TRAGIC WEEKEND — Three members of a Detroit area family died in this 2-vehicle crash Saturday at the intersection of M-53 and Severance Road. They are among 7 persons who lost their lives on Sanilac and Tuscola County roads over the past week.

Barley crop is good

Farmers report oat, wheat crops as "fair"

Along with this year's small grain season come many mixed emotions and predictions about how the harvests will fare. "It's certainly done better than the last 2 years," commented Sanilac Cooperative Extension director Martin Nagelkirk. "It's relative or slightly above average in the last 10 years."

Huron Extension agent Jim LeCureux agreed with Nagelkirk. "Yes, I would say we had an average to slightly above average small grain harvest."

However, Sanilac County's Parrish and Heimbecker merchandiser, Dean O'Harris, pointed out that the harvest doesn't seem favorable to him. "I think prices are down and will be until the new crop. Things don't look good at all."

Overall most of the wheat is harvested. "The majority of (the wheat) has," been harvested. "But there's quite a bit to go yet," remarked Nagelkirk, adding that 80 percent of the wheat is done.

The wheat crops in Huron and Tuscola counties are slightly ahead of Sanilac with 85 to 90 percent of it harvested, reported LeCureux and Tuscola Extension director William Bortel. Currently the oats and barley fields are partially harvested, depending on the location.

Tuscola County farmer Mike Pisarek, of the Pisarek Brothers Farms, explained they finished their wheat crop July 25. Pisarek added that they were done with their barley crop July 31 and hoped to have the oats harvested by Aug. 3. Overall the Pisareks have 400 small grain acres. "The wheat was a fair crop," Pisarek noted. "Some farmers' oat fields are down real bad." But he added that his oats are just, "Down in some spots, partially because of the rains." Pisarek explained that the time of the wheat harvest is slightly behind previous years. "We're a week later than normal. It varies from one year to the next."

DICK DONAHUE

Another Tuscola County farmer, Dick Donahue, said he isn't real happy with the small grains this year. "There's a lot of disease in it and there's a lot of straw in the bushel," Donahue explained that he only combines wheat and oats. "We raise oats and golf balls," he commented, laughing, while standing in his field, which he rents from Roger Marshall, across the road from Rolling Hills Golf Course.

Donahue added the rains didn't come at the right times. "The dry May was a disadvantage. There was too little moisture in May and too much in June. You can never please a farmer."

Most of the people interviewed said the same things about the prices per bushel and yields for the small grains.

"The yield (for oats) was way down last year," remarked Cass City's Berger and Company plant manager Bob Wischmeyer. "This year the yield is a lot higher and there were more planted."

Wischmeyer pointed out that oats are at 100 bushels per acre and wheat is between 60 and 70 bushels per acre. However, the higher yield with the oats has lowered the prices.

"It's a supply and demand thing," he commented, adding oats are $1.50 per bushel this year when they were $3.20 last year. "Wheat is $3.50 per bushel, which is about average, Wischmeyer explained, adding Berger and Company doesn't buy barley because there isn't much in Tuscola County.

However, O'Harris pointed out that Parrish and Heimbecker do buy barley and it's the only small grain crop which is faring well. "Barley isn't bad. It's the only crop people are happy with. There is a lot of barley in this area." He pointed out that barley is yielding 70 bushels per acre and that is average.

YIELDS BELOW AVERAGE

Also, O'Harris explained that the oat and wheat yields are about the same as what Wischmeyer listed. He said both crops are yielding below the average by 10 to 15 bushels per acre. Compared to last year this year's low yields have reduced the price of wheat by 30 cents, and oats by over a dollar per bushel.

O'Harris noted that farmers were expecting another drought just like the last 2 years and problems arose when it didn't happen. "Every farmer in this area wanted another drought everywhere else but here. They didn't get it. The total Midwest and west as a whole got enough moisture."

In addition, O'Harris said the wheat and oat "quality is anywhere from good to poor. A lot of it has disease, rust and mold. With some, the disease is as high as 30 percent."

O'Harris added wind blowing over the oats has hurt that crop even further. "Oats that are standing are good. Oats that are laying flat probably aren't good with this rain we've had."

However, Bortel illustrated that the small grains are doing well in Tuscola County. "Our grains are in excellent quality with the cooler and wetter spring. There is some disease on the wheat but it doesn't appear to be significant."

Donahue pointed out that he tries to farm safely and has contracts for his crops. Therefore Donahue receives a set price instead of taking his chances and going to the open market.

With a contract, "I know what I'm going to get for my crops," he remarked, adding he receives $3.40 a bushel for his oats. "If I sold oats on the open market I'd get $1.40 per bushel."

4 area crashes take 7 lives

Seven persons lost their lives — 5 of them over the weekend — and several others were injured on Tuscola and Sanilac County roads over the past week.

Driver inattention is being blamed in the majority of the crashes, 2 of which occurred at the intersection of M-46 and M-24, about 5 miles south of Caro, where a new "dwell in red" signal light was installed only a month ago in hopes of reducing traffic accidents.

The intersection was the site of a double fatal crash involving 4 vehicles during a rain and wind storm Friday morning.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies said Gary A. Miller, 31, of Elkton, was westbound on M-46 in a double bottom semitractor trailer at about 10:05 a.m. when he apparently ran a red light and hit a southbound vehicle driven by Frank Lucik, 64, of Mayville.

After that impact, the semitractor struck a stopped pickup truck, driven by Katherine M. Bukoski, 44, of Millington, in the eastbound lane, then slid about 350 feet and hit another eastbound vehicle, driven by Mark S. Patterson, 28, of Sandusky.

The semitractor, which was hauling 2 trailers full of wheat, then jackknifed and tipped over, emptying its sides on the roadway.

Dead at the scene were Lucik and his wife, Roberta, 61.

Bukoski and a passenger in her vehicle, Kimberly A. Claeys, 18, of Mayville, and Millereach sought their own treatment for minor injuries, according to reports. Patterson and a passenger in his vehicle, Kenneth L. Dishman, 23, of Decker, were not injured.

No information was available regarding use of seat belts.

Deputies were assisted at the scene by Caro fire fighters, who used the Jaws of Life to extricate the Luciks from their vehicle. Also assisting were the Caro EMS Ambulance Service, representatives of the Michigan State Motor Carrier Division and troopers from the state police post in Caro.

The accident caused the closing of M-46 for 8 hours as authorities cleared the roadway.

SECOND CRASH

The second crash at M-24 and M-46 occurred Sunday morning and resulted in the death of a 4-year-old girl. Four others were injured.

Deputies reported that a vehicle driven by Vern Wilcox, 26, of Marlette was westbound on M-46 and was struck by a southbound pickup truck driven by Robin J. Spencer, 31, of Lapeer.

Reports state Wilcox, his wife, Sheryl, 23, and their daughter, Candy Jo, 4, were treated for injuries by Caro EMS Ambulance Service personnel and then transferred to Caro Community Hospital. Candy Jo was then transferred by FlightCare helicopter to St. Mary's Medical Center in Saginaw, where she died at about 5 p.m. Monday, a hospital spokeswoman said. Sheryl Wilcox also was transferred to St. Mary's. She is listed in fair condition.

Spencer and a passenger, Donald Reich, were taken to Lapeer General Hospital by Mayville Ambulance for treatment of minor injuries.

No seat belt information was available.

Deputies, who said the accident remains under investigation, noted both drivers claim to have had the right of way. However, witnesses said the light was red for M-46 traffic.

3 DEAD

Three members of a Detroit area family, reportedly on their way to a family reunion in Caseville, were pronounced dead Saturday after the vehicle they were riding in was struck by another vehicle at the intersection of M-53 and Severance Road in Sanilac County's Evergreen Township.

Sanilac County Sheriff's deputies reported that Heather Kurtz, 18, of Caro, was eastbound on Severance Road at about 2:23 p.m. when she failed to see a stop sign and ran into a northbound vehicle driven by William Harris Jr., 58, of Roseville.

Harris was pronounced dead at the scene. His wife, Mary Jane, 54, and his mother, Leona Harris, 80, of East Detroit, were transported to Hills and Dales General Hospital, Cass City, where they were pronounced dead.

Deputies, who reported that all 5 persons involved were wearing seat belts, said Kurtz and a passenger in her vehicle, Christine Kappen, 17, of Cass City, were treated for minor injuries at the local hospital.

Assisting Sanilac deputies were the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, state police from the Sandusky, Caro and Bad Axe posts, Cass City Police, Cass City-Mercy and Marlette Ambulance personnel and Elkland Township Fire Department.

Fire fighters, who used the Jaws of Life to extricate the victims from their vehicle, remained at the scene on stand-by because the Harris vehicle landed on and bent a natural gas pipe, causing a leak.

The accident boosts Sanilac County's 1989 traffic fatality toll to 12 persons.

LAST WEEK

In Tuscola County Thursday, a 62-year-old St. Johns man was killed in a 2-vehicle crash at the intersection of M-46 and Garner Road in Denmark Township.

Denmark Police Chief Fred Hecht said Donald P. Miller, 29, of Fairgrove, was northbound on Garner Road at about 2:45 p.m. when he failed to stop at the intersection with M-46 and pulled into the path of a westbound vehicle driven by Elwin J. Charles, St. Johns.

Charles, whose vehicle rolled over, was not wearing a seat belt at the time of the crash. He was pronounced dead at the scene, Hecht said, adding Miller, who was wearing a seat belt, was transported by Vassar Area Ambulance Service personnel to St. Luke's Hospital, Saginaw, where he remains in critical condition.

Assisting at the scene were Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies and Vassar firemen, who used the Jaws of Life to free Miller from the wreckage.

With the past week's accidents, Tuscola County's traffic death toll for 1989 now totals 14.

Sanilac County services at stake in millage vote

The stakes are high in next week's special millage election in Sanilac County, where residents will choose higher taxes or a reduction in services—a situation similar to that faced by Tuscola County residents last year.

Voters will be asked Tuesday to approve an additional .9 of a mill for 4 years for General Fund operations.

Revenue generated by the millage, about $450,000 per year, is needed to offset property tax dollars lost in recent years as well as some unforeseen legal and other expenses, according to county Administrator John Dean.

Part of the blame goes to falling land values. Overall, Sanilac County's state equalized valuation has fallen by some $45 million since 1982. Over the past 4 years, the county has lost some $350,000 in operating revenue as well as an estimated $670,000 annually in Federal Revenue Sharing funds.

Although the county currently levies 5 mills for operations, Dean said the county isn't receiving 5-mills worth of property tax revenue.

"We're not realizing 5 mills because of Headlee. We're still falling short because the property tax is not increasing dollar-wise with inflation," he remarked.

Dean explained that the county's $5.3 million budget is funded in part by some $2.5 million generated by the 5-mill levy. Another $2.8 million from grants, contract revenues, reimbursements and other sources, he said, is needed to balance the budget.

Despite efforts to reduce costs and meet the budget, "we've been falling short of that," he continued, adding the county has spent some $200,000 over the past 12 months in its legal battle with a county landfill, plus another $70,000 in clean-up costs related to a leak discovered in an underground gasoline storage tank. Both were unexpected expenses, Dean said.

Estimate $35,000 loss in Laurie combine fire

Fire destroyed the engine of a combine owned by Laurie Farms, 4907 E. Hoppe Rd., Cass City, last Wednesday in a field at the corner of Dodge and Hoppe roads.

The engine compartment of the equipment caught fire while combining oats, according to Elmwood-Gagetown Fireman Mike Root, who said fire fighters were called to the scene just before 2:30 p.m. The Elkland Township Fire Department was called to assist.

Aside from extensive damage to the engine, some grain was lost, Root reported. He added firemen remained at the scene for about 3 hours.

Doug Laurie of Laurie Farms said it's uncertain what caused the blaze. He estimated the dollar value of the combine damage at $30,000 to $35,000.

Also last week, Elkland Township fire fighters responded to a fire Thursday that burned about 9 acres of field near M-53 about 6 1/4 miles south of M-81.

Fire Chief Dick Root said the blaze, fanned by winds, apparently was ignited from some burning trash at the Doug Hall residence, 3351 Van Dyke Rd., Decker.

Firemen were at the scene for about 90 minutes, he said, adding Department of Natural Resources personnel were called in to assist.

You can tell a lot about a person by watching him or her drive.

The most irresponsible and outrageous example of driving I've ever seen was a fellow going 60 down I-75 reading a newspaper. I don't mean glancing at an ad or an address. He had the paper spread out over the steering wheel and was reading it page by page.

That guy obviously had a death wish.

The fellow who starts honking the instant the light turns green reveals a lot about himself. So does the jerk who pulls out in front of you, forcing you to hit the brakes, and then turns left an eighth of a mile down the road.

My personal pet peeve is the driver that zooms past in the right lane after the signs have announced that the right lane is closed ahead and traffic should merge left.

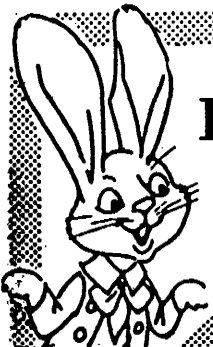

Everybody else dutifully funnels into the left lane, resignedly accepting the inevitable delay. But the rules don't apply to this bozo! Surely no one would expect a person of his importance to wait! It would serve him right if nobody would let him in when the right lane ends.

I long to see a sign on the barricade saying, "We warned you to merge left. Now you can sit here and rot until all traffic clears."

Undoubtedly, a person's reaction to another driver says something about him or her, too.

Aside from the dingbats, though, you can discern a lot by what causes a driver to swerve or slow down. Some tell you via bumper sticker that they brake for small animals or garage sales.

Small world department: The Kim Glaspies were staying 2 nights in Mackinaw City at the tail end of a vacation. They found lodging for the first night at an area motel. They were forced to move the second night because the rooms they occupied had been reserved.

As they gathered luggage for the move, the new occupants moved in. They were the Dr. Richard Hall family of Cass City.

Although all the motels in Mackinaw were full on the weekend and there were lines waiting to take a ferry to Mackinac Island, one business person there told me that business was off. Most places are reporting declines of 10 to 30 percent, according to this informant.

Harron Cable TV, which serves a much smaller market than Cass City, offers something that's not available here. In Mayville there are only 501 cable accessible homes and patrons there will be offered most of the channels we receive. They will also be offered PASS at no increase in prices.

Cass City cable viewers can't get PASS even at premium rates. That's the bad news. The good news is that Cass City cable costs $15 per month and Mayville subscribers will pay $18.50 per month starting Jan. 1 when the new channels are added.

A concentrated effort is underway to boost the tourist business on the east side of the state to that of the west. The east sides have a long way to go to catch up.

One of the stops on a boat trip was at Oscoda. It was 95 degrees hot and the decision was to stay the night in a motel. The marina operator said she knew of a couple of the better ones in town. Make sure it's air conditioned, was the request.

Air conditioned? This is Oscoda, she said. There are a half dozen motels in town and not one that we saw was air conditioned.

On the west side it's difficult to find a motel that is not air conditioned. Oscoda reminds me of the tourist towns on the west side about 25 years ago.

In Cass City

2 businesses vandalized

Separate incidents of vandalism were reported last week by persons at 2 Cass City businesses.

Reports filed at the Cass City Police Department state Russell Schneeberger of Schneeberger's, 6588 Main St., reported someone kicked in the door to one of the business' warehouses.

Nothing appears to be missing from the building, located next to 4545 Maple

St., according to Schneeberger, who said the incident occurred sometime between July 29 and Aug. 3.

Also filing a report was April Landenberg at the Cass City Mobil Station, 6553 Main St.

She told police someone broke a 37-inch by 22-inch pane of glass in the lower right side of the station's car wash bay door, located at the north side of the station, at about 7:45 p.m. Thursday.

Reports indicate someone apparently threw a rock at the window.

The Haire Net

I confess. I read both Ann Landers and Dear Abby every day. That doesn't make me unique, although admitting that I do puts me on a much shorter list.

Most times it's not the answers that make it for me, but the questions submitted. There's a real peek there at many of the personal problems that concern most families at one time or another.

While I enjoy reading about these problems, I'll never understand why anyone submits them to the columnist for solutions or decisions. And it's a puzzle not only because I know that Ann Landers is divorced and failed in handling the very problems she gives advice about. Both she and her sister are clever writers, nothing more.

There's an admiration for the writing style and the creativity that established a new type advice to the love-lorn column and the ability to keep it going strong year and year, decade after decade.

It's a puzzle, too, because I fail to understand how anyone can air personal problems and then take as gospel whatever answer the writers come up with.

A week or so ago, one question hinged around the right of a son to learn what a parent had left in a will to him and to a brother. He claimed it was his right.

The parent refused to divulge the contents of the will and Dear Abby said that was the correct way to go.

Like the concerns expressed in many of these letters, it's apparent that the letter was just the surface indication of a much more major problem.

There can't be many real family ties, can there? And communication within the family must have been at ground zero. I can't ever recall discussing this issue with my kids, but I know that they know that it's an equal share for everyone with whatever there is to share when the time comes.

Writing a letter to Abby won't solve that problem. And it's that way with most of the problems posed by the readers. Maybe just the writing is therapy for many. Certainly most of them know that a paper's advice column can't offer any real help.

If the column has any real benefit it is that others might see their problems expressed in the paper and receive some solace in knowing that they are not alone.

The best thing about the columns is the enjoyment they give millions of readers, including me.

The worst thing about them is that undoubtedly a whole host of readers take them seriously.

"If It Fitz..."

Friendly border?

By Jim Fitzgerald

Sylvia Garza, 32, her husband, Jose, and their 2 young children went to Boblo Island Sunday afternoon for a good time. It turned out to be a terrifying time. She was arrested, handcuffed, bruised and jailed.

Why? Sylvia, who is in charge of the employee benefits department at the Free Press, insists there would have been no trouble if she and her family weren't of Hispanic descent.

As they were boarding the 8:30 p.m. Boblo boat back to Detroit, 2 immigration officers stopped Jose Garza and asked him to prove his United States citizenship. He is a naturalized citizen, born in Mexico, and his first language is Spanish. The other Garzas were born in the United States.

"They were taking a long time looking at his naturalization card, and our boat was about to leave, so I asked them to hurry," Sylvia said. "One of the officers told me to shut up and get away."

Although Jose Garza speaks English, his wife was concerned that, under stress, he would have trouble understanding the officer's questions and making himself understood. She wanted to stay on the scene to act as an interpreter, if necessary.

via is to appear in a Windsor court Aug. 11. The official charge on the arrest form is "caused a disturbance by shouting and swearing."

Three days later, bruises were still evident on Sylvia's wrists and arms. She said she also had bruises on her back and had seen a doctor. She denied swearing and said she never resisted arrest. She was especially gripped that her daughter is having nightmares and wakes up crying because of what happened on Boblo.

Sylvia said she wanted her story in the paper so "U.S. citizens will realize that Boblo Island is in Canada and what can happen to them there," especially if their complexion isn't lily white.

A spokesman for the Ontario Provincial Police said Thursday there would be no official comment on the Garza case. He said the case would be investigated as soon as she files an official complaint.

"None of those policemen told me I should file an official complaint when I was asking them to stop treating me like a common criminal," Sylvia retorted. "My lawyer and I will make my complaint in court Aug. 11."

IT'S THE FRIENDLY BORDER?

I don't know what's happening to the friendly border. Earlier this month, I wrote about a 12-year-old Westland boy who, while on a school outing on Boblo, was allegedly questioned rudely by an immigration officer. Some adults charged that the boy was singled out because he was of Mexican descent. James Montgomery, district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, denied racial prejudice was involved. And he added: "Some people feel it is rude to be questioned as to their qualifications to enter the United States, regardless of the tone of inquiry."

In June, after driving through the tunnel for dinner in a Windsor restaurant, Free Press music critic John Guinn wrote that a Canadian Customs officer treated him and his wife "as if we were former Nazi concentration camp butchers heading north from Argentina."

Sylvia Garza says she knows how Guinn felt.

Governor signs bill earmarking beverage deposits for clean-up

Governor James Blanchard recently signed legislation (HB 4246) which earmarks funds generated from the collection of unclaimed beverage deposits for the Environmental Response Fund, the Clean Michigan Fund and a long-term maintenance trust fund.

The bill signing officially ends the statewide voter petition drive by Michigan United Conservation Clubs to secure unclaimed bottle and can deposits for environmental cleanup programs.

The bill is a companion piece to another bill the governor signed earlier (HB 4704), which designates 75 percent of all unclaimed deposits on beverages for environmental cleanup funds. The remaining 25 percent goes to retailers to offset the cost of handling bottles.

The new law earmarks all state revenues generated from unclaimed bottle deposits to be equally divided among the 3 funds — the Environmental Response Fund, the Clean Michigan Fund and the Long-Term Maintenance Trust Fund. It also prohibits any disbursement of unclaimed deposit revenues for 10 years.

"These funds are essential to finance our long-term commitment to preserving and protecting the environmental well-being of Michigan," the governor said. "Through this law, we will be able to guarantee a perpetual source of financing for environmental cleanup."

MUCC Executive Director Thomas L. Washington also praised the legislation, noting that Michigan is the first state with an "all-encompassing" environmental cleanup program paid entirely from beverage deposits.

"I'm grateful to Governor Blanchard for signing this legislation, and I applaud state legislators for crafting a landmark law that, without a doubt, makes Michigan the envy of the nation," he said.

SUIT SAYS STATE, U.S. OWE HOSPITALS $100 MILLION

Michigan hospitals have filed a federal lawsuit demanding higher reimbursement rates for Medicaid patients which would cost the state and federal governments an additional $100 million in 1989-90.

The suit filed by the Michigan Hospital Association and 12 of its member hospitals asserts state budget policy violates federal law by failing to cover the full costs of Medicaid patient care, a claim state officials dispute.

Spencer Johnson, MHA president, said hospitals now are being reimbursed by the Medicaid program for 79 percent of their costs and that will drop to 75 percent in 1989-90, continuing a trend set in 1983-84. "The losses hospitals face from Medicaid treatment threaten some of our hospitals' very existence," he said.

Noting a $1.3 million annual loss through both Medicaid patients and unreimbursed care, Sandra Bruce, chief executive of the Berrien General Hospital said, "Our ability to serve Medicaid patients is in jeopardy."

Johnson said the lawsuit was filed in U.S. District Court in Lansing because it is clear by the Social Services budget approved Monday by House-Senate conferees that reimbursement rates will continue to erode.

He said since 1984, Medicaid spending has lagged behind the inflation rate by one percent, while other state spending has increased 34 percent.

Johnson said he hopes the suit, which does not seek reimbursement for past years, will raise the priority in the state budget for health care.

To fully reimburse hospitals for their costs in 1989-90, MHA officials said it would cost the state $45 million, which would be matched with $55 million in additional federal dollars.

Statewide, Medicaid patients account for about 11-12 percent of total hospital revenue. MHA estimates 70 percent of all hospitals are losing money providing patient care, not only because of the low Medicaid reimbursement but because of increasing free care to persons not covered by health insurance or health care programs.

Social Service Director C. Patrick Babcock denied the state has shorted hospitals, saying, "We will assert we clearly meet the mandates of the federal statute."

He said in total, the state reimbursement rate is adequate, with rates exceeding federal standards for capital costs, and the state providing added reimbursement to hospitals with high volumes of Medicaid patients and indigents who cannot pay.

Babcock said the state is still discussing with the federal government administrators whether the inflationary update in 1989-90 is adequate.

He said hospitals are not in financial jeopardy in Michigan because of Medicaid reimbursement rates.

Cass City police report no one hurt in 3 mishaps

Cass City police reported 3 minor vehicle accidents and 2 traffic arrests over the weekend.

Two vehicles collided Sunday at the intersection of Doerr Road and Main Street, according to reports, which state Franklin A. Tinkham of Hesperia was turning right onto Doerr Road when a car on the right side of his truck and trailer attempted to pass him.

The car, driven by Patricia A. Brock of Marietta, Ga., sustained slight damage in the 12:25 a.m. mishap.

Robert S. O'Dell, 7510 Hadley Rd., Cass City, told police he was westbound on East Cass City Road east of Schwegler Road Saturday at about 11:45 a.m. when his vehicle struck a deer. He reported minor damage.

Two vehicles were slightly damaged Friday when they collided on Main Street west of Oak Street.

Reports state Shelley L. Lapeer of Caro was eastbound at about 12:15 p.m. when she swerved around one vehicle, which was making a left turn but had failed to pull into the left turn lane, and struck another eastbound vehicle, driven by Richard R. Patera, 3931 Doerr Rd., Cass City.

Also over the weekend, police arrested a Cass City motorist on suspicion of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Arrested was Jeffery R. Fox, 32, 6676 Seed St., whose vehicle was stopped on Doerr Road south of Garfield Avenue at about 2:10 a.m. Sunday. Reports state Fox was stopped after being observed driving left of the road center line and speeding (45 miles per hour in a 35 m.p.h. zone).

Police also arrested Wesley R. Muntz, 24, 6431 Dodge Rd., Cass City, whose vehicle was stopped for defective equipment (no right rear taillight) near the intersection of Main Street and Doerr Road Saturday.

Reports state Muntz' license has been suspended and he is wanted on 3 traffic warrants out of the Michigan State Police Post in Caro.

Tax hike or cuts Sanilac voters to decide

out, officials have become increasingly dependent on money from the county's Delinquent Tax Revolving Fund, which is now nearly exhausted. In 1989 alone, some $600,000 of delinquent tax funds will be used to supplement General Fund operations.

Dean added, "In the 10 years I've been here, we've never had a consistent (significant) fund balance. We've always kind of operated like at home—from pay check to pay check."

Although county voters have been asked to approve tax increases for specific projects, there has never been a special request for General Fund operations. Voters in recent years have approved millage levies to fund a drug task force, senior services and the library, but rejected requests for a new jail, medical care facility and renovation of the courthouse.

"If voters are not willing to approve (this) millage, then that gives us some direction as to what we have to do," Dean said, adding that even if the millage passes, officials will have to make some budget "adjustments."

MASS CUTS

"The alternative is to make mass cuts in services. All county services would be affected, some more than others."

Dean indicated officials have already begun to target non-mandated services to be cut if the millage fails, but declined to comment on specific services.

Tuscola County residents faced a similar millage decision in April 1988, when they were asked to approve 1.5 mills for 4 years.

Voters, who rejected the measure, eventually approved additional millage for senior services (.2 of a mill) and the sheriff's road patrol (.9 of a mill), but not before commissioners slashed $266,319 worth of services, including the road patrol.

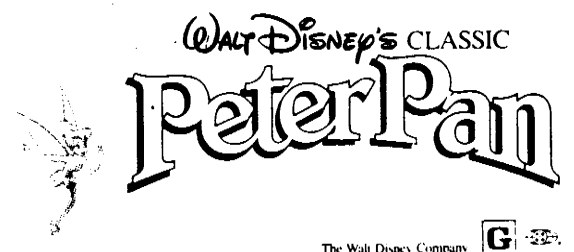

"We hope we don't have to do that here," Dean said. He noted land values are believed to have bottomed out, with modest growth expected in the future. "We're looking in the long-range, thinking that the economic situation in this county will be improving," he said.

THE BAILEY CHRONICLES by Catherine Cookson (fiction). Fiona Nelson is a 28-year-old widow with 3 children when Bill Bailey enters her Tyneside home as a paying guest. Although the children are immediately taken by brash and demonstrative "Mr. Bill," who heads a construction crew, it takes time for proper and reserved Fiona to thaw to the self-described "middle-of-the-road man." When Bill and Fiona marry, he adopts not only her 3 "lovable bairns," but also the orphan daughter of a co-worker. As we follow the lively family over a span of 10 years, we meet quirky and endearing characters. Among them are Fiona's man-chasing, disagreeable mother; young Sammy Love and his Irish father from rough Bog's End; Nell, the helpful neighbor who gets a second chance at marriage, and those of more genteel background who find the Baileys irresistible. Although the Baileys do not escape the pain of life, they triumph through love and laughter.

WHILE MY PRETTY ONE SLEEPS by Mary Higgins Clark (fiction-mystery). The story hinges on the disappearance of fashion critic Ethel Lambston and involves young Neeve Kearney, owner of a shop specializing in haute couture, a mecca to New York's wealthy women. When Ethel's body is discovered, Neeve supplies investigators with information about the deceased, a steady customer of "Neeve's Place." Ethel's nephew, her former husband and the cheating designer she planned to expose comprise the suspects. As the detectives trace leads, Neeve is at risk from the killer, while almost the entire Manhattan police force keeps her in sight. To a man, they are devoted to her father Myles, a former police commissioner, and are determined to save Neeve from the same fate as her mother, murdered years earlier.

Your neighbor says

Batman drives you nuts after a while

Last week the movie "Batman" reached the $200 million mark at the box office. In addition it is still in the top 5 on most ticket sales charts. That's not bad considering it was released over a month ago.

The movie, which cost $40 million to make, only needed $120 million to show a profit and $4 million to pay Jack "the Joker" Nicholson's salary. These figures don't include all the legal "Batman" paraphernalia sold in stores.

Many critics have said the film was high in advertisement and low in quality. Others report that it is well worth the hype.

Your neighbor, Cass City High School senior Brent Pinkoski, pointed out that all the promotion for "Batman" has deterred him from seeing the film in a theater.

"A lot of people have told me it's not what it's boasted to be. You constantly see "Batman" shirts all over the place and it kind of drives you nuts after a while."

However, Pinkoski remarked that the hoopla is just a part of Hollywood. "Well, you really can't have too much (hype), whatever makes the money. The more products they sell, the more people will watch it."

But, Pinkoski added that he won't let "Batman" pass by him altogether. "I'll either see it in the theater or rent the video. It's cheaper to rent the video and then you can watch it over and over again."

He explained that his brothers, Eric, 14, and Josh, 6, have seen the movie, but his parents, Debbie and Terry Pinkoski, haven't. "My brothers really didn't say that much about it."

YOUR EYES

Dr. G.W. McNiven

THE FIRST TWELVE MONTHS

Your baby's vision is blurred at birth. That blurriness clears up during the first few months of life, but complete visual development takes many years.

As a parent, you can motivate your baby's visual development soon after birth. In the early months, change the location of the baby's crib every few weeks, so that the baby gets new things to look at. Hang a mobile over the crib, one that will stimulate the baby to reach out and touch its colorful parts.

At about four months, give the baby assorted, safe toys of different sizes and textures. "Peek-a-boo, I see you" remains a good seeing game for infants.

All babies should be allowed to crawl, explore and touch as much as possible. This helps develop hand/eye coordination long before they begin to walk.

Your baby will begin to judge distances, hold things and throw objects somewhere between 8 and 12 months. Encourage this by rolling a ball to your baby and letting the little one crawl after it. At about a year, introduce toys or plastic containers that can be stacked or taken apart.

What seems like child's play is really the best way to develop a baby's visual skills.

Great Books training set

The Great Books Foundation, a Chicago-based non-profit educational organization, announced that registrations are being accepted for a Basic Leader Training Course scheduled in Caro Aug. 22-23.

The training course - one of 700 the Foundation offers annually across the country - prepares teachers, volunteers, librarians and school administrators to lead Junior Great Books reading and discussion groups. The course is also open to those who plan to lead Adult Great Books groups in their communities.

The Junior Great Books program, available for grades 2 through 12, is designed to teach students how to interpret what they read. Students learn how to think independently about literature, to articulate ideas about its meaning, and to enrich their ideas through discussion.

The course will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Tuscola Intermediate School District.

To register, contact Marilyn Peters, gifted coordinator, at (517) 673-2144.

Gout: Diet Not The Answer

The condition we commonly refer to as "gout" results from the excessive accumulation of uric acid, one of the end-products of metabolism. When the body does not properly process uric acid, crystals of the acid called sodium urate deposit in and around the joints. An acute attack of gout results when these crystals irritate and inflame one or more joints. The big toe is one of the first joints affected.

Early writings refer to gout as the "disease of kings," because it was incorrectly believed to be caused by a rich diet. Actually diet has little to do with either the cause or the treatment of this condition. For the most part, gout is controlled with medicines that lower uric acid levels.

During the acute phase of gout, medicines are often prescribed to reduce inflammation and relieve pain. Three medicines commonly used for this purpose include colchicine, indomethacin, and phenylbutazone. All three can cause stomach upset.

During the chronic phase, the emphasis of therapy is on lowering uric acid and sodium urate levels. This is achieved with such medicines as allopurinol and probenecid. Colchicine also may be used during the chronic phase.

Cass City ministry interns share goal

CHERYL ELFORD is the summer intern for 2 area churches. Although Elford is not from Cass City, she explained that the Cass Cityans couldn't treat her any better.

by Matt Bach
Staff Writer

A Southfield area resident and a Cass City High School graduate are midway through their internships at 2 area churches.

Cheryl Elford and Frances Palmateer are at different stages in their internships but they both have one common goal — to help people develop spiritually.

"I would like to work with individuals in their prayer life," Elford commented. "I hope to plant some spiritual seeds. My goal isn't to convert all the kids in Cass City to Christianity. I just hope to get them thinking in that direction," Palmateer, who is a 1979 Cass City High School alumna, explained.

Elford began her internship June 18 and she will finish Aug. 27. She has already decided that she wants to be a Presbyterian minister and has finished a year of schooling at Princeton Seminary School, Princeton, N.J.

"My internship is not a requirement. It was a choice to have the full-time experience. It was my idea of a vacation," Elford remarked, laughing.

Elford explained that she had several places she could have gone to for her internship, but she chose Cass City because she wanted to stay in her home state.

Currently she works at the First Presbyterian Church and Trinity United Methodist Church full-time under the supervision of Rev. Joe Robertson and Rev. Harry Capps.

"This summer I'm preaching almost every week," Elford said, adding while at school she preached considerably less. She noted that so far her internship has been extremely fruitful for her. "I'm doing anything Harry or Joe would normally do," she remarked, adding she covers for the reverends while they are on vacation. "I think (my internship) has exceeded my expectations. Rev. Robertson and Rev. Capps have a lot to do with that. They've been very supportive. The congregations have also been very supportive and warm. I've had some wonderful discussions with them."

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

When Elford came to Cass

City, she had several things she wanted to accomplish and so far she has done most of them. "I hoped to learn what the week would shape up to be working in a parish and how I would balance my lifestyle."

In addition, Elford wanted to develop her own preaching style and see where her strengths and weaknesses were. "I think I found that my preaching style will constantly change."

Elford also discovered that dealing with a funeral is one of the hardest things for her. "I think a funeral situation will always be difficult. It taught me that the real struggle in ministry is to remain human in all our actions. To be someone who's always questioning and wondering but also having faith in Christ."

She expects to finish her schooling in ministry in May 1991 and then Elford has many plans. "I have several goals in mind. One goal does include having my own congregation. I have a personal emphasis in spiritual formation. I would like to do this possibly in a retreat setting."

But Elford hasn't always been so sure that ministry was for her. She spent 8 years as a counselor in Washtenaw County. She has additional schooling at Eastern Michigan University and University of Michigan, where she obtained a master's in counseling, a master's in linguistics and German and a bachelor's in German. While at U of M she taught German to undergraduates. "I still enjoy counseling. I think I'm going to broaden that to include church related tasks."

PALMATEER

Unlike Elford, Palmateer, who began her internship June 8 and will be done at the end of August, hasn't made a final decision if she wants to be a minister full-time. The internship "is kind of a trial situation to see if I really want to go into youth ministry as a vocation," she explained, adding if she did become a minister, she would work primarily with youths.

Currently, she works through First Presbyterian Church, Trinity United Methodist Church and Salem United Methodist Church. "My emphasis here is working with junior and senior high students."

In 1984 Palmateer married Carl Palmateer, who is also a Cass City graduate. Carl has been in the Army for 11 years and he is currently a staff sergeant.

For the last 3 years the Palmateers have lived in Germany, but now Frances and their 1 1/2-year-old son, Alex, are living in Cass City with her father, Andrew Kozan. Carl is currently on temporary assignment in Massachusetts.

Frances explained that Carl's involvement in the military is one factor she has to deal with when deciding to become a youth minister. "My husband being in the military is kind of an inhibiting factor because we move around so much."

FIRST GOT INTERESTED

Palmateer first got interested in youth ministry after she taught a senior high

Sunday school class in March. Then later, "My husband and I were leaders of a youth group at Trinity." After those experiences

Rev. Robertson asked her to lead the youth programs at the 3 churches for the summer.

So far Palmateer has had

FRANCES PALMATEER holds her 1 1/2-year-old son, Alex, who she said loves to get his picture taken. Frances is interning for the summer as a youth minister at 3 area churches.

several parties and meetings with the youth groups. But she explained things were difficult when she started. "It's hard to get the kids to come out. They tell me youth group has been boring up until this point."

However, Palmateer has worked hard in making her program fun for the kids. "I started out with a pizza party. I run (the program) differently than how it's been run in the past. I've incorporated a lot of fun into it and I've tried to keep a lot of the business part of it to a minimum."

Palmateer reported that she had some 20 kids show up for the pizza party but after that attendance dropped down to 2. Since that time the number of participants has steadily risen. She has the senior youth group meet Wednesdays at the Trinity Church and the juniors meet Thursdays.

Palmateer explained that anyone from any church or no church at all can attend her youth group. "We try to do fun activities and games and then there's a teaching and then we eat. There's always food. That may be why they come, for free food," she said, laughing.

In addition to the pizza party, Palmateer has had other events such as a party at a pond and a Cedar Point trip. On Aug. 8 she is going to have a teen dance at the intermediate school.

"I think that kids just want someone to motivate them to do something, especially in the summer. I really feel burdened for the kids in this town. They have nothing to do. So one night a week on a Wednesday they have something to do besides cruise."

Even though Palmateer isn't sure if she wants to be a youth minister, she has learned a lot about the teens. "I've learned that the kids in this town are at all different levels of spirituality and that makes it hard."

But she doesn't push religion on the young people. "If you come in preaching hell, fire and brimstone, you're going to scare a lot of kids off. If I can get them into thinking religion is a positive thing and not a dull and boring thing like they do now, then I think the possibility is greater that they'll accept Christ."

"I'd like to see them all converted and saved but I don't want to come on too strong."

Ditch petitions aired in township

One roadside ditching petition has been okayed and another submitted to the Tuscola County Road Commission for approval in Novesta Township. The items were discussed during the Township Board's monthly meeting Monday night. Township Clerk Nurse Kloc said the approved petition is for grading and ditching along 3/4 of a mile of Englehart Road, from Deckerville Road south.

The project will cost some $3,400, with the affected property owners paying 50 percent, the township paying 24 percent and the county paying 25 percent.

The other petition, not yet approved by the road commission, is for ditching along 1/2 of a mile of Dodge Road, from Deckerville south, Kloc said. No cost estimate is available yet on that project, she added.

In other business Monday, the board approved starting roadside mowing next week, and voted to pay the cost ($50) for township Supervisor Maynard Stine to attend an ordinance enforcement workshop Aug. 17 in West Branch.

Farm census aired

DID YOU KNOW...

...that 88% of the farms in Michigan were operated by individuals or families as sole proprietorships in 1987? Partnerships accounted for 9%.

...that women operated 2,714 farms or 5% of the state's total, while 292 farms were operated by minorities?

...that the average age of all Michigan farm operators was 51 years? About 45% were 35 to 54 years old.

...that 74% of the state's agricultural operators with sales of $10,000 or more considered farming to be their principal occupation? Of the 10,425 agricultural operators with sales of $10,000 or more reporting off-farm work, 58% said they did such work 200 days or more.

...that the 51,172 Michigan farms counted in 1987 were 13% fewer than in 1982, when the last agriculture census was taken?

...that production expenditures for the state's agricultural operations came to $2.2 billion? Ag operators paid 20% less for commercial fertilizers, 5% more for ag chemicals, and 30% more for hired farm labor than they did in 1982.

-- From the 1987 Census of Agriculture. Call 301-763-1113 for more details.

Memorial

IN MEMORY OF our mother, Esther Mary Kitchin, who passed away one year ago today, Aug. 9, 1988. God saw you getting tired and a cure was not to be. So He put His arms around you and whispered "Come with me." With tearful eyes we watched you suffer. And we saw you fade away. Though we loved you Mom, We could not make you stay. A golden heart stopped beating. Hard working hands to rest. God broke our hearts to prove to us He only takes the best. To know her was to love her. Both for family and friend. And the sweetness of her memory Time can neither dim nor end. Sadly missed and loved by her children, Roy and Agnes Kitchin, Ruth and Jr. Ursery, Phyllis and John Spencer, Irvin Kitchin, 15 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren. 13-8-9-1

Several sentenced, enter pleas in circuit court

A 50-year-old Caro woman charged with embezzlement is among several persons who entered pleas or were sentenced during a busy day Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Gloria Y. Orban, a former Caro auto dealership employee, entered pleas of nolo contendere (no contest) to 2 counts of embezzlement over $100 from her employer.

The court scheduled her sentencing for Nov. 3.

The charges against Orban state that while serving as an employee of Burton Moore

Ford Inc. (doing business as Moore Motor Sales, Caro) she converted to her own use money or a bakeware set, jogging suits and coasters May 18, 1988, and converted to her own use money or a tote, puzzle, pans, book/tape sets, sleep shirts and sweatshirts May 19, 1988.

Richard F. Sohn, 32, of Vassar, pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine less than 25 grams May 23, 1988, in Vassar Township.

His sentencing was set for Oct. 6. Bond was continued at $4,000.

Westland resident William J. Wilcox Jr., 45, entered a plea of innocent during his arraignment on a Motor Vehicle Code violation — intent to pass a title on a vehicle he knew to be stolen — that allegedly occurred in July 1988 in Elkland Township.

A pretrial is to be scheduled. Bond was continued at $10,000.

Also pleading innocent was Scott W. Shamel, 24, of Millington, who faces 3 counts of assault with a dangerous weapon.

A pretrial is to be scheduled and bond was continued at $8,000.

Court records state Shamel is charged with assaulting Millington Police Officers Dan Davenport and Ronald Coleman, and state police Trooper Brian Newcomb, with a rifle July 8 in Millington Township.

Tuscola County Jail inmate Duane E. Thompson, 21, of Chio, entered a plea of innocent to escape from a felony jail sentence July 15.

Bond was continued at $10,000 for the defendant, who is to be scheduled for a pretrial hearing.

Millington resident Ronald C. Babcock, 18, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building.

Sentencing was scheduled for Oct. 6. Bond was continued at $5,000.

Records state Babcock stole tools, CB radios, wrenches, a tool box, a battery charger and a weed trimmer from a garage at 7119 State Rd., Vassar, July 18.

William E. Hudek Jr., 20, of Mayville, also entered a plea of guilty, according to court records, which state he is charged with attempted breaking and entering a motor vehicle Dec. 4 in Mayville.

His sentencing also was slated for Oct. 6. Bond was continued at $7,500.

Edward R. Jobson, 41, of Millington, pleaded innocent to probation violation during his arraignment Friday.

His case was continued to Aug. 18 by the court, which set a personal recognizance bond at $300.

Jobson is charged with consuming alcoholic beverages on or about July 7.

SENTENCINGS

Vassar resident Charles M. Huizar, 31, was sentenced to 180 days in the county jail for delivery of marijuana June 2, 1988, in Caro.

Huizar, who pleaded guilty to the charge June 9, had 90 days of the jail term suspended and was granted permission to participate in the work release program.

In addition to jail, he was ordered to serve 2 years probation and pay $500 in fines and $250 in court costs plus attorney fees, records state.

Donald W. Nugent, 22, of Millington, was sentenced to one year in the county jail, with credit for 156 days served, for a plea of nolo contendere June 9 to aggravated assault.

Records state Nugent assaulted Michael J. Thibault, Millington, Dec. 27 in Millington.

Terry F. Perry, 34, of Linden, was ordered to serve one year probation and 6 months in the county jail (suspended to the end of probation) for his plea of guilty June 9 to a charge of no account check.

Aside from restitution, which is to be determined, Perry also was ordered to pay $300 in court costs and fines.

Court records state the charge stems from an $80.97 check drawn on State Savings Bank of Fenton and made payable to Central Shop-Rite in Caro Sept. 4.

Vassar resident Tamara S. Staple, 31, received a one-year delayed sentence and was ordered to complete 100 hours of community service for a plea of guilty June 9 to fraudulently altering a license plate March 28 in Vassar.

Also receiving a one-year delayed sentence is Wallace A. Gavit, 60, of Vassar, who pleaded nolo contendere May 1 to a charge of fourth degree Criminal Sexual Conduct.

Gavit, who was ordered to pay $200 in costs, was charged with engaging in sexual contact with another person, using force or coercion to accomplish the act July 4 in Tuscola Township.

Richard Schank, 22, of Caro, was sentenced to 90 days in an incarceration program, then remain on probation as previously ordered, for a plea of guilty to probation violation.

Court records state Schank failed to report to his probation officer June 1 or any time thereafter.

Also Friday, a case against Terrance L. Burgess, 20, of Lake Orion, was dismissed following a delayed sentence.

Burgess was convicted June 24, 1988, on a charge of felonious assault.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

Next time you are about to make a bank trustee for a smallish fund for your children, let me tell you of a couple of cases.

Caring parents left a batch of tax-exempt bonds, with the income to go to the 3 children. On the death of each child, that share was to go to grandchildren.

Three trustees were named, a lawyer, a banker and the bank itself. That was 20 years ago. In the early years the bank made only a nominal charge for being custodian and the 2 individuals put in very modest bills, as the grantor had been an old friend. There also wasn't any work to do except the income tax report, and since there was no taxable income, that didn't take much time.

One of the beneficiaries, an investment manager, handled any buying and selling, and didn't charge for it. All well and good in the early days. Only disadvantage was the gathering of 3 trustees each time a few bonds were bought or sold.

Then the bank was sold to a chain, which had no reason to do courtesy work for beneficiaries no longer connected with the bank.

The new big-time bank charged $1,200 a year for writing 3 checks each 6 months to the 3 beneficiaries. Another $500 was tacked on for the income tax report. The 2 individual trustees continued to put in only nominal bills.

The bank fee was "negotiated" down to $1,000, and the bank cut the charge on the income tax. All told, maybe $1,600 for the trust to pay. That was 10% of the income.

This will go on maybe another 15 years until all the beneficiaries have died and the principal is turned over to the grandchildren.

Altogether about $40,000 will have been paid out to administer the trust before it ends.

So are there other choices? There certainly are:

1. Put the securities in the trust in a brokerage account. Tell the broker to send out checks twice a year, or whatever period you choose. There'll be no charge. Monthly statements will go to the beneficiaries. Funds accumulating between (say) the payout times can go into a money market fund.

Name one individual as trustee. A responsible younger relative, in case you're so blessed, or a long-time friend. Your broker can reinvest as bonds come due. Probably a corporate trustee should be named as successor to the primary trustee who is an individual. By "corporate trustee," I mean your bank. But until this successor trustee comes into the act, there'll be no charge.

2. Get the trust dissolved if all the beneficiaries have no objection. I went through this once with a widow who was named to receive the interest of the trust, and on her death, the principal would go to her 2 children. The widow didn't need the money, and didn't care about paying out $1500 a year to the bank trustee to send her monthly checks. The children of course didn't object to getting the principal of the trust now. Their families agreed to it, too.

And finally, the bank was glad to get rid of the thing. A lawyer steered it through probate court, and the children of the widow got the securities. The savings in trustee fees paid for the lawyer in a couple of years.

What prompted all this was that I just received a semi-annual report from a trust similar to the ones I've described. There were 7 pages of computer print-out — data that could have been put on the back of an envelope. All it told was the income from 8 issues of bonds, and some money market returns. For this it cost the trust about $800.
