Weekend sale - Monday ceremony

Yule glow in Cass City

Cass City will take on its Christmas glow Monday at 7 p.m. when the annual lighting ceremony of the Christmas Storytime display at Cass City Recreational Park is scheduled.

In anticipation of the event, the Cass City Retail Committee is staging a town-wide Lighting Up Sale Wednesday through Sunday. Christmas shoppers will find latest style clothing, toys, appliances and furniture at special sale discounts that will make Christmas gifting easier on the pocketbook.

Most stores will be open evenings and Sundays during the holiday season. Starting Wednesday stores will be open Monday-Friday until 8 p.m., Saturday to 5:30 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 4 p.m.

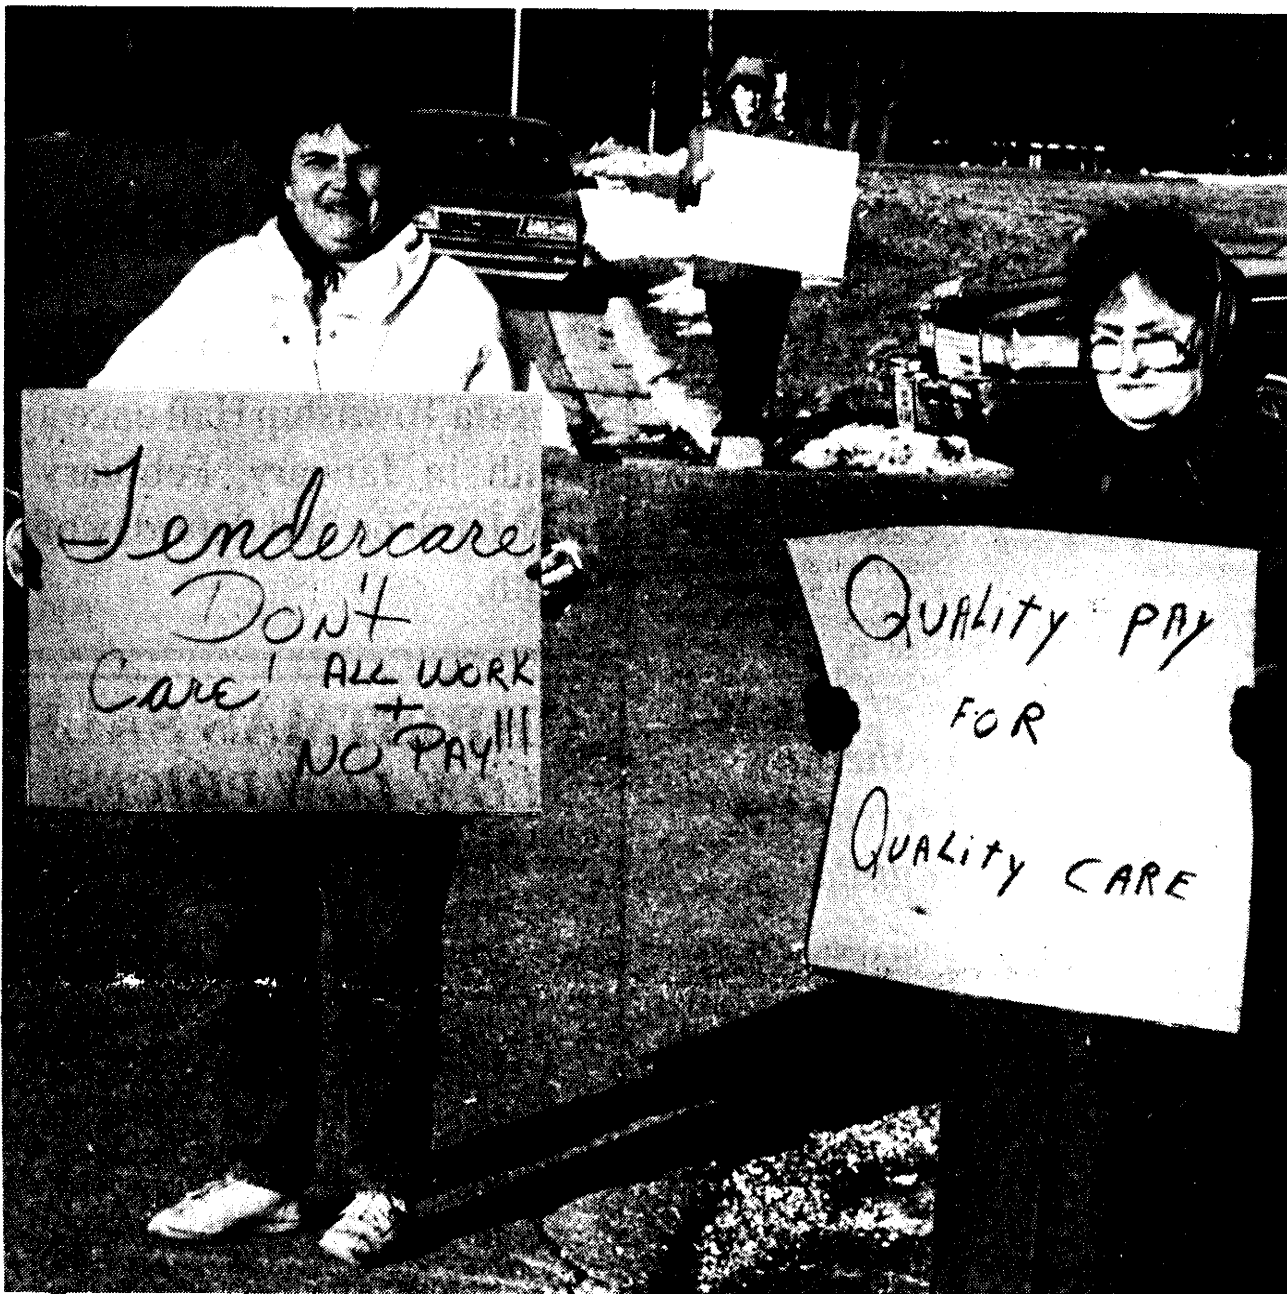

Eleven Storytime displays will be erected Saturday to prepare for the official Monday light-up. Persons wishing to help, say co-chairmen Dan Hitler and Tom Herron, are asked to report to the park at 9 a.m.

The displays should be in like-new condition this year.

Civic groups and individuals have each "adopted" a display, volunteering to make any necessary repairs and reconditioning.

The lighting ceremony will be held in the maintenance garage at the park. The Tom Thumb Singers will perform and lead a community sing. Free cookies and hot chocolate will be served.

The committee in charge is hoping for better weather than that experienced last year when the bitter cold forced curtailment of the program.

OFF-DUTY PICKET — A few Tendercare employees represented by Service Employees International Union Local 79 staged an off-duty picket Monday afternoon at the entrance of the Cass City nursing home. The workers, including (left to right) Janet Pyonk, Marian Adams and Cora Remsing, said they are protesting low wages, union busting tactics and the company's unwillingness to negotiate a fair contract.

Ottomar Sting offers $1,000 for study of coal to gas documents

Huron County native Ottomar Sting shakes his head when he thinks about American servicemen and women stationed in the Middle East, and wonders why the United States government is willing to risk human life for oil.

Sting isn't alone in his concern, but he's doing more than offering lip service.

In fact, the 86-year-old Gagetown area resident has started a letter writing campaign urging legislators and President Bush to consider funding an effort to manufacture petroleum from coal, a process that was developed to fuel the Nazi war machine during World War II.

And, he's offered to chip in the first $1,000 out of his own life savings.

"I just hope that we can get enough people to write so the legislators will take some action on this," Sting remarked Friday. "We have the information that we need to make a good quality of gasoline from coal."

The area resident has already written to President Bush as well as U.S. Sen.

Carl Levin and U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler.

"It seems certain that the whole problem is over oil, and forget about any 'noble gesture' of saving the world from aggression," he told them. "I note that when Libya invaded Chad some years ago, there was no effort here to send troops and equipment there—there was no oil involved."

"It seems to me that the time is overdue to make our nation independent of foreign oil. And, let no one persuade you that it can't be done. The Germans fought a bitter war from 1939 to 1945 with fuel made from coal," Sting continued.

NO SECRET

"After the war was over, the information which had been used by Germany to produce synthetic gasoline was brought to the United States and stored. . . pending such a time when we would need it ourselves. This was widely publicized in newspapers at the time, so it is no secret."

Sting said work on translating that information was done by Texas A&M University Professor Dr. Arnold Krammer during the Arab oil embargo of the 1970s.

With high gas prices at the time, Krammer was able to solicit corporate financing to translate and interpret the information. However, that funding fell when gas prices did, leaving the work unfinished.

Currently, about 15 percent of more than 500,000 documents have been translated. The information explains the process, but it's believed that further interpretation would provide data on how to more efficiently squeeze fuel from coal, Sting remarked.

He has asked Rep. Traxler to set up an agency to raise funds for Krammer's work, if congress won't appropriate the money, and offered to start the fund with $1,000 of his own savings.

FULL BLAST

"I would like to see the government go ahead and hire enough translators to interpret the information so our engineers could understand it. And I would like them to announce to the world that we're going full blast with it, and that the information would be free to any country who wants it," he said.

"Would this not take the wind out of (Iraqi President Saddam) Hussein's sails and, faced with the certainty of losing all the oil revenues, cause him to back down because he couldn't profit from taking over Kuwait? Would this not be a peaceful way to end this crisis?"

"It's all oil; never forget that," Sting pointed out, noting a desire to dominate the oil market is at the root of the Middle East crisis.

"It has been my greatest hope since (World War II) that our nation would get many plants going to take advantage of an alternative supply of fuel," he said.

ILLUSTRATION

To illustrate his point, the DNR officials are calling this year's firearm deer season one of Michigan's best, but a number of Thumb area hunters are having a hard time believing it.

The DNR last week released preliminary kill estimates revealing some 300,000 deer were bagged during the 1990 regular firearm season, compared to last year's record harvest of 334,930 animals during the 16-day season.

Many area hunters, however, reported seeing far fewer deer this year and blame the apparent decrease in the Thumb deer herd on management practices that have allowed hunters to take too many does.

Some contend summer crop damage permits have been issued excessively, and that experimental crop damage block permits have been abused.

While kill estimates for the Thumb won't be available until early next year, DNR officials agree there appear to be fewer deer this year.

"I think that's accurate overall," Bud Jarvis, a wildlife biologist stationed at the DNR's Cass City Field Office, remarked.

He pointed out, however, that reducing deer numbers has been the DNR's goal with respect to controlling crop damage, and added, "I think we're on the right track."

Jarvis indicated he expects the DNR will review and attempt to fine tune its management plan after final harvest estimates are tallied next year.

"I fully expect that if we get the herd down, we'll cut down on the number of permits issued," he said.

In all this year, more than 100 summer crop damage permits were issued to landowners in the 3 upper Thumb counties. In addition, 34 Tuscola County landowners received block permits, with each landowner receiving an average of 15 permits at a cost of $3 each.

Provided deer numbers have been reduced satisfactorily, Jarvis said he would like to see summer crop damage permits all but eliminated next year. In cases where such a permit is issued, chances are good landowners won't be allowed to keep the deer they shoot, he continued, adding more verification will be required before crop damage permits are issued.

Jarvis commented he would also like to see deer numbers increased on public lands, which receive heavy hunting pressure each year.

PRAISE

The prospects of reducing the number of crop damage permits issued in the Thumb drew praise from lifelong Cass City area resident and hunter Curt Strickland. Strickland said he believes the DNR has drastically overestimated deer numbers in the Thumb, and suggests the area herd has been reduced by some 50 percent since the mid-1980s.

I know the deer numbers are the lowest they've been in 15 years.

Curt Strickland

"I know the deer numbers are the lowest they've been in 15 years," he remarked.

Speaking as a landowner who also has an interest in the Thumb farming community, Strickland noted hundreds of sportsmen and farmers he's talked with share the same observations. He contends the decline in deer numbers is due to a combination of liberal bag limits and the issuing of excessive crop damage permits.

Strickland argued the statistics don't support the practice of granting doe permits to most, if not all, area hunters who apply for them, as was the case this year.

The intent of issuing more antlerless permits has been to reduce crop damage, but landowners representing the majority of farm land in the county are reporting little damage, he said. He added a lack of manpower locally to verify crop damage complaints has compounded the problem. Strickland also blasted the issuing of block permits, which, he said, were abused by some landowners who profited by charging hunters to hunt on their land.

"I know it goes on," he continued. "These people have made a business out of it."

WIDE OPEN

Tom Lounsbury, another veteran Cass City hunter and outdoor columnist, agreed the block permit experiment was "wide open for abuse in many places."

He, too, reported seeing fewer deer in the Cass City area this year and indicated liberal bag limits on antlerless deer have played a major role in reducing the herd.

Still, he pointed out, there were too many deer a couple of years ago and the DNR, under heavy pressure from the farming community, succeeded in reducing the number of animals.

Lounsbury remarked he believes it's too early to judge the status of the area. Please turn to back page.

OTTOMAR STING, 86, is urging U.S. lawmakers and President Bush to pursue technology tied to the conversion of coal to liquid fuel—the same process that fueled the Nazi war machine during World War II. Such an alternative fuel supply would take the wind out of the sails of nations that believe they have this country over a barrel, he says.

The Deford Christian Academy will present "The Inn Kaper," Dec. 14.

This Children's musical, written by Tom Fetteke, Linda Rebeck and Ken Thomas, depicts the activity taking place outside a Bethlehem Inn just before the birth of Jesus.

The musical play is directed by Kathy Sanford and Evelyn Kilburn, supervisors in the academy's K-1 and elementary learning centers, respectively.

Doors open at 6 p.m., with the program beginning at 7 p.m. The general public is invited to attend free of charge, and there will be a free-will offering taken.

Lutherans present cantata

The choirs of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Cass City, will present a Christmas cantata entitled, "Christmas! God So Loved the World," as part of the church's Dec. 16 morning (9:30 a.m.) worship service.

The cantata will feature many familiar Christmas carols as well as newer anthems. It will also include congregational participation.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

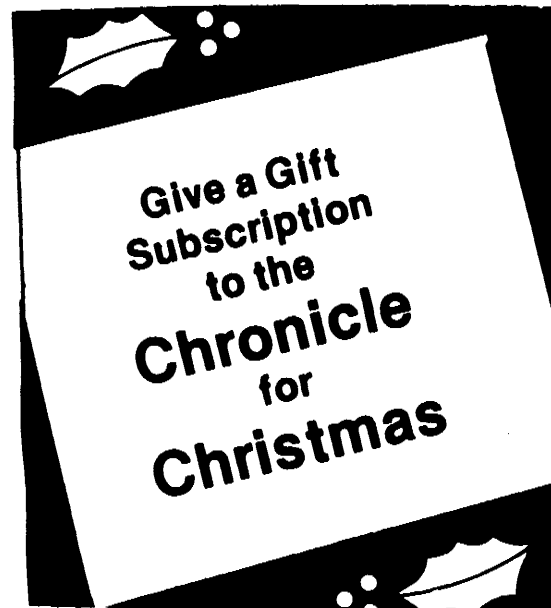

First graders given books through Awakening program

First grade students at Campbell and Deford Elementary schools will receive a gift book through the Child Awakening Program.

The book, entitled, "My Favorite Book," is the story of a child's experiences in growth at home, in school and in his community. It is designed and written to bring positive influence into each of the children's lives.

The book is being made available to area first graders through local sponsorship of the program by Board Chrysler-Plymouth-Dodge, Cass City.

MY LETTER TO YOU

Just a line to say I'm living, that I'm not among the dead, Though I'm getting more forgetful and mixed up in the head.

I got used to my arthritis. To my dentures I'm resigned. I can manage my bifocals, but, oh, I miss my mind!

For sometimes I can't remember, when I stand at the foot of the stairs, If I must go up for something or have I just come down from there.

Before the fridge so often my poor mind is filled with doubt. Have I just put food away or have I come to take some out?

So if it's my turn to write you, there's no need for getting sore. I may think that I have written and don't want to be a bore.

Sometimes that I love you, and wish that you were near, But now it's nearly mail time, so I must say goodbye, Dear.

There I stand beside the mailbox with my face so very red. Instead of mailing you my letter, I opened it instead.

"If It Fitz...."

In the dark

By Jim Fitzgerald

"What do you know, our streetlights are out again," my wife said Tuesday night as she looked out a window of our 26th-floor home. "Don't worry," I said, looking out another window. "The lights are on in front of the St. Aubin Marina and the Chene Park outdoor theater. No December boaters or show patrons will be mugged in the dark."

Our conversation was light because, after living 14 years under the rule of King Coleman Young, we've become jaded about the city's weird priorities. Newcomers often gasp in astonishment at the same tax-funded stupidities that barely evoke a ho-hum from us.

Unlit streets have lately received publicity since the slaying of a Rosedale Park resident during an apparent burglary. A celebrity neighbor — fight manager Emanuel Steward — attracted much attention when he complained it was impossible to see the culprits because there were no streetlights and "it was jet black out there." Subsequently, many naive people were surprised to learn that not only were the Rosedale lights out for a month, but similarly dark periods occur regularly in neighborhoods across the city.

Ho hum. Where we live, in thickly populated Lafayette Park on the east edge of downtown, lights on several blocks of East Lafayette Boulevard go dark several times a year, sometimes for only one night, other times for as long as a week. The lights in the city playground next door haven't been on for about three years.

THERE'S NO ONE TO TELL

It is hopeless to seek an explanation from the Department of Public Lighting. By the time you get a live, rational person on the phone, instead of a useless recorded message, the streetlights will probably be back on. I long ago accepted the explanation offered by many longtime residents — that scattered blocks of lights are systematically turned off simply to save money. No one's ever proved it, but hundreds of residents sincerely believe it.

No one denies that public money is short in this shrinking-tax-base city. Which is why citizens like me shouldn't be jaded. We should be screaming. Screaming about stupid city priorities such as the one that allowed the construction of the $40-million St. Aubin Marina, named after the same street as our most recent massacre.

In August, a year after it opened, Detroit Monthly magazine designated St. Aubin the area's best marina because, "No one's ever there, so you'll have it all to yourself." As one who can see the marina every day without leaving my favorite chair, I can testify that this is only a slight exaggeration. During the boating season, maybe 10 of 67 slips are usually occupied. And for eight months of the year, the marina just sits there, virtually empty, but with a neon sign glowing its name toward an empty river.

A few yards east, there's similar emptiness at the Chene Park outdoor theater and huge parking lot. Since $5.5 million was spent turning a nice little neighborhood park into another expensive Pine Knob, there've been some fannies in the seats for scattered shows from June to September. The rest of the year, Chene Park does absolutely nothing for the taxpayers who paid for it.

WHAT'S MORE IMPORTANT?

Luxurious frills are nice, if you can afford them. But do the residents of crime-threatened neighborhoods need a marina and outdoor theater a few weeks a year more than they need well-lit streets every night?

Hey, it was Mayor Young's idea to help keep the red-inked, mostly empty People Mover moving by loaning it $1.73 million from the lighting department.

Did you just hear a scream in the dark?

Steve Smith enlists in U.S. Army

Steve R. Smith, a 1989 graduate of Cass City High School and the son of Clifford and Helen Smith of Unionville, has enlisted in the U.S. Army for a tour of 3 years and 16 weeks as a fire support specialist.

His scheduled active duty date is Jan. 22, 1991. He will receive his Basic Training at Fort Sill, Okla., and his Advanced Individual Training at Fort Ord, Calif. He is also eligible for benefits under the Army College Fund which can provide up to $25,200 to qualified individuals for a college education.

Musicians earn medals at festival

Six Cass City Intermediate School students brought home medals from the District 3 Michigan State Band and Orchestra Association Festival, held Saturday at North Branch Middle School.

Of the 6, one, Tracy Boerner, received a Division I rating, the highest rating possible. Her medal was awarded for a clarinet solo.

Receiving medals for Division II ratings were Tara Charboneau (alto saxophone solo), Jocelyn Volz (alto saxophone solo), Ed Hartwick (French horn solo), Lindi Parrott (flute solo) and John Rea (cornet solo).

Okay, I say to you, population is the greatest or one of the greatest long-term problems ahead. If you agreed, right away you are thinking that the problem is over-population.

You are right and wrong. Taken in total, over-population is causing problems that we have yet to get a handle on. But UNDER-population is a problem in isolated countries, too.

Ethiopia, China, Africa and India are constantly in the news because there is a burgeoning population and not enough food to avoid starvation.

And that, of course, is par for the course.

Little Japan has a population problem. All those people and such a limited amount of space to put them in. Right?

Wrong. In Japan the birth rate is about 10.2 babies per 100,000 population, 30 percent less than the United States' rate of 15.7.

Surprised? Of course you are. This is the country that produced 31 births per 1,000 people in the 1930's, the highest ever recorded.

The turn-around is so great that today the government is calling it a crisis and is toying with tax breaks, housing loans, education aid and other incentives to stimulate the birth rate. Cash awards are offered for each new birth.

The reason is simple. In Japan the fantastic wealth of the elite has not trickled down to the average family. Meanwhile housing prices skyrocket and land costs soar beyond belief.

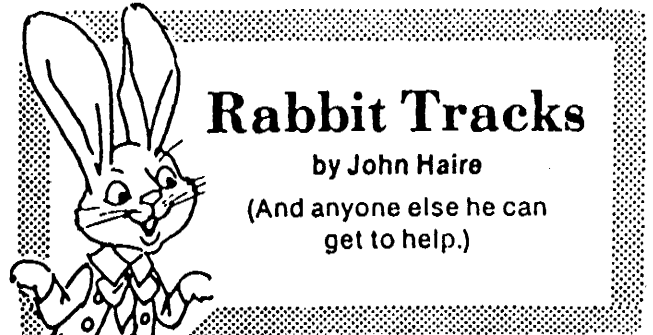

Couples are forced to live with relatives and a baby would mean 3 generations living in a house that would be considered too small for a single person in the United States.

There's talk that we are heading down that road in the USA, but compared to conditions anywhere else in the world we are still cons better when wage earning ability is considered.

When you think about it, isn't the population problem just par for the course these days? Goes right along with starvation in Africa and over-production of food in America.

Experts have said that the problem in Japan is tenacious because it involves fundamental truths: the failure to turn national wealth into an acceptable standard of living and the increasing importance of personal freedom.

There should be a lesson here for us as the division between the poor, the middle class and the rich

Another great decoration are the covers placed over the parking meters. No parking problem that we can see either.

Roger Board, head honcho at Board Chrysler-Plymouth-Dodge, is quick to notice publicity favorable to the community. He sent the Chronicle a copy of an article he read in the "Automotive News". It lauded Chrysler Corporation and Walbro Corporation.

The article told how the Society of Plastics Engineers Automotive Division's Most Innovative Use of Plastics awards for 1990 went to the fuel-pump assembly in 1991 Chrysler, Plymouth and Dodge minivans. It was manufactured by Walbro.

Two area senior citizen centers awarded grants

Two area senior centers have been awarded grants totaling more than $12,000 from the Commission on Services to the Aging, state Rep. Dick Allen, R-Caro, and Sen. Jim Barcia, D-Bay City, announced last week. "I am pleased the commission recognizes the important contributions of senior centers in the 77th District," Allen said. "Seniors will enjoy a better quality of life as a direct result of these grants." The centers awarded funds are: —Human Development Commission, Caro, $6,000 to construct wheelchair ramps for senior homes.

THANKS ROBERT DILMAN

How do I say thank you
To a man I've taken for granted?
You've shared so much of yourself with me so unselfishly.
And I didn't realize how much I miss you.
You shared with me a family history I will not forget
And taught me who I am, making me proud of our heritage.
I have never seen you angry, always patient.
Patient in your carpentry work, your stories, your gardening, and your family.
How do I thank you for those childhood moments I'll treasure?
Spending every holiday with you was a complete joy.
As was hours in your home reliving the past.
Your home is always a recreation and historical center.
With ping pong, billiards, carpenter tools, music boxes, photographs, and irreplaceable memories.
All constant reminders of a wonderful man.
Seeing my name, Robert Dilman, at the foot of your hospital bed
And knowing you have a lot of work ahead of you made me realize that we all must grow older
And we must accept the changes God has given us
And strive to make our life better.
Keep up the therapy and your spirits
And realize that I'd switch places with you in a minute.
Even though you can't spend the holidays with me
You must know that you are in my heart and my prayers.
Thank you for being a terrific grandfather.
Adv.

—U & I Incorporated, $6,765 to install a ventilation system.

Allen said the commission administers federal and state funds under the Older Americans Act, which allows states to provide special programs for seniors, and the Older Michiganians Act, which outlines the state's programs.

"This money will enable the centers to continue providing excellent services to the area," Barcia said. "The renovations will help make some of these services more accessible to a number of area seniors."

This year, the Office of Services to the Aging funded 83 grants statewide totaling more than $500,000.

"I am pleased the state supports senior programs in Tuscola and Huron Counties," Allen said. "I have been a vocal advocate for senior citizens during my legislative service and will continue to support their needs."

Two musical programs at Novesta church

Novesta Church of Christ, 2896 N. Cemetery Rd., will present 2 musical programs Sunday.

At the 11:00 a.m. worship service, the adult choir will present the drama and music of "Jesus Came Firsthand." The drama is a conversation between a grandfather (Bob Speirs) and his grandson (his real grandson - Russell Speirs) in a grove of pine trees. It's there that the grandson wishes to hear the Christmas story once again...and so the choir sings a selection of songs interspersed between the grandfather-grandson discussion that tell the Christmas story.

At the 7:30 p.m. service, members of the church's Sunday School department and Junior Choir will present their annual Children's Christmas program. The children, portrayed as tiny snowflakes, beautifully wrapped packages and trees that stay green all year round, sing traditional carols about the Lord's birth.

After the program, there will be a fellowship hour with refreshments. Additional information is available by calling 872-3658.

Hirn is special events chairman at auto show

Lisa Hirn, a senior from Cass City, served as special events chairman of Northwood Institute's 1990 Automotive Industry Show.

The 27th annual event was held Oct. 12, 13 and 14 at the school's Midland campus and attracted thousands of spectators from Michigan and the automotive industry.

Hirn is a marketing/management major with an associate's degree in advertising. She has participated in past auto shows as a team member for Oldsmobile and Mazda. She is currently president of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Hirn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hirn of Cass City. The auto show is administered, promoted and conducted entirely by Northwood students representing many of the college's business management curriculums, including automotive marketing, service management, automotive after-market management, truck marketing and advertising.

This year, as in the past 3 there were about 500 cars, trucks and RV's on display with approximately that number of students involved in various activities.

Your neighbor says

Decorating ignites Christmas spirit

There are many ways to put oneself into the holiday spirit. For some it starts when they begin their Christmas shopping. For others it's the festivities associated with holiday parties that turn the trick. Still others get caught up after viewing classic holiday films such as "Miracle on 34th Street."

For your neighbor, Jean Murphy, decorating her home helps to set the tone for Christmas time. "Our decorations have been up since Thanksgiving," says Murphy, an employee at The Paint Store in Cass City.

Inside their Cass City home Jean enjoys a real Christmas tree as opposed to the artificial type.

"It's a big one," commented the friendly mother of 2. The Murphys don't limit their yuletide decorations to just the inside of the home.

"We have outside lights on the shrubs and on the roof," Jean said. "We also wrap light poles with ribbon along with hanging a couple of wreaths."

Jean's husband of 16 years, Mike, employed in the purchasing department at Walbro Corporation, also gets into the act. "Mike handles the outside work. I handle the inside stuff."

Another way Jean gets herself into the season's spirit is by making candy and cookies.

"I'll bake for friends and neighbors."

The Murphys' 2 children are Paul, age 14, and David, age 11.

The residents of Alaska move from one home to another more often than residents of any other state.

Jack Laurie reelected Farm Bureau president

Jack Laurie, Cass City, who has headed the state's largest farm organization for the past 4 years, was reelected president of the Michigan Farm Bureau Nov. 30.

Following adjournment of the Michigan Farm Bureau's 71st annual meeting in Grand Rapids.

The Cass City area dairy farmer has served on the Michigan Farm Bureau board since 1966 and was vice president from 1977 to 1986, when he was elected president.

The action took place at the reorganization meeting of the board of directors fol-

Novesta board ups rates

Novesta Township residents will have to dig deeper in their pockets to cover waste disposal expenses next year.

The Township Board, during its rescheduled monthly meeting Thursday, approved increasing the yearly waste disposal service fee from $50 to $60.

Residents can purchase their 1991 waste disposal permits from township Treasurer Ralph Zinnecker, 5938 Main St., Deford, or from Clerk Nurse Kloc, 6195 Severance Rd., Cass City.

According to Kloc, the annual $50 fee raised about $6,000 this year, covering roughly half of the total waste disposal costs ($12,000) in the township. In 1991, the fees paid by residents are expected to raise a little over $7,000, compared to an expected total cost of $13,000.

Waste service will be limited to one pick-up per month in December, January, February and March, Kloc noted, adding the pickup day will be the second Saturday of each month.

In other business during the 90-minute session, Kloc reported the proposed grading, graveling and ditching of a 1 1/4-mile section of Dodge Road has been rejected by the affected property owners.

The project was turned down because the bid came in high at $33,000, Kloc explained, adding the work was proposed for Dodge Road, from White Creek south to Anna Gabler's property. Gabler initiated a petition to have the work done.

Kloc said township Supervisor Maynard Stine is going to check on whether the DNR can do anything about the flooding problem in that area each year.

Also Thursday, the board approved a bid of $700 from Laethem's-John Deere in Caro for a one-year lease of a tractor used at the township cemetery. A bid of $800 was submitted by Gettel & Co.-John Deere, Sebawaing.

O-G board members sign teachers' contract

Members of the Owen-Gage Board of Education signed the final draft of a new teacher's contract during a routine monthly meeting Monday night.

Formal approval of the 2-year pact, ratified by school officials and the Owen-Gage Education Association last September, came following a 20-minute executive session.

The final draft of the labor agreement contains no significant changes from the contract previously ratified, according to school officials.

The pact calls for raises of 9 percent this year and 8 percent next year. Also included are pay raises for a number of positions in the contract's extracurricular schedule, minor increases in vision and orthodontic insurance coverage, and a $3,000 retirement incentive in the first year of the agreement.

School Supt. Harley Kirby had no estimate on what the new contract will cost the district.

In other business during the 80-minute session, the board:

*Approved a request to appropriate additional funding (estimated at a maximum of $300) to cover the cost of 2 guest speakers at an upcoming School Improvement in-service meeting.

*Appointed board members Ron Good, Nick Warack and Jack Brinkman to the school's district School Improvement team.

*Approved a $1,025 bid from Gettel & Co., Pigeon, for the lease of 2 tractor/lawn mowers over the next year.

*Approved the recommendation of senior Michelle Glasgow as "student of the month" for December.

*Noted the elementary Christmas program will be presented Dec. 20 at 7 p.m., and the high school band concert will be held today (Wednesday) at 7 p.m.

BACK TO SCHOOL—Several teachers from Cass City and Mayville gathered Friday at the Regional Education Media Center in Cass City for a workshop designed to acquaint them with software that will be used with computers obtained through the Classrooms of Tomorrow program. # Stoutenburg suffers minor burns in mishap

A longtime Cass City Village employee is recovering following a burning mishap Friday at the village landfill.

The worker has been identified as Eldon Stoutenburg, 58, 4291 Maple St., Cass City.

The accident occurred at about 8 a.m. as Stoutenburg and a fellow Department of Public Works employee were burning some brush, according to village officials, who reported flames caught Stoutenburg in the face and head after fuel was applied to start the fire.

Stoutenburg went to Hills and Dales General Hospital, Cass City, for treatment of minor burns. The 31-year village employee was admitted and, as of Monday morning, was listed in "fair" condition, a hospital spokesman said.

Sr. Citizens Menu
Senior citizens are asked to make reservations on the day of the meal between 8 a.m. and 9 a.m. by calling Ann Stepka, 872-5337.

Kathy Bolton recalls year in South Africa as a Rotary exchange student

CASS CITY HIGH School senior Kathy Bolton says her year as a Rotary exchange student in South Africa made her more interested in world affairs and politics. Above, she displays a selection of souvenirs, including a giraffe carving and an ostrich egg.

Christmas program slated

The Deford Community Church's annual Sunday School Christmas program, presented by younger grade children will be held at 9:30 a.m. Dec. 23.

"The Little Christmas Lamb" details the story of a little orphan girl and her stuffed lamb who come to learn the true meaning of Christmas.

This program is directed by Lynn Babich, assisted by Marcia Strait and Sue Mellendorf. Attendance is open to all who wish to celebrate the birth of the Savior.

BOLTON TOOK this photograph from a canoe during a safari with one of her host families in South Africa.

It isn't difficult to engage Kathy Bolton in conversation. The enthusiastic Cass City High School senior seems to relish a good discussion.

But don't expect her to talk about the latest party or newest fashion.

The 17-year-old is more likely to bring up world events and politics. And if the conversation should turn to the finer points of ostrich riding or the unbeatable taste of crocodile tail, she'll be glad to talk about that, too.

Bolton's interest in international events and more was fostered during a recent year-long stay in South Africa as a Cass City Rotary exchange student.

The daughter of Jim and Sandy Bolton, Cass City, she has settled back to life and school in Cass City after returning home over the summer. But her memories of the past year remain vivid and, she admits, the experience has changed her.

"I gained a lot of independence while I was living down there. I have more respect for nature, especially conservation, and more respect for South Africa," she said. "I'm more concerned about world politics. I have different views now."

During her year as an exchange student, Bolton lived in Louis Trichardt, a town of some 8,000 people located about 5 to 6 hours northeast of Johannesburg.

Interestingly, despite its size, the South African town isn't unlike the Thumb community Bolton left.

The local economy features many of the same types of businesses—gas stations, banks, pharmacies, clothing and grocery stores, and even a fast food restaurant.

LIKE CASS CITY

"It was like living in Cass City in another country," Bolton said. She said Louis Trichardt's economy is based on farming, with large ranches and fruit plantations dominating agriculture. "It's a cattle town. There are butcher shops on every corner."

"My town was Africans speaking, so I learned it after a while. I can speak it, but not fluently," she noted.

Life in Louis Trichardt provided Bolton with a close up look at apartheid and the turmoil that has accompanied change.

"I was there when (Nelson) Mandela was released, and there was a lot of rioting there," she recalled, adding much of the fighting involved power struggles among black tribes.

Rioting occurred as close as 30 minutes away from Louis Trichardt, but "They kept me away from it," she said. "We did have a few school trips cancelled because of it."

Closer to home, she said one gas station in the town was bombed, and noted blacks boycotted the town because of a local ordinance prohibiting them from owning stores, something allowed in other parts of the country.

APARTHEID

Bolton explained Louis Trichardt is tied predominantly to the Conservative Party, composed primarily of farmers, or Boers, who don't want to see blacks and whites integrated. In contrast, the National Party is seeking an end to apartheid, but wants to do so slowly to avoid a revolution, she said. Bolton said the experience helped her to better understand the struggle. "I understand apartheid," she added. "I don't like it, but I understand it."

Bolton suggested the struggle in South Africa is similar to that between whites and American Indians years ago in this country, and remarked she believes South Africa should be allowed time to work out its problems without the United States imposing sanctions.

"We had a bad history and they're going through the same thing now," she said.

Politics aside, Bolton recalled her introduction to a number of cultural and other differences in her South African home.

She found the country's male population to be chauvinistic, but said she enjoyed having men go out of their way to be courteous, including opening doors.

ON THE ROAD

On the road, she commented one quickly learns that Americans haven't cornered the market on speeding. There, motorists, who drive on the left side of the road, commonly travel at speeds of 80 to 100 miles per hour.

At home, "Everybody in the town had a maid, just like television here," Bolton continued. She added one of her 4 host family's had 7 maids.

That's one aspect the area teen is still getting used to doing without, her mother indicated, smiling.

Education, too, turned out to be an interesting experience.

As a student, Bolton was required to wear a uniform, but it wasn't difficult to get used to her new school's colors—maroon and white. And, it was convenient.

"I would just get up 10 minutes before we were ready to leave, throw on the uniform and go," she said.

HAND SMACKED

On a more serious note, Bolton explained that failure to wear the uniform properly, or violation of other rules, such as those related to hair and nail length and the wearing of makeup and jewelry, resulted in having one's hand smacked with a stick.

Bolton grinned and said she was speaking from experience. "It hurt. They made sure it hurt," she added.

Bolton also pointed out that male and female students are kept separate, and that many of her classmates lived in dorms at the high school during the week because they live hours away from town. "Sometimes (they stay) weekends, too, if sports are going on," she said.

Classes there, meanwhile, are held from 7:15 a.m. to 1:10 p.m. "It was nice," she commented. "I liked it, but I couldn't get up."

Sports are popular there, like here, but there's less competition, according to Bolton, who explained everyone takes part, whether on a beginners, intermediate or advanced team.

Favorite sports are net ball, rugby, cricket and track, she said. "It's just for fun, which I liked. I played—I played with the little kids, but I played," she joked.

SAFARI

Bolton's recreation wasn't limited to school. She also had an opportunity to go on a canoe safari, during which she was charged by hippopotamuses, elephants and lions. She also had some close encounters with some monkeys, giraffes and crocodiles.

And, of course, she rode an ostrich. "That was fun, (but) I was scared to death of that thing."

Bolton also tried some exotic foods. Aside from crocodile tail, she sampled ostrich and squid. She pointed out, however, that barbecue, as well as American food, including hamburgers and pizza, are popular there.

One aspect of South African life Bolton had a difficult time getting used to was living on "African time."

In other words, she remarked, "When things get done, they get done; that's their motto. I was really annoyed with that at first."

Despite the differences between Louis Trichardt and Cass City, Bolton observed, as other exchange students have, that people are the same in many ways all over the world.

In her case, the same appeared true of her 2 hometowns. Louis Trichardt, she said, "had the feeling of Cass City—everybody knew everybody."

Letter to the editor

Concert was joyful, outstanding

To the Editor,
On behalf of all music lovers of this community and especially those of us attending your Christmas concert this past weekend, we say thank you.

Thank you Tom Thumb Singers and Glenda Wilson for that beautiful Christmas card via your concert. It was so joyful and melodious in the true spirit of Christmas; another outstanding performance.

It is a delight and joy both to sing and be part of your choir as well as being part of an appreciative audience.

We never grow weary of hearing and singing your kind of songs. Keep it up.

God bless,
Hilda Koch
Gagetown

Report no injuries in recent mishaps

No injuries and only minor damage were reported in 3 minor vehicle accidents over the weekend in Cass City.

According to reports filed at the Cass City Police Department, one motorist was cited in a 2-vehicle mishap Sunday evening on Main Street east of Weaver Street.

The accident occurred at about 10:30 p.m., when an eastbound vehicle driven by Kevin J. Thorp, 4571 E. Sebewaing Rd., Owendale, attempted to pass another eastbound vehicle, driven by Misty L. Muys, 4450 VanDyke Rd., Decker. Police said Thorp lost control and hit Muys' vehicle.

Wednesday - Hot Dog/ Bun, Corn, Salad Bar, Fruit.
Thursday - Goulash, Green Beans, Salad Bar, Fruit.
Friday - Tuna Noodle, Peas, Salad Bar, Fruit.

Bread, butter, peanut butter, jelly, chocolate and white milk served each day. (Menu subject to change).

Thorp was cited for failing to stop within an assured clear distance ahead.

Two accidents were reported within a half hour Friday morning.

Police reported Merle E. Cox Jr., 6989 E. Elmwood Rd., Cass City, was attempting to make a left turn from the westbound lane of Main Street to Seeger Street at about 9 a.m. when he collided with an eastbound vehicle driven by Walter J. Connolly, 1890 N. Kingston Rd., Deford.

Reports state both drivers were watching a pedestrian when the mishap occurred.

Twenty minutes later, vehicles driven by John W. Kappen, 2546 Keilitz Rd., Cass City, and Michael A. Gilliam, 312 Froede Rd., Deford, collided at the intersection of Garfield Avenue and West Street.

Kappen's northbound vehicle pulled into the path of Gilliam, who was westbound, according to police, who noted Kappen couldn't see the other vehicle due to frost on his windows.

The box man! The box man! Squeals of joy ring out whenever the UPS truck stops at our house. Birthdays and holidays always bring us Sommers' Bakery goodies (shipped next day air for freshness). And of course, whenever they come to Florida for a visit, Grandma and Grandpa reserve one suitcase for bread and cookies and donuts for us.

The kids - Stephen, Rachel and Sarah - call it "Grandma Bread". I grew up on it and savor it whenever we get some - IRISH BREAD. When it's gone, the children ask me to buy bread from the supermarket bakery here - but they call that bread, FAKE Grandma bread.

We always appreciate those special care packages and it brings us just a little closer to family.

Marlette spurts past Cass City Friday, 53-47

Cass City's best opportunity to chalk up a win in the Thumb B Association this year will come Friday when the Hawks entertain the Vulcans in their fourth straight home game of the season.

The story of the game has become familiar, although the season is still young. The Hawks threaten, but fall back. Friday the loss was to Marlette, 53-47.

It was a game of spurts, with first one team then the other taking the lead, but the Red Raiders spurted when it counted with the game on the line in the last quarter.

The last minute slump ruined a great comeback by Cass City. Marlette led at the half 24-21 and the Raiders appeared to take control of the game starting the third quarter. Behind 2 quick baskets by Scott Heussner and another by Chris Storm, Marlette raced to a 30-21 lead in the first minute and a half of the period.

The Hawks charged back as Steve Tuckey cashed a pair from the low post position, and after a bucket by Storm, a basket by Greg LeValley and a 3-pointer by Greg Graham, closed the gap to 33-30 at the 3:21 mark in the period.

Trailing by 4 going into the fourth quarter, Cass City clawed its way to the lead with 5:26 left in the game.

Doug Herringshaw, Al Dadacki and Troy Perry scored in the rally.

With the game on the line, Marlette applied defensive pressure and the Hawks made critical turnovers and 2 minutes later Marlette was in front, 49-42. LeValley cut the margin to 5 with a bucket, but that was as close as Cass City came the rest of the game.

It was a poor shooting night for both teams. In 2-point range Cass City hit a miserable 11 of 37 for 29 percent. Maybe the answer is to shoot from farther out. Cass City converted 4 of 6 from 3-point range.

From the free throw line Cass City was 13 of 26 and that poor percentage was better than the Raiders' 13 of 27 from the line.

Rebounding was about even, with Cass City taking 30 boards and Marlette, 27.

Cass City fades at finish to Lakeville

Cass City High School basketball fans got their first look at their basketball team Tuesday night at Cass City High School.

The reviews were mixed. The Hawks lost the game to Lakeville, 67-56, and the shooting left a lot to be desired.

Those were the negatives. There were positives, Coach Ron Numberger feels. One is that the team played good defense and a sound floor game. Another is that the club exhibited balanced scoring.

To be a force in the Thumb B Association, the team will have to improve its shooting from both the floor and the charity stripe. Despite getting good shots, Cass City hit just 39 percent from the field and 64 percent from the foul circle. Lakeville had no such trouble, converting 48 percent from the field and a gaudy 84 percent of its foul shots.

The Hawks are far from a veteran team this season and the inexperience showed. The visitors bounced out in front in the first quarter as Cass City missed several lay-ups and Eric Smith, with 6 points, and Ed Millington, with 10 points, paced Lakeville to a 21-14 lead.

The Hawks tightened the defense in the second period, but the offense still wasn't on track and the Falcons led at the intermission, 30-23.

Cass City made a game of it in the third quarter and opening moments of the final period.

The charge in the third quarter was led by Steve Tuckey with 6 points and Greg LeValley with 5. At the end of the period the score was 42-40, Lakeville.

The Hawks finally forged in front in the early moments of the last quarter, only to lose it with some sloppy passes for turnovers.

After losing the lead the Hawks were forced to foul and Lakeville made the most of it. The Falcons converted 19 of 21 free throws, led by Scott Hammond, who went to the line 8 times and made them all.

Senior Tuckey had his finest game as a Hawk with 15 points and 9 boards. He showed good low post strength. Troy Perry, LeValley and Mark Irrer returned in solid performances.

JV WINS PAIR

Cass City's junior varsity has given Hawk fans something to cheer about. The team has won its first 2 games of the season, 50-43 over Lakeville and 56-37 over Marlette.

Torres nets 23

Foul troubles hurt Bulldogs at Kinde

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs opened the 1990 basketball campaign on a sour note Friday, losing at North Huron, 61-82.

However, first year Coach Brian Wright may have learned something in defeat about his squad for Friday's matchup at Deckerville.

It appears that the 'Dogs may have an outside threat in guard Jason Torres, who netted 23 points.

Besides Torres, who hit on 5 of 13 tries behind the 3-point arc, teammate Mike Kady cashed in on 4 of 11 attempts from beyond the circle. As a team the Bulldogs scored 30 of their 61 points on 3-point shots.

In the opening quarter it was Torres who kept the Bulldogs close as he netted 9 of the visitors' first 14 points.

The Warriors were able to build on a 3-point lead midway through the second stanza, when they outscored the visitors 21-13 to enjoy a 38-27 half-time advantage.

The hosts were aided by 14 free throws in the opening half compared to only 7 freebies netted by the Bulldogs the entire contest at the line. By the game's end the Bulldogs were guilty of committing 30 fouls. Kady, Chris Anthes and Brad Niester were all disqualified on fouls, while Torres and Mickey Parks played much of the final period with 4 personals.

More important than the free throw advantage, 3 early fouls limited playing time for Anthes, who handled the Warriors' press in the early going.

The Warriors' pressure created several quick baskets in the opening minutes of the third stanza, where they raced to leads of double digits.

North Huron's full court trap resulted in 26 turnovers, several when Anthes was sitting on the pine.

The Bulldogs sliced into the visitors' lead behind three fourth quarter bombs by Torres, but never seriously challenged the hosts as Warrior guard Chad Knoblock converted 6 of 9 tosses from the line late in the game.

Area man charged in break-in

A 28-year-old Cass City area man pleaded guilty last week in Tuscola County Circuit Court to a charge of larceny in a building.

Sentencing of the defendant, Howard J. Sherman, 6860 E. Cass City Rd., is to be set. Bond was continued at $10,000.

Sherman is one of 2 suspects arrested and charged in connection with the Jan. 4 break-in and burglary of the Clark and Phyllis Boylan residence, 6008 E. Cass City Rd. Court records state Sherman helped steal a radio, microwave oven, ceiling fan, cabinet, lamps, pictures, a chandelier and other items.

Charmont, Shetler's winners

Only 2 games were held last week in the Cass City Jaycees' recreational basketball league as the area's first winter storm canceled games slated for Monday night.

Thursday, Charmont and Shetler's recorded their second wins of the season.

Charmont buried Brentwood, 75-45, as 4 players recorded double figures, led by Todd Numberger's 15 tallies.

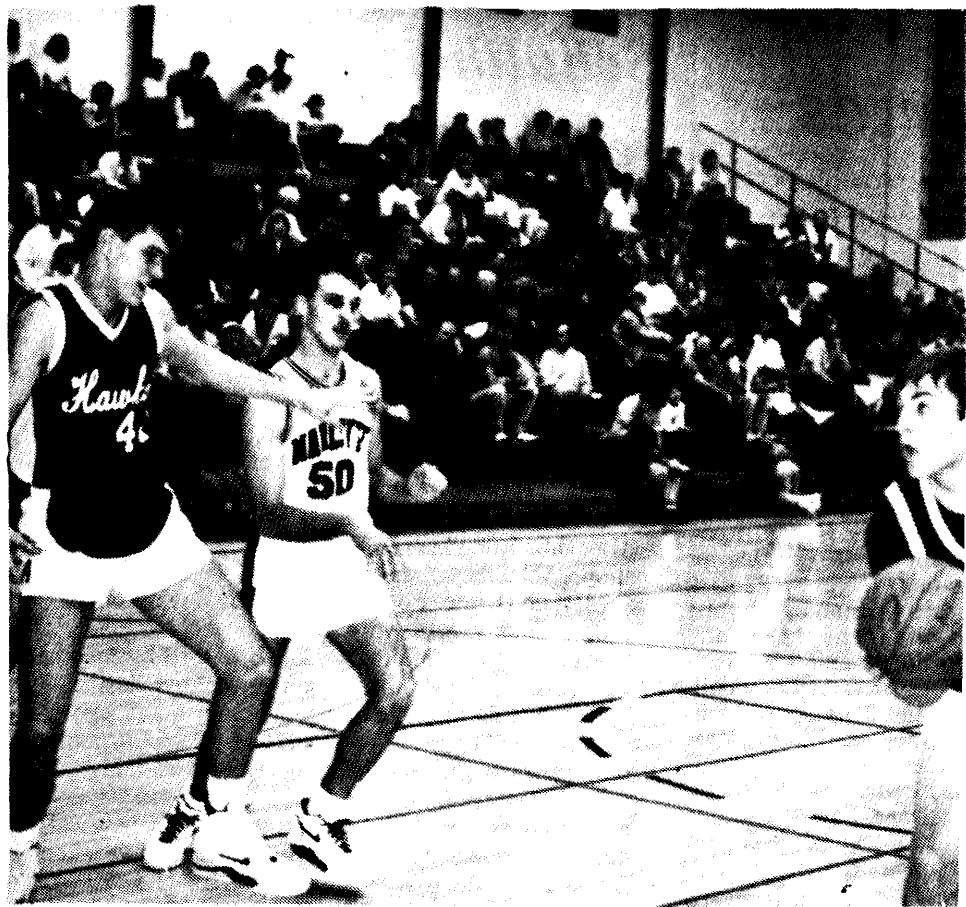

Also in double figures for the winners were Rick Tuckey with 14 and Ron Nurnberger and Dennis Hyatt, who each netted 13.

Paul Beachy's game high 21 points helped Shetler's down Board-Chrysler, 64-42.

Ken Howard had 10 points in a losing cause.

Wrestlers compete at Birch Run

If playing against stiff competition is a means of improving team performance, Coach Don Markel has his Cass City Red Hawk wrestlers off to a flying start.

Cass City participated in the annual Birch Run Invitational Saturday and the Hawks were the only class C team entered, pitted against large class A and B teams.

The meet was won by Bay City Central with 145 points. Cass City finished last with 47 points. Other scores were: Oscoda, 135; Birch Run, 125 1/2; Swan Valley, 110; Flushing, 108; Hemlock, 92; Saginaw Arthur Hill, 62.

Winning points for Cass City were: Matt Hoppe, 4th, 125 pounds; Dominick Vargo, 3rd, 135 pounds; Delbert Mathewson, 3rd, 145 pounds.

Wednesday the wrestlers entertain Millington in a Thumb B Association contest and Saturday will participate in the Capac Invitational tournament.

State park offers winter adventures

Port Crescent State Park is open year-round.

Many visitors use the area for cross country skiing, ice fishing, snowshoeing and hiking along the beach and looking at the works mother nature creates with ice formations. For some of the adventurous, winter camping is the thing to do.

Another activity which some people partake in is snowmobiling, which is permitted in designated areas of the park only. The area must have at least 4" of snow cover and each snowmobile must have a State Park Motor Vehicle Permit, the same as the automobiles that use the park. ORV's and other motorized vehicles are prohibited.

Because of erosion damage along the very fragile dunes from snowmobiles, the dunes area has been closed to such use. Snowmobilers are also cautioned that there are no designated snowmobile trails in the park and that they must remain 100 feet from any ski area.

will be available at a bonfire near the trail head.

The trail is located across the iron bridge at the west end of Port Crescent Road, 5 miles southwest of Port Austin on M-25.

This year, a total of 5 miles (8K) of trails will be groomed for cross country skiing. The trail behind the Buccaneer Den is about 2.5 miles (4K) and one new trail at the Day Use portion of the park is also about 2.5 miles (4K).

Snowmobilers are reminded that it is illegal to snowmobile within 100 feet of a ski area.

A State Park Motor Vehicle permit will be required for vehicle entry into all areas of the park.

SKI TRAILS

The ski trails will be lit on 3 special occasions at Port Crescent State Park.

Doiores Comment

Mrs. Dolores (Dee) Marguerite Comment, 78, of Cass City, formerly Gagetown, died Monday, Dec. 3, at her residence.

She was born Oct. 23, 1912, in Gagetown, the daughter of Arthur and Alice (Kehoe) Freeman.

Miss Freeman was married to Harry V. Comment Oct. 28, 1933, in Gagetown, where they made their home. Mr. Comment died April 11, 1987.

Mrs. Comment, an avid card player, was a member of St. Agatha Catholic Church of Gagetown and the Altar Society.

She is survived by one son, Clare Comment and his wife Jeannie of Cass City; 3 grandchildren, Todd Comment and his wife, Jeanine, Lori Comment and Lisa Erla, all of Cass City; 4 great-grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Rosann Krauss of St. Petersburg, Fla. Two brothers and 3 sisters preceded her in death.

A prayer service was held Wednesday evening at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City.

He is survived by his wife, Eileen; 2 daughters, Mrs. Connie McNaughton and husband David of Cass City and Mrs. Karen Kersh and husband Paul of Tawas City; one son, John Krug and wife Luella of Cass City; 2 stepdaughters, Mrs. Sharon Rockwell and husband Ronald of Snover and Mrs. Susan Hoppe Reed and husband Charles of Bowling Green, Ohio; 2 stepsons, Stanley Hoppe and wife Diane of Caro and Cris Hoppe and wife Ruth of Cass City; 11 grandchildren and 9 step-grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Harriet Reitz of Philadelphia, Penn. Two brothers, Dugal and Lewis, and one sister, Margaret, preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held Monday at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church of Cass City, with Rev. Allen Fruendt, pastor, officiating.

Burial with military graveside honors was in St. Peters Lutheran Cemetery, Sebewaing.

Arrangements were by Little's Funeral Home, Cass City.

John Nicholas

John Nicholas, a lifelong resident of the Gagetown area died Friday, Dec. 7, at his residence.

He was born Jan. 20, 1915, in Gagetown, the son of William and Elva (Nichols) Nicholas.

Mr. Nicholas, a farmer in the Gagetown area, had been employed at the Nestles plant at one time.

He is survived by 4 sisters, Mrs. Anna Karr of Cass City, Mrs. Mae Rockefeller of Gagetown, Mrs. Maude Brown of Bad Axe and Mrs. Wilma Wheeler of Clifford, and a number of nieces and nephews. Four brothers, Earl, Raymond, Ernest and Floyd, and one sister, Mable, preceded him in death.

Funeral services for Mr. Nicholas were conducted Monday at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Scott Wiley of the Kingston Wesleyan Church, officiating.

Interment was in Grant Cemetery, Gagetown.

Schultheiss resigns; new Sanilac Co. clerk named

Sanilac County Clerk Delene Schultheiss has submitted her resignation, effective Dec. 11, 1990, to circuit Judge Allen E. Keyes.

After submitting her resignation, Schultheiss stated her "decision to move out of Sanilac County was very difficult to make."

Schultheiss and her husband, Bob, plan to move to the Traverse City area. Schultheiss worked for the Sanilac County Board of Commissioners for 10 years prior to being elected county clerk in 1980. She was subsequently reelected to that position twice without opposition.

Schultheiss said she's thankful for the opportunity to serve Sanilac County residents. She added she has enjoyed working with a dedicated staff as well as other elected officials in the county, townships, cities and villages.

"Even though we will be moving from the area, we will always have fond memories of the people in Sanilac County," she said. Judge Keyes has appointed Linda I. Kozfkay as Schultheiss' replacement.

Linda Kozfkay

Kozfkay began working for Sanilac County Jan. 1, 1981, as chief deputy clerk in the county clerk office. In January 1988, she began performing the duties of mediation clerk for the Sanilac County courts.

Kozfkay, 37, is a native of Huron County, where she lived on a farm with her parents, Irvin and Mary Ann Polega, and 7 brothers and sisters. She was a 4-H club member for 9 years and Linda graduated from Harbor Beach Community School in 1971. She received a legal certificate from St. Clair County Community College in 1972.

She and her husband, Robert, have been married for 17 years and have 2 children, Joe and Eric, who attend Sandusky High School.

Kozfkay is a member of the Sanilac County Republican Party and was elected precinct delegate in 1988 and 1990. She is the current secretary of the Sandusky Kiwanianes and is a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church.

Salem women hold brunch December 8

Twenty women of Salem United Methodist Church met Saturday, Dec. 8, in the fellowship room for brunch, prepared by Janet Hurley, Betty Wareham, Janis Seeley, Lois Harris and Ruth Wichert.

Following the meal, gifts were given to each, revealing their secret sister for the past year.

Names were drawn for next year and the committee for next year includes Clara Gaffney, Lois Harris, Ruth Wichert, Connie Schwaderer and Mary Proudfoot.

The party for next year will be Dec. 7, 1991.

New books at the library

SURRENDER THE PINK by Carrie Fisher (fiction). Soap-opera writer Dinah Kaufman, has the late-twentieth-century woman's disease - she picks the wrong guys. Her particular wrong man is playwright Rudy Gendler, who loves her but leaves her. Dinah spends most of the book trying to figure out what went wrong, how to right it, whether she should right it, and wondering if she does right it, will it go wrong again. Interspersed with this real-life angst is the heroine's on-screen angst in the form of soap-opera scenes from Kaufman's television show.

TIME BOMB by Jonathan Kellerman (fiction). Independently wealthy, downright suave, humanely driven child psychologist, Dr. Alex Delaware, is prissy, self-righteous, and self-offeringly pompous enough to deserve a guest spot on "Thirty something." In Time Bomb, Delaware is first on the scene when a sniper opens fire in a schoolyard. The kids escape without physical wounds, but the shooter, a dull-witted local girl, is taken out by the body guard of a local political honcho visiting the school. Actually there are 2 honchos in attendance, representing both sides of the volatile busing issue, both hogging media space with their violently contrasting views. Delaware talks to the kids, helps them act out fantasies of hostility, and defuses their fears while their school is made to function as a test tube for experiments in racial and social integration.

UNDER SIEGE by Stephen Coonts (fiction). Captain Jake Grafton, 6 feet tall, in his early forties, and with "just the slightest hint of tummy sag," is destined for high command in the U.S. Navy. He is involved in a drug war on a grand scale, with the Washington, D.C., area the scene of the action. An intended assassin shoots down a marine helicopter carrying President Bush and several high-ranking government officials in Northern Virginia, leaving 4 people injured - including the president - and 4 dead. Then the House Majority leader is killed, followed by an attempt on the life of Vice-president Quayle. Captain Grafton steps in, working with the Joint Chiefs of Staff to find the killer and his cohorts.

Sheriff urges holiday safety

As area residents enter the holiday season and prepare to celebrate, Tuscola County Sheriff Thomas Kern cautions that too much celebration can be fatal when alcohol and drugs are involved.

Alcohol and drug-related traffic accidents are the sad result of some of the merry-making that goes on this time of year. To help make it a safe holiday season, Kern offers these suggestions:

- * Always serve food if you serve alcohol. High protein and carbohydrate foods like cheese and meats are especially good. They stay in the stomach longer, which slows the rate at which alcohol is absorbed into the system.
- * Serve non-alcoholic beverages. Always make sure guests have the option of NOT drinking alcohol. Local book stores may carry a "bartenders' book" for non-alcoholic drinks. It is especially important for "designated drivers" to drink these types of beverages.

- * Don't let people mix their own drinks. Hosts who tend bar can control how much alcohol goes into each drink. In this way the host can also monitor the consumption of his/her guests.
- * Close the bar and pour the coffee about 2 hours before the party ends. This will allow time for the alcohol to be somewhat absorbed into the system.
- * If a guest has obviously had too much to drink, try to slow down their consumption by talking with them or otherwise distracting their attention. Mix their drinks using small amounts of or no alcohol. If anyone attempts to drive while intoxicated, offer to call a cab, or even drive them home yourself. Remember, the host is liable for what happens at his/her party.

HEALTH TIPS
Holidays critical for food poisoning

There's an old story about an early 1890s logger named Cy Overlander who, to prevent several trips to the nearby creek, washed his hands each evening in the same water he had used to cook his potatoes. One day, another logger pointed out that this probably wasn't a good idea, to which Cy replied, "Well, I used to wash my hands in the water before I cooked the 'taters, but I didn't like the taste of the 'taters then."

As humorous as this story may seem, food safety and contamination of food sources are real concerns, especially at this time of year.

"There are 2 times of the year when incidences of food poisoning tend to increase — Easter and Christmas," says Dr. Edward C. Heffron, director of the Food Division at the Michigan Department of Agriculture. "Most of the time, it's the result of how food is handled and prepared at home."

"During the holidays, we change the usual way we handle our foods. We're preparing different types of foods...foods which are rich and high in protein, low in acid. These kinds of foods are highly susceptible to poisoning organisms. Also, during the holidays, refrigerators which are already full cannot hold the quantities of food required for holiday meals. Or, once the additional food is crammed in, refrigerators are so full they can't cool the contents sufficiently."

In this type of environment, Salmonella, one of the most common bacteria, has a perfect breeding ground. "Foods that are allowed to remain at too warm a temperature for too long, or those that are not heated to a high enough temperature can harbor dangerous food-borne illnesses," adds Heffron. For these reasons, it is important to be extremely cautious in preparing foods throughout the year, but especially so during holidays when large meals result in less control.

Fewer deer in area

Continued from page one. deer herd, but suggested that the apparent decline doesn't apply to all areas in the Thumb.

"That's the way you have to look at it because there are some people in Huron County who had a fabulous year," he said. "Definitely there are fewer deer (here), no question about it. But there are some places that have too many deer."

Estimates aside, there are still plenty of deer around, according to Jarvis, who conceded "It's not going to be easy" to strike a balance acceptable to both farmers and hunters.

"There's still an awful lot of deer in Michigan in order to have a kill that large," he noted, referring to this year's preliminary harvest figures. "I think you're going to see a lot of deer show up after the season."

RABBIT HUNTING was good last week for Dick Haney of Cass City. He bagged 3 rabbits, including this jack rabbit. The rabbit was well on its way to getting its winter coat of white. It gave the dogs a real chase before it came into range, Haney said. Jack rabbits are not normally found in this area, according to Haney.

Sting offering $1,000 for study

Sting acknowledged there are problems with the concept, including reaction from the American oil industry and the fact that, like oil, there is a limited supply of coal.

Still, he commented, the solution makes more sense than what's happening now. "I don't think we have any business being there at all," he said. "The amount of expense that's being laid out...would build several coal conversion plants."

More importantly, he noted, is the risk involved in sending American servicemen and women.

"I shudder to think of the thousands of 'body bags' that have been sent with the troops to Saudi Arabia!" he wrote Senator Levin. "There is no amount of oil that is worth the horrible sacrifice of our youngest and best!"

"There would be dead bodies coming home," he repeated Friday. "It just isn't worth that."

194 parcels added to DNR list of hazardous waste clean-up sites

Recently released by the Department of Natural Resources was a proposed cleanup list of 2,846 sites contaminated with hazardous materials, 194 more than on this year's list. The cleanup list contained a new priority scoring system applied to many of the sites.

The number of new sites is a fraction of last year's increase, but officials said about 2,000 new leaking underground storage tank sites and a potential of 500 oil and gas sites were not evaluated and would be included next year.

Ron Willson, Environmental Quality Manager for the DNR, said the new scoring makes the rankings this year impossible to compare to prior year's lists. The DNR rescored 750 sites under the new system — including the 194 new sites — with the rest to be rescored by next year.

Willson said the additional sites are almost all older contamination areas that have just now been discovered.

Although the situation is "getting worse in the numbers game," he said the state is getting better at catching polluters before sites have become contaminated.

DNR director David Hales said the system provides "better, cleaner information." Combined with concise administrative rules, funding provided by 5 different sources and tougher enforcement standards under the new 'polluters pay' law, it puts Michigan in the vanguard of effective environmental cleanup and environmental protection.

Hales said the polluters pay legislation will go a long way toward forcing those who caused the problem to pay for the cleanup, although the majority of sites being cleaned up under existing procedures is being done by responsible parties. Those parties are conducting cleanup activities at 1,336 sites.

Federal, state and private funds totaling $330 million have been spent or committed for cleanup of 105 hazardous waste sites. Most state funds for cleanups have been provided since 1989 from voter-approved bonds.

DNR officials are in preliminary stages of preparing budget recommendations for the 1991-92 year for the sites ranked in this list. The scores are part of the equation to determine which sites will get cleanup money.

Responsible parties are cleaning up an additional 2,537 sites of leaking underground storage tanks, with 57 others targeted with $3.4 million under a federal program.

The system considers contamination to soil, groundwater, surface water and air, and factors relating to mobility, population, endangered species, nearby institutions such as nursing homes and toxicity quantity.

Last year, identification of leaking underground storage tanks was the major factor in adding sites to the list, accounting for 42 percent of the 694 new contaminated areas identified.

Willson said the rankings are not necessary to qualify for funds under both federal and state programs designated just for those sites.

DNR officials said 10 sites were deleted from the list, and more could be if the paperwork was completed. Last year, 15 sites were removed from the list with final cleanup completed.

The 10 highest scoring sites include:

- * G and H landfill in Macomb County (PCBs, TCE and BTEX chemicals); Portage Creek Kalamazoo River in Kalamazoo County (PCB, mercury); Auto Specialties in Berrien County (lead, arsenic, chromium, PCB and Benzene);

- * Bofors Lakeway Chemical plant in Muskegon County (Benzene, DCB, aniline, aldrin);
- * Cleveland Street landfill in Ionia County (lead, man-ganese, DDT, DDE, chromium and arsenic).

- * Port of Monroe landfill in Monroe County (PCB, BTEX AND cumene);
- * Rose Township Dump in Oakland County (lead, PCB, cadmium and phenol);

- * State Prison of Southern Michigan in Jackson (cadmium, chromium, zinc and TCE);
- * Village of Douglas in Allegan County (chromium, nickel, TCE, TCA and DCE);

- * Arkona Road landfill in Washtenaw County (nickel, chromium, 1.1 DCA and 1.1.1. TCA).

There are two novels buried in the 1939 New York World's Fair time capsule: Margaret Mitchell's Gone with the Wind, and Arrow-smith by Sinclair Lewis.
