FIFTY CENTS

FOURTEEN PAGES PLUS 3 SUPPLEMENTS

Walbro chemical spill not dangerous, but expensive

About 50 Walbro Corp. employees were sent home Friday following a minor chemical spill at the company's Small Engine Division, 6242 Garfield Ave., Cass City.

According to reports, the incident occurred at about 9:20 a.m. in a materials handling lab in the building's engineering section.

Margaret Greene, chemical and safety specialist for Walbro, said a shelf supporting a small quantity of chemicals in 4 bottles gave way, causing the containers to fall and break open.

The bottles contained diluted nitric acid, mercury, potassium salt and a coating oil, she said.

One technician, who was splashed with mercury, and a fireman were taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital as a precautionary measure, but no one was injured, authorities said.

After being notified about the incident, Greene said she contacted Tuscola County Emergency Services Director Jim Jashinske, who responded to the scene along with the Elkland Township and Caro fire departments, Cass City-Mercy Ambulance personnel and Cass City Village officials.

Also called in was an incident response team from Great Lakes Environmental, Detroit.

Greene pointed out that there was no danger of an explosion.

"In our facility, we don't have the things in high quanties that would create a big problem. This was small quantities in a materials handling lab," she repeated. "We knew what was there. We just decided it was something we weren't going to attempt to clean up ourselves."

"We were overly cautious, but you hate to look back and think you weren't cautious enough."

Greene said the lab area where the chemicals were spilled was closed off and the ventilation system shut down to reduce any possible health hazard due to fumes from the spilled chemicals.

Because the situation was not considered an urgent emergency, the incident response team didn't arrive until about 5 p.m. The clean-up operation was then completed in an hour to 90 minutes.

Greene had no estimate of the total clean-up cost, but noted the equipment and trained personnel needed to handle mercury is very costly. "I think it's going to be very expensive," she said.

AN ESTIMATED 500 visitors streamed through the new SEM-Walbro plant at its open house Saturday. The plant, designed for automated production of ignition systems, was in full production. Looking at a wire stretching machine are Frank and Jean Thayer of Caro.

AN ADDED BONUS to visitors at the SEM-Walbro open house was a look at the 2-stroke Orbital engine on which Walbro is working to provide the fuel system suitable for mass production. Explaining its features is Daryl Codling, Orbital-Walbro senior designer.

Special meet set for preschool vote

Owen-Gage School officials are expected to put to rest any questions regarding their position on the developmental preschool program serving their district at a special meeting next week.

The meeting, scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. Nov. 21 in the Owendale High School library, was approved by the board Monday night.

School Supt. Harley Kirby, who passed out a written list of recommendations to the board, asked trustees to review the list, make any suggestions they see fit and then be prepared to take action next week.

He declined to release the list for publication prior to the special meeting.

The action is in response to a request made by preschool Director Diane Warack, who in recent months has asked the board for direction regarding her program, now in its sixth year.

Warack's discontent with a lack of movement by the board on her request as well as what she referred to as harassment by school administrators prompted her to close the preschool program for 2 weeks recently. Warack, Kirby, 3 board members and a host of others met to discuss the issue Nov. 6.

IMPROVEMENT

The issue of school improvement planning was discussed at length in conjunction with a presentation made by Mary Ellen Bluem, director of General Education with the Huron Intermediate School District.

Bluem noted that legislation recently passed at the state level provides an incentive for all school districts to implement school improvement plans.

The purpose, she said, is to increase the effectiveness of schools by encouraging the development of goals and objectives, and ways to evaluate those goals and objectives.

She said the most effective schools are those which have a plan, drafted with input from school officials, teachers, staff members and parents, for what they want to see happen in their district

5 or 10 years down the road. Locally, Bluem said a majority of Huron County schools have joined a consortium in order to pool state dollars received for school improvement planning.

Kirby recommended that the board actively pursue such a plan in order to demonstrate to the state the Owen-Gage district's dedication to providing a quality education via a continuous effort to reevaluate school programs and curriculum.

"We're pretty close to being in line" with the school improvement plan concept, he remarked, adding there's no doubt in his mind that the community supports its school system.

The superintendent pointed out that proof of that dedication may be particularly important in the near future, when he believes the state will stage a major effort to consolidate the state's smaller school districts.

The means to that end likely will be an increasing number of qualifications on state dollars, forcing schools that can't meet those qualifications to consolidate, he said.

In a related matter, high school principal Ron D'Aoust asked the board to consider re-establishing a curriculum committee composed of staff members and parents.

D'Aoust said he and elementary school Principal

Plan benefit for ill Julie Miller

A benefit dinner and dance will be held Saturday at the Colony House, Cass City, with proceeds from the event going to defray travel and medical expenses for cancer victim Julie Miller.

A lifelong resident of the Owendale and Cass City areas, Miller, 22, is the daughter of Delmar and Margo Miller of Owendale.

"Outstanding Girl Athlete" award at Cass City High School in 1985, presently is undergoing radiation treatments in Rochester. It is hoped, however, that she will be home Thursday.

Organizers of the benefit are urging persons to purchase advance tickets, available at Thumb National Bank branches in Pigeon and Cass City, the Colony House (located 4 miles east and 4 north of Cass City), Kelly's Market in Gagetown, Pit Stop 76 in Owendale, and the Sala Chiropractic Clinic and Kelly & Co. Realty, both in Caro.

Dinner will be served from 6 to 8 p.m., with ticket prices set at $5.50 in advance or $6.50 at the door. A $4 admission fee will be charged at the dance, which will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

New choral group set for Festival

The 11th annual Village Bach Festival scheduled Tuesday, Nov. 21, in Caro's First Presbyterian Church and Thanksgiving week end, Nov. 24-26, in First Presbyterian Church, Cass City, will feature a new group of artists at 2 of the performances in Cass City.

It is 24 members of the Saginaw Choral Society under the direction of Jack Jonker. Saturday evening, Nov. 25, at 8:15 p.m. the group will perform music of Tallis, Schultz, Durufle, Bach and Mozart. After intermission violin soloist William Preucil Jr. will conclude the concert with Mozart's violin concerto, No. 5 in A Major.

Sunday, Nov. 26, at 3:15 p.m. the final performance of the Festival will be under the direction of conductor Don Th. Jaeger. The orchestra, soloists and the Saginaw Choral Society will combine for the performance of parts V and VI of Bach's Christmas Oratorio, one of the great choral masterpieces.

"We are able to combine the Festival orchestra and the Saginaw Choral Society to perform this important work because the Festival has grown in stature and acceptance as a major cultural event each Thanksgiving," said Holly Althaver,

Dawn & Albert Leslie

Dawn Michelle Sweeney, Ubyly, and Albert Louis Leslie, Decker, were united in marriage Saturday, Sept. 30, at St. Columbkille Catholic Church, Sheridan. Father Peter Gaspeny officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Robert and Carol Sweeney, Ubyly, and the groom is the son of Dale and Audrey Leslie, Decker.

Music selections included "Song of Ruth," "Let it be Me," "When I am With You," "Sunrise Sunset" and "Though the Mountains May Fall."

The organist was Kimberly Lemke, Ubyly, and the soloist was Cathy Pickering, Bad Axe. Special readings by Linda Peruski, Bad Axe, cousin of the bride, were given.

The altar was decorated with white and burgundy carnations with pink silk ribbons and the Unity Candle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of nylon tulle with a bouffant floor-length skirt of lace, enhanced with rosettes and a cascade of scalloped lace tiers over tulle. The gown was worn by the bride's mother when she was married Dec. 28, 1963. Her headpiece was lilies of the valley with a double silk illusion veil, made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Beatrice Sweeney, Ubyly.

She carried burgundy and white carnations intertwined with pink silk ribbons.

Vicki Sweeney, Ubyly, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of pink satin with a Chantilly lace bodice and short pouf sleeves. The back was detailed with a large butterfly bow and a back panel of lace.

The bridesmaids were Sandra Kay Peruski, Bad Axe, cousin of the bride, Merilee Krucker, Fraser, and Ann Jenkins, Kingston, sisters of the groom, Ann Tice, Kinde, and Pamela Polega, Cass City, friends of the bride.

They wore identical gowns as the maid of honor's in shades of ivory and burgundy. They all carried bouquets of pink, white and burgundy carnations with matching ribbons as their gowns.

Jeff Wallace, Cass City, friend of the groom, was best man.

Groomsmen were Darel Sweeney, Ubyly, brother of the bride, Robert Leslie, Decker, brother of the groom, Robert Moore, Decker, brother-in-law of the groom, Scott Rockwell, Caro, and David Loeding, Decker, friends of the groom. The ushers were Tim Brown, Ubyly, and Richard Wheeler, Sandusky, friends of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a pink long sleeved Quiana knit with lace overlay top and long skirt. She wore a corsage of white and burgundy carnations with pink ribbons. The groom's mother wore a dusty rose sheer organza with long skirt and sheer cape. She also wore a corsage of white and burgundy carnations with pink ribbons.

After the ceremony, a reception was held for 400 guests at the LaMotte Township Fire Hall, Hemans. Guests were from the surrounding area and Saginaw, Detroit, Florida, Rochester, Mt. Clemens and St. Clair Shores.

The bride is a 1987 graduate of Ubyly High School and a 1988 graduate of M.J. Murphy Beauty College, Saginaw, and is a licensed cosmetologist. She is employed at the Crossroads Restaurant, Cass City.

The groom is a 1985 graduate of Cass City High School and a 1987 graduate of Michigan State University. He is employed with his father and brother in dairy farming.

They will honeymoon in December and live in Shabona.

Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Tracy were Mr. and Mrs. George Fisher Sr.

Food project is successful

Members of Cass City's Boy Scout Troop and Cub Scout Pack Saturday completed a successful week-long service project called "Scouting for Food."

The event was initiated during the week, when the 8 Cub dens distributed food bags throughout the village.

Because of the cooperation and generosity of Cass City residents, nearly 50 bags of food, (1,000 items) were collected, sorted, and delivered to the Cass City Community Food Closet, located at the Baptist Church. The quantity of food nearly doubled last year's first effort to conduct a community food drive.

If any residents were inadvertently missed during the campaign and would still like to contribute, they can contact Scouting for Food Coordinator Connie Iwankovitch at 872-4667.

Frank Scepanski of Caseville and Stanley Morell were in Montrose Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. David G. Branding

First Presbyterian Church of Caro was the setting for the wedding of Kristin C. Clara and David G. Branding. The Rev. Barry Sweet officiated for the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Clara of Cass City and the son of Dr. and Mrs. Earl H. Branding of Caro.

Maxine Clara, grandmother of the bride, was matron of honor. Ronald Emling, friend of the groom, was best man.

Rebecca Branding, sister of the groom, Matthew Branding, brother of the groom, and Matthew Clara, brother of the bride, served as ushers.

Music was provided by Susan Scollon, pianist, Susan Reims, organist, and Andrea Hofmeister, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of silk-eneated satin. Her gown featured an open rounded neckline, an Alencon lace and pearl applique bodice, long sleeves with wrist pointe design and a basque waist, a full skirt and court train. Her headpiece was a Juliette cap of Alencon lace and applied pearls, which held a rolled edged fingertip veil.

The bride carried a spring garden bouquet of yellow lilies, blue delphinium, rose alstromaria, white daisies accented with tufts of mini asters, ivy and fern.

Following the wedding, the couple greeted guests at a reception at Sherwood on the Hill in Gagetown.

After a honeymoon in Northern Michigan and Canada, the couple is residing in Murphysboro, Ill., where they are both students at Southern Illinois University.

Problems in print

by Melva E. Guinther

Here's our latest collection of typos, some from dailies and other assorted sources, but mostly garnered from our very own efforts:

A thank you note: "Thank you for cards, flowers, prayers, visits and phone bills." Which of these doesn't fit?

"The United States is preparing to send a small team of police experts to Colombia to advise judges, magistrates and journalists, many of whom have been killed by drug gangs, on how to improve security..." Isn't it a little late for them?

From a wedding story: "She carried a bouquet of roses, carnations, white beans and greens." Probably a farm girl.

Sports world: "Coach Roller also felt the sighted poor passing as a problem for the Bulldogs..." He felt what??

"The farm was to feed their pulled short horn cows." And their pushed long horns, no doubt.

A head in the Bay City Times: "Thousands of Somalis flea country." New secret weapon?

"Your sock broker can give you a letter indicating prices." For the person who's heavily into socks.

"Jet skiing is a cross between solemn skiing and skate boarding." I've never seen a skier who didn't seem to be having a really good time!

Fourth of July pageant: "As Tyler Bader ushes her down the exile..." Makes you wonder about that pageant, doesn't it?

4-H exchange story: "We were able to have a great experience with out guests from North Carolina." Who would have thought it was possible!

"If It Fitz..."

Grandpoop glory

By Jim Fitzgerald

Sometimes I should be ashamed of myself, of my greedy grasping for grandpoop glory. The bear in the tutu provided a good example of this flaw in my otherwise sterling character. At Emily's eighth birthday party last month, there were no gifts for her 3-year-old sister, Tricia. It had been explained to Tricia, several times, that her birthday was coming in January, at which time she'd get lots of presents and Emily would get zilch. But for now, Emily was the honored guest, and Tricia should be nice about it and not react as independently as she usually does when someone has something she wants.

Independently? Yes. Tricia's mother, Ferd, collects euphemisms that her polite friends use in describing Tricia's behavior after watching the little dear strip-search an entire nursery class to make sure no one has anything she wants. "Tricia certainly has a mind of her own," they say. Or Tricia is certainly "spirited" or "active" or "lively" or "aggressive."

Lord only knows how many well-mannered tongues have been bitten in half to keep them from saying "brat."

Ferd's favorite euphemism is: "Tricia certainly is an independent child." That means she just started another War of Independence and should be locked up for 12 months every Fourth of July.

TANTRUM OVER TEDDY IN TUTU

It was this sort of independent Tricia fireworks that I feared when Emily opened a birthday present from her grandmother and me. It was a teddy bear in a tutu, purchased by catalog several weeks earlier, before Tricia got her tutu. That was the problem. Tricia's parents gave her a pink frilly tutu in recognition of her extreme fondness for imitating a crazed ballerina dancing to a blaring videotape of "The Nutcracker Suite." Tricia loves that tutu so much she insists on wearing it everywhere, over whatever other clothing her mother requires, even to church.

It appeared certain Tricia would explode when she saw Emily's bear in a tutu. To keep the birthday party peaceful, my wife briefly considered withholding the gift until sometime later. But she decided it would be unfair to Emily to cater so slavishly to the incendiary independence of her little sister.

So I was watching Tricia as Emily unwrapped the bear in a tutu. I wasn't surprised. Tricia's face immediately turned into a red prune and she yelled, "I WANT THAT RIGHT NOW!"

That's when Super Grandpoop came to the rescue. I scooped Tricia into my arms, rushed her outside and showed her what was in the trunk of my car. Another bear in a tutu. For her.

Man, I was the greatest hero of all time. Kisses and hugs, and I accepted each one without uttering the slightest disclaimer. I took full credit for recognizing how unreasonable it would have been for Tricia, the great tutu lover, to live in the same home as a bear in a tutu that didn't belong to her, it belonged to her awful sister.

I didn't bother telling Tricia that her grandmother had searched several stores for a second bear in a tutu and come up empty. So she brought a nude bear and sewed a tutu for it. All I did was see her sneak the bear into the car trunk.

It's not easy to justify my unconscionable theft of Grandma's glory. It undoubtedly had something to do with Tricia's smile, or the way she shrugs and extends both hands palms up when asked why she did something she wasn't supposed to do.

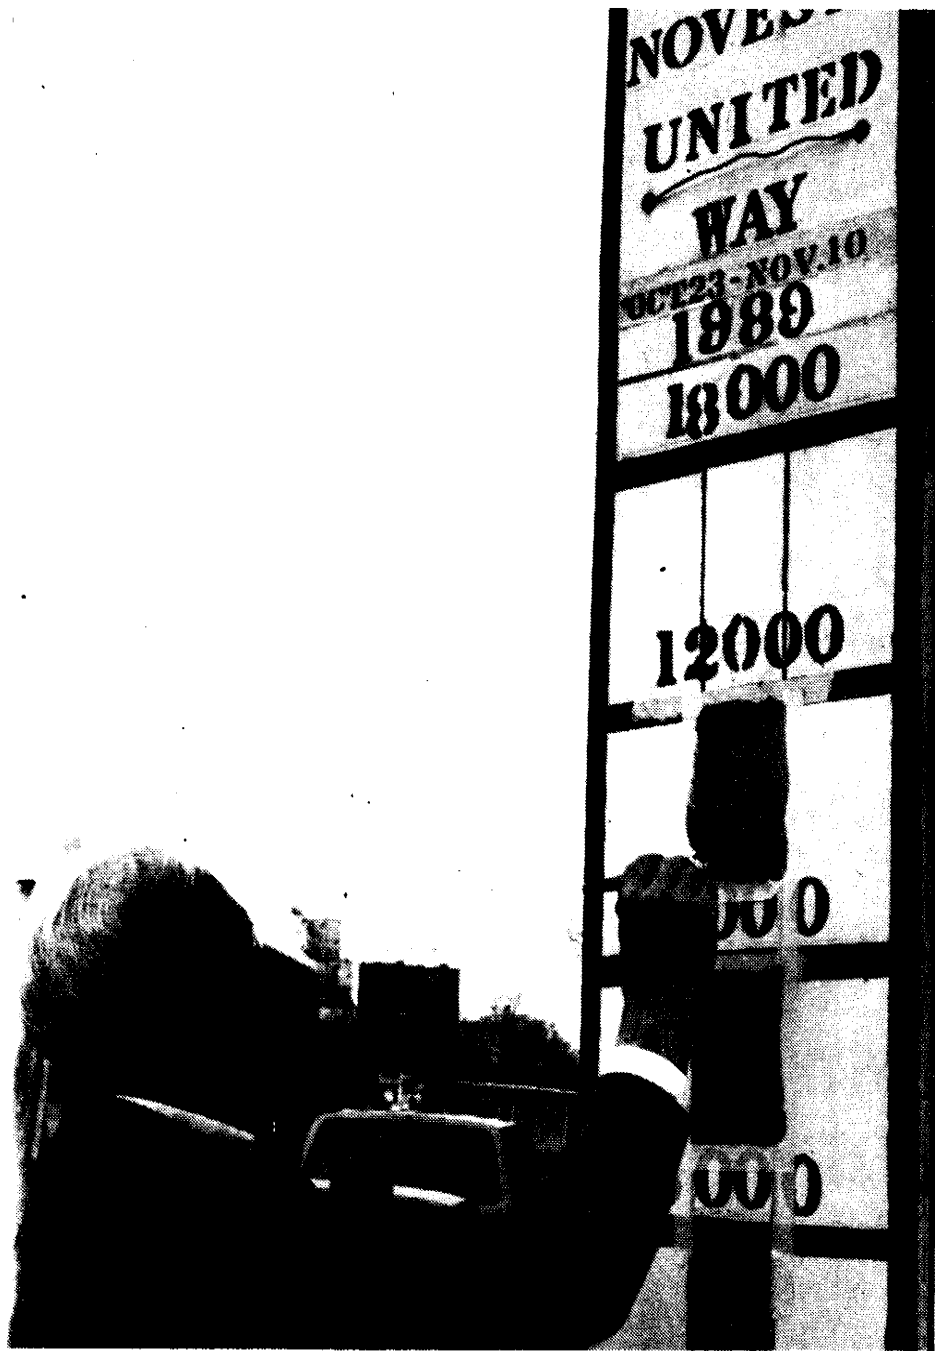

And it is surely obvious, not to mention corny, to suggest that newspaper articles contribute to the selfish pleasure I get from making Tricia happy. Most of us read about children who receive abuse instead of love, and we despair that there's not much we can do about it.

So perhaps I compensate by doing too much for the children I can touch. It's easy to say that's what grandparents are for and then send them home, spoiled. But is that any excuse for stealing my wife's plaudits, for pretending I might know how to sew a bear's tutu when the truth is that I wouldn't even know how to shop for one?

I should be ashamed. I don't care.

People believe if you sprinkle salt on the tail of a bird, you will have good luck.

THE ELKLAND-NOVESTA United Way thermometer in Cass City reached the $13,000 mark Friday, the official end of the 1989 campaign. Local United Way official Arthur Holmberg (above) said he's optimistic the group's 1989 goal of $18,000 will be reached by the time all donations have been collected.

Tom Thum concerts set next month

The Tom Thum singers plan to help area residents get their holiday spirits off to a good start early next month.

The group will present concerts featuring songs of the season sung in "good old fashioned harmony" Dec. 2 and 3 at the Presbyterian Church in Cass City. The Saturday concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the Sunday performance, at 3 p.m.

The community choir's annual concerts normally are held in the spring at the high school, but organizers decided to try something different this year.

Thomas Jefferson was the first president to wear long trousers instead of knee-breaches.

I couldn't believe it when the metro dailies announced before the election that a poll showed that Proposition A, calling for a half-cent increase in the state sales tax, stood a 50-50 chance of winning.

Nearly everyone I talked to here was against the proposition and I could only assume that in other parts of the state the outlook was radically different. I should have known better.

The school tax proposals had a lot going against them and not very much in favor. Any tax increase vote has a good number of no votes regardless of its merits.

That's for starters. You have to believe that the voters had little faith in the effectiveness of the program as outlined. There was also the mostly unspoken perception that it was a way to increase the power of the Michigan Education Association, which many feel is unwise.

Now some legislators are saying that it will be 10 years before any significant change in the funding of schools has a chance to pass. That's too bad, because change is needed.

We need some innovative programs. More money, sure. But simply throwing a wad of bucks into the hopper hoping for a better mix hasn't worked before, and the way the vote went, most folks feel won't work now.

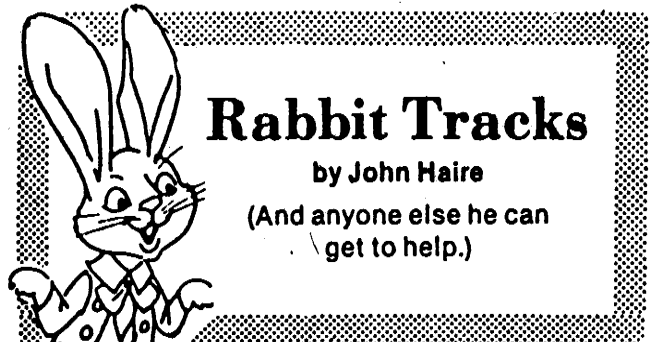

Over public television the other day a new system under trial in Chicago was examined.

The voters there okayed big bucks for schools, but with a difference. A big chunk of the money was sent back to the individual schools to be spent by the school, not administered by a central agency.

In addition, each school is now run by an elected board from within the district with the principal a member of the board with one vote.

In addition, the board has the right to fire the principal if it wants and tenure was abolished.

It wasn't explained what the union-school relationship was under this new proviso, a question that should have been examined in the in-depth story pre-

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire
(And anyone else can get to help.)

Speed limits on more than 160 additional miles of rural freeways in Michigan will be raised to 65 miles per hour by early next year, the Michigan Department of Transportation announced this week.

Judging by what the traffic is doing on the expressways these days, chances are that you'll never notice the difference.

Mark Wiese, Harris-Hampshire Agency co-owner, joined a rather exclusive club last week. Mark is a regular player in the coffee club numbers game, where numbers are selected at random between zero and 1,000 until somebody says the number and buys the coffee for the group.

He overcame the 1000 to one odds when he started the game and guessed the number on the first try. He said right then that perhaps he should rush over and buy a lottery ticket.

Strange as it seems, Wiese is not alone in the guess the number at the first crack club. Over the years several players have turned the trick. The all-time champion is Jim Ketchum, former Chronicle editor, who guessed the number on the first try the first time he played the game. He never played again.

Did you happen to catch on television that mass of humanity running the New York Marathon about 10 days ago? One of them was Craig Guernsey, who posted a time under 3 hours, which is considered good for competitors who are in it strictly for the fun. The actual time Craig raced was over 3 hours but he was delayed about 7 minutes waiting for the crowd in front to part so he could get to the starting line.

As reported previously, it has long been rumored that Marlette might leave the Thumb B Association. You can add Bad Axe to that list. Representatives of both schools, meeting informally with other league reps, reportedly discussed withdrawing. Nothing definite yet, but can the dissolution of the league as we know it be far off? It doesn't appear so.

Foxes' 4 sons mark a combined 75 years in U.S. Air Force

For many American families, Saturday's observance of Veteran's Day stirred up memories of the loss of one or more sons or daughters who died while serving their country.

Cass City area residents Ron and Aletha Fox count themselves among the luckier parents, for whom Veteran's Day is a time to be personally thankful, as well as proud of the role their family has played as members of the U.S. military force.

With the upcoming retirement of their son, Ed, the Foxes' 4 sons will have served a combined 75 years in the U.S. Air Force. Although 3 of their sons served and saw action during the Vietnam War, the local couple never had to experience what it was like to be notified that one of their sons had been killed or listed missing in action.

"They're lucky they all came back," Ron remarked Friday at the pair's farm northeast of Cass City. "They were very lucky," Aletha added.

The couple said all 4 of their sons prepared to enter the service while earning degrees at Michigan State University, where they completed ROTC training.

The program allowed them to enter the Air Force at the rank of second lieutenant, Ron said, adding, "They knew they'd be drafted the minute they got out of college."

The Foxes' oldest son, Jim, 55, joined the Air Force in August 1955 and served 20 years before retiring at the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Currently the transportation director for the Cass City Schools, he was a navigator and served in Thailand for a year during the Vietnam War.

Bob Fox, 53, joined the service in October 1958 and became a navigations instructor. He served for 5 years, attaining the rank of captain, and then decided not to re-enlist.

"He had his master's degree before he went in. He came back and got his doctorate degree in ag engineering," Jim said, noting that at one point while serving in Texas, he instructed his younger brother, Raymond, in night flying.

Today, Bob works at an experimental agricultural station in Wooster, Ohio.

Raymond served 5 years in the service, left for 3 years and then re-joined and served for another 15 years. Also a navigator, he served in Vietnam twice during his Air Force career. He also worked as a navigator aboard flights involving the transport of freight to Europe.

Reflecting on the Vietnam War years, the couple, who are strong believers in a strong defense, said they didn't live in constant fear for their sons' lives.

"We didn't think about it that much," Aletha continued. "We are not worriers. Worrying's not going to get you anywhere."

They acknowledged that patriotism seemed to be an all-time low for years regarding Vietnam veterans, but pointed out that the young men who took part in that war were doing the same thing as those before them during World War II.

"They were serving their country," Ron commented. "They didn't go because they wanted to go."

Asked if it was difficult for them to have their sons so far away so often over the years, the Foxes said they got used to it during their sons' college years.

A Way of Life

"It becomes a way of life," Aletha said, adding she and her husband started visiting their sons at various bases across the United States, as well as Germany.

Now, with 13 grandchildren living in 8 states, the Foxes, who also have 5 great-grandchildren (and another one on the way), travel regularly to see family members. They also have done a lot of traveling to see the world, having visited Australia, New Zealand, China, South America, Europe and other foreign lands.

30TH YEAR

The Foxes' third oldest son, Ed, 50, will mark his 30th year in the Air Force in February, when he will retire.

A full colonel for the past 7 1/2 years, Ed joined in February 1960 and later went on to become a pilot, flying more than 100 missions during the Vietnam War. He currently is stationed at Ramstein Air Force Base in Germany.

Ed flew over north Vietnam at the beginning of the war, his parents commented. "He was the first Air Force man to be in the (pilot) exchange program with the Navy," Ron added. "He flew off a flat top for 3 years."

The couple's youngest son, Raymond, 48, retired 2 years ago at the rank of major after a 20-year career in the Air Force that began in February 1963.

Britt added that after discussing the matter with Harp, he asked intermediate school officials to conduct her son's evaluation sooner, and they agreed.

He pointed out that he couldn't discuss specifics of the results because they are confidential, but he acknowledged the evaluation indicates the educational needs of Harp's son have changed over the past 3 years.

Britt said officials tried unsuccessfully Monday to contact Harp in order to discuss the results, but couldn't reach her.

Following discussion, the board voted to refuse the transfer request pending Harp's review of the evaluation.

She said she would have no problem with her son remaining in the Owen-Gage District provided school officials make adjustments to better meet the needs of her son.

In other business during the 3-hour monthly session, the board authorized senior class advisor Manuel Thies to replace the annual senior trip with a similar end-of-the-year trip program open to all high school students.

Thies, who has discussed the matter with the board at previous meetings, repeated his concern, saying only a handful of seniors work faithfully towards earning the senior trip.

"I'm having a very difficult time getting people to work in the senior class, and it's getting progressively worse," he said. "Our problem is a lack of money."

Thies explained that operating the school's concession stand during sporting events is the primary fund raiser for the senior trip, but few students are willing to do their share of the work.

He suggested setting up a trip club in which students in all grades at the high school could earn points towards a trip. Another option would be to allow other student groups to earn money by running the concession stand, he said.

Also Monday, the board: —Accepted a low combined bid of $30,461 for a 1987 bus chassis and a 1990 bus body from Osentoski Equipment Inc., Pigeon.

—Voted to accept a revised version of the school's student handbook.

—Approved Ann Carr as the high school's "student of the month" for November.

—Passed a motion thanking and commending the Owen-Gage Band Boosters for their purchase and delivery of an IBM compatible hard disk drive computer system for the high school.

Donations needed for Christmas baskets

The 15th annual county-wide Christmas Basket Program will again be coordinated by Volunteer Services at the Tuscola County Department of Social Services office.

Members of the "Toys for Tots" organization, sponsored by the Thumb Area Mudrunners, will be delivering toys to children in the county.

Needed are donations of non-perishable food items, gifts (under $5.00) for the elderly/disabled, clothing items of hats, scarves, mittens and gloves for the children.

Cash donations are also welcome to purchase additional food items for the baskets.

Donations may be brought out to the department office at 1365 Cleaver Rd., Caro, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., or contact Volunteer Services at (517) 673-9127.

Distribution of the baskets will take place Dec. 12-15.

RARE REUNION—Ron and Aletha Fox (seated) posed with all 4 of their sons, (from left) Ed, Raymond, Bob and Jim, during their 50th wedding anniversary in May 1982. Previously, the last time all 4 sons were able to make it home at one time was during the couple's 25th anniversary.

10th year "Battle of Books" begins

The annual "Battle of the Books," sponsored cooperatively by Rawson Memorial Library and the Cass City Elementary and Intermediate School libraries, began Monday.

This is the 10th year for the program, according to Rawson Memorial Library Director Barb Hutchinson, who noted that the class of children who were in the first Battle of the Books program in 1979-80 are now seniors in high school.

Hutchinson said that although there have been many changes in the Battle of the Books program in the past 10 years, 3 things have not changed: the library staff's commitment to introducing good books to the children, their intention to reward and give recognition to children who enjoy reading, and enthusiasm and support of the participants, parents and teachers.

All children in grades 3 through 6 are invited to participate. There are 2 divisions, one for third and fourth grades, and one for fifth and sixth grades.

There are 5 children on a team, and each team must have a name and team manager, who acts as contact person between the team and the library, arranges transportation, and provides help with scoring and timekeeping for the battles.

Registration, which will end Dec. 16, will be limited to 16 teams in each division. Others will be placed on a waiting list and will be allowed to participate if there is an opening. Registration forms are available at each of the libraries.

Each year some teams have a difficult time getting a team manager, Hutchinson said, adding any adult interested in helping with a team is invited to call the library at 872-2856 for more information.

Reading lists and the books on the lists are now available at the libraries. The battles will begin late in February with each team testing its knowledge against another team's.

Ribbons will be awarded to both first and second place teams in each division, and all participants will receive a certificate.

"Battle of Books" begins

The teams who are unsuccessful in their early rounds will be given an opportunity to compete in an Honors round for runner-up positions. All of the children who participate in the "Battle of the Books" will be invited to a special victory celebration.

Students get free books through RIF

During the past 2 weeks, local private eye Ms. Dee Tective, alias Inspector RIF, visited all second grade classrooms at Campbell Elementary School and second and third grades at Deford and Evergreen Schools to inform students about the RIF (Reading is Fundamental) program.

RIF, a federally-supported reading incentive program, is sponsored locally by the Cass City Branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW).

RIF representatives will be visiting the students 3 times during the school year to present a motivational program. Following each presentation, students are invited to select a free book to take home with them and share with friends.

During the first book distribution, the boys and girls were given clues and then assisted the visiting sleuth in solving the case of "The Witch, The Cat, and The Baseball Bat."

Ms. Dee Tective (Connie Iwankovitch) and her assistants, Susan Dyer and Louise Ponder, distributed more than 150 books at the 3 schools.

Also, in conjunction with RIF, 300 new books donated by the family of Alexandra MacRae, veteran educator in the Thumb area (recently deceased), were distributed to first, third and fourth graders at the Elementary Schools to publicize the Cass City Literacy Council.

O-G preschool decision expected at special meet

William Britt would like the committee to look at and compare curriculums offered at the junior high/high school and elementary levels. The goal, he added, is to find out what can be done to make the learning process more efficient for students as they make the transition from the elementary school to the high school.

TRANSFER REQUEST

Turning to a student transfer request, the board heard from Judy Harp, who asked that her son, a sixth grader in the Owen-Gage district, be allowed to transfer to the Cass City School District.

Harp said her son has had trouble in school this year related to his progress in the special education program. Both his grades and behavior have deteriorated, she explained, adding she believes the problem is that the work he has been given is too difficult for his level of ability.

Harp told the board she believes his educational needs would be better met in the Cass City Schools.

Britt pointed out that the intermediate school district conducts evaluations of special ed students initially and then every 3 years, and that Harp's son's next evaluation was slated for next spring. Following the evaluations, he noted, a local committee is set up to recommend a plan of action to meet the changing needs of individual students.

Missionary Fellowship plans group's Christmas activities

The Ladies Missionary Fellowship of the First Baptist Church, Cass City, met Nov. 6, with 17 members in attendance.

Rita Hanby reported on the items taken from the missionary closet by missionaries who recently visited—Marjorie M. Millan from Liberia, Richard and Peggy Marsh, Alaska, and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hunsberger of the Calvary Baptist Church, Bad Axe.

A letter was read from Overseas Christ Service Center about the work of armed service chaplains, with thanks for the gift sent last month when Chaplain Stanley Beach provided information regarding dedication of chaplains around the world.

In other communications, a letter sent from the Shepherd Ministries, Home for Special people, was read. Unwrapped gifts are to be given by Dec. 1, and gifts for shut-ins are to be taken to the next meeting, Dec. 4. In other business, needs of the Lake Ann Bible Camp were discussed and lists handed out. Christmas cards were signed for missionaries, $25 was sent toward child adoption at the St. Louis Michigan Children's Home.

Devotions were given by Rosella Kretzschmer and a session of prayer was held for the missionaries.

Hostesses for the evening were Mary Jane Warner and Jean Wood.

STUDY CLUB

The Gagetown Women's Study Club met Monday evening, Nov. 6, at the home of Gladys Laurie. Seven members attended and took part in a short business meeting.

Mrs. Laurie gave a book report on "Friendly Persuasion" by Jessamyn West, a story of a Quaker family in war-time.

Plans were made for a potluck Christmas dinner to be held in the Gagetown Elementary Cafeteria Monday, Dec. 4.

The hostess, assisted by Elma Miklovich, served refreshments.

Police report arrest, theft

Cass City police reported one traffic arrest and the theft of a bicycle early last week.

Police arrested Larry L. Weisenbach, 24, of Sebewaing, on suspicion of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor Nov. 7 at about 1:30 a.m. after stopping his vehicle on Main Street near Seeger Street for an improper left turn and improper lane usage.

Police also cited him for transporting an open intoxicant in a motor vehicle, reports state.

The theft was reported by Jess Spencer, 4488 Leach St., Cass City, who told police someone took his bike from his residence sometime during the evening hours of Nov. 6.

Valued at $135 new, the dirt-type bike is maroon in color with a white seat and hand grips.

Car-deer mishaps reported

Law enforcement officials reported 2 recent minor vehicle-deer mishaps that involved local residents or occurred in the area.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies reported that Mae E. Stalter of Elkton struck a deer Friday at about 7 p.m. while driving south on Cemetery Road south of Severance Road in Novesta Township.

Also Friday, Gayle E. Nichol, 4230 Robinson Rd., Cass City, told Cass City police that a deer ran into her vehicle while she was east-bound on Robinson Road east of Germania Road in Sanilac County's Evergreen Township. The mishap occurred at about 1:45 a.m.

Conviction is affirmed

The State Court of Appeals recently handed down an opinion affirming the trial court's conviction and sentence of Eric Hubbard.

Hubbard appealed by right to the Court of Appeals on the sentence imposed after he pleaded guilty to breaking and entering a building with intent to commit larceny and to being a habitual criminal offender, third offense.

Patrick R. Joslyn, circuit court judge of Tuscola County, sentenced the defendant Feb. 3, 1989, to 10 years to 20 years incarceration.

Hubbard was represented in the trial court by Steven J. Sattler and the prosecution was represented by John Murray.

YOUR EYES
Dr. G.W. McNiven

HOW WELL DO YOU SEE?

Normal vision is made up of two parts:
• Central vision which is used to look directly at objects;
• Peripheral vision which supplies a general awareness of what you see to the right and left of you.

Clear central vision by itself is not adequate. You may be able to watch TV and read a book, but you may have trouble walking around new surroundings or down stairs. Driving a car may be hazardous.

When peripheral vision is okay, but central vision is impaired, you can walk around safely, but your facility to read or recognize faces is reduced.

Disease is the primary cause for the loss of central or peripheral vision that is uncorrectable. Uncontrolled glaucoma damages peripheral vision; macular degeneration affects central vision. The macular is the area of cones in the eye responsible for central vision. There are other causes, too.

Your central and peripheral vision will be checked during a professional eye examination.

Voters follow state pattern at polls

Voters in 11 area townships in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties followed state voting patterns in last week's overwhelming defeat of 2 statewide school finance proposals.

Confusion over the competing proposals and a distrust in state government are being blamed for the defeats.

One Michigan Education Association official was quoted as saying voters simply were not convinced that paying more sales taxes would produce better schools.

A number of area voters apparently agreed.

Residents in Tuscola and Sanilac counties, where the voter turnout was 30 percent and 41 percent, respectively, voted Proposal A down by a margin of more than 3 to one. Proposal B, meanwhile, fell by a margin of more than 2 to one in those counties.

In Huron County, where some 35 percent of the registered voters cast ballots, both proposals were defeated by a margin of more than 4 to one.

The voting gap was much bigger in some local townships.

The range of voting can be seen in a comparison of Huron County's Bingham Township and Sanilac County's Evergreen Township. Bingham Township defeated Proposal A by a vote of 235-124 and Proposal B, 231-121 (less than 2 to one), while Proposal A was defeated 176-17 (more than 10 to one) and Proposal B, 173-20 (more than 8 to one) by Evergreen Township voters.

Proposal A would have raised the state sales tax by a half-cent and constitutionally dedicated the increase along with lottery and other revenues to K-12 education.

Proposal B would have raised the state sales tax by 2 cents and constitutionally dedicated the increase along with lottery and other revenues to K-12 education, and cut property taxes in most school districts with a permanent statewide millage.

Statewide, Proposal A was defeated 1,336,260 (72 percent) to 514,784 (28 percent), and Proposal B was defeated 1,386,711 (76 percent) to 436,742 (24 percent).

Free Thanksgiving dinner at St. Pancratius Church

Plans for the fourth annual Community Thanksgiving Day Dinner in Cass City have been completed.

Members of most of the area churches have been busy working, planning and preparing for the community gathering and dinner, which is offered at no charge.

"All the food is donated by the churches, various church organizations and local businesses," Alan Klco, one of the event's organizers, remarked.

"The dinner is not intended to break family traditions of gathering family members for the day. But Cass City is becoming a sort of 'melting pot', with people here from all over the world," Klco explained.

"This dinner is ideal for them, and folks who have been in the community for a long time, to get together and give thanks as a 'community family'."

Klco said the celebration will begin the night before (Nov. 22) at 7:30 with an ecumenical service "to praise and thank God for all the blessings he has bestowed on us as individuals and as a community."

"This celebration has always had a tremendous turnout from the community," he said. "Every year the service has been held at the different church. This year it will be held at the St. Pancratius Catholic Church."

Immediately following the service, everyone is invited to the church's parish hall for a social gathering and refreshments.

Dinner will be served at the hall on Thanksgiving Day beginning at 12:30 p.m.

"There will be turkey, mashed potatoes, salads, pies—everything needed to make this a 'down-home' style dinner," Klco said.

Following the dinner, entertainment will be provided by various members of the community who will share their talents.

Those planning to attend the dinner are asked to call their church or 872-3830 or 872-5114 for reservations so that the event's planning committee will know how much food to prepare.

"Every year we have had more and more people attending the dinner," Klco pointed out. "Last year over 150 were served."

As in the past, transportation will be available for anyone, including those with physical handicaps, who needs it.

"For those handicapped folks that just cannot leave their homes, a dinner will be brought to (them)," Klco said, adding interested persons can obtain additional information by calling one of the previously listed phone numbers.

Road patrol millage defeated in Sanilac

Sanilac County residents won't see sheriff's patrol vehicles back on the road anytime soon following last week's defeat of a special millage that would have funded the service over the next 4 years.

Voters defeated the request, .75 mills for 4 years, on a vote of 5,457-4,954.

Interestingly, residents in a number of the county's villages and other more populated areas—where some form of police protection other than the sheriff's department is available—approved the millage.

In contrast, persons in less populated areas, including Evergreen, Greenleaf and Lamotte townships, rejected the measure.

Evergreen Township voters defeated the request on a vote of 118-79, while the vote in Greenleaf Township was 88-42, and Lamotte Township, 131-109.

The millage would have raised an estimated $375,000 annually for the road patrol, which was eliminated after voters rejected an Aug. 15 millage request of .9 of a mill for 4 years for operations.

After that defeat, county officials sliced some $285,000 out of the county's $5.3 million budget. The cuts initially included 21 employees in several county departments and the sheriff's department.

Last week's proposal was placed on the ballot after a 3-week petition drive that netted some 2,000 signatures in favor of millage levy exclusively for the road patrol.

Seek Citizen of Year nominations

The committee in charge of selecting the Citizen of the Year, annually presented at the Cass City Chamber of Commerce dinner, would like to hear from residents who feel they have a deserving candidate.

Anyone who has a person in mind is urged to write to: Chamber of Commerce Citizen Award, 6459 Main Street, Cass City, or call 872-3283.

Persons honored are selected on the basis of ideas, time and actions devoted to a better Cass City.

This year's winners were B. A. Calka and Lloyd Vyse. The first winner, in 1963, was the late Willis Campbell, the Cass City superintendent for whom the Willis Campbell Elementary School was named.

Previous winners of the award and the year honored are: Lou LaPonsie, 1987; Jack Esau, 1986; Tom Proctor, 1985; Geraldine Prieskorn and Tom Herron, 1984; Arthur Holmberg, 1983; Holly Althaver, 1982; Jim Ware, 1981; Esther McCullough and Dr. D. E. Rawson, 1980.

Others still living and active in the community are: Bill Kritzman, 1979; Lambert Althaver, 1978; Helen Baker, 1977; Evelyn MacRae, 1976; Dr. H. T. Donahue, 1968, and Herb Ludlow, 1964. Jim Bauer, 1969, lives in North Carolina.

MEMBERS OF VFW Post 3644 awarded a certificate of appreciation to Gene Wilson Saturday for his service to the community during his nearly 20 years as police chief in Cass City. Presenting the award (left) is post Commander Jim Wilson.

Assisting at the scene were sheriff's deputies and personnel from the Michigan State Police Crime Investigative Unit.

The case remains under investigation and authorities aren't yet releasing any details regarding a possible motive.

Funds depleted

Red Cross needs help

Area residents are being asked to "dig a little deeper" so the Red Cross can continue to help those who can't help themselves.

The Tuscola County chapter of the American Red Cross has been notified that the National Disaster Fund is completely depleted due to the severity of Hurricane Hugo, one of the most destructive hurricanes in American history.

The magnitude of destruction has affected thousands of people and, more recently, an earthquake in California has greatly increased the need for services provided by the Red Cross.

"We have established shelters, provided regular meals, accomplished hospital and nursing home evacuation using both volunteers and trained personnel, Mary A. Osgerby, campaign chairman of the county chapter, said. "Millions of dollars more are needed for food, clothing, shelter, first aid and emergency health services, transportation, cleaning supplies, emergency repairs, water, and other humanitarian services. Registered nurses, cooking and eating utensils, beds, linens, appliances and occupational needs must be addressed. The list seems endless."

Assistance from the American Red Cross is an outright gift with no obligation to repay.

"It is our opportunity to say Thank You for the generous help given the people of this county at the time of the ice storm in the 70's and the Vassar flood in 1986," Osgerby said.

Contributions can be sent to the Tuscola County American Red Cross, Mary Alice Osgerby, 525 Gibbs St., Caro, Mich. 48723.

How to Take Care of Minor Burns

According to the Handbook of Nonprescription Drugs, there are over five million fire-related accidents reported in the United States each year. Most burn injuries occur in the home or as the result of industrial accidents. In addition to pain and redness, burns can cause infection, loss of body fluids, and destruction of body tissues. Most burns are minor and, with appropriate care, can be treated at home or at the work site.

Treat minor burns initially with cold water. Apply cold water towels or immerse the burn in ice water or cold running water. The cold water helps reduce pain, swelling, and further injury to body tissues. Keep the burn area clean. Do not apply butter or greasy-type products to burns. These materials provide a place for streptococcus and other infection-causing bacteria to grow.

A thin layer of a mild emollient cream, such as one containing aloe, is often helpful in reducing pain and inflammation. Local anesthetic sprays (containing benzocaine, lidocaine, or dibucaine) may help reduce burn pain as well. Anesthetic sprays should be used only when the pain is particularly bothersome, such as at bedtime.

HEALTH TIPS
Good genes, good luck and balanced diet control health

The victim, identified as Randall C. Fielder Jr., 18, was shot once with a 357 magnum revolver sometime before 11 p.m. at 143 Ellington St., according to Caro Police Chief Ron Iseler.

Caro village police were called to the residence at 11:02 p.m., Iseler said, adding Fielder was dead at the scene.

Lyttaker turned himself in to Tuscola County Sheriff's

As Americans age, health risks for certain diseases increase dramatically. Among them is coronary heart disease, which claims a life every 32 seconds in this country.

Because of the magnitude of this disease, interest in its prevention is perhaps at an all-time high, and more voluntary and government agencies are issuing dietary and lifestyle guidelines to combat it.

"People want to know if they can live longer if they modify their lifestyles in certain ways," says Robert E. Olson, M.D., Ph.D., Professor of Medicine and Professor of Pharmacologic Sciences, State University of New York at Stony Brook.

Dr. Olson, who served on the Committee on Dietary Guidelines from 1983 through 1985 and is a recognized authority in the field of blood lipids, agrees that certain modifiable characteristics - controlling weight, blood pressure and serum (blood) cholesterol and not smoking - are beneficial. He is cautious, however, about overemphasis on any single factor.

"Current education efforts aimed at reducing serum cholesterol seem to be trying to convince us we can control our fate," he comments, "but we can only modify it. We cannot tell people, "Go on a diet and you'll be saved."

Certain risk factors for coronary disease cannot be modified: heredity, your sex and your age. A family history of coronary heart disease coupled with increasing age plays an important role. As he notes, only 7 percent of fatal coronaries occur before age 55; 40 percent occur after age 80. Being born a male also is a risk factor, although sex diminishes in importance as women age. Women increase their coronary disease risk to that of men by age 65.

Of modifiable risks - serum cholesterol, blood pressure, smoking and weight - Dr. Olson warns against attaching "magic" numbers.

"The interpretation of a number can't be by a chart," he says. "Prevention of coronary heart disease is a matter for an individual and his or her physician. There's no single cause for a heart attack - it's a matrix of causes."

He points out that individual variation is high in response to dietary changes to lower serum cholesterol and that "there are people who control their serum cholesterol levels no matter what they eat."

What is the best universal advice? "Good genes, good luck and a balanced diet from the Four Basic Food Groups (milk and milk products (dairy), meat, fruit/vegetable and grain) combined with surveillance and risk appraisal by a professional are important for all," he says.

Hoxie 10th largest producer

Cass City resident Ralph Hoxie II has tied for the 10th largest producer of registered Angus beef cattle in Michigan, having recorded 13 head of Angus with the American Angus Association during fiscal year 1989, which ended Sept. 30.

Angus breeders across the nation in 1989 registered a total of 156,697 head of cattle, compared to 143,520 head recorded in 1988. This is an increase of more than 9 percent compared to a year earlier, Richard L. Spader, association executive vice-president, said.

The American Angus Association, headquartered in St. Joseph, Mo., was founded in 1883 and is the largest beef registry association in the world in terms of both annual registrations and active members.

Man escapes custody, then turns self in

A 19-year-old Tuscola County Jail inmate escaped custody Saturday night only to turn himself in to deputies about 8 hours later.

David K. Curtis, Caro, was being brought back to the jail after receiving medical treatment at Caro Community Hospital when he struggled with a corrections officer outside of the jail and fled on foot, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

Curtis was handcuffed and dressed in an orange inmate's jumpsuit and blue coat at the time of the 7:04 p.m. incident.

Officers used a tracking dog from the state police post in Bay City, but the prisoner eluded the dog and authorities, according to the spokesman, who said Curtis turned himself in at about 2:52 a.m. Sunday.

O-G ends hoop season with loss to Port Hope

The Owen-Gage girls' basketball team ended its season Monday when they were defeated by host Port Hope in the opening round of district play, 52-39. The Bulldogs trailed from start to finish in the contest as Junior Vicki Ricker was the only player to score for the visitors in the first stanza, which ended 14-6. Owen-Gage was able to slice into the Bluesstars' lead in the 2nd and 3rd periods, as the smaller 'Dogs out-rebounded Port Hope. Senior Brandy Salcido cashed in on 3 second shot opportunities before the intermission.

Marla Goslin's hoop from the right lane cut the Bluesstars' lead to 5 with only seconds remaining in the 3rd period, but Port Hope's Staci Friedland's baseline move at the buzzer ended the quarter at 36-29.

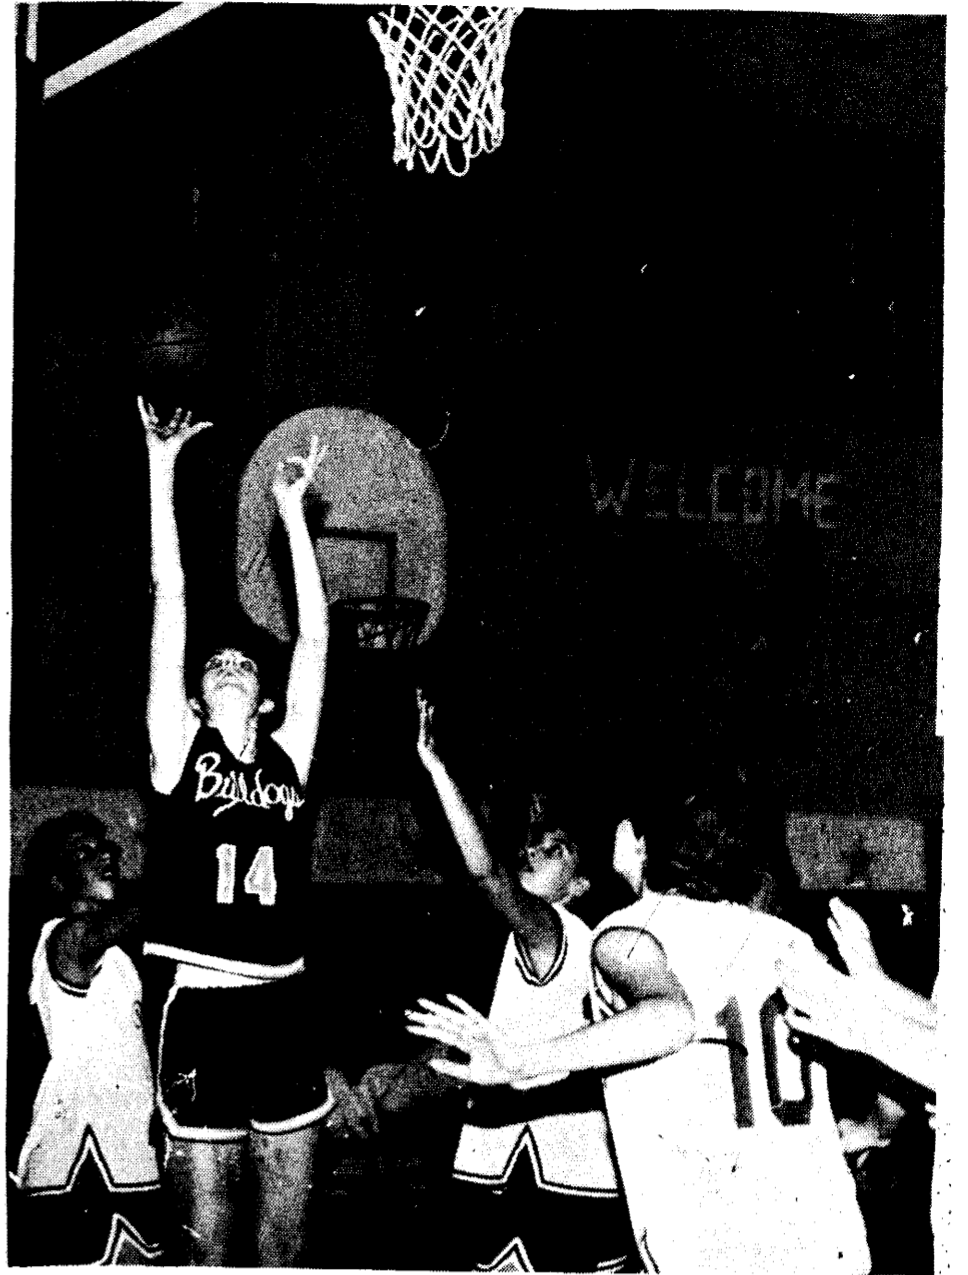

A critical play came at the 5-minute mark in the final period when Bulldog Lisa Dorsch, a 5'9" sophomore, collected her 5th foul and was sent to the bench.

At that point Port Hope's center Traci Emerick took control of the game, scoring 9 tallies, including a 3-point play, to give the hosts a double-digit lead in the last 2 minutes.

From there the Bluesstars were able to run time off the clock to record the win.

Leading the Bluesstars' attack were Friedland and Emerick, who combined for 30 points, including 16 in the final 2 periods. Teammate Robin Gaffke finished with 12.

Ricker's 13 points were best among the losers.

OWEN-GAGE'S MARLA Goslin goes up in traffic for 2 points against Port Hope in district play Monday.

Novesta residents will pay $50 disposal charge

Discussion related to how residents will begin paying for refuse pick-up, and an on-going junk ordinance violation drew 14 residents to the Novesta Township Board's monthly meeting last week.

The board, which last month voted to shift the burden of garbage pick-up and disposal costs from the township to residents, approved a plan to implement the new payment method.

Township Clerk Nurse L. Kloc said trustees voted to charge households $50 per disposal ticket per year starting Jan. 1.

The tickets, used to identify users as township residents, currently are issued free of charge. Residents present them when they take their garbage to the Township Hall for pick-up by a truck, which comes twice a month, Kloc noted.

She said the township will continue to have someone checking tickets at the pick-up site in an effort to prevent non-township residents from dumping at the expense of residents.

Kloc added, "If they (residents) allow other people to use their ticket, they'll lose it."

It's uncertain whether the $50 charge will cover the annual cost of the service ($10,000), but that's what township officials hope will be the case.

Currently providing the service is Pollard Disposal Inc., Montrose, which was awarded the township contract last month. Officials previously contracted with Gateway Sanitation Services, Almont.

Residents and township officials initially discussed whether residents should begin paying for the service during the township's annual meeting last March. It was decided at that time to delay action unless the cost increased significantly. The next month, Gateway doubled the township's rate.

According to Kloc, most of the residents attending last week's meeting indicated they're willing to go along with the board's decision.

"We're trying it for one year to see how it works out," she said. "They (residents) kind of figured this is the way to go."

Turning to the junk ordinance discussion, Kloc said a third resident has been notified for a second time that he is in violation of the ordinance because of junk cars in his yard.

Kloc declined to identify the individual, but said he attended last week's meeting and took part in a lengthy discussion.

The individual took no action on a notice of violation sent 2 years ago, Kloc said, adding, "He got a notice from me, and now he will get one from our attorney."

In other business during the Nov. 6 regular meeting, the board heard a presentation from Rawson Memorial Library Director Barbara Hutchinson, who asked that the township consider joining the local library district.

Under a new law, an established district library such as Rawson Memorial can add municipalities to its district and levy a millage. The local library currently is made up of 2 municipalities, Elkland Township and the village of Cass City, but also serves part or all of 6 other townships.

To become part of the district, joining townships would each have to vote the amount of tax presently collected by the district (3/4 of a mill).

In Novesta Township, that would raise about $10,000, according to Kloc, who said the township currently is paying a per capita assessment totalling $1,492.

She said the matter was tabled, with plans to discuss it at the township's next annual meeting.

Also last week, Kloc noted the township has approved payment of about $3,500 for paving in front of the new post office in Deford.

O-G splits with Caseville, Wesleyan

The Owen-Gage girls' basketball team wrapped up its regular season last week, splitting 2 contests and putting a 5-11 league mark into the 1989 record books.

In the Bulldogs' season finale, a sluggish start Thursday cost the 'Dogs a chance to register their 2nd win over North Branch Wesleyan as they fell 49-46. "It's hard to come back from a 14-point deficit at the half," said veteran Coach Dean Roller.

Most of the Bulldogs' woes came at the offensive end of the court where they shot a measly 27% on the night.

Owen-Gage also played much of the 2nd stanza without the services of point guard Vicki Ricker, who was plagued with foul trouble much of the night before finally being disqualified in the 4th quarter.

Owen-Gage's freshman Michelle Tkacz turned in a superb showing in the last half, pouring in 13 tallies that helped bring the visitors within 3 points to enter the final period 37-34.

"We had many chances to pull this one out, but couldn't make any key baskets," stated Roller.

Many of those opportunities came at the foul line, where the Bulldogs connected on only one of 6 tosses in the game's final 5 minutes.

North Branch's Kathy Letaunea led all scorers with 23 points on the night. Tkacz's 17 markers were high for the losers.

CASEVILLE GAME

The Bulldogs had little trouble with winless Caseville in their final NCTL game on Tuesday, posting a 63-41 victory.

Senior Marla Goslin led the way early for the visitors, tossing in 3 buckets. Goslin

Consortium slates student self-esteem meet Nov. 21

The Tuscola Gifted and Talented Consortium is sponsoring a presentation Nov. 21 by Dr. Diane List on Student Self-esteem.

Dr. List is a licensed psychologist with the state of Michigan and is currently engaged in private practice and consulting in the Caro area.

There will be a question and answer period following the presentation. Parents and educators will also have an opportunity to meet informally with List and Marilyn Peters, Tuscola Intermediate School District Gifted and Talented Program supervisor, during refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting.

Participants will also discuss the possibility of forming a parent-support group and becoming an affiliate of the State Chapter of the Michigan Association of Academically Talented (MAAT) Organization.

The event will be held from 7 to 8:00 p.m. at the Tuscola Area Skill Center. There is a registration fee. Interested parents and/or educators may register by calling 673-2144, Ext. 441.

DNR sets deer information

Deer hunters heading north this year for the Nov. 15 firearm deer season opener can stop and take an information break at 2 "Deer Hunter Information Stations," located along US-27 at Clare and I-75 near St. Ignace, Nov. 11-14.

Department of Natural Resources conservation officers and wildlife biologists will staff the special stations to provide hunters with deer hunting literature and answer questions on deer concentrations, hunting prospects, regulations and places to hunt and camp.

The stations will be located at the John C. Mackie Welcome Center on US-27 in Clare, and at the I-75 St. Ignace Welcome Center, situated 200 yards north of the Mackinac Bridge. Hours of operation will be 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Nov. 11-13, and 9 a.m. to noon, Nov. 14.

"Last year, more than 4,000 deer hunters stopped at the 2 stations," remarked

DNR Director David Hales. "Now in our third year, this continues to be a fine opportunity for us to talk one-on-one with the hunters, and to exchange a great deal of valuable information."

Department of Transportation Director James Pitz added, "We're pleased to offer the highway centers as a permanent location for the DNR and hunters to meet each November. "Again our staff will assist in having tourist and lodging information on hand at these sites."

An estimated 700,000 hunters are expected to harvest 354,000 deer during the Nov. 15-30 firearm deer season, according to DNR wildlife biologists. Michigan's deer population is estimated at 2 million.

Red Hawks end regular season with 51-42 win

The Cass City Red Hawks finished the regular season on a positive note Friday with a 51-42 decision over Millington, a team that defeated Cass City 48-36 in the first meeting between the schools.

Hawk fans will be hoping that the win will carry over into the district play-offs, when the Hawks will play at Sandusky Wednesday night at 7 p.m.

While the results were good for the parents' night win over the Cardinals, the results weren't as good against North Branch Tuesday, Nov. 7. The Broncos topped the Hawks, 66-38.

The story of the game can be summed up in a sentence. Good foul shooting by Cass City. It was a foul-plagued match with the whistle blowing constantly. The Hawks led all the way, yet were outscored from the field as the team netted just 8 field goals, compared to 17 for the Cardinals.

But it was a different story from the charity stripe. Cass City converted 77 percent of its chances. The team has a season's average of 50 percent.

The Hawks converted 35 of 45 chances led by Jandi Hillaker. She went to the line 21 times and converted 20 of them on her way to a career high 26 points.

The Hawks needed to be good from the free throw line because it was a close game all the way. The Hawks jumped off to an 11-7 lead in the first period as Jandi Hillaker scored 9 points, including 5 for 5 free throws. At the half it was 23-19 Cass City and the margin remained at 4 points going into the final period.

The Cardinals attempted to apply defensive pressure in the last 8 minutes and it proved costly. Not only did Cass City score 16 of its 20 points on fouls, but 4 of the Millington starters went to the bench with 5 fouls.

NORTH BRANCH GAME

What a difference a game makes. Prior to the outstanding free throw shooting against Millington, the Hawks were miserable from the charity strip in the loss to North Branch.

The team also shot just 34 percent from the field and as a result North Branch had easy sledding and controlled the game all the way. At the quarter Cass City trailed 15-7 and by the intermission the game was all but decided as the Hawks trailed 32-13.

North Branch used all 9 players on its roster and all scored, with Kara Baker, 17 points, and Kristine Deshetsy, 12 points, leading the way. Tops for Cass City was Vicky Robinson with 9 points.

Cass City ended the year with 6 wins and 13 losses.

Junior high ends first year 2-2

With a strong emphasis on fundamentals, junior high football was reinstated this year in Cass City.

Coach Jim Mastie and Doug Hall, assistant coach, guided a total of 33 seventh and eighth grade players through 4 games this season. The team finished the season with a record of 2-2.

"They lost the first game to Lakers, 8-0, and USA, 2-0," Mastie said, adding, "With steady improvement, they came back to win the last 2 games against Kingston, 8-0, and Sandusky, 14-12."

"Both victories had exciting finishes," the coach continued. "With less than one minute left in the game, Cass City scored to beat Kingston, and a last-minute goal line stand earned the victory over Sandusky."

Mastie said Tavis Osentoski was named most valuable offensive player, while Jason Morgan was the most valuable defensive player. Honorary team tri-captains were Jason Walther, Darren Wallace and Jason Morgan.

Your neighbor says

Deckerville doesn't belong in NCTL

There are rumors in the air that Marlette and Bad Axe are considering leaving the Thumb B conference. With the addition of Millington this year, and North Branch a few years ago, these smaller schools are having a hard time competing in athletic events.

Millington captured the Thumb B football title in their first year, which was supposed to have been an off year for the Cardinals. The same story holds true in the North Central Thumb League.

Deckerville, a class C school, has twice the enrollment of many of the class D schools which make up the league.

We asked your neighbor, Mike Errer, if he thought Deckerville should get out of the NCTL and into the Thumb B. "They have too many kids to choose from for the NCTL," said Errer, who is a senior at Owendale.

"I don't think we've ever beat them in any major sport since I've been in school," said the 17-year-old, who faced the Eagles 4 times on the gridiron. Errer, who lives in Owendale with his father, Ronnie, wasn't sure about what league Deckerville should or shouldn't get into, but he was sure on one point.

"Definitely they shouldn't be in the NCTL."

5 sentenced, 2 plead Thursday

A 22-year-old Caro man was sentenced Thursday in Tuscola County Circuit Court to 4 years to 10 years in prison, with credit for time already served, for probation violation.

Richard J. Schank, who pleaded guilty to the charge Nov. 3, violated his probation by failing to complete a Special Alternative Incarceration program, court records state.

Millington resident Edward R. Jobson, 41, was sentenced to 3 years to 5 years in prison, with credit for time served, for his Oct. 30 plea of guilty to probation violation.

He violated probation on or about Oct. 25, when he consumed alcohol, according to records.

Also pleading guilty to the same charge was Theodore L. Miller Jr., 35, of Fostoria, who was sentenced to 320 days in the county jail, with credit for time served.

Court records state Miller possessed/consumed alcohol on or about April 9 and was subsequently arrested and convicted of drunk driving Nov. 2 in Cheboygan County District Court.

Caro resident Davin L. Fogarski, was sentenced to 6 months in a tethering program, in lieu of 6 months in the county jail, and 5 years probation for a plea of guilty Oct. 5 to fourth degree Criminal Sexual Conduct.

Fogarski, 26, also was ordered to pay $600 in court costs and fines, a $30 victim crime fee and a $30 per month oversight fee.

Records state he engaged in sexual contact with another person, using force or coercion to accomplish the act, in Fremont Township during the summer of 1988.

Also sentenced was Rafaela R. Torrez, who pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) Oct. 13 to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon in a motor vehicle.

Torrez received a one-year delayed sentence and was ordered to complete 100 hours of community service. Records state the alleged offense occurred Aug. 17 in Caro and involved a "dangerous stabbing weapon."

In other proceedings Thursday, one of 3 Tuscola County women charged in connection with a string of thefts from autos in Cass City entered a plea of guilty to a charge of attempted breaking and entering a motor vehicle with intent to steal property valued at more than $5.

Sentencing for Karen L. Dillon, 18, is to be set. Bond was continued at $10,000.

Records state the charge stems from the Sept. 8 break-in of a Chevrolet S-10 pickup truck owned by Denise Janssen.

Robert A. Quinn, 28, of Millington, pleaded guilty to attempted retail fraud.

His sentencing is to be scheduled and bond was continued at $500, according to records, which state he attempted to steal property from a store in Arbelia Township June 2.

Owners of stolen TV, violin sought

Cass City police are looking for the owners of a stolen violin and a portable television (a car-type TV with a 12-volt cord), taken from vehicles parked in Cass City on or about Sept. 11.

Police Chief Gene Wilson said the items were among several pieces of property taken during a string of thefts from autos in the village in early September.

The persons who lost the items are asked to call the police department at 872-2911.

Memorial

IN LOVING memory of my dear husband, John (Jack) Palmer, who passed away one year ago, Nov. 11, 1988. I often sit and think of him, and then of how he died, not being able to say good-bye before he closed his eyes. No one knows the lonesome feeling, and no one sees me weep, but I shed tears from an aching heart while others are fast asleep. Sadly missed by his loving wife, Catherine. 15-11-15-1

New books at the library

I WANT TO GROW HAIR, I WANT TO GROW UP, I WANT TO GO TO BOISE: CHILDREN SURVIVING CANCER by Erma Bombeck (non-fiction). Erma says this is not "a book on children with terminal cancer," it is "a book on children...who, with every day they live, have a better chance of surviving." Besides, those very children, asked to evaluate an early draft, insisted that she make the book funnier. Erma visited a camp for children with cancer in Arizona 3 years ago and has continued this type of visit in other parts of the country. She has met many young cancer survivors and their families and shows how they rely on hope and humor as personal arsenals in their war against death. This book is written with sensitivity, and the royalties earned worldwide will be donated to cancer research.

EXIT THE RAINMAKER by Jonathan Coleman (non-fiction). In 1982, Jay Carsey, age 47, president of a community college in Maryland, vanished, walking away not only from his job and 14-year marriage but from a seemingly enviable life. He left behind a couple of letters that offered no real explanation for his actions. He fled to El Paso to begin a new life. Found out by his friends, Carsey continued unrepentant, even contesting the divorce his wife sought in order to get his share of their estate. The book, with its implication that the "fantasy of wanting out" is not uncommon, is disquieting.

THE BROKEN CORD by Michael Dorris (non-fiction). This is a story about the author's adopted son, Adam, a victim of fetal alcohol syndrome (FAS). While recounting the story of his life with Adam, Dorris brilliantly blends the results of years of research into FAS and reservation life-fascinating reflections on the evolution of Indian alcohol use, shocking testimony from experts regarding the effects of FAS, which can cause physical ailments like seizures and spinal curvature as well as a variety of mental problems centering on the inability to reason abstractly. As readers, we digest the facts and we mull the moral questions, but most of all we are moved by Adam Dorris, the infinite sadness of his affliction, but also the great love he shares with his family.

Social services face cut in new budget

The Blanchard administration recently announced plans to cut social services spending by $45.9 million under state law never used before, but faced immediate deep objections from legislators of both parties, who said the action may violate the constitution.

The cuts, implementing some policies not approved by the Legislature and dropping some other provisions included in the 1989-90 budget, are intended to bring the department's spending in balance with appropriated amounts.

Management and Budget Director Shelby Solomon ordered the budget reduction under authority of a 1984 law which requires a 15-day notice to the Legislature for budget cuts when appropriations policies would require more spending of available funds, but does not explicitly require approval for the action.

Previously, spending cuts were made only under the constitutional provision to balance the budget by executive orders which require approval of appropriations committees.

Solomon said he used the new authority rather than an executive order because legislators have told the administration to use its authority to deal with budget problems, and because he is skeptical the Legislature could solve the problem when it was unable to do so in the budget process despite warnings DSS was underfunded.

"The Legislature is vesting in us authority to assure expenditures do not exceed appropriated amounts. You can't have a system where the Legislature votes to spend money we don't have," Solomon said.

"The whole idea is to try to address the problem of expenditures conceivably exceeding appropriations to avoid the need for a supplemental," he added.

The budget cuts, which are in addition to $3.8 million vetoed by Governor James Blanchard when the budget was signed in August, include:

- $11.8 million in these Medicaid cuts: $1.9 million by limiting reimbursement of capital costs to 85 percent of actual amounts; $7.6 million in various pharmaceutical cuts such as prescription reimbursement rates at 90 percent of the regular Blue Cross business rate, contracts with pharmacies in large metropolitan areas for lower prescription rates and elimination of provisions to pay for brand-name rather than generic drugs except for psychotropics, and $2.3 million by not implementing the health care access improvement initiative, which the governor had not recommended.

- $1.8 million from the Office of Children and Youth Services.

- $32.5 million in administrative reductions, including $8 million lapses from 1988-89, delays in filling vacancies and obtaining more federal funds.

When the $2.3 billion DDS budget was approved in July, the administration estimated another $85 million would be required to meet all the policy requirements because of unrealistically low estimates for welfare and foster care programs and underfunded Medicaid programs.

Now, Social Services Director C. Patrick Babcock said a review of forecasts indicate these cuts will be sufficient.

Both Rep. David Hollister (D-Lansing) and Sen. R. Robert Geake (R-Northville), the chairs of House and Senate Appropriations DSS subcommittees, raised immediate doubts whether the action violates constitutional provisions for executive order cuts.

Hollister said the administration may illegally be trying to implement policies which the Legislature considered and rejected, such as capping hospital capital costs and limiting pharmaceutical costs, and refusing to implement the family support program provided in the budget.

"I think he (Solomon) has authority to cut across the board by 1 or 2 percent. I do not think he has the authority to do what he is proposing."

Geake called the cuts a "poor man's executive order" and said the Senate committee will have to review it carefully. "If DMB can get away with this, there's no reason for the Legislature to meet or to do a budget. A major confrontation is shaping up," he said.

Babcock said he respects the decisions in the budget process, but "the final act of the Legislature didn't solve the problem. I guess I go back to the original (governor's) recommendations on cost cutting. None are easy but on a scale of priorities, these are better."

He said pharmaceutical programs were targeted because it is one of the fastest-growing areas of the budget.

Babcock said no money is available for a supplemental, as has been customary in past years to cover over-expenditures, adding, "The message clearly is we have to live within the appropriated amounts."

Festival

Festival coordinator.

The Choral Society has been a part of the Saginaw cultural scene since 1935 and has a membership of 105 auditioned, volunteer singers who work in all professions, span several generations and live throughout the Tri-City area.

In over 50 years the Society, under the direction of 10 music directors, has performed works of great composers including the Mozart "Requiem," Mendelssohn's "Elijah" and Handel's "Messiah."

The Society has sung with several other artists, including the Saginaw and Plymouth symphony orchestras. The group also has sung in Alma, Bay City and Thumb communities.

The singers captured first place in the 1984 Great American Choral Festival and second place at the national finals.

Tickets for the Festival are $10 reserved, $8 general admission and $5 senior citizens or students. The box office can be reached by calling 872-5400, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

Looking for a blue ribbon bank? Not necessarily to buy stock in, but for salting away some cash in.

You'll find one in Gary, Ind., of all places. The Gainer Bank. It's $1.4 billion in size. Its capital/liabilities ratio is 7%. (Congress in all its wisdom says that Savings & Loans need only 1.5%). Its checking accounts and NOW accounts (interest-bearing checking) are nearly 40% of their total deposits -- and boy, that's high.

The late Harding Mott told me once between golf shots that his dividends from that bank each year were more than his original investment. Harding got a lot of his father's genes for canny investments. His dad was C.S. Mott, largest stockholder in General Motors, and creator of the Mott Foundation, one of the nation's largest.

I heard a sad tale the other night about another one of these limited partnerships in real estate. Someday it would be a delight to hear about one that worked.

Anyhow, some 15 years ago a group of a dozen fellows (naturally some were doctors, who have a knack of getting into deals like this) bought up a chunk of resort-area property, and dreamed of making a golf course, selling house lots around it, and making a bundle in the process.

Today, 15 years later, they're still sitting on their assets. Other property owners are blocking development, and the whole project is bogged down. The dozen original investors just can't find anybody interested in buying.

Not only has their original investment done nothing for 15 years, but it has been like a vacuum cleaner, sucking in annual property taxes, legal fees, fees for the general partner and so-called managers.

The original investment would have quadrupled in 15 years at 9% in bonds. Instead of quadrupling it isn't worth as much now as it was in 1974. If all the contributions made since the start were added in, and interest figured on, say $10,000, back at the start could have compounded to maybe $75,000. But in the cold, cruel world of markets, I'd guess they'd be lucky to get out at 20 cents on the dollar of their investment today.

One of the limited partners is thinking of giving his interest to a church and taking a deduction. Just how he could get an appraisal on the project would be another thing.

If it's any comfort to the group, the Wall Street Journal recently ran a list of 8 big real estate limited partnerships in the U.S. and their value in the secondary market. Only one had higher bids than the cost of the original investment. Most had very meager returns (some were zero) as dividends.

Judi's first with new hair care line

It's from Europe

Judi's Hair Designs has considered the proper style grown steadily since the and color of hair. shop was first opened in another area where Judi's Cass City nearly 7 years ago. Another area where Judi's comes from Europe and is because we offer something different from the typical hair salon is in color analysis. We've worked with 3 different customers. Judi Haas, owner, believes. That extra is the consist- color analysis, which con- sidered such things as what colors in a person's wardrobe look the best on them. Judi's is also excited about a new hair care line that comes from Europe and is being offered for the first time in the United States. Called "system Profes-sional", it's a more natural product, says Haas, and is promoted as the only hair care line your hair will ever need. In addition to famous names in hair care, Matrix, Redken, Paul Mitchell, the store also has a line of Stoppie Joes, for casual wear. Judi's has 3 experienced hair stylists and offers all of the special services associated with progressive shops. They include haircutting, sculptured nails manicures, eyebrow waxing, ear pierc- ing, facials and beard trim- ing. Judi's started in her home and expanded 2 years ago to a downtown location at 6491 Main Street. Walk-ins are welcome. Judi has 12 years of experience in the field and asserts that everyone at the salon works to live up to the business slogan, "If your hair isn't becoming to you, you should be coming to us."

At American Mattress Factory

Mattresses made to order

The American Mattress Factory from 20 to 50 percent below ordinary retail prices. Tid- well says it also has another Tru-Value Hardware store. Although the store is new to Caro, it is well known in the Thumb, as the management has been in the furniture business for 22 years. Owner Tim Tidwell says the key to the business suc- cess is that we manufacture our own mattresses and fur- niture on the premises.

That enables us to sell items. Currently there is an area man building frames. We get the wool for our woolen mattresses from the Frankenthum Woolen Mill. American specialists in country decor and bedroom sets. Tidwell claims the largest selection of bunk beds and day beds in the Thumb. Customers will find familiar brand names at the store, including Athens Cal- lery, People Lounger and Medi-Pedic. The store will soon add a complete line of wallpaper. In addition, all major credit cards are wel- come. There is also a lay- away plan and bank financ- ing is available. A grand opening is planned in the near future. We are delighted with our reception in our opening weeks. Tidwell said, and look forward to many years servicing the people in the Thumb.

Harry Lenda and his wife, Mable, have owned and operated an IGA store in Cass City for 32 years and over the years, Cass City shoppers have learned that they can depend on the company to remain up-to-date and save them money.

Today's modern supermarkets feature a deli with a wide choice of items. Cass City IGA is in step with the times and goes a step further than many stores with its bakery department.

One of the features of the store is its broasted chicken available in quantities little that, 4,000 and 2,000 square enough for just one person or large enough for a banquet. The quality has brought customers back time and again.

Quality and service have keyed the company since the Lendas took over a small store located in downtown Cass City in 1953. In response to customer demand and to keep the store state-of-the-art, a series of expansions and modernizations have taken place over the years. The first was the move to an entirely new store at the present location at the west village limits on M-81 (Main street). After that, 4,000 and 2,000 square feet were added in expansions to bring the store to 12,400 square feet. Naturally, all the expected services are available. Food stamps and W.I.C. coupons are well come and lottery tickets available. In addition, the store handles package liquor and beer and wine to take out.

The store is open from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday to assist working households. Saturday hours are 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Rex Binder Sales services what it sells

Rex Binder Sales, 1264 E. Caro Road, Caro, is celebrating its 30th year in business and the family-owned concern's success is due to the service we are able to offer. Fred Binder, who runs the small engine sales and service store with his father, Rex, says, "We repair and stock parts for Briggs & Stratton, Tecumseh and Kohler engines as well as for the lawn equipment and chain saws that we sell. Jeff Binder explained. There is an impressive list of brand names available. Lawn Boy push mowers, Ariens and Cub Cadet tractors are offered at money-saving prices. Better service for customers

Haebler Studio at new location

Haebler Studio has moved to a new location to better serve customers, says Deb Haebler, owner. We have better facilities here and are confident that area folks will like what they find when we complete adding the finishing touches at our new location. The studio operates by appointment only, day or evening. That way, the owner explained, we can serve our customers uninterrupted. The studio belongs to the Haebler. Professional Photographers One of the specialties of the studio that is continuing in America and of Michigan. In addition, there is a Christmas cards that feature family or individual portraits for many of our customers. We keep up on the latest trends and techniques this way, says card and at the same time keep friends and relatives posted on the entire family. Haebler's helps the school with sports photography and is headquartered for many of our customers. We enjoy photographing weddings and can make lasting pictorial review with candid photos of the entire event in addition to the traditional portrait pictures, says Haebler. The new studio is located at 6312 Main Street and everyone is welcome to come in and view the facilities and find out what we can do for them when professional photography is needed. Thumb Pawn expanding after 7 years serving Thumb area

Thumb Pawn and Loan has been established in the Caro area for 7 years, and is expanding every day. This family-owned business, owned and operated by Laurence and June Akkersen, offers a variety of services including instant cash loans on articles of value, television repair, and propane gas refills. In addition, the public can purchase quality merchandise at bargain prices. Thumb Pawn offers a wide variety of new and used items including televisions, microwaves, stereos, tools, jewelry, musical instruments, and many pawnshop customers do not have a credit record of shopguns, rifles, and compound bows, too, also need the money immediately. The Akkersens say it's the place for saving money and finding great values. The pawn shop plays a vital role in the community by providing quick cash loans to the general public, the cash from his pawnbroker owners feel. A typical pawnshop customer is someone who just needs $5 to $50 to help tide them over until the next pay-

Facts about senior citizens

Most of those rely on it for much more. Social Security is all that stands between nearly a third of the elderly and poverty. Fully 24 percent of individuals over 65 rely on their Social Security check for at least 90 percent of their income. Here are some facts about older Americans that may surprise many: Older Americans are more than twice as likely as the general population to be trapped in long-term poverty. One of every three persistently poor individuals is 65 or older. Contrary to what some politicians would have us believe, most older Americans are not well-to-do. According to the National Committee on Preserving Social Security and Medicare, 82 percent of all seniors receiving Social Security rely on it for at least 50 percent of their income.

Famous brands at discount prices at Ben Franklin store

The Cass City Ben Franklin Store provides all the traditional goods and services associated with a variety store, but the business located on Main Street in downtown Cass City has more than that, say owners Gerald and Geraldine Prieskorn.

One of these extras is the large yard goods department with a variety and selection that women have learned to depend on. It includes bolts of fabric for quilters and crafters. There are experienced people ready to assist whenever needed.

The Prieskorns' creed of service to customers has enabled the store to survive and expand over the years since it was first opened in 1949 by Mary and Otto Prieskorn.

Part of that service includes anticipating what the customer wants and doing whatever is possible to meet the need. One of them is to open on Sunday. In these days when both parents work, we have found they appreciated that they can shop from 12 to 4 p.m. Sunday, say the Prieskorns.

Ben Franklin also features a large clothing department with famous brand names at budget prices.

The store carries over 500 pairs of jeans in stock, including baggies and tight legs in acid and stone-washed. Top brands include Chic, Lee, Jordache, Zena, Corniche, Bugle Boy, and coming soon, Used. There is a size to fit, too, as Ben Franklin carries 3 to 13, 6-18, 18W to 24W, petites and tall.

At Ben Franklin, say the Prieskorns, quality is as important as discount prices. Almost from the beginning we have backed our slogan, "Where everything you buy is guaranteed." Shoppers know they can buy with confidence, say the owners.

Buyers can use any of the 3 popular credit cards at the store, Discover, Visa and Master Charge.

Both of the Prieskorns are active boosters of the community. They also regularly attend buying shows to make sure that the store has the latest fashions for the customers.

READY TO ASSIST in Ben Franklin's large yard goods department are Pam Westfall, left, and Anna Neal.

New Graff showroom a shopper's convenience

Art Graff and Sons Builders' new showroom, which opened this fall at 1539 E. Caro Road, (M-81) between Caro and Cass City, was erected to fill a customer need, Art Graff, veteran builder explained.

It enables customers to come in at their leisure and look at various models and what can be done in custom work to fill their needs.

One of the company specialties is kitchen cabinets. We like the challenging jobs, the customer who demands a long-lasting quality product, Graff says.

While the company stresses quality, it also knows that budgets are limited for most homeowners. We can furnish custom-made cabinets at prices approaching those of better made pre-manufactured units and usually at substantially lower prices than other custom-made units, Graff says.

The reason, says Graff, is our shop where we do all the work. The firm has a modern, well-equipped shop to produce the custom orders it receives.

More important than the equipment, says the owner, is our experience. Graff has been in the building business for 19 years, 17 in the Caro area.

In addition to cabinet-making, the company also has gained a reputation for troubleshooting. If someone wants a door to a treasured piece of furniture matched, we can do it. Specialty items built as gifts for special occasions are a routine part of our business, says Graff.

The sales and service provided at the showroom is a very important part of the Graff business, but not all.

They build and remodel homes and do all of the traditional work offered by commercial builders.

We are happy to talk over any problems connected with building or designing without any obligation, says Graff. Service has keynoted our business for 17 years and will continue to do so.

ART GRAFF has a shop loaded with equipment for the economical production of custom furniture including the sander he is working with.

Professional day care at Higher Horizons

Because residents have learned that Higher Horizons, which opened in September on North Seger Street across from Cass City High School, offers a unique service, the day care center has experienced steady growth and there are now nearly 40 children cared for daily.

The reason is that there's more to Higher Horizons than the new modern building that was built especially as a day care center, although that's important, says Kathy McDougall, Street across from Cass City High School, offers a unique service, the day care center has experienced steady growth and there are now nearly 40 children cared for daily.

Latest styles now available at Dawn's and Dan's

Dan and Dawn Vandemark pride themselves on bringing to Cass City all the latest styles found in the cities and offering customers home town service at reasonable prices. Dawn at Dawn's Country Casuals and Dan at Dan's Men's Wear.

The downtown store at 6455 Main features famous brands for both men and women.

Dawn's list includes: Tor-gies, Michel, Bugle Boy Jr., Ship-N-Shore, Woodrich, D.D. Sloans, Gina Peers, 62 East and Please Thankyou.

and eye coordination. Everything we do here is designed for the children to learn while having fun, McDougall explained.

There's an arts and crafts program daily. Of special interest is the science and nature program, where the children perform fun experiments such as growing seeds on sponges and similar projects and different animals are brought in to the center and discussed.

One of the best used and liked areas is the imagination center, where the children use props for make-believe activities. When this writer was taking pictures, one of the tiny tots ran to the imagination center and produced his own "camera" and started taking pictures, too.

The staff is trained in care of children. McDougall has a degree from George Washington University and comes to Cass City after training is conducted regularly. We just completed a program with the aid of a representative from Hills and Dales General Hospital to reacquaint ourselves with CPR and related training, McDougall said. Several other in-service programs have also been completed or are scheduled.

In addition to the preschoolers that use the service, the center also has a before or after school program for elementary and kindergarten students.

HIGHER HORIZONS day care program allows for individual freedom in a structured, supervised program that keeps the children interested while learning.

New at Charmont

There's something new at the Charmont this year. One is an expanded motel to serve business persons and visitors to Cass City. It's probably, says owner Clare Comment, that the rooms we have added provide more space than we really need right now, but we want to keep pace with growing Cass City and provide a new modern facility with rooms available most of the times in peak use periods.

This fall Charmont has added another service with the addition of the Shirt Shop. The new business enables area residents to have T-shirts monogrammed with any wording of their choice in a wide assortment of styles, logos and sizes.

Not forgotten in the additions have been the traditional services. Folks know that fine dining at reasonable prices is always available. Charmont carry-out pizzas are always available within 20 minutes after you call.

Open bowling is available and there is a wide range of leagues for bowlers to enjoy. Persons hoping to join a league should give us a call.

TODD COMMENT demonstrates another Charmont specialty, custom drilling of bowling balls.

The Charmont has a room for special meetings and, in addition to hosting 3 Cass City service clubs, it has gained a solid reputation as the place to go for wedding receptions and other special events.

Complete information is easily available about any of these services by calling 872-4200.

Erla's celebrates 36 years in Cass City

Erla's Food Center has been serving Cass City area customers for 36 years and during the years has expanded and modernized many times.

The business success is the result of dedication to the community it serves and to hard work. The Erla family have long been active in civic affairs and boosters of all projects designed to make the community a more desirable place to live and to do business in.

Besides its everyday low prices and weekend specials, Erla's features several other programs that save, Wednesday is senior citizens' day, when nearly every item in the store is discounted 5 percent for senior citizens. There are double coupons offered daily on coupons worth up to 50 cents.

The store is an official Lotto selling agent. A major attraction of the store is the meat department. Customers save because they are buying direct from the wholesaler. The company runs its own meat processing plant and sells to other retailers over much of the south half of the Lower Peninsula.

Besides the low meat prices, many customers really appreciate Erla's full service department that enables them to get the right size cuts of meat and know that the meats are fresh.

The store is open Monday through Thursday until 6 p.m. and Friday to 8 p.m. Saturday hours are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., and the store is closed Sundays.

IN ERLA'S meat department, meats are cut to the customer's order.

At U-Foun-Dit the customer comes first

In 25 years in the furniture business we've seen many companies come and go, says Lee Hanes, and the reason is that they have not kept the customer in mind. At U-Foun-Dit Furniture, 1517 Deckerville Road, corner of M-81, we know that low prices and quality keep the customers coming back. We keep our overhead down with no fancy fixtures and are able to offer furniture at low prices. We go that extra step to keep our customers coming back, Hanes asserts.

With the Christmas season upon us we've stocked up on Lane chairs. We have 60 that just arrived in a variety of styles and fabrics. New arrivals also include a group of sofa-sleepers as well as bedroom furniture.

In addition to furniture, Lee and his wife, Connie, have been distributors of the original Mr. Bee Pollen that is described as "nature's most perfect food."

According to the fact sheet put out by the company bee pollen results in a healthier body. Beneficial aspects claimed include "powers to restore the skin's vitality and control of acne, increased sexual stamina, improved production of oxygen-carrying red-blood cells and boosted body-building capabilities."

We are always happy to talk over the use of pollen with any interested person and, of course, without any obligation, Hanes pointed out.

Customers first at Coach Light

Over the years, shoppers have learned that Coach Light Pharmacy discount prices help stretch tight family budgets. But more than that, they know that it is a store that does all it can to be of service.

We try to be the store that folks turn to for help when needed. With that in mind, Coach Light offers free blood glucose monitoring and has the unit for sale if it proves to be needed for continuous diabetes checks. In addition, the store has everything needed for diabetes treatment.

Since Mike Weaver took over the business in 1968, he has modernized continually, adding space and new fixtures and remodeling the exterior of the business to make it a place where his customers enjoy shopping.

The last revamping of the store was completed this year and included new fixtures, new carpeting and a new entrance.

Christmas is approaching and Weaver says that he has expanded several departments that have been popular with customers seeking that "just right" gift. We have a wider variety of "Precious Moments", the popular figurines that everyone seems to want, than ever before.

The selection of "Hallmark" Christmas ornaments has been greatly expanded and our racks are bulging with cards for the holidays, Weaver pointed out.

The store is computerized to handle any of the special Federal programs or group insurance programs.

That makes it easier to keep track of medications and that's important. But at Coach Light we feel that catering to the needs of the customers is the most important thing we do.

We are out to prove that "we care" every day of the year, he concluded.

Cass City Hardware One-stop home, sports center

The name is Cass City Hardware, but it's more than just a hardware, say Jeff and Deb Leinweber, co-owners of the store on Doerr Road and East Main Street (M-81).

We are a lawn and garden center and we handle all the tools and equipment to meet the needs of homeowners, large and small. Most important, the owners believe, is the knowledgeable staff that is ready with expert advice and assistance whenever needed.

Another department that has been expanded is paint. ServiStar paints for every purpose are in stock and properly mixed for best results.

Cass City Hardware is rapidly becoming a sportsman's headquarters. A complete line of hunting clothing is a feature of the department. Hunting and fishing equipment, scopes and related items are offered at budget prices. The store also offers gun repair.

Folks looking for gift items for the home can find a small appliance at reasonable prices. Toasters and coffeepots, and pots and pans for the kitchen are always welcome additions for both the new and the veteran homemaker.

The hardware also still has a wide choice of riding mowers ready to take the drudgery out of this winter's snow removal as well as next summer's lawn work. All at season-ending discount prices, too.

Cass City Hardware is now completing its second year in Cass City and appreciates the community's response to the new business, says the Leinwebers.

18,000 part numbers help McMahan's business grow

Business has been great this year says Brian McMahan, owner of McMahan Auto Parts, and we appreciate the outstanding support we have received from our customers.

One reason for this customer acceptance of the store at the corner of Main and Seeger Streets in Cass City is the stock that we carry. Unlike some of the auto supply stores we carry a wide inventory, not just the big volume parts. Right now, he waded to the bulging shelves, we have 18,000 different part numbers in stock.

Included in this stock are parts items that appeal to farmers. Farmers are having a better year and maybe that's the reason that our business is the best that it has ever been, says McMahan. We carry bearings for farm equipment, roller chain, farm filters and related parts.

If it's not available off the shelf, McMahan's offers next day service on parts orders. If we get the order by 5:30 p.m., he says, we'll have it at 8 a.m. the next morning.

To keep prices competitive McMahan's is a member of Auto Value buying group. It enables us to get the price advantages of volume purchasing, McMahan explained.

McMahan's also has a complete machine shop for repairing engines. We aim to provide the area with a complete auto and agricultural parts store and area folks are responding to our efforts by keeping us growing, says the personable owner of the store.

Old Wood bulging with Yule gifts

Folks shopping at Old Wood Pharmacy will find much that is familiar in the store that is bulging with items for Christmas, but there will be much that is new, Tom Proctor, owner.

What's new is a greatly expanded video department, magazine section and stationery supply section.

When we remodeled this year, Proctor said, one of our aims was to expand these departments because it was apparent that was one of the things needed to better serve our customers.

Also popular are the used paperbacks. Shoppers come in and browse the section and often find a book that they have wanted to acquire at a fraction of the cost that the book cost new.

Besides videos at special prices patrons can purchase any selection they would like to add to their home video collection.

There is much that is new in the store, but Old Wood

The Paint Store has many unusual, distinctive gift items

Folks looking for a unique gift have learned that the Paint Store is the place where the truly different, distinctive gifts are found. It's all part of our aim to provide top service, says Sharon Erla, manager. This year we have added a wide assortment of dollhouse miniatures that includes all types of furniture down to a tiny toaster that actually will pop-up just like the real thing.

Another hard to find item is the carousel horses and ponies that can be painted. The store remains the Thumb headquarters for Grunbacher art supplies, says Erla. Besides the new items that the store has added, the center remains a one-stop center for wallpaper and paint. A wallpaper steamer for removal of wallpaper is available for rent. The store, at the corner of Oak and Main Streets, continues to offer curtains, blinds, upholstery fabric, rugs, wood crafts and wallpaper at discount prices. Even more important than the name brand and the wide stock of paints offered, is the service to the customer. We have a high speed paint mixing machine that does a much better job than a conventional paint shaker that most people are accustomed to.

Another appreciated service is that wallpaper books can be taken out over-nights so that it's possible to see how a color or pattern matches the room it is intended for.

We encourage folks to come in and browse around, says Erla. Often we can come up with suggestions that solve a home decorating problem. Sometimes we learn about an idea that worked for someone else and we can pass it on to others looking for a home decorating idea.

THE PAINT STORE - Service sparks its business growth

Quality at everyday low prices

Kritzmanns' savings headquarters since '59

Kritzmanns' Inc., has been satisfying the needs of the Upper Thumb area since 1959 with stores in Cass City, Sandusky and Bad Axe. The chain has prospered because of its quality and prices. Bill Kritzmann, co-owner feels:

items that are true bargains. Area families have learned that at Kritzmanns' prices are never inflated and they received for a "special" sale. We stay competitive because Lawayne Kritzmann, co-owner, and I regularly go to New York and buy, and are members of a buying office there that enables us to take advantage of combined buying power to deal directly with mill suppliers. Kritzmanns' is a family store with clothing for men, women and children. It has a wide assortment of clothing regularly go to New York and buy, and are members of a buying office there that en-clothing line is featured. It's available in brown duck in coveralls, bibs, jackets and coats and in Arctic blue in coats and jackets. Best of all, the regular low price is below suggested retail prices.

Kritzmanns' also carries shoes for the family in a wide range of prices and styles including boots for the sportsman and for residents who work outdoors. Three credit cards are welcomed, Visa, MasterCard and Discover.

Since the stores were bought in 1959 there has been a regular expansion and modernization conducted. The most recent in the replacement of fixtures. Veteran, friendly employees are well known to regular customers for helping of the front last year and whenever possible and making shopping a pleasant as well as a profitable experience.

Thumb National Bank reports 20% growth rate in Cass City

We are pleased to be able to report that Cass City community acceptance of our full service, friendly banking has resulted in a growth of nearly 20 percent in the last year alone, Curt Strickland, vice-president and branch manager at Thumb National Bank and Trust, announced this week. The growth is a continuation of a pattern that has existed since the bank first opened the branch near the corner of Main Street and Doerr Road in September 1978.

Accompanying the growth has been an expansion in equipment and facilities. This year the bank added a third drive-in window and new computer equipment to handle the needs of its customers.

Thumb National's parent office is in Pigeon and this year it opened another branch office in Caseville. It has been company policy to go the extra mile in helping promote the communities it does business in.

Again this year, as it has been in the past, the bank was the low bidder on the Cass City School District tax anticipation notes. This year it was for $1.2 million.

Other areas that the bank has been active in is helping with the financing of the new Jordan College building and Strickland and other bank personnel, including Dale McIntosh, have been active workers promoting the new track at Cass City Recreational Park.

Members of the bank staff are active in the Gavel,

THUMB NATIONAL adds drive-in window.

Lions and Rotary clubs. In addition, employees have served on the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

Strickland was chairman of the annual Fourth of July celebration and McIntosh has served on the Elkland-Novesta United Way board. Strickland also serves on the Tuscola County Economic Development Board.

Owners active in community

Special Scents grows German Statice

Perhaps it is fitting that Special Scents, which is located at 6459 Main Street, should grow the German Statice used in the flower shop to enhance the artfully designed flower creations the shop has become noted for.

The first Statice crop was harvested this year from 120 plants. Next year 350 plants will be harvested. It takes over a year for the Statice to mature. The 350 units planted last spring will be harvested next summer. Special Scents will sell to other companies in addition to what is needed for its own purposes.

The store opened in May, 1984, and expanded a year later. In 1987 the company moved into its present building.

All of the services you expect from a modern, up-to-date florist are available, including wire services, FTD, Teleflora and AFS.

A wide selection of green plants and traditional holiday flowers are always available. The company also carries balloons.

A unique feature of the store is the herbs, spices, potpourri and silk and dried flower arrangements available.

The Tordais, owners, have been active in civic affairs since coming to Cass City. Jeri recently was named president of the Chamber of Commerce. Before that she helped spearhead the retail division of the Chamber. She recently was accepted as a member of the Cass City Rotary Club.

The 2 owners say that much of the company's success can be traced to its staff, that includes Doris LeValley, Joyce Turner, Barb Vollmar and Linda Woodward.

Sunny Side a full service business

Full service can apply to more than banks or service stations, and that's what we try to be to our customers, says Marion Keating, owner-operator of The Sunny Side of the Street, 6467 Main, Cass City.

Since we opened in the basement store down the street and then moved into our present location, she continued, the business has been built on helping with knitting, sewing or crocheting problems as much as we possibly can. We don't mind sitting down with a customer who comes in with a problem and doing our best to come up with a solution.

Thumb area folks have come to know that top quality yarns featuring the best brand names are waiting at Sunny Side. There are 20 different patterns for counted cross stitch. A wide selection of patterns, instruction books and chart books are available.

We are happy to special order, if necessary, from any of the companies that we represent, Mrs. Keating says.

Of interest to folks who may want something a little better or want a design idea, there are models on display at the store which show the complete cost of the material needed to produce it.

It's all a part of what Sunny Side of the Street does to earn the title of a "full service yarn shop."

Sommers' Bakery quality keeps people coming back

It's no accident that you see many familiar faces every time you enter Sommers Bakery and Restaurant on Main Street in Cass City and that many of the "new" faces become familiar, too.

In a small town like Cass City, says Stuart Merchant, you can only succeed if customers like what they find and return time and again.

That's been the policy at Sommers since it was started over 50 years ago in 1937 by Joe and Lucille Sommers. It was a family business then and it is a family business now. Stuart Merchant and his wife Joan (Sommers) are the owners today and the third generation, Dennis (Joe) Merchant and Lola (Merchant) Osentoski, are very active in the business.

What keeps the customers returning is more than the friendly service that is a Sommers trademark.

The bakery department combines old favorites with new delicacies. It has always been known as "the home of Irish bread" and the bread with the distinctive taste is still one of the most popular items.

Decorated cakes, created by Lola Osentoski, are in demand and can give any special occasion that special touch.

In the restaurant a varied menu features "Stu's Breakfast", an economical meal featuring corned beef hash, eggs and Sommers' homemade bread toasted.

There is a salad bar and a variety of noon day specials that cut the cost of eating out.

Gaining popularity is the broasted chicken, available to take out and an exclusive item in Cass City.

We listen to our customers, the Merchants say, and are always willing to take that extra step to please. That's always been our pol-

Victor Wissner family continues Tuckey's service tradition

A familiar sight in the Cass City business community are the bright red and yellow cement mixing trucks with the big "Tuckey's" printed across them that announces that Tuckey Concrete Products are filling the needs of another customer, either residential, industrial or commercial.

The company has been under the direction of the Victor Wissner family for the last 3 years and maintains a tradition of excellence that has been built through the years.

Tuckey's, located on M-81 west of Cass City, has been in business since 1945 when it was started by Luke Tuckey and later operated by his sons. The company was eventually sold to Victor Wissner and his 2 sons, Scott and Terry. The family operated a plant in Sebewaing before expanding to take over the Cass City business.

The 2 businesses combined make it possible to offer better service to its customers. When the Wissners took over the product line was expanded to include lawn ornaments, stone and anything else that is made from concrete.

Hardee's

Introducing THE MOUTHS

The Mouths have talked their way into Hardee's! And, for a limited time, you can get your own Mouth figurine for a small price when you purchase any Hash Rounds™ potatoes or any dessert item. There's a new Mouth figurine available each week, so collect all four!

SCHEDULE OF AVAILABILITY*

Lance, The Leader	November 10-November 18
Awesome Annie	November 19-November 25
Flap, The Rapper	November 26-December 2
Tag, The Whistler	December 3-December 9

FOR A LIMITED TIME!

BURGER TOPPINGS

Only Hardee's® could top the great taste of our delicious ¼ lb.* hamburgers. And that's exactly what we've done, with three uniquely delicious hamburgers. Each is topped with your favorite ingredients and you'll enjoy them all, but you'd better hurry, because they're only available for a limited time.

Taco Burger: Spicy chili sauce with American Cheese, diced onion, lettuce and tomato.

Bacon 'N' Swiss Burger: Three crisp bacon strips with Swiss Cheese, lettuce and mayonnaise.

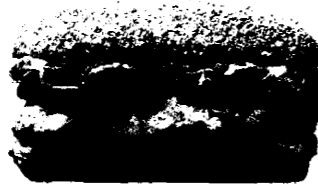

Pizza Burger: Tangy tomato sauce, with real slices of mozzarella cheese.

*Pre-cooked weight. At participating Hardee's Restaurants, for a limited time.
