Tuscola County Fair to again feature family fun

This is the 108th year of the sees all the behind the scenes Tuscola County Fair. Over the years the fair committee has always tried to keep the annual event fun for the whole family.

This year's fair, July 30 -Aug. 5, is expected to stay with the family tradition.

"Our goal at the fair is to cosmetics." eepit 4-H and family orientated," commented 12-year committee member Jim Fitzgerald, "We try to make this the place where people can bring their kids here and let them loose if they want."

Fitzgerald, Caro resident, added, "We've tried to maintain the old fashioned fair."

Fitzgerald, a retired Bay City school teacher, used to live right next to the Tuscola County Fairgrounds as a child and has helped at the fair ever since he was in 6th here cooling down horses." Currently, Fitzgerald overwork that few people like to do. "I do some of the less glamorous things like hauling away horse and cow manure." Basically Fitzgerald is in charge of grooming the fairgrounds. "The biggest amount of my work is in Fitzgerald added that volunteers such as himself are vital to the fair. "Without volunteer labor the fair would die. We get no tax money for the fair."

The work Fitzgerald does can be very hard. He pointed out that he does it for the kids. "To me, my whole life grade. "I used to work down has been guided towards young people. This is primarily for young people.

Each year committee members visit other county fairs to get new ideas. Fitzgerald explained having new events spices up the fair. This year a draft horse show will be debuting Aug. 3 at 8 p.m. and Aug. 4 at 10 a.m. "They'll hitch up 2, 4 and 6 horses to a trailer and go through various maneuvers. They'll be expected to do turns and maybe back up with their horses.'

Another new event is being put on by the Tuscola Conservation Gun Club. "They'll have a display of guns and a videotape showing the differences of assault ing type rifle."

In addition, the National Guard is tentatively scheduled to have a display of their own. Fitzgerald explained he wasn't sure what they may do.

Village council okays new park, new trail

The Cass City Village Council established an early Christmas wish list Monday night with hopes that state grant monies will be awarded for one of 2 proposed recreation projects. A special public meeting to discuss the projects will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Village Municipal Building.

Trustee Matt Prieskorn, who chairs the council's Parks and Promotion Committee, initiated the discussion by proposing that $60,000 in Michigan Quality of Life Recreation Bond monies be sought for purchase of a water slide for the Helen Stevens Memorial

Prieskorn and fellow committee member Dorothy Stahlbaum recommended purchase of a 112-foot slide that measures some 15 1/2 feet in height. If approved, the grant would cover 75 percent of the cost and the village would be responsible for the remaining 25 percent. Prieskorn pointed out that the village also expects to receive some $25,000, to be earmarked for recreation projects, from the Doris Evens estate.

While a majority of trustees agreed the slide would be popular among swimmers, several also expressed doubts about the proposal.

Added liability, an increase in needed supervision and whether the facility would attract more swimmers than the pool can accommodate were among the concerns voiced.

Still, a motion to seek the grant was approved on a 5-1 vote, with council President L.E. Althaver casting the lone dissenting vote.

'My concern is it's an' awful lot of money to spend for a short amount of time for relatively few residents, he remarked.

FOOT TRAIL GRANT

In contrast, the council voted unanimously to seek a similar but separate grant, totaling $25,000, for a planned foot trail along the old Grand Trunk Railroad right-of-way. The path stretches about 1 1/2 miles from the Cass River to the northwest corner of the village limits...

The money would be used for several improvements, including a "scenic overlook" structure that would be built where a bridge currently is located over the Unfortunately, river. Althaver noted, the bridge has been purchased and will be removed.

Other work slated for the trail are 2 small bridges to be located over the creek north of Main Street, clearing and grading, improvements to a gravel parking lot next to General Cable Co., and the addition of benches, signs and barriers.

In a related matter, Althaver suggested that the Rules Committee be asked to look into an ordinance or possible ordinance amendments that will prohibit use of the trail by motorized vehicles.

NEW PARK

Also Monday, trustees approved plans for a new roadside park along Main Street that will replace the park now located at the future Jordan College site. Some village residents have raised concerns in recent weeks regarding the loss of the park, but the new site will be equally attractive, Prieskorn indicated.

He said benches, flower boxes and an ice skating rink will be moved to a parcel of village property located about one block east of the existing roadside park. In other business during the Shaw Sr., Cass City, said it isn't known how long the Columbia flight will last.

"We don't know when he's coming back," he added, noting officials at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration won't announce when the shuttle will return until 24 hours beforehand.

The Chronicle was unable to contact Shaw because NASA won't allow astronauts to grant interviews in the 2 months preceding the launch or for a month after their return.

Unlike the upcoming flight, much information was released prior to Shaw's previous missions.

On his first mission, the 1963 Cass City High School graduate was pilot of STS-9/ Spacelab-1, which launched Nov. 28, 1983. The shuttle's 6-man crew conducted more than 70 multi-disciplinary scientific and technical investigations over the 10-day flight.

Shaw's next mission was as spacecraft commander of STS 61-B, which launched Nov. 26, 1985, aboard the Orbiter Atlantis. # Expand industrial park by 30.5 acres

The Cass City Industrial Park will be expanded by 30.5 acres if negotiations for purchase of the parcel, located west of Doerr Road, prove successful.

The Cass City Economic Development Corporation Board of Directors last week decided to pursue purchase of the land, EDC member and Village Council President L.E. Althaver told the council Monday night.

Althaver said the board, during a special session last Wednesday, voted to negotiate purchase of the land from J.D. Tuckey at no more than $2,000 per acre on extended terms.

"As far as the EDC is concerned, it seems like the right thing to do for future growth," he told the council.

The reasoning behind the purchase, Althaver explained, is a predicted need in the future for a parcel or parcels that would accommodate the needs of a larger industrial firm(s).

The village has received inquiries in the past from prospective companies for land totalling 20 to 40 acres, but there currently are no parcels of that size in the industrial park, he said.

Village Manager Lou S. LaPonsie noted the industrial park currently consists of 35 acres, 15 of which are in use. The remaining 20 acres, he said, are split into smaller parcels that are, for the most part, separated from one another.

Further, Althaver added, the Thumb is increasingly being looked at by companies as a place to locate because of its nearness to larger urban areas and because land for similar development is getting increasingly scarce in some other areas of the state.

"We have, at the present time, $15,000, which will come from the old IDC (Industrial Development Corporation) last week's special EDC session, Althaver noted the board formally reviewed and approved a lease (for an 8-year term) with Jordan College.

Althaver said when asked how the purchase would be funded. "It's a long-term investment, no question about it."

board passed a motion in favor of the Cass City EDC borrowing $340,000 at 11.5 percent interest from Chemical Bank and Thumb National Bank to construct the college. Also approved was a contract with Herron Builders, Cass City, for $450,000 to build the facility in accordance with plans and specifications presented by the project's architects.

Blood bank coming Aug. 1

Area residents who haven't given blood yet this summer are urged to give now, before Labor Day weekend.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at Hills and Dales General Hospital, Cass City, Aug. 1. Sponsored by the hospital auxiliary, the blood bank will be accepting donors from 1 to 7

According to hospital officials, Labor Day weekend is historically one of the highest blood usage periods of the entire year. More people are traveling and enjoying the outdoors, and that means an increase in the chance of accidents, officials said.

Labor Day also marks the end of a "summer slump" a time when blood usage is high and donations are down-at the Red Cross.

"If It Fitz..."

I didn't speak

By Jim Fitzgerald

A strange thing happened last Friday when I was supposed to make a speech to more than 600 people attending the St. Stephen's alumni reunion at the Edison Inn in Port Huron. I didn't speak.

I was at the inn but not in the ballroom where I was being introduced by the master of ceremonies. I was a few walls away, on the outdoor terrace, sipping a cool drink with my wife and a few friends. I looked up once and saw Terrible Jean, my much older sister, rushing frantically through the hotel lobby, but I had no idea she was looking for her much younger brother, the missing speaker.

"The reason Terrible Jean is moving so fast is to preserve her reputation as the World's No. 1 House Guest," I explained to our able. "She is the only person who has traveled around the world twice without once meeting a room clerk."

Old St. Stephen's Catholic School opened in 1896 and closed as a 12-grade facility in 1964. The 3-day reunion was for all surviving former students. I was assigned to speak for the graduates of he 1940s. Among other important duties, it was my responsibility to explain why Maurice Shamaly, Class of '44, didn't have curly hair until he was 60.

SAME PLACE, ANOTHER TIME

I'm sorry I failed. The xplanation is that the decade speeches were originally scheduled for Thursday evening but were postponed and later canceled, because other program events ran overtime. If I'd been where I was supposed would have learned that the speeches were rescheduled at the last minute by popular demand of several alumni who'd seen me sitting in the bar the night before but wanted further proof that I was alive.

Unfortunately, where I was supposed to be was where speeches were being made, and the only thing I dislike more than making speeches is listening to them. I figured 600 people were lucky they didn't have to listen to me, and it seemed reasonable to forsake the stuffy ballroom in favor of a seat on the terrace, near the beautiful St. Clair River, safe from the fearful sound of a public address system.

If I'd made a speech, it would have included a confession, appropriate for a gathering of Roman Catholics. When I was a tiny student, the St. Stephen's campus consisted of St. Stephen's Church, St. Stephen's School, and the Stucco Building, where lunches were eaun and bingo was played. In instructing pupils where they should be when, nuns and priests referred to all 3 buildings in an equally reverent tone. My confession is I didn't know anything about construction materials and, until the sixth grade, I thought there was a St. Stucco.

SEEKING SHELTER FROM A FLASH

My speech also would have touched on the weird behavior of many women at reunions. Because it was unusual for my 4 sisters and me to be at the same place at the same time, countless family snapshots were taken. Each time to be early Friday evening, I a camera was pointed, the 4 women dived for cover up to their necks. They said they were sick of seeing their matronly figures in the forefront of group photographs.

So help me, during one photo session Terrible Jean knelt beside a hotel bed as though praying for the return of her girlish figure, circa 1890. In my usual, gracious brotherly manner, I handed her my car keys and said, if she wanted to look good in a picture taken in Port Huron, she should pose in another

A speech about the early 1940s surely would have included some reference to the job choice then awaiting most male graduates — Army or Navy in World War II. I would have recalled the unexpected middle-of-theday instruction from the pastor, Father E.J. McCormick, for all students to gather immediately in the church. It was there he announced that Bill McGill, a super athlete and one of St. Stephen's best-known graduates, had been killed in action in Italy.

I would have mentioned the names of many, many other St. Stephen's students who should have lived long enough to make the 1989 reunion but didn't.

If I'd made a speech, I would have told everyone they were lucky to be there, even if the speech was lousy.

Creason benefit raises $4,000-plus

A community benefit for Al Creason, who has cancer, approximately $4,000 and donations are still coming in, according to event co-coordinator Marie

The benefit was Saturday at the Evergreen Township School. Creason developed cancer in his kidneys about 3 years ago and since that time it has spread into his tail bone, shoulder and lungs.

Osentoski explained that overall the benefit went well. A raffle, auction, bake sale and dinner were all held in Creason's honor. "The raffle and the auction were terrific. The bake sale went over good too."

Osentoski pointed out that they sold some 1,400 tickets for the raffle. However. the dinner did slightly less than what was expected. Some 300 people attended the dinner and Osentoski thought there were going to be more. But the money received in the other events made up for the dinner, she explained.

Osentoski added that they haven't reached a concrete total yet because donations are still arriving. But so far Osentoski has been satisfied with the amount of money

Vehicle hits post office, 2 injured

Two Cass City men sought their own treatment for minor injuries last Wednesday after the vehicle they were riding in left Church Street and struck the Cass City Post Office building.

Cass City police stated Gary R. Nye, 20, 4640 Elmwood Rd., was driving weston Church Street east of Sherman Street at about 9 p.m. when he lost control and crossed the center line, jumped the south curb and hit the building.

Nye wasn't wearing a seat belt at the time of the crash, but a passenger in his vehicle, Allen W. Horne, 23, 4118 S. Seeger St., was, according to reports, which indicate the vehicle sus-

It was new to me, but everybody in Ann Arbor must know about Zingerman's. You certainly wouldn't go to the deli by accident. It's tucked away on a side street, 422 Detroit Street, at the corner of Kingsley.

It was evidently a neighborhood grocery store at one time. Its fame spread and it took over an adjacent house for seating. Even so, the place was jammed.

I had the traditional corned beef on rye. Delicious.

U.S. needs the stealth bomber

Last week the United States' Stealth, B-2 bomber made its first test flight some 18 months behind schedule.

The airplane is special in its ability to go through enemy radar without being detected due to its radar absorbent coating. When in the sky the planes' streamlined structure makes it difficult to spot.

Although it may be impressive, several members in the Senate are not so impressed with the plane's sticker price of approximately $500 million for just one B-2.

The pentagon's original plan was to build over 130 of these

Your neighbor, retired mechanic and carpenter Oscar Seeley, remarked that the plane is necessary for the U.S. "They're just trying to get ahead of the other countries. If there was a war and you had planes like that and they didn't, it would probably scare other countries out," of the war.

Seeley, a Cass City resident, added the appearance of the plane really impressed him. "I've seen pictures of that thing and it's quite a bird. When it's up in the sky you can't see it. Although Seeley, who has 5 children, 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild, does like the airplane, he said it probably isn't the end of building expensive weapons. Other countries, "will start trying to build something to catch up." Seeley explained that the price of the plane is just a part of inflation. "It's like everything else. It sounds like a lot of money. But it costs a lot of money today," for everything.

CAROL WILDMAN and her daughter, Kathy Wildman, sit next to some of the arts and crafts that Kathy will enter in the # County fair like a big reunion, say Carol and Kathy Wildman by Matt Bach 9 years and this year she is a enough time for it. "I'm so tent."

here are activities for everyone at the Tuscola County Fair. Events ranging from a demolition derby to the best quilt contest will delight people with all sorts of

But for Cass City residents Carol Wildman and her 15year-old daughter Kathy Wildman, the fair is more than a bunch of activities.

It's a chance to develop friendships that last forever. "It's a way of meeting new people, getting new experience and having fun," Kathy explained. Carol and Kathy have participated in the fair ever since they can remember. 'For most of my life I've been going to the fair," Carol commented, adding her father, Bun Campbell, started a Fairgrove 4-H organization in 1924 and her family used to stay the entire week and show animals at

Kathy pointed out that she active in the fair for the past has, "Been helping (my mother) in the fair since I've been able to walk."

Carol, who is an Owen-Gage elementary teacher, explained that she is still friends with people she met at the county fair over 30 years ago. "My favorite thing about the fair is all the people you get to see. It makes good friendships. It's like a great big reunion that's a week long," Carol Carol's mother, Sally Campbell, was very active in the fair and Carol considers their family 3 generation 4-H'ers.

In addition, Carol's husband, Don Wildman, and older daughter, Kim Wildman, were active in the fair during previous years.

The Wildmans have always participated in the fair through 4-H, which is primarily for young adults ages 8-19. Carol is the 4-H leader in the area and superintendent of the fair's arts and crafts show.

Kathy has been in 4-H and built so people would have more places to get out of the sun and rest. "It wasn't designed specifically for people to eat in, although loved animals and someone shouldn't be too surprised that his favorite part of the fair is the animal shows.

"There's something about a little kid showing a big cow candidate for the 4-H Queen. If she wins she will be in various parades and community activities next Although Carol and Kathy said the fair can be a lot work, it still brings many good times. "It's work getting ready for the fair. But when you're at the fair it's

ARTS AND CRAFTS

In addition, there are several fair activities the Wildmans could get involved with, but they have seemed to develop their own niche in the arts and crafts show. "I learned, through 4-H, a lot of skills," such as knitting and sewing, Carol commented, adding she still uses those skills.

Kathy has entered arts and crafts items using methods such as ceramics, masonry, painting and plaster. In addition she partakes in cooking, flower arranging and various educational displays all for the fair.

Some of the items Kathy entered, such as a plaster sculpture of some kittens, won her the right to go to the fair in Saginaw. Once a year 4-H'ers from all over mid-Michigan bring their best stuff to the Saginaw fair. Carol commented that it is an honor if one of your projects is picked to go to Sagi-

Carol added that the arts and crafts portion of the fair helps the young adults out in many ways. "Not only do they learn about arts and crafts, they learn sportsmanship. They learn to take defeat with a smile.'

Everyone who enters a project gets a ribbon and receives premiums in different amounts of money. However, the money doesn't cause fierce competition among the 4-H'ers. "It's more project versus project than person versus person," Kathy remarked.

ENJOYS THE TALENT SHOW

Even though Kathy said she likes displaying and making crafts, she enjoys the 4-H talent show the most. Kathy has entered the talent show for the past 2 years. One year she tap danced and the other she did

The talent show is one of many events for teens in 4-H at the fair. Other activities include a marshmallow roast, movie night and a teen

However, 4-H activities aren't limited to young adults. There are adult programs in 4-H that Carol could enter but she exbusy helping my 4-H'ers. The timing of their show and the timing of ours is about the same.

Basically Carol is involved in 4-H for the young adults and the opportunity to see them happy. "I guess I do it for the kids. I did it before my kids were even old enough. You get a self satisfying feeling when you see the kids happy."

Overall, Carol pointed out that the 4-H organization in the area seems to be growing but in other places it's declining. "I think we're getting more kids. In this area it's on the rise but in the city it's going down. In Detroit I think it's almost non-exis-

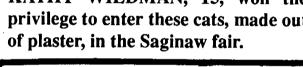

Although there are more 4-H'ers in the area, Carol added the number of crafts entered in the fair seems to have gone down. She explained that the kids have to finance their own projects and they can't afford as many projects as they used to. "They're not showing as many projects because of the tighter economy."

Carol added she feels a responsibility to 4-H and that she'll probably stay in it even after Kathy is too old to participate. "I've said when Kathy is done, I'm done. But I won't. Maybe it's the teacher in me, but you just don't want to let the kids

However, the money given to winners of the different events does not cause fierce competition. "There's comfriendly competition in which the kids will help each other to do better. Sometimes peers are very important in learning."

Despite the state cuts, the aged to stay ahead. "Last year when we got done with the expenses of the fair we had $5,000 left over," he consumed by the $5,000 debt to help pay for the grandstand, which was reconstructed after a fire a few years ago.

YOUTH CORPS

Although the state cut its funds, it has made up for it in another area. For the past 5 years the state has sent 5 to 7 young adults and one advisor to help groom the fairgrounds.

"They are from the Michithe amount of money given gan Youth Corps and they're paid by the state of Michiwas previously used for the gan. They do everything from digging post holes to "Every year the state has cleaning out the merchants cut back. But we've never building. I think we've cut the premiums. Some painted everything under the sun," Fitzgerald exums completely," he re- plained, laughing. "Until we got these kids it was rekeep families coming to the ally a struggle to get things

To help save money, the committee takes out events that seem to attract little interest. One thing that has Fitzgerald explained that been eliminated in this neither he nor the committee year's fair is a professional is mad at the state for cutting entertainment group. # Pitching and defense key for Yankees' title repeat

The Yankees successfully defended their title as champions of the Cass City Little League program with an impressive 9-1 mark. The 2time winners have compiled a regal 19-1 record over the past 2 seasons.

Finishing runners-up were the Tigers, who stamped a 7-3 mark into the history book.

"Pitching and defense are always big keys," said Yankee Coach Dan Ulfig. The Yankees scored 136 runs, while allowing only 54 runs.

Church softball league near a close after tough season

The men's church softball league has had an up and down season. When the summer began, the league struggled with the rain.

"On Friday, which is our last regular season night, we'll make up our first game of the year," which was cancelled by rain, remarked church league president Carl Nicol.

"Compared to our last 5 years, this is our worst year. But the competition is a lot better," Nicol commented, adding the league has a roving president from year to year and it makes things complicated. "Last year there were no rain outs. The roving president is too much for one person to handle."

Although getting the games organized was difficult, once the teams were on the field the play was competitive. "The teams we have are strong teams."

As of Friday, 5 of the 8

Lamotte Missionary and the Cass City Catholics are tied for first with 10-4 records in the American league. The Church of Christ is 3rd at 9-5 and Cass City Missionary is last.

There are 3 games left in the regular season, which began May 30, and it will end Friday. Then Aug. 1 all the teams will begin the single elimination play-offs. The championship game is scheduled to be Aug. 8.

Farm truck destroyed by fire

A grain truck was destroyed by fire early Friday evening at Merchant Farms, Koepfgen Road, Cass City.

The truck was engulfed by flames when Elkland Township fire fighters arrived, fireman Milt Connolly said, adding the blaze apparently started when some hay or straw got into the vehicle's muffler.

Connolly, who had no damage estimate, cautioned area farmers to exercise extreme care when using trucks in their fields.

Organic farm field day set

The Organic Growers of Michigan will be hosting their 10th annual Organic Farm Field Day July 29 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the farm of Dean and Kathy Berden, 2725 N. Wheeler Rd., Snover.

The event is co-sponsored by the Organic Crop Improvement Association (OCIA), Purity Foods Inc. of Okemos, Eden Foods Inc. of Clinton, and Specialty Grain of Dearborn. The field day will feature internationally recognized industry leaders who will address various aspects of the emerging organic industry.

David Reibling, farmer and owner of Oak Manor Farms in Tavistock, Ontario, will offer information and advice on on-farm product processing and retail sales. Thomas Harding, president of AgriSystems International, Wind Gap, Pa., will provide an overview of organic agriculture, focusing on the political and business aspects influencing the industry's development. Pieter Jan van Velden of Holland will address the relationship between Europe and North America regarding organic food production, inspection and certification, emphasizing the development of mutually acceptable U.S. and European standards. Further information is available by calling Dean Berden at (313) 672-9497, or Ann Sinclair at (517) 635-

These underdeveloped visual skills may be the reason that you miss easy shots or free throws during that pick-up basketball game. Or your "hits at bat" are inconsistent on the corporate baseball team. Some examples: Do you find that you miss balls that come at you from certain angles or directions? Are you swinging at the ball before it arrives at the optimum spot? On the tennis court, does the ball connect with the wood of the racket instead of the strings?

Some athletes tend to tire half-way through the game. Their performance often deteriorates at that time. This may be related to focusing difficulties, or exerting excess energy to get both eyes to work as a Diminished depth perception can throw off location, direction and speed judgements.

A Cass City man died a few hours after attempting to end his own life early Thursday afternoon at the Station Bar,

6432 W. Main St., Cass

According to Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson, John F. Anderson, 31, was found in the men's restroom at the bar at about 1 p.m., suffering from an apparent self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head.

He was rushed by Cass City-Mercy Ambulance personnel to St. Mary's Medical Center, Saginaw, where he died during the early evening hours.

Also assisting at the scene were state police and the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

A witness told police that Anderson had been at the bar only a short time before he walked into the restroom and fired a handgun, according to Wilson, who said Anderson had been served 2 drinks, but finished neither.

Jeff Leinweber, co-owner of Cass City ServiStar Hardware, where Anderson had been employed for the past year, expressed shock at the tragedy.

"It's still pretty tough," he remarked Monday, adding he had no clue Anderson might be considering taking his own life.

The tires were slashed, the antenna broken off and satanic-type writing was put on the vehicle. There was writing on a garage door, yard light, and mailbox. The writing had to do with satanic drawings and numbers. The suspects used an orange grease pencil and the writing was very neat.

Micklash responds to school millage concerns

In answer to some questions that have been asked of me regarding the status of the Cass City Public Schools, I wish to share these responses with the residents of the Cass City Community.

Question #1 - Why does the school need millage this year?

Answer - The Cass City Public School is an in-formula school district. The state funds we receive are based on the state aid funding formula. In the past few years, the percentage of state aid increase has not kept pace with the rate of inflation. In fact the state aid formula increase has been in the area of 2% in recent years. The state aid formula for the current school year of 1989-90, has not even been developed by our legislature, but discussion to date indicates informula schools can expect about a 1.6% increase in state aid.

Question #2 - How does Cass City's spending compare with the rest of the Answer - According to the latest state department of education information, Cass City ranks 511 out of 525 school districts, in the state, in the area of per student expenditures. Only 14 school districts in the state spend less, per student, than Cass City. In a recent Detroit News article, Cass City was listed as one of the 20 poorest school districts in Michigan.

Question #3 - How does Cass City's millage compare with other schools in our area?

Answer - Cass City has the lowest millage rate in Tuscola County. Even with the increase and assuming all other school increases are approved, Cass City will still have the lowest millage rate in the county.

Question #4 - Since the basic function of the Cass City Public Schools is to provide educational instruction, how well do our students perform?

Answer - Here is some information to answer this question.

a. Approximately 75% of this year's graduating class are going on to advance their education. This is a very high percentage.

b. Cass City students consistently score above the state average in Math and Reading on the Michigan Assessment Tests. c. Cass City students consistently score above the state average on the college ACT tests. From this year's ACT results 35 graduating seniors were state scholarship qualifiers.

Answer - You may be eligible for a rebate from the State of Michigan. Any Michigan taxpayer may claim relief from property taxes. You may claim this refund when filing your State income tax return by using form 1040 CR-4. Tax in excess of 3.5 percent of household income is refunded at 60 percent.

Question #8 - I do not have any more children in school so why should I support the school when it is going to Answer - My response to this question begins with another question. What helps make a community, like Cass City, a healthy and viable area in which to live? The answer to this in part, is its schools. In my opinion the school system along with local government, its health system, business, industry and moral values all contribute to the vitality of a community. When one of these areas is unhealthy, it affects the total community in a negative manner. Our community needs a strong and healthy school district,

Sincerely,

Kenneth J. Micklash, Superintendent Cass City Public Schools

because our future rests with our children.

Pay more for less?

Opposed to tax increase

Dear Editor:

The Cass City School system dropped the Vocational Agriculture Dept. from the low income have houses rich land and heavy farm-ing. This doesn't seem wise these people sell out and move to the Sun Belt - by

The teachers are asking a 16 2/3% decrease in working hours - from 6 hours to 5. The working days are geared to a maximum of 180 days per year. Snow days and other things reduce this some. The Japanese, it is claimed, have a compulsory 240 days per year school system. The length of hours taught each day, no doubt exceed our hours. A Japanese automobile plant is now located at Flat Rock, Mich. I have relatives living near there, and they report that the Japanese workers there refuse to send their children to the public schools. Some are reported going to Cranbrook, in Bloomfield Hills. The others are establishing schools of their own because the public schools are not teaching enough to suit them. This explains in part the reason why Japan is taking over the world without firing a shot. Do we educated young people, or kids who know sports?

Some of the young people at Cass City pack in a heavy load of school work and acquire a quality education anyway. To reduce the hours of the teachers and tax the public more to pay for less, doesn't make it

Don't blame seniors for millage failure

Dear Editor:

When I read the column, "Your Neighbor Says," in this week's Chronicle, I wondered where Mrs. Iwankovitsch got the idea that parents are the only ones that are concerned about the education of the children. She especially blames senior citizens and people without children for the failure of the millage.

Now, as a senior citizen I would like to respond. I am the mother of 5, all of whom graduated from Cass City High School. I am the grandmother of 10, 3 of whom live in the Cass City School District. These 3 compare in age to Mrs. Iwankovitsch's children. I can assure you that grandparents (senior citizens) are very concerned about the quality of education our grandchildren are receiving. We live in the country are very concerned when bussing is threatened, along with other things, as it is AGAIN now.

A few years ago there was a financial problem in the Cass City School. We were told by the school board that the general fund did not include any financing for bussing. I think you remember the problem. Then petitions were circulated for 2 things. 1-A specific millage for the general fund. 2-A specific millage FOR BUS-SING. My husband and I signed them. NOW! - when the ballots were produced for the voters, the 2 separate millages requested on the petitions were added together and the total listed as one millage for the general fund. This meant that there were no specific funds for bussing, even though the petitions requested it. The total amount was at the disposal of the school board as they wished. I was disturbed by this and discussed it with the chairman of the school board. I am sure he remembers our discussion. To me this was not representing the wishes of the people. The millage passed. Now I see our rural children are threatened again with limited bussing.

Yes! Our school needs funds to operate, but the ballots are secret and no one knows who votes for or against the millage. Please don't blame senior citizens for the failure. We are just as concerned about our grandchildren's education and transportation as we were our children's. Considering the terrible things happening to some children today, walking or waiting on corners is not safe.

Thank you Lucille V. Lounsbury (Senior Citizen) Cass City

EDITOR'S NOTE: The writer is mistaken about the previous votes. In 1982 there were 3 votes. The first millage request was turned down. The second try included 3 separate propositions. Money for transportation, money for extracurricular activities and money for other operations were presented as individual ballot propositions. All were defeated. lage was lumped together again and resulted in passage of 4 extra mills for operation.
