School vote: few upsets, few voters

There were few surprises in annual school elections held Monday in 4 area school districts, which saw an average voter turnout of close to 20 percent.

CASS CITY

In Cass City, challenger Dan Ulfing defeated incumbent Dick Wallace in the district's lone race for a 4-year term on the Board of Education. Ulfing garnered 312 votes to Wallace's 219 votes.

Also, a millage renewal request of 21.9 mills for 3 years passed easily, 379-156.

About 18 percent of the district's voters went to the polls. There were 5 spoiled ballots.

OWEN-GAGE

Voters in the Owen-Gage district returned 2 of 3 incumbents to the school board.

In a race for 24-year terms, incumbents William Kretzschmer (227 votes) and Jack Brinkman (166 votes) won over challenger Vickie L. Merchant, who garnered 121 votes.

Incumbent Mary Ann Abbe, who was appointed to the board after the resignation of Pat Goslin last July, lost in her bid for election to the board. Winning the one-year term was challenger Rick D. Ziehm with 119 votes, followed by Abbe's 110 votes and challenger Geraldine Kretzschmer's 66 votes.

Voters also approved a millage renewal request of 14.8 mills for 2 years, 217-65.

There was one spoiled ballot, according to school officials, who noted 309 persons -- about 20 percent of the district's voters -- cast ballots.

KINGSTON

Kingston School voters approved one of 2 millage issues and returned one of 2 incumbents to the school board.

Winning 24-year seats on the board were incumbent Wesley Scott, who received 221 votes, and challenger Richard Zyrowski, who received 231 votes.

Incumbent Gary Koehler, meanwhile, received 198 votes and challenger Maria Murat, 88 votes.

Voters approved a 4-mill renewal for 4 years, 247-141, but rejected a half-mill request for 7 years to fund construction and equipping of an elementary learning center, library media center and computer and reading labs. The vote on that proposal was 218-169.

School officials said 389 residents went to the polls. There were 3 spoiled ballots.

UBLY

There were no millage issues on the ballot in the Uby School District, but voters elected incumbent Kenneth Dekoski and challenger A. James Philp to fill 2 4-year seats on the school board.

Philp garnered 401 votes and Dekoski, 267 votes, while challengers Catherine Stacer and Gloria Schelke received 171 votes and 88 votes, respectively.

About 18 percent (516) of the district's 2,900 voters cast ballots in the election.

O-G board nixes pupil price increase

A proposal to raise athletic event ticket prices to a standard rate of $2 per person received a cool response from the Owen-Gage Board of Education Monday night.

Discussion of the issue was sparked by a written request from league athletic directors, who asked for input on the proposal.

School board members noted some schools that participate in athletics with Owen-Gage already are charging $2 per person, but that adopting that ticket price would mean an increase for Owen-Gage students. Trustees also questioned how the standard $2 price would affect family season ticket costs.

Currently, adults are charged $2 and students $1 to attend athletic events at Owen-Gage.

Trustee Ron Good remarked he doesn't feel the price should be changed unless all schools that compete against Owen-Gage agree on a standard amount. Even if that happens, Good said he would rather see adults pay a little higher admission than increase ticket prices for students.

Other board members agreed, unanimously passing a motion to that effect.

In other business during the 2 1/2-hour monthly meeting, the board approved a recommendation to switch to a new, updated reading series for students in grades K-6.

The new series, Silver Burdett & Ginn, will cost an estimated $13,561, which includes textbooks and associated materials.

"We feel that it's necessary that we make this move," elementary Principal William Britt remarked, noting the existing reading series was purchased nearly 15 years ago.

Britt said the new series is Please turn to page 5.

Appeal planned

Camp is ruled illegal

Pioneer Work and Learn Center officials say they'll take their case to the state Court of Appeals following an opinion issued recently by Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Patrick R. Joslyn.

In the opinion, filed June 4 in circuit court, Joslyn affirmed a Jan. 15 decision by the Koylton Township Zoning Board of Appeals, which ruled that the operation of Pioneer Work and Learn Center at Camp Kingston Hills violates township zoning.

At issue in the case is whether the use of Camp

Kingston Hills as a year-round rehabilitation facility for juvenile delinquents represents an illegal expansion of the camp's non-conforming use status.

Township officials contend it does. The facility, located about a mile south of Kingston, was grandfathered into the township's 1972 and 1979 zoning ordinances as a children's summer camp. Officials say that use was drastically changed when the Pioneer "work and learn" program -- the first such program in Michigan -- began operations in October 1988.

Pioneer officials, however, argue the intended use of the camp has not changed.

The township appeals board's decision against the camp last January came on a vote of 2-1 after 6 days of hearings, from April 15 through June 15, 1989, in which attorneys for both sides presented their arguments.

The hearings resulted in the compilation of more than 1,100 pages of transcript. Please turn to page 5.

Edison squelches rumor

Rumors that Detroit Edison has purchased or is considering purchasing the now-closed Scott Chevrolet-Oldsmobile dealership building east of Cass City have been put to rest by Edison officials.

Media Relations Representative Mary K. Bean confirmed Thursday that the company is looking for a building in the Cass City area. However, she said, the former dealership, located just west of Schwegler Road on M-81, is not being considered.

"We have been looking for a location in the Cass City area to house a company landscape maintenance group," Bean commented. She explained the desired facility will house lawn mowers and other landscaping equipment to be used on and around Edison property and facilities.

"It's going to be a very small building," Bean added, noting the company is continuing its search for the right facility.

Separated as children

Sisters meet after 48 years apart

The conversation was warm and busy at Phyllis Linderman's Oak Street home Friday afternoon as the Cass City woman and 2 of her sisters visited.

The siblings, all in their 70s, talked about their lives, their families and, of course, their grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

But it wasn't a typical get-together. It was a special meeting, particularly so for Phyllis, who met her sisters Friday for only the second time in her life.

"We just discovered it's been 30 years since I had seen her," Phyllis' sister, Frances Sawyer of Venice, Fla., remarked.

Her other sister, Ethel Lavelly of Mt. Morris, added, "It's been about 48 years since (I've) seen her." Phyllis, the youngest of 8 children born in Flint, explained her brothers and sisters were separated shortly after she and her twin brother were born.

"My mother passed away when she had my brother and I. The little fellow died, and there was no one to take care of me, so I was adopted out. I was 3 weeks old, I think."

After her mother's death, Phyllis' father allowed her and Frances to be adopted, while the remaining 5 siblings -- Ethel, Mary, Harvey, James and Samuel -- went to live with other family members. Two of the brothers, James and Samuel, have since died.

According to the sisters, contacts among the siblings have been few and far in between over the years, although there have been exceptions.

FORTUNATE

"I was fortunate to be in touch with Ethel until she moved to Oregon in 1948," Frances said, adding after her adopted mother died, she traveled to the west coast to visit her sister.

Ethel, who also lived in California for 11 years, commented, "I've been able to keep in contact with Mary and with Sam, and with James part of the time."

"It's too bad we didn't live closer together," Frances remarked.

"But the Lord's taken pretty good care of us, hasn't he?" Phyllis asked.

"He sure has," her sisters agreed.

Friday's reunion was arranged Thursday via a phone call, but the planning actually began 2 years ago, according to Ethel.

"Two years ago she (Frances) came up and saw the rest of the family, but she didn't see Phyllis. At that time we said, well, if everybody is alive and kicking, we'd try to locate Phyllis, and that's what we've done."

She added, "Just to get together -- it's wonderful."

"I was happy as a tree toad," Phyllis said of receiving a call from Ethel Thursday. "Just to know you've got somebody that's yours." The mother of 8 children, grandmother of 16 and great-grandmother of 13 laughed and added, "I've relied on my kids; I think that's why I've had so many."

SEPARATED

Asked what it's been like to be separated for much of their lives, the sisters indicated it's difficult to miss relationships that never really had a chance to develop. They all agreed, however, that a special bond exists among them.

"It's just that our folks reminded us of (our sisters and brothers), so we kept it up here somewhere," Phyllis remarked, gesturing at her head.

"I guess we were all in pretty good families, so it wasn't that difficult," Ethel said. "But it is difficult."

Frances commented, "Being separated so early and not seeing each other -- it's like coming in off the street. It's a peculiar thing, though. When I met Ethel in California, it was like I'd seen her yesterday."

The same feeling prevailed Friday afternoon as the sisters talked about their lives and what various family members have been doing.

Phyllis mentioned the nearly 30 years she spent farming east of Cass City with her husband, Harvey, before his death. After that, she moved into town and worked at Hills and Dales General Hospital for 16 years before retiring 8 years ago.

"It was beautiful," Phyllis later remarked of her visit with her sisters.

"I just thank the Lord for letting me see them again."

Prices celebrate 60th anniversary

Area residents Ralph and Aileen (Seeley) Price were to have celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary today (Wednesday) with a family gathering at the couple's East Caro Road home.

Ralph Price and Aileen Seeley were married June 13, 1930, at the Caro Methodist Church parsonage.

They were attended by Evelyn Simmons, a cousin of the bride, and Orville Karr, both of Gagetown.

The Prices have a son and daughter-in-law, Don and Betty Price of Caro; one granddaughter, Sheryl of New York; one grandson, Patrick of Caro, and one great-grandson, Benjamin Price of Caro.

Vacation Bible school slated

The Cass City Missionary Church is getting ready to "take off" and area kids are invited to come along for a Vacation Bible School journey that will take them "out of this world."

"Let's Follow Jesus" is the theme of the free, 5-day program, which will feature Bible discovery sessions, supervised craft projects, singing and more.

Classes will meet nightly from 6:30 to 8:30 beginning June 18 and ending June 22. The church van will be picking up children ages 2 years through the sixth grade.

Additional information is available by calling the church at 872-2729, or Don Ross at 872-2318.

Lutheran Ladies hold picnic meet

The Ladies Aid of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church met Monday, June 4, for a potluck picnic and meeting at the home of Sean Zawilinski. Hostesses Tina Hoard, Joann Guinther and Chris Weippert provided hot dogs and beverages.

A rummage sale was set for Aug. 9 and 10.

Jackie Guinther agreed to serve on the altar committee to replace Joyce McGathy, who is moving. Sean Zawilinski volunteered to be the historian to replace Helen Avery, who has been historian since the congregation was established.

It was decided that a monthly Lutheran Women's Missionary League Bible study group will be started in September.

The next meeting will be Sept. 10.

Baptist ladies hear speaker

The Ladies Missionary Fellowship met June 4 in the fellowship room of First Baptist Church, Cass City.

President Shirley Shaw opened the meeting with singing of a hymn, which was followed by a short business meeting.

The special speaker for the evening was Carol Baldwin, director of Baptists For Life of the Flint Crisis Center. Baldwin was a missionary nurse in Bangladesh for some time before returning to Flint to work in a Flint hospital. In 1987 she was asked to become director of the Flint Crisis Center, which is maintained by Baptist churches and also private donations. Many Christian ladies volunteer to work at the center in various ways.

Decorations and refreshments were provided by Rita Hanby and Lillian Hanby.

Scholarships, awards granted

Two area students, Scott Mellendorf of Cass City and Janice Cummins of Gagetown, were granted scholarships and/or awards to Saginaw Valley State University.

Mellendorf is a senior majoring in social work. He qualified for automatic renewal of a Recognition Scholarship. Cummins, a senior majoring in communication, meanwhile, was granted an Achievement Award.

SVSU recently awarded 30 Recognition Scholarships and 10 Achievement Awards for the 1990-1991 academic year.

Recognition Scholarships acknowledge academically successful students returning to SVSU and are renewable each academic year by maintaining a 3.4 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. The Achievement Award honors students who express leadership qualities in college activities. Students must maintain a minimum of 3.25 and may reapply each year for this award.

Both the Recognition Scholarships and the Achievement Award provide partial tuition and fees awarded each semester and are available to full-time students with at least sophomore standing.

Small town life

by Melva E. Guinther

After living in a small town my whole life, I should be used to it. Nevertheless, I keep finding myself surprised that everybody knows what everybody else is doing, or even cares.

Living only a block from the library, the bank, the bakery and the dime store is really like living in a fish bowl. There's always a lot of traffic at our little corner of the world, and my colleagues at the Chronicle can see just about everything that goes on at our house.

When we put in our driveway, everyone in town commented on it.

The addition of our deck drew favorable comments from most of Cass City's residents.

Likewise, when we got a much needed new roof last year, everybody knew who was doing the work, how it was progressing, when it was done, and probably how much it cost.

The latest item of interest at the corner of Oak and Pine has been why the trunk of the car is always up and the windows open. It never occurred to me that anyone would notice, until Linda Leeson finally asked me outright.

No doubt others have wondered too.

To make a long, frustrating story short, our car stinks!

More specifically, it smells like wet gym shoes, only worse. After a great deal of effort and a certain amount of expense, we discovered that the musty odor was not coming from the air conditioner, the initial diagnosis.

Rather, water had come in through the rear window and run down behind the seat and under the floor mats, where it was trapped.

The annual Novesta Township Old Settlers reunion will be held Saturday, June 16, at the Novesta Church of Christ with a potluck dinner at 12:30.

Christine Tuckey of East Lansing spent the weekend at home before leaving for New Jersey for a 6-month internship with Johnson & Johnson.

Evelyn Tuckey was honored at a surprise 80th birthday party Sunday. All 8 of her children and 59 in-laws, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present. After attending Salem Church services, the family enjoyed dinner and fellowship. The Luke Tuckeys have 24 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Margaret Lounsbury, Mrs. Ida Wiles, Mrs. Janet Francis, Mrs. Audrey Katzenberger, all of Cass City, Mrs. Mary Vatters of Decker and Barbara Thompson of Snover attended the Detroit Methodist Conference in Adrian last week.

Here's another prediction from the GTE booklet, "2001 Imagine the Possibilities."

"Almost one trillion barrels of the earth's original supply of two trillion barrels of petroleum will have been used up, almost half of that between 1975 and 2001."

At the rate we are going, that estimate could be conservative. The brighter side is that it may well be that there are supplies of oil undiscovered that will increase the amount of oil available.

After that teasing week in April when the thermometer registered in the 90's, I keep waiting for summer to arrive. How about you?

In a relatively few years, Doug Herringshaw has become widely known in the Cass City area. He left his post this week in Cass City to take a similar position in Chemical Bank Bay Area, Caro.

Replacing him is James Bolton, who comes to Cass City from the Caro bank.

In Cass City, Herringshaw was a strong community booster, active in 2 service clubs and serving on various boards, including Hills and Dales General Hospital, Elkton-Novesta United Way and various Chamber of Commerce committees.

Powell first recipient Award Miller scholarship

The first Julie Dee Miller Memorial Scholarship has been awarded to Beth Powell of Cass City.

A 1990 Cass City High School graduate, Powell is the daughter of Roy and Betty Powell, Cass City. She plans to study elementary education at Central Michigan University.

The Miller Memorial Scholarship fund, which provides a one-time $300 award to a student going into elementary education, was established by Del and Margo Miller in honor of their daughter, Julie, a lifelong Owendale and Cass City area resident who died of cancer last February.

Margo Miller, who noted Julie had planned to study elementary education, remarked she and her husband established the fund, in part, to show their appreciation for the caring exhibited by area residents.

She cited a dinner dance benefit held for Julie in November 1988, when some 900 persons gathered and raised an estimated $12,000. "The community really got behind Julie," she said. "We just wanted to give something back."

Here we go again. The truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth as seen from the corner of Main and Oak Streets.

Walt Goodall, one of Cass City's most ardent school sports fans, writes to ask why we don't print the names of track athletes who finish in places other than first. "They try hard.....hope you do better next year", says Goodall.

The trouble is that times change, Walt. Back when you were in school, there were baseball and track for boys to report. Today we have girls' track and softball and the ball teams play 2 doubleheaders a week.

In addition, there are boys' and girls' Little and Minor League games, as well as academic games. In season the paper uses 2 pages for sports coverage as compared to a half page 25 years or so ago. Add to this that the interest of the student body is not that great and you have the reasons for the coverage we provide.

As a senior citizen I should be happy about the perks that come my way, but all I feel is sheepishly guilty.

Last week a business trip took me to Indianapolis. The round trip fare from City Airport, Detroit, was $98. That's the price for most of you. For senior citizens the price is $48.

At St. Joseph Hospital in Ypsilanti there is reserved parking for seniors and when I was in the cafeteria I was surprised to learn that for seniors coffee is free.

I can understand reserved parking for the handicapped. But for the life of me can't see any sense for reserved parking just because of age. Or for free coffee. Or a seat on the plane.

A poll concerning Dr. Jack Kevorkian's death machine, the one that allows a person to commit suicide painlessly, showed that 65 percent were in favor and 28 percent were against having it available.

"If It Fitz..."

I hate supermarkets

By Jim Fitzgerald

"Would you talk to your mother that way?" my wife hollered down the hallway.

"I didn't have to talk to my mother that way because she had Tommy Hess," I hollered back.

It was necessary to holler because I was standing in front of the elevator door, about 40 yards from where my wife stood in front of our apartment door. I was trying to escape from her, but it's a well-known fact of life that the quicker you need an elevator, the slower it arrives.

My wife would have followed me to the elevator, but she was sick, which is why I was going grocery shopping for her. If she'd been healthy enough to walk to the elevator, she'd have been healthy enough to go to the supermarket herself, and if there'd been any likelihood of her suffering a relapse while waiting for the damn elevator, I would have pushed her toward the stairs.

I hate supermarkets. I recently read that, since last summer, Comerica has opened full-service bank branches in 6 area Kroger supermarkets. There is no truth to the report that several perfectly good meat-and-produce counters were torn down to make room for the branches which were built on long stilts stretching through the supermarket roofs to give bank employees a good view of the nearest puddle of water.

There is much truth to the report that I don't want to make a bank deposit in a supermarket. I want to see Tommy Hess again. I want to hug and kiss him.

When I was a small boy, Tommy Hess operated Hess & Son Grocery Store near my parents' home in Port Huron. My mother sent me there with a grocery list that I would hand to Tommy Hess. He would pack the groceries into bags and put them into my arms. If there were too many bags for me to carry, Tommy's son would drive me home in the delivery truck.

Compare that to what happened when my wife was ill. She gave me a grocery list ordering such items as "2 greenish yellow firm bananas" and "seedless grapes (red or green) if they look firm." Those are exact quotes; I saved the list for evidence in case she takes legal action to punish me for talking to her like I never talked to my mother.

One thing I know about shopping is it isn't sanitary to finger fruit you don't buy. How do I find out if it's firm? "You can tell by looking at it," she said.

The hell I can.

When I questioned whether bananas come in bunches of 2, she said rip them off the stalk. She also said I'd have to bag my own produce in those flimsy plastic bags that come in rolls and must be torn along the perforated line I can never see because I left my stupid glasses home.

I don't want to do that stuff. I also don't want to wait in line for 40 minutes while a surly cashier counts countless coupons and waits for women to write checks in checkbooks they don't start searching their luggage for until their purchases are totaled and bagged, which surely explains the surliness.

I want to hand my grocery list to Tommy Hess and ride home in his delivery truck. But the Hess & Son building now contains a video rental store. You can also find video cassettes in many supermarkets, perhaps next to the bank branch.

There is something VERY DUMB about a so-called civilized society in which it's easier for a food shopper to rent movies and deposit savings than it is to find a clerk to aid an eyeball search for visible signs of firmness in grapes (red or green), FOR LORD'S SAKE!

That's pretty much what I told my wife, but never had to tell my mother because she had Tommy Hess.

"Work and Learn" camp to appeal adverse ruling scripts in addition to exhibits and deposition testimony.

YEAR-ROUND TENANT

In his opinion, Joslyn pointed out that Pioneer Work and Learn Center has been the first year-round tenant of Camp Kingston Hills.

He noted the children involved with the program are wards of the state, being first-time commitments to the state for non-violent criminal offenses. The youths, up to 50 at a time, reside for 6-month intervals, receiving formal education, vocational training, therapy and rehabilitation under close supervision.

"Pioneer Work and Learn Center, Inc.'s use of Camp Kingston Hills, Inc., does not describe a children's summer camp, recreational in nature, with sporadic weekend use for the remainder of the year," Joslyn stated. "This court finds that the nature of the non-conforming use has been unlawfully expanded."

He further stated, "This court finds that the Board of Zoning Appeals... decision is supported by competent, material and substantial evidence on the whole record."

While Joslyn affirmed the appeals board decision and allowed the township to seek costs from the camp, he denied a request for some $73,000 in zoning violation penalties.

SATISFIED

Just the same, Sandusky attorney Anthony Sykora, who is representing the township, indicated he's satisfied with the outcome of the case.

"I felt very good about the thorough analysis that the board of zoning appeals made," he remarked, adding he feels the board made a sound decision.

Detroit attorney Samuel McCargo, who is representing Pioneer Work and Learn Center, disagrees and said Friday that he plans to file an appeal.

McCargo maintains the use of the camp has not been changed by the work and learn program, and remarked the zoning issue is little more than a "straw man" in the fight between the township and the camp.

He said his concerns, on which the appeal will focus, involve discrimination and bias on the part of township officials. Judge Joslyn, he pointed out, addressed neither issue in his opinion.

"One of the areas we'll be focusing on... is the court's failure to address racial discrimination - that they (Pioneer) were being subject to disparate treatment in the application and enforcement of the Koylton Township ordinance," he said.

McCargo also contends the camp also has been discriminated against based on religion, saying previous camp users were primarily Christian-oriented groups.

Arts Council plans exhibition

Caseville Community Arts Council President, Virginia Nicholl, announced the dates and times of this year's Art Exhibition to be held at the Bella Vista are Aug. 11-12, Saturday from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and Sunday 10 to 3 p.m.

Under the sponsorship of the CCAC, the exhibit is open to adults age 18 and over and to students in grades 9 thru 12. A maximum of 2 pieces of art will be accepted. These could include drawings, paintings, prints, sculpture, ceramics, photography or fibers. Professional artists should have their work matted and framed. Work may be sold at the show. If so, the price should be included with the art work.

Monetary awards will be given for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place winners in both classes. The deadline for entry is July 20.

Applications for entry may be obtained by sending a self-addressed envelope to Caseville Community Arts Council Exhibit, P.O. Box 1344, Caseville, MI 48725.

Professional artists should have their work matted and framed. Work may be sold at the show. If so, the price should be included with the art work.

Monetary awards will be given for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place winners in both classes. The deadline for entry is July 20.

AN INSULT

Sykora, who noted the camp hosted a number of minority groups through the "Joy for Jesus" organization, the principal user of the camp from 1977 through the 1980s, remarked, "To say that it was a racial issue is not only an error on his part, it's an insult to the people of the community."

Sykora also noted several hundred kids had access to the camp at a minimal cost through the "Joy for Jesus" group, compared to the estimated 157 youths who have stayed at the camp since 1988 at a reported cost of $5.5 million.

Sykora said the township's next step is to petition the court for an order stating that camp officials must cease and desist activities that are contrary to township zoning.

"I'm going to ask for an immediate order because the matter has been languishing for some time," he remarked. If camp officials fail to respond, he added, the township will seek contempt provisions.

Sykora said the township will also seek some $28,000 in attorneys fees and costs related to its case against the camp, including $10,000 in expenses related to convening the appeals board.

designed to follow the Michigan model of reading closely, and emphasizes writing skills in conjunction with reading.

CURRICULUM

In a related matter, the board reviewed a brief written update on the efforts of the district's Curriculum Committee, which recently conducted a survey of all teachers in the district.

The survey revealed that teachers are concerned about and would like to see improvement in the areas of language arts and learning strategies. Strengths, meanwhile, were seen in the areas of career education awareness and attention given to individual educational needs by teachers.

The committee recommended development of a plan to improve student performance in language arts, learning strategies and parental involvement.

Also Monday, the board: *Scheduled a special budget hearing for 8 p.m. June 28 at Owendale High School to amend the district's 1989-90 budget and adopt a proposed 1990-91 spending plan.

*Met in executive session for nearly an hour to discuss on-going teacher contract negotiations.

*Accepted the resignation of Marjorie Schwartz, elementary school secretary, who has been with the district for some 23 years.

*Commended teacher Les Packard, who wrote an Eisenhower Grant that funded a math/science/computer workshop for teachers May 30.

Four presenters addressed teachers during the half-day session, which focused on math and computers, calculators and new Michigan Education Assessment Program objectives, math at the elementary school level and computer software techniques in the high school.

The grant also allowed for the purchase of some educational materials.

*Lauded the Owen-Gage band teacher and the band for its performance during Sunday's Bavarian Festival parade in Frankenmuth. Owen-Gage was among the top-rated bands taking part in the parade, Kirby noted.

*Approved a motion to join the Michigan High School Athletic Association for the 1990-91 school year.

Appointed

Elkland board appoints Rick Van Vliet to zoning board

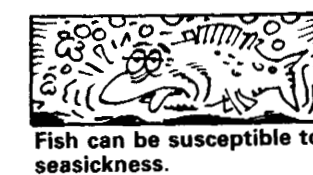

The Elkland Township Board appointed Rick Van Vliet to the township Zoning Board at a regular meeting Monday night.

In the past, Van Vliet had expressed interest in serving on the board, said clerk Norma Wallace.

However, Van Vliet didn't attend Monday's meeting and didn't know about his appointment as of press time Tuesday morning.

Van Vliet could decline to accept the zoning committee position, in which case the board will nominate another person.

Because he was interested in working with the zoning board, the township "went ahead and took the bull by the horns," in electing Van Vliet, Wallace said. No other action was taken at the brief township meeting, she added.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Ron Keegan, secretary of the Cass City Lions Club, presented Barb Hutchinson, librarian of the Rawson Memorial Library, a check for $1,000 to purchase large print books. The library has about 175 large print books. A net loss of 35 jobs is the expected impact a restructuring at Cass City's second-largest employer will have on local employment, an official at General Cable Co., Garfield Ave., said. An estimated 50 employees will be affected by the restructuring, but 15 new jobs will be created. Debb J. Rabideau is a 1985 graduate of Central Michigan University. Miss Rabideau received a Bachelor of Science degree in secondary education. A 1979 graduate of Cass City High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Rabideau of Gagetown. Mary Kerbyson, Cass City, and Liz Monte, Caro, received plaques of appreciation for their services Friday from Hills and Dales Hospital Administrator Ken Jensen. Kerbyson, a surgical floor supervisor for 25 years, and Monte, a certified nurse anesthetist for 11 years, will retire this month.

TEN YEARS AGO

Voters elected incumbent Dr. E. Paul Lockwood and Dick Albee to seats on the Cass City school board. Albee replaces Art Severance, who retired after serving for 12 years.

With a ceremonial ribbon-cutting ceremony, hospital board President James Bauer officially opened the ambulatory care unit of Hills and Dales General Hospital. The annual reunion of the family of the late Alex and Margaret McCarty was held May 25 at the home of Bob and Judy Lautner, Uby. The youngest guest was two-month-old Alicia McCarty. The attendance numbered 66. Six area students were named to the dean's list at Saginaw Valley State College during the 1980 winter semester. From Cass City were Sandra Bergman, Craig Helwig, Gene Schroeder and Ellen Toner. Honorees from Kingston were Frank Parker and Carol Stutz.

25 YEARS AGO

The Business and Professional Women's Club held its final meeting of the year, Wednesday, June 2. During the business meeting, Betty Carner, Phyllis Connolly and Sherry Seelye reported on the state convention held in Lansing. Dorothy Taylor was accepted as a new member. Twenty-four members and 13 guests attended the meeting, attired in Centennial gowns. Cass City's students will be entering a spanking new $1.6 million high school when school starts in the fall of 1967 because district voters Monday decisively okayed the tax money necessary for its construction. It's off to California for Randy Peters and Jimmy Burk after the two boys won the contest sponsored by the Cass City IGA Foodliner. They will leave Monday on an all expenses paid tour to California and see all of the sights, including Disneyland. Making the presentation was store owner Harry Lenda. Mrs. Phyllis Brinkman has earned her BS degree in education. She has been teaching for 18 years before earning her degree. She served at Thane school for seven years and a year at both Ellington and Humes Schools. She taught two years in Caro, and also instructed at Almer Center and Parsell schools. Mrs. Brinkman will continue teaching next year at Caro. She and her husband, Don, have three children.

35 YEARS AGO

Cass City's newest business, The Wee Wash It Laundry, on Main St., will hold its formal opening Monday, Mrs. Edward Baker announced this week.

Alton Schaper, voted the outstanding senior agricultural student at Owendale, was presented the DeKalb agriculture award Tuesday evening at the June meeting of the Owendale FFA Chapter.

James D. Fox, who recently graduated from Michigan State University, was also one of 254 Army and Air Force cadets to receive a commission this spring.

Fourteen members of the Cass City Elementary School have received perfect attendance certificates for the year. They are: Joyce Smentek, Douglas Englehart, Evelyn Smentek, Larry Cross, Bobby Milligan, Frank Mosher, John Kile, Gordon Bigham, Lynn Taylor, Danny Robinson, Wilbert Goodall, Judy Lebioda, Tim Anthes and Jack Alexander.

Free health screening for seniors

The Tuscola County Health Department, in cooperation with the Human Development Commission, will offer free health screening services to seniors at several meal sites across the county.

Among the sites are the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Cass City, July 27 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; the VFW Hall in Kingston, Aug. 15 from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; the county Health Department, June 19 from 9 to 11 a.m., and at the Human Development Commission, June 20 from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

The senior health screening, offered to all Tuscola County residents over the age of 60, is the result of action by county commissioners, who approved usage of Senior Millage funds to pay for the service.

The screening will consist of a Hematocrit test, tetanus-diphtheria boosters, a healthstyle appraisal and blood pressure readings upon request. Nurses will be present to explain the screening results. There is no cost for the service.

Seniors are invited to stay for lunch at the meal sites. Those planning to do so are asked to call the HDC at 673-4121 for reservations.

Additional information about the health screening is available by contacting the county Health Department at 673-8114.

Owen-Gage seniors

The Owen-Gage Senior Citizens met Thursday at the St. Agatha Catholic Church Parish Hall in Gagetown for a potluck dinner and meeting.

The blood pressure readings of 12 members were taken during the meeting, which was attended by 35 members and one guest.

Get-well cards were sent to Clara Adams, Veneta Kling, Millie Munro and Buelah Kretzschmer.

Also during the meeting, door prizes were awarded to Luther Durham and Bernadine Good, and club President Elma Miklovich read a poem entitled, "To Grandfather", and gave a report on a rummage sale scheduled next week in Gagetown.

Your neighbor says

I like living in this area

This summer, Cass City will celebrate its 125th anniversary with a weekend-long Fourth of July festival highlighted by a Civil War battle reenactment. Along with the other events, the celebration should prove exciting, noisy and crowded.

Such a large and exuberant party almost seems out of place in the Thumb's usually peaceful atmosphere. Thumb cities primarily are small farming communities where people know their neighbors, and everyone else in town.

Your neighbor, Richard Urane was born and raised in Detroit, but says he enjoys living in this area of Michigan.

"I like the quietness. There's less traffic," he observed.

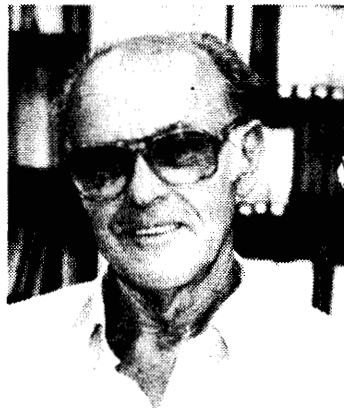

A Deford resident for the past 8 years, Urane pointed out there are some things in Tuscola County he'd like to see changed.

"It's hard to get things done around here," he remarked, adding county officials are slow to act on some matters, such as cleaning out roadside ditches.

"They don't seem to be in any particular hurry," Urane said. Deford and Detroit differ in other important ways, he noted. "The only thing I miss is the convenience of the city," where stores and shopping malls are practically in your backyard. Urane said he doesn't like driving to Saginaw or Bay City to shop.

Overall, Urane, a retired truck driver, is happy living in the Thumb. Though he and his wife, Lillian, are selling their house in Deford they want to remain in the area. Urane said they are looking into buying a condominium, perhaps in Cass City.

"The area has its very good points. You just have to slough off the bad."

Cass City police report 3 mishaps

Minor damage and no injuries were reported in 3 vehicle accidents in Cass City over the past week.

Vehicles driven by Frederick E. Knoblet, 5291 Kelly Rd., Cass City, and Helen D. Easton, 7437 Elmwood Rd., Cass City, collided Friday at the intersection of Seeger and Pine streets.

Cass City police said Knoblet was eastbound on Pine Street at about 2:15 p.m. when he failed to see Easton's southbound vehicle.

A day earlier, Connie McNaughton, Cass City, reported her vehicle was struck while parked at Cass

City Intermediate School.

Her vehicle sustained minor damage when it was struck by a vehicle driven by Andrea Shagene, 6734 Houghton St., Cass City, according to reports.

Also last week, an eastbound vehicle driven by Lorie L. Messing, 6343 Pine St., Cass City, was struck from behind by another eastbound vehicle at the intersection of Main and Seeger streets.

Police reported that Messing was preparing to make a right turn onto Seeger Street when she was back-ended by a vehicle driven by Joyce F. McPhail, 2676 Englehart Rd., Cass City.

Following annual recital

Top Sally Doerr students honored

Outstanding students of the Sally Doerr Dance Studio in Cass City were recognized June 2 following the second performance of their annual recital.

In early May dancers competed for a one-season dance scholarship from Doerr's studio.

In the 10 through 13 age bracket, 26 youths signed up for the competition and about 20 young people, ages 14 to 18 tried out.

Doerr said scholarship hopefuls performed dances she had choreographed and were judged on their memorization of steps, timing, stage presence and energy. Following Saturday's show, performed at Bay City's John Glenn High School, Doerr presented the scholarships.

Jennifer Jones won in the 10 to 13-year-old category and Richard Cohrs was the first place winner in the 14 to 18 age bracket.

Anne Oberstein and Nicholas Hofmeister tied for third place among 10 to 13-year-olds, with Erica Jamison placing second.

Melissa Micklash and Pam Broyles tied for third, with Michelle Guzman and Jennifer Wright tying for second in the age 14 to 18 category.

All award winners received trophies, Doerr said. First-place winners will have their names engraved on a plaque in Doerr's office.

Five students received certificates at the ceremony for learning a French ballet style. Grade one Cecchetti Certificates were given to Andrea Cooper, Heather Dunn, Gia Mellendorf, Anne Oberstein and Shannon Turner.

Jazz, tap, acrobatic and ballet dancers from Doerr's Cass City studio presented their annual recital June 1 and 2 at John Glenn High School. Some 800 persons attended the first night and about 600 were in the audience for the second show, Doerr said.

Without the efforts of her students and several others, Doerr said, the 2 1/2-hour shows wouldn't have gone on.

John Cooper served as master of ceremonies and stage manager. Sound engineer Neil Gaeth and stage hands Kathy Fiebig, Wanda Oberstein and Liz Rayl worked with Cooper and the stage crew.

Student helpers Andrea Cooper, Janelle Jones, Gia Mellendorf and Shannon Turner also were recognized after the recital.

7 groups perform in festival

Steven C. Winowski, Group Sales Associate/Special Events with Zehnders of Frankenmuth, reviewed the Sally Doerr Dancers and selected 7 groups to perform at the Vette-Fest Corvette Festival held in Frankenmuth May 19. The group had 2 performances before being rained out in the late afternoon. Their final performance was at 9:00 p.m. in the main dining room at Zehnders for the Awards Banquet.

The groups performing were: CHORUS LINE (Jazz) with Jeanine Barger, Richie Cohrs, Sally Doerr, Christi Gawrolowicz, Michelle Guzman, Janelle Jones, Melissa Micklash, Liz Rayl, Rhonda Richardson, Paula Russel, Laura Skinner and Jennifer Wright.

BLUE SUEDE SHOES (Tap) and ROCK N ROLL MEDLEY (Jazz) - Megan Holick, Jenny Jones, Jackie List, Gia Mellendorf, Anne Oberstein and Courtney Turner.

SING, SING, SING (Tap) - Ashley Chappel, Rebecca Cohrs, Andrea Cooper, Sarah Dillere, Katie McGee, Whitney Osentoski, Shannon Turner and Renee Zawilinski.

ESCAPADE (Jazz) - Richie Cohrs, Michelle Guzman, Janelle Jones and Judd Krause.

SURFIN SAFARI (Tap) - Andrea Cooper and Shannon Turner.

RIP IT UP (Tap) - Gia Mellendorf and Courtney Turner.

DRAGNET and CROSS

MY HEART - Janelle Jones and Melissa Micklash.

Winowski stated there were some 1,200 people passing through the gates for the Corvette Festival and that he was pleased with the response from those watching the performance.

In district court

2 from Caro face charges

A pair of Caro men were arraigned recently in Tuscola County District Court on separate charges.

Timothy L. Smith, 18, 205 N. State St., faces charges of breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny, and larceny in a building.

A preliminary examination is slated for 8:30 a.m. Friday. Bond was set at $5,000.

According to court records, Smith is charged with breaking into an office building at 194 N. State St., Caro, and stealing liquor, beer, a dictaphone, 12th Special Forces Group coin, camera, cash, stamps, radio and calculator May 8.

Jeffery A. Lagos, 21, 345 W. Caro Rd., was arraigned on a charge of malicious destruction of property over $100.

Bond for Lagos, who is accused of damaging a 1984 Chevrolet Camaro, was set at $400. A preliminary exam is to be scheduled in the case.

Family days slated at Bay Shore

Softball and volleyball tournament play will be the focus of activity when Bay Shore Camp, Sebawaing, hosts its 1990 Family Fun Days, Friday and Saturday.

Softball gets a head start on action, with the first tournament games scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday. Teams from 10 area churches have been seeded in round-robin tournament play. Each team will play at least 3 games, with the 1990 championship game scheduled for 7 p.m. Saturday, June 16. First and 2nd-place tournament teams will receive trophies and clothing from Bay Shore's bookstore.

Campers who stay Friday night at Bay Shore will enjoy a 9 p.m. campfire and songfest.

An all-morning, all-you-can-eat pancake and sausage breakfast will begin Saturday's activities, starting at 8 a.m. Tickets ($3 adults; $1 children 5-12) may be purchased on site, with proceeds going to Bay Shore's Youth Center building project.

Registration for the volleyball tournament will take place at 9 a.m. Saturday, with play scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. Teams are required to have 4 members with at least 2 females, and substitutions are allowed.

Other Family Fun Days activities in and around Bay Shore's 40-acre campground include horseshoes, tetherball, frisbee golf, a balloon launch and organized children's games. Dusty da' Klown will be on hand from 1 to 3 p.m. with special children's entertainment and concessions will be available all day.

RV sites are available. More information is available by calling 883-2501.

Letters to the Editor

CASA program needed locally

Editor,

Our involvement as foster parents to Tuscola County's abused and neglected children has made us painfully aware of the need for the Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) program in our county.

As with most counties throughout Michigan, our county's child welfare system is seriously overstressed, understaffed and critically undertrained in even the most basic issues of foster care and the everlasting effect on the children they touch. Animosity, disinterest, and lack of training and time often governs the information the judge receives on which to base the critical decisions he must make.

This is a grave responsibility with far reaching consequences for the children, because a judge can only act on the information presented to him.

The CASA Program is supported by the Children's Charter of the Courts of Michigan and is comprised of trained and supervised concerned volunteers who are appointed by the juvenile court to act as an advocate to a specific child and make recommendations to the court on the child's behalf. The CASA volunteer has no direct involvement with the child appointed to him and talks to all individuals involved with the child or the case.

This provides the judge with vital information that can be overlooked or repressed by those with direct interest in the case creating painful, destructive delays for the child and waste precious time and money. System abuse has the same consequences for the child as parental abuse - and often even more. Placing a child in foster care does not end his problems. The best foster home in the world is still no home at all.

Thirteen Michigan counties already have a CASA program, and there is proposed legislation to mandate CASA programs throughout Michigan. Changes are being made in Lansing, but these will be a long time reaching Tuscola County.

acronym CASA is also the word for "home" in the Spanish language.

Sincerely,

Raymond & Delores Garety foster parents, TCCMH 7405 Bay City-Forestville Rd., Cass City

The CASA program is a volunteer program with training and direction provided and is an answer we do not have to wait for.

If you feel this program would benefit our county's troubled children, or would like to become a CASA volunteer, write a letter to our juvenile court asking them to consider the program for our county. Also, send a copy of your letter to our legislators to alert them to your interest and concern. Your letter will make a crucial difference in the lives of Tuscola County's foster children. Significantly, the

Let's share the Earth--Weaver

Last April I went to a crowded University of Michigan auditorium for a lecture given by Lou Gold, an environmentalist. He spoke of the old growth temperate rain forest of the Siskiyou Mountains along the border of California and Oregon. He enlightened me and many others of the massive destruction of the pristine, ancient forests of our Northwest.

Recently we have criticized Brazil for destroying its rain forest yet we are doing the same thing in our own country. As can be seen by the accompanying figure, we have almost completely stripped our country of its virgin forests. Still today, congress is permitting the destruction of our public forests, irreplaceable systems of plant and animal life. The average age of the trees in one recently destroyed forest was 900 years.

What makes the issue even more absurd is that we are selling the raw timber to foreign countries at ridiculously low prices. For example, in Alaska's Tongass National Forest, "the Forest Service has sold 500 year old standing trees worth $700 each on the open market for as little as $1.48 - less than the price of a Big Mac" (Forest Voice, Vol II, No I). These countries then process and treat the wood and sell it back to us.

The excuses and reconciliations of the Forest Service and the loggers are weak. They claim that without logging, thousands of jobs will be lost. In reality, the loss of jobs is due to technology and the machines that take the place of many men. Between 1979 and 1986 there has been a 26% increase in wood products from Oregon land and a 38% decrease in Oregon loggers (Editorial in the Register Guard, Eugene, Ore., 3-11-90).

If employment is such a concern, why are we shipping the timber overseas thereby creating employment in countries such as Japan?

The logging companies try to attain peace with the environmentalists by replanting the areas they have clear-cut. This is hardly a remedy because it takes thousands of years for bare land to progress to the complex stage that our old growth forests are currently in. Secondly, single species forests can very easily be wiped out by disease. Finally, some wildlife, such as the spotted owl, can only live in old growth forests.

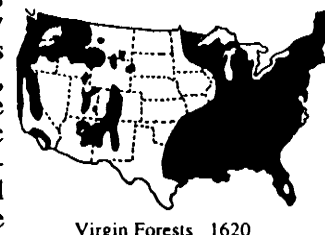

The Forest Service also reconciles that some areas of trees are left untouched. Unfortunately, small patches of vegetation serve only aesthetic purposes; some plants and animals need large habitats to live and reproduce. For example a single grizzly needs 100 square miles of land to survive.

Plants and animals cannot adapt to rapidly changing environments. However, we humans can adapt; we can find alternate employment, other places to live and ways to reuse or replace wood.

Let's share the Earth instead of being selfish bullies. Remember, extinction is forever. Please write to your Congressmen now to stop the destruction of our last old growth forests.

Indians - 18, A's - 5: The battle for first place took place Monday with the Indians coming out on top led by Scott Buehrly and Andy Green who had 3 hits each. Mark Waltz added 2 hits. The A's were led by the hitting of Issac Ponder and Shawn Hebbia.

Cubs - 17, Pirates - 16: The Cubs pulled off their 2nd win of the season by beating the Pirates. Matt Frappert gave the Cubs the lead with a late game home run. John McNaughton had a triple while Lance Gohsman and Eric Zawilinski led the pitching attack. The Pirates were led by Nathan Woodruff and Kyle Daniel who had 3 hits each.

Dodgers - 22, Yankees - 5: The Dodgers continued their move to the top with a big win over the Yankees. Justin Salas led the way with 2 hits including his first home run of the season and first year player Nathan Brinkman also belted a homer. Joe DeLong hit a home run and Craig Emmert had 2 hits in the Yankees' fine effort.

Orioles - 10, Pirates - 9: Danny Sherman and Tim Sherman led the hitting attack for the Orioles while Zack Bouck played a fine defensive game in their victory. Nathan Haag, Kyle Daniel and Nathan Woodruff led the Pirate effort.

BOYS' LITTLE LEAGUE

Week of June 4

Monday, June 4 - Yankees 17, Pirates 1.
Tim Marker and Corey Ulfig pitched the Yankees to their third win of the year. Ulfig, along with Mike Bolton and Paul DeLong, led the Yankee hitting attack. Pitching for the Pirates were Nathan Buehrly and Tim Vatter. Tim Fritz paced the Pirate offense.

Tuesday, June 5 - Cubs 2, Tigers 1.
In a battle for first place, one of the better played games of the year saw the Cubs prevail. The Cubs scored twice in the first inning and the pitching of Chad Zawilinski and Kevin Storm made it stand up as they struck out 13 Tigers between them. Storm had 2 hits and Chad Diegel and Todd Milligan each had one for the Cubs. Mark LeValley doubled and scored the only run for the Tigers. Excellent defense and the pitching of Dave Murphy and Tom Dewey held the Cubs in check.

Wednesday, June 6 - Giants 17, Pirates 14.
The giants hung on for victory as the Pirates staged a valiant rally late in the game. Giant pitching chores were handled by Nathan Hendrick, Brad Speirs and Dan Sherman. Eric Hayes, Ryan Rockwell and Sam Hobbs each had 2 hits for the Giants. Nathan Buehrly and Tim Vatter pitched for the Pirates. Vatter led the late inning rally with a grand slam home run. Brad Sweeney and Jess Cieslinski each had a hit to aid the Pirate cause.

Thursday, June 7 - Cubs 9, Orioles 8 - The Cubs came from behind to pull this game out and hold on to first place. The Cubs were again led offensively by Kevin Storm with 3 hits. Matt Klinkman and Chad Diegel pitched in with 2 hits each. Pitchers were Chad Zawilinski and Storm. The Orioles jumped out to a lead behind the hitting of Jesse Kornelson and Matt Irrer who each had 2 hits. Oriole pitchers were Nathan Mastie, Andy Gray and Kornelson.

Friday, June 8 - Yankees 9, Tigers 6.
Tim Marker and Corey Ulfig again pitched the win for the Yankees. Ulfig, Mike Bolton, Brent Morley and Mike Keyser each had 2 hits for the Yankees. Tiger pitching duties were shared by Dave Murphy and Tom Dewey. Their offense was led by Aron Romstad and Mark LeValley, each with 2 hits.

Seek Huron

bean queen

candidates

Candidates are being sought to vie for the title of 1990 Huron County Bean Queen.

To be eligible, candidates must be single, between the ages of 17 and 25 and the daughter of a Huron County bean grower who's grown beans within the last 5 years.

Sponsorship is not required, but those planning to compete must file an application form with the county Cooperative Extension Service Office, 104 County Building, Bad Axe, by July 20.

The contest is sponsored by the Huron County Bean Growers' Association and Huron County elevators. Judging will take place July 31 at the Franklin Inn in Bad Axe. The crowning will take place Thursday during fair week.

Huron County's bean queen will represent the county at state level competition slated for Labor Day in Fairgrove.

Application forms are available at the Cooperative Extension Service office.

HOLDING THE PLAQUES earned as champions of the annual Harold Isard tournament held Monday are, from left, Daryl Iwankovitsch, Fred Leeson, Dick Peterson and Ken Zdrojewski.

N-C all star

teams named

The North Central Thumb League's all conference baseball and softball teams for 1990 were named Wednesday.

To no one's surprise, Owen-Gage senior right hander Kevin Koch was named to the 9-school association's first team.

Koch, who was also an all district selection, was honored along with teammates Mike Kady (2nd team infielder), Bryan Abbe, Jason Torres and Chad Sturrt (honorable mention). On the softball diamond, 4 lady Bulldogs received special acknowledgment. Junior catcher Vicki

tough one-run

loss in regionals

Coach Dave Hoard was pleased with everything the Cass City Red Hawks did in the opening round of the regionals at Lake Fenton Saturday. Everything, that is, but the final inning and the final score.

The Hawks bowed to Armada, 14-13, and the winners scored 6 times in the last inning to advance to the finals. Armada then lost to Merrill and its all-state hurler, 3-0, in the championship game.

That last inning was remarkable, Hoard feels, because the big rally was the result of solid base knocks. Our defense all game was simply great, he explained, and it was in that fatal seventh, too. Armada just kept finding the holes with its hits. In the big last inning rally, the winners combed losing pitcher Beth Powell for 5 hits, including a 3-run homer by Dianne Coenen.

After the Hawks won the districts, Hoard's concern was the lack of hitting by his charges. We hit hard all year, but in the districts, the bats were strangely mute. We need to hit to win, he said before the game Saturday.

And hit the Hawks did, spraying 17 hits off the slants of Maria Schleventz and working her for 4 walks and 2 hit batters.

Included in the blows were circuit clouts by Sue Papp and Terri Gibson. Papp's blow came with 2 mates aboard and got Cass City off to a flying start. The players didn't stop there.

In the second they scored 4 more times. Kim Morley started it with a single. Jandi Hillaker picked up her second straight single and Vicki Robinson also singled. Papp came through with another hit and the Hawks were in front, 7-3, going into the third.

Armada stayed within shouting distance with some heavy hitting. During the game they picked up 21 hits, with 15 of them in the final 3 innings as Powell appeared to have lost some of her stuff.

Papp and Robinson closed out their careers on a sparkling note. Robinson had 4 hits in 5 tries and Papp rapped 3 hits, including her home run.

Eight of the 9 Hawks that played collected hits. Powell, Gibson and Shannon Spapen rapped out 2 hits each.

All district

team named

District champion Cass City placed 2 on the all-district softball team, and Dave Hoard, Cass City coach, was named coach of the year.

Beth Powell, who hurled both games that propelled the Hawks to the title, was named as pitcher and Vicki Robinson, lusty hitting outfielder, was named to the outfield.

In addition, Sue Papp, shortstop, and Jandi Hillaker, first base, received honorable mention.

Other players named include: Kelly Schelke, pitcher, Leslie Guigar, third base, and Karen Franzel, outfield, all of Uby; Leslie Navarro, catcher, Sue Rich, second base, Suzanne Mitchell, outfield, and Rebecca Lynn Staples, player at large, all of Sandusky; Treasa Dutcher, first base, Deckerville, and Kristy Adam, shortstop, USA.

All of the players except Mitchell are seniors.

Honorable mention list includes: Dana Biroscak and Jeanne Guza, Harbor Beach; Renea Peruski, Becky Mazure, Uby; Terri Marteniz, USA; Tricia Hooper, LeAnn Rumble, Deckerville; Jenny Gavitt, Mariann Mann, Bad Axe, and Debbie Christner, Jodi Beachy, Lakers.

Action brisk in Caro

summer baseball loop

Teams are needed for a Men's Class C and Below Slow Pitch Tournament, slated for July 14 and 15 at the Cass City Recreational Park, Cass City.

Deadline to enter the double elimination tourney is July 1, according to organizer Chuck Erla, who said the first 20 teams to pay the $100 entry fee will be accepted.

The tournament draw will be conducted July 2, and each team will be notified as to starting times.

Additional information is available by calling Erla at 872-3734.

Special meeting fails to resolve Wilbur Hall fate

Although a special meeting was called to address the issue, no decision was reached Monday night regarding the fate of Wilbur Memorial Hall.

At the last regular meeting, conducted May 21, Tuscola County's 4-H Council suggested leaders attend Monday's session to discuss the building's usefulness and cost of continuing maintenance.

Of about 250 registered Tuscola County leaders, approximately 70 were in attendance.

The primary action taken Monday was the changing of 4-H program bylaws. Council members moved and seconded a motion to eliminate the phrase "to support and maintain the Wilbur Memorial Building" from Article 2, section 6 of the bylaws' preamble. They also wanted to delete the words "operate and maintain the Wilbur Memorial 4-H Building" from Article 4, section 1, paragraph 3.

Leaders and council members voted to approve this action, 43 to 35.

An earlier council motion limited the open discussion period on the building and bylaw change issues to 30 minutes. During that time prior to the vote many leaders and youths spoke up.

"I think there's been a lot of misunderstanding with this Wilbur Building issue," leader Jackie Colosky said. Even though the building may be a "dinosaur," the 4-H program owns that facility and "we should be proud of what we've got," she added.

Colosky then stated although there are people who have sentimental feelings for Wilbur Hall, she would be willing to use another building if necessary for club meetings, as a dormitory during the fair, for workshops and other activities for which Wilbur Hall was used in the past.

"Let's get (the issue) resolved and get on with 4-H business," she concluded.

"We don't have all the answers," replied council member Florence Hale, reading from a prepared statement. "The council has a lot of questions that we are struggling with."

Hale suggested, at the recommendation of council president Rose Buckmaster and newly hired Cooperative Extension Director Dennis Stein, a reorganization of the Wilbur committee would better assist and inform the council in this matter.

At the next regular meeting, June 18, Hale proposed staffing the new committee with council members, several leaders and some non-4-H people. This body would make recommendations to the council on costs, plans and the expected needs of 4-H in regards to the Wilbur Building.

Former council president, Gene Taggett, questioned the board's proposed bylaw changes and asked how that action will affect Wilbur Hall and the 4-H program.

After seeking answers regarding the hall's fate, responsibility for its care, application of existing funds and money from a possible sale, Taggett said he viewed the bylaw question as one of deciding "whether the 4-H Council wants to continue to have responsibility for the building."

"How can you form a committee on something you don't want to be responsible for?" Taggett asked.

"I think we have a facility that has outlived its usefulness," said leader Barbara Haas.

"(Members) would not be serving on this council if they didn't have the best interests of the kids at heart," she said in defense of the council.

Remarks such as "let's get this thing ironed out and put the kids first," and "we are all leaders, we have to stay united," were also heard during open discussion.

Wilbur Hall, normally reopened in early April after winter closing, remains unopened this year due to disagreement on its condition and safety.

"I would say it's going to be closed through the fair," Hale said after the meeting.

In other business, Stein announced that Vickie Merchant will fill the position of Tuscola County 4-H agent on a part-time basis starting June 18.

Stein said he will cover the duties of agricultural agent until a new one is hired, hopefully late this year or by the first of next year, he added.

After the meeting Stein said Merchant is aware of 4-H's current problems but probably won't handle the sensitive Wilbur Hall issue. Stein said he will leave the dilemma for the 4-H council and leaders to resolve and step in if necessary.

State budget work snagged

A reported estimate of $36 million in additional spending for corrections and social services and a House Democratic proposal to defer higher education payments have snagged negotiations on a supplemental needed to keep the current fiscal year out of deficit.

Those issues threaten hopes by legislative leaders to resolve the 1989-90 budget next week and set spending targets for final conference committee work on the 1990-91 budget.

The new DSS and corrections estimates, reported by Senate Republicans, would result in a third revision this year of projections of spending needs. Legislators negotiating the supplemental have asked for a detailed accounting of the additional requirements.

The revision, a change from estimates a week earlier, reportedly calls for another $10 million for corrections and $26 million for social services.

But Management and Budget Director Shelby Solomon said the needs of those 2 departments have not been hiked, with the net increase dependent upon total reductions within the budget.

Those projected increases, he said, represent what would be needed if a 3.5 percent reduction was made in every department.

"Basically what we said was do 3.5 percent across the board but we suggested we might have to make adjustments within that to make sure the money went to the right areas," Solomon said. "They're saying the 3.5 percent across the board is exactly what's needed."

The leaders, including members of the House-Senate conference committee on the budget-balancing supplemental (HB 5278), were already dealing with recommendations to cut $232 million to help cover spending increases in a variety of areas totaling $280 million.

The cuts included a 2.5 percent across the board slice in each department proposed in February plus another 1 percent last week; K-12 schools and higher education were exempt.

House Democratic leaders, saying it is "unrealistic" to expect departments to absorb the additional 1 percent in the 4 remaining months of the fiscal year, proposed deferred payments of $45 million to 4-year universities and $11.2 million to community colleges until the next fiscal year as an alternative.

But Senate Republicans decry that as breaking an agreement to keep education exempt and Solomon said he, too, is against the plan.

Sen. Dan DeGrow (R-Port Huron) said Republicans rigidly oppose any tampering with education appropriations. "We don't feel it's right and we won't do it," he said. He called the deferred payments to the colleges and universities "real cuts" that will not be made up.

Solomon, who expressed doubts the higher education deferral will "go anywhere," said, "We don't like it very well. We're concerned about it being a way of moving money from one year to the next."

Some of those in the negotiations also said the tactic reminded some of book-keeping adjustments made during the Milliken administration to cover deficit spending.

Solomon said "definite progress" was made during a recent closed door meeting, but added, "What we still haven't seen is ensuring that the reductions that have to be made are actually made in the bill."

He said the key will be to include provisions in the social services budget that require actual reductions in spending.

"We're getting to the point where we have to reduce spending farther than some of the people are willing to go," Solomon said.

Senate Appropriations Chair Harry Gast (R-St. Joseph) said the negotiations have not uncovered any "quick and easy answer." And, he said he remains "perplexed" as to where the money will come from to cover the newly-identified spending needs.

"If they will agree to cuts in the Youth Corps and some of those other things, we can get agreement," DeGrow said.

The Senate had slashed two-thirds of the Youth Corps budget and cut funds from other programs cherished by the governor such as the Opportunity Card and Yes Michigan promotions.

Governor James J. Blanchard personally took up the campaign to keep the Youth Corps program nearly whole and is backed by House Democrats.

Republicans also question the propriety of administration recommendations to balance the budget by transferring $23 million in building construction costs to State Building Authority bonds, gaining another $5 million in SBA interest payments to the general fund for money used to begin projects, and assuming $15 million in unspent appropriations from various unspecified departments.

Seek contestants for lip sync event

The Fourth of July Festival Committee is looking for people who can't carry a tune, but know how to fake it.

Those interested in the lip sync contest, scheduled for June 29 at 7 p.m. in Cass City High School, are asked to attend an organizational meeting.

Committee members Sally and Barbara Doerr will register contestants June 18 at 7 p.m. in the Sally Doerr Dance Studio.

Participants should provide their ages and the song titles they plan to perform. Contestants will compete within their age groups.

Adults and children are welcome and encouraged to sign up.

Officers elected

New officers for the Thumb Cosmetologist Affiliate, Inc., Unit 25, were elected June 4.

They are Sheryle Horetski of Kinde, president; Esther Fisher Wright of Harbor Beach, first vice-president; Marion Graham of Caro, financial secretary; Leota Anthes of Cass City, treasurer; Mary Wilcox of Clifford, historian; Monica Ozak of Ubly, program chairwoman, and Helen Agar of Cass City, public relations and advisory.

First vice-president for the state of Michigan, Russell Kalerkilo of Port Huron, and state Treasurer H.C. Scott installed the officers. Also attending were Carla Huebner, state styles director, and Missy Lavelle, member of Michigan Hair Fashions.

Church to host song evangelist

Traveling song evangelist Charlie Dietz of St. Joseph, Mo., will present a gospel concert at Novesta Church of Christ, 2896 N. Cemetery Rd., Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Dietz's concert consists mainly of traditional gospel music and old favorites.

The public is invited. A free-will offering will be taken in support of Dietz's music ministry.

Youth for Christ director retiring

Delta Thumb Youth for Christ Executive Director Ray Clendenan has announced his retirement effective June 30.

Clendenan and his wife, Hilda, founded the local Youth for Christ in Marlette in 1952. Over the Clendenans' 39 year tenure, YFC has expanded through numerous growth patterns. Following the Clendenans' retirement, Delta Thumb Youth for Christ will become 2 separate chapters, Thumb Youth for Christ serving Sanilac, Tuscola and Lapeer Counties, and Tri-County Youth for Christ, serving Saginaw, Bay and Midland Counties. Clendenan will continue as CEO of Teen Ranch, which is housed in Marlette, and will remain active on 5 various boards, including YFC USA.

To date, no successor to the Clendenans has been named by the YFC Board of Directors. Applications are currently being accepted.

With previous experience in 4-H, Boy Scouts of America and a Marlette Community Youth Fellowship Group, the Clendenans founded the Marlette chapter of YFC in 1952. The organization flourished and expanded into a downtown Main street office in 1959, when it also encompassed Tuscola County. St. Clair County was soon added to the fold in 1960. In 1966, the sister organization, Teen Ranch, was founded to establish residential care for young boys. The 2 separate organizations have co-existed in the same headquarters to this day.

YFC and Teen Ranch moved to its current address at 2861 Main St., Marlette, in 1978, the same year that Thumb YFC assumed the responsibility for Delta YFC.

Reflecting on his career, Clendenan noted that he has been fulfilled.

"I responded to what, I felt, was a call. I knew in my heart that this was what I had to do. Looking back, I feel like a father to nearly 100 staff who have worked here and the board members, too."

"We've seen thousands of kids turn their lives over to Jesus Christ. The plan of salvation is real in my life today," Clendenan said.

"I have talked about turning over some responsibilities for some time. Still, it's hard for me to let go here, that's for sure," Clendenan said.

A retirement party for the Clendenans has been scheduled for June 24 from 2 to 6 p.m. in the Millington High School Cafeteria, with a program slated for 4 p.m.

Hillaker promoted

David Hillaker has been named branch manager of Cadillac Plastic and Chemical Company's stocking and sales office located at 2625 E. University Drive, Phoenix, AZ, (602) 275-6295 announced General Manager John Piperi. The branch services customers in Arizona with the full line of plastics, plus offers custom and standard fabricated parts.

Hillaker joined the inside sales staff of Faulkner Plastics branch in Tampa, Fla., in 1982 and was promoted to Sales Operations Manager for the 4 Faulkner branches in 1986.

Born in Cass City, Hillaker earned a bachelor of science degree from Central Michigan University. Dave and Cheryl Hillaker and their son, Ryan, 9, have moved to Phoenix, Az.

Bike-a-thon was success

Organizers of the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-a-thon held recently in Cass City are calling the event a resounding success.

Sixty-five children and adults raised $3,403 during the May 12 ride.

After the event, riders collected their pledges. Nine turned in $100 or more. Top collectors were Heather Pomeroy, with $159; Clara Gaffney, $124, and Randy Whittaker, $121.

Six of the riders logged 30 or more miles. The 3 who accumulated the most miles were Chris Chappel, 36 1/2 miles, and Paul Murphy and Scott Iwankovitch, each with 33 1/3 miles.

Co-chairs of the event were Linda Derfny and Suzanne Chappel.

1,704 people died

1988 traffic crashes cost state's citizens $7 billion

In 1988, traffic crashes cost Michigan citizens more than $7 billion in property damage, medical care and quality of life, according to a University of Michigan study released last week.

The figure includes an estimated combined cost of $135,324,000 incurred in accidents that occurred in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties.

A total of 1,704 people died as a result of crashes -- almost half of them alcohol-related -- on Michigan roads in 1988. Another 22,560 suffered serious injuries.

According to Fredrick M. Streff, scientist at the U-M Transportation Research Institute, property damage accounted for less than $1 billion of the $7.1 billion crash-associated costs. The remainder reflected medical and mental health costs, ambulance and police services, emergency services, administrative costs, productivity loss, and loss of quality of life (pain and suffering).

"Our data indicates that traffic crashes are not only numerous but exceptionally costly because they involve such high levels of fatality and injury," Streff said.

The results of the study were presented at the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning's "Michigan Lifesavers '90" conference in Bellaire.

The study, sponsored by the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning, examined crash rates and costs for all 83 Michigan counties using data from the Department of State Police. Quality of life costs were based on economic models of damages awarded by juries in cases of injury or death, special pay for hazardous work and the amount people commonly pay for increased safety.

Streff noted that Wayne County mirrored the overall experience of the state in terms of crash incidence and costs. Almost 24 percent of the crashes and 20 percent of

County	Fatal Injuries	*A-Level Injuries	*B-Level Injuries	*C-Level Injuries	Property Damage Only	Total cost of crashes in 1988
Tuscola	15	177	291	412	2,490	$53,333,000
Huron	8	101	157	200	1,379	$28,858,000
Sanilac	19	113	140	304	1,776	$53,133,000

*A - incapacitating injuries

*B - non-incapacitating injuries that are evident to observers at the scene

*C - possible injuries that are reported or claimed (lesser cuts, minor aches and pains) the total costs of the state were attributed to Wayne County.

In general, rural counties have proportionately larger crash costs than urban counties, Streff said, because crashes on rural roads tend to be more severe than those on urban streets.

Streff remarked he hoped that city, county and state legislators would use the data to make policy decisions regarding allocation of resources to prevent crashes, including assignment of police officers to traffic enforcement duties and re-examination of the current safety belt law.

Michigan's safety belt law went into effect in July 1985. However, Streff noted that it is only a secondary enforcement law, meaning that a police officer cannot stop a driver solely on the basis of non-use of safety belts.

An annual survey of safety belt use conducted by Streff indicates that only 44 percent of drivers and passengers in Michigan use their safety belts.

"Our data strongly supports changing the safety belt law to allow primary enforcement," Streff said. "The cost of enforcing a primary law would be considerably less than the $7 billion lost on crashes a year."

The Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning has spent an average of $628,000 each year on enforcement and public education programs to support the current safety belt law, he added.

Streff also supports the implementation of sobriety check lanes as an effective deterrent to drunk driving.

"When people say that sobriety check lanes are an intrusion on their privacy, they should be reminded that when they go to an airport they can routinely expect metal detector searches and a search of their bags. Problems associated with armed airline passengers have never come close to those associated with drunk drivers."

Kay Sullivan earns degree

Former Cass City resident Kay (Kendall) Sullivan recently earned bachelor's degrees in nursing and as a nurse practitioner at Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind.

A 1974 Cass City High School graduate, she graduated from the registered nursing program at Purdue in 1978.

Sullivan, the granddaughter of Herbert Ludlow of Cass City, works in the emergency room at Broadway Methodist Hospital in Merrillville, Ind. She has 3 children, Carly, Aaron and Cydney.

Sykora announces candidacy

Sandusky attorney J. Anthony Sykora has added his name to the candidates running for the bench to be vacated by retiring Sanilac County Circuit Judge Allen E. Keyes.

J. Anthony Sykora

Sykora has practiced law in Sanilac County for 20 years, as Sanilac County prosecuting attorney from 1976 to 1980 after serving as assistant prosecutor from 1971 through 1975. While in that office, he tried almost every type of criminal case, acted as corporate counsel for Sanilac County and initiated or participated in at least 6 legislative hearings and improvements to Michigan laws.

In 1981 he opened his present office, which he operates with the assistance of his wife Gloria, Diane Stewart and Gloria Minard. His general practice includes nearly every facet of the law, including trials, appeals, divorces, estate planning, real estate, juvenile and probate, as well as representation of private and public corporations. Sykora is also prosecutor and corporation counsel for over 20 municipalities.

He has served on the Board of Directors of Child and Family Services and is currently President of the Sanilac County United Way. Of the various volunteer services to the community over the years, he says he particularly enjoyed his introductory law classes for fifth graders.

Sykora and his family are avid sailors, skiers, scuba divers and horseback riders.

At 51 years of age, Sykora remarked he intends to bring his broad background of administrative experience, legal knowledge of criminal and civil procedure and trial experience to the office of Circuit Judge.

"I believe I have the most complete and extensive experience, combine the strengths of all the other candidates and am best qualified to continue the high standards expected of the Circuit Court Judge for Sanilac County."

DNR grant applications available

Applications are now available from the Department of Natural Resources Waste Management Division for the fourth round of funding under the Solid Waste Alternatives Program (SWAP) funded by the Protecting Michigan's Future Bond.

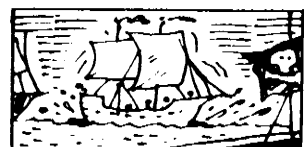

Grants and loans will be available for fiscal year 1992 for projects in 10 categories: recycling (collection and processing); composting; resource recovery education; market development; marketing; market development research and demonstration; waste reduction research and demonstration; household hazardous waste centers; waste-to-energy and transfer stations.

Both public and private entities are eligible to receive a grant or loan. All projects must be located in a Michigan county that has an approved solid waste management plan update.

To date, more than 200 projects representing some $62 million in SWAP funding have been approved by the DNR and the natural Resources Commission. Approximately $88 million is available for projects eligible under this program.

The application deadline for this round of funding is Oct. 1.

There will also be an administrative review period from July 2 - Aug. 10, 1990. Draft applications submitted during this period will be reviewed by DNR staff for clarity and completeness.

Historians say the word "Yankee" meaning an American comes from the Dutch word for pirate, which the settlers in New Amsterdam (now New York) applied to their shrewd New England neighbors.

Bad Axe attorney seeks Allen's seat

Attorney John Neeb, Bad Axe, has announced his intent to seek the Democratic nomination for the 77th District State Representative seat, now held by 4-term incumbent Dick Allen (R-Caro).

"I am running because we need a state representative who is genuinely interested in the 77th District and is willing to spend time here with the people of the district as well as in Lansing. During his first term or 2 in office, our present Representative showed he was capable of doing the job, but during his last 4 years in office he has clearly demonstrated his interests lie elsewhere. I have the ability to effectively represent the interests of the people in the 77th District, and I am willing to listen to their concerns and opinions and to work hard to meet their needs."

Neeb, 41, has been a practicing attorney in Huron County since being admitted to the Bar in 1978. He is a 1967 graduate of Bad Axe High School, received a bachelor of science degree from Northern Michigan University in 1972, and his juris doctor degree from the Thomas M. Cooley Law School, Lansing, 1978.

Neeb was employed by Active Industries in Elkton and Hamill Manufacturing in Bad Axe from 1972 through 1975.

He and his wife, Maryanne, who reside in Bad Axe, were married in 1979 and have 2 children, John III, 7, and Kala, 4. Mrs. Neeb is employed by Walbro Corporation in Caro.

4 daughters, Mrs. Charles (Theresa) Depcinski, Bad Axe, Mrs. Gary (Denise) Franzel, Rochester Hills, and Julie and Melissa, both at home; one grandson; his mother, Frances, Algonac; 2 sisters, Mrs. Thomas (Rose) Socia, Capac, and Mrs. Charles (Lena) DeCausin, Mt. Clemens; 3 brothers, Norman Terrasi, Mt. Clemens, Anthony Terrasi, Warren, and Joseph Terrasi, Algonac.

He was preceded in death by 2 brothers, Angelo Terrasi and Jackie Terrasi.

Services were held Friday at St. Joseph's Catholic Church. The Rev. Michael Bell, pastor, officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Zinger-Smigielski Funeral Home, Ubly, handled arrangements.

Barcia eyes third term in District 34

State Sen. James A. Barcia (D-Bay City) has filed for reelection for a third term in the 34th State Senate District.

The 34th District includes the counties of Arenac, Bay, Gladwin, Huron and Tuscola. Barcia has held his Senate seat since 1982.

"I will run for reelection to the 34th District Senate seat because I want to continue to serve the people of this district and see that their needs are met by state government," Barcia said.

"The legislature is going to face some very exciting challenges over the next few years that are going to be extremely important to Michigan's future. I welcome the opportunity to face the challenges of protecting our environment, promoting tourism, developing new agricultural methods, products, and markets, and finding a solution to the financing of our schools."

Senator Barcia considers it his highest priority to be accessible to his constituents. Over his 14 years in the legislature, he has assisted thousands of individuals who have requested his help. He has also worked closely with local officials in obtaining state funding for projects.

"The people of the 34th District elected me to represent their interests, this includes cutting through the bureaucratic red tape and ensuring that communities receive their fair share of state funding."

Barcia serves as Assistant Minority Whip in the Democratic Caucus. He is a member of the Senate Regulatory Affairs Committee, and is minority vice-chairperson of the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry. He is also a member of the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules.

Before being elected to his Senate seat, Barcia served 3 terms in the Michigan House of Representatives.

St. Pancratius women install 1990 officers

St. Pancratius Women's Council held installation of officers and dinner at the Charmont June 4. Fr. J. Spleet gave the blessing.

Chris Erla and Elsie Hahn conducted installation of new officers. They are: president, Nina Davis; vice-president, Mary Guza; secretary, Louise Ashmore, and treasurer, Frances Kloc.

A short meeting was held by President Davis. Discussion was on the 4th of July donation to the Cass City Chamber and the annual chicken dinner.

The group's next meeting will be held in the fall.

Winning design

Kent Winter's drawing tops in festival contest

Cass City occupies a prominent place in the world, according to Kent Winter's point of view.

The high school sophomore created the winning design for the Fourth of July/125th birthday festival T-shirts by expanding on his idea from last year.

Winter drew a globe with the words "Cass City" flying out from Michigan's Thumb. For last year's T-shirt competition, Winter was thinking on a smaller scale and depicted Cass City in relation to the state of Michigan.

Cass City resident displays artistic talent, Wintersaid he wants to pursue a business career.

Festival T-shirts printed with Winter's design are available through 6 village merchants: Ben Franklin, Old Wood, Coach Light, Georgine's, Kritzman's and Clothes Closet. Adult shirts are $7 for regular sizes and $9 for double-X large. Children's shirts are $6, and all tank tops are $6.

About 60 students from CCHS's art I and advanced art classes entered the contest. Art teacher Karen Wallace and 3 festival committee members judged the designs.

For submitting the winning picture, Winter received a free T-shirt awarded by committee member Connie Iwankovitsch.

4 Ubly youths selected to attend 27th annual citizenship seminar

The 27th annual Young People's Citizenship Seminar, sponsored by the Michigan Farm Bureau and county Farm Bureaus throughout the state, will attract over 200 high school juniors and seniors to the campus of Olivet College June 18-22.

Among those selected to attend are Ubly residents Jackie Courless, Amy Grifka, Jill Anne Kubacki and Kristie McCarty.

During the 5-day seminar, the students will be involved in political activities -- running for office, conducting campaigns, participating in party rallies, caucuses and conventions, and voting in primary and general elections.

"The students will be divided into 2 political parties -- the Federalists and the Populists -- with a few independents to make it interesting," said Julie Chamberlain, manager of Michigan Farm Bureau's Promotion & Education Department and coordinator of the seminar.

"In addition to electing members of their peer group to a number of political offices, they will also be making some tough decisions on ballot proposals. They will vote on whether there should be a mandatory drug testing program established for high school athletes, whether the State of Michigan should increase sales tax to provide funds for environmental research and cleanup, and whether prayer should be allowed in public schools."

Chamberlain said that in addition to learning about their nation's political and economic systems, the students will also hear about people and governments from other countries of the world. Speakers and instructors for this year's seminar include Rep. Frank Fitzgerald, Rep. Lynn Johndahl, Enterprise Square USA Executive Director Robert Rowland, author and radio personality Dr. John Furbay, and Stacey Allison, first American woman to summit Mt. Everest. Rev. Bruce Hanks, leading portrayer of Abraham Lincoln, and Maria Schultz, who became a U.S. citizen after living under Polish, German Nazi and communist forms of government, will also address the students.

"The purpose of the seminar is to prepare high school students to effectively carry out the citizenship responsibilities they'll be taking on in the very near future," Chamberlain said.

Seminar participants are selected by county Farm Bureaus in cooperation with local high schools.
