Teachers protest rulings

Sticky school policy decisions reached

Several sticky policy decisions that were decided and a grievance filed by the Cass City Teachers Association were among the highlights of the regular monthly meeting of the Cass City Board of Education Monday evening at the high school.

One policy revision that had sparked long debates in previous meetings was whether or not to require the superintendent to live within the school district to hold his job. In a 5-1 vote with Trustee Ben Hobart dissenting, it was decided not to have a residency requirement, but to strongly urge that the superintendent have a home in the district.

The board also approved an increase of 50 cents, to $2.50, for admission to athletic contests in another 5-1 vote. This time Trustee Fred Matthews voted against the increase because he felt it was too much for parents with several school-age children to pay. Special family season passes were retained.

Other changes previously discussed included increases in pay for workers at athletic contests and to substitute teachers.

Another change was to switch priorities for the use of facilities for practice. The times will be rotated among all sports instead of giving first preference to boys' basketball.

A policy change about smoking was tabled for further study. The problem is smoking in the teachers' lounge. There isn't an area where there is no smoking that teachers can use on break.

The grievance that was heard stems back to a controversy at the start of the school year when Barbara Kinn, a teacher at Deford School, and Mary Jo Mantey, a teacher at Evergreen

School, were refused a transfer to a job in Campbell Elementary and a teacher from outside the system was hired.

A representative from MEA was present and grieved the issue before the board because, he claimed, the letters to the 2 teachers failed to specify why they were refused the position as called for by the contract.

Supt. Ken Micklash said that he felt that the board had lived up to the contract. The school board concurred and refused to honor the grievance. The union now has a right to appeal the decision.

4 teams mull Thumb B exit

The Cass City School Board is concerned that the Thumb B Association will break up and all of the class C teams now in the league will pull out, leaving the school as the only class C school among all class B schools.

The problem was outlined for the board Monday night at its regular session by Athletic Director Don Schelke.

He said that Marlette, Lakers and Bad Axe are talking about applying for membership in the Thumb C League, leaving Cass City as the only C school left in the Thumb B.

If that should occur, the school board would like to have Cass City join them. We don't want to be left high and dry if the other teams leave, Trustee Dick Wallace said as he reflected on the board's position.

While not wanting to go it alone with the larger schools in the Thumb B, the board is content to continue in the league as it is presently constituted. Schelke said that he feels Cass City can be competitive.

A negative for the sports program in the Thumb C is that there is no competition in wrestling and golf on a league basis.

If the proposed changes come about, Cass City would have the largest enrollment of any school in the league.

Presently there are 6 teams in the league. Deckerville is regarded as certain to apply, moving from the North Central Thumb League, and it is rumored that Brown City may be interested.

If the league decided to accept all of these teams, it could result in a 12-team league with 2 divisions. In any case, Thumb C officials have said that they want all Please turn to page 5.

Icy roads, deer blamed

Minor injuries in accidents

Slick roads and deer were blamed for a host of vehicle accidents handled by area law enforcement agencies over the past week.

A 28-year-old Gaytown woman was injured Thursday after losing control of her vehicle on an icy roadway in Novesta Township.

Troopers from the state police post in Caro said Sherri J. Lesoski, 4834 Center St., was southbound on Cemetery Road south of River Road at about 10 a.m. when her vehicle began to fishtail. The driver, who stated she was traveling at a speed of 25 miles per hour, applied her brakes, causing the vehicle to skid off the east side of the road and into a ditch.

Lesoski was transported by Cass City-Mercy Ambulance personnel to Hills and Dales General Hospital, where she was admitted for observation and later discharged.

Troopers cited her for violation of the basic speed law and failing to wear a seat belt.

A Cass City resident escaped injury in a similar accident Friday in Elkland Township.

Jon K. Zdrojewski, 4311 S. Seeger St., was driving west on Bay City-Forestville Road near Buehrley Road at about 45 miles per hour when his vehicle began to skid, according to reports, which state the vehicle left the road, hit an embankment and came to rest on its top.

Troopers cited Zdrojewski for violation of the basic speed law in the 4:15 p.m. mishap.

A Deford woman refused treatment for minor injuries following a 2-vehicle collision Friday near Deckerville and Crawford roads in Novesta Township, Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies reported.

Reports state Rose A. Lapeer, 50, was eastbound on Deckerville Road at about 12:20 p.m. when she slipped past her corner, backed up and attempted to turn left onto Crawford Road. As Lapeer turned, she struck another eastbound vehicle, driven by Fred J. Linderman, 6975 Deckerville Rd., Decker.

Deputies cited Lapeer for failing to wear a seat belt, reports state.

Also reported by deputies was a one vehicle mishap Friday at the entrance of the Huntsville Trailer park south of Cass City.

Reports state a vehicle driven by Lynn M. Marker, 5505 Shabbona Rd., Decker, was southbound on Doerr Road at 10:40 a.m. when she attempted to turn left into the park and struck a driveway entrance post.

The post wasn't damaged, but the vehicle sustained minor damage, according to deputies, who cited the driver for no proof of insurance.

Cass City police also reported a pair of minor accidents, including a 2 vehicle collision Nov. 14 at the intersection of Main and Please turn to page 5.

Althaver honored

Scout benefit raises $20,000

Lambert E. Althaver of Cass City became one of only 800 persons nationwide ever to be recipient of scouting's distinguished citizen award.

The presentation was made at a $100-per-plate benefit dinner at Bay Valley Hotel and Resort in Bay City and netted the Lake Huron Area Council Boy Scouts of America some $20,000.

The presentation of the award was by Col. Duane H. Bartrem, a distinguished Eagle Scout, who explained how the top award is earned. First, he told the 230 persons that braved blizzard-like conditions to attend, the person must be nominated by the area council. Then the subject's credentials are reviewed by a 7-member panel, after which they must be approved by the national council.

To be considered the person must have achieved a distinguished record in his field. In addition he must have an outstanding record of volunteer public service.

Scout Executive Floyd Siebert reviewed Althaver's career that qualified him for the honor. He told about his service as president of Cass City and his participation in Cass City and Tuscola County EDC and his long career in scouting. Althaver is an Eagle scout and earned 40 merit badges, far exceeding the 21 necessary to achieve scouting's top rank.

After accepting the award, the honored guest thanked the group for attending and said that scouting provides a shining beacon of opportunity for men and women.

Before the presentation Althaver was roasted by friends and business associates. The good-natured ribbing was presented by Jane Hittler, Clint House, Rev. Harry Capps, Ken Jensen and Don Tonti, all of Cass City, and David Schevitz of the Chicago, Ill., area.

The welcome was handled by Forrest Walpole and master of ceremonies was James Ware, both of whom are Walbro vice-presidents.

LAMBERT ALTHAVER receives the distinguished citizen award from Col. Duane H. Bartrem Thursday at the $100-per-plate benefit that raised some $20,000 for the Lake Huron Area Council Boy Scouts of America.

Santa arrives Friday to kick off yule season

The Christmas season gets into full swing this weekend in Cass City with the arrival of Santa Claus and his wife Friday at 10 a.m. at his house on the Chemical Bank parking lot, corner of Seeger and Main Streets. Old Saint Nick will have free candy for the kids.

A popular Christmas feature of recent years has been expanded. A total of $2,200 in "funny money" will be given away in 4 drawings. The first drawing is scheduled Saturday, Nov. 25, at 4:15 p.m. in front of the Cass Theatre.

Winners in the first drawings will receive $100. If not present, the amount is reduced to $50 and the money added to a jackpot for the last drawing before Christmas. Spokesmen for the Retail Committee, that has arranged for the prize drawing, emphasized that all $2,200 will be given away. Tickets are available at most stores in Cass City and the funny money spends like cash at all stores listed on the back of the money.

Many other popular features of the Christmas season will return. Free shows sponsored by the Chamber for children 12 and under start Saturday, Dec. 2, when the shows will be "The Pound Puppies" and "The Legend of Big Claw."

The annual live Nativity Scene provided by Shabbona, Argyle and Decker United Methodist churches will be enacted Dec. 21-22-23 at the village park on East Main Street.

Among the special events scheduled at Rawson Memorial Library will be an old fashioned tree trimming and stories at 1 p.m. Dec. 9.

After his initial visit Friday morning, Santa will visit each Friday, 10 to 12 noon and 6 to 8 p.m. and Saturday 12 to 2 p.m. until Christmas.

Many Cass City stores will be open Sunday from 12 to 4 p.m., where shoppers can pick up free coffee tickets.

The spectacular Christmas Story Book display has been enlarged and will be opening at Cass City Recreational Park Dec. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell (Bud) Sickler of Leesburg, Fla., came Tuesday and stayed until Saturday with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beach.

One hundred members and guests of Trinity United Methodist Church attended the annual Thanksgiving dinner Sunday, Nov. 19, in the fellowship hall.

There may be people who have nothing to be thankful for this Thanksgiving, but I don't know them.

I don't know anybody who won't have more than enough food to eat Thanksgiving Day and beyond. Most of us will need Alka Seltzer or Pepto Bismol before the feasting is over.

Speaking of feasting, whoever initiated the community Thanksgiving dinner for those who might otherwise be alone deserves a huge bouquet.

Personally, I don't know anyone without family or friends with whom to share Thanksgiving as well as the everyday ups and downs of life.

It has to be counted a blessing to have someone who cares about your welfare and will be there in good times and bad.

Certainly it's hard for the person who has recently lost such a loved one to muster a thankful attitude, especially during the traditional family holidays. But even the pain of bereavement diminishes in time. And for that alone we can be grateful.

I don't know anyone without adequate shelter from the miserable weather that arrived much too soon, although I acknowledge and pity the plight of the homeless.

Be it ever so humble, everyone I know has a roof over his or her head and a warm, dry place to sleep. A definite cause for thanksgiving.

Good health is one of the blessings we take for granted until we lose it, unfortunately.

Perhaps this would be an appropriate time to express gratitude for a healthy body, regardless of its shape, for sight, hearing, strong muscles and a reasonably keen mind.

Finally, everyone I know is an American, and anyone who lives in this country should be grateful for the privilege.

It may not be Utopia, but it's the closest thing to it on earth today.

It's doubtful that any of us can fully comprehend the jubilation of the East Germans to be able to come and go as they please after being held captive within the wall for so many years. How could we when freedom has always been assumed in our country?

As Americans, we can choose where we go and when, determine what we want to do with our lives, where we will live and how we will worship.

While we may justifiably complain about crime, drugs and a host of social ills, at least our children don't have to play in the midst of flying bullets, mortar fire and land mines.

If the government displeases us, we can protest without fearing instant execution. We're free to campaign for change, lobby, vote and express our views in print.

All in all, the people I know have an awful lot for which to be thankful.

As the old song says, "Count your blessings, name them one by one, and it will surprise you what the Lord hath done."

And that's my advice for Thanksgiving.

Presbyterians set annual Xmas tea

The Presbyterian women will hold their annual Christmas tea Monday, Dec. 4, from 3 to 5 p.m. All women of the church and their friends are invited.

The Presbyterian women had the Thank offering during church service Nov. 19. This is money over and above the pledges which goes into the opportunity giving fund. This fund provides money for centers such as food care, drug abuse, battered women and hospital care.

Blue joins honor society

Cass City resident Deborah Blue, a junior studying biology at Michigan Technological University, was recently inducted into the Michigan Tech Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK) National Leadership Honor Society.

Omicron Delta Kappa recognizes and encourages the development of 5 components of college life: scholarship, athletics, campus government and other social, religious, and service activities, journalism and speech skills, and the creative and performing arts.

New student members of ODK must be of junior or senior standing and in the top one-third of their respective classes. They also must have demonstrated leadership abilities on campus. In addition, MTU faculty members who meet leadership criteria are invited to become members of ODK.

This fall, a total of 27 new initiates (25 undergraduate students and 2 faculty members) were inducted into the society.

Blue, the daughter of Kenneth and Dorothy Blue of Cass City, was recently elected vice-president of ODK, and she is also chairperson for ODK's campus awareness/forum committee.

She is treasurer of Phi Kappa Theta Little Sisters, a member of the Spanish Club and a recipient of an MTU Board of Control Scholarship.

Dance club slates party

The YMCA Thumb Dance Club will hold its next party Saturday at Sandusky Maple Valley School.

The event will be held from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. and will feature music by Barney Schubring. Refreshments will be served. Guests are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. David Peruski

Beckie Kling and David Peruski exchanged vows Saturday, Oct. 14, in an afternoon ceremony at St. Pancratius Church, Cass City. Fr. Julius Spleet performed the ceremony.

Roger and Kathryn Kling of Owendale and Thomas and Diana Peruski of Cass City are the couple's parents.

The bride chose a white full length gown with bodice adorned with simulated pearls and lace.

Andrea Mandich of Owendale was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Carol Howard, the bride's aunt, and Shelly Peruski, the groom's sister. Kristie Radabaugh, the bride's cousin, was flower girl.

The bridal attendants' gowns were tea length black velvet and iridescent royal taffeta.

Anthony Bader of Cass City was best man. Groomsmen were Larry Tuttle and Alex Swiderski. Michael Peruski, brother of the groom, was ring bearer. Rick Brown, the bride's brother, was usher.

A reception for 200 guests was held at the Masonic Temple, Cass City. Among the guests was Cindy Valdez of California, the bride's sister.

The groom is employed at Cole Carbide and the bride at Walbro Corp., Cass City.

The couple are making their home in Cass City.

"If It Fitz..."Guest reader

By Jim Fitzgerald

My wife didn't believe it when I said I was going to stand in front of a group and talk. "You never give speeches, because you're afraid your audience will know more than you do, and you'll be embarrassed," she said. "What's going on?"

I didn't believe it when I arrived at the place where I was scheduled to speak. Most of my audience was sound asleep. What's going on?

It must be conceded that I wasn't completely honest with my wife. I wasn't going to stand and talk; there was a designated rocking chair waiting for me. And I wasn't actually scheduled to make a speech; mostly I was supposed to read out loud.

You might wonder about my wife's accusation. If I'm reluctant to give speeches because the audience might be smarter than I am, what about writing columns? Do I think I'm smarter than readers?

No. But it doesn't bother me when readers write or phone to call me a dummy. It doesn't embarrass me to realize many readers stop reading in the middle of a column and throw the newspaper on the floor in disgust. Or they take one look at my photo and decide not to waste their time.

Face-to-face with fear

It's the face-to-face possibilities that make me cringe. What if half the audience got up and left after I was introduced? What if no one laughed at my best joke? What if the sound of snoring were heard? What if a listener interrupted me with information proving I was an idiot? What if I were hit in the head with a bread roll? I don't need that kind of embarrassment.

Also, there is the fact that I devote much energy to not hearing speeches made by other people. I'm afraid they'll be as bad at it as I am. If I won't listen to a speech, I shouldn't have gall enough to give one. So, after making the usual polite demurral, I refer all program organizers to Neal Shine, who would make a (damn good) speech at the grand opening of a railroad crossing.

So, having said all that, how do I explain what happened last Wednesday? One member of my audience never did wake up. Another listener yelled out the correct pronunciation of a word that made me stutter. And it didn't bug me a bit; I had a great time.

The explanation is that I was invited to be a "D.E.A.R. Neighbor" at the Friends School in Detroit near my Lafayette Park home. D.E.A.R. is a delightful acronym for Drop Everything And Read. That's what all the students, teachers and other school employees do every Wednesday afternoon, and guests are invited to come read to them once a month.

Friends School goes through the 12th grade, and I was allowed to pick the class I wanted to dazzle with my elocution. I chose pre-kindergarten. I thought 4-year-olds might not know more than I do. Wrong.

By a pleasant coincidence, I was assigned to read a children's book by folk singer-writer Pete Seeger, one of my favorite Americans. But the book, new to me, was about a monster named Abiyoyo. That's a confusing jumble of letters at first glance, and my tongue wasn't up to it. A boy about the size of a yardstick quickly came to my rescue.

He said it's "abby" and "yo-yo" to rhyme with the spinning toy on a string, like Tom Smothers plays with. Thanks a lot, kid.

Most awoken to joy of words

My rocking chair was specially provided by Anne Pawlik, the school's director of development and public relations, who said she knew how much I enjoy marathon sitting. What about a marathon lying down?

I arrived at the pre-K classroom during nap time. Each child has a cot, and some of them had to be awakened in honor of the guest speaker. As a dedicated napper, I felt guilty. And I couldn't help admiring the tenacity of the boy who refused to rouse, even when I had to sing a song about Abiyoyo, who, according to the lyrics, has stinky feet.

In conclusion, as speech-makers often proclaim, I would just like to say this:

It was marvelous to see how the importance — and joy — of reading is stressed at Friends School. D.E.A.R. is a splendid program, and those pupils are lucky, even if they do occasionally get stuck with a guest reader worth sleeping through.

Outstanding 4-H leaderPuvalowski honored Nov. 6

The annual Huron County 4-H Leaders' Banquet was held Nov. 6 in Bad Axe.

The purpose of the banquet is to thank 4-H adult and teen leaders for volunteer service in their communities and to thank the many financial contributors to the 4-H youth program.

One of the highlights of the program was the presentation of the 1989 Outstanding 4-H Leader Award to Lotti Puvalowski, Uby. She is the administrative leader of the Country Buddies 4-H Club, which reaches over 65 youth in her community. In addition, Puvalowski has been active on many county and regional 4-H committees.

As part of the presentation, a video tape prepared by 4-H members in the club was shown to pay tribute to her many accomplishments.

Among the 4-H leaders who were recognized for years of service in the Huron County 4-H Youth Program were Sharon Carpenter, Don Koglin and Diane Smalley, all of Uby (10 years), and Uby residents George Simmerlein and Gina Stambaugh (5 years).

An election of new 4-H Council members was carried out during the evening. Adult 4-H leaders elected to 3-year terms were: Kay McCrea, Bad Axe, Carl Ignash, Bad Axe, Pam Roth, Sebawaing, and Clarice Robinson, Uby.

Dairy banquet scheduled atDeckerville

The 54th annual Sanilac County Dairy Banquet has been scheduled for Dec. 2 at 7:30 p.m. at Deckerville High School.

The school is located one-fourth mile east of Ruth Road, in Deckerville.

Entertainment this year will be provided by Dr. David Gillingham, often referred to as "Michigan's own Victor Borge," who performs comedy at the keyboard.

In addition, awards will be presented to the leading producers in Sanilac's No. One industry, dairying.

Ticket information is available by calling (313) 648-2515.

The Haire Net

Before I bought my present watch I wore a simple $12.95 model that told me the time and the date. It wore out and I made a tragic error. I purchased the deluxe $39.95 model.

It does everything but tell you it's time to quit work and I don't need a watch for that. When to start, maybe. In fact I don't need a watch for anything more than the time and the date. It would be nice at certain times, I guess, for some of those other functions. But really I don't need an alarm clock or 24-hour time numbers or a stopwatch.

Cynics probably would say that the real reason for feeling this way is that I can't make the thing work anyway. That's half true, at least.

Every 6 months when it comes time to change I have a fouled up watch because I need to set the time back an hour.

By the time I get the hour where it should be the alarm goes off every hour on the hour and the date is invariably a half day off. The rest of the channels are also goofed up, but I ignore them. Who cares if the time is 2400 when it should be 0800 or if I can't hit the right combination to make it a stopwatch.

But that alarm going off really bugs me after awhile. I put up with it until we have a family gathering and one of my sons-in-law fixes it and I'm all set again until the next spring or fall.

It's not only with watches that they have succeeded in screwing up the works. My car clock also qualifies. I'm proud to say that after a very close study of the handbook that comes with the car I was able to figure out how to change it back or forward as needed.

But every time I do, I have to refer to the manual again to do it. Oh, for the days when you just turned the stem to move it back or ahead. That's too simple, I suppose, but it makes sense to me.

There are 2 schools of thought about mechanical ability. One is that it's something in the genes. Heredity. The other is exposure. The vote here is that both enter into it.

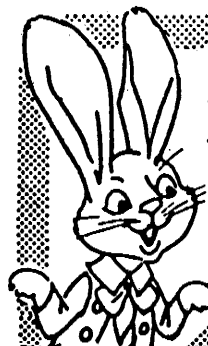

If you take an interest and see how things are put together, by simple repetition something must rub off. The more you do it the better you become.

Just how much that counts I don't know. I do know that having the ability to see how things work and how to make them work takes more than experience.

It's like an artist and a painting. No one taught them. In a way working with mechanical skill is an art. The real good ones make it look so simple....and to them it is.

But these guys do stuff that always leaves me wondering not only how they knew how to repair the machine in question, but how they knew where to look to find what was broken.

But I'm not jealous. If they weren't around how would I know what time it is?

The bad news is that the Rev. Joe Robertson has been transferred from the Trinity United Methodist Church in Cass City. The good news is that his son, Jason, a senior at Cass City High School, will stay in the community until he graduates. Jason is expected to be a starting guard on this year's Hawk basketball team.

A 12-year-old with Cass City connections distinguished himself in the annual punt, pass and kick competition, a nation-wide contest sponsored by a car company in connection with the National Football League. Brent Wallace of Midland won his age division in the state competition held at the Silverdome. To qualify he won local and regional contests. He now will move on towards national honors and an opportunity to compete at the super bowl.

Wallace is the grandson of Jim Wallace, a Cass City native and the brother of Dick Wallace of Cass City.

Pupil scores fall with new testing

A new method of grading has drastically reduced the test marks of Cass City students, Jerry Cleland, counselor, told the Cass City School Board Monday night at its regular session at the school.

Cleland said that while the reading scores were very low, the students should not be judged until the results state-wide are learned.

What the new system requires is the students to score 300 or better on a marking system that grades from 150 to 350 in 2 reading divisions, recreational and text book, and to meet the test objectives, the student must pass both.

The accompanying chart shows what percentage of students completed both divisions to meet the test objectives; the number that completed either one of the objectives and the students that failed both divisions.

The chart shows the percentage breakdown in all divisions.

Area superintendents say Little value in new school report

Area school officials say an independent report that grades Michigan schools based on academic performance and financial means may contain some interesting reading, but has little other value.

The report was released last Wednesday by Public Sector Consultants, a Lansing based policy research firm.

The document has drawn criticism from officials representing even those schools rated as offering among the best educational values in the state.

Ublly School Supt. David Landeryou, whose district was ranked fourth among 251 schools classified as "rural" districts, indicated he believes the report evaluates and compares schools based on incomplete information.

The report, which divides schools into 6 categories according to population and geographical size, ranks districts' performance based on 1988 average Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) scores, adjusted improvements in MEAP reading scores, improvements from 1980 to 1989 in average MEAP scores and 1986 drop-out rates.

The report determines districts' "financial means", meanwhile, based on spending on basic programs, average household income, teaching staff per 1,000 students and how heavily a district taxes its base (1986 figures).

Districts' performance and financial means are combined to obtain a "value rating" -- that is, a rating indicating to what extent residents of a district are getting what they're paying for.

"I think they ought to take a look at a lot of other things," Landeryou remarked. "If they're going to assign values... they ought to take a look at the number of kids that go on to college, or SAT scores and standardized testing."

Landeryou pointed out he's pleased with Ublly's showing in the report, but said he isn't sure the district would look as good in subsequent reviews.

There's a danger in using only MEAP scores to measure performance, he explained, adding schools with small enrollments are much more likely to experience a downturn in scores if only a handful of students do poorly.

Unfortunately, he said, the school report will probably prompt people to judge which schools are "good" and which ones are "bad" based on the rankings or scores alone.

"It's a lot of fodder for people to compare school districts," the superintendent continued.

"The only value I can see in the report is that it's going to generate a lot of controversy, and that's not all bad. Maybe it'll get people thinking about the schools again."

Area superintendents say

Supt. Harley Kirby said of the report. "It's a lot of paper, but as far as true, factual information and true interpretation, I have a problem with that."

"I don't know where they're getting their information from. They didn't contact me," he remarked.

Kirby said he believes the school evaluations are laced with technical flaws, poor methodology and simplistic interpretation. He added, "I think they're trying to make it out that we're all in sad shape -- that we're not doing the job."

"There are so many factors that are involved," Kirby continued, adding it's impossible to compare one district to another because even though there may be similarities between the 2, each is individual and should be evaluated that way to get an accurate picture of the value of education each provides.

"You keep doing what is best for your area," he commented, noting Owen-Gage administrators, teachers and parents have worked together over the years to adjust curriculum and other areas in order to provide the best education possible.

In the report's preface, Public Sector officials acknowledge it's not possible to quantify all the factors that determine the quality of a school district, but add

"the criteria used in the evaluation, taken together, allow reasonable judgments to be made about the performance of a district relative to its peers and to its financial means."

Company Chairman Gerald A. Faverman indicated the report is a sign of a fast approaching era in which educators will be obliged document value for dollars received.

"Our aim," he said, "is to accelerate the pace by which the true value can be established for public schooling. K-12 education is on an inexorable march toward accountability, accountability that will be driven by facts, not anecdotes."

Benefit raises $12,000

More than 900 relatives, friends and strangers rallied behind Julie Miller at a benefit dinner and dance held Saturday for the life-long Cass City/Owendale area resident.

"We're guessing $12,000," Miller's sister, Marcy Brinkman, said of the estimated amount raised Saturday.

"It was wonderful," she added. "We haven't got it all figured up yet, and we know people are still making donations."

Proceeds from the benefit, held at the Colony House, will be used to defray travel and medical expenses incurred by the 22-year-old in her battle with cancer.

A 1985 graduate of Cass City High School, where she was a standout athlete, Miller was diagnosed with neurofibrosarcoma Aug. 30, 1988, at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. She has since undergone several surgeries, numerous tests and return trips to Rochester.

As was expected, Miller returned home Thursday night after undergoing radiation treatments in Rochester, but she didn't feel up to attending Saturday's benefit, Brinkman said.

Woman found dead in car died of natural causes

An area woman found dead in her car last Wednesday morning in a ditch in Huron County's Chandler Township died of natural causes, Michigan State Police reported.

State police at the Bad Axe post identified the woman as Virginia L. Nagy, 62, of Huntington Woods and Cass City.

According to troopers, Nagy's vehicle was discovered last Wednesday morning near the intersection of Limerick and Herford roads, about 5 miles east and one mile south of Casewille.

Police estimate her vehicle left the roadway and entered a drainage ditch Tuesday evening at about 10 p.m. The car's headlights, heater and windshield wipers were still operating when the vehicle was discovered by hunters the next morning.

Nagy was born Aug. 11, 1927, in Bad Axe, the daughter of Theresa Lenaway Sweig of Saginaw and the late Ronald Sweig.

She was married to Frank Nagy Sept. 27, 1947, in Bad Axe. Following their marriage they made their home in Huntington Woods. In 1972, the couple purchased a farm in the Cass City area. Nagy was a member of Our Lady of La Salette Catholic Church of Berkley and the American Bridge League.

She is survived by her husband, Frank; 4 daughters, Mrs. Ginger Kay of Traverse City, Mrs. Mary L. Eastman and her husband, Charles, of Royal Oak, Mrs. Frances Nagy-O'Connor and her husband, Daniel, of Lathrup Village, and Mrs. Nancy Hall and her husband, Michael, of Rochester Hills; 2 sons, Frank M. Nagy and his wife, Kristina, of Grand Rapids, and Ronald M. Nagy of Kalamazoo; 8 grandchildren; her mother, Mrs. Theresa Sweig of Saginaw; one sister, Mrs. Thomas Spain of Saginaw; and one brother, Robert Sweig of San Diego, Calif. One brother, James, preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held Saturday at St. Pancratius Catholic Church in Cass City with the Rev. Julius Spleet, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Elkland Township Cemetery, Cass City.

CASS CITY-MERCY Ambulance personnel were called to the scene of a one-vehicle accident south of Cass City Thursday that left a Gagetown woman injured. The mishap was one of dozens reported after the area's first snow storm last week.

Oak streets in Cass City. The accident occurred at about 1:30 p.m., when Martin P. Osentoski, 6219 Pringle Rd., Cass City, who was northbound on Oak Street, turned left into the path of a southbound vehicle, driven by Harold E. Stewart of Fairgrove, police said.

Another vehicle driven by a Cass City resident sustained minor damage Saturday when it struck 2 wooden posts in the drive-through at the Parkway, 6703 Main St., Cass City.

The driver, Matthew W. Groombridge, 4380 Ale St., told police he turned into the drive-through at about 11:20 a.m. when his brakes failed and he turned towards the posts in an effort to avoid hitting another vehicle.

Reports state Groombridge was cited for an improper registration.

DEER-CAR

Minor damage was reported in several car-deer collisions reported to area law enforcement agencies over the past week.

Ralph M. Swoffer, Deckerville, reported hitting a deer Sunday at about 6:55 p.m. while driving east on Deckerville Road west of Dodge Road in Ellington Township.

Deford resident, Patricia L. Peters, 2310 Phillips Rd., struck a deer Friday while driving east on Deckerville Road east of Hurds Corner Road in Ellington Township. The mishap occurred at about 10:30 p.m., reports state.

Dennis K. Waun of Bad Axe told police he struck a deer Friday at about 8 p.m. in the eastbound lane of East Cass City Road west of Crawford Road in Elkland Township.

A deer ran into a vehicle driven by Julie A. Spencer, Caro, on Deckerville Road east of Plain Road in Ellington Township. The collision occurred at about 5:35 p.m.

Police investigate Charmont theft, larceny from autos

Cass City police are continuing their investigation of the larceny of more than $1,500 in cash from a safe at the Charmont earlier this month, as well as 4 incidents of theft from vehicles reported last week.

Police said someone familiar with business operations at the Charmont, 6138 E. Cass City Rd., used a pair of wrenches and a hacksaw, both taken from the bowling alley, to cut the padlock off a safe at the business during business hours Nov. 9.

A total of $1,662.70 was taken, according to reports, which state the theft is believed to have occurred between 10:30 p.m. and 1:40 a.m.

Early last week, 4 persons reported thefts of items from their vehicles.

Among the complainants is Gladys Bills, Mayville, who told police someone took her purse, credit cards, 2 rear car speakers and a toolbox and tools from her vehicle Nov. 13.

Bills' vehicle was parked at Hardee's, where she is employed, at the time of the larceny, which occurred between 7 p.m. and 12 a.m.

Three others also reported similar thefts the same day while their vehicles were parked at either the Charmont or Charmont Motel.

They are Delmar J. Miller, Owendale, Randy Cole of Alpena and Kimberly K. Hool of Cass City. All 3 stated someone stole radar detectors from their vehicles. In addition, Hool also reported 2 missing cassette tapes.

achievement in the last 3 years. The money was available as part of the recently enacted state aid act. Cass City receives $7,164, State Superintendent of Schools Donald Bemis announced.

Bids will be received for 3 new buses for next year. The school will receive bids for both gas and diesel engines. Micklash said that he feels that the days of the gas engine buses are numbered. The board wants to stay with gas as long as it is feasible, but may switch anyway if the cost is not prohibitive. Once the switch to diesel starts, it is the consensus that all of the fleet will be changed as buses are replaced.

Al Luce, the school's labor consultant, was retained for 1990 with a boost in fees of $300 yearly to $7,000.

A committee to meet with community civic and business representatives to discuss the school was appointed. All of the board members volunteered to serve, so up to 3 of them will serve at each of the meetings.

applications for membership to be in league hands by the first of the year. Any team accepted would start playing in the 1991-92 season.

OKAY FIELD

In another action concerning sports, the school granted the Cass City Little League and T-Ball the use of school property north of Campbell Elementary to build 2 practice diamonds.

Machinery for preparing the field will be furnished by the village and there will be no cost to the school, according to Dan Ulfing, who made the presentation to the board.

Hunter survives accidental shooting

A 31-year-old Fraser man accidentally shot himself last Wednesday as he prepared to go deer hunting in the southeast section of the Deford State Game Area.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies reported the victim, Richard A. Rziemkowski, is recovering from a gunshot wound to the left thigh after being treated at Hills and Dales General Hospital in Cass City.

According to reports, Rziemkowski was sitting in his parked vehicle near the corner of Froede and Riley roads when the 6:45 a.m. mishap occurred.

The hunter, who had his shotgun loaded and propped up in the front seat across a duffel bag on the floor, stated he thought the safety was on. But when he reached up on the dashboard for a cup of coffee and then sat back into his seat, the gun discharged.

Rziemkowski left the area in his vehicle to seek treatment, according to reports, which state he stopped at Kilbourn's Service Station in Deford and asked for help. He was transported to the hospital by Cass City-Mercy Ambulance personnel.

Free throws prove costly

Late rally falls short for lady Hawks in district loss to Reese

The Cass City Red Hawk basketball season came to an end Wednesday in the opening round of the district class C basketball tournament at Sandusky when the Lady Hawks bowed to the Reese Rockets, 42-38.

Two dismal quarters ruined whatever chances the Hawks had of moving into the finals against Marlette, which won the tournament Saturday night and moved on to regional competition.

It was one of those nights that drive coaches crazy for the Hawks. Cass City shot just 32 percent from the field and a horrendous 36 percent from the free throw line.

Although the Rockets were in front all the way, it was a close game until the half. With Jandi Hillaker and Sue Papp showing the way, the Hawks stayed on the heels of the winners with 10 points in the first period and 6 in the second. Reese countered with 14 and 8 points to lead at the intermission, 22-16.

During the season Cass City was plagued by a quarter when the offense went to sleep, and it happened again Wednesday.

The Hawks netted only a field goal by Beth Powell and going into the final quarter Reese had the game well in control with a 32-18 lead.

The Hawks bounced back in the final 8 minutes with a big 20-point splurge, led by Jandi Hillaker's 9 points, but by then it was too late.

Jandi Hillaker, 13 points, and Powell, 10 points, led Cass City, while Kris Findley, 16 points, and Lisa Reinrit, 10 points, were in double figures for Reese.

The Rockets out-rebounded Cass City 30 to 20. The Hawks were led on the boards by Jandi Hillaker, 7, and Papp, 6 boards.

For the season, the Hawks were 6 wins, 14 losses.

CASS CITY'S JANDI HILLAKER slithered through the Reese defense for 13 points in the Hawks' 42-38 loss at Sandusky.

HE WASN'T THE first hunter to get his deer this year, but Joe Stevens, Cass City, didn't mind after bagging this trophy south of Cass City. The buck, which dressed out at 160 pounds, has 11 points with an 18-inch spread.

LEONARD SMOLARKIEWICZ was the first hunter to report to the Chronicle with a deer during last week's firearm deer season opener. The Cass City resident sighted the 5-point buck shortly after 7 a.m.

Buck luck

Last week's rainy, cold firearm deer season opener didn't dampen the spirits of a number of area hunters, who reported success throughout the day.

Leonard Smolarkiewicz, Cass City, was the first hunter to show up at the Chronicle with his deer last Wednesday morning.

He arrived at 9:08 a.m. with a 5-point buck that weighed in at about 160 pounds (dressed). Smolarkiewicz said he had been hunting south of Cass City for only a half hour when he bagged the animal at about 7:15 a.m.

Cass City's Gary Bradley, who was the first hunter to stop at the Chronicle with his deer last year, arrived about 10 minutes after Smolarkiewicz.

Bradley shot a 6-point buck in the Colwood area at about 8 a.m. The animal dressed out at about 140 pounds.

Also getting his deer on the opener was James A. Wutzke, Cass City, who bagged an 8-point, 180-pound (dressed) buck at 8:15 a.m. while hunting south of Cass City.

Richard Burleson, Cass City, also reported getting his deer south of Cass City at 9:30 a.m. The 6-point buck weighed in at some 160 pounds (dressed).

Jim Somerville, Decker, bagged a 6-point buck at about 10 a.m. while hunting in the Decker area.

Snover resident Robert Rockwell also shot a 6-pointer during the opener. He was hunting near Argyle at about 10:30 a.m. when he sighted the deer.

Rick Tuckey of Cass City bagged 2 deer the same day at different times and locations. He shot a 7-point buck at about 7:25 a.m. while hunting northeast of Cass City, and at about 5 p.m. nailed a 4-pointer east of Cass City.

Another Cass City resident, Kelly Stevens, shot a 6-point, 130-pound (dressed) buck at about 8:30 a.m. while hunting south of Cass City.

Also reporting success opening day were 3 hunters who tried their luck in the Holbrook area. They are Scott Wilsey and his brother, who bagged 6 and 8-point bucks, respectively, and Bob Cleland Sr. of Waterford, who got an 8-point buck at about 7 a.m.

Deb Montgomery, Cass City, shot her first and second deer ever late Thursday afternoon while hunting east of Cass City. She bagged a spike buck at about 4:30 p.m., and about 30 minutes later shot a button buck in the same area.

Rod Hazzard, 16, of DeFord, nailed his first buck Thursday while hunting near Bevens Road east of Cemetery Road. The deer had 10 points and weighed 145 pounds.

Also Thursday, Eric Sedaburg of Pontiac reported bagging a spike horn while hunting in the Holbrook area.

Joe Stevens, Cass City, bagged an 11-point buck Friday at about 11:30 a.m. He was hunting south of Cass City when he spotted the trophy, which weighed in at 160 pounds (dressed).

Jim VanAllen, Cass City, shot a 7-point buck that dressed out at 160 pounds opening day. He bagged the deer at about 10 a.m. while hunting west of Cass City in the Cedar Run Road area.

Cass City resident Eddie Nizzola, 14, bagged his first buck, which had a 7-point rack, Sunday while hunting in the Wilmut area.

David Marshall and his 17-year-old son, Scott, shot 8-point bucks on opening day morning while hunting in the area of their home at 5201 Hadley Rd., Cass City. David's deer weighed in at 200 pounds and Scott's, at about 220 pounds.

Gagetown hunter Bob Joles, 5758 McAlpine Rd., also reported bagging an 8-point, 200-pound buck. He was hunting in the Gagetown area on opening day when he shot the animal.

Township board holds monthly meet

The Elkland Township Board last week approved sending 2 township firemen to a Delta College seminar on ventilation methods and techniques.

Township Clerk Norma Wallace said the seminar is scheduled for next month and will cost $45 per person.

In other business during the board's Nov. 13 monthly meeting, the board approved an annual trade agreement with Gettel's of Sebawaing. The agreement allows the township to trade its riding mower in each year for a new model, Wallace said.

The Town and Country Square Dance Club will sponsor a dance Saturday, Nov. 25, from 8 to 10:30 p.m. at Cass City High School.

All square dancers are welcome.

Classes set for diabetics

Diabetes classes are scheduled to start at Hills and Dales Nov. 28.

The 5 classes will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 a.m. to noon. The series will be taught by a pharmacist, physical therapist and registered nurse.

Pre-registration is required and there is a fee.

Persons may register by visiting the Ambulatory Care Center at Hills and Dales before the class, which will include information on exercise, diet, foot care, medication, anatomy and physiology of diabetes, testing of urine and blood, and stress.

Classes will be in the hospital meeting room. Additional information is available by calling 872-2121.

FIRST DEER — Dan Miles, 16, of Cass City, shot his first buck Nov. 10 while bow hunting east of town at about 5:30 p.m. The 10-point trophy dressed out at 183 1/2 pounds.

Bulldog cagers expect improvement in NCTL

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs might not win the North Central Thumb League crown this season, but fans can expect a much improved team from last year's 3-13 league mark.

That's because Coach Dean Roller's charges have 6 veterans back. Included in the group is Chad Stirrett, 6-3 forward, who was outstanding as a sophomore, but was forced to sit out last season with a broken leg.

He's healthy now and should give the 'Dogs a big boost. When he played as a sophomore he averaged 11.4 points a game and was a tough rebounder.

It will probably be vital to O-G's chances that he hasn't lost any of his rebounding skills due to the year on the sidelines.

Lack of height is one of the major weaknesses of the team. Stirrett is the only player taller than 6 feet. Brian Abbe is a good rebounder for his size but he is just 6 feet. Andre' Damm, another veteran, is also 6 feet.

A couple of other veterans, Mike Kady, 8.2-point average, and Brad Susalla, 8-point average, are expected to play key roles this season. Roller looks for Kevin Koch for help on the boards, too.

Rounding out the squad veterans is Graham Besonen, 5-9 guard. All but Kady are seniors.

One of the problems Roller faces is replacing Marc Reinhardt, a top player on last season's team, and Nick Pavlichek, a regular.

Roller sees his charges finishing somewhere in the middle of the pack, with defending champion Kingston and always strong Deckerville fighting it out for the title. North Huron and Akron-Fairgrove have good squads, Roller feels.

Trailing Owen-Gage in the league if pre-season predictions prove accurate will be Caseville, Peck, Port Hope and CPS.

The Bulldogs have a couple of weeks to get ready for the opener at Akron-Fairgrove Dec. 8. Fans should get a line of the team's strength when the opener is played. Akron-Fairgrove is rated as one of the better teams in the league.

EXPECTED TO GIVE THE BULLDOGS a stout offense are returning letter winners Chad Stirrett, Mike Kady, Brad Susalla and Brian Abbe.

Trend reversed

First snow dumps 4.6"

Old Man Winter arrived late Wednesday and Thursday in full force, dumping more than 4 inches of snow in the Cass City area and blowing the white stuff around with a brisk, biting wind.

The storm, which dropped an estimated 4.6 inches of snow in the area, forced area schools to cancel classes Friday. In Cass City, it was the first weather-related school closing since the winter of 1987-88.

It was a first taste of winter area residents had a right not to expect. Well, sort of.

Anyone living in Michigan knows better than to use the word "usually" when discussing the weather. But it's been a few years since this area's first snow consisted of more than a modest dusting.

Last year, the first snow totaled a quarter of an inch, and the year before, .6 of an inch.

Looking back at the past 5 years, Thursday's snow was more than the area received in all of November in each of the past 3 years, when the area's total snowfall was 31.07 inches (1988-89), 30.87 inches (1987-88) and 30.10 inches (1986-87).

In the winter of 1985-86, 7 1/2 inches of snow fell in November. It was the first installment of a total 60.7 inches of snow received that winter. In the year before, 1984-85, the first snow also came in November (2.5 inches). That season's snowfall total was 62 inches.

Year	First Snow/Amount	Total for season
1989-90	Nov. 15/16 (4.6")	?
1988-89	Dec. 1 (.25")	31.07"
1987-88	Oct. 21 (.6")	30.87"
1986-87	Nov. 21 (2.4")	30.10"
1985-86	Nov. 9 (3.0")	60.70"
1984-85	Nov. 12 (2.5")	62"

WHEN READING SUFFERS

It is estimated that one of every six children starts falling below grade level in reading after the fourth grade. Yet many of these children learned how to read without too much difficulty in the earlier grades.

The visual requirements for learning how to read are different from skills necessary to read long passages of relatively small print and comprehend its meaning. Many of the children whose reading abilities decline as the materials get more difficult are encountering eye functional problems that cannot be discovered by the school's Snellen Chart distance vision test.

The visual problems that affect reading and learning are varied. They include:

- the inability to use the two eyes simultaneously for a prolonged period
- the inability to focus and refocus from the blackboard to the printed page
- eyes that are turning out -- looking in different directions -- thus sending different messages to the brain

Few children complain, unless they have frequent headaches or see double. Therefore, the safest way to detect a youngster's vision problems is through a regular, complete eye examination.

Suggest safety changes for Mackinac Bridge

The Mackinac Bridge should have a higher, inward-curving guardrail and be equipped with wind monitors and digital monitors recommending appropriate speed for motorists, according to a report released by the State Affairs, Tourism and Transportation Committee.

The report, which includes 4 recommendations for the bridge, is the result of testimony from a committee hearing last month.

Meanwhile, the State Police released the results of its investigation into the fatal accident of Sept. 22, when a woman drove her car over the Mackinac Bridge. The investigation concluded that the vehicle, driven by a Royal Oak woman, was traveling too fast for conditions.

In the report, committee chair Sen. Richard Fessler (R-West Bloomfield), lauded the Mackinac Bridge Authority for its "remarkable record of safety and maintenance" since the bridge opened 35 years ago. "I feel, however, that with the circumstances surrounding the accident, and the advent of fall and winter, this interim report needs to be presented to insure the safety of all those who travel across the Mackinac Bridge," Fessler said.

Walter North, administrator of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, said he did not want to make a comment on the committee's recommendations until he had seen the reports from the committee and the State Police.

"Until we have the report, it's pretty hard to make a response to a recommendation. It's hard to evaluate something unless you have the criteria to evaluate it," he said.

Robert Morris, legislative liaison for the Department of Transportation, also declined comment until viewing the report. "We're looking forward to seeing that report and one by the House subcommittee (which is also investigating the bridge)," he said. "I feel confident we'll be able to work on many of the recommendations."

The committee's recommendations are as follows:

- The Mackinac Bridge Authority should adopt a written manual which details the procedures to be followed by bridge officials during inclement weather conditions. This manual should contain criteria for the restriction of travel on, or the closure of the bridge.
- There should be no less than 5 wind monitors located on the bridge. These monitors should be placed at both approaches and above, below and even with the road surface at the center span of the bridge.

- There should be at least 3 digital read-out monitors located at the approaches and the center of the bridge. These digital monitors should display the wind velocity and an appropriate speed recommendation for traffic. These recommendations should be broken down into 2 categories: all vehicles and sub-compacts.
- The current 36-inch outer railing should be replaced by an inward-curving railing no less than 48 inches high. A lightweight median barrier to prevent lane crossover should also be installed.

The State Police investigation into the accident indicated that the victim was operating her 1987 Yugo at an estimated speed of between 55 and 63 mph. The posted speed limit on the bridge is 45 mph.

According to investigators, the vehicle was traveling northbound on the bridge when the vehicle's left side tires jumped the 4-foot high barrier which separates the north and south-bound lanes.

The vehicle returned to the northbound lanes, rotated clockwise across the 2 lanes, then struck the lower guardrail with the right front portion of the car.

The vehicle continued in a northeasterly direction over the lower guardrail, then climbed a second, higher guardrail. The front of the vehicle went over the second guardrail and struck a support girder below the railing. The vehicle struck the top railing once again before falling into the water.

Thanksgiving time for family

Most everyone knows that the Thanksgiving celebration can be traced back to when the Plymouth colonists first settled in on the new land.

Thanksgiving Day was made an official holiday by President Lincoln in 1863 when he proclaimed the last Thursday in November a day to give thanks, making the event a legal holiday.

However, 75 years later, President Roosevelt in an effort to help business by lengthening the shopping period before Christmas ruled that after 1941 Thanksgiving would be celebrated on the 4th Thursday of the month.

And although the date of the holiday has changed it has always remained a time for family, according to your neighbor Kim Wald.

"I'll be cooking my first traditional Thanksgiving dinner," says the 22-year-old Cass City resident.

Wald, who is planning on serving turkey with all the fixings, jokingly told us that her first gobble day meal has a little extra significance.

"I'll be cooking for both our in-laws," says Wald who works as a receptionist at Sampson & Delilah Hair Salon in Cass City.

Adding, the 1985 graduate of Cass City High School said, "the day should be a lazy one, just spending time with relatives that you ordinarily wouldn't get a chance to see."

Wald and her husband Sam, an electrician with Dow Chemical in Midland, have one child, Jason, 13 months old.

Charge 62-year old man for sexual assault

A 62-year-old Cass City man arraigned last month on 4 counts of Criminal Sexual Conduct (second degree) was charged Monday with 4 assaulting Joel Stoick with a pistol Aug. 30 in Wells Township.

Robert H. Avery, 18, 2661 W. Deckerville Rd., Caro, was arraigned on a charge of unlawfully driving away an auto belonging to Robert D. Spencer Nov. 9 in Caro.

His preliminary exam also was set for 9 a.m. Nov. 29. Bond was set at $7,500.

A Tuscola County Jail inmate was arraigned earlier last week on a charge of escape from a misdemeanor jail sentence Nov. 11.

Bond for the defendant, David K. Curtis, 19, of Caro, was set at $10,000. A preliminary exam was scheduled for 9 a.m. today (Wednesday).

Also arraigned recently is Shawn L. LaBean, 18, of Millington, who is charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile, furnishing false identification to a police officer and having no driver's license (never applied).

A preliminary exam in the case was to have been held last week. Bond was set at $5,000.

The offenses allegedly occurred Nov. 6 in Vassar Township and involved a vehicle owned by Patricia Kula, records state.

Also facing a charge of first degree Criminal Sexual Conduct is a 16-year-old Caro resident, whose bond was set at $30,000. A preliminary exam will be held Nov. 29 at 9 a.m.

Court records state the youth is charged with engaging in sexual penetration with a person under the age of 13 years May 28 in Elmwood Township.

Caro resident Randy E. Dibble, 38, 750 S. Murray Rd., was arraigned on one count of assault with a dangerous weapon. He faces a preliminary exam at 9 a.m. Nov. 29. Bond was set at $5,000.

According to court records, Dibble is charged with

Task force to study child care

A governor's task force on child care began a planned 90-day study recently, with a goal of fostering partnerships between government and employers to improve the availability and affordability of services for working parents.

Governor James J. Blanchard said the 25-member group was appointed to deal with problems facing a workforce that increasingly includes 2-income and single-parent households.

The task force, chaired by the governor and his wife Janet, is charged with developing recommendations to encourage partnerships between the governments and private employers for better child care.

Blanchard said he does not envision employers being required to provide or support child care, but believes voluntary methods will work.

"An overwhelming percentage of the people need a good standard of child care. It affects the ability of the employer to attract a high quality employee," the governor said. He noted mothers with children are the fastest-growing segment of the work force.

Rep. Debbie Stabenow (D-Lansing), a task force vice chair who is chair of the Economic Development and Energy Committee, said she is looking at the issue as one of economic development.

The other vice chair is Blue Cross Blue Shield chief Financial Officer Robert Nafaty, who is a former director of the Department of Management and Budget.

Janet Blanchard said 65 percent of the persons entering the workforce through the year 2000 are expected to be women, adding, "Increasingly, these parents will place child care, parental leave and maternal leave high on their list of employment benefits and priorities."

20 Acres clear land, near Cass City. Deep well, septic, electric hook-up. Ready for a mobile home.

39 Acres near Cass City. Great building site on M-53. Best deer hunting in the area, maybe the whole state. This parcel could be split in two, 19 acres and 20 acres.

40 Acres near Cass City, 10 acres clear, 30 acres wooded with N.B. of Cass River running through back of property. Excellent deer hunting area. Sportsmen, this kind of property is getting hard to find. "Act now!"

15 Acres wooded with a beautiful modular home (3 bedroom), tenant house (1 bedroom) to rent out and a 24x40 pole building. Close to Cass City.

50 Acres, 40 acres tillable. Has 1000 sq. ft. home, frame construction with aluminum siding. Located in prime deer hunting area. S.B. of Cass River runs through west side of property. Beautiful and private.

23 1/2 Acres near Cass City, all wooded. This parcel has excellent building potential with approximately 1200' of river frontage.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

Dep't of Language: Michigan prisons will have a system to punish unruly inmates. They will take away perks from those who are naughty. Senator Welborn of Kalamazoo explains:

"It's going to provide a disincentive to prisoners from engaging in misconduct behavior..."

In other words, what we are doing is to disincentivize the prisoners to impact their behaviorizing misconduct.

Public official quoted in The County Press of Lapeer, Mich.: "I hope and pray we all come out of this with our reputations highly intact."

From another official, same paper: "The general consensus is..."

The paper's publisher, Bob Myers, who frequently rails against language abuse, was quoted in a story about a couple of reporters being added to the staff: "These hires will help us keep going in that direction."

A Ralph Nader associate in explaining Nader's prediction of soaring gasoline prices and long lines at gas stations this summer: "We totally underestimated..."

From the Traverse City Record-Eagle: "...nearly imminent." Jennifer Birdsong, my associate, quips: "That's like calling a prospective mother in her 7th month 'very pregnant.'"

The president of the Institute for Liberty & Democracy racy in a letter to the Wall Street Journal: "The point of my article...was to propose that unless certain reforms to promote public participation and government accountability are introduced as an integral part of structural adjustment plans, all actors playing in a mercantilistic society will adapt to its practices and impede transition to a competitive economy."

Teens in Business Discover Credibility is Hard to Learn

This was the head on a story in the Wall Street Journal. The first 8 paragraphs of the story concerned a 22-year-old man.

Sam Donaldson on the Sam & Diane show hassled Malcolm Forbes for spending so much money on his birthday party overseas. Sam be-moaned the $2 million spent on such a frivolous bash. Well, that's about the same amount CBS pays Sam each year, and it produces considerably less enjoyment than Forbes' birthday party.

Gov. Dukakis' universal health insurance in Massachusetts is already in trouble, which is scarcely news. The socialists are phasing in a law that employers of more than 5 persons who don't provide health insurance must pay up to $1680 a year per employee for the plan.

I think of all the mom-and-pop stores, all the little plants and one-horse businesses that $1680 a year per worker could bankrupt.

That's a raise of 84 cents an hour, or about 20% more for the run-of-the-mill worker in these small enterprises.

My pretty niece, Meredith, who works with the Aid to Dependent Children bureau in northern California, sends me a few excerpts from letters the Welfare department has gotten:

1. Mrs. Jones has not had any new clothes for a year and has been visited by the clergy regularly.

2. I am glad to report that my husband who was missing is dead.

3. In accordance with your instructions I have given birth to twins in the enclosed envelope.

Ol' Doc Ruhmann, once my boss at First National in Lapeer, calls to chide me on arithmetic in a column about zero-coupon bonds. He said imputed interest on a bond priced at 22, for two years at 7% would be $3.19. The column had it at $3.30. Actually, 2 years compounded each 6 months would be $3.25. Don't you have something better to do than read this?

After visiting Niagara Falls early in October, Joe and Theresa Nevarez and Becky and Rudy Alviso of Monterey Park, Calif., visited relatives and friends in the area, spending 10 days. They spent time with Joan Lopez and visited Nat Benitez. During their stay, Anita Chesher of Indianola, Iowa, came and attended a reunion of Alumni Nurses at St. Mary's in Saginaw. Margarita Roberts of St. Clair Shores also visited.

Visitors last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pisarek Sr. were Mrs. Pisarek's brother, Father Mitchell Darmafol, of Our Lady Queen of Angels parish in Detroit, and a nephew and family, the James Darmafols of Westland.

On their way to an appointment in Cass City, Mr. and Mrs. Wen Birch were callers last Monday at the home of the Harry Kehoes.

ST. AGATHA WOMEN

Tuesday evening, Nov. 14, St. Agatha Women's Society met in the church hall with 23 members attending.

The meeting opened with prayer by Jackie Goodell and members answered roll call with "my favorite cookie."

President Nel Wald conducted the business meeting and plans were made for the Dec. 10 breakfast and annual Christmas drawing. Since the monthly parish breakfasts have been discontinued, the Women's Society will sponsor this one with a little different menu, featuring baked egg dishes.

An exciting event of the evening was the announcement by Mabel Lenda of the birth of her twin grandsons. They were born in Saginaw to Mr. and Mrs. Greg Lenda of Cass City.

For the program, members brought and displayed wedding pictures, old family photos and heirlooms.

The meeting closed with a prayer by Vernita Comment and hostesses Agatha LaFave, Helen Stock and Mamie Russell served coffee and dessert.

Elma Miklovich, Stella Leyva and Johanna Miklovich visited Trisha Roth in Linwood and had dinner at Kryziaks in Bay City.

While her mother, Shirley Lenhard, is recuperating after surgery, Sue Lenhard arrived from Louisiana to spend a week. Mary Lenhard of Saginaw also spent the week and the Tim Lenhards of Howell visited Sunday.

In the snowy weather Thursday, 7 persons attended the monthly group breakfast at Nel's Coffee Shop.

The funeral of Miss Carolina Cantu took place Friday at St. Agatha's Church. Some of those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lopez of Lapeer, Rich Lopez of Millington and Margarita Roberts of St. Clair Shores.

Gerry Carolan was the overnight guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Gary and Mary Carolan of Marlette Saturday. Sunday they attended Tootsie Van Kelly's show at Annabelle's in Sebewaing.

The Gagetown Methodist Women held their annual Christmas bazaar and luncheon in the church hall Saturday.

Floyd Pray of West Branch came Sunday and will spend the winter months with his daughter and son-in-law, Cathy and Fred Sullivan.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Comment entertained Sunday for an early Thanksgiving. Their dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Turner and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Turner and daughters of Cass City, and Mr. and Mrs. Rick Turner and daughters of North Branch.

Sister Nancy Ayotte hosted the second St. Agatha van excursion when she was joined by several parishioners and they attended the annual Christmas Tour of Homes in Bay City Sunday.

Obituaries

Carolina Cantu

Miss Carolina Cantu, 79, of Gageton died Wednesday, Nov. 15, at Provincial House after a lengthy illness.

She was born Aug. 5, 1910, in Mexico, the daughter of Manuel and Everarda Cruz Cantu. Miss Cantu came to this area from Texas.

She was a member of St. Agatha Catholic Church of Gageton and was a past member of the Guadalupe Society of Pigeon.

Miss Cantu is survived by one sister-in-law, Mrs. Sara Cantu of Alice, Texas; 4 nephews, Carlos Cantu, Noe Cantu, Ricardo Cantu Jr. all of Alice, Texas, Lois Cantu of Lawton, Okla.

Four brothers and 2 sisters preceded her in death.

A prayer service was held Thursday evening at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City.

Funeral services were conducted Friday at St. Agatha Catholic Church of Gageton with Rev. Julius Spleet and Sister Nancy Ayotte, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in St. Agatha Cemetery, Gageton.

Lou Ann Herman

Mrs. Lou Ann Herman, 37, of Caro died Saturday, Nov. 18, at St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw after a brief illness.

She was born July 4, 1952, in Cass City, the daughter of Richard and Glennola (Terbush) Root.

Miss Root was married to Jay Herman Aug. 24, 1985, in Cass City, and they made their home in Caro.

Mrs. Herman, a 1974 graduate of Alma College, was employed as a lab technician at Hills and Dales General Hospital in Cass City and she attended the Ellington Church of the Nazarene.

She is survived by her husband, Jay; one daughter, Alisa Kristine, and one son, Jay Michael, both at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Root of Cass City; one brother, Michael Root of Gageton, and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Leola Terbush of Cass City.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 11 a.m. from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. David E. Lewis, pastor of the Ellington Church of the Nazarene, officiating.

Interment will be in Elkland Cemetery, Cass City.

Memorials may be given to the children.

Kenneth Sweet

Kenneth E. Sweet, 77, of Lapeer, died Friday, Nov. 10, at Lapeer Regional Hospital.

Funeral services were held Monday, Nov. 13, at the Muir Brothers Funeral Home with Pastor Richard Menzing officiating.

Burial was in Elkland Cemetery, Cass City.

Memorials may be made to the Faith Christian Church or the American Cancer Society.

Mr. Sweet was a retired GMPD employee.

Surviving are his wife, Rhea (Seeger); one son, James K. of Lapeer, and one brother, Harvey of Lapeer.

Dwain Vollmar

Dwain C. Vollmar of Elmwood Road, Caro, died Sunday in Lewiston at the age of 62.

He was born Dec. 6, 1926, in Tuscola County, the son of Opal Vollmar and the late Otto Vollmar.

A farmer and U.S. Army veteran, he was married to the former Helen Smakowski June 5, 1948, in Colling. He was a member of the Tuscola County Farm Bureau and a former member of the Elmwood Township Board.

He is survived by his wife, Helen Vollmar; one daughter, Mrs. James (Diane) LaPratt of Unionville; 3 sons, Gary and his wife, Barb, and Dale Vollmar and Randy Vollmar, all of Cass City; 3 grandchildren, Michele LaPratt, Duane LaPratt and Christopher Dorland; his mother, Opal Vollmar of Pigeon; 7 brothers and sisters, and several nieces and nephews.

Preceding him in death were his father, Otto, in 1984, and one brother, Frederic, in 1966.

Funeral services are scheduled for 2 p.m. today (Wednesday) at Collon Funeral Home in Caro, with the Rev. Gary Groth officiating.

Burial is to be in Indianapolis Township Cemetery.

Memorials may be made to the charity of the giver's choice.

Vernier promoted in Army

Roger E. Vernier, son of James E. Vernier of 8601 Bridge Lake Road, Clarkston, and Phyllis M. Vernier of Cass City, has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of specialist.

Vernier is a chemical operations specialist with the 56th Field Artillery in West Germany.

He is a 1987 graduate of Clarkston High School.

State funding set

Commissioners approve co-op dispatch program

Tuscola County commissioners last week gave Sheriff Tom Kern the okay to proceed with a cooperative dispatch program in the county.

The authorization is contingent on the state's agreement to provide $44,000 in funding for the program, which Kern hopes will begin operations next spring.

Under the cooperative dispatch proposal, the sheriff's department will begin dispatching for the state police as well as continuing to dispatch for local police departments, ambulance services and fire departments in the county.

In addition, a second employee will be added to man the dispatch office during peak hours.

Operational and administrative boards will be created to oversee the cooperative dispatch, which will pave the way for a smooth transition to a 911 system down the road, Kern said. He added that he hopes to get the new dispatch system underway in March.

In other business last week, the board accepted the resignation of Assistant Prosecutor Fred Overdier, effective Dec. 1, and authorized the prosecutor to fill the vacancy.

A motion to use contractual services for janitorial cleaning at the courthouse, beginning Jan. 1 at a cost not to exceed $8,500, was rejected on a vote of 4-3.

Commissioners Michael Green, Kim Glaspie, Arnold Krummner and Chairman William Worth cast the "no" votes, while commissioners Robert Russell, Terry Houthoofd and Norma Bates were in favor of the measure.

Currently, county Controller Michael Hoagland said, a full-time maintenance employee handles janitorial work at the courthouse. The proposed change wouldn't have eliminated a job, but rather would have shifted that individual to other duties, he said.

Also during the Nov. 14 regular meeting, commissioners:

*Hired Rita Abke as a secretary for the Thumb Narcotics Unit at a starting pay rate of $7.25. The pay figure will increase to $7.50 after 6 months.

In other personnel-related matters, commissioners authorized the register of deeds to hire temporary help from Dec. 4 through Feb. 2 due to the maternity leave of Edna Wilder; hired Marie Swick as a part-time general office clerk in the county District Court office at a beginning rate of $6.186 per hour; hired Cathy Shoens as a part-time general office clerk in the District Court probation and magistrate offices at a starting rate of $6.186 per hour, and approved a lease agreement with Beckie Obermiller for cleaning of the Cooperative Extension Building at a rate of $238 per month.

*Approved the transfer of $128,997 from the voted Bridge Fund to the County Road Fund for bridge repairs.

*Approved a low bid of $3,244 from Discount Office, Sandusky, for office supplies, and a low bid of $2,495 from Reid Paper, Saginaw, for paper supplies. Also approved was purchase of a jurors answering machine at a cost of $430.

*Authorized the signing of a right-of-way agreement with Sun Operating Limited Partnership for a parcel of land located along Dutcher Road in Fairgrove Town-

New books at the library

CALIFORNIA GOLD by John Jakes (fiction). Mack Chance is the hero of this rags to riches novel set in California between 1886 and 1921. He arrives in California as a penniless youth determined to make it big in America's westernmost promised land. Undergoing hardships, Mack quickly amasses a fortune in the oil business, then goes on to make even more money in growing oranges, real estate, and movie-making. He seems rather bland compared to the company he keeps, which includes the likes of Leland Stanford, John Muir, Jack London, William Randolph Hearst, and Max Sennett. Good reading.

IT WAS ON FIRE WHEN I LAY DOWN ON IT by Robert Fulghum (non-fiction). This is a collection of essays. The stories remind us that there is a clownish facet in everyone's character, one of the traits that makes us human. In other entries, the author describes the joys of climbing trees and of overcoming the hassles that threaten a great Christmas pageant. The stories beguile and educate, whatever the subject, but most moving is Fulghum's short biography of John Pierpont who died at age 81, and failed at everything despite promising beginnings.

CONFESSION OF JOE CULLEN by Howard Fast (fiction). Joe Cullen, a pilot, walks into a New York City police station and confesses to the murder of a priest in Honduras. Cullen's story is bought by 2 cops and by a compassionate DA but squelched when it arrives in Washington, D.C. Evidently, Cullen has been running guns into Honduras and cocaine back to Texas, all under the apparent approval of the U.S. military. His return home finds him ready to confess his misdeeds, and a hooker and a minor league police detective become part of the dangerous action.

HEALTH TIPS

Winter cold can be exhilarating

The big chill has set in and could be hazardous to your health if you don't take precautions:

- *Dress warmly, using layers of clothing
- *Keep hands, feet and head warmly covered
- *Don't drink alcoholic beverages

This advice comes from Dr. Larry Sell, medical director and senior vice-president at Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan.

Older people especially, says Dr. Sell, must be aware of the cold even when they are inside their homes because they are more susceptible to hypothermia, a condition when body temperature drops to 95 degrees or lower as a result of thorough chilling. Hypothermia can lead to death in some cases.

Layering of garments, whether you're inside or outside, is best because it allows warm pockets of air to form between each layer of clothing. That keeps you much warmer than a single heavy garment. Fabric choice is important too. Goose down, for example, is fine when it's dry, but once wet, loses a great deal of its insulating power. Wool, on the other hand, continues to insulate even when wet.

A hat and scarf are essential in cold weather, as are mittens - warmer even than heavy gloves - and cotton or wool socks, boots or rubbers. That's because about 40 percent of body heat is lost through hands, feet and head.

A drink of alcohol may seem to spread a warm glow through your body, but that warm glow comes from the alcohol dilating the blood vessels, which brings more blood to the surface to be exposed to the cold. That warm glow soon changes to even greater chilling.

Frostbite is another cold weather danger. It occurs when cellular fluid, skin and tissue beneath the skin freezes after exposure to cold air - another reason to wear mittens.

Skin that becomes red and then pale, or with yellowish-white spots probably is frostbitten. Mild frostbite can be treated by heating the affected areas with warm hands. Frostbitten hands can be warmed by placing them under your armpits.

Severe cases of frostbite are characterized by bluish or purplish skin, swelling, large blisters and blood clots. Deep frostbite can affect skin all the way to the bone and requires immediate medical attention, Dr. Sell counsels.

The elderly should be in rooms heated to 70 degrees Fahrenheit, or they should dress warmly in sweaters and socks. A hat or cap is also a good idea. And plenty of blankets on the bed are advisable.

Some medications could interfere with the body's ability to feel cold, so older persons on medication should check this with their doctors.

To learn whether a person has hypothermia, take his or her temperature. Be sure to shake the thermometer down to 90 degrees so that if the temperature is below normal, it will be recorded. A physician should be called if hypothermia is suspected. Despite these warnings, if you include brisk walking that keeps the blood circulating, and return to a heated building when you begin to feel chilled, winter cold can be exhilarating and good for your health.

Recommended Pain Relievers

Earlier this year, 1,500 pharmacists practicing throughout the United States were asked which pain relievers they routinely recommend to customers. Results of the survey were published in the July, 1989 issue of American Druggist. Recommendations were:

Adult Analgesics: Chain pharmacists listed Advil (ibuprofen) most often, while independent pharmacists recommended Percogesic.

Pediatric Analgesics: Independent and chain store pharmacists listed Tylenol (acetaminophen) most often for use in children.

Arthritis Pain: Advil was recommended most often by both groups of pharmacists for the relief of arthritis-related pain.

Menstrual Pain: Independent community pharmacists recommended Midol most often for menstrual pain, while chain store pharmacists recommended Advil.

Sales of pain relievers, including the external analgesics for muscle pain, are expected to exceed $2.7 billion in 1989. Of all the health and beauty aids sold in pharmacies, pain relievers rank near the top.

Award winners announced at annual 4-H Fall Achievement

The annual Sanilac County 4-H Fall Achievement awards gathering was held Nov. 8 at the county conference room in Sandusky, with more than 100 4-H members, leaders, parents and guests in attendance.

Among the area residents honored during the program was Jeff Gillig of Decker (Lucky Stars 4-H Club), who received the "I Dare You Award." The award is given in recognition of personal integrity, balanced living and motivation for leadership.

Becky Fischer of Snover (Germania Silver Stars 4-H Club) received the Outstanding Woodworking Award. Sponsored by John Agar, the honor is given to youth who have made a significant development in their woodworking skills.

Other awards presented to area 4-Hers for outstanding achievement in their respective project areas were:

Achievement: Judy Matthews, Decker, Evergreen Guys and Gals 4-H Club, and Jeff Gillig, Arts and Crafts; Jeff Gillig and Kara King, Cass City, Evergreen Guys and Gals 4-H Club. Crocheting: Julie Matthews, Decker, Evergreen Guys and Gals 4-H Club. Foods and Nutrition: Dennis King, Decker, Lucky Stars 4-H Club. Horticulture (indoor, landscaping, etc.): Dennis King and Julie Matthews. Horticulture (vegetables): Julie Matthews and Jim Matthews, Decker, Evergreen Guys and Gals 4-H Club. Leadership: Dennis King. Public speaking: Dennis King. Sewing: Kara King. Woodworking: Jim Matthews.

The program had a special international emphasis, with Holbrook Helpers 4-H Club members Matthew Ropp, Sandusky, Toni Warner, Marlette, and Jeff Doerr, Ubly, speaking on their 4-H international experience in Japan last summer.

Current 4-H international exchange youth from Japan,

Shigeyuki Yokokawa and Soshi Imaizumi, spoke to the group about their experiences in Sanilac County. Both are attending Cass City High School through the year-long 4-H LABO program.

Also during the program, the Sanilac 4-H Royal Court was recognized for its responsibility of conducting the fall awards program. The court includes area 4-Hers Jeff Gillig (king) of Decker, Scott Janowiak of Argyle and Teresa Berden of Snover.

The 1989 District Program award winners for Sanilac County were recognized for their accomplishments in their project areas: Jeff Gillig—field crops, and Dennis King—horticulture. Jeff Gillig and Michelle Snow, Marlette, were named as state runners-up in their project areas.

Among those recognized for 4-H trip participation were Teresa Berden, Snover, Laing Superstars 4-H Club, and Neil Best, Snover, Lucky Stars 4-H Club (Citizenship Washington Focus); Heidi Best, Snover, Lucky Stars 4-H Club, and Benjamin King, Decker, Lucky Stars 4-H Club (American Heritage Conference); Neil Best and Dennis King (4-H Capitol Experience), and Neil Best (Your Future a Better Idea).

Also recognized were 4-H leaders for their years of service: 5 years—Veronica L. Dowling, Martha L. Draper, Suzanne M. McAllister, Catherine F. Nickens, Sharon R. Francel, Robert Henry, Louise M. Smith and Bonnie Wilson; 10 years—

James A. Alexander, Sherrie Armstead, Sally Jo Henry, Kenneth Janowiak, Karen M. King, Marilyn K. King, Diane L. Kautz, Everett Murdock, Wallace Murdock, Evon E. Nicklas, Ralph Simmons, Karen Tollefson and Carlotta M. Wedge; 15 years—Forrest S. Dowling, Shirley Dowling, Arla Eckenswiler, James Glover, Patricia McLaren and Judy M. Wallace; 20 years—William John Agar, Judy M. Doerr, Marge A. Heussner, William W. Westley and Dorothy J. Wood; 30 years—Laura M. Dale, and 35 years—Reta McQuarrie.

Matthew, David Purvis in Northwood auto show

Northwood Institute students and brothers, Matthew and David Purvis, both from Cass City, took part in the institute's 26th annual Automotive Industry Show, held Oct. 13, 14 and 15 at the Midland campus.

The theme of this year's show was "See Tomorrow—Today."

This student affair attracts thousands of spectators from Michigan and the automotive industry. The show is administered, promoted and conducted by Northwood students representing many of the college's business management curriculums.

Teams are organized for each car and truck line, both domestic and import, along with teams managing the automotive after-market segment of the show. The team captains and supporting crews compete and are judged on innovative planning, displays and product knowledge.

Matthew Purvis, who served as domestic chairman during the show, will earn a bachelor of business administration degree in management/automotive marketing, with a minor in accounting, upon graduation in May.

David served as business manager during the auto show. He also plans to graduate in May, earning a dual major degree in management/automotive marketing, with a minor in accounting, as well as an associate's degree in automotive marketing and heavy truck merchandising.

Both are the sons of Shirley Purvis of Cass City.

Farmers should test soil now

Area farmers are reminded to have their fields soil tested before winter sets in.

The fall test results will help in determining fertilizer needs for next year's crops. Technicians Dave Pape and Steve Bohn will pull and send the samples in to be tested.

Anyone interested in having fields soil tested can contact the Tuscola Soil Conservation District, 852 S. Hooper St. in Caro at 673-8174.

On Oct. 22, a subject was coon hunting in Arbela Township on property surrounded by Belsay, Swaffar and Murphy Lake Roads. His coon dog treed a coon, and as he was approaching the area, other coon hunters put a leash on his dog and took off with it.

The dog is a registered Redbone coon hound. It is a female almost 4 years old; and the registered name is PR "Bailey's Ember Len".

The dog which has a tattoo number in the ear (1992723) is all red except for a one-inch diameter white spot on the chest. Value of the animal is $1,500.

Anyone with any information can call 1-800-422-5245 or 673-8160 between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday thru Friday. Rewards will be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of this crime.

Dairy scholarships available at MSU

High school seniors who are interested in the dairy industry may be able to qualify for scholarships at Michigan State University.

The $1,000 scholarships are being offered by the Michigan Dairy Memorial Scholarship Foundation, Inc.

Russel Erickson, professor of animal science and secretary of the foundation, says the competitive scholarships are open to any high school senior who has been accepted for admission at MSU and who plans to pursue a career in dairy production or food science and human nutrition with an emphasis in dairy foods.

"The only prerequisite is that the student have a science background and will work within the dairy industry or in the food industry in an area that pertains to dairy production or dairy development and distribution," Erickson said. "A student does not need an agricultural background to develop a successful career in the dairy industry, and there is lots of opportunity in all phases of the industry."

The scholarships will be offered for the 1990 academic year at MSU. Applications are due by June 1. The scholarships will be awarded in July.

Applications need only to describe their purpose and reasons for pursuing a dairy or food science career and obtain letters of recommendation from their counselors or science teachers. The rationales will be evaluated by a committee in the MSU Department of Dairy Science.

Application forms are available from Erickson at the Department of Animal Science, 125C Anthony Hall, MSU, East Lansing, MI 48824-1225.

Down Memory Lane

From the files of the Chronicle

FIVE YEARS AGO

Barb Jackson, president of the Cass City Lioness Club, presented Lou LaPonsie with a check for $1,000 to be used to purchase picnic tables for the Lions Pavilion in the Cass City Recreation Park. Jackie Glaspie, vice-president of the Lioness Club, said that the money was earned through fund raising activities.

George Simmerlein, a 1984 graduate of Uby High School, was one of four Michigan students selected to perform with the National Future Farmers of America Band at the national convention in Kansas City, Nov. 4 to 11. Simmerlein is a freshman at Michigan State University studying agriculture maintenance.

Tom Coleman was the first hunter to arrive at the Chronicle office with a deer. Coleman, 22, Main St., Cass City, shot the buck at 7:30 a.m. on opening day of deer hunting season in the Cumber Rd. area near Gilbert Rd. It is the third deer that he has shot since he began hunting.

Grant Glaspie will retire as Cass City Postmaster Nov. 30, after 20 years of service. Glaspie and his wife, Jerri, have three children, Jan, Kim and Chris.

TEN YEARS AGO

First hunters to show up at the Chronicle opening day of deer season with their trophies were Don Ouvry of Woodland St. and Frank Kietlyka of Lamton Rd. Ouvry shot his 9-pointer, weighing about 185 pounds, about 7:20 a.m. east of Cass City. It was his fourth buck in six years. Kietlyka's first buck in eight years of hunting was shot at 7:50 on the family farm. The 6-pointer weighed about 140 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Hutchinson of Cass City were the winners in a contest sponsored by Albee Hardware. Dick Albee presented the Hutchinsons with tickets for a Caribbean Cruise.

Genevieve Freiburger was honored by the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club last Wednesday as its "Woman of the Year." A fifth grade teacher at Gagetown Elementary School, she taught school for two years prior to her marriage to Alger Freiburger and has since taught 25 years in the Owen-Gage school system.

Dwight Berridge of Clarkston spent from Wednesday through Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Berridge. He got a deer east of Cass City Saturday morning.

25 YEARS AGO

The current high scorers in the Hills and Dales Hospital Auxiliary bridge marathon are Mrs. Bernard Freiburger and Mrs. Robert Benkelman. Playing as partners in the tournament which began in September, the two women have run up a total score of 5,520 points to date.

The Cass City 4-H Wranglers will hold their annual Christmas party on Dec. 9 in the Cass City High School. Serving on the planning committee for the party are Dave McNaughton, Arlene Peasley, Margaret Toohey, Bev Harbec and Barbara Bustamante.

An overheated oil-burner stove started a fire Monday night which did some $200 in damage to the interior of a trailer in the Walnut Trailer Park. The trailer, owned by Henry Hergenreder of Kingston, was being rented by Joan Norton. Fire Chief Nelson Willy said the fire started when a wooden panel next to the stove caught fire.

Have In Common?

They were both surprised by a disability, but were prepared with Income Protection coverage from Time Insurance. Disability respects no age, sex or occupation, but these people planned ahead.

Income Protection offers basic, affordable coverage to insure your income... and the standard of living for you and your loved ones. Benefits are paid if you are sick or injured and unable to work.

Think about it — you insure your car and your home, but how would you pay the bills if you lost your income? Don't wait. Call (or write) today for more information on protection for your most valuable asset — your income.
