PRAYING FOR PEACE—A steady stream of cars flowed in and out of the parking lot at the Cass City Missionary Church Monday as area residents took time to offer a prayer for peace in the Middle East. Officials at the church said the area-wide "day of prayer," held from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m., was very well attended.

Equipment purchased

O-G committee suggests specialist

The Owen-Gage Board of Education voted to purchase a 15-passenger van and $11,528 worth of computer equipment during its monthly meeting Monday night.

A committee composed of board members and school Supt. Harley Kirby recommended the purchase of a 1991 model van from Gettel Motors Co., Sebewaing, at a cost of $15,958.

The van will be used to transport Owen-Gage students to the Huron Area Skill Center and will also serve as transportation for small sports teams, field trips and other activities.

The purchase was initially proposed last August by Kirby, who at the time told board members the district would pay some $7,776 this year—an increase of $1,776 over the previous year—to transport skill center students via Thumb Area Transit.

At the same time, the district is seeing a decline in the number of skill center students, according to the superintendent, who noted the district has 8 this year, compared to 23 the year before.

Taking into account the cost of using Thumb Area Transit, Kirby remarked he expects the van will be paid for in fewer than 3 years.

Turning to the computer equipment purchase, Kirby presented a list of equipment needs as determined by both elementary and secondary school teachers and principals in the district.

The elementary school recommendation called for the purchase of an Apple II desk top computer and printer, 5 additional printers, an LCD image projector, a work station, software and other accessories at a total cost of $6,379. At the secondary level, officials requested 2 computers, 3 printers, software and other accessories at a total cost of $5,149.

Both recommendations were approved.

In other business, the board received a report from the district's curriculum committee, which recommended that the board consider hiring a full-time reading specialist for the junior and senior high school.

The report, which included copies of standardized test scores and the results of a survey, noted a major concern among teachers polled is the need for reading support in grades 7 through 12.

"Test scores from the target grades reveal weakness in the area of writing in the content areas, language skills, vocabulary comprehension and application of these skills in all subjects," the report states.

High School Principal Ronald D' Aoust suggested a reading specialist could work as a consultant to all teachers on staff in an effort to improve reading skills.

In presenting the report, D' Aoust asked the board to review the information and consider hiring someone for the next school year if it's financially possible.

Also Monday, the board:
*Learned the district will receive $962 in "school improvement" funds this year. Owen-Gage received $640 last year.

*Was commended by Kirby in conjunction with School Board Recognition Week, Jan. 13-19.

Kirby presented certificates to school board President Jack Brinkman, Vice-President Ron Good, Treasurer Walt Swiastyn, Secretary Tom Fritz and trustees William Kretzschmer, Joseph (Nick) Warack and Rick Ziehm.

*Approved a motion to continue offering a Sunday evening open gym night at Owendale. The program will run through Easter break under the direction of Ronald Susalla.

*Approved use of the Owendale gymnasium by the Huron County Men's Basketball League Jan. 13 and Feb. 24 at a rate of $65 per day.

*Commended 6 Owen-Gage band students who recently auditioned for the Michigan Lions Band. Two of the students, Tanya Muntz and Debbie Powers, were selected to join the band.

*Approved the recommendation of senior Lori Radabaugh as "student of the month" for January.

President George Bush has the reluctant support of his policies in the Middle East, a random survey of 9 area residents in different age groups in the Cass City area revealed this week.

A recent Associated Press poll showed that 9 out of 10 Americans were willing to go to war against Iraq, but the endorsement was tempered by many who said that a wait and see what happens attitude should be adopted. Essentially that is the position of the persons interviewed in this survey. It should be noted that none of them have close relatives stationed in the Middle East.

While younger age respondents generally agreed that the United States should be in Iraq and predicted a short war, others who backed the country's position are not as sure.

Oddly enough, the war experience of the persons interviewed appeared to have little or no correlation with their views on the crisis and the Jan. 15 deadline for the start of the removal of Iraq troops from Kuwait.

BOB STICKLE

Bob Stickle, 66, has seen war close-up. He's a World War II veteran who was in the second wave of troops in the Normandy invasion, where casualties were among the highest of the war, and then was part of the campaign that ended in Czechoslovakia.

Saddam Hussein must be stopped, he feels. He backs President Bush, but feels that maybe the Jan. 15 deadline is too restrictive. A little more time should be allowed, he says. Perhaps another month and then if nothing happens, take action.

SCOTT MARTIN

Scott Martin, age 31 (no relation to Ken), also accepts the United States' actions in the Saudi desert. He says, "I believe we (if war broke out) would be in and out."

However, Martin, who has 2 children, Melissa, age 6, and Kevin, age 4, says he isn't sure if Mr. Bush's deadline is firm.

"He might be bluffing." Martin also commented on the readiness of our troops compared to Hussein's battle trained army.

"If they weren't ready I don't think it would be wise for them to be over there."

JIM VANALLEN

Jim VanAllen, a 28-year-old applications technician at Walbro Corp., Cass City, believes war with Iraq is imminent.

"I think we're going to invade. I think—and I hate to say it—the most feasible action is to get it over with," he remarked.

—VanAllen, who along with his wife, Renee, and 2 children, ages 7 and 3, resides in the Cass City area, said the Persian Gulf crisis "is a no-win situation if there ever was one."

"People are going to condemn (President Bush) no matter what he does," he commented.

VanAllen said he believes Bush has given economic sanctions and diplomacy "an honest try," but it doesn't appear such measures are going to resolve the crisis regardless of how much time is allotted. He said he wouldn't condemn Bush for using military force at this point.

"I think Hussein is the kind Please turn to back page.

KEN MARTIN

Says Cass City resident Ken Martin, age 28, married, "I support the United States' presence in the Middle East."

Martin, who has a 2-year-old son, Andrew, believes that if Saddam Hussein doesn't pull out of Kuwait by Tuesday, the United States will be forced to attack.

"President Bush means what he says. You can't keep giving in to Hussein." Martin feels the war would last only a short period, "about one month."

Although Martin has no relatives serving in Operation Desert Shield, he cautions about the possibilities of strikes in the USA.

"Terrorism could be a problem."

Born in Saginaw

First 1991 baby arrives

A Deford couple welcomed the area's first arrival of the year, a strapping 10-pound, one ounce baby boy born early last week in Saginaw.

Austin Louis Babich, son of Tim and Deb Babich, 4681 Gilford Rd., was born at about 3 p.m. Jan. 7 at Saginaw General Hospital.

His father is employed at Cole Carbide Industries Inc., Cass City, and his mother is a manicurist.

Aside from his parents, the newborn was welcomed by 2 siblings, Raechel, 4, and

Brett, 2, and a host of relatives, including grandparents Susan Smith of Caro, Dave and Rinda Smith of Caro and Bernard and Lynn Babich of Deford; great-grandparents Fern Babich of Deford and Maurice and Dorothy Taylor of Cass

City, and great-great-grandmother Phoebe Klinkman of Cass City.

Cass City area merchants and businesses also are welcoming the new arrival with a host of gifts.

Austin and his parents will receive $10 gift certificates from the IGA Foodliner, Erla's Food Center, Information Exchange Book Store, Cass City ServiStar Hardware, Pizza Villa and Krizman's.

Also, Thumb National Bank and Chemical Bank Bay Area each will set up a $10 savings account in his name.

Other gifts are $15 in baby products from the Quaker Maid Dairy Store, a gift arrangement from Cass City Floral, a photo album from Huron Business Products, a cake each from Sommers' and Sutter's bakeries, $10 towards a prescription at Coach Light Pharmacy and a one-year subscription to the Cass City Chronicle.

Bomb threat at high school

Cass City police are investigating a bomb threat that prompted Cass City High School officials to dismiss classes for 90 minutes Thursday.

A phone call was made to the high school principal's office at about 10:10 a.m., according to police. Chief Gene Wilson, who said the caller, believed to be a young male, said "there's a bomb" and then hung up.

School officials evacuated the building and a search was conducted, Wilson said, adding nothing was found and school was resumed.

Police are continuing to follow up on leads in the case, he said.

WELCOME, AUSTIN — Tim and Deb Babich of Deford welcomed the arrival of their son, Austin Louis Babich, Jan. 7 at Saginaw General Hospital. On hand to welcome their new brother home were his sister, Raechel, 4, and brother, Brett, 2.

First pick-up Thursday

Curbside recycling starts

Cass City's curbside recycling program will get underway Thursday.

Waste Management of Michigan - Mideast Michigan officials distributed 18-gallon bins and recycling information to some 850 households in the village last week.

Officials also made stops at Rawson Memorial Library and the schools as part of a local public relations campaign geared towards educating area residents on the merits of recycling.

Beginning this week, Waste Management will accept the following items for recycling:

•Plastic—milk and water jugs, laundry detergent bottles, or anything with "PETE" #1 or "HDPE" #2 stamped on the bottom (rinse and remove lids).

•Glass—clear, brown and green food and beverage bottles and jars (rinse and remove lids).

•Cans—soup, vegetable, tuna fish, etc. (rinse, remove labels and bottoms, then flatten)

•Newspaper—no glossy inserts. Tuck neatly to one side of the bin or bundle with string and place on top or next to the bin.

Related pictures on page 7.

Cass City households are asked to place all their recyclables in the bin provided and set them out next to their regular trash receptacle Thursday before 6 a.m.

Persons who have questions are encouraged to call Waste Management at (313) 798-3955.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Myers

The Evangelical Free Church in Cass City was the setting for the Oct. 6 wedding of Floyd Myers and Juanita Bradley. Rev. Eldred Kelley performed the double-ring ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Russell L. Bradley Jr. of Cass City and Mr. and Mrs. Clare Myers of Fostoria.

Organist/pianist for the ceremony was Carol Parrott, who accompanied soloist Sue Opal. Songs included "The Wedding Song", "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do" and "Cherish the Treasure."

Escorted by her father, the bride approached the altar wearing a white satin gown with a sweetheart neckline. The dress had long satin sleeves with a pleated drape effect at the top of the sleeves accented with pearls. The bodice featured a V waistline and was adorned with embroidered lace and sequins. The full satin skirt was highlighted with lace applique patterns. The mid-length V in the back was detailed by a white satin bow at the waist trimmed in pearls, which descended to a cathedral train edged in hand-cut lace embossed with pearls.

Her hair piece was a crescent wreath with silk flowers and pearl sprays with a side accent of hanging pearls and lilies of the valley and an attached illusion fingertip veil. She wore her mother's pearls.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Dawn Bradley. Bridesmaids were Colleen Woods, friend of the bride, Rhonda Krzewinski, cousin of the bride, and Grace Esselink, friend of the bride.

Flower girls were Kendra and Jamie Viney, the bride's cousins.

The bride's attendants and flower girls wore burgundy or mauve satin gowns with fitted bodices and detailed lace appliques. The full skirts were accented with satin bows at the waistline back. They wore matching lace gloves and carried fans.

Best man was Gary Bradley, the bride's brother. Groomsmen were Ed Yax, Mike Krzewinski, both friends of the groom, and Robb Dudock, cousin of the bride.

Ring bearers were Andrew Bradley, brother of the bride, and James Pasanski, cousin of the bride.

The groom wore a dark gray pin-striped tuxedo, and the groomsmen and ring bearers wore light gray pin-striped long tailed tuxedos.

Ushers were Dean Hoag, friend of the bride, and Don Smith, uncle of the groom. Trisha Viney, the bride's cousin, attended the guest book.

The bride's mother wore a mauve street-length dress with lace overlay at the bodice. The groom's mother chose a blue and white street-length dress.

Over 500 guests attended the reception at the Dom Polski Hall, Caro.

The couple honeymooned in the Upper Peninsula and are living in Bay City.

The bride is employed by The Heart Group at the MidMichigan Regional Medical Center in Midland. The groom is employed at Tendercare in Cass City.

Say what?

by Melva E. Guinther

It's been a while since we zeroed in on pet peeves, and we're about due.

Because I work with words, it's probably natural that some of my pet peeves involve their use or misuse.

Aside from the poor misunderstood apostrophe, whose function and abuse have been discussed here previously, there are several commonly read words and phrases that grate on a proof reader's nerves.

Among them are the vast number of people that reportedly attend anniversaries. How does one attend an anniversary?

An anniversary is a commemoration of an event. Often it includes a celebration, a dinner or party, which hopefully a lot of people attend, but they don't attend the anniversary. By popular use, I suppose it's understood that it's the celebration that people attend.

Call me crotchety, but I still don't like it. Along the same line, we get a lot of reports of reunions that met at such and such a place and time. How can a reunion meet? Whom or what does it meet?

People meet. People hold a reunion, but the reunion doesn't meet.

And clergymen do not officiate a ceremony. "Officiate" is an intransitive verb, which means that it does not take a direct object (which is what the word ceremony is in the previous sentence.) Hence, the person officiating officiates over the ceremony or at the ceremony, but does not officiate the ceremony.

Another phrase that I've never understood is "Funeral services were held from the Such and Such Funeral Home." Did the grieving friends meet there and stage a road rally? What is the purpose of the preposition "from"? Maybe they did hold a sort of bon voyage get-together for the deceased, but wasn't it held at the funeral home?

Another phrase that bugs me is common to sports announcers and writers. It's "on the night", as in "Joe Blow had 3 hits, or sacks, or touchdowns, or runs, whatever, on the night."

What does "on the night" mean? How can anything be "on the night"? During the night, maybe, or in the course of the game, but "on the night"?

Of course, sports announcers have a unique vocabulary and pretty much use or abuse the language to suit themselves.

Just this week a reporter wrote, "The Detroit Red Wings slipped a few worms into the Big Apple Friday night." Unquestionably, sports fans knew exactly what he meant.

Sometimes I wonder, though, how an alien with but a simple dictionary of the English language could ever decipher a sports story.

Imagine the confusion if he happened to tune in as one of our most exuberant announcers screamed, as he did the other night, "He's a flasher! He's a trasher! He's a high wire act!" when a player made a basket.

I know the language, and I still didn't know what he was saying.

Someone in Cass City took the time to write a card to Dawn R. Dorsch of Gagetown, on duty in Saudi Arabia, and she responded. The letter was addressed to Cass City. This is what she wrote:

Cass City,
Thank you for the card. The camel sure was a familiar sight. There wasn't a name to reply to so I guess you'll have to forgive me for not knowing to whom I'm writing. I just wanted you to know your generous thoughts make a difference and speaking from halfway around the world it sure doesn't hurt.

You have supported us and we (service members) appreciate it tremendously. Just this last July I marched in the Cass City parade, 4th of July. I wore my dress green uniform. I was proud then, but I could never be prouder to wear my uniform (now).

The Statue of Liberty stands tall and we're here to protect her honor. Hope to be home safe and soon. Keep us in your prayers. Dawn R. Dorsch.

The group of area business, professional and industrial persons who backed portions of the loan to finance the building of Jordan College in Cass City will get a firsthand report on the progress at the school Monday, Feb. 4.

A community dinner is planned and plans for the future at the school are expected to be disclosed.

Waste Management of Michigan has been receiving a gold star for service at our house and this week we learned that in this incidence credit was unearned.

Over the last 3 years when the used Christmas tree was deposited in front of the house, it was gone almost at once. Always in a matter of a day or so.

What we learned last week was that the pick-up was not by the company but by Carl Reed, who lives south of Cass City.

He told us that he uses the tree for shelter at his bird feeder and reports that the birds love it.

The tree loses all its needles but is still used by the birds until the next year, when it is replaced by another.

It's one of those rare transactions in which there are all winners, no losers.

Regretfully a firsthand lesson in the problems facing the health-care industry was experienced last week, when for the fourth time polyps were removed from my nose.

To begin at the beginning, let's go back 45 years to my first experience with nasal polyps that inhibit breathing and encourage sinus trouble.

It was in the service and a polyp was removed as part of a larger operation on the nose. At that time they tried to straighten it with not a great amount of success. That's immaterial to what this is all about. What isn't is the difference in the procedures and the costs of the 3 following operations. In a microcosm it illustrates what we all face in the complex health-care field.

The second polyp removal came perhaps 10 years later. It was completed in a doctor's office. I remember stopping on the way north and the whole thing was over and done with in about an hour. Sort of like having a tooth pulled.

I can't pinpoint the total cost, but rest assured it was under $100.

Now fast-forward another dozen years or so. This was in the era where you were hospitalized for a hangnail. An X-ray was required and I spent the night in the hospital. Cost unknown, but obviously 10 times the amount spent for the first operation. Paid by insurance, of course.

Now we are up to last week. This is what happened. The specialist first required a CAT-scan. Then a chest X-ray, EKG and all types of blood tests followed.

The operation was with a laser, and an hour in the doctor's office under a local anesthetic required for the first operation was turned into 2 hours on the operating table under a general anesthetic.

Judging by the way it feels 2 days later, it probably was a much more invasive operation than the last time around.

But think of the cost. I can't tell you what it was, but you know that when all the bills are totaled you are talking thousands of dollars, as compared to less than $100, 25 years ago.

Sure, it's comforting to have myriad tests and know that everything's okay. But can we afford them? Or should there be a limit to testing in order to try and stem the health-care costs that are skyrocketing, making it impossible for many Americans to cope with the expense.

I was told that an EKG and a chest X-ray were needed if none had been performed in the last 6 months. Seems excessive doesn't it?

Last week's operation pinpoints another problem. Most of the tests performed at St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw at the request of the doctor could have been performed at Hills and Dales General Hospital. Some doctors will permit it, others will not.

When the specialist refused my request to have the tests done in Cass City, both Hills and Dales Hospital and I were the losers.

Kingston teachers' ideas earn state mini-grants

A pair of teachers in the Kingston Community School District are among nearly 260 teachers across the state whose innovative approaches to instruction have won them state grants.

They are Karen Crisp, a special education teacher at Kingston High School, and Patrice Robinson, a special education teacher at Kingston Elementary School.

State Board of Education officials last week announced the brightest ideas of Michigan's teachers have been rewarded with nearly $130,000 in Teacher Mini-Grants.

Established by the state board in 1985, the grants have been awarded this school year to 259 teachers chosen from among 2,573 applications.

The total amount given for the awards—$129,426—represents a combination of both federal and state funding sources. The individual awards range from $100 to $750.

Crisp, who has been involved in education since 1964, wrote a successful grant for $750, which she'll use to purchase materials designed to help her students tackle fractions.

The grant will purchase special calculators that compute fractions, as well as other materials, including a math lab, that provide hands-on projects.

"Everybody has problems with fractions, even kids in the regular classrooms,"

Crisp remarked, adding her grant proposal emphasized a learning approach that targets students' sense of touch.

The hands-on materials will be particularly helpful, she explained, because kids who have a difficult time learning by seeing and hearing a lesson often will learn if they can use their hands.

Crisp's fellow grant recipient, Robinson, agreed.

"Some kids don't learn well visually or by hearing it, but somehow, you get their hands on it and they do better," she said.

Robinson, who is in her 18th year of teaching, received a mini-grant totalling $265.

The money, she said, will be used primarily to purchase a computer program and worksheets designed to help children learn how to follow directions.

"A lot of the children with learning problems, especially the younger ones, have a hard time following directions," she said.

Robinson noted she hopes the new materials will help her students to improve in that area not only in her classroom, but also when they return to their regular classrooms.

Robinson and Crisp, both of whom are active in seeking other educational funding awards, agreed the mini-grants will enhance their efforts in the classroom.

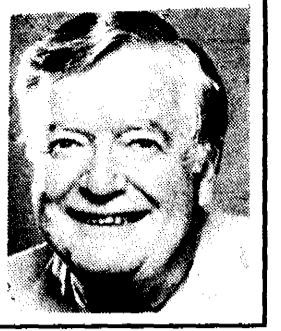

Robinson, who said she believes the trend in special education is leaning towards utilizing new technology, pointed out the grants will purchase materials the district couldn't provide otherwise.

Crisp added, "We spend so much of our own money for projects for the kids and it really adds up, so the grant is a great help."

By Jim Fitzgerald

It was a big laugh for some coworkers when I was asked to participate in physical exercises designed to determine if a journalist is in shape to cover a war in the Middle East.

Push-ups and sit-ups were featured. There was an incredulous response when I said that the last time I did a push-up or sit-up was in the summer of 1944. Forty-seven years ago? You must be kidding. I wasn't. The Army made me abuse my body as part of the basic training required for participation in World War II. That war ended a year later, and I've never since felt any need to hurt myself on purpose. It would make as much sense as sleeping in a foxhole, or otherwise going camping, though you have free access to a warm home and comfortable bed.

THE BODY WORKS WITHOUT SIT-UPS

It was a chuckle to compare my walk-do-not-run life-style to the sweaty gyrations of some other journalists who believe sweaty masochism is necessary to good health. Another thing I haven't done in 47 years is miss a day's work because of illness. I figured it would make a funny column to explain the virtues of sloth and indolence as opposed to the evils of pulled groins and running until you vomit.

But then I started thinking about what precipitated the fitness test for journalists — the sickening threat of war with Iraq. I thought about the 18-year-olds now doing the same thing I did when I was that age — train to fight a war, to kill human beings. The only laughs are rueful, at ironies.

There is much discussion of the smaller ironies — the cradle of democracy bleeding for monarchies; the champion equal-rights nation defending a country that oppresses women; a U.S. president who'd rather go to war than to a peace conference, and so on.

There is very little discussion of the biggest irony — our refusal to use, or even brandish, our huge arsenal of nuclear weapons. World War II ended when two atom bombs were dropped on Japan. The huge loss of enemy lives was easily justified — it saved American lives.

So why are we threatening Saddam Hussein with conventional warfare if he doesn't get out of Kuwait? Why not threaten him with the big bomb, to be dropped Jan. 16, unless... And then drop it if the weasel doesn't fold? Wouldn't the huge loss of enemy lives be worth saving the lives of any number of Americans and their allies?

No. An almost-civilized world, including the U.S. population, will stomach only so much. Nuclear weapons won't be used on Iraq for the same reason they weren't used in Korea and Vietnam: Because we aren't that sure we're right. We're sure enough to spend a few thousand lives, but not a few million.

BULLETS AREN'T MORE MORAL THAN BOMBS

Cheap gas and a chastened Saddam Hussein are worth, say, the lives of 10 young men you know, but not 20. Would you like to explain that to the families of the 10 dead young men? A person, friend or foe, killed by a nuclear weapon is no dearer than one killed by a rifle bullet. And if the U.S. isn't sure enough to use its most effective weapons, it has no right to force 18-year-olds to die from government uncertainty.

But, you say, nuclear war is unthinkable; everyone knows that. Right. So let's keep talking. Let the United Nations handle the discussions. Eventually some inspired leader will say the inevitable magic words that will settle the argument after lunch instead of after millions have been killed.

Today's column began with some coworkers laughing at the thought of my being physically fit enough to cover a war. Speaking of coworkers, I received this note from Free Press photographer George Waldman:

"I got a phone call from a friend in New York who was concerned about the possibility of a serious war."

He had been called by a friend who asked him to call 10 friends and ask them to call 10 friends, etc., and ask that people start going to the steps of their city hall each morning from 7 to 8 to talk to each other, share a cup of coffee, talk about ways to find, maintain, share peace.

"Pretty silly. I can see people laughing at the idea. 'Think I'll do it.'"

Offices to close on 2 holidays

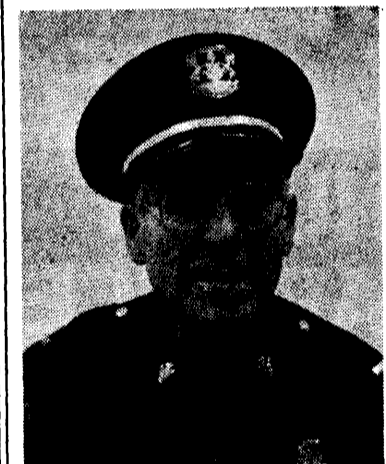

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin announced that all Secretary of State branch offices will be closed over the upcoming Martin Luther King Jr. and President's Day holidays.

The branch offices will be closed Monday, Jan. 21, for the Martin Luther King Jr. holiday. They will reopen for business as usual Jan. 22.

Branches will also close for President's Day, Monday, Feb. 18, and reopen the following morning.

Motorists whose driver licenses or license plates expire during these holiday weekends are encouraged to renew early. Austin said, waiting times in branch offices are usually shortest on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Adult education

Class offerings told

Cass City Community Education Department officials recently outlined their winter 1991 enrichment programs that get underway this month.

On Mondays, karate, Fitness Factor, kalosomatics and men's conditioning are offered, as are a wide range of basket classes and another beginning clogging class. A double wedding ring quilted pillow class and investment planning also are offered on Mondays.

Tuesday brings advanced oil painting and 3 different fabric painting classes. Square dancing is set for Wednesdays, with Thursdays offering conversational Spanish classes for all ages. Classes on beginning/intermediate oil painting, and how to trace one's roots, also are available.

Other offerings include something new for adults and children to do together—an Easter basket class, computer and paint-on sweat or T-shirt classes.

Also, the Cass City PTA is sponsoring a stress management seminar for adults and adolescents on a Saturday tentatively scheduled for this month.

The community education department also plans to offer other children's classes plus gymnastics on Saturdays.

More information is available by calling the community education office at 872-4151.

Scholarship renewed for Robertson

Former Cass City resident Jeanette Robertson, a senior at Alma College, is among the upperclass students whose scholarships to attend Alma have been renewed for the 1990-91 academic year. Robertson, a 1987 graduate of Cass City High School, is majoring in biology at Alma.

She is the daughter of former Cass City residents, the Rev. S. Joe and Mary Ellen Robertson, now of East Tawas.

About USDA secretary Laurie expresses concern

Michigan Farm Bureau President Jack Laurie, reacting to the selection of USDA Secretary Clayton Yetter as chairman of the national Republican party, said "the time could be considered especially poor to change secretaries right now."

Laurie said that consistency is needed in the U.S. Department of Agriculture now that implementation of the 1990 Farm Bill is under way.

"This is also a poor time to change because Yetter played a lead role in the ongoing GATT negotiations. We're in a position right now where those negotiations will be revived, and the person sitting in the secretary's chair will play a major role in the success of those negotiations," he said.

Laurie said President Bush should look for a new secretary who was involved in the development of the 1990 Farm Bill and understands the needs and concerns of agriculture.

"At the same time, it's important that the individual have a basic understanding of the value of world trade to American agriculture," he concluded.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Petty Officer Craig Schuette recently completed machinist mate A-School at Great Lakes Naval Center in Illinois. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Schuette of Cass City, he is a 1985 graduate of Cass City High School.

A car owned by Gary Spencer posed an additional hazard for the Elkland Township Fire Department when it caught fire Sunday about 9 p.m. It was parked near a propane tank. Firemen quickly quelled the blaze, but the car was demolished.

Don and Isabell Whitteburg were dinner guests last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Ella M. Cumper.

Tina Hoard was re-elected president of Good Shepherd Lutheran Ladies Aid at the January regular meeting. Others named were Adeline Butler, vice-president, and Ruth Balzer, secretary. Jackie Guinther was re-elected treasurer. Connie McNaughton and Adeline Butler were hostesses at the meet, attended by 15 members.

TEN YEARS AGO

Cass City wrestlers finished second to Birch Run, who was first, at the Cass City Invitational Saturday. Seven teams were entered.

Food distribution set

The Human Development Commission will conduct a commodity food distribution at the following locations Jan. 24 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., or until the supply is exhausted:

Cass City Village Park, Cass City; Tuscola County Fairgrounds, Caro, and the Ivan Middleton Hall, Vassar (10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.).

Due to the volume of commodities, individuals are asked to bring cardboard boxes to carry their commodities.

Individuals must report to School board recognition week set

Cass City is among several Michigan communities that are honoring the dedicated service of public school trustees during the second annual observance of School Board Member Recognition Week, Jan. 13-19.

At least once a month, 4,200 men and women gather in towns and cities across Michigan to make decisions that affect the lives and the futures of 1.7 million school children.

School Board Member Recognition Week offers local communities a chance to pay tribute to the men and women who set direction and policy for their schools. It also offers all citizens the chance to learn more about Michigan's long tradition of local control of schools.

The men and women serving on the Cass City Board of Education are Benson Hobart, president; Allan Hartwick, vice president; James Turner, secretary; Beverly Auten, treasurer; Fred Matthews, trustee; Edward Scollon, trustee, and Dan Ulfig, trustee.

Showing the way for the Hawks were a pair of brother combinations. Phil Harmer won the 112-pound class and Clayton Harmer annexed the 132-pound class. Jeff Papp won the 98-pound class and Shawn Papp took the honors in the 185-pound class.

For his 12 years' service on the Cass City School Board, retired board member Art Severance was presented with a certificate. The presentation was made by Board President Geraldine Prieskom.

The Gageton Village Council Monday evening decided to ask village residents to leave a small stream of water running from one tap to prevent further freeze-ups of water lines. Two have occurred so far this year.

The Cass City Lioness Club had its monthly meeting Jan. 12. After the business meeting, Dawn Herron, who had been to Denmark this past summer in the Lions foreign exchange student program, discussed the Danes and their country.

25 YEARS AGO

A highlight of the party honoring Jerome Root Sr. Wednesday was the presentation of a certificate for 25 years of service by Supt. Donald Crouse.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dillman and daughter, Marjorie, who was home from Royal Oak for the weekend, attended church Sunday in Midland and were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dillman.

Attending the Seventh District Association of American Legion posts and auxiliary meetings at Capac were Mr. and Mrs. Casimir Bartnik and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Tracy and daughters Dorothy and Teresa.

A3C Gerald W. Guinther, who entered the Air Force Sept. 16, has completed basic training and 8 weeks with the Drum and Bugle Corps.

Obituaries

Bernadine Good

Bernadine Eleanora Good, 84, died Thursday, Jan. 10, at Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe.

She was born in Owendale Feb. 17, 1906, to William and Mary Jane (Thompson) Kretzschmer.

She married Edmund Good Dec. 27, 1924, in Auburn Heights. He preceded her in death July 28, 1986.

Mrs. Good attended Ferris Institute in Big Rapids. She was an active member in the Owendale United Methodist Church, where she was a life member of the United Methodist Women.

She was a member of the Farm Bureau, the Eastern Star, Echo Chapter 337, Cass City, and a member of the Past Matrons. Mrs. Good was an active member of numerous civic organizations and was past secretary of the state of Michigan House and Senate Auxiliary. Her husband was a former state representative.

Surviving are 2 daughters, Mrs. Robert (Lois) Albrecht, Owendale, and Mrs. Lyle (Eleanor) Truemmer, Cass City; 4 sons, Edmund (Betty) Good Jr., Ronald (Hazel) Good and Lloyd Good, all of Gagetown, and Robert Good, Holly; 24 grandchildren; 25 great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Norman (Harriet) Emery, Bonita Springs, Fla.; one brother, Homer Kretzschmer, Owendale, and several nieces and neph-

Present award at Trinity meet

There were 28 members and guests present for the Trinity United Methodist Church Women's meeting Monday, Jan. 7.

Leola Wilson of the Saginaw Social Services Dept. presented the program, "Children Have Cares."

Midge Thompson was honored for church service with a special mission recognition award.

The meeting was conducted by President Virginia Hartwick and lunch was served by Group #4 under the leadership of Helen and Bea Baker.

She was preceded in death by a grandson, 5 brothers and 2 sisters.

Funeral services were held Saturday at Owendale United Methodist Church. The Rev. Mary F. Neil, pastor, officiated.

Burial was in Grant Township Cemetery.

Arthur Polk

Verona Township Supervisor Arthur J. Polk, 60, owner of Polk Trucking, Bad Axe, died Saturday, Jan. 5, at his residence after a long illness.

He was born March 27, 1930, in Verona Township, son of the late Aaron "Ira" G. and Rosalind (Stacer) Polk.

He married Lois "Joyce" King Nov. 17, 1956, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Rapson.

Mr. Polk was a 1948 graduate of Bad Axe High School and was a certified state tax assessor. He was a retired farmer and retired milk transport hauler for Polk Trucking. He also owned the Rapson Garage.

He was a member of the Knights of Columbus Council 1546, Bad Axe, and was a member of the fourth degree.

Mr. Polk was a former chairman of the Huron County Michigan Township Association and former township trustee. He was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Rapson, where he was a former board member and church council president.

He was a member of the Huron County Republican Party and a member of the Uby Fox Hunters club.

Mr. Polk had been Verona Township supervisor since 1969 and was instrumental in securing the current township hall and in seeing the Carpenter-Learman roads bypass constructed.

Surviving are his wife, Joyce, Bad Axe; 2 sons, Ronald A. Polk, Bay City, and Jerome "Jerry" F. Polk, Bad Axe, and 2 granddaughters.

Services were held Wednesday at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Rapson. The Rev. John Cotter, pastor, officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Zinger-Smigielski Funeral Home, Ubyly, handled arrangements.

Bridge replacement, repair slated in Thumb counties

A major program to replace or repair critically deficient bridges in Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties was announced recently by Rep. Dick Allen (R-Caro) and Sen. Jim Barcia (D-Bay City).

The projects are included in a 1991-92 program to replace 108 deficient bridges on county roads and city streets. Of those, 6 are on the state highway system.

Allen and Barcia said the projects will be paid for with funds from the Federal Highway Bridge Replacement and Rehabilitation Program and the Michigan Critical Bridge Program. The estimated cost is $34 million.

In Huron County, bridges scheduled for repair or replacement are: Fillion Road over the Pigeon River, Fillion Road over the Pinnebog River, Stoddard Road over the Willow River, Caseville Road over the Pigeon River, Stein Road over the Pigeon River, Berne Road over the Pinnebog River, Farver Road over the east branch of the Pigeon River, Weaver Road over Weaver Drain, Kilmanagh Road over Shebeon Drain, and Broderick Road over the Pigeon River.

Bridges slated for repair or replacement in Sanilac County are: Deckerville Road over the middle branch of the Cass River, Shabbona Road over the middle branch of the Cass River, French Line Road over Carter Drain, and French Line Road over the Black River.

In Tuscola County, bridges scheduled for repair or replacement are: Bevens Road over Sucker Creek and Deckerville Road over the south branch of White Creek.

Approval of the new program leaves more than 500 applications still on file from communities and counties all over the state, including 150 requests from 1990 alone.

Of nearly 6,500 bridges on local roads in counties and cities, 42 percent are considered "structurally deficient" -- requiring weight restrictions -- or "functionally obsolete" -- inadequate for the traffic.

The bridges were recommended for replacement by a 9-member committee set up by the Michigan Critical Bridge Program. The committee, representing M-DOT, the 83 county road commissions and the municipal street agencies, establishes priority for bridge replacements. Their decisions are based on the condition of the bridge, its importance to the street or road network and the local agency's ability to finance its share of construction.

On all the bridges, federal funds pay 80 percent of the cost, the state pays 15 percent and the local agency, 5 percent.

Each year the state allocates $5 million for its critical bridge program. The program has allocated funds for more than 1,000 bridges since it began in 1973.

Caro area woman gets probation

The woman who falsely claimed she was abducted from a Cass City parking lot in broad daylight and subsequently raped Oct. 15 has been sentenced to 2 years probation in Tuscola County District Court.

also was ordered to undergo counseling and pay an $80 fine and $70 in court costs for her plea of guilty to filing a false police report.

Kern claimed she was abducted at knife point at 11:30 a.m. by a man who forced her into his rusty, white van, drove her to a location not far from the village and assaulted her.

She told police she then fled the vehicle and returned to her car in Cass City.

The woman sought treatment at Hills and Dales General Hospital, Cass City, where officials contacted the state police post in Caro.

The report sent shock waves throughout the area, prompting a number of rumors about other reported assaults. Authorities received dozens of calls from persons reporting that they had seen the suspect van.

Less than a month into the investigation, however, Detective Sgt. Allan G. Ogg reported new evidence had arisen that led him to believe the rape did not occur. He declined to be specific, but said there had not been a rape in Cass City and that there was no rusty, white van as described by Kern.

Benefit concert set for Kubiaks

A benefit concert will be held Saturday in Gagetown or an area family whose home was destroyed by fire earlier this month.

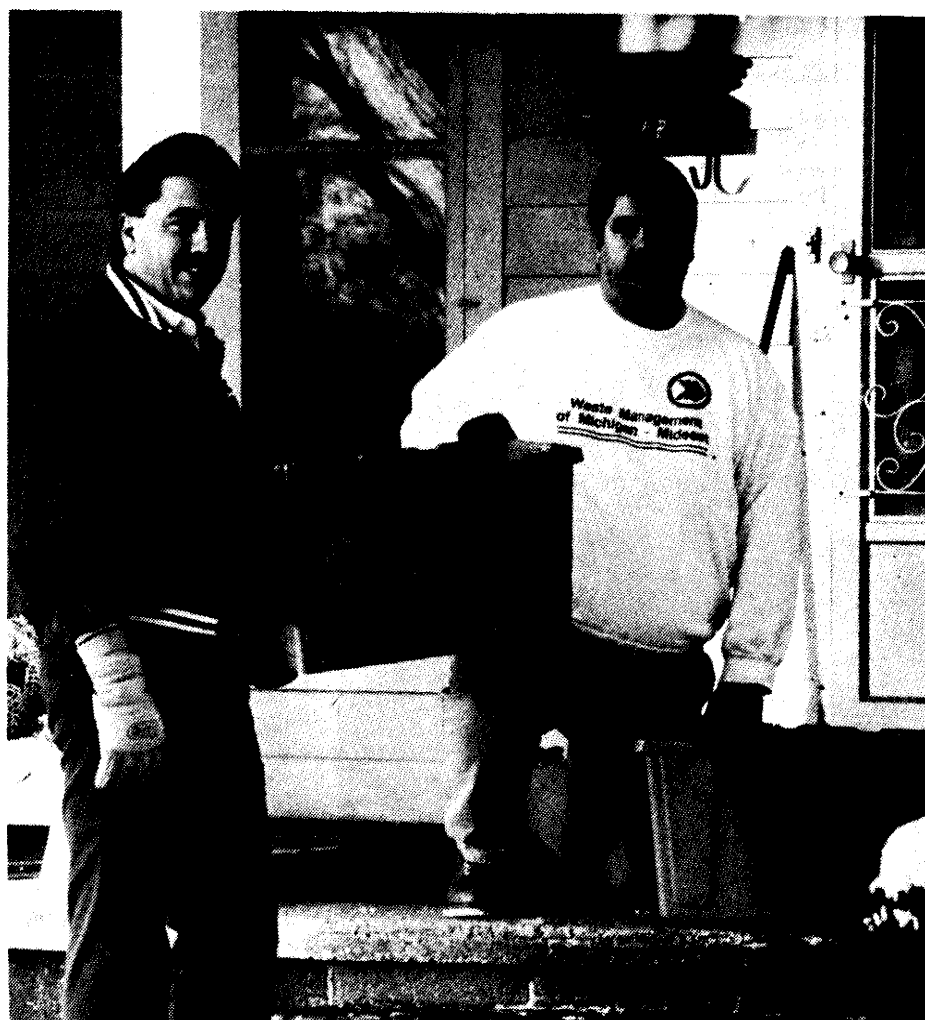

The concert will begin at 7 p.m. at the Gagetown Church of the Nazarene. A nursery will be provided. A free-will offering will be received and all who plan to attend are asked to bring one food item. All donations will be given to the Patrick Kubiak family, whose Gagetown area mobile home was gutted by fire Jan. 3.

The concert will feature the Master's Quartet from Olivet Nazarene University, Kankakee, Ill.

The quartet, which consists of 5 young men who are full-time students at Olivet, will also present a concert of sacred music Sunday during the 11 a.m. worship service at the Gagetown Church of the Nazarene.

JOE CAMPBELL (right), project manager for the Cass City curbside recycling program, and James Molnar, operation manager, both employees of Waste Management of Michigan-Mideast Michigan, helped distribute recycling bins to village households Thursday.

6 defendants sentenced Friday in circuit court

Six persons were sentenced for felony convictions Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Howard J. Sherman, 28, 6860 E. Cass City Rd., Cass City, was sentenced to 4 years probation and 6 months in the county jail, with participation in the work site program, for his Dec. 4 plea of guilty to larceny in a building.

Sherman, who lost his driving privileges while on probation, also was ordered to pay a $30 victim crime fee, $30 per month oversight fee and $400 in court costs and fines plus attorneys fees. Restitution is to be determined.

Court records state Sherman stole a safe, TV, radio, microwave oven, ceiling fan, cabinet, lamps, pictures, a chandelier and other items from a house at 6008 E. Cass City Rd., Cass City, Jan. 4, 1990.

Another Cass City resident, David A. Chrzan, 6450 Main St., was sentenced for his Nov. 30 plea of guilty to being an accessory after the fact.

He was sentenced to 3 years probation and 180 days in jail, with participation in the work site program, and ordered to pay a $100 fine, $200 in court costs plus attorneys fees, a $30 victim crime fee and $30 per month oversight fee.

Chrzan, 21, concealed or otherwise assisted an individual June 16 in Cass City, knowing that individual had committed a felony (larceny in a building), court records state.

Ortonville resident William G. Graves, 21, was sentenced to 180 days in jail and 3 years probation for his Sept. 28 plea of guilty to charges of malicious destruction of property and fleeing and eluding a police officer.

Both charges are in connection with an Aug. 18 incident in which Graves led police on a high speed chase that ended with the defendant's vehicle smashing into a police road block just south of Caro.

Aside from probation and jail, Graves was ordered to pay restitution totalling $500, a $30 victim crime fee and $30 per month oversight fee, court costs of $600 and $250 in fines.

Bret L. Marrow, 31, of Montrose, was sentenced to 36 months probation and 90 days in jail for his Oct. 19 plea of guilty to attempting to unlawfully drive away a motor vehicle.

The defendant also was ordered to pay a $30 victim crime fee and $30 per month oversight fee, and $150 in court costs. Restitution is to be determined.

The charge against Marrow involved the taking of a 1969 John Deere front end loader Feb. 23, court records state.

Columbiaville resident Guy A. Perry, 30, was sentenced to 45 days in jail for his Nov. 28 plea of guilty to an identical charge. Details on the Feb. 26 offense were not available.

Also Friday, Gordon Wright Jr., 19, of Kingston, received a one-year delayed sentence for his Nov. 13 plea of no contest to a charge of conspiracy to commit arson. Wright also was ordered to pay restitution, a $30 victim crime fee and $30 per month oversight fee, and attorneys fees totalling $500.

According to records, the charge stems from the Nov. 20, 1989, arson of a pickup truck owned by Wright.

Tuscola recycling meeting set Jan. 24

The second recycling educational meeting for Tuscola County will be held Jan. 24 at 7 p.m. at the Tuscola Area Skill Center in Caro.

Anyone interested in learning about what is happening with recycling in Tuscola County will want to attend this meeting, according to Betty Pattullo, Extension home economist community development agent for the Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service.

Guest speakers will include Mark Piavis, with Michigan State University, addressing household toxic wastes; Willis Hengy, chairman of the Michigan Directory (telephone), discussing green pages, and Judi Rienhold, chairperson, Cass City, recycling efforts in discussing how to stop junk mail.

In addition, recycling groups will report on progress of their operations. Also, there will be an update on the Recycling Education Grant proposal, and a list of all recycling locations, hours and dates, times of operation and items accepted will be provided by Pattullo.

More information about the upcoming meeting is available by contacting Pattullo at 673-5999.

Hawk guards stymied in loss

Hawks play Ubly cagers tough

The snow that forced cancellation of the game Friday between Cass City and Lakers came at an inopportune time for Cass City because it was to have been played following a game in which the team played well, and Coach Ron Nurnberger would like nothing better than to have the trend continue. The game has been rescheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 29.

The Cass City Red Hawks played one of their better games of the season Tuesday at Ubly. That was the good news. The bad news was that the team played one of the better squads in the Thumb and the fine game failed to produce a win.

Cass City lost to the Bearcats, 55-43. The win moved Ubly's record to 7-1 for the season and Cass City's to 1-6.

The winners moved out in front in the first quarter behind Howard Heilig's 7 points and controlled the game the rest of the way.

At the end of the first quarter Cass City trailed 13-8 and the margin was doubled as the teams posted an identical 13-8 total in the second period. Cass City's offense was a 2-man affair in the first half, with all but 2 points scored by Steve Tuckey, 6 points, and Chris Herringshaw, 8 points.

A deciding factor in the game was the inability for Hawk guards to generate an offense. The 3 top guards on the squad, Brad Gray, Mark Irner and Al Dadacki, produced only one basket by Irner.

Cass City stayed within reach of the Bearcats through much of the game. Paced by a pair of 3-pointers by Greg LeValley, the Hawks outscored Ubly 14-12 in the third quarter to stay within shouting distance of the Bearcats, 38-30.

There was still a chance for Cass City in the game with 5 minutes left when Nurnberger's charges trailed by 6 points.

But that was as close as the team was to get and, with 2 minutes left, the Bearcats stretched the margin to 10 points. The Hawks then started to foul and the Bearcats converted 11 of 17 attempts from the charity stripe to widen the final victory margin.

The Bearcats won without resorting to the 3-point shot. They tried 5 and made none. Cass City jacked it up from the outside 11 times and made just 2.

Cass City shot 42 percent from the field and a respectable 74 percent from the foul line. Ubly hit 44 percent from the field and a not too gaudy 66 percent of its four shots.

Tuckey played one of his stronger games, with 6 rebounds to go with his 15 points. Herringshaw also snagged 6 boards while scoring 14 points. LeValley came off the bench to net 10.

The Bearcats had 3 players in double figures. Cory Peruski and Heilig scored 16 each and Kurt Dekoski netted 10.

Bulldogs still looking for first hoop triumph

Following last Tuesday's 84-57 loss at Carsonville-Port Sanilac, the Owen-Gage Bulldogs are still looking to record their first win on the season.

The 'Dogs' record stands at 0-6.

First year Coach Brian Wright's cagers shouldn't have to look past Friday's home contest with winless Caseville to notch that maiden victory, where the Bulldogs will be favored in the match-up between the North Central Thumb League's basement dwellers.

Owen-Gage will have to avoid a slow start like they had against CPS, however, if they hope to be successful against the Eagles. Another concern Wright faces is the health of junior forward Chris Anthes, who sat out the CPS game with the flu.

Although Anthes should be ready to assume his starting position, his stamina will remain a question mark until game day.

The 'Dogs came out cold at Carsonville and fell behind 16-9 at the end of one period. Owen-Gage worked their offense for good shots in the early going but missed several attempts from close range.

The second period was a different story for the young Bulldogs, where a tough half court press created several easy baskets for the hosts and extended their lead to 37-21 at the intermission.

CPS put the game out of reach in the 3rd period as they outscored Owen-Gage 24-12 in the quarter to void any comeback hopes by the Bulldogs.

The winners displayed a balanced scoring attack, led by Jeff Beltowski's 17 tallies, to offset a season high 30 points by Bulldog Mike Kady.

Nathan Fritz (13), Todd Kochanski (11), and Troy Erbe (11) also scored in double digits for the winners.

Kady, the only Bulldog to score in double figures, posted 28 of his 30 markers in the final 3 quarters.

RED HAWKS Jodi and Jandi Hillaker block an Eagle spike helping Cass City to their first win on the year.

Whip Lakers 63-9

Coach Don Markel's grapplers had little trouble evening their Thumb B wrestling record to 2-2 with a lopsided 63-9 win at Lakers Wednesday.

After dropping their first 2 league matches to Millington and Marlette, the Hawks have now posted consecutive conference wins over Vassar and Lakers.

Unlike the overmatched Lakers, who fielded only 5 wrestlers in a match that was completed in less than 30 minutes, Cass City expects a tough match this Wednesday with perennial powerhouse Caro at home.

Against the Lakers, Cass City jumped out in front 24-0 before the hosts captured their first points in the 130-lb. weight division, where Dale Miether recorded a third period pin over Dominick Vargo.

Ironically, Vargo has been one of the Hawks' top point producers on the year.

The only other Lakers' points were earned in the 145-lb. division by Josh Santos. Santos recorded a come-from-behind 10-11 decision over Cass City's Shawn Sherman.

Sherman nearly pinned Santos in the opening period and enjoyed a 6-2 lead by the end of the period.

Sherman increased his advantage in the second period to 9-3, before fading late in the final period. Cass City's Delbert Mathewson and Randy Peasley recorded the only pins to pace the winners.

Mathewson's pin came late in the second period, while Peasley recorded a first period pin only one minute and 31 seconds into the match.

Also earning points for Cass City was Ron Woodward, who bested Laker Todd Arnott, 8-3, in the final match of the night.

Shetlers suffer league setback

After a 2-week holiday lay-off, the Cass City JayCees' recreational basketball league swung back into action.

On Monday, in the early game, Shetlers recorded their first loss of the season when they forfeited their contest against the Charmont.

In the late game, Sebewaing downed Cass City No Names 91-79 to move into a first place tie with Shetlers. Sebewaing was led by Tom Williamson and John Meininger, who each posted 22 tallies. Keith Streiter and Greg Eisengruber also posted double figures for the winners, each netting 15 points. Gary Robinson recorded game scoring honors with a 32 point showing to pace the No Names. Joel Palmateer followed Robinson with a 21 point performance.

On Thursday, Sebewaing had little trouble downing Board Chrysler, 89-60, to record their second win of the week.

Again Meininger led the winners with 35 points, while John Schulz topped the losers with 14.

Hawk spikers record first win Monday

The Cass City volleyball team and first year Coach Sherry Burns recorded their first win in 3 tries Monday, when they downed visiting Caseville in straight games.

Unlike a week ago Monday, when the Hawks were defeated by North Branch Wesleyan 10-15, 11-15 and 8-15, Cass City played well as a unit.

Coach Burns' spikers will have to continue their improvement as they now head into the tough Thumb B schedule.

The Hawks will open with Millington Thursday at home.

Against Caseville the Hawks came out of the blocks lethargic before Shelly Mellendorf recorded their first point with an ace serve.

The Hawks trailed 1-4 before Mellendorf ripped off 3 straight service points.

The turning point of the opening game, which the Hawks won 15-10, came as Caseville was making one last run at the hosts.

Leading 13-9, Mellendorf made a diving dig of a Caseville spike while teammate Keri Santos hustled to the back line to keep the point alive.

The play turned the service over to the Hawks, who served out the win.

That series seemed to set the Hawks in motion for the rest of the night as they had little trouble defeating the visitors in the final 2 games, 15-1, and 15-2.

In the second game, the winners jetted out in front 2-1 and then ran off the next 13 points.

Again Mellendorf had a big play.

Up 8-1, Mellendorf brought the crowd alive with a pretty cross court spike. The spike, similar to a thunderous dunk in basketball, appeared to take the wind away from the NCTL guests.

Cass City disposed of the Eagles in similar fashion in the final game, leaping to a 9-1 lead before Burns cleared her bench en route to an easy win.

Singing Cop slated at local church

Lieut. Wilburn Legree, known nationally as Flint's Singing Cop, will present a special service of gospel songs and testimony Sunday morning at the Cass City Missionary Church.

The service will begin at 10 a.m. at the church, located one mile west of Cass City and 1/4 of a mile south at 1449 Koepfgen Rd.

Now retired, Legree was a police officer for 25 years in Flint and was in charge of the Child Safety Division as traffic safety supervisor of 35,000 youngsters in the city's public and parochial schools.

He has since continued to work with young people in a variety of roles, including as a school safety consultant. He continues to present school safety assemblies.

Legree has ministered with gospel music and his testimony for 40 years, beginning as a patrolman with the Flint Police Department.

THUMB NATIONAL BANK President Curtis Strickland hands Rawson Memorial librarian Barb Hutchinson a check in the amount of $1,000. Hutchinson says the donation will go into the library's General Fund.

Group seeks separate playoffs for public, non-public schools

A proposal that calls for separation of public and non-public schools when it comes to sports play-offs will be presented in Cass City next week.

The plan will be aired at a meeting scheduled for Jan. 23 starting at 6:30 p.m. in the Cass City High School speech room. The public is encouraged to attend.

The proposal was drafted by a committee formed last month during a meeting in Bad Axe which drew a number of Thumb school superintendents, athletic directors, coaches, parents and others who feel non-public schools have an unfair advantage over public schools in sports, particularly basketball and football.

Currently, both public and non-public schools compete against each other, and the result has been non-public schools winning a disproportionate number of state championships.

"There's definitely an unfair advantage and we think

Letter to the editor

Dear Mom:
By now I'm in Saudi Arabia

Editor's note: The following is a portion of a letter sent to Cass City resident Laura Hunter by her son, Sgt. Todd M. Hunter, who recently arrived for duty in Saudi Arabia.

Dear Mom, Well, by the time you get this letter I will be in Saudi Arabia. I left Jan. 1. What a way to bring in the new year.

Things have been pretty different lately. Today we were given stuff that you only use in combat and it was a strange feeling. Something that was real strange was when I had to fill out some paper work telling the Army who I wanted to pick up my body bag. I also got to fill out some tags that they put on you when you die. I hope they don't have to use them.

They keep telling us if war breaks out down there that we are the first to go. I know you don't know much about the Army, but going first is not too nice.

I sure hope you will send me some chocolate chip cookies. If you send food, send can foods.

Well, our flight should be real unpleasant because we're flying on a C-141, which are the same planes we jump out of. They're noisy and uncomfortable. The flight is going to last 8 hours so that means if I was going to fly from there to the states it would take 14 hours.

Well I don't have much more to say so bye for now and I'll write again soon.

Love always
Todd

P.S. When I get home I would like a nice big turkey dinner again.

the statistics prove it," Cass City High School counselor and committee member Wayne Dillon recently remarked.

He explained the proposal recommends that there be one play-off for public schools and one play-off for non-public schools. "We'll play them all year, but not in the tournaments," he said.

Dillon noted the committee will present its proposal next week to the full group of interested school officials and residents for finalization.

The next step will be to send out questionnaires to all Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) member schools, he said, adding the mass mailing will describe the proposal and ask school superintendents to return an enclosed post card with their response to the idea.

Thumb area schools will be asked to pool resources via individual and booster club donations to cover the cost of the mailing, estimated at $600 to $700.

The hope, Dillon continued, is that the Thumb area group will be able to generate enough support to put the issue up for a vote. Approval of the measure would require the support of at least 2/3 of Michigan schools.

"We feel that if we can get them (MHSAA) to address the problem, maybe the representative council will come up with a compromise," he said.

To-date, MHSAA officials have been unwilling to consider that non-public schools have an unfair advantage, according to Dillon, who has personally written letters outlining his concerns to MHSAA officials.

"There's got to be a reason they're winning an undue number of championships. We've talked to the MHSAA and they don't want to deal with it. There's a lot of politics involved," he commented, adding, "He (MHSAA President John Roberts) acts like the problem doesn't exist."

Hopefully, Dillon added, the effort by Thumb school officials will allow all MHSAA schools to decide whether a problem exists.

"We're going to run through the hoops and call the question, and if they (member schools) shoot it down, we'll quit" complaining, he concluded.

'90 unemployment rate up by .4%

For the first time since former Governor James Blanchard took office, unemployment rose in Michigan in his last year in office — another sign of slowing economy. The state's unemployment trust fund reserve — already among the lowest of any state — was further eroded in 1990 leaving the system more vulnerable to a deep or lasting recession.

Although showing nominal improvement in December — which officials called somewhat misleading — the unemployment rate for 1990 increased to 7.5 percent from the 7.1 percent the prior year, the Michigan Employment Security Commission reported Friday. It was the first increase in the average annual rate since 1982.

The December rate fell by .4 percentage points to 7.3 percent, or a drop of 15,000 to about 330,000 idled workers, according to the monthly household survey by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. Thomas S. Malek, deputy MESC director, said the survey does not reflect many auto industry layoffs that occurred later in the month but did appear in unemployment claims reports.

The system paid out $107 million in benefits in December, compared to $86 million for the month in 1989 when the unemployment rate was nearly comparable at 7.2 percent.

The unemployment trust fund was drained down to $731.5 million by the end of the year, far below the approximately $2 billion that would be considered prudent to withstand a full-scale recession, Von Logan, deputy MESC director, said. A year earlier, it was about $900 million.

Logan said the trust fund should remain in good shape for 1991, given the MESC's assumptions of a further increase in the annual average jobless rate to 8-8.5 percent. "It would have to get quite a bit worse to get into a negative status at the end of the year. But it doesn't give us much cushion," he said. "People are concerned that we're not able to get the reserve much higher than this."

The economic assumptions mean about $1.2 billion will be paid in benefits, while employers will pay about $1.1 billion into the system this year, Logan said.

About half of the employer payments — $500-$600 million — will be made in April.

Michigan is one of 20 states with reserves lower than the total annual payout in benefits.

Part of the reserve was eaten away in November when the state paid $185 million toward a federal debt dating back to $2.6 billion the system had to borrow when it was completely drained in the recession of the early 1980's.

The state still owes $417.5 million on that interest-free debt, and Michigan employers would be saddled with a penalty tax if the trust fund is unable to make future payments. And, all future loans from the federal system will be interest bearing.

Logan said a $2 billion reserve would be needed to assure that borrowing would not be needed in a major recession.

Nick Khouri, chief economist for the Senate Fiscal Agency, agrees with the National Bureau of Economic Research that the country is now in a recession, but expects it to be a mild one because of the absence of such factors as excessive inventory and high rates of inflation. "It's clear that we are in a recession. The question is how swift will we pull out of the fourth quarter decline, and there is no sign of that yet. Most economists expect a pullout for the economy in the spring," Khouri said.

The SFA expects the unemployment rate to continue to increase in the first quarter of this year before moderating, and then hitting a high of 8.7 percent toward the end of the year.

"The bad news is that the unemployment rate increased for the first time since the recession. The good news is that it was not as large as most analysts expected in 1990," Khouri said.

Khouri said wage and salary employment — which excludes the self-employed and agriculture — is a better indicator of the economy, and that has been "very soft" through 1990. He said actual employment was below levels the prior year, with most of the decline in the auto sector.

The Department of Management and Budget's year-end tabulation showed as of October, wage and salary employment was 10,500 below levels a year earlier, with increases in various sectors more than offset by a loss of 25,000 workers from the state's dominant manufacturing base. It also reported a 3 percent monthly increase in November, to 228,200, in the number of households receiving welfare in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program. The caseload was 6.5 percent higher than a year earlier. General Assistance cases increased 3.6 percent, to 104,487, from October levels.

The unemployment survey reported Friday showed a 50,000 increase in the size of the labor force to 4,549,000 and a 65,000 increase in the number of those employed to 4,219,000 marked the first such gains since June in the Michigan workforce. But for the year, the labor force declined by 14,000 to an average of 4,578,000 and employment dropped by 34,000 to 4,233,000.

Michigan dropped to second place among the largest 11 states surveyed for jobless rates, behind Massachusetts at 7.4 percent. Texas was third at 7.2 percent and California fourth at 7.1 percent. The lowest rate was in North Carolina at 5.4 percent.

The national civilian unemployment rate increased to 6.1 percent, from 5.9 percent in November.

The December surveys are taken one week earlier in the first week of the month because of the Christmas holiday. Last year, the December unemployment rate was 7.2 percent.

HEALTH TIPS

Medication misuse a serious problem

They're not using illegal drugs nor are they abusing alcohol. But many Americans have another drug problem, one that can be just as serious as narcotic or alcohol abuse.

America's other serious drug problem is the uninformed, incorrect use of prescription medicines.

Taken correctly, prescription medicines save lives, prevent disabilities, and help people live healthier, more productive lives. But last year, Americans took nearly half of their 1.63 billion prescription medicines incorrectly.

Why? According to NARD, the national association representing the nation's independent retail pharmacists, prescription misuse often happens because people don't know exactly how to take their prescriptions correctly. They may also not understand why it's important to get complete information about their prescription and to follow its instructions carefully.

CONSEQUENCES OF MISUSE

The consequences of medication misuse are substantial:

—About 39 percent of adverse drug reactions requiring hospital care are caused by improper medicine use.

—Using medicines incorrectly can cause avoidable side effects that can be a minor annoyance (a rash or a stomach ache) or life-threatening (irregular heart beat, loss of consciousness).

—When people don't use medicines correctly, they don't solve their health problems. For example, an infection may linger or come back, or avoidable long-term problems may develop unless regular doses of "preventive" medicines are taken correctly.

—Every day, incorrect medicine use causes serious problems, such as strokes, blindness, seizures and even death.

How can you avoid America's other drug problem? The key to proper medicine use is talking — communication with your doctor and your pharmacist.

Tell your doctor and your pharmacist about all of the medications that you are taking. Request full instructions on using the medicine. Ask questions until you are sure you understand.

Don't be afraid that you are bothering them with your questions. Surveys show that independent pharmacists spend 2 hours each day counseling patients. They are drug experts with specialized pharmaceutical training that equips them well to answer your questions.

FIVE EASY QUESTIONS

The National Council on Patient Information and Education suggests asking these 5 questions every time you get a prescription medicine:

1. What is the name of the medicine and what is it supposed to do?
2. How much of the medicine should I take, when should I take it, and for how long?
3. What foods, beverages, other medicines or activities should I avoid while taking it?
4. What are the possible side effects, and what should I do if they occur?
5. What written material is available about the medicine?

With answers to these questions, you'll have the knowledge that you need to take your medicine correctly.

Police report few traffic accidents

Cass City police reported no injuries and only minor damage in a pair of weekend traffic accidents in the village.

A Gagetown area resident was arrested Saturday evening after his vehicle collided with another vehicle near the intersection of Garfield Avenue and Sherman Street.

According to police, Patrick D. Kubiak, 6622 Gage St., Gagetown, was southbound on Sherman Street at 7 p.m. when he failed to yield the right of way to an eastbound vehicle driven by Troy M. Osentoski, 4321 Argyle Rd., Snover.

Police arrested Kubiak on suspicion of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, and driving with a restricted or suspended license.

Also reported was a 2-vehicle accident the day before near the intersection of Fourth and Vulcan streets.

Reports state Russel F. Rienas, 1935 Englehart Rd., Deford, was backing westbound from a driveway at 6371 Fourth St. at 7:02 p.m. when he struck a parked vehicle owned by Susan and Steven Wynn, 4413 West St., Cass City.

'Most improved' students named

Cass City Intermediate School officials recently named the school's "most improved" students for the month of December.

They are fifth graders Tim Micklash, Tim Sherman, Emily Hopper, Kristy Hicks and Cara Graichen, and sixth graders Gia Mellendorf, Jessica Frederick, Brent Ruggles and Brad Speirs.

AREA RESIDENTS WOKE up to a truly picturesque winter wonderland Sunday morning after Mother Nature left a light coat of frosting on everything from trees to telephone wires.

Gary Suzor earns associate's degree

A total of 476 students, including one from Cass City, completed requirements for certificates, associate's, bachelor's and doctoral degrees at Ferris State University, Big Rapids, during the fall quarter.

Among the graduates is Gary L. Suzor II, 22, Cass City, who earned an associate of applied science degree in audiovisual production.

Suzor is continuing his studies at Ferris with plans to earn a bachelor's degree.

A 1987 Cass City High School graduate, he is the son of Gary and Geri Suzor, 6656 Third St., Cass City.

Baptist WMF airs meeting

President Jean Fisher presided when the Baptist Women's Missionary Fellowship met Monday evening, Jan. 7. Twenty-two ladies were present and opened the meeting by singing "Showers of Blessings."

Isabelle Whittenburg was in charge of prayer time and Carol LaPonsie presented devotions.

Ruth Fisher and Mrs. Whittenburg served refreshments.

GTE customers to receive new telephone book

GTE customers in Cassville, Cass City, Elkton and Kingston will soon receive copies of "The Everything Pages," GTE's newly designed telephone book.

Customers will find several format changes and added features inside the new books, according to Joseph Philabaum, GTE eastern division manager.

The new directory includes a yellow page index which provides the page number for product and service listings in the yellow pages. It also contains randomly placed "notes" areas to record information and there are anti-substance abuse messages featured within the yellow pages which include a toll-free number for the National Institute on Drug Abuse Helpline.

The standard information found within any GTE directory has been retained in "The Everything Pages." This includes emergency numbers, area codes, zip codes and government listings (city and state).

Swine workshop slated

Management workshops for swine producers will take place in 7 Michigan locations during February.

The program will focus on developing and managing a swine genetic program, new methods to introduce new seed stock into a closed herd, and ways to use performance and carcass data to make genetic changes in the herd.

Program speakers will be Andy Thulin, swine specialist in the Michigan State University Department of Animal Science; Dale Brown, Branch County Extension agricultural agent, and Brad Thacker, MSU associate professor of large animal clinical sciences.

The program will be the same at all locations. It will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

In the Thumb, the meeting will be Feb. 12 at the Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Service county conference room, Sandusky. To register, contact Beth Doran, Sanilac County Extension livestock agent, at 313-648-2515.

SUPER FLOW PREMIUM FUEL OIL

FEATURING:
This custom balanced formulation contains special moisture dispersing agents which constantly work toward prevention of moisture accumulation from condensation.

- Four Point Reduction • 20-30 F.
- Moisture Dispersant • Ashless
- Lowest Conradson Carbon Residue

By using Super Flow Fuel Oil in your home, you will notice during the sub-zero temperatures your fuel oil will burn more efficiently. Super Flow Fuel Oil is a refined #2 fuel oil to help reduce normal winter problems associated with cold temperatures.

Community rallies around our troops

To Our Beloved Troops

CASS CITY SUPPORT GROUP members Beryl Bliss and Kris Gamet accept a jar filled with donations from Gilligans owner Tom Meisner. The money ($82), along with the signed banner, will be sent to troops in Operation Desert Shield.

JEFF HOCKEY, Ben Franklin co-op student, hangs a yellow bow in the store's Main Street tree. Cass City's downtown merchants are decorating their trees in a salute to the soldiers in the Middle East.

Area survey

Reluctant support for Middle East policy

of person who isn't going to come around. He doesn't care if somebody comes in and kills his (followers). . . they think dying for Islam is the greatest honor a guy can attain," he continued, adding Hussein "doesn't think he's got anything to lose."
Government leaders aside, the area resident suggested that what is happening in the Persian Gulf may well be the fulfillment of prophecy described in the Bible.
"I wouldn't be surprised if Revelations 17 and 18 were a blueprint for what's going on over there," he concluded.

CASIMIR BARTNIK

The president has the unqualified support of Casimir Bartnik, 68, Cass City, another veteran of World War II. Bartnik is a 6-year service veteran, including 3 years of combat in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany.

He's just like Hitler, maybe worse, Bartnik asserts, and he must be stopped. We should do whatever it takes to get him out of there.

It's just like in this country, he continued. If you don't have an effective police force, you have criminals taking over.

DAVID SKILES

Another area resident Dave Skiles, 38, indicated he has mixed feelings about the Middle East crisis.

"I think it's a mistake to let someone who is an oppressor like him (Hussein) just do what he wants," he said. "We are our brother's keeper."

On the other hand, he continued, "My first choice would not have been to set a date (for Iraq to withdraw from Kuwait) without giving the sanctions some more time."

"But being a deadline has been set. . . I think we have a responsibility to be there.

I'm not an advocate of war. On the other hand, if we don't do something now, we'll lose our credibility."
Skiles added, "It seems to me that he's (Hussein) just digging in harder and harder."
Skiles, who is director of purchasing at Clements Manufacturing, Decker-ville, resides in the Deford area with his wife, Tammy. The couple have 7 children.

RICHARD HANEY

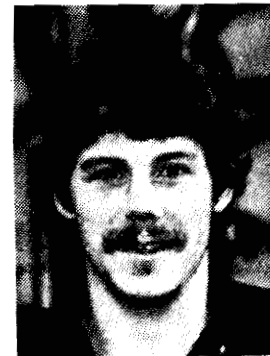

Richard Haney, 62, takes a more cautious position. He says that sanctions may be all right, but not war. The oil isn't worth it, he feels.

Haney is a veteran of the Korean War, served 2 years in Berlin, Germany.

It really looks bad, he says. We have got ourselves in a bad situation over there. At the very least we should give sanctions a chance to work before we send our troops in to fight.

MIKE HORNE

Another Cass City native, 23-year-old Mike Horne, agrees with Martin about the possibility of retaliations from the Iraqis through acts of terrorism, and condones the United States' position in the Middle East.

He says, "I would have attacked yesterday. With the number of troops we have over there, I don't think it would be much of a war."
Horne also added, "I think it is important to get Saddam. If we eliminate him the others will follow."
Is the United States bluffing about Tuesday's deadline for Hussein to pull his troops out of Kuwait?
"Midnight we'll go in," senses Horne, who is single.

JEFF PARSELL

Jeff Parsell, who resides in the Cass City area with his wife, Darlene, and 2 daughters, ages 9 and 11, also offered a mixed bag of feelings.

"I guess I've got mixed emotions. We're a big nation and we ought to be protecting smaller (nations)," he said. However, he wondered aloud, "Do we really need the petroleum that badly?"

Parsell, a self-employed construction supervisor, indicated he believes it would be a mistake not to follow through with demands that Iraq withdraw from Kuwait.

"I can't see how we can back up. If we back up, he's won," he said, noting it doesn't appear economic sanctions have done much to change Hussein's position. "How much time should it take? You can wait him out, but enough's enough."

Parsell, 34, said he's confident in the capability of the U.S. military, but share a concern held by many: are they ready; can they do it? "It's just a scary situation," he concluded. "We're going to have to ride it out."
