Fire destroys area barn

Fire destroyed a barn at an Evergreen Township farm Friday night. The structure, located on the west side of M-53, about 3 miles south of M-81, was fully engulfed and partially collapsed when Elkland Township fire fighters arrived at about 9:30 p.m.

Cause of the blaze is undetermined, according to Fire Chief Dick Root, who noted the barn is owned by Danny Craig. Root estimated damage at $10,000 to $12,000. He said he believes the structure is insured.

Elkland Township firemen, who remained at the scene until about 2 a.m., were assisted by the Gageton and Kingston fire departments, which each sent a tanker, and the Argyle Fire Department, which provided a pumper and tanker. The fire was the first of 3 Elkland firemen were called to extinguish over the weekend.

An alarm early Saturday evening sent firemen to the corner of Maple and Elizabeth streets in Cass City, where a small rubbish pile was set afire in a nearby gravel pit. The blaze, believed to have been set by kids, caused no damage, Root said.

Fire fighters were next called Sunday at about 4:45 p.m., when a grass fire was reported one mile north and a half-mile east of the village.

Root said someone apparently dumped ashes from a burning barrel along Milligan Road, igniting a small grass fire.

3 injured in Monday crash

Three persons were injured in a 2-vehicle collision at the intersection of Koepfgen and Milligan roads, one mile northwest of Cass City, Monday afternoon.

A spokesman at the state police post in Caro said a westbound car driven by Edla Ertel, 62, of Sebewaing, failed to yield at the intersection and was struck broadside by a southbound pickup truck driven by Mary Hick, 46, of Gageton.

The Elkland Township Fire Department's Jaws of Life were needed to extricate Ertel and her passenger, Arnold Schlemmer, 73, of Sebewaing, from the wreckage.

Both drivers and Schlemmer were transported to Hills and Dales General Hospital. Schlemmer and Hick were treated and released, according to a hospital spokeswoman, who declined to release any information regarding Ertel's condition.

All 3 occupants were wearing seat belts at the time of the 1:15 p.m. crash, troopers said.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies said Martin L. Midyett, 26, 7634 Mushroom Rd., was westbound on Burmon Road, about a half-mile north of Bevens Road, when he fell asleep and drove off the west edge of the roadway, entered a ditch and flipped over.

Midyett was not wearing a seat belt, according to deputies, who cited the motorist for careless driving in the 7 a.m. crash.

Also Saturday, troopers from the Caro post reported a Gageton woman escaped injury in a similar accident.

Kelly A. Schlak, 27, 5584 Walsh Rd., was northbound on M-81 near Deckerville Road in Almer Township. Please turn to back page.

USING THE JAWS OF Life, Elkland Township fire fighters removed the roof of a car to free its occupants following a 2-vehicle crash near Cass City Monday afternoon.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

A pair of area motorists fell asleep at the wheel in separate accidents Saturday morning.

A Deford man was treated for minor injuries and then released from Hills and Dales General Hospital, Cass City, following a one-vehicle accident in Kingston Township.

Finances rosy

School costs over $6 million for first time

The Cass City School Board approved the annual financial report presented by school auditors at its regular meeting Monday night at the school and it revealed that school operating costs passed the $6 million mark for the first time in history.

In the general fund the school added $90,305 to its surplus, which now totals $641,990, about 11 percent of the total school budget.

The healthy financial condition was achieved while the school spent about $200,000 for unusual capital improvements, which included building a bus garage and revamping a building for $100,000, purchasing an extra school bus for $29,000 and paying a portion of the new high school roof for $65,000.

Facing the district is about $100,000 to pay for the remainder of the roof that will be charged in the current year.

It is possible that state aid will be increased for this year and that enrollment will also be up from projections. If that occurs, Supt. Ken Micklash said, we will look at the amount of tax levied to see if it is more than we need. A comparison chart of general fund revenues and expenditures for the last 5 years appears in this issue.

EVERGREEN SCHOOL

After about 2 years of discussion, investigation and review of options, the school board has decided to try and move the Evergreen school property out of its control.

The school, which heirs of the Keyworth family have a right to if it is no longer used for school purposes, will be returned to the heirs if the school can get a nominal fee for giving up its interest.

What the board decided was to issue a quit claim deed in return for $10,000 from the heirs. There has been interest in the building by a church group which had previously approached the school and heirs to see if a sale could be transacted.

If the quit claim deal is accepted, the school would no longer be involved. There is another option for the board by going to court, but trustees felt that given the

Edison rejects "Ouvry" building

Detroit Edison's upper Thumb regional offices and service centers will be closed and their operations consolidated, a company spokeswoman said last week.

However, when and how the plan will be implemented remains a question.

Lorie N. Kessler, a media representative for Edison, confirmed a decision has been made to combine offices and service centers in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties.

But she said company officials haven't yet worked out the details. A site hasn't been acquired for the new, central office complex, nor has a specific date been set to implement the plan, she added.

Also unclear is how consolidation will affect current employees.

limited value of the building they would try the quit claim sale procedure first.

D.A.R.E. PROGRAM

Officer Craig Haynes of the Cass City Police Department explained the Drug Abuse Resistance Education program (D.A.R.E.) that will be offered to the sixth grade at the school. It is an hour a week for 17 weeks and is federally funded.

The board also passed a resolution saying that all school property is a drug free zone. Passing the resolution means that penalties for persons convicted of a drug-related crime would be doubled.

OTHER BUSINESS

Resolutions were passed to qualify the district for state-aid incentive payments for meeting school curriculum requirements, school improvement, building accreditation and foreign language. Together they total an extra $79 for each student in the qualifying group.

Parent-teacher conferences will be held Oct. 14.

The school band, cheerleaders and home-coming queen were granted the right to participate in the Pumpkin Festival at Caro Sunday, Oct. 6. It will be voluntary and no student will be required to participate if he or she does not want to.

Two policy revisions were approved. The first makes payment for adult enrichment classes on a basis of 70 percent for the teacher and 30 percent for the school. That way, it was explained, classes with fewer students might be offered providing the teacher is willing to work for less than the flat fee that would have been paid under the previous system.

The contract under which the Operating Engineers work was adjusted to include the jobs of a pair of workers that were not listed previously. The change puts their jobs on record, but does not change any labor rate or vacation benefits.

Two new copy machines were purchased for the Intermediate and Campbell Elementary schools. Eight bids were received. Micklash said that the bids were evaluated on a basis of 5 years' use and include the cost of maintenance and supplies. For the 5-year period the low bid was a Xerox at a cost of $15,715.

The machine cost was bid at $4,615.

Schuette says

Environment key to farm future

Agriculture's mission in the future can be summed up in one word: environment. That's what Michigan

Department of Agriculture Director Bill Schuette told some 325 farmers and others attending the Tri-County Annual Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola County Farm Bureau organizations last Wednesday.

"All of you will be on the front line of change," Schuette remarked, adding Michigan agriculture's objective in the coming years is to be competitive and achieve economic growth.

At the same time, he indicated those involved in agriculture must embrace stewardship of the land and seek new, environmentally sound markets for their crops.

Schuette pointed out that the state has the ingredients to meet those goals.

He called Michigan the quintessential example of an urban-rural state that has been a pioneer in both industry and agriculture.

He noted the state is surrounded by 20 percent of the world's fresh water, and has a moderate climate and rich soil. With 125 different crops and a varied livestock industry, Michigan also is a pioneer in agriculture diversity as well as education through Michigan State University, the hub of ag research and development.

Agriculture pours some $37.5 million into the state's economy annually, he said. With "renewable resource-

The goal of consolidation, he said, "would be to better serve Thumb area customers."

"(This) would provide more than a place to pay a bill. We want to be able to offer customers more information concerning their electrical needs; techniques, electrical systems and equipment."

Detroit Edison services some 1.7 million people throughout southeast Michigan, including 172,000 customers in the 5-county Thumb area.

Commercials

by Melva E. Guinther

Is there anyone who isn't sick to death of the "Na-na-na-na" Fretter vs ABC Warehouse TV commercials? The announcer, who tells you that (Whichever Company) "doesn't tell THE truth", sounds like a spoiled brat. You fully expect him to launch into, "My store's better than your store! So there!"

The next step, obviously, would be to have store managers drive by the opposition's business and stick their tongues out.

After hearing those ridiculous commercials night after night, and it's hard to avoid them if you want to watch the news, who wants to shop either place, regardless of which has the lower price.

If the remote control is handy, I push the mute button instinctively when one of those ads appears. If not, I just grit my teeth and try to shut it out.

Maybe they're trying to prepare us for the next round of election propaganda. They're on about the same level as some of the mud-slinging political campaigns in recent years.

Different commercials undoubtedly appeal to different people, but it's hard to think that anybody's impressed with that caliber.

Speaking of commercials, have you noticed that many of the TV ads have finally begun to reflect the country's demographics by using more senior citizens to tout products? That has to be a wise move, considering the ever growing percentage of people over 50.

However, I'm not sure that the old-limer who boasts about her Country Pride chicken or the grizzled character who demands that you "Don't buy no ugly truck!" are actually appealing, even to the "geezer boomers." Do any of us really relate to them?

Commercials featuring cute kids and animals generally have universal appeal, but there are exceptions. I was glad when the supermarket chain discontinued the ad featuring the little smart aleck kid a few months ago. (His name was Alec. I'm assuming that he was smart.) He really turned me off.

One of my favorites, commercial-wise, is Joseph Pontiac of Holly. Owner Joseph Hood is probably the only car dealer on TV who doesn't shout, scream and otherwise carry on like an idiot. He seems like the kind of guy you wouldn't mind having a cup of coffee with...or buying a car from.

Carpet commercials aren't any better than the car ads. There isn't a carpet outlet on TV that doesn't scream about being overstocked and slashing prices on every carpet. But hurry, sale ends Saturday!

You'd think they'd wise up and quit overstocking, wouldn't you?

It's easy to find fault with commercials. In fairness to the people who write them, I realize that they can't come up with a "Where's the beef?" every time.

It's probably a lot like writing a column.

Dick Donahue, Cass City, is a graduate of Michigan State University. His wife, Margo, is a graduate of Central Michigan University. In front of the home Sunday morning, Dick reports, was a CMU flag in a flower pot on the porch. Also over the weekend snatches of the CMU fight song could be heard with distressing frequency. Average annual pay for workers in 1990 covered by State and Federal Unemployment Insurance programs in the Great Lakes states was $23,649, a 3.8 percent increase over 1989.

The increase was 2.5 percent in Michigan, the smallest of any state in the United States except Alaska, which increased 8 percent.

County taxes rolled back

Tuscola County commissioners have voted to accept a Headlee rollback on all county-levied taxes.

Despite lower tax rates, however, the county will collect more revenue, thanks to an increase in property valuations.

Commissioners last week held a Truth in Taxation hearing, allowing them to collect taxes on an additional 5.29 percent boost in land values. The percentage is equal to the rate of inflation as allowed under the Headlee Amendment.

The 1991 millage levies were set as follows, based on a state equalized valuation of $667,772,822:

General operations, 4.1333 mills, down from 4.2 mills; county bridges and local streets, .4921 mills, down from .5; medical care facility, .2461 mills, down from .25; road patrol/dispatch, .8857 mills, down from .9; senior programs, .1969 mills, down from .2, and roads and streets, .9841 mills, down from 1.

County Controller Michael Hoagland said increased property valuations will mean an additional $170,000 for general operations, $20,000 for county bridges and local streets, $36,000 for the road patrol/dispatch, $8,000 for senior programs and $41,000 for roads and streets.

No comparison is available for the medical care facility because commissioners previously reduced that millage rate from .5 mills to .25 mills.

The Robert McCallum family of Pontiac hosted 87 descendants of their grandparents, John and Pauline (Wolfe) McCallum-MacCallum at a family reunion held Sept. 8.

A unique idea created by city cousins Marilyn Walling and Lois Moncier was to have family T-shirts made up and ordered prior to the Sunday gathering.

Nine green shirts represented the Frank and Luella McCallum family, 4 green shirts represented the Kathryn and Frank Faye family, 27 yellow shirts represented the William and Wilma McCallum family, 30 white shirts represented the Howard and Neva McCallum family, 15 blue shirts represented the Arnold and Helen MacCallum family, and 2 pink shirts represented Vera and Cordie Heriem. Other children were Neil McCallum and Anna MacCallum Ross, with no descendants.

Home grown flower corsages were presented by a niece and daughter of living original family members, Howard McCallum of Pontiac, Vera and Cordie Heriem of White Lake and Helen MacCallum of Owendale.

There were 21 family members present with the McCallum-MacCallum family name.

The "Price Is Right" was played by adults with the prize given to the person coming closest to the right price. Children's games were also played. An adult volleyball game with more than regulation number of members on each team was played, along with horseshoe and visiting planned by the committee of Walling and Moncier.

Door prizes went to Bill Moncier, Robert MacCallum, Paul MacCallum, Karen McCallum and Robert McCallum. The M&M jar guessing contest was won by Brent Germaine.

Family members attended from White Lake, Pontiac, Wayne, Ypsilanti, Lake Orion, Warren, Bay Port, Cass City, Port Austin, Indian River, Waterford and Owendale.

The 1991 reunion will be the Sunday after Labor Day in the Owendale Village Park, with country cousins Barbara McCallum and Bonnie Gaeth in charge.

The Haire Net

This is Wednesday and right now the teachers in Tawas are on strike and threatened with firing.

By the time you read this (a week later) chances are everything will be settled and school will be operating with the striking teachers back in class.

That's what happens nearly every time, with districts like Reese being a noticeable exception. Teachers there never did get jobs back, as folks around the Thumb for awhile will remember.

Most of the time teacher-school strikes follow a ritual. First there is last minute desperate bargaining with each side feeling that the other failed to bargain in good faith. A state arbitrator sits in on the meetings. Following that there is the strike deadline and more meetings to try and come to agreement. That fails and the teachers strike. More discussion follows and then the administration makes plans to open classes with substitute teachers.

Cass City went through the whole strike procedure a few years ago and the community was split by it. Just like the Tawas area is split by the current strike. The net result was that part of the district favored the teachers, another the administration and there was a sizeable group whose only interest was getting their children back to classes.

Tawas Board President Ronald LeClair said that neither the teachers' union nor the school board has released specifics of negotiations because neither wants to jeopardize its position. Under state labor laws, he said, it is an unfair bargaining practice to turn a negotiating session into a public forum.

If that's true, it's a law that should be changed, the sooner the better.

Think about it. If what the board president is saying is accurate, the person paying the bills has no right to know how his or her money is spent.

We don't remember any charges of unfair labor practice levied in the Cass City strike, but we do know after bargaining reached an impasse the issues were outlined for all to see.

Not only do school district residents have a right to know the issues, letting air into the dispute often helps to solve it.

The way it is being handled in Tawas means that the information comes trickling down from various sources.

Inevitably it is distorted. Rumors abound and with each telling it becomes more and more twisted.

Sure, it's possible, in fact probable, that the strike will be settled before the electorate knows what the settlement is and what it will cost.

It would be easier if the issues were unclouded. And, equally important, the taxpayer would not have any nasty surprises the next time the tax bill comes around.

"If It Fitz..."

Appalling

By Jim Fitzgerald

Jeff Stoltman paid 2 parking tickets, one ghostly, the other only ghostly. The last paragraph of his letter to me explained:

"The torturous labyrinth and ridiculous double-standards you've often commented on obviously work. In this case, to perfection. I figure this was a $40 fee for the cathartic experience and the lesson in rational emotive therapy. There was slight therapeutic value."

A lesson in rational emotive therapy? Torturous labyrinth? Cathartic experience? I'm not accustomed to such elegant phrasing from ghost-ticket victims. More often, they are inarticulately indignant, sometimes profane. But Stoltman is an assistant professor at Wayne State University, and undoubtedly good for my vocabulary.

On Dec. 1, Stoltman returned to his car, parked on Cass near Putnam, to find a ticket on the windshield. It said the area was posted "No Standing" and he owed $20.

THE SYSTEM WORKS ITS MAGIC

"The area was NOT posted," Stoltman insisted, and there were no tickets on others cars similarly parked. "I kept the ticket because I suffered from a temporary insanity: I was going to fight this injustice. But then, the system began to work its magic. Not only did I resign myself to paying when the mailed notice came...but when the second more offensive notice came I paid that one as well."

The second overdue notice cited Stoltman for illegal parking in the same Cass neighborhood almost 3 hours earlier than the time listed on the first overdue notice and ticket. The second overdue notice listed the ticket number for that infraction as 78,131 digits higher than the number on the ticket issued for the later infraction. Of course, Stoltman never saw the ticket for the earlier infraction. He insists it was never put on his windshield and the first he knew of it was when the second overdue notice arrived in the mail. That's how ghost tickets are born, and that's how a labyrinth gets torturous.

Stoltman said he didn't know if he was the victim of "a quota-driven madman ticketing innocents" or a computer glitch. Whatever, his emotional desire for justice soon faded in the face of the hassle required to fight for it. He could make the necessary phone calls to the Parking Violations Bureau - line usually busy -- and then write the letter necessary to arrange a court appearance that would cost him at least a half day's work. Or he could simply pay $40 for a cathartic and quickly eliminate the double threat against his driver's license.

Stoltman paid, and that's how the Detroit Municipal Parking Department extracts money from innocent car owners.

THE FUTILE PURSUIT OF JUSTICE

What might have happened if Stoltman had pursued justice? Ask Sherry McRill of Grosse Pointe Park. She received a ghost ticket many months ago and, in August, was prompted to write an indignant letter to the parking department. Some excerpts:

"I received a letter dated March 22 stating you were unable to 'dismiss' my ticket as requested and that I should call or write for a court date. I called for several days and was unable to reach anyone. I sent a letter March 27 and requested a court date to argue my case. To date, 5 months later, I have received no reply. I can only assume that you have either dismissed the ticket without informing me or that you merely have failed to respond to my request. I assume it is the latter, based on the lack of service or assistance received thus far in this matter."

"The time and effort I have wasted on this matter is considerable. I am formally requesting a court date so that I may speak in person to a magistrate who has the inclination to listen, as opposed to sending form letters and leaving the phone off the hook for hours at a time. The lack of courtesy displayed when you do reach an operator at your office is appalling."

Onward and upward. If parking director Helen Irving cares to respond to McRill, or send Stoltman a refund, I'd be delighted to hear about it. In the meantime, "appalling" seems like the appropriate word, but with slight therapeutic value.

Besonen pleased with O-G gridder's winning attitude

The NCTL's dark horse, Coach Arnie Besonen's Bulldogs, rushed out of the starting gate Friday at Peck, where they emerged 18-12 winners in both schools' conference opener.

Owen-Gage will look to keep pace with the rest of the field this week when they entertain CPS in the first of a 4 week home stand.

A win Friday would set up a probable clash of unbeaten teams for the Bulldogs' homecoming game, slated with league favorite Kingston Sept. 27.

"These kids just want to win," says Besonen. "(I) can't hold them back. We haven't had that kind of attitude over here in a long time."

Besonen may have not had the likes of Mickey Parks, who rushed for his second straight 100+ game, in a while also.

Parks scored the first of his 3 touchdowns Friday when he capped a 70-yard drive at the 3:18 mark of the opening quarter.

The lead, however, was short-lived as Peck's Jeff Miller tied the score 5 plays later on a 38 yard gallop.

That score carried over to the Pirates' defense unit, who snuffed the visitors on 3 consecutive plays and left Besonen's gridder's with a 4th and long in their own territory.

Rather than playing the percentages, however, Besonen called for a fake punt and when Shane Martindale, who received a short snap, found Matt Mandich open in the flats, the Bulldogs had new life.

Parks made good on Besonen's gamble when he closed out the first half scoring on a 7 yard jaunt through the stunned Pirate defense.

Perhaps Besonen should have called for a short snap in the third period as well, as an errant hike sailed over punter Joe Garza's head and set up the tying touchdown by Jason McCanham, who scored 3 plays later on a series that covered only 13 yards.

The Bulldogs easily could have folded at that point, but Parks, who rushed for 139 yards on 28 carries, had other ideas at hand.

After collecting a first down on their next possession, Parks broke loose on a second down play and scampered 18 yards for the game's winning score.

The O-G defense, led by Parks' 14 tackles and Gary Emmons' 7 stops, shut the hosts down in their final series to preserve the victory.

O-G girls win, win, but Roller still frowns

In charge of a team that is undefeated in North Central Thumb League competition and that lost only one game and that in overtime, you'd figure that Coach Dean Roller would be smiling.

But he's not, even though his Bulldogs rolled past Kinde-North Huron Thursday, 52-37.

It was an ugly game, the coach said. Too many fouls, too many turnovers and a shooting percentage that was horrendous. (20 of 80 for 25 percent.)

What concerns the coach the most is that his charges just aren't generating the scoring on the inside that he would like to see. If we are to be contenders, we need more scoring from these people, he feels.

Despite the coach's concerns, Owen-Gage will rank as solid favorites to win when Carsonville-Port Sanilac comes to town Thursday. The Tigers lost to Port Hope in the Caseville tourney, which the Bulldogs won with ease.

Possibly the coach is looking next Thursday's game to next Tuesday, when the team travels to Kingston to play the Cardinals, the team to beat in the North Central this season.

Despite the coach's concerns, the Bulldogs were in control all the way against Kinde. With Carl Salcido pacing the attack with 6 points in the first period, the Bulldogs jumped off to a 12-9 lead in the first 8 minutes.

Salcido continued to pace the attack in the second quarter and the Bulldogs had built a commanding 26-15 lead at the intermission.

The Bulldogs' offense was hampered by the loss of Michelle Tkacz, who picked up 3 fouls in the first half and eventually fouled out.

Tkacz is the leading Bulldog scorer. She ended the night with 14 points, while Salcido led all scorers with 18 points.

The Bulldogs had consistent scoring all night. The team added 12 points in the

Meck happy with cross-country team

Cass City had 2 medal winners at the Unionville-Sebewaing Area Schools cross country invitation track meet Tuesday, Sept. 10, in which athletes from 18 schools participated.

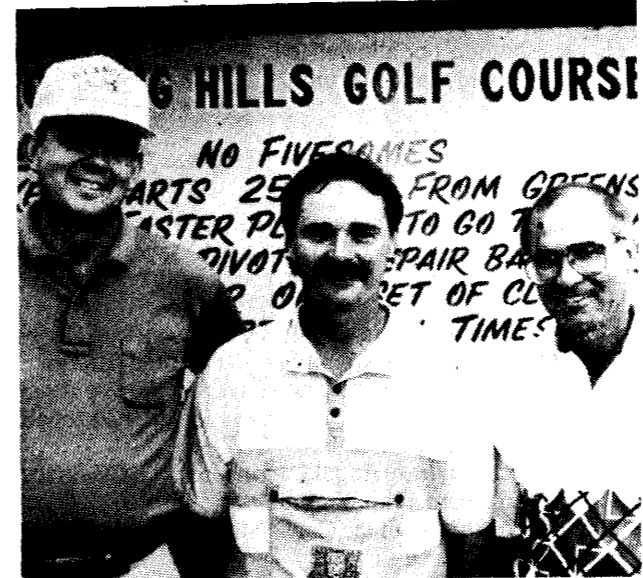

It is a unique meet in that the races are divided by classes, with each class competing against only athletes from the same class.

Coach Dennis Meck was happy with the results. The Hawks had a medal winner in both the boys' and the girls' events.

Freshman Jason Daniel finished 12th in a time of 19:41 to earn a medal. Ben Hobbs posted a 22:34. The event was won by Troy Levely of Caro in a time of 18:22.

Crown golf tourney champs

The final civic club golf tournament, Cass City's Gavel and Lions clubs Hammer/Cane Tournament, was held Saturday at Rolling Hills Golf Course.

The 18 hole tilt, 9 holes of scramble play and 9 holes of handicapped best ball, had 30 3-man teams entered.

Capturing first place honors was the team of Jim Apley, Mike Becking and Rod Griggs, who fired a winning score of 60.8 on the par 70 course.

Runner-up in the tourney was the team of Richard Marks, Jim Swartz and Glen Rogers, who turned in a score of 60.9, finishing just

.2 of a stroke in front of Jack Burns, Jeff Maharg and John Maharg, who placed third.

Rolling Hills also crowned their membership champions recently, when 53 members competed in a 36 hole tournament with the 2 low qualifiers in each flight advancing to match play.

In the championship flight, Dale McIntosh defeated Don Ouvry after 20 holes of play and was crowned club champion.

Rich Tate bested Ernie Bellew, while Daryl Iwankovitsch topped Bob Stickle to win the club's 1st and 2nd flights, respectively.

Hawks-Hatchets in title race

It looks like the race for the championship of the Thumb Golf League will be between the Bad Axe Hatchets and the Cass City Red Hawks.

In the first of 2 league tournaments held Monday, Sept. 9, at Verona Hills Golf Course, Bad Axe was first and Cass City second.

The Hawks were a close second. The Hatchets scored 177 and the Hawks, 179. Allowing for the advantage that the home course gives, it appears that a neck-to-neck race to the wire is in the offing.

Other teams finished in the following order: Harbor Beach and Sandusky, tied for third with 189 each; Lakers, fifth, 198; Marlette, sixth, 205, and Mayville, 235.

Co-medalists of the meet were Jeff Sweet and Tom Carder, with 40. A stroke off the pace was Garth Barker, 41. Other Cass City scores were: Jeff Hockey, 44; Bart Hall, 49, and Kevin Franz, 45.

SANDUSKY MEET

Cass City defeated Sandusky and Caseville in a triple-dual match Wednesday at Woodland Hills. Sandusky. The scores were: Cass City, 188; Sandusky, 203, and Caseville, 227.

The win over Sandusky counts in the league standings. Sandusky's results would have been 7 strokes lower if a score posted by Jeff Sweet (48) was not disqualified because he signed an incorrect score card.

Barker led the Hawks with a 43, Kevin Franz and Matt Rutkoski shot 48 each, and Chris Chappel shot 49.

Cass City's junior varsity bowed to the Redskins, 222-225.

Win over Lakers keeps unbeaten Hawks on top in Blue Bay League

And then there was one. Just one team left in the Blue Bay League yet to play league-leading, undefeated in its first 4 games, Cass City.

And that team is Bad Axe and the Hawks are scheduled to meet the Hatchets on their home floor Thursday.

The Hawks will reign as heavy favorites to keep the win streak going against the Hatchets, who lost last week to Marlette, 69-19.

Cass City racked up a pair of wins during the week, travelling to Capac Tuesday, Sept. 10, to take a defensive battle, 39-25, and then winning its home opener Thursday against the Lakers, 64-49.

Coach Marty Daniel had a smile a mile wide Friday morning after the Laker game. We had fine team defense and were able to contain Holly Esch, the Lakers' fine forward, he pointed out. Our shooting was also sharp and so was our ball handling, and the passing very good.

Cass City jumped off to an early lead in the first quarter as Jenny Storm was thunderous, with a big 11-point effort in the first 8 minutes.

She paced Cass City to a 17-8 lead in the quarter and Cass City never trailed, although the Lakers kept within winning distance until midway in the final period, when the Hawks widened the margin to a dozen points and then coasted in for the win.

The Lakers used a full-court or a half-court press practically all game, but it resulted in few turnovers as Jodi Hillaker dribbled or passed her way through it. The Lakers tried packing in the defense to make Cass City hit the outside shot and the girls did. Jodi Schember was especially effective from the baseline, about 15-foot out.

The visitors closed the gap a little in the second quarter behind Kelly McLellan's 6 points and trailed 30-23 at the intermission.

The Lakers made several brief runs at Cass City in the opening minutes of the third period. But each time the Green and White applied pressure, Cass City found a way to relieve it by breaking the press for an easy 2 points or hitting a shot from the outside. Schember ripped in 3 from outcourt and Storm added a pair of buckets and 2 free throws in the period.

Hillaker, who had directed the offense all night, found the basket in the last half and scored 10 points, including 6 in the final period, as Cass City turned on the afterburners to salt away the game.

Storm added 21 points and Schember ended with 16. Esch netted 17 for the Lakers.

Hillaker had 10 assists and 4 steals, Schember led the rebounders with 7.

CAPAC GAME

The Hawks were off to a slow start against Capac, but some tight defense kept the team in the game until the offense righted itself.

In the low scoring first period, Capac limited Cass City to baskets by Stephanie Leiterman and Jennifer Fruendt. The best the hosts could do was 3 field goals, and the period ended with Capac in front, 6-4.

Cass City came charging back to tie the score at the half after trailing by 6 points in the second period. Pacing the rally was Barb Kelley, with 7 points. The point production probably widened the smile on Daniel's face.

Cass City was kept in the game in the first half by players on the team who have been in a support role in other games this year. Besides Kelley's production, all of the points in the first quarter were registered by Jennifer Fruendt and Stephanie Leiterman.

Cass City surged from a 17-all tie at the half, to take control in the third quarter. Going into the final quarter, the Hawks were in front, 29-21, and a 10-4 final period margin made the victory a decisive one.

In the last half Capac took just 10 shots and was held to 8 points.

The Capac press was handled effectively by Hillaker and Storm.

Hawks favored over Bad Axe

Interception sparks Lakers to win over Cass City

It reads like a blow-out, Cass City's first home game of the year against the Lakers and the first ever in the new Blue Bay Conference.

As it turned out it was a blow-out, but the more-talented Lakers were mildly tested before rolling to a 48-12 victory.

Although defeating the Lakers promises to be an almost insurmountable task for teams in the league, close competition between the other 3 teams is expected.

The Hawks play at Bad Axe and should reign as slight favorites. The Hatchets bowed to Marlette last week, a team that was defeated by Kingston in the first game of the season.

There were 2 key plays in the game, the first sparked Cass City and the second was devastating to the team.

The first came in the closing seconds of the first half. It came with the Hawks trailing 14-0. The Green Machine had opened the game with a touchdown march that covered 40 yards, kept alive by a brilliant performance by Reggie Ignash. He scrambled for 11 yards for a first down and broke 2 tackles to move the ball to the Cass City 10, from where Scott Fisher went around Cass City's left end to score.

Cass City mounted a drive of its own behind the air arm of Brad Gray to John Gibson and running by Dirk DeLong. A pass for 15 yards moved the ball to the Laker 25 and DeLong then took the ball twice for a first on the 5.

A fumble on a reverse lost 5 and the Hawk rally stopped.

The Lakers then scored again with Ignash and Fisher running for big yards. Fisher capped the drive, running over from the 5. Ignash ran for the extra points.

The Lakers were trying to score again before the half and it backfired into a Cass City touchdown. Ignash, back to pass, was severely pressured by DeLong and his pass was right into the hands of Jed Hubbard. Hubbard streaked untouched into the end zone after time had expired on the clock.

The score rejuvenated Cass City. Starting the second half the team moved steadily down the field from their own 36. Passing, Gray to Gibson gained 24 and 16 and a penalty moved the ball to the Laker 9, first and goal.

Two plays gained little and then the play that broke the game wide open occurred. Gray attempted a pass in the flat and it was intercepted by Mike Keefer, who went 94 yards to score.

After that it was all Lakers. They scored again as Fisher went 35 yards and once more before the third quarter ended, on a blocked punt.

Early in the final period the Lakers scored twice more. First on a 65-yard pass from Jason Krohn to Ignash and then on an 81-yard run by Fisher.

Cass City scored late in the period as Brandon Toner ran in from 21 yards out. Troy Benitez had 11 tackles, one unassisted, to lead the Cass City defense.

The Cass City junior varsity continued undefeated with a 24-8 decision over the Laker JV Thursday.

Report first hole in one

Hi John,
Thought you might be interested in learning that Jeff Prieskorn scored a hole in one yesterday, Sept. 11, on the par 3, 11th hole on the Lake Buena Vista Course at Walt Disney World. He was playing from the blue tees, which were set at about 160 yards. He hit an 8 iron "sweet" and the ball roared about a 2 inch hole at the front of the cup. We heard the ball hit the flagstick as it flew into the hole. Lots of excitement followed. This was Jeff's first hole in one and really made an enjoyable round of golf greater.

I have enclosed a copy of the scorecard (I told Jeff I would have played better if I knew he was going to score a hole in one!) and copy of the information sheet he filled out in the Clubhouse. This feat brought our conversation back to the number of holes in one scored on holes 4 and 5 at Rolling Hills over the years. Do they keep such records there?

Sincerely,

Russell L. Richards

Time to grow up; the world isn't one color

Cass City Chronicle:
What a small world we have, racism at Regional Center. Small minded people using color as a barrier, if you are a different color or have a handicap makes you (public) better. That my friend is emotional damage not to mention hazard to society, burning a car. Time to grow up, the world isn't 1 color. Should keep opinions to yourself and not play judge and jury. Someone may get hurt physically next time. Then you would be crying poor you when you stand before Joslyn.

There is something that Pam Northern can do about her car. Those patients are so to speak state property and CRC is in charge, are responsible of what they do.

Thank you,
Sandra Moery

Caro man faces charge of arson

A Caro man was recently arraigned in Tuscola County District Court on a charge of arson involving a Feb. 23 house fire in Fairgrove.

WATCH FOR TEENAGE DEPRESSION

Teenage depression is more common than most people think. Teenagers have many social pressures and often other significant stresses. Changes in their personalities can not always be dismissed as "phases" they are going through.

The depression can appear similar to that of adults with symptoms of fatigue, changes in appetite and sleep disturbances. Other times, it presents as rebelliousness or antisocial behavior with drug or alcohol abuse and sexual promiscuity.

If such changes occur in a teenager, it is important to evaluate it. Medical problems such as an abnormal thyroid or infections could be the cause, but if it turns out to be depression it is especially important to treat it.

Teenage suicide is growing in frequency and depression is a major cause. Girls are far more likely to attempt suicide, but boys more frequently succeed because they use guns. The suicide rate for white males has doubled since 1970 and it is second only to accidental deaths in this age group.

The depression can be treated with medicines which help restore the normal levels of certain chemicals, called neurotransmitters, in the brain. Helping the teenager identify and understand his stresses and conflicts also helps him cope.

It is very important for the teenager to receive close medical and psychiatric attention during the period of recovery. Often counseling is needed for the whole family to help resolve underlying conflicts.

Presbyterian church slates choir concert

The unique gospel sound of the Warren Avenue Baptist Church will return to the First Presbyterian Church of Cass City Sunday at 5:00 p.m.

The choir is actually composed of 3 choirs - the Warren Avenue Chorus, the Second Choir, and the Senior Choir. These choirs have been rendering the music for the church's weekly Sunday night broadcast over radio WEXL for the past 15 years. Their unique gospel renditions have been heard and enjoyed throughout the Detroit area for over 50 years. Dr. Michael Walker will be returning from his new position at Louisiana State University to direct the choir - he had served as their organist and choir director since 1985 and has been in gospel music since childhood. Dr. Walker arranges much of the music sung by the choirs.

This is the second visit of the choirs to the Cass City area - their first performance was in March 1990 at the First Presbyterian Church, and members from the choirs of First Presbyterian, Trinity Methodist and the Saginaw Valley Concert Choir (under the direction of Presbyterian Church organist/choir director, Dr. Eric Nisula) also performed "The Crucifixion" at the Warren Avenue Baptist Church both in March 1990 and again this past May.

The Baptist choir will be hosted to a dinner by the members of the Presbyterian Church prior to their performance at 5 p.m. There is no charge for the concert, however a freewill offering will be received.

Movie Time scheduled

Rawson Memorial Library's "movie time" for senior citizens will be held Friday at 1:30 p.m.

Films scheduled to be shown are "Behind the Scenes," "Secrets of the Unknown - The Titanic" and "Yosemite."

Sept. 23 was set as a night to make quilts for Lutheran World Relief. The Lutheran Women's Missionary League zone board meeting will be held at Good Shepherd Sept. 16 at 7:30. The video from the LWML convention held in Cleveland, last June, was shown. Refreshments were served by hostesses Ruth Balzer, Eloise Dorsch and Connie Mellendorf.

Parks named O-G student of month

Senior Mickey Parks has been named "student of the month" at Owen-Gage High School for the month of September.

Parks, the son of Lewis and Sandra Parks, 7727 Rescue Rd., Owendale, serves as his school's National Honor Society president and is a member of the Honors Club and the Student Council.

Also the school newspaper's sports editor, Parks is captain of the varsity football team and has earned all-conference and all-area honors in football. He also plays basketball and baseball and was named most valuable member of the track team.

His future goals include attending Michigan State University, where he plans to major in electrical engineering.

Jordan College to co-sponsor WalkAmerica

Jordan College and the March of Dimes will be co-sponsoring a WalkAmerica Oct. 5 at 1:00 p.m., with registration beginning at 12:30 p.m. Participants, who follow a 4-mile path that begins at Jordan College, raise money to help fight birth defects.

Members of the community, young and old, are invited to join the Jordan team. Registration and pledge forms are available from Dora LaPratt, walk coordinator, at the Jordan College office and participating local businesses.

Free Jordan T-shirts will be given to all team participants. Other available prizes include fanny pack for $100 or more collected, tote bag for $200 or more collected and barrel bag for $300 or more collected.

A free lunch of hot dogs, chips, and pop will be served after the walk.

Area businesses or groups interested in forming their own team to compete are also invited to contact LaPratt at the office or by calling 872-4394.

"We're counting on the community to help us surpass last year's successful effort," said Jerry White, campus dean.

MICHIGAN Department of Agriculture Director Bill Schuette emphasized land stewardship during his speech to some 325 farmers attending the annual Tri-County Farm Bureau meeting Thursday.

those in agriculture must also continue to pursue farming practices that protect both land and water. Some would like to regulate the industry, "but there is a right in Michigan as fundamental as any I know...and it's called the right to farm," Schuette said.

"It's important that we take the lead in agriculture." The alternative, he added, may be others imposing a solution that "wouldn't be workable or correct." Partnership with the land, Schuette repeated, is the key.

"That's our challenge in the years ahead, and I think we should meet that challenge."

Koylton Township in court Friday to keep camp open

Koylton Township Board members who want to keep Pioneer Work and Learn Center in their township are scheduled to get what is expected to be their last day in Tuscola County Circuit Court Friday.

But the attorney for the township Zoning Board says Judge Patrick R. Joslyn has already denied the board's attempt to intervene in the matter.

If that's the case, the rehabilitation program for male juveniles will be forced to move from Kingston Hills Camp to another location, probably Vassar if recent comments by camp officials are any indication.

During an Aug. 30 court hearing, Joslyn ordered Pioneer officials to close within 10 days. The order followed a 3-year court battle in which the township's Zoning Board of Appeals ruled, and Joslyn agreed, that use of Kingston Hills Camp by Pioneer officials violates township zoning.

The township appeals and zoning boards are named as the defendants in the court action.

However, a majority of Township Board members rejected the decision to seek closure of the "work and learn" camp, and approved a resolution granting the camp another 6 months in which to seek necessary zoning changes.

Motions filed Sept. 6 and Sept. 9 with circuit court on behalf of the Township Board requested that Joslyn approve the 6-month extension, and determine that the Township Board — not the Zoning Board — has legal authority to act on behalf of the township.

A hearing on the latter is slated for Friday at 2 p.m.

Joslyn signed a written order Sept. 10 affirming his Aug. 30 verbal ruling, and also denied the motion for a 6-month extension for the camp.

Joslyn indicated in the written order that the proposed extension was not presented properly because the township appeals and zoning boards — not the Township Board — are the proper parties to the action.

Attorney Duane Burgess, who is representing the Township Board, said the purpose of Friday's hearing is to ask the judge to determine which board in the township is the proper legal authority.

Joslyn has already made that decision, Zoning Board attorney J. Anthony Sykora commented, adding as far as he's concerned Joslyn's action Sept. 10 finalized the matter. Following the Aug. 30 hearing, Robert Wollack, executive director of Wolven Human Services, the primary contractor to Pioneer, remarked camp officials would obey Joslyn's final decision and move.

Wollack has said that at least 2 municipalities in Tuscola County have voiced an interest in hosting the camp, but hints Vassar would be the likely location, saying city officials have given Pioneer "the red carpet treatment."

Medicare to help pay for pap tests

Women with Medicare coverage should know that Medicare will now help pay for the cost of pap smear screening for early detection of cervical cancer.

Available since July of last year, this coverage can save lives by increasing access to this effective method for detecting cervical cancer at a stage when it is more easily treatable.

Medicare will pay 80 percent of the approved charge, after the beneficiary meets the usual medical insurance annual deductible ($100 in 1991).

It is important for women to take advantage of this Medicare provision. The American Cancer Society estimates that 13,500 new cases of invasive cervical cancer will be diagnosed this year. Six thousand American women will die of the disease in 1991 alone.
