Becky's battle with cancer ends at home

Becky Emmons, whose lengthy battle against terminal cancer drew community-wide support and prayer, died Thursday at her Gagetown area home.

Becky, 18, was diagnosed with Ewing's Sarcoma, a form of bone cancer, in August 1987. But she refused to give in to the disease, opting instead to live as normal a life as possible. Area residents quickly embraced the personable teen, organizing several fund raisers to help the family with medical bills.

Two benefits are scheduled for Saturday.

A walk-a-thon, sponsored by friends at Hills and Dales General Hospital, will begin at 10 a.m. at Cass City High School. Pledge information is available by contacting Sue Pawloski at 872-5005 (3 to 7 p.m.).

The other event is a dinner and dance sponsored by the Thumb Area C.B.ers Club. The benefit will be held Please turn to back page.

TERRIFIC TOM — Duane Chippl, Cass City, bagged this 20 1/2-pound tom turkey near the Deford State Game Area Monday morning during the opener of the first ever spring turkey hunt in "Area 1", located south of Cass City. Chippl shot the bird, which has an 11-inch beard, at about 7:45 a.m. He remarked that he saw several other turkeys the same morning.

Evergreen residents

Air school closing doubts

About 60 persons, perhaps two-thirds of them parents of school children, attended a meeting at Evergreen School to explore with the Cass City School Board the proposed closing of Evergreen School next year.

Perhaps 45 of the 60 appeared to be against closing the school, judging by the comments after Supt. Ken Micklash explained the reason for closing the school.

Micklash showed the steadily declining enrollment at Evergreen that had reached 139 when the sixth grade was still there in 1978-79 to today's enrollment of 70, but without the sixth grade.

He demonstrated how the closing would save the district some $50,000 annually plus a one-time saving of $28,000 for the purchase of a bus.

The plan calls for all kindergarten through third grade students to be bussed to Deford School and all fourth and fifth graders in both Deford and Evergreen to be taught in Cass City.

The persons opposed to the plan voiced several objections. One was the transportation of children to Deford. Another was the closing of Evergreen and not Deford. Because the school building is expected to revert back to heirs of the Keyworth family if not used, several suggested that Deford could be closed and the school still have ownership of the building.

Spoken of by a few, but an overriding concern by many, was losing the community school. One person said that if the school closed, what remained of Shabbona would be lost. Property values would diminish, he said.

There were several young parents of Evergreen students who supported the closing. Their overriding concern was the split classes. If Evergreen closes, split classes (classes with more than one grade taught by the same teacher in the same room) will be eliminated. The topic of lost jobs in the consolidation was aired and Micklash assured the crowd that no jobs would be lost if Evergreen closed.

The meeting at Evergreen was the first of 2. Next Monday a meeting will be held at Deford to explain the consolidation.

Hills and Dales is weathering financial storm

The financial outlook at Hills and Dales General Hospital is brighter than that forecast for many other small and rural Michigan hospitals in a recent study.

But that could change if government underfunding of Medicaid and Medicare programs continues on its current path, according to Hills and Dales Administrator Ken E. Jensen.

The study, conducted by the Michigan Hospital Association, cited underfunding of the Medicaid and Medicare programs, as well as the high cost of medical liability insurance as chief contributors to the diminishing economic vitality of small hospitals in the state.

The survey also revealed an increase in the percent of Michigan's small hospitals that are expected to close. In 1988, the survey respondents expected 12.7 percent of the smaller hospitals to close within 5 years. In 1990, the respondents estimated 21.3 percent closure within the same time period.

A major cause for small hospitals' problems, according to Spencer C. Johnson, president of the state hospital association, is inadequate payments to hospitals for Medicaid patients.

In the study, the small hospitals' chief financial officers reported that Medicaid is currently paying hospitals only 70.5 cents for each dollar the hospital spends on care for a Medicaid patient (the state average is 76 cents for each dollar). "And, a larger portion of patient revenues in small hospitals is derived from Medicaid than in Michigan's hospitals

Many stolen items recovered

Lane charged with Cass City break-ins

A Cass City man has been charged in connection with 2 burglaries and admitted responsibility for 3 others in the Cass City area, including break-ins at 4 businesses about 2 weeks ago.

Tuscola County Sheriff's Department detectives identified the man as Charles A. Lane, 29, Pine Street, Cass City, who was arraigned Monday by Tuscola County District Judge Kim D. Glaspie on charges of breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny, larceny in a building and safe breaking.

All 3 counts are in connection with the April 11 break-in of Bob's Bump Shop, 4068 Cemetery Rd., Cass City.

A preliminary examination for Lane was scheduled for May 2. Bond was set at $5,000.

Lane wasn't difficult to find. Cass City police had arrested him and Howard J. Sherman, 28, who lives at the same residence as Lane, last Wednesday on felony warrants stemming from the Jan. 4 break-in of the C. Clark Boylan residence, 6008 E. Cass City Rd., Cass City.

Both men, who were to have faced preliminary examinations Tuesday, were arraigned Thursday on charges of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny.

Bond for Lane, who remains jailed, was set at $10,000, while Sherman was released on personal recognizance bond.

According to Detective Sgt. Larry Walker, who has worked on the case along with Detective Ron Phillips, Lane has confessed to breaking into the auto repair shop, as well as Coulter Farm Service Inc., 4155 Vulcan St., Wruble Elevator Inc.—

West, 4073 S. Cemetery Rd., and Rolling Hills Golf Course, 6586 E. Milligan Rd.

In each case, access was gained by breaking windows.

The combined take from the businesses totaled less than $500 in cash, a small amount of which was taken from a safe that was cut open at Bob's Bump Shop; a number of business checks, an $800 cash register and a gram scale.

The story was much different at the Boylan residence, where a host of items, ranging from appliances to lighting fixtures, were taken.

"I think most of the property, the majority, we got back," Walker remarked.

He noted that although no cash has been found, several stolen items were recovered at a Mayville area residence. The cash register, taken from Rolling Hills, was later found behind the golf course, he added.

Appoint Hicks to fill commissioner's post

Elsie Hicks

Retired long-time Tuscola County Clerk Elsie Hicks was to have returned to county government Tuesday, but this time as a commissioner representing District 2.

County commissioners Thursday appointed Hicks to finish out the term of Kim D. Glaspie, who resigned last month to accept appointment as Tuscola County District Court judge.

Glaspie had represented District 2 as a Democrat since 1986. The district covers Elmwood, Elkland, Novesta and Kingston townships.

Glaspie's resignation left the board split with 3 Republicans and 3 Democrats, causing some concern over whether partisan politics would prevent selection of a replacement and force the county to hold special elections at an estimated cost of some $5,000.

But first-term District 4 Commissioner Norma Bates, a Caro Democrat, crossed party lines to cast the deciding vote in favor of selecting Hicks, a Republican.

"I talked to Elsie...and she gave me her word she had no intention of running for reelection," Bates later remarked. "So why spend the extra money for a special election?"

"I know I made my own party unhappy, but I sit on the board to represent my people, not a party," she said, adding she believes she did what a majority of her constituents wanted her to do.

Hicks also received votes from commissioners Michael Green (R-Mayville), Arnold Krumnauer (R-Vassar) and Terry Houthoofd (R-Akron), while Democrats Robert Russell, Vassar, and board Chairman William Worth, Millington, voted for other candidates.

In all, 9 persons, including Hicks, filed applications to fill the vacancy left by Glaspie's resignation. The other candidates were Jack Brinkman, Robert Suckle, Richard Erla, Alan Kico, Iris Tuckey, Mary Lou Burns, Dr. Edward Scollon and Roy Tuckey.

Candidates interested in seeking election to the post must file nominating petitions by 4 p.m. May 15 in order to run in the Aug. 7 Primary Election.

Hicks confirmed Friday that she does not intend to seek election as a commissioner, but admitted she's looking forward to serving on the board.

"It's a challenge. I'm on the other side of the table (now)," she remarked.

Hicks retired in 1989 after nearly 30 years of experience in county government, including 19 as county clerk.

"I thought perhaps I could help by filling in now, and that could save the county an election," she said, adding she believes her appointment will give all candidates seeking the District 2 seat in August an equal opportunity to win.

Centenarian gives long life tips

Hard work, faith in God, a strong constitution and a good sense of humor.

If there's such a thing as a secret to longevity, chances are good those attributes have something to do with it, according to Catherine (Wruble) Parteka.

She should know: Parteka, a resident of the Tender Care nursing home in Cass City, will celebrate her 100th birthday Monday.

"I pray a lot. I like company," she remarked last week. "I like to play cards. I try everything, but no drinking."

A Huron County native of Polish and German descent, Parteka was born and lived much of her life on a farm in Parisville, where she was a homemaker.

She recalled going to work doing housework at the age of 13, and indicated life then included working hard and strictly observing Sunday as the Lord's day.

Although she was well acquainted with farm life, she remarked there's one thing she wouldn't do -- kill chickens or other animals. "I never killed nothing except snakes," she added.

Parteka, a long-time member of the St. Mary Catholic Church and Holy Rosary Sodality, Parisville, loves gardening, flowers, quilting, bingo and reading newspapers.

She isn't able to enjoy all of her hobbies now due to failing sight, but she's still alert and in good health.

She was born April 30, 1890, the oldest of 8 children born to Joseph and Julia (Shubert) Wruble.

She married Leo Pokora in 1909 and, after his death, John Parteka in 1923.

Parteka had 10 children, 5 of whom are still living. They are Sophie Peruski of Uby, Victoria Riley of Lansing, Marie Pabst and her husband, Russell, of Marlette, Virginia Zimmer of Marlette, and Lillian Hufid and her husband, Phil, of Rochester.

She also has many grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

100 YEARS young — Catherine (Wruble) Parteka attributes her longevity to hard work, faith in God, a strong constitution and a good sense of humor.

Rabbit Tracks

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

At Lake Orion on M-24 there are 2 good restaurants about a block or so apart.

One is Vannell's (also known as Gus's) and the other, Pete's Road House. I believe that the owner of Pete's is the son of the previous owner of Vannell's when it was known only as Gus's.

For several years we had ignored Vannell's in favor of Pete's. Pete's has those luscious German-fried potatoes and the Delmonico steak there is about as good as you will find. Vannell's was re-visited last week and it was easy to see why the joint was jammed on Saturday night.

We don't know about the steak there, but the blackened swordfish was as good as any tasted anywhere. What's more, they have really good twice-baked potatoes and a sweet and sour French dressing that was as good as it was unusual.

Which is best? That's like saying how high is up? Pete's is slightly cheaper than Vannell's, but not much. A meal at either will cost in the neighborhood of $15. Slightly less if you take one of the specials.

Really, you can't go wrong at either.

Now this pause for a commercial. Orville Hutchinson was in to cancel his classified ad after one week because he sold his Ford 9N tractor and was receiving many calls.

No, said Orville good-naturedly, I don't mind if you tell about it in Rabbit Tracks.

He's my kind of guy.

After 50 years, finally got the opportunity to see Frank Sinatra in person Saturday at the Fox in Detroit. His voice may not be what it once was but you would never know it by the reaction of the audience.

He had them standing up and applauding.

In an interview with a Detroit columnist, he is quoted as saying that he is pleased with his reception in Detroit and remarked that younger persons also are attending his concerts.

That may be, but it's a lead pipe cinch that there were more fans over 45 than under 45 Sunday.

Another high point was the "warm up" comedian that preceded the star. I can't tell you his name for sure, but I think it was Creason. He was worth the price of admission.

At Hills and Dales

Nuclear medicine age arrives

The nuclear medicine age has arrived at Hills and Dales General Hospital, which recently opened its Nuclear Medicine Department.

The department features a "gamma" camera, according to hospital X-ray supervisor Tom Oesch, who said the equipment is used to conduct a nuclear medicine exam, best described as a "diagnostic imaging procedure."

"A picture is taken of certain body organs or parts, and a lasting image is put on a film," Oesch explained. "A specialized technologist will inject a minute amount of radioactive material into a patient's blood stream. This material is 'labeled' with a certain type of radio-pharmaceutical, depending on what structure or structures your physician is interested in."

After the injection, the patient is placed under the gamma camera, which takes an image of the area of interest by picking up the radioactive material that was injected, Oesch said, adding, "The camera acts as a type of Geiger Counter."

After the camera has detected enough information, it records the image on an X-ray film, he continued. The film is then processed and interpreted by a radiologist, whose report helps the patient's physician in diagnosing an illness or injury.

The new equipment has a number of capabilities, including detection of problems related to the brain, thyroid glands, lungs, liver, spleen, gall bladder, biliary ducts and bones.

Oesch cited the following as some specific examples:

*A nuclear medicine scan of the brain can pick up a tumor, an abscess, a brain hemorrhage or an obstruction of blood circulation.

*A thyroid scan can pick up thyroid nodules and it can be used in the detection of hyperthyroidism, the term used for an over-active thyroid gland.

*A liver scan can detect different masses in the liver as well as cirrhosis of the liver.

*A scan of the spleen can detect masses and splenic rupture.

*A lung scan is used mainly for the detection of a pulmonary embolus, or blood clot.

*A "Hida" scan is a scan of the gall bladder and its ducts, the main function of which is to determine if there is an obstruction of the gall bladder or its ducts.

*A bone scan is just that -- a scan of all the patient's bones. The scan can be used to pick up "stress" fractures, cancer of the bones, osteomyelitis of the bones, Padgett's disease and other bone abnormalities.

Oesch, who noted the equipment is being leased for a period of more than 5 years at a cost of over $150,000, remarked the recent acquisition offers convenience to patients at the local hospital.

"It saves some people a lot of hassle," he said. "We used to have to send all our patients to Bad Axe to have this done."

The Haire
Net

Predictably there has been a public outcry over the proposed demolition of several historical buildings in Detroit, the Alexander Chene House, the Tuller Hotel and the downtown fire station.

Advocates for preservation see it as a way of building for the future by taking care of landmarks from the past.

Having stayed in the Tuller Hotel before it closed, it's not hard to see why it finally closed its doors. It's the opinion here that restoring old buildings isn't much of the answer for a revitalization of Detroit.

It would have been better to pour money into the purchase of Detroit River frontage for the use of the general public.

A battle between the saving of historic buildings and the realities of business goes on and on and is not confined to Detroit.

In Cass City the Cultural Center would be long gone if Walbro Corporation had not purchased it and now donates its use to various organizations. No one is really complaining, but one Main Street businessman has observed that when the groups are meeting at the Center there is a parking problem. It's a microcosm of the problem in Detroit. The balancing of aesthetic and commercial interests.

It's sure that the use of the Cultural Center will never be a hot topic here. What is, and will continue to be, is waste disposal. That's because it touches our pocketbooks.

It's going to get worse. Or maybe better, depending on your view. The day of sorting of trash and the creation of compost piles for leaves looms and some states have already moved in that direction.

It's enough to drive someone like me, who equates yard work with cruel and unnecessary punishment, to a condo.

"If It Fitz..."

She's still my wife

By Jim Fitzgerald

My wife was standing in a kitchen corner with her face pressed against the wall. I thought I heard her mumbling. I couldn't help thinking of the young Detroit woman who this week finished second in the Miss Universe contest.

It didn't matter what the contest judges decided. "In the eyes of Jesus, she's still Miss Universe," an aunt of the runner-up told reporters.

That's the way I feel about my wife. In the eyes of strangers, she may appear weird. As when we arrive at a restaurant and she tells the parking valet she wants to keep her salad.

All her life, restaurant employees have been trying to remove her salad plate before serving the entree, and she has become paranoid about it. She wants to keep all that lettuce and stuff to nibble on during dinner and dessert, and while waiting for the cloakroom attendant to find our coats when it's time to leave. It doesn't matter if our table is so small that, to keep her salad, she must slice her roast beef in her lap.

Often, waitpersons don't serve the main course until everyone at the table has finished his or her salad, or pointedly pushed it aside unfinished, obviously rejected. My wife keeps one arm around her salad at all times, for fear it will be mistaken for a reject. When I complain that her attitude is causing an ungodly long wait between salad and entree, she pointedly pushes me aside and a sympathetic waitperson puts one arm around me, the waithusband.

It's no wonder strangers

First quarter

income up at

Chemical Bank

Gilbert A. Currie, chairman of Chemical Financial Corporation today announced the company's first quarter earnings.

Net income for the first quarter increased 3.9% to $2,506,000 as compared to $2,411,000 for the same period last year. On a per share basis, net income was $7.77 per share in 1990 as compared to $7.76 per share in 1989, or an increase of 1.3%.

At March 31, total assets were $1.283 billion, an increase of approximately 13.6% over March 31, 1989. Shareholders equity increased 13.5% to $100 million from the $88 million reported as of March 31, 1989. Primary capital, which includes the Allowance for Loan Losses, represented 8.5% of total assets at March 31, 1990.

give her a strange look, and I often have to remind myself that, no matter what, in the eyes of Jesus, she is still my wife.

So anyway, I wasn't surprised, only curious, to come home and find her mumbling into the kitchen wall. Why? "It's Michigan Bell's fault," she explained.

TEMPERAMENTAL TELEPHONE

The wall phone in the kitchen broke several years ago. Rather than pay for repairs, she told Bell to take back the phone. Bell said she'd have to bring it into their office. She said she couldn't rip it off the wall. Bell said OK, just leave it there, useless, and she wouldn't be charged for it. But it turns out the phone isn't completely useless. The receiver is on a long cord that pulls out of the wall fixture. When the cord's out only an inch or more, the phone goes dead. However, if the cord stays fully in its box, the phone works.

So all you have to do is just barely lift the receiver from the hook, without pulling the cord, and hold it near your face while your face is pressed into the wall.

But why submit yourself to such an uncomfortable indignity? Why not use the normal phone in the living room? Because Emily was in the living room, my wife explained.

I understood. Me and Jesus. When Emily, our 8-year-old granddaughter, spends a few days alone with us, she wants Grandma's full attention. Emily resents it when Grandma spends the entire day doing the same thing she does when Emily isn't there — talk long distance on the phone to her daughter, Emily's mother. There had already been one such marathon conversation that day, much to Emily's displeasure, and Grandma had promised there wouldn't be another.

I'd caught Grandma sneaking a phone call against the kitchen wall.

All of which is nonsense I wouldn't mention except for what happened 35 years ago tomorrow: I eloped with a beautiful young woman and, for a thrilling one-day honeymoon, took her to Ft. Knox and showed her where I learned to be the soldier who won World War II.

In the ensuing years, conditions haven't improved for her. My wife has been the good-natured victim of countless columns, like this one, in which I use her to portray the terrible plight of the average persecuted, misunderstood, bewildered husband.

I think most readers understand I wouldn't do it if I didn't love and appreciate her very much. But just in case, for our 35th anniversary, I'm putting it in print. I don't want anyone to take her salad, either.

But I did tell Emily on her.

Local pupils participate in "talent search"

Ten Cass City Intermediate School eighth graders participated in the 9th annual search for junior high students who are academically talented, conducted by the Center for Talent Development of Northwestern University.

The local students are Matthew Anthony, Melanie Fritz, Bethany Gengler, Rachel Malone, Kristy Messing, Steven Muska, Michael Sherman, Russell Speirs, Jason Walther and Sarah Wright.

Each of the students received certificates of recognition and a listing of summer and academic year programs designed for high caliber students.

Students who took part in the Northwestern program qualified by scoring at the 95th percentile or higher on the verbal, mathematical or composite portion of a standardized in-grade achievement test. They took the College Board's Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) in January, a test usually taken by high school juniors and seniors.

Cass City Intermediate School Counselor Dick Partlo noted that 3 Cass City students did particularly well in a second round of SAT testing administered by Northwestern University. They are Bethany Gengler, who was ranked in the 95.9 percentile in the combined score for all tests, and Rachel Malone and Melanie Fritz, who were ranked in the 64.6 percentile.

The purpose of the SAT is to provide more information about students' abilities. Local schools use this information to help provide special services and programs for students who are academically talented.

The Center for Talent Development services 8 states in the Midwest - Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin. More than 27,000 students participate in the talent search annually.

Big sister, little sister

Area woman, Deford girl share activities, friendship

Sue Werschky and her little sister, Melissa Gerard, 8, have only known each other for a few months, but to see the pair together, one would think they've always known one another. Whether they're baking cookies, making crafts or just talking, the 2 simply enjoy being together.

Although they're considered sisters, Werschky, of Cass City, and Gerard, of Deford, aren't related. Rather, both are participants in the Tuscola County Big Brothers/Big Sisters program.

Together since Dec. 6, the pair meet every Wednesday and on other special occasions.

"Sometimes we do extra things, like we went to the circus, and once in a while we eat out, but mostly its centered around town here," Werschky said of her visits with Melissa.

"We do crafts and things here at home. We try to read once a week and she works on her math sometimes," she continued, adding watching an occasional movie and shopping also are among their activities. "Sometimes we talk about things; we share our ideas."

"I get to see Sue almost every Wednesday and I have a super great time," Melissa remarked. "We read books and we make things. I just love being with Sue."

The feeling is mutual, Werschky indicated.

"I've always had a lot of fun with kids, but I never had any kids of my own. I like to do things like crafts, and I've always wanted to build a doll house, which is something we're planning to do."

"I guess there's still a part of me that's a kid."

Werschky is among several adults who currently volunteer their time as a big sister or big brother in Tuscola County, according to Ruby Sherman, case manager with the county Big Brothers/Big Sisters agency.

They are among those being honored in conjunction with the national celebration of Big Brothers/Big Sisters Volunteer Appreciation Week, April 22-28.

UNSELFISHLY

"These volunteers give unselfishly of their time in order to enrich the lives of boys and girls who need guidance and companionship," Sherman commented.

Along with the celebration, officials hope to recruit additional much-needed adult volunteers.

"We presently have 21 active matches, approximately 40 boys waiting for Big Brothers or couples, and 15 girls waiting for Big Sisters or couples," Sherman said. "Last year we served 44 matches (an increase of 22 percent over the previous year) throughout the year."

For Werschky, the decision to volunteer was prompted by a feature story in the Chronicle last year that focused on the Big Brother/Big Sister program. "I had been thinking about it before then, but I read that story and I thought it was something I could do."

Werschky said volunteering has turned out to be what she expected, thanks to a careful matching program that unites adults and youths with similar interests.

"We've had a real good time. She's (Melissa) interested in the kinds of activities that we can do here at home."

FUN VISITS

Although their visits together are fun and meant to be enjoyable, Werschky indicated she also tries to introduce her little sister to different perspectives.

She also sneaks in an occasional lesson on economics; money management and the value of saving manufacturer's coupons, for example.

"Melissa gets to see ways that other people live" during her visits, she added, noting she occasionally takes Melissa to visit others in an effort to expose her to the different ways different people live. "It's important to have an understanding of other people's problems."

"Melissa can ask me anything and I will give her an honest answer to the best of my ability - geared to her age, of course, but always the truth. If I'm not sure of something we will look it up or ask an expert. Opinions and suggestions are offered, but I try not to preach."

At the same time, Werschky is learning a lot about Melissa.

"She has a lot of real deep thoughts about peace between people. She cares very much for the welfare of animals and people's feelings," she said.

"I would like to help her become an independent thinker with the knowledge and self-confidence to resist the kind of peer pressure that gets kids into trouble."

In return, Melissa's visits give Werschky something money can't buy.

She explained, "Even after she (Melissa) goes home, there's a kind of happiness that goes on."

Editor's note: Individuals and couples interested in serving as volunteers in the Tuscola County Big Brother/Big Sister program can obtain additional information by contacting Ruby Sherman at 673-6996.

BAKING COOKIES is among the activities shared by Sue Werschky (left) of Cass City and her "little sister," Melissa Gerard, 8, of Deford.

Trustees to be honored

The efforts of local school board members to improve their educational leadership skills will be recognized Thursday when the Michigan Association of School Boards comes to Marlette to honor 7 school trustees from 4 boards in Tuscola County.

MASB will also present "Standard of Excellence" awards to a number of school boards. Boards achieve these awards by having a majority of board members earn their "Keys to Boardmanship" for continuing education and service to their districts.

At a 4 to 9 p.m. meeting in the Marlette Middle School, award recipients will attend workshops, have dinner and hear a legislative update from MASB's lobbyist.

The following local school trustees will receive their honors during the evening awards ceremony: Roger Adams and George Rieck (Akron-Fairgrove); Beverly Auten, Ben Hobart and James Turner (Cass City); John Secord (Mayville); Terrence Kaiser (Millington), and James Ernst (Peck).

MASB is a non-profit organization providing leadership and educational services to Michigan's 600 school districts and their 4,200 local school board members.

Tigers should keep old stadium

Summer-like temperatures invaded Michigan over the weekend and with their arrival comes the opportunity to enjoy more outside activities.

The one leisure time event that will draw more interest than any other this summer will be the United States' national pastime, baseball.

Whether it be in the form of sandlot games, organized leagues, or taking in a professional contest, millions of Americans love the game that developed from the game of cricket back in 1839 thanks to a noted army officer, Abner Doubleday.

We took time to "Tiger Talk" with your neighbor, Marty Midyett.

The biggest debate concerning the Tigers this summer may stem around where they play, as opposed to how they play.

Because of the questioned soundness of the existing Tiger home, architects are playing with the idea of building a $64-million new structure to showcase owner Tom Monaghan's squad.

"I think they should keep the old stadium if they can," says the 24-year-old Midyett.

The Gagetown resident also added that if a new stadium is built, it shouldn't be completely enclosed.

"Maybe a retractable roof, like they have in Toronto, but the sun is part of enjoying the game."

A 1983 graduate of Cass City High School, Midyett says he probably won't make it down to watch the Tigers this year but is confident the team will fare better than a year ago.

"I don't think they'll win the division, but they should be able to finish 3rd or 4th."

Midyett, who is single, is employed with Schneeberger's in Cass City.

50 YEARS OF AMERICAN AUTOMOBILES, 1939-1989. Seven hundred and twenty pages of palpitation-inducing bliss (a car lover's dream book)! A celebration of consummate design and engineering in the American automobile: half the book is history of all major and many secondary makes of cars. Lots of color and black and white illustrations. Plenty of detail on the important developments in style and mechanics and sales. The second half of the book is devoted to specification tables: figures given for each make of car discussed previously, including wheel base, body style, weight, price, production (number of units built), and engine sizes.

BAD PLACE by Dean R. Koontz (fiction). Bobby and Julie Dakota are corporate private eyes specializing in high-level security operations. They love each other madly, listen to jazz tapes, help each other out of deadly scrapes, and kindly visit Julie's Down's syndrome brother, Thomas, at a care facility. When weird things start to happen to a certain Frank Pollard - a guy who doesn't know who he is or where he is and runs around with his shirt all bloodied and a briefcase filled with $140,000 in cash - Bobby and Julie decide to help him out. What might be a simple case of amnesia turns into much more. With eerie flute music playing and oversized cockroaches crawling around, Frank starts teleporting himself to God knows where; Bobby and Thomas experience bad dreams (in Thomas' case, they're about The Bad Things), and a maniac named Candy and his sisters Violet and Verbina appear.

HOLLYWOOD: A NOVEL OF AMERICA IN THE 1920s by Gore Vidal (fiction). A politician's wife who consults an astrologer, a senator with a beautiful mistress, a high-powered woman newspaper publisher, the intersection of Hollywood and Washington society - it's deja vu all over again as novelist Vidal turns to the political era of Wilson and Harding for this novel.

TSCD urges stewardship observance

Emphasizing everyone's role in protecting soil and water resources for future generations, the Tuscola Soil Conservation District is encouraging local churches, organizations and individuals to join the nationwide observance of Soil and Water Stewardship Week, April 29-May 6.

The Tuscola Soil Conservation District, which works throughout the year on soil and water conservation measures, is providing literature that highlights man's responsibility to be active stewards of the nation's soil and water resources.

The soil conservation district will be participating in different projects throughout the county to observe the 20th anniversary of Earth Day, April 22.

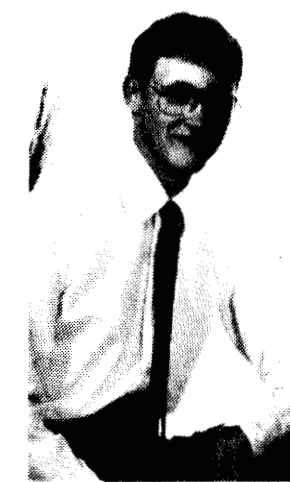

Tom Hess, chairman of the Tuscola Soil Conservation District, said everyone needs to learn about the impact of their actions and the actions of those around them.

"Recognizing that, we can commit ourselves to individual and community action. By using good erosion prevention practices, conserving water or simply planting a tree, we'll each help make the world a better place for our children's children," he said.

Since 1955, the National Association of Conservation Districts has sponsored Soil and Water Stewardship Week in cooperation with nearly 3,000 local districts nationwide as one way to emphasize the importance of good stewardship of basic soil and water resources.

HEALTH TIPS

You can develop good eating habits without giving up your favorite foods

You don't have to be a health food nut or know the milligrams of calcium in spinach to have good nutrition. According to Dr. Lowell Butman, Medical Director of St. Luke's Health Center's Weight Management Center, Saginaw, "Just by knowing a few simple nutrition guidelines, you can develop healthy eating habits without giving up your favorite foods."

The doctor suggests the following:

1. Decrease fats and increase complex carbohydrates - By decreasing fats and increasing complex carbohydrates you will increase the volume of food in your diet and improve your overall nutrition. Fats, at 9 calories a gram, contain more than twice the calories of proteins and carbohydrates, at 4 calories a gram. According to Dr. Butman, "Learning to make some realistic changes to decrease the overall fats in your diet can improve your nutrition and help you manage your weight. For example, if you were to substitute one baked potato with sour cream for 4 oz. of French fries 3 times a week you would save 600 calories a week or lose 9 pounds a year. If you had a banana and an apple instead of 4 or 5 cookies once a week, you would lose 16-18 pounds a year."

2. Eat a wide variety of foods - By varying your food choices you add a wider range of nutrients and vitamins to your diet. Try mixing your foods for a more comprehensive diet. Instead of eating one vegetable or fruit with your meal, eat a sampling of 4 or 5. Varying your diet will help you from getting bored and you may even find a new favorite food!

3. Eat natural foods whenever possible - Processed foods remove some of the vitamins and minerals so it's healthier to eat naturally occurring foods. Read labels carefully. "Foods you may think are naturally occurring may not be. When you're buying a bread that looks like it's whole grain, you may want to double check the ingredients. Remember, whole grains are more nutritious for you than a granola bar; granola bars have oil added. An orange will give you far more Vitamin C than an orange soda boasting "10% fruit juice."

4. Decrease additives (sugar, salt and fats) - by decreasing your intake of processed foods you will most likely decrease the additives in your diet. If you're watching your sodium intake, it's important to be careful about additives when choosing prepared foods. Dr. Butman suggests that if you eat canned vegetables, rinse the salt off before you heat them and add your own salt later. You will actually eat less salt by adding it later than if you were to eat the processed salt on the canned vegetables. Tuna packed in water is 35 calories per ounce or 220 calories for a 6 oz. can. Tuna packed in oil can have as many as 500-600 calories in the same 6-ounce can.

Dr. Butman says you don't have to become an expert to eat healthy. Reduce the fats in your diet by eating more complex carbohydrates and reading labels. Start with the simple changes first. The Weight Management Center's HMR program is nationally recognized for teaching good nutrition and unique calorie balancing.

One plea accepted in court

Just one criminal case was heard in Tuscola County Circuit Court during the week. Judge Wallace Kent Jr. accepted a guilty plea from William Parsell, 902 C Glenbrook Circle, Flint, Thursday for attempted forgery.

Parsell attempted to cash a State of Michigan check for $250 issued to Lori Clardy.

Sanilac 4-H sheep, swine to be weighed

Sanilac County 4-H youth who would like to exhibit their sheep and swine projects at the 1990 Sanilac County 4-H Fair need to get their sheep and pigs eartagged and weighed by Saturday, Hal Hudson, Extension 4-H youth agent for Sanilac County, said.

The Sanilac County 4-H Livestock Developmental Committee is in charge of handling weigh-in and tagging as well as establishing the guidelines for the 4-H sheep and swine projects. Tagging and weighing is mandatory for sheep, while tagging is mandatory and weighing is optional for swine. To enter the rate-of-gain contest, swine must be weighed. Times and locations for youth to bring their sheep or pigs to have them weighed and eartagged, and other information is available by contacting the extension office at (313) 648-2515, or contact Dan Rich at (313) 648-2373.

Smith elected officer of school honor society

Twenty-one Saginaw Valley State University students will be honored with initiation into the Theta Omicron Chapter of Alpha Mu Gamma at its 15th annual spring initiation ceremony April 22.

The objectives of this national honor society are to recognize outstanding foreign language students, to increase awareness of international issues and to promote goodwill among the peoples of the world. Also, the chapter recently elected new officers. Serving as president will be Tammie Cowles, a sophomore from Beaverton. The vice-president position will be filled by Kingston's Brandy Smith, a sophomore. Maria Espinoza Bray, a junior from Bridgeport, is the new secretary/treasurer and the job of historian will be performed by Araceli Loveridge, a St. Charles graduate student.

in general," he said.

LOSSES

In 1989, Hills and Dales General Hospital lost $33,605 in in-patient expenses and $66,151 in out-patient costs, Jensen said, noting 10 percent of the hospital's patients were Medicaid patients. He pointed out that in 1990 he's anticipating a combined loss of $144,915, with only 8 percent of the patients being Medicaid patients.

And the situation isn't going to improve until state officials make some changes, according to the administrator, who indicated the governor and legislature have done a poor job in terms of prioritizing Medicaid funding.

He added, "One of the biggest frustrations is that people in Title 19 (Medicaid) already have enough stigmas without us having to fight with the state for them to pay to provide health care."

"We're asking for our costs," he continued. "If we spend a dollar, we want a dollar. We certainly need to have our costs paid if our doors are going to be open tomorrow."

At the same time, the method for Medicare funding also has hurt the local hospital.

Jensen cited an example of a patient who was entitled to 5 days of hospitalization for an illness under Medicare guidelines at a cost of $2,700, but who required 21 days at a cost of some $100,000 - a loss of some $97,000.

"How many times can you do that in a month?" he asked.

UNABLE TO PAY

In addition, Jensen said Hills and Dales last year wrote off $96,000 in expenses patients were unable to pay. In 1988, those costs totaled some $52,500.

Rep. Dick Allen eyes fifth term

State Rep. Dick Allen (R-Carol) has announced he will seek a fifth term in the Michigan House of Representatives.

The former veteran newspaper editor stated his 8 years of experience in the House and his past 6 years as a member of the Appropriations Committee has given him immeasurable influence and insight with which to continue his efforts to aid in the economic development of both Huron and Tuscola Counties.

Allen currently serves on the Appropriation Subcommittee on Agriculture, Department of Natural Resources, Mental Health and State Police.

He cited his experience as Vice Chairman of the Agriculture Subcommittee with enabling him to help shape crucial farm legislation including, most recently, the exemption of farmers from the new CDL rules.

He indicated his efforts with local community leaders and local elected officials have paid dividends concerning the prosperity of business, tourism and recreational industries located in the Thumb area.

"I plan to continue working closely with local communities to maximize our potential in these areas, and to continue our joint efforts to create more jobs for our citizens, better road systems, and continuing our efforts to help with the daily individual problems which are such a vital part of this job," Allen remarked.

The veteran lawmaker said he will continue to support educational finance reform which will assure better equity among all the state's school districts and to fight

"Understand that when you come into our emergency room, we're going to take care of you first" and ask about payment later, he remarked.

Another reason for small hospitals' problems, according to the study, is difficulty in recruiting health professionals.

Seventy-two percent of the hospitals responding to the survey ranked physicians as the most difficult to recruit, followed by nurses, therapists, pharmacists and technicians.

Recruiting problems are no strangers at Hills and Dales, where officials have been trying for 2 1/2 years to attract a replacement obstetrician/gynecologist.

"Physician recruitment is a major concern here and a priority," Jensen said. He added the hospital has spent a combined $75,000 in attempts to recruit 2 OB/GYNs, 2 family practitioners and an ophthalmologist.

RATES TRIPLED

And, he acknowledged, high liability insurance rates have hurt. Hills and Dales' malpractice insurance rate has tripled to some $90,000 over the past 10 years.

Despite the negative factors, Jensen pointed out that Hills and Dales officials have and continue to take steps to ensure financial stability and at the same time continue to improve the quality of care provided in a field where technology is moving incredibly fast.

In 1986, the hospital laid off 48 full-time people and asked remaining employees to accept concessions in the area of fringe benefits. Today, the 65-bed hospital has 113 full-time employees, compared to the 176 before.

Another example is the hospital's ambulatory outpatient facility, which offered 26 out-patient procedures when it opened in December 1980. Today, more than 200 procedures are offered, and business at the facility has more than tripled since it opened.

ADMISSIONS DOWN

Admissions, on the other hand, "have been going down continually," Jensen remarked, adding Medicare guidelines have forced hospital officials to follow specific criteria as to when a patient may be admitted.

"A doctor doesn't just admit you because you're his patient. You've got to have this wrong, this wrong and this wrong in order to get admitted."

Perhaps most important is the hospital administration's attention to budgeting and on-going long-range financial planning, according to Jensen.

Still, he indicated, the best budgeting method isn't going to continue to offset poor funding at the state and federal government levels.

"We're in pretty good financial shape, and with that, I would add the word, delicate; it's delicate," he said.

"It could change tomorrow. If you keep chiseling away at our resources, sure, we'll be destitute like (some of) the other hospitals."

2 join CMU honor society

A pair of area high school graduates were recently initiated into the national honor society of Phi Kappa Phi at Central Michigan University.

They are Cass City High School graduate Mary Donnelly Simon, Blanchard, a junior majoring in anthropology and history, and Uby Community School graduate Debbie Loesel, Clare, a junior majoring in secondary education.

Phi Kappa Phi recognizes superior scholarship in all academic disciplines. Admission is by invitation only.

Mushroom season arrives

"Tame" morels on market

"Morel madness" strikes Michigan in May, with an estimated half-million gourmets scurrying to state woodlands in search of the savory wild mushroom, AAA Michigan reports.

As always, spring weather determines the success of the morel crop. Ideal conditions are warm, humid days with adequate rainfall.

But if nature fails to do the job, Michigan grocers may soon offer indoor-grown morels.

Company M, a Lansing-based firm, has developed methods to grow morels indoor year-round and is selling the technology worldwide. Domino's Pizza Distribution Corp. in Ann Arbor recently acquired exclusive North American rights to produce, market and sell the cultivated morels. A pilot plant is being built in Mason, Mich., and the first crop should appear this summer at a price yet to be determined.

For those who prefer to gather spring morels the old-fashioned way, black morels fruit first, usually in late April or early May, followed by white morels about a week later. Giant morels appear in mid-to-late May and are the largest of the species. Michigan's morel season ends in early June.

Edible morels can be recognized by their pitted caps. Other, sometimes poisonous, morels are not pitted, but ridged or wrinkled in appearance. First-time pickers should hunt with an experienced guide who can select edible mushrooms.

Best sites to seek the delectable, nutty-tasting morsels of fungi are hardwood forests, especially under moist aspen, ash and elm trees, and near streams and lakes. Apple orchards also are good places.

Hunting mushrooms is an inexpensive spring activity, requiring only patience, a knife to cut the morel stems and a paper sack or basket to carry the harvest.

When hunting, wear comfortable clothes with long sleeves and long pants to avoid insect bites and poisonous plants.

Wild mushrooms should be cooked and only a small amount eaten at first to test for allergic reaction.

This spring, fresh morels will sell for $13 to $20 per pound, depending on abundance.

Tourists are welcome at 4 events celebrating Michigan's morel season: The Mesick Mushroom Festival, May 4-6; Harrison Mushroom Festival, May 5; Boyne City National Mushroom Hunting Championship, May 12-13, and Lewiston Morel Mushroom Festival, May 12.

Englehart stars as Hawks lose

Tim Englehart did his best to get the Cass City Red Hawks off to a fast start in the Thumb B Association track race, but Marlette's over-all balance and depth proved to be decisive as the Red Raiders topped the Hawks last Thursday, 83 1/2 to 74 1/2.

The meet was switched to Marlette while Cass City's new track was waiting to be painted. Englehart won the 100 and 220 sprints, the long jump and the high jump for Cass City. His high jump (6-3 1/2) was just a half inch off the school record.

MORELS "MUSHROOM" IN MAY

TIPS FOR MUSHROOM HUNTING:

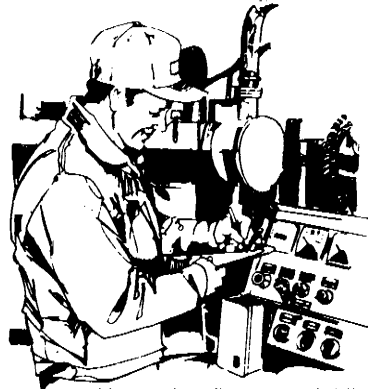

- First-time morel pickers should hunt with an experienced guide because many false morels may be poisonous.
- Search for mushrooms at ground level underneath leaves, underbrush and other debris. Also look in woods near hardwood trees, old orchards and stumps.
- Cut morels at the base. Never pull morels out of the ground.
- Pick only unblemished morels and place them in a net or paper bag. Never place mushrooms in plastic bags which cause quick spoilage.
- Cook morels before eating because raw morels may be indigestible.

Free fishing packet offered

A free fishing information packet is available from the Department of Natural Resources to assist groups planning fishing events during Michigan's fifth annual Free Fishing Weekend (no license required), June 9-10, and National Fishing Week, June 4-10.

The packet contains fishing promotion and support materials, a "how-to" guide to planning a fishing event, and lists of fishing promotion items offered by groups supporting National Fishing Week and free fishing days, scheduled in 35 states this year.

"Last year, thousands of Michigan residents and non-residents experienced the fun of fishing Michigan at 45 Free Fishing Weekend clinics and derbies, statewide," said DNR Director David Hales. "That's the spirit of this weekend, passing on fishing fun, skills and ethics to new anglers, and it's reflected in the growing numbers of free fishing events held each year."

The free fishing information packets are available to fishing event sponsors by writing DNR Fisheries Division, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing 48909, or calling (517) 373-1280.

Groups that would like their free fishing event publicized in a statewide DNR news release of Free Fishing Weekend activities should contact the DNR Office of Public Information at (517) 373-1214 no later than May 1.

Michigan's Free Fishing Weekend, held annually in June in conjunction with National Fishing Week - allows residents and outstate visitors to fish Michigan's inland and Great Lakes waters without a fishing license or trout/salmon stamp.

Girls still undefeated

Hawks sweep Caro in twin bill Monday

The Cass City Red Hawk softball team gave notice that it will be one of the teams to be reckoned with in the Thumb B Association this year by coming from behind twice to defeat the Caro Tigers in a doubleheader Monday at Cass City Recreation Park. The wins kept the team's record unblemished at 6-0 overall.

Things didn't look bright for the Hawks in the first when Teri Gibson couldn't find the plate, walking or hitting the first 8 batters in the first before being replaced by Beth Powell. In the first inning the Tigers scored 6 runs and no one would have guessed that Cass City would win, 13-6.

Cass City bounced back into the game in its half of the first with a 5-run rally on 3 walks, an error and hits by Sherrie DeLong and Shelly Mellendorf.

Meanwhile, Powell was shutting down the Tiger offense. She allowed just 5 hits, 3 walks and 2 runs in the 6 innings she pitched.

Vicki Robinson carried the big stick in the game with 4 hits in 4 trips and scored 4 runs.

The Hawks won the game with a 5-run outburst in the third on 5 hits, a walk and an error.

SECOND GAME

Coach Dave Hoard came back with Gibson in the second game and she responded with a much better effort in Cass City's 12-10 win.

Gibson sailed along in fine fashion the first 3 innings, allowing just a pair of

League opener

Sturtevant hurls Hawks over Caro

The Cass City Red Hawks served notice that they will be a team to be reckoned with in the Thumb B Association baseball race this spring by posting a 2-0 decision in the opening league game of the year against the highly regarded Caro Tigers Monday at Cass City Recreation Park.

The win was especially satisfying for the Hawks because they won over fireballing, highly regarded Dirk DeBoer.

runs in the third as the Hawks went in front 6-2.

But her control left her in the fourth and she allowed a hit and 3 walks before being relieved by Powell. Powell issued a walk and a hit before she warmed up and when the rally ended, the Hawks were on the short end of an 8-7 score.

Both teams added runs in the fifth to set the stage for Cass City's last inning rally when Sue Papp opened with a single and Gibson followed with a double. A walk to Jodi Benitez and a couple of wild pitches did the damage. The 2 runs in the fifth came when Torrez lashed a home run.

COACH DAVE HOARD tried to settle down Hawk hurler Terri Gibson in the first inning against Caro Monday, but was unsuccessful and she was relieved by Beth Powell. Gibson came back in the second game to pitch well for 3 innings. The Hawks swept the doubleheader.

Marlette overpowers Hawks

Cass City girls were defeated at Marlette Thursday, 97-54, in the opening Thumb B Association track meet of the season.

The Hawks were paced by Keri Santos, who won the 120 and 330 hurdles and was second in the 220.

Kathy Fromwiller paced Marlette with a win in the long jump and the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

The winners and the times were:

2 Mile Relay - Cass City, 11:28.

120 HH - Santos, CC, 17.70.
100 - Fromwiller, M, 12.14.
880 Relay - Cass City, 2:00.90.

Mile - Foster, M, 6:36.61.
440 Relay - Cass City, Broyles, Knowlton, Soldan, Kelley, 1:01.16.

440 - Romstead, CC, 1:09.84.
330 LH - Santos, CC, 50.91.
880 Run - Izydorek, M, 2:55.49.

220 - Fromwiller, M, 26.83.

2 Mile - Foster, M, 14:30.

Mile Relay - Marlette, 5:21.23.
Discus - Savage, M, 104'1".
Shot - Bennett, M, 32'10 3/4".

Long Jump - Fromwiller, M, 17'10".
High Jump - Snow, M, 4'8".

The girls participated in the Wildcat Relays at Mayville Friday, where the host Wildcats easily defeated the 12-team field. Mayville scored 89 points to run away from second-place Brown City, which finished with 47 points. Cass City finished ninth with 18 points.

Hawk points were earned by the shuttle hurdle relay team of Amy Ross, Jennifer Romstead, Pam Broyles and Keri Santos, which finished third. The Wildcat relay team of Santos, Ross, Romstead and Jenny Nye finished second, and the long jump team of Santos, Broyles and Romstead finished fourth.

Hawk girls win first 4 games

The Cass City Red Hawk softball team is off to a flying start as Coach Dave Hoard's charges swept doubleheaders with Deckerville and USA in non-conference games.

The Hawks visited Deckerville, Monday, April 16, and first game mistakes were evident for both teams. The Hawks broke open the game in the fourth and fifth innings. Leading 3-2, Cass City scored 4 times in the fourth and added 4 more runs in the fifth. Deckerville scored 3 times in the last inning but by then the game was decided.

Beth Powell went the distance to get the win, allowing 5 hits, walking 7 and striking out 6. Gracie Estrada took the loss.

In the nightcap, Hoard started Heather Kelley and she had trouble finding the plate and walked 6 in the first inning to put Cass City in the hole. She settled down after that and pitched well until relieved by Powell.

Meanwhile the Hawks plugged away at the Deckerville lead and going into the last inning trailed by a single run. Hits by Kim Morley and Jodi Benitez coupled with a couple of errors netted 3 runs and the win.

USA GAMES

If Terri Gibson learns the strike zone a little better, she could be a big help to the Hawks in this year's Thumb B Conference title race.

She was touched for 13 walks and hit 4 batters, yet was able to settle down to get the win, allowing just 3 hits in a 14-7 win by Cass City. Beth Hornbacher, who walked 8 and allowed 15 hits, took the loss.

Sue Papp, with 3 hits in 3 tries, including a double, led the attack.

In the nightcap Cass City combined lusty hitting with some fine pitching to win, 7-1. She allowed 5 hits and walked 4. USA garnered its only run in the fourth on a walk and a hit by Adam.

The Hawks scored 2 in the first, which proved to be enough to win the game. Cass City iced the contest with a 3-run rally in the fifth on 5 hits, including a double by Benitez, who had 3 hits in as many trips to the plate. Chipping in 2 hits each were Shannon Sapien and Morley.

Good start for diamond 9

The Cass City Red Hawks were off to a good, if not a flying, start with 3 wins in 4 games in pre-conference baseball action.

In the opener for the season Monday, the Hawks defeated Deckerville, 6-3, behind the 4-hit pitching of Bill Langenburg. Lennie Day took the loss.

In the nightcap, Deckerville notched the victory behind Rutherford, 6-2. Mike Francis took the loss. Brent Sturtevant pitched the last inning.

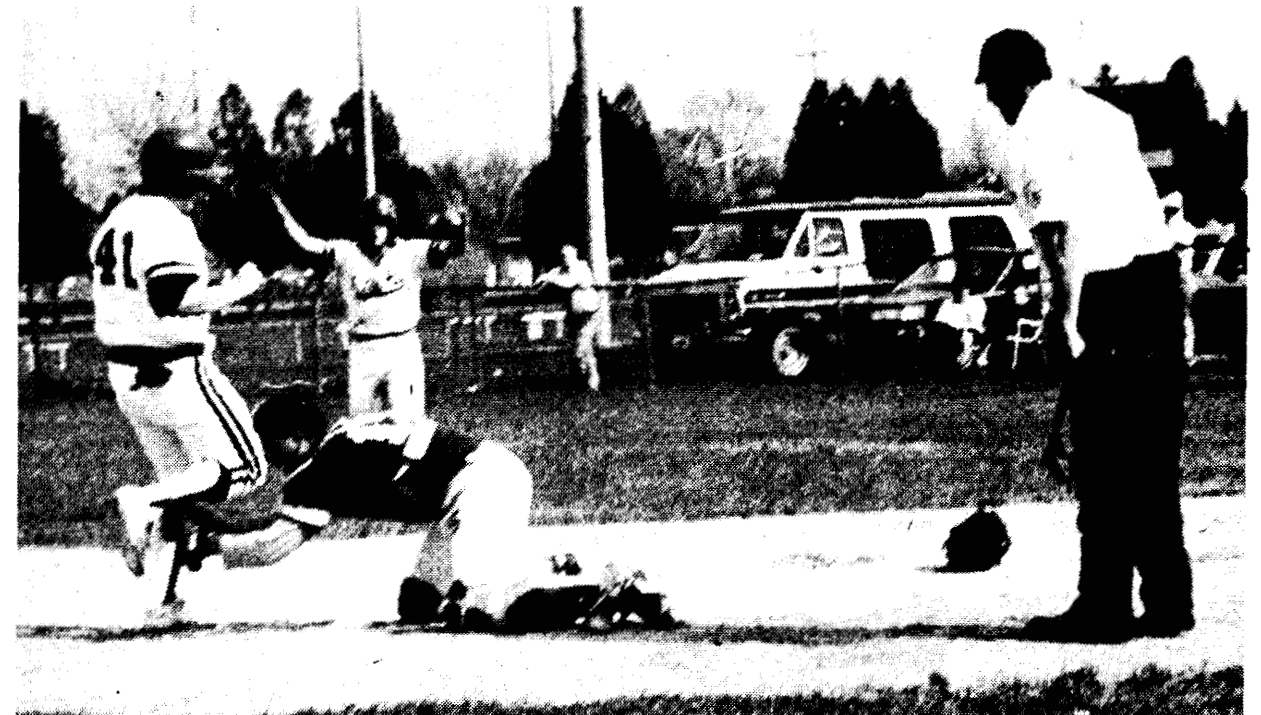

The Hawks had their hitting togs on Thursday at Unionville-Sebewaing, sweeping the twin bill played at USA.

Sturtevant started and received credit for a 13-6 win in the opener. He allowed 5 runs in 4 innings. Francis mopped up, allowing a single counter in 2 innings. The Patriots did not solve Sturtevant's slants, but he was wild, giving up 8 walks to keep constantly in trouble.

The Hawks pounded the ball hard to insure the win. Troy Benitez cracked a 2-run homer. Scott Dillon had 4 hits in 5 trips and Bill Langenburg cracked a double with the bases loaded.

It was a key hit because the Hawks had failed to capitalize on an earlier bases loaded opportunity.

Cass City didn't score as many runs in the next game, but didn't have to, as Greg Graham hurled the team to a 5-1 decision. He was masterful on the mound, with 10 strikeouts. Langenburg again got a key blow with a 2-RBI hit. Graham helped his own cause with a pair of safeties and Sturtevant was 3 for 3.

SCOTT DILLON APPEARED to have scored the second run in the first inning against the Caro Tigers Monday, but later was called out for not touching the plate. Dillon's hit drove in the first run of the game, all that Brent Sturtevant needed as he shut out the visitors.

The flying fish, when pursued by enemies, can soar above the water from two to 15 seconds and cover distances of 45 to 200 yards.

Senior Power Day set May 15

Attendance at this year's Senior Power Day, May 15, is expected to surpass the more than 7,000 persons who attended the state's largest advocacy gathering of older adults last year.

The theme for this year's event, "Senior Power: Advocacy for All," continues the intergenerational concept endorsed in 1989, calling for consideration of the needs of today's older adults as well as for the needs of future generations.

"This concept is not really unique," says Shelton Tappes of Detroit, chairperson of the Steering Committee for the day's event. "Senior Power Day really is advocacy for people of all ages because we're all aging. The changes in laws we work to effect in 1990 will have a bearing on the lives of our youth. Truly, the well-being of our society depends on both young and old working together."

Tappes said officials this year are again attempting to involve groups and organizations outside the mainstream of aging advocates. "We want young people to be aware of our platform and how our recommendations could affect them," he added.

To that end the SPD Steering Committee has invited student council presidents from more than 500 Michigan high schools to participate in the day's event. The platform committee has also branched out to address the many facets of health care issues that plague older adults and which recently seem to feature so prominently in the news.

Not parting with tradition entirely, the 16th annual Senior Power Day is expected to begin with a public hearing in the morning, when members of the State Commission and Joint Committee on Aging will listen to seniors speak out on a variety of issues. A consumers fair (booth space for which was completely sold out in 1989) has been popular for many years with both exhibitors and seniors. It's back again this year with an anticipated 100 booths that are rapidly being booked.

Lou Glaspe, president of the National Older Women's League, an advocacy organization of approximately 20,000 members, will be the keynote speaker.

Invitations have been extended to the governor, the senate majority leader and the speaker of the house, to respond to the platform. Other elected officials and dignitaries have also received invitations to round out the program.

Serving as this year's honorary chairperson is Neal Shine, recently retired Senior Managing Editor of the Detroit Free Press, himself a senior citizen. And, say the organizers, Senior Power Day wouldn't be the same without the boxed lunches which are passed out by Michigan legislators.

Region VII to provide transportation

The Region VII Area Agency on Aging Board of Directors have announced that Region VII will once again provide transportation for persons age 60 and over to attend the 16th annual Senior Power Day for a minimal charge of $5 per person (includes $3.00 for transportation and $2.00 for meal donation).

Senior Power Day, planned for May 15 at the Lansing Civic Center, is expected to draw over 7,000 elderly persons.

Senior advocates work all year long to develop a platform of issues that affect the older population. This platform is then presented to the governor and legislative leaders for their response and to help guide them in addressing the concerns of elderly Michiganders.

"We are looking forward to this very important event which provides opportunities for seniors to express their views on a wide variety of issues," Mohammed Khan, Executive Director of Region VII, said.

Khan said Region VII will rent 15 buses to transport seniors from the 10 counties of this region to Lansing May 15. The counties are Bay, Clare, Gladwin, Gratiot, Huron, Isabella, Midland, Saginaw, Sanilac and Tuscola. Interested persons can call one of the following offices for additional information:

Bad Axe (Huron County) office, 269-9901; Caro (Tuscola County) office, 1-800-843-6394 or 673-4121, and Sandusky (Sanilac County) office, (313) 648-4497.

The auction is scheduled for May 4 at 6 p.m. at the Sheraton Fashion Square Hotel in Saginaw.

Over 100 packages of fun are scheduled to be auctioned at the evening's silent and live auctions. Packages to be auctioned include: a carpenter for a day, a gourmet pizza party, a week's vacation at a Florida condominium, golf outings, weekend getaways, and a host of other prizes. All auction items were donated by local individuals and businesses.

Reservations are available by contacting Vera Hanisko or Sandy Kriegish at the Mitten Bay Girl Scout Council, 1-800-968-1185.

Last year, the event netted over $10,000, which helped support programs and activities provided by the Mitten Bay Girl Scout Council.

In 1989, over 11,000 girls and adults participated in Girl Scout-sponsored programs. The Mitten Bay Girl Scout Council serves 21 counties.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

Here's another prepaid college program that is fairly bedazzling Florida families. It's much like Michigan's, with similar defects.

So John and Mary are the fond parents of Tiny Tim, just recently arrived. In 18 years Tim will be old enough for college. (The booklet put out by the state calls it "post-secondary education.")

Where will the money come from? Everyone knows that college tuition costs are climbing (last 10 years in Florida, 7% a year, compounded). No one explains why these costs are half again as high as the rate of inflation, and few seem to care.

Anyhow, let's accept the educators' prophecies that these costs will continue to climb at 7% the next 18 years. Let's pay no attention to historical rates of inflation, which averaged 2% over the last 180 years.

Present tuition rates at state universities in Florida are $880 this year. At the climbing rate of 7% a year for years starting in 2006 when Tim will enter college, we get:

Year	Tuition cost
2006	$2,974
2007	3,182
2008	3,405
2009	3,643
Total	$13,204

Here's the deal Florida offers: Give the state $3,796 now, and it will guarantee Tim's tuition costs will be covered in full when and if he goes to college.

The difference between the payment now and the value of the tuition 18-22 years hence will be taxable income to Tim, the student, come the years 2006 to 2009.

At a tax rate of 28%, that tax will total $2634 on the $9408 gain in Mary and John's investment. So instead of getting $13,204 in paid-up tuition from the state for Tim's 4 years in college, the family gets only $10,570 net.

There are some other strings to the deal. If you get out of the program, you'll get no interest, and be hit with a $50 cancellation fee.

Parents can escape these blows by transferring the deal to Tim's brother or sister or half-brother or -sister. But the substitute must be either younger than Tim or less than 3 years older.

If Tim is the last of the children, and his brothers and sisters are all 3 years or more older, no deal. All the family gets back is the amount paid in. No interest. And there's also a $50 penalty.

If Tim goes to another school besides a Florida state university or college, the same amount of tuition will be paid him.

There are lots of reasons Tim may not go to college, 18 years from now. Illness. Indifference. Lack of ability in book-larin'. Hard times and lack of money to meet other expenses besides tuition. I'd guess there's an even chance an infant of 1988 will NOT go to college in 2006.

Is there another way to set aside money for possible college costs 18 years from now? You bet there is, and it's cheaper and it has no strings attached. You can walk away from it anytime and get your investment back, plus interest.

You'll pay the going rate for tuition come 2006, which may be higher or lower than the figures predicted by the state. Remember, the educators have insisted that costs are going up 7% a year. Well, the cost of living isn't going up that much. Maybe the public will revolt against this excess inflationary rate.

You'll likely still be better off under my home-made plan.

This do-it-yourself idea is based on zero-coupon government bonds, safest investment in the world. And there'll be no state bureaucrats monkeying with your money.

Compare:

FLORIDA PREPAID COLLEGE PLAN:

Pay in now . . . $3,796
Get paid-up tuition in years 2006-09 incl. worth $13,204. (Based on present tuition of $880 a year climbing 7% a year compounded.)
Cancellation fee any time in period . . . $50
Penalty . . . All interest earned up to time of cancellation.
Income tax . . . Paid by student on difference between amount paid in and tuition value when assigned.

DO-IT-YOURSELF PLAN:

Buy $13,000 par value of zero-coupon U.S. Government bonds, maturing in 2006.
Cost today of bonds, based on 9% yield . . . $2,484.
Cash-in penalty . . . None.
Interest earned up to that time will be part of the market price.
Saving now over Florida plan, original investment . . . $1,312.
Additional saving if and when tuition payment goes through . . . Income tax of $2,634 (based on 28% rate).
Another dollop: We figured $13,000 par value that our bonds will pay at maturity in 2,006. Only one fourth of that will be needed the first year, another fourth the next year, and so on. The balance can be earning money market interest. Say there's another $1,000 bonus.
Everybody wins.

Althaver predicts good year

Walbro first quarter income down

L.E. Althaver, chairman, president and chief executive officer, Walbro Corporation, reported net sales of $37,077,000 for the first quarter ended March 31, compared with $38,006,000 for the same period in 1989. The company reported income from continuing operations of $1,183,000 for the quarter compared with $1,313,000 for the first quarter of 1989.

Income per share from continuing operations was $.28 for the first quarter, based on an average of 4,289,161 shares outstanding. This compared with $.32 for the first quarter of 1989, based on 4,064,459 shares outstanding.

In announcing the results, Althaver noted that the first quarter results reflect an upturn in sales for most of Walbro's lines of small engine carburetors.

"Demand for diaphragm and float-feed carburetors for outdoor power equipment applications has rebounded, and sales have returned to levels typical of those prior to the 1988 drought. Shipments of carburetors for outboard engines continued at low levels in the first quarter, however, due to slow consumer sales of marine products," Althaver noted.

"Shipments of electric fuel pumps and fuel modules for automotive original equipment applications were below anticipated levels in the first quarter, due to lower auto sales and reduced production schedules," according to Althaver. "However, the start-up of additional fuel module business this summer will add significantly to the dollar value of Walbro automotive products shipped in the second half of the year."

"Overall, we expect that 1990 will be a strong year for Walbro," the chief executive said.

"The outlook in the small engine area is good, and demand for diaphragm carburetors is expected to remain strong throughout the year. In addition, the restructuring of the company's operations announced in the fourth quarter of 1989 is now underway and operating efficiencies are already becoming evident."

Rotary seeks men for 4-week visit

Rotarians of Rotary International District 631 are seeking outstanding young business and professional men for a 4-week visit in January of 1991 to India under the Group Study Exchange Program of the Rotary Foundation.

The program strives to improve international understanding by enabling young people from different countries to learn from each other. The awards involve exchanging teams of business and professional persons between the ages of 25 and 35 years for a 4-week study exchange.

While abroad, team members will visit their professional counterparts, observe their hosts' way of life, and study the nation's economic, social and cultural characteristics through travel and discussions within the participating Rotary districts.

Letter to the editor
Reader "shocked" at recent headline

To Whom It May Concern:

In regards to your headline for the article on Becky Emmons in the April 11 issue--I went to school with Becky, graduated with her and also went to college and am good friends with her, and I believe this headline is definitely inappropriate.

this is a way for your paper to sell or maybe this is one of your tactics to get people to show compassion, but I was greatly upset that a local, family-oriented paper would describe Becky's condition in this manner.

Becky has touched many lives, but why must you touch people of this community with such unfeeling headlines? I am surprised this paper has stooped to this level.

Sincerely,
Theresa M. Schwartz

IGA Farmers

Who Spend the Entire Year Producing the Delicious Foods We Enjoy So Much

Few people work as many hours at their jobs as the American Farmer. A farmer often works before dawn until well after dark. To be successful, a farmer depends on detailed planning, hard work, cooperative weather and a lot of luck. Since he can only control the first two, it's no wonder farmers are a vanishing breed. We're proud of the farmers who take the gamble of planting crops each year and then work so hard to see that they are tended and harvested. Their love of the land and the outdoors must be one reason why they have decided to continue working as farmers and we're proud of them...and we're proud of our hometown.
