Financial outlook positive

Board rejects offer for Evergreen School

After a half hour session with attorney Jack Burns that was closed to the public, the Cass City school board remains in the same position that it was before the closed session and the same position it was in a year ago when Evergreen School was closed as a classroom.

Meeting in regular session Monday night, the board rejected an offer of $20,000 from an undisclosed party for the building because the board feels that there could possibly be a use for the building in the future.

The snag that prohibits any forward step towards a solution is getting a clear title to the building. Burns said that there are 2 heirs of the Keyworth family with a 25 percent interest and 6 more who own 1/12 of the building if it reverts to the heirs because the school no longer wants it.

The hitch is that the school wants the building, but only if a clear title can be granted. The board believes the legal work needed to gain that title is up to the heirs. Until that time it will be used for "school purposes", not classrooms, and under control of the district.

Supt. Ken Micklash estimated that maintaining the building as a storage area costs about $1,000 per year.

While the news concerning the Evergreen School building was not good, the financial condition of the district as it nears the end of the current school year was.

Micklash forecasts a surplus of $92,031 to be added to the fund balance, which was $551,675 starting the year and is estimated will be $643,706 when the fiscal year ends June 30.

Another pleasing item in the budget was a profit of $17,293 from the hot lunch program. The profit was made without any increase in lunch prices, which trustees said were among the lowest in the area. Hot lunch revenues were $244,703 and expenses $227,410.

Buoyed by the excellent financial report, the school board voted to spend part of it. Half of the roof on the high school building was already contracted for and construction is under way. The board voted to spend another $100,000 to complete the project.

Micklash said that it was probable that the entire cost could be carried without depleting the fund balance.

Half of the money would be gained using the expected surplus of $92,000 from this year's budget and the remainder from a surplus from the 1991-92 budget.

It has been estimated that the new roof will save the district some $20,000 yearly in fuel costs because of superior insulation.

A budget for 1991-92 was also adopted, but it is meaningless. It is necessary to have because of state law, so the figures in the last revised budget for the current year were adopted for 1991-92. A budget based on costs and revenue will be adopted as a revised budget when these figures are known.

new girls' gymnastics program at an estimated cost of $4,000 by a 4-3 vote. In favor were Scollon, Jim Turner, Dan Ulfing and Allan Hartwick. Opposed were President Ben Hobart, Beverley Auten and Fred Matthews.

The board approved the measure although Superintendent Ken Micklash has reservations about it due to the length of trips required.

Only Vassar, among Thumb schools, offers the sport and to compete, Cass City will have to go on trips of 75 miles or more.

Athletic Director Don Schelke was asked his opinion after the vote was taken and he said that he had heard nothing about gymnastics, but a lot about tennis and golf for girls.

Despite the vote of approval, the sport may not yet Please turn to page 12.

Help needed for July 4th celebration

The Fourth of July committee is seeking volunteers to help with 3 festival events.

Coordinators are needed immediately to organize the horseshoe tournament and the Little Miss Pageant, said committee member Alan Sward.

"We need someone to take over these events fast so we can have them this year," he said.

The Little Miss Pageant was tentatively scheduled for 7 p.m. July 5. The horseshoe tournament was slated for 1 p.m. July 6.

Sward said anyone interested in filling the vacancies should call Geraldine Prieskorn at 872-2895.

Volunteers are also needed to help sell the 50/50 lottery drawing. Ticket sellers would walk among the crowds on Main Street during the parade and in the Cass City Recreational Park Saturday. More information is available by contacting Frank Tordai at 872-2596.

Haebler seriously hurt in collision with deer Sunday

A 34-year-old Cass City man was seriously injured Sunday morning when a deer leaped into the path of his motorcycle in Wisner Township.

Richard F. Haebler, 6314 W. Cass City Rd., was transported to Bay Medical Center, Bay City, following the 8:05 a.m. accident.

He remained in serious condition Monday, according to a hospital spokeswoman, who noted the local resident sustained a closed head injury and is under observation in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Haebler was westbound on M-25 east of Bradleyville Road when he struck the deer, Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies reported. They stated the motorist was knocked off the cycle by the impact of the deer hitting him in the chest area.

Reports state Haebler was wearing a helmet when the collision occurred.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Deputies also reported a number of traffic mishaps involving no injuries and minor damage.

A large willow tree limb crashed through the windshield of a vehicle driven by Loraine A. O'Dell, Cass City, Friday in Novesta Township.

The mishap occurred Friday. Please turn to page 12.

DR. ED SCOLLON, right, was presented with a plaque from the Cass City School District Monday commemorating his 20 years on the Cass City School Board, including 10 years as president. Making the presentation was Ben Hobart, school board president.

Cass City School Board veteran Ed Scollon ends 20-year tenure

A long, 20-year tenure on the Cass City School Board ended Monday night when Dr. Ed Scollon, 55, retired from the Cass City School Board.

During the years he served, which included 10 years as board president, the genial Cass City veterinarian has seen the ups and downs of the school as have few others. The depth was probably reached in 1983 when the school was mired in deep financial trouble and Scollon, along with Geraldine Prieskorn and Dick Wallace, were the objects of a recall because of program cuts and especially the removal of school buses.

The recall never got off the ground and the financial problems were finally solved, but it was a trying time for all.

Scollon says that he is leaving the board at a time when the school is in the best shape of any time in his career.

We have a good staff, an outstanding superintendent and administration and the school is running very smoothly. It's nice to leave the board when things are going so well, Scollon feels.

Scollon will not be divorcing himself entirely from public service. He serves on the Tuscola County Health Board and will continue to do so. In addition, he is a member of the Cass City Lions Club and is a past president of the club.

The Scollons have 5 children, all of whom attended Cass City Schools.

Abused

Deaton a victim long before recent violence

by Nancy Salla Staff Writer

Sherry Lynn Deaton's life was a national domestic violence statistic long before a former boyfriend murdered her parents near Brighton, shot a Kingston man and kidnapped her from her Caro home before dying of a gunshot wound last week.

The angry acts of former mental patient Michael Miller of Union Lake have left many Thumb area communities asking, "How could this happen here?"

"The only thing that makes this case any different from the hundreds of others we see in our area is the man carried out what he threatened to do," said Tuscola County Community Mental Health Services clinical psychologist Bill Beard.

Beard said one out of 10 referrals he makes to the Tuscola County protective shelter are cases of domestic violence. Eighty percent of the center's outpatients are women, 60 percent of whom report suffering from the violence of men in a relationship.

"Many women live with similar threats to themselves and loved ones almost every day," Beard said, displaying a long waiting list of non-suicidal clients seeking counseling services.

"We need to raise awareness that this is not just an isolated incident," he continued.

"Why won't the legal authorities call cases like this the domestic violence it is instead of just homicide? What did she have to go through before it came to this?"

SOUGHT PROTECTION

Although Karen Kopka, program coordinator of the Thumb Area Assault Crisis Center, would not release details about the case, Deaton reportedly sought help and relocation through the program after Miller physically assaulted her during the 3 months they lived together in Lapeer.

Deaton was renting a house on East Frank Street in Caro with a female roommate when Miller discovered her whereabouts, left a suicidal message with the friend and drove to Brighton to kill her parents Thursday evening.

He then returned to Caro early Friday morning, shot Vern Law, a Kingston man staying with the women, and kidnapped Deaton.

Miller's deadly strike at Deaton's family is the element which drew national media attention, Kopka said.

"It's common for batterers to use threats to loved ones, family members, children, to control the victim," she said. "Most women comply because they are scared; they never know when his temper is going to go off or who will be hurt."

A factor that may reinforce society's misconceptions about domestic violence, however, is Miller's past history of mental illness, for which he was hospitalized 3 times at Clinton Valley Center in Pontiac.

"People want to believe that batterings are accidents, one-time incidents or that the batterer is crazy," Kopka said. "They want to think things like this can't happen to them, but it can, at any time."

"Three professions with the highest rate of abuse are attorneys, police officers and doctors. The abuser can be anybody - your minister, your neighbor, your best friend."

VICIOUS CYCLE

Paralleling domestic violence patterns, Miller's abuse grew from beating Deaton and striking her in the face May 7, for which he later faced assault charges, to fatally shooting her parents, George and Marjorie. Please turn to page 12.

SOCIAL WORKER KAREN Kopka, Thumb Area Assault Crisis Center program coordinator, explained the power and control elements of domestic violence cases. Battering is the leading cause of injury to women, exceeding rapes, muggings and auto accidents.

New ideas sought

Township dumps waste plan

It was back to the waste management drawing board for Evergreen Township after 2 hours of deliberation during the board's special meeting Thursday.

The only consensus of the special meeting's 40 attendees was that continuing their past methods is economically impossible.

The township found itself between the proverbial rock and a hard place after trying 2 different removal methods. At a cost of $475 a haul, locating one 30-yard refuse dumpster at the hall 4 times a year was inadequate and a second bin was needed. Hiring a packer truck for $650 once every 3 months was also a money pit when a poor turnout from the township's 350 homes only filled one-third of the vehicle.

"In 4 months, the township has already spent $700 of the $2,500 we allocated for the whole year," said Audrey Leslie, township supervisor.

"We obviously can't stay with the things we've tried, so we need ideas on what to do next."

DIFFERING OPINIONS

With the multitude of ideas came each individual's opinion and the determination that he or she had all the pieces to the puzzle.

"It's important to address the ecological issue," said Mariann Izydorek, Shabbona Road resident.

"We need to go with the decision that's best in the long run."

What can I say? It was one of those weeks.

If you're a word game buff and you valiantly tried to solve last week's "Before and After" quiz, I commend you, and I apologize.

For those who may have missed it, it's just as well. It was a series of titles and phrases fashioned after the "Wheel of Fortune" category, and had been rather painstakingly contrived. We supplied the vowels and the word that connected 2 phrases or titles, leaving the reader to fill in the blanks.

A couple examples were "Tea For Two heads are better than one" and "M. C. Hammer and sickle."

The phrases, letters and blanks came out just fine when typed and printed on the computer at home. Recalling that when we ran a similar quiz one time, the Chronicle computer had problems using dashes as blanks, I cleverly decided to use hyphens instead. The computer at the office is more complex than mine and handles matters a bit differently.

Because it was an unusually busy week and we were running late against the deadline, I didn't have time to look over the column until it arrived at my desk as part of page 2 to be proofread. It was obvious at once that we had a problem. The computer had run all my blanks together into a straight line, so it was impossible to tell how many letters were missing.

Hastily I went back and inserted spaces between all the hyphens and took it back to Janet (Severance) to be printed again, confident that it was okay now. There was only time to slap the revised copy in place on the page and send it off to the camera.

It wasn't until I picked up our copy of the Chronicle at home the next day that I realized that the computer, no doubt thoroughly confused by the flagrant use of hyphens, had broken words in the middle so that there were extra hyphens where there should be none, and anyone trying to solve the dumb puzzle would have no

The funeral for Jeffrey Martin, 11, of Decker, who was the victim in a tragic accident when a car left the road and hit him as he was walking with 2 brothers on M-53, was attended by a large group of mourners.

The Martins are Mennonites.

Ah! This computer age. In the mail received on the same day were 2 letters. The first was from a stock broker wishing me a happy birthday and signed by the company's manager and the person handling my account.

The second letter was from the person who handled my account, saying that he had switched companies so he could serve me better.

After the original draft was composed, you know that none of the wheels whose signatures appear had anything to do with the mailings.

Those conflicting health reports leave me confused. You, too? What's good today, is bad tomorrow and vice versa. We all know that the worst is yet to come concerning the AIDS epidemic. At least that was the warning sounded by the entire medical fraternity.

Then last week a story appeared in the Detroit News saying that the AIDS epidemic is waning.

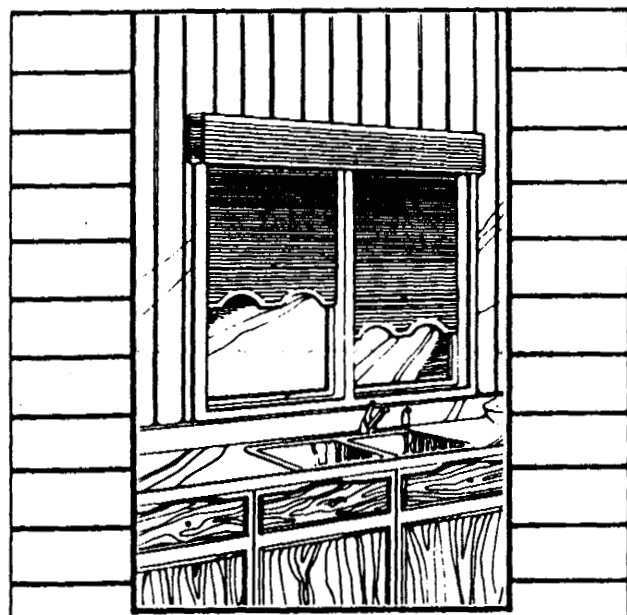

That conclusion was the result of a study by a Chicago actuary and will be published in the July issue of Contingencies, the journal of the actuarial profession.

Countering this welcome conclusion is a statement from the Federal Center for Disease Control saying it has no evidence that AIDS is going away.

Hirn earns degree at Northwood

Lisa Hirn, daughter of Bob and Mary Ann Hirn of Cass City, recently graduated from Northwood Institute with a bachelor of arts degree in marketing and management.

Hirn, who was elected to the 1990-91 "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," currently is working part time for IBM and Dow Chemical. She is seeking full-time employment in her field.

Lisa Hirn

Could it be that the ladies have been snowing us about the duties of the housewife? Or is it simply that I am a precocious fast learner?

Just 2 months into assuming the role of chief cook and bottle washer I have things on a downhill drag. Smooth sailing.

Handling the laundry is duck soup. Most of the time.

Here's the way that problem has been solved. Through the efforts of my son, Jill Root has been inveigled (coerced) into the role of instructor-assistant.

The way it works is that she explained the various washer buttons to push for each different load. Then she divided the laundry into acceptable groupings so that the whites come out still white and the colors stay the way they should be. She also outlined what temperature the dryer should be set for the various fabrics. I wrote it all down. After that I did all the rest. See, it's easy.

I'll admit there was a moment of panic when for a few minutes I couldn't locate the paper with the instructions, but nobody's perfect.

I also have taken to cooking like a duck to water. Swiss steak, steak, meat loaf, lasagna, Jell-o, the whole ball of wax.

I really can't take credit for the lasagna that was made, cooked and frozen, although I must say I thawed it out and heated in the microwave as good as it can be done.

I had a little help with some of the other stuff. The elder daughter fixed 4 different Swiss steak dishes, each about big enough for 2 meals for one person. She did the same with 4 similar sized meat loafs and froze them.

On the outside of each package is a suggested cooking time. Other than that I did everything else and they turned out delicious.

The steak and the Jell-o I fixed from scratch. As I said, nothing to it.

House cleaning is not a problem. Well, not much of one. Martha Emmons has been cleaning and ironing once a week for ages and just carries on. There has been a glitch in the proceedings here. It centers around dish washing. I can pile those dishes up Monday through Wednesday, but that's the limit. I have to wash them at least once a week and SOMETIMES MORE depending on how often I eat out.

It didn't take long to get the hang of home and grocery shopping, but there was one little incident that didn't go all that well.

Cruising down the aisle looking for dog food, I couldn't find the price on the bag of the one I wanted. So I asked a lady shopping nearby how to find out. (The little red tag was obscured by stock on the shelf.)

Anyway she seemed almost reluctant to talk to me at all, figuring, no doubt, that no one could be that dumb and that I was trying to make a pass, saying merely that I should ask at the counter.

Obviously she didn't know the subtle, suave, sophisticated me, whose idea of a great opening line would be, gulp, haven't I seen you some place before?

I'm a little more comfortable running around the grocery store now and let me add one more thing.

I make a great cup of coffee.

"If It Fitz...."

Absurdities

By Jim Fitzgerald

My friend Ralph had a glint in his eye. I was reminded of the old saying: "I knew you when you were only a glint in your father's eye."

I quickly warned Ralph not to blink away the glint. At least not until a doctor had taken a picture of it and shown it to the woman who might gestate Ralph's glint into a person.

Ralph demanded to know whether I was federally funded. "If you are, it's against the law for you to tell me it's possible to remove a glint by blinking," he said.

I assured Ralph that no tax money has ever touched my hands incoming, only outgoing. And I advised him to have a guardian appointed for his glint.

It may be recalled that, many years ago, I wrote that some anti-abortionists were so extreme they made a guy feel guilty of murder for breaking a date. Continuing in the same facetious vein, I said I expected pro-lifers to propose pro-glint legislation, claiming life begins at perception rather than conception.

I thought I was being absurd. I didn't know what absurd was.

MEN DECIDING FOR WOMEN

A few weeks ago, a Michigan judge said he would appoint a guardian for the embryo in any parental case that he handled. If, as the law allows, a 17-year-old girl seeking an abortion asked the judge for a waiver of the parental consent requirement, he would refuse because of the testimony of a scientist, given in a Tennessee case, that life begins at conception.

Never mind that, according to the highest court in the land, abortion is legal. Never mind that the girl may have been raped and impregnated by her father, and her mother didn't give a damn. Never mind the terrible trauma that the unwanted birth could cause the teenager. The important thing is that the embryo be adopted.

We don't want no Little Orphan Embryo 'round here. "Arf, arf," said Sandy. Moving right along toward zenith absurdity, the Michigan Senate has proposed that doctors must show photographs of developing fetuses to all women seeking nonemergency abortions. If this proposal becomes law, doctors would be required to try to scare women with descriptions of the alleged medical and psychological risks of abortion, and refer them to advocates of "abortion alternatives," most often called birth.

The premise of this absurd legislation is that all women are dumb as dirt. So dumb they don't realize most legislators are men, and if men had babies, abortion pills would be sold in vending machines for 25 cents a dozen.

WRITING CLINICS' SCRIPT

Finally, at the tip-top of the absurdity list, there is the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling that family-planning clinics that accept federal money can't even whisper the word "abortion" to clients.

That means if a woman is employed by the State of Michigan, she can use her government-funded insurance to pay for a doctor to give her a legal abortion. But if a woman has no job, state money can't be used to prevent her from having a child that will most likely be supported by state money. And if her doctor has 10 cents of federal subsidy in his pocket, he can tell her to go to hell, but he can't tell her where to go to learn how her unwanted pregnancy might be legally terminated.

So what's so absurd about suggesting that federally funded clinics be forbidden to advise welfare fathers to rub their sore eyes, for fear of destroying glints?

My frivolous exaggerations don't mean I think there's anything funny about abortion. I worry about how close even the earliest abortion comes to killing a human being. But I also worry about how much of a woman is killed when the government uses her body to have a baby she doesn't want.

Whatever, you can be sure that abortion is here to stay, legal or not, safe or risky, no matter how incredibly absurd the anti-choice ideologies get.

So, let's get off everybody's back. Let's let a glint be our reminder to lighten up.

Ray Dalton

Ray Dalton, 64, of Lakewood, Colo., died June 7 at Lutheran Hospice.

Your neighbor says

Year-round school would be too much

Requiring public school students to attend classes year-around is a hot issue in light of America's decreasing science and math competency scores.

American students are in the classroom on average 180 days a year - less than other Western developed countries including Japan, the nation's largest business and industry competitor.

Some mid-Michigan school systems are researching the possibility of conducting classes throughout the year with scheduled 15-day breaks. The theory behind the proposition is school children may retain the subject matter more easily than they do now over summer vacation.

Your neighbor, Penny Wood, said she thinks the proposed altered calendar may place students under too much stress.

"I think it would be too much for them to go year around," said Wood, mother of Brandon, 11, and Dustin, 7.

Summer vacation gives school kids the much-needed chance to be just that - kids, she added.

"They wouldn't be able to enjoy all the things to do in summer," Wood said. "I remember looking forward to vacation; I wouldn't have wanted to go all year."

The area resident is employed as a nurse at Allen Home Care, Inc. and is married to Dale Wood.

A native of Detroit, Dalton, owned a mining and drilling company.

He is survived by his wife, Diane; a daughter, Heather Markwell of Aurora; a brother, Bill, of Yucaipa, Calif.; 4 sisters, Alice Travis of Nashville, Helen Easton of Cass City, Naomi Minnick of Florida and Ian Kawzinski of Michigan; 3 stepchildren; one granddaughter, and 3 step-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held June 11 at St. Bernadette Catholic Church. The body was cremated.

Shoppers laud meter removal

Public response seems favorable to the recent removal of what one area resident called "one-arm bandits."

Although the reaction to the Cass City Village Council's May 28 decision to remove the town's parking meters seems supportive, it remains unknown if not having to deposit coins to park will actually draw more customers to the area.

Several residents said they believed removing the meters for a one-year trial basis is a positive step, but doubt if the action will change their shopping habits.

"I shop Cass City whenever I'm in that area and I parked wherever a space was open," said Decker resident Donald Brown.

Brown, who is a construction worker employed in the Detroit area, said he thought the council's decision was a right one.

"They were more or less one-armed bandits as far as I'm concerned."

Another Decker resident, Alice Heronemus, shares Brown's parking habits, but not his contempt for the meters.

"I come to town about twice a week and park wherever I can find a space, usually in one of the parking lots, but the meters didn't bother me at all," Heronemus said.

"But I sometimes cheated on the meters anyway, especially when I had to run in real quick to a store. I'm glad they took them out."

Cass City resident Nora Frederick said she will continue using parking lots because of the added space available to get in and out of her vehicle.

"I shop Cass City as much as possible because it is easier than driving somewhere else," Frederick said. "But I don't like parking on Main Street because of the kids getting out of the car and all of the traffic going by."

ADDED CONVENIENCE

Some area residents said the ease of pulling into a parking space without depositing a coin is definitely appealing.

"I used to park in the back more - it was kind of a hassle to get the change out for the meters, especially when I was just going to be a second," said Joyce King.

King said she shops locally for groceries and daily supplies, but travels to the large malls in Bay City or Saginaw for large items or clothing shopping.

Louise Wright, co-owner of Creative Designs, said she also does the majority of her shopping outside of Cass City.

"I can do 3 different types of shopping in one trip by going into Caro," she said.

Wright added when shopping in Cass City, she often parked in alleys and municipal parking lots to avoid the meters and parking tickets for exceeding the time limit.

EFFECT UNCERTAIN

Few Main Street business owners seem concerned about not hearing their customers remark about the now-free parking available.

"It's like when you don't have a sore foot - you don't go around complaining about it, you're just glad it's not sore anymore," said Dan Allen, owner of Dan's Power Equipment & Stove.

Ginny Sutter, owner of Sutter's Bakery, said she thinks some shoppers may not have even noticed the change.

"I haven't had any response, but I don't think it's been long enough for people to notice," Sutter said.

The owner of Cass City Floral said her customers are just beginning to comment about the meters' absence.

"The response is more positive than negative," said Carol Ingles. "I think it will help business in the long run."

THE CASS CITY Junior Wrangler 4-H Club made their annual 25-mile trail ride Saturday. Nineteen area residents participated in the trip, including the horseless biker Brian Santos.

Jury returns innocent verdict

A jury last week returned verdicts of innocent in favor of a Bay City man charged with breaking and entering an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny, and larceny in a building.

The 2-day trial was held Tuesday and Wednesday in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

According to records, Chad A. Snyder, 19, had been charged in connection with the Jan. 17 break-in of a house at 4403 Fairgrove Rd. in Fairgrove Township, and the theft of televisions, a rifle and a radio.

In other recent court proceedings, a 53-year-old Caro man convicted by a jury of second degree criminal sexual conduct was sentenced to 20 years to 60 years in prison.

Thomas J. Davis, 755 Wells Rd., also was sentenced to one year in prison for indecent exposure.

Both charges stem from an August 1990 incident in Mayville. Davis, who was initially charged with first degree criminal sexual conduct, engaged in sexual contact with a child under the age of 13 years, according to court records.

Also sentenced for jury verdicts of guilty was David R. Starr, 21, Clio, who faced charges of breaking and entering and being an habitual offender. Starr was ordered to serve 5 years to 20 years in prison for the habitual offender offense, and 5 years to 10 years for breaking and entering.

Starr was charged with breaking into a house at 9061 Reese Rd. in Arbel Township Aug. 19, according to records, which note he was previously convicted of larceny in a building and unlawfully driving away an automobile.

tion was ordered and bond was continued at $5,000. Sentencing is to be scheduled.

Court records state Kralik is charged with breaking into a house at 1051 W. Saginaw Rd. in Tuscola Township in October, November or December.

Lena M. Remsing, 29, Cass City, entered a plea of guilty to attempted uttering and publishing Jan. 30 in Cass City.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered, and bond was continued at $2,000 for the defendant, whose sentencing is to be scheduled.

Records state the offense involved a $90 check drawn on Thumb Region Chemical Bank, Bay Area.

A plea of guilty to writing a no account check, entered by Thomas S. Foote, 43, of Snover, was refused by the court.

Records state the charge involves a $156 check dated Oct. 9 and made payable to Kritzman's, Cass City.

Charles G. Crittenden, 31, Caro, was sentenced to 2 years to 5 years in prison for his plea of guilty to operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, third offense.

Records state the incident occurred Dec. 20 in Vassar and Juniata townships.

Raymond A. Carter, 24, Vassar, was ordered to spend 180 days in the county jail, with work release, and pay full restitution for his plea of guilty to a charge of malicious destruction of police property.

According to court records, the offense occurred Feb. 2 in Vassar and involved a Vassar police patrol vehicle.

Orville McConnell Jr., 22, of Kingston, entered a plea of innocent to a charge of failing to stop at the scene of a serious personal injury accident.

A pretrial hearing is to be scheduled. Bond was continued at $5,000.

According to police, McConnell was the driver of a vehicle that hit Terry L. Hojnacki, 39, Silverwood, sometime between 11 p.m. and midnight May 9 as the resident was walking along Maple Grove Road just south of Mayville in Dayton Township. Her body was found the next morning in a nearby ditch.

Cass City resident James W. Finkbeiner, 20, 4137 Maple St., pleaded guilty to careless or reckless discharge of a firearm.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered, and sentencing is to be scheduled for the defendant, whose bond was continued at $10,000.

Finkbeiner was charged in the death of his younger brother, Clark, 14, who died after being accidentally shot Dec. 27 in their Elkland Township home.

Peter L. Sadler, 18, 2406 Lampton Rd., Decker, pleaded innocent to charges of breaking and entering an unoccupied building, and larceny in a building.

A pretrial hearing is to be scheduled. Bond was continued at $5,000.

Sadler is charged in connection with the April 20 break-in of Thumb Pawn and Loan, 815 S. Hooper St., Caro, and the theft of guns, stereos, musical equipment and tapes, Nintendo games, sporting equipment and tools.

Robert J. Kralik, 24, Mt. Pleasant, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling.

A pre-sentence investigation

Wranglers complete 25-mile trek

The Cass City Junior Wranglers 4-H Horse Club made their 25-mile trail ride on Saturday. Nineteen participants collected pledges per mile to raise funds for a trip to Cedar Point. This is the 16th year for the ride, which started at the home of Cass City resident Carol Long and finished at the home of Sabrina Moran, Mayville resident and Carol's daughter.

The oldest rider was Walt Turner of Caro, who will celebrate his 68th birthday Thursday. Turner also had the oldest horse, Kazal's Lad, a 29-year-old Arabian stallion. Cass City resident Brandy Brown, 3, was the youngest rider. Freedom Farm Arabians of Cass City lent the group 2 horses for the ride.

A vehicle carrying water and carrots for the animals and refreshments for the riders met the group at various points on the trail. The group stopped once at the home of Joe and Pat Kilbourn in Deford for a rest. The corner of Rassman and English roads was the lunch site, where the group also had a water fight to cool down both themselves and their horses.

Gary and Deb Wright of Caro and David Turner of Mayville transported the horses home when the riders reached the end of the trail.

Tops in nation

the district. Coach Doug Hall called Benitez a fundamentally sound player who knows the game.

Any coach would be pleased to have a player with his talents, Hall continued. He does it all, pitch, catch, third and short stop. Added to his defensive abilities is a hefty .397 batting average. Above all, he is a hard worker and an intense competitor, according to his coach.

The top rated player on the team is Archie Graham of Snover, a senior at Sandusky. Two players from Lakers, Jeremy Esch, junior, and Eric Wissner, junior, were among the top 5.

Charmont wins, still unbeaten

Wednesday, the Cass City Charmont team travelled to Reese to play Reese Gettel's. Charmont won the game 21-11. Bill Graham and Jason Morgan shared the pitching duties. The Charmont team was led by Mark Kubacki with 3 hits.

Friday, the Charmont team defeated USA #2, 24-4. Jim Hempton got the win for Charmont. M. Kubacki relieved Hempton in the late innings. The offensive attack was led by Ben Schott, Al Prosowski and John Phillips with 4 hits each. Included in Phillips' hits were a home run and 2 doubles.
Saturday, the Charmont team came close to suffering its first loss, but finally came through in extra innings with a 9-8 win over Reese Second National Bank.

Richard Kubacki took the mound for Charmont and led 6-2 going into the fifth inning. A pair of walks, a hit and a couple of fielding miscues opened the way for a 5-run Second National rally which put them in the lead 7-6. Graham relieved R. Kubacki to start the sixth inning.

Going into the seventh and final inning of regulation play, Second National still led 7-6. With one out, Schott singled for Charmont. With 2 outs, Graham singled and both runners advanced on a double steal. Phillips, with 2 outs and 2 strikes, drove the next pitch over the third baseman's head scoring Schott and Graham, putting Charmont in the lead 8-7.
Two fielding errors and a wild pitch allowed Second National to tie the game at 8-8 in their half of the inning. Neither team scored in the eighth inning.
With one out in the ninth inning Schott singled and stole second base. With two outs, Graham singled to score Schott from second and put Charmont in the lead 9-8. Graham put the Second National team down quietly in the ninth inning to pick up the win.
Kris Repshinska delivered a timely RBI single in the fifth inning to keep Charmont in the game. Charmont is 9-0 for the season.

American Heart Association honors Jane Mitchell

A state health organization has told a Cass City resident she is all heart.

The Thumb Area Heart Advisory Committee of the American Heart Association gave Jane Mitchell the 1991 Heart and Torch Award Thursday.

Mitchell, who had chaired the Thumb committee for 6 years, has been actively involved in many programs of the American Heart Association. "Mrs. Mitchell has shown tremendous leadership in working with the 3 county group," said Catherine Miller, American Heart Association regional director.

"Her enthusiasm and support of the heart cause has been a primary factor in cardiovascular education for thousands of people in the Thumb area."

Mitchell, whose resignation will take effect as soon as a replacement for the position is found, said she has enjoyed working with the programs.

"I've really grown in the time I have spent with the group," she said.

Mitchell is a cardiopulmonary resuscitation instructor and a health educator with the association's schoolsite and nutrition programs.

Evergreen eyes new garbage pick-up plan

long run, and I think that is to go with having a drop-off recycling point every few months and a minimal garbage disposal at a site," she added.

Although state-wide mandatory recycling may be in Michigan's future, the venture is a costly one for a small community. Waste Management of Michigan representative Joseph Campbell told the group that collecting recyclable materials every few months would net the group a profit of only $8 - $10.

The ease of curbside garbage pick-up was mentioned several times by members of the audience. That option's obstacle is that the entire township must participate in the door-to-door pickup.

Shabbona resident Doyle Meredith and his wife, Margie, grew weary of the township's slow actions and have privately contracted with Waste Management for personal trash service.

Doyle said although he doesn't mind taking direct action to get rid of his junk, the price for the individual route has more than doubled in 3 years.

"I don't want to lose my constitutional rights - as it is we already have too many laws on the books," Doyle said.

"It used to cost me $18 for 3 months of pickup, now it's up to $45," he said. "That's a lot of money for families on a fixed income."

Some residents said they favored curbside pickup, but could not get the service because they lived in outlying areas or on roads which are inaccessible for the garbage truck.

The township tabled the issue until the board's next meeting at 7:30 on July 11 at the township hall. Campbell agreed to attend the meeting and provide a detailed budget for each disposal option.

For a method of refuse collection in the meantime, the board voted to contract a packer truck to be at the township hall on June 29 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. It will cost $2 to dump off household waste materials and proof of township residency is required.

TRANSFERS

The problem of student transfers was before the board again. Larry Bulla requested that his kindergarten student be allowed to attend Campbell School instead of Deford because another child was attending the third grade at Campbell. Sending one to Campbell and the other to Deford makes it necessary to have 2 baby sitters, Mrs. Bulla told the board.

Trustees didn't find that reason compelling enough and voted to deny the request. Voting for the transfer was Matthews, who said that if the name was Bell (a student whose request for transfer was granted) they would have been sent to Campbell without any trouble.

The board approved a transfer of the daughter of D. Weidner to Bad Axe School. The student attended Thumb Christian Academy last year.

OTHER BUSINESS

The board adopted a resolution that enters the school in the Michigan High School Athletic Association so it can compete in sports tournaments for the 1991-92 school year.

New books for computers, algebra 1, elementary algebra 1 and accounting were required.

THE AMERICAN HEART Association of Michigan gave Cass City resident Jane Mitchell (center) the 1991 Heart and Torch Award for her 6 years of service. Huron County Sheriff Michael L. Gage and American Heart Association of Michigan regional director Catherine Miller presented the plaque Thursday.

get off the ground. It was pointed out that at least 10 girls must be on the team to make it viable. Scheduling at this late date could be a problem, too, said Schelke. John Waltz, who offered to coach the girls for nothing the first year, outlined the problems that could be encountered.

okayed at a cost of $4,719.

The board accepted with regret the resignation of Kathleen Jackson, home economics teacher for the last 39 years, and Joan Little, bus driver for 24 years.

The next meeting of the board will be Monday, July 8, instead of the usual third Monday of the month. New officers will be elected.

Sherry Deaton a victim

Kopka said domestic violence is a progressive chain reaction which may begin with verbal abuse and lead to emotional, physical or sexual abuse.

"You must consider every batterer as having the potential to kill," said Kopka. "A lot of men beat and abuse without ever murdering, but the violent chance is always there."

Kopka said the profile of a common batterer reveals a master of disguise, often a man who seems to possess 2 completely different personalities.

"These men aren't just lurking in the shadows - they are respected members of their communities," she said. "They are ultimate deceivers, putting up a polished front for the public to hide what he is doing at home."

TRAGIC END

Whether or not earlier or more intervention in Deaton's case would have prevented the deaths of her parents is uncertain. She tried to get help, charging Miller with the earlier assault and leaving the area to start life over.

Kopka said she is concerned that current abuse victims will look at Deaton's case and give up trying to escape their batterers because of what happened to Deaton's parents.

"The women need to feel they are safe, and sometimes they feel safer knowing where the abuser is and when the next hit is coming than they would leaving the relationship and having to be on guard for wherever he strikes next."

"But they can't make the batterer stop abusing her - only he can choose to stop his ways."

Exactly why Miller took his aggression out on Deaton is unknown. The 34-year-old took those answers to his grave after a 100 mph high-speed chase with police in Lapeer County and being shot in the head while struggling for his rifle with a police officer.

Deaton was hospitalized in Pontiac to undergo insulin treatments from the diabetic reaction she suffered during the ordeal.

Miller shot Vern Law, one of 2 Kingston men staying with the women after Miller's initial visit to the house. Law was taken to St.

Luke's Hospital to undergo surgery for the chest wound. He was listed in fair condition Tuesday morning.

Counseling and therapy will be available for Deaton and her 4-year-old son, Brian, who witnessed the murder of his grandparents.

Kopka said the moral to this and other domestic violence stories is that society must not tolerate such violence and must hold the batterer accountable for his actions.

"We are a violent society overall, but we have to start teaching people it's not okay," Kopka said. "For the future of our children, we must stop it."

Haebler hurt in Sunday accident

day in the westbound lane of Delong Road west of Cemetery Road, according to deputies, who said the limb was first struck and knocked off by an empty hay wagon being towed by Lawrence J. Bulla, Cass City.

Ryan J. Brown, Kingston, reported minor damage to his vehicle Friday after hitting a deer on Denhoff Road west of Kingston Road in Koylton Township. The accident occurred at 9:48 p.m.

A deer ran into the driver's side of a vehicle driven by Barry A. Sholes, Davison, Thursday. Sholes was driving east on Stevens Road east of Clothier Road in Kingston Township when the 9:57 p.m. mishap occurred.

Gary L. Pringle of Deford reported minor damage to his vehicle after hitting a dog

Thursday at about 9:30 p.m. in the southbound lane of East Dayton Road south of Riley Road in Wells Township.

Betty Wilcox, Kingston, also reported hitting a dog Thursday. Deputies said she was southbound on Clothier Road north of Marlette Road in Koylton Township when the 4:45 p.m. mishap occurred.

Also last week, deputies reported that a vehicle driven by Deford resident David A. Graichan sustained minor damage June 11 in a car-deer accident on Stevens Road west of Plain Road in Wells Township. Graichan was westbound at about 5 a.m. when the animal leaped into his path.

In other reports, Cass City police handled 2 minor vehicle accidents.

Nellie M. Hopper of Decker told police an unknown motorist struck her parked vehicle at the Hardee's parking lot, 6219 Main St., sometime between 4:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. June 11.

The driver's side door was damaged and an outside mirror broken off, according to reports, which list damage at $200.

A 2-vehicle accident at Main and Seeger streets Thursday at 9:30 a.m. resulted in minor damage.

Reports indicate a southbound semi-tractor driven by Gary A. Schafswitz, Saginaw, and a southbound vehicle driven by Daryl H. Iwankovitch, Cass City, collided as both drivers attempted to make a right turn.
