Annual school elections Monday

Voters in the Cass City and Owen-Gage school systems will decide races for trustee seats in the annual school election Monday.

In addition, millage renewals are being sought in the Owen-Gage and Kingston districts, and voters in Cass City and Owen-Gage will be asked to approve Headlee overrides.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and remain open until 8 p.m.

Incumbent James Turner and newcomers Danny Haag and Marilyn Peters are vying for 2 1/2-year terms on the Cass City Board of Education.

The school board decided last month to seek an override of the Headlee Amendment, which would otherwise cut school revenues by $88,788.

In the Owen-Gage district, the same 2 candidates who faced off for a one-year term on the school board in last year's annual election will again vie for a single, 4-year term Monday.

Incumbent Rick Ziehm and former trustee Mary Ann Abbe are both seeking the board seat.

In last year's election, Ziehm narrowly defeated Abbe, 119-110, to win the one-year term. Previously, Abbe was appointed to the board after former trustee Pat Goslin resigned in July 1989. A month before that, she lost her bid for a second term on the board.

Also in Owen-Gage, voters are being asked to approve renewal of 9.75 mills for 5 years for operations, and to override Headlee in an effort to avert the loss of some $100,000 in tax revenue stemming from an increase in property values.

In the Kingston district, incumbent Trustee Jim Green is running unopposed for one 4-year term.

While no race is slated, Kingston voters will decide a millage renewal request of 3 mills for 5 years for operations.

No race is scheduled in the Uby Community School District, where only the incumbents, Harold Swartzentruber and J. Kevin O'Connor, are seeking 2 1/2-year terms on the school board.

Craig Carolan ordination set Saturday in Gagetown

A Gagetown man will realize his lifelong goal of becoming a Catholic priest this month in his hometown.

Deacon Craig Carolan will be ordained a priest for service in the Diocese of Brownsville, Texas, Saturday at St. Agatha Catholic Church in Gagetown. The 11 a.m. service will be conducted by Bishop John J. Fitzpatrick.

It will be the first ever ordination at the St. Agatha Parish. Carolan, 31, is the second man from the Gagetown parish to be ordained a priest. The first was the Rev. Joseph O'Rourke, who was ordained in Saginaw in 1948.

"I am excited about it because ordinations are rather rare these days," Carolan recently remarked of the upcoming ceremony. He explained that the number of persons going into the priesthood has diminished in recent years, leaving many dioceses across the United States wanting for priests.

For Carolan, the upcoming ceremony will mark the beginning of a life's work he has desired ever since he was a young boy attending St. Agatha's.

"My interest started out just by going to Mass every Sunday with my parents," he recalled, adding the teaching he received in Catholic school nurtured that desire.

Carolan's training for the priesthood has included both formal studies and field work.

The 1977 Owen-Gage High School graduate earned a bachelor's degree in Spanish from Saint Meinrad Seminary, Saint Meinrad, Ind., then served in the U.S. Navy for 4 years, from 1981 to 1985. He then completed his graduate studies in theology, receiving a master of divinity degree at Pontifical College Josephinum, Columbus, Ohio, this spring.

TEACHING

In addition, he has spent several summers working among and teaching migrant families in the northern states, served a year in pastoral ministry in the Valley of Our Lady of Guadalupe Parish, Brownsville, and recently completed studies in Clinical Pastoral Education at Valley Baptist Medical Center, Harlingen.

Carolan, the son of Francis and Evelyn Goslin and the late Paul A. Carolan, chose to transfer to the Diocese of Brownsville in 1988. He previously studied for the Diocese of Saginaw and the Diocese of Lafayette, Ind.

Looking back, he said he's faced some doubts, but with the help of prayer hasn't lost sight of his goals, although time has altered his plans somewhat.

"My outlook has changed. I guess I always saw myself as serving in a parish church in this Diocese in the beginning," Carolan said.

Those plans began to change, however, when Carolan took a field trip to Mexico during his fourth year at Saint Meinrad Seminary. The trip, he noted, sparked in him a desire to work in a Hispanic ministry.

POINT OF VIEW

"From that trip I got a different point of view of the world. I guess my view of the church became more universal," he recalled, "but at the same time it brought a lot of doubts to my mind."

After graduating from Saint Meinrad Seminary, Carolan decided to join the Navy, a move that was mostly unplanned but which provided a change, and time to work out his doubts.

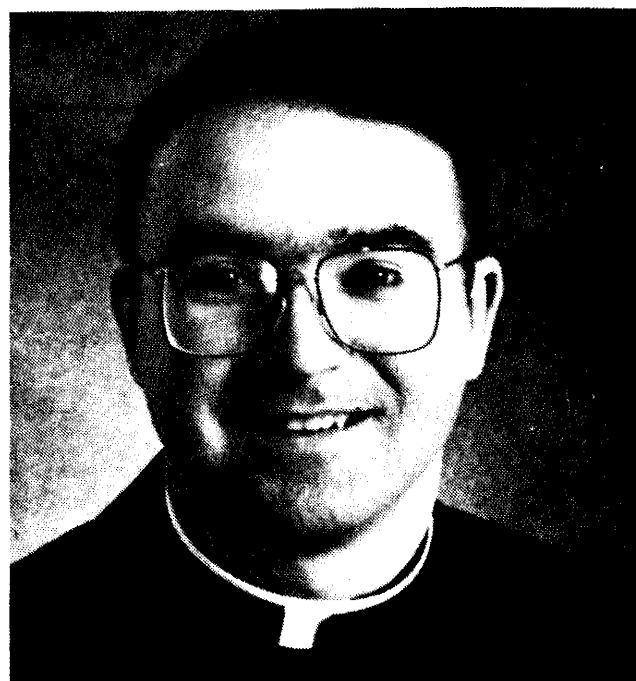

He later continued his studies at Pontifical College Josephinum, where another experience furthered his interest in an Hispanic ministry.

As part of his degree requirements, Carolan took part in a 9-week "field education" experience in Willard, Ohio, where he ministered to migrant workers and Hispanic members of a Catholic parish.

Following his ordination, Carolan will serve as a parochial vicar at the Christ the King Church in Brownsville, an area that is predominately Hispanic. "It's a large church with a mission attached to it," he said, adding his work will revolve around assisting the pastor of the parish. "The primary work will be saying masses and taking care of the sacramental needs of the people."

Carolan said the pastor also is open to his interests, which include evangelization.

Before leaving, however, Carolan will have an opportunity to say his first Mass at St. Agatha's, set for 11 a.m. Sunday. He'll also say Mass the following Sunday at the Holy Family Church in Sebawing, and then make a stop in Willard, Ohio, on his way to Brownsville.

Officials predict welfare cuts will be devastating

by Nancy Salla
Staff Writer

General Assistance recipients received a temporary financial stay of execution in their mailboxes after the state issued the June allowances Thursday.

Area officials say the Thumb region will be devastated if the stream of future checks is dried up in Gov. John Engler's attempt to balance the state's budget.

In accordance with Michigan's constitution requiring a balanced budget, Engler in December proposed a 9.2 percent cut for all governmental activities to eliminate the state's $311 million deficit. The economic shortfall increased to $1.2 billion after tacking on 1991's fiscal year budget.

The governor's plan to redirect monies saved from reducing the state-funded General Assistance to cover the state's inability to provide Medicaid during August and September has since been tied up in legislative court battles debating Engler's authority to make such transfers.

The toll percentage cuts will have on assistance recipients compounds daily until the court reaches a decision, said Tom Dillon, Tuscola County director of social services.

"The court is running the state and that's not the way it was designed," Dillon said. "The governor and the legislature need to resolve their differences and determine what coverage will be allowed."

SEVERE REDUCTIONS

If the General Assistance cuts stand as proposed, Huron County will eliminate 98 percent of its grants. Tuscola and Sanilac counties will follow closely with 91 and 84 percent cuts, respectively.

The 3 area counties have a comparable portion of General Assistance dependents with respect to population. Tuscola and Huron report 12.5 percent of citizens are recipients, with Sanilac County claiming 12 percent.

Dillon said only the disabled and families with dependent children will continue receiving financial aid from the state via the new State Disability Assistance and State Family Assistance programs.

Approximately 800 of the current 876 Tuscola County General Assistance recipients would be cut from the roster as physically capable to work. Huron County will eliminate 368 of 376 people and Sanilac will eliminate 535 grants out of 635.

Medicaid and food stamps still will be available to those who qualify.

Dillon said Tuscola County would be devastated by the cuts in light of the area's current economic suppression.

"The recession of the early 1980s has never left Tuscola County," he said.

"We are an agricultural development area and bedroom agency to the auto industry. Only once in the past decade have we had a year without double-digit unemployment."

FEWER JOBS

The county's current unemployment level skyrocketed from 12 percent in January to 18.3 percent in March, said a Michigan Employment Security Commission spokesperson. March's rate was a 7 percent increase over March 1990's figure.

Huron and Sanilac counties also report the inflated March unemployment rates of 16.8 and 18.1 percent, respectively. The state's accumulative March unemployment figure was 11 percent.

Tuscola County's rapid and seasonal unemployment cycle spells added trouble for the one in 8 people who depend on social assistance programs.

"People employed in Tuscola County do fairly well, but there are not a lot of opportunities for those looking for jobs," Dillon said.

"Most of the recipients are honestly looking for work and see the program only as a temporary bridge between jobs," he added.

Statistics mirror Dillon's comments with 45 percent of all Tuscola County's assistance recipients depending on programs for less than one year, 34 percent for one to 3 years and 21 percent more than 3 years.

The majority of Huron and Sanilac county recipients also have received General Assistance less than one year.

Dillon said the Department

"And then tell the child he can't even buy a pack of gum because his $1.45 for the day is all gone?"

of Social Services has stopped its former service of vending, or directly paying the landlords of General Assistance recipients until the court announces the program's fate. All shelter payments are slated to end July 1.

He added the office stands ready to halt General Assistance check distributions about 27 hours after state notification to do so.

All 3 counties' DSS said they have received numerous calls from public assistance recipients asking, "Since we can't find any work, what do we do now?"

"We are certainly going to see homeless people as a result of this," Dillon said. "The people most harmed are those without resources and have no place to go."

OTHER PROGRAMMING CUTS

Although General Assistance has been Engler's

main target for cuts, other social programs also are tightening their budget belts. Aid to Dependent Children was trimmed by 17 percent, Medicaid may experience a 30 percent cut in long-term care as well as possible reductions in child welfare programs.

The 23.52 percent cut in family foster care rates has frustrated 2 Tuscola County foster parents and left them unsure of the future.

Although area residents Virgil and Beverly Chambers have less than one year's experience with the program, they said cuts in the already low state funding make it even more difficult to adequately care for the abused children they welcome into their home.

"There's a big misconception about foster parents getting the money and spending it on themselves instead of the kids," Beverly said, pointing to a chart on which the state daily allows a teenage youth $2.04 for personal incidentals and 62 cents for clothing.

The state monthly allocates foster parents $236.60 and $296.52 to meet the needs of children 12 and under, and 13 to 18-year-olds, respectively.

Raising foster-care youths is an expensive undertaking since the majority of them did not have, or are unable to keep their clothes or possessions from their natural homes.

"A lot of these kids come from druggie parents who never bought their kids stuff, or sell it to get dope," explained Virgil, adding a young child he now cares for was brought directly from school without any items after school officials discovered he was being physically

Novesta plans work on roads

The Novesta Township Board approved measures to improve township roads during a monthly meeting Monday night.

Township Clerk Nurse Kloc said the board voted to seek an estimate from the Tuscola County Road Commission for grading, graveling and ditching of 1 3/4 miles of Dodge Road. The secondary road improvements will cover a section of road from Shabbona Road south, she added.

Also, board members agreed to have all township roads graveled where needed. Kloc, who noted township Supervisor Maynard Stine and a representative of the road commission previously checked roads in the township, said the work involves $14,000 worth of pit run gravel and $9,000 worth of crushed gravel.

In a related matter, the board signed a ditch petition for Larry Bulla involving some 2,000 feet of roadside ditch on the south side of Shabbona Road at the corner of Cemetery and Shabbona roads.

In other business during the 2-hour session, board members discussed a doublewide house trailer that has been

Cass City businesses

Report 3 break-ins

Last week's heavy rains were followed by break-ins at 3 Cass City businesses, village police reported.

The individual(s) responsible, however, got away with little cash or property, according to reports, which state the incidents occurred during the evening hours of May 28 or early morning hours of May 29.

Robert J. Gornowicz reported someone entered

Copeland and Gornowicz Inc., 6539 Main St., by prying open a rear entry door, and took $62 in cash from a desk drawer at the business.

Police noted a bank bag containing $84, found under the desk, was not touched, however.

Also broken into was the Ben Franklin Store, 6520 Main St., where someone broke a rear window and entered an office area, but was unable to gain access into a desk.

David Osentoski of Osentoski Realty, 6401 Main St., reported someone pried open a west side window at the business. Nothing was found missing, however, police reported, noting no cash is left in the building after business hours.

The break-ins remain under investigation.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Welter

Sandra Kay Guinther and Andrew James Welter exchanged wedding vows March 23 at the Bossler Mansion in Dayton, Ohio. Rev. Richard Thompson performed the ceremony.

Bridal attendants were Sheila Nagarsenker of Dayton and Ann Outwater of Bradley Beach, N. J., the groom's cousin. Attending the groom were his brother, Chuck Welter of Bowie, Md., and Tony Feldkamp of Dayton.

A reception at the mansion, with about 100 attending, followed the ceremony. Don Smith, friend of the couple, made the wedding cake.

Both the bride and groom are employed at Mead Data Central in Dayton.

The bride is the daughter of Stan and Melva Guinther of Cass City, and the groom is the son of Charlie and Helen Welter of Bowie, Md.

The couple are living in Dayton following a 5-day honeymoon cruise to the Bahamas plus several days at Key West, Fla.

They will be honored at an open house at the Stan Guinther home in Cass City Saturday, July 6, from 4 to 7 p.m.

Baptist church slates VBS

The First Baptist Church of Cass City will hold its annual Vacation Bible School June 10-14 from 9 to 11:30 a.m. at the church, 6420 Houghton St.

The theme of this year's program is "God Bless America: Our American Heritage Revisited."

Area children ages 2 through 12 are welcome to attend. Transportation is available by calling 872-3155.

Milk sales

Milk sales account for one quarter of Michigan's total farm cash receipts, according to United Dairy Industry of Michigan officials.

Health alert

by Melva E. Guinther

The Mayo Clinic Health Letter has issued another alert. This time the culprit is lead crystal.

According to the report, if food or beverage is stored in lead crystal containers, potentially harmful amounts of lead can leach out of the glass.

Although the article deals primarily with wine decanters, I would guess that lead crystal bowls, etc., could also be risky.

Researchers at Columbia University reported that wine stored in crystal containers for 4 months had absorbed up to 200 times the level of lead that the Environmental Protection Agency considers hazardous in water.

They also found that when wine was poured into crystal goblets, lead seepage began within minutes. The experts say that while there's little danger from occasionally sipping beverages from crystal goblets, crystal decanters should be saved for short term use at the table, not for storage.

The same advice applies to any high acid beverages, which cause seepage. Orange juice can cause significant leaching from a lead crystal glass or baby bottle, according to the report. Low acid liquids, such as milk, are not a problem.

Some effects of lead poisoning are gout, high blood pressure and kidney damage.

Also, just in time for the outdoor grilling season, the Health Letter points out that hamburger that is red in the middle is unsafe to eat. Because hamburger is handled more than most meats, bacteria that are present on the surface of larger cuts can spread throughout the multiplied surfaces in hamburger, enlarging the contaminated area.

It's a good time to review the oft repeated advice for summer food safety. Keep hot foods hot, cold foods cold, and everything clean. It's especially important to keep cutting boards sanitary. Acrylic surfaces are easier to keep free of bacteria than wood. If wood cutting boards are used, it's important to wash them first with hot soapy water, then with a solution of 2 tablespoons of chlorine bleach to one quart of water.

Separate cutting boards should be used for preparing raw meats and vegetables to be served raw, or they should be washed thoroughly between steps.

The Letter also recommends dividing leftover meat into small portions for rapid cooling, and placing them in the refrigerator as soon as possible after a meal.

Cooked meat and meat dishes will keep for 3 or 4 days, if refrigerated. If you don't anticipate using them within that time, it's best to freeze them.

I've often wondered how long after eating contaminated food you suffer a reaction. How can you be sure that distress is caused by something you ate, as opposed to a touch of the flu?

According to The Health Letter, symptoms can appear anywhere from 30 minutes to 2 weeks later, depending on the specific bacteria and your individual health. A brief episode of diarrhea is the most common result of eating bad food. There may also be nausea, vomiting, fever and cramps.

Rest and drinking lots of liquids are recommended if you suspect food contamination. If, however, symptoms are severe, you are elderly, pregnant or already ill, you should see your doctor immediately.

It seems reasonable to follow the experts' advice to ensure food safety, rather than mar an otherwise glorious summer with an incident that could have been avoided.

Zonta Club airs meet

The Zonta Club of Cass City met May 21 with Marilyn Peters as its guest.

Peters is a candidate for the School Board and is involved with a fine arts camp for the fourth, fifth and sixth graders that will be held the week of June 10.

Connie McNaughton was initiated and welcomed as a new member, and officers for the coming year were installed. Connie Schwadner was installed as president, and Shirley Buschlen and Jeri Tordai were installed as members of the board. Kathy McDougall and Colleen Crowley were unable to make the meeting because of other commitments, but will be installed as vice president and treasurer in June.

The recipients of the club's scholarship checks are Kathleen Bolton of Cass City and Melissa Anne Copeland of Owen-Gage. Both will receive their awards when they start college in the fall.

The valedictorians of both schools received the Theasaurus, which was given to them on their honor nights.

In the course of business, members voted to send a check for $100 to Rawson Memorial Library to help with updating at the facility.

Sibling classes offered

Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, will offer a sibling preparation class June 22 in the hospital's north conference room.

The class is an informal session for children and their parents who are expecting a new baby in their home, to help them prepare for the new arrival. Included will be a slide presentation, story, video, craft, a snack and time for discussion. A tour of the obstetrical department will also be included. Children are asked to bring a baby doll to practice with. There will be a small charge. More information and registration are available by contacting Ann Booms at 269-9360.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

In the storm last Tuesday, some areas were battered by hail. One of them was at the Evelyn Witkovsky residence, 5 3/4 miles north of Cass City. To prove the point, she captured one, froze it and brought it to the Chronicle the next day. It measured 1 1/4 and 1 1/2 inches. There were lots of them this size in our yard, Witkovsky confided.

For the second time in my 40 years at the Chronicle, I was visited at home by members of a sports team at Cass City High School.

The first came in the 1960's when I wrote a critical article about the football team, which had failed to win and looked especially bad in the home game immediately preceding the article.

What the team did the following Friday was score a tremendous upset in a Thumb B Association game and then the school bus stopped in front of my house to give me the raspberries, hooting and hollering and having a grand old time.

The second time was last week when a carload of softball players, led by Sharie DeLong, came to the house to announce that they had won not only the first game after I had left with the team 9 runs behind and one inning to go, but also the second after being 10 runs behind.

What can I say? How about pizzas for the team following the games Saturday, win or lose?

An effort like this needs to be commemorated. Take charge here, Dave Hoard, (coach) and send the Chronicle the bill.

"If It Fitz...."

Fisticuffs happen?

By Jim Fitzgerald

During a phone call responding to a recent column, in which I ranked Democratic state Sens. John Kelly and Gil DiNello in the same brawlers' bracket, Kelly called me unfair for "tarring me with the same brush" used on DiNello.

Kelly also accused me — and other Free Press writers — of picking on him simply because he opposed the joint operating agreement between the Free Press and the News.

"I was assaulted," Kelly said, referring to the recent fistfight he and DiNello had on the Senate floor while visiting school children admired their statesmanship. "I was only defending myself" against an attack by a bigger man. There were plenty of witnesses to verify his version of the battle, that DiNello started it by grabbing him around the neck, Kelly said.

OK, assault is against the law, as any lawmaker knows. Why didn't Kelly have DiNello arrested? He could still file charges; it's not too late.

"It would just be more for the press to have a field day over," Kelly said, adding vague charges that DiNello attacked him because DiNello was suffering from "a bad day" and "personal problems" and Kelly didn't really want to punish him with anything worse than a defensive punch in the face.

HOW TO HANDLE FISTICUFFS

Besides, fisticuffs sometimes happen when otherwise reasonable people temporarily lose their cool, Kelly said, suggesting that I'd probably seen newspaper colleagues succumb to physical debate.

Nope. In more than 40 years of regular contact with journalists, I've never seen one take a swing at another, or even grab a stupid editor around the fat neck. However -- let's be fair -- there were recent news reports of former Free Press reporter Joe Lapointe, now a New York Times sports correspondent, and WJR sports director Frank Beckmann tussling in a Dearborn bar while I wasn't there, dam it. Like Kelly, Lapointe said he'd been assaulted by a bigger man.

But Lapointe didn't just say it. Acting like a responsible law-abiding citizen, not a lawmaker, Lapointe filed assault charges against Beckmann, who denied them. Police investigated and decided there was no cause for action. Justice done, case closed. It could have been a civics lesson for school children.

Also, it's well known in local journalistic circles that Lapointe was an active opponent of the JOA. But he didn't whine that this stance was the only reason the Free Press reported his embarrassing saloon adventure. Maybe Lapointe would like to run for the state Senate.

According to my "Michigan Politics" file, I've been occasionally writing insulting opinions of legislators since 1950, when I attended my first session of the House of Representatives. I watched with growing surprise while the House speaker declared legislative business suspended so members could be entertained by a musical combo that one of the representatives brought back from his favorite bar, after drinking lunch.

MIND MADE UP WAY BEFORE JOA

So it's provably ridiculous for Kelly to suggest I had to wait 40 years for the JOA debate to motivate me to write that when 2 senators brawl, they're both a disgrace, no matter which one took the first neck grab. Kelly was barely born when I first formed an opinion of legislators, and I still have it: Most of them are decent people, but usually too reluctant to do anything terminal about the jerk members who give them all a lousy reputation. Also, it's a rare lawmaker that has guts enough to insist that legislators stop accepting handouts from lobbyists eager to buy their support.

Finally, and in further fairness, it should be noted that Kelly is often accused of being a publicity hound, and he doesn't like it. So he stressed that he didn't phone me in search of ink, but only to voice his complaint "as one human being to another." So let it be known by one and all that today's column isn't Kelly's idea, it's mine.

I had to do it on the slight chance that something I wrote might influence Kelly to file assault charges against DiNello. I've long thought DiNello should be locked up, for the good of the state.

MADD set to sponsor summer safety program.

Summer in Michigan means millions of miles traveled and dozens of deaths in just a few short months because of alcohol-impaired driving.

That is why Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) is sponsoring the summertime K.I.S.S. campaign — Keep It a Safe Summer. The upbeat public awareness effort is launched over the Memorial Day weekend, the traditional beginning of summer activities in Michigan, and continues to Labor Day weekend.

The 3-month summer safety program aims at making motorists and boaters more aware of the dangers of drinking and driving, on the road or on the water. This additional sober driving emphasis by MADD comes during the warm vacation months when travel and recreation are at their peaks.

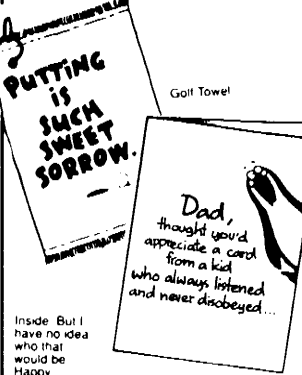

K.I.S.S. promotes personal responsibility through a variety of programs and activities, with fun and friendly ways to keep summer fun alive. A variety of promotional materials are available, filled with ideas on how to make summer-safety a permanent part of gatherings and outings.

In light of recent legislative action moving toward passage of significant drunk driving reforms, Bethany Goodman, MADD, Michigan Executive Director commented, "It would be a great way to start summer and we'd really have something to celebrate if we could lay the life-saving, anti-drunk driving reform package on the governor's desk for his signature in early June."

MADD chapters across Michigan will carry out the K.I.S.S. campaign along with the other 400-plus MADD chapters nationwide.

Therapist Harmon Dillard, George Baranic share credit in recovery

by Nancy Salla
Staff Writer

Each party praises the other as the reason George Baranic can walk.

Pale, thin and unable to move, many people thought the elderly man was going to die. After having 3 major surgeries since 1989 and undergoing extensive physical therapy, however, the 79-year-old said he hasn't felt this good in more than 40 years.

As a child growing up in the Reese area, Baranic recalled "always being sick with one bug or another." Although the seriousness and rate of his childhood maladies increased, his family never sought medical treatment for what doctors have recently diagnosed as early symptoms of arthritis. "In those days, if you had a pain, you didn't go to the doctor," he explained. "You just stayed inside the house."

Although Baranic eventually learned to cope with the constant pain of a chronic backache and weakening legs, a mysterious and undiagnosed illness left him totally deaf for 2 years.

Baranic married in 1939 and moved to the Gagetown area a few years later to begin farming. Despite his pain, he managed to not only work his own 160 acre farm, but 940 additional acres with the help of a neighbor.

Baranic did exactly that, struggling through his daily chores which seemed to become more and more difficult. He did not retire from farming until "it became too much for him" in 1975 at the age of 63.

Doctors now say that for most of his life Baranic suffered from osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis, a degeneration of muscle tissue and Paget's disease which bowed his knees, making him walk on the outer edges of his feet for decades, and slowly stealing his mobility.

At the height of his suffering in the mid-1980s, Baranic was unable to walk and could barely move. Improved medical technology told him what doctors were unsure of 40 years earlier - the cartilage in his knees and lower back was destroyed.

Baranic underwent reconstructive knee surgery in 1988 and 1989 at Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe. Artificial rod implants replaced both legs' bones from mid-thigh to mid-calf. Dr. Douglas Pankratz, an orthopedic surgeon in Bad Axe, performed the operations and was able to save the original knee caps to help Baranic's body function with the implants.

Baranic reportedly recovered remarkably well and experienced little pain from both knee surgeries. It was his third operation - lumbar spinal surgery - which put him in a wheelchair and proved to be the most difficult to bounce back from.

IMPROVEMENTS THROUGH THERAPY

Back surgery left Baranic so weak he was unable to roll over in bed when he first met certified physical therapist Harmon Dillard. As a New York City native who has been practicing since 1973, Dillard knew he was unable to predict Baranic's ability to recover but was very impressed with the patient's attitude.

"He wasn't a guy who was willing to stay ill and commenced to work very hard," recalled Dillard, a Cass City resident.

In August the therapist began visiting Baranic in his home, trying to slowly restore the range of motions arthritis and the operations took from him.

"The surgeries were obviously good ones, but they left him very weak," Dillard said. "He began in the lowest range of strength and wasn't able to straighten his knees at all."

Dillard continued the personal visits, re-teaching Baranic how to sit, stand and walk by strengthening the lower back muscles with exercises.

Therapy is beneficial only in medical cases with bodies that retain healing capabilities, Dillard said. A patient's mental and emotional reactions to their impairment, however, are "the challenge of the job and a part of the process of making people better." Dillard said Baranic's healthy, positive attitude provided a basis for the patient's body to recover.

"I'd rather work with a well-motivated 80-year-old than a poorly motivated 16-year-old, and the 80-year-old would probably have better success," he added.

CERTIFIED PHYSICAL THERAPIST
Harmon Dillard (right) began home care sessions with Gagetown resident George Baranic in August after Baranic's back surgery. The 79-year-old can now walk with crutches and is treated weekly through Hills and Dales' outpatient program.

Library announces full schedule of summer activities

A full schedule of activities is planned for area children this summer at Rawson Memorial Library in Cass City.

The first event is a special program to be presented by the Living Science Foundation Friday at Campbell Elementary School.

A team of specialists from the foundation make science come alive through hands-on contact with animals and plants from all over the world. There is no charge for the program, but children must register and get a ticket from the library.

More information is available by calling the library at 872-2856.

Children may begin signing up today (Wednesday) for the "Read on the Wild Side" summer reading club. They will receive a reading log and book bag when they sign up, and will get stickers for each book they read. Children are encouraged to read at least 10 books by the end of July.

In addition, each Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. (June 12 through July 17) a story hour will be held for children ages 4 through the fourth grade.

Movies "On the Wild Side" will be shown at the library every Monday (June 10 - July 22). Flyers with the movies to be shown each week are available at the library.

Each child signing up for the reading club will receive a packet of tickets to be used for drawings each week.

The final event of the summer will be the "Magic and Mury Show" by The Incredible Keith, set for July 24. More information about this event will be available later in the summer.

Your neighbor says

I don't mind hot summer weather

It seems the streets of Cass City have been deserted this week around high noon. The hot weather has sent people scurrying into air conditioned stores and restaurants, and provided an excuse for people at home to fan themselves with open refrigerator doors.

Many people consider Memorial Day as the first unofficial day of summer. This year's holiday proved no disappointment by providing parade-goers with a sunny 86 degrees.

Wastewater Treatment Plant recorded an average high of 85 degrees from Memorial Day to Friday. Although the plant doesn't record humidity percentages, an employee responded, "It's been high, just ask anybody."

Humidity reached 100 percent several times last week with almost daily reports of scattered showers and thunderstorms. The facility recorded 1.7 inches of rain the week of May 27 - 31. May brought 6.22 inches of rain to our area. One person who has been weathering the heat well is your neighbor, Cindy Cybulski.

Cybulski said Mother Nature helped her keep cool by giving the Cass City resident a lower-than-average body temperature.

"I don't mind the hot weather, I kind of like it," she said. "It's a lot better than winter."

The 26-year-old added the on-again, off-again sunshine has inspired her to begin a physical fitness program which includes running one mile every morning.

Keep it clean, keep it cold

By Barbara Neuman
Extension Home Economist

Warm weather and the end of the school year call for picnic lunches and eating out-of-doors. The cardinal food safety rule to remember when packing a picnic lunch is KEEP IT CLEAN AND KEEP IT COLD.

When going on a picnic or traveling with food, keep all perishables in a cooler with ice or freeze-pack inserts until serving time. Make sure that food is cold or frozen to the touch before placing it in the cooler. When preparing a "bag lunch" that will be eaten within a few hours, pack it into an insulated bag along with a small freeze-pack insert to keep the food cold.

A paper bag is not suitable for perishable foods unless it can be stored in a cooler or under refrigeration. Use a picnic basket for non-perishables such as chips, bread products, paper products and utensils.

Be sure to put a picnic

The human body is built around a frame containing 206 bones. The whole works is linked together with 60,000 miles of blood vessels.

lunch in the coolest place possible, don't leave it in direct sun or in a warm car.

When deciding on foods to take along on your picnic, choose cured meats such as ham, lunch meats and hot dogs because they are processed and less susceptible to food poisoning bacteria. Eggs and egg-rich foods are best eaten at home and not included in picnic lunches. Raw whole fruits are a good choice. The only preparation they require is washing with plain water to remove surface dirt and pesticide residues.

Fresh vegetables are also excellent choices to go along with sandwiches. Fresh vegetable sticks can be prepared ahead and packaged with ice cubes in plastic containers. They will be fresh and crisp and the melted water can be used for hand washing or cleanup.

It is a wise "picnic packer" that plans to take along just enough food to eliminate the problem of leftovers. It is best to feed leftovers to the birds and beasts. Once food has been out on the picnic table for a couple of hours the bacteria multiplies rapidly, especially at temperatures between 60 degrees and 125 degrees F. Don't spoil a perfectly good picnic by carrying home a potential case of food poisoning.

Remember the cardinal food rule for picnics -- clean and cold.

WALKING AGAIN

Remarkable progress has been made in the 9 months since Baranic's operation in August. A patient who entered into therapy unable to move, he can now walk with the aid of a walker or Canadian crutches attached to his forearms. Unable to lift his legs before therapy, Baranic is now daily performing varying leg lifts in sets of 30 repetitions with 9-pound ankle weights.

Surgery and therapy have helped Baranic return to his former lifestyle and have him looking forward to giving golf lessons from his personal cart named "Gorgeous George."

There's little doubt the patient's walking can be attributed to the hard work of both Baranic and Dillard, but both parties point at each other when asked who is the reason for the patient's walking.

"With Harmon's help I've also made 21 shuffles between the parallel bars," Baranic said excitedly.

"His age was less of a problem with him because he was so motivated," said Dillard. "I am very happy at the progress George has made."

Writer's Club meets twice monthly

The Thumb Area Writer's Club will now meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month until further notice. This month the meeting dates are Tuesday, June 11, and Tuesday, June 25, at 7:30 p.m.

The meetings are held at the County Conference Rooms located at 37 Austin Street, Sandusky.

Writers needing encouragement in their creative endeavors are urged to attend both meetings.

Everyone is welcome. You do not have to be a member to attend.

New books at the library

THE MOSCOW CLUB by Joseph Finder (fiction). A secret group called the Moscow Club, are hardliners who want to overthrow Mikhail Gorbachev. Hero of the story is Charlie Stone, an analyst for the CIA - "tall, rangy, with a prominent jaw." The assignment is a personal one for Stone because this evil conspiracy is somehow linked to an episode years ago when his father was branded as a traitor by Senator Joseph McCarthy. Charlie becomes the target of would-be assassins across the U.S. and Europe, is framed for murder, but in the end - as in all thrillers - saves the world from global disaster.

FORGIVING by LaVyrle Spencer (fiction). Sarah Merritt journeys to the Dakota Territory to establish Deadwood's first newspaper and to find her sister Addie, who's become a prostitute. On her second day in town, Sarah incites a riot, causes a man to be shot, and is thrown in jail by handsome but bullheaded Marshal Noah Campbell. She also manages to get the first edition of the Deadwood Chronicle into production. Sister, Addie, must regain her self-worth, destroyed by her father's incestuous attentions; Sarah must come to grips with her father's depravity, though she worshiped him; the marshal tries to accept that a woman can be intelligent and successful in her own right, without the benefit of male assistance, and Robert, who wants to be Addie's husband, has to stop admiring her from afar and actually declare his love.

Bulldog bats were silent. The Bulldogs were defeated Saturday, 10-1, by powerful Bay City All Saints.

The Cougars' junior chucker, Colleen Tasiemski, tossed a 4-hitter and her teammates backed her with a 10-hit attack.

The winners broke open a tight game in the third. Leading, 2-0, going into the inning, they scored 4 times to take a 6-0 lead and remove most of the doubt about the game.

Vicki Ricker started on the mound for the Bulldogs and pitched 15 innings, allowing 7 hits and walking 6. Michelle Tkacz pitched one inning, walked one and allowed one run and no hits.

Ricker, Marilyn Abfalter, Carli Salcido and Aimee Merchant picked up the Owen-Gage hits. The Bulldogs ended the year with a 13-7 record.

All Saints defeated Kingston in the finals to take the title. The Cardinals topped North Huron in the opening game, a team that had beat them twice in league play, both by lopsided scores.

HDC to host health fair

The Human Development Commission will host its Tuscola County Senior Citizens' Health Fair, June 28, from 12 noon until 4:00 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Parish Center, 910 W. Frank St. Caro.

Features of this annual event, which is open to seniors (60 years and older) and their spouses, include: displays by area health-care agencies and other businesses serving the senior market, blood pressure checks, hearing and vision screening and more. Many "take-home" pamphlets will be available and, of course, questions will be answered.

THE OWEN-GAGE SPRING SPORTS Most Valuable Players are: Mickey Parks - track, Vicki Ricker - softball, track and volleyball, and Mike Kady - baseball and basketball.

THE OWEN-GAGE SPRING SPORTS Most Improved Players are: Connie Miller - track, Kathy Wildman - volleyball, Brad Neister - basketball, Greg Smith - track and baseball. Missing is Marilyn Abfalter - softball.

Cass City girls wrap up season

The Cass City girls' track team wrapped up the season with placings in the Caro Meet of Champions Tuesday, May 28, and the state finals Saturday.

At Caro, the 400-meter relay team of Jennifer Romstad, Nicola Kuperus, Amy Ross and Jodi LaRoche finished 7th.

Romstad was 4th in the 100-meter hurdles and 5th in the 300-meter hurdles. LaRoche was 4th in the 100-meter dash and 4th in the long jump.

At the state finals, Romstad ran her best time of the season (49.0) in the 1300-meter hurdles and finished 11th.

LaRoche broke her own school record in the long jump with a leap of 16 feet, 9 3/4 inches, placing 6th.

For Hawk softball team

Incredible! Miracle finishes win district

No script writer would dare try to fashion an ending where the winning team comes from 9 and 10 runs behind in successive games to win. Too far-fetched to be believed.

But the truth is sometimes stranger than fiction and the Cass City Red Hawk softball team did just that. Came from behind in both games to successfully defend its district softball title.

The victim in the first game was Harbor Beach, which fell in 10 innings, 17-15. The game might not have been as close if Hawk pitchers were able to find the plate. In the 10-inning game Hawk hurlers gave up 27 walks.

It was a strange game. Jennifer Fruendt started the game and, after holding the Pirates at bay in the first inning, was unable to find the plate in the second, walking the first 4 batters she faced before being relieved by Sharie DeLong. DeLong got out of the inning with just 2 more runs scoring for Harbor Beach.

The Pirates continued to add to the lead as the game progressed with 3 runs in the third, one in the fourth, 3 more in both the sixth and seventh.

Meanwhile Jeanne Guza, Pirate chucker, was living a charmed life as the Hawks loaded the bases in the fourth and fifth innings only to come up short as hard hit balls were hit directly at Pirate players.

Cass City scored a run in the sixth but it looked as if it didn't mean much. After all, Cass City was behind by 9 runs going into their half of the last inning. That's when the first miracle of the afternoon occurred. Six hits, 2 walks, an error and a hit batter did the damage and the game went into extra innings.

Fruendt was called back to the mound, found her control and held the Pirates to one run in the 3 extra innings to earn the rare distinction of being knocked out of the box, leaving the game behind and still getting credit for the win in the same game.

Jandi Hillaker led the Hawks with 5 hits and 3 runs-batted-in in 8 trips. Jennifer Fruendt helped her own cause with a hit in the 10th inning and Stephanie Leitterman also provided a key blow in the game-winning rally.

CASS CITY

Box Score: (at bat, runs, hits).

Jandi Hillaker, 8-1-5; Jodi Hillaker, 5-1-2; DeLong, 6-1-2; Churchill 6-0-1; Morley, 6-3-3; Santos, 7-3-3; Kubacki, 5-2-3; Fruendt, 5-3-3; Leitterman, 5-1-3. Totals 55-17-25.

HARBOR BEACH

USA GAME

The championship game was almost a carbon copy of the win in the first game.

There were a few differences. Instead of coming from 9 runs behind, the Hawks came from 10 runs down to win 14-13. Instead of staging a last inning rally to win, the team did it with big fourth and fifth inning splurges to set the stage for the winning rally in the seventh.

Fruendt started and was relieved in the third after losing control again and walking the first 3 batters she faced in the inning. DeLong, who did a yeoman job in relief in the first game, was effective against the Patriots and this time was credited with the win.

Both girls were worn out at the end of the game. I don't know how either of them could have been able to pitch one more batter, Coach Dave Hoard said, smiling.

Cass City was helped by some shoddy USA fielding in the big rally and was able to take advantage of it with some timely hitting by Fruendt, Janet Kubacki and Keri Santos, with 3 hits each in the big scoring innings.

CASS CITY

Jandi Hillaker, 4-2-3; Jodi Hillaker, 5-1-0; DeLong, 5-0-1; Benitez, 5-1-2; Morley, 5-1-3; Santos, 4-2-3; Kubacki, 5-2-2; Fruendt, 5-3-3; Leitterman, 4-2-1. Totals 42-14-18.

Regionals: Cass City vs. Eagles

It's possible that the upset-minded Cass City Red Hawks will get another crack at Thumb B Association league champs Marlette Saturday and Coach Dave Hoard and his never-say-die girls would welcome the opportunity.

Marlette and Cass City are 2 of the 4 teams scheduled to play Saturday in the regional softball class C tournament at Saginaw Nouvel. The other 2 are Goodrich and Frankenmuth.

If form is followed, Marlette should have a better chance of advancing to the finals than Cass City. That's because the Red Raiders meet Goodrich in the opening tourney game at 10 a.m.

Cass City meets perennial powerhouse Frankenmuth at 12:30. The final to earn the right to advance is scheduled at about 3 p.m.

The Hawks will be definite underdogs, but then they were in the same position entering the districts.

Elect 3 Hawks to Thumb B all-star team

Thumb B Conference champions Marlette, with 5 players, dominated the league all-conference softball first team as picked by league coaches. Cass City, which finished fourth, had 3 players on the first team and 3 others that received honorable mention.

Harold Titus, Marlette, was named coach of the year.

Making the dream team from Cass City were Jandi Hillaker, first base; Shelly Mellendorf, outfield, and Jodi Hillaker, infield.

The Hawks had no players on the second team. Honorable mention honors went to Sharie DeLong, pitcher, Jodi Benitez, catcher, and Kim Morley, infield. Jennifer Fruendt was an at-large selection.

The complete squads:

Bear licenses are available for '91

1991 bear hunting license applications are now available at license dealers and selected Department of Natural Resources offices.

A total of 5,519 harvest licenses, an increase of 32 percent over 1990, will be distributed among the state's 8 bear hunting management units - 7 in the Upper Peninsula and one in the Lower Peninsula.

Season dates, which vary according to hunt periods within the management units, are Sept. 10 to Oct. 21. Hunters will be selected by a computer drawing, which incorporates a preference system that gives last year's unsuccessful applicants and new applicants a greater chance at receiving a license.

The license fee for resident applicants, other than senior license holders and comprehensive lifetime license holders, is $14.35; for non-resident applicants the fee is $150.35. There will be no charge for comprehensive lifetime license holders or seniors with a valid senior hunt license.

Comprehensive lifetime license holders will be mailed applications. Senior license holders may pick up applications at any DNR office that sells licenses.

Applications must be postmarked no later than June 15. Successful applicants will be notified in early July; unsuccessful applicants will not be notified.

Applicants who do not receive a license for the unit of their choice will have an option of applying for left-over licenses or a refund.

Individuals who wish to participate in a bear hunt but do not receive a harvest tag may purchase a participation license from any DNR office that sells licenses, available after Aug. 1. The participation license entitles the individual to participate in a bear hunt but does not allow the individual to kill a bear or carry a firearm or bow and arrow.

Candidates present views on important school issues

The questions

1. At the election, the school is asking that the voters override the Headlee amendment to restore the full amount the school will receive for operation. If the voters approve, it will mean about a half-mill more in taxes locally. Do you feel that the override should be approved? Why?

2. Michigan teachers as a group are the highest paid in the nation when cost of living is considered. Now a tentative contract has been approved calling, according to one teacher, for raises of 5.5 percent per year for 2 years. Do you approve? Why?

3. Do you feel the school is headed generally in the right direction or should the emphasis be changed? If so, in what way?

dent ratio, or any changes in the union language. I believe we need to pay our teachers a fair wage so that we can keep good teachers. Teachers are one of our biggest assets, and we need to keep that in mind.

But, to answer the question, I feel that 5.5 percent is a little high based on inflation and raises given in other industries.

3) I think the school in general is headed in the right direction. They try and maintain discipline. They have done well in management of our school finances. I feel our school leaders have concern for the student. They know what the academic needs are for the student to prepare them for the future.

Danny Haag

A life-long resident of the Thumb, Danny Haag, 39, has been a resident of Cass City for 19 years. He and his wife, Shirley, have one child, a student at Cass City Schools. He is employed by CarQuest Distributing of Michigan, Bay City, as a comptroller.

1) I feel the voters should override the Headlee Amendment. I don't think we should lose the $89,000 in revenue because it could cause cuts in curriculum and capital improvements. If we put off fixing the roof, then the increase in cost to do it later would reduce some of that money taxpayers saved by not raising taxes.

Also, the way the State is cutting back on funds, at the local school level we might see some tougher times in the future. If that happens, it will put more burden on the taxpayer. I would rather keep our school as financially healthy as possible to withstand the future financial problems.

Each year the school borrows the necessary funds to allow it to operate until the revenues come in. Therefore, if we lose tax revenue then that will just cost us more in interest.

I know it is easier to not pay more property taxes but, to keep our school in a healthy fund balance will better prepare us for the future.

2) In regards to the 5.5 percent raise, I don't feel that is enough information to make a fair judgement. I don't know what was done with their health insurance costs, pension, teacher/stu-teachers did in fact rank near the top in the nation, however in research I have seen, they have dropped considerably in the past few years. Cass City teachers are no where near the state average salary or the salary of teachers in the metropolitan areas. The 5.5 percent increase is in line with salary increases throughout the state. On Nov. 1, 1991 the average salary increase for settled contracts in the 1991-92 contract year in the Tri-County area was a 5.6 percent increase. Taking into account these statistics, I would have to say that the 5.5 percent salary increase is not out of line.

At a time when many of our good teachers are leaving education for other job opportunities, incentives need to continue to keep good teachers teaching. Indeed, our teachers are responsible for parents' most treasured resources - their children.

Along with the pay increase, I see teachers' responsibilities increasing with the Cass City Schools' new school improvement plan. Teachers will be more involved in curriculum development, attending school improvement workshops and more time spent in grade level or departmental meetings to determine student outcomes which are a requirement of the new state required core curriculum.

3. According to the research and demographics, schools throughout the nation need to change the way they have been instructing students. The students of our nation have been trained to regurgitate facts. Often, these facts are remembered long enough to write a test, but are not lasting. We need to teach our students to think about and process what they have learned, to work together with the teacher as a facilitator and to become life-long learners.

The school improvement process which Cass City is now involved in is one way to begin to make changes in our schools. To make effective and lasting changes, teachers and parents need to be empowered to assist with changes.

It is with these changes in mind that I chose to run for the Cass City school board. I have been in education for 35 years and have continued taking classes and attending workshops throughout the years. I feel my expertise can be a benefit to the upcoming changes in Cass City Schools.

Marilyn J. Peters

Marilyn J. Peters

Marilyn J. Peters, 55, lives in Cass City. She and her husband, Anton, have 5 children, all of whom graduated from Cass City High School. She is employed by the Tuscola Intermediate School as the supervisor for the gifted and talented program.

1. I favor a vote to override the Headlee Amendment. By voting to override the Headlee Amendment, we are simply asking to levy what has already been voted upon and approved by our voters. Without the override, our district would not get the amount of state aid that our students are entitled to. Our students in Cass City cannot afford to have programs cut due to an unnecessary decrease in state aid.

2. At one time Michigan

James Turner

James Turner, 45, is a life-long resident of Cass City. He and his wife, Joyce, have 3 children, 2 of whom attend Cass City Schools. He is an incumbent seeking his second term and was first elected to the board in 1987.

He is employed as Child Welfare Supervisor for the Huron County Department of Social Services.

1. Regarding the Headlee Amendment:

This whole issue is a very difficult one to explain but I will try to indicate my understanding of it.

The Headlee Amendment automatically requires a rollback in school taxes whenever the yearly property evaluation increase is greater than the previous year's rate of inflation unless local voters vote to override it.

Two years ago, our voters approved 30.9 mills for operation of our school which is the lowest in the county and considerably lower than the state average (36.6 mills). We are still asking for approval of 30.9 mills. However, due to the recent property re-evaluation, over which our local district had no control, our district's property evaluations, in general, increased more than last year's rate of inflation. This caused the Headlee Amendment to automatically go into effect.

Since our district is an infomula district, the Headlee Amendment would cause us to lose both local funds and matching state funds. This amounts to a potential loss of about $90,000.00 from our next year's budget. This would significantly hurt our school budget especially when we are faced with replacing the high school roof. Therefore, I strongly support overriding the Headlee Amendment.

2. Regarding Teachers' Salaries:

I am unaware as to whether or not Michigan teachers are the highest paid in the nation. However, it really has little bearing on our local situation. We have no control over the national picture but whether we like it or not we have to deal with the realities of our state, our county, and our district. Those realities as I know them are that Cass City's teachers' salaries tentatively are scheduled to increase 5.50% in both the 1991-92 and the 1992-93 school years. At the same time, based upon information prepared by the Michigan Association of School Boards, the average teacher's salary in the state will increase 5.89% in 1991-92 and 5.95% in 1992-93. Further, Cass City's teachers' salaries will be below the average Tuscola County's teachers' salaries that have been announced to date.

I know that it is hard to understand how teachers' salaries can be approved at the percentage rates mentioned. This is true especially when many others in our community are receiving lower raises, no raises, or even fear losing their jobs. However, we are forced to pay the going rate in the field. It is the same when you go out to buy a car, a lawn mower, or other product. If you want it, you are going to have to pay the going rate.

Since our children's and our community's future depends on us providing the best education we can, I do approve of the tentative teacher salary increase for the reasons stated above.

3. Regarding School Direction:

I feel our school is definitely headed in the right direction for the reasons stated below.

Our school has always had a reputation for providing the best education possible with the funds available. Our students have generally compared well with those in other districts on different measurement scales.

During this last year we initiated the School Improvement Program. This is a program supported by the Michigan State Board of Education which promotes ongoing school improvement. It does so by using techniques designed to encourage the involvement of administrators, teachers, parents, students and the community at large working together as a team. I strongly support this program as I feel in Cass City we are fortunate in having a rich bank of concerned people, organizations and resources who are willing and able to help shape the future direction of our school.

Minor accidents reported by police

Cass City police reported 2 minor vehicle accidents and a traffic related arrest over the past week.

According to reports, vehicles driven by William M. Joos and Casimer A. Case, both of Cass City, collided Saturday near the intersection of Sherman and Church streets.

Joos was parked in front of the post office on Sherman Street when the 9:35 a.m. mishap occurred. Police said Joos backed up to make room for a vehicle in front of him, and in the process pulled into the path of Case's vehicle, which was turning east into the post office parking lot. No one was hurt.

Police also reported minor damage and no injuries in a 2-vehicle accident May 29 at the intersection of Church and Hill streets.

Reports state Melissa R. Susalla of Elkton was east-bound on Church Street at about 8:15 a.m. when she made a left turn onto Hill Street, failing to yield the right of way to a westbound vehicle driven by Peggy S. Priestley of Decker. Police arrested Michael W.

Groosbeck, 26, Deford, Saturday evening on suspicion of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Reports state Groosbeck was stopped on Doerr Road near Garfield Avenue at about 9:52 p.m. after he passed a village patrol car at a high rate of speed.

2 arraigned on 6 counts of forgery

A Cass City resident and a former Cass City resident face a combined 6 counts of forgery in connection with checks drawn on Thumb Region Chemical Bank.

David K. Pickard, Saginaw, formerly of 4192 Bach Rd., Cass City, was arraigned May 28 in Tuscola County District Court on 4 counts of forgery. Bond was set at $2,000 per count. A preliminary exam in the case was scheduled for 9 a.m. Friday.

According to court records, the counts stem from incidents allegedly involving checks for $30, $30, $50 and $60 drawn on Chemical Bank Jan. 31 in Elkland Township and Feb. 2, 4 and 5 in Cass City, respectively.

Facing 2 counts of forgery is Michael D. VanAllen, 17, 6386 Severance Rd., who also was arraigned May 28. Bond was set at $3,000 per count. VanAllen also faces a preliminary examination Friday at 9 a.m.

Court records state the large stems from Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 incidents in Almer Township and Cass City involving checks for $300 and $100.

Also recently, a pair of Mayville men were arraigned on charges of receiving and concealing stolen snowmobiles and a trailer April 27 in Vassar Township.

Bond for the defendants, Jason P. Lotter, 18, and Philip R. Hudson II, 18, was set at $5,000 each. Preliminary exams have been set for 9 a.m. Friday.

In Cass City

Retiring bus drivers' tenures span 91 years

by Nancy Salla
Staff Writer

Four area residents are looking forward to a never-ending summer vacation after spending a combined 91 years behind the wheel.

June 4 is the last official day for Sheldon Martin, Marian Brown, Joanne Little and Jeanette Langenburg as Cass City school bus drivers.

Martin has punched the time clock the most, racking up 32 years of navigating a bright yellow vehicle. He added he was working at Caro Regional Mental Health Center in 1959 when he took over a route for a sick friend.

"I was just going to finish out that year and stayed on a while longer," he laughed. Martin said he could easily remember his first episode of driving a school bus.

"I was subbing for another driver and I was just handed the keys and pointed in the direction of the bus with the message 'The kids will tell you where to go.'"

"I came to the first intersection and I heard kids shouting at me to go all 3 directions," Martin said. "I pulled over to the side and turned off the bus for 30 minutes and after that the kids agreed on which way I should turn."

All 4 drivers agreed the "We'll sit here and wait until you behave yourselves" tactic usually works on school kids anxious to get home.

The group's consensus also is that today's children are not as disciplined as past generations.

LACK OF RESPECT

"Kids then showed a lot more respect than what they do today," said Marian Brown, who began driving bus in 1967.

"Kids come from a lot more broken homes now," she added. "With the divorce rate high or both parents working, a child's problems start at home and continue into school."

Bus drivers had more control and authority over what went on in their vehicles when Joanne Little began her route 23 years ago.

"We used to be able to make them mind, but today you literally can't touch a child," said Little. "If someone was acting up we could make them get off the bus right where we stopped, but now if we pick them up we have to take them home."

Disciplining misbehaving riders currently is an administrative process, with drivers only able to assign seats or file a complaint form for a school principal to enforce. Obscene language was Martin's last straw which promptly resulted in a "write-up."

"There is no excuse for anyone to use foul language," he added. As the mother of 15, Langenburg laughed about loud, unruly students who threaten her with a lawsuit for "being mean."

"I tell them to go ahead and do it, I don't have anything for them to take," said the driver of 12 years. Severe discipline problems, however, are usually isolated to a few students, following the "One bad apple" adage, Langenburg added.

"The first year I was driving my kids collected money and asked me to hold on to it for them to be a radio for the bus," she recalled. "Later, they asked for the money and bought me a watch for Christmas."

ACTIVE RETIREMENTS

All 4 said they climbed behind the wheel almost by accident, taking over a friend or neighbor's route. The job's hours were especially beneficial to Brown, Langenburg and Little who said they were able to drive bus and still be home to take care of their school-age children, even during holidays and school cancellations.

None of them, however, said they anticipated driving an average bus load of 60 students for decades.

Although they can now claim they are "retirees" each individual said they will keep active.

NOT HAVING TO GO outside in bad weather is what Joanne Little looks forward to after driving school bus for 23 years.

JEANETTE LANGENBURG is retiring from 12 years of driving school buses. She will continue to work in the high school cafeteria and plans on substitute driving as needed.

'91 winter wheat crop yields down

Acres and yield are down sharply for the 1991 Michigan winter wheat crop. The 1991 crop is expected to total 25.5 million bushels, down 38 percent from last year, according to the Federal/State Michigan Agricultural Statistics Service.

The forecast is based on expected yields and conditions reported by farmers as of May 1.

Yields are expected to average 50 bushels per acre, 5 bushels below last season's yield. While snow cover was less than desired in many areas, another fairly mild winter resulted in minimal winter kill. A wet spring has caused some winter wheat fields to drown out in spots. As of May 1, soil moisture throughout the state was considered adequate to surplus and the crop was in good condition.

Harvested acreage is expected to total 510,000 acres, down 32 percent from last season. The acreage represents the third lowest since 1971. Abandonment and winter kill is expected to claim a total of 20,000 acres.

The U.S. winter wheat production as of May 1 is forecast at nearly 1.50 billion bushels, down 26 percent from 1990. Yield is forecast at 36.9 bushels per acre, down 3.8 bushels from last year. Acreage to be harvested for grain is estimated at 40.5 million acres, down 19 percent from last year.

White wheat production for 1991 is forecast at 161 million bushels, down 44 percent from 1990. Above normal temperatures pushed the Kansas crop ahead of normal and caused moisture stress in the central and western districts.

Novak begins duties as Extension agent

Terri L. Novak of Bay City recently began her duties as a Michigan State University Cooperative Extension, Service agricultural agent for Bay, Tuscola, Huron and Saginaw counties.

Novak will serve as Extension's group leader for the Saginaw Bay Water Quality Demonstration Project, which is being conducted in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and other state and county organizations.

Her primary responsibility is to provide educational programs and technical assistance to help improve water quality in the Saginaw Bay watershed.

Novak received a bachelor's degree in animal science from MSU in 1984 and a master's degree in agriculture and extension education from MSU in 1989.

She was a rural outreach worker for Family Outreach in Grand Rapids in 1987, and she worked as an intern at the MSU Kellogg Biological Station in 1988 and as a technician for the Michigan Energy Conservation Program in Iosco County during 1989-90. At the time of her appointment, she was an environmental planner for the East Central Michigan Planning and Development Region in Saginaw.

Novak will be headquartered at the Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service office at 362 Green St., Caro. The phone number is (517) 673-5999 (ext. 228).

Card of Thanks

THE FAMILY OF Preston Karr wish to thank all who were so helpful in our time of sorrow, to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who sent flowers, memorials, cards, to those who called to convey their sympathy, and to those who sent food and prepared our lunch. A special thank you to Rev. Peter Russell for his comforting words, and Verna Mae MacRae and Jon Fahrner for their beautiful music and songs. Also to Beverly and Roger Little for their help and kindness. 13-6-5-1

Card of Thanks

THE FAMILY OF Vernita Spencer would like to thank Dr. Donahue, the people who work for the Hospice Program, Allen's Health Care, Rev. John Wood, Rev. Paul Carmichael, Little's Funeral Home and the many friends who sent cards, flowers and meals to our home. We appreciate all the kindness shown to our family. 13-6-5-1

WE WISH TO express our sincere thanks to all who encouraged and warmed the heart of Alva Allen, by sending cards, making phone calls, visits, sending a plant or flowers, and for the prayers for him while at the hospital in Ann Arbor. Thanks to Pastor Wood of First Baptist Church and Rev. Lee Taylor, Whitmore Lake, for their visits. Your friendship and concern was very much appreciated by Alva: Special thanks to his friend, Gerry Hurshburger, who so willingly took him to Ann Arbor many times for tests. And at our time of sorrow, a special thanks to all friends and relatives who sent flowers, cards, memorials, sent food to the house. To the Cass City Gun Club for the lovely lunch served after the funeral. To Pastor Wood for his words of comfort and lovely service. To Sherry Seeley, for the poem she so fittingly wrote and read of a dear friend. The pallbearers, and to Roger and Bev Little for their kindness and direction given to us. You will never be forgotten. The Alva Allen family. 13-6-5-1

Memorial

IT HAS BEEN 5 years since you've been gone, we miss you more as time goes on, you are in our prayers every night, many tears are shed when we are out of sight. There will be a day when we will see you again. Our little brother and Uncle Tommy, we love and miss you. From the Moores. 15-6-5-1

IN LOVING memory of Tommy Gibbard, who passed away June 2, 1986. For 16 years you were a part of our laughter and our joy. Our dear little brother and our youngest boy. The Lord unexpectedly took you away, but Tommy, you are in our thoughts every single day. We all miss you very much. The Evans Gibbard family. 15-6-5-1 and sexually abused by a parent.

The couple, who wanted to become foster parents for decades because of their inability to become biological parents, said simply keeping enough food on the table and providing transportation costs to and from a foster child's therapy is a challenge.

"They become like your own kids and you want to give them the same thing other kids have," Beverly said. "We're not talking about buying them fancy designer clothes, but about not having enough money for the kids to go to the movies with their friends."

Virgil and Beverly, who have a 20-year-old adopted son, said their job as foster parents never ends.

"We have to build their trust and let them see we won't hurt them like their real parents did," said Virgil. "We have to stay with the children and supervise visits where we babysit the parents and make sure they don't harm the kid."

"You get so angry at the system with loopholes that protect these parents," Beverly added. "Do you know what it's like to legally have to allow a sexually abusive parent to sit next to a child who is so scared that he picks at his fingernails until they bleed?"

"And then tell the child he can't even buy a pack of gum because his $1.45 for the day is all gone?"

The Cass City area residents said they will continue with the program, but added the governor is trying to balance the state's budget on the backs of needy children.

"Some of the parents don't even want these kids," added Virgil. "Of all the people who need help, these kids need it the most."

Jury finds Green guilty

A Caro businesswoman who was named Michigan's Entrepreneur of the Year in 1987 was found guilty on 3 counts of embezzlement Friday following a 3-day jury trial in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Sentencing for Mildred A. Green, 57, was scheduled for July 15 at 1:30 p.m. in Huron County. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

Green was initially charged with 4 counts of embezzlement and 4 counts of larceny by conversion for rerouting Michigan Department of Mental Health funds from developmentally disabled homes she operated to her computer business.

Novesta church will host VBS

The Novesta Church of Christ, 2896 N. Cemetery Rd., Cass City will hold its annual Vacation Bible School June 10-14 from 9 a.m. to noon. Those ages 2 through junior high are invited.

The theme of this year's program is "Jesus and You at Camp Can Do." Besides daily Bible lessons, there will also be crafts, recreation, refreshments and time with Tom Chamberlin, a missionary on furlough from Chile.

There will be a closing program June 16 at 7:30 p.m. The children will be sharing songs they learned during the week and there will also be an afterglow of refreshments in the church's fellowship hall, where the week's lesson materials and crafts will be displayed. The public is invited.

Invitation letters to the fourth all-class reunion to be held Aug. 3 at the Colony House should all be mailed by the first week of June.

If for any reason someone is by-passed or forgotten, reunion applications can be picked up at Special Scents, 6459 Main St., Cass City.

Jeri Tordai and the Chamber of Commerce office will help with any reservation problems that come up.

arked illegally along Kelly Road for several months.

The residence has no septic tank nor water hook-up, according to Kloc, who said Sline will make a final attempt to get the trailer moved before the township pursues the matter in court.

Also Monday, the board approved a motion to spend $120 to send the township treasurer or deputy treasurer, and the clerk to a workshop on social security, set for June 21 in Clare, and Kloc reported that an annual review of insurance revealed the township has adequate coverage through the Burnham and Flower Group, Kalamazoo.
