In fatal accident Quiz hit, run suspect

Tuscola County authorities have a suspect in the county's second fatal hit and run accident in a week.

The body of Terry L. Hojnacki, 39, of Silverwood, was discovered early Friday morning lying in a ditch along Maple Grove Road just south of Mayville Road in Dayton Township, according to a Tuscola County Sheriff's Department spokesman.

Hojnacki was transported to Flint Osteopathic Hospital, where an autopsy was performed.

Investigators believe she was struck by a vehicle while walking down Maple Grove Road sometime between 11 p.m. and midnight Thursday.

According to Det. Sgt. Larry Walker, a male from the Kingston area called the department Friday night to report that his car had been involved in a car-deer accident.

Walker said dispatcher Sandy Rabideau alerted detectives of the caller, who indicated he wanted to check to be sure that his accident was not related to the hit and run.

Walker said the male agreed to meet investigators at the sheriff's department, but never showed. Walker and Det. Ron Phillips later went to the suspect's residence, where they spoke with the driver and inspected his car. Walker said the vehicle appears to be the same one that struck Hojnacki.

The vehicle was towed to the sheriff's department, where authorities from the state crime lab in Bridgeport were scheduled to conduct an investigation Monday.

No arrests had been made as of Monday morning. The names of the driver and 2 passengers were being withheld at that time pending review of the case by the Tuscola County Prosecutor's Office.

Thursday's accident came 5 days after another hit and run accident that claimed the lives of 2 Millington teens.

Nathan Betzing, 14, and Jason Usrey, were on their way home on bikes at about 11:17 p.m. when they were struck from behind by a pickup truck.

A 25-year-old Vassar man is a suspect in the case. No charges have been filed in the case, which remained under review Monday by the prosecutor's office.

O-G staff balks at proposed change

A proposal to return to having a full-time high school principal and a full-time counselor in the Owen-Gage School District drew protests from administrators and teachers alike Monday night.

The message expressed by both was clear: If it ain't broke, don't fix it.

The topic came up during the board's annual consideration of contracts for the districts' principals.

Board members extended elementary Principal William Britt's contract for the 1991-92 school year without comment, but action was stalled when school Supt. Harley Kirby recommended that the board offer a full-time principal's contract to Ron D'Aoust.

D'Aoust currently serves a dual role as principal and counselor. He shares the duties of principal with fellow staff member Manuel Thies, who serves both as a teacher and high school disciplinarian.

The board initially approved the arrangement on a trial basis 3 years ago. Since then, administrative duty contracts for both men have been routinely approved in each of the past 2 years.

At Monday night's monthly meeting, D'Aoust said he would accept a contract as full-time principal, but indicated he believes the proposed change will do more harm than good.

"I do not understand the reasoning behind this," he told the board, adding the teamwork that has been established by himself, Thies and the teaching staff has resulted in a number of positive academic and disciplinary changes at the high school level in recent years. D'Aoust said making him a disciplinarian would destroy the trust and working relationship he has established with students.

INCREASING NEED

Kirby, however, stated the district has an increasing need for both a full-time principal and counselor.

He cited a need for counseling services in both the upper and lower grade levels as an example, and pointed out that greater demands are going to be placed on the high school principal in the years to come, primarily due to an increasing number of new state mandates, including school improvement.

"I see a lot more things coming for the principal to handle," he remarked. "Two hours a day isn't going to make it."

Board President Jack Brinkman agreed with Kirby. He indicated he's heard some negative comments from a few parents related to the existing arrangement.

Trustee William Kretzschmer said he also has some concerns, including disruptions to Thies' classes stemming from his duties as disciplinarian.

Two other board members, Ron Good and Nick Warack, however, indicated

Rotary track fund project needs community support

Cass City Rotary Club and athletes at Cass City High School are asking for the help and support of residents in the village to make a fund-raising collection of all returnable bottles and cans successful.

The one-day collection will be conducted Saturday, June 1, by members of Rotary and the student volunteers.

All proceeds from the collection will be used to pay

Rotary's $5,000 commitment for the construction of the new track at Cass City Recreational Park.

Saving your returnables for collection is an easy way for folks to contribute to the outstanding facility the community now has, Rotarians point out.

Persons helping out who live in the village are asked to place their returnables in the regular orange-colored recyclable containers in front of their homes on collection day.

Persons outside the village can help by bringing their returnables to the drop-off area that will be announced or can be learned by calling the Chronicle next week.

Greg Biddinger, co-chairman of the event, said that the campaign fits in well with Rotary International's aim to "Preserve Planet Earth" as well as providing a way to pay for the new track.

Tempers flare over Kingston Camp issue

by Nancy Salla
Staff Writer

A crowd of some 150 people packed into the Kingston Fire Hall Monday night, overflowing into the hallway and gathering outside around the building's windows to hear emotional pleas in support of and against Pioneer Work and Learn Center during a monthly Koylton Township Board meeting.

Supporters of the state's first "work and learn" camp gathered at the fire hall's parking lot, carrying picket signs proclaiming "Save Our Jobs," "PWLC Cares" and "$ for Local Economy."

The board opened the floor for an hour-long public discussion that focused on the planned closure of Pioneer Work and Learn Center in accordance with rulings that the camp is operating in violation of the Koylton Township Zoning Ordinance.

Aside from scattered bursts of applause for vocalized opinions, the audience's overall debate was orderly, although one man was evicted from the proceedings after refusing to refrain from directing negative comments at audience members who voiced opinions in favor of the camp program.

Many of those in attendance, including several Pioneer employees, were in favor of allowing the camp to continue to operate by virtue of its economic and social contributions to the area.

Audience members presented a petition to the board with more than 400 names of Koylton Township residents who support the Pioneer program. Several supportive letters and an economic impact study on the financial consequences of closing the camp also were presented.

Others in support of the camp addressed the integrity of the program and the service its employees provide to troubled teenagers. Kingston resident Roberta Green said that as the camp's closest neighbor, she believes the program is an asset to Tuscola County.

"Those kids have proven they are good citizens for the community," she added. "The camp can be an example for other programs around the state."

Another woman commented, "The camp has quietly and slowly proven themselves in our area. Yes, I am concerned about zoning, but I am also concerned with what's happening to these kids."

An Easter Seals regional representative informed the audience that camp officials planned to have its youths construct wheelchair ramps for the community and make wooden toys for area day care centers, but will not be able to do so if the work-and-learn center is closed.

Supporters also expressed frustration regarding the board's seeming unwillingness to consider rezoning the camp to allow its legal operation. "Zoning laws were made, not written in stone, but used to enhance the community," said one man. "Those zoning laws can be changed and should be changed to reflect the community."

The issue of people other than tax-paying Koylton Township residents making decisions about the camp's operation, and the nearly $50,000 the township has had to spend to defend itself in court, also were debated at length.

"The law is the law — leave it at the court of appeals," shouted one township resident. "(The camp) broke the law when they came here and have been breaking it ever since."

"Let's quit using and wasting money in court battles that we don't want and go on living," another audience member said.

Another man expressed frustration that his opposition to the camp has not received what he sees as legitimate recognition.

"It seems like high pressure is coming from camp employees and supporters, and Koylton Township residents aren't allowed to think anymore," he said.

Special vote needed

School seeks to avert tax loss

The Cass City School Board, meeting in special session Friday at the high school, voted to ask district voters to override a rollback required by the Headlee amendment that would cut school revenues by $88,788.

Because the value of property in the district, with the value of new construction deducted, has increased more than the 5%-plus percent rate of inflation, the law requires that the millage authorized be cut so the taxes paid are not increased more than the inflation factor.

The problem with that for the school, Supt. Ken Micklash said, is that the amount more than local taxpayers pay because of property value increase is deducted from the amount that is received from the state.

Micklash said that the loss projected was based on the anticipated state-aid formula with the same number of students in school next year.

While the valuation increase represents an increase in local taxes, part of the cost will be absorbed by a decrease of .3-mill because of a decrease in the amount needed to retire one of the school bond issues.

Overall, it will cost about a half mill more to keep the school operating with the same amount of money that has been authorized by the voters. The issue will be presented to the voters in the regular June school election.

If the rollback is not negated by the voters, the board will have the option of cutting into curriculum that was to be completely restored next year or cutting capital improvements.

A major share of these improvements is a new roof. The board is extremely reluctant to put off the installation of the roof because they have received what is regarded as very favorable bids.

If we put it off, trustee Allan Hartwick said, it will just cost us more next year.

Survey supports meter ban

Ever since parking meters were installed in Cass City nearly 25 years ago, and for some time before that, discussion on the value of the devices has been about as common as talking about the weather over a cup of coffee.

Over the years, the opinions have varied; some like the meters, some don't and some don't care either way.

Today, a majority of Main Street business owners feel the meters' usefulness has passed, according to the Cass City Chamber of Commerce's Retail Committee, which is recommending that the meters be removed.

Following the completion of a local business survey, committee members decided last week to approach village officials with the proposal.

"There will be a letter sent to the village requesting that they (meter heads) be taken out, maybe for a trial period of a year," committee Chairman Bill Kritzman said Friday. He added the proposal calls for a return to 2 hours of free parking.

Kritzman noted the decision was based on the wishes of a majority of business owners who participated in a recent survey.

A total of 41 surveys were sent out, he said, adding 25 (61 percent) were returned. Of those, 21 owners (84 percent) indicated they don't want the meters, while 3 (12 percent) said they do, and one (4 percent) had no preference.

Initially, the meters were installed in an effort to reserve Main Street parking for customers—it was hoped the devices would deter upstairs tenants and merchants from using those spaces.

The revenue generated from the meters, meanwhile, went to maintain and establish parking areas.

Kritzman indicated the problems experienced with Main Street parking have since faded due to the addition of free off-street parking in the village.

Over the past decade, Cass City officials have purchased a total of 4 1/2 lots and are in the process of buying another 3 lots for that purpose. The combined properties translate into nearly 200 parking spaces.

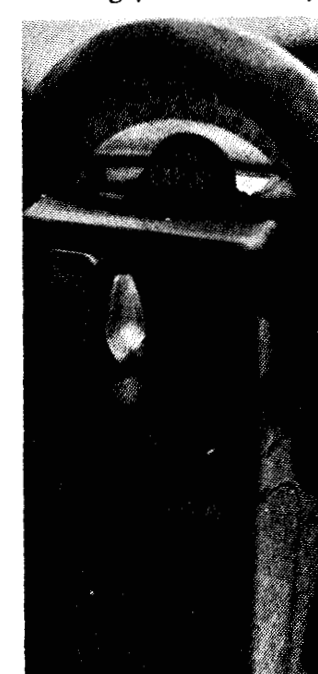

Parking problems aside,

"We don't have the big store draw," he said. "This is what we have to offer in a small town—service, good values and convenience."

Provided the meters in Cass City are taken out, Kritzman indicated it will be up to business owners to help insure that the 2-hour parking limit is observed.

"I don't know whether taking the parking meters out is going to make any difference, but I think we have to listen to our merchants," he concluded. "We just felt this is something we had to do."

The Retail Committee's proposal will probably be taken up at the Village Council's next regular meeting, scheduled for 7 p.m. May 28 at the Municipal Building.

Mixed nuts

by Melva E. Guinther

I recently stumbled upon a little paperback book called "Mixed Nuts".

Described on the cover as un-serious, un-important, un-organized, un-documented, un-profound, and un-urgent in its message", it's a collection of trivia compiled by E. C. McKenzie.

Among the assorted items are some unusual laws that cause one to wonder what circumstances prompted their passage:

It's against the law in Arkansas to drive blindfolded cattle on public roads.

In Norfolk, Va., it's illegal for a girl to go to a public dance unless she wears a corset.

The citizens of Barre, Vt., are called upon by ordinance to take a bath every Saturday night.

It's against U. S. Navy regulations for an officer to cheer at football games.

In Nebraska it's unlawful to take or needlessly destroy the nest of any game bird.

Sixteen states have made snoring by either a husband or wife a legitimate ground for divorce.

An old California law makes a housewife liable to imprisonment if she doesn't boil her dustcloth.

Oklahoma legislators once passed a law that prohibited catching of whales in the state.

CARO VFW POST 4164 Commander Clifford Seeley presents a check for $100 to area student Misty L. Coryell, who will spend a year in Japan as a Rotary exchange student.

Coryell set for year in Japan

Owen-Gage High School sophomore Misty L. Coryell, 15, will spend a year in Japan as an exchange student under the sponsorship of the Sebawaing chapter of the Rotary Club.

The daughter of Christina and Merrill Turner, 4816 Hoppe Rd., Cass City, she is scheduled to leave Aug. 26 and return in June 1992.

Coryell isn't certain yet of exactly where in Japan she will spend her year, but knows her first destination will be about 100 miles north of Tokyo. During her year, she will be staying with 3 families.

In National BPA event

A Cass City resident is among the members of a Northwood Institute team that won first place honors at the 1991 National Leadership Conference of Business Professionals of America, held April 18-23 in Orlando, Fla.

She is LeAnn LaRoche, who along with Keith Billings of Detroit and Chris Philo of Millington placed first in the Entrepreneur Team event. Philo is president of Northwood's BPA chapter, while Billings serves as chapter vice-president and LaRoche, chapter secretary.

The theme of this year's conference was "Making Professionalism Happen! Celebrating 25 Years."

More than 3,500 students nationwide attended the event as top representatives from the 62,000 national members. Students participated in contests, seminars and election campaigns. They also spent time enjoying Orlando.

LaRoche, the daughter of James and Joyce LaRoche of Cass City, is a sophomore at Northwood Institute. The 1989 Cass City High School graduate is studying general business and hotel-restaurant management, with plans to earn 4 associate's degrees and one bachelor's degree.

The

Five foreign exchange students sponsored by Rotary recently gave brief accounts of life in their various countries, including France, Brazil, South Africa and others, to the Cass City club.

In these days of instant communication, most of the students said they found life here about as they expected.

They all were certain that they would find school here easier than it was back home and they were not disappointed. It's a snap for them and one blurted out, that's one of the reasons I decided to come. I needed a rest from school.

The youngsters then proceeded to tell how they studied at night nearly all the time at home and then needed to study on the weekend to keep up with the home work. And remember these are bright kids or else they wouldn't qualify for the Rotary program.

I thought of this when Cass City Superintendent Ken Micklash called to tell me of a special board meeting to deal with an unexpected loss of over $88,000 from projected state aid because of the Headlee amendment.

Headlee guarantees that property taxes will not rise more than the rate of inflation, except for new construction, without a vote of the people.

You get the money voted, but you don't get a tax boost because the rate is cut to equal an increase only at the rate of inflation.

Sounds fair. The school gets the same amount of money because the valuation has increased.

Not in our cockeyed school financing system. Because Cass City is an "in formula" school, the tax jump that you received locally through increased valuation is deducted from the amount the state pays the district.

In other words, it's heads the state wins and tails you lose. Needless to say, the school will attempt to have the Headlee roll-back re-

"If It Fitz...."

Cellophane sentence

By Jim Fitzgerald

Because extensive landscaping is being done on the Larned Avenue median east of downtown Detroit, I couldn't help asking: "Does anyone know what those AAA money misusers have been up to lately?"

"Don't say another word, and certainly don't write it," my friend Ralph said. "It would be beneath you to pick on a judge who is so obviously and publicly wrongheaded that your readers don't need to be reminded again of how easy it is to make him look like a fool."

Ralph was referring to Records Court Judge Dominick Carnovale. It wasn't the first time Ralph has suggested that some people and/or situations are so clearly outrageous that they require no comment from a smarty columnist who should have more important things to write. Several years ago, for example, I criticized Tammy Bakker's eye makeup. "That was the same as writing that water is wet, or Tuesday follows Monday," Ralph said, and he was right.

ABUSIVE MAN NOT A THREAT

Our Larned landscaping conversation occurred the same day it was revealed, in a large headline, that Dexter Hollins had escaped from a halfway house and was being sought in a double shooting. One of his alleged victims was his former girlfriend, Cassandra Turner, who had told police that Hollins had abused his 4-year-old son, knocking his teeth out, locking him in a closet, and starving him.

In April, Judge Carnovale sentenced Hollins to 6 months in a halfway house and 5 years' probation, although the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office asked for at least 10 years in prison.

In explaining the wrist-tap sentence, Carnovale told Hollins he didn't believe "severe incarceration is going to help either you or the victim in this case."

So last week, when Hollins walked away from flimsy halfway security and allegedly took bullet revenge on his former girlfriend, there was egg on every inch of Carnovale's robe. Everybody could see it, and there was no need for me to point out that severe incarceration for Hollins might have helped Turner.

Also, there was no need to mention another astonishing sentence handed out by Carnovale last month. He gave no jail time to 2 former Michigan AAA executives, John Avignone and John Plants, even though they "misused" about $500,000 in company money to pay for landscaping and other work at their homes. They could have received up to 10 years in prison, but the judge didn't even make them pay back all the $500,000. Instead, $24,000 each somehow was deemed enough, plus 500 hours of community service.

It is glaringly obvious that ordinary felons often are jailed for stealing $1,000, but ordinary felons are seldom president or vice president of a huge insurance company. It pays to be extraordinary. You don't need me to tell you that.

However, I'm ashamed to admit, after hearing that Hollins escaped from Carnovale's cellophane sentence, I was ready to construct a smarty scenario around the Larned landscaping, which includes the planting of many good-sized trees. Perhaps it is part of Avignone's and Plants' community service? Perhaps local nurseries should check their stock for signs of misuse?

My friend Ralph stopped me just in time. He reminded me that, in line with the taking-candy-from-a-baby cliché, some insults to common sense are too obviously outrageous — too easy — to merit comment. So I won't write that, with Avignone and Plant on the loose, local nurseries should install misuse alarms.

ALSO TOO EASY TO TARGET

For the same reason, I also won't write about Mason County Probate Judge Francis Bourisseau saying he'd only consider granting parental consent waivers for abortions in some cases, such as when a white girl is raped by a black man.

And I won't take a crack at Ann Arbor baseball/pizza saint Tom Monaghan for telling the Chicago Tribune: "I can't understand why any thinking Christian isn't a Catholic."

When the targets are so obviously, woefully pitiful, it is superfluous to shoot at them. But you know that.

Cindy L. Peyerck of Cass City is among 515 Ferris State University students who were recently honored for academic excellence at the school's 33rd annual Academic Honors Convocation.

Those honored are full-time students who have attained a minimum 3.6 grade point average for at least 3 consecutive quarters. Only 4.6 percent of all Ferris students were recognized at this ceremony.

Honorees each received personalized certificates of achievement and a specially designed Academic Honors lapel pin.

This was the second year Peyerck received the honor. The daughter of James and Janis Peyerck, she has earned an associate's degree in dental assisting and is currently working towards a bachelor of science degree in health systems management.

Lori Ann Hurley, Cass City, was recently named to the dean's list at Saginaw Valley State University. A 1984 graduate of Cass City High School, she plans to graduate in 1992 with a teaching degree.

VANDALS DAMAGED mailboxes at several area residences on 2 consecutive nights last week. Above, Severance Road resident Lloyd Severance displays the remains of an Uncle Sam figure given to him last week by his family in honor of his 75th birthday. Parts of the figure, which was posted next to the mailbox, were found a mile away from his home Thursday morning.

Vandals smash mailboxes in area

Vandals from the Cass City area went on a mailbox smashing spree in Evergreen Township last week, damaging several mailboxes on 2 consecutive nights.

The damage, which was concentrated along Severance, Decker and Shabbona roads last Wednesday and Thursday evenings, included more than 20 mailboxes, lawn ornaments and broken windows at the former Evergreen Township School.

Some mailboxes sustained only dents, while others were crushed and/or removed from posts in front of residences.

Two juveniles—one from Cass City and the other from Deford—were caught damaging mailboxes Thursday evening and were arrested, according to Trooper Firmin Troye, who said the pair were in possession of alcohol.

He added that 4 more suspects, all from the Cass City area, are being sought.

Mailbox vandalism is an annual problem, but few persons actually file a complaint, according to the trooper, who noted the damage is technically a federal offense but that postal officials won't get involved unless the case involves explosives, damage to a postal corner box or if mail is stolen.

In last week's incidents, however, several persons filed complaints, he said.

"It's a nuisance-type crime and people don't report it. I don't think it's any more widespread than it has been, but when it gets on this grand a scale..." he remarked, adding, "This is the second or third time these people's mailboxes have been destroyed."

Similar damage also was reported in Tuscola County last Wednesday, when several mailboxes along River Road, south of Cass City, were vandalized.

According to the sheriff's department, 10 such complaints were filed during the first week of this month by county residents, about half of them in the Cass City area.

THE MAILBOX in front of the former Evergreen Elementary School was among the targets of vandals.

Camp seeks appeal; Township seeks closure

Attorneys representing Pioneer Work and Learn Center last week filed an application asking the Michigan Supreme Court to hear an appeal of their case against Koylton Township.

Attorneys representing the township, meanwhile, have moved to enforce a court ruling providing for closure of the "work and learn" program operating at Camp Kingston Hills.

Pioneer attorneys are asking the state's highest court to reverse rulings issued in Tuscola County Circuit Court and the Michigan Court of Appeals, and grant relief related to the "improper, arbitrary, capricious and discriminatory application and enforcement of the Koylton Township Zoning Ordinance" against Pioneer Work and Learn Center.

Alternatively, the attorneys requested that the case be reversed and assigned for action in another circuit court for further proceedings, or that the case be returned to Tuscola County Circuit Court and/or the Koylton Township Zoning Board of Appeals for further proceedings, with specific instructions on the handling and disposition of all issues raised in the appeal.

Those issues deal, in part, with claims of racial and religious discrimination, and bias on the part of a member of the township zoning appeals board.

Pioneer attorneys also are seeking a stay of action against the camp pending the appeal.

Previously, the township zoning appeals board ruled operation of Pioneer Work and Learn Center at Camp Kingston Hills constitutes an illegal expansion of the facility non-conforming use status. Officials successfully argued that township zoning laws do not allow Pioneer's year-round rehabilitation program for male juvenile delinquents to operate at what has historically been a children's recreation summer camp.

The decision was upheld in Tuscola County Circuit Court and, more recently, the Michigan Court of Appeals, both of which also ruled that Pioneer attorneys have presented no evidence to support their claims of discrimination and bias.

Efforts to close the work and learn camp, meanwhile, proceeded last week, when township attorney J. Anthony Sykora filed a petition requesting enforcement of Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn's ruling.

A hearing on the motions asking Joslyn to enforce closure of Pioneer Work and Learn Center and award legal costs and fines will be held June 3 beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Your neighbor says

Gun control won't solve the problem

The handgun control issue has kept Congress buzzing this week. The heated debate is over the Brady bill, named after former White House Press Secretary Jim Brady, who was shot in the head during the 1981 President Reagan assassination attempt. The bill would require a 7-day "cooling-off" period after a person tried to purchase a weapon from a registered gun dealer.

Legislative supporters claim this waiting period will help decrease domestic violence and murder rates by having gun dealers give police a list of people wanting to purchase guns. The police could then investigate the potential customers for a history of crime or mental disorders. The House of Representatives approved the bill 239 - 186 May 8. No Senate ruling has been handed down as of press time.

One citizen opposing the gun control movement is your neighbor, Ernest Pena.

Pena said government control of handguns would violate Americans' Constitutional rights. "I wish there didn't have to be such things as guns, but they are here," said Pena.

"I have 3 handguns of my own and although I have never had to use any of them, I want them there for my family's protection," added the Saginaw Steering Gear employee.

Pena said he believes such legislature would be ineffective. "The bad guys aren't going to try to get weapons through legal means anyway," he said. "If a criminal wants a gun, he will get it any way he can."

"Having gun control would just make it harder for regular people to protect themselves from the criminals with guns," he added.

Pena lives in Cass City with his wife, Viretta. The couple has 4 children - Ernest Junior, Robert, Angel and Marie.

SVSU names honor students

Saginaw Valley State University officials recently named 732 students, including 16 area residents, to the school's president's and dean's lists for the winter semester.

Students named to the president's list have earned a perfect 4.0 grade point average, while those on the dean's list achieved a minimum grade point average of 3.4.

Among those named to the president's list are Cheryl L. Lester and Scott Mellen-dorf, both of Cass City; Kingston residents Nicholas R. Colwell and Marcia R. Schwarck, and Donna J. Gaskill and Sandra L. Miller, both of Owendale.

Area residents named to the dean's list are Wendy J. Hercliff, Lori A. Hurley, Susan V. Rosinski and Margaret J. Zorn, all of Cass City; Tina M. Ballard of Deford, Janice L. Cummins of Gageton, Julie Ruggles of Kingston, and Bradi L. Kretschmer, Mardi J. Kretschmer and Susan K. Salcido, all of Owendale.

Dear John:

Just a short note to pass along a couple of things in regard to your April 17 "Rabbit Tracks."

The first enclosure is a press release we sent out on March 7 addressing the need to look at the real health care problems facing the people of our state, while the second is an interesting series from USA Today outlining the complexity of solving the health care cost dilemma we are facing.

I'll accept your gentle criticism about the need to try to stay focused on solving the real problems, but it's not our organization or the victims of malpractice who are pushing the malpractice reform issue. Once we succeed in moving the debate from that issue and toward solving the real problems, we'll all be better off.

Thank you for your interest in the issue, and for continuing to read my releases!

With kind regards,

Sincerely,

Dear Residents of Cass City

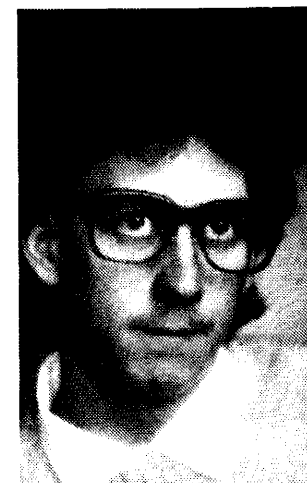

I am aboard the U.S.S. Theodore Roosevelt and we have been to sea for over 4 months.

My parents have written me and told me all the wonderful things that you all have done for the people over in this area.

They have also told me of the Support Group. I have received letters and boxes from many of them.

Just want to say thanks for your support.

While at U of M, Enderle was a 3-year member of the Michigan Marching Band and a 3-year sports medicine volunteer at the University of Michigan Medical Center. She also participated in intramural softball and volleyball.

She has been accepted into the masters program in kinesiology and will continue her studies at U of M.

Chorus sings at area church

The Lake Huron Chorus of Sweet Adelines, International, sang May 6 for the Trinity United Methodist Church, Cass City, where they received a warm and enthusiastic welcome.

The chorus recently held installation of officers, with Marie Alexander, Bay Port, installed as president; Ruth Flint, Sebewaing, vice-president; Karen Navock, Bad Axe, recording secretary; Betty Gay, Bad Axe, treasurer, and new board member Ruth Ann Schmitt, Bad Axe, corresponding secretary. Other board members are Marie Ravel, Bad Axe, Stannette Malosky, Caseville, and Bev Haughton, Cass City.

The Lake Huron Chorus is always looking for new members and invite any interested ladies to join them Mondays at 7 p.m., in the cafeteria of the Huron Medical Care Facility, Bad Axe (except May 20).

Area ladies that belong to the chorus are Haughton, Loraine Enos and Ruth Freeman, all of Cass City, and Janet Richmond and Elnora Barrow of Caro. Any of them would be happy to share a ride to Bad Axe.

Staff honored

at Tenderscare

The nursing staff at Tenderscare, Cass City, was honored at an afternoon tea Thursday in conjunction with National Nursing Home Week May 6-12.

A total of 17 professional nurses received special pins for nurses. Another 48 nurse assistants, who have completed written and clinical skills tests established by the state, received special certified nurse assistant pins.

There are several other employees who have completed the written test and will be taking the clinical test soon, according to Ann Fruendt, director of nursing, who remarked, "We are really proud of our staff."

Strokes of expression and emotion are captured in the artwork of area residents who will participate in an exhibit opening this week at Rawson Memorial Library, 6495 Pine St.

About 18 artists will display 2 pieces each during the library's second annual exhibit celebrating Michigan Week, May 17-25, said Ann Craig, assistant librarian.

"We had an overwhelming response from the public last year, so we decided to have another show," she said.

A reception for the artists is scheduled May 22 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the library.

Although many of the artists who participated in last year's exhibit are returning, all of the new exhibit's pieces will be different.

Among the returning artists is Owendale resident Lynn Lorencz, who will display 2 watercolor paintings using airbrush techniques. Both works were done while she attended the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit. Lorencz majored in illustration and graduated from the school in 1981 with a bachelor of fine arts degree.

A portrait of a young Katherine Hepburn in warm pastel pink and purple hues is one of Lorencz' contributions to the show. The Flint native said she chose Hepburn as the subject because she admires the actress' work.

lot of symbolism," she said. "It had a lot of meaning for me, with a dove representing the Holy Spirit with me."

Lorencz said her mother also is an artist and can recall painting or drawing as a small child.

"I never made the decision to do this professionally until I went to college and then I went into commercial art," she added.

The artist said she married Owendale resident Michael Lorencz in 1983 and began working from their home during her second pregnancy. The mother of three, Lorencz said she has temporarily set aside the time consuming artwork to concentrate on her "little masterpieces" - daughters Emily, 6, Erin, 5, and 16-month-old Maradith.

One of her pieces in the exhibit is a rendition of the famous "Belfry" painting of Douai, France, by artist Jene-Batiste Camille Corot. The original is of the European village where the Old Testament was published in 1609.

Clara also will display a self-portrait, one of her first oil paintings which took only one day to complete. Featuring rich Earth tones the piece shows a smiling Clara at the age of about 18.

Although she has not painted in about 10 years, Clara indicated she would like to return to her artwork someday. The artist said she is currently very involved with her family, which includes her husband of 49 years, George, her son and daughter-in-law, John and Caren, and their 2 children, Kristin and Mathew.

DISCOVERED TALENT

In contrast to Lorencz' introduction to painting at an early age, another area artist said she did not discover her hidden creative talents until she was in her 50s.

"It was a pleasant surprise to find out I could really do something," Maxine Clara, Cass City, remarked.

Clara said it took semi-retirement from her involvement in local business, and her son growing up, before she had the time to explore painting.

"Of course, back in those days you were supposed to paint an apple or a map and that was the extent of it," said Clara, 76, who nurtured her natural talent with personal painting lessons, attending drawing classes at Oakland University and studying art books.

3 from area are CMU grads

Three area residents are celebrating their change in status from "college student" to "alumni" after graduating from Central Michigan University May 4.

Approximately 3,000 CMU students participated in the graduation ceremony where Joseph Antonini, president and CEO of K Mart, delivered the commencement address.

Randal Kubacki, a 22-year-old Ubyly resident, received a bachelor of science in business administration degree. The 1986 Ubyly High School graduate majored in hospitality services administration and has been hired as a desk clerk and night auditor by the Residence Inn Inc., in Washington, D.C.

Kubacki was to have left Michigan Monday or Tuesday, and start his new job Thursday. He is the son of Albert and Mary Kubacki, Ubyly.

Owendale-Gagetown High School's 1987 salutatorian, Michelle McPhail, also earned a bachelor of science degree in business administration.

The daughter of Joan and Robert McPhail of Owendale, she majored in accounting and hopes to take the state examination to become a certified public accountant soon. McPhail is searching for a position with an accounting firm and plans to move out of the immediate area.

Snover resident, Julie Roggenbuck, a 1987 graduate of Sandusky High School, earned a bachelor of applied arts degree. She had a double-major in interior design and industrial technology.

4-H rocketry workshop slated May 18 in Caro

The Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service 4-H program will conduct a rocketry workshop May 18 at the 4-H office, 362 Green St., Caro.

The workshop will be held from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and any 4-H member may attend. The course will cost $3.75 per person and will be taught by Brian Thompson, according to Tuscola County Extension 4-H Youth Agent Richard Pike.

Everyone will be building their own model rocket, which could be considered a complete project for an entry under rocketry at this year's Tuscola County fair. More information and pre-registration are available by calling Thompson at (313) 793-7740.

Applications for SWAP funding available at DNR

Applications are now available from the Department of Natural Resources' Waste Management Division for the fifth round of funding under the Solid Waste Alternative Program (SWAP) funded by the Protecting Michigan's Future Bond.

Grants and loans will be available for fiscal year 1993 for projects in 10 categories: recycling (collection and processing); composting; resource recovery education; market development; marketing; market development research and demonstration; waste reduction research and demonstration; household hazardous waste centers; waste-to-energy and transfer stations.

Both public and private entities are eligible to receive a grant or loan. All projects must be located in a Michigan county that has an approved solid waste management plan update.

To date, about 300 projects representing some $80 million in SWAP funding have been approved by the DNR and the Natural Resources Commission.

The application deadline for this round of funding is Sept. 27.

Application workshops will be held in June and July for potential applicants on several dates and locations.

There will also be an administrative review period from July 1 - Aug. 9. Draft applications submitted during this period will be reviewed by DNR staff for clarity and completeness.

More information is available by contacting the Resource Recovery Section of the DNR's Waste Management Division at (517) 335-4863, or writing to P.O. Box 30241, Lansing 48909.

Tough times

Hawks regrouping after 4 Thumb B losses

All that remains now for the Cass City Red Hawk softball team is an opportunity to re-group and successfully defend the district title that the team won last year.

The Hawks lost both ends of a pair of doubleheaders to Marlette and Vassar last week in Thumb B Association competition and fell to 6-6 in the league and 7-8 overall.

Tuesday the Marlette Red Raiders used superior pitching to roll over the Hawks. In the first game Goss hurled a 24-1 win in a game called after 5 by the mercy rule. The Hawks slapped out 8 hits, including 2 each by Jodi Hillaker and Jodi Benitez, but failed to get the key hits when needed.

Sharie DeLong took the loss. She allowed 13 hits, but was victimized by her teammates, who set a record with 15 errors in the 5 innings. Goss also pitched the second game for Marlette and was even more effective, shutting out Cass City, 11-0. Jennifer Fruendt took the loss as the Hawks continued to play poorly on defense. There wasn't much to the game. The Raiders scored 5 times in the first inning on 3 hits, 2 walks and 2 errors and after that it was merely a matter of playing out the game.

Cass City had 6 hits, spread out among 6 players. Marlette was led by Redmond's 3 hits and 3 runs-batted-in.

VASSAR GAMES

Sharie DeLong pitched well enough to win many games but Farnum was even more effective for Vassar as she tossed a 2-hitter in the Vulcan opening 6-1 win. DeLong pitched a 3-hitter, but issued 6 walks.

Unfortunately for Cass City, 2 of the Vassar hits came in the first inning in the midst of a 3-run rally.

Cass City's run came in the first inning when Jandi Hillaker singled and came around on a steal and infield out.

The Hawks lost the second game 17-7 and Fruendt took the loss as she was touched for 14 hits and walked 4. Walker started for Vassar and Cass City found her to be no puzzle as they chased her from the mound in the second with a 4-run rally. However, when Farnum took over again it was a different story and the Hawks were able to gather just 2 more runs the rest of the way.

Stephanie Leiterman and Jandi Hillaker, with 2 hits each, led the Cass City attack.

MARLETTE GAMES

The loss in the first game

Sandusky to host Cass City in pre-districts

Drawings for the pre-district softball and baseball tournaments have been held and Cass City will play at Sandusky Thursday, May 23. Both the boys and girls are scheduled to start at 3 p.m.

If Cass City wins either of the pre-district games, the team will enter district competition Saturday, June 1, in the district tourney scheduled at Unionville-Sebewaing.

The boys' game starts at 10 a.m. while the girls will play at 12 noon.

In the softball and baseball pre-districts, 8 teams are competing. The pairings are: Laker vs. USA and Bad Axe vs. Uby in one bracket and Deckerville vs. Harbor Beach and Cass City vs. Sandusky, with the winners in each bracket meeting in the opening round of the districts.

Bulldogs fall to Peck; CPS next

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs are hoping for a little better results when the team travels to Carsonville-Port Sanilac Thursday than they experienced at Peck last Thursday when they lost a doubleheader.

One of the losses, a 7-6 decision, was especially frustrating for the Bulldogs. They opened the game with a 6-run splurge against starter Jeremy Abrego, knocking him from the box. But the 'Dogs could do little against Dave Krantz, who relieved him and pitched shutout ball the rest of the way.

Meanwhile Peck kept chipping away at Mike Kady with 2 runs in the first and second innings and 3 more in the third. The rally in the third came without a hit as Owen-Gage was guilty of a pair of errors and Kady hit a batter. Kady allowed just 4 hits in the game, walked 2 and hit one. Joe Garza and Greg Smith led the Owen-Gage attack with 2 hits each.

While that game was close, the other loss to the Pirates was not, as the winners solved the slants of Brent Fritz for 9 hits in a 10-5 decision.

The Bulldogs were damaged by the bat of Matt Woodruff, who lashed out 3 hits in 4 tries and drove in 3 runs. Woodruff also pitched the win, allowing just 3 hits.

CPS dominates North Huron Invitational

Carsonville-Port Sanilac dominated the 6-team North Huron Invitational last Tuesday, winning both the boys' and the girls' competition.

The C-PS boys' team racked up 192 points, well ahead of second place Peck, which ended with 114 points.

Other schools ended in the following order: North Huron, 58; Owen-Gage, 53; Caseville, 45; Port Hope, 38.

The Bulldogs' lone win was recorded by Mickey Parks, with a long jump of 17 feet, one inch. Joe Garza was second in the 200-meter dash and ran legs on the second place 400 and 800-meter relay teams. In the girls' competition CPS racked up 167 points to edge Port Hope, in second place with 128 points.

In order of finish, the results of the other schools were: Peck, 109; Owen-Gage, 52; North Huron, 32; Caseville, 0.

The best finish for Owen Gage was a second place in the 800-meter relay by the team of Murawski, Ondrajka, Gruber and Ricker.

SUE PAPP (left), 1990 recipient of the American Association of University Women's Outstanding Girl Athlete award, presents the plaque to this year's winner, Jandi Hillaker.

JASON ROBERTSON (left) returned from Alma College to award Steve Tuckey the 1991 Paul Smarks Award for outstanding athletic and scholarship achievements.

Hillaker and Tuckey honored

Coveted athletic awards presented

Outstanding student achievements in academics, sports and extra-curricular activities were recognized Friday during Cass City High School's annual awards assembly.

Among the big winners were Jandi Hillaker and Steven Tuckey, who garnered the school's top athletic honors.

Hillaker, the daughter of Jack and Rona Hillaker of Cass City and this year's co-valedictorian, received the American Association of University Women's Outstanding Girl Athlete plaque, which was presented by last year's winner, Sue Papp.

Hillaker participated in 4 sports during her high school career while maintaining a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

She was active in basketball 4 years, winning all-conference honorable mention honors in her sophomore year. Hillaker also received third team all-conference honors and was chosen most valuable player in her junior year.

Hillaker also concentrated on playing volleyball 4 years. She earned all-conference honorable mention honors in both her sophomore and junior years, and second team All-Conference honors this year. In her senior year, she was named most valuable player.

Hillaker's athletic ability has also included playing softball and running track.

She played softball for 2 years, winning second team all-conference honors as a junior, and being named all-district junior team captain this year.

A member of the track squad for 2 years, she earned first team all-conference honors and qualified for state competition in her sophomore year.

Tuckey, son of Robert and Barb Tuckey, walked away with the 1991 Paul Smarks Award. Last year's recipient, Jason Robertson, awarded Tuckey the annual traveling trophy.

Tuckey played football 4 years and ran cross country one year.

He also played basketball in each of the past 4 years, winning third team all-conference honors as a junior, and all-conference honorable mention as a senior.

He excelled in track, receiving all-conference third team honors in the 800 meter event in 1989 and participating in that year's state track meet. His awards as a junior include first team all-conference honors in the 800 meter race, and all-conference honorable mention in the 3,200 meter relay.

In addition, Tuckey, who has maintained a 3.27 grade point average, participated in Meet of Champions in 1989 and 1990.

Both Hillaker and Tuckey also received U.S. Army National Scholarship Award medals for their academic and athletic achievements.

Many other scholastic and academic achievements were recognized during the assembly. Individual class awards were presented for outstanding achievement to students in all grades.

Council proceedings

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held April 29, 1991 at 7:00 p.m. All Trustees were present with the exception of Trustee Helwig.

As advertised, bids were opened on a 1984 Chevrolet Sedan. Two bids were received. A motion was made by Trustee Tuttle and supported by Trustee Karr to accept the high bid of $1,500.00 from Donna Rockwell of Snover. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

The minutes of the regular March meeting and special meeting of April 8, 1991 were approved as presented.

A motion was made by Trustee Weaver and supported by Trustee Prieskorn to approve the committees and appointments as recommended by the President. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

The Rules Committee reported that a legal opinion was obtained from Clinton C. House regarding village liability for organizations soliciting at the Main and Seeger Street intersection. No liability would attach to the Village for failing to act to prohibit such solicitation. Legal opinion attached.

The March financial statement was reviewed.

A motion was made by Trustee Weaver and supported by Trustee Tuttle that the bills be approved as presented. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

A motion was made by Trustee Prieskorn and supported by Trustee Karr that we accept Hubbell, Roth and Clark's recommendation that the bituminous pavement contract for the 1991 Street Improvement program be awarded to P.T.I. Construction Co. of Oakley in the amount of $25,972.00 and that the concrete curb and gutter and sidewalk contract be awarded to J. Pomranky Inc. of Midland in the amount of $37,575.52. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

A motion was made by Trustee Prieskorn and supported by Trustee Weaver to approve the construction of a sidewalk on the east side of Ale Street from Church to Rose and that the

LaRoche sets record

Red Hawks bow in meets

Although the Cass City Red Hawk girls have had trouble winning this spring in Thumb B Association track competition, there may be hopes for the future.

For the second week in a row a Hawk set a new school record.

Last week it was sophomore Barb Kelley who set the mark in the discus. This week it was a freshman, Jodi LaRoche, setting a new record in the long jump with a leap of 16 feet, 2 inches against Bad Axe.

It was one of the few bright moments in losses at Bad Axe Tuesday, May 7, 92-58, and at North Branch Thursday, 107-45.

LaRoche was a triple winner against Bad Axe. Besides her record-setting performance in the long jump, she also took the 100 and 200-meter dash.

LaRoche was also one of the few bright spots for Hawk fans against North Branch. She won the 100-meter, the long jump and ran a leg on the winning 400-meter relay.

HATCHET INVITATIONAL

The Cass City Red Hawks finished sixth among 16 teams in the annual Hatchet Invitational Saturday, which was won by Mayville.

Led by Jodi LaRoche, the Hawks scored 34 points. Mayville outdistanced the field with 83 points.

Other schools finished in the following order: Vassar, 52; Bad Axe, 48; Caro, 37; USA, 37; Lakers, 28; Carsonville-Port Sanilac, 28; Imlay City, 26; Uby, 22; Bay City All Saints, 22; Cros-Lex., 17; Kingston, 14; Harbor Beach, 14; Deckerville, 3; Peck, 0.

LaRoche won the long jump with a leap of 16 feet, one inch, and was fifth in the 200-meter dash. Barb Kelley was fourth in the discus, and the 400-meter relay team was fourth.

Card of Thanks

THANK YOU for all the flowers, food, many prayers and cards. Also thanks to Pastor Wood and Pastor Howard for their visits. It's nice to be remembered. Vernita Spencer. 13-5-15-1

MY "THANKS" to so many at, and after my auto accident the last of January, the excellent care and quick response by the ambulance personnel. How fortunate we are to have them. A special "thank you" to Ron Pawloski for being so efficient and caring. Dr. Jeung and nursing staff at Hills and Dales Hospital, my friends and relatives for prayers, cards, gifts and food. Your thoughtfulness is truly appreciated. Beatrice Baker. 13-5-15-1

WE WISH TO express our appreciation and thanks to the following people: Roger and Beverly Little for their excellent service, Rev. Harmon, Rev. Jordan and Rev. Wood for the beautiful service. Ladies of Cass City First Baptist, LaMotte and Cass City Missionary Churches for the fine meal after the service, Cass City ambulance and Hills and Dales Hospital for kindness shown, to all our neighbors, friends and relatives for the cards, flowers, plants, memorials and delicious food brought to our home. The family of Bruce Wentworth. 13-5-15-1

ABOUT 70 RIDERS participated in the 11th annual St. Jude's Bike-a-thon Saturday. Traffic was stopped at distance checkpoints along the 2.8 mile route to ensure the riders' safety.

Owen-Gage staff balks at proposed change

they're satisfied with the success of the arrangement, noting they've heard only positive comments from parents.

CONFIDENCE

Thies echoed D'Aoust's comments. "We have reached a level of confidence in our junior and senior high... that we have not had before in the 29 years I have been there. I do not see what is going to be accomplished by undoing what (we've) accomplished over the past 3 years."

Specific examples cited by Thies included students exhibiting a great deal more respect for one another, and demonstrating more attention to the business of learning rather than being disruptive in class.

About a third of the 18 persons in attendance Monday were teachers, including substitute Ruth Houghton, who commented the school has an arrangement that works. Teachers are afraid that a return to the old way will mean the return of old problems, she said.

"We feel positive steps have been made as far as discipline," Joanne Hopper, another teacher, remarked, adding the students have come to realize that education is the goal and fooling around won't be tolerated.

Following discussion, board members agreed to table the issue.

VERRIDE

In other business during the 3-hour regular meeting, the board heard a brief update on the upcoming annual school election from Kirby, who stated the board will conduct a Truth in Taxation hearing and seek voter approval this year to override the Headlee Amendment.

Without a Headlee override, the district will lose close to $100,000 in tax revenue stemming from an increase of more than $1.4 million in the district's state equalized valuation.

The superintendent noted the additional revenue is needed to offset a property tax freeze in 1992 and to help fund necessary capital improvement projects, including roofing work.

Last year, the board decided to accept the Headlee limitation, which rolled back the district's tax rate by about one and a half mills.

Also Monday, the board: *Approved a recommendation to continue the contract of physical education and social studies teacher Brian Wright.

*Met in executive session for more than 90 minutes to discuss negotiations with the Tri-County Bargaining Association regarding the position of director of the district's developmental preschool program. No action was taken following the meeting.

*Accepted with deep regret the resignation of Latheria Roe, who is retiring from her job as custodian at the high school after some 30 years of service.

*Approved the recommendation of senior David Thomas as "student of the month" for May.

*Heard a brief report from D'Aoust, who noted juniors' scores on the SAT have shown substantial improvement this year.

*Approved mission statements for the elementary and high schools in conjunction with the district's school improvement efforts.

*Designated Warack to cast the district's vote in the June 3 Huron Intermediate School District election. One 6-year term will be filled on the intermediate school board.

*Approved annual school election inspectors.

Steelworkers retirees meet

Steelworkers retirees Local 6222 - District 29-5 Soar Chapter met May 7 at the VFW Hall in Cass City for a potluck dinner and meeting.

An invitation was read from members of Retiree Chapter 12075, Midland, to join them at a picnic in Fisherville June 12.

Elections were held and officers remained the same. Tellers were Carol Gatham, Eunice Englehart and Wava Hallock.

A door prize was won by marg Zawilinski, 50-50 drawing winners were Carl Englehardt of Sebewaing and Marg Zawilinski of Cass City.

The group's next meeting will be held June 4.

Lutheran association sets meet

The Aid Association for Lutherans, Branch 7607, is sponsoring a program entitled "Waste Wise" May 21 at 7:30 p.m. at Jordan College. Adults and children attending the program can learn about the "3 Rs" of the 90s: recycling, reducing and reusing.

Highlights of the one-hour program will include an informative video on recycling, starring actor Jesse White (known for his role as the Maytag Repairman); free coloring books for children attending the program, and a family activity relating to one of the 3 Rs.

Each family will also receive a copy of the top-selling book, "50 Simple Things You Can Do to Save the Earth," as a special gift from the AAL.

Question hit, run driver

Sunday afternoon after the tractor he was driving in northeastern Akron Township went into a ditch and rolled over, pinning him underneath in a foot of water.

The victim, Gary F. Jacobs, 44, 3350 Wildner Rd., was driving west on Wildner Road at about 2:05 p.m. when the accident occurred, according to reports. Deputies said that when Jacobs approached the intersection with Forest Road, his tractor drove off the road into a 10-foot ditch.

Jacob was under water for an unknown period of time before help arrived, deputies said.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

In other accidents over the past week, troopers from the state police post in Caro reported that 2 area motorists sought their own treatment for minor injuries last Wednesday after their vehicles collided in Denmark Township.

According to reports, Leslie T. Hurd of Gageton was in the southbound lane of West Caro Road southwest of Bradford Road when he pulled into the path of an eastbound vehicle driven by William R. Lawrence of Decker.

No citation was issued in the 3:35 p.m. crash.

No injuries were reported in a 2-vehicle mishap Thursday near the intersection of Seeger and Main streets in Cass City.

Village police reported that northbound vehicles driven by Edward E. Thornton of Millington and Shirley A. Nolan of Cass City collided after Thornton made an improper U-turn. The incident occurred at 8 a.m.

About 2 hours later, Snover resident Darren J. Kilbourn reported hitting a deer while driving east on Bevans Road east of Hurds Corner Road in Wells Township, according to sheriff's deputies.

Over the weekend, Cass City police reported arresting a Deford motorist for driving with a suspended license.

Police arrested Christopher P. Zemke, 29, at about 5:14 p.m. Saturday near the intersection of Main Street and Doerr Road. He had been stopped for a traffic violation.

Owen-Gage seniors at May 2 meet

Thirty-five members of the Owen-Gage Senior Citizens Club met May 2 at St. Agatha's parish hall in Gageton for a potluck meal.

Stella Pisarek gave the dinner prayer, and 8 blood pressure readings were taken.

Get-well cards were signed and sent to Iva Volz, who had some stitches in her leg after a recent accident, and to Elizabeth Bartholomy, who is scheduled for surgery.

Club members also sang "Happy Birthday" to 5 members, and welcomed 2 guests, Judy Miklovich and Mary Kretzschmer.

A discussion about a craft show was tabled.

Door prizes were won by Orville Mallory and Mabel Ondrajka.

Pineapple Tidbits.

Monday - BBQ Rib Sandwich, Green Beans, Cole Slaw, Orange Jell-o w/ Chopped Apples.

Wednesday - Swedish Meatballs, Zucchini w/Tomato, Corn, Roll, Blueberry Pie.

Friday - Pork Chop, Mashed Potatoes, Broccoli, Cornmeal Muffin, Coconut Cake.
