

Wilcox plans home repair with $50,000

A Kingston area home-maker is the newest $50,000 grand prize winner in the Michigan Lottery's weekly "Fame and Fortune" TV game show.

"I was shocked," Vicky Wilcox, 40, remarked following taping of the 30-minute show at WDIV-TV, Channel 4, in Detroit Friday. "It's like a dream. It still feels like I'm in it."

"Our farmhouse is more than 100 years old and we'll use some of the winnings for its restoration," she commented when receiving her prize check. "We'll also plan a trip to visit relatives in Montana and pay off bills with the rest."

Wilcox and her husband, Ron, who is employed by Marvin Wilcox Construction in Clifford, have 8 children and 5 grandchildren.

She gained entry to the show with a "Fame and Fortune" instant game ticket, displaying 3 "TV Entry" symbols, she purchased at Zorn's IGA Market in Marlette. Mailed to the designated Lansing address, it was drawn on the previous week's show.

Wilcox pointed out that she almost didn't mail that ticket.

"It was in my purse for 2 months and my husband said, 'You'd better get that thing mailed in,'" she recalled, noting she mailed the ticket the day after her birthday about 2 weeks ago. "I didn't even put my phone number on it because I figured, they're not going to draw it."

Wilcox noted her experience as a contestant was everything commercials for the show promise.

She said she and the other 5 contestants received a full day of "star" treatment, including an overnight stay at the Omni International Hotel, VIP Limousine Service for travels around Detroit and a special luncheon at The Whitney Restaurant.

Before the show, each visited a television make-up artist and was photographed with show hosts Chuck Gaidica and Diane Sarnecky. As they entered the studio, they were greeted by the show's live audience, including family and friends they had invited to attend the taping.

Library receives $1,000

Present United Way gifts

Elkland-Novesta United Way officials presented checks this week that will benefit a number of area residents as well as victims of the recent earthquake in California.

During a brief ceremony Monday, local United Way officers Doug Herringshaw, Dale McIntosh and Art Holmberg presented a $1,000 check, earmarked for disaster relief for the earthquake victims, to representatives of the Tuscola County Chapter of the American Red Cross, and 2 $250 gift certificates to officials representing the Cass City Community Food Closet.

Another $1,000 donation was presented to Rawson Memorial Library Director Barbara Hutchinson to help offset the cost of a new PBS video series recently added to the local library.

Herringshaw, president of the Elkland-Novesta United Way, remarked that the donations are from proceeds collected during last year's exceptional local United Way campaign.

Cat ordinance nixed

No door-to-door sales in Cass City

Officials representing a cable company serving Cass City tried unsuccessfully Monday to convince council members to bend the rules of a village ordinance prohibiting door-to-door soliciting.

John Kopacka, manager of C-Tel Cable Vision of Michigan Inc., Lapeer, and a marketing representative for the cable company made the plea during the council's regular monthly meeting.

The pair stated they would like to offer non-cable subscribers free installation with the purchase of cable.

Currently, there are more than 500 potential cable customers in Cass City, and the best way to reach those customers is through a personal approach, according to the marketing representative. He indicated such an approach wouldn't involve any pressure, but rather simply a free offer that would benefit the customer as well as the company and the village.

While council members agreed the company and its proposal would benefit some residents, they suggested that the company instead try to reach customers through other mediums such as direct mail and advertising. Village president L.E. Althaver noted that the council adopted the village's existing ordinance prohibiting door-to-door soliciting 15 years ago in response to the wishes of residents, who wanted protection from unscrupulous solicitors.

He remarked that he doesn't see how village officials can break the rules for one company, even a legitimate firm, without doing the same for others. Council member Dorothy Stahlbaum agreed, saying, "This ordinance was written because the village people asked for it."

Councilman Mike Weaver commented that he's sympathetic regarding the cable company's situation, but acknowledged that the village "wouldn't have a leg to stand on" if it allowed door-to-door solicitations or any such activity prohibited by ordinance.

If residents want the law changed, the council would react, Althaver concluded. "Short of that," he said, "we don't have any reason to cancel the ordinance."

IN OTHER BUSINESS

In other business during the hour-long session, council members again met with a handful of Leach Street-Garfield Avenue area residents regarding problems they're having with neighborhood cats.

The residents first approached the council last month and asked that an ordinance regulating cats be drafted and approved. They cited instances of cats climbing on cars and houses, raiding garbage bags and leaving droppings all over.

Village Manager Lou LaPonsie Monday said he has since spoken with one cat owner about the problem and was assured that the animals would be kept inside.

The residents, however, indicated they haven't yet noticed an improvement in the situation.

Althaver repeated comments he made last month regarding approval of a cat ordinance, saying although the council hasn't ruled out the action, it's "just about impossible" to enforce such an ordinance.

Following discussion, the residents indicated they would like to work on a solution with their neighbors.

Also Monday, the council: *Heard a request from Dan Ulfing representing the Cass City Little League, Minor League and T-Ball programs.

Ulfing asked the council to consider furnishing the equipment and labor necessary to build up and improve the little and minor league diamonds, and improve 2 diamonds located behind the elementary school for use as practice fields. He also asked that the village provide electrical service so that the programs can take advantage of a new pitching machine recently purchased for the school.

The requests were referred to the council's Parks and Promotion Committee for study.

*Heard a brief statement from Cub Scout Leader Connie Iwankovitch who thanked the council for use of village recreation facilities for the scouts' annual day camp and district Olympics.

*Noted Cass City Police Officer Craig Haynes completed a seminar on liquor law enforcement Oct. 17 at Delta College.

High bids cut health building plans

Tuscola County's new health department building won't have morgue facilities and some other planned features, at least in the near future, county officials said last week after bids for the project came in higher than expected.

Officials had initially pegged the cost of the project at some $1.25 million. But 8 bids for construction of the new facility, opened last Wednesday, range from $57,000 to $156,000 more than that figure.

The high bid totaled $1.406 million, while the low bid was $1.307 million.

No official action was taken on the bids, but county Controller Michael Hoagland said county officials have had further discussions with the low bidder, Johnson Serenus and Son Construction Co., Bay City.

County commissioners during a special session Friday accepted revised plans for construction of the facility, according to Hoagland. He explained that the morgue, the cost of which included some $50,000 worth of equipment alone, was the biggest cut. Completion of a number of parking spaces behind and next to the building also were deleted, as was some landscaping work and installation of folding partitions.

Hoagland added it was felt that the morgue and some of the other features removed from the construction plans are less vital in terms of need at this time, and that those facilities could be added later.

The new health facility will be built adjacent to the new Department of Social Services building on Cleaver Road and is part of a 3-phase master plan for a county human services complex.

Construction of the DSS building in 1986-87 marked the end of the first phase, and the third phase is slated to consist of a new mental health facility.

Construction of the health department building will be financed by the sale of $650,000 in bonds in addition to $450,000 in county reserve funds, $100,000 left over from construction of the DSS building and $50,000 from the sale of the existing health department facility and land, located at 2266 W. Caro Rd.

Hoagland, who noted the bonds were to be sold Monday, said commissioners are anticipating an interest rate of 8.25 percent. Plans call for the bonds to be paid off over a 12-year period with interest from delinquent tax funds.

Surplus food giveaway set

The Human Development Commission will conduct a surplus commodity distribution at the following locations Nov. 9 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. or until the supply is exhausted:

Cass City Village Park, Cass City; Tuscola County Fairgrounds, Caro, and the Ivan Middleton Hall, Fairgrounds, Vassar.

Due to the volume of commodities, individuals are asked to take cardboard boxes to their distribution site.

Individuals must report to the distribution site in person and present their Surplus Commodity Registration card. Persons who are unable physically to go to the distribution site themselves may have someone pick up their commodities only if the card is shown.

The commodities have been made available to the Human Development Commission, the local Community Action Agency serving Huron, Lapeer, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties, from the federal government and is intended for personal consumption by eligible low income families.

There really should be a support group for people over 40 who purchase their first personal computer.

Talk about anxiety, depression and utter frustration!

Not that I speak from personal experience. After all, we've had ours for a mere month, and already I've learned to play "Hangman," listened to a couple of Bach melodies, and entered Hank Ardler in its address book.

There's no guarantee that I'll ever be able to retrieve Hank's address, but still it's gratifying to know that it's there, somewhere, in the bowels of that marvelous machine.

What really boggles the mind is the fact that people brilliant enough to construct and program a computer with all its complexity can't write an instruction book that the novice of average intelligence can understand.

Six diskettes, 2 books and some pamphlets came with my computer. I was advised to read them before beginning. Fair enough.

One admonition stressed repeatedly was "Be sure to make copies of your diskettes before using them."

Sounds fairly simple. Just look up "Making Copies" in the index and follow the instructions.

Dave Asher, who now lives in the greater Phoenix, Ariz., area, was cited in one of the area's daily papers recently for helping and possibly saving the life of a high school cross country runner.

Asher, a dedicated runner himself, was doing his thing when a senior high school runner collapsed. He administered CPR and called 911 (emergency number) to get the boy to the hospital.

The boy suffered cardiopulmonary arrest, but was fine after a night in the hospital, his cross country career over. Asher is the son of Alden and Joann Asher of Cass City.

Here's a really far out prediction from the GTE booklet, "2001", so often quoted here. This one says that "Hollywood movies featuring deceased actors will debut. Lifelike images of Marilyn Monroe and Humphrey Bogart will be computer-animated through advanced digital signal processing."

There's no question that science will be able to do it, I guess. The question is who would want to watch it?

Here's one Bogart fan who says it's the real Bogart or nothing. Long live "Casablanca."

AGNES "AWNIE" Milligan (left), Cass City, accepts the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club's "Woman of the Year" award, presented last week by club President Cathy Kropewnicki.

"Woman of the Year"

BPW honors Milligan

Members of the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club last week selected Agnes "Awnie" Milligan, Cass City, as the group's "Woman of the Year."

The announcement was made during the club's Oct. 23 meeting, held at the Charmont.

Judy Brown and Kathy Milligan offered some brief comments about Milligan during the ceremony. Also known affectionately as "Aunt Agnes", she worked for some 54 years in Cass City before retiring. She was employed at Kenney's Grocery and Creamery for 7 years, Townsend's Dime Store for 30 years and Erla's for 17 years.

Although retired, Milligan still does a lot of volunteer work, including working in the Hills and Dales General Hospital gift shop. An active member of the Presbyterian Church, she also works with Red Cross blood drives.

In other business, Ruth McConnell, district historian, presented a brief synopsis of all phases of the BPW organization. Persons interested in joining the club can obtain additional information by calling 872-4247 or 872-4087.

The congregation of the Novesta Church of Christ, 2896 N. Cemetery Rd., will host its annual Homecoming Sunday, Nov. 5.

Harold Prong, minister of the congregation from 1973 through 1978, will be the guest speaker at the 11 a.m. and special afternoon services.

The congregation, which will celebrate its 118th birthday in early December, will have a potluck dinner at 1:15 p.m. Also during this time, tables with pictures of the church's history will be displayed in the fellowship hall.

The public as well as friends and acquaintances of the congregation are welcome.

Using last year's census, the school with the largest enrollment is Caro with 2,259 pupils. Marlette has the smallest, with 1,494 students. The largest school has a third more students than the smallest.

Millington and North Branch, the 2 most recent additions to the league, are also schools with more pupils to select from. Millington's enrollment last year was 1990.

A few years ago when it was announced that Sandusky was leaving the Thumb B Association to join the Thumb C League, most league fans thought that the school had wimped out. The move wasn't all that well accepted by many of the Sandusky fans either. I wonder if they still feel that way?

Maybe Sandusky was the smart one and the remainder of the smaller schools in the Thumb B the ones which couldn't see the handwriting on the wall.

With the addition of Millington this year, the disparity between the larger schools and the smaller ones is wide and will be getting wider.

Knocking a hole in the theory that numbers place smaller schools at a disadvantage is the Lakers, who have dominated football and won consistently in basketball and baseball.

That is the result of a tremendous talent cycle or outstanding programs and probably both.

But generally there is a wide disparity between the larger schools and the smaller ones. Probably not so great that the schools can't compete at least in their best sport. Can't compete now, that is.

But how about 5 years down the road? While the trend is that schools on the eastern edge of the league territory are generally losing population (Cass City was well over 2,000 students at its peak), schools in the western edge are starting to feel the urban sprawl and gain instead of lose population.

Veteran observers can remember when Frankenth entered the league and was a class C school instead of the large class B school it is today.

The rumor afloat today is that Marlette is looking to be the next school to flee the Thumb B and, when you look at the numbers, can you blame it?

When the new league was formed, it had compatible schools. The time may not be far off when another league with schools closer in size and distances apart may be necessary.

"If It Fitz..."

Life a lot like life

By Jim Fitzgerald

Four of my beautiful young relatives came from their homes in San Francisco for a wedding in Detroit last Saturday. Happy time. Lots of fun. Three of them were back in San Francisco for the earthquake. Sad time. Lots of worry.

Life is a lot like that. (Did I really write that — Life is a lot like that? Preachers say, "Life is a lot like that," I have made fun of them for using such a weary, obvious cliché. Of course life is a lot like that. What else could it be a lot like?)

Start over: Life is a lot like life.

Life is a lot like attending the wedding of Sheila Fitzgerald and Brian Lysaght at Holy Trinity Church in Old Corktown and, for the first time in many years, seeing little metal snaps on every pew.

Granddaughter Emily asked what they were for. They are for men's fedoras. When I was a boy, men usually wore felt hats they had to take off inside a Catholic church. So they snapped the brim of the hat to the back of the pew in front of them.

There was a day when every pew had several fedoras snapped to it, and a kid had to be careful not to crush a hat while leaving the pew on the way to and from communion. St. Stephen's School students also had to be careful not to snap an empty snap during morning mass for fear the noise would attract a child-withering look from a nun. I used to put my finger in the snapper and offer up the pain to Jesus in return for no spelling test that day.

WHIMSICAL RELIC AT CHURCH

Men hardly ever wear fedoras to church today, and it was splendidly nostalgic to see Holy Trinity is still snappy. Emily wondered why women didn't use the snaps. Because it used to be mandatory that females cover their heads in Catholic churches. If a dumb girl forgot her hat, she put a handkerchief on her hair. That could also attract a child-withering look.

Women are no longer required to cover heads during mass. I don't know when the rule was relaxed, probably around the same time it became OK to eat meat on Friday. I remember my father saying, toward the end of his life, it wasn't fair that being a Catholic was becoming easier at the same time he was becoming too old to enjoy softer commandments.

Life is a lot like Emily who, at age 8, was thrilled that the bride asked her to pass out little bags of rice for the usual post-wedding ritual. She gave a bag to 3-year-old Tricia, to whom the concept wasn't quite clear. When it came time to throw the rice, Tricia had eaten all of hers.

Lots of laughs. The reception was at the Roostertail, owned by the high-society couple often called Tom and Diane What's-their-name in this column. When I saw Tom, I hollered "Hi, Jerry." That's the name of his somewhat estranged brother. To make up for such a bad joke, I should report that Tom Schoenith does more than attend fancy parties every night. He puts on a wonderful wedding reception — marvelous food and river-front ambiance — and works hard to make sure everything goes right.

Life is a lot like learning, at the reception, that my nephew Jim had tickets to the third World Series game. Niece Maureen and nephew Dan were also headed right back to their San Francisco homes. I've often thought how great it is for them, at their vibrant age, to live in such a glamorous city.

Tuesday night, instead of watching the World Series on TV, I watched frightening pictures from the bay area. Several times there were reports of damage on Chestnut Street. Dan and Jim live on Chestnut Street. There was a report that an unnamed Federal Express employee was killed. Dan works for Federal Express.

Oh Lord. It was many hours and phone calls before we learned they were OK; only inconvenienced and shook. Whew!

Life is like falling from the high of a great family gathering to the anguish of worrying about losing part of that family in an earthquake. Life is like a good friend dying suddenly and a neighbor committing suicide the same week your beautiful niece gets married.

Life is a lot like being glad you have a life. For the good times, naturally. For the bad times, anyway.

The Amazon is too wide at many points for a person on one bank to see the opposite shore.

Community Ed offers daytime "learning center" for adults

A housewife and mother of 5 isn't exactly the type of student one might expect to see going to class at Cass City High School during the day.

But every Monday and Wednesday morning, that's exactly what Margaret Yoe, Cass City, and several other adult education students do. For close to 4 hours each day, about 10 adult students study and learn in Room 100.

The class, called a "learning center", is a new offering for Cass City Adult Education students.

"It's an independent study. Each person works at his own pace," Ellen Toner, teacher-of the class, remarked.

Toner explained that the adult students who attend the day class each study whatever they need towards their high school diploma. One might be earning credit in English, while another is studying math and another, government.

"They get the material and I set up a curriculum for them," Toner said. "I conform to them, they don't conform to me, and that's the way it should be."

Although adult students who attend the day class earn the same credit as their night school counterparts, the day class is different in many ways, according to Toner, who has been teaching on and off for the past 8 years.

Aside from the class being an independent study time, she pointed out, "There's not a sense of strict structure. I encourage people to take a break from their work periodically."

She added, "It's really nice. You get to work with the math and English; the history, the government. It's much more teaching. It keeps me on my toes."

Yoe, like many of the students who are taking advantage of the day learning center, is also taking night classes.

SPECIAL GOAL

The opportunity to pick up some credit during the day has not only made it easier for her stay in school while attending to the needs of her family, it also will allow her to earn her diploma sooner and realize a special goal. "I want to graduate with my son," she remarked, noting he, like her, quit school before graduating. Yoe, who dropped out of school at the age of 16, said she and her 18-year-old son agreed to go back to school together. Both plan to graduate in the spring.

While her son takes classes 4 nights a week, Yoe takes government during the day Monday and American history Wednesday, as well as career education Tuesday night and speech Thursday night.

"I like the day classes better because you're home at night with your family," she commented, noting she and her husband, Ron, have 4 other children in school during the day.

"The day is better because you can work at your own pace, and you feel more self-confident. You get a lot more one-on-one with the teacher," Yoe said. "It's kind of rough, but she's here. She'll help you with anything you need help with."

Toner, Yoe remarked, "reminds me of the country teacher we used to have—one teacher teaching 30 kids in different grades."

WORKED 3 JOBS

Yoe recalled working 3 jobs before quitting them all and returning to school at the urging of her husband, a truck driver who works 12 to 14 hours a day.

"He's really supportive," she said. "Without him, and the kids, I don't think I could make it."

While working, before going back to school, Yoe said she spent very little time at home. Her jobs, which paid only minimum wage, took up nearly 18 hours a day.

Now, with hopes of someday going to college and becoming a secretary or an emergency medical technician, she says she and her husband are trying to teach their children something.

"This way, it's teaching them a lesson—if I can come back to school, they can stay in school because education is important. It's showing them I care," she continued.

"An education is just like a job. Times are getting rougher. People are going to realize they're going to need an education. That's what we're trying to show them."

Cass City Adult Education Director Elaine Howard, who initiated the learning center, indicated Yoe exemplifies the goals of the program.

2 PURPOSES

"There are 2 purposes, really. The first is to be more flexible on time for adults," she said, noting many have children and/or work at night. "The second thing is to give more individual attention to those who need it."

"It does another thing that I didn't expect it to," she added. "It begins to work as a real support system."

Having a permanent room for the day class also makes a difference, Howard said. She explained that Room 100 also serves as the high school's "teleteaching" room.

"A lot of the success of the program depends on the person you pick to teach the class," she pointed out, adding that with a strong background in reading, Toner was a great choice.

"She's very good with the non-traditional student, and that makes the program go."

Report one OUIL arrest

Cass City police reported one traffic related arrest over the weekend.

Reports state Brian J. Rutkoski, 20, of Cass City, was arrested on suspicion of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor early Sunday morning.

He was stopped on Third Street east of Brooker Street at about 1:30 a.m. after failing to negotiate the curve connecting Brooker and Third streets, officers reported.

She also was ordered to complete 10 hours of community service per month and attend mental health counseling.

Brown fraudulently obtained a large amount of welfare assistance -- Aid to Dependent Children and food stamps -- Aug. 13, 1986, in Caro, records state.

Two Caro men were sentenced on charges of delivery of marijuana.

Jeffery Allen, 22, was sentenced to 180 days in the county jail, 90 days of which was deferred to the end of probation. He also was ordered to serve 5 years probation and pay $600 in court costs and fines plus attorney fees for the May 20, 1988, offense.

Charles A. Clyne, 28, was ordered to serve 6 months in the county jail for his Sept. 13 offense. He was given permission to take part in the work site program.

Also sentenced was a Crosswell woman who was convicted Aug. 17 on a charge of unlawfully driving away an auto.

Sandra K. Hawks received a 316-day jail sentence with credit for 316 days already served.

According to records, Hawks' offense occurred Dec. 3, 1987, in Kingston, and involved a semi-truck belonging to Barry Pfister.

PLEAS

In other proceedings Friday, a Millington man pleaded guilty to felonious assault after he was determined competent to face the charge.

Sentencing for Scott W. Shamel, 24, is to be scheduled. Bond was continued at $8,000.

Records state Shamel is charged with assaulting a police officer with a rifle July 8 in Millington Township.

Three persons entered pleas during probation violation arraignments.

Deadline for GTE listing approaching

Area residents interested in changing their current telephone directory listing must do so before Nov. 10, according to GTE officials, who are compiling information for the 1990 telephone directory.

According to Kevin Hammer, GTE district manager, making a directory listing change is one simple phone call away.

GTE customers who live in the Caseville, Cass City, Elkton or Kingston communities and want to make corrections or additions to the directory must contact the company's service office at 1-463-0210 before Nov. 10. Most changes can be handled over the phone and usually don't require a personal visit to the office.

Prior to that date, both residential and business customers can change their listings. Persons should be aware, however, that they may be charged a nominal "records change" fee for revisions made to white page listings.

Publication and distribution dates for the new directory will be announced later, Hammer said.

GLASSES TO HELP YOU READ

Reading glasses are generally indicated for two types of eye defects. One is moderate or high amounts of hyperopia, or farsightedness, which can occur at any age. This condition causes blurred vision at near, squinting when reading, avoidance of close work, and headaches or tired eyes after reading, sewing or even doing a jigsaw puzzle. Children as young as five or six have been diagnosed as having excessive amounts of farsightedness and may require glasses for reading. If you are about forty or older, and have to hold your newspaper out at arm's length to see the print clearly, your eyes are probably losing their ability to focus at near points. They are also gradually losing their ability to adjust focus as you shift your gaze from distance to near. This common condition -- presbyopia -- happens to nearly all of us and requires glasses to make reading comfortable and clear. A thorough eye examination will determine if you need reading glasses and the prescription which is best for you.

1989 county tax bill up $2.3 million, board learns

Tuscola County residents will soon get a tangible reminder of how this year's modest increase in land values and voter-approved millage increases affect them. County commissioners last week approved the 1989 Apportionment Report, which outlines the millages that will be levied against property values in the county.

The bottom line in 1989 is more tax revenue, according to the document, which lists the county's total tax bill at $31,602,702, up by $2.3 million, or nearly 7.4 percent, over 1988.

The increase is due to a 4 percent increase in land value and a number of school and other millage hikes approved by voters.

The total tax tab includes $27,105,768 in winter tax bills. Of the remainder, $2,555,586 is village taxes and $1,947,687 represents half of the Caro School District's tax levy, to be collected next summer.

Although the schools, townships and county operations will see more revenue from winter taxes than the year before, schools will get a smaller piece of the county tax pie, with bigger portions going to townships and county operations.

Schools will receive $18.3 million this year, representing 67.5 percent of the total winter tax bill, compared to $16.85 million (68.9 percent) in 1988.

Dollar amounts for other operations are: $2.45 million for general county operations, up by some $94,700 over 1988; $292,253 each for bridges and streets and the medical care facility, an increase of $11,300; $116,901 for senior citizens, up by $4,500; $526,055 for the road patrol, up by $20,300; $2.03 million for townships, up by $215,000; $2.56 million for intermediate school districts, up by $100,000; and $500,115 for drains, down by $6,641 over 1988.

The county's villages, too, will see an increase in tax revenue totalling more than $128,000, including a $30,102 increase for Cass City.

The following is a roundup of the millage rates residents will pay in 4 area townships.

ELKLAND

In Elkland Township, where land values rose by $2.25 million, residents living in the Cass City School District will pay taxes on 45.1555 mills, an increase of 1.9785 mills over 1988.

For the owner of a house with a market value of $50,000 (state equalized valuation of $25,000), that's a tax increase of about $50.

Residents living in the Owen-Gage School District, meanwhile, will be assessed 55.9155 mills, a decrease of .9004 mills.

In this case, the owner of a $50,000 home would pay about $22 less in taxes.

ELLINGTON

Caro School District residents living in Ellington Township will be assessed a total of 44.9101 mills (32.5901 mills 12-1-89 and 17.32 mills 7-1-89). The 1989 levy is up by 3.8201 mills.

Cass City School District residents living in the same township will pay taxes on 47.3201 mills, an increase of 1.3201 mills.

The SEV in Ellington Township increased by $582,221 in 1989.

ELMWOOD

In Elmwood Township, where the SEV increased by $445,846, persons living in the Caro School District will pay taxes on 48.59 mills, compared to the 1988 rate of 44.0900 mills.

Cass City School District residents will be assessed 46 mills, up by 2 mills over 1988, and those living in the Owen-Gage School District will pay taxes on 56.76 mills, compared to 57.6389 mills in 1988.

NOVESTA

In Novesta Township, all of which is in the Cass City School District, the total tax bill will be based on a levy of 44.3143 mills, up by 1.6343 mills over 1988.

The township's SEV increased by more than $1.6 million in 1989.

The Cass City School District also includes portions of 4 other townships.

Almer township residents living in the district will be assessed 45.9786 mills, compared to 44 mills in 1988; Columbiaville Township residents will pay on 46 mills, compared to 44 mills in 1988; Kingston Township residents will be assessed 44.50 mills, compared to 42.5000 mills in 1988; and Wells Township residents will be assessed 44.3470 mills, compared to 42.3419 mills.

Area man charged with 4 sex offenses

A 62-year-old Cass City man was arrested and arraigned last week in Tuscola County District Court on 4 counts of second degree Criminal Sexual Conduct.

A preliminary examination for the defendant, Ralph Hastings, 4334 Krapf Rd., was scheduled for 9 a.m. today (Wednesday). Bond was set at a total of $15,000 on the charges.

According to court records, Hastings is charged with engaging in sexual contact with a person under the age of 13 years between July and September (2 counts); engaging in sexual contact with a person being at least 13 years but under 16 years of age Aug. 6 and Sept. 16. All 4 offenses allegedly occurred in Elkland Township, records state.

Local scouts ready to "scout for food"

During the week of Nov. 6, Cass City Boy Scout Troop #594 and Cub Pack #3594 will be participating in a community GOOD TURN. The service project, initiated in November 1988 as a National BSA GOOD TURN, is known as "Scouting For Food."

The Cub Scout dens will distribute food bags, with an instruction letter inside, to homes in the village. Residents are asked to put several non-perishable food items in the bag and place them outside their front door Saturday morning, Nov. 11, when the Boy Scouts will pick them up. All donated items will be taken to the local food pantry.

Any Cass City residents interested in assisting the Scout project, may contact Coordinator Connie Iwanovitch at 872-4667.

Mothers air activities

The Oct. 17 meeting of the St. Columbkille's Christian Mothers met earlier than usual so that the church could be decorated for harvest. There was an assortment of pumpkins, fall leaves, corn and other items used to create an autumn impression.

After the church was decorated, the meeting was called to order, with 21 members present.

Appreciation was expressed for everyone's help in making the Holiday Craft Fair a success.

All approved of attending the Nov. 19 showing of the Port Austin Players musical production of "Brigadoon."

It was decided to have the Dec. 5 Christmas dinner at Wildwood Farms. A gift exchange will also take place. For the children's Christmas party Dec. 16, a sign-up sheet was passed around and the members that were present signed up for the task they preferred.

The November meeting will be preceded by a Mass at 7 p.m.

After the meeting was adjourned, Barb Neuman from Home Extension Service presented an informative talk on cholesterol.

Kingston Cardinals win defensive battle with O-G

The Kingston Cardinals evened their North Central Thumb D record at 3-3 and kept Owen-Gage from moving out of a tie for last place, with a 14-0 decision Friday at Owen-Gage.

The Cardinals scored in the first quarter on a 12-yard pass from Chad McCarney to Mike McLaughlin. Brad Susalla blocked the try for extra points.

That proved to be enough to win, although it didn't appear that way. In the second quarter Owen-Gage moved steadily down the field for a first and 5 for a touchdown.

But here the absence of game competition because Caseville and Carsonville-Port Sanilac had dropped football showed up. Our timing was simply not there, said Coach Arnie Besonen. All night we self destructed with penalties at crucial times.

After 4 downs the Bulldogs were farther from the goal line than when the series of downs started.

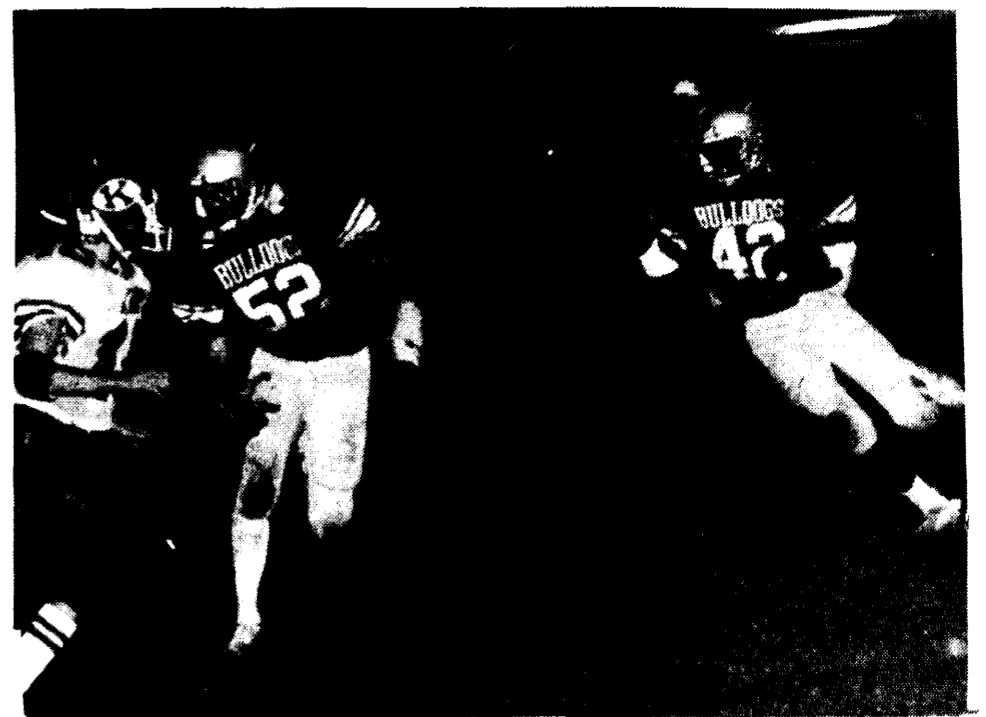

It was penalties again that aborted the only other serious threat that the Bulldogs were able to muster.

The team moved to the 8-yard line only to give the ball up as penalties again played a major factor. An attempted field goal was blocked.

That ended the scoring until the final 54 seconds in the game, when the Cardinals scored again on a one-yard run by McLaughlin. The extra points were scored on a pass to Tim Caridillo.

Our line played especially well most of the night, Besonen said. They were opening big holes and it enabled Graham Besonen to net 101 yards, mostly on runs right through the center of the line.

FOLLOWING THE BLOCK of teammate Tom Halasz is Bulldog running back Andre' Damm who busted loose on this play for big yardage against Kingston Friday.

ACCEPTING THE CHECK for $475 from manager Todd Comment as the winner of the scratch tournament at Charmont Lanes, sponsored by Thumb National Bank, is Rick LaRue of Saginaw. Watching is runner-up Mike Lefler of Cass City.

40 bowlers compete in tournament

The 3rd annual Thumb National Bank Scratch Bowling Tournament was held Saturday at Charmont Lanes with approximately 40 bowlers competing for cash prizes.

Joining past winners Jim Hoffman and Gary Goodwine was Rick LaRue of Saginaw, who walked away with nearly $500 for his first place finish. LaRue averaged 241 during the one-day event.

Tournament director Todd Comment was pleased with the scores posted during the step ladder format tourney.

"All of the final top 10 qualifiers averaged 210 pins per game or better," said Comment, adding, "A special thank you goes out to Thumb National Bank, who donated $500 in prize money."

"Without them (Thumb National Bank), we wouldn't be able to attract the area's best bowlers," Comment said.

One of those bowlers is Rodney Hood of Caro, who highlighted the evening by recording his first perfect score.

Cass City's Mike Lefler finished runner-up in the tournament as he bowed to LaRue in the finals, 235 to 198.

Lefler, the tournament's 2nd seed, averaged 226 pins per game throughout the day.

Houdini was as much an athlete as a magician. He accomplished many of his feats by superb muscle control.

A long season keeps getting longer for the Owen-Gage girls' basketball team.

"Our family memories are of the fondest. It is here we've made so many friendships, raised our 2 sons and seen so many positive influences come to the county," he said.

Bortel added that accepting the new position "was not an easy decision. We have loved working with MSU Extension Service here and all the people who we have had contact with and grown to love."

Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service officials will be advertising and filling the position in the near future.

Bulldog cagers lose to Deckerville and Peck

The Bulldogs, however, possess a golden opportunity to gain some steam for state tournament play, as they will be considered slight favorites in their final 3 regular season contests.

The 'Dogs' remaining 2 NCNTL contests are with Carsonville/Port Sanilac (Tuesday-home) and Caseville (Thursday-away), who have but one league win between them. The Bulldogs will end the season at North Branch Wesleyan on Nov. 9.

On Thursday the Peck Pirates thoroughly trounced the Bulldogs, 67-30, to remain in the thick of the NCNTL race.

"Peck totally destroyed us with their defense and their press," stated Roller afterwards.

The Pirates were never challenged in the contest as they jumped out in front 23-6 at the end of the first stanza.

From there it was mop-up time for the hosts, as 9 different players entered the record books. Game scoring honors went to Peck's Shelley Ross, who tossed in 19 points.

Owen-Gage was led by Lisa Dorsch and Maria Goslin, who netted 11 and 10 points, respectively.

DECKERVILLE GAME

Although the Bulldogs fell victims, 59-43, to the Deckerville Eagles on Tuesday, Coach Roller was pleased with the way his squad performed against the NCNTL leaders.

"I liked the way we played in the 2nd half. We were more aggressive and took the ball to a much bigger Deckerville team.

Trailing 30-13 at the intermission, the 'Dogs stoked their offense to register 30 2nd-half points, including 86 in the final period, when they connected on 12 of 15 free throws.

Lori Oswald led the winners with 15 markers on the night. Vicki Ricker's 14 points were high for Owen-Gage.

Hawks rally to top Reese in double overtime, 24-21

It was a fitting end to a successful season for 12 seniors on the 1989 Cass City Red Hawk football team, which passed all pre-season expectations by finishing second in the Thumb B Association. The Hawks defeated Reese in double overtime Friday, 24-21, and came from behind in the last quarter to do it. Before the final quarter there wasn't much for Cass City fans to cheer about. The Rockets dominated the first half and scored early in the second quarter. The Rockets chewed big holes in the right side of the Cass City line and moved steadily down the field, overcoming a couple of penalties while doing it. The 52-yard march was capped by Ron Prahin, who went over from the 2. Tim Childs scored the extra points on a trick play where the line and all but the center and quarterback moved 15 yards down the line of scrimmage and a lateral enabled Childs to waltz over. Cass City staged one concentrated drive in the second period by moving for a first down on the Reese 8, but was unable to move it over. It looked as if Reese might have the game salted away when a Hawk fumble was recovered on their own 26 and the Rockets scored again. Rob Smith scored from 2 yards out.

A 65-yard gallop by Tim Englehart turned the game around with just a little over 10 minutes left. The extra points try was missed.

To send the game into overtime, Cass City was forced to battle Reese and the clock. The game-tying drive started on their own 15 and when Englehart pushed over from the one, there was 15 seconds left in the game. Jason Robertson then ran for the vital extra 2 points to tie it.

Cass City scored first in the first overtime as Robertson capped a drive to go over from the 3. Guilherme Tiezzi's kick was good. Reese tied it on a 10-yard run by Prahin, who also kicked the extra point.

That set the stage for the win in the second overtime. Exchange student Tiezzi showed why he is an all-conference kicker by booting the game winner from 13 yards out.

Englehart, who will be back next season, had a banner night with 107 yards in 18 carries and Greg Graham, who also returns, carried 9 times for 55 yards. Robertson made his final game one to look back at, with 52 yards, a touchdown and the vital 2-point extra point run.

Brent Morell, one of a group of tough linemen who played their final game, led the defense with 8 tackles, the same number as picked up by Graham.

ALTHOUGH THE HAWKS failed to score, Greg Graham broke loose for a long gain on this play in the second quarter. Following the play for Reese is Rob Smith,

Romstead qualifies for state finals

Cass City High School freshman Jennifer Romstead posted the best time of her career (21:06) Saturday to qualify for the cross country state finals this Saturday at Lake Fenton. The Hawk speedster finished 12th among 82 girls in the competition in class C.

Dennis Meck, coach, said that there were 7 entered in the race and all bettered their times.

SUE PAPP HAS BEEN one of Cass City's best players under the boards offensively and defensively. She connected for 2 points on this close-in shot as Vassar's Shelly Heinlein defends.

Hawks lose pair of close league tilts

A team in last place in the league isn't expected to be much of a threat to the elite in the league, but Cass City should be an exception to the rule.

The Hawks lost a pair of games during the week, but with only a basket or a little better ball handling, the 2 losses could have been victories.

One of the losses was to league-leading Lakers, 44-37, Thursday and the other to Vassar Tuesday, Oct. 24, 37-34.

The Lady Hawks jumped off to an early lead against Vassar only to fade in the last quarter. Vassar scored only a field goal in the first period and, with a pair of buckets by Sue Papp showing the way, Cass City was in front 10-2 after the first 8 minutes.

The Vulcans started to find the range in the second quarter and cut the margin to 20-14 at the intermission.

Both teams played on even terms in the third period, but the Hawks went stone cold dead in the last period and Vassar cruised to the win with a 15-6 advantage in crunch time. Papp, with 11 points, led Cass City and Natalie Kibbe led Vassar with 12 points.

LAKER GAME

It was a different script against the Lakers but the results were the same. Cass City fell behind early, rallied to make the game close but wasn't quite good enough or aggressive enough to pull out the win.

The Lakers jumped off to a 14-4 lead and Cass City was never able to catch up. At the half the Hawks trailed 25-17.

Cass City missed a golden opportunity to take charge of the game and pull a giant upset when the defense held the Green Machine to just 4 points in the third quarter, but the best that Cass City could do was net 7, and that wasn't enough.

The Hawks were led by Beth Powell, 14 points, and Papp with 10. The Lakers' Tracie Henne led all scorers with 18 points.

THERE HASN'T BEEN a girls' basketball championship at Cass City High School for a few years now, but hopes are high as this team works its way through the system. This eighth grade squad is undefeated this year and won every game as seventh graders.

Victims treated, released in pair of area accidents

Minor injuries were reported in a 2-vehicle accident Thursday near the intersection of Deckerville and Kingston roads in Novesta Township.

According to reports filed at the state police post in Caro, James W. Thane, 16, of Deford, was driving west on Deckerville Road at about 8:45 a.m. when he attempted make a left turn onto Kingston Road and pulled into the path of an eastbound vehicle.

Cass City-Mercy Ambulance personnel transported the victims to Caro Community Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said Jared Thane, Stacey Thane and Dillon all were treated and released. However, she had no record of James Thane.

Troopers, who cited Thane for failure to yield the right-of-way and violation of the seat belt law, indicated Jared Thane and Dillon were wearing seat belts at the time of the mishap, and James Thane and Stacey Thane were not.

Letter to the editor Tax proposals are poor bills

Dear Editor:

I am deeply concerned about the proposed changes in the school funding proposals, "A" and "B".

"A" is reported to raise $400 million, with a 1/2% increase in sales tax, while "B" is reported to raise $310 to $325 millions. How can a 1/2-cent raise more than a 2-cent levy? I can only presume that this is someone's error. "A" will do nothing to reduce the excessive Property Tax, and will be simply an increase in total taxes.

"B" has some provisions which should make all of us think about it before voting. For one thing, it replaces the mandated reduction in property taxes with a permanent 9 mill state property tax, over which we would have no control. This, with the addition of a 4-mill optional voted increase, could make our property taxes not lower, but substantially higher. That is "Tax reduction?"

Another thing: "B" gives the legislature power to change provisions of the legislation with a 2/3 vote of the legislators at any time, and in any way they see fit without a vote of the people.

Thus, if they wish to mix the funds raised by the sales tax increase with the General Fund, they are at liberty to do so. In that case, the schools would get just what the legislature, out of the goodness of their hearts, saw fit to give. They could also raise the proposed 9-mill state property rate to any amount they wished. Another thing: The so-called "core curriculum" is not defined. We would be at the mercy of a board in Lansing, who did not know a thing about local conditions, who could mandate a program so expensive, that it would be impossible for low income schools to comply. Then, the State board is given permission to cut off ALL monies which such a school would normally receive from State funds. This would effectively eliminate most of the smaller schools.

All in all, I believe the legislators have come up with a couple of the worst pieces of legislation they ever produced. If either of the 2 proposals is approved, we will surely live to regret voting for them.

Sincerely,
Ottomar Sting
4161 S. Maxwell Rd.
Gagetown, Mich.

Your neighbor says

Life goes on

The fat lady sings in Oakland.

After over a week's delay because of the killer quake, the Oakland Athletics claimed the 1989 World Series championship with a 4-game sweep over the San Francisco Giants.

Some people felt that the series should never have been finished after the tragedy, which left hundreds dead and billions of dollars in damages.

But your neighbor, Rochelle Peters, wasn't among them. "Life has to go on," stated the Cass City resident.

"What if something else went wrong? It (the World Series) could linger on for years," said the single 24 year old.

Although Peters, who is employed with Marshall's Distributing, is more of a football fan than baseball, she admitted to watching limited parts of the series.

"I really wanted the Cubs," declared the 1983 graduate of Cass City High School.

Peters, who is a member of the Cass City Jaycees, believes the quake took away much of the glamour associated with the premier event in baseball.

"All the attention the world series received from the quake was bad publicity," sensed the lifelong Cass City resident. Peters is the daughter of Dwaine and Helen Peters.

The church is located at the corner of M-53 and Huron Line Road. The public is invited to attend.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

We pick on The Detroit News a lot, but only because it deserves it.

In a story about a discount drug chain coming to town, the News explains that the stores are able to sell at lower prices because "they buy big quantities from manufacturers and get special prices." We pass.

Funny that Walgreen and Eckerd haven't stumbled onto that system.

Never have I seen so many investment schemes as in the last few years. They seem to have spewed out when broker's were deregulated and the profit pie had smaller pieces for the salesmen and management.

Then along came limited partnerships and tax shelters and variable annuities and split annuities and universal life, real estate investment trusts, and offshore bank accounts, and so on and so on.

Some weren't as bad as others. Most of them just didn't work out, particularly the investment trusts and limited partnerships and tax shelters. There was too much overhead, too many operators skimming off the cream and leaving the investors with pale blue skimmed milk.

Annuities, for example, promised big returns - but not only for limited times. The sellers didn't mention unless comered that there were "exit fees" up to 6% if you wanted to cash in before 5 years. The life insurance feature was worth less than 1/2 of 1% of the promised return, but you'd think it was a big deal. You could buy term insurance yourself for just a few dollars.

The Colonial Fund had a deal whereby the rate of return was higher than usual rates, but it turns out that part of the "income" was your own money. My neighbor, Agnes Lund, got stuck by Goodbody for a bundle on this fund. I went to a lawyer and he made Goodbody give back the money. They did it with tears in their eyes for their commission was $7,000.

Merrill Lynch has had a package called "Totem" whereby you were guaranteed 100% of your investment back after 9 years, I think it was. Meanwhile you were drawing sizable returns each year. Well, what happened was they split your investment of say, $10,000, into 2 piles. About half of it went into zero-coupon bonds. At that time zeros would double in value in about 9 years.

So $5,000 became $10,000 at the end of the period, and so you got your investment back. The other half paid interest plus part of the principal - a declining balance, it is called - so at the end of the plan that half of your investment had disappeared.

It wasn't all bad, but you could have done better just buying zeros yourself and putting the rest in an income fund and drawing out more than you could under Merrill's fancy plan called Totem.

The other day there came across my desk (actually my desk is a door with four 2x2's and an end-table holding it up) a deal from "TFI." Tax Free Investment, maybe it stands for. Address: San Jose, Calif.

What you do is send some money to TFI in Switzerland. It goes into a "trust account" and then the boys buy some overseas stocks or what not.

Now for the prize for the investor. Says the TFI brochure:

"An investment in an offshore trust account is a privacy investment. If you wish to report it, that is your choice. There is no tax ID requirement in Switzerland, and you remain unknown to any government in the world....each account is exempt from U.S. capital gains and income taxes and so are you, unless you choose to report the income or gains."

If you don't choose to report it there is a little matter of a felony, for you are perjurying yourself when you sign your income tax and don't report an item like this. "Current annual yield" is 23%, says the brochure.

Reminds me of those big rates that Mexican banks used to promise. Complaints I heard were that you got the interest but you didn't get your principal back.

Dems flex (some) muscle during board appointments

Tuscola County commissioners last week replaced an incumbent member of the Social Services Board and nearly did the same to the chairman of the Mental Health Board during their annual board appointment elections.

The board, on a straight party line vote, elected Donald Asher to the Social Services Board.

Asher, who received votes from Democratic Commissioners Kim Glaspie, Robert Russell, Norma Bates and William Worth, replaces Karen Parsell. She received the votes of Republican Commissioners Michael Green, Arnold Krumnauer and Terry Houthoofd.

A similar vote almost unseated Iris Tuckey on the Community Mental Health Board, which she currently chairs. But Glaspie's vote, along with the board's 3 Republicans, gave her another term. Also returned to the board were incumbents Krumnauer, Houthoofd and Carol Ellsworth.

Also receiving appointments last week were Sally Bauerschmidt as the Republican representative and Grace Nemeth as the Democrat representative on the Board of Canvassers; John Vaughan and Shirley Forsee to the Library Board; Margie A. White, Leon Keinath and Ed Jagosz to the County Planning Commission; Lou LaPonsie, Donald Dugger and Wilbur Partlo to the DPW; James Welke to the Screening Commission; Keith Adelberg to the Health Board; Paul Hoose to the Construction Code Board of Appeals; Kenneth McLaren to the Saginaw Bay Fishing Consortium, and Norman Speier to the Region VII Advisory Board.

In other business during the Oct. 24 regular meeting, commissioners:

*Authorized Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn to enter into a contract for the purchase of a computer system at an initial cost of a little over $1,000, which will be paid for with Circuit Court Library Fund monies.

County Controller Michael Hoagland noted the computer system will be owned by the county and housed in the courthouse Law Library.

He said the system is being purchased for use by county court and prosecutor's office personnel as well as county bar attorneys. The computer can put local officials in touch with the most recent court cases, Hoagland remarked, adding fees will be charged to those using the equipment.

In other finance related matters, the board approved a maintenance of effort bill totalling $9,421, and the transfer of $31,203 from the county Medical Care Facility millage account to the facility for the purpose of air conditioning and purchase of mattresses and remodeling supplies.

Commissioners also authorized the county treasurer to purchase a computer work station at a cost of up to $300, and budgeted up to $200 for purchase of a typewriter for the medical examiner.

*Voted to again submit an application for state recreation bond (Proposal D) grant monies to fund planned improvements to Vanderbilt Park.

*Approved the burying, under the supervision of the Buildings and Grounds director, of a time capsule for the Cooperative Extension Service.

NOTE: NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR PRINTING ERRORS. QUANTITY RIGHTS RESERVED.

Ad Good For Week Ending Sat., Nov. 4, 1989.

Freedom to vote is a privilege we all have the right to enjoy.

As Election Day approaches, it is important to study each issue and each candidate thoroughly in order to determine what best represents your own viewpoint. It is a long process sifting through this information and we're proud of the hometown people who cast informative votes. So study the issues and get out and vote Tuesday....you own it to your country.

We're proud of all our citizens who vote....and we're proud of our hometown.
