Costume contest, parade

Halloween fun for all

The third annual "witches walk" has been scheduled by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce Retail Division on Halloween, Tuesday, Oct. 31, and a good time is promised for all, says Dawn Vandemark, chairperson. The fun begins with the costume judging beginning at 4:30 p.m. in the parking lot north of Main Street, behind the business district, between Seeger and Oak streets. There will be prizes for children and adults with the best costumes in various categories. After the judging, the costume parade starts from the parking lot at 5 p.m. and goes through downtown Cass City. To add to the fun, employees at many of the businesses will be dressed in Halloween costumes. Any businesses that have employees to be judged are asked to contact Vandemark, at 872-2333, before Friday. Residents are invited to come in and look them over, Vandemark said.

In another announcement, authorities said that trick or treat hours will be from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Oct. 31.

Horse-car crash injures 2

Two Snover residents were injured, one of them seriously, early Monday morning when the car they were riding in collided with a horse in Sanilac County's Moore Township.

Injured in the accident were Tracy A. Kulish, 32, and Thomas P. Grifka, 25, both of 1345 Ubyly Rd., Snover.

Both were transported to McKenzie Memorial Hospital in Sandusky. Grifka was treated and released, according to a hospital spokesman, who said Kulish was stabilized and then transported via Survival Flight helicopter to the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor. She was listed in fair condition Tuesday morning.

According to troopers at the state police post in Sandusky, Kulish was driving south on Ubyly Road (M-19) southwest of Vatter Road at 1:10 a.m. when the accident occurred. Troopers said Kulish was unable to avoid hitting the animal, which was standing in the southbound lane. On impact, the horse was knocked up onto the driver's side of the vehicle, which continued 36 feet before the animal fell onto the northbound lane. The vehicle traveled some 200 feet before going into a ditch, according to reports.

Both of the vehicle's occupants were wearing seat belts, troopers said.

Police say they know who owns the horse, which was killed, but declined to give any names.

Plans started for 125-year celebration

The traditional Cass City Fourth of July celebration will take on added significance next year, it was decided by various civic leaders at a special meeting held Thursday at the Charmont.

Combined with the Fourth Festival will be the celebration of Cass City's 125th year. According to embryo plans, the celebration will be week-long, but with much of the major emphasis arranged for Wednesday, July 4. Art students are now busy designing an emblem for the event. A second meeting has been set for Tuesday, Nov. 14, and all interested persons are invited to attend. It will be at the Charmont, starting at 7 p.m.

Plans to raise funds have been discussed. One is to have canisters at area stores for several months. Another will be to hold a "tag day" under the light on the corner of Seeger and Main Streets.

Area school heads tell impact of tax increase

by Tom Montgomery
News Editor

With less than 2 weeks before voters decide the fate of 2 state school funding proposals, 3 of 4 area school superintendents are urging residents in their respective districts to vote "yes" on one or both of the issues.

The Chronicle contacted superintendents in the Cass City, Owen-Gage, Kingston and Ubyly School districts last week and asked which proposal, if either, they would like to see approved.

While not all of them were willing to voice a preference, each agreed both of the proposals would benefit their school districts, at least initially.

Voters will go to the polls Nov. 7 to decide the proposed constitutional amendments, labeled Proposal A and Proposal B.

Proposal A would raise the state sales/use tax by a half-cent, generating an additional $400 million for public K-12 education. Proposal B would increase the sales/use tax by 2 cents, raising an additional $310 to $325 million for education and reducing school property tax rates in most districts.

Each issue will ask for a yes or no response, and each will be decided by a majority vote of those casting ballots. If both are approved, the proposal that receives the highest number of votes will prevail.

As far as Owen-Gage School Supt. Harley Kirby is concerned, Proposal B is the best choice. He and the school's Board of Education agree, however, that approval of either of the proposals would leave the district in better shape than it is now. "Vote for both of them or one of them, but don't vote against either of them," he remarked. "They're both going to help us. If neither one of them passes, we've got serious problems."

VOTER CONTROL

One argument that has been aired against Proposal B is that aside from 4 "optional mills", voters would no longer be able to exercise control over local school millage rates.

But Kirby pointed out that a guaranteed millage would allow school officials to plan budgets and programs without fear that the funding may not be there.

The proposal "is built on the premise of increasing (revenue) each year," he said, adding the fate of entire school programs, in the case of some districts, would no longer rest on last-chance millage requests.

Kirby, whose district levies the maximum operational millage allowed by law (41 mills), indicated reduced school property taxes would be particularly welcome in his district.

The 2 school finance proposals are an opportunity to get some additional, consistent funding that will make a difference, he concluded, adding it would be nice if state and federal officials would stop introducing Cadillac programs in Chevrolet school districts without some accompanying funding.

Ubyly School Superintendent David Landeryou agreed that both proposals would be helpful.

cation... went on record as supporting both proposals. We're going to tell folks that either of them would help the Ubyly Schools," he said. "We're saying to vote for both of them."

Jerry H. Laycock, superintendent of the Kingston School District, concurred. "If we're going to change the way we fund education, we've got to look for some guarantees. There appears to be more guarantees in Proposal B than in A," he said.

"The proposals will both help education, but I think Proposal B does more for equity in education over the long run."

Laycock pointed out that he isn't sure how much additional money schools would realize. He explained that chances are good much of the extra money from the proposals would go to pay for higher quality education standards.

In any event, he added, "I think we've reached a point in many places in the state where the old method of voting millage... is no longer an option."

Unlike his colleagues, Cass City School Supt. Ken Micklash is only recommending that voters attempt to get a perspective on both issues and then make an individual decision Nov. 7.

NO POSITION

"I'm not taking a public position on the issue," he remarked, adding that's a position shared by school board members.

Micklash said the Cass City School District would receive more money under the proposed amendments, but he isn't certain how much more or how much would be used to pay for quality education requirements.

The superintendent indicated his hesitancy to support one issue or the other is based, in part, on experiences with past state programs that worked well financially in the beginning but ended up being a financial burden on schools.

Just the same, officials representing the Michigan Education Association, which supports proposal A, and the Michigan Association of School Administrators and School Boards, which supports Proposal B, told a small audience at Cass City High School earlier this month that education will be better off if either of the measures is approved.

PLAYING GAMES

Al Short of the MEA remarked that both proposals would prevent the Legislature from "playing games" with annual appropriations for education.

"The K-12 bill every year is held hostage to the very end (of the legislative session) to balance the budget," he said. "Both proposals take the Legislature out of the game."

Short pointed out that the MEA supports A partly because it's believed the proposal needs the support of groups such as business, which desires higher quality standards but feels a 2-cent

Please turn to page 7.

Provisions of A and B tax proposals

Although proposals A and B differ greatly, both would increase the state sales/use tax and both guarantee that the new revenue will serve as an additional funding source and not replace existing school funds.

Both proposals also would mandate that schools not in compliance with the quality education provisions of the 1989-90 School Aid Act (core curriculum, school improvement plan, accreditation and an annual report to the local community) would forfeit all state aid.

PROPOSAL A

Under proposal A, the state sales/use tax would be increased from 4 cents to 4 1/2 cents per dollar effective Jan. 1, 1990, providing an estimated $400 million more each year in constitutionally guaranteed new state revenue for K-12 education.

The amendment guarantees that schools will receive the revenue from the 1/2-cent increase in sales/use tax as well as current statutory revenue sources (including lottery profits and some cigarette/liquor taxes) and an increased share of the existing sales/use tax.

These monies would be distributed to local schools through a revised school aid formula and would go toward funding the quality provisions of the 1989-90 School Aid Act.

The proposal does not specify the method in which the proceeds of the sales tax increase would be distributed to local districts. But it's proposed that $285 million be distributed through the revised school aid formula, and the remaining $115 million be used to fund several specific quality education initiatives.

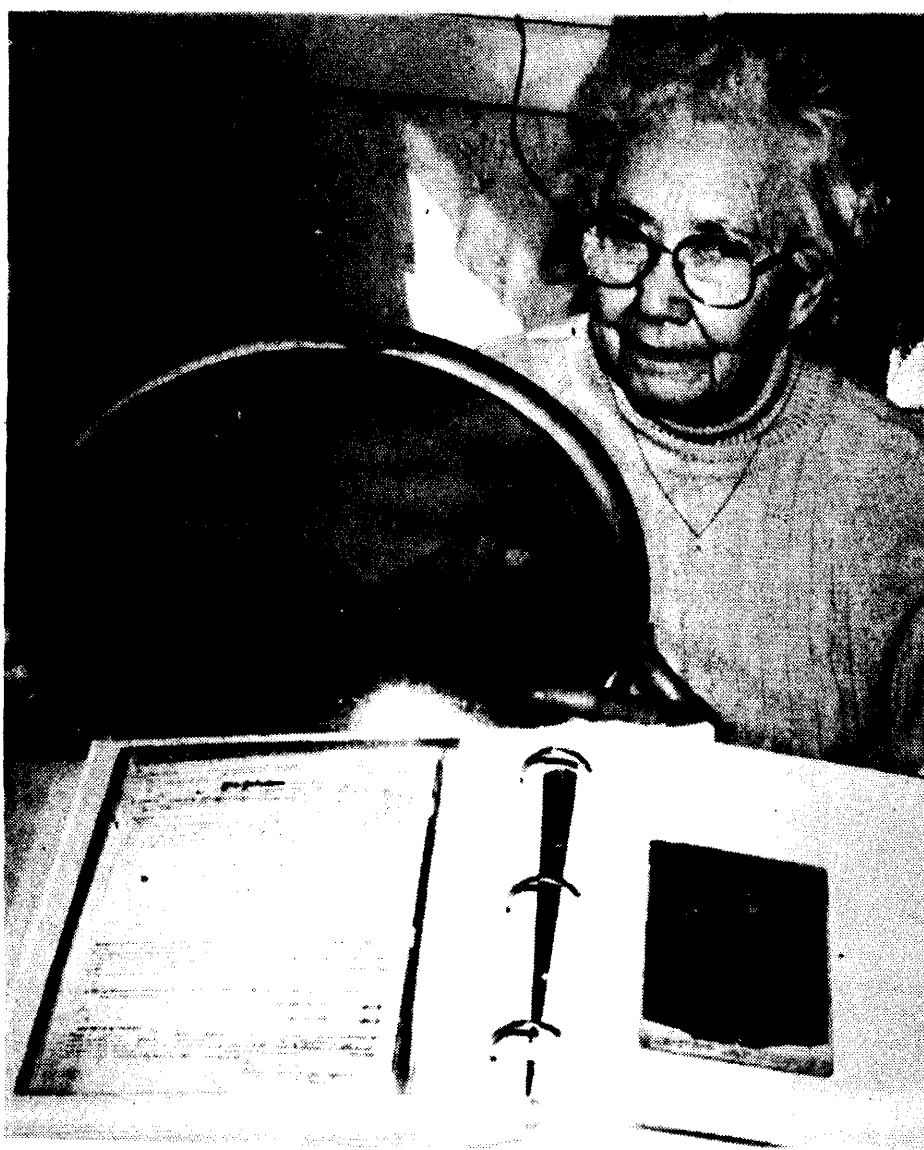

They include providing a Student Improvement Fund controlled by teachers (about $500 per teacher) to implement positive changes at the building level; increasing the number of computers available for instructional purposes; implementing a state strategy to improve mathematics, science and technology education; dropout prevention program funding; and pre-school for "at-risk" 4-year-olds.

PROPOSAL B

In contrast, Proposal B would raise the sales/use tax from 4 cents to 6 cents per dollar and implement a school finance reform plan designed to lessen schools' reliance on the property tax and increase reliance on state funds.

Under Proposal B, which would raise an extra $310 to $325 million in new money

by Melva E. Guinther

Cincinnati, or Cincinnati, gives me fits! No matter how many times I go there or read about it or look it up, I can't remember how to spell it.

Then there's mantel and mantle. Which means the shelf over the fireplace and which is a cape?

Help for people like me is available in a Fearon Teacher-Aid book by Murray Suid called "Demonic Mnemonics" (a dandy example of a spelling demon). A mnemonic, pronounced ni-mahn'-ic, is a memory trick, and it works, although sometimes the trick sounds a little silly.

The trick for Cincinnati is "We stayed IN the INN in CINCINNATI." Now if I can just remember that there's only one "I", I should have it. Maybe it would help to say, "We stayed IN the INN AT CINCINNATI."

The trouble spot in mantel is the "el", or is it "le"? By remembering "The ELF sits on the maniEL" it's no longer a problem. (It helps to visualize it.)

Another tricky word is "twelfth", and the elf helps out again. Think "The twELFth ELF was here."

Here are some other tricks from the book: Principal & principle. The school princiPAL is your PAL. The PrinciPLE that serves as a guideline is a rULE.

Dyeing & dying. When DYing, leave the DYE in. When there's DYing, there's cRYing.

"If It Fitz..."

Emily's grandpoop

By Jim Fitzgerald

While I was leaving Ford Auditorium, a stranger stopped me with this question: "Excuse me, but are you Emily's grandpoop?" Well, yes, but I'd never heard it put quite that way before. I am occasionally recognized in public, and it isn't unusual for the recognizer to mention my granddaughter Emily. Because I've written about Emily so frequently, she even gets a brief mention in Tim Kiska's new book, "Detroit's Powers and Personalities," which is more than can be said for Tom and Diane What's-Their-Name. Part of the fun of reading Kiska's breezy directory of allegedly noteworthy Detroiters is noticing who's not in it. I told Emily that, according to at least one book, having a goofy grandfather is more noteworthy than going to a lot of parties. Emily said she'd rather go to a lot of parties.

far, advanced camera technology hasn't yet reached the point where a photograph taken today will show how a person will look next week, or in 5 years. Generally speaking—forget facelifts, weight changes and Dorian Gray—it is still necessary for a person to look older than his or her photograph. This is especially true of people who age swiftly, even overnight, like me.

except for what that stranger said at Ford Auditorium. It was the first time my goofy-grandfather and old-poop frailties had been so concisely combined in one question: "Are you Emily's grandpoop?"

And the question was not only unique; it was timely. I was walking down the auditorium stairs, from the mezzanine, when it was asked, and stairs are the big reason I was in Ford Auditorium instead of Orchestra Hall. (No matter what you think, the purpose of these confusing sequels is to keep you reading in disbelief, not make you scream in frustration.)

STAIRS AND MUSIC DON'T MIX

This season, to much acclaim from astute music critics, Detroit Symphony Orchestra concerts were moved from Ford Auditorium to Orchestra Hall, where the acoustics are better. Except the Friday morning coffee concerts, which my wife and I regularly attend, stayed at Ford. Why? Stairs, mostly.

In lamenting the dearth of young fans of classical music, a marketing executive of the DSOH (it used to be DSO; the added H is for Hall) this week said the median age of the local symphony audience is around 52. For the Friday morning series, I'll bet it's around 62. Old poops listen to music in the morning instead of staying out late at night, especially if they're married to my wife.

Old poops also prefer sitting on the ground floor, and twice as many of them—around 1,800—can do it at Ford Auditorium than at Orchestra Hall. A Ford spokesperson said half the Friday morning regulars might drop their subscriptions rather than switch to Orchestra Hall, where they'd have to climb the stairs to the balcony.

Onward but not Upward if you're a grandpoop.

Anyway, along with the Emily comment, it also isn't unusual for readers, upon meeting me for the first time, to say—as politely as possible—that I look different than the picture at the top of my column. They mean I look older.

NEVER FROZEN IN TIME

That can be explained. So

Area couple in calendar

A Cass City couple is among 12 Michigan families featured in a 1990 calendar published by the Michigan State University Extension Home Economics Program.

ED AND MARY Robinson, Cass City, as they appear in a 1990 calendar published by the MSU Extension Home Economics program.

There probably is no better time than right now for the schools to seek a tax increase. After all, it's hardly possible to turn on a TV or radio or read a paper without being inundated with the crisis in education backed by statistics that prove it.

We are compared with Europe, with Japan, with anyone, and always come out second best. Certainly there is cause for concern.

Although it's a propitious time to seek more tax money, it's the prediction here that both proposals A and B will be turned down by the voters November 7. They should be.

There are a lot of reasons that these tax bills aren't the answer. Of the $400 million that the half-cent proposal A sales tax increase is estimated to raise, $115 million is mandated for special programs. What's been suggested is $5 million for restructuring schools, $8.625 million for professional development of teachers and administration, $5 million for an achievement incentive program and on and on. Backers of Proposal A say it is the way to make our schools accountable to an established standard of performance and goals. It's a start to making the core curriculum better.

The reports of all this would be sent to the State Board of Education which would judge the results and withhold funds if not satisfied. After watching numerous Federal programs I can tell you now that this produces is a blizzard of paper all carefully crafted to meet whatever criteria is needed TO GET THE MONEY.

Everyone agrees that we have to do something to produce graduates that are on a par with other countries, but no one dares to suggest the change in method to what is standard abroad.

In foreign schools after the basic education only the better students are allowed to continue. No one is willing to go that far in the United States and, if we don't, it's inevitable that the slower students will hold back the others.

There are numerous flaws in Proposal B, but the one that outweighs all the others is that it gives the legislature the right to boost our taxes without a vote. There is no limit on assessment increases.

Local control goes out the window. The best thing about our school system today is that we control the purse strings. The people spending our money have to be accountable.

Traditionally, local people have controlled local schools. Shifting it to Lansing won't make it any better and it is sure to make it more expensive.

Osteoporosis: Prevention & Treatment

Osteoporosis is a term used to describe protein and calcium loss from the bones, leaving them porous and prone to fracture. In older men and women this usually occurs as a result of a decline in the production of the sex hormones. In women the loss of natural estrogen can be significant. According to Dr. David Rudy, writing in a recent issue of Postgraduate Medicine, women typically lose two to three percent of their total bone mass each year after menopause for about eight to ten years.

Estrogen replacement therapy, if started within the first few years of menopause, has been shown to slow the process of bone loss in women. Typically estrogen is taken for three weeks of each month. A progesterone hormone is prescribed for 10 to 14 days for many women. Does of estrogen and progesterone overlap to resemble the natural release of these hormones.

Calcium in the form of calcium carbonate is frequently prescribed to strengthen bone structure. Vitamin D may be prescribed to aid the absorption of calcium into the bloodstream. Fluoride (the same mineral used to prevent tooth decay) and certain anabolic steroids also have been used to treat osteoporosis.

Rabbit Tracks

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

The athletic department at Cass City High School has voluntarily moved to correct an inequity among coaches of various sports.

The previous policy for the winter sports program gave first choice to the boys' basketball program. The big conflict comes when girls' basketball or volleyball and boys' basketball overlap.

The school policy previously gave the boys first choice of time, which translated to immediately after school. Now the time will be alternated if requested. In the past we haven't run into a problem because the coach was not a teacher and her job kept her from coaching after school. The evening hours worked fine, but it won't always be the case, Athletic Director Don Schelke feels.

The Cass City Chamber of Commerce is looking for someone to help the kids enjoy Christmas more by assuming the role of village Santa Claus this Christmas season.

Santa does his stuff for the Chamber in late November and December on Friday afternoons and evenings and Saturday during the day.

The pay includes a lot of good wishes by the community's small fry and $5 per hour. Volunteers are asked to call Chamber President Bill Krizman, 872-3470, for further information.

Vicky Wilcox of Kingston probably isn't sleeping too soundly these days. Or at least she shouldn't be. Wilcox was one of the lucky 6 to be selected for the Saturday, Oct. 28, telecast of the Michigan Lottery game show.

The winner receives $50,000 and there are substantial "losers" prizes of up to $5,000 and new cars.

Will I forget? Of course I will. But let me remind you anyway to adjust those clocks Saturday night before you retire.

It's "fall back, spring forward", and you gain that hour you lost last spring.

For 11th Bach Festival Villages ready to welcome artists

Old friends and other artists will again visit Cass

City and Caro this Thanksgiving. Musicians from throughout the country share a Thanksgiving feast and then conduct the first rehearsal of the ensemble. The combination of community hospitality and good fellowship, along with the camaraderie of soloists and musicians results in a unique blend of talents and sound.

"Performing chamber music in a suitable setting creates a close relationship between performers and audience. Musicians are almost close enough to touch and there is no darkened auditorium," says Village Bach Festival Chairman Holly Althaver. "We believe this kind of musical experience builds audiences and support for the Festival. Following a tradition established and still continuing today in Germany and Austria, public concerts are held in local churches."

The opening event of the Eleventh Village Bach Festival will take place in Caro Tuesday evening, Nov. 21, at 8:15 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church, corner of Almer and Lincoln. Bach Festival Orchestra members, Norman Paulu, violin; David Vanderkooi, cello, and Catherine McMichael, piano, will perform a varied program of trios from the classical period of Hayden and Bach to a modern violin and cello duo by Hungarian composer Kodaly. "These performers bring a lifetime of skill and dedication to their instruments, playing and performance. We are fortunate to be able to bring such musicians to this area," claims Don Th. Jaeger, music director and conductor of the Festival.

Following the first concert, the Festival moves to Cass City's First Presbyterian Church at the corner of Seeger and Church Streets for concerts Friday evening, Nov. 24, and Saturday evening, Nov. 25, at 8:15 p.m. A final presentation of the Festival will be held at 3:15 Sunday, Nov. 26.

Tickets for the Festival are available at $10 for reserved, $8 for general admission, and $5 senior citizen or student.

Information concerning the Bach Festival may be obtained by calling Holly Althaver (517) 872-3465 weekdays (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.). The box office will be open starting Nov. 1, and can be reached by calling 872-5400 between the hours of 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Kern urges caution on Halloween night

It's the time of year when fallen leaves are blown and scattered about; when cats howl in the brisk, moonlit night, and when pint-sized ghosts and miniature goblins roam the streets after dark. It's a child's holiday; a dentist's nightmare - it's Halloween.

"It may be the second most important event of the year for kids," says Tuscola County Sheriff Tom Kern. "But it can also be dangerous if proper precautions are not observed."

Basic common sense and lots of parental input are the necessary ingredients for a fun, but safe trick-or-treat night, he adds.

The sheriff encourages parents to discuss the importance of being cautious with their children, and offers these safety tips:

*Parents should escort small children to homes in the neighborhood, visiting only people they know.

*Older children should use the buddy system; don't go begging alone.

*Children should wear reflective clothing or tape on their costumes to make them easier to see at night by motorists.

*Costumes should be fire-retardant and unrestricting.

*Children should always look both ways before crossing the street; never run from between or behind parked cars.

*Children should avoid dark streets and alleys; stay away from strangers, cars and trucks you do not recognize.

*Use make-up or facial paint instead of a mask, so a child's vision is not blocked.

*Advise youngsters to approach neighborhood pets with caution; wearing a costume may frighten an animal.

*Advise children not to eat candy and food before getting home.

*Check candy, food and fruit carefully for tampering, dangerous objects or discoloration.

Parents who find any contaminated foods or other safety violations are asked to report them to the sheriff's department.

Kern says he and his deputies and officers are looking forward to a fun, happy and haunted night, but reminds parents that an organized, chaperoned party is often a good alternative to going out on Halloween.

Letters to the editor

Parents should fight school, Fox on bus pick-up at park

Dear Editor,
A few weeks ago there was an article in your newspaper called "Bus Pick-Up Unsafe." I just want to say I agree one hundred percent with the parents who wrote you.

I myself have no children, but strongly suggest the parents to fight the school and Jim Fox about having the bus pick-up in the park's entranceway.

Why? You may ask. Well, I'll tell you. As most of us know, Huntsville is below a hill. From UPS to the park and actually the park itself never gets salted. In the winter, Doerr Rd. is slick.

Even at a slow speed I have to throw my car into neutral just to keep from going in the ditch. The same place where the children now wait for the bus.

Another reason is my husband did go in that same ditch last year. Almost hitting the brick wall where some children sit and talk before the bus gets there.

Reason 3 is, I know someone actually did hit that same brick wall last year.

Tell me, what would've happened if the children would've been on the brick wall last year?

Could the chance of it being snowy and icy happen again this year? I think it's quite possible.

Could the bus just as well drop the children off in the back. We could even get someone like our park manager or even someone else to watch so the children don't get in the way of the bus when it pulls out.

I'm afraid someone's going to get seriously injured for life or killed waiting there.

Shouldn't we be more concerned with the safety of the children than of the school bus driver, the school itself and the laws that protect them.

Damage light in hit & run accident

Cass City Police reported only one minor vehicle mishap over the past week.

Reports state a vehicle owned by Virginia Mills, 3846 Cemetery Rd., Cass City, was struck by an unknown vehicle Thursday evening while parked along South Alley west of Leach Street. Mills' vehicle sustained light damage, police said.

Your neighbor says California quake worse than Hugo

1989 could well be remembered as the year of extremes. At least when it comes to disasters.

Weeks after Hurricane Hugo ripped the east coast with its level 4 winds, tragedy struck the west coast in the form of a killer quake. It registered nearly 7 on the Richter scale.

Both cost billions of dollars in damages.

Your neighbor, Jose Martinez, felt the killer quake was the worst of the 2 catastrophes.

"The quake was worse," says the 19-year-old Martinez, adding, "Could you imagine being trapped under that freeway for 89 hours?"

The 1988 graduate of Bad Axe High School also felt with Hurricane Hugo there was time to take cover, but the killer quake took everyone by surprise. "You never can tell," says Martinez, who works as a service repairman for Shetler Plumbing in both Cass City and Bad Axe. There could be 2-4 more tremors still coming in California.

Martinez, who is single, says that if he lived out west he would probably move, stating that the worst thing Michiganders face are tough winters.

Martinez, who resides in Bad Axe, is the son of Jean and Tony Martinez.

YOUR EYES
Dr. Ronald R. Watson

PROTECTING YOUR EYES
About 35,000 eye injuries occur annually in the United States while people are at play, either through accidents or overexposure to sun.
Baseball is the most "eye dangerous" sport for children between the ages of 5 and 14. A 12-year old has the power to pitch a ball as fast as 70 miles per hour. Basketball causes the most eye injuries in older teens and young adults. With adults, many serious eye injuries occur playing racquetball and squash. The small, hard ball used in these games can travel twice as fast as a baseball. After a day of skiing, sailing or mountain climbing, overexposure to sunlight has been known to cause temporary loss of vision; that's what is known as snow blindness.
After Kareem Abdul-Jabar suffered an injury some time ago, he started using goggles made of polycarbonate, a plastic that is highly impact-resistant. He has been a role model for many youngsters. For outdoor sports, polycarbonate lenses can be especially coated to filter out ultraviolet rays.

113-year-old Phelan homestead recognized as centennial farm

A portion of the land Alma Wald's grandfather purchased just west of Gagetown nearly 113 years ago has remained in the family since, and Wald says she doesn't expect that to change in the near future.

The homestead, known as the Patrick Phelan farm, 4064 Bay City-Forestville Rd., was honored recently as one of some 6,000 centennial farms in the state.

A centennial farm is a farm of 10 or more acres which has been in the same family for at least 100 years. Owners receive a Michigan Centennial Farm certificate from the Department of State's Bureau of History, and a marker, provided by Detroit Edison, to display at the farm.

"My grandfather came over and bought this -- about a half section of land -- in 1876," Wald, 82, remarked last week while glancing at a copy of the original deed.

According to the document, John Phelan paid $2,240 for the 360-acre tract.

Wald said her grandfather traveled with 4 of his 5 sons to Gagetown from a small town called Chepstow in Ontario, Canada, where they operated a lumber mill.

"They came over with a team of oxen," she continued, adding her grandfather had no intention of staying, but rather planned to buy some land for his sons. Three of the four sons, Patrick, John and James, stayed, while the other son returned to Canada with his father.

A devout Catholic whose father moved to Canada from Ireland, John Phelan eventually returned to Chepstow, but not before helping to get a church started, she noted.

Wald isn't sure when the land was deeded to her father, Patrick, but recalled he farmed the land. He was in his early 20s when he arrived with his father and brothers, and a few years later he married Mary Jane Coumans, she said.

The couple had 8 daughters and 2 sons. Wald, the youngest, said the family lived in a large farmhouse that burned down in 1934. It isn't certain when the structure was built, but it was replaced by the existing house shortly after the fire, she said.

The cash crop farm, which today consists of about 80 acres, has been rented out since Patrick died in 1930.

"After my father died, we had to let other people farm it," she recalled. Wald pointed out, however, that the farm is still family owned. She said her niece, Teresa Ward of New Rochelle, N.Y., takes care of the business part of the property, and her granddaughter, Julie Francis, and her husband, Dennis, reside at the old homestead.

"She loves it there," Wald commented. "We're glad we have someone living at the farm."

"I think it will stay in the family," she continued, noting she has 3 sons and a daughter, 12 grandchildren, 5 great-grandchildren, a niece and a number of great-nieces and nephews.

"The children don't ever want it sold," she added. "They have such great memories of the family and the farm."

Matt Jones is CMU graduate

Cass City resident Matthew K. Jones has graduated from Central Michigan University.

Matthew K. Jones

The son of Gary and Doris Jones, the summer 1989 graduate earned a bachelor of applied arts degree in industrial technology -- design and engineering graphics. Jones currently is employed by Creative Universal, Inc., Warren, in the field of drafting and design. He is a 1985 graduate of Cass City High School.

Area school heads discuss tax proposals

Allen said one recent study projects that by 1993-94, if Proposal B were approved, per-pupil spending would range between $4,000 and $6,000 for 85 percent of Michigan pupils.

The current range of per-pupil spending in the state is $2,200 to $7,800.

"A tends to be a quick fix, but I think we need something we can look down the road to," Allen commented.

He indicated that voters who want change should do something about it Nov. 7.

"This is our last shot for a long time," he said. "It's going to be another 10 years before we get back into this (school finance reform)."

On the other hand, Proposal B does something to close the gap in per-pupil spending while providing a cut in property taxes, John Maars of the state association of school administrators and school boards said.

State Rep. Dick Allen (R-Caro) is among the proponents of proposal B.

"In my district (Tuscola and Huron counties), under Proposal B, I have 12 winners, and under A, I have 4 winners," he said. "B is the only one of the 2 that even makes an attempt to get into the equity issue."

Proposals A, B both hike sales tax for education in the 1990-91 school year, all schools would become "in-formula" -- each district would qualify for per-pupil revenue from the state.

The existing school aid formula would be replaced by a basic per-pupil guarantee determined by current spending levels in each school district. Districts spending $3,190 or less per pupil in 1989-90 would receive a $350-per pupil increase, while districts spending more than $3,190 would receive an increase of between $250 and $350.

In addition, state funding for special education, transportation and intermediate school districts would be increased by 10 percent in 1990-91.

Current local millages, meanwhile, would be reduced by an average of 12.7 mills on residential and agricultural property, and an average of 7.7 mills on businesses.

Funding for public education would be provided by:

—A basic state grant of $2,700 per pupil provided by the state. In each year after 1990-91, the basic grant would be increased by the same rate as the growth of revenues in the newly-established State Account for Education.

—Local foundation millage of at least 8 mills.

—State property tax of 9 mills on agricultural and residential property and 14 mills on business property.

—The local option of levying up to an additional 4 mills. The combined local foundation millage (8 mills) and the state property tax (9 mills) would be a permanent "charter millage" and thus would not be subject to voter approval.

Both also would be exempt from provisions of the Headlee Amendment, which is designed to prevent property tax revenue from rising (due to increasing land values) faster than the inflation rate.

Overall, Proposal B would provide some $1.5 billion in property tax relief. Additional relief is provided for senior citizens, renters and low-income residents through "tie-barred" legislation, which expands the benefits now available for those with incomes under $6,000 to those with incomes up to $20,000. Renters, who can now claim 17 percent of their rent as property tax, would be able to claim 20 percent.

Another piece of legislation tied to passage of Proposal B would provide a special sales tax exemption for heating fuel and utilities for low-income persons.

Although Proposal B would be a constitutional amendment, its provisions could be changed via a two-thirds vote in each house of the Legislature.

As is true of Proposal A, all new revenue generated by the sales tax increase under Proposal B, as well as current sales tax and other revenues, and the statewide property tax, would be constitutionally dedicated to K-12 public education.

For embezzlement Orban gets prison term

A former Caro auto dealership employee was sentenced Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court to a prison term of 30 months to 10 years for her conviction on 2 counts of embezzlement over $100.

Gloria Orban, 50, pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to the charges Aug. 4.

The charges against Orban state that while serving as an employee of Burton Moore Ford Inc., doing business as Moore Motor Sales, she converted to her own use money or a bakeware set, jogging suits or coasters May 18, 1988, and converted to her own use money or a tote, puzzle, pans, book/tape sets, sleep shirts and sweat shirts May 19, 1988.

Also sentenced Friday was Tyrone Kirsch, 40, of Millington, who pleaded guilty Aug. 7 to a charge of Criminal Sexual Conduct, fourth degree.

Kirsch was sentenced to 270 days in the county jail with work release and 2 years probation, and ordered to pay $500 in court costs, $500 in fines and $30 per month in oversight fees.

The last 90 days of Kirsch's jail term was deferred, according to court records, which state he also was ordered to attend mental health counseling.

Records state the Kirsch was charged with engaging in sexual contact with another person, using force or coercion to accomplish the act Jan. 10 in Arbela Township.

Paris L. Rhode, 23, of Silverwood, received a 90-day jail term and 2 years probation, and was ordered to pay $300 in court costs and fines for her Feb. 17 conviction on a charge of attempted uttering and publishing.

Rhode, whose jail term was deferred to the end of probation, also was ordered to pay oversight fees of $30 per month or complete 10 hours of community service for non-payment of oversight fees.

Her conviction stems from the illegal use of a $50 check drawn on Kingston State Bank Jan. 10, according to court records.

Michael L. Nowicki was sentenced to 120 days in jail and his probation was revoked for his plea of guilty to probation violation. No other information was available on the defendant or his case.

Vassar resident Joel E. Burrows, 27, was sentenced to 60 days in jail for his Oct. 6 plea of guilty to probation violation.

Participation in the work release program was granted by the court, which reinstated the defendant's probation and extended the term by 12 months.

Records state Burrows violated probation on or about Sept. 15, when he traveled to Chicago without the consent of the court.

James R. Streeter, 43, of Fairgrove, was ordered to pay $300 in costs for his conviction, following a 2-day jury trial Aug. 22 and 23, on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, third offense. The remainder of Streeter's sentencing was ordered delayed by the court for 6 months.

Also Friday, Randy D. Bosley, 24, of Roseville, entered a plea of guilty to probation violation.

Sentencing is to be scheduled. Bond was set at $5,000 by the court, which ordered Bosley not to consume alcoholic beverages while on bond.

Court records state he violated his probation March 13, when he was convicted in Huron County District Court on a charge of being a disorderly person.

In court proceedings Monday, a Flint man entered a plea of guilty to a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property valued at more than $100.

A pre-sentence investigation for Earl J. Johnson, 27, is to be conducted. Bond was continued at $25,000. Sentencing is to be set.

Court records state the charge stems from an incident involving a 1986 Buick stolen wagon Jan. 25 in Reese.

Bulldogs' shooting woes continue with NCTL leaders scheduled next

Although the temperatures are warming up on the outside, it's remaining ice cold inside the Owendale gym for Coach Dean Roller's girls' basketball team.

The Bulldogs shot a frightful 23% for the 2nd consecutive game Tuesday, and fell victims to a pressing Akron-Fairgrove squad, 64-41.

The 'Dogs' shooting problems continued to haunt them on Thursday, when they connected on only 2 of 24 shots in the first half, from the floor at Kinde and lost 60-37 to the Warriors.

Roller's cagers will need a drastic improvement this week if they hope to have any chance of upsetting North Central Thumb League foes Deckerville (Tuesday-Home) and Peck (Thursday-Away).

Deckerville stands on top of the NCTL's standings with only one setback, while Peck is a game back at 9-2.

Against Akron-Fairgrove, it was the Vikings' full court pressure that allowed the Bulldogs to record only 2 baskets in the first stanza and helped stake the visitors to a 21-5 advantage after one quarter.

The Bulldogs handled the Vikings' pressure better in the 2nd stanza as point guard Vicki Ricker's ball handling skills produced some easy baskets for herself and teammate Marla Goslin, who combined for 10 of the hosts' 16 points in the quarter.

Unfortunately, the 'Dogs didn't have an answer for Akron-Fairgrove's Michelle Brown, who canned 4 easy baskets in the quarter that gave her team a 40-21 lead at the break.

The Vikings put the game out of reach in the 3rd quarter when they poured in 18 markers, including a 4-4 showing at the foul stripe.

Most of the Bulldog offense was provided by Ricker and Goslin, who finished with 16 and 14 points, respectively. Goslin also had 14 rebounds.

The Vikings' shooting touch was only part of their problem on Thursday for the 'Dogs at Kinde as they bowed 60-37 in NCTL play. The other part was North Huron's Rhonda Errer. Errer had her way all night against the smaller Bulldogs and poured in 15 of her game high 21 points in the first half.

Besides Errer, Sherri Weber finished in double figures for the winners, who were in front by 35 points at the half and coasted to the lopsided victory.

The Bulldogs also had 2 ladies finish in double digits as Goslin netted 13 markers and Ricker tossed in 10 in a losing effort.

Teen Ranch youths ditch stolen vehicle Wednesday

Two youths from the Teen Ranch in Kingston drove off with a Caro woman's car last Wednesday, traveled to Detroit and then gave themselves up after putting the vehicle in a ditch near North Branch, state police reported.

According to reports filed at the Caro post, Imari E. Sinson, 17, of Detroit, and a 14-year-old companion took the vehicle from in front of Kingston Elementary School shortly after leaving Kingston High School at about 10:30 a.m.

Troopers said the keys were left under a floor mat in the car, a 1977 black Oldsmobile Cutlass owned by Deborah Michalski.

Reports state the boys ended up in Detroit, but on the way back lost control on a gravel road in the North Branch area, went into a ditch and struck a tree. The youths then walked to a nearby residence and gave themselves up.

Sinson was arrested on suspicion of unlawfully driving away an auto, according to troopers. The 14-year-old, who also is believed to have been responsible for the theft of a Cadillac hood ornament and trunk cover lock in Kingston the same day, was turned back over to juvenile authorities.

Only minor injuries reported in 2-vehicle crashes in area

A 19-year-old Detroit motorist sought his own treatment for minor injuries sustained in a 2-vehicle collision near the intersection of M-24 and M-46 last week.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies reported that Jerrel D. Mason, Detroit, was driving north on M-24 north of M-46 at about 9:48 a.m. Oct. 17 when his vehicle was struck by another vehicle pulling out of a gas station. The impact caused Mason's vehicle to roll completely over once.

Mason complained of minor injuries. The driver of the other vehicle, Norine F. Nelson, 3052 Kingston Rd., Kingston, was not injured, reports indicate.

Both vehicles sustained extensive damage, according to deputies, who cited Nelson for failing to yield the right-of-way.

No injuries were reported in another 2-vehicle accident, which occurred Friday morning at the intersection of Mertz and Bevans roads in Indianfields Township.

Reports state southbound vehicles driven by Susan T. Newmarch of Caro and Eric L. McLaughlin of Kingston collided at 11:45 a.m. when Newmarch attempted to pass McLaughlin and McLaughlin attempted to make a left turn.

Both vehicles sustained moderate damage. Deputies cited McLaughlin for not having proof of registration in his possession.

Also last week, minor damage was reported in several car-deer mishaps.

Harold J. Spear, 3785 White Creek Rd., Kingston, stated he struck a deer Thursday while driving south on White Creek Road north of Centerline Road in Koylton Township. The incident occurred at about 9 p.m.

STATE POLICE

Joseph D. Stevens, 4305 Doerr Rd., Cass City, told troopers at the state police post in Caro that a deer ran into his vehicle while driving south on VanDyke Road south of Robinson Road in Sanilac County's Evergreen Township at about 4:30 a.m. Oct. 16.

A similar incident was reported Friday by Tammy A. Papp, 6196 Shabbona Rd., Decker, whose vehicle collided with a deer at about 7:30 p.m. on M-81 east of Schwegler Road.

Allen named 872-2010-ACTION ADS to special committee

Speaker of the Michigan House of Representatives, Lewis N. Dodak, this week announced the appointment of Rep. Dick Allen (R-Caro) to a special committee.

Allen is one of 7 legislators named to a committee which is commissioned to study the use of communication systems and aircraft by state agencies.

The committee assignment is the third this year for the veteran Caro legislator. Earlier this year, Allen was named to a special task force studying efficiency in government and more recently as a member of a task force designed to recommend improvements within the Department of Natural Resources.

EQUAL HOUSING OPPORTUNITY

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

The good Lord seems to be telling our family something. We are beginning to get the message only now, because we aren't very bright.

First, Hurricane Hugo blasted St. Croix where my son and his wife and their son, William Anthony, 5, live. They spent the night in their half-completed home the night of the big blow, sheltering besides themselves a neighbor's child, plus 2 dogs and 2 cats and a guinea pig.

There were no windows yet in the house so they held sheets of plywood against the windows with a car and a Jeep which they drove into the house. For some 5 hours Hugo ripped and snorted and screeched, but everything held together. Little William slept through the whole thing, quite likely because he was the only one with a clear conscience.

Their Montessori school down near the beach lost part of the roof, and a lot of books got soaked. I didn't know schools used books any more.

There have been no lights or phones or water since.

So much for Hugo. School has been re-opened, sort of.

Hugo also hit the area where my brother has a condo north of Charleston, but he wasn't there, and besides, he's rich.

Back to Beulah, Michigan, which he had left just about this time. One of those nasty little cyclones which smack Michigan now and then, ripped down the lake, toppled some big trees, blew a few roofs off and left 7 inches of hailstones. We were out of town so the Heavenly message missed us.

Then came Oct. 17 in San Francisco, where my Baby Sister (the one who writes the impertinent letters) and her husband, Fred, live. Her 2 children live not too far away.

So here's Baby Sister at 5:04 p.m. on the 13th floor of their apartment on Nob Hill on Oct. 17, and suddenly the whole place starts rocking. The refrigerator and telly stop. There are no lights. The chandeliers sway and then gyrate crazily. Books pop out of the bookcase. A Chinese screen topples, a Royal Doulton figurine flies off the shelf.

The Siamese cat lets out a howl and heads for Sanctuary—under the bed. (He hasn't come out yet, Oct. 20th).

Meanwhile, ol' Fred is driving home from his Walnut Creek law office, north of Oakland. At 5:04 p.m. he is on the approach to the Bay Bridge.

A minute later he is cussing as only he can do because traffic has stopped, and he's due home early because they have tickets for the opera that night.

A fellow comes along to the line of cars to tell them the bridge has collapsed and they should try to turn around and try to get out of the mess. Fred does just this and takes the long way home over the Golden Gate bridge, which is still intact.

The worst was yet to come. He had to walk up the 13 floors to the apartment because there was no power for the elevator.

Next day he walked down the 13 floors to get some flashlight batteries and the fellow in the store just laughed at him. So he walked back up to Floor No. 13, and last I heard he has been there since.

You think that's funny? Try climbing 13 flights with a gimpy knee.

Back to Florida. The paper this morning reported the coldest Oct. 18th ever recorded.

I am herewith confessing my sins and doing my best to get into a state of grace before the roof falls in.

SPECIAL ELECTION

To the qualified electors of the townships of Evergreen and Greenleaf, County of Sanilac, State of Michigan.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That a Special Election will be held in the County of Sanilac, State of Michigan, on

TUESDAY, NOV. 7, 1989

For the purpose of voting on the following two proposals to amend the Constitution of the State of Michigan, one Sanilac County proposal, also any additional amendments or propositions that may be submitted.

PROPOSAL A

A PROPOSAL TO INCREASE THE SALES/USE TAX FROM 4c TO 4 1/2c PER DOLLAR AND CONSTITUTIONALLY DEDICATE FUNDS FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS

The proposed constitutional amendment would:

- 1) Constitutionally dedicate to schools:
 - a. 1/2c increase in sales/use tax;
 - b. Current statutory revenue sources, including lottery profits and some cigarette/liquor taxes;
 - c. Increased share of existing sales/use tax (51% to 68%) to substantially replace annual school appropriation.
- 2) Distribute dedicated funds to school districts as provided by law.
- 3) Activate increased statutory penalty to deny 100% of state funds to schools not adopting core curriculum and improvement plans.

PROPOSAL B

A PROPOSAL TO INCREASE THE SALES/USE TAX FROM 4c TO 6c PER DOLLAR, REDUCE SCHOOL PROPERTY TAXES, SET PERMANENT SCHOOL OPERATING MILLAGES NOT SUBJECT TO VOTER RENEWAL AND CONSTITUTIONALLY DEDICATE FUNDS FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS

The proposed constitutional amendment would:

- 1) Constitutionally dedicate to schools:
 - a. 2c increase in sales/use tax;
 - b. Current statutory revenue sources, including lottery profits and some cigarette/liquor taxes;
 - c. Increased share of existing sales/use tax (51% to 75%) to substantially replace annual school appropriation.
- 2) Reduce property taxes in most school districts. Replace school taxes with permanent statewide millage (9 - mills on residential/farm; 14 - mills on businesses) plus non-voted local millage not subject to voter rollback. Limit voter-approved increases to 4 - mills.
- 3) Set per-pupil funding guarantees subject to change by law requiring 2/3 vote.
- 4) Activate increased statutory penalty to deny all non-guaranteed state funds to schools not adopting core curriculum and improvement plans.

We're Proud Of All Of Our Friends & Neighbors Who Make Halloween

Safe & Fun For Our Children

A jack-o-lantern is a shifting, elusive light seen over marshes at night. A hollow pumpkin, cut to look like a face and used as a lantern was called a jack-o-lantern many years ago because it resembled the eerie marsh light that people thought were ghosts.

Halloween literally means "Hallow Eve", or Holy Eve. Holy Eve was the evening prior to All Saints Day, a Christian holiday set aside to honor all the saints. Legend tells us that there was a prevalent belief long ago that the saints would rise from the dead and roam the earth on the eve of their special day. This is the reason our hometown children dress up as ghosts and goblins.

It's fun to carry on traditions that began many years ago in our hometown. We're proud of the many hometown trick or treaters and the artists who carve pumpkins for everyone to enjoy...and we're proud of our hometown.
