For track, basketball Facilities near completion

HELPING ARCHIE TOLAS, right, of Current Surfaces spray another coat to the new track are Cass City High School students, Tim Englehart, left, and Steve Tuckey.

With the help of the Cass City Boosters Club, Cass City Rotary and Cass City Lions, a new track and an expanded basketball area will be completed.

As previously announced, final work on the new track will be completed because of a loan made by the school to the Boosters.

Late this week the final coat of the 7-coat asphalt process will be sprayed by Current Surfaces, Inc., of Jackson.

Then, in 2 or 3 weeks, a sub-contractor will paint the lines and the school will have a modern 8-lane all-weather track. It is expected that the surface will last 7 or 8 years before resurfacing is necessary, Archie Tolas, of Current Surfaces, said.

While the track project has been under discussion and construction for 2 years, the new basketball court was first considered only a few short months ago by the Cass City Lions Club.

Cass City Rotary joined the project a short time later and it is expected that the new courts will be available yet this fall.

There will be 3 courts, running east and west instead of the one court that runs north and south. Each court will be 84 feet wide and 152 feet long, which is regulation width, but shorter than regulation high school length.

There will be new break-away rims, costing $250 each for 6 rims, and new supports at a cost of $250 each. The supports will be farther from the playing area to eliminate some of the potential for injury.

The asphalt has been estimated at $8,000. For that work the total is about $12,000 to $13,000.

The clubs are awaiting cost estimates for painting the asphalt similar to the way the tennis courts are finished, and for new lights.

The cost of the project has been held down by volunteer labor by members of the 2 sponsoring clubs and other interested residents and by the donation of the earth moving equipment by the village.

3,500 students back to classes Tuesday

It's back to school next week for students and teachers as the 1990-91 school year gets underway.

School officials in 4 area districts—Cass City, Owen-Gage, Kingston and Uby—are expected to welcome back some 3,500 students when classes resume Tuesday. Area teachers will report a day earlier.

The following is a roundup of back-to-school information on each of the school systems.

CASS CITY

Like most area districts, Cass City will begin the 1990-91 school year with a full day of classes, but students will get the following Friday off.

School Supt. Ken Micklash said he hopes to welcome the same number of pupils—about 1,663—as last year, but noted he's anticipating enrollment will fall by as many as 20 students.

Bus routes will be about the same as last year with the exception of Evergreen Elementary students, whose school has been closed.

Students in grade K-3 who live north of Argyle Road will be bussed to Campbell Elementary and those who live south of Argyle Road will go to Deford Elementary, according to Micklash, who added Evergreen students in grades 4 and 5 will be bussed to Cass City.

Lunch prices remain unchanged at 90 cents in the elementary schools and 95 cents in the intermediate and high schools.

The district, which is starting the final year of a 3-year teachers contract, will welcome one new instructor this year. The Board of Education was to have acted Monday on a recommendation to fill retired Deford Elementary Principal Betty Murphy's teaching post.

OWEN-GAGE

Owen-Gage students and teachers will follow the same schedule as those in

KINGSTON

About 754 students—the same enrollment as last year—are expected to report Tuesday for a full day of classes in the Kingston School District.

Students can expect to find the same bus routes and lunch prices as last year, according to school officials, who said elementary students will pay 90 cents per meal and secondary students, 95 cents per meal.

Reinstatement of a home economics offering this year means there will be one new face in the district. Barbara Merchant, Cass City, has been hired to fill the part-time teaching post.

Like Owen-Gage, Kingston School officials and the district's 35 teachers currently are negotiating a new contract. The teachers' existing 2-year pact will expire Aug. 31.

UBLY

Uby Community School students will find freshly painted classrooms and the completion of extensive remodeling when they return to school Tuesday.

In contrast to the other districts, school officials are expecting an increase in enrollment of about 20 students. Last year's enrollment totaled about 780 pupils.

Officials said 2 sections of kindergarten will be conducted this year. Young 5 program pupils will attend school in the morning.

Bus routes will be about the same as in the past school year.

Lunch prices also are the same. Elementary students will pay $1 per day or $5 a week, and secondary students will pay $1.10 a day or $5.50 a week.

Applications for free or reduced lunches will be distributed to students on the first day of school and must be returned within 10 days to be considered for eligibility.

Three new faces will be seen in the district this year. They include J. Kearney Howe, who has been hired as the vocational agriculture instructor, and Debra Osen-toski, who has been hired as the computer business teacher.

School officials currently are seeking a replacement for former high school Principal William Courliss, who resigned earlier this month to become superintendent of the Littlefield Public Schools, Alanson.

Uby's 41 teachers will begin the new school year with a new labor contract that was ratified last week. The new 3-year agreement replaces an expired 3-year pact.

Protest group fails to sway school board

Five families from the Evergreen area descended on the Cass City School Board Monday night at the high school in a last ditch effort to keep their children out of Deford School and in Campbell Elementary School.

All presented letters to the board outlining reasons for the request and the request was denied for 4 of the 5 families.

Mrs. Renee Pomeroy will be allowed to send her third grade child to Campbell because of emotional problems that the child has faced.

That was the only reason that board members would accept as valid for a transfer. Mrs. Denise Putterbaugh, who has been a frequent critic of the board since the closing of Evergreen School, said that she felt that children at Deford were discriminated against because they did not have a full-time principal. At Deford the principal teaches in addition to his duties as principal while at the much larger Campbell School the principal does not teach.

It was pointed out that the situation at Deford this year was the same as it was the previous year at Evergreen except that split grade classes were eliminated.

Denied transfer were the Putterbaughs, J. Samons, the Timothy Rayls and Joe Ignash. Trustee Fred Matthews abstained in all the votes denying transfers.

In another action concerning Evergreen School, Supt. Kenneth Micklash told the board that everything connected with the school was on hold until the legal ownership of the building could be determined. We don't know who has the right to take action among the Keyworth heirs at this time, he explained.

A request for 2 Justice children to continue to attend Caro Schools was approved. Micklash indicated that there would probably be 2 children transferring from the Caro district to the Cass City district.

Matthews said that there had been 2 cases of minor vandalism at Evergreen School and Micklash said that the district was going to maintain the building in good shape until its future is decided.

school opens rather than in October.

Principal Dave Lovejoy said that 4th graders would have a period of art a week for the first time.

Micklash said that in another year it might be possible to extend a full art program in the elementary grades.

TEACHERS HIRED

The board approved the contract of Mrs. Linda Derfny to teach 3rd grade at Deford. The position was created when Mrs. Betty Murphy, Deford principal, retired.

Beth Howard was granted a pregnancy leave of absence until Dec. 21 and Micklash said that a qualified social worker is available to fill in during her absence.

The contracts of adult high school teachers were approved and each was granted a raise of 5.5 percent. This year teachers will receive $15.24 per hour plus a 25-cent-per-hour bonus if 80 percent of the students remain enrolled when the 4th Friday census is taken.

The new wage is an increase of 79 cents per hour.

Teachers hired for the fall semester include: Dorothy Scollon, speech; Ellen Toner, reading and independent study; Phil Gray, health; Fran Lovejoy, English; Linda Volz, government; John Zdrojewski, math; Sandra Bolton, general science; Sean Zawilinski, United States history, and Judy Brown, office block.

Fugitive arrested

Police cars wrecked in chase

A 21-year-old Ortonville man was arraigned Sunday on several charges after he led police on a high-speed chase over the weekend that began in Lapeer County and ended just south of Caro.

William G. Graves was charged Sunday in Tuscola County District Court with felonious assault, fleeing and eluding police, malicious destruction of property (2 counts), driving while his license was suspended or revoked, second offense, improper plates, and transporting an open intoxicant in a motor vehicle.

Bond for the defendant was set at $15,000. A preliminary examination is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. Aug. 31.

Police stated the incident began in Lapeer County, where troopers from the state police post in Lapeer attempted to stop Graves' vehicle.

The chase proceeded north into Tuscola County, according to police, who said Graves squeezed through one road block and ran a red light at the intersection of M-24 and M-46 at a speed of 85 to 90 miles per hour. Minutes later he smashed into a second road block just south of Gun Club Road.

The crash resulted in extensive damage to 2 Caro Police Department patrol cars.

Graves' vehicle continued for another half-mile before it became disabled.

Police said Graves escaped with only minor cuts, while his wife, a passenger in the vehicle, was not injured.

Aside from Caro police, troopers from the state police post in Caro and sheriff's deputies assisted in the effort.

In other recent District Court proceedings, a Fairgrove man was arraigned last Wednesday on charges of first and second degree Criminal Sexual Conduct.

A preliminary examination for the defendant, Richard A. Hartman, 18, was scheduled for 8:30 a.m. Friday. Bond was set at a combined $4,500.

Court records state Hartman is charged with engaging in sexual penetration with a person under the age of 13 years in August 1989 in Akron township, and engaging in sexual contact with a person under the age of 13 years in June 1990 in Juniata Township.

Also, Ferndale resident Harlan S. Shell, 34, faces a charge of attempting to obtain a controlled substance by fraud.

A preliminary exam in the case will be held Friday at 8:30 a.m. Bond has been set at $2,000.

Shell is accused of attempting to receive Tylenol with codeine by presenting a prescription for David Barth and representing himself to be David Barth.

Denied transfer were the Putterbaughs, J. Samons, the Timothy Rayls and Joe Ignash. Trustee Fred Matthews abstained in all the votes denying transfers.

In another action concerning Evergreen School, Supt. Kenneth Micklash told the board that everything connected with the school was on hold until the legal ownership of the building could

In Blind River, Ont., the small-town spirit is alive and well, I learned when I visited on vacation last week. We were a half-mile from our boat after spending the night in a motel. The courtesy driver was still sleeping and we decided to walk rather than wake him up. In the office was a lady from a motel in the next community, passing the time of day while she waited for a friend she had driven to the hospital. Without a second thought, she volunteered to drive us and seemed pleased to be able to help.

Of all the ports visited in the 5-day boat trip, Mackinac Island was the most popular. I suppose if you have never visited, it is something that you do, especially if you are into trinket and souvenir shopping.

It ranks near the bottom of my favorite places list. I go north to get away from commercialism and crowds and feel it is nuts to pay $5 to walk on the porch of the Grand Hotel.

It's media day for high school fall sports this week. To me it seems as if summer was missed this year, probably because of the weather. I can recall just one hot day (July 4) all year. You, too?

After a potluck meal, the afternoon was spent visiting and viewing pictures of Scotland. Fifty-nine people attended.

"If It Fitz..."

That poor fish

By Jim Fitzgerald

It's common to describe an unfortunate person, a real loser, as "that poor fish." It's easy to understand why.

Last month, when the state Department of Natural Resources dropped poison in some rivers to kill a few thousand fish so it could take a census of the corpses, there were several complaints. Some fisherspersons complained they were being deprived of the pleasure of killing those poisoned fish with a hook and line. Some environmentalists complained the poison might accidentally kill some flora and fauna not targeted by the census. Some paranoiacs complained the poison might kill them.

But DNR officials said not to worry, the poison would cause "no permanent harm."

Tell that to the poor fish. A Florida man was recently sentenced to more than 3 years in prison for killing a puppy for digging up his garden. How many years would he have gotten for killing a goldfish for splashing water on his carpet?

There's a big difference, you say? Sure. But the difference is all in the perception of humans. It's adventurous to shoot a deer just for the sport of it, but it's bloody murder to shoot a hunting dog just for the thrill of exercising power over life and death. Everybody knows that.

Except maybe the deer.

Earlier this year, when the Detroit Zoo killed 4 healthy oryx simply because they were surplus, I wrote: "An oryx is a sentient being; it feels the warmth of the sun, the cool of a breeze, and the pain of a bullet piercing its flesh. It probably enjoys dinner. Perhaps it loves another antelope. Perhaps it wants very much to continue feeling, eating and loving."

Why shouldn't I write something similar about fish killed simply to make it easy for people to count them? What is it with the poor fish anyway? I know some vegetarians who adamantly refuse to eat any sort of animal flesh. Except they eat fish.

Yes, I also eat fish. And cow and pig and so on. Does that make me a lousy hypocrite? Does that negate my right to wonder whether a fish enjoys life in the water and would just as soon not be killed by a census taker, thanks just the same? I don't think so.

Animal management experts say it's foolish to ascribe human characteristics and emotions to animals. How do they know? It's like bullfights, rodeos and dog races. Until some bull, horse or dog tells me differently, I'll continue to believe it's obscenely cruel to kill, torment or starve animals for entertainment and profit.

It's nature's way to feed off itself. It's their bad luck that fish and cows are at the worse end of the food chain, but there's nothing I can do about it. I'm not Mother Nature.

Mother Nature doesn't kill a bear drawn to a bait pile simply for a power jolt and to get her money's worth out of a high-powered rifle with a telescopic sight. Mother Nature doesn't kill fish to facilitate a government survey. Only human beings do that.

It's necessary to kill for food, but I can't imagine enjoying working in a slaughterhouse. The world will be improved when no one kills anything just for fun, for a trophy, or for convenience.

That's what I was thinking, with dismay, as I read the many complaints about the DNR project and wondered whether I was the only one sappy enough to feel sorry for the poor fish. I felt less lonely when Jeffrey J. Minor of Pontiac, in a letter to the editor, said this about the poisoning:

"Man's inhumanity to other life forms on this planet never ceases to amaze me. We deserve every disaster Mother Nature throws at us. We have more than earned it by our never-ending egocentric view that man was put here to do as he pleases. It is our responsibility to take care of our world, not destroy it."

I don't know Minor, but I thank him for letting me know that someone else thinks a killed fish has suffered some permanent harm.

CASS CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPEN

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 28, 1990

(Check schedule below for time.)

General Information

The Cass City Public Schools will open Tuesday, August 28, 1990, with a full day session. All students will report to their respective buildings. Class lists of students at Campbell, Deford and Intermediate will be posted Friday, August 24th at 10:00 a.m. All fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grade students from Deford and Evergreen areas will be attending school in Cass City.

Classes will not be conducted at Evergreen Elementary School. Kindergarten through third grade students from Evergreen Township who reside north of Argyle Road will attend Campbell Elementary School, while Kindergarten through third grade students residing south of Argyle Road will attend Deford Elementary School.

The Principals and Counselors will be available in their offices the week of August 20th to register new students. Considerable waiting time may be saved if appointments to register the students are made.

Kindergarten

Kindergarten classes in all elementary buildings will begin on Tuesday, August 28th. Kindergarten parents will be notified by letter when to come for parent conferences.

Parents should present the child's birth certificate, health record, and enrollment sheet before school starts if they have not already done so.

School Time Schedules

| School              | Starting Time | Dismissal |
|---------------------|---------------|-----------|
| Campbell Elementary | 8:25 a.m.     | 3:05 p.m. |
| Deford Elementary   | 8:25          | 3:05      |
| Intermediate School | 8:25          | 3:05      |
| High School         | 8:30          | 3:15      |

Buses

Buses will begin the year traveling similar routes to last year. Adjustments, throughout the district, but especially in Evergreen Township will be made to balance bus loads and to provide for the transportation of new students. The following bus policies have been adopted by the Board of Education.

STUDENT RESPONSIBILITIES

1. To observe classroom conduct (except for ordinary conversation) while getting on, getting off and riding the bus.
2. To occupy the seat assigned by the driver and remain seated in an erect position with both feet on the floor while the bus is in motion.
3. To be at the pickup place designated at the scheduled time.
4. To wait until the bus comes to a complete stop before attempting to get on or off.
5. To keep all parts of your body inside the bus at all times.
6. To cross a traveled highway, if necessary after leaving the bus, by walking in front of the bus.
7. To leave or board the bus only with the consent of the driver and only through the proper door.
8. To immediately report to the driver any damage to the bus.
9. To help keep the bus clean, sanitary and orderly and the aisles free of any obstructions.
10. To obey the driver cheerfully and to refrain from unnecessary conversation with the driver while the bus is moving.

PARENT RESPONSIBILITIES

1. To take all precautions necessary for the protection of their children while going to and from the bus stop.
2. To work in a cooperative manner with those responsible for pupil transportation.

BUS DISCIPLINE PROCEDURE

1. First violation - The driver submitting the violation report will deliver it personally to the Principal of the building the student attends. The Principal will arrange a conference at which the student, driver and Principal will be in attendance. A written communication regarding the violation and disciplinary action taken will be sent to the parents.
2. Second violation - The same procedure as in the first violation. The minimum disciplinary action will be a three (3) day suspension from riding the bus.
3. Third violation - The same procedures as above with a five (5) day minimum suspension.

Cafeteria

Elementary and High School cafeterias will open on Tuesday, August 28th. The price for lunches at Campbell and Deford is 90 cents. Weekly lunch tickets are available on Mondays for students at a cost of $4.50. The price for Intermediate and High School students is 95 cents.

Milk is available for all students who carry their own lunch at a cost of 25 cents a carton.

Immunizations

Act 299, Public Acts of 1975, authorized the Director of the Michigan Department of Public Health to specify, by regulation, the immunizations and tests required of all children enrolling in Michigan schools for the first time. This year the following immunizations are required: Diphtheria, Tetanus, Rubella, Pertussis, Measles, Poliomyelitis.

In addition, each new school entry must have had a vision screening test.

The parent or guardian who, because of religious or other convictions, does not want his child protected from these diseases must submit a signed statement to that effect.

As part of our school admission procedure for your child, we must enforce the law stated above. We must have the health record or a similar statement in order to admit your child officially to school. If you have questions about this, please contact your local school, your doctor, or the Thumb District Health Department.

Discrimination Prohibition and Student Information

It is the policy of the Cass City Public Schools to not discriminate on the basis of sex, race, religion, or other prohibited matters in employment, or in educational programs. Anyone who feels that a violation of rights has occurred should notify: Curtis Cleland, Jr., Civil Rights Co-ordinator, Cass City Public Schools, 4868 N. Seeger St., Cass City, MI 48726 (517)872-2148.

On occasion the Cass City Public Schools does release the name of individual students and directory information such as grade level and honors and awards. If any parent or adult student wishes to not have such information released, notification, in writing, must be sent to: Kenneth J. Micklash, Superintendent, Cass City Public Schools, 4868 N. Seeger St., Cass City, MI 48726.

Student Accident Insurance Policy

Student accident insurance is available for parents to purchase through the Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company. This low cost insurance plan can provide coverage for students at both school and home. Forms for participation will be given to all students to take home during the first week of school. Please review this information carefully and contact your child's principal if you have any questions.

Guidance and Counseling

The school guidance program is designed to assist students who have personal and social concerns, and to help students design academic programs to meet their individual needs and abilities. College admission and financial aid assistance is provided for students interested in continuing their schooling after graduation. One of the programs designed to benefit both the student and the community is the co-operative education program. Under this program, some students are placed in on-the-job work situations for part of each school day. Students and parents desiring more information are encouraged to contact the guidance offices.

Free and Reduced Price Student Meals

The Cass City Public Schools policy for free and reduced price meals for children unable to pay the full price of meals served under the National School Lunch, School Breakfast or Commodity School Programs uses the following household size and income criteria to determine eligibility:

| Total Family Size             | A. Scale for Free Meals or Free Milk |       |      | B. Scale for Reduced Price Meals |       |      |

Children from households whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free and reduced-price meals or free milk.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free or reduced-priced meals, households should fill out the form and return it to the school. Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school. An application which does not contain all of the following information cannot be processed by the school: (1) the total monthly household income AND the amount and source of income received by each household member (such as wages, child support, etc.) OR the household's food stamp case or AFDC number if the household is on food stamps or receives AFDC; (2) names of all household members; (3) social security numbers of all household members 21 years of age or older, or the word "None" for any adult household member who does not have a social security number; and (4) the signature of an adult household member.

Food Stamp/AFDC Households: If you currently receive Food Stamps or "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" (AFDC) for your child, you only have to list your child's name and Food Stamp or AFDC case number, print your name and sign the application. The information provided by the household is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility and verifying data. Applications may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If children are approved for free or reduced-price meal or free milk benefits, the household must report to the school increases in household income over $50 per month ($600 per year) and decreases in household size.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If a household is not currently eligible but has a decrease in household income, an increase in household size or if a household member becomes unemployed, the household should fill out an application at that time.

In most cases foster children are eligible for these benefits regardless of the household's income. If a household has foster children living with them and they wish to apply for free or reduced-price meals for them, the household should contact the school for more information.

Under the provisions of the policy the building principal will review applications and determine eligibility.

Parents and guardians dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. The household also has the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official: Kenneth J. Micklash, Superintendent, 4868 North Seeger St., Cass City, MI 48726.

Emergency School Closing

Special announcements concerning school closing will be made through the following public service facilities: Radio WKYO - Caro, Radio WMIC - Sandusky, Radio WLEW - Bad Axe, Radio WHNN - Saginaw and Radio WIOG - Saginaw. Announcements will be made as soon as a decision is reached.

Set twilight meet

A special twilight meeting has been scheduled for producers that would like to evaluate firsthand the use of phosphorous fertilizer on dry bean production.

A conservation tillage demonstration of several tools will take place at 7 p.m. Aug. 29, with a review of the fertilizer and corn variety plot at 8 p.m. The tour/demonstration will take place at the Louis Ackerman farm starting at the phosphorous demonstration site a half-mile west of Bradford Road on M-138 (Fairgrove Road). Any interested area producer is invited to attend.

New books at the library

MURDER IN THE BLUE ROOM by Elliott Roosevelt (mystery). While her husband entertains and appeases Foreign Minister Molotov and his party of surly Russians, who come to the White House to urge an Anglo-American second front against the Nazis, Eleanor Roosevelt must once again don her sleuthing garb and venture forth. During the Russian visit, already drenched in paranoia and secrecy (the Soviets have brought their own vodka, sausage, bread, and massive amounts of firepower), a White House secretary is found dead, coshed by a candelabra.

FIGHTING FOR PEACE: SEVEN CRITICAL YEARS IN THE PENTAGON by Caspar Weinberger (non-fiction). In a no-nonsense style, Weinberger discusses the massive build-up of American arms during his tenure as secretary of defense, 1980-1988, and warns it is essential that the U.S. retain its present military strength. A strong advocate of the Strategic Defense Initiative, he also considers it crucial that the U.S. develop and deploy a defensive system that "protects rather than avenges." Weinberger expresses pride over his success in establishing a military relationship with Beijing while maintaining a friendly alliance with Taipei. Effusive in his praise of Reagan as a president of courageous, visionary leadership and character, he believes the president made only one major mistake, which Weinberger refers to as "the Iranian hostage activity." In his chapter on the Iran-contra scandal he identifies former National Security Adviser Robert McFarlane as a primary villain in the affair, characterizing him as a man lacking in intellect, moral principal or historical understanding.

BLACK TIE ONLY by Julia Fenton (fiction). This is the story of 3 young American women, Alexandra, Jette and Mary Lee, who meet at an exclusive English boarding school where the future Lady Diana is their friend and classmate. One of their teenage pranks, which they keep secret, has tragic consequences, and continues to haunt them throughout the years, during which time all 3 return to the U.S. Alexandra wins fame as a songwriter and ultimately marries a fantastically wealthy hotel executive. Jette, a successful actress, becomes the mistress of an explosive and unpredictable Mafia don, and Mary Lee, after writing a best-seller, rises to the top as a talk-show hostess. When the Princess of Wales asks her old friend Alexandra to host a party for her and the Prince during their visit to the States, an escalating series of events is set into motion, culminating in kidnapping, extortion and an attempted assassination.

THIS YOUNG GOLDEN Chinese pheasant will have a 3 foot tail when fully grown. Cass City residents Earnest and Tommie Cook raise the colorful birds as a hobby. The Cooks also raise and sell game and domestic birds for food.

Michigan Mirror

Waste compact may dissolve

The 7-state low-level radioactive waste compact is in near danger of dissolving, undoing years of work trying to find a regional site. Michigan's continued search for a site is destined for failure, a compact consultant said, because of overly restrictive criteria.

The executive director of the compact recommended not to give Michigan $1.9 million for a study of the only 78 remaining potential sites unless the criteria is eased. If members adopt this recommendation the compact could collapse, Michigan Low-Level Waste Authority Commissioner James Cleary warns. Cleary, who also doubts whether any site can be found given the current criteria, said, "We are at a very serious juncture in the whole compact. We have no intention of doing anything to the criteria until the process has run with the 78 areas. That's firm." He said it is important to have sufficient data on why and where the criteria is a problem before changes can be considered.

Cleary, who has spoken to all but one of the other states' commissioners, said he does not know if they will adopt the recommendation against giving Michigan more money. "I think this compact will dissolve within 6 months if they hang tight," he said. "We don't want to see that. It would work against what everybody's working on at the national level because it adds one more site and that is not what we want."

Gregg Larson, executive director of the Midwest compact, said he made the recommendation because "I believe there is enough evidence that the criteria is too restrictive." His recommendation, contained in a memo, also would reduce money the compact states give Michigan if it has not begun site characterization work on 3 potential sites by April 1. "If the criteria is not changed, Michigan will not find a site. If that is the real bottom line, then everybody will be better served by Michigan indicating it will not go forward with its responsibility," Larson said.

An exclusionary screening process eliminated 97 percent of the state. Three remaining large sites were eliminated, mostly because of wetlands problems. The criteria is more restrictive than federal standards.

A report by L. Lehman and Associates, a consultant hired by the compact to review the request for additional money, said they virtually guarantee that a site cannot be found in Michigan. They said the authority should first apply the most restrictive criteria dealing with water problems to determine if any of the areas are still viable, instead of applying the entire range of criteria to all 78 at once.

Cleary said it is unrealistic to expect the Legislature to make such a highly-charged political decision before the November election. When he eliminated the last of 3 large sites earlier this year, Cleary had said the additional studies would mean no other potential sites would be identified until after the election.

Michigan has asked for $1.9 million for both this year and 1990-91 from the other states for the site studies, most of that for contracted experts. Cleary said it is not possible to conduct the review with his existing staff and dollars

Earnest Cook says

Birds of a feather don't always flock together

by Kristine L. Renaud
Staff Writer

Earnest Cook knows a certain old adage doesn't always hold true: birds of a feather may flock together, but sometimes co-habitation gets annoying.

Cook and his wife, Tommie, Cass City residents since 1946, raise game birds and domestic fowl. They discovered that pheasants may peck viciously at each another, occasionally to death, for no apparent reason.

"It's just something that happens," Cook said.

To thwart cannibalistic behavior, Cook fits the birds with blinders when they are about 6 weeks old and leaves the "Polly Peepers" on until butchering time. Chickens are prone to the same actions, he added.

Despite the unique problems involved with raising game birds and domestic fowl, the venture is worthwhile. Each prepared bobwhite quail brings $3.50 and a dressed ring-necked pheasant fetches $7. If the Cooks sold this year's batch of 2,000 quails and 1,000 pheasants, the profits would create a considerable nest egg.

The large flocks of game birds residing at the Cook farm originated about 5 years ago with a Father's Day gift of 6 pheasants. Earnest's wife, their daughter Kay and granddaughter Heidi bought the birds for Cook. The couple also raised 2 sons, Gene and Mike, and boast 5 more grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Game birds proved an interesting hobby for Earnest, who grew up in Indiana and farmed his place in Cass City for 36 years.

About 50 bobwhite quail eggs, imported from Georgia state, joined the pheasants a year or 2 later. Silver pheasants, peacocks, golden Chinese pheasants, cochins, aracana, Plymouth Rock and white rock chickens, domestic geese, ducks, white turkeys and 3 Canadian geese round out the collection.

The birds took it upon themselves to increase the Cooks' stock to its current size.

"We have our own breeding stock and we do our own hatching," Earnest noted. The quails, 34 hens and 15 males, are "really productive," he added. From those 49 birds came the 2,000 offspring previously mentioned.

Newly laid eggs are gathered and placed in one of 2 incubators, Cook said. Peacock and goose eggs spend 28 days incubating, pheasant and quail eggs require 23 days and chickens take 21 days to hatch.

After eggs are incubated for the specified amount of time they are put in a hatchery for 48 hours, or until the chicks come out of their shells. At that point they are transferred to one of a number of sheltered pens.

For example, pheasants progress from the hatchery to enclosed pens, to a spacious barn, then a 50 by 150 foot outdoor flight pen. When they are about 16 weeks old the pheasants and quail are moved for the last time, to a dinner table.

"We contract to hunt clubs and we sell to individuals and we eat them, too. They're delicious," Tommie commented.

Like their larger neighbors, quails spend a few weeks getting fresh air and exercise in 2 flight pens, one measuring 25 by 50 feet, the other 40 by 60 feet, Earnest said. Pheasants and bobwhites are kept in separate pens for the same reason the pheasants wear blinders.

"I'm sure the pheasants would bite the quail because the quail are smaller," Tommie pointed out.

When they're not busy trying to eat one another, pheasants as well as quail and peacocks enjoy a special game feed. "We feed them all non-medicated food," Earnest stated. "There is some stuff that's put in some types of grain, but we don't buy that kind." Turkeys, geese and chickens receive similar meals.

The combination of open air pens, exercise and natural food products may bring in the Cooks' many repeat customers.

"These birds get better treatment than some people treat their kids," commented Tommie, a retired Walbro quality control inspector.

"When you raise wildlife they depend on you 100 percent, not 99 percent," Earnest remarked. "If you ain't going to protect them and take care of them 100 percent then don't do it, don't go into the business."

Letter to the editor

Don't let child abuse issue die

I'm certain you all remember Antwon Dumas, the little 5-year-old boy with the big smile. He, like too many others, met death by the brutality of a mother and step-father.

When 3 days old he was given by his mother to his aunt to raise. When he was 4 the court demanded he be returned to his natural mother, who would receive an additional $58 a month for him.

The court's hands are tied as all rights are given to the natural mother, instead of protecting the child.

There have been too many of these incidents and we can do something NOW.

Don't let this issue die as Antwon did! Contact the governor and your representatives in Lansing. Get additional signatures in your neighborhood. Send your letters to:

Senator Barcia, State Capitol Bldg. 1-127A, Lansing 48909.

Representative Dick Allen, State Capitol Bldg. R-220 1/2, Lansing 48909

Gov. Blanchard, Box 30036, Lansing 48909.

An appropriate message would be:

Remember Antwon Dumas - - - Remember it's an election year!

Missionary to Philippines at Baptist WMF meet

Seventeen persons attended a recent meeting of the Women's Missionary Fellowship of the First Baptist Church, Cass City.

The meeting was hosted by Rosella Kretschmer and Betty Ewald.

Following a business meeting group President Shirley Shaw read the words of the song, "Cups - Cold Water," by John Peterson.

Mary Beth Banning, a missionary candidate through the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism, presented a slide show and a display of wares from the Philippines.

Banning was born in the Philippines, her parents having served there for 40 years in church planting. She received her early education there and later attended schools in the United States, including Philadelphia College of Bible and the University of Oklahoma, where she graduated as a nurse.

In the Philippines, she will be serving at a student center.

$9,100 grant for Cass City Bach Festival

State Rep. Dick Allen (R-Caro) and State Sen. James A. Barcia (D-Bay City) recently announced that 2 area organizations, the Caro Arts Society and the Village Bach Festival, have been selected by the Michigan Council for the Arts as recipients of 1991 grants.

The Caro Arts Society will receive an award of $12,300 for on-going operational support for various activities, including the Tuscola County Pumpkin Festival, 4 "Dracula" performances, various concerts, exhibition series and theatre.

The Village Bach Festival, Cass City, was awarded $9,100 to conduct chamber concerts, provide lectures and demonstrations, as well as offer free open rehearsals and document concerts through audio recording.

"We are very pleased to see that these awards were made in our local communities, and that the creativity and artistic efforts of these organizations have been acknowledged."

HEALTH TIPS Couch Potato Generation?

The Silent Generation, the Beat Generation, the Woodstock Generation and the Me Generation have all taken their place in American history. Could the Couch Potato Generation be next? It's possible, since numerous studies have concluded that many American teens have poor dietary habits and are physically unfit.

A balanced diet - including the Recommended Dietary Allowance (RDA) for calcium - and plenty of exercise are beneficial to teens, both immediately and in the long term. Short-term benefits include higher energy levels and better physical appearance. The major long-term benefit is building sufficient bone mass to help delay or prevent osteoporosis in later life.

Dietary Practices Put Teens at Risk
Although the Nutritional status of teens as a group is generally adequate, numerous dietary practices may put them at some degree of risk for a number of chronic diseases if their teen eating patterns continue into adulthood. The following data from a variety of sources helps put teens' nutrition status in perspective.

Teen diets are usually high in sugar, saturated fats and sodium. Teens frequently snack, miss meals, eat on the run and rely on convenience and fast foods. And to improve their appearance and self-image, they may experiment with fad diets.

Surveys show that the most popular food items among teens are: soda pop, milk, steak, hamburgers, pizza, spaghetti, French fries, ice cream, oranges, orange juice, apples and bread.

A 1988 Gallup Organization survey of teenagers 12 to 17 years of age revealed that:

- 71 percent listed potato or corn chips, cookies, candies, ice cream or other sweets as their favorite snack foods.
- Only 10 percent named fruit as their favorite snack.
- 79 percent said they preferred hamburgers, cheeseburgers, pizza and luncheon meat for lunch.

- Only 6 percent said they consumed milk most often for lunch and just 5 percent said cheese.

According to the Nationwide Food Consumption Survey (NFCS):

- 19 percent of teenage girls and 11 percent of teenage boys miss breakfast.

- About 65 percent of teens have one or more snacks per day, which provide about 20 percent of their daily calories. Nutritious foods could make snacking beneficial, but soft drinks and sweets are the most frequently eaten snack foods.

- Intakes of some vitamins and minerals (iron, zinc, and calcium) are low, particularly among females, teens of low socioeconomic status and certain ethnic groups.

Unfortunately, many teens consume calcium at levels well below the RDA of 1,200 mg. Surveys suggest that substituting soft drinks for milk is partially to blame.

Generally, Teens Physically Unfit

Teens' participation in physical fitness activities has increased considerably in recent years. According to some estimates, about 7 million are involved in high school sports, at least 20 million in nonschool community-sponsored athletic programs and an additional 20 million in unsupervised recreational activities. Females are participating in sports more now than previously.

Despite this increased participation, the general level of physical fitness in the entire teen population remains quite low. For example:

- Teenage girls performed worse than a decade ago in 8 of 9 fitness-related tasks such as sit-ups, the standing long jump and the 12-minute run.

- 40 percent of boys age 6 to 12 could do no more than one pull-up. (They should be able to do at least 2). The same is true for 70 percent of girls ages 6 to 17.

- 50 percent of the girls age 6 to 17 and 30 percent of the boys age 6 to 12 could not run a mile in under 10 minutes, far short of the norm of 8 to 9 minutes.

- Only 2 percent of the 18 million children who took the "President's Challenge," a series of exercises that measure strength, flexibility and endurance, performed well enough to qualify for the award.

A 1989 report from the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta offers further evidence. Two teen-oriented physical fitness goals for 1990, which it outlined at the beginning of the decade, probably won't be met. The goals and progress toward them are:

- More than 90 percent of kids 10-17 should participate 3 times a week in 20-minute sessions of vigorous exercise. A 1984 survey found that only 66 percent exercised at that level.

- More than 60 percent of those 10-17 should participate in daily school physical education programs. A 1984 survey placed the figure at 36 percent, up by only 3 percent from a 1974 survey.

Alarming Increase in Teen Obesity

Poor eating and exercise habits can lead to obesity. Available evidence indicates that this condition is also on the rise among children and teens:

- About 15 percent of American teens are estimated to be obese, although the exact percentage depends on the diagnostic criteria for obesity.

- Obesity increased by 39 percent among 12-17 year-olds over the past 15 to 20 years, according to William Dietz of New England Medical Center Hospital in Boston who used NHANES data to make his determination.

- Obesity is about 50 percent higher in this generation than the last generation, according to The National Youth Physical Fitness Survey of American School children (NYPFAS).

- By age 10, 30 percent of our children already show one or more of the 3 danger signs of heart disease - high blood pressure, high cholesterol levels, and obesity - according to NYPFAS.

- 40 percent of children who are obese at age 7 become obese adults.

Through self-motivation and help from parents, teachers and other influential leaders, teens' poor dietary and exercise habits can change for the better. If they don't, the couch potato Generation could be next to come of age.

Sheriff cautions school children

With children headed back to school, now is the time to caution them about contact with strangers, according to Tuscola County Sheriff Tom Kern.

"Remind children never to enter a stranger's car or house, never accept money, gifts or drugs from strangers, and never let a stranger touch them or join them in play. It is important to teach your kids to 'Just say no!'" the sheriff said.

"Children should play in groups - never alone - and never in a vacant building or alley. And they should always take a friend along when going to a public place."

Parents are urged to ask their children to always tell about any unusual actions of any grown-up they encounter.

"Have them take notice of playmates they see getting into a stranger's car, and ask them to get the license number of the car of any stranger who tries to bother them or their friends," Kern noted.

"As parents, know the character of the adults who become friendly with your children. Know the background of baby-sitters or anyone who has charge of your children in your absence."

"Remember to report any incidents to law enforcement officials immediately. The most important thing for children to know is that there are certain people that they can depend on, such as parents, law officers and teachers."

"The sheriff's office is concerned about the safety of all children," Kern added. "Please report any unusual

Disease carry-over a concern

By Dennis Stein
Tuscola County
Extension Director

To follow up on wheat harvest and planning for wheat planting some precautions need to be followed.

First is that 1990 was a year that carried with it a host of wheat diseases. The important reminder is that some of these diseases may be carried over to next year's production.

Seed treatment is a must for all seed lots to be used this fall. The use of certified seed gives the producer the assurance that the field and seed lot has been inspected to meet the quality standards of certified seed.

A second note deals with the practice of planting grain on grain which should be avoided if at all possible. This year's plants and the regrowth in the field can be carriers of disease pathogens and infect wheat planted yet this fall.

If you have questions contact your County Cooperative Extension Service office or a reputable seed sales company.

From the files of the Chronicle

FIVE YEARS AGO

Eighty-one members attended the seventh annual Windy reunion Sunday, Aug. 11, at the Windy farm southeast of Cass City.

Eleven youth of Trinity UM Church were presented with scholarships during the Sunday morning worship service. Marjorie Dickinson made the presentation to Kim Wagg, Libby Dickinson, Ruth Baker, Andrea Nieboer, Jeanne Marshall, Matt Jones, Lori Teichman, Michelle Jones, Angela Nieboer Wallace, Randy Kozan and Kris Proctor.

Rev. Eldred Kelley and congregation members of the Evangelical Free Church of Cass City held a ground breaking ceremony Sunday to kick off the construction of a new church building.

Mrs. Frank Weatherhead had dinner out with her daughter, Elaine Hendrick of Cass City, last weekend and they visited old family friends in the Bad Axe area.

TEN YEARS AGO

The old elevators on Vulcan Street owned by Wickes Agriculture were torn down this week by Whalen Contracting Co. of Caro. The work was expected to be completed Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Laurie and family attended the Morell family reunion Sunday at the park at Forester.

Miss Agnes Milligan, Mrs. John Erla and Miss Gertrude Erla went to dinner at Frank-n-muth Aug. 7 to celebrate birthdays, all near that date.

Sandra Lynne Milligan, daughter of Jack and Margaret Milligan of Decker, will graduate this Thursday from Ferris State College, Big Rapids. She will receive an associate in applied science degree in office administration in both executive and legal secretary programs.

Reading the most books in the Rawson Memorial Library summer reading program were Tim Davis, Chris Kico, Billy Profit, Connie Profit, Christy Rutkoski, Renee Szarapski and Jenny Davis. They read from 18 books to more than 40.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

James MacTavish, 25-year-old school teacher, will leave Sept. 3 for 2 years in Africa, teaching for the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co.

Fast working burglars wreaked havoc on Erla Food Center equipment Saturday night and then dashed off with an undetermined amount of merchandise.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Avery were weekend guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Avery.

Mrs. Harry Young and Miss Muriel Addison have as a guest, a friend of Miss Addison, Miss Jean Haworth of Blackpool, England, who arrived Aug. 11.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

John Warrington was released from the hospital Monday after having been hospitalized since Monday, Aug. 8, after falling 15 feet from a scaffolding while painting at Wesley Creamery Co. He was thoroughly shaken by the fall but suffered no broken bones.

High winds caused by hurricane Connie sank the 48-foot cruiser, Anrod II, owned by Al Krueger of Cass City, at Port Sanilac Saturday.

Dick Wallace, Fred Matthews and Keith Mitchell returned Tuesday from a 4-day, 500-mile motorcycle jaunt.

Auten's won the regular season championship of the Caro Softball League Wednesday night by defeating the Cass City Lions, 6-4. Key hits by Keith Little and Harry Hartwick won the game for Auten's.

Fairgrove man sentenced for negligent homicide conviction

A 30-year-old Fairgrove man was sentenced Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court for his May 22 plea of no contest to charges of negligent homicide and operating a motor vehicle without insurance.

Donald P. Miller Jr. was sentenced to serve 120 days in the county jail, with work release, and 2 years probation, and was ordered to pay a $30 per month oversight fee and complete 180 hours of community service.

Miller was charged in connection with an Aug. 3, 1989, fatal accident in Denmark Township in which he failed to yield the right-of-way at the intersection of Garner Road and M-46. Elwin J. Charles of St. Johns was killed as a result, court records state.

Vassar resident Susan M. LaPratt, 24, was sentenced to 365 days in jail and 5 years probation for her conviction on a charge of child abuse. LaPratt, whose motion for a new trial was denied, also was ordered to pay a $30 per month oversight fee, a $200 fine and court costs of $400 plus attorneys fees.

According to court records, LaPratt was charged with causing physical harm to a 5-year-old May 9, 1989, in Juniata Township. A jury returned a verdict of guilty against her May 10 following a 4-day trial.

William Parsell, 19, of Flint, was sentenced to a prison term of 2 years to 5 years for his April 20 plea of guilty to a charge of attempted forgery.

The April 29 offense, which occurred in Caro, involved a $250 check drawn on the State of Michigan Treasury, court records state.

North Branch resident Angela Kimbrue, 19, was sentenced to 180 days in the county jail and 3 years probation for her May 18 conviction on a charge of attempted forgery.

She also was ordered to make restitution and pay attorneys fees, a $30 per month oversight fee and $30 crime victim fee.

Records state Kimbrue's offense occurred Feb. 8 in Caro and involved a $353 check drawn on Lapeer County Bank and Trust.

Also receiving a jail term was Denice L. Holden, 19, of Caro, who was sentenced to 60 days in jail for her April 27 plea of guilty to joyriding Feb. 24 in Caro.

Todd E. Ihrke, 21, of Millington, was sentenced for his June 22 plea of guilty to a charge of attempted arson of personal property in connection with a March 7 fire that destroyed a 1984 Plymouth Reliant in Fremont Township.

The defendant received a one-year delayed sentence, was ordered to complete 60 hours of community service and pay costs of $250 plus attorneys fees.

Also receiving a one-year delayed sentence Friday was Caro resident Shelly S. Smith, 23, who was ordered to undergo substance abuse counseling and complete 60 hours of community service for conspiring to deliver marijuana Jan. 8 in Caro.

Smith entered a plea of guilty to the charge June 19, court records state.

PLEAS ENTERED

A Millington man pleaded innocent during his arraignment on charges of probation violation.

The case is to be continued to the next motion day (Friday), and the defendant, Dennis W. Armstrong Jr., 21, was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

Court records state Armstrong violated probation by virtue of his May 8 conviction in U.S. District Court, Bay City, on a charge of counterfeiting, and by using or possessing controlled substances March 20 and May 4.

A pair of Tuscola County Jail inmates entered pleas to charges of escape July 30.

Robert H. Avery, 19, pleaded guilty to a charge of escape while serving a felony jail sentence. Sentencing is scheduled for 9 a.m. Oct. 12. Bond was continued at $50,000.

Richard L. Ferguson, 32, meanwhile, entered a plea of innocent to a charge of escape while awaiting trial on a felony. A pre-trial is to be scheduled in his case.

Cass City resident Joseph L. Racine, 20, 6766 Decker-ville Rd., pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted larceny in a building.

Sentencing is to be scheduled, and bond was continued at $1,000.

According to court records, Racine took cash from the Cass City Floral shop, 6450 Main St., June 16.

Caseville resident Thomas F. Underwood, 54, entered a plea of guilty to obtaining money by false pretenses Aug. 16, 1989, in Almer Township.

His sentencing is slated for 9 a.m. Oct. 12, court records state.

Also Friday, Mayville resident John D. Stout, 35, entered a plea of innocent to charges of felonious assault and felony firearm. The case was continued for one week to allow the defendant to obtain counsel.

Court records state Stout assaulted Dennis D. Grimshaw with a shotgun July 28 in Dayton Township.

Report 3 minor mishaps

A Cass City woman complained of minor injuries following a 2-vehicle accident Friday in Cass City.

Elizabeth Dillon, 4118 Seeger St., Cass City, was pulling out of a parking space along Main Street at the Doerr Road intersection at about 11:55 a.m. when she pulled into the path of and collided with another vehicle, Cass City police reported.

Reports indicate Dillon, who was wearing a seat belt, sustained minor injuries.

The other driver, Ryan L. Pomeroy, was not injured, according to police, who stated both vehicles sustained moderate damage.

Another 2-vehicle mishap occurred last Wednesday on Main Street west of Sherman Street.

Police reported that a vehicle driven by Christine B. Little, 6353 Garfield Ave., Cass City, was attempting to park at 5:25 p.m. when she backed into a parked vehicle, which sustained slight damage.

Also last week, troopers from the state police post in Caro state Glenda J. Deering, 975 Crawford Rd., De-ford, struck a deer on Decker-ville Road east of Hurds Corner Road Aug. 13 at about 6:15 a.m. Her vehicle sustained minor damage.

A PUBLIC APPEAL

The Cass City V.F.W. #3644 needs your help!

It is not often veterans ask for help. Usually they just put their shoulder to the wheel and get the job done. They would rather help, than be helped. Since the Cass City Post was organized on May 24th, 1984, they have helped scores of veterans and their families in times of need, and numerous cancer victims as well. They have sponsored programs for our school children on drug education and physical fitness. They have awarded scholarships to high school graduates. They have been a significant contributor to the Cass City Booster Club's High School Track Project. And the list goes on.....

Our rented quarters on East Main Street served us well, but we have outgrown them. Recently we purchased the old bowling alley on Weaver Street for our new permanent home. We can handle the building purchase all right, but renovating a City eyesore has stretched our finances to the limit.

Within our membership we have Master Plumbers, Electricians and carpenters who are providing all the labor, but the material and supply costs are enormous. Over $20,000.00!

If you would like to help us complete this building which will be a credit to Cass City and the V.F.W., please send your donations to:

O-G's Roller hoping for big things from small 'packages'

Coach Dean Roller, entering his 5th year at the helm of the Owen-Gage girls' basketball program, is hoping it's true that big things come in small packages.

That's because his tallest player would barely qualify for all the rides at Cedar Point.

"Even though we're still young and lack size, I'm really excited about this team," says Roller.

Part of Roller's enthusiasm can be contributed to the Bulldogs' back court.

Vickie Ricker, a 5'1" senior, will be the team's leader. A 2-year starter, Ricker's 11 points per game earned her

All-Conference honorable mention recognition as a junior.

Her companion in the back court will be 5'2" Michelle Tkacz.

Tkacz, the Bulldogs' best outside shooter, averaged nearly 10 points per game after being moved up from the junior varsity in mid season as a freshman.

For Roller's squad to improve on last year's 7-14 mark, big numbers will be needed from the duo.

Under the boards Owen-Gage will turn to veteran Lisa Dorsch and newcomer Renee Murawski to fill the void left from graduation.

According to Roller, Dorsch, the team's tallest player at 5'9", is much stronger than a year ago and Murawski, a junior, has improved vastly over the summer.

Gone from last year's team are Marla Goslin and Brandy Salcido. Goslin was Owen-Gage's leading scorer and best inside threat, while Salcido was a rugged offensive rebounder.

Angie Winchester and Stacy Enderle will also be sorely missed from last year's team that finished 5-11 in the North Central Thumb League.

Adding strength to the Bulldogs' back court will be seasoned guards Aimee Merchant, Michele Peters and Jill Ferguson.

Merchant, despite her 5'1" frame, will probably see some action in the front court along with letter winner Marilyn Abfalter.

Roller has a slew of untested players who will all get plenty of consideration, including Lynn Cummins, a 5'8" junior. Look for juniors Deb Timmons, Missy Sus-alla, Lisa Peters and Julie Warack to split playing time early in the season.

Roller sees Deckerville as the hands-down favorite to capture the NCTL crown, with North Huron and Kingston as the league's dark horses. Roller sees a middle of the pack finish for his Bulldogs.

"We have much more quickness than last year and will need it to compensate for our lack of size."

On fuel price hikes

Farm Bureau urging restraint

Michigan Farm Bureau has joined President Bush in calling on the major oil companies to "show restraint" and not unnecessarily raise fuel prices, according to Jack Laurie, Cass City, president of the state's largest farm organization.

The farm leader also praised Governor Blanchard's efforts to convince the oil companies to protect Michigan's farmers from unnecessary price increases.

"Michigan farmers are faced with immediate, drastic increases in their cost of operation," he said. "In addition to the obvious, direct increase in the cost of diesel fuel for tractors and combines, propane for grain drying, and motor fuel for trucks, there is a significant indirect cost to farmers as the fuel increases ripple through the agricultural fertilizer, farm chemical and service industry."

According to American Farm Bureau Federation research, an increase of $5 per barrel in the price of crude oil would increase farm operating costs by $1 billion.

That projection covers direct fuel costs on about 350 million cultivated acres in the United States. It also includes other costs associated with farming, such as trucking and irrigation. Farmers typically spend about $4.5 billion to $5 billion a year on fuel and oils, so a $1 billion increase would amount to a 20 percent rise in total fuel and energy costs.

Laurie said the increase came at the worst possible time for farmers' harvest.

"Farmers have waited all season long for the fruits of their labors. Now, as we see a good Michigan crop of corn, soybeans, dry beans and sugar beets coming to market, a portion of the farmer's profit will be gobbled up by wholesale fuel cost increases of as much as 30 cents a gallon." He said it was probably "counterproductive" to blame price increases on local fuel retailers, who in most cases have little choice but to pass on wholesale price boosts.

One indirect benefit of the fuel price shock, he said, could be a renewed interest in farm based ethanol fuels.

"The crisis in the Middle East underscores our dependence on oil imports. One way to reduce our vulnerability is to encourage the use of ethanol-based fuels, which are derived from domestically produced farm products such as corn," Laurie said greater use of farm based fuels could enhance commodity prices, increase returns to Michigan farmers and boost the entire agricultural economy. One of Michigan Farm Bureau's affiliates is Farmers Petroleum Cooperative, Inc., the state's largest retailer of fuels to the farm market.

PUTTIN' ON THE hits — The Cass City Red Hawks hit the practice field early last week in anticipation of their home opener Aug. 31 against Mayville. A preview of the Hawks' prospects this year will be featured in next week's Chronicle.

Don Galbraith earns degree

Don Galbraith of Florissant, Mo., has earned his master's degree in elementary education from the University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Galbraith, a graduate of Cass City High School and Central Michigan University, is the son of Roger and Beverly Little of Cass City.

He is employed by the Normandy School District, suburban St. Louis, and plans to pursue his doctorate in exercise physiology.

Cass City teams win regional E-D tournaments

Two area fast pitch softball teams advanced from regional play, held over the Aug. 11 weekend in Cass City, and are heading to the state finals to be played over Labor Day weekend.

Winners of the Class D regionals are Cass City's R & H Body Shop, while Cass City's Charmont were victorious in the Class E regionals.

Charmont, who will compete in Coldwater with 12 other teams for the state crown, came up through the losers bracket to defeat LZLB of Flint in the championship game.

Ironically, it was LZLB who handed Charmont their first loss of the double elimination tournament, forcing Charmont to defeat the Flint squad twice to take home the regional trophy.

After defeating league foe Kelly & Company Realty 6-1 in their first game, Charmont was sent to the losers bracket when LZLB defeated the champions 6-5.

Charmont then slipped past American Collision 9-8 to set up the finals with LZLB, who reached the final through the winners bracket.

Charmont set up a one-game showdown when Rick Hollis scored in the bottom of the 8th inning to break a 5-all tie.

In the championship game, Charmont scored 3 times in their final at-bats to capture regional honors 3-2.

Several Charmont hitters enjoyed a successful weekend at the plate. Gary Robinson led his team with a .563 average, while Ed Robinson slugged for a .412 average for the tourney.

Also contributing to the winning cause were Jim Baker, Doug Beecher, Greg Graham, Hollis and Randy Nicholas, who all batted over .300 for the 5-game weekend series.

R & H Body Shop will travel to Flint to vie for the state crown after downing Hagar-Fox in a best of 3 series for the regional championship.

R & H dropped their first meeting with Hagar-Fox 5-2, but bounced back to record 8-1 and 4-0 wins to take regional honors.

Ron Ciurla and Mike Wilson led R & H at the plate, while Ed Stoutenburg held down the mound duties.

Softballers win award

The 1990 district champion Cass City Girls Softball squad has been named an All-State Academic Team by the Michigan High School Softball Coaches Association.

Coach Dave Hoard said the honor, announced recently, recognizes teams that have a combined grade point average of at least 3.0. Overall, 95 teams representing all classes received the recognition, he added.

Also, standout pitcher Beth Powell received individual all-state academic honors by maintaining a grade point average of at least 3.5. She is one of 125 students in all 4 classes to receive the recognition.

In addition, the Michigan High School Athletic Association has named Cass City the 1990 Sportsmanship Award recipient for "exemplary sportsmanship conduct" during the district tournaments.

Set grade hoop practice

Coaches have announced that all 7th and 8th grade girls interested in playing junior high basketball should report for their first practice on the following days:

Eighth grade: First practice will be Monday, Aug. 27, 3:00-4:30 p.m. Practice will be held in the Cass City Intermediate gymnasium.

Seventh grade: First practice will be held after school Tuesday, Aug. 28, from 5:00-6:30 p.m. Practice will be held in the Cass City Intermediate gymnasium.

All players are reminded that they must have a doctor's physical to participate in athletics before being allowed to practice. Physical cards can be picked up in the Cass City Intermediate School administration office.

Gary Robinson is the eighth grade coach (872-4104) and Bert Brinkman (872-2440) is the seventh grade coach.

Benefit softball game set

The third annual "Toys-For-Tots" benefit softball game will be held Sunday starting at 3 p.m. at Doerr Ball Field in Sandusky.

It is rumored that Santa's elves will be disguised as staff from the Thumb Area Consortium as they play the radio station WIOG-FM 102 team from Saginaw.

Persons of all ages are encouraged to attend this event, which will benefit the "Toys-For-Tots" charity.

Admission to the game is free, however donations of an unwrapped new toy or small cash contribution at the game is appreciated. All game proceeds of toys and cash contributions are used within Huron, Lapeer, Sanilac and Tuscola counties to provide toys to needy children at Christmas time.

Individuals or groups who cannot attend the ball game but wish to make a toy or cash donation can call Jerome Lewis at the Consortium Office in Marlette, (517) 635-3561, for more information.

Set eye, ear tests for pupils

The Tuscola County Health Department will be offering hearing and vision screening for any child who may have missed kindergarten round-up and who will be entering school in the fall. Screening will be done Aug. 23 and Aug. 30 at the Tuscola County Health 2266 W. Caro Road, Caro, from 8 a.m. to noon, and from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Interested persons are asked to call 673-8114 to schedule an appointment.

The purpose of this screening is for early identification of possible hearing or vision problems. These problems can be subtle and difficult to detect, but they can affect a child's performance in school and other activities.

Haley is bean queen

Gretchen Haley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger (Valerie) Haley of Owendale,

Junior high to receive equipment

Football equipment will be passed out to all prospective Cass City junior high football players today (Wednesday) and Thursday from 10 a.m. to noon at the Intermediate school.

was crowned the 1990 Huron County Bean Queen at the Huron Community Fair Aug. 9. She was sponsored by the Elkton Plant of the Cooperative Elevator Company.

Named as first runner-up was Trina Christner of Elkton; second runner-up was Theresa Schwartz of Gagetown.

As Huron County Bean Queen, Haley will represent Huron County at the State Bean Queen Contest in Fair-grove on Labor Day weekend.

Local merchants have supported this contest by providing many prizes to the new queen and to the runners-up.

During the year, Haley will represent Huron County bean growers at various events in Huron County and around the state.

The Huron County Bean Queen Contest is sponsored by the Huron County Bean Growers and Huron County elevators.

School to buy track sweat shirts for $4,000

The Cass City Board of Education voted 6-1 to spend about $4,000 for new track sweat suits for some $60 each at its regular session Monday night at the high school.

The expenditure was okayed by a 6-1 vote, with strenuous objections voiced by trustee Fred Matthews. Matthews' position is that track members should raise their own money for these items just like the band, National Honor Society and other school organizations. He offered an amendment to this effect to the motion to buy the uniforms, but it died because of lack of a second. Athletic Director Don Schelke said that the suits (pants and shirt) were previously furnished by the school but stopped during one of the school's financial crunches.

Russ Biefer said. Intermediate School Principal Don Schelke reported similar results.

Biefer was particularly enthused with the arrangement for teaching the class in the high school. Medical students in the Saginaw Cooperative Hospital Program teach the class, he explained, and they are "blunt and concise" and listened to.

OTHER BUSINESS

The truth in taxation meeting was held and it revealed that school taxes will increase 3.06 percent this year.

Jane Reif presented a slide review of the activities of the school improvement committee operating under a governmental grant. She emphasized that the program is a long-term effort, working for solid improvement through the efforts of teachers, board and the community.

The Lighthouse Baptist Church of Caro was denied the use of the cafeteria on Sundays this fall. Since it is a Caro church, trustees felt that most of the members would not be members of the district and the problem caused by having a custodian give up a Sunday to work was unnecessary for this reason.

The school will cooperate with Gov. James Blanchard and participate in the Drug Free Schools week Aug. 26-Sept. 1.

Supt. Ken Micklash displayed a plaque received by the girls' softball team showing that they won the regional good sports award in addition to the district award announced earlier. The team was also an all-academic team, which means that as a team the girls compiled a 3-point (B) or better average.

Sheriff lists bike riding safety tips

As school resumes, children will again be riding their bicycles to and from school, which can be dangerous.

"All too often, children - like adults - become creatures of habit and overlook simple safety precautions," Tuscola County Sheriff Tom Kern says. "I would like to ask all school children who ride their bicycles to remember a few safety rules:

- Only one person belongs on your bike. Never let a second person ride with you.
- Allow plenty of room for a safe stop. Never follow bikes or cars too closely.
- Keep both hands on the handlebars for safe steering.
- Always give proper signals. Keep a firm grip on the handlebars with your right hand and use your left arm and hand to signal turns and stops. Arm straight out is a left turn; arm bent up at the elbow is a right turn, and arm bent down at the elbow is a stop.
- Avoid riding your bike at night. If you must ride at night, equip your bike with a good headlight and rear reflectors. Wear light-colored or reflective clothing so others can see you easily.
- Make sure you obey all traffic signs and signals. Stop completely at stop signs and always look both ways before starting out again."

The sheriff explains that it's easy for children to get into a routine in traveling back and forth to school. However, he stresses that children should remind themselves - and be reminded by their parents - that practicing safety every day can save them from serious injury.

BUS BIDS

The school received 8 bids for the purchase of a surplus 1983 Chevrolet bus and may have sold the bus to Al Kastin of Brighton for $4,208. There is doubt about the bid because Kastin submitted 2 bids and the second was for $2,000 less.

If the high bid is rejected, the bus will be sold to John Gilbert of Holly for $3,653.75.

The board is also considering a new bus policy, which is expected to be passed at the next meeting. It calls for younger students to be placed in the front of the bus and older students to the rear at the discretion of the driver. Questions concerning seat assignments will be reviewed by the transportation director and the student's principal.

AIDS CLASSES

The state-mandated class in AIDS will start a third year and sending official letters to parents of students will be discontinued. This year a note will be sent home and an advertisement placed in the Chronicle advising parents that their child is not compelled to attend.

The first year of the program 11 parents of high school students withdrew children from the program and last year 4 parents withdrew, High School Principal

Your neighbor says

Tammie Auvil lists her shopping preferences

Everywhere you look there are little reminders that another school year is approaching fast.

The days are starting to turn colder, the calendar exhibits that Labor Day weekend, the benchmark date for the start of classes, is only a few days away.

Area football teams are winding up 2-a-day practices.

But the most frequent reminder that the school bell is about to toll comes in the form of advertising. Back-to-school themes are running rampant in every newspaper ad, radio station promotion and TV commercial.

With this in mind, we asked your neighbor,

Tammie Auvil, to talk to us about shopping in Cass City. Auvil, a lifelong resident of Cass City, says that she enjoys doing her grocery shopping in Cass City, and feels that the Charmont is a good place to dine.

However, when it comes to shopping for clothes, the 5-year Walbro employee says she would like to see another dress shop or department store open in town.

"Ben Franklin has great jeans buys, but I'd like to see a shop for dresses open in town", commented the 1980 graduate of Cass City High School.

She added, "It is not Cass City prices that make me shop locally."

We asked Auvil if having parking meters on Main Street - a topic of debate among downtown merchants - deters her from shopping in town.

"No, I usually don't put money in them anyway," smiled Tammie.

Tammie and her husband Jeff, who works for Warack Trucking in Saginaw, have no children.

Deck-patio adds to home value

Your deck or patio occupies a unique space in your home. It doesn't belong entirely to the house; nor does it belong wholly to the garden. It is your private indoor/outdoor living space and it should serve as a transition area between indoors and out. Architects and garden designers are quick to point out that decks and patios add immeasurably to your enjoyment while increasing the value of your home.

Your deck or patio is a logical extension to your home. As you look out your large glass patio doors, you should see the inside of your home reflected there. This outdoor space gives you that feeling of openness and spaciousness which otherwise is impossible to achieve.

You can choose both plants and ornaments to complement those you have chosen for the inside of your house.

For example, a country-look kitchen can extend to the patio by using appropriate benches and containers with the same "look." An elegant living room can be drawn out to meet a carefully manicured garden with perhaps wrought iron benches, containers and even a rose arbor. Wicker is a popular choice with colored cushions that complement the indoor colors of your home. In any case you may want to consider using sweet-smelling flowers or fragrant herbs for the pleasure of your family and guests.

When designing the interior of your house, you either chose to hire a decorator or you did it yourself. Both are enjoyable experiences. A professional landscape architect, garden designer or landscape contractor can do all the work for you from the plans to the completion of the project. They can show you a variety of designs you may not have thought of. They are familiar with all types of soil conditions and can advise you on the best plants to install.

Of course, if you choose to do-it-yourself, you can rely on the advice of the professionals at your garden center. Just let them know what you're planning to use the space for, the amount of sunlight it gets, and the atmosphere you prefer. They'll help you select not only the plants, but the containers and garden ornaments as well. They even have the tools you'll need to properly install your plants and the fertilizers you'll use to keep them healthy and growing.

Your room with a view to both the inside and outside can be the most enjoyable room in your house.
