Alcohol involved

Caro man dies in crash

A one-vehicle crash that claimed the life of a 26-year-old Caro man early Sunday morning remains under investigation by Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies.

The accident occurred near the intersection of Fairgrove and Ringle roads in Fairgrove Township. Deputies said the victim, Jose E. Cavazos, 732

Westchester Dr., was eastbound on Fairgrove Road at about 1:30 a.m. when his vehicle went off the north shoulder. The vehicle then traveled some 319 feet before re-entering and crossing the roadway, going into a ditch on the south side of the road and flipping over onto its top.

Cavazos, who was not wearing a seat belt, was pinned under his vehicle, according to deputies, who stated the victim was freed with the assistance of the Fairgrove Fire Department's Jaws of Life. Also assisting were the Fairgrove Ambulance Service, Mercy Paramedic Unit and Caro police.

Deputies, who are continuing their investigation, stated alcohol was involved in the accident.

Deputies also reported a pair of minor mishaps involving area residents. No injuries and only minor damage were reported in a one-vehicle accident Thursday in Kingston Township.

Reports state Cole J. Hartsell, Deford, was eastbound on Deckerville Road east of Englehart Road when he bumped into a car in front of him and then entered a ditch.

Petroglyph park to remain open

The Sanilac Petroglyphs in Greenleaf Township will open for the 1991 tourist season after all.

In making the announcement Thursday, state lawmakers Sen. Dan DeGrow (R-Port Huron) and Rep. Keith Muxlow (R-Brown City) said they have met with Department of State officials and resolved budgetary problems which threatened the opening of the historical site.

In addition, they noted, officials have approved the hiring of someone to staff the site during open hours.

"The Sanilac County Petroglyphs are an important resource, both to the State of Michigan and the local communities that surround them," Muxlow said. "We have reached an agreement that will assure the preservation and protection of the Petroglyphs while, at the same time, making them available to tourists who are visiting our area."

both Boyd agreed.

The hiring also means someone will be at the site during all open hours to interpret the petroglyphs, Boyd pointed out, adding she believes establishing standardized hours will make the petroglyphs easier to promote.

Boyd estimated some $2,700 in funding will be made available for the upcoming season. That amount is more than twice what has been allocated in each of the past 3 or 4 years.

In the past, the monies were used to compensate Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Spencer, who for many years have served as the site's primary caretakers and resident interpreters of the petroglyphs.

The recently-approved funding plan ensures only that the petroglyphs will be open for the coming season. But Boyd suggested the action is a first step towards doing something long-term at the site.

DeGrow agreed, commenting, "The Department of State has done a wonderful job of managing the Sanilac County Petroglyphs on a shoestring. Now that we have reached a temporary solution on how to make the site available to the public for the year, we must start finding some long-term solutions that will help us avoid this kind of crisis in the future."

The petroglyphs are a prehistoric group of irreplaceable rock carvings located on the west side of Germania Road, a half-mile south of Bay City-Forestville Road.

The area historical site, which annually draws an average of some 3,500 visitors during the summer months, was discovered in the late 1800s after the great forest fires of that period burned away the soil and humus covering the petroglyphs.

The site was purchased by the Michigan Archaeological Society in 1966 and donated to the state in 1972. Six years later, a shelter was constructed to protect the site from wear due to weather.

In the past, visitors gained access to the petroglyphs by picking up a gate key from the Spencers or, in their absence, from Ralph and Jean Hoxie, who also live near the site.

According to Muxlow, funds will be made available to the Department of State's Bureau of History, which is responsible for the site.

Plans call for the Petroglyphs to be open to the public from 1 to 5 p.m. Thursday through Sunday from Memorial Day weekend through Labor Day.

However, Muxlow added there are still a few hurdles which must be passed before the petroglyphs can open.

James Schultz, field site coordinator for the Bureau of History, said the Department of State must hire a staff person to be on site during the hours it is open to the public. Requests have been sent and proposals are due back by the end of April.

"The Department of State will begin working with the Department of Natural Resources to prepare the site for Memorial Day weekend opening," he said. "We have every reason to believe that we will find the right persons to staff the site by the time we're ready to open."

The hiring of a staff person to be on hand during open hours is essential, Schultz continued, noting, allowing the public to visit the site unattended has led to people walking on the petroglyphs, and doing minor acts of vandalism that have jeopardized them.

"The key change is no longer will the petroglyphs be unattended," Department of State spokesman Eliza-

Alley cat saves aristocratic pups

For Mokey the cat, it was puppy love at first sight.

That's how Don and Bridget Miller, Cass City, describe their calico's reaction to 3 newborn Shih Tzu puppies, whose mother had a difficult time delivering Friday afternoon and then was unable to nurse her litter.

"She (Mokey) took one look at them, gave them a lick and started to take care of them," Bridget remarked, adding, "She picks them up if they get far from where they're supposed to be." She joked at the irony of the arrangement—Shih Tzu puppies, typically sold for $400 each, being nursed and mothered by an alley cat.

"We've had Mokey for 4 years. We got her up north, literally on the side of the road, and she's been the best cat we ever had," Bridget commented.

She noted the whole ordeal began Friday, when both Mokey and Missy, one of the couple's Shih Tzu dogs, gave birth.

Mokey easily delivered 2 kittens, but Missy had a difficult time, Bridget explained, adding she and her husband ended up taking the dog to a veterinarian for a Caesarean section. One puppy died at birth, and the Millers brought the remaining 4 puppies home Friday night.

Bridget pointed out it was her stepmother's idea to see if Mokey would accept the puppies.

A second puppy died Sunday night, but it appears the other 3 are out of the woods, thanks to Mokey.

"They say if you can get them (puppies) past 3 days, you're home free," Bridget remarked.

Home fire loss set at $8,000

Investigators this week continued their investigation into the cause of a blaze that resulted in several thousand dollars in damage to an area residence Thursday night.

The fire was reported at 10:40 p.m. and involved a house about 4 miles south of the intersection of M-81 and M-53.

A bedroom in the front northwest corner of the vacant structure, located at 4681 VanDyke Rd., was fully engulfed in flames when Elkland Township firemen arrived, Fire Chief Dick Root said.

"It was confined pretty much to the one room," he commented, adding that although fire fighters were able to keep the flames from spreading, the room was gutted and the entire house sustained extensive smoke damage.

Total damage is estimated at some $8,000 by the fire chief, who said the structure is insured.

The house is owned by Sarah Shults, Westland, Mich., who recently moved from the residence, Root said.

He noted the Kingston Fire Department assisted at the scene with a tanker and manpower. Also responding was the Lamotte Township Fire Department.

Engaged

Red Cross needs continued support

Katherine Nye
James Schenk

Kenneth Nye and Donna Nye, both of Cass City, announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Nye, to James Schenk, son of Clare and Helen Schenk of Vassar.

Plans are made for a June 15 wedding.

Although the war in the Persian Gulf has ended, help from people in Tuscola County is still needed in meeting the needs of U.S. military personnel, their families, refugees, people made homeless by the conflict, prisoners of war and others, according to American Red Cross officials.

The Red Cross urges continued support of its $30 million Gulf Crisis Fund Campaign, said Pat Fox of the Tuscola Co. American Red Cross. In addition, she said, the organization needs volunteers to meet continuing needs.

"Hundreds of thousands of our servicemen and women will have to remain in the Gulf at least into the summer months. Both they and their families at home continue to need services from the Red Cross, and the Red Cross must have financial and other kinds of support if it is to provide those services," she said.

Since the Gulf Crisis began last August, the Red Cross has relayed thousands of emergency messages about births, deaths, serious illnesses and major family problems.

The Tuscola County American Red Cross Chapter and the 2,400 other chapters continue to provide other vital services to families of U.S. military personnel.

Residents who wish to support Red Cross should send their donations of any amount to: Tuscola County American Red Cross, c/o 124 E. Main, Mayville, Mich. 48744.

Persons interested in volunteering with Red Cross are asked to call 843-6629.

Meg's Peg
Perchance to dream
by Melva E. Guinther

Dreams are fascinating, whether they have any dramatic significance or not.

Don't you sometimes wonder what dreams really are and what causes them? Are they omens? Are they symptoms of subconscious desires, or the result of dietary indiscretions? Are they snatches of memory tapes being rewound in the brain? A lot of theories have been suggested.

Freud proposed that dreams are "The imaginary gratification of unconscious wishes." Elbert Hubbard called them "A private theater where indigestion is the prompter." Shakespeare referred to dreams as "Nothing but vain fantasy, which is as thin of substance as the air and more inconstant than the wind."

My grandmother was quite superstitious about dreams. She'd say, "Dream of the dead, hear of the living", meaning that a dream about someone who had died supposedly presaged bad news about someone who hadn't.

Who really knows why we dream what we dream, or how in the world the characters are determined?

Forget "Scud Stud" Arthur Kent. The man of my dreams is NBC news anchor Tom Brokaw. I've dreamed about him twice in recent memory.

In one I was showing him the Cass River on horseback. The second time, he was washing dishes in our kitchen. It's hard for me to believe either of those dreams were gratifications of unconscious wishes. I might have had chili or nachos for dinner those nights. I can't remember.

Recurring dreams are especially intriguing. You can't help wondering if some deep seated anxiety or emotional scars from childhood are responsible for them.

Just about everyone I know has suffered with some sort of nightmare about school. Often it involves facing a test in a class that you haven't been attending, and you don't have the foggiest idea what you're expected to know. Sometimes you don't remember where the class meets or where your locker is.

Those are anxiety or frustration type dreams. The really scary ones are the nightmares that find you in imminent danger but unable to move or scream for help.

In my younger years I had a recurring nightmare in which I was hanging by my fingernails from the Cass River bridge a mile north of my parents' home. When I screamed for help, my mother always said, "Just wait till I get my shoes on."

Then I'd lose my grip...and wake up, shaking.

The instructor in a creative writing class encouraged us to write down our dreams, and it was a fascinating exercise. If you don't replay them, you usually forget them.

The same teacher told of a tribe in some remote corner of the world who made a point of relating their dreams to one another. Interestingly, the tribe had no mental illness.

It makes a good case for that old song, "You tell me your dream and I'll tell you mine."

Two new classes offered at Jordan

Two new seminar courses will be offered during the summer semester at Jordan College starting May 29.

Both will be taught by area attorneys, Michelle Biddinger and Darryl Parsell.

"Wills and Estate Planning" will discuss planning for the disposition of assets upon death through wills and trusts and planning for disability through use of durable powers of attorney, guardianships and conservatorships.

Tax consideration in estate planning will be outlined.

Other topics include adoption, child abuse and neglect, grandparent visitation rights, annulments, separate maintenance and other issues.

"Wills and Estate Planning" will discuss planning for the disposition of assets upon death through wills and trusts and planning for disability through use of durable powers of attorney, guardianships and conservatorships.

Tax consideration in estate planning will be outlined.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Constantly crossing my desk are releases from the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association and the medical profession. The lawyers point out how much doctors are making. One release said that they have a gross median income in Michigan of $276,790 with an average take-home pay of $137,000.

The lawyers also like to talk about how they protect the poor with malpractice suits. The Michigan State Medical Society is seeking legislation that would limit the amounts that can be received.

Neither group addresses the very real problem, how can adequate health care for everyone be achieved with a reasonable cost? Medical costs continue to go up faster than the rate of inflation, sparked in part, but not entirely, by new, very expensive techniques that save more lives.

The Gavel Club is sponsoring a track meet Saturday, April 27, to show off the new track at Cass City Recreational Park. Some 33 years ago the club was also sponsoring a track meet to help pay for the new track that at the time was the best in the Thumb.

At that time the Gavel Club meet was one of the outstanding events of the track season. Teams from all over mid-Michigan attended.

It's unlikely that the club will be able to duplicate this success. In the late 1950's Cass City's track was far out in front of any other. The new track is state-of-the-art, but there are excellent facilities now at most schools in the Thumb.

Speaking of track, 2 Cass Cityans were to compete in the Boston Marathon Monday. The pair are Craig Guernsey, who qualified with a time of 2 hours and 52 minutes, and Jim Robinson, qualifying with a time of 3 hours and 17 minutes.

Here's an update on the campaign by schools to make private and public schools compete in separate Michigan High School Athletic Association tournaments.

Of the 1,200 survey forms sent out, nearly 700 have been returned and they are running about 60-40 in favor of the change, Wayne Dillon reports. Many of the survey forms returned that were against separate tournaments said that something should be done to equalize the competition.

The question has been accepted for discussion at the May 5 meeting of the MHSAA board at Gaylord.

What has posed a problem is that nearly all of the domination of tournaments by private schools has been by a handful of teams.

What's wrong with automatically shoving the private schools up a class for 5 or 10 years after they win?

That would open up the ranks for both the private and public schools in the lower classes that have trouble competing.

For reading efforts

Students collect awards

Campbell Elementary School Principal Dave Lovejoy and custodian Tim Jewett recently found themselves up to their elbows in cookie frosting and "sprinkles" as students in 15 classrooms collected their Reading Magic awards.

For "March's Reading

Magic," students in grades K-4 were asked to complete a "recipe card" listing the "ingredients" of a good book of their choice.

All participants received cookie awards, but those classes with 100 percent participation also were treated to a visit from Lovejoy and Jewett, who served as special cookie party "hosts."

Reading Magic coordinators Cathy Cooper and Donna Emerson reported students thoroughly enjoyed being "served" by their principal and custodian.

Reading Magic is a home-school program initiated this year to encourage a variety of reading skills. Almost all Campbell Elementary students have taken part in at least one monthly Reading Magic project.

Lake Huron Chorus named 'most improved'

The Lake Huron Chorus of Sweet Adelines Inc. recently returned from the Border Lakes Region II annual competition with the "Most Improved Chorus" award.

The 21-member chorus, under the direction of Marian Rathje, gave its best performance to-date, raising its score 40 points from last year.

A panel of 4 international judges evaluated each of the 14 participating choruses, consisting of a combined 600 women, in music, sound, expression and showmanship.

Border Lakes Region II is made of choruses from northern and eastern Michigan and western Ontario, and is the third largest among 26 regions nationwide.

The Lake Huron Chorus, which is composed of members from throughout the Thumb, including Cass City, Gageton and Owendale, will be performing around the area this summer.

Area ladies interested in learning 4-part harmony are encouraged to attend the chorus' regular rehearsals, held each Monday at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Huron Medical Care Facility in Bad Axe.

The Haire Net

When this column started, the intent was to tell how disappointing it was to be an alumnus of Michigan State University these days.

Like most of you with any interest at all in collegiate sports or the college scene in general, I've read the stories that place MSU sports in a bad light. There have been serious allegations about participants in 3 sports at the school.

What the devil is going on, I asked myself? A former football player is accused of drug abuse. Parish Hickman, 21, a basketball player, is arrested and jailed on a drug charge and the wrestling coach, Phillip Parker, 40, is accused of rape by a 20-year-old woman. In addition, a guard on the team, who played sparingly as a Freshman and was ticked for heavy duty this fall, announces that he will transfer.

There have been other incidents in previous years of brushes with the law of star players. You think immediately of Scott Skiles, the all-American guard, and the placing of the school on probation for recruiting violations.

My opinion of the program at State was at an all-time low and I was ready to say that MSU President John DiBiaggio was right, the athletic director had no business being the coach, too. I've changed my opinion. Looking through the paper to find out how to spell the names in this column, I read in more detail the story about the Hickman mess.

In it I learned that the Michigan State basketball team, of which Hickman was a member, also includes Mark Montgomery, Matt Steigenga and Mike Pelpowski. So? So each of them is a member of the All Big Ten Academic Team.

The only incident that current athletic director

George Perles has any connection with is the football player. It's unreasonable to hold his feet to the fire for the action of one player from among 100 or more.

Again judging by what I read, Perles has proved to be an effective athletic director and has the support of the coaches, especially those of the non-revenue producing sports for which he has thrown his support.

You can agree with DiBiaggio that the 2 jobs should be separate. You can agree that the president should exercise more control over the athletic department than has been traditional. You can even make a case for dumping big-time athletics.

Certainly all the negatives coming through about the program leave a sour taste. But it isn't fair to blame Perles for something already in place when he took over.

When you have 3 members of the starting 5 on the all-academic team, acknowledge that there are some positives that need to be considered, too.

Certainly no MSU fan can be happy about what has occurred, but they can take heart in knowing that things are not quite as bad as the casual observer thinks they are.

"If It Fitz...."

Striking out

By Jim Fitzgerald

There are a few things you should know....

It has been extensively noted that this season the Detroit Tigers have a great preponderance of batters who strike out as regularly as they put on their pants one leg at a time and give 110 percent per game. Thanks to such free-swinging sluggers as Cecil Fielder, Rob Deer and Pete Incaviglia, the 1991 Tigers are expected to set an all-time record for team whiffing. But this is nothing for local fans to worry about. In fact, it's a good thing.

As several Tigers employees and close observers have pointed out, each time a batter doesn't hit the ball is one more time he doesn't hit into a double play!

Striking out keeps the game simple

And that's not all. When Deer strikes out, he also doesn't hit into a triple play. He doesn't fall down and break his leg running toward first base. He doesn't give opponents a chance to gain valuable experience and exercise fielding a batted ball. He doesn't make scuff marks in the infield, with the ball or his feet, that might wear out the grounds-keeping crew (This is a home-field advantage only. For away games, after striking out, Deer should walk back to the dugout via the pitcher's mound and third base, dragging his feet).

When Fielder strikes out, he doesn't hit a long fly ball that can be chased valiantly by a 110 percent outfielder, prompting a TV sportscaster to say what Al Ackerman said several years ago: "When (Steve) Kemp ran, his hat flew out from under him."

Which reminds me that it's probably a good idea for TV anchors to leave sports reporting to sportscasters.

After the Tigers won this season's opener, Channel 4 anchorwoman Ruth Spencer said Detroit beat New York "4 to 6." That's a woefully weak malapropism, certainly not in the same big league as one that prompted listeners to ask if Kemp flew out from under his shoes, or wore his hat on his feet.

With Tigers, it's a game of hope

Anyway, these insights into the value of striking out remind me of some past poor seasons when, for the Tigers, victory usually seemed impossible. Play-by-play TV announcer George Kell would encourage viewers by saying Detroit had the tying run on third base. As the Tigers fell further and further behind, ever-optimistic Kell would move the tying run back to first base, then the batter's box, then the waiting batter's circle, then the dugout.

Naturally, I couldn't help writing a baseball column in which the tying run was on I-75, in a bus, coming to Detroit from the Tigers' farm club in Toledo.

Obviously, the moral of today's baseball column is that when you see a spitting player with one cheek bulged, you should always remember that his mouth is half empty of chewing tobacco.

That competitive spirit: Sit on it

Another thing I couldn't help doing was nod my head as I read about Dave Lawrence in USA Today last Tuesday. Lawrence, former Free Press publisher now running the Miami Herald, was quoted on jogging: "I like to run by myself. When I run with someone else, it becomes too competitive. I can't help myself."

I know exactly how Lawrence feels. When I'm sitting, and see someone else sitting, I always want to sit longest.

One more thing I can't help thinking is that if my dear Catholic mother were still alive, she wouldn't wait to see if any of those 3 Kennedy family members were guilty of rape. She'd have them all shot for hanging around a saloon until closing time on Good Friday.

This is purely personal, but some readers might feel a connection. On M-24 (Main Street), soon after it crosses the main intersection in Lapeer, there is a home with a Christmas tree still on the porch roof maybe 4 months after Christmas. Many passing motorists see it and wonder who lives there. The answer is Pearl Coward, one of Lapeer's most esteemed, colorful citizens, and also one of my good news sources. On Saturday, Mrs. Coward celebrated the 90th anniversary of her birth. Happy birthday, dear lady.

Worth gets 90 days probation

A Vassar man found innocent of negligent homicide last month was sentenced for convictions on 2 lesser charges Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Valley R. Worth, 24, was sentenced to 90 days probation for operating a motor vehicle without a proper license plate, and unlawful use of a license plate.

He also was ordered to pay a $30 per month oversight fee and a total of $625 in fines and court costs, according to records, which state Worth has 30 days to pay or serve 30 days in jail.

A jury found Worth innocent of negligent homicide, but guilty of the other 2 charges March 13.

All 3 counts stem from a fatal 2-vehicle collision April 30, 1988, in Vassar Township. Worth had been charged with failing to yield the right of way and hitting a vehicle driven by Carl Whaley, who was killed in the crash.

Caro man charged with resisting police

A Caro man was recently arraigned in Tuscola County District Court on charges of resisting and obstructing a police officer and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Bond was set at $2,000 for the defendant, Gregory A. Welch, 32, whose preliminary examination was to have been held today (Wednesday).

Court records state the charges are in connection with an April 6 incident in Indianfields Township in which Welch allegedly resisted a Caro police officer while the officer was in the process of making an arrest.

Also arraigned recently was Norine F. Nelson, 55, Vassar, who faces a charge of first degree retail fraud.

Nelson's bond was set at $5,000. She also was to have undergone a preliminary exam today.

According to court records, Nelson is accused of stealing property, offered for sale at a price of more than $100, from a Caro area store April 7.

On the farm
By Dennis Stein
Tuscola County Cooperative
Extension Director

Soil testing may cut waste; increase profits

Today everyone is getting on the environmental bandwagon.

The environmental concern has an impact on urban and rural residents alike because we all live on the land and depend on the water and resources.

On the farm, the process of soil testing and application of fertilizers based on those soil tests help to prevent any excess nutrient loading of surface or ground water. Few farms can afford to be wasteful with fertilizer and remain profitable.

Now is a good time of year to take your soil tests prior to planting. This season many farms in the Saginaw Valley will be taking nitrate soil tests to help reduce the amount of nitrogen use. These nitrate soil samples are taken from the top 10 to 12 inches of soil, very much the same way a regular soil test is taken.

The sample indicates that the soil has carryover or organic nitrogen that is available to this year's crop. If your soil has nitrogen available, then you should be able to lower your overall nitrogen applications and increase profits.

Many home owners also take soil tests of their lawn and garden areas to be sure that they are making environmentally sound fertilizer applications.

For more information about the cost and value of a soil test, contact any Cooperative Extension Service office listed under County Government in the phone book.

To have a soil test performed you need to collect about a quart of soil and bring the sample to your extension office to be processed.

Speed a weapon for O-G girls

Owen-Gage Coach Judy Campbell, entering her 16th year at the helm, is hoping to steal the NCTL softball crown from perennial favorites Deckerville and Peck. Speed being her squad's best weapon, Campbell has given her players the green light when running the base paths.

"We'll be trying to stretch singles into doubles and doubles into triples," says Campbell, adding, "You can expect us to swipe a base at any time."

Unfortunately for Owen-Gage, you can't steal first base and weak bats may prove a problem for Campbell's squad that hovered around the .500 mark last season.

Again this year Vicki

Ricker, a 4-year starter, will be the heart of the team. She was a first team All-Conference catcher as a junior, but could have been selected at nearly any position.

Says Campbell of her senior's versatility, "Ricker is excellent at any place, she's always tough."

Ricker can look for plenty of support from teammates Lori Radabaugh and Jill Ferguson. Both are back to hold down the infield, while third year starter Aimee Merchant is a tested outfielder with a golden glove.

Merchant may also see some duty in the infield, according to Campbell.

The biggest question for Campbell is the progress of sophomore hurler Michelle Tkacz, who anchored the pitching duties as a freshman.

"Tkacz should be tougher this year," commented Campbell.

A surprise for the Bulldog team in spring practices has been the pitching of sophomore Carli Salcido. Salcido could prove valuable for the Bulldog campaign if she could help rest Tkacz, whose petite frame would tire as a freshman during twin bills.

Graduation losses are light for the 'Dogs this year. However, they did lose 3 quality players in Brandy Salcido, Stacy Enderle and Marla Goslin. The long ball of Salcido will be hard to replace.

Another letter winner that will surely see plenty of action is Marilyn Abfalter. Abfalter, a senior, will be looked on to help steady a slew of underclassmen that won letters as freshmen, including Lori Ondrajka, Tanya Muntz, Janet Abfalter, Jill Susalla and Debbie Powers, who will all vie for playing time.

The Bulldogs are scheduled to open the season Thursday in an non-conference tilt at North Branch.

Break-in reported at Kingston bar

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department is continuing its investigation into the recent break-in of a Kingston area business.

According to reports, Amirgo M. Ruggero, owner of the Kingswood Inn, 3535 Phillips Rd., told deputies April 8 he discovered someone had broken into his business, causing damage and stealing change, beer and liquor.

The person or persons responsible gained entry by smashing the storm window in a south side entry door and then prying the door open, deputies said, noting the thieves also cut all the phone lines.

Ruggero estimated at least 10 cases of beer and several bottles of liquor, valued at a total of more than $370, were taken. Another $150 in change was found missing. Damage to the business is estimated at $235 to $310.

Diabetes group slates meet

The Lower Thumb Chapter of the American Diabetic Association will meet April 17 at 1 p.m. in the Marlette Hospital Conference Room.

Dr. David G. Murphy, DDS, will speak on the use of a laser in dental treatment. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Graduation losses hurt baseball team

Bulldog Coach Harvey Billy gave 3 reasons why his Owen-Gage baseball team will have a hard time matching last year's mark of 12-5 and a 2nd place finish in the North Central Thumb League.

They are: Bryan Abbe, Kevin Koch and Chad Stirrett.

Those 3 top the list of graduation losses sure to take a toll on the Bulldogs' 1991 campaign.

Abbe was the team's leading hitter, while Koch and Stirrett handled the Bulldogs' pitching chores. Koch, the squad's ace, was a member of the NCTL's all-conference team and posted an impressive 10-1 record.

"All 3 were 4-year starters," says Billy, who also faces a number dilemma.

"I've got 14 players out for the team this year and right now 4 are ineligible," Billy said Monday. The third year mentor will look to 3 seasoned seniors—Scott Norcross, Mike Kady, and Jason Torres — to anchor the squad.

Kady will move from third base to help out on the pitching mound, while Norcross will replace Abbe behind the plate. Torres will captain the infield from his short stop position.

Billy will also count heavily on the talents of Bob Haldane and Chris Anthes. Haldane, like Kady, is untested on the rubber but will be called on to give the Bulldogs help in that area. Anthes will hold down the first base line.

Billy is also impressed with the progress of letter winners Bryan Koch, Brent Fritz, and Greg Smith from last year and looks for them to help provide some offensive punch at the plate.

Slow start for Red Hawk softball team

The Cass City High School softball team was off to a slow start, losing 2 of 3 games played.

Coach Dave Hoard used the non-conference games to sort out his mound talent for the Thumb B Association race ahead.

While there were some bright spots, control appears to be a problem in the early season games.

The Hawks opened the season with a loss to Capac, 8-3. Johnson pitched a neat 5-hitter for the Chiefs, walking 2 and striking out 7.

Sharie DeLong had trouble finding the plate, walking 11 in 5 innings while allowing 4 hits. Jennifer Freundt worked the last inning and was also wild, giving up 3 walks and a run.

Jandi Hillaker, with a pair of singles, was the only Hawk with more than one hit.

A-F GAMES

Friday the Hawks split a doubleheader with Akron-Fairgrove, winning the opener 14-6 before losing the nightcap 14-9.

Freundt pitched well for Cass City to register the win. The game was called after 4 innings and Freundt allowed runs, 8 hits and walked 7. However, she limited the Vikings to just one run until the last inning, when the game was decided.

The Hawks made the most of their 8 hits, bunting most of them in the first 2 innings when they batted around to score 11 runs. Jodi Benitez and DeLong led the pack with 2 hits each.

In the nightcap the Hawks jumped off to a commanding lead in the first 3 innings only to see Akron-Fairgrove bounce back with a big 9-run fourth inning rally to win it.

Hoard said he was pleased with DeLong's effort on the mound despite the score. Our trouble, he added, was that the strike zone got small for our pitchers and we stopped hitting.

Cass City was ahead 9-5 when the Vikings staged the big rally. DeLong allowed 7 runs, walked 5 in 3 innings. Jodi Hillaker relieved in the fourth, and last, inning and was touched for 7 runs and took the loss.

Shelly Mellendorf drove home 2 runs with a triple in the first inning. Janet Kubacki collected 2 hits in 3 tries.

Your neighbor says Kids say Cecil Fielder the man

After a summer of controversy, the Detroit Tigers and the American Baseball League are in full swing. And for your neighbors, Brad Gray and John Richmond, it couldn't have come any sooner.

We asked the 2 Gagetown Elementary students to give us their favorite player and team.

And judging by their responses, the men with the golden gloves, like Ozzie Smith, and those with the golden arms, like Roger Clemens, aren't worth the dime to buy their baseball cards.

Says 10-year-old Gray, a 4th grader,

"Cecil Fielder and the Oakland A's."

Says 11-year-old Richmond, a 6th grader,

"Cecil Fielder and the Tigers."

Richmond also had a quick response to his friend's pick of the Oakland A's club over the Tigers. "Canseco ain't nothing"

Hawks 3-2 in baseball

The Cass City Red Hawk baseball team is 3-2 in non-conference games this spring as Coach Doug Hall prepares his team for the Thumb B Association title chase that opens Monday when the team hosts Bad Axe at Cass City Recreational Park.

The season started slowly as Deckerville won a doubleheader, 14-13 and 7-6, April 4. Hall sent Matt Weippert to the mound in the first game and Bart Hall in the second.

April 8 the Hawks played Kingston and won 6-5 and Bill Graham got the win in relief.

The Hawks evidently found a pitcher to rely on during the regular season. Graham was on the mound again against Akron-Fairgrove, Friday, and he pitched a 3-hit shutout in the 11-0 Cass City win in the opener of a doubleheader.

The Hawks took the nightcap, 6-5, as Greg LeValley pitched his first game for the varsity with relief help from Troy Benitez. LeValley pitched 4 innings and allowed 3 hits, 6 walks and was touched for 4 runs. Benitez gave up 2 hits and one run in the final inning.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The Cass City Junior Varsity baseball team defeated Akron-Fairgrove JV, 10-6, Friday, April 12. Bill Graham started and received credit for the win.

Dan Muska relieved him in the late innings to preserve the win.

Predict poor smelt runs this spring

More than 250,000 Michigan smelt dippers and those who enjoy a meal of the tasty fish won't appreciate what experts are saying about this year's migration.

The annual AAA Michigan check of fisheries biologists from the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) reveals a pessimistic outlook for the annual spawning runs in April and May.

Most expect poor smelt dipping conditions again this spring, although no one can pinpoint why runs have been so disappointing the past several years.

Low water levels, over-fishing by commercial and sports anglers, predation by other species and increased spawning along lake shores instead of tributaries are some explanations advanced by biologists.

Predicting smelt runs is a chancey proposition given the unpredictable nature of this 3- to 8-inch fish.

But dippers may find some good runs this year at the sites listed in AAA Michigan's 1991 Smelt Guide. The guide includes 2 smelt dipping locations in Ontario along Lake Erie. Dippers interested in those areas should call (519) 322-2371 for information.

Smelt spawning runs peak when water temperatures reach between 42 to 44 degrees. The best action usually occurs with warm days and a warm rain in the evening.

The fish usually ascend tributary streams to spawn over gravel beds although some deposit eggs over the lake's gravel shoals.

Heaviest runs are expected during the middle of April for east and southeast Michigan and Ontario. West Michigan runs are best from mid- to late-April. In the Upper Peninsula, heaviest concentrations are expected from late April to early May.

The best dipping action usually occurs between 10 p.m. and 2 a.m. since smelt spawn at night and return to lakes by morning.

Runs may begin slowly or all at once. Dippers should remain flexible and try various locations if the first spot produces poor results.

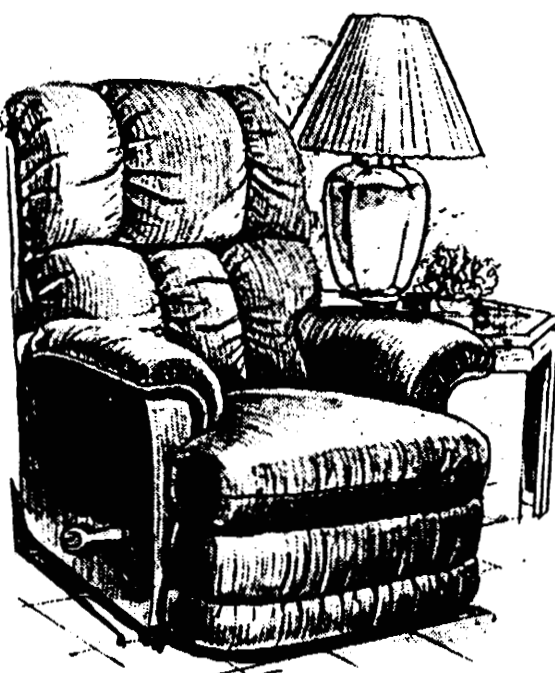

Equipment includes buckets, nets, warm clothing, waders and a flashlight. Long-handled nets come in handy in areas with deep water and strong currents.

There is no limit to the number of smelt that may be caught, but a Michigan fishing license is required to dip in state waters. For more information about dipping regulations, consult the Michigan Fishing Guide available at DNR offices or where fishing licenses are sold.

In athletics, Wildman participated in softball for 2 years and has been a member of the volleyball squad for 4 years.

Wildman's future plans include attending Western Michigan University this fall to study psychology and computer science. Her goals include earning a doctorate in psychology and working as a middle school guidance counselor.

Radabaugh, the daughter of Paul and Dorothy Radabaugh, 3466 Seventh St., Owendale, has a cumulative grade point average of 3.447.

She has been a member of the National Honor Society for the past 2 years and is a member of the Student Council, serving as secretary. She was elected secretary of her junior class and now serves as class vice president.

A member of the school newspaper staff, Radabaugh is in her second year as a member of the 3.0 Club.

She achieved a perfect score in the math and reading sections of the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) test, and has won a number of class-related awards. They include honors in geometry, chemistry, English III, advanced typing, home economics, algebra II and physical education.

She also has been active in sports, playing basketball as a freshman and sophomore, and volleyball and softball in each of the past 4 years.

Radabaugh was named a second team all-league outfielder as a sophomore, and received first team regional, second team all-area and all-league honorable mention honors last year in volleyball.

Her future plans include attending Saginaw Valley State University, where she plans to major in accounting. Her career goal is to work as a certified public accountant.

Two area residents have been named to the president's list at Great Lakes Junior College's Caro campus, 1231 Cleaver Rd. They are Brenda Parrish of Decker and Daniel Baugher of Kingston.

The pair earned the honor by achieving a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

Support group set to meet next month

A support group composed of parents surviving the death of a child will begin meeting next month at the St. Agatha Catholic Church, 4618 South St., Gageton. The first meeting is scheduled for May 2 at 7 p.m. Thereafter the group will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. on the first and third Thursdays of each month.

Construction slowed by cuts

INVESTIGATORS RETURNED to this residence at 4681 VanDyke Rd. Monday in an effort to determine the cause of a blaze that caused some $8,000 in damage Thursday night.

Miller honored at SVSU

An Owendale area woman is among 2 graduating seniors and several faculty members who were honored at Saginaw Valley State University's All-University Awards Banquet Saturday evening.

The area student, Sandra L. Miller, is the recipient of a Michigan Association of Governing Boards of State Universities Award.

Miller, 3866 Shebeon Rd., Owendale, is a psychology major who has maintained an overall grade point average of 3.96.

She was named in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for 1990-91", and is among the honor students listed in the National Dean's List. As a freshman, Miller received the Award for Excellence and Residential Life Scholarship and has since served as a residence hall assistant and as a member of numerous campus committees and boards, including the university's Program Board. In 1989, she was crowned SVSU's homecoming queen.

37 percent of pollution due to emissions

Approximately 37 percent of outdoor air pollution is caused by motor vehicle emissions.

Motor vehicle emissions nationwide account for 56 percent of the total carbon monoxide, 32 percent of the airborne lead, 25 percent of the hydrocarbons and 31 percent of the oxides of nitrogen emitted into the air.

In addition, Miller serves as a volunteer at the Bay County Department of Social Services and is currently helping to create a life skills enrichment program for an elementary special education class.

After graduation, she plans to attend graduate school to pursue a specialist's degree in school psychology.

The state is heading toward a construction season that may be slowed by budget cuts in the Department of Natural Resources permits program, although business officials and the Engler administration charge the anticipated delays are an attempt by the DNR to force higher spending.

Environmental groups are also concerned about the cuts, saying they will mean less protection of wetlands.

Business has not yet seen the impact of the layoffs from the cuts, which were effective last week, but Dennis Hall, chief of the Land and Water Management Division, said the reduced staff may mean it will take over 6 months to process applications for permits to build on sites involving both land and water.

Hall said it will likely require almost the full 90-day period allowed by law — (companies may consider their application complies if no decision is rendered in that time) — to process permits involving wetlands.

But he said other permits may take twice as long. And that would be in addition to the 30-60 days he said it will take to review applications to determine if they are complete.

"If you haven't applied by now, you may not see your permit for this construction season," he said. Last year, Hall said decisions on permits took 70-75 days, including 7-10 days it took to review the application.

Michigan State Chamber of Commerce President James Barrett accused the department of deliberately targeting the permitting process to build a case for a tax increase and greater funding.

"It's a question of priorities, and economic development ought to have the highest priority," he said. "It requires a reallocation of resources. We will be communicating our concerns very directly."

The permitting staff would not have been cut under either an alternative plan to 9.2 percent across the board cuts that the House Appropriations Committee rejected or the supplemental budget bill (SB 51) where Governor John Engler vetoed $190,000 for the program.

However, the governor's budget proposal for 1991-92 would restore the positions.

John Truscott, spokesman for Governor Engler, said the funds were vetoed in hopes of getting an overall DNR budget, and blamed the department's leadership for shortchanging the permit process.

"There has not been adequate leadership at the top in terms of prioritizing where the money is spent," he said.

Barrett said the cuts show why department director David Hales — who has already announced his intention to leave — needs to be replaced.

Dennis Adams, chief budget officer for the department, said DNR officials had little discretion once the 9.2 percent across the board cut in general fund spending was ordered to take effect.

He said the permitting staff was hard hit because it already had so many vacancies and, compared to other DNR operations, it relies much more heavily on money from the general fund.

Adams also said prospects are dim that the positions will be restored. "What's done is done," he said.

Rick Newberry, director of the West Michigan Environmental Action Council, said the cuts have taken away some of the best people in the department, leaving neither environmental nor business groups happy.

He said aside from delays, the department is dealing with problems "at a crisis level" instead of helping business avoid violations of state controls, and environmental groups are not happy that a stretched staff is making errors by not "crossing the t's and dotting the i's."

Truscott said with the money available in the department, it can still handle permits on a timely basis and accomplish what has to be done.

He added the administration hopes to set well-defined and strict standards for the permitting process so builders, the department and interested parties can work more efficiently and shorten the process.

The division oversees wetlands and several other state permitting programs as well as the federal Clean Water Act. It handles 6,500-7,000 applications, valued at over $100 million, a year, with about 2,000 of those dealing with wetlands.
