18 PAGES PLUS SUPPLEMENT

SOARING TRASH HAULING and disposal rates was among the issues discussed during Novesta Township's annual meeting Saturday. Ray Hayes of Gateway Sanitation Services, Almont, (left, with arm extended) predicted local rates will come close to doubling because of a ban on out-of-county trash in Sanilac County.

Salary increases approved

Novesta Township budgets 18% increase in expenses

A 1989-90 budget hearing, soaring trash hauling rates and junk cars dominated Novesta Township's annual meeting Saturday.

An increase in 3 township officials' salaries also was discussed and approved during the 1 3/4-hour session, attended by 4 board members and 13 others.

Following a brief hearing, a 1989-90 budget totaling some $107,500 received the endorsement of the board and audience.

The budget, which includes $35,000 in carry-over revenue, represents a proposed spending increase of $16,138, or nearly 18 percent, over estimated actual 1988-89 expenditures.

Areas that are slated for increased spending include road work (up $4,200), garbage removal (an additional $1,500) and fire protection (up $900).

The township's 1988-89 proposed budget called for $102,412 in expenditures and $102,700 in revenue. Actual expenditures for the year are expected to total $91,324, while revenue is expected to total $113,050.

Expenditures during the current fiscal year, which ends March 31, were down primarily in the area of road construction. Township officials had proposed spending $40,500, but actually spent $30,741.

In the area of revenue, the township received $65,755 in state revenue sharing monies in 1988-89, compared to an expected $50,000.

RATES TO DOUBLE

In other business Saturday, residents, who were told trash hauling rates are expected to nearly double soon, voted in favor of the township continuing to pay for the service for another year.

Under the existing arrangement, the township pays Gateway Sanitation Services, Almont, to park a truck at the Township Hall 2 times per month. Township residents are issued tickets that allow them to take their trash to the site.

The service cost the township $5,070 in 1988-89.

Gateway Controller Ray Hayes, who attended Saturday's meeting, told the board and residents that the recent closing of Tri-City Landfill in Sanilac County to out-of-county trash is going to translate into much higher hauling rates.

"I would think (the cost to residents) is going to be close" to double, he remarked.

Hayes, who explained that Tri-City offered probably the lowest landfill rate in the state ($3.50 per yard), cited rates ranging from $5 to $7.50 at other landfills Gateway could use.

Those rates are going to soar as the number of available landfills continues to shrink, according to Hayes, who said a landfill in Genesee County reached full capacity as of Friday.

$10 PER YARD

He added, "By January, all the landfills will be $10 per yard."

Hayes said that area refuse currently is being taken to Sexton Landfill in Lapeer County, meaning Gateway is having to bump Lapeer County refuse to another landfill.

"Back in September, we were cut to 9 loads per day" at the Lapeer County landfill. That may not seem like a lot, but when you're hauling 18 loads...

"It's a checker game," he continued adding that area customers will pay more for trash hauling in the coming weeks based on a landfill rate increase of $2.50 per cubic yard plus additional distance and man hours.

Former township supervisor William C. O'Dell asked if the township should consider "getting out of the garbage business" and have residents pay for their own trash pick-up.

The board and residents discussed possibly charging a fee for refuse tickets issued to residents. Charging a certain amount per bag of garbage also was suggested.

Resident Dan Bera indicated he favors the township continuing to pay for the service.

Another resident, Walter Stark, agreed, adding, no change should be considered until rates double. "The purpose of government is to provide what the people can't provide for themselves," he said.

JUNK ORDINANCE

Turning to the township's junk ordinance, township supervisor Maynard Stine said junk cars in some township residents' yards is continuing to be a problem.

"When you go out to see them, they're not junk" according to the owners, Stine remarked, adding that the problem lies in enforcement of the township's ordinance.

Township Clerk Nurse L. Kloc asked if the township should go after violators.

"If we're going to pursue it, we're going to have to go to the courts, and it's expensive," she said. "If you go after one, you're going to have to go after all of them."

Following brief discussion, Kloc was authorized to check further into the matter with an attorney.

2 added mills

School to seek operating funds

Cass City School District taxpayers will be asked to approve a renewal of 19.9 mills and 2 additional mills for school operation in the regular June election, the school board decided Monday night at its regular meeting held at Evergreen Township School.

If passed, the new levy will mean a total school operating tax of 30.9 mills. Supt. Ken Micklash released figures to explain why the school will need the extra funds. He said in the recently signed contract with school unions, salary increases negotiated at 5 percent would amount to $163,152. Insurance costs were estimated at $40,000 more and increment (length of service) cost will be up $35,000. Adding 4 percent to the rest of school costs for inflation, the increased cost to the district in the 1989-90 school year will be $298,839.

Reduction in costs due to staff changes is set at $13,000 and the elimination of the cost of removing asbestos from buildings will save another $74,754, leaving the extra amount needed at $211,075. A mill in the Cass City district produces slightly over $100,000.

It looks now as if all school aid tax reform is out for next year, so the increase in revenue from the state is expected to be about $53,000 or less. Balancing that will be a 20-student decline in student population, which would decrease state aid under the formula by about $51,900.

Micklash presented figures to the board showing Cass City expends $2,492 per pupil, the lowest in Tuscola County, and its mill rate this year of 28.9 is also the lowest in the county.

The renewal and the new millage request will be on separate ballots, with the renewal for 3 years and the additional 2 mills for a one-year period.

Howard defends the practice by saying that in today's society the extra education is needed and will help the student and is economically beneficial to the district because if the student is entered in adult education the district is paid by the state.

Trustee Dick Wallace pointed out that some students are coming back to get a diploma for better job opportunities and if allowed to complete their education could do it faster by a regular school correspondence course.

Trustee Allan Hartwick said what you are asking is like telling someone how to get to Caro and you tell them to go by way of Sandusky. They would go that way, Howard responded, if all the other roads were closed.

At the suggestion of Supt. Ken Micklash, Howard will survey other adult education programs to see how these students are handled.

A change in policy concerning corporal punishment will be passed at the Please turn to page 11.

SCHOOL BUDGET

The revised school budget for the year was presented and adopted. It indicates that the school will operate at about the break even point this year. The actual budget forecasts a deficit of $43,240, but Micklash said that the mild winter has reduced some of the costs of heat and other expenses and that it is possible that the school could eliminate the forecasted deficit. If not, the deficit will be taken care of by eating into a fund balance of $207,192.

The school this year is in good financial shape as increases in revenue of $230,502 were enough to erase a $208,281 deficit the previous year. Total revenue increased by $780,246 while expenses are expected to jump just $549,744.

Since salaries take about 68 percent of the school budget, it is not surprising that the biggest share of the increased cost to operate the school comes from an increase in wages. Cost for elementary instruction increased almost $100,000 because of an added teacher and wage increases. High school instruction showed almost a $6,000 decrease because of staff reduction, and administrative costs were down a little over $2,500 as an assistant principal was dropped because of a decline in enrollment. Total expenditures for the year are estimated at $4.78 million.

JOB TO END

The school will spend the final $10,000 raised by a special levy for the removal of asbestos in the school. It will be used to remove asbestos from joints above the ceiling tile in the high school. Micklash said that would leave only the tunnel at Campbell Elementary with friable asbestos. No one can enter the tunnel except employees and they must wear masks and other protective gear if they do, Micklash said.

School mulling policy changes

The Cass City School Board is reviewing a request for a change in the way students will be allowed to complete high school graduation requirements. It was one of a series of changes suggested by Elaine Howard, community education director, and the only one that was challenged by board members.

The controversy centers around what will be required for graduation. What the director wants is to require the student to complete current requirements for graduation rather than what was required of the student when in high school, if that student has been away from classes a year or more.

That would mean that a student that needed a credit to meet graduation requirements set when attending school could need several more credits to meet current standards.

Howard defends the practice by saying that in today's society the extra education is needed and will help the student and is economically beneficial to the district because if the student is entered in adult education the district is paid by the state.

2 school board spots now open

There will be 2 vacancies on the Cass City School Board to be filled in the regular June 12 election. Nominating petitions are available at the superintendent's office at Cass City High School.

The terms of Ben Hobart and Allan Hartwick are expiring. Both have indicated that they will run for reelection.

Petitions must be returned to the superintendent's office on or before Monday, April 10.

Driver killed as car slams into tree Friday

A Vassar motorist was killed early Friday morning when the vehicle he was driving left Ormes Road and slammed into a tree about 4 miles southwest of Vassar.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies identified the victim as Roland D. Schmitzer, 32, 5782 S. Reese Rd.

Reports state Schmitzer was eastbound on Ormes Road east of Slaughter Road at about 1:45 a.m. when he apparently lost control of his vehicle on the icy road surface, left the road on the south side and struck a tree. Schmitzer was not wearing a seat belt at the time of the crash, reports indicate.

The Millington Fire Department used its Jaws of Life to extricate the victim from the wreckage. Also assisting deputies were Millington Police and Vassar Area Ambulance Service personnel.

The sheriff's department also reported 4 minor damage accidents involving area residents over the past week.

Two vehicles collided Thursday on Kingston Road north of M-46 in Kingston Township.

Reports state Kevin M. Marsh, Guelpa, Ont., attempted to make a U-turn on Kingston Road when he struck a southbound vehicle, driven by Eugene H. Hergenreder, 3386 Washington St., Kingston.

Marsh was cited for failing to yield in the 3 p.m. mishap.

Caro resident Sandra K. Keller, 137 Alexander St., reported hitting a deer last Wednesday while driving west on Deckerville east of Hurds Corner Road in Ellington Township. The accident occurred at about 6:55 p.m.

Earlier last week, a vehicle driven by Patricia Churchill, 1640 Crawford Rd., Deford, was backing out of a driveway in Deford March 13 when she struck a vehicle driven by Noel H. Rice of Deckerville, who was eastbound on Deckerville Road.

Churchill was cited for failing to stop from a private driveway in the 3:10 p.m. accident.

Later the same day, Cass City motorist Roger M. Austin, 6086 Schwegler Rd., reported hitting a deer while driving north on Schwegler Road north of Milligan Road in Elkland Township.

"If It Fitz..."

The Town Sleeper

By Jim Fitzgerald

The law firm of Barbier & Tolleson recently mailed out a formal announcement that "L. Brooks Patterson, former Oakland County Prosecutor, A. Benjamin Henson and Sally Lee Foley have joined the firm and reside in the Birmingham office."

Reside? "What do you make of that? Some kind of hanky-panky? Menage a trois?"

The suspicious questions were asked me by Mark Beltaire, retired Free Press Town Crier. And I mean retired. Beltaire is not one of those depressing retirees who, immediately upon leaving a lifetime job, gets a new job, or maybe 2 part-time jobs, and delights in saying: "My goodness, I'm working harder now than before I retired."

I phoned the Beltaire home at 3:30 on a weekday afternoon and was told, "Yes, Mark is home but he can't come to the phone right now because he's taking a nap." The Town Sleeper.

Later I asked Beltaire what he was resting up from. He said he was tired from sleeping so long the night before. That's the type of retirement I'm looking forward to. If a retiree is working for wages, he (she) isn't a retiree, he (she)'s something else.

If his pension and savings are inadequate, and he needs the money to pay the bills, he's still a worker, doing what has to be done. I understand, and sympathize. But if he's employed simply because "I have to have something to do; I can't stand doing nothing," I don't understand at all.

A TIME TO SAVOR THE DOOZIES

The world is full of books to read, places to visit, movies to see, saloons to inhabit, music to hear, golf to be played, large leather chairs to sit in, grandchildren to spoil and so on. Ever since I got my first job at age 14, I've never had enough time to stop and savor the doozies. I figure that's what retirement is for.

People often say to me, "After you retire, you'll probably keep writing." What in the devil do they think I'm going to retire from? They wouldn't tell a bricklayer that, after he retires, he'll probably keep on laying bricks. I've been writing or editing for a living for almost 40 years, and it's a job that, when you're not actually doing it, you're constantly thinking about how you're going to do it, how you did it, or how you should have done it.

The truth is, I'm not an artist, not a compulsive creator who must get his thoughts down on paper, even if no one will pay to read them. It's always been work to pay the bills. I lay words instead of bricks, and I'm looking forward to stopping.

But not until I'm an old man, like Beltaire.

Of course, none of this ranting should be interpreted as criticism of retirees who don't need the money but keep working for wages anyway. To each his own. So what if, by refusing to really retire, they're keeping young parents from securing the employment they need to feed their children? If I did that when I retired, I wouldn't be able to sleep well at night. Or in the afternoon.

PRODUCT OF LAWYER LANGUAGE

But I digress (like Niagara Falls drips). Today's column started out to be a cultured comment on the 3 new employees of the Barbier & Tolleson law firm, which has offices in 4 cities. In the past, I've often called him L. Bizarre Patterson, but is he so bizarre that he would live in an office with Sally Lee Foley and A. Benjamin Henson?

I asked 5 college graduates what it meant to say 3 people "reside" somewhere. They all said it refers to where they live, where they make their home, or residence. So what is the meaning of the Barbier & Tolleson announcement? Are Patterson and friends working the ultimate overtime, living on the job with mattresses on the floor?

No. Because Mark Beltaire is a retired columnist, he didn't have to look "reside" up in a huge dictionary. I did. An exceedingly obscure — though prominent — definition of "reside" is "to be in residence as the incumbent of a benefice or office."

That's how lawyers talk, to fool you into believing they're worth what they charge you. They don't use understandable words until they retire, which serves them right, because, by then, they're too old for hanky-panky.

At libraries

PBS series now offered

Libraries in Cass City and Kingston have taken advantage of an offer from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation to purchase a library of video classics.

Sanfee Fosgitt, librarian at Opperman Memorial Library, Kingston, and Barbara Hutchinson, director of Rawson Memorial Library in Cass City, said each of the libraries has purchased entire sets of video classics, consisting of 20 different series featuring more than 200 cassettes.

Series made available through the purchase include "I, Claudius," "The Living Planet," "Vietnam: A Television History," "Great Performances," "The Jewel in the Crown," "Nova" and many others.

"We feel that this offers a unique opportunity for our patrons to view some of the best programs television has ever produced," Fosgitt remarked.

Hutchinson said the private, independent MacArthur Foundation, created in 1978 for charitable and public service purposes, has funded a marketing effort to enable public libraries to buy the selected PBS programs at a discounted price.

The foundation also has provided promotional support, including printing and distribution of program guides.

Even with a 90-percent price reduction for the video sets, the cost to each library is $6,000. However, Hutchinson explained, the foundation arranged terms allowing the cassettes to be paid for over a 3-year period, with no interest or other charges.

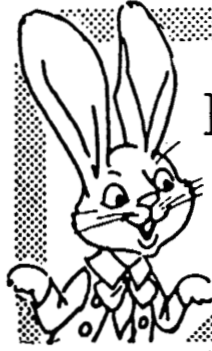

The video classics are available to be checked out at both local libraries. The program guides are available free upon request.

Community Good Friday service set

A Community Good Friday Service, planned by the Cass City Ministerial Association, will be hosted by Salem United Methodist Church, 4446 Ale St., at 1 p.m. Friday.

Retired Navy Chaplain Stan J. Beach will bring the message for the day. Beach, a native of Cass City, served 27 years with Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard units at sea, ashore and overseas, including combat in Vietnam.

He was assigned to the Temporary Disability Retired List in March 1987 and returned to make his home in Cass City. He continues to be available as a preacher and a counselor and is also active in community affairs.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire
(And anyone else he can get to help.)

A dubious record the Cass City Red Hawks set in 1935 went by the boards over the weekend. Cass City was the co-owner of the record for losing by the widest margin of any team that reached the finals of the Michigan High School Athletic Association basketball tournament. Marine City and the Hawks lost by 32 points. Cass City fell to Holland Christian, 49-17.

Last weekend Detroit Country Day defeated Ishpeming, 82-43.

The money wasn't wanted, but it's sure that the family must have a warm glow to know that there were plenty of folks in Cass City who liked and appreciated Luis Salas that showed up at a dinner-auction and raised about $2,000.

The money will be donated for use at the park. Maybe a plaque is in order?

Sandusky will be following in the footsteps of Cass City April 15 and 16 when Artrain will visit. The theme this year: "Treasures of Childhood: 150 years of American Toys." As always, there is no admission charge, but a small donation is suggested.

Just in case you like to know, these are the players who set that record mentioned above: Arthur Battel, Basil Quick, Grover Hulbert, Clare Ballagh, Grant Ball, Grant Reagh, Edward Graham, Fred Ward, Elton Vyse, Lloyd Donnelly, Carl Stafford and Willard Davidson.

These players also tied a more enviable record. They were players on one of only 2 teams from Cass City to reach the state finals. The other was the 1944 squad, which also suffered a one-sided defeat.

Don't let the snow fool you. It's spring. How else can you explain that Jean Reid saw robins Monday?

That's robins, not just a robin, pardner. She saw 30 (count 'em) 30 of those harbingers of the change in seasons. That has to be a record no matter what the season.

Hunter course set

A hunter safety class for youths and adults will hold April 6, 7 and 8 at the Tuscola County Archery Club, located south of the Caro Regional Mental Health Center on Bruisee Road.

Interested persons must attend all 3 sessions, which will be held from 6 to 9:30 p.m. April 6 and 7, and from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. April 8. The course will include hunting ethics, sportsmanship, compass reading, gun and bow handling, survival, first aid, game management and shooting. A minimal fee will be charged to cover the cost of a shoulder patch, ammunition and targets.

Registration and course workbooks are available at the Community Service Office at Caro Community Schools. Additional information is available by calling 673-2705.

Catholic women meeting set

The East Region Council of Catholic Women spring meeting will be hosted at St. Columbkille Parish, Sheridan Corners, April 12.

The theme for the day will be "Rejoice in the Lord Always."

Reservations and additional information are available by calling Rose Mary Messing at (517) 864-3758 by April 10.

Pigs must be tested

The Michigan Legislature has passed a new animal health act. As of March 25, 1989, feeder pigs must originate from herds that have been tested and found to be free of pseudorabies (PRV). To satisfy the requirements for PRV-free status, a feeder pig producer must have a subsample of their herd blood tested for PRV. The number of animals to be tested depends on herd size. Also, feeder pigs must be identified by an eartag or ear tattoo. Producers are advised to contact their local veterinarian. PHARMACY DEPARTMENT ACCIDENT PREVENTION TIPS

Poison
Prevention
Week
March 19-25

What to do if a poisoning occurs.

Call the Saginaw Region
Poison Center at:

(517) 755-1111

When you call the Poison Center, have the following information ready:

- age and weight of the poison victim
- name of the poison product, and how much was involved in the exposure
- the length of time since exposure
- any symptoms that have occurred
- any treatment that has been given to the victim
- your name and telephone number

USE HOUSEHOLD PRODUCTS CAREFULLY
Know your home.

Products that add shine to your home, sparkle to your glass, glisten to your chrome may make chores easier and more pleasant...but they can be harmful to your family.

Children are naturally curious. They touch, hold and taste things as a way of learning. When hungry or thirsty, some harmful products may look and smell a lot like a child's favorite food or drink.

As a child's taste buds are not well developed, he or she may not spit out bitter or foul tasting substances. Don't wait until your child is poisoned. Do something NOW.

1. Children (and adults) don't always recognize a poison. Cosmetics, cold remedies, mouthwashes, colognes, etc., can all be dangerous. Read labels carefully. Once you recognize products that can be harmful, please use them with care.
2. Teach your child that a poison can hurt. Explain that poisons can look like foods or treats and that he must ask a grownup before he eats or drinks something.
3. Store products in their original containers NOT in cups, bowls, bottles which children associate with food.
4. Manufacturers make their products attractive to sell them. Realize that a child may be attracted also.
5. Install child-resistant latches and locks on cupboards where harmful products are stored.

- Antibacterial ointment for minor cuts and abrasions.
- Antihistamines for allergy sufferers.

HEIMLICH MANEUVER First Aid for Choking Victims

You're at a restaurant. Your friend clutches her throat - a piece of food is blocking her airway. She can't speak - she can't cough. She's choking. Do you know what to do? Your toddler finds a forgotten peanut behind the kitchen cabinet. He swallows it and it becomes lodged in his throat. He's in distress but he can't make a sound. Can you help him? YES. By learning the Heimlich maneuver - a simple life-saving technique - you may literally save the life of a choking victim.

The Basic Heimlich

Do not perform the Heimlich maneuver if the victim is coughing, speaking, or breathing. If the person cannot cough, speak, or breathe, proceed as follows:
*Note: When performing the maneuver on infants or toddlers, use the index and middle fingers of both hands to perform the thrust - do not use your fist.

THUMB AREA HOME CARE AGENCY

Call (517) 674-8746 or 1-800-358-4749
Under certain circumstances your prescription drugs can act like poisons.

THUMB AREA HOME CARE AGENCY RECOMMENDS:

- Always keep prescription drugs in a safe, dry location out of the reach of children.
- Never share prescriptions with another person.
- Do not keep unused prescriptions around the house for use later.
- If a doctor gives you a prescription, be sure he/she knows other prescriptions or over-the-counter drugs you are taking from another doctor.
- Be sure you know what your prescriptions are for and what are the possible side effects.
- Tell your doctor if you think you are having side effects. Don't stop or change your dosage without talking it over with your doctor.

Prescription drugs are an important part of medical treatment when properly used. Avoid these pitfalls and get the most out of your prescriptions.

Residents asked to join community band

Area residents who enjoy music and can play an instrument are invited to participate in a new community band being organized and sponsored by the Cass City Community Education Department.

The new music group, to be called the "North Seeger Street Band", is designed to be an enrichment type band that will play a variety of music styles, including jazz, concert and Dixieland pieces.

The group will meet in the Cass City High School Music Room from 7 to 8:30 p.m. every Tuesday, beginning April 4, for 10 weeks. The only charge will be a small registration fee.

Community education officials, who said a park performance is being discussed, urged former and current school band members (who are at least 16 years old) to dust off band instruments and join the group.

Registration and additional information are available by calling the community education office at 872-4151.

TOWNSHIP OF NOVESTA NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Zoning Board of the Township of Novesta, Tuscola County, Michigan will conduct a Public Hearing on a proposed new Rural Zoning Ordinance to replace the Township's current ordinance, which was adopted in January 1977, and as has since been amended. The Public Hearing will be held as follows:

Tuesday, April 11, 1989 at 7:00 p.m.

Novesta Township Hall

Deckerville Road 600' east of Kingston Road
Cass City (Deford), Michigan 48726

The proposed revisions are intended to replace the 1977 ordinance to conform with changes in the state enabling act, state supreme court decisions and the experience of the Township with the ordinance. These changes principally effect the purpose, land use districts, and special land use permits as provided in the ordinance. It is proposed that the RA Residential Agricultural District be changed to three districts including an A-1, Agricultural District, a FC-1 Forestry and Conservation District and an R-1 Residential District. The B Business District would be revised into a B-1 Business District and the I-1 Light Industrial District will be revised into a M-1 Manufacturing/Distribution District. The proposed changes will be explained at the Public Hearing.

The zoning map will accordingly be changed to reflect the revised districts. Generally the proposed R-1 Residential Districts and B-1 Business Districts will be around the unincorporated village of Deford. Manufacturing districts will not be provided on the initial zoning map, but are provided for in the ordinance text. The FC-1 Forestry and Conservation Districts will be limited to the Cass City State Game Area and the Deford State Game Area.

The proposed revision of the Zoning Ordinance Text and Zoning District Map will be on file for public inspection at the residence of Nursie Kloc, Township Clerk, 6195 Severance Road (Call 872-2839 for an appointment) or the residence of Lucille DeLong, Zoning Administrator, 3447 Englehart Road (Call 872-3679 for an appointment), both have Cass City addresses. Also, the zoning Ordinance Text and Zoning District Map will be on file for public inspection at the Rawson Memorial Library, 6495 Pine Street, Cass City during normal library hours. Copies may be purchased by calling the Township Clerk at 872-2839. Written comments regarding the proposed revisions will also be accepted for review at the public hearing.

Tuscola commissioners

Okay recreation plan

Tuscola commissioners last week gave the county Planning Commission their blessing to develop a plan that will enable the county to apply for state funding for park and recreation improvement projects.

The county board approved 2 measures towards that end after hearing an update report from Tam Trudeau, vice-chairman of the planning board.

Commissioners voted to hire Mark Horning of Landscape Architects and Planners, Grand Ledge, to help draft a master recreation plan for the county. They also approved spending up to $7,000 to research and draft the plan.

County Controller Michael Hoagland said a formal parks and recreation plan will allow the county to apply for a number of funding sources, including recreation bond monies approved by Michigan voters last fall.

In other business during the March 14 regular session, commissioners failed to agree on a resolution regarding the state's bottle deposit bill, and a motion involving payment for computer equipment.

The board defeated on a vote of 4-3 a resolution from Iron County that favors expansion of the state's bottle deposit bill to include liquor and fruit beverage containers.

Commissioner Kim D. Glaspie (D-Cass City), who voted in favor of the resolution, said the measure failed because the wording was "pretty broad."

He said commissioners who opposed the motion were asked to re-draft the resolution in a form they would support.

Voting with Glaspie were commissioners Michael Green (R-Mayville) and Arnold Krumnauer (R-Vassar), while "no" votes were cast by commissioners Norma Bates (D-Caro), board Chairman William Worth (D-Millington), Robert Russell (D-Vassar) and Terry Houthoofd (R-Akron).

Also defeated, on a 5-2 vote, was a motion to allow Accounting Data Systems, Caro, to turn the county's remaining computer equipment payments over to a third party.

Commissioners Glaspie, Green, Bates, Russell and Houthoofd were opposed to the measure. Glaspie said the agreement wouldn't have benefitted the county. By rejecting it, on the other hand, the county will be able to pay the remaining balance at a discount and savings, he said, adding a single payment of $10,400 will be made, compared to monthly installments totalling $11,774.

Also last week, the board: •Extended for one year the county's agreement with Corporate Services, Inc. to administer the county's Self-Insured Workers Compensation Program.

•Approved spending up to $1,500 for the preparation of a county report, which will outline accomplishments and activities at the county level over the past year.

•Accepted a lone bid of $18,195 from Othersen Insurance Agency, Unionville, for vehicle insurance. The bid represents a cost increase of about $5,000 from a year ago.

•Approved additional expenditures of $5,000 in the area of probate child care for counseling delinquent youths.

•Adopted a resolution, recommended by the register of deeds, stating opposition to a state proposal to tax the property transfer tax, a traditional revenue source for the county.

•Adopted a resolution allowing Genesee County law enforcement officials to transfer emergency 911 calls it receives from Tuscola County residents back to Tuscola County. A portion of the county is included in Genesee County's new 911 system, which was implemented Thursday.

For one year Governor seeks millions for cleanup

Governor James J. Blanchard has asked the legislature to approve $101 million of the $800 million in bonds approved by voters in November toward cleanup of 65 hazardous waste sites, closing 89 unlicensed landfills, improving 43 state parks, and aiding wastewater treatment and protection of the Great Lakes.

The amount is the most the Department of Natural Resources can spend this fiscal year "to get the job done and not waste money," Blanchard said.

The Natural Resources Commission approved emergency rules last month to implement the bond program, rather than seek legislative approval of regular rules, in order to ensure money could be used for work this summer.

The governor's recommendation will have to be approved under a supplemental appropriation bill yet to be introduced in the legislature.

Management and Budget Director Shelby Solomon said that process would get underway as soon as possible, but did not have a time frame in which he hoped the bill would be passed.

The bonds needed for the approved projects will be marketed as soon as the legislature passes the supplemental, which the governor hopes will be done before interest rates rise any higher than the 7.5 percent now existing.

The governor's proposal includes:

- $23.2 million in hazardous waste programs, for final cleanup at 4 sites, final

O.K. raises for appeal board

The Elkland Township Board last week approved $20 raises for the township's 3 Board of Review members.

Township Clerk Norma Wallace said each of the members, who usually meet 3 days a year, will now be paid $50 per day.

In other business during the March 13 monthly meeting, the board approved a $300 donation to the Thumb Narcotics Unit, and decided to purchase the township's insurance from Michigan Community Underwriters, Mt. Clemens.

Wallace had no specific figures, but said the decision to go with the carrier will mean additional coverage for less money. Also, all of the township's insurance coverage will now be under one policy, compared to 4 separate policies previously, she said.

The board advertised for bids before deciding on Michigan Community, Wallace noted, but no bids were submitted.

plans at 7 others, surface cleanup at 35 sites and further investigation at 20 sites.

Natural Resources Director David Hales said the sites are not the top 65 listed in the department's priority list of worst sites demanding attention because not all are at similar stages for action.

The largest amount for final cleanup is $1 million at the Hartley and Hartley site in Bay County for such things as fencing, installation of a purge system and additional monitoring wells.

The largest amount recommended for any site, $5 million, would go for surface cleanup of the Sunrise Landfill in Allegan County to cap the landfill and remove and characterize the waste; another $225,000 would be used for remedial investigation.

-- $20 million for 114 projects at 43 state parks for things such as renovation and repair of sewage systems, resurfacing roads and parking lots, updating electrical systems, repairing and renovating buildings and addressing beach erosion.

Of the proposed funds, $3 million will be spent in the Upper Peninsula, $2.7 million at Lake Michigan parks, $5 million on the east side of the state and $8 million in Southeast Michigan.

The governor said action would be taken as soon as possible on anticipated requests by local governments for their parks and recreation areas.

-- $8.2 million, to be matched by $41 million in federal funds, for a revolving loan fund to aid local financing of new or improved wastewater treatment facilities.

-- $21.9 million for proper covering and monitoring of the state's remaining unlicensed landfills, which officials say pose threats of groundwater contamination. Communities must apply for the funds by Oct. 15.

-- $25 million as the state's contribution to the 8-state Great Lakes Protection Fund.

Sen. Phil Arthurhultz (R-Muskegon), chair of the Natural Resources Appropria-

Subcommittee, said most problems in dealing with the recommendation will be technical in nature.

He said the questions he will have are whether the hazardous waste funding follows the criteria of the state hazardous waste response act without being bent for political reasons, and that the DNR is not "biting off more than it can chew."

OPPOSES WATER DIVERSION PLAN

Governor James J. Blanchard has said he would not approve a plan giving the Army Corps of Engineers complete authority to divert Lake Michigan water to facilitate barge traffic on Illinois rivers and canals.

The Corps has requested the authorization to divert Lake Michigan water at Chicago in the event of "an emergency which can restrict commerce or impede navigation on the Illinois Waterway."

Under the proposal, the emergency condition, including the need to complete repairs or maintenance of navigable facilities on the Illinois waterway, could be eased by temporarily increasing flow from the prescribed average of 3,200 cubic feet per second to a maximum of 10,000 cubic feet per second for 10 days.

Research shows citrus fruit may offer cancer protection

The next time your breakfast includes a tangy glass of orange juice or half a grapefruit, don't make a face if it has a slightly bitter taste. Those compounds which give citrus fruit some of its bitterness may also offer increased protection against cancer.

A new research project, funded by the American Institute for Cancer Research, is studying "limonoids," the compounds responsible for some of the bitter taste in citrus fruits. This research, conducted by Luke K.T. Lam, Ph.D., a researcher at the Gray Freshwater Biological Institute of the University of Minnesota, is examining how these compounds may stimulate the body's natural defenses against cancer.

Scientists know that each day we are exposed to a variety of cancer-causing substances in our environment. These potential carcinogens come from many common sources, including radiation, smoking, industrial chemicals, pollution and even sunlight.

But most of us don't get cancer because our bodies are able to remove or fight these poisons before they damage cells and lead to cancer. Research, such as Dr. Lam's, is looking at the ways in which the foods we eat can stimulate this "detoxification" process and thus offer us greater cancer protection.

Dr. Lam and his co-workers have examined a number of different foods. One study of Dr. Lam's found that certain compounds in green coffee beans could prevent breast cancer in laboratory animals.

Although humans don't eat green coffee beans, Dr. Lam discovered that compounds with similar structural features were also found in foods we do eat: oranges, lemons, limes and grapefruits. Preliminary tests indicated that these compounds, called limonoids, could stimulate the detoxification system.

With this new study, funded by the American Institute for Cancer Research, Dr. Lam will be testing how effective these compounds are in increasing the detoxification process. He will also be examining the effect these limonoids have in actually preventing cancer in laboratory animals.

It may be too soon to advise looking for the bitterest orange or grapefruit at your supermarket. And it's certainly too early to know if that extra glass of orange juice will really reduce your cancer risk. But through research such as Dr. Lam's, science is beginning to understand more completely how important our food choices are in keeping our bodies healthy.

Your neighbor says

Increase standards for drunk driving

Americans love cars and they love to drive them. Some romance the old autos, several fancy the modern sports cars, while others have a fondness for the unique or specialized rigs.

Unfortunately many of these same individuals are drunk drivers. We asked Gagetown resident Matt Rabideau what he thought could be done to battle this problem?

"I think education programs are important," says the 17-year-old Cass City High School senior. Rabideau also believes that media campaigns could help reduce the number of drunk drivers which has been on the rise over the past several years.

When questioned if he considers police roadblocks an acceptable practice to weed out drivers over the legal drinking limits, Rabideau replied animatedly, "that's unconstitutional."

Furthermore, Rabideau, who plans to attend MSU and study business management, would like to see the government up the present standards (.07 .1) for determining if a person is legally impaired or drunk.

According to Rabideau, he would like to see the drinking age lowered to 18, but once someone is arrested, they should increase their punishment with more jail time as opposed to punitive damages.

Matt's parent are James and Nancy Rabideau.

Policy changes discussed by local school board next meeting. It's necessary because of a new law that becomes effective Mar. 30 that bans all corporal punishment. We'll make the change in our policy at the next meeting, but we'll follow the law at once, Micklash said.

OTHER BUSINESS

• The board granted permission to the Cass City Lions Club to build a berm in front of the sign at the high school. The construction will include lettering 3-feet high and is expected to cost about $1,500. However, it's not certain that the club will be able to complete the project. Since it was first suggested the club voted to obligate itself to pay $15,000 towards construction of a new track, and money for the berm project might not be available, Wayne Dillon, speaking for the club, told the board.

• Pam Harder was granted permission to leave her daughter at Owen-Gage School for the remainder of the school year after she moves into the Cass City district in April. It is expected that the child will attend Cass City Schools next fall.

The board appointed Principals Russ Bieffer and Don Schelke and counselor Jerry Cleland to a committee to study 5 vs. 6 class periods a day.

Letter to the editor

Will donate money to Cass City park

Dear John:
As you know, on Sunday,

March 19, some of the biggest hearted people in Cass City gathered together at the White Creek Club and held a benefit auction in honor of our father and husband, Luis H. Salas, who passed away on Jan. 20 of this year.

My father was a very proud man and an excellent provider and would never accept any type of charity.

It's with this point in mind that his family will donate the proceeds from the auction to the Cass City Village Park to go towards the purchase of a new scoreboard for the softball diamonds. You see, the best fan those softball players had was our father, and I know he would like this very much.

It's still very early and we miss him very much but thru the memories that were shared Sunday, I know his spirit will live in all who knew him.

Thank-you
The family of Luis H. Salas

Local trash rates to reach $6 to $7

A Gateway Sanitation Services official last week said he's planning to ask Cass City Village officials to approve a rate increase of between 57 and 83 percent for trash pick-up and disposal.

If approved, the hike would be the second this year and would boost the current residential rate of $3.83 per household per month to between $6 and $7 per household.

Similar increases have been requested of other Thumb communities served by Gateway following a Sanilac County Circuit Court ruling prohibiting that county's landfill from accepting out-of-county trash. The injunction went into effect March 1.

In response to the ban, officials from Tuscola, Sanilac, Huron, Lapeer and St. Clair counties have begun meeting to discuss a regional landfill concept.

Cass City officials, meanwhile, are urging Tuscola officials to actively pursue a county-wide landfill instead.

Ray Hayes, controller for Gateway, Almont, said Thursday that he's trying to set up a meeting with Cass City officials as soon as possible to discuss a rate increase.

Prior to the closing of the Sanilac County landfill, he said, Gateway was paying $3.50 per yard—among the lowest rates in the state—to dispose of refuse from the village at the site.

The $3.50 rate includes a 75-cent increase that went into effect Jan. 1 and was passed on to the communities served by Gateway. The hike boosted the cost of trash hauling in Cass City by 33 cents per household per month.

Now, Gateway is hauling local refuse to Sexton Landfill in Lapeer County, which charges $5 per yard.

Hayes said Gateway suggested and has supported the concept of a regional landfill for years. He said the project could cost $7 to $9 million and take 3 years to prepare for the first load of garbage.

Local officials recently have taken a more active role in looking at possible solutions to the looming refuse disposal crisis, particularly with the growing threat of other neighboring counties shutting their doors to out-of-county trash. Future increases in landfill rates based on supply and demand also are likely.

APPOINTED

Tuscola County Commissioners have appointed representatives to take part in the regional landfill discussions. Officials from the 5 counties have met twice and are slated to meet again April 10.

But Cass City officials say the county should be concentrating on a county-wide landfill.

"I want to see Tuscola County dig a hole," village Manager Lou S. LaPonsie remarked.

"I definitely feel Tuscola County should have its own site—that we should be independent for our residents' sake, and for businesses' sake," he said. "When you start crossing county lines, you don't know what can happen."

Village President L.E. Althaver agreed.

"I don't think we can wait," he said, adding he believes a county owned and operated landfill, paid for by county residents, may be the best solution.

"I don't think it's a question of profit; it's a question of either we have a place to put our trash, or we're going to have it piled on our front yards," he said.

150 TONS

Although Tuscola County generates only about 150 tons of refuse a day, which is considered far too little to support a landfill, LaPonsie cited the Upper Peninsula's Delta County as proof that a county can maintain and operate its own landfill.

Officials in Delta County, which has a smaller population and generates less refuse than Tuscola County, constructed a landfill in Escanaba and opened the site in 1985. The site is expected to meet the county's needs for at least 30 years, LaPonsie said.

The site, built after a landfill authority was established, was financed via a $1.2 million bond, Gladstone City Manager Howard Keeton said.

The bond is expected to be paid off in a 5-year period, he remarked, adding construction is being paid for by the county's municipalities, which will pay an annual per capita charge of about $6.25. The county is matching each municipality's per capita contribution, Keeton said.

A rate of $16.50 per ton is charged at the landfill for operations and future expansion.

Caro Village Manager Don Duggar, one of Tuscola

County's representatives in the regional landfill talks, said the 5 Thumb counties are exploring construction of a new landfill as well as the possibility of designating an existing site as a regional landfill.

He added, however, that he personally is not opposed to the concept of a county-wide landfill.

"Who knows, it may work out that way," he said, adding either option would accomplish the same goal.

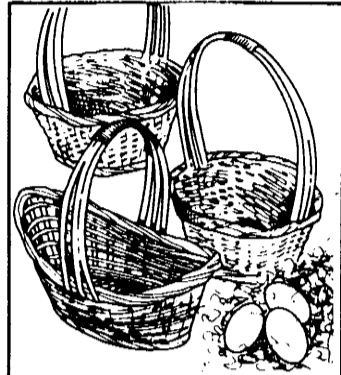

In any event, he said, "We will not see $4 a month (for refuse pick-up) anymore."

Duggar said Gateway officials have approached him with a proposed rate increase of about 50 percent for Caro residents' trash service. A bigger jump is proposed for commercial pick-up, he said.

Caro residents currently pay the village $4.20 per household per month, $3.80 of which is passed on to Gateway.

increases of $300 for Kloc and Treasurer Ralph Zinnecker, and a $1,000 raise for the supervisor, who also serves as township assessor.

The increases boost the clerk and treasurer salaries to $3,300, while the supervisor's new salary will total $5,500.

Kloc requested raises for herself and the treasurer, saying neither of them had received an increase in 4 years. "We have a lot more to do now and it keeps on coming," she added.

O'Dell suggested the increase for the supervisor, who, because of a state mandate, must reassess each of the 950 parcels of property in the township.

"It's a time consuming thing," O'Dell commented, adding Stine will have to fill out property description cards for each parcel.

O-G dominates all-league spiker squad

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs, champs of the North Central Thumb League volleyball season, dominated the 9-school association's all-conference squad with 2 first team selections.

In addition, the Bulldogs placed 2 players on the NCTL's second team, and had 2 ladies receive honorable mention distinction.

Bulldog Andrea Mandich and Shari Babcock, of North Huron, highlighted the elite squad by being the only unanimous choice members.

Mandich set school records in both sets (1093) and receives (657) during her 4-year tenure under varsity Coach Judy Campbell.

Joining Mandich on the dream team were senior teammate Angie Bolzman, and juniors Andrea Aldrich, Akron-Fairgrove, and Charisse Allard, Deckerville. Rounding out the all-star squad was Liz Travis of Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

The Bulldogs, who finished the year at 24-10, paced the league's 2nd team with 2 veteran players in senior Andrea Goslin and sophomore Vicki Ricker.

Also honored from the district champion Bulldogs were Dawn Holland and co-captain Patti Ondrajka.

THE WHITE KITTENS—(from left) Amy Stevens, Joie Humes and Jamie Stevens—clinched first place in the Saturday Spinners "A" league at the Charmont.

Monroe earns spot on all-conference team

Cass City's Darlene Monroe was selected to the first team Thumb B Association all-star volleyball team by league coaches and undefeated in the league. Lakers dominated the dream team with 3 selections.

The first team has 4 seniors and 2 juniors. The 2 juniors are both Lakers, Tracie Henne and Brenda Buschlen, and probably will make the Lakers one of the teams favored for the title again next season.

Monroe, who is 6 feet tall, was a dominant player for Cass City and the team's leading spiker. The other Laker to make the team was Connie Schulz, 5-10 senior, who was the player that carried the champions all season.

Rounding out the first team are Katrina Costello, 5-9 senior from North Branch, and Deanna Bergdolt, 5-6 senior from Vassar.

Vassar's Paula Ramer was named coach of the year.

The only other Hawks to be honored by the coaches were Sue Papp, 5-6 junior, who was named to the second team, and Jandi Hillaker, honorable mention. Others on the second team are: Jackie Gaviitt, Bad Axe; Kristi Fields, Caro; Traci Beer, Lakers; Marian Groce, North Branch, and Lynn Knoll, Vassar.

Announce winners of youth bowling leagues

Winners of the Saturday Spinners "A" and "B" youth bowling leagues at the Charmont were recently announced.

Most of the participants in the A league are in grades one through 4 and bowled 2 games per week during the season, while youths in grades 3 through 8 bowled 3 games a week in the B league.

Clinching the A league title this year were Joie Humes, Amy Stevens and Jamie Stevens, who call themselves the White Kittens. The Speed Rollers—Joshua Milazzo, Justin Humes and Jason Humes—finished second.

Other awards were given for high average (Toby Herringshaw, 88, and Amy Stevens, 73), high series (Jason Mohr, 232, and Marsha Mathewson, 231), high game (Jeff Schwartz, 142, and Joie Humes, 119), and most improved (Joseph Geary 18, and Jamie Stevens, 22).

In the B League, the Sharp Shooters, composed of Jason Morgan, Jeff Mathewson, Gary Truemmer and Jeff Steadman, took first place, while the Lucky Strikes—Mary Polega, Jenny Erla, Heather Stratton and Sarah Edzik—were second. Additional honors were also recognized in the B league for high average (Ben Schott, 144, and Sarah Edzik, 109), high series (Chad Zawilinski, 445, and Jenny Erla, 404), high game (Ryan Cross, 200, and Heather Stratton, 177), and most improved (Nathan Pawloski, 21, and Jennifer Morell, 23).

HONORABLE MENTION

Receiving honorable mention were: Katie Dennis and Missy Cubitt, Bad Axe; Mona Torrez and Lori Loeffler, Caro; Gria Granata and Kristie Nickels, Imlay City; Teri Thompson and Amy Titus, Marlette; Michelle Baslock, Vassar; Jodi Osmulski and Nichole Savage, Marlette; Becky Heintz, Bad Axe; Ashley Beach and Alisha Summersett, Caro; Jandi Hillaker, Cass City; Monica Groce, North Branch, and Amanda Scott, Lakers.

According to court records, Kenneth Krueger, 37, 1331 S. Englehart Rd., entered the pleas to charges of third and fourth degree Criminal Sexual Conduct, and gross indecency between males.

The incidents allegedly involved sexual contact with a person at least 13 years of age but less than 16 years Jan. 26 in Novesta Township; sexual contact using force or coercion May 25, 1986, in Ellington Township, and an incident of gross indecency between males July 21, 1986, in Wisner Township. Sentencing is set for 9 a.m. May 5.

Paul D. Barron, 27, of Oak Park, entered a plea of nolo contendere to fourth degree Criminal Sexual Conduct. The plea was taken under advisement by the court, which set sentencing for May 5. Bond was continued at $3,500.

The incident allegedly occurred Aug. 15 in Kingston.

In proceedings Friday, a Crosswell woman entered a plea of innocent to a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile.

A pre-trial for Sandra K. Hawks, 44, was scheduled for April 7.

Court records state she is charged with unlawfully driving away a semi-truck belonging to Barry Pfister Dec. 3 in Kingston.

Also Friday, Barbara A. Ahrens, 30, Fairgrove, was sentenced for a plea of guilty Jan. 13 to attempted larceny in a building.

Ahrens was sentenced to 2 years probation and 90 days in the county jail (deferred to the end of probation), and ordered to pay $300 in court costs and fines.

Ahrens was charged with stealing cash, which belonged to Fairgrove resident Tresa Cragg, from a safety deposit box at American Home Bank, 1111 W. Caro Rd., Caro, sometime between July 1986 and July 1988.

Poison Prevention Week

Mr. Yuk warns children

It's poison prevention week and area doctors, pharmacists and Hills and Dales General Hospital are combining to call attention to the dangers of poisoning, especially in the home. About 1.7 million poisonings occur in the United States each year and 90 percent of them occur in the home, hospital authorities explained. The emphasis this year is on alerting children to the danger. The theme is "Curious minds plus busy hands equal potential poisoning." Almost 65 percent of the poisonings happen to children under 5 years old. The aim is to heighten the awareness of parents and children to the dangers of household poisons. In cooperation with the Saginaw Region Poison Center at Saginaw General Hospital, Hills and Dales General Hospital will distribute poison prevention kits to each child in the Cass City School District in grades kindergarten through 4th.

Each kit contains a multi-page "Mr. Yuk" poison safety coloring book and a generous supply of "Mr. Yuk" stickers bearing the poison center's toll-free telephone number, 1-800-451-4585.

Many of the students, grades K-4, are participating in a poster contest. Two prizes will be offered to the winners and the posters will be displayed at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

In addition, many pharmacies will display this year's poison prevention poster that features University of Michigan's athletic director Bo Schembechler.

Cats have no ability to taste sweet things.

PREVENTION

WEEK-MARCH 19-26

TWO OF THE MANY "Mr. Yuk" coloring books distributed in grades K-4 during poison prevention week were given to Ryan Bennett, left, and Ben Reinhold, 3rd graders at Campbell Elementary School. Explaining the book is Jane Mitchell, RN at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Cass City Police

Report arrest, auto damage

Cass City Police reported one arrest and 2 reports of vehicle damage over the past week.

Police arrested William R. Forster, 17, 6929 Schwegler Rd., Cass City, early Saturday morning on suspicion of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Reports state Forster was observed crossing the center line of Main Street twice before being stopped at Downing Street at about 2 a.m.

Gagetown resident Linda Stung, 8526 Huron Line Rd., reported damage to her vehicle March 14 while parked at a Walbro parking lot at 6242 Garfield Ave.

Reports indicate someone apparently used a sharp object to scratch the car from the front of the driver's door to the rear of the vehicle. Damage is estimated at $100.

Also, Julie L. Mulligan, 4138 S. Seeger St., Cass City, told police that an unknown vehicle hit her pickup truck last Wednesday, causing some $300 in damage.

The truck was parked at a village parking lot east of Leach Street and North of Pine Street when the incident occurred, sometime between 4 and 7:45 p.m., reports state.

YOUR EYES

Dr. Ronald R. Watson

CHOOSING EYEGLASS LENSES

In the past, you had a choice of glass or ordinary plastic for your new eyeglass lenses. Today there are other choices with which to create the best eyeglasses for you.

The newer polycarbonate plastic lenses are 80 to 100 times tougher than standard plastic. They are intrinsically thinner and lighter than standard plastic or, of course, glass. Polycarbonates also offer some built-in protection against ultraviolet rays. Most polycarbonate lenses come with a scratch-resistant coating. These properties make them an ideal choice for athletes and rough-and-tumble kids.

High index lenses which represent a new grinding technique, are available in both plastic and glass. This alternative method of preparation produces a thinner lens for high prescription wearers. It allows them a broader choice of frames and total eyewear that is lighter and more attractive.

These newer options provide the same clear vision as traditional eyeglasses, with extra benefits.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

Twice the same day came this affront to plain old barnyard economics:

1. The JFK Medical Center of Palm Beach county reported a $4.8 million operating loss in 1988. Hospital administrator James Knoble said: "Proceeds of a $93.6 million bond issue should help cut operating losses to about $2 million next year."

2. The Holt Advisor market letter: "...State and local governments will have to float more bonds to meet gaping holes in their operating budgets."

So in this Mickey Mouse world of finance we borrow money to cut operating losses? Doesn't the money have to be paid back, with interest?

This country bumpkin has not quite adjusted to the new thinking, or the new semantics. On page 1 of the paper I used to run in Michigan, a story tells of a "summit meeting" of bureaucrats in the region. A delegate came home to report there were "meaningful discussions" -- just like the U.S. state department. The topic: Where to dump garbage.

There was also a report of some state environmental agency, which no doubt costs tens of thousands, which listed cases of possible local pollution.

Among the targets of the investigation -- the new million-dollar post office, built on the site where a gas station once was. There were traces of gasoline found in the ground, probably from buried tanks not entirely drained.

So a little gasoline might have seeped into the land. The city gets its water from a 50-mile viaduct from Lake Huron. There are no local wells.

It will be interesting how the Federal government reacts to being the target of a state inspector.

Back-tracking to the Holt Advisory letter with its dismal outlook for municipal bonds:

Holt says, "the S & L crisis will throw increasing doubts on non-treasury securities, causing a massive rush to quality."

And who says that municipals possess no quality? Does Holt really think -- or is he trying to sensationalize -- that any one of the 50 states does not have a perfectly good credit rating, and can't pay off its bonds? For that matter, how many counties or school districts in the U.S. don't have good ratings?

The general obligation bonds of all these units of government reflect power to tax and to obligate all property owners to pay off the debt.

C'mon now, Holt, quit trying to scare the public.

Municipal bonds are a damned sight better than Holt's recommendation to speculate in South African gold mining shares by buying call options.

Holt winds up his bogeyman hunt in the muni forest by saying the outlook is further clouded by the fact the Fed may jack up the discount rate forcing bond prices lower.

Long years ago, Beryl Sprinkel used to talk to a group of us each summer at Rockford College. (Beryl was head of the Council of Economic advisers under Reagan). He told us time and again that the Fed's move to tighten credit affected only short-term rates. He also said that changes in the discount rate reflect conditions that have already been in existence. In other words it confirms a market trend already here.

Holt goes on to assume there will be a recession and that property & casualty insurers will therefore lose money and take away a big demand for tax-exempt bonds. I disagree. This type of insurance company runs in cycles of its own, usually from price-cutting, independent of business cycles. I still like tax-exempts.

I admit they aren't so attractive as they were. It's hard to get good ones yielding 8%. Even when you go to bonds subject to AMT (alternative minimum tax) you squeeze out only a quarter of a percent more.

On the brighter side, insured bonds cost only a little more now, maybe 20 or 25 basis points (100 basis points = 1%). Insured issues are more marketable when you come to sell, and they erase thoughts about safety. Many, many of the issues don't need insurance, so my own view is that when you buy something you don't need, no matter how cheap, it's an extravagance. My grandmother, Nettie Forsyth, who hailed from Edinburgh, taught me that long ago.

Bill Myers is a retired editor and investment counselor.

Power plants fueled by mine waste

The same high-temperature technology that enables cities to burn garbage for energy is helping rid Pennsylvania of millions of tons of mine waste. Today several Keystone state power plants are being fueled by culm. Once considered a bothersome by-product, culm is the impure bits of coal that are left over after mining. And there's plenty of it. National Wildlife magazine reports there may be 3 billion tons of culm in Pennsylvania alone. Besides being plentiful, culm has another plus. After burning at high temperatures, the ash residue can be used to restore mined lands.

CROWNED SPELLING CHAMPS in their respective schools are 4th graders: Brooke Hurley, Kurt Iwankovitsch and Sam Hobbs - Cass City, Crystal McCarty - Evergreen, Rachel Peters - Deford.

Soil testing clinic set March 31

By Bill Bortel

Non point source contamination of ground water by nitrate nitrogen from fertilizer and livestock wastes is a very critical issue because of the large number of people who use groundwater for their source of drinking water.

In addition, the 1988 drought has drastically reduced yields and much of the N fertilizer applied in 1988 may still be in the soil profile or in the plant residue left in the field and should be available for the 1989 crop. Farmers can and should take advantage of this nitrogen carry-over.

The best diagnostic tool we have is to sample the soil profile in the spring just prior to planting or prior to sidedressing N fertilizer and test the soil for residual nitrate nitrogen (N).

A "Nitrate Soil Testing Clinic" will be held in Tuscola county March 31 to evaluate the amount of available N in the soil profile.

The Michigan State University soil testing mobile van will be doing the analysis work at the Laethem Equipment building, 245 S. Columbia St., Caro, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The clinic will be used to make recommendations for corn, sugar beets and potatoes.

Soil samples need to be taken during the next 2 weeks. Samples should be a composite of 15 to 20 soil cores taken from a uniform soil area. The fields preferably should not be larger than 20 acres or the field should be broken into separate samples. If major differences in soil types, previous crop or post N fertilizer exist within a field, take separate samples from each area.

Soil samples should be taken to a depth of 24 inches and include 2 samples, one 0-12 inches and one 12-24 inches. Place each sample in a clean bucket marked with the appropriate depth. Thoroughly mix the soil cores for each depth and save approximately one pint for the nitrate analysis.

Soil samples for nitrate analysis should not be stored or shipped in moist condition. The samples should be air dried immediately or placed in a freezer and frozen. The nitrate status of warm moist soil is subject to rapid changes. If soils are moist, soil microbes can break down or mineralize

Local elementary schools name top 4th grade spellers

P-I-Z-Z-A is one word most 4th graders can spell. But free pizza, on the other hand, is limited to only the best spellers.

At least that was the case last Monday when the best spellers in Cass City's, Deford's and Evergreen's 4th grades were treated, by their principals, to pop and pizza at Charmont Lanes for their endeavors in a recent spelling bee.

Top spelling honors at Evergreen went to Crystal

McCarty. At Deford, Rachel Peters bested her classmates, and in Cass City, Brooke Hurley, Kurt Iwankovitsch and Sam Hobbs walked away with first place honors.

All the winners advanced to the Tuscola County 8th annual spelling bee, where Hurley was nipped in the final by Tammy Dzikowicz of Mayville.
