Little interest in township meetings

Beautiful weather and a holiday weekend may have contributed to light attendance and brief sessions at 6 area annual township meetings Saturday.

Attendance at the meetings (not including board members) ranged from no audience to 10 persons, and lengths of the sessions ranged from 10 to 90 minutes.

Aside from reviewing new budgets, officials in each of the townships discussed road expenditures—generally the biggest single expense for townships—in the coming year.

In addition, residents and officials in one township decided to schedule next year's annual meeting for a week night, while those in another township decided to do away with the annual session altogether.

Residents in 3 of the 6 area townships voted in favor of raises for some or all of their respective township officials.

ELKLAND

It took only about 10 minutes for Elkland Township officials to conduct their annual meeting, attended by the board and 2 other persons.

A 1989-90 General Fund budget of $203,515, which will guide expenditures for the fiscal year that begins April 1, was reviewed.

The budget represents an increase of $19,200, or 10.4 percent, over the 1988-89 spending plan of $184,315, which was later amended to total $196,715.

Total estimated actual expenditures and revenues for the current year were not available.

Other 1989-90 budgets approved were the Perpetual Care Fund, which totals $1,950, compared to $4,250 in 1988-89; a $47,580 Fire Fund, down by $2,160 over actual 1988-89 expenditures, and a $26,675 Cemetery Fund, up by $1,823 over expenditures in 1988-89.

Township Clerk Norma Wallace said the planned increase in General Fund spending is due primarily to a state mandate requiring reappraisal of all property in the township.

Township officials have budgeted $20,000 for the work, which will be paid for via a one percent tax administration fee. The board Saturday approved levying the fee for that purpose.

In the area of roads, the board budgeted more for maintenance in 1989-90 ($44,000 compared to actual 1988-89 expenditures of $38,139) and more for construction ($20,470 compared to actual expenditures of $10,381 the year before). Wallace noted that specific road work plans for the coming year have not yet been decided.

The board initially budgeted $30,000 for maintenance and $39,215 for construction in 1988-89.

Also included in the 1989-90 General Fund are raises for the supervisor, treasurer and clerk, whose salaries have remained frozen for 5 years.

The board approved a $1,500 raise for the supervisor, who will now earn $3,500 per year, while the treasurer and clerk each received a $1,000 raise, from $6,200 to $7,200 annually.

Also Saturday, the board approved a motion by Trustee Dan Erla to change the annual meeting date to the last Monday in March at 7:30 p.m. Board members said they hope the time change will encourage more township residents to attend the meeting.

ELLINGTON

Eight persons (not including board members) attended Ellington Township's annual meeting, but township Clerk Fred Bardwell Jr. said he had expected a much bigger turnout.

"I made 27 copies of this budget, and I was wondering if I'd have enough," he said, adding normal attendance at regular board meetings has been 15 to 20 people.

Bardwell said the board and residents Saturday reviewed a 1989-90 General Fund budget totalling $146,882, down by some $27,000, or 15 percent, from the previous fiscal year.

"The difference is there's $23,000 less in our (fund) balance than we had last year at this time," he explained, adding the current fund balance is estimated at $65,500, compared to $87,225 a year ago.

Also reviewed were the township's 1989-90 Fire Fund, set at $29,432, compared to $30,831 the year before, and a Road Fund of $50,426.

The Road Fund is new for the township following voters' approval last August of a special 10-year, 3-mill levy for roads.

Bardwell said township officials plan to spend about $10,000 more on roads in the coming year, with total expenditures for that purpose set at $100,550. About $40,000 will come from the Road Fund and the remainder from the General Fund, he added.

MILD WEEKEND weather sparked spring cleaning at the Mike and Chris Diegel home in Cass City. Spring also means it's time to set clocks ahead one hour as Daylight Savings Time goes into effect Sunday morning.

Police find stolen cars

Just when Roger Board thought it was safe to go back to selling cars in Cass City without worrying about vandalism, thieves broke into the office at his used car lot and stole 2 vehicles.

Luckily, the vehicles, a 1987 Firebird and a 1983 Blazer 4X4, were recovered Monday, hours after being stolen from the lot at 6615 Main St.

"I just don't know what's happening," Board, whose new car dealership was hit 3 times by vandals last fall, remarked. In all, 5 new vehicles were scratched in November/December, causing more than $1,000 in damage.

The recent car thefts, which occurred sometime between 4 p.m. Sunday and 7:25 a.m. Monday, apparently were the work of joy riders, Cass City police believe.

Police officers Dave McComb and Craig Haynes were still at the scene Monday when they were notified that the vehicles had been found near a gravel pit area about 2 miles southwest of Cass City. A passing motorist noticed the vehicles and reported it.

McComb said the suspects, who are still being sought, gained entry into the dealership office by breaking a rear window. They apparently then entered the building, pried open a metal key cabinet and took the vehicles' keys, he said.

Citizens of year

Honor 3 at chamber banquet

The selection of the citizens of the year and the junior citizen of the year highlighted the annual meeting of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening at Cass City High School.

Co-citizens of the year are Lloyd Vyse and B. A. "Curly" Calka. Vyse is a lifelong resident of the community and is a graduate of Cass City High School. He worked at Bigelow Hardware and later became owner of the store and soon became recognized for his ability for problem solving for his customers.

In the 1950's he was one of the persons who inspired Cass City to become "Christmas Town" with his papier mache yard creations.

He also was a dominant figure in the current revival of the Christmas tradition in the village, donating long hours to work on his yard displays as well as conducting classes in papier-mache and supervising the work on the displays sponsored by the Chamber at the park.

Shortly after the end of World War II, in which Calka served in the Pacific Theater, he purchased the Eat Shop restaurant in Cass City with a partner. The partner left, but he stayed and Cass City benefited.

Cass City Village Council members Monday night established a special assessment district for curb and gutter on 4 streets and briefly shared their concerns on the garbage disposal crisis with state Rep. Dick Allen.

The special assessment district was approved along with authorization to seek bids for the work following a brief and uneventful public hearing, attended by 8 persons.

There were no negative comments regarding the assessments.

B.A. "Curly" Calka voiced a concern over large grain trucks using Brooker Street. The traffic is particularly heavy in the fall, and because of the road width, trucks can barely turn onto Brooker from Main, he remarked.

Under the special assessment district, landowners whose streets are slated for curb and gutter, and black-topping, will be assessed an estimated $8.25 per foot for the curb and gutter. The estimate includes engineering costs.

Village President L.E. Althaver noted that the price is only an estimate and may be closer to last year's cost of $6.75 per foot.

Roads slated for curb and gutter this summer are Brooker Street, from Main to Third; Third Street, from Brooker to Vulcan; Vulcan Street, from Third to Garfield, and Fourth Street, from Vulcan to West.

Curb and gutter assessments are expected to total about $34,000 of the total project cost, estimated at $115,000.

The assessments are due free of interest within 90 days after the project is completed, although payment can be stretched over a period of up to 3 years with an annual interest charge of 10 percent.

DICK ALLEN

In other business during the 75-minute monthly meeting, Allen told the council he would help in any way he can in facilitating the licensing of an eligible county-wide or regional landfill in the area.

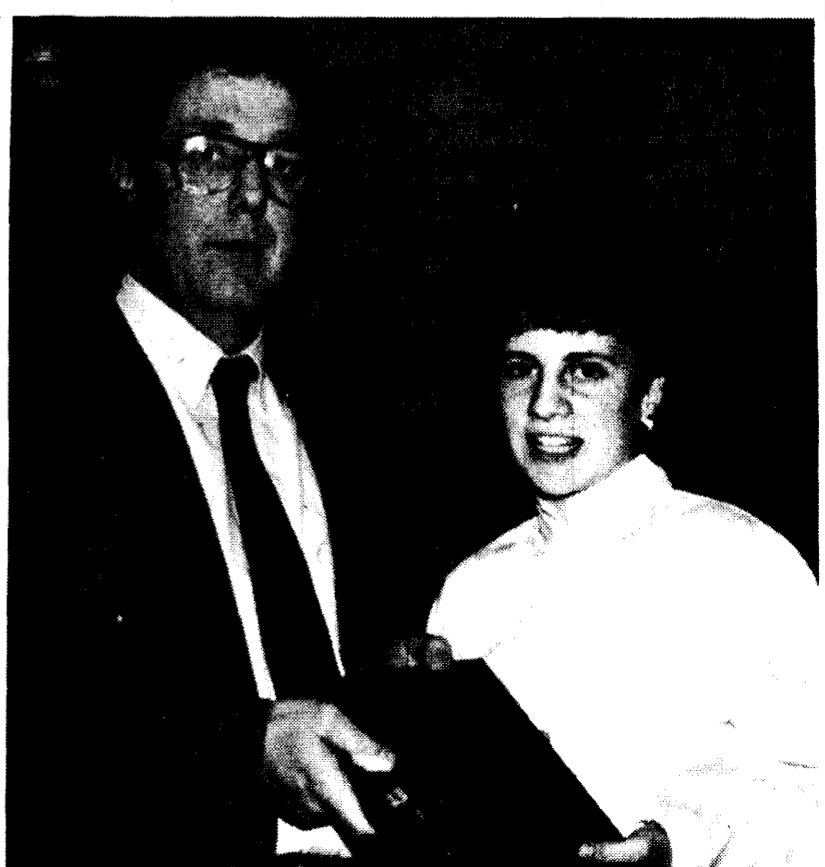

Following a brief discussion, Please turn to page 5.

ACCEPTING HIS plaque as co-citizen of the year from Mike Weaver, left, is Lloyd Vyse, who said that he was speechless other than being able to say, "Thanks."

MEMBERS OF THE family were present as B. A. Calka, center, was honored as co-citizen of the year Tuesday. Holding the congratulation sign is daughter, Cindy, while brother, Bill, watches.

AMY FRANCIS, Cass City's junior citizen of the year, displays the plaque she received Tuesday. It was presented by John Maharg.

Ubly pupil is spelling bee winner

Ubly Elementary School boasts one of the area's top spellers in Hope Main, a sixth grader who recently spelled her way to first place in a regional spelling bee competition.

Hope Main

Main "out-spelled" students in classroom, school and, finally, district competitions to qualify for the regional bee, held March 18 at Holland Woods Intermediate School in Port Huron.

There, she outlasted 30 other sixth graders during a 2 1/2 hour competition, attended by some 250 people, before coming face to face with one final opponent. After the other girl misspelled a word, Main correctly spelled "riotous" for first place. She won a thesaurus, a trophy and $50 for her performance.

An all-A student who loves to read, Main is the daughter of Robert and Linda Main, 2394 Main St., Ubly.

COLOR CONTACT LENSES

Did you know that color contact lenses were used to change eye color in Hollywood movies as far back as 1939?

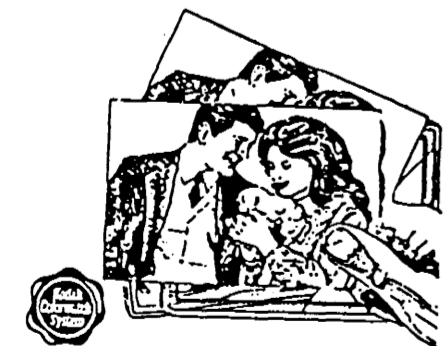

Today's color soft contact lenses are very different, but they continue to offer endless choices to contact lens wearers. There are basically two types:

- Color enhancement soft contact lenses dramatically highlight light eyes in shades of aqua, blue, green and turquoise.
- Opaque tinted soft contact lenses can change brown eyes to various shades of blue and green, or lighten them to a soft amber.

These colored lenses are guaranteed against fading unless they come in contact with chlorine or benzal peroxide (a chemical found in some skin medications). Therefore, the rule: don't swim in chlorinated water with soft color contacts. Wash, rinse and dry your hands thoroughly after using skin medications and before inserting color contact lenses.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

GTE has issued a booklet full of predictions of what life will be like in the year 2001. Example: "A minuscule transistor will increase computer chip processing speed 100 times. Too tiny to be seen with even the most powerful light microscope, it will be able to switch on and off in a trillionth of a second."

If you think that's far out, how about this? "The U.S. counties with the highest household incomes in 2001 will be: Los Alamos, N. M. ($181,000); Washington, Minn. ($166,000); Monroe, Mich. ($166,000); Washington, Ore. ($161,000); Fairfax, VA. ($159,000). Monroe, Mich.? C'mon."

There are many more entertaining tidbits in the booklet and from time to time we'll pass some of them on. However, it's best not to take the predictions too seriously.

Especially if they don't turn out better than those made by the expert economic forecasters for Detroit Edison. It's been over a quarter of a century now since a survey was taken by Edison in the Thumb.

After a great deal of effort it was announced that planners should count on M-53 to be an industrial corridor approaching the development of the Bay City to Detroit development of that era.

I was reminded of the Edison forecast because it was accompanied by some beautiful full color ads telling the story. The other day a 7 1/4" by 10 1/4" box, about 3/4 of an inch deep arrived.

On the cover some original art was printed in full color. Inside was a fancy brochure advertising services that Edison offers. Attached to the cover of the brochure was an 8-track tape enclosed in a plastic box. The tape was alleged to tell you about the same thing that the brochure spelled out.

I don't know what this cost Edison customers, but let me assure you if they gave it to all of their business customers I'd be happy to trade my salary for a year in exchange for whatever it cost. Yeah, and toss in yours, too.

There is a difference between the approaches now and 25 years or so ago. Then the thought was to boost economic development in the area and trust, if successful, it would generate volume for Edison.

The stuff that arrived last week is frankly a selling tool boosting electricity over competing fuel sources.

It will have to be darn successful to justify the cost.

Cass City police report 2 accidents

Two minor vehicle accidents were reported in Cass City over the past week.

Randall O. Woodward, 7635 Deckerville Rd., Deford, was driving east on East Cass City Road east of Schwegler Road at 7 p.m. Saturday when a deer ran into his vehicle, according to Cass City police.

Earlier last week, vehicles driven by Harold J. McTaggart of Port Hope and Valda C. Morgan, 3570 E. Cass City Rd., Cass City, collided last Wednesday at the intersection of Garfield Avenue and West Street.

Reports state McTaggart was southbound on West Street when he failed to stop at the intersection and struck Morgan's westbound vehicle.

McTaggart, who told po-

Going ape

In Rwanda, Africa, foreign tourists are going ape over a unique sightseeing safari. They are paying more than 100 dollars per person for the privilege of trekking deep into the bush to spend an hour with the world's last tribe of wild mountain gorillas. International Wildlife magazine reports the monies raised by these excursions helps preserve the gorilla's fragile habitat and protect the big primates from poachers.

lice he didn't see the sign, was cited in the 12:15 p.m. accident.

It's time for another peek at the events of the day that stirred or disturbed and require jurisdictional comment from this corner.

Myles Coleman, Cass City, died at 86 and if anyone ever lived a full life, it was he. I really didn't know Myles personally all that well, but I did know a lot about him.

When Myles was puffing away at that pipe he always reminded me of one of those elves that you see pictured on St. Pat's Day. You know the kind, the ones with the green hat with the long tails sticking out behind.

Myles was a little short, but it was more than that. He had that impish grin on his face most of the time like life was amusing and he knew its secrets. A grin that said that he was ready to have a good time whenever you were.

A good friend said that he visited Myles a few days before he died. His heart was bad and surgery had been discussed. Myles wouldn't have it, he told his friend. I've lived a full life and have had good health and if the end is now, okay. His only regret was that he wanted to die at home instead of the hospital.

In my book that makes a little man stand tall. Very tall, indeed.

When it comes to causes, why is it that supporters become frozen to positions regardless of extenuating circumstances? Two that come to mind are the Right To Life and National Rifle Association groups.

I can understand where they are coming from to make it illegal for state-funded abortions for routine pregnancies. But to deny a 15-year-old girl an abortion after she was raped? And why does the NRA fight to keep the government from banning Marine assault weapons? Or fight a waiting period and a license to own a gun?

Both of these positions fly in the face of reason. The Lifers deny a girl relief from a situation over which she had no control simply because she is poor, leaving her with an unwanted child with all the problems that follow.

The NRA's intransigent stand against licensing and a waiting period makes even

Cecil McQueen celebrates 90th birthday

A small group of friends helped retired Cass City well driller Cecil McQueen celebrate his 90th birthday Friday at Provincial House in Cass City.

Born March 24, 1899, McQueen has lived to be older than anyone in his family.

The long-time Argyle Road resident drilled wells in the area for more than 50 years. He also raised and raced trotters.

Attending his birthday party Friday were his former wife, Wilma Wheeler of Clifford, Fred and Jaunita Dove of Centerline, Ernie and Betty Periso of Kingston, and Dan and Rita Mosher of Union Lake.

"If It Fitz..."

Getting cranky

By Jim Fitzgerald

Bernard W. Joseph of Berkley asks how to be a nice older person. He is worried that he and I are getting cranky in our 60s.

"What do we do to continue to be part of what President Bush wants, to be kind and gentle, to be one of those thousand points of light, when we are constantly assailed by sheer stupidity and lack of concern?"

Joseph, a retired GM employee, began thinking about the question before he hit 60. "Some years ago I observed many old people who were mean and cantankerous." He determined that this crankiness wasn't a necessary part of growing old, but simply "a magnification of the young person."

"I realized that, if I were to age into a kind old man, I had better become a kind young man. I began to actively pursue, capture and tame goodness...With all humility, I think that I can say I have accomplished the task, and am a kind, gentle 60-year-old."

Joseph is so kind he even says kind things about me: "I have always admired your writing, in which you have, to the most, conveyed the idea, without any holier-than-thouness, that you are a kind and gentle man. In a small way, you have been an example. I believe we are a lot alike: about the same age; we both have grandchildren whom we obviously love, and we have comparable wits. Perhaps I see myself moving along a parallel path to the one you tread."

CRANKINESS REPLACES NICENESS

But Joseph feels that path getting prickly. He sees crankiness replacing niceness in his attitude, and in this column. Why? It's that aforementioned "sheer stupidity and lack of concern" that seem to lurk wherever we tread.

Joseph has most recently been upset by such aggravations as the legal roadblocks that prevent decent people from getting crack hoses immediately and permanently removed from their neighborhoods: "It's enough to make a person so mean that he would encourage the neighbors to burn the F—ing (did I follow the Stylebook?) house down. That's what I said to my wife."

Oh, yes. There are the huge irritations, like crime and the Ayatollah Ignutz. And there are the comparatively minor aggravations that readers continually send across my desk and make me mean.

One example: Larry Urbin of Plymouth was in a traffic accident Dec. 2 and needed a part to complete the repair of his 1989 Ford Grand Marquis. It wasn't in stock, so a Ford dealership ordered it. The wrong part was ordered — or delivered — 5 times! The correct part finally arrived Feb. 10, an astonishing 2 months later. Urbin is out around $900 in car rental costs and might go to Small Claims Court to seek reimbursement from Ford.

"The part in question is used in assembly every day and has been on all Marquis from 1983 to the present," Urbin said. Per the owner's manual, Urbin phoned customer assistance and wrote Ford's Consumer Appeals Board. Mostly he was met with — you guessed it — sheer stupidity and/or lack of concern. "And a surprising lack of courtesy." A Ford motto is "Your satisfaction is important to Ford Motor Co." It makes Urbin cranky.

ENOUGH TO TURN CANTANKEROUS

Another example: As instructed, Ted MacManus of Birmingham dialed the number given in a Michigan Employment Commission TV spot. After countless busy signals, he got a recording that "provided me with a number to call for almost any contingency anyone could imagine." Finally, the recording told MacManus to phone the same number he'd phoned to get the recording!

"Fortunately, I am not seriously seeking employment, but what about the poor SOB's that are?" MacManus asked. Are they the victims of sheer stupidity or lack of concern? Take your choice.

It's enough to make anyone — of any age — cantankerous. Joseph asked: "Are you and I condemned to tread parallel paths to meanness?" He answered: "Perhaps we are; but I intend to go down fighting. I certainly hope that you do also. Let us walk kindly and gently but, when necessary, hit them with a big stick."

OK, Bernard. Let's stay parallel.

STATE REP. DICK Allen offered his support at a Cass City Village Council meeting Monday night in a discussion focusing on the growing waste disposal crisis.

Council discusses trash woes with Dick Allen

on school finance reform, Althaver told Allen that the council recently approved a modest rate increase for trash disposal, but that "We expect the second shoe to drop momentarily."

The council recently approved a modest rate increase for trash pick up, but the cost to residents is now expected to nearly double.

Althaver added that the council last month urged the county's solid waste planning committee to pursue a county-wide landfill before local residents find themselves with no place to dump at any price.

Although the DNR is trying to phase out landfills, he said, landfilling appears to be the best short-term solution, at least until recycling and resource recovery take hold in rural areas.

"We're going to need some support to find the right place and the right time," Althaver said.

Allen acknowledged there are many health concerns and that a lot of pressure is being exerted to clean up past excesses regarding dumping. He said the state is looking into solutions, including recycling, incineration and the use of biodegradable packaging.

DIFFICULT

Village Manager Lou S. LaPonsie stated that the DNR has established standards for landfills, yet even if those standards are met, it's still difficult to obtain licensing.

Althaver agreed, adding, "I have concerns that if we go to the DNR (with a county-wide or regional landfill proposal) and say, 'We have an ideal location, give us the specs,' that it may take a long time" to get the process completed.

Although there is a significant portion of land in the county that would be suitable for a landfill, Allen indicated that the biggest problem may be to find a site that isn't in somebody's backyard.

He added, however, that as a member of the DNR subcommittee on appropriations, he would apply what pressure he could to facilitate licensing of an approved landfill.

REVENUE SHARING

Allen also briefly discussed state revenue sharing funding, which he said continues to be in jeopardy. With the governor presenting budget cuts of 12.5 percent along with new initiatives in excess of $100 million this year, he said, "There's a lot of competition" for funding.

Althaver pointed out that the funding is a concern locally, with about 1/3 of the village's 1989 budget coming from state revenue sharing.

Also Monday, the council: Approved spending $6,495 to upgrade the village's computer system. The council budgeted $7,200 for the expenditure, which includes a memory upgrade, tax receiving and utility billing programs, and training.

Approved a low quote of $24,067 from Board Chrysler Plymouth Dodge, Inc., Cass City, for a new dump truck, which will replace a 20-year old village truck. The price is less than the $27,700 budgeted for the purchase.

In a related matter, trustees voted to accept sealed bids for the old dump truck and a village pickup truck.

Learned that Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson has been appointed to sit on the Board of the Thumb Narcotic Unit, which is slated to begin operations this spring, and that Cass City Police Officer Craig Haynes recently was awarded a certificate from Delta College for completing an in-service training program on advanced criminal investigation.

contracts for about $41,000, $42,000 of road work," the clerk continued, adding the township is scheduling projects based on a 5-year plan.

Work scheduled to date consists of prime and seal on 2 miles of Jacob Road, from Tomlinson Road to Dutcher Road; base coat on one mile of Akron Road, from Cedar Run Road to Green Road, and re-sealing 1/2 of a mile of Akron Road, from M-81 to Hurds Corner Road.

Township officials also are looking at spending $23,000 to prime and double seal 1.2 miles of Orr Road, from Elbin to Deckerville Road, and grading and draining on Hurds Corner Road, from Deckerville Road to Shabbona Road.

Also during the 30-minute session, the board approved a $500 donation to the Thumb Narcotics Unit.

ELMWOOD

Only board members attended Elmwood Township's 45-minute annual meeting, when a $114,250 spending plan was proposed for 1989-90.

Expenditures in the new budget are about $20,000, or 21 percent, higher than in 1988-89. The township spent some $94,000 during the current fiscal year.

Township Clerk Joanne M. Sattelberg said the planned spending hike is due primarily to road work expenses. Some $55,000 is slated for roads in 1989-90, while only $27,000 was budgeted for roads the previous year.

The board feels that more road improvements can be done in the future if the township earmarks large appropriations for that purpose every other year, rather than spending small amounts each year, Sattelberg said.

Roads slated for improvements during the coming year include one mile of Dodge Road, from M-81 to Milligan Road; one mile of Hobart Road, from Colwood Road to McGregory Road, and one mile of Hoppe Road, from Jacob Road to Hurds Corner Road.

GREENLEAF

In Sanilac County's Greenleaf Township, board members plus 10 members of the public attended their annual meeting, which lasted about 90 minutes.

Township Clerk Clare Brown said the board and residents reviewed a proposed 1989-90 spending plan totalling $123,725, up $78,403, or 172 percent, over actual estimated 1988-89 spending.

"We had quite a bit of carry-over from last year, mostly because we didn't get some road work done that we'd planned," Brown said, adding the new budget includes $52,800 of carry-over funds.

The spending plan also includes a continued one-mill tax for roads, plus another mill for fire protection, which added $8,500 to 1989-90 revenues.

The township, which collected $98,185 and spent only $45,322 in 1988-89, spent only $15,500 on roads during the same fiscal year, compared to a budgeted amount totalling $30,000, Brown said. About $50,000 has been proposed for road work in the coming year.

The township hopes to rebuild 1/2 of a mile of Spencer Road, north of Cleland Road, in addition to continuing improvements to Bad Axe Road, from Spencer Road to Holbrook Road.

Brown pointed out that the township will pay $2,000 more, from $4,000 to $6,000, for trash pick-up in 1989-90. The township pays to have a trash container brought in once a month, the clerk said.

Expenditures also will increase in the area of salaries, following residents' suggestions that the supervisor, treasurer and clerk receive $500 hikes. The new pay rates, which haven't been adjusted in 10 years, are $3,000 for supervisor, $2,700 for the treasurer and $2,300 for the clerk.

Also Saturday, the board approved an annual donation of $100 to the Cass City Recreation Program.

EVERGREEN

Also in Sanilac County, the Evergreen Township Board presented a proposed $109,000 1989-90 budget to 10 persons in attendance during a 70-minute annual meeting.

The spending plan represents an increase of 179 percent over actual estimated 1988-89 expenditures, but includes some $43,000 in money carried over from the previous budget year.

The township had expenditures of only $39,000 and revenues totalling $60,000 during the current fiscal year.

Aside from carry-over funds, the biggest difference between the 2 budgets is road work, according to township Clerk Arthur Severance, who said no road improvements were done in 1988-89.

Severance said $37,000 has been earmarked for roads in the coming year. The money, he added, will be used to build up 2 miles of Germania Road, from Robinson Road to Argyle Road.

GRANT

A lack of interest prompted officials in Huron County's Grant Township to decide against holding an annual meeting next year.

"Last year we had 2 people come and this year we had 6, and I think 3 of those are spouses of board members," township Supervisor Betty Powell remarked Saturday.

Powell said the township will instead hold the required budget hearing on the first Monday of April next year, during the township's regular meeting.

Also during the hour-long annual session, the board and residents reviewed a proposed 1989-90 budget totalling $128,209.

The new budget, which includes $30,000 in carry-over funds, represents a planned spending increase of $55,148, or 75 percent,

Hawk preview: where's the pitching?

Veterans give softball team power, defense

Baseball team looks to improve 10-13 record

Dave Hoard is back at the reins of the Cass City High School softball team and the question he faces is the same as the one that has faced the team in recent years. Where will he find the pitching?

There don't seem to be any fireballers on the horizon this spring to go with what otherwise promises to be a very fine team.

Most of the girls that propelled the Hawks to a district title are back. Hoard says that it looks like the team will be explosive offensively and good defensively. Major losses from last year are Tammy Hurd, a one-person pitching staff, and the infield combination of Terri Wilson, shortstop, and Tanya Hatmaker, second base. Brenda Severance, a good sticker, is gone from the outfield.

corner and Sue Papp is expected to cover shortstop like a blanket.

Vicki Robinson will patrol the outfield and Mindy Fulcher, a sophomore, is expected to see action and should improve as the season progresses.

Hoard will look at a whole group of players to try to come up with a pitching staff. LeAnn LaRoche is one possibility. A fine athlete; look for her behind the plate when not on the mound.

Another mound candidate is Terri Gibson. In fact, Hoard will be looking everywhere to find a mound corps capable of competing in the Thumb B Association and the state tournament.

Looking at the Thumb B, Hoard sees Marlette as the team to beat. They have the league's outstanding pitcher, he feels, and that alone places them a notch above the remainder of the teams. Challenging Marlette will be North Branch and Imlay City, according to the coach.

Cass City has to be regarded as a long shot for league honors, but if one of the mound candidates suddenly develops and provides strength on the mound, look out. With pitching, Cass City this year ranks with the best. Without it, they may be just another also ran when the champion is crowned.

New coach Doug Hall is hoping that the spurt of excellent baseball that the Cass City Red Hawk baseball team exhibited at the end of the season last year will carry over into games played this spring in the Thumb B Association.

The Hawks didn't fare too well in conference competition last year, with a 3-11 record, but bounced back in tournament competition, going to the district finals before losing, and ended the year 10-13 overall.

The effort at the end of the year, together with talent coming off a good junior varsity (15-5-2), heightens hope that the Hawks could be a factor to reckon with in this year's conference title chase.

Cass City did lose 3 regular performers from last season who are sure to be missed. Jeremy Capps, Darin Monroe and Jeff Sontag provided much of the punch of the 1988 Hawks.

But the returning lettermen should be better with another year's experience under their collective belts. Pitching is 90 percent of the game at the high school level, some observers claim, and Cass City should be stronger in this important spot.

Jeff Krol has 2 years on the mound and has the stuff to be a big winner if he can put the ball where he wants it consistently. Another big plus will be Jason Robertson. Robertson came up from the junior varsity at the tail end of the season and pitched well. Another year older and more experience will be a big plus for him and the team.

Another veteran, Paul Tuckey, has pitched a little but his strength is hitting and senior leadership. Leadership with a capital L is the key to the play of Jeff Dillon, who is slated to catch and play third. Those are the same positions that his brother, Scott, a sophomore, will try to fill.

Another senior letterman is Steve Wright, who can play either in the infield or outfield.

Bill Langenburg is expected to anchor the first base spot and last year was also used sparingly on the mound.

Hall says that a lot of the success of the team will hinge on how well the young players develop as the season unfolds.

Right now he sees Imlay City and Caro as the teams to beat, with Bad Axe poised to make a serious challenge for the Thumb B title. Cass City rates as a dark horse, but judging by the results last year, they should be markedly improved from 1988.

FIREMEN AND INTERESTED passersby watched Friday afternoon as a crane demolished the remains of an old grain elevator in Kingston that was destroyed by fire late Thursday night.

Kingston landmark Fire destroys elevator; investigation continues

Investigators early this week continued their investigation of a blaze that destroyed a Kingston landmark and some $30,000 worth of equipment late Thursday night.

Kingston Fire Chief Robert Miller said fire fighters from 5 departments battled the fire, which engulfed an old fertilizer and grain elevator in the village. The blaze was reported at about 11:30 p.m.

"As we responded, the flames were coming through the roof," Miller remarked, adding the Kingston Fire Department immediately requested assistance from the Cass City, Caro and Mayville departments. He said the Clifford Fire Department was later asked to join in the effort.

Miller said the elevator was destroyed, but firemen, who spent about 6 hours at the scene, were able to save nearby metal silo and office and storage buildings. Kingston firemen returned to the scene Friday to stand by as what was left of the elevator was demolished.

No injuries were reported. A state police fire marshal and Detective Sgt. Larry Walker of the Tuscola County Sheriff's department assisted in the investigation, which hadn't been completed as of Monday.

Arson is not suspected in the incident, according to investigators, who said a torch was being used inside the elevator to remove equipment prior to the fire.

The Kingston State Bank owns the land and the elevator, which was closed down in mid-December after being leased for a little over a year by Coulter Farm Services.

Robert Wolak, vice-president of the bank, said the equipment as well as a storage building and an office have been sold to Wruble Elevator Inc., which had just started getting the equipment moved when the fire struck.

Ray Wruble of Wruble

Elevator Inc. West estimated Monday that $30,000 worth of equipment was destroyed. He lauded fire fighters' efforts, pointing out that a silo, as well as some equipment, was saved.

Wolak said that in talking to area residents, he learned that the elevator was rebuilt in the spring of 1947 after being destroyed by fire in the fall of 1936.

16 arrested on narcotics charges

Tuscola County law enforcement officials this week continued their search for 10 persons wanted on felony drug charges stemming from a 6-month investigation aimed at suspected local drug dealers.

The investigation has netted the arrests of 16 county residents over the past week. Sheriff's deputies, assisted by the Millington, Caro and Vassar Police departments, began rounding up suspects during the evening hours of March 21, when they conducted a sweep across the county, making 10 arrests on drug delivery charges. Troopers from the state police post in Tawas arrested an eleventh suspect.

Five more persons have since been arrested (as of Monday), including 2 suspects picked up Thursday in Cass City.

In all, 38 warrants have been issued by the Tuscola County Prosecutor's Office against 26 persons charged with delivering marijuana, cocaine and lysergic acid diethylamide (LSD) to undercover officers.

Those arrested and arraigned to date are:

- Jeffrey Allen, 21, of Caro, 2 counts delivery of marijuana;
- Randy T. Ashcroft, 25, of Deford, one count delivery of marijuana;
- Scott A. Bedell, 19, of Vassar, 2 counts delivery marijuana;
- Charles A. Clyne, 27, of Caro, one count delivery marijuana;
- Calvin J. Coleman, 38, of Millington, one count delivery marijuana;
- Randall Daenzer, 33, of Caro, 2 counts delivery marijuana;
- Dennis Fox Jr., 30, of Pigeon, 2 counts delivery LSD;
- Perry L. Hessler, 28, of Akron, one count delivery cocaine;
- Charles M. Huizar, 31, of Vassar, 2 counts delivery marijuana;
- Sherri Kern, 18, of Caro, one count delivery marijuana;
- Jimmy S. LaValley, 24, of Caro, one count delivery marijuana;
- Vern R. Law, 22, of Caro, 2 counts delivery LSD;
- Scott D. Neal, 30, of Caro, one count delivery marijuana;
- Robert E. Neff, 37, of Mayville, one count delivery marijuana;
- David Neumann, 29, of Caro, 2 counts delivery marijuana;
- Deborah A. Putman, 25, of Mayville, one count delivery marijuana.

All the charges stem from a lengthy investigation headed by Detective Sgt. Larry Walker of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, according to Undersheriff James Fyvie.

Fyvie, who along with Detective Ron Phillips and Millington Police Officer Tom Laude found $1,000 worth of "high grade" marijuana in a Millington home during one of last week's arrests, said the investigation was funded by the county and the ENACT (Eliminate Narcotic Activity in the County of Tuscola) program.

The undersheriff remarked that while the operation was successful, it allowed for only enough manpower and resources to go after local pushers.

He added that the Thumb Narcotic Units, slated to begin operations this spring, will have the manpower and resources necessary to pursue major drug suppliers in Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac and Lapeer counties.

Hair dressers hold meeting

The Thumb Hair Dressers and Cosmetologists met at Helen's Beauty Salon, Cass City, March 13.

President Sherill Horetski of Kinde relayed a message from state President Roberta Albert reminding cosmetologists that the N.H.C.A. will celebrate its 55th anniversary this year.

The state president said the organization will celebrate by putting on an extravaganza of past, present and future hair styles.

Sandy Brown, member of Michigan Hair Fashions, attended the meeting to demonstrate the new spring cuts, the most important of which was a pony tail cut.

Brown told members that hair styles are going back to being soft and mobile, while colors will be "big and bold."

The groups next meeting is slated for April 10 at 12:30 p.m.

Your neighbor says

Easter holiday time for family

For many Christian families Easter is a very special holiday.

And it, the resurrection of Jesus, is celebrated in many different ways. Some households stick with a traditional ham dinner, while others take in a mid-day brunch at most any restaurant. But mostly it's a time for family.

We asked your neighbor, Ann McNeil, how she spent her Easter Sunday.

"Easter is a very joyous holiday for our family," says the mother of two and Unionville resident.

According to Mrs. McNeil, who works in Caro for Dr. Richard Pokley, their day begins early as the entire family attends sunrise service at 6:00 a.m.

Following the church service, the McNeils head home where their children, Brad, 12 and Tara, 8, who both attend Cass City schools, hunt for their hidden Easter eggs and baskets.

But one of the best parts of Easter for Ann and her husband Terry has yet to come.

"We spend the rest of the day with family," says McNeil. The McNeils, as did everyone else in the Thumb area, got a nice surprise this Easter. The weather.

"It was so nice we all went on a long walk," stated Ann.

Merchandise purchased with money allegedly converted by Orban includes lamps, book/tape sets, sweat shirts, sleepshirts, bakeware set, jogging suits and puzzles.

Saturday, April 8 - Iva Field, representative of the estate of Edith Slack, will hold an auction of real estate and personal property at the place at 5902 Main St., Deford. Lorn Hillaker, auctioneer.

Without clouds and other constituents of the Earth's atmosphere, the surface of our planet would reach a temperature of 176 degrees at the equator by day.

The offense allegedly occurred May 15 in Indianfields Township. The couple face a preliminary examination at 9 a.m. April 5. Kevin's bond was set at $7,500 and Sally's bond at $5,000. Also facing a preliminary exam April 5 is Robert P. Pounds, 40, of Davison, who is charged with possession of a loaded firearm in a vehicle (non-game area). His bond was set at $3,000. Additional information on the charge was not available. Also arraigned recently is a 50-year-old Caro woman charged with 4 counts of embezzlement over $100. Bond was set at $40,000 for Gloria Y. Orban, 1810 Cameron Rd., whose preliminary exam was to have been held Tuesday. According to court records, Orban is charged with embezzling money from Moore Motor Sales, Caro, while working at the company. Dates of the offenses listed

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

Columbus, Ohio - Visiting our daughter and son-in-law to inspect a new granddaughter, who is clearly the prettiest baby in the world. Besides, she sleeps from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. without waking.

Airplane trips give time for reading different newspapers, and I like that. There was a story in the Columbus Dispatch that I'm sending on to Jim Kilpatrick, my favorite columnist who along with Edwin Newman is trying to preserve the English language and proper syntax.

The item: "Citing new evidence that circumcision can help prevent infection and cancer, the American Academy of Pediatrics has reversed its position of neutrality on the procedure."

Moving on from words to deeds, let me remark that whatever the Academy of Pediatrics decides, their Yankee Clippers better stay away from my front door. They missed their chance when I was a helpless infant, and they'll never get their fat fingers on me now. Blood-thirsty quacks!

Another item in an ad: "We are relocating to a new location." From The Lapeer (Mich.) County Press, my hometown paper: (from recollections by a man of his youth) "I rode my bike to town and pedaled papers."

In the same issue in the column by my old friend and neighbor, the Rev. Canon Yung-Hsuan Chou, he spelled the word "sacreligious" and I had to write him that a man of the cloth could not be forgiven, even though he was a native of a distant and foreign land. I expect his reply will be that his spelling is closer than mine would be in Chinese.

Tucked in the flight bag was a quiz book from ol' Fred Bold of San Francisco. A lead-off question: What is the English word with the letters UFA in that order somewhere in the word? There is only one such word (although as a verb it has different forms).

The first correct answer that reaches me will get as a prize a jar of Mrs. Stuart's home-made jam. Write me at Box 395, Beulah, Mich. 49617.

The editor says I must have some reference to finances in this column each week or he will fire me.

O.K. Paine Webber is now touting Upjohn Co. mostly because of its new product, "Rogaine," which sometimes helps to grow hair for the balding.

A couple of years ago, before the FDA approved its sale in the USA, I had a Canadian confederate get me a bottle of the stuff in Toronto, where it was already on the market.

I really wasn't short of hair. I was only curious to see if it worked. I never did find out.

It cost me $60 for a bottle, which would last a month. Results were not to be expected for 6 months; maximum growth of the new hair would take a year. Even then you had to keep rubbing the stuff on or the fuzz would disappear.

That translated into $720 a year.

There was a folder enclosed with a list of possible side-effects as long as your arm.

Sometimes I wish I wasn't so curious.

A common pesticide called Alar is used in the Midwest. The government agencies test for excess residue on crops. Allowable is one part per million.

In Ohio tests of 8 samples found 2 that had traces, but only one one-thousandth of amount tolerated by the government.

Nevertheless, Ohio now plans to ban the stuff entirely, putting its farmers at a disadvantage with those in neighboring states.

Post card from a Canadian friend: "Necessity makes strange bedfellows."

Bill Myers is a retired editor and investment counselor.

"Tree farming"

Battels make small woodlot pay off

ART BATTEL (LEFT) AND HIS SON, MARK, depict 2 generations of wood cutters. The pair, along with Mark's son, Bob, harvest enough timber each year to heat their 2 country homes.

If you totaled the heating bills over the past century or more at Art Battel's house on Daus Road in Elkland Township, you might wonder if the lifelong resident of Cass City was part Eskimo.

He isn't, nor is his son Mark, who lives just down the road from Battel's Centennial farm.

Yet both can boast almost nonexistent fuel bills.

The reason? Tree farming. Tree farming, or perhaps a better description, forest management, is how 3 generations of Battels have been heating their one-story farm home for over 100 years.

For the last decade the Battels have been heating 2 homes, as Mark moved his house, a building that formerly housed Mutual Savings on Main Street, to its present site.

"I figure we save around $1600 a year between the 2 houses," says the 72-year-old Battel who uses somewhere around 60-65 face cords of wood each winter. A third of that wood is used to supply heat for making homemade maple syrup.

The wood comes mainly from a 15-acre plot located about a mile behind the Battel dwelling. Tree farming, as Battel calls it, has ensured that there will be plenty of wood available for generations of Battels to come.

According to Battel, if a person had 8 or 9 acres of woods, and took care of it, he would have fuel for a lifetime. Taking care of it is what Battel labels, tree farming.

Tree farming is a winter job for Battel, his son, Mark, and Mark's son, Bob, who is a sophomore at Cass City High School.

Each winter the Battels take to the woods to stack up piles of timber from trees that the wind has knocked down, or trees that are dying, to make sure that younger trees get the sunlight and room to grow that's needed.

At the same time they haul out wood, mostly poplar and birch they've cut in previous winters, to heat their homes.

Please turn to page 3.

ART (LEFT) AND MARK BATTEL GET set to run a log of popple through their homemade buzz saw, which cuts the long section of wood into fire length portions. The large circular blade is connected, with belts and pulleys, to a farm tractor for power.

10 tips offered

Cures for drought-stricken lawns

Chances are your lawn took a beating in last year's drought. If you were allowed to water at all last summer, you probably did so sparingly and may have made things worse. Shallow, sporadic watering encourages weak surface roots that parch and die in summer heat.

If your lawn appears to be in reasonably good condition, and weeds are not a problem, fertilize before the first flush of new growth and follow the watering and mowing tips below. But, if more than 25 percent of your lawn is dead or badly damaged, you will need to detatch and overseed to re-establish healthy turf. Follow these simple steps:

- 1. Rent a power rake or verticutter. These machines loosen thatch and bring it to the surface where it can be removed with a rake or lawn sweeper. The verticutter actually slices into the existing turf, creating a bed for new seed.
2. Purchase a good quality grass seed mixture recommended for your area and conditions. Beware bargain seed—it often contains a high percentage of weeds and inert matter.
3. Overseed at a rate of 8 to 10 seeds per square inch. The slices made by the verticutter will provide a perfect bed for the new seeds.
4. After seeding, apply a spring lawn fertilizer with crabgrass control such as Greenview's Trebl® to prevent crabgrass from germinating and to feed the developing grass seedlings. The low nitrogen formula is ideal for sprouting seedlings and will provide some immediate greening of the existing grass.
5. Water gently several times daily with a lawn sprinkler. The seeded areas should be kept uniformly moist but not sopping. Never let the soil surface dry out completely while the seed is germinating -- two to four weeks, or until grass is at least two inches high.
6. When new grass passes the two inch mark, it's time to mow. But don't scalp it! Throughout the growing season, adjust mower height to allow for a cut no shorter than 2 inches in spring and fall, and 2 1/2 to 3 inches during the hot weather. The extra length gives the grass some protection from heat and drought and provides more leaf area for nutrient production to build strong, healthy turf.

Mowing Tip: Before the mowing season gets underway, have your mower blade sharpened and then check its condition periodically. A dull blade rips the tops off grass plants giving the whole lawn a sickly, greyish appearance.

7. After six weeks of new growth, it's advisable to feed the entire lawn with a slow-release, high nitrogen (30-4-4) fertilizer.

8. If dandelions and other broadleaf weeds are present, apply a complete fertilizer with weed killer such as 2-Way Green Power.

9. In the autumn, apply a low nitrogen (10-16-20) fall fertilizer with calcium and sulphur to stimulate root development, "winterize" the grass and give it a strong headstart in spring.

10. When you water, remember, an occasional deep watering is far better for a lawn than a daily sprinkle. Run your sprinkler until at least an inch of water has been applied over the entire lawn. A cup or can placed in the path of the sprinkler makes a handy water meter.

When planning your summer wardrobe, think about how your home can "dress" for the warm weather, too! It's easy to give a home a more seasonal look, according to the experts. Says designer Lyn Peterson of Motif Designs, New Rochelle, New York, it can be as simple as rearranging.

Take a look at your summertime life-style. Is another bit of advice from Peterson. For example, where are you going to entertain or spend the most time? On the screened porch? The south-facing living room rather than the north-facing den? Focus your efforts there. Downplay the bedroom, saving that for winter.

To give the most-used rooms a summery look, follow the same guidelines as in putting together a summer wardrobe. Bright colors and cool pastels simply look best in warm climates and white, of course, is always right in summer.

Shed layers. Stow away the afghans and accessories that fill up a room with coziness in winter. Send the dried floral arrangement to the basement; it's out of season now. Think of how a thick wool sweater would look in July.

Bring up slipcovers for a quick change of decorating scenery. Slip 'em on, slip 'em off when soiled (drop 'em in the washer) and slip 'em off again for fall storage. That's easy decorating.

Nothing looks more like summer than flowers that abound in and around the home, so bring the outdoors in. Whatever is growing, sprouting and budding in the yard, Peterson urges: Snip a bit for a vase inside.

One spring/summer decorating "accessory" ever-present in Peterson's home is a small container of lawn grass. She puts one in every room, including the children's rooms.

It is very simple to do—just sow and grow. The kids can help, too. The bright green color of a new lawn will surely be one of the brightest spots in any room's decor.

While creating a bright look, keep cool with a ceiling fan. They really do work and can cut down on the use of air conditioning. Ceiling fans keep the air circulating, which cools the skin naturally and, besides, it's a very island-style look.

Roll up the rugs. Take down the heavy curtains. Have curtains that drag to the floor. Leave the sheers, but tie them back, or swag lace or a lace tablecloth across the tops of windows. Maybe you will be lucky enough to find vintage lace at garage sales this time of year.

Peterson also suggests simplifying the floor plan. Every summer, Peterson removes one piece of her sectional sofa from the family room, providing a direct route to as well as an unobstructed view of the terrace.

"Sort of like summer slipcovers and summer curtains, I have a summer floor plan, too," she says.

In sum, she believes, "Do with a little less: A little less furniture, a little less decor and a little less worry and work."

TREE VALUE

Keep in mind that the trees that are dropping those leaves in your yard are also saving you money. National Wildlife magazine reports that trees may cut cooling costs 50 percent or more by shading a house from sunlight. And, come winter, trees may lower heating bills by as much as 15 percent by deflecting winter gusts.

Tools help Battels farm

This way the wood has had time to cure. The Battels have wood piles they won't touch for 6 or 7 years.

Over the years the Battels have acquired some special tools to help them with their winter trade. One is a wood sleigh that the Battels created from ash. The sled, which is pulled behind a late model Ford tractor, fills a special need, to haul the timber from the woods to their home when there is packed snow conditions. The home made sled slides easily over the snow on its runners.

This particular winter, for lack of snow, the sled wasn't used. When the sled isn't used the Battels pull a conventional type wagon with wheels.

Once they get the timber to the house the Battels use another "somewhat home-made" instrument they call a buzz saw. The buzz saw is used to cut long branches of trees into firewood lengths.

The buzz saw is a large circular saw blade attached to the front of a tractor and powered with belts and pulleys. The long sections of poplar or birch are cut easily when a platform is lifted to meet the high speed rotating blade.

For pieces too thick or heavy to rest on the buzz saw's platform, the Battels use a log splitter.

To heat his house during the colder winter months, Battel usually makes about 4 trips a day to his basement where his wood furnace is located. Depending on the temperature, sun and wind, Art typically will build 2 fires during the day and one before retiring at night. In the morning they start over on the smoldering coals.

As a backup source of energy the Battels also use some fuel oil, which will kick on around 4 a.m. when the thermostat dips to below 65 degrees.

"I think we used about 50 or 60 gallons of fuel this year," says Art. The Battels like to keep their home between 70 and 72 degrees.

Battel also likes wood generated heat, "To us it's little warmer, dryer type heat", he feels.

Besides the savings, and seeing deer and other animals, the Battels report another winter farming bonus. "A man works all day in the woods and he works up a pretty good appetite. He also sleeps pretty good at night", says the genial senior citizen.

MARK BATTEL IS standing on the wood sleigh he helped make out of ash wood. The sled is used to haul wood in snow packed conditions.

Tips for a healthy vegetable garden

Good gardening is largely a matter of common sense. But it helps to know a couple of tricks. Here are some tips to help reduce your work load and keep your garden free of weeds and pests for a beautiful, bountiful harvest.

Dig You Must: Soil preparation is half the weed battle. Cultivate to a depth of 8 to 10 inches with a tiller or by hand. You'll not only loosen and aerate the soil, you'll bury a lot of weed seeds and insect eggs deep enough to kill them.

Choose Seeds & Plants Carefully: Check seed packets or seedling labels for disease-resistance. A tomato labeled "VFN" means it's resistant to Verticillium wilt, Fusarium and nematodes. Ask the nurseryman what kinds are best. Pick varieties suited to your climate -- early maturing types if you have a short growing season.

Plant In Blocks: Plant your seed or started seedlings in tight blocks a foot or so square, with boards or straw-matched paths in between. This check-board method leaves little bare ground for weeds to invade and gives easy access to plants.

Mix Things Up A Little: Mix blocks of vegetables with herbs, flowers, and other ornamental plants for a more interesting garden, and to discourage attack by large numbers of the same kind of pest.

Beat The Bugs, Safely: You needn't panic and start spraying chemicals around if you see a bug. Plants can tolerate a few pests without serious damage. If you must take action, keep it simple:

- To control slugs, sink a shallow dish to its rim in the garden and fill it with beer. Crowds of these voracious pests will be attracted, fall in and drown overnight.
- To foil cutworms, put paper cup collars around your tomato plants, and sink them them an inch or two into the soil.
- Handpick and squash tomato hornworms, or use Bt, (Bacillus thuringiensis) a natural control for caterpillars and worms.
- Use safe, insecticidal soaps for aphids, mealybugs, spider mites, scale and other pests.

Water at the Ground Level: Don't water from above. If insects get out of hand and you need to use an insecticide, always look for non-toxics like the insecticidal soaps or natural pyrethrin-based insecticides made by Safer. These products control pests without posing a threat to people, pets or the environment.

Attracting birds to your property will help reduce insect populations. You can also buy and release beneficial insects such as ladybugs and praying mantids which feed on aphids and other pests.

OCCASIONAL CLOSE INSPECTION of your garden plants will indicate whether you have insect problems.

Avoid the pitfalls Insulation can help beat the heat

With experts predicting that last summer's scorching heat is a glimpse of the future, many homeowners are looking for ways to help control the expense of cooling their homes and, at the same time, to help keep them more comfortable this summer. Spring is the perfect time to start planning your energy-saving home improvements, like upgrading the insulation levels in your home. In the beginning, adding insulation will cost you a little money. But, this type of energy-saving project will more than pay for itself, saving energy dollars year after year and making your home a more attractive buy if you decide to sell at a later date.

Bluegrass "enjoys" sweet soil

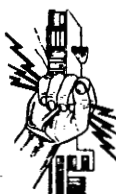

Kentucky bluegrass, the leading lawngrass for most climate zones of the United States, does "enjoy" sweet soils. However, research by the USDA, Beltsville, Maryland, singles out Emmud, Fyking, Plush and Rant 1 bluegrasses for particular tolerance to soil acidity. Other leading cultivars rate well, too, characteristic of the broad tolerance of the bluegrass breed. Agronomists do suggest that ground limestone be applied to very acid lawns, however, some fifty to one hundred pounds per thousand square feet. This should be repeated each few years until the pH approaches neutral (i.e. reaches the 6-7 range). If pulverized limestone is used for liming rather than caustics such as hydrated lime, little danger of burning the lawn exists. Should a dust of powdered lime cover grass foliage, it can be rinsed off easily with the garden hose.

Reupholstery can cut costs

Spring fever has visited and you've polished the house from top to bottom, but your eye abruptly falls at the sagging sofa, threadbare love seat or worn patio cushions. If you quit won't cheer you, consider reupholstery, which offers you the chance to pick the color, style, fiber and price range for a furniture face-lift.

Reupholstery is an often-forgotten alternative to buying new furniture, particularly when the covering is simply tired, while the quality frame is alive and well. Upholstering can be satisfying if you follow a few simple guidelines.

●Familiarize yourself with the professional craft by visiting a couple of local upholstery shops. Ask friends for references.

●Examine the prospective upholsterer's work. As a professional craftsman, he will respond to your interest and guide you wisely.

●Look at the seams for well-matched patterns, smooth and even welding, careful finishing details.

●Check to see that the padding is ample to cover the frame's skeleton.

List 3 ways to cost effectively refinish floors

Floors often are overlooked when planning home decorating projects. Three cost-effective refinishing treatments, recommended by the National Paint and Coatings Association, are bleaching, whitewashing and staining.

Bleaching, as the name states, involves stripping the wood of its color. You can use an ordinary household bleach, but remember to work in a well-ventilated area, and wear protective goggles and gloves.

Leave bleach on for 10-15 minutes, rinse and let dry. Some bleach residue will remain, so you must neutralize the floor's surface by washing with a half-and-half solution of vinegar and water. Rinse with clear water, sand with sandpaper, brush off sanding residue, and apply a coat of polyurethane to ensure the floor's durability.

Whitewashing techniques

To whitewash wooden floors, bleach surface, and apply a white stain. Reapply stain until you achieve the desired effect, without losing the natural wood grain. Let dry overnight, sand, dust and damp mop. Finish with a coat of polyurethane.

Semi-transparent, oil-based stains are recommended for staining wooden floors. Available in wood tones, oil-based stains allow the beauty of the natural wood grain to show through. All stains must be applied over clean, bare wood, which has been sanded and rubbed with paint thinner.

To achieve an enticing marquetry effect, stain entire floor in a light stain and dab a darker stain through the stencil (overlaid). Finish stenciling project with three to five coats of polyurethane.

You will see a dramatic transformation in your interior's appearance when bleaching, whitewashing or staining your wooden floors. In fact, the National Paint and Coatings Association suggests that refinishing floors be the starting point of all your interior decorating projects!

ORANGE-AID

There's a new killer chemical on the horizon, devastating to household pests but apparently safe for humans, animals and the environment. And, it smells great.

According to National Wildlife Magazine, the magic ingredient is citrus oil from orange peels. Researchers have found it to be a valuable replacement for poison in killing household pests and ants.

DON'T GET BURNED

Check Your Coverage Before It's Too Late

NOW IS THE TIME to review your Home Owner's Insurance Policy. We can offer great discounts for eligible homes.

Ask about replacement cost coverage for both dwelling and household items.

Just give us a call!
 You'll be glad you did.
