John R. Pattison, president and chief executive officer of Community Financial Corporation of Harbor Beach, Friday confirmed the previously announced affiliation of The Peoples State Bank of Caro with Community Financial Corporation.

The Peoples State Bank of Caro, with total assets of $38,000,000 joins Huron County Bank of Harbor Beach, with assets of $34,000,000, as the second bank within the CFC organization.

C. James Bess

Pattison also announced that C. James Bess of Cass City has been named president and chief executive officer and Thomas R. Gapske has been named executive vice-president of the Caro bank. In making the announcement Pattison commented, "We are particularly pleased with the appointments of Jim Bess and Tom Gapske as they have proven track records as excellent community bankers with solid backgrounds in providing the types of services and products to fill the needs of everyone in the community." Bess served as president of the Cass City State Bank for 10 years.

AND THE WINNER IS... Hemans resident Angela Berry, 21, gave birth Sunday evening to Hills and Dales General Hospital's first baby of 1989, who will receive a shower of gifts from Cass City businesses. Her son, Preston, weighed in at 7 pounds, 5 ounces, when he was born at 8:06 p.m. He was the 4,072nd baby delivered by Dr. H.T. Donahue, who started delivering babies in Cass City in 1933.

Turkeys thrive, DNR sees 1990 hunt in local area

Spring gobbler hunts for toms only will soon be a part of the local hunting scene.

That's the prediction of DNR officials, who are asking area residents to report any turkey sightings in Tuscola and Sanilac counties.

The DNR is asking anyone who sees wild turkeys this month and next month to report the number of birds sighted, the date seen and the location (by road and nearest cross road).

Persons who have any information are asked to call, write or stop in at the Cass City DNR Field Office, located about 5 miles west of Cass City at 4017 E. Caro Rd. (phone 872-5300).

Persons also are asked to contact the DNR if they observe any illegal hunting activity or find dead turkeys in the woods, fields or along roadsides.

According to Bud Jarvis, a wildlife biologist stationed at the Cass City Field Office, it's believed the area turkey flock is increasing in numbers and inhabiting new areas.

He noted that 20 wild turkeys released in the Deford area in 1984 have grown in numbers, but it's uncertain how much.

"We think we've got a few hundred now, but that could be 200 or 500," he said. "With the public's help, maybe we can get a better estimate."

The DNR, which is attempting to live trap turkeys in the Deford area for release in nearby Lapeer, Saginaw and Huron counties, hopes to have turkeys in all suitable habitat within a few short years.

Jarvis said 19 wild turkeys from Iowa were released Jan. 5 in Minden Township, Sanilac County, and another 19 are scheduled for release in Tuscola County's Vassar Township.

With the new turkeys and natural expansion of the flock from previous releases, turkeys should soon inhabit all forested areas of southern Tuscola County and northwest Sanilac County, he added.

That's good news for area hunters.

"We're talking about a spring hunt in 1990," Jarvis said. "It really can't hurt our population that much if they take a few gobblers."

He explained that he has been working Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. "Often I would get an influx of veterans and widows on Tuesdays and it would be hard for me to catch up from the weekend," he said, adding Monday will be added to his weekly schedule.

According to Jack Esau, who has served as quartermaster for the Cass City VFW organization since the local post was established in 1984, there is a growing need for Spiekerman's services.

"The sickness burden has risen astronomically. The biggest number (of veterans), I think, was 12 to 13 million from World War II, and now these fellas are getting into their 60s and 70s," Esau explained.

"They've gone 40 years without a bellyache and now they're coming up with 'all kinds of old age infirmities. 'Many of them don't know what to do and that's where the veteran's counselor comes in,' Esau added.

IN OTHER BUSINESS

In other business during the Jan. 10 session, commissioners appointed Tuscola Sheriff's Deputy James Jashinske to the post of emergency services director.

An 11-year veteran of the sheriff's department, Jashinske will serve in that capacity on Thursdays and Fridays. He'll remain a deputy with the department.

"It's really going to work out better," Sheriff Tom Kern said of the appointment. He added that not only is Jashinske an experienced officer in emergency situations, he's also familiar with emergency personnel in the county and he's accessible.

Kern, who hopes the position will eventually become full-time via grant money, pointed out that the state will reimburse the county for half of Jashinske's salary during his 2 days as emergency services director.

Also last week, the board: Received a letter from Prosecutor James R. Reed stating he has named John Murray as his chief assistant. Murray served as prosecutor after Prosecutor William Bond resigned and before Reed took over.

Village wins round in zoning dispute

A counter-complaint filed by Kareem and Tahani Khoury, Cass City, against the village of Cass City over a zoning dispute was dismissed in Tuscola County Circuit Court Friday.

The counter-complaint was filed in response to a lawsuit initiated by the village in August 1987 against the Khourys and William Hightower.

In that case, which is set to go to trial Jan. 31, village officials claim the Khourys are violating village zoning law by allowing Hightower to use property they own (via a lease) to park large diesel tractors and trailers used in his dairy product distribution business.

Village officials contend the use of the property, located behind the Khourys Quaker Maid Dairy Store, 6614 Main St., is a "nuisance" and not allowed in a General Business district.

However, the Khourys and Hightower contend the use was "grandfathered" into village zoning—that the use existed before the village adopted the zoning ordinance in question Aug. 25, 1972.

That was one of the charges listed in the Khourys' counter-complaint, which named the village, village trustees and village Manager Lou S. LaPonsie as defendants.

The counter-complaint also charged that the village's suit was filed solely for the purpose "of satisfying a personal demand made by... (then village President)... Larry Davis"; that the suit constitutes selective enforcement of the zoning ordinance for personal and discriminatory reasons, and that the suit was filed against the Khourys because of their minority status as Jordan citizens.

"Essentially it was dismissed because the parties named were all immune," village Attorney Clinton C. House remarked Monday, adding no facts were established Friday as to why the village officials shouldn't retain their governmental immunity.

Cass City Attorney John C. Burns of Burns and Biddinger, P.C., who is representing the Khourys, said the couple maintain that the use of their property by Hightower is not in violation of village zoning.

He pointed out that the court didn't rule on the Khourys' position that there are other similar zoning violations in existence that are not being pursued by village officials.

Burns said the counter-complaint sought money damages which would have been used to cover expenses incurred by the Khourys as defendants in the suit filed by the village.

"Even if we win, my clients lose," he said, adding, "They've had to expend monies" to defend themselves against the village's suit.

Cass City Attorney John C. Burns of Burns and Biddinger, P.C., who is representing the Khourys, said the ## School board buys bus in year's shortest meeting

In the shortest, least eventful meeting of any held in the last few years, the Cass City School Board quickly disposed of a short agenda and then went into closed session to consider negotiations with teachers and a student expulsion.

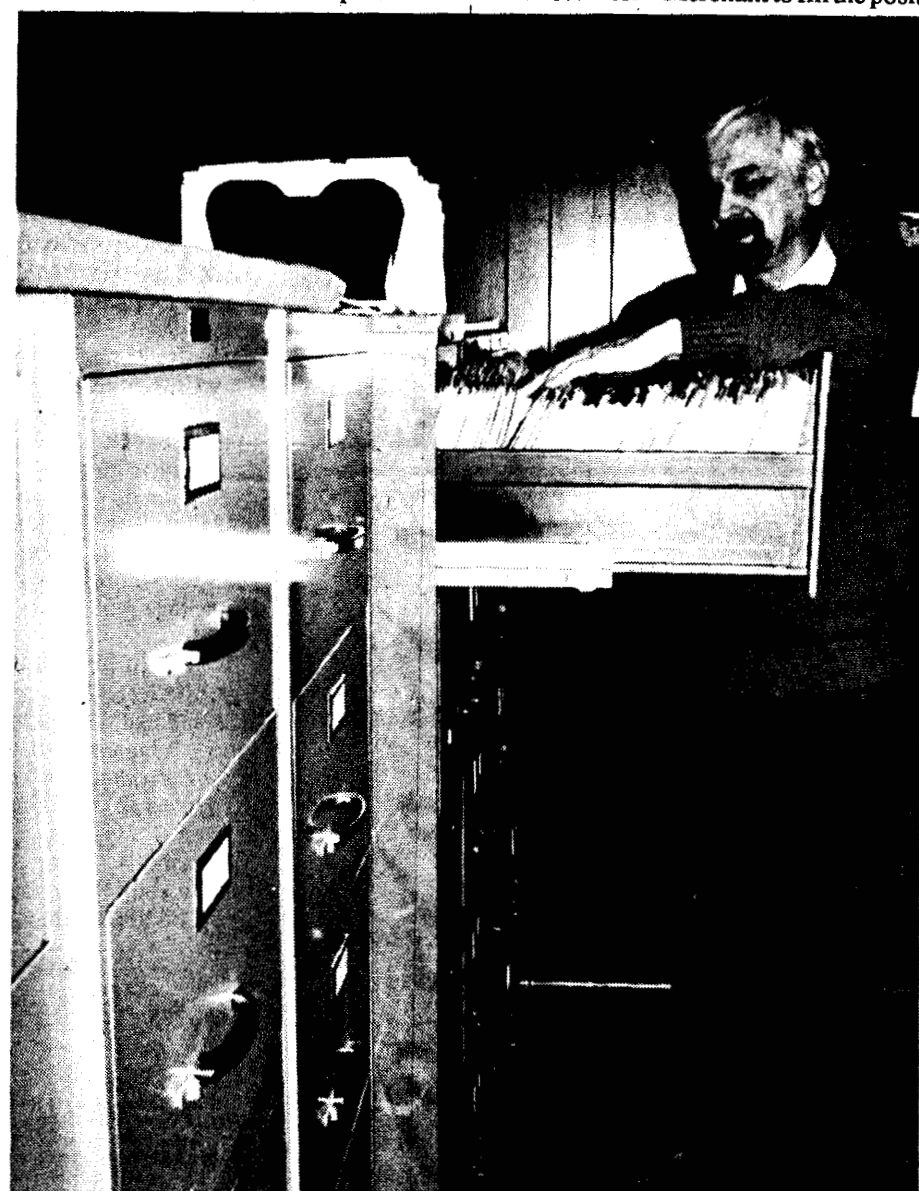

For many, the trip to and from Deford School, where the traditional once-a-year meeting at the school was held, took about half as long as the meeting itself.

The board opened 6 bids for the purchase of a school bus and awarded the contract for the bus and chassis to McFadden Corporation, which sells Wayne buses, the unit that the school now drives. McFadden was $505 lower than the next lower bid. The low bid was $27,876 and the school has the option of trading in a bus for $2,100.

The board also noted and will send a letter of appreciation to Katie Jackson, home economics teacher, for designing new banners with the names of Thumb B. Conference schools to hang on the wall in the gym. All schools except Inlay City, which leaves the conference next year, will have a banner. A banner is ready to be erected for Millington when it joins the league next season.

In addition, Principal Russ Biefer told the board, banners listing the conference championships in all sports will also be made under Jackson's direction. Routine business decisions and reports completed the regular session. They were:

I stand corrected. Lori Schlotfeldt of Edward Lowe Industries, Inc., wrote to inform me that the use of "kitty litter" in a column of household hints a few months ago was incorrect. Kitty Litter Brand is a registered trademark of said Edward Lowe Industries, and to use kitty litter uncaptialized and in a generic sense is inaccurate, if not criminal. I didn't know that, and from observations since receiving the letter, apparently a lot of others don't either.

If you're using Johnny Cat, Tidy Cat, or anything other than the Kitty Litter Brand, to soak up oil stains in the driveway, to gain traction on ice, or for its originally intended purpose, it should be referred to as "cat box filler," according to Lori. Hope that gets me off the hook.

It's sort of like calling all tissues Kleenex, I suppose. It seems like that would be more advantageous than having a competitor's name used in an all encompassing manner.

Personally, I prefer and usually buy Kleenex because of the patented pop-up-one-at-a-time feature, although at the height of a recent head cold when the store was out of Kleenex in the big box, I bought Puffs. I still called them Kleenex.

Our cat hasn't voiced a preference in cat box fillers. She's only finicky before her food is digested.

Lottie Konwalski passed along the following from an anonymous source.

"YOU KNOW YOU'RE IN A SMALL TOWN WHEN:

>You don't use your turn signal 'cause everyone knows where you're going.
>You dial a wrong number and end up talking 15 minutes.

>You can't walk for exercise 'cause every passing car wants to give you a ride.

>You drive into a ditch 5 miles from town, and the word gets back before you do.

>The biggest business in town is the school.

>You write a check on the wrong bank and they cover it for you.

>Someone asks how you are and they listen to what you say.

>You can speak to each dog that you pass and call him by name and he wags his tail at you.

Thank God for small towns...and for the people who live in them."

That sums up my feelings pretty well. The big cities have some definite advantages, and they're great to visit, but I wouldn't want to live (or drive) in one.

"If It Fitz..."*Driving me crazy

By Jim Fitzgerald

Just in time for the North American International Auto Show — and the incredible hotel awnings — there is a new rattle in the dashboard of my Oldsmobile. I sincerely believe it was caused by the purchase of 2 new tires.

I replaced my 2 front tires because there was a slow leak in the left front tire. The leak was sexist. The tire never looked low to me, but it often looked low to my wife. She kept telling me to put air in it. I hate to put air in tires because I don't know how much to put in. Even if I knew, I don't know how to control how much goes in.

And I hate to ask gas station attendants to put air in my tires because they always look at me like I'm a big sissy. Sometimes they point to the air hose, which has a quarter slot. I never have a quarter. What happened to free air?

I always pull up to a full-service gas pump. If a station doesn't offer full service, I drive away feeling guilty. It may not be true, but I was brought up to believe it's against the law to use a gas station to make a U-turn. Sometimes when there's no full service, I run inside the station and buy a candy bar, just to escape arrest.

AIRING OUR DIFFERENCES

It seems "full service" should include checking tires for lowness. But the last time I pulled up to a full-service pump at my neighborhood gas station, an attendant said I'd have to wait "a while" because it was change-of-shift time. What? I waited 10 minutes while, behind glass, 4 bozos looked at a cash register. I didn't honk the horn for fear the noise would force them to start counting over again from the year fossil fuel was discovered. I finally drove away in a tizzy, which is not a foreign import.

And the experience persuaded me that, if full service must be delayed for the changing of the guard, I shouldn't risk my blood pressure on having the testing of my air pressure constantly interrupted to allow for incremental increases in an attendant's pay.

So I told my wife the tire looked OK to me, but, if she thought it needed air, she should take care of it herself. I added a few words about the true meaning of equality between the sexes and explained that, if she pleaded her case eloquently, an attendant would happily check her tires, not because she was a woman, but because she is married to me.

My wife regularly reported every time she had air added, and just as regularly said the tire still looked low. I showed her the tread was so deep it would hold a penny, but she wasn't impressed. I finally stopped at a Goodyear outlet and ordered a left front tire to shut my wife up. The Goodyear man said the right front tire also needed replacing, so I shut him up, too. I commented that my relationship with him deteriorated much quicker than my relationship with my wife, to whom I'd been wed for 33 years. He didn't say anything. I suspect I wasn't this first one-night fling.

While driving home on the new tires, I heard the new rattle in my dashboard. I couldn't help sensing a connection. A phone call to the Goodyear man brought the suggestion that perhaps I needed a wheel alignment, or balance, or both. But, if those expensive repairs didn't eliminate the irksome noise, would he open my dashboard and cure the rattle bare-handed? He said he didn't usually do that kind of work.

Of course. If I bought a dashboard rattle from some guy, I'd have no business expecting him to patch my tires.

In honor of the auto show, at Cobo Hall, new awnings were put on the windows of some closed hotels to fool downtown visitors into believing there were paying tenants inside. Original reports set the price of this canvas cosmetology at around $70,000, which sounded like a pretty expensive sham. But a spy with connections to the awning company told me the Downtown Development Authority actually will have to pay $350,000 for the disguised windows!

So far I haven't been able to confirm that unlikely price. The awning company owner says the $350,000 figure is wrong, but won't say what the figure is; city officials Thursday said they would check.

I mention it only by way of saying I also want to do something in honor of the auto show. I want to say that autos — and the people who sell and service them — drive me crazy.

PERFECTION IS DISPLAYED BY BOB McLACHLAN'S score sheet. The area resident became the Charmont Lanes first 300 bowler of the year Monday night. McLachlan's flawless game was accompanied by games of 228 and 163, giving him a 691 series in the Tuscola Get Togethers league.

Bank slates grand opening

The Akron State Bank will celebrate its new facility in Caro with a grand opening starting Monday, Jan. 23, and continuing through Friday, Feb. 3. President

Allen Quick said that $3,000 in prizes will be given to visitors of the new facility at 1100 E. Caro Road, Caro, the location of the former A&W Restaurant.

The building has been completely remodeled and has over 1,400 square feet of floor space. Included are a large lobby, teller area, vault, computer room, 2 loan offices, a private new accounts office, employee lounge and night depository.

Authorities said that the building will be replaced by a permanent structure within 2 years.

The Haire Net

Monday was Martin Luther King Day and, as expected, the papers were full of the achievements of the blacks and stories about the progress in race relations that he started.

A sports writer points to blacks in athletics as a case in point, listing black golfers at Augusta National, black bowlers and the removal of taboos that have resulted in black quarterbacks in the National Football League as instances of removal of barriers that King started.

He also tells of a black friend who is earning his doctorate in education and tells of cases of friendship between black and white athletes.

There's no doubt that these are advances in relationships, cracking long held stereotypes. The perception that blacks, because of their color, were unable to compete intellectually. Cracked at least for some.

Despite all this, I wonder how much really has changed down deep. If you could get them to talk about it, the thought here is that 9 of 10 still feel that blacks are inferior.

If the columnist who pointed to the arrival of black quarterbacks and talked about his black friend who is earning a doctorate had instead talked about how he lived in a mixed neighborhood in harmonious relationships, then we would be talking about true advancement in race relationships.

When a black and white couple could check into a motel in Cass City and attract no more attention than any other couple, true advancement will have been made in race relations.

We don't know where the sports columnist lives in the Detroit area, but the odds are great it will be in one of the suburbs that have resisted any meaningful migration of blacks to their community.

It's certain that some of you who are reading this are saying, "Why doesn't he go down there to Detroit and live with them, if he feels it's so great?"

Which is nothing more than another manifestation of prejudice. Certainly, I wouldn't want to live in that area or any area where my life would be in danger as I walk down the street.

But I wouldn't mind a bit if a black family moved in next to me, and I wouldn't make that family prove to me that they were "alright" before accepting them. They would have to do the same as any family, prove to me that they were not, before I would shun them and want them out of the neighborhood.

If that feeling prevailed everywhere, we would have real progress. When there would be no reasons for columns like this, equality will have been reached.

That won't happen in my lifetime and probably not in yours.

It's too bad that Tara Lynn Binder, daughter of Paul and Shelley Binder, Sebawaing, wasn't born in Hills and Dales General Hospital when she arrived on New Year's Day.

If she had been, she would have won the host of prizes offered by Cass City merchants and followed in the family tradition. Mrs. Binder is the former Shelley Ellicott, who was Cass City's New Year's baby in 1967.

How much does it cost to make a key? Depends on where and when you buy it. Sunday in the Boyne Mountain parking lot, I found that out. Sometime between when I arrived and when I left, the keys to the car went poof! You know where the spare keys were. Of course you do. In Cass City.

Security at the ski lodge called a locksmith. The good news was that he arrived in less than 15 minutes and the key he made from the code worked like a charm.

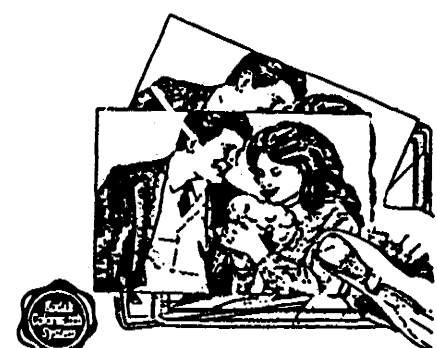

The bad news was that his minimum charge was $50.

Mike Kreger on 7-day, 1,000-mile snow safari

by Tom Montgomery
News Editor

Snowmobiling has always been a big source of enjoyment for Snover area resident Mike Kreger, who's been putting miles on various snow machines ever since he was old enough to climb onto one.

So, when the 29-year-old was offered a chance to take part in a special snowmobile safari this week, he didn't hesitate to grab the opportunity.

Kreger is one of 24 snowmobile enthusiasts who left Saturday to begin a 7-day, 1,000 mile adventure to benefit the American Cancer Society.

The group, which hopes to raise $40,000 for research, public education and patient services, is taking 22 snowmobiles and 2 support vehicles that will make stops in Grayling, St. Ignace, Munising, Baraga and Copper Harbor.

It's an adventure come true for Kreger, a dairy and cash crop farmer who shares a partnership with his father, Merrill.

But it was more than enthusiasm for the sport that led him to accept the challenge.

"It's really a worthwhile cause," he remarked Thursday. "I've got a sister who has cancer, and it's in remission."

"It's a disease that needs to be stopped," he added. "Maybe this will help a little."

Members of the snowmobile group, who hail from all over lower Michigan, annually seek community support for their venture through sponsorship, pledges, donations and ticket sales on a 1988 Yamaha Bravo snowmobile. The snowmobile will be raffled after the riders' return Jan. 21.

Although he didn't have a lot of advance notice, Kreger said his effort to help raise funds has been successful.

"I didn't really know until a month and a half ago that I was going," he explained, adding that he was asked to go after a good friend, Sandusky resident Duane Kursinsky, submitted his name as an alternate.

Kursinsky is a member of the group, which is making its sixth ride for the American Cancer Society, Kreger noted.

He said he isn't sure what to expect in terms of weather, but expected that the group would have to start the trip from West Branch, rather than Munger, due to a lack of snow.

He was hoping not to run into the minus 22-degree weather encountered last year, but said he would be prepared.

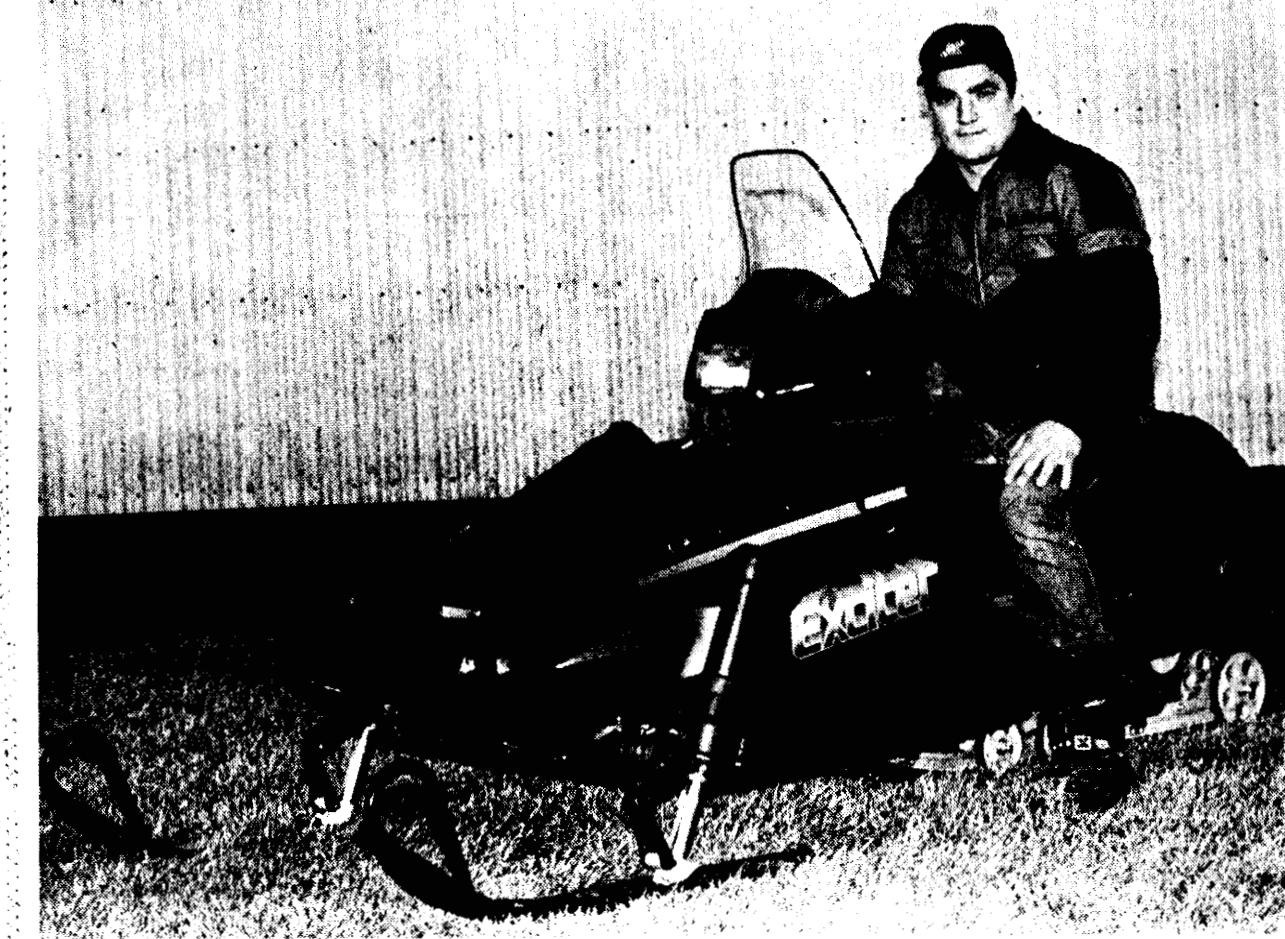

"It's a long ways to go. The trip is set up where we'll run about 200 miles a day," Kreger said, adding the group will stay overnight at various motels. The support vehicles will follow the convoy and help out with any mechanical problems.

"I'm really excited about it," Kreger continued. He noted that his family—wife Connie and children, Kurt, 10, Amy, 8, and Kelly, 2—are happy for him.

They love snowmobiling, he remarked, pointing to 3 snowmobiles (not including his own) parked in the utility barn at his 1,700-acre farm.

Editor's note: Area residents interested in contributing to the effort can contact Kreger at (313) 672-9473, or the American Cancer Society, (517) 667-0912.

SNOVER'S MIKE KREGER (above) is among 24 snowmobile enthusiasts who are about halfway on a 7-day, 1,000-mile safari in Upper Michigan. The riders hope to raise $40,000 for the American Cancer Society.

Salgat appeal denied

The Court of Appeals Dec. 20 affirmed Tuscola Circuit Court Judge Patrick R. Joslyn's decision in regards to Eugene S. Salgat.

Salgat pleaded guilty to unarmed robbery March 6, 1984. July 2, 1984, Judge Joslyn delayed the imposition of his sentence for a period of one year on the condition that Salgat did not drink alcohol, that he report to a probation officer monthly and that he not violate any criminal laws.

Salgat, who appeared for sentencing May 20, 1988, had been arrested April 28, 1985, for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol. That charge was subsequently dismissed. However, Judge Joslyn on May 23, 1985, held a hearing on the charge, and finding that the charge was supported by evidence, he considered it and imposed a sentence of imprisonment for not less than 7 1/2 years nor more than 15 years.

The People were represented at trial by Artis Noel and the defendant by Martin Hable of North Branch.

On appeal, Tonatzin Garcia from the Appellate Service of the Attorney General's Office represented the People, and Salgat represented himself.

On appeal, Salgat claimed that Judge Joslyn improperly considered his drunk driving arrest when imposing sentence, that the presentence report's reference to his arrest for drunk driving was improper, that his sentence was excessive and that he did not have effective assistance of counsel.

The Court of Appeals found no error and upheld Judge Joslyn's sentencing.

Plea no contest to larceny charge

A 30-year-old Fairgrove woman entered a plea of nolo contendere (no contest) Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court to a charge of attempted larceny in a building.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Barbara A. Ahrens, 5060 Armstrong St.

Ahrens was charged with attempting to convert $15,000 to her own use between July 1986 and July 1988, according to court records, which state the money belongs to Teresa Cragg of Fairgrove.

Also Friday, Vassar resident Jodi L. Schnell, 20, 2530 Ringle Rd., failed to appear for sentencing on an Oct. 14 conviction of uttering and publishing.

The case was continued for one week, and the court ordered that if Schnell doesn't appear, a bench warrant will be issued and the defendant's $4,000 bond revoked.

Minor damage reported

Donald L. Smith Jr., 6645 M St., Cass City, told police he hit a deer last Wednesday while driving north on Cemetery Road north of DeLong Road. The mishap occurred at about 9:45 p.m.

Cass City resident Maurice P. Welton filed a report early last week after discovering damage to his pickup truck.

Welton said a door handle was broken off and the driver's side window scratched on his vehicle while it was parked at the Charmont, 6138 Cass City Rd., between 7 and 10:15 p.m. Jan. 9.

New books at the library

THE ROARING '80s by Adam Smith (nonfiction). Author and PBS Host Adam Smith interviews movers and shakers: Federal Reserve chief Paul Volcker, fashion magnate Liz Claiborne, oil tycoon T. Boone Pickens, eccentric investor Warren Buffett, and even unemployed steelworkers in Johnstown. Government controls, entrepreneurship, the rise of the debt economy, the stock market crash of 1989, inflation versus recession, the myths and realities of the MBA mind-set, greed and the insider trading scandals - all this and more is discussed in a readable, largely episodic format. A large section of the book comprises a lengthy analysis of U.S.-Japan trade tensions and business philosophies.

THE JOB SEARCH HANDBOOK by John Noble; Associate Director of Career Services-HARVARD. Harvard career specialist John Noble shows specifically how to distinguish yourself from the competition, and quickly land the very best job offers. Noble outlines the proven techniques that let you stand out from the crowd every step of the way in your job search - from producing your resume and contacting employers, to obtaining the offer and negotiating a lucrative salary package.

THE TWENTY-SEVENTH CITY by Jonathan Franzen (fiction). When the charismatic S. Jammu is appointed police chief of St. Louis, the citizenry is divided over whether a woman from Bombay, India, can handle the problems of a once-vibrant river town now plagued by racial division. What the prominent citizens of St. Louis are unaware of, however, is that their shrewd new official brings with her a wealth of experience in creating political insurrection, and she has targeted their city as the entry point for engaging in a revolutionary attack on the entire country. Using a small cadre of deadly efficient terrorists, S. Jammu launches a sophisticated electronic surveillance campaign directed at a select group of powerful businessmen and then subjects them to vicious mental harassment. One of her prime targets is Martin Probst, builder of the Arch and a scrupulously honest man who refuses to be co-opted by the conspiracy, even as he watches his idyllic family life disintegrate.

Letter to the editor

Smaller towns
do work harder

Dear John,
I agree 100% with your comments in "The Haire Net" in today's Chronicle. No one in the "bigger" or "county seat" towns knows just how hard the littler guys (such as Cass City...and Pigeon) have had to work to get what we have.
In 1972, Scheurer Hospital here was in need of expansion and had to replace its old building. No federal funds would cover the costs -- so the townspeople (led by the late E.J. Clabuesch, in particular) rallied behind the late "Doc" Clare Scheurer (whose daughter coincidentally is married to my brother) -- and rounded up $1 million in local funds. Scheurer Hospital has stayed...Pigeon gained. Excellent remarks!

Doran appointed new area livestock agent

Beth E. Doran of Stillwater, Okla., has been appointed the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service livestock agent for Huron and Sanilac Counties.

She holds 3 degrees in animal science. She received her bachelor's degree from Iowa State University in 1983, her master's in 1985 and a doctorate in 1988 from Oklahoma State University.

Doran has had experience as a beef producer, a 4-H and youth leader and a ruminant nutrition researcher.

She is responsible for the continuation and improvement of Extension programs for beef, swine and sheep production, management and marketing for farmers and others interested in livestock production in Sanilac and Huron Counties.

To assure that Extension's livestock education programs are meeting client needs, she will work closely with local extension agricultural advisory committees, farmers and others associated with the industry in both counties.

Doran will work out of the Cooperative Extension Service offices at 37 Austin St. in Sandusky. The phone number is (313) 648-2515.

In Tuscola County

Contractors will have to register

Contractors who work in Tuscola county without licenses are the target of a new mandate recently approved by county officials.

Beginning next summer, all contractors who work in the county will be required to register with the Building Codes Department.

The DPW Board recommendation, which covers building, electrical, plumbing, mechanical, and repair and maintenance contractors, was accepted by Tuscola County commissioners last week.

Under the new program, contractors will pay a first-time $5 fee, followed by an annual renewal charge of $2, which will cover administrative costs involved in keeping and checking license records.

Although registration represents "another" fee, the program is a good investment, particularly for local contractors, according to Building Codes Administrator Paul Lefler.

Computer workshop set Jan. 31, Feb. 7

Tuscola County Agricultural Agent, Eric Frahm, announced that a computer workshop will be held Jan. 31 and Feb. 7 at the Cooperative Extension Office in Caro.

The program will cover cash flow analysis for farm enterprises and will be limited to the first 10 who register by Jan. 26.

The seminar will use the FinPac program, which allows a farmer to run his normal operation as well as a side-by-side analysis of 2 alternative plans all in one program. The program will also evaluate returns, profitability, liquidity, solvency and run a sensitivity analysis which gives the farmer the option of seeing the difference in all 3 alternatives if tor Paul Lefler.

"Actually it's protection for those who are licensed," he remarked, adding contractors who take the time to train and earn licenses are losing work to those who don't.

"We're not trying to penalize the good guys, we're trying to get at the bad guys," Lefler said. "This is going to make it a little easier."

The program, expected to go into effect in June, will also protect county residents.

"Most of these unlicensed guys going around are not carrying insurance. They're carrying risk and the risk falls on the consumer," Lefler noted. "We've got consumers getting burned everyday."

Lefler said a new computer system budgeted for his department this year will help in administering the registration program, which will include checking license records with the state.

There would be a 10% or 20% decrease in the varying enterprises.

Area farmers are encouraged to call early to reserve their computer, which will be provided by the Cooperative Extension Office.

A fee will be charged for individuals and couples or partners in the enterprise. The program will begin at 9:30 a.m. and finish by 3:00 p.m. for the 2-day event.

Frahm said the program will give the farmer a head start on his plans for the coming growing season as well as having a cash flow analysis ready for operating expense loans.

Registrations may be made by calling the Cooperative Extension Office at 673-5999, Ext. 228.

Tax help offered by IRS officials

There's help for area residents who have federal income tax questions.

"This year we have expanded our taxpayer assistance programs throughout the state," said IRS District Director John Hummel. Hummel said the IRS' toll free telephone assistance (1-800-424-1040) will be available from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Mondays and 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday. Also, Beginning Saturday, telephone assistance will be available every Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and each Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

Locally, the Saginaw office of the IRS, located at 100 S. Warren, will be open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"Tax information is also available through a pre-recorded system called 'Teletax,'" Hummel added. "This computer assisted program provides information on more than 150 topics, 24 hours a day, and may be reached by calling 1-800-554-4477."

A special number is also provided for ordering IRS forms and publications. The number is 1-800-424-3676 and is available Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

"In closing, I'd like to add that tax payers can make their taxes less taxing this year by starting early, asking us their questions early and filing early--and that's my best tip," Hummel said.

Birds need
high protein

High protein for high fliers: During the winter months many people put out an extra helping of bird feed to fatten our feathered friends. An excellent cold weather bird feed is suet, a dense meat fat. More birds seek out suet in winter than any other type of food. But birds need heat-producing protein as well. According to National Wildlife magazine, you can "beef up" your suet cakes by adding high-protein items like canned dog food, dehydrated eggs or peanut butter.

The program will also help the local building codes department keep up with license changes, he said, adding, "(It's) happened where a contractor's license is suspended for 6 months and we don't find out until it's been renewed."

Lefler pointed that most other counties in Michigan have similar programs, with many charging anywhere from $10 to $50 for registration.

"It's a tough one to do because no one likes fees, but there are some costs," he said.

Lefler added that despite the charges, several local contractors are in favor of registration.

Among them are 3 Cass City contractors.

"I'd support that," Gary Wills of Wills Construction, said of the program. "I'm definitely for having all licensed contractors."

Wills, who remarked he would like to see a tri-county registration program, added, "The thing of it is, there are a lot who aren't licensed. They do get a lot of work (and) they cost us a lot of money."

Ken Martin of Martin Electric Inc., agreed, adding, "There are more unlicensed contractors than licensed contractors."

"I'm all for it," Martin continued. "All the other counties have got it (registration). It costs me $12.50 in Sanilac County to register my license so I can work there."

Joe Howard, a heating contractor, also indicated he's in favor of license registration.

"I'm sure there are probably a few going around" who are working without licenses, he said, adding he believes the program would protect consumers.

Crucial test Friday

Hawks roll to 67-53 victory over Broncos

The Cass City Red Hawks rolled to a 67-53 win at North Branch Friday to set the stage for a crucial game in Thumb B Association competition this Friday against league leading Vassar.

The game is crucial for the Hawks and very important for the Vulcans. If the Hawks win, the race is all knotted, but if Vassar prevails, it will have a stranglehold on the championship and a successful defense of the title won last year.

Against North Branch, it appeared in the opening minutes that the Broncos were going to sweep the Hawks right out of contention for the title. The Broncos scored the first 10 points of the game in the first 3 minutes and Cass City trailed 13-2 with just 2 1/2 minutes left in the quarter.

But after that it was all Cass City. By the end of the period it was 17-8.

Paul Tuckey, playing at about 80 percent of capacity because of injury, took over in the second period, scoring 9 of his 14 points as the Hawks finally forged in front, 29-28. Tuckey played a little over half the game.

Coach Ron Nurnberger credited Josh Constat with fine floor play in the second and third periods as one of the reasons for the Hawks' surge to the front. In the third period Cass City was carried by Mike Randall, who rammed home 5 baskets. At the end of 3 quarters the Hawks were in front 49-37. The onslaught continued in the final period and Nurnberger cleared his bench with 4 minutes left in the game and the Hawks ahead, 60-42.

Randall, with 18 points, was the leading scorer. Jeff Krol added 13. Jerry Miner, with 12, was tops for North Branch.

JV RESULT

The Cass City junior varsity was overpowered by the North Branch JV, 72-57.

THE FEATURE MATCH OF the night pitted 2 of the best in the Thumb B Association. At left is Marlette's Aaron Fischer. Cass City's Bill Kappen, right, won the very close decision, 6-5.

Hawks' defense key in 69-63 win

The Cass City Red Hawks staged a last quarter rally Tuesday to edge the Unionville-Sebewaing Patriots, 69-63, in a game that was not decided until the final minute of play.

Coach Ron Nurnberger called it a great team victory. The Hawks turned the tables on the Patriots, who rallied in the last half to defeat Cass City when the teams played in Cass City. Nurnberger said that except for a couple of lapses, the team played its best defense of the season.

A top effort was needed because the Hawks played without Paul Tuckey, out with the flu.

In addition to the defense, Cass City could point to several other points that were decisive in the game. The first is the 3-point shooting of Jeff Krol and Jeff Dillon. Another was the steady play of Pat Murphy, who snagged 8 rebounds and had 4 assists.

Last but by no means least, Mike Randall's 26 points and 9 rebounds helped fill the gap caused by Tuckey's absence.

It was Randall who kept the game close for the Hawks in the first half with 12 points, helped by Brent Beecher with 8 and Murphy with 6 points. USA was paced by David Francomb, with 10 points, and Todd Manninen, with 13 points, in the first half.

The 2 teams entered the third period tied at 30-all and Cass City started the third quarter with a spurt that moved them in front 41-32 as Krol hit 3 and 2-pointers. It looked as if Cass City was going to reverse the results of the first game when the Patriots came from behind to win in the last half.

But just when it appeared as if the Hawks had the game under control, Cass City's offense went into the deep freeze and USA's came to life. The Patriots outscored Cass City 16-1 in the next 4 minutes and 10 seconds to take a 5-point lead, 48-43, at the end of the third quarter.

In the early moments of the last period, the 3-point parade of buckets by Krol and Dillon started. Krol hit the first one to move Cass City within a point. Dillon added 2 in a row to move Cass City ahead 56-55 and then Krol hit the fourth one as the Hawks went ahead 59-63. The 4 3-pointers were converted without a miss.

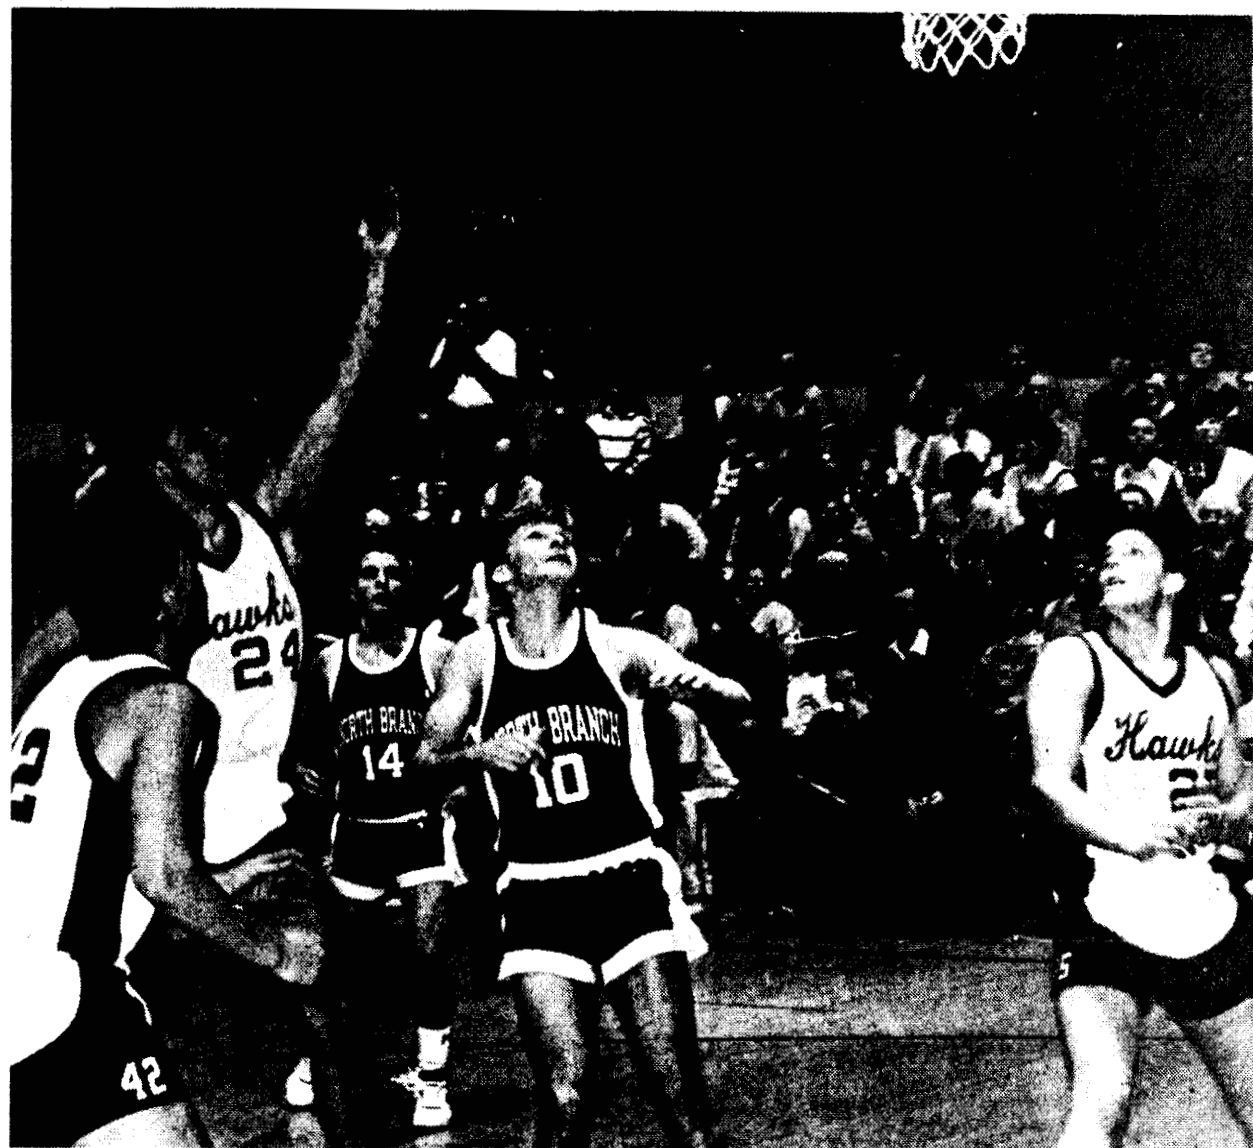

USA refused to fold and behind baskets by Matt Prime and Eric Emery tied the game at 63-all with 1:10 left to play. Randall then made a bucket and after missing his first free throw attempt, Dillon made good a pair when fouled a second later to ice the Hawk win.

Manninen with 14 points, Francomb with 19 and Scott Kieser with 16 led USA. Besides Randall, Brent Beecher with 12 and Krol with 11 were in double figures for Cass City.

In the junior varsity game the improving Cass City JV defeated the USA JV, 52-35.

HELPING FILL THE VOID caused by the absence of Paul Tuckey because of injury was Pat Murphy, who sank this basket from close-in as the Hawks edged USA to reverse a defeat suffered when the teams met earlier in the year.

Cass City wrestlers hand Marlette 45-30 defeat

When it started, it looked like a long evening for the Cass City Red Hawk wrestling team. When it finished, the Hawks had added another Thumb B Association victory by defeating Marlette, 45-30, Wednesday in Cass City.

Coach Don Markel's charges lost the first 3 matches, all by pins and the visitors were off to an 18-point lead.

The Hawks started to close the gap when Bob Leffler pinned Larry Curtis in 1:05, after trailing, 2-0 in points. Marlette stretched the lead to 24-6 as Jerry Lewis of Marlette pinned Tim Howitt in the 130-pound class.

After that it was all Cass City. Hawk wrestlers did not lose another match until the final of the day when the outcome was already decided.

The match that the crowd was looking forward to pitted Bill Kappen, with a 17-1 record, against Aaron Fischer, 23-1 record, and it met all expectations. Kappen moved up a notch to the 145-pound class from his normal 140-pound class to test Fischer.

The 2 wrestlers were dead even after 2 periods when the crucial call went to Kappen in the third for a 6-5 decision. Kappen said that Fischer was the second toughest wrestler he has faced and definitely was the best in Class C and the Thumb B Association.

The best, Kappen said, was a Birch Run wrestler who handed him his only defeat of the year. Birch Run is Class B so Kappen will not have to contend with him in the state tournament.

A key win for the Hawks was posted by John Kritzman who was behind Kirk O'Berle after 2 rounds, 8-4, and needed a pin to win and got it.

Cass City will meet Imlay City, Wednesday, in the final home match of the season.

Bulldogs break losing streak with 2 league wins, A-F next

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs escaped from the basement of the North Central Thumb League last week with wins over Carsonville-Port Sanilac and Caseville.

With the victories, the Bulldogs advanced from the cellar to 6th place in the 9 school league. Coach Dean Roller's squad could climb up another notch in the NCTL standings if they can sustain their momentum and capture a couple of home contests this week.

Their toughest test will come Friday when they match up with Akron-Fairgrove for the second time this season.

"They roughed us up pretty good the first time, but you can see the difference in the way we've been playing lately," says Roller.

The Bulldogs are also a healthier team than they were back in early December when the Vikings hammered the Bulldogs by 29 points.

It was the fit Bulldog team that recorded their first road win of the season Friday, conquering Caseville 50-38. The game was a contest for one half, as Caseville entered the locker room at the half trailing 24-21. At the intermission Roller made a defensive adjustment that finished off winless Caseville.

According to Roller, Owen-Gage went to a box and one and Caseville couldn't adjust. Roller then praised the efforts of junior Brian Abbe, who was handed the responsibility of dogging Caseville's Jeremy Steinman, who recorded game scoring honors with 21 points.

Steinman posted 12 of those in the first half before the defensive switch.

The game was decided in the third quarter when the Bulldogs held Steinman scoreless and outscored Caseville 12-2.

The Bulldogs expanded their lead to over 20 points in the fourth quarter and Coach Roller saw that his reserves saw plenty of action.

Owen-Gage was led by Brad Susalla and Marc Reinhardt, who posted 13 and 12 points, respectively.

Ironically, the Bulldogs won the game on the foul line despite shooting only 48%. Both teams poured in 36 points from the floor, but Caseville went to the charity stripe only 7 times compared to 29 opportunities for the winners.

CPS GAME

Owen-Gage won their first game of the season earlier in the week on Tuesday, when they slipped by the visiting CPS Tigers 59-54.

Coach Roller said much of the credit for the win belongs to the Bulldog bench. After taking a 10-2 lead, the Bulldogs marched to a 19-8 advantage by the quarter's end when reserves Andre' Damm and Dennis Czup got in and quickly netted the last 2 hoops of the quarter.

CPS battled back behind the efforts of Gordie Ostrander and Scott Kochanski, who combined for 45 points on the night, and closed to within a basket, 27-25, before Brad Susalla launched a 3-point shot at the buzzer giving the Bulldogs some breathing room at the half, when they led 30-25.

Ostrander and Kochanski continued to dominate the inside game in the 2nd half and were able to pull their team even with Owen-Gage at 54 with just over a minute remaining.

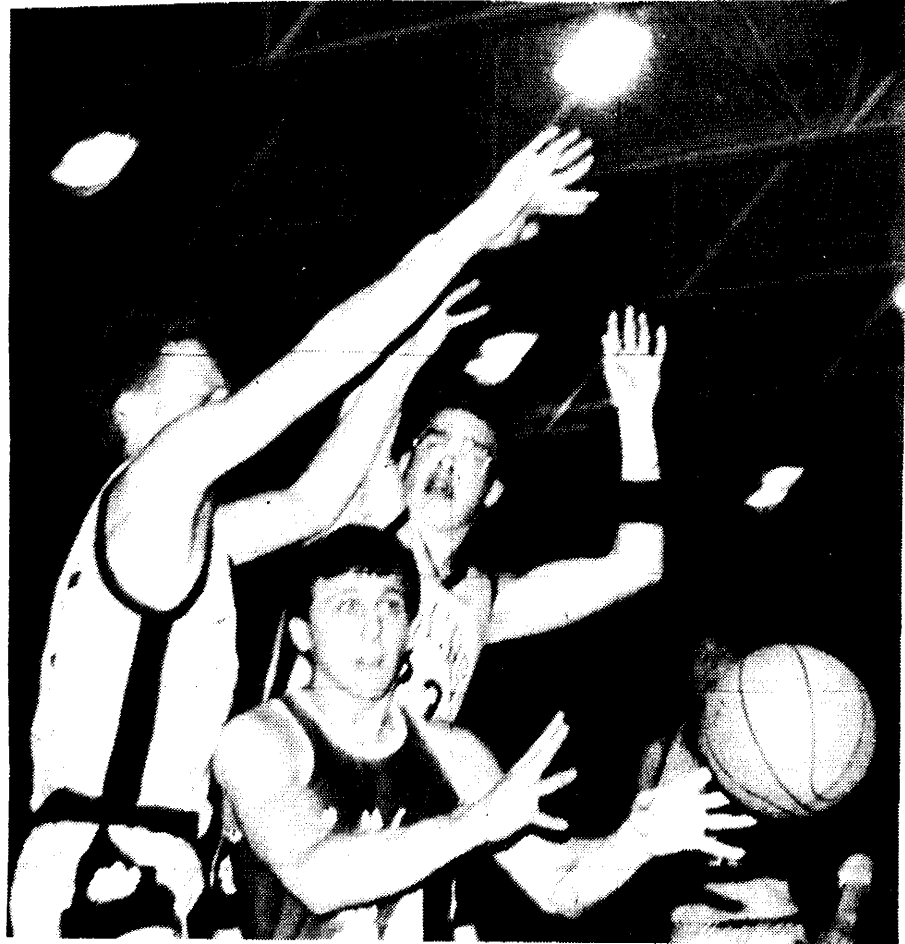

The Bulldogs held off the visiting Tigers in the final seconds, mostly due to some clutch free throwing by Marc Reinhardt. While Reinhardt was cool as ice at the stripe for the Bulldogs, CPS missed some key chances which cost them the game.

Reinhardt led Owen-Gage with 21 points, including a 5-6 showing at the foul line in the last quarter. Reinhardt also recorded 12 rebounds on the night in an all around good performance.

Also recording double digits was Nick Pavlichek, who grabbed a team high 17 rebounds and finished with 10 points.

SANDWICHED BETWEEN 2 CPS DEFENDERS is Owen-Gage's Marc Reinhardt. Despite standing only 5'8" tall, the senior forward was able to utilize his quickness to record 21 points and lead the Bulldogs to their first win of the season.

Hawk spikers open season with pair of victories

The Cass City Red Hawks tuned up for the coming Thumb B Association title chase Monday, Jan. 9, with a straight set win over Mayville and followed it with a win over Bad Axe. Coach Beth Howard's charges will meet Imlay City at home Thursday to try and stretch the win streak to 3 straight.

Cass City won going away after a slow start, 15-13, 15-10, 15-5, against Mayville. Although there were lots of good sets, only 42 percent of the attacks were successful.

Cass City, led by Cindy Powell, served 72 percent in the first game. Powell was 9 for 11 with 3 aces. Other top servers were Tina Ballard, 5 for 5; Jandi Hillaker, 3 for 3, and Beth Powell, 3 for 4. Leading spikers in the first game were Darlene Monroe, 3 kills in 10 attempts, and Sue Papp, 3 kills in 5 tries. Tina Ballard had 5 assists.

In the second set Cass City served 48 percent. Sandy Bulla was 7 for 7 with 4 aces from the serving line. The Hawks had 8 kills in 14 attempts, led by Monroe with 4.

A loss of a key starter with injury disheartened the Wildcats and the Hawks romped to an easy victory in the final set. Cass City converted 67 percent of its spikes into kills.

Howard said that the rebuilding of the team could be seen throughout the game, including the receiving and the sets. The team is working with 2 new setters to help out when the attack needs them.

Cass City started slow again, but rallied to defeat

Bad Axe in a league tilt in 4 sets. The scores were: 9-15, 15-9, 15-5 and 15-9.

Howard said one of the reasons for the loss in the opening set was lack of communication. Cass City converted just 38 percent of its serves.

After being jolted by the opening set loss, the communication and teamwork improved. Hillaker helped the Hawks to the win with 14 of 17 good serves. Top setter was Cindy Powell with 20 assists. Monroe, 15 attacks, and Papp, 12, led the spikers.

Your neighbor says Inauguration is just a formality

Over the weekend 2 eras will come to an end. The first epoch halts this Friday when George Bush will become the nation's 41st President, ending Ronald Reagan's 8 year stint as leader of our country.

On Sunday the Washington Redskins' one year term as champions of the National Football League will also cease.

When you think about these 2 events it seems logical that swearing in a new President would be more significant than who has the best football team in America.

And it probably is perceived that way, but it surely isn't marketed that way.

On a national level, corporations are nearly at war bidding for commercial time during Super Bowl XXIII, than for advertising time on Friday's inauguration.

Even in Cass City, merchants are gearing up for a "Super Bowl Sunday" sale rather than an "Oath of Office" sale or something similar.

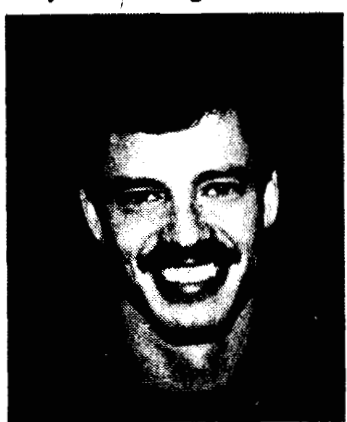

And there is no doubt the people will be talking about the episode which takes place in Miami long after they have forgotten that Mr. Bush is now at the helm of the United States.

Does that fact that the Super Bowl gets top billing over the country's leaders initiation bother you?

It doesn't upset Cass City resident, and your neighbor, Jim Hillaker.

"I think that's because the inauguration is just a formality. People get hyped up for the election itself, but those results have been known for months," says the 29-year-old native of Cass City.

And for the results of the NFL's grand finale? "San Francisco is on a roll, it's pretty hard to stop Montana to Rice," commented Jim, who is employed at Cass City's Cole Carbide.

Slippery roadways contribute to area vehicle accidents

Troopers at the state police post in Caro reported slick roads contributed to several minor personal injury accidents over the past week.

Excessive speed was blamed in a weekend accident that sent a 39-year-old Kingston woman to Caro Community Hospital.

Reports state Linda L. Richmond, 3865 S. Kingston Rd., Kingston, was southbound on Chambers Road south of Washburn Road in Indianfields Township Saturday at 12:45 p.m. when she lost control of her vehicle on a curve. The vehicle left the roadway, hit a ditch, flipped over and slid about 30 feet before coming to a stop, reports state.

Richmond was transported by Caro EMS to the hospital, where she was treated and released.

Troopers, who cited Richmond for violation of the basic speed law, indicated the vehicle sustained extensive damage.

Two 16-year-olds sought their own treatment after a one vehicle accident Thursday in Wells Township.

Reports state Matthew J. Cooper, 2405 Hurds Corner Rd., Caro, was southbound on Hurds Corner Road north of East Dayton Road at about 7:30 a.m. when he lost control of his vehicle on the icy roadway, drove off the west shoulder and hit a tree. Cooper and a passenger in his vehicle, Anthony Diegel, also of Caro, sustained minor injuries, reports indicate.

Troopers, who reported moderate damage to the vehicle, cited Cooper for a seat belt violation.

Also injured last week was Kenneth D. Hardenburgh, 18, 5340 S. Kingston Rd.,

Kingston, who lost control of his vehicle on East Dayton Road southeast of Frankfort Road in Wells Township Jan. 10.

Troopers reported that Hardenburgh was southbound at about 5:15 p.m. when his vehicle began to slide on a curve, left the roadway and rolled over twice.

Hardenburgh, who sought his own treatment for minor injuries, was cited for violation of the basic speed law. His vehicle sustained extensive damage.

Other accidents reported over the past week included a minor one-vehicle mishap Saturday on Bay City-Forestville Road in Elmwood Township.

Reports state Jeanne E. Rhodes of Owendale was westbound on Bay City-Forestville Road at 5:20 p.m. when her vehicle began to fishtail. She attempted to regain control, but instead slid into a ditch. Damage to the vehicle was slight.

Evan D. Houthoofd of Sandusky lost control of his westbound vehicle Thursday on an icy patch on Bay City-Forestville Road east of Cemetery Road in Elkland Township.

Reports state the vehicle slid into a ditch and struck a sign. Damage was slight in the 5:30 a.m. crash.

Kingston motorist Alisa K. Wilcox, 6600 Centerline Rd., lost control of her vehicle Thursday on Cemetery Road south of Denhoff Road in Koylton Township.

Wilcox was northbound at about 6:50 a.m. when she lost control, entered a ditch and hit a stump, according to reports, which state her vehicle sustained minor damage.

Debra K. Montgomery of Cass City struck a deer last Wednesday while driving southwest on M-81 east of Elmwood Road in Elmwood Township.

Her vehicle sustained no damage in the 5:30 p.m. mishap.

Cass City man hurt in crash

A 19-year-old Cass City man sought his own treatment for minor injuries sustained in a one-vehicle accident Friday on Dickinson Road east of Colwood Road in Elmwood Township.

Tuscola Sheriff's deputies reported that a westbound vehicle driven by Kurt J. Tuckey, 4353 Koepfgen Rd., left the south side of Dickinson Road, entered a ditch and rolled over onto its top.

Tuckey was wearing a seat belt at the time of the 8:40 a.m. mishap, according to reports, which indicate the vehicle sustained moderate to extensive damage.

Also reported by deputies over the past week was a one vehicle accident Thursday on Deckerville Road west of Hurds Corner Road in Ellington Township.

Reports state Lori A. O'Connor, 1560 Gilford Rd., Caro, was driving west on Deckerville Road when she lost control on an icy patch and slid off the roadway.

Moderate damage was reported in the 5:55 a.m. accident.

Ronald D. Parrish, 1261 Cemetery Rd., Deford, reported slight damage to his vehicle after hitting a deer Jan. 10 on southbound Cemetery Road north of Gilford Road in Novesta Township.

James Crickon

James J. Crickon, 74, of Evergreen Township died Tuesday, Jan. 10, at his home after a short illness.

He was born April 13, 1914, in Bloomfield Township, near Port Hope, son of Thomas and Wilhelmina (Cowie) Crickon.

He was a U.S. Army veteran, serving in World War II. He was employed at Briggs and Chrysler Corp. He retired from Brown Machine Co., Warren, in 1978 and resided in the Cass City vicinity since 1971.

He was preceded in death by one son, Andrew Crickon; 3 brothers, Alfred Crickon, Duncan Crickon and Clifford Crickon, and 4 sisters, Mrs. Vivian Mockles, Mrs. Ann Kansey, Jayne Barr and Mrs. Lucille Neisner.

Memorial services were held Saturday at MacAlpine Funeral Home, Bad Axe. The Rev. Roger Heintz, pastor at Our Savior Lutheran Church, officiated.

The largest eyes of all land animals are those of the horse and ostrich—about one and a half times the size of human eyes.

YOUR EYES

Dr. Ronald R. Watson

You can and you should protect your eyes while playing racquetball or other sports this winter. The popularity of indoor racquet sports—racquetball, squash, and paddleball—has been accompanied by an increase in eye injuries. Protective eyewear should become an essential part of the game.

The ultimate protection is an eyeguard with lenses that are made of polycarbonate, a plastic that is 80 to 100 times tougher than standard plastic. This material can stop a racquet ball spinning through the air at 125 miles per hour.

Eyeguards without lenses are useless in preventing eye injuries when playing racquetball. The small hard ball can come through the opening and cause severe damage even if you are wearing glasses underneath. Contact lenses provide no protection against these kind of injuries at all.

Predict shortage

5th consecutive year of record electric use aired

Consumers Power, announcing a fifth consecutive year of record electric use, said Michigan will face a serious shortage in the early 1990s without the addition of significant new generating capacity.

Officials said the utility's operating reserve margin has declined to about 9 percent, from 28 percent, and highlights the need for state approval of the contract with the Midland and other cogeneration projects.

Consumers reported 1988 sales were 29.3 billion kilowatt hours, up 5.2 percent over 1987, an increase that was the highest in percentage terms since 1976. It was the record peak demand of 5,869 megawatts on Aug. 17, during Michigan's long heat wave, that dropped the utility's reserve margin to 9 percent.

Saying the pattern of sustained growth is clearly established, Consumers Chair William T. McCormick Jr. said, "Electricity demand is a key barometer of economic health and it is no coincidence that Michigan's employment is at record levels at the same time customer demand for electricity is soaring."

Dan Bishop, spokesman for the company, said the report shows "a clear need for the Midland cogeneration project and other cogeneration projects."

He said the lower reserve comes at a time when the utility is increasing its use of existing capacity: through November, an average of 74.4 percent of Consumers generating capacity was available for use, up from 73 percent in 1987 and 72.9 percent in 1986.

The Public Service Commission is expected to rule by the end of the month on the proposed contract between Consumers and its Midland subsidiary and legislative leaders have indicated they would press for legislation to approve a contract if the PSC delays much longer.

The PSC has also asked for a staff report on a bidding process for electric supplies. Consumers' last major new plant opened in 1980.

SEEK UNIFORM ELECTION HOURS

A proposed federal law establishing a uniform closing time for polls in Presidential elections was announced recently by Governor James J. Blanchard and the Democratic Governors Association he chairs.

The governors said such a law would work to ensure voters in states in western time zones are not "disenfranchised" by projections of early returns in the east.

Most polls close at 8 p.m., and the major networks very quickly after that reported that their exit polls showed Vice-President George Bush would win enough electoral votes to capture the presidency.

The Democratic governors, who will urge the National Governors Association to support the proposal, said a uniform closing time would be the simplest and most practical way to guarantee every voter the opportunity to cast a ballot before a winner is projected.

Blanchard said the proposal is neither partisan nor regional.

The proposal, similar to legislation approved by the House in each of the last 2 sessions, would require polls close at 9 p.m. in the Eastern time zone, 8 p.m. in the Central and 7 p.m. in Mountain and Pacific zones, with daylight savings extended 2 weeks in the Pacific to make it correspond with Mountain time.

Alaska and Hawaii times are one and 2 hours respectively behind Pacific time.

"Modern technology... threatens to dilute and diminish the votes of half our nation. Any impediment to that precious vote, or anything that diminishes the value of that vote, chips away at the strength of our democracy," Blanchard said.

TAX EXPENDITURES

Management and Budget Director Shelby Solomon and State Treasurer Robert Bowman jointly released the Tax Expenditure Appendix to the 1987-88 fiscal year executive budget showing that total tax expenditures for the fiscal year are estimated at $9.2 billion, compared to $8.9 billion for fiscal 1986-87.

They noted tax expenditures exceed the state general fund/general purpose budget by $2.7 billion.

The 1987-88 tax expenditures included $2.6 billion for local property taxes, $2.8 billion for individual income taxes, $2 billion for sales and use taxes, $1 billion for the single business tax and $500 million for the intangibles tax.

Upon issuing the report, Bowman said officials are not advocating either the elimination or the expansion of tax expenditures, but the information is important to policy makers, who must monitor and review the structure of the state tax system.

Solomon noted tax expenditures equaled 60 percent of the amount of revenue collected in major taxes showing the reduction to the tax base as a result of credits, exemptions, deductions and preferential rates.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

Limited partnerships—the road to riches. Get rich like Standard Oil by getting into an oil drilling deal. Get rich like Donald Trump by becoming a partner in real estate schemes.

Get a limited partnership in a leasing deal. "Look, IBM is on the lease, and you'll have a lot of tax deductions."

Those were the siren songs of the early 80's. They lured people to empty their pockets to buy these fantasies of quick riches.

Well, there were a lot of people who got rich: Brokers who peddled the things and reaped big commissions. The developers who took big slices for putting the deals together. Banks who acted as trustees, and who took 5% for their share of the assets. Original owners of the properties who inflated the prices. (How could you as a buyer of partnership know whether the price was right?)

Nobody stopped to ask:

1. If oil drilling was such a profitable thing, why would they have to peddle the deal in $5,000 pieces? The oil companies have plenty of capital. They don't need to pass the hat for these little sums.

2. If big tax deductions were possible through some loophole, how long did you think it would last before the lawmakers plugged the loophole?

3. And whoever made money taking deductions? You can't produce income by cutting down your taxes, not when you can't get your principal back.

And therein lies the rub: When the deals were washed up after a few years, there wasn't ever the residual that the boys had claimed when they sold you the thing. I haven't seen a whole lot of these partnerships and tax shelters, so this is only a non-scientific observation: A typical final payoff is around 25% of the original investment.

I've also known of one disastrous outcome, when the IRS stepped in several years after a leasing deal had gone along. The limited partner had put maybe $300,000 into the scheme. He had taken deductions from income that his tax man said were proper—some $150,000 in deductions. Not from his tax, but from his income.

Well, IRS said he took far too much. And the revenues were about to sock him with penalties and interest over double his original investment—some $700,000.

So this fellow got some top lawyers to defend him. After all, he hadn't tried to gyp the government. He had acted in good faith. After a year of fighting up to the Tax Court, the government gave in and called off the assessment.

But the legal costs were $70,000.

A while ago the Wall Street Journal had a piece on typical discounts that various types of partnerships sell for after the deals have been in existence a while. There's not much of a market to begin with, and the prices vary a lot. Here are prices half way between lows and highs in 4 categories.

TYPE	Cents paid per $ of original cost
Real estate	.60
Leasing	.48
Oil Drilling	.44
Cable TV	.87

Verily, I say unto you, there ain't no such thing as a free lunch.

Calendar features health information

Most people know how to use a calendar to find the date, but now there's a calendar that might also help many stay healthier.

The American Institute for Cancer Research has announced the availability of its free health tips calendar, "Horizons for Health 89," which features entertaining, cartoon-style art and a variety of short informative tips for better health in the coming year.

Offering easy-to-follow advice on such subjects as lowering fat in favorite foods, tips for better gardening and home-canning, hints on selecting the best vegetables and fruits, suggestions for interesting health-related gifts, and some tasty, nutritious recipes, this calendar provides a broad selection of information for a healthy new year.

While there is no charge for the calendar, the institute is requesting donations, when possible, to help defray expenses. All proceeds go to further the institute's programs in cancer research and cancer education.

Copies of the calendar are available by writing to the American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. Ca189, Washington, D.C. 20069.

TIME IS MONEY... WHEN YOU INVEST IN AN IRA.

Time is money, the adage goes. Especially when your savings are working for you in an IRA.

Over the years, an IRA's tax-deferred, compounding interest turns your contributions into a surprisingly large fund. For example, at six percent interest, $2,000 saved each year will grow to $77,985 in twenty years—you have deposited $40,000 and earned $37,985 in interest!

Your IRA contributions plus time equal a fortune for you.

Call or visit our IRA representative for details.
