing shop.

She arrived July 29 and Johansson accomplished her mission within 7 days when she returned to Sweden with a package for herself and her husband who eagerly awaited the return of his wife and the authentic fashion statement she carried.

But before she returned home, and after she arrived in Cass City, Johansson filled the hours with a little more than shopping. In fact, the trip she made only targeted shopping as one of the many things she wanted to accomplish here. Johansson, more familiar to some as Ann Lindfors a 1978 Rotary exchange student, focused her American journey on an announcement she received in early March inviting her to the 10-year reunion of Cass City High School.

Johansson remarked that she immediately felt intrigued about the reunion upon learning of it, but she didn't actually confirm the trip until early July.

"It was a last minute decision," she recalls, "I called some friends in Cass City, and my host family...got a cheap, very cheap flight, and here I am."

"I like Cass City and I wanted to come back to the reunion to see everybody."

The reunion, held July 30 at Sherwood on the Hill in Gagetown, packed in a crowd of about 125. Many were aware of Johansson's visit, but she noted that a few people were taken aback at seeing their foreign classmate after 10 years.

up with old friends and her 3 host families, the Heins, whom she stayed with last week, the Priesskorns and the Ashers. She noted that besides the visit, communication with her Cass City friends is consistent but contained.

"I keep in touch, maybe 2 letters a year, and that's good after 10 years," Johansson said, adding that written correspondence is nothing like an actual visit. "I saw maybe 5 people to really talk with," she commented. "Ten years is a long time."

FUTURE TRAVELS

Johansson noted that during the gap between her visits here she also remained in contact with the 3 other exchange students who were in Caro and Cass City in 1978. Johansson made a trip to Australia to visit 2 of the former exchange students in 1980, and she and her husband are planning a trip there in December, she noted.

But still no one has made the trek to Sweden. Johansson's host sister, Tammy Allen, formerly Tammy Heins, hopes to change that. Allen and her husband traveled from Wisconsin, where they currently reside, to spend 3 days with Johansson in Cass City.

"I guess this means we owe Annie a trip to Sweden now," Allen remarked. Someday soon, Johansson would like that gesture to become a reality.

Johansson, a physical therapist, who lives with her husband in a 2-room apartment about 60 miles outside of Stockholm in Nykoping, said she plans to return to the United States again. "It would be nice to come back to the 20-year reunion and see what's changed. Maybe we (Johansson and husband Tomas) will come and visit earlier and go around the states."

A particular favorite she still remembers of the areas she visited on the Rotary bus tour of the west was the Pacific Northwest area. She recalls that during the one month bus trip 10 years ago, she found special pleasure in stops in Washington and Oregon. "I would like to go back there," she said. "I don't think very soon, but it was very nice and I'd like to see it again."

For now she's pleased that she at least found the time to return to Cass City. From what Johansson remembers from her year at high school here and what she saw during the recent visit, she didn't miss anyone or anything during her stay. "Turnout was good at the reunion, I saw who I wanted to see."

So until she gets the urge to check out changes in the village, tour the United States, or until she needs some new jeans, Johansson plans to continue written correspondence with the American and foreign friends she found in Cass City some 10 years ago.

SECOND AMERICAN TOUR

Johansson, who hasn't been to Cass City or the United States since her decade-old study here, remarked that Cass City looks almost exactly like it did when she came here the first time. "Except for a few new houses and new shops, the town still looks about the same," she said.

Further she noted that she was surprised to find some of her old classmates had also remained about the same, while others had matured drastically.

"It was good to see everybody and who changed. There were some people I didn't even recognize, and some didn't change at all."

While she enjoyed learning who was who, and who came to the reunion, many people recognized and expected Johansson's appearance, she recalls. She attributed much of that to the notification she gave to friends of her last minute decision. As she observed "people tell each other very fast in Cass City."

Other than the few hours at the reunion, she spent much of her time in town catching

In circuit court

One sentenced, 2 arraigned

An 18-year-old Millington man was sentenced Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court on a delayed sentence to one year probation.

Charley M. Grignani, who also was ordered to pay a $200 fine and attorney fees, received the delayed sentence after being convicted July 31, 1987, of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Joseph H. Brady, 22, of Akron, stood mute during his probation violation arraignment.

A hearing is to be set on the case. Bond was set at $5,000.

Court records state Brady is charged with violating his probation by consuming alcohol July 25 in Kingston Township. He was sentenced to 60 months probation following a Nov. 2, 1987, conviction of larceny over $100.

Also arraigned Friday was Michael S. Patterson, 30, of Caro, who pleaded guilty to probation violation.

Sentencing is to be set. Bond was set at $5,000.

Patterson violated his probation by using marijuana July 11, according to court records, which state he is serving a 36-month term of probation following an Aug. 21 conviction of larceny in a building.

No injuries reported in 2 area fires

Two fires causing no damages or injuries were attended to by Elkland Township firemen last week, according to Fire Chief Dick Root.

A grass fire along Koeppgen Rd. northwest of Cass City on the property of David Milligan burned about 1/4 of an acre of grass and a chicken coop August 3.

Root noted that the unknown cause of the fire ignited the grass and then caught the chicken coop on fire. The chicken coop, "of no value," according to Root, was intended to be torn down by Milligan. Not much of the structure was burned before a passer-by reported the fire to the fire department and the fire was extinguished, Root said.

The fire was snuffed by the 9 firemen who reported to the scene at 9:20 a.m. and left by 10 a.m.

On Saturday at 1:45 p.m., 10 firemen were dispatched to a fire at the home of Donald Cross, 1157 N. Kingston Rd., in Deford.

Root said a short in a cooking exhaust fan over a stove caused smoke that firemen controlled with a fire extinguisher at the scene.

Cystic Fibrosis Campaign needs volunteer marchers

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation Community "Breath of Life" Campaign has begun in Cass City.

The campaign is a fund-raising event hoped to raise money for research at CF clinics on this number one genetic killer of children and young adults in America. The fund raising is scheduled to run through the end of September, the month officially declared as CF month by the President, Congress and Gov. Blanchard.

Cass City's 1988 funding goal is $250. The highest previous campaign in the village raised a total of $1,300 for the CF Foundation.

Community Chairperson, Mary Rabideau said that some 30/40 marchers are needed to gather monies for the program. Anyone interested in helping the Cass City CF fund-raising project may contact Rabideau at 872-3309.

While monies raised will be used to fund clinics, the month of September is designated as CF month to educate the public concerning the seriousness of the disease, as well as the symptoms and the work of the CF Foundation.

Your neighbor says

Too hot, too early for football

Baseball and the Tigers have the spotlight now, but the Lions are prepping for their turn. They kicked off their exhibition season tackling the Browns in Cleveland Saturday.

Not eyeing the Lions' progress just yet, Your Neighbor, Laurel Griffen, 19, of Deford remarked that he's a sports fan but not a big enthusiast, especially of football this early in August. "I'm not a big football fan," he noted, adding "I usually watch it if I'm home, but I don't keep track this early in the season."

A construction worker for D & F Signs, Cass City, Griffen commented, "Can you imagine working in this? It's got to be hot to play."

Griffen remarked that the Lions, who've already had players suffer from heat cramps and have sidelined 5 draft picks because of injuries this year, must take care of their players in the hot weather.

"They've got to think of a way to keep from getting injured in practice," he said.

A 3-year high school football player himself, Griffen noted that practice season for him never began before mid-August. "It was hot," he said. "We couldn't wait for that water break, but it was never this hot."

Griffen commented, as many people have recently, that he hopes it cools off soon. He also wishes the Lions well in their pre-season play.

"I hope it (football season) starts off fine, and I want them to do good," he said. "But I'm not keeping track of them now."

Griffen resides at 5844 Main St., Deford.

AROUND THE FARM

Spider mites are problem

By Bill Bortel

Twospotted Spider Mites are beginning to build up in some soybean fields in the southern tier of counties of Michigan.

In Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, mites have been a problem this year with quite a bit of spraying necessary to control them. Several fields in southern Monroe and Lenawee counties in Michigan have also had severe mite infestations. Reports from Berrien and Kalamazoo counties indicate that mites are present in many fields. Any continuation of the hot/dry weather we have been experiencing could allow mite outbreaks to occur.

Illinois, Ohio and Indiana have also been reporting shortages of the most commonly used chemicals used to control spider mites. Shortages may also occur in Michigan if mites do become a widespread problem. The following chemicals are registered:

General Use Chemicals: dimethoate (Cygon, Defend) 4 EC 1 pt/acre and chlorpyrifos (Lorsban) 4 EC 1/2 to 1 pt/acre depending on the severity of the infestation; Restricted Use Chemicals: parathion 4 EC 1 pt/acre and methyl parathion 4 EC 1 pt/acre.

Growers should scout their soybean fields immediately for the presence of spider mites. Initial damage appears as yellow speckling on the upper surface of the lower leaves and gradually progresses to bronzing of the entire leaf. Infestations often start along grass or weedy edges, near dusty roads or in previously dry, stressed areas of fields. Treat any portion of a field which has severely bronzed leaves.

Be sure to check how far the mites have spread beyond the area of visible damage. Spot treat the entire area in which mites are present. If the infestation is more general but bronzing has not occurred, then treatment is recommended if 25% of the leaf area shows yellowing and mites are present.

A hard thunderstorm will greatly reduce mite populations but usually not completely remove them. Where rainfall has occurred continue to scout to catch any mite build up.

Super-conductor demonstration planned Aug. 18

Super-conductors, the wave of the future, will be coming into the village of Caro at 4 p.m. Aug. 18 at the Tuscola Area Skill Center.

David Pribyl, presenter, is a classroom science teacher who became involved with super-conductors, almost by accident. To increase his knowledge and pay check, he accepted summer work in the research laboratories of I.B.M. in California. The laboratory work included super-conductors.

Pribyl decided to present what he had learned to his high school students. A friend notified the television program "Nova." The rest is history. Pribyl's science class was televised as it studied super-conductors.

Tuscola county is the first place in the United States that the super-conductor demonstration will be given and printed lesson plans will be available to teachers.

Interested people are invited to attend. There is no registration cost to the public, but persons are asked to call if they are interested in attending.

Registration and more information are available by calling 673-2144, ext. 441.

"Always something to do" for area custodians

Like custodians at the schools in the village, the 2 men working in the Deford and Evergreen elementary schools had a long summer preparing their buildings for the arrival of students.

Gilbert Freeman, Deford's 27-year custodian and Tom Dorland, the Evergreen custodian for 10 years work alone in their schools. Both men work full time in the summer and part time in the fall when they also drive school buses.

"Some people think custodians have a vacation in the summer, but that's when you have your major repairs. That's the busiest time. Really during school is when it slows off a bit," Dorland said.

Dorland's major project this year is installing a new gas tank in the school. The old tank was found to have a

Crawford family holds reunion

The annual Clayton Crawford family reunion was held Sunday, Aug. 7, in Cass City Recreation Park with 51 members and 11 guests present.

The oldest member was Marion McClorey and the youngest was Shawn McClorey of Gagetown.

The group's officers are president, Lewis Crawford; vice-president, Harold McComb, and secretary-treasurer, Marion McClorey.

There was one death in the family during the year, Glen Crawford, but no births.

Guests came from Arizona, Detroit, Auburn Hills, Bay City, Caro, Argyle, Florida, Deford, Dearborn Heights, Rochester, Gagetown, Saginaw and Cass City.

The 1969 reunion will be held the first Sunday of August at the same place.

hole in it. Another project Dorland pointed out as time consuming this summer is requisitioning and obtaining a cement slab to set a dumpster on outside of the school.

"There's always something to do," he said, "even with just these 7 rooms, it keeps me busy."

As always Dorland must keep playground equipment in useable condition. Also, recently the lawn began to grow which means that must be mowed.

Last year, Dorland said he applied some 40 gallons of paint to the school's walls so only a few touch ups are required this year.

With maintenance and the 2 major projects he has yet to complete, Dorland remarked that he expects to be busy right up to the start of school.

Freeman on the other hand, completed his work Friday.

"There were no major projects this summer," he said. "You keep it up every year and you don't have anything big," he continued.

Like Dorland, Freeman reported that the interior of the school didn't need a fresh coat of paint. The exception was the boiler room which in both schools was cleared of asbestos earlier this summer.

"I repaired some tables and chairs and playground equipment," Freeman noted.

The only project that he reported out of the ordinary was the addition of a new basketball pole to the playground. The pole finally arrived after being lost nearly 6 months in shipment, he remarked.

Other than that, Freeman said he had only a few odd jobs to attend to before the school was pronounced ready for attendance Friday. Both custodians plan to keep their maintenance up once school starts, but with less force as both men will be on the road with their school buses.

SCRUBBING THE FLOORS he once scuffed as a student at Evergreen Elementary School, custodian Tom Dorland continues summer preparations for the first day of class.

Church League Division champs include many top-notch performers

The final standings of Cass City's fastpitch softball Church League found Colwood United Brethren on top of the National Division with the best overall record of 12-1.

The Catholics finished tops in the American Division with a 10-3 mark, followed closely by the Church of Christ, who finished the year one game back at 9-4.

The veteran Colwood team, whose only setback came from the hands of a scrappy Church of Christ team, used a good balance of pitching and hitting to be tagged the league's favorite to capture the playoff championship, which will be played Thursday at 8:00.

Colwood's Dale Smith was the team's ace on the mound. Smith recorded an impressive 1.30 ERA on the year. The crafty right-hander walked only 5 batters in 70 innings as pinpoint control is the key to his success. Also seeing mound duty for the champions were Duane Smith and Greg Tomlinson.

Leading the way behind the plate for the National League champs were Gary Anderson and Dale Heckman. Anderson slugged for a .647 average on the year. Heckman also recorded over a .600 average, at .618.

Colwood also displayed some fine fielding as 4 players went errorless on the year. They were: Ken Cotton, Dan Smith, Jerry Toner and Mark Wolfe. Colwood was considered by many observers as the league's best defensive club.

The American League champions, whose bench wasn't as deep as the National League champs, had many players who recorded a splendid season.

The team's best pitcher was fireballer Ed Robinson, who recorded a lofty 6-1 record on the year. When Robinson wasn't available for mound duty, the Catholics turned to Yvette Hurd, the league's first unofficial female pitcher, who turned in 4 dandy performances and finished the season at 3-1.

The Catholics had plenty of offensive wallop, which was usually supplied by Gary Robinson, Ed Robinson and Jeff Dillon.

On defense, center fielder Leigh Langenburg and catcher Mike Ware were among the league's best.

Predict entire state will qualify for low interest disaster loans

State officials have announced they have high expectations that most, if not all, 83 counties will qualify for a drought disaster determination by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng.

And, insurance regulators declared they would file a suit to force a New Jersey company to make good on drought policies sold by its agents and would revoke its license if necessary.

Governor James J. Blanchard asked Lyng for the determination, which would trigger low-interest loans, based on an assessment by state experts which show "extremely large losses" in many crops.

The governor said he will approve $800,000 in supplemental appropriations approved by the Legislature for the Cooperative Extension Service and Agriculture Experiment Station for emergency services to farmers.

To qualify for a secretarial determination, a county must have suffered a 30 percent loss of normal dollar value of all crops or a 30 percent loss in a single enterprise.

Agriculture Director Paul Kindinger said $400-$600 million in direct crop losses have been incurred this year due to the drought, and the effects will be felt for several years in some commodities, such as Christmas trees, where 18 million of the plants have died.

Insurance Commissioner Herman Coleman said the state will file suit against Federal Insurance (a member of the Chubb Group in New Jersey), which accepted applications from 1,100 farmers for drought insurance before the policy was approved by state regulators and then refused to issue the policies, saying it could not afford to underwrite potential losses.

The suit will allege misrepresentation, use of unlicensed agents and violations of rate and form requirements.

Coleman said he will not accept Federal's proposal to refund double premiums to farmers who elect that option or to let farmers share in $10 million it has allocated for this region.

Unless it comes up with a more satisfactory response to provide coverage farmers expected, Coleman said he would revoke Federal's license.

The company says the applications were accepted by agents who had no authority to sell the policies.

NURSING HOME STUDY

The Department of Public Health has released the results of a study on the relationship between the quality of care provided in nursing homes and the cost of care.

The report, entitled "Identifying Cost-Effective Nursing Homes: A Benefit/Cost Tradeoff Analysis," was a joint effort of the department and Michigan State University's Office of Medical Education Research and Development.

Quality of care as it applies to the long-term care setting and provides a framework for the development of a nursing home quality score that can be used to compare all Michigan-licensed nursing homes, said Raj Wiener, acting director of the Public Health Department.

"Historically, we have evaluated nursing home quality based on how good the medical care is. This study demonstrates the need to expand our perceptions and focus on quality of life issues as well.

Offering a patient a comfortable environment to visit with friends is as important as giving the correct pain medication," Wiener said.

The research further reports that cost and quality of care are not necessarily related.

Findings showed that the cost/quality relationship appeared to be random association with a number of homes deemed high cost/low quality and a number of homes low cost/high quality, Wiener said.

"These findings make the framework for quality outlined in the study even more important. We will aggressively pursue their development as part of the department's ongoing activities in improving the care residents get in Michigan nursing homes," she said, and noted the department would work with MSU, industry representatives and consumers to implement the report's recommendations.

Be careful in the sun

Anyone who has ever heard the expression "beauty is only skin deep" may have wondered how deep our skin actually is. Over some parts of our body it's not very deep at all, just 1/50th of an inch over our eyelids. The average person has about 18 square feet of skin weighing about six pounds.

Though a thick skin is an excellent defense against sunburn, prolonged exposure to the sun may cause a number of problems. These include premature aging, a dry, coarse and leathery surface, pigmentary changes and wrinkling.

Your skin performs many essential functions, one of which is to help regulate its own temperature.

Cass City alumni meet for first class reunion

by Tom Montgomery
News Editor

Like many other high school classes, the group of Cass City alumni who gathered for their first reunion at the Charmont Thursday shared a meal and reminisced about their high school days.

But it wasn't a typical reunion. In fact, many of those attending were hard pressed to recognize all of their classmates, despite an original graduating class of only 27 students.

That's understandable, though. After all, it's been 60 years since they received their diplomas.

Last week's reunion actually wasn't the first for some of the classmates, according to Cass City resident Jim Milligan, a member of the class and chairman of Thursday's event. However, he added, "This is our first reunion outside of the all-school reunion."

Response to the reunion was impressive, with a total of some 30 persons, including 16 class members and 4 teachers, in attendance.

"We were the first class to graduate out of the intermediate building," Milligan remarked, adding that he and his fellow students began attending classes at the new building a year before graduation.

They previously attended at the old high school building, built in 1884. "We moved from a $13,000 building to a $170,000 building," Milligan noted.

"Several of us came from the country schools in the area," Milligan continued. "A lot of us drove a horse and buggy when we started in the fall of '24."

He recalled that due to depressed economic times, the class of 1928 dwindled considerably from 1924 to 1928. "There were about 50 when we started in the ninth grade. That was during the depression," he said. "Some of them gradually dropped out and went to work."

"We graduated in extremely hard times," Don Schell of Hendersonville, N.C., also recalled those days. Schell, whose brother Carl resides in Cass City, remarked, "My dad was a rural mail carrier. We rode to town with him in a Model-T Ford, and we walked the rest of the time."

A retired electronic engineer, Schell noted that he's seen a few of his classmates since graduation because of his ties to Cass City. He added, "Some I haven't seen the entire period."

Arlan Hartwick a longtime grocer in Cass City, recalled Louise (Watrous) Coates, one of the teachers in attendance Thursday.

"She was only in Cass City for 3 years," he said, adding, "She taught Latin. She was quite a looker and a sharp dresser."

"I was going to take" her class, second year Latin, he continued. "I took it for 3 days and I thought, there must be something easier; she's not that (italic) pretty. I told her that today."

Hartwick said he enjoyed the reunion, particularly when each person in attendance stood up and told the group a little about themselves.

He observed, chuckling, "A lot of people change. Of course, with 60 years, you really go down hill."

HEALTH TIPS

Time key in cancer prevention

Time is an important element in the prevention of cervical cancer. For a long time it was believed that it took many years for a precancerous condition, if left undetected and untreated, to develop into invasive cervical cancer. Recently, though, there has been evidence that cancerous conditions may be developing at a more rapid rate in some women. We are also finding an increased number of abnormal results in younger women. Having an annual Pap smear can put time on your side.

The American Cancer Society estimates that almost 13,000 women will be diagnosed with cervical cancer this year, and 7,000 will die from it. Unfortunately, the majority of these women will not have had Pap smears on an annual basis to detect abnormalities. For patients who are diagnosed with early invasive cervical cancer, however, the survival rate is 80-90 percent.

Human papillomavirus (HPV) is a sexually transmitted disease that may be linked to the development of cervical cancer. In some women, HPV is seen in benign genital warts that can be treated. In others, HPV causes cervical lesions that have been associated with cancer of the cervix. If you have had HPV, or have it now, it is important that your cervix is screened every year.

The Pap smear has saved many thousands of lives. It has enabled women and their physicians to detect and treat cervical abnormalities before they have progressed to invasive cancer. It is important to understand though, that results of a Pap smear are not always 100 percent accurate. Sometimes the lab makes mistakes when analyzing a smear, and sometimes your doctor makes them when taking the test. Sometimes abnormal cells are simply missed by the test. An annual smear will help to catch these mistakes.

By knowing what is involved in taking a Pap smear and how it is analyzed, you can communicate with your doctor and take an active part in your health care. And by knowing that the Pap smear is still the best detection method we have for conditions that lead to cervical cancer, you will understand how important it is to make it an annual part of your gynecologic exam.

Questions aired on sun's effects

Dr. Robert Sayre is an expert on the sun's effects on the skin. In this column he answers some of the most frequently asked questions on sun care and protection in the sun.

Q: Should I still use a sunscreen even if it is a cloudy day?

A: Yes. You should still use your usual sunscreen. Some people get their worst burns on cloudy days because they don't realize ultraviolet light can pass through clouds.

Q: I know I should protect my face from the sun but is it all right to use the same lotion on my face that I use on my body?

A: It is important to protect your face because it's exposed to the sun more often than other parts of your body. If you don't like the feel of your regular sunscreen product, you might want to try a non-greasy oil-free lotion such as Coppertone Face available in SPF 4 and 15.

Q: My best friend tans easily and can stay out in the sun a lot longer than I can before burning. Why do I burn so easily while my friend generally tans?

A: Everyone has his or her own individual reaction to the sun. Your friend probably has darker skin than you and is therefore able to tan more easily. You, on the other hand, probably have fairer skin that burns more easily.

You will need a different sunscreen regimen such as using a sunscreen with a SPF of 6 or 8. This will allow you to get an even, healthy-looking tan gradually.

Q: I am already tan—is it necessary to continue using a sunscreen?

A: You should never stop using a sunscreen. Chronic overexposure to the sun can cause long-term damage such as premature aging and wrinkling and skin cancer, even in people who tan easily. You can still get badly burned even if you have a tan and this can lead to peeling that will remove the protection your skin had built up from tanning. You can switch to a lower SPF like Coppertone Lite Oil if you want to develop your tan, but remember, the SPF level you choose should also be a decision based on the amount of time you plan to spend in the sun. For example, if you plan to spend a whole day in the sun, you may want to increase to a higher level such as a SPF 6 or 8.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

Dept. of English: Ed Meese in interview on the TODAY show: "I will tell you of accomplishments made..."

Spelling glitches in the Wall Street Journal: DIS-ASTEROUS, PERSER-VERENCE, and this dandy in a column by Karen Elliott House on the editorial page: "... the U.S. in early 1987 cent its Navy into the Persian Gulf..."

Now comes the semi-annual playback of 38 eminent economists on predictions made as 1987 ended. Maybe 'eminent' is not just the word, unless it's synonymous with most-highly-paid, and also widely known.

Anyhow, last December these 38 gurus forecast that the GNP for the first half of 1988 would be a plus 1.5%. This was the average of their guesses, which ranged from Gary Shilling's -2.5% to James Smith's (Univ. of N.C.) 4.2%.

The actual change in the GNP was 3.3%.

The increase was over twice what the experts foretold.

A bunch of plumbers could have done as well.

The excuse of many of the smart boys was that the market crash of Oct. 19 meant that the country would go to pot. What the boys don't understand is that out here in the country Wall Street means very little to us. And Washington D.C. isn't important, either. We've got some real problems:

1. When are they going to fix the blackout on Crystal Drive?

2. Will there be any red raspberries this season?

3. Who can fix the TV -- the king that runs on tubes?

A presentable and pleasant salesman from Transamerica insurance stopped in to tell me about his company's single-premium annuity. They call it their Capital Accumulator plan.

Figures for my case: Single premium...

Investigation of robbery continues

Troopers at the state police post in Caro Monday were continuing their investigation of the Aug. 1 robbery of Lucky's Kountry Korner by a lone gunman.

A spokesman at the post said the incident occurred at about 9:55 p.m. when a young white male wearing a Halloween mask entered the convenience store, located on M-81 near Colling Road, and ordered an employee to open the cash register. The armed suspect then grabbed an undetermined amount of cash and fled on foot.

$50,000. Rate guaranteed first year... 8.7%.

Surrender value, end of first year... $50,545.

Account value in 10 years, assuming current rate of 8.7% holds... $115,150.

Guaranteed minimum value... $88,801.

After 10 years, I or my beneficiary is guaranteed between $1153 and $793 for another 10 years or life. If I don't live for 10 years then my beneficiary, little Jennifer Birdsong, gets it for "10 years certain."

The spread between $1153 and $793 is the difference between present interest rates and the floor of 3.5% guaranteed by Transamerica.

If you take out your money before the policy has run eight years, there are surrender charges. (You can take out up to 10% of the policy with no charge, after the first year. A Federal tax of 10% is imposed on amounts taken out before age 59½.)

Compare all of the above with some zero-coupon government bonds, maturing around 10 years out, with an interest rate of 8.7%. Advantages:

Safer. Although Transamerica is a pretty sound company, but its own investments are mostly corporate bonds and mortgages with some government bonds thrown in for icing on the cake.

No surrender charges. If you want, sell 'em the next day after you buy 'em, and commission is maybe ½ of 1%.

No Federal penalty for cashing in if you're younger than 59½.

Taxes? You pay on accreted income on the zero governments each year, but not on sums withdrawn over that amount.

Estate tax? You can leave your spouse as much as you want and there's no estate tax. You can leave others up to a total of $600,000 without tax. When these sums get over $600,000, you are filthy rich and should be talking with a lawyer instead of reading this or listening to an insurance salesman.

So compare $50,000 in zero-coupon governments. (Common term is CATS.) Say the rate is 8.7%, same as that promised the first year by Transamerica.

Assumed value of insurance policy in 10 years at present 8.7% rate -- $115,150. Minimum guaranteed -- $88,801.

Actual value of zero-coupon governments in 10 years -- $117,150.

Look! Already you're $2,000 ahead. Aren't you glad you subscribed to this newspaper?

THE RESERVE CHAMPION SHEEP poses with Shannon Roach of Deford. Roach, a member of the Cass City Livestock Club, also took home awards for best overall showman and senior showman. Roach's 117 pound sheep was sold to Gettle's John Deere of Sebawaing at $1.60 per pound.

Farm Bureau lauds farm aid

Michigan Farm Bureau praised members of Congress for their quick action in developing a drought aid package and urged the conference committee putting together the final bill to act with the same quick pace to get relief to farmers as soon as possible.

Jack Laurie, Tuscola County dairy farmer and president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, said a final aid package should be based on "proven product losses due to the drought," with the goal of providing "equitable and effective drought assistance."

He urged support for the House version of the feed assistance program which limits aid to livestock producers who grow their own feed.

"Producers who grow their own feed have suffered from a loss of labor, purchased inputs, and capital invested in growing their crop. There is no equitable method of extending feed assistance beyond this group unless it is offered to all feed purchasers nationwide. Such an expansion would go well beyond drought relief and would be extremely costly."

Laurie warned that a provision requiring producers to have crop insurance for the next 2 years in order to receive assistance is "inequitable" since crop insurance is not available in all counties for all crops.

He also expressed concern about a Senate provision that provides assistance to ethanol producers. "Our 2 priorities should be to provide feed assistance to livestock producers and to maintain our export markets," he said. "It would be unwise to provide this subsidy to ethanol producers. All sorts of agricultural and industrial users will face higher input costs because of the drought, and we simply cannot afford to provide assistance to them all."

Noting Farm Bureau's opposition to provisions in both bills that would restrict the amount of assistance to farms with past gross annual revenues of $2-2.5 million, Laurie said the measures' $100,000 limit on payments to any farm operation provides an adequate safeguard. "Provisions that would limit a producer's eligibility based upon the farm's gross revenue ventures into an unprecedented method of establishing a means test for program benefits," he said.

For further information, contact Laurie, 517-323-7000, Ext. 2100.

MOST TALENTED PET, French Poodle Nicky, dances under the direction of Whitney Osentoski at the annual arts and crafts pet show held Friday at the park. The show drew 22 children and 3 cats, 3 dogs, one spider and one rock. All entries took home certificates for their participation.

Ulysses S. Grant's horse was named Cincinnatus.

Misuse of legal drugs serious

America has a drug problem many people don't even recognize—the misuse of legally prescribed medications. Every year 800 million prescriptions fail to produce their desired results because they are used improperly, and that misuse can be dangerous. Studies show that up to 500,000 hospital admissions each year are related to drug reactions.

You can keep from becoming one of these statistics by being an alert consumer. The next time a medicine is prescribed for you, ask your health care professional these questions:

1. What is the name of the drug and what is it supposed to do?
2. How and when do I take it—and for how long?
3. What foods, drinks, other medicines, or activities should I avoid while taking this drug?
4. Are there any side effects and what do I do if they occur?
5. Is there any written information available about the drug?

Getting the answers to the questions could help solve America's "other drug problem."
