SANTA AND MRS. CLAUS arrived in Cass City Friday morning and found a host of kids waiting to greet him. Santa will make regular visits between now and Christmas with free candy. He will be in his house Fridays 6 to 8 p.m. and Saturdays 12 to 2 p.m.

Nothing is settled in O-G pre-school squabble

The Owen-Gage Developmental Preschool Program will continue to operate as it has pending further review.

That was the Board of Education's decision following a lengthy and at times heated discussion during a nearly 5-hour special meeting last week.

Legal opinions will now be sought regarding the relationship between the school district and the preschool program, school Supt. Harley Kirby said.

The Nov. 21 special session was called in hopes of settling conflicts between school officials and Diane Warack, director of the preschool program, now in its sixth year. Warack has said she always understood the preschool is part of the school district. Kirby, however, says the 2 are separate, although the district provides facilities for the program, contributes to the director's salary and serves as a sponsor so the preschool can receive state and federal funding.

Warack has proposed that the school adopt the program as part of the school system and offer her a contract, but that proposal and subsequent requests for board action have been tabled in recent months.

More recently, she closed the preschool down for 2 weeks, citing harassment by school administrators who, she said, have denied her use of the school phone during the day (except for emergencies), and denied her direct access to a school copy machine.

Although much of last week's session was centered around whether the preschool is part of the district, the discussion periodically strayed to other conflicts related to the issue.

SILENCE BROKEN

Warack's husband, veteran board member Joseph Warack, has kept his distance from the issue due to a possible conflict of interest. He broke his silence during last week's meeting, however, accusing the board of tolerating administrators' harassment of his wife.

Specifically, he cited ru- she wants to first see what doesn't feel the special edustarted by administrators garding her proposal. and passed on to some school board members that Diane misused the school phone and copy machine, and that she's "some sort of dragon lady" who goes around intimidating other Board members Jack Brinkman and Ron Good acknowledged hearing at least one of the rumors from the administration.

Warack pointed out he has proof refuting accusations, including the phone misuse He later comcharge. mented, "If there's any more lying or anything else on that order. . . I'll take it to court."

SCOLDED

Also during the special session, Board President Kretzschmer William scolded Warack for closing the preschool and organizing a meeting-requested and attended by a number of parents who have children in the preschool---to discuss why the program was temporarily shut down.

Kretzschmer remarked that any problems related to the schools should be discussed at board meetings. "That's what we're here for," he added.

The board president said he believes the preschool is good, but questioned whether the board ever formally adopted the program.

He also questioned Warack's decision not to run her program's revenues through the school's general fund for bookkeeping purposes this year as recommended by the district's Brinkman, the board's treasurer, said she agreed to do that, but no money has been received from the program this year.

Warack acknowledged she has withheld program funds, some of which are being used to pay the salary of her assistant. She explained that "You keep telling me I'm not part of this school system," Warack countered. "If I'm not part of the school system, why would I turn money into it?"

Kretzschmer suggested that if the board is going to take on the preschool, officials should first considers some other issues, including upcoming teacher contract negotiations and asbestos removal costs.

Kirby agreed, adding he doesn't think the district car. afford to take over the preschool at the expense of other school programs and Warack, however, said her proposal would not require anymore than the district already is contributing to the program.

Good suggested that the conflict might be resolved if the preschool could purchase a copy machine and install a telephone. He said he would like to see the program continue operating as it has.

Board members voted to table further action until they get a legal opinion on the issue.

The vote came following about 3 1/2 hours of discussion, nearly 2 hours of which was spent in executive ses-

Street projects up village budget 27%

The Cass City Village Council reviewed a proposed 1990 budget totalling $1,886,925 during its monthly meeting Monday

The plan represents a proposed spending increase of $512,505, or about 27 percent, over estimated actual 1989 expenditures. Much of that increase is due to 2 major street projects slated for next year.

The projects - - reconstruction of some 1,300 feet of North Seeger Street in front of Cass City High School, and paving and curb and gutter work along 2,100 feet of Doerr Road, between Garfield Avenue and Division Street - - will cost an estimated $520,000.

The village will pay the preliminary engineering costs ($45,000) and 25 percent of construction ($118,750) for the road work. The remaining 75 percent ($356,250) will be paid for with Federal Aid Systems monies, village Manager Lou S. LaPonsie explained.

Aside from the street work, cost increases and wages, planned spending in the village's various funds is generally in line with 1989 expenditures, village President L.E. Althaver noted.

The village's proposed 1990 General Fund is set at $765,000, up by $97,500, or 12.7 percent, over 1989.

Among the factors attrib uted to the increase are hikes in garbage disposal costs (up by $16,900) and transfers to other funds (up by $68,250, including $53,450 to the Major Street Fund).

On the revenue side, an additional $3,950 is expected in tax revenue appropriated to the General Fund and an increase of $22,825 is expected in refuse fees. Also noted was a $30,000 gift from the Evans Estate.

OTHER FUNDS

Other proposed 1990 village funds are the Major Street Fund, set at $578,700, compared to $67,500 in 1989 (increase due to street projects); Trunkline Maintenance Fund, set at $15,225; Local Street Fund, set at $63,800, compared to $178,700 in 1989 (no construction planned in 1990); Parking System Fund, set at $7,800, compared to $7,320 in 1989; Wastewater Treatment Fund, set at $282,200, compared to $268,750 in 1989; Water System Fund, set at $87,700, compared to $85,550 in 1989, and the Motor Vehicle and Equipment Fund, set at $86,500, compared to $99,100 over 1989 (capital investment spending decreased by $14,200).

Althaver and LaPonsie voiced concern over the Wastewater Treatment Fund and hinted that a sewer rate increase may be sought in the near future.

Althaver, who noted the fund is slated to receive a $14,200 subsidy from the General Fund next year -- an increase of $10,000 over 1989 - - said the fund should be able to pay its own a way. As it is, he added, costs continue to climb and water usage is down.

The council currently plans to "hold the line" on sewer rates, but may re-visit the area next year or possibly sooner, he continued.

In a related matter, the council set the village's date and time also were roll over. chosen for the council's next regular meeting.

RATE HIKE In other business during the the village's 1990 refuse household per month. contract was again awarded to Gateway Sanitation Services, Inc., Almont.

The contract, offered at a fixed rate of $7.50 per household per month for one year, represents an increase of 20 percent for village residents, who will pay $22.50 per quarter, compared to the previous rate of $18 per quarter.

The new rate is more than double what residents paid at the beginning of 1989, when the cost was $3.50 per Other companies vying for the local refuse contract were Cove Sanitation Service, Bad Axe, which bid $7.50 per household per month, and Pollard Disposal Inc., Montrose, which bid $15 per household per month.

Also Monday, the council: *Met in a 30-minute executive session to discuss a wage package for village employees.

Since I have my Christmas shopping done (Makes you hate me, doesn't it?), and since so many people seem to loathe the task, here are a few tips from a semiprofessional that might make it bearable, if not enjoyable.

Probably the biggest bane to shopping is lack of forethought and organization. If you don't start till December, you automatically become susceptible to the negative pressures of limited time, crowded stores needless running around by surliness of overtaxed salespeople, all of which can curb the joy of the shopping experience.

(Surly salespeople ought not to exist regardless of the day or hour, but alas, clerks are human and given to the ups and downs of human frailty. After all, they have to put up with cranky last minute shoppers.)

You don't necessarily have to start Christmas shopping the day after New Year's, but if you think gifts all year, watching for little clues as to the right present for the special people on your list, you can shop at your leisure and often find just what you're looking for on sale. For instance, when you notice that Dad's hunting coat is held together with safety pins and tape, it might inspire a gift idea. If Grandma's bunny slippers look like they're on their last legs, surely she could use a new pair.

Better be sure, though, that the item can be exchanged after Christmas, just in case. Most stores will gladly agree if you explain that it's a Christmas gift.

Once you've purchased the presents, keep all sales slips and price tags. Label an envelope with each person's name, write the name of the item on the sales slip and put it in the respective envelope. If something

"If It Fitz..."

Blame it on nostalgia

By Jim Fitzgerald

Today, in Detroit, to keep from falling downstairs in a saloon, I can grab hold of the same pillar I grabbed in Port Huron more than 40 years ago. The nostalgia is staggering, to use the appropriate word.

In the few hard-earned years of government-subsidized loafing after World War II, an unsightly group of weary veterans met regularly in the basement of the Harrington Hotel, a downtown Port Huron landmark, to get haircuts. I tried to be there every Saturday, speaking of landmarks.

I didn't need a haircut every Saturday, but the barbershop was across the hallway from the Tap Room, an ideal location for exercising battle-fatigued elbows while awaiting your turn in the barber's chair. The problem was sometimes you had to wait four or five weeks.

The barber wasn't that busy. He was an unusually accommodating fellow who didn't mind a request to lean into the hall and signal when it was your turn. But sometimes situational logistics made it necessary to tell the barber to skip you and take the next customer. You were in the middle of an interesting conversation or drink. and couldn't tear yourself away without upsetting Tap Room karma,

52-20 CLUB SET OWN PRIORITIES

As I recall, haircuts cost around $1, or 10 draft beers back then. The aforementioned government subsidies consisted mainly of a few dollars the veterans were supposed to spend on college textbooks, or the 52-20 Club — $20 a week paid for as long as you could manage to stay unemployed in a booming economy, or 52 weeks, whichever came

Sometimes these meager funds were wiped out in the Tap Room before logistics allowed you to answer the barber's beckon. When you could finally fit a haircut into your busy schedule, you couldn't afford it. My father often said I was the only person he knew who went downtown to get a haircut every Saturday morning and returned every Saturday night with longer hair.

Anyway, that was 1946 and '47 in the Harrington Hotel in downtown Port Huron. In January 1989, in Jacoby's Since 1904 saloon in downtown Detroit, a fire caused severe damage. Owner Ed Jacoby had a lot of rebuilding to do, and some of it was accomplished with building materials salvaged from closed, deteriorating structures many miles away.

You have guessed the rest. There were handsome wooden pillars along the stairway from the Harrington lobby to the Tap Room and barbershop. One of those pillars is on the stairway from Jacoby's main floor to the basement rest rooms.

Fortysomething years later, just a few blocks from his Detroit home, the old poop can keep from falling by clutching the same hunk of wood that kept him upright when he was a young squirt in Port Huron. Is this a great nation, or what?

DRINKING IN A DIFFERENT LIGHT

Of course, it should be added that if I ever stagger on Jacoby's stairs, it would be from old age and too much sauteed perch. Also, I don't mean to glorify the boozing of yesteryear. I'm a mature adult now and realize I should have been drinking milk shakes and jumping into the barber's chair the first time he beckoned.

But when I was 21, if someone had said I abused alcohol, I probably would have thought I was being accused of dropping a bottle of beer. Today's abusers, and the eadly consequences of their over indulgence, make it uncomfortable for a sensible drinker to extol the benefits of a before-dinner highball. The wrong people might be listening. Maybe it's safer just to keep quiet about enjoying a vodka and tonic. I disapprove of beer advertising on television, so where do I get off writing wisecracks about staggering on saloon stairways?

Blame it on nostalgia. It feels good to remember postwar silly excesses, even the willingness to booze on government subsidies. It certainly seemed like an earned benefit at the time. Our Tap Room group included only one veteran who could easily afford both beer and haircuts. His monthly GI checks were fatter than most, but he traded two legs if the former program had been retained. The good news is that the school is projected to be in its most robust financial condition in the last several years. Helped by an extra 2 "Sounds of the Season" mills for operation and an increase in state and federal aid, Supt. Ken Micklash is forecasting a balance at the

much, Micklash said. I like millage. to have at least 10 percent of the budget in the fund balance and many districts believe that more is advisable.

Not all costs at the school increased. Plant operation and maintenance decreased from $526,991 to $509,650. The reason, Micklash said, was that the cost of removing asbestos was eliminated. Although the district had voted a special levy for the work, the money was voted to the general fund. That money now becomes available for general purposes

Other interesting items in the budget show that the school meal program will be self-sufficient. Cost of operating the program has been reduced since the school decided to administer the program instead of having it leased to a catering firm.

Running the athletic department will cost an estimated $50,000 and the budget includes no money for capital outlay. Salaries for the various coaches is estimated at $50,000 for the Sheila Pawlak, who was recommended for the position by Athletic Director Dean Roller, the high school principal and varsity volleyball coach Judy Campbell.

Voting in favor of the motion were Brinkman, Tom Fritz, Walter Swiastyn and Mary Ann Abbe. Good and Warack abstained.

During discussion, Brinkman stated he had received calls from 6 parents who said their kids would not play if Pawlak, who is junior high basketball coach and has assisted with the school's volleyball programs, was hired as the coach.

Brinkman declined to be specific, but said the reason stated was Pawlak's treatment of the kids.

Pawlak, who indicated she was unaware of the complaints, said she was told by Roller that she already had the junior varsity coaching spot. She remarked that she has proven her dedication to coaching and that the board was ignoring the recommendation because of the personalities involved.

Trustee Mary Ann Abbe disagreed, saying she voted for Salcido because Pawlak already has a coaching job in the district.

Penn Central to purchase Carol

AMONG SCHOOLCHILDREN by Tracy Kidder (nonfiction). Christine Zajac teaches fifth grade in a racially mixed school in a poor district of Holyoke, Mass. About half of her students are Hispanic; many come from broken homes. This story focuses on Mrs. Zajac's career as a teacher and her influence as a model for her pupils. The book is also about Kelly School, its students, and its staff, with many personalities flashing through the book with memorable impact. Real-life educational problems - discipline, learning disabilities, social and psychological barriers, curricula, bureaucracies, and unions - also surface and Kelly School comes to exemplify the troubled course of American education today. Most of all, however, this is a very human story of an inspiring and untiring teacher, told so well and realistically that readers will cheer when, at the end, Mrs. Zajac herself is promoted to the sixth grade.

ST. VALENTINE'S NIGHT by Andrew M. Greenley (fiction). Famous TV reporter Neal Conner, covering the 1987 special mayoral election in hometown Chicago, attends a 30th grammar school reunion. His childhood sweetheart Megan has been recently widowed, and there is some mystery surrounding her husband's death in a car crash. Some $500,000 in cash is missing, and the dead man may have had a connection with organized crime. Neal begins a torrid affair with Megan, takes a temporary anchor job on a local station and follows an investigation that leads to Cuban drug dealers, the Mafia and the kidnapping of Megan's

SILVER WEDDING by Maeve Binchy (fiction). The arrangements for celebrating Desmond and Deirdre Doyle's forthcoming silver wedding anniversary fall to Anna, their eldest daughter, who works in a pretentious London bookshop. Anna proceeds to make a list of guests, most important of whom, besides her parents and herself, are her sister Helen, brother Brendan, and 3 other participants in the wedding ceremony: the best man, the maid of honor, and Father Hurley. Each chapter deals with one of these characters, detailing their lives in the 25 years since the Doyles' marriage. At the silver wedding celebration, when the obligatory photograph is taken for the family album, the reader knows well what fears and doubts, secrets and achievements lie behind the happy smiles.

Social Security to boost payments Jan. 3

Good news about the Social Security "cost-of-living" boost for next year. Your benefit check will go up 4.7%. If you now are getting say $1,000 a month, then your first check, due Jan. 3, 1990, will be $1047.

That amounts to $564 more for the year.

Now for the bad news. If you are working for somebody, the amount taken out of your pay check goes up from 7.51% to 7.65%. Say your pay is $1,000 a week, then deducted will be $76.50, up from $75.10 in 1989.

Not so bad? There's a catch: In 1989 you were taxed only on the first $48,000.

The 7.51% skim quit at $48,000, for a total of $3,604. In 1990 the new rate of 7.65% prevails until you have earned $50,400. $50,400 x 7.65% = $3855, your tax next year.

Your Social Security tax you pay directly will go up

HEALTH TIPS

This fat can kill you

If you thought that fat was only the ripples in your thighs or the rolls on your midriff, think again. Although excess weight is unhealthy, there is another kind of fat - - and it can kill you.

"Many adults think that just because they are thin or don't have a weight problem that they couldn't possibly have an increased level of fat or cholesterol in their bloodstream," says Barry A. Franklin, Ph.D., chairman of the American heart Association of Michigan's Exercise and Cardiac Rehabilitation Committee. "But it is in everyone's best intérest to have their cholesterol levels checked, regardless of their weight.'

Cholesterol is a soft, fatlike substance found among the fats in the bloodstream. Your body gets cholesterol in 2 ways - - from your liver and from the foods you eat. The cholesterol we get directly from foods, dietary cholesterol, is the type we can control.

An excessive level of cholesterol in the bloodstream can result in narrowing of the arteries. This narrowing, called atherosclerosis, is a major risk factor for heart and blood vessels disease, the nation's leading killer.

"You can control the amount of cholesterol you consume by knowing more about which foods are high in fat and cholesterol and by modifying your eating habits accordingly," says Fran-

Dietary cholesterol is found in foods from animals, such as red meat and whole milk dairy products.

Two types of dietary fats also play an important role in determining your cholesterol level: saturated fat, which can raise the level of cholesterol in the blood, and unsaturated fat, which can reduce blood cholesterol.

Saturated fats are found in animal products such as beef, veal, lamb, pork and ham; in butter, cream and whole milk, and in cheeses made from cream and whole milk. Saturated fats are also found in many solid vegetable shortenings, in coconut oil, cocoa butter, palm oil and palm kernel oil.

There are 2 types of unsaturated fats - - polyunsaturated and monounsaturated. Oils from vegetable products such as safflower and sunflower seeds, corn and soybeans are polyunsaturated. Monounsaturated fats are found in olive, canola and peanut oils and certain plants such as avocados.

The American Heart Association recommends that healthy Americans avoid eating too many foods containing saturated fat and cholesterol. Saturated fat intake should be limited to less than 10 percent of total daily calories and cholesterol intake to less than 300 milligrams per day. In addition, the AHA recommends substituting polyunsaturated and monounsaturated fat for saturated fat when possible, but remember not to eat too much of any kind of fat. Polyunsaturated fat should be limited to no more

"Just remember that cholesterol and saturated fat are hardest on your heart and that monounsaturated and polyunsaturated are the easiest," says Franklin.

Hawk wrestling team filled with first year performers

Coach Don Markel will have his work cut out for him if he expects to come close to the fine record the Cass City Red Hawk wrestling team posted last season when a 4-1 Thumb B Association and a 15-4 overall mark was achieved.

This year's team will be young with 6 or 7 weight classes filled by first year wrestlers.

Markel says that the squad will be relatively weak in the 103, 112, 119pound classes and in the 189 and 275-pound weights.

The problem facing the team is filling the shoes of some outstanding performers. Start with Bill Kappen who finished fourth in the state despite wrestling with an injury. Roger Root qualified for the state last season

Middle of pack finish?

Green Hawks in midst of rebuilding season

The basketball outlook at Cass City High School is different than it has been for at least 2 decades as Coach Ron Nurnberger starts his 16th season at the helm of the Hawks.

Although Cass City wasn't the favorite in all of the previous seasons the team was always considered one of the stronger entries in the Thumb B Association.

This year most league observers have consigned Cass City to the also-rans and many feel that a .500 season would be a betterthan-expected result.

The reason for this is the mass exodus of 6 of the top 8 players, including the starting 5, from last year's squad that was 10-4 in the TBA and 16-6 overall.

Graduation losses start with Mike Randall and Paul Tuckey, both all-area and all-conference performers. Gone is Jeff Krol, a 3-point shooting whiz, and Brent Beecher, a tough board man. Another graduated starter is Jeff Dillon who was the team leader in assists. Pat Murphy was the first man off the bench.

It's sure that Nurnberger would like to have any of those players back and especially the players that did the bulk of the rebounding for him. There are no tall players on the squad.

All of the Hawk forward wall will be inexperienced and will have players up from last year's 11-9 junior

They include Chris Herringshaw, 6-2 junior, who the coach says is a good shooter and quick on the fast break. If the Hawks are to hold their own on the boards it probably will be Steve Tuckey, 6-2 and husky, who will be required to carry the

Another prospect is Troy Perry, 6-2, who should improve with experience. The Hawks should hold their own in the backcourt where a pair of seniors with experience are back. They are Josh Constas, 5-9, point guard, and Jason Robertson, 5-10. The pair can provide the team with quickness that has been missing for a couple of

Two other players who showed promise from the JV squad will be backing up these veterans. They are Al Dadacki, 5-11, who can play both guard or forward, and Mark Irrer, 5-6 sophomore, who is ticketed as a point man and could be used when Robertson shifts to a forward post.

What we are aiming for this season, Nurnberger said, is steady improvement all year long. If we do, he added, we may be able to spring some surprises before the season is over.

The schedule maker didn't do the Hawks any favors. Most years the team opens with a non-conference game that schools use to get ready for the conference season ahead. Not so this year. The Hawks open at home against Vassar Tuesday and then meet Bad Axe and Millington in following

With a very green team it goes without saying that the coach would like to have a game under his charges' belts before launching the league year.

Not only is the season's opener a league game, it is also against one of the stronger squads in the league, Nurnberger believes. He ranks Vassar along with Millington, Caro and North Branch as teams to beat in the TBA.

Farmland values up 4 percent

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago has reported that farmland values in Michigan during the past year increased by 4 percent.

According to Michigan Farm Bureau economist Bob Craig, other states had somewhat stronger gains.

Your neighbor says

Wolverines will win Rose Bowl

The rose rush is on for the University of Michigan football Coach Bo Schembechler's gridders are heading for Pasadena following Saturday's 28-18 victory over Ohio State, which clinched the Big Ten title for the 10-1 Wolverines.

U-M will play Pac-10 champion Southern Cal in the January 1st meeting. A win would put Michigan in the history books as the first Big Ten team in history to win consecutive Rose Bowls.

Despite Schembechler's 2-7 Rose Bowl record, your neighbor, Chris Peters of Cass City, is certain the Wolverines will return victorious from the west coast.

"You bet they'll win," stated the 25-year-old Peters, adding, "Bo is out of his losing Rose Bowl streak."

Peters, a 1982 graduate of Cass City High School, doesn't believe Michigan's chance to become immortalized will figure into the game's outcome.

"It (the record) will have nothing to do with the outcome of the game. They're just a tough team with a chance to win the national championship.

To win, Peters, who is planning an April wedding with Cass City resident Val Langenburg, feels the Wolverines will have to open their offense up a little more than they did against Ohio State.

They were a little conservative Saturday," thought Peters, who also believes Michigan possesses the best running quarterback in college football.

Chris is the son of Anton and Marilyn Peters.

Reports state vehicles driven by Richard L. Cross Jr. and Steven A. Hammett, both of Cass City, collided Saturday evening on Main Street east of Oak Street.

Both vehicles were eastbound, with Cross in the right lane and Hammett in the left lane, when the 8:30 p.m. mishap occurred, according to police, who said Cross switched to the left lane, slowed for a vehicle in front of him and was struck from behind by Hammett's vehicle.

Earlier last week, a vehicle driven by Julianne R. Tracy, 4286 Oak St., Cass City, pulled into the path of and collided with another vehicle on Seeger Street north of Pine Street.

Tracy entered Seeger Street from the Chemical Bank drive-through at about 3:30 p.m. last Wednesday and failed to yield the right of way to a northbound vehicle driven by Brenda K. Stover, 4455 West St., police said.

A 2-vehicle mishap occurred Nov. 20 at the intersection of Church and Weaver streets.

According to reports, John R. Pitcher of East Detroit was northbound at about 11:30 p.m. when he pulled into the path of an eastbound vehicle driven by Scott P. Dillon, 3442 E. Cass City Road.

Report claims insurance rates can be rolled back rates can be rolled back in Michigan from 10 to 29 percent without a reduction in benefits by reducing companies' "hidden profits," according to a report released by the Michigan Citizens Lobby.

But insurance industry spokespersons denied that they are realizing a financial windfall and claimed the report is a ploy to increase membership.

The Citizens Lobby claims rates can be rolled back through savings in profits, operating expenses and incurred losses through reserving. "It's clear from our findings that there will be savings for drivers throughout Michigan," said Brian Johnson, MCL economic policy director and author of the report.

"When excess profits, bloated administrative expenses and overestimation of incurred losses are all factored in, there's plenty of savings to go around."

But Gary Mitchell, communications director for Professional Insurance Agents of Michigan, said that auto rates in Michigan only increased 2.3 percent in 1987 and 1.7 percent last year. "Where is the excessive profits? It's non-existent," he said.

Tom Hoeg, legal counsel for the Michigan Insurance Federation, questioned the actuarial soundness of the report.

"This is a membership the past years of rate goug-Automobile insurance drive by a membership organization," he said.

Johnson attributed what he called the insurance industry's "hidden profits" to overestimation of incurred losses. "They really end up in the profit column down the road because they underestimate their reserves," he said. "Overestimation of losses is really a hidden profit."

Hoeg, discounting that statement, said reserves are a liability. "You don't earn investment income from your reserve," he said.

Mitchell, who said MCL is attacking auto insurance companies because "it's sexy," said insurers have never said they are opposed to rollbacks in premiums. But such rollbacks could only be accomplished by including the auto repair companies, along with the legal and health community.

Johnson said a lack of competition among insurers - 5 companies write twothirds of the state's policies -- means companies are more inclined to overcharge and increase expenses. "When you have a situation like that, there is no incentive to lower rates," he said. MCL President Richard Stoddard said that while insurance company representatives may claim that they cannot afford a rollback, "the immediate premium relief we support represents a modest refund to

Johnson said copies of the report are being made available to members of the Legislature to help convince them of the feasibility of a rate rollback. Stoddard said he would "prefer to work with the Legislature" for such a rollback, but if the Legislature appears unwilling to respond, he said MCL will look into a referendum

Such a determination will have to be made by February of next year to make next November's ballot, he said.

POVERTY

Poverty is closely linked to an increased risk of childhood death, according to a joint study of child mortality in Michigan released recently.

Department leaders said the report will likely lead to further action to reduce those mortality rates.

According to the study, "Lifelines for Children:

ing. For all their talk about Child Mortality in Michigan," children who lived in poverty were 2.5 times more likely to die than other children. Depending on the cause of death, poor children were as much as seven times more likely to die than other children.

The study, which was completed by the Departments of Public Health and Social Services and the Office of Children and Youth Services, also found the mortality rates for black male children were higher than the nation's for the same group in suicide, perinatal conditions and homi-

'Until now our information has been anecdotal," said Public health Director Raj Wiener, "but this study gives us the tangible data that will drive policy decisions to prevent the unnecessary loss of our children."

"We have already taken ambitious steps to reduce preventable childhood deaths in Michigan," said DSS Director C. Patrick Babcock. "This report will provide a foundation for

Rawson Library officials seek financial support

Increasingly tough financial times have prompted Rawson Memorial Library officials to ask members of the community for a helping hand.

Letters are being sent to library supporters in an attempt to make them aware of the library's needs as well as the tax advantages of giving gifts to libraries.

"Even with several nice contributions that were received recently, Rawson Memorial Library will spend about $4,000 more than what is anticipated for income in 1989," library Director Barbara Hutchinson said. "With expenses expected to increase by 5 percent just to maintain the same level of service, the deficit is projected to be several thousand dollars higher in 1990."

Hutchinson pointed out that Michigan Public Act 322 allows individuals to take a credit against their state income tax equal to 50 percent of their cash gift to a public library. The credit may not exceed 20 percent of their tax liability or $100.00 ($200.00 for a married couple filing jointly) whichever is lower.

"Note that this is a credit against the state tax payment, not a deduction used to calculate taxable income," she noted, adding the same contribution is, however, available as an itemized deduction on the federal income tax.

Persons wishing to support the library and take advantage of the tax credit can drop off or send a check made out to Rawson Memorial Library at 6495 Pine Street, Cass City, before Dec. 31. A receipt will be issued promptly to verify contributions for tax pur-

It gladdened my heart when the scientists found coffee was "bad" for you. I never drank it because it kept me awake at night.

Now they have found at Stanford that de-caf is also bad for you. It increases the LDL part (the harmful part) of cholesterol and makes vou more likely to have a heart attack.

That didn't make me unhappy, either. I drink Pos-

Yes, they still make it, as they have for most of the 20th century at the Post cereal company of Battle Creek, Mich. (now part of General Foods). It is made from wheat, and I think it tastes pretty good. Its enemies say it is made from sweeping compound, roasted and packaged and re-labelled.

Maybe they're right, but I still like it. You can get it in grocery stores (I guess they call 'em supermarkets now, don't they?). Don't try to order it in a restaurant unless the waiter is at least 100 years old. You will be regarded as some sort of a nut to be served as quickly as possible and gotten out of the place. Come to think of it, would that be bad?

There are some brokers around Michigan who wish that Employees Stock Ownership Plans had never been invented. Or partnerships in the firm, either.

Take the poor soul who joined the firm of Manley Bennett a decade ago. Men at higher levels were given partnerships.

The deals looked good. Little matters about some pending lawsuits were non. brushed off as having no importance. Well, Thomson McKinnon bought out Manley Bennett and the lawsuits were still pending. And as of this date, late 1989, they are still pending and the boys haven't gotten a dime. Thomson McKinnon had a
