Although the Kingston School Board has gone on record denying any responsibility for educating the students who are housed at the Pioneer Work and Learn Camp near Kingston, the issue is far from settled.

Slate benefit for cancer stricken Keith Beecher

A benefit dinner for Cass City resident Keith Beecher has been organized by friends and family and will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. April 15 at the Colony House, 8430 N. Van Dyke Rd., Cass City. Tickets for the event, which will include a raffle, bake sale and new items auction, are available at Sommers' Bakery and Sutter's Bakery, both in Cass City, and at the door. Beecher, a former Active Industries employee, has been hospitalized since

Nov. 18 with osteogenic

sarcoma—cancer in the head, neck and mouth.

According to his wife, JoNell, Beecher first went to Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, after noticing a small lump on the left side of his neck in October. There, doctors, who performed a biopsy, chose chemotherany for treatment after determining Beecher's tumor was too large to remove at the time.

Several months of treatment netted little positive results, JoNell remarked, adding the tumor has continued to grow and at one point closed off her husband's breathing.

"In February, Keith was sent to Houston, Texas, to the M.D. Anderson Cancer and Tumor Research Center for evaluation," she contin-

The doctors, she said, have cleared up an infection and performed abdominal surgery to place feeding and waste tubes in his stomach. Look for alternatives

Merchants thrashed by rising trash cost

by Tom Montgomery News Editor

Cass City business owners are actively looking for ways to cut their trash disposal expenses in the face of skyrocketing hauling rates.

Some businesses have already moved to reduce hauling costs. Others, however, have no alternative for now but to pay the increased

While village residents can expect their garbage bills to nearly double in the next few weeks, businesses have already been socked with increases that have doubled and even tripled what they pay to have their refuse picked up.

The hike prompted some business owners along Main Street to end a cooperative agreement in which they shared the cost of a 10-yard dumpster.

According to Coach Light Pharmacy owner Mike Weaver, Coach Light, Fort's and Old Wood Drugs paid the lion's share of the cost for the dumpster, which was emptied twice a week. Cass City Floral and another building owner paid smaller shares to use the receptacle, he added.

Weaver said his share of the cost jumped from $40 or $50 a year ago to $84 in January, and then to $126 this month.

'We're going to go with a smaller dumpster," Weaver remarked last week, adding that his business, Fort's and Old Wood Drugs will now each use 3-yard receptacles.

Weaver said the smaller dumpsters cost $67 each per month, but added, "That $67 probably will be $100 in a vear or so.' Old Wood owner Tom Proctor remarked that it's too bad the alley behind the businesses will now be litwith several dumpsters.

He pointed out—and other area businessmen agreedthat the continuing problem of individuals dumping their bags of garbage in businesses' dumpsters will probably only get worse.

Currently, he remarked, the store compacts and sends

14 bales (800 to 1,000 pounds each) of cardboard every 2 weeks to a recycling center in Bay City. The store receives $8 to $10 per bale. "We're going to check into a compactor" for the refuse that isn't baled, he said. "If we packed it right down, we could probably use one (small) dumpster." The store now pays $400 a month, up from $160 a month, for use of a 10-yard

Tuscola county officials want action on regional landfill

Tuscola County officials will set a limit on the amount of time the county will wait to get plans for a regional landfill underway before pursuing other solutions to the area's growing waste disposal problem. That was the decision was paying $15 to use the Thursday of the county's 10-yard dumpster. That rate Solid Waste Plan Commitdoubled when Gateway tee, which decided to ask East Central Michigan Planmont, bought out Rich's ning and Development Region officials to recommend time limits on the county's waste disposal options.

The recommendations are scheduled to be heard at the group's next meeting, slated for April 13.

A more definite plan of action is needed, Kimbrue added, "so that at the end of the (next) 5-year period, when we have to update the plan again, the county isn't at the mercy of other counties and private industry No definite time limits have been set yet, but Kimbrue cited, as an example, a time period of one year to 18 months to work on a regional landfill concept.

"At the end of that time if it appears that that wasn't coming about, then (we would) seek private industry or a cooperative effort between the county and private industry to develop a landfill within Tuscola County," he explained. He added that if that option failed, the county could, as a last resort, enter the landfill business.

Donations are being sought for 10 family members who lost their Gagetown home and most of their possessions in a fire Sunday morn-

The blaze, which sent one person to the hospital for treatment of minor smoke inhalation, was reported at about 8:30 a.m.

Elmwood Township-Gagetown Fire Chief Charles Wright said the upper half of the residence, a 2story apartment building at 4803 State St., was in flames when firemen arrived.

Wright said the upstairs kitchen and living room were destroyed by flames, and both apartments sustained extensive smoke and water damage. "They pretty well lost all their clothing,'

The fire chief estimated damage at about $25,000. "We're pretty sure (the

According to the Rev. Tom Humphreys, pastor of the Gagetown Church of the Nazarene, Gagetown, the fire left 3 adults and 7 children homeless.

They are Sue Ross and her 3 children; Ross' sister, Nancy Howie, and her 4 children, and the 2 ladies' mother, Frieda Kastraba, who was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital for smoke inhalation. "The big thing right now, the big concern, is housing,' Humphreys remarked, adding that only temporary shelter has been secured for the families. Neither the apartments nor the contents of the Gagetown building were insured, according to the pastor, who noted donations of household items such as linens, dishes and furniture are especially needed.

The recent death of a relative reminded me of the fact that grief, or the means of expressing it, is as varied and individual as the people who experience it.

Of course, there are cultural differences, but within the same culture, even within the same family, people have very different methods of dealing with

Some cope by "doing." They simply must engage inactivity of some sort, while others tend more to just "feeling." It probably reflects the temperament of the individual.

Some are demonstrative, while others mourn quietly. What they do is not necessarily a barometer of how they feel.

There are those for whom the 3-day wake is a must. It's important to them to gather family members together and do things as a unit in the face of grief. To those who don't share their inclination, this may seem to take on a carnival-like atmosphere and appear barbaric. But for these people to do otherwise is to fail to express their grief properly.

Others, equally loving and no less anguished, choose to grieve silently and in private. They simply can't go through the motions of being gregarious and sociable when they're hurting so much and the situation is so sobering.

Neither is right or wrong, nor more desirable than the other. What is important is to allow others to grieve in their own way without passing judgement or insisting that everyone abide by our particular standards.

Actually, the same principle holds true in almost every area of life. People are Detroit News sports writer Joe Falls has always earned respect from this corner as a writer. Not for what he says, but because of the way he says it. Most times his columns evoke an emotional response, negative or positive, and that's the mark of a word craftsman.

However, he dropped several notches for me after I read a column of his last week. In it he used the same stuff Melva Guinther did the week before in remarks titled, "For all those born before 1945.

The only difference was Guinther acknowledged that it was passed on to her from a reader who didn't know the author. Falls never said that the thoughts expressed were anything other than his.

For shame, Joe.

You hear a lot of negative stuff about the United States Postal Service, but let me say that the post office came through for the Chronicle last Saturday. It all began when a package that was due for a printing job failed to get mailed when it was scheduled to be shipped.

If mailed Friday by United Parcel it could not arrive until Monday. We checked with Cass City Postmaster Bill Zinnecker to see if it could be mailed and arrive Saturday morning. Not to Cass City. But Zinnecker went to work and after calling around worked out a deal that the package could be at the Flint post office Saturday morning. He then gave me directions to the post office in Flint and told me what to do when I got there.

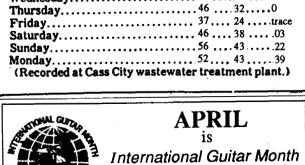

I picked up the package shortly after 7 a.m. Saturday morning and had it back in the shop at 8:30. No problem, although I admit that my blood pressure raised a notch when I talked with the supplier that caused the emergency.

According to the Michigan Department of Transportation, it costs about $7 to repair a small pothole and about $17 for an average pothole.

If those figures are accurate, there are a couple of potholes on Cemetery Road in front of Cass City High School that would have to cost at least $25 each, wouldn't they?

Activities slated at Rawson Library during library week

Rawson Memorial Library is joining with the rest of the nation to bring attention to all of the services libraries bring to the community - most free of charge - - during National Library Week,

April 9-15. "YOUR LIBRARY IS THE ANSWER" is the theme of National Library

Like most libraries today, Rawson Memorial Library has a variety of non-print materials such as talking books, audio cassettes, videos, records, computer programs and microform materials available, as well as the traditional books, magazines and newspapers.

The library also has a fine collection of large print books, made possible by the Cass City Lions Club, and a growing and well organized local history collection.

The staff at Rawson Memorial Library invites the community to come to the library to help celebrate this special week. As their way of saying "thank you," staff members will be offering special events every day of the week, including a "no fine day," "free video day" and "free copies day."

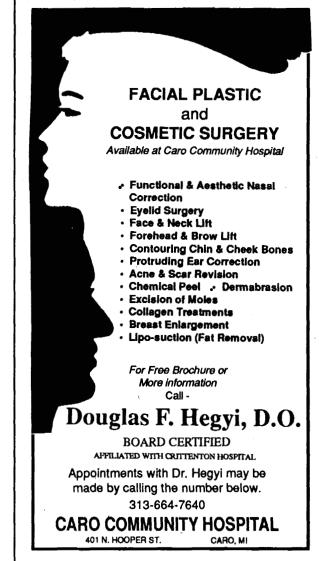

Everyone checking out material from the library during the week may select an envelope for some service from the library, such as a coupon for a free video, a free book fine, etc. A grand prize drawing will be held at the end of the week for a canvas book bag and a "book lover" mug, as well as some book/cassette sets for chil-from a vacation in the Upper noted that a dig was being Peninsula, Bill and Andrea, and their daughters, Leah, 8 1/2, and Kerry, 5, toured Fort Michilimackinac and afterwards, decided to do some wading.

As his daughters picked up rusty pieces of metal and held them up for Bill's inspection, something caught his eye.

"I just looked down, and there it was," he remarked, holding up a small, round piece of pewter with the marks "K" and "8" engraved on it.

The object, Bill learned 4 weeks ago, turned out to be a 2-piece pewter button that belonged to the heavy coat of a British soldier with the King's Eighth Regiment (infantry), apparently stationed at the fort sometime between 1774 and 1781.

It was just so ironic the way it happened," Bill recalled. adding he was about 35 feet when you think of all the in front of the fort gate when tourists walking around out

While on their way home he made the discovery. He conducted inside the fort at the same time. 'We were just picking up rusty nails," Andrea said.

"We were strolling towards the car is what we were doing," Bill remarked. He explained that they had just gone through all the exhibits in the fort, and he recalled thinking that the button he found looked very similar to the exhibits he and his family had just viewed. "In a way, we didn't believe it," he said.

KEPT STARING

Andrea added, "We just kept staring at it."

"Last year the water table was lower," Bill continued. "I don't know how many people walked over that area.

Andrea nodded in agreement. "It's really surprising there, and the people out there with metal detectors."

After returning home from their vacation, Bill said he showed the button to Tom Ellis, a friend and Cass City native who is an entomologist at Michigan State University.

Ellis passed the artifact on to the university's Department of Anthropology, which confirmed the button is authentic.

Bill said he received a letter of authenticity last week. but learned the good news about 4 weeks ago when he called Ellis.

"I said, 'Am I a millionaire.' He said, 'No, you're Exploration the owner of an old button that sat in the sand and water for long time'," Bill joked.

WORTH

"I guess probably it's not worth anything," he continued. "In personal value, it's worth quite a bit to me." Bill remarked he plans to learn more about the button. which could have belonged to a member of the British garrison that fell victim to an Indian massacre at Fort

Adopt salary schedule

Tuscola County commissioners last week adopted a new salary schedule for county judges in accordance with increased judicial standardization payments approved by the state for 1989 and 1990.

Total annual salary for the circuit judge is set at $95,220 this year ($92,000 in 1988), and $98,077 in 1990; the district judge is to receive $89,289 this year ($83,820 in 1988), and $91,902 in 1990, and the probate judge will earn $87,095 this year (($81,583 in 1988), and $89,708 in 1990.

The state Supreme Court has informed all counties that the payments made to counties are to be increased this year and next year,

HDC airs anniversary celebration

The Human Development Commission Board of Directors and staff cordially invite the public to attend HDC's 23rd anniversary celebration, slated for April 14 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Caro.

The celebration will begin at noon, with a luncheon provided by the Knights of Columbus. The program will follow from 1 to 3:30

The keynote speaker will be J.N. "Chris" Christianson, one of America's premier speakers on better living and better management. His background as an attorney, labor negotiator, salesman, director of marketing, banker, TV personality, author and management consultant set the stage for one of the finest motivational speeches to be heard, HDC officials said.

Also in attendance and providing remarks will be Sen. James Barcia, Rep. Dick Allen and Mary Washington, aide to Sen. Carl Levin.

Persons interested in attending can call HDC at (517) 673-4121 for reservations.

Cancer cases on the rise

Despite many advances in sumer programs on diet and cancer, the number of cancer cases is still growing. It is estimated that more than 1.000,000 Americans will fall victim to cancer this year, and that 502,000 cancer deaths will occur.

"Cancer prevention offers one of our best current hopes for reducing the tragic price we pay to cancer," according to Dr. Maryce Jacobs, vice-president for Research for the American Institute for Cancer Research and a former cancer researcher.

Dr. Jacobs, who holds a Ph.D. in biochemistry, noted that while progress has been made in cancer detection and treatment, there is still no cure for can-

"We can reduce cancer risk today through simple dietary changes," added Dr. Jacobs, "but to do that means consumers must be more aware of their food choices and the effects those choices can have on their health."

The American Institute for Cancer Research has been a leading national organization in the area of cancer prevention. The Institute sponsors cancer research and provides numerous con-understanding and treating cancer risk reduction. The Institute was the first national organization to promote the Dietary Guidelines to Lower Cancer Risk, a set of easy-to-follow guidelines based on the National Academy of Sciences interim dietary recommendations. The Institute's Guidelines recommend: 1. Reducing dietary fat to 30 percent or less of daily calories.

2. Increasing consumption of fruits, vegetables and whole grain products.

Consuming salt-cured, smoked and charcoal broiled foods only in moderation.

4. Drinking alcoholic beverages only in moderation. These guidelines are not a cure for cancer," Dr. Jacobs noted, "but since research estimates link from 40 to 60 percent of all cancers to our diets, and because some scientists estimate that as many as 35 percent of cancer deaths are directly related to diet, these changes could bring significant future reductions in the rates for many types of cancer." "Our lack of a complete understanding of the diet and cancer relationship is not a reason to avoid making these simple dietary changes," Dr. Jacobs urged. She noted that not only has research indicated that such changes could mean lower cancer risk, but that these guidelines are in agreement with dietary recommendations to reduce risk for other diseases, such as heart and kidney diseases.

The American Institute for Cancer Research, in addition to sponsoring cancer research at universities and hospitals across the country, produces a variety of educational programs and publications about cancer and cancer risk reduction. To receive a free copy of the Institute's booklet, "Dietary Guidelines to Lower Cancer Risk," send a stamped, selfaddressed, business size envelope to American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. phone line very busy Michigan Employment Security Commission's new toll-free customer service telephone lines are receiving more than 200 calls a day from employers and unemployed workers, MESC Director Richard Simmons Jr. said today.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission opened the Customer Service Office Jan. 3 as a central source for employers and unemployed workers to call for help in resolving prob-

The creation of the office is one of 15 recommendations made by State Labor Director Elizabeth P. Howe and state Commerce Director Doug Ross in a recent report to the Governor on administrative reform at MESC.

"The office is helping our customers cut through red tape and making the system more fair and efficient," Simmons said.

Calls range from employers asking about tax account balances and claimants asking about UI benefits to job seekers asking for help in getting a job.

MESC customers who need help should call one of the office's toll-free telephone numbers. The telephone number for employers is 1-800-638-3994. The number for unemployed workers is 1-800-638-3995.

The Customer Service Office is headed by Daniel Crockett, who handles worker concerns and Carol Krupa, who handles employer concerns.

Customer service representatives might not be able to resolve every problem immediately, Simmons stated. Within 3 working days, however, callers can expect a solution to their problem or will know the name of the person working on the issue and when to expect a resolution.

The toll-free telephone numbers are available during MESC's regular working hours Monday through Friday from 8:15 a.m. to 5

Corrections officers say inmates pampered

Inmates within Michigan's corrections system have more rights than the corrections officers who work in those facilities, according to a survey of the officers, and that is contributing to stress on their job.

The survey, conducted by Theresa Cross, PhD.,and Associates of West Bloomfield and presented to the House Corrections Committee, showed that officers believe the system "coddles and pampers" the inmates, Cross said.

"The recurring theme is the inmates have more rights than the corrections officers. They're upset that the inmates get away with murder, basically," she told the committee.

Rep. Floyd Clack (D-Flint), chair of the committee, said the members will review the Cross report, which includes 30 recommendations to be acted on by the Legislature, Department of Corrections or Michigan Corrections Organization.

He added that elimination or reduction of stress could minimize a number of other problems within the corrections system.

And concerns were also raised regarding role conflicts, which Ms. Cross indicated means to the officers "I don't know what I'm supposed to do. Something has got to be done so we know who's in charge of the cell block." The survey also indicated stress effects on the corrections officers cost the state in several areas, including worker's compensation, long term disability, disabil-

And the value of the claims paid by the state in worker's compensation to corrections officers, she added, accounts for about 22.3 percent of all those paid out by the state since 1985.

Recommendations to address the stress concerns included that feedback from the survey be provided to the participants. "Failure to communicate the results and act on the findings of the study will do more harm than if the study had not been undertaken in the first place," Cross said.

AUTOMATION GRANT

Michigan has been awardeda $2.1 million grant from the federal government for use in implementing a new automated system for unemployment insurance within the Department of Labor, a department official reported.

Kay Penner, representing the department, told the House Labor Committee that the grant, which represents 11 percent of the total automation money available at the federal level, will reduce the total new funding needed for the system by that amount, to $18.2 mil-

Total cost of the unemployment capacity project, said James Dye, department director of data processing, is $36.4 million. Approximately $16 million will be absorbed at the federal level, and the remaining $18.2 million funded by the state will be from the Penalty and Interest Account, which includes late payments of unemployment taxes and interest charged on those payments, Dye said.

The current balance in that fund, Ms. Penner added, is $21.7 million.

The new system presented to the committee would replace the problem-plagued automation system which was established within the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC)

in 1984 at a total cost of $71

The current system, she said, has never worked. "Problems have ranged from the system being down, resulting in the inability to write checks, to the mailing of a veritable blizzard of duplicate forms to employers," Penner said.

Included in the new system would be hardware conversion, operating system software conversion, a communications program, and facilities needs.

The proposal for the system was developed with the department and 4 small consulting contracts, Penner said, with a review by a fifth consultant.

YOUR EYES Dr. Ronald R. Watson,

ON BLINDNESS

Someone with severely mited vision, who can see not better than 20/200 after correction, may be considered legally blind. The optometrist's certification that this person is legally blind will entitle him or her to state and/or federal assistance for vision services to make the most of what vision remains. In some cases, an individual will avoid seeking treatment and benefits because they cannot accept the "label" which is attached to such severely restricted vision. In such cases, it's important for family and friends to provide needed support.

These services include prescribing and providing low-vision aids that use magnification to improve visual acuity.

Some of the magnification devices are hand-held; others are telescopic lenses or microscopic segments for regular lenses.

The optometrist plays an important role, not only in prescribing and providing these low-vision aids, but in helping the patient adjust to them, both technically and through the adoption of a positive outlook for the improvements the patient will begin to see.

Tougher pesticide laws in effect toughen the Michigan Pesticide Control Act be-came effective April 1, according to Dr. Paul E. Kindinger, Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Kindinger said that Governor Blanchard originally recommended the modernization of Michigan's pesticide laws in his 1987 State of the State message.

The law, Public Act 466 of 1988, provides for increased training for farmers and commercial applicators and establishes a new applicator category of registered appli-

Once rules have been promulgated, no person may apply any pesticide commercially unless he or she is either a "certified applicator" or "registered applicator." For instance, this provision will cover an employee applying a pesticide as a regular work assignment in a processing plant, a school or an apartment complex.

The amendments require that the person requesting a license to apply pesticides as a business must have significant past experience. For example, a person must have 2 years' experience as an employee of a commercial applicator; or have a degree from a recognized college and one year experience; or have other comparable experience as determined by the director of MDA.

In order to receive a license, aerial applicators must have 3 years' experience with at least 200 hours of agricultural aerial application experience under the supervision of a commercial acrial applicator.

The law provides for higher fees, ($20 per product), for registration of pesticides, and increased fees for certification and licensing. The fee for commercial to reduce fraud

A new consumer protection law designed to further reduce odometer fraud went into effect April 1 and Secretary of State Richard H. Austin is urging the buyers and sellers of used vehicles to become familiar with its provisions.

Under Public Act 470 of 1988, odometer tampering is upgraded from a misdemeanor to a felony. This change increases the likelihood that prosecutors will be willing to bring charges against individuals accused of odometer tampering.

"Over the past several years, we have enjoyed tremendous success in detect. mendous success in detecting and acting against odometer tampering and accident misrepresentation," Austin said. Finally, as of April 1 automobile dealers must show the purchaser a used vehicle's title and any title reassignment documents belonging to the vehicle, marking the first time that buyers will have easy access to a vehicle's title history before they purchase it. Currently, dealers are only required to give mileage disclosure statements on separate forms.

Department of State officials are emphasizing that Secretary of State branch office personnel will not accept applications for new titles if the existing title does not include the seller's mileage reading. Also beginning April 1, the Secretary of State will print the mileage reading on the front of all new titles issued for cars 10 years old or newer.

Individuals are encouraged to use the new disclosure requirements when selecting a used vehicle. Consumers should note the prior owner's mileage disclosure on the title, ask questions regarding prior ownership, particularly if the vehicle was formerly owned by a rental or lease company, and note whether there is evidence of erasures or alternations of information on the title. Finally, if the title is issued in the name of the selling dealer, consumers should ask why it was necessary to convert the previous title into the dealership's

New law designed Thumb Electric Co-op airs 52nd annual meeting

The 52nd Annual Meeting of the Thumb Electric Cooperative was held Friday at the Colony House.

An estimated 950 people attended the meeting, which was highlighted by the election of 3 directors and the retirement of $110,000 in Patronage Capi-

Reelected to 3-year terms were Michael Lasceski, Huron County; Kim Nunn, Sanilac County, and Louis Wenzlaff, Tuscola County.

Others nominated for a director position were Raymond Geiger, Huron County; Leonard Clark and Ralph Kingsley, Sanilac County, and Jim Rheel, Tuscola County.

In action taken after the annual meeting, the Board of Directors reelected Allan Shaw, president; Martin Damm, vice-president; Roger Vollmar, secretary, and Michael Lasceski, treasurer.

Lasceski presented the 1988 financial statement which showed operating revenues of $8,793,771 and expenses of $8,374,183, resulting in an operating margin of $419,588. The cooperative also earned $98,344 in interest on short term invest-

A recommended accounting change allowed for a one time transfer of 11 days of 1989 billing revenues into December of 1988, which more accurately presented the Cooperative's revenues resulting in assignable margins of $769,957.

The 1988 member's patronage capital account will be allocated nearly 8.8 cents on each dollar paid by TEC members. Purchased power, property taxes and single business taxes increased dramatically while other expenses increased 3 percent compared to 1987.

TEC's board president, Allan Shaw, highlighted the following areas during his report.

1988 saw a slowdown in construction from previous years. Total Utility Plant in service increased $864,505 to $24,137,096. Major projects include rebuilds of the Elmer Substation in Sanilac County and Kingston Substation in Tuscola County.

Other projects included the rebuilding of 3 miles of distribution line in Tuscola County and construction of a new portable substation. All construction was completed by TEC personnel.

Major 1989 projects will include the completion of the Owendale Substation in Huron County in May of 1989 and substation rebuilds at the Watertown and Austin Substations in Sanilac County and the Sigel Substation in Huron County.

TEC continues to expand its energy conservation service to members. In just 2 years TEC members have purchased nearly 400 high efficiency electric water heaters, which requires no out of pocket money from the member.

In early 1989 TEC began working with Water Fur-nace of Michigan which is a subsidiary of the Michigan Electric Cooperative Association to supply quality high efficiency geother-mal heat pumps to TEC members.

This new program will assure both a quality product and quality service to residents in the Thumb. TEC has rate incentives which make electric water heating and home heating competitive with all other fuel sources.

cial status, rates, member services, marketing ac- ceased tivities and patronage capital retirement. The report included the following:

The cooperative maintained a strong financial position in 1988 due to increased kilowatt hour sales. An accounting required change cooperative to book 376 days of revenue in 1988. This was a one time change in accounting practice which resulted in no increased cost to TEC mem-

TEC's 1988 average rates increased 5.6% compared to 1987 primarily due to increased wholesale power costs and a 3.65% retail increase in February 1988.

Energy sales increased 4.4% compared to 1987 primarily due to the extremely hot summer. TEC is presently working with 2 new industrial customers in Tuscola County which will be of benefit to all TEC members. New home construction continued to be slow in 1988, especially in Sanilac County.

In 1988 TEC saved nearly $2.6 million dollars with its diesel generation and load management. Aug. 2, 1988, electricity usage in Michigan reached levels that were not projected to occur until 1996.

Even with the high consumption, no major problems were experienced. TEC did utilize its diesel generation Aug. 2, 1988, to The TEC board has also help reduce system loads.

TOWNSHIP OF NOVESTA NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Zoning Board of the Township of Novesta, Tuscola County, Michigan will conduct a Public Hearing on a proposed new Rural Zoning Ordinance to replace the Township's current ordinance, which was adopted in January 1977, and as has since been amended. The Public Hearing will be held as follows:

Tuesday, April 11, 1989 at 7:00 p.m. Novesta Township Hall

Deckerville Road 600' east of Kingston Road Deford, Michigan 48729

The proposed revisions are intended to replace the 1977 ordinance to conform with changes in the state enabling act, state supreme court decisions and the experience of the Township with the ordinance. These changes principally effect the purpose, land use districts, and special land use permits as provided in the ordinance. It is proposed that the RA Residential Agricultural District be changed to three districts including an A-1, Agricultural District, a FC-1 Forestry and Conservation District and an R-1 Residential District. The B Business District would be revised into a B-1 Business District and the I-1 Light Industrial District will be revised into a M-1 Manufacturing/Distribution District. The proposed changes will be explained at the Public Hearing.

The zoning map will accordingly be changed to reflect the revised districts. Generally the proposed R-1 Residential Districts and B-1 Business Districts will be around the unincorporated village of Deford. Manufacturing districts will not be provided on the initial zoning map, but are provided for in the ordinance text. The FC-1 Forestry and Conservation Districts will be limited to the Cass City State Game Area and the Deford State Game Area.

The proposed revision of the Zoning Ordinance Text and Zoning District Map will be on file for public inspection at the residence of Nursie Kloc, Township Clerk, 6195 Severance Road (Call 872-2839 for an appointment) or the residence of Lucille DeLong, Zoning Administrator, 3447 Englehart Road (Call 872-3679 for an appointment), both have Cass City addresses. Also, the zoning Ordinance Text and Zoning District Map will be on file for public inspection at the Rawson Memorial Library, 6495 Pine Street, Cass City during normal library hours. Copies may be purchased by calling the Township Clerk at 872-2839. Written comments regarding the proposed revisions will also be accepted for review at the public hearing.

Sex disease counseling required before marriage

A new law requiring persons seeking a marriage license to undergo counseling on sexually transmitted diseases went into effect Saturday, and Thumb health department officials are gearing up to meet the new demand.

The new law, enacted by the Michigan Legislature, is known as Act 491 of 1988. The mandate requires applicants for marriage liphysician or local health officer on the transmission and prevention of venereal diseases and AIDS, and to offer testing for both, Tuscola County Health Officer Ed Golson said.

He added that the testing is not mandatory, but the counseling is in order to receive a marriage licence.

"A certificate of receipt of censes to be counseled by a these services must be presented by the applicant to the county clerk as a condition of issuing the marriage license," Golson stated.

Because it appears that many physicians will not be providing the counseling and testing, the Tuscola County Health Department is gearing up to provide the services to prospective competitors, but Wright can point to a squad twice as large as last year's, with 34 out this spring as compared to 19 last year.

That can make a difference. Wright points out. Last year we had no one competing in the pole vault. This year we have 4.

There are some letter winners back and they should be better with a year's experience. Tim Rutkoski is counted on in the high jump and hurdles. Brent Beecher and Dennis Dadacki are sprinters and Dadacki also will anchor the long jump for the Hawks.

Brent Morell will throw the shot and discus. Bob Lefler should help in the pole vault and Tim Englehart should do the same in the high jump and sprints. Steve Tuckey, Troy Perry and Alan Dadacki are middle distance hopefuls.

One outstanding Hawk that was lost via graduation is Brent Wood, hurdler.

Wright probably wishes that there were more freshmen out for the team. Just 3 are trying to earn letters this spring. The remainder of the classes are well represented. There are 11 sophomores, 11 juniors and 10 seniors on

Caro family has centennial farm

THE CONTRACTOR OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY

Thirty-two Michigan farms, including one in Tuscola County, recently were certified by the Michigan Historical Commission as Centennial Farms, Secretary of State Richard H. Austin announced.

The farm owned by the Ethel Bauer family of Caro is among the newly-certified Michigan Centennial Farms. The Bauer family farm, located at 2255 E. Caro Rd., has been in the family since 1888.

"Since the current Centennial Farm program was begun in 1948, this office has certified more than 6,000 farms as Centennial Farms,' Austin remarked. "We are pleased to recognize Ethel to Michigan agriculture, as well as the preservation of our heritage."

Persons who live on a farm that has been in the family for 100 years or longer and are interested in the Centennial Farm program can contact the Michigan Department of State, Bureau of

Bauer for her commitment

To be designated a Centennial Farm, a homestead must be at least 10 acres in size and owned by the same family for 100 years. Owners receive a Michigan Centennial Farm certificate from the Department of State's Bureau of History, and a marker for display. The on-farm markers are provided by Detroit Edison and Consumers Power Company.

Achievement program set

4-H Spring

"4-H Salute to the Stars - 75th Birthday," is the theme for the 1989 4-H Spring Achievement program set for April 8 at Mayville High School, John Wurm, Tuscola County Extension 4-H Youth Agent, announced.

Youth from all over Tuscola County will gather many of the projects that have been worked on over the winter months, Wurm said, adding spring achievement gives youth the opportunity to display the projects they have recently completed.

Also this year, a club display competition will again be held.

Five different clubs will be selected to receive honors for their displays. The awards are theme usage, best eye appealing display, most creative and unusual, quality and education counts and 4-H through green and white.

Projects included in the displays will be crafts, sewing, food and nutrition, demonstration posters, knitting, crocheting, arts and crafts, crops and soils, horse club materials, photography, computers, dog care, safety, rocketry and horti-

New this year is a poster contest promoting 4-H.

HARD WORK PAYS OFF

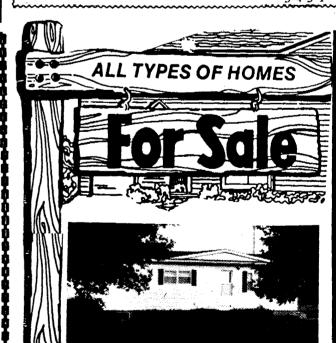

Jim Jezewski and Betty Hammond

Even in this era of advancing technology, it's still Hard Work that makes things happen. Such is the case with the recent sale of the Jim Jezewski home in Cass City..... A home which had been on the market for some time and had failed to sell, until Betty Hammond came along, that is!!!! Mr. Jezewski had observed Betty, a salesperson for Osentoski Realty, working with his neighbors. He admired her gumption and hustle and decided right then to ask her to go to work for him too!! And with persistent effort, thanks to Betty, the SOLD sign was put up in Mr. Jezewski's front yard. Now he is so pleased with Osentoski Realty and especially Betty Hammond, that he's paying for this ad to tell you about them, too.

Card of Thanks

TO A HOST of good friends, family members and expert professional help who gave of themselves for so many months and the ladies who served lunch, we are truly grateful. For the prayer service and funeral Mass which gave us memories that will never fade, we thank Fr. Jim, Sr. Nancy, Cathy and Fred. May God bless and reward you all. The Martus family. 13-4-5-1

THE GUINTHER families would like to thank all those who expressed sympathy in so many ways at the time of Chuck's death and memorial service. Good friends make the tough times a little easier. Thank vou. 13-4-5-1n

WE WOULD LIKE to thank

Dr. Kahn, Dr. Pryer, Dr.

Brown, nurses on 6th and 4th floors, the emergency room staff at St. Mary's in Saginaw; Dr. Martin, Dr. Jeung, emergency room nurses and the nurses who took care of Jeannie at Hills and Dales for the great care while she was in the hospital during the months of February and March. A special thanks to Father Spleet, Chaplain Diane, neighbors, friends and all for their prayers, get-well cards, birthday cards, gifts and visits that Jeannie received during her long hospital stay. Your thoughtfulness is greatly appreciated by Jeannie's family. Helen Rutkoski and family.

and Caro. He noted the Caro Village Council early last week joined Cass City officials in urging the committee to actively pursue a county-wide landfill. Duggar pointed out that a regional landfill concept is still a top priority, although "the issue of a county-wide landfill has a lot of merit." He said committee members Thursday discussed a number of issues regarding the concept, including public versus private ownership and political versus authority control.

'Certainly it would be foolish to ignore the reality that if you can't go to your neighbor's, you have to have landfill of your own," Duggar remarked.

"We have not come to a conclusion as to which is the best way to go," he continued. "As Cass City pointed out, even a regional landfill has potential snags. Who decides where it will go? It's going to be in somebody's back yard."

Regardless of which option is eventually chosen, Duggar said recycling and waste reduction will play key roles in the county's future waste management.

The 5-year update plan will be presented for comments and suggestions at a public hearing slated to begin at 7:30 p.m. June 8 in the county Annex Building.

Sebewaing woman injured in mishap

A Sebewaing woman was injured last week when the vehicle she was driving left Bay City-Forestville Road, entered a ditch and rolled over in Elmwood Township. The driver, Hazel I. Kuck, 73, was transported by Cass City-Mercy Ambulance personnel to Hills and Dales General Hospital, where she was treated and then released.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies said Kuck was westbound on Bay City-Forestville Road east of McGregory Road at about 3:27 p.m. March 28 when the accident occurred.

Kuck's vehicle sustained extensive damage, reports indicate.

Also, Michael R. Hutchinson, 6578 Seed St., Cass City, reported hitting a deer last Wednesday while driving west on Bay City-Forestville Road east of Koepfgen Road in Elkland

Township to seek road bids

The Novesta Township Board Monday voted to accept bids for road work this summer.

Township Clerk Nursie L. Kloc said the planned improvements include resurfacing one mile of Severance Road, from Phillips Road to Warner Road; one mile of Crawford Road, from Gilford Road to Deckerville Road, and one mile of Kelly Road west of Cemetery Road. Also planned is grading of township roads and graveling where necessary, Kloc

The hospital currently incinerates an estimated 3,150 pounds of waste and dumps another 1,000 pounds of refuse, including about 240 pounds of incinerator waste, each week.

DOUBLE THREAT

Hospital administrator Ken Jensen said the hospital faces not only increased pick-up costs, but also the threat of stricter regulations on incineration.

"We could be talking about hundreds of thousands of dollars," he said, adding if incineration standards are tightened, the hospital will seek an agreement with other Thumb hospitals in which the facilities would contribute funds to upgrade and share one hospital's incinerator.

While the bad news of higher trash hauling rates is reported plentiful in the area, Cass City School officials say they had some good news.

Supt. Ken Micklash said the school last August signed a 3-year contract with Rich's Disposal at rates comparable to previous years—$370 per month during the school year and $320 a month in the summer.

Gateway officials have indicated they intend to honor the contract and the rates, Micklash remarked.

CLOSING

According to Gateway officials, the increased hauling rates locally for both residential and commercial service are due primarily to the closing of Tri-City Landfill, Sanilac County, to out-of-county refuse.

The company, which previously transported local refuse to Tri-City, now must travel further and pay higher landfill rates to dispose of the trash, officials say.

It does seem the analysts (financial, that is) spend a lot of time sniping at bonds, and at the same time extolling stocks.

Thinking of getting a personal copier?

Forget it.

After spending 2 solid days and 23 phone calls on the subject, I'm trying to forget it myself.

Basically it's a service problem. The sort of copier you can afford for a little office, or for your home will cost $700 if you look around a lot. When it goes on the fritz you can be nailed for a couple hundred dollars to fix it. There aren't that many repairmen who will monkey with a small copier and you're at their mercy.

I finally turned to Bob Hayes, who runs a successful printing shop in Delray, and who does a land office business in keeping 4 big copiers going for the do-ityourself crowd. I told him maybe 500 copies a month would be my need. "Buy the copies you need at the nearest place to you,' said Bob. "Service costs wil" eat you up. The little copiers run slow, quality of reproduction is poor, and they'll drive you nuts. Why buy a cow when milk is so cheap?" Bill Myers is a retired editor
