ORGANIZERS OF THE Cass City track renovation project hope cash donations will continue to be as generous as volunteer workers were with their time last week, when the first phase of the project got underway. Related picture page 7.

Donations still needed as track work starts

Cass City's new track facility could be nearly completed this summer if enough donations are received in time. Organizers, who last week drafted an updated budget, are projecting they can complete the base, drainage, asphalt, top surface and fencing around the track this year provided the funds are raised in the next 3 months. Plans call for hard surface run ways and new pits to be completed as additional funds are available.

Bob Tuckey, a member of the board overseeing the track renovation, said donations received to date total about $50,000. That compares to an estimated $74,250 needed to finish the first and primary phase of the project, which will convert the existing 440-yard cinder track into an enclosed 8-lane all-weather metric track with a special rubberized surface.

The following is a breakdown of the cost:

Engineering	$ 750
Drainage	1,000
Base material	7,500
Asphalt	20,000
Sub Total	29,250
Top Surface	35,000
Fencing	10,000
Sub Total	74,250
Run Ways & Pits	15,000
Total	$89,250

The figures are only estimates, Tuckey cautioned, adding the budget is based on information received from various contractors and pledges of in-kind labor and material from individuals and businesses in the community.

Donations can be sent in care of the Cass City Boosters Club, 6261 Church St., Cass City. Additional information is available by calling Tuckey at 872-3730.

2 commissioners opposed

No time wasted in getting new health facility built

Tuscola County commissioners are wasting little time in getting the proposed construction of a new health facility underway.

Two commissioners, including Kim Glaspie (D-Cass City), however, remain opposed to proceeding with the project at this time.

Commissioners, who during their April 11 regular meeting voted 5-2 to begin construction, last week approved several motions designed to get the work started.

The board designated Building and Codes Administrator Paul Lefler as project manager. He and other staff members were directed to work through the County Executive Committee, which will be responsible for administration of the project.

The Executive Committee is composed of board Chairman William Worth (D-Millington) and Vice-Chairman Michael Green (R-Mayville).

Also, the board established construction and debt service funds for the project, authorized Lefler to hire the Bay City architecture firm of Wakely Associates Inc. to conduct preliminary engineering and design work, and authorized the staff and Executive Committee to initiate the process of selling bonds through the County Building Authority and County Bond Council.

That motion was approved 5-2, with Glaspie and Commissioner Terry Houthoofd (R-Akron) casting the dissenting votes.

Glaspie later said he voted "no" partly because of a lack of figures backing up the proposal. No figures were presented to support new construction versus other options, he added.

"I like to see all kinds of alternatives explored first, and I don't think we've done that in this case," he remarked, adding a solution to the solid waste disposal crisis and other future concerns must also be considered before spending money on a new building.

"They're going full speed ahead, so I've just continued to vote against it."

Worth remarked that he doesn't believe the board is moving too quickly.

"We had talked about it for 6 months or so," he said, "nothing official, but we had discussed that we were considering" proceeding with construction.

The board chairman added that a new building will be cheaper than trying to maintain the current Health Department facility, a former garage that Worth said would "cost a fortune" to bring up to code.

Also, he noted, the new Please turn to page 16.

Blame wiring for $68,000 fire

Faulty electrical wiring is being blamed in a fire that destroyed a Cass City area couple's home Sunday afternoon.

The structure, a double-wide modular home located about 7 1/4 miles west of Cass City, was engulfed in flames when fire fighters arrived on the scene shortly after 4 p.m., according to Elmwood-Gagetown Fire Chief Charles Wright.

No one was home at the time of the blaze, Wright said, adding the house belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Don Weiss, 3394 E. Cass City Rd.

Wright, who said the structure and contents were a total loss, estimated damage at $68,000.

Elmwood-Gagetown fire fighters received assistance from the Elkland Township and Caro fire departments. In all, 26 firemen spent 3 1/2 hours at the scene.

The blaze boosts the total fire loss in the Elmwood-Gagetown area this month to $93,000, which includes an April 2 apartment building fire in Gagetown that left 10 persons homeless.

Aside from dollar loss, the number of fires handled by the Elmwood-Gagetown department is up considerably this year, Wright pointed out.

The department has handled 15 blazes to date in 1989, compared to a total of about 18 last year.

Trash removal costs soar 56%

Predictions of a second rate jump this year for trash disposal in Cass City became reality Monday night, when the Village Council approved a hike of $2.17 per household per month.

The 56-percent increase, which will first be reflected on May 31 water billings, boosts the current rate of $3.83 per household per month to $6 per household.

Council members approved the motion following discussion and a recommendation by the council's Public Services Committee, which met April 3 with Ray Hayes of Gateway Sanitation Services, Almont.

Hayes, who attended Monday's meeting, indicated the solid waste industry continues to face an uncertain future locally, with changes in landfill rates and available space changing almost daily.

Tri-City Landfill in Sanilac County, where Gateway previously hauled village refuse, remains closed to out-of-county trash, he remarked, adding the refuse is now being taken to Sexton Landfill in Lapeer County.

That change, he said, has resulted in both higher landfill rates and hauling costs, which are now being passed on to residents.

Hayes pointed out, and council members agreed, that recycling will play a bigger part in waste management as disposal costs continue to climb.

Legislation also is playing a bigger role in the waste disposal crisis. Hayes remarked that 11 states have already passed mandatory recycling laws, and other states, including Michigan, are or likely will consider similar measures. "If it doesn't pass now, it's only a matter of time," he added.

ONE TRUCK READY

Hayes said Gateway currently has one truck ready to pick up sorted recycling materials such as plastic, newsprint and glass.

He noted that the first area recycling programs will probably consist of residents placing clean glass and metals along with tied newsprint into a single container. Gateway workers would then sort the materials as they pick them up, he continued.

Following discussion, the council unanimously approved the rate hike as well as 2 related contract items.

Those items state that Gateway reserves the right to meet with village officials, prior to the expiration of the current one-year contract (Dec. 31), to negotiate a price increase for another contract period, and that the company reserves the right to enter into another contract with the village without an increase in compensation.

Hayes noted that the company also is willing to renegotiate rates if a major change in the industry allows for a reduction in hauling costs.

In a related matter, the council directed its Public Services Committee, which is slated to again meet with Hayes Tuesday, to explore local recycling program options and the possibility of contracting with Gateway for commercial waste disposal service.

BIDS AWARDED

Turning to other matters, the council awarded bids for paving and curb and gutter work slated for this summer on 4 village streets.

The project will cover Brooker Street, from Main to Third; Third Street, from Brooker to Vulcan; Vulcan, from Third to Garfield, and Fourth Street, from Vulcan to West.

The council awarded the curb and gutter work to William C. Smith Construction, Midland, which offered a low bid of $31,882. Three other bids, ranging from $33,779 to $42,787, also were submitted for curb and gutter.

The paving work was awarded to P.T.I. Construction Co., Oakley, which submitted a low bid of $22,524, compared to 2 other bids of $23,970 and $36,402.

Both the accepted bids were within estimated figures, village Manager Lou S. LaPonsie said.

ENFORCEMENT

In other business during the 90-minute rescheduled monthly meeting, the council noted enforcement of a village ordinance dealing with garbage will be stepped up in the near future.

LaPonsie said the ordinance, following review by the council's Rules Committee and the village attorney, was found to be enforceable.

"As a result," he stated in his monthly report to the council, "We are now able to approach property owners we feel are in violation of the ordinance and ask them to clean up any lot that does not conform to it."

Also Monday, council members:

*Noted that with the recent purchase of railroad property, the village is now looking up and reviewing property descriptions for annexing those properties into the village.

Currently being reviewed for annexation are the railroad property located between the village limits and the Cass River, and the Wastewater Treatment Plant. Also, Walbro officials have agreed to the annexation of a 300-foot by 400-foot parcel of land that is contiguous with the industrial park.

*Approved 1989 village officers and committees. The only change this year lies in the council's Parks and Promotion Committee, which will be chaired by one-year council Trustee Matt Prieskorn.

*Approved a resolution transferring the village's cable television franchise with Centel Cable Television Company of Michigan to C-TEC Corporation, which is purchasing Centel.

*Rescheduled their May monthly meeting from May 29 (Memorial Day) to June 1.

Lease granted Old Settlers

The Novesta Township Board Monday voted to grant a lifetime lease to the Old Settlers Reunion for a small piece of property at the township cemetery.

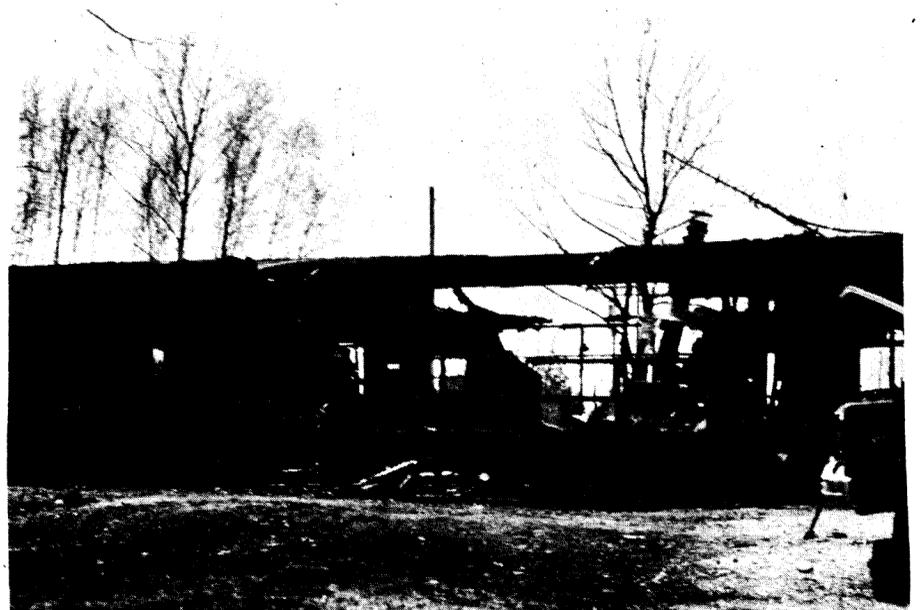

Township Clerk Nurse L. Kloc said the property is the site of a planned veterans memorial sponsored by the Old Settlers Reunion, which hopes to have the memorial in place by Memorial Day.

The board also approved spending about $6,000 for 2 dust control applications this summer. The work, to be done by the county Road Commission, will consist of "spot spraying" township roads in front of residences. In other business during the monthly meeting, the board discussed the township's insurance coverage, which expires in June.

Kloc said the board members are considering switching from Harris-Hampshire Agency Inc., Cass City, to Michigan Community Underwriters, a Michigan Township Association "pool" insurance program.

Also Monday, the board signed an honorary proclamation designating July 31 as U.S. Customs Service Day, which will mark the agency's 200th anniversary.

Fire departments from 3 communities were able to keep the fire that destroyed this home from spreading to nearby buildings.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Abell

Brian C. Abell and Debra K. McIntosh, both of Palm Bay, Fla., were married Feb. 25 at the Strawberry Mansion in Melbourne, Fla. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. McIntosh of Cass City. She attended Cass City High School and is employed by Omni Business System, Inc. in Melbourne.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest L. Abell of Crown Point, Ind. He attended Crown Point High School and is employed by Harris Sanitation in Melbourne.

The couple will live in Palm Bay.

Catalog pitfalls

by Melva E. Guinther

From time to time I fall victim to the lure of the slick products in some of the multitude of catalogs we receive, which is probably why we keep receiving a multitude of catalogs. (I'm convinced that every time you place an order, a sign lights up throughout catalogdom and flashes "Live One!" next to your address.)

They make it easy. Most have toll free numbers, and many will take your order whenever you feel the urge, 24 hours a day.

A few of the companies have excellent records and efficient service. But now and then you're reminded of how much simpler life is when you go to the store, see and buy what you want on the spot, even if it costs a little more.

A case in point. April 19, I ordered a knee brace for an arthritic knee, and a couple of other items from a Major mail order nutrition corporation.

One week later the package arrived. Not bad delivery service. However, when I opened the package, it contained not the $12.49 brace ordered and paid for, but a little strap listed in the catalog at $3.99.

Remembering that the customer service office can be hard to get through to (Perhaps that in itself should be an omen.), I checked the hours for the toll free number: 8:30-5:00 Eastern Standard Time, and began calling at 8:45 the next morning, allowing them time to get their coats off and pour a cup of coffee.

At first there was a recording telling me that "all the operators are busy now, please hold and one of them will be with you shortly." "Man!" I thought to myself. "Those poor operators must have to brace themselves for the onslaught of a dozen jangling phones when they walk through the door in the morning!"

Thus put on hold, I was subjected to some nerve shattering music (and I use the term loosely). After a few minutes, the recording came back on repeating the message.

Another interval. Then the same raspy voice informed me that the office was closed. "Please call between 8:30 and 5:00 Monday through Friday, Eastern Standard Time." It was 8:50.

I had a cup of coffee and tried again. The same recording assured me that all the operators were still busy. Admittedly out of sorts after being awake all night with the arthritic knee for which I'd ordered the brace that didn't come, I called the toll free number for placing orders. As expected, there were real people there, eager to take an order.

It was 9:00 a.m. now. The man to whom I complained about not being able to reach customer service told me that "They don't open till ...just a few minutes from now. Try again then."

I reminded him that their catalog and the recording I'd listened to a few too many times said the hours were 8:30-5:00.

"Oh, that needs to be updated," he informed me.

So, at 9:20, I tried customer service one more time, and spoke to what sounded like a genuine flesh and blood person, explaining the mistake in my order. Would you believe it? She put me on hold and more of the strident music. I hung up.

Settling the issue by mail will take longer, but hopefully it will prove less frustrating. Herewith I resolve not to order by catalog...until I've forgotten again how much of a hassle it can be.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lesoski

Celebrate 53 years

Stanley and Eleanor Lesoski of Gagetown marked their 53rd wedding anniversary Saturday, April 15. The celebration was held despite Lesoski's hospitalization at Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe. The staff at the hospital also feted the couple with a candlelight supper for the occasion.

The couple's daughter, Sherrie, hosted the celebration and was assisted by Sherry Miller and Nellie Miller of Gagetown.

The Lesoskis were married April 14, 1936, in Bad Axe. They have 5 children, Rosie Lesoski of Caro, Helen Root of Cass City, James Lesoski of Kenosha, Wis., and Sherrie, at home. They also have 8 grandchildren and 2 great-grandsons.

Two daughters, Marian and Janet, are deceased. They are members of the Cass City Church of Christ.

"If It Fitz..."

A domestic problem

By Jim Fitzgerald

"They must be going on a picnic," my wife said. On the 6 o'clock news, two women dressed in white, walking out of a house, were carrying a chest cooler, each holding a handle. The TV sound was off, because a commercial had just ended, but it did look like they were carrying cold beer and pop to an outdoor party.

"Except I recognized the house: Manoogian Mansion, official residence of Detroit Mayor Coleman Young.

"There are no cold drinks and potato salad in that cooler," I said. "They are carrying the mayor's blood."

"I knew there was a shortage of blood donors, but I didn't know the Red Cross made house calls."

"The blood is not for hospital patients, it's for legal purposes," I explained. "That blood will be tested to determine whether the mayor is the father of little Joel, as Joel's mother charges."

"You mean the mayor didn't have to go to a doctor's office or a hospital to submit a blood sample needed in a paternity suit? The needle and bottle were brought to his home?"

"Sure, it's a lot like ordering a pizza," I said. "Is this a great country or what?"

STIMULATING CONVERSATION

My wife and I often have such intellectual conversations while watching TV, especially when I forget to turn the sound back on. I usually have possession of the remote control because my wife is always knitting. It has been my experience that people holding knitting needles are slow to zap.

I pride myself in never having heard one word said during, for instance, a beer commercial, and I don't want my record spoiled by a woman heartless enough to say "wait until I finish this row" when I complain that I can distinctly hear the terrifying sound of Ed McMahon selling medical insurance.

My zealous custody of the remote control sometimes causes a domestic problem, because I read the newspaper during silenced commercials, or fall asleep. The occasional result is that when news or entertainment resumes, I don't punch back the sound at the exact, niggling, lousy second that my wife wants to hear it. And she doesn't call attention to this rare lapse simply by saying "Sound, please." No, instead she says something intellectual, like:

"I wonder why Nancy Reagan became a police officer."

On the TV screen, Nancy is wearing a Los Angeles Police Department jacket while investigating drug paraphernalia at a just-raided crack house. It can't be a borrowed jacket because "Nancy" is neatly lettered above the right breast pocket. The anti-coincidence odds are surely against Nancy Reagan finding herself standing next to an LA cop named Nancy at the same time she realizes she is no longer the first lady and it's OK for her to wear borrowed clothing to a drug bust.

But it took me a few seconds to locate the remote control, so we never learned why Nancy joined the police force. "It doesn't matter why," I said. "The important thing is that Nancy Reagan is a real cop, and in Los Angeles, at least, innocent people can live securely, without the terrible fear of a crack dealer escaping justice because a clever lawyer proved he was arrested by a bogus cop tugged into the crack house against her will by a little dog on a leash."

PONDERING THE PRINT MEDIUM

Television doesn't spark all the intellectual discussion in our home. Sometimes I call my wife's attention to a newspaper article that deserves intelligent attention. For instance, a report from Pontiac began: "A piano teacher said she's sticking by her boyfriend even though he hauled her $5,000 piano outside her home and rammed his van into it."

"Now there is a woman who knows how to appreciate her man," I explained. "She appreciates that he was considerate enough not to ruin her carpet by driving his van into the house to ram her piano. I wish I could get that kind of thoughtful appreciation around here."

"I wish you would phone to have a blood test delivered," she said. "I think it can be proven that you've slept through enough TV shows to make me a legal widow. I want people to send me the sympathy cards I deserve." Zap.

The state-wide trout season opened Saturday and I wasn't there. Again. In fact last year, for the first time in a half century, I didn't fish at all.

My intentions were good. In mid-winter I figured that I would fish more, not less, in 1988. Certainly, I never figured that I wouldn't fish at all.

If I were a true dyed-in-the-wool fisherman, there is no doubt that I would be fishing as much today as ever. I mean the kind of fisherman that would throw a line in a puddle of rain water if nothing else were available.

With age comes understanding. Sometimes. A few years ago, it was puzzling to me why many of the older fishermen that broke me into the sport suddenly were not going north anymore.

It wasn't because they weren't healthy. It wasn't a matter of money or time. It was a mystery. Now that I am in the same boat, it's still a mystery. One reason is that I now hack away at a golf ball. In my halcyon fishing days, I had yet to pick up a golf club.

But there is time to do both. In fact it would be easier now. I have a place to stay in fishing country, although sleeping in the back of a station wagon never was much of a problem when I figured it was important to hit the stream with the sun.

Mulling it over in my mind, I think that I've uncovered the primary reason. When older fishing associates were in the stream, they talked about how it used to be. When catching big, wild trout was expected and a 15-incher was common and larger fish frequently caught.

I never could experience fishing like that, and contemporary anglers cannot expect to have the success that was ours 25 years ago. There aren't as many fish to catch and there are more fishermen waiting to catch them.

Although the Department of Natural Resources dumped trout in White Creek year after year, I never attempted to catch them. That's because the best reason of all for going trout fishing was getting away from it all. With a little bit of luck you could find a portion of a stream where the water, the wilderness-like surroundings and the peace of mother nature was yours and yours alone.

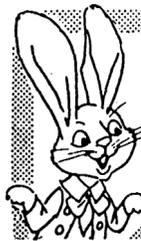

There's too much competition for those spots today and in many, many places, a fence and "NO TRESPASSING" signs block access.

As I said, none of this would stop the real fisherman and if you never knew how it used to be, you can't miss it. But I did and I do.

One time last year I drove to the side of the stream to fish and it started to rain in buckets. I never got out of the car.

In earlier years I would have waited until the torrents subsided a little and then charged out even though I knew that the chance of catching trout then were slim.

In a nutshell, that's the difference between now and then. I don't know if I regret it or not. It's the way it is and is not about to change.

Over the years Vern McConnell has been in the news many, many times. Several of the stories have been reports of his prowess as a deer hunter.

He's back in the news again this week. He went turkey hunting for the first time and bagged an 18-pound turkey with an 8-inch beard while hunting in the Rose City area. He was hunting with Skip Speirs of Deford on opening day, April 24, and shot the bird after about 2 hours in the field. McConnell is 93 years old.

Ran into Elsie Hicks last week on the sidewalk in Cass City. Mrs. Hicks, most folks know, retired as Tuscola County clerk this year after a lifetime in the clerk's office both as an employee and the elected chief of the office.

We asked her how she was finding retirement and she answered, "Difficult."

That wasn't all that encouraging to this writer, who thinks about what it would be like not to have to produce this trivia and other stuff every week.

Here's another prediction from the GTE book of predictions. "There will be a surplus of 100,000 doctors by 2,001. The result: closer attention to individual patient care, extended office hours, heavy consumer marketing and promotion."

Chronicle prediction: Every one of the 100,000 will be some sort of specialist and they all will be located in or near Ann Arbor.

C.A.R.E.S.S. volunteers recognized

An appreciation banquet for volunteers of the C.A.R.E.S.S. For New Mothers Program was attended by 28 persons at the Wildwood Farms Restaurant April 18.

C.A.R.E.S.S. (Care And Response Enabling Self Sufficiency) is a tri-county program offering emotional support and guidance to new mothers through the baby's first year.

During the April 18 program, Marge Nilsen, founder of C.A.R.E.S.S., shared how the program came into being and of its need. Julia Heilig, executive director of the program, introduced the board members and the community contact people from each county along with the representatives present from each of the 3 county's Child Abuse and Neglect Councils.

Sandy Jensen was the speaker for the evening. She spoke about how people are basically survivors, but it's how they're touched by other people that determines how well they survive.

Certificates of merit were given to Prudy Bedford, Peck; Bonnie Elsholz, Sandusky; Wanda Wallace, Carsonville; Darlene Kuenzli, Caro; Cecilia Bender, Caro; Berniece Abbe, Gagetown; Rosemary Gaeth, Owendale, and Theresa Elliott, Port Austin.

Having finished their C.A.R.E.S.S. year together, Abbe and Gaeth shared their experiences of being a volunteer and new mom and how it has affected their lives.

Dave Decker defends fast German Autobahnen driving

Dear John:
In the 10 August, 1988 issue of the Chronicle you commented on the speeds driven on the German Autobahnen in "small, light cars that predominate in Europe." Some of your readers may have been left with an image of a high speed "free-way" that combines the dynamics of Bumper Cars and Russian Roulette.

After reading your column, I made a mental note to look for some statistics on the driving habits of Europeans in preparation for another opportunity to speak to the Rotary Club during my next visit to Cass City. The Wall Street Journal/Europe published an article on 22 March, 1989 which I think you will find informative. In addition to this information from WSJ/Europe, I offer the following collection of information and observations that I have made in the past 14 months living in Germany.

Less than 12% of the fatalities on German roads occur on the Autobahnen. The often referred to "speed limitless Autobahnen" is a misleading statement because not all areas of an Autobahn are without speed limit. Any area where heavier traffic, mountains, or condensing of three lanes into two is a factor there is a speed limit. In many congested, urban areas they have the ability to change the speed limit, or remove it, according to the actual traffic conditions that are observed. It is immediately communicated to drivers via electronic signs. The speed limits are observed, within a known margin of tolerance of about +10%, by a very high percentage of drivers. There is a very high probability that flagrant offenders will be caught by radar triggered cameras that not only clearly record the license number of the auto, but almost invariably clearly show the face of the driver. If there is any dispute about who was driving, no problem, the registered owner of the car pays. And the fines are severe and certain. One can hire a lawyer to contest, but this is an action that will probably only fatten the wallet of the chosen lawyer. If one exceeds the speed limit by 50 km per hour, one's license is removed for a minimum of 6 months, no questions, no driving to work, church, or visiting one's mother on Sunday.

Certainly, there are accidents on the Autobahnen and there are a number of voices in Germany calling for the imposition of a maximum speed limit on Autobahnen. My understanding of public opinion is that the majority of Germans yet oppose imposition of a speed limit, but the percentage in favor grows a bit each year.

Though I said I was "very comfortable" driving at 100 mph (160 km per hour) on an Autobahn, this is relative, only compared to, for example, driving on I-75 at 60 mph or driving on M-81 from Caro to Cass City. As I explained on 2 August, 1988 in Cass City:

1. German roads are significantly different.
2. German drivers are much more disciplined and are trained and experienced to drive at higher speeds. By law, the only time one is allowed in the left lane is when one is overtaking another car. It is illegal to pass a car on the right side and both drivers can be penalized.
3. The cars are built for the type of driving that is done in Europe. Did you know that the Ford Escort (advertised in the USA as the "World Car") has only two parts in common between the North American and European built versions? And one of those parts is the name plate.

All German licensed vehicles are subject to a safety check every two years. Unfortunately, and quite illogical to me, is the fact that cars belonging to American military personnel, which bear a USA plate, do not have to meet this safety inspection. Consequently there are some American cars driving along the Autobahn, normally struggling in the right hand lane, that appear on the verge of falling apart before they could gasp along to the next exit. It is not difficult to explain why the majority of Germans are not excited that Chrysler has come back to Germany. They may enjoy reading Lee Iacocca's books, but they are not ready to invest their Deutsche Marks in a car that resembles the rusted out, falling down American cars they see every day.

I have observed that the majority of cars that are driving on the Autobahnen in excess of 160 km per hour are bigger than the average Pinto or Chevette. I find no difference between the size of the average new American or German car. But the average age of cars in America is older, I think because of the absence of minimum safety standards. Though there are a large number of "mini-cars" one sees in Paris or London, these are not going to be in the high speed lane of the Autobahnen. Europeans have the opinion that Americans drive much bigger cars, but I believe this is due to their impression of America coming from Dallas and Dynasty.

Finally, the presence of reliable, efficient, and clean public transportation and the very high cost of owning and operating an automobile in Germany means there are fewer younger and older drivers on the roads in Germany. Not all young people can afford the cost of the mandatory, privately run drivers training courses and license (over US $1000 in total) and owning and operating an auto is at least 50% higher than in the USA. Unleaded fuel is over US $2.00 per gallon. I also see very few drivers over retirement age in Germany. They take public transport and save the cost of owning a vehicle.

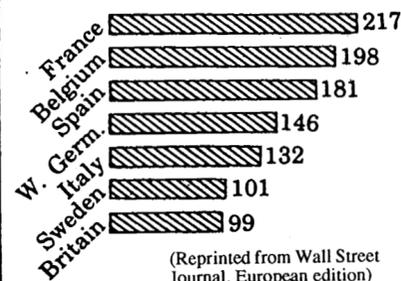

I hope I have provided you enough information that you will consider taking your next ski vacation in the Bavarian Alps. I will be happy to pick you up at the Stuttgart airport and take you a couple hours south into the Bavarian Alps. But please wear your seat belt, it is the law, and I will drive. Best Regards,

Slight injury in 2-vehicle crash

A 21-year-old Sebewaing woman was hurt Friday in a 2-vehicle collision at the intersection of Colling and Akron roads in Almer Township.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies said Stephen R. Schneberger, 5447 De-Long Rd., Cass City, was castbound on Akron Road when he pulled into the path of a northbound vehicle driven by Lisa A. Layher, Sebewaing.

Layher was transported by Caro EMS personnel to Caro Community Hospital, where she was treated and then released.

Schneberger, who along with a passenger in his vehicle sustained no injuries, told deputies that he had stopped at the intersection, but that his foot slipped off the brake of his vehicle.

Schneberger was cited for failing to yield in the 5:10 p.m. accident. His vehicle sustained moderate damage, while Layher's vehicle sustained extensive damage, reports indicate.

Also reported was a minor 2-vehicle collision Saturday involving an area resident.

Reports state Timothy B. Robertson, 5514 Trembly Rd., Decker, was backing from a private drive across M-46 east of Bradleyville Road in Denmark Township when he struck another vehicle, which had pulled off the shoulder of the road.

The driver of that vehicle was Gregory Sutton of Millington, according to deputies, who reported only minor damage and no injuries in the 6:40 p.m. mishap.

Minor damage in accident

Troopers from the state police post in Caro Monday reported only one recent minor vehicle accident involving an area resident.

Troopers reported that Douglas A. Monroe, 3560 Phillips Rd., Cass City, struck a deer April 24 while driving south on Bad Axe Road north of Wadsworth Road in Huron County's Sheridan Township.

Monroe's vehicle sustained minor damage in the 9 p.m. mishap, reports state.

Police car damaged

A 26-year-old Millington man was arraigned last week in Tuscola County District Court on a charge of malicious destruction of police property.

A preliminary examination for Rex A. Severn was slated for 9 a.m. today (Wednesday). Bond was set at $4,000. Severn allegedly damaged a Tuscola County Sheriff's Department patrol car April 25 in Arbella Township.

Also arraigned last week was Bob O. Babcock, 18, of Millington, who faces a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100. Babcock's preliminary exam also was scheduled for 9 a.m. today. Bond was set at $5,000.

Court records state the alleged offense occurred Jan. 2 in Vassar and involved a television and video cassette recorder.

Zemke already picking morels

Morel mushrooms may be a bit late in coming this year because of cold spring temperatures, but that hasn't kept Bill Zemke from getting out early in search of the tasty fungi. In fact, the area native has made a habit over the years of trying to be the first to find the earliest morels each spring.

More often than not, he's successful in his quest. His first find this year came early last week, when he picked nearly 40 small morels in the Deford area, where he was born, raised and still resides.

But he's picked them earlier. Last year he found his first morels April 9.

"I think I'd rather be doing this than anything," Zemke, a real estate broker, remarked Friday as he scanned a section of sandy soil south of Cass City.

He recalled it was his father who introduced him to hunting for the wild mushrooms.

"I guess I'm hooked on this. I've picked them all my life," he said. "I've always enjoyed picking the first morels. I always bust my rear end to be first."

Zemke spotted a pair of small brown morels and remarked, "It's a challenge. A lot of people can't see them. A lot of people can't find them."

That's the toughest part about morel hunting, according to Zemke, who noted the mushrooms are easy to identify, but small this early in the spring.

True morels, which have caps that appear pitted or honeycombed, generally grow to a height of 4 to 6 inches, he explained, adding, "In another week, if it stays warm, they'll really pop loose."

Normally, Zemke explained, the season for brown morels, the first to come up, runs from the first of May through the middle of the month. After that, the white morels come up.

He pointed out that the weather plays a much more important role than location when it comes to harvesting a good crop of morels.

Warm temperatures and plenty of moisture are ideal, he said, adding some people believe morels grow only in certain types of soil or locations, such as under oak trees, on high ridges or in pastures.

"I think it's a myth. You find them where you find them," he commented. "I've found them in swamps; I've found them on sand."

And find them he does. Zemke, who over the years has come to know the best morel picking grounds in the area, annually picks an average of some 500 of the mushrooms.

"I've picked as high as 2,000 in a season," he said, noting the biggest morel he's ever picked weighed close to half a pound.

"I'd say in Cass City there's 25 dedicated guys who... miss work to pick them just like me," he continued. "This year I'll be out a lot. I just love it."

DEFORD NATIVE BILL ZEMKE (above) pushes blades of grass aside to reveal 2 small morel mushrooms (below, right).

Morel hunters statewide gearing up for season

A pitted, but tasty morsel of fungi attracts widespread attention each May when an estimated half-million people search the state's woodlands for morel mushrooms, AAA Michigan reports.

Morel hunters hope a wet spring and warm temperatures will combine to produce plenty of those delectable wild mushrooms with the nutty taste which sell for $13 to $35 a pound.

The best time to hunt is early May to early June in the Lower Peninsula and mid-May to early June in the Upper Peninsula.

Hunters can learn more about this Michigan tradition at the Mesick Mushroom Festival, May 5-7; Harrison Mushroom Festival and Arts and Crafts Show, May 6; Boyne City National Mushroom Hunting Championship, May 13-14, and the Lewiston Morel Mushroom Festival, May 13.

Morel maps, recipes, cooking demonstrations, restaurant promotions and contests highlight the annual events.

Morels can be recognized by their caps or tops. Caps on true morels, the edible varieties, have small pits and a honeycombed appearance.

The false morels, some of which are poisonous, are ridged, wrinkled or even smooth but are not pitted.

False and true morels may appear at the same time in similar locations, so novices should hunt with an experienced guide. Comfortable clothing and shoes are advised.

A knife is needed to cut the caps off at the base.

Junior Choir cantata set at Novesta

The Junior Choir of Novesta Church of Christ, 2896 N. Cemetery Rd., Cass City, will present a children's cantata entitled, "Bullfrogs and Butterflies, Part II," Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The choir, comprised of children 3 years old through the sixth grade, will also perform several skits along with the musical presentation. The choir is under the direction of Donna Little.

A fellowship hour with refreshments will follow the cantata. The public is invited.

VFW potluck slated Friday

Spring activities and the annual Poppy Day Sales will be discussed during a potluck dinner/family night slated Friday for members and guests of VFW Post 3644, Cass City.

The dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the post hall.

Picked mushrooms should be carried in a basket or paper bag as plastic hastens spoilage.

The common "black" morel appears first. Its color varies from dark cream to brownish black. Search in moist aspen, birch and balsam fir woods.

"White" morels range from light cream to yellow-brown and grow in old orchards, beech-maple forests, and burned-over meadows.

The giant morel, weighing up to a pound, is similar to the white variety and appears about late May in maple, beech and oak forests and around elm stumps. This species is scarce but more prevalent in southern Michigan than in the north.

All morels must be cooked and small samples should be tasted at first to test for allergic reactions.

Experts advise morel hunters to be patient and persistent. And if you discover a productive site, map it for next year's harvest.

MAY MOREL MANIA

HUNTING TIPS

- Go with a guide. Novices should hunt with an expert because many false morels may be poisonous.
- Get down to ground level. Morels are difficult to spot and are often covered by leaves, underbrush and other debris.
- Pick unblemished morels. Place them in net bags or a basket because plastic bags cause morels to spoil quickly.
- Look in the woods. Morels are often found near hardwood trees, old orchards and stumps.
- Cook before eating. Raw morels are often indigestible.
- Cut morels at the base. Never pull morels out of the ground.

Scholarship winners named

Members of the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club named 3 scholarship winners and elected officers during an April 24 regular meeting, attended by 15 members and 5 guests.

The guests represented the club's 5 1989 scholarship finalists. Those chosen to receive the $250 awards, are Amy Francis, Scott King and Heather Merchant. Monies for the scholarship fund come from the club's annual calendar project.

In other business, members selected officers for 1989-90. They are Cathy Kropewnicki, president; Barb Karr, first vice president; Joann Smithson, second vice president; Sherryl Seelye, treasurer, and Beverly Perry, recording and correspondence secretary. The new officers will be installed during the club's May meeting.

Extension open house scheduled

The Cooperative Extension Service is celebrating its 75th anniversary this month with an open house set for May 10 at the Tuscola County Extension Service Building, 362 Green St., Caro.

The event is open to the public and will be held from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

Individuals participating in the open house will have an opportunity to view various exhibits and look through extension scrapbooks dating back to 1917. Refreshments will be served.

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners passed a resolution at their last meeting in commemoration of the Cooperative Extension Service's 75th anniversary. A special plaque will be presented at the open house.

Your neighbor says Oil spill just an excuse to up prices

Gasoline prices have been on a steady increase since the 10 million gallon oil spill off the coast of Alaska in early April. In the month following the disaster, gasoline prices have jumped 10 to 30 cents a gallon across the country. For some people, that translates into no summer vacation, no summer job, not to mention the trickle down effect for Michigan residents, who rely heavily on the automobile industry, if people can't afford to buy or use their cars.

Your neighbor, Tim Loney of Mayville, isn't convinced that the oil tragedy is the culprit in the sudden rise of gasoline prices, one of the most rapid increases over a short period of time in United States history.

"I think the oil companies saw an opportunity (to raise their profits)," says the 30-year-old father of 2.

Loney, who is proprietor of Industrial Welding Service, says the rising gas prices will affect his business.

"(Businessmen) will have to pass the cost on to their customers, says the Caro High School grad, who specializes in aluminum, plastic and steel welding.

The Mayville resident also senses that one way American people could help prevent their dependence on foreign oil is to drive small cars.

Tim and his wife Joan have 2 boys, DuWane 3, and Jacob, 1.

8 sentenced, 3 plead Friday in circuit court

Sentences were handed down to 8 persons and another 3 defendants entered pleas during a busy day Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

A 20-year-old Burton resident was sentenced to 3 years to 15 years in prison for breaking and entering, and 3 to 5 years for carrying a concealed weapon.

Gerald Csirke Jr. pleaded guilty to the charges Feb. 24, according to court records, which state he broke into a house at 7206 Washburn Rd., Vassar Township, Aug. 7. The weapon offense, involving a knife concealed in a motor vehicle, occurred the same day, records state.

Robert Sherman, 20, of Billings, Mont., was sentenced to 36 months in prison, with credit for 90 days already served, for a plea of guilty March 3 to breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny.

Sherman was charged in the Dec. 25 break-in of a house at 4340 Murphy Lake Rd. in Millington Township, court records state.

Michael H. Moery, 17, 2401 Froede Rd., Caro, was sentenced for a March 10 plea of guilty to breaking and entering a motor vehicle, and entry without breaking.

Moery was ordered to serve 365 days in the county jail, with credit for time already served and permission to participate in the work site program. He also was sentenced to 5 years probation, $500 in court costs and fines plus attorney fees and restitution.

Records state the vehicle offense occurred Jan. 23 in Caro and involved a 1988 Lincoln Town Car belonging to Karen Campbell, while the breaking without entering offense occurred Feb. 23 and involved a garage attached to a dwelling at 548 Rustic Court, Caro.

Millington resident Casper G. Rosas Jr., 34, was sentenced for a March 3 plea of nolo contendere (no contest) to a charge of second degree Criminal Sexual Conduct.

Rosas was ordered to serve 6 months in the county jail, to begin June 3 unless he becomes employed, in which case the term will be served under the supervision of the Probation Department.

He also was sentenced to 3 years probation and ordered to pay a $200 fine and $500 in court costs.

Court records state Rosas was charged with engaging in sexual contact with a person under the age of 13 years March 5 in Vassar Township.

Fred H. Kile, 23, of North Branch, was sentenced to 180 days in jail, to be deferred to the end of a 3-year probation term, for a Feb. 17 plea of guilty to attempted larceny in a building.

Kile, who also was ordered to pay $800 in costs and fines, was charged with stealing tools, repair parts and other items Sept. 23 from an auto body shop at 7200 Marlette Rd. in Koylton Township.

Troy Hasse, 21, of Caro, was ordered to attend counseling and spend 60 days in jail, with participation in the work site program, for his plea of guilty April 19 to probation violation.

Hasse failed to report to his probation officer March 2, April 6 and anytime thereafter, court records state.

Robert E. Witkovsky, 21, 624 Frank St., Caro, received a 90-day jail sentence, which was deferred, on a delayed sentence for a plea of guilty to unlawfully driving away an automobile Nov. 17, 1987, in Caro.

Witkovsky also was sentenced to 2 years probation and ordered to pay $700 in costs and fines plus attorney fees. Restitution is to be determined.

Jerry J. Joseph, 19, 400 Wells St., Caro, was sentenced for a March 10 plea of guilty to breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling. Joseph received a one-year delayed sentence and was ordered to pay $500 in costs. Restitution is to be determined.

Court records state the offense involved a house at 3030 Phelps Lake Rd., Mayville, Feb. 25.

PLEAS

Kingston resident Clyde L. Baugher, 3391 Washington St., entered a plea of guilty during his arraignment Friday on a charge of attempted first degree Criminal Sexual Conduct.

Sentencing was slated for June 23. Bond was continued at $20,000.

Records state Baugher attempted to engage in sexual penetration with a person under the age of 13 years March 8 in Kingston.

Thomas F. Rupprecht, 17, of Vassar, entered a plea of guilty to larceny in a building.

Sentencing was slated for June 9. Bond was continued at $8,000.

Rupprecht stole a Holley carburetor and intake manifold from a barn at 4446 Atkins Rd. in Tuscola Township Feb. 12, according to court records.

Another Vassar resident, Scott A. Bedell, 19, pleaded guilty to a charge of delivering marijuana Nov. 2 in Vassar Township.

His sentencing was scheduled for June 30. Bond was continued at $2,000.

Also Friday, a motion to reduce bond in a case against Ronald Vliet, 18, 550 E. Frank St., Caro, was denied.

Bond for Vliet, who faces charges of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny, and larceny in a building, was set at $50,000. The case is to be set for a 3-day trial.

Vliet is charged in connection with the Feb. 3 break-in of a house at 6847 Mayville Rd. in Koylton Township, and the larceny of several hunting and pocket knives, 2 guns, some liquor and a watch.

COMMUNITY EFFORT — A handful of area residents, including (from left) Larry Robinson, Keith Adelberg and Steve Wright, last week shared the work of removing a fence at the existing Cass City track, which will be converted into a modern all-weather metric track over the next 2 years.

114 injuries on 98 farms revealed in Thumb survey

Many injuries are suffered on Michigan farms each year, according to a new state health department report that focuses on a survey of Tuscola and Sanilac Counties.

Of the 78.5 farms surveyed in the 1987 study, 114 injuries were reported on 98 farms. This amounts to an injury rate of 14.5 per 100 farms. No deaths were reported in this survey, but 4.4 percent of the injuries resulted in permanent disability. The most severe injuries took place during routine chores.

The MDPH survey was conducted in cooperation with the Department of Agricultural Engineering at Michigan State University in Sanilac and Tuscola Counties, 2 representative agricultural counties in the state. It collected information on farm operations, farm workers and details on injuries which occurred during 1987.

Acting State Health Director Raj M Wiener said that with agriculture being Michigan's second leading industry, farm injury prevention is a significant public health concern.

"The farm is unique because it serves both as a workplace and home for many of our citizens," she said. "The farmer's entire family is potentially exposed to many hazards of farm work. Therefore, work-safety efforts do not completely apply to this group."

"Health promotion activities designed with input from members of the farming community and aimed at injury awareness and prevention may be the most effective way to reduce these injuries," she added.

The report's key recommendations address the need to develop a cooperative effort involving the agricultural, educational, medical and public health communities to design effective injury prevention activities.

"I appreciate the interest of the Department of Public Health in generating this report," said Paul E. Kindinger, director, Michigan Department of Agriculture. "It is important that we continue to monitor the situation, educate workers and improve technology to make the farm a safer workplace," he added.

The Department of Public Health is starting an initiative with support of a farm injury prevention coalition in the Sanilac-Tuscola area, which will develop a number of injury awareness activities.

Additional information is available by contacting Elaine Mills, Center for Health Promotion, at (517) 335-8372.

Bike-a-thon

set May 6

Local bike-a-thon chairperson Linda Derfny has asked Cass City residents to join the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital "Wheels for Life" Bike-a-thon, slated for May 6.

All children and adults are welcome. Last year, 59 riders raised $2353 in Cass City.

Derfny explained that sponsors donating a sum for each mile completed are enlisted by riders.

All riders turning in money will receive a button and a certificate. Those who raise $25 will also receive a Bike-a-thon T-shirt. When $75 is raised, the rider receives a barrel-style tote bag, a T-shirt, a button and a certificate.

Sponsor forms are available at Rawson Memorial Library or at one of the 4 local sponsoring churches: First Presbyterian, St. Pancratius, Salem United Methodist, or Trinity United Methodist.

St. Jude Children's Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict children. At St. Jude's, scientists and physicians are working side by side, seeking the causes and prevention as well as treatments for these terrible killers.

"The idea behind the Cass City Bike-a-thon is to have a good time while helping others," Derfny said.

Free hot dogs and drinks for participants will be provided by local merchants. Additional information is available by contacting Derfny at 872-2069.

birthday. To mark the occasion, callers Wednesday were Charles and Eva Tschner and on the birthday, Jerry, Barb and Julie Generous and Jack Generous, all of Caro. Granddaughters Janelle and Jill Generous, students at CMU, phoned their greetings.

Ila and Leo Seuryneck attended Mass at St. John's Catholic Church, Essexville, Sunday when Theresa Wood received her first communion. She is the daughter of Melvin and Anita Wood of Essexville, who hosted a get-together at the K of C Hall after Mass.

The long-planned Mission of Prayer and Renewal at St. Agatha Church begins Saturday, May 6, at the 4:00 p.m. Mass and continues Sunday at 11:00 a.m. and 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday 9:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Father Tom Donaldson of Grand Rapids is guest speaker and a coffee hour will follow each service. All are invited.

COUPLE WED

Jim Koch and Miss Carol Wenzel were married Saturday, April 29, at 4:00 p.m. at the Kilmanagh United Methodist Church.

A reception followed at the VFW Hall in Sebawaing. The couple will make their home on Bach Rd. in the former Neil McCallum farm home.

Paul and Maggie Langlois of Caro attended the service Saturday when their grandson, Paul Cox, received the sacrament of confirmation at Our Lady Queen of Peace Catholic Church in Harper Woods. Paul's parents are Dave and Jane Cox of Detroit and Don Cox was Paul's sponsor.

Ubyly voters encouraged to register

The Ubyly Community Schools will conduct voter registration in the high school library today (Wednesday) from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. A representative from the Huron County Sheriff's Department will administer the service.

Township clerks have been notified of this special registration. The annual school election will be held June 12 with a millage renewal of 20.35 mills appearing on the ballot. Julia Heilig, the incumbent, will appear on a ballot for reelection.

Students who will be 18 by May 8, and other unregistered district residents, are encouraged to register at this time.

Persons who plan to be away from the district June 12 can obtain an absentee ballot from Mark Tenbusch at the business office after May 8.

41 attend O-G seniors meet

Forty members and one guest attended the Owen-Gage Senior Citizens' April 20 meeting and dinner, prepared by the Ladies Aid of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Bach.

Following the meal, which was served by Ida Sting, Ann Sting, Bernadine Kunding and Rose Faber, members played euchre. The winners were Louis Ouvre and Leandra Shantz (high), and Mike Pisarek and Gerry Carolan (low).

The traveling prize went to Louise Ashmore, while Louis and Irma Ouvre won the door prize.

Several informational items were presented during the group's business meeting, held earlier in the month at St. Agatha's Parish Hall in Gagetown.

Johanna Miklovich took 14 blood pressure readings during the meeting, attended by 37 members.

Aside from the secretary and treasurer reports, President Elma Miklovich noted that senior citizens are needed to help on a planned Foster Grandparent's Day. She also suggested that members begin thinking about where they want to go during a spring tour.

In other business, Mabel Ondrajka informed the group that bus service is offered in Huron County, with 20 tickets available at a cost of $5. Tuscola and Sanilac counties also have bus service, but only in certain townships, she said.

Also, it was noted that Mary Kuehne, Mary Blondell, Vermita Jaster and Elizabeth Bartholemy will serve on the May Committee.

About a third of the world's pineapples come from Hawaii.

Business expo for Thumb companies slated June 7

A business expo designed to acquaint Thumb area businesses with the products and services of other local businesses, as well as the general public, is one step closer to reality.

"Thumb Business Expo '89" is the first of its kind for businesses established in Huron, Lapeer, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties. The event, slated for June 7 at the Caro Campus of Great Lakes Junior College, will provide for local product and service promotion, as well as business-to-business interaction and consumer contact.

The expo is being sponsored by Great Lakes Junior college and the Thumb Area Consortium/Growth Alliance in cooperation with the Tuscola County Economic Development Corporation, Sanilac Economic Growth Corporation, and Lapeer Development Corporation.

Admittance to the show is by invitation from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., with an invitation list generated by the exhibitors. Thumb Business Expo '89 will be open free of charge to the public from 6:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

Exhibit spaces are still available at a nominal fee. Information on exhibit space or general information can be obtained by calling Margie White at Great Lakes Junior College (517) 673-5857, or by contacting Jerome Lewis at the Thumb Area Consortium/Growth Alliance (517) 635-3561.

Watson gets scholarship

A Cass City resident is among 3 students and 2 faculty members who were slated to be honored by Saginaw Valley State University officials at a banquet Monday.

She is junior Barbara Watson, one of 3 students selected to receive SVSU Faculty Association endowed scholarships.

The banquet, the fourth in an annual series, was begun after a successful series of fund-raising events started in 1984 to establish the scholarship fund. The $675 awards are to be used in scholarly research activities under the guidance of a volunteer mentor.

Watson, a psychology major, will use her award to investigate "Bizarre Images and Their Relationship with Recall" under the mentorship of Dr. Matthew Margres, assistant professor of psychology.

The other students chosen to receive the 1989 awards are junior Janelle Wilson of Farwell and junior Daniel J. Wood of Frankenmuth.

The faculty members honored Monday are Dr. David R. Weaver, professor of political science, for service; and Dr. Hong Y. Park, professor of economics, for scholarship.

Michigan Mirror

Legislation is second major try to curb insurance rates

Auto insurance rates would be cut 10 percent, accident victims would have a harder time bringing lawsuits, and urban rates would be subsidized with a new statewide fee under bills proposed by 2 legislators representing different constituencies and philosophies.

While the sponsors downplayed the immediate potential of a California-style ballot issue cutting rates, they said "the danger signals are there" for similar action should their package fail.

The package by Sen. Richard Posthumus (R-Aldo) and Rep. Nelson Saunders (D-Detroit) is the second major attempt in Michigan to curb auto insurance costs.

Earlier proposals would end provisions allowing companies to use shared loss data in setting rates without violating the anti-trust law in an effort to step up the level of competition in the industry.

A key aspect to the rate cut is reversing a 1986 Supreme Court decision, which reversed a ruling it made earlier, to expand provisions for accident victims to sue for so-called pain and suffering damages.

Average claims per vehicle since the ruling increased by 11.9 percent in 1987 and 15.1 percent in 1988 for residual bodily injury and by 11.5 percent, and 12.3 percent for the 2 years for personal injury protection.

The court decision abandoned a definition of serious impairment bodily function (the legal threshold to sue for more than direct medical expenses) and stated that juries rather than judges will decide whether that threshold has been met.

A $10 per policy surcharge would generate about $50 million a year that would be used to reduce rates for people in territories with the highest rating factors.

That would permit cutting premium rates by an average of 100.

Other aspects of the package adopt a modified comparative negligence law to permit suits only by those who are less than half at fault in an injury accident, revise the definition of reasonable and necessary expenses, set a schedule of maximum fees for health benefits similar to workers' compensation benefits and eliminate duplicate payments.

"We're at a crossroads in how we deal with auto insurance," said Posthumus. "We believe this is the best approach for consumers in general."

He said he would not normally support a mandated rate cut, but said competition and the revisions in the law will produce reductions of at least that magnitude.

The legislators said the proposal will benefit both consumers and insurance companies. "If there's a loser in the system, it is those people in the legal system who go out and try to bring as many cases to court as possible," Posthumus said.

Saunders said he did not necessarily agree with that statement, saying lawyers have concerns whether injured persons will lose.

Both men said pressure will intensify for a rate-cutting ballot issue should the proposal fail, but Posthumus said it will not be as severe as in California.

Saunders said he is not yet satisfied with many of the provisions of the package, but added it is time to move ahead to public hearings and debate on the issue. "There's no question this legislation is not in final form," he said. Among his unresolved concerns is the impact of the premium surcharge on urban residents who get traffic tickets.

Jane Bailey, legal counsel for the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association, opposed the proposal saying, "You don't fund rate relief by stripping people of their rights."

She said the court decision under attack by the package "corrected an error" of an earlier ruling to return state law to the original no-fault threshold for pain and suffering lawsuits. "It establishes some fairness. It was unfair to people seriously injured or drunk or negligent drivers who were unable to sue the driver," she said.

Countering assertions by backers of the proposal that the 1986 ruling has spawned higher costs, Ms. Bailey said the number of lawsuits has not increased other than normal fluctuations since the decision.

The Supreme Court administrator's office reported auto negligence suits for personal injury and property damage increased 1.7 percent in 1988 compared to 1987, which in turn was up by 2.1 percent over 1986.

AAA of Michigan supported the proposal, saying in a statement it "helps ensure that the broad benefits of Michigan's no-fault law would continue for all motorists at a fair price."

For AAA's highest rated territories, average premiums would drop from $885 to $706.50 while in the remainder of the state rates would drop an average to $577 from $553.

Nancy Nowak of the Michigan Insurance Federation said the concept of the proposal is "okay," saying if the revisions in the no-fault law are passed, the savings should permit the 10 percent rate cut.

She said some of her member companies are philosophically opposed to a legislative-mandated cut and some want the issue taken up in concert with the anti-trust bill.

That bill is not opposed by all companies, although they want to be freed of state insurance regulation as a trade-off.

Gary Mitchell of the Professional Insurance Agents of Michigan expressed skepticism about the mandatory 10 percent cut in rates, fearing that number will go higher during legislative debate and that some or all of the cost-saving measures that make the cut possible may not stay in place.

"It is conceivable that we could end up with a proposal that does nothing but cut rates and does nothing to reform insurance," he said.

Mitchell, while saying he recognizes the legitimate problem of urban low income people affording insurance, said, "Is it legitimate to shift a tax on out-state residents for losses incurred in Detroit?"

The Senate will initiate action on the rate cut, comparative negligence and limiting suits by injured persons, while the House will begin work on the $10 per policy surcharge for the "equity pool."

Skate-a-thon scheduled for May 12

A skate-a-thon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association will be held May 12 from 7 p.m. to midnight at the Blue Blazer in Caro.

Livestock sale receipts down

Cash receipts from 1988 marketings of meat animals in Michigan, at $457 million, were down 11 percent from a year earlier, according to the Federal/State Michigan Agricultural Statistics Service.

Beth Ellen Doran, extension livestock agent, said sharply lower cattle and calf marketings and lower market prices for hogs led to the lower receipts.

Cattle and calf marketings were down 20 percent from 1987. Cattle market prices averaged $56.10 per hundredweight (cwt.) and calf prices averaged $85.40, both up significantly from the previous year.

Hog market prices averaged $41.40 per cwt., down nearly $9 from 1987. The sharply lower hog prices more than offset increased marketings, resulting in a 9 percent drop in hog cash receipts. Hog marketings, at nearly 2 million head, were up 8 percent from 1987 and were the highest annual marketings in recent history.

Sheep and lamb marketings dropped 16 percent from last year. Lower market prices also contributed to a 21 percent drop in sheep and lamb cash receipts. Market lamb prices averaged $66 per cwt., down $9 from the record high 1987 prices.

Nationally, total marketings of meat animals increased 2 percent during 1988 as decreased cattle marketings were offset by larger hog and sheep marketings. With higher prices received for cattle and lower prices for hogs and sheep, the resulting total cash receipts of $46 billion were up 4 percent from 1987.

Presbyterial meet held in Bay City

The spring gathering of the Lake Huron Presbyterial was held last Wednesday at First Presbyterian Church in Bay City.

The theme for the day was "Families - Crisis as Opportunity."

The morning address was given by Rev. Roger Brown, executive director of Samaritan Counseling Center of Saginaw Valley. The afternoon address was given by the Rev. Lydia Kelly, associate pastor of First Church, Bay City.

An election of officers took place. Alexia Cook of Cass City retired from the Presbyterial Board and was honored for her many years of service along with Sylvia Bridge of Midland.

Also a program was presented by the Youth Drama Group from Second Presbyterian Church of Saginaw.

The offering was divided between the Samaritan Counseling Center and Lake Huron Presbyterial Partners in Mission Project in Costa Rica.

Cheryl Lester and Cook attended from Cass City.

Althaver sees profitable years ahead at Walbro

Walbro Corporation, a multinational manufacturer of automotive and small engine fuel systems products, held its annual stockholders' meeting in Cass City Tuesday, April 25. Chairman L.E. Althaver and other top executives reviewed the past year and discussed future opportunities. Two directors were also reelected to the Walbro board.

Althaver pointed out that, adjusted for a 3-2 stock split, Walbro common stock price has held its own since the company's successful defense against a hostile takeover attempt in September 1987, despite the subsequent stock market "crash."

Looking at market conditions, Althaver said that sales of automotive components set new records in 1988, and that the company anticipates no decline in its automotive business this year despite an expected reduction in vehicle sales.

Althaver expressed concern over the growing inventory of unsold vehicles and noted the intense competition in the automotive industry. "Even so," he said, "there are great opportunities for Walbro in new systems business, resulting in the opportunity to double the value-added content of Walbro products in the coming years."

He and other Walbro executives emphasized Walbro's shift from individual components toward subsystems, mentioning in-tank fuel modules, fuel pump assemblies, throttle bodies and vapor management systems as Walbro products having strong promise in the automotive industry.

Althaver noted that Walbro's small engine operations also posted record sales in 1988, despite a decline in carburetor sales in the second half of the year due to the drought. However, the drought has caused a large inventory of unsold, finished goods and has resulted in reduced production schedules for Walbro in 1989, he said.

Althaver also noted that small engine operations have been adversely affected by unfavorable currency exchange rates. In addition, the company's profits have been affected by increased research and development costs, expenses related to joint ventures, and costs associated with new product programs and increased borrowing, he said.

Despite these pressures, Althaver expressed confidence that today's investments will pay off in the early 1990s.

Executive Vice-president Robert H. Walpole also expressed confidence that the company is well-positioned to take advantage of the opportunities of the 1990s, as a supplier with "total systems knowledge and global capabilities."

Walpole highlighted Walbro's joint ventures and their importance to the company's position in the global marketplace. He noted that a joint venture formed in Korea in 1988 offers strong market penetration potential for the automotive market there. A recently-formed joint venture in Hong Kong could eventually be a bridge to business opportunities on mainland China, he added.

SEM-Walbro, another joint venture formed in 1988, offers strong growth potential in the small engine market by expanding Walbro's product line to include ignition systems, and eventually, total engine management systems for small engines, according to Walbro executives.

A presentation on Orbital Engine Company, Perth, Western Australia, a joint venture partner, was also made to the stockholders. Orbital Engine Company has developed unique two-stroke engine technology that provides exceptional packaging flexibility due to its high power-to-weight ratio. The Orbital engine has received much attention from marine and automotive manufacturers, several of whom have purchased licenses giving them the right to manufacture the engine.

The joint venture company, Orbital-Walbro Corporation, is licensed to manufacture and market the engine management system for the Orbital engine in North America and Europe for automotive and marine outboard applications. A Hyundai Excel powered by a prototype Orbital two-stroke engine was on display for stockholders.

Stockholders reelected 2 directors to 3-year terms on the Walbro Board. The directors are L.E. Althaver, who has served as a Walbro director since 1968, and James F. Bauer, a retired wholesaler, who has served as a Walbro director since 1955.

Bats boom for Bulldogs in NCTL competition

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs kept their North Central Thumb League softball record unblemished last week by sweeping games from both Caseville and Akron-Fairgrove.

Coach Judy Campbell's squad, who have averaged 14 runs a game in league play, will be gearing up for North Huron's ace pitcher, Shelli Tibbits, on Thursday in the 'Dogs' home opener. Although the Bulldogs, who hold a team batting average of .310, had no problems in the first game at Akron-Fairgrove, winning 10-3, they needed a big come from behind effort to complete the 2-game sweep last Thursday.

After spotting the Vikings 4 runs in their first at bats, the 'Dogs chiseled away at the hosts' lead to deadlock the score at 5 heading into the final inning, where they scored 4 times.

Owen-Gage's hurler, Angie Bolzman, came on to relieve Mandich, who went 5 innings on the mound, and received credit for the win, despite giving up 4 runs to the hosts in a valiant last inning effort. The pair struck out 4 and issued 8 passes on balls.

Beside Mandich, also enjoying a good day at the plate were Bulldogs Bolzman, Lori Radabaugh and Andrea Goslin, who each collected 2 hits.

In the opening game Bolzman proved to be too much on the mound and at the plate as she showcased her talents in an all-around performance.

On the mound Bolzman whiffed a season high 12 batters.

At the plate, the blonde senior clubbed 2 home runs and added 5 RBIs as the Bulldogs jumped out to a 6-3 lead after 2 innings. Bolzman then held the Vikings hitless after a leadoff single in the 3rd inning.

CASEVILLE CONTEST

Earlier in the week, on Monday, the Bulldogs had little trouble at Caseville, where they posted wins of 17-6 and 20-1.

Bolzman was the pitcher of record in the opening contest and Mandich chalked up the win in the nightcap.

The Bulldogs collected 10 hits in each game. Tonya Haldane was credited with a triple, 2 doubles and a single on the night to help the winners' cause.

Area historical museum to open

The Deckerville Historical Museum opens for its second season Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and will be open Saturdays through September.

Special appointments may be made for group tours by schools, clubs and senior citizen groups on other days. Also, horse drawn rides (wagon or sleigh) are available year around by special appointment.

The museum is wheelchair accessible and features local history of the surrounding area. Many new items have been donated during the winter and 8 special shows will be given during the season, including a 1920s show and musical, an Indian Heritage Day and, to celebrate 1989 being the year of the Great Lakes celebration, a new musical, "The Great Lakes Shipping Era," has been added.

Old and unusual buttons are being sought as part of the 1920s show. Persons who have any they wish to show are asked to call Joyce or Harold Reid (313) 376-6695. Fancy gloves, bows and jewelry worn on shoes and in hair are also being sought for this July 29 annual show.

Announce "Author" winners

Twenty Owen-Gage Elementary School students represented their school at the Tri-County Young Author's Workshop, held Saturday at Sandusky High School.

The students, who were joined by pupils in other area districts, qualified to attend by writing the top books in their school.

Guest Author Carol Fenner presented writing sessions during the weekend conference, which offered students the opportunity to participate in art, music and book related activities.

Quilt show slated at nursing home

The Sanilac Medical Care Facility will be celebrating National Nursing Home Week, May 12-20. The theme for this year's celebration will be "Nursing Homes: A Tradition of Caring."

To commemorate this week, the facility will again host its Sixth Annual Quilt Show from May 12 through May 17. Many "heirloom" and new quilts will be on display.

A new element of the annual celebration will be a one-day craft and bake sale, slated for May 12 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Organizers are inviting the participation of the entire community by displaying quilts and/or selling crafts.

Pitching remains mystery

Hawks split pair of slugfests

The Cass City Red Hawks split a pair of doubleheader softball games during the week in Thumb B Association games with Bad Axe and Lakers.

In the first game against the Lakers, the game results can be summed up in a sentence. The pitching of Christner. She limited the Hawks to just 2 hits, a single by LeAnn LaRoche and a double by Darlene Monroe, as the Lakers posted 10-2 win.

Terri Gibson took the loss. She was relieved by Jan Erla in the sixth when the visitors turned a close game into a rout. The Hawks trailed by just a run, 1-0, after 5 innings, but in the sixth, the Green Machine scored 9 times to settle the issue.

It was a different story in the nightcap. Cass City rallied to take a narrow 8-7 decision.

For much of the game it appeared as if the Hawks were going to lose both ends of the twin bill. The visitors had touched Hawk hurler LaRoche for 6 runs on walks and errors and Cass City trailed 6-1 after 4 innings.

The Hawks came to life in the last 2 innings. In the fifth the team used a walk, an error and a double by Monroe to count 3 runs. In the last inning Cass City scored 4 times to win. Key blow was a triple by Cindy Powell that drove in 3 runs. Powell scored the winning marker on an error. The Hawks only made 5 hits, but made the most of them. LaRoche allowed just 2 hits, but was constantly in trouble with 10 walks.

BAD AXE GAMES

It was a pair of slugfests

Thursday against Bad Axe. Cass City copped the opener, 15-9, and dropped the second game, 13-11.

It appeared as if the first game was to be a laughter all the way for the Hawks as they scored 7 big runs in the first inning. But the Hatchets battled back to make a game of it and trailed by just 2 runs, 11-9, after 4 innings. But Beth Powell was equal to the challenge and shut down the Hatchet attack with the game on the line in the last 2 innings. She faced just 8 batters in the innings and shut the visitors out. Meanwhile, her mates made sure of the victory with a 4-run spurge in the fifth.

LaRoche was a big stickler for the Hawks with 3 hits and 5 big runs batted in. Vicki Robinson also had 3 hits in 3 trips. Powell allowed 6 hits, but walked 8.

Starter Mindy Fulcher proved to be no mystery for the Hatchets. She allowed 5 hits and walked 4 in 2 1/3 innings. Erla came on in relief in the third as the Hatchets were parading 8 runners across the plate. After a shaky start she pitched excellent ball and didn't allow a run the rest of the way. But by then it was too late, although Cass City had the tying runs on base in the last inning, but couldn't shove them across.

Sue Papp showed the way at the plate for Cass City with 3 hits in 4 tries and 3 runs batted in. LaRoche rapped a circuit clout and drove in 2 runs.

Gavitt got the win for Bad Axe although she gave up 11 hits and walked 5.

Billy's 'Dogs split with Eagles

It was a fairly productive week for the Owen-Gage High School baseball team as the Bulldogs split a double bill with Caseville and took a game from Akron-Fairgrove.

It might have been an all-victorious week if the Bulldogs hadn't run into Dale Delmotte, Jr., in the first game of the double bill at Caseville Monday, April 24. The Eagle hurler limited Owen-Gage to just 5 hits in administering a 3-0 whitewash. Victim of the pitching performance was Marc Reinhardt, who hurled well enough to win most games. He allowed just 3 hits, but walks led to 2 of the Eagles' 3 runs and an error was responsible for the other.

Bryan Abbe led the Bulldog attack with 2 hits in as many tries. The tables were turned in the nightcap. The Bulldogs had no trouble solving the slants of Rich Simpson, banging out 11 hits to record a 10-8 decision. Kevin Koch pitched the win, allowing 8 hits. Showing the way at the plate were Chad Sturrett, Jason Torres and Marc Reinhardt. Sturrett had 3 hits in 4 trips with 3 runs batted in. Reinhardt was 2 for 3, including a 3-run circuit clout. He drove in 5 runs. Torres was 3 for 3, with one run batted in.

walks and Kevin Koch then blasted a home run for the first 3 runs of the game for the Bulldogs.

Torres and Kady followed with singles and Sturrett capped the rally with a double, to put the game safely in the win column.

In the nightcap it appeared almost certain that Owen-

Gage was going to lose. After all, the Bulldogs had been able to do nothing against Mike Schmidt, who had held them to just 4 scattered hits while his teammates had backed him with 6 runs in the first 5 innings.

But in the sixth the Bulldogs tied it up. Kady and Sturrett started the rally with hits and Reinhardt got on base with an error. Abbe then rapped a round tripper. Error followed with a walk and Koch rapped a single and the tying runs were chased across on an error.

After that the 2 teams battled through the 8th inning when the game was called by darkness.

AKRON-FAIRGROVE GAMES

If Coach Harvey Billy could figure out a way to have his team perform all through the game as it does in the last inning, the Bulldogs might never lose. Owen-Gage scored 13 runs in a twin bill at Akron-Fairgrove Thursday and all of them came in the sixth (last) inning.

As a result the Bulldogs took the first game 6-1 and tied the second 7-11.

In the first game it appeared as if Matt Trisch might pitch a shutout victory. After 5 innings he was coasting along with a one-run lead on the strength of a bases empty home run by Jim McLeish.

But in the fatal sixth the flood gates opened. Mike Errer and Abbe opened with

Caro thinclads rout both Cass City track teams

The Caro Tigers rolled to Thumb B Association victories in boys' and girls' track Thursday at Cass City Recreational Park. The Tiger boys defeated the Cass City Red Hawks, 97-63, and the girls bowed 101-50.

The Hawk girls had 2 double winners. Amy Bimer won 2 field events, taking the shot put and discus. Jandi Hillaker won the 400-meter run and ran a leg on the winning 800-meter relay. Keri Santos won the 300-meter high hurdles, but was ousted from the high hurdles by false starts.

Alisha Summersette paced Caro with wins in the high jump, 800-meter run and a leg on the winning 1600 meter relay. Beckie Maxwell dominated the sprints with wins in the 100 and 200-meter dashes. Another double winner for the Tigers was Grace Herrera with first place finishes in the 1600 and 3200-meter runs.

The Hawk boys did well in the field events, but Caro dominated the track competition. The Hawks won the 1600-meter relay and the 400 and 800-meter relay and the Tigers took everything else. A double winner for Cass City was Brent Morell with first places in the shot and discus. Double winners for Caro were Marc Summersette, high jump and 1600-meter run, and Chris Cook in the low and high hurdles.

The first place finishers were:

Englehart leads win over Lakers

Cass City Red Hawk track teams continued to surpass early season expectations as the boys powered past the Lakers, 105-61, Tuesday and the girls were defeated, 86-66, at Cass City Recreational Park.

The Hawk boys won 13 of the 17 events and a couple of Hawk thinclads posted marks that almost certainly will make one or more of them eligible for this year's meet of champions. Tim Englehart won the high jump with a leap of 6-2 and Tim Rutkoski took second with a 6-foot jump, good enough to win many dual meets. Englehart won four events for Cass City, adding firsts in the 100 and 200-meter dashes and long jump. Rutkoski was a double winner, taking the low and high hurdles. Coach Larry Robinson says that if a couple of top track performers had elected to compete, the Hawks could be more than surprising. They could be big winners, he believes.

It wouldn't take much for the Hawks to move among the Thumb B Association elite. Pacing the team's rejuvenation has been freshman Keri Santos, who blazed her way to victory in both hurdle events and the long jump. Jandi Hillaker continued her strong performances with victories in the 100 and 200-meter dashes. The Hawks won half of the events, but the Lakers won 2 of the 3 relays and used their added depth to pile up points with second, third and fourth place finishes. RED HAWK HIGH JUMPER TIM ENGLEHART easily clears the bar at 5' 6" against Caro.

4-0 in league

Hawks sweep Hatchets to remain tops in Thumb B

Good pitching, good fielding and timely hitting make for winning ball teams and the Cass City Red Hawks had all 3 Thursday against the visiting Bad Axe Hatchets and as a result Coach Doug Hall's charges swept a twin bill from the Hatchets. The scores were 5-2 and 8-3. Cass City now is undefeated (4-0) in the Thumb B Association and 9-1 over all.

Junior Brent Sturtevant went the distance in the opener, scattering 8 hits while walking one and striking out 5.

Cass City counted all the needed in the second inning with a 3-run rally. Big hit was collected by Jeff Dillon, who rapped a double to chase home a pair. For the day he was 2 for 3, the only Hawk to collect more than a single safety. Hatcher ace Jason Hordus was charged with the loss. Hordus allowed 5 hits but was hurt by some shoddy fielding.

Veteran Jeff Krol went the distance to get the win in the nightcap. The game was closer than the final score indicated. The score was tied after 3 innings and at the end of the fifth, Cass City was in front by a not too comfortable 2 runs, 5-3. A 3-run rally in the last inning put the game safely in the win column.

Josh Constat provided the offensive fireworks with 3 hits in 4 tries from his lead-off spot in the lineup. He scored 3 times. Paul Tuckey used the sacrifice fly to good advantage and drove in a pair of runs.

Krol limited the Hatchets to 4 hits while walking 3 and striking out the same number. Ligrow started for the Hatchets and was relieved by Hordus with one out in the last inning. Hordus was charged with one of the 3 runs the Hawks counted in the inning.

The Hawks could go a long way toward a Thumb B championship this week with 2 games on the road. Monday they were scheduled to play at Caro and Thursday at Imlay City. All games remaining except the regular season closer against Mayville May 23 will be league games.

CASS CITY'S JANDI HILLAKER gets set to pass the baton to teammate Crystal Leffler during the 800 meter relay Thursday against Caro. The dual meet marked the final competition on Cass City's cinder track.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

Dear Uncle Bill: Here's a pretty tough article from Forbes on bonds. Enough to scare a fellow. Any comment?

BEN MYERS
Lapeer, Mich.

The article (Jan. 23 issue) by Allan Sloan tells of the clobbering of RJR Nabisco bonds after the leveraged buy-out, and the Washington Public Power Supply System default. "The bondholders put up most of the money; not only do they almost never share in the profits, they don't even always get their money back," wrote Sloan. "Demand that dealmakers give you a piece of the action."

Dear Ben: Forbes is a pretty good magazine, but it often sensationalizes a piece. The good girls are swept up with the bad when the Forbes paddy wagon comes along.

Was the writer Sloan the same left-wing financial writer who used to be with the Detroit Free Press?

Seems I remember he pilloried the Detroit banks because they wouldn't loan money to the Statler hotel, which was going bankrupt.

I agree that the RJR Nabisco deal and its leveraged buy-out so hurt the hitherto well-rated RJR bonds that they dropped 20 points in one day. These LBO's have made me wary of so many industrial bonds that I leave 'em all alone.

Anti-nuclear nuts have turned me off electric utilities which depend on atomic energy. So I concentrate on telephone bonds. No labor problems, no anti-nuke demonstrators, no fuel problems with environmentalists hollering about acid rain and greenhouse effect.

On the municipal side, I'm getting weary of holdings of housing bonds and their incessant partial calls. I don't like hospitals, except for a few like University of Michigan, connected with the medical school. I don't like nursing homes or retirement homes, or these garbage-into-electricity schemes. I don't like industrial development rev's, where the security is that of the private corporation.

That leaves me with some good electric revenues like Intermountain Power of Utah (coal-fired and A-rated); Jacksonville Electric of Florida; Georgia Municipal Electric (Meags, they call 'em), already pre-approved by the Georgia courts. I like most any water-and-sewer rev's of established cities (even Detroit). Naturally general obligations are on the good-guys list. Dormitory bonds have always paid off. Recently I got some Charleston, S.C., dorms yielding 9% on the zero-coupons. Airport rev's look o.k. - - the larger airports, that is. Insured issues get AAA ratings.

There is a lot of merchandise around, but it needs sorting. It ain't like it used to be. So few things are.

OL' UNCLE BILL

Gerrit Baker, the sage of Boca Raton, and oft mentioned in this column, dropped me a note.

"In 1948 we put $15,000 into U.S. Defense bonds," he wrote. "We could have used the money then and bought 12 new Chevrolet Belairs. But we put it in the savings bonds instead, and let it stay, and finally put it into HH bonds, where it is today.

"Now the $15,000 has become $115,000. "If I cashed the bonds, after taxes I'd have $93,500.

"With the $93,500 I could buy only 7 Chevrolet Caprices - - equivalent of the 1948 Belairs. I have lost ground."

County land values turn around in '89 as expected

As expected, Tuscola County land values are turning around in 1989 with a modest increase that could mean an extra $93,000 in general fund revenues for the county.

The news was confirmed last week in the county's 1989 Equalization Report, approved by commissioners during their regular April 25 session.

Overall, real and personal property values in the county are set at a total of $1.17 billion, an increase of about $45 million, or 4 percent, over 1988 values.

The average increase in land values among the county's 23 townships and the City of Vassar is about 4 percent, with a range of -.33 percent in Koylton Township (the only township to show declining values overall in 1989) to an increase of 13.4 percent in Novesta

Township

The 1989 figures represent the first overall increase in county land values since 1985. The same is true for agricultural land values, which are up 1.4 percent this year.

A 3-year trend of falling land values, driven by record drops in the value of agricultural land, began after the county's total state equalized valuation (half the true cash value of the property) peaked at $700 million in 1985.

In the 3 years that followed, the county's total SEV fell by a combined $138 million, or more than 21 percent, to $562 million in 1988. During the same period, the value of agricultural land plummeted by some 60 percent—14 percent in 1986, 29 percent in 1987 and 16 percent in 1988.

3-YEAR DECLINE

The 3-year decline translated into a loss of nearly $600,000 in tax revenues for county operations.

Although taxpayers may not be thrilled with this year's increase in land values, the news is welcome to county government and many other taxing units, which have struggled to maintain services in the face of an eroding tax base.

County Controller Michael Hoagland said this year's hike in land values could mean roughly $93,000 more for county operations, provided commissioners opt to again levy 4.2 mills.

The Headlee Amendment, which prohibits property tax revenues from exceeding changes in the consumer price index without a vote of the people, also may come into play, Hoagland said. He added, however, "The suspicion is it won't (with only a 4 percent increase.)"

Aside from additional operating revenues, the increase in land values could mean another $21,000 for the road patrol/dispatch millage (.9 of a mill), $12,000 more each for the bridge and medical care facility millage levies (.5 of a mill), and about $4,000 more for the senior citizens millage (.2 of a mill).

Don Graf, who will retire in July after serving as Tuscola County's Equalization director for the past 12 years, last week said he wouldn't guess whether the county's land values will again reach 1985 levels. He added, however, that he believes the values will continue to increase.

"I think they're starting back," he said. "They're showing some strength in the market."

The equalization report, on which property tax bills are based, will now go to the State Tax Commission for approval.

County board moves on health building

facility will house substance abuse personnel who otherwise would have had to find another building, which would have translated into additional cost for the county.

In other business, commissioners authorized Sheriff Tom Kern to purchase a new marine patrol boat and trailer ($15,500), radar equipment package ($2,299) and a "loud hailer" ($599), a device that enhances voice communication from and to a boat.

Kern and state Rep. Dick Allen (R-Caro) recently announced the approval of a $17,700 grant to the sheriff's department from the DNR's Marine Safety Fund that will cover 75 percent of the marine equipment purchase.

Kern lauded Allen's assistance in obtaining the grant. "We'll have a boat out on the water, fully equipped, and it's only going to cost us about $4,500," he added.

Also last week, commissioners:

*Approved 3 resolutions presented by Drain Commissioner Stanley Henry.

They are:

—A resolution providing for Bay County to make improvements on Youngs Inter-County Drain as a county drain on a one-time basis. Only a half-mile of the 8 1/2-mile drain is in Tuscola County, and that portion serves only as an outlet.

—A borrowing resolution for improvements on Nunn Drain in Millington Township. Cost of the work is estimated at $36,060, including interest.

—A borrowing resolution for more than $300,000 for improvements on Dur-Russell Drain. Cost of the project will be shared by Tuscola, Bay and Saginaw counties, which share the drain.

*Approved a transfer of $5,400 from the medical care facility millage fund to the facility for a new electronic door.

*Referred the hiring of an equalization director to the Finance Committee, which will draft recommendations regarding the position's salary schedule.

*Authorized Commissioner Robert Russell (D-Vassar), to express the county's support for moving ahead on a multi-county waste disposal solution.

*Authorized the hiring of a temporary animal shelter attendant. The position will last 26 weeks (16 hours per week) and pay $4.50 an hour.

Injuries reported in 2 vehicle mishaps

Cass City Police reported minor injuries in 2 recent vehicle accidents in the area.

According to reports, Jeffrey W. Finkbeiner, 4137 Maple St., Cass City, sustained minor injuries Saturday evening when the motorcycle he was driving was struck by a vehicle on Leach Street south of Third Street.

Police stated that Finkbeiner was southbound behind a vehicle driven by Laurel Cover of Findlay, Ohio, when Cover slowed and pulled left of the center line in preparation for a right turn. Finkbeiner, who stated he didn't see her turn signal, attempted to pass as she turned.

Both vehicles sustained light damage in the 8:05 p.m. mishap, reports state.

Earlier last week, a 76-year-old Cass City woman was struck by a vehicle while walking along Main Street east of Doerr Road.

Reports state Catherine McCarthy, 6045 Cass City Rd., was hit at about 3:10 p.m. April 25 by a vehicle driven by Glenn R. Tuggle, 6175 Main St., Cass City.

Tuggle was backing from a private driveway when the accident occurred, according to police, who reported that McCarthy refused to go to the hospital. She was treated at the scene by Cass City-Mercy Ambulance personnel.

Also reported was a car-deer accident involving Unionville resident Vera E. Parmenter.

Reports state she was westbound on M-81 west of Spence Road at about 8:10 p.m. April 26 when she hit the animal, causing slight damage to her vehicle.

It is our policy to have all items advertised in this circular in stock during the sale period. However, because this circular is printed approximately 90 days prior to the sale date, there could be an unforeseen delay, or in some cases, non-shipment of an item. We regret any inconvenience it may cause. If an advertised item is unavailable during the sale period, we will, to the best of our ability, offer a substitute item of comparable value with an equal savings over the regular price. We do reserve the right to limit the quantity on some items and special prices are in effect only during the sale period while quantities last.
