Group seeks to recall Koylton supervisor Boyne

The bitter zoning battle involving Koylton Township officials and Pioneer Work and Learn Center has spawned an effort to recall longtime township Supervisor Terry Boyne.

A recall petition was recently filed by Mark Eschtruth and Ronald Brief, Tuscola County Clerk Erma Brown said.

Brown is a member of the county Election Commission, which approved the petition wording early last week. Other members are county Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr. and county Treasurer Patricia Donovan.

The recall effort stems from the township's zoning battle with Pioneer, a rehabilitation program for male juvenile delinquents operated at Kingston Hills Camp near Kingston.

Following a 3-year court battle, the program was ruled in violation of township zoning laws.

The Township Board passed a motion Aug. 12 recommending that the township ask township attorneys and Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn to approve an agreement in which Pioneer officials would be given 6 months to work out possible changes in the zoning ordinance that would allow the camp to operate legally.

"Contrary to that motion and the expressed wishes of the Township Board," the recall petition states, "Terry Boyne, acting with (township Zoning Board Chairman) Russell Mayer through attorney J. Anthony Sykora, who represented the township and zoning board in the lawsuit against Pioneer Work and Learn Center, refused to advise the court on 8-30-90 of the township's motion..."

Instead, the petition states, Sykora requested that the court order Pioneer officials to cease their operations and immediately vacate the property. "The result was a court order requiring Pioneer Work and Learn to close and leave the property in 10 days."

Boyne has served as a township official for about 18 years, including 16 years as supervisor.

According to Brown, organizers must collect the valid signatures of at least 92 registered Koylton Township residents to place the recall issue before voters.

There is no deadline to file the signatures, but Brown noted the election commission will only verify names collected during the previous 90 days.

Provided enough signatures are collected, a special election will be scheduled, she said.

Loss set at $30,000 in Snover elevator fire

Damage has been estimated at $30,000 in a grain elevator fire in Snover Thursday that prompted the evacuation of several families living nearby.

No injuries were reported, according to Moore Township Fire Chief Donald Rudy, who said about 35 fire fighters from the Moore, Argyle and Lamotte Township fire departments responded to the 5:04 p.m. alarm at Wruble Elevator Inc.

Flames were already shooting through the roof of the facility when firemen arrived, Rudy said. "One section of the elevator, the grinding and seed treating area, was destroyed," he added.

Rudy said about 25 residences south of town were evacuated for about 2 hours because of the threat of flames reaching a 55-gallon drum of fungicide used to treat wheat. "Flames were coming right at it," Rudy remarked, adding fire fighters prevented fire from reaching the chemical.

The fire chief pointed out pre-fire planning sessions involving the elevator proved valuable.

"There were other chemicals in the area, but we had knowledge of where they were, and we knew there could be a problem," he remarked. "We knew what we had roughly before we got in there."

The fire destroyed some corn, oats and wheat at the elevator, but navy beans stored in 2 silos were saved, loaded onto trucks and transported to Wruble plants in Cass City, Harbor Beach and Ubly, Rudy said.

Fire fighters remained at the elevator all night, clearing the scene at 10:26 a.m. Friday.

Cause of the blaze hasn't been determined. The fire remains under investigation by the state fire marshal's office.

4 mills for 15 years

Approve Uibly school addition

The Uibly Board of Education has set a special millage levy of 4 mills for 15 years to pay for the district's planned $3.2 million school addition.

The levy was approved during a special meeting Thursday, 2 days after voters approved funding the project in a special bond election. The measure passed 647-383, with 34 percent of the district's 3,400 registered voters casting ballots.

The 4-mill levy translates into an annual tax increase of about $80 for the owner of a $40,000 home; $100 for the owner of a $50,000 home.

The tax will pay for a 28,000-square foot, L-shaped building that will replace 3 temporary classrooms and a Quonset hut built in 1949.

Plans call for the new facility to house 9 teaching stations for music, agriculture, science and computer instruction, as well as offices, a cafeteria and a multipurpose room.

Construction is scheduled to begin next summer, with completion expected by fall 1993.

A lack of adequate space has been widely discussed in the Uibly district for some time. The need for more room has never been greater than now, according to school officials, who note the district has experienced an enrollment increase of some 90 students — most of them in elementary grades — this year.

About half of the increase is attributable to the recent closing of St. Mary's School in nearby Parisville, officials said.

Office fire loss estimated at $2,000

A fire at a business office complex in Cass City Thursday was ruled accidental by state fire marshal investigators.

Elkland Township fire fighters were called to the AT&T Operations Center office at 4455 Doerr Rd. at about 5:19 p.m., according to Fire Chief Dick Root.

"There was a wastepaper sack in the corner of the bathroom that caught fire," he explained, adding a wall was scorched and the room sustained smoke damage.

Root, who noted the building is owned by Clare Comment, Cass City, said it's uncertain exactly what started the blaze, which caused an estimated $2,000 in damage.

$91,000 more for Cass City

2 winners, 2 losers in annual pupil count

Two area school districts were winners and 2 others losers in the annual Fourth Friday count conducted last week.

The statewide student tallies, conducted on the fourth Friday after Labor Day weekend each year, are used in determining the amount of per pupil state aid "in-formula" school districts will receive.

Using the current state aid formula, the additional 28 students translate into more than $91,000 in revenue.

Overall, Cass City's enrollment has remained relatively stable over the past several years, according to the superintendent, who noted the district's enrollment totalled 1,658 in 1985.

pupil in state aid last year.

He noted the school system has experienced a steady decline in enrollment at least since 1986, when there were 362 students.

KINGSTON

Kingston Community School officials also reported a drop in enrollment.

School Supt. Jerry H. Laycock said Friday's count revealed a total of 790 students — 390 in the elementary grades, 350 in the high school and 50 Pioneer Work and Learn Center students.

There are an additional 10 pupils in preschool, but they are not counted by the state, Laycock said, adding the enrollment total represents a loss of 3 students over the previous year.

OWEN-GAGE

The news was less optimistic in the Owen-Gage School System, where officials reported the loss of about 25 students.

This year's enrollment is 301 students. The total is composed of 153 students in the elementary grades, 141 in high school and 7 5-year-olds in preschool.

CASS CITY

Cass City Schools picked up an additional 28 students over the year before.

School Supt. Ken Micklash said officials counted a total of 1,650 students Friday — 440 in the high school, 122 at Deford Elementary School, 538 at Campbell Elementary School, 514 in the intermediate school and 36 in adult education.

Eight of the additional students are in high school, with the remaining enrollment increase split between the intermediate and elementary grades.

"I was thinking we'd gain 10 to 20 kids" this year, Micklash remarked, adding an increase of 28 was a pleasant surprise after losing 40 students last year.

School Supt. Harley Kirby said he isn't certain whether the enrollment loss will push Owen-Gage out of its status as an "in-formula" school district.

"I think we're going to be in, but I won't guarantee it," he remarked. "It'll be tough (financially) either way."

Owen-Gage has been an "in-formula" school for the past 3 years, according to Kirby, who said the district received about $3,400 per facility for male juvenile delinquents has been ruled in violation of Koylton Township zoning laws.

According to Laycock, combined state aid received by the district for Pioneer students has annually provided some $200,000 in revenue after teaching expenses are subtracted. That's equal to about 3 mills, he said, noting the district hasn't asked for a millage increase in 4 years.

If the facility is forced to close, however, he concluded, "Our school (financial) picture would change tremendously."

UBLY

Uibly Community School officials had the most to cheer about among the 4 area districts.

School Supt. David Landeryou reported an enrollment of 901, an increase of 88 students. The total is composed of 635 pupils in grades K-8 and 266 in grades 9-12, he said, adding much of the student increase occurred at the elementary level.

About half the additional students came from nearby Please turn to back page.

Edison tract price tied to employees at facility

Detroit Edison's search for a site to build a central office complex that will serve upper Thumb customers is over.

Company officials last week announced their plans to purchase and build on a 13-acre site in the Cass City Industrial Park, just south and east of Edison's existing storage facility.

and hasn't developed a plan regarding transfer of existing employees.

He repeated previously released information, saying the move to Cass City stems from a plan to restructure and centralize regional offices and service centers in the northern 3 counties of Edison's 5-county Thumb Division.

A total of 6 offices and service centers, now located in Caro, Bad Axe and Sandusky, will be combined.

"This is a whole new concept," Mancini remarked of the project. "We have some visions that we would like to increase and tailor (our) services to the farm community—see exactly what the market is and what they want as far as services."

Once the project is implemented, Edison will be able to provide better service overall to Thumb customers, according to Mancini.

Examples are improved service installation and service restoration efforts, such as when power is knocked out following a storm. And, of course, Mancini added, "The customers will benefit through future rate adjustments through the consolidation."

Aside from better service coordination and an annual savings in operating costs, Edison officials expect the restructuring to result in smoother day-to-day operations, Mancini said.

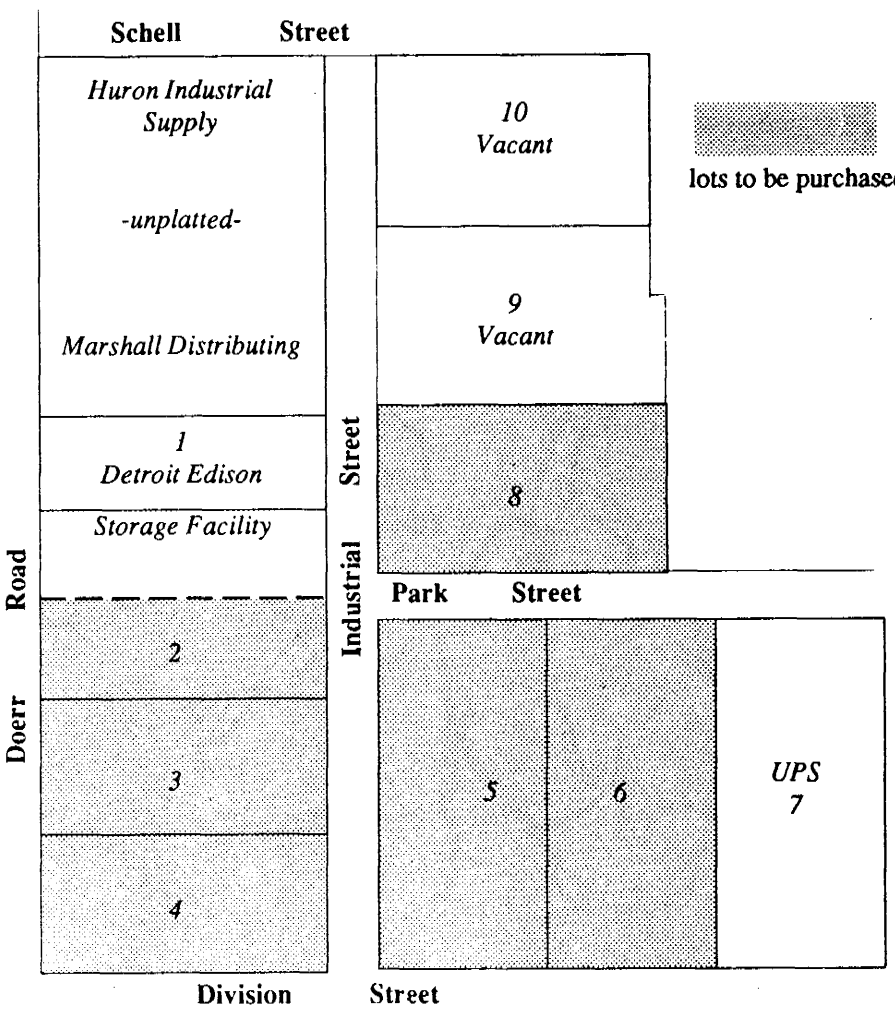

The project is particularly good news for Cass City, LaPonsie remarked.

"We're going to have 75 more people working here in town. Plus, some of these people are more than likely going to move to town," he said. "Then the other thing is the tax base."

LaPonsie said Edison's land purchase will leave only 2 vacant lots, totaling about 5 acres, in the 35-acre industrial park east of Doerr Road. However, the village has another 30.5-acre tract of industrial park land west of Doerr Road.

"Detroit Edison can't help but be a positive influence in our community," he concluded. "I can't help but think (their selection of Cass City) is going to influence other people to look here."

HYPERTENSION, THE SILENT KILLER

Causing few or no symptoms, hypertension has become known as the "silent killer." You must have your blood pressure taken to diagnose it.

A normal reading is below 140/90, and when it goes above this reading it should be followed closely. The diagnosis should not be made from just one or two readings—it will vary depending on heart rate, excitement, and just being in the doctor's office.

When the readings are consistently high, your doctor will consider several factors which may be affecting the blood pressure. Use of tobacco, alcohol, coffee and salt may contribute to the elevated readings. These are all life-style factors which can be changed. Losing weight and increasing your physical activity may be all that is needed to control mild hypertension.

When dietary and life-style changes do not control the blood pressure, a medicine is usually started. A wide variety of medicines are available and the best one often depends on your age and medical conditions such as diabetes or asthma. Water pills which remove salt and water from the body or beta-blockers which slow the heart are often used first.

When the readings are extremely high, there is an immediate risk of a stroke or heart attack until it is controlled. Hospitalization to treat the blood pressure and protect against these complications may be necessary.

A person's blood pressure may increase with age, so yearly checks are needed. It is important to treat it early to prevent the complications of heart attacks, strokes and kidney failure.

"If It Fitz..." Playing detective

By Jim Fitzgerald

On Wednesday I played detective, or mayor. What's the difference? My investigation may have uncovered the same evidence Mayor Coleman Young discovered when he personally probed the infamous beating of a suburban woman during the Freedom Festival fireworks.

why any witnesses would wait almost 3 months before coming forward with what could be important evidence.

AND WHAT ABOUT THE CHIEF?

Whatever. It is certainly fascinating that Young, like an all-purpose mayor on a TV crime show, actively entered — invaded? — the investigation. That should say something to critics who now are saying the mayor may have done too much — such as use his overwhelming presence to awe witnesses into remembering what he'd like them to remember.

I cleverly phoned a reliable source who was nearby when Joanne Was of Farmington Hills was pummeled in front of the Omni Hotel. I asked if he could guess what Young learned last week when he questioned several Omni employees about the videotaped violence that bruised Detroit's image.

My source said a black employee went to the aid of Was, who is white, after she was apparently knocked down by several black women. When the employee attempted to guide Was into the safety of the hotel, her initial reaction was to snap, "Get away from me, n—"

There has been debate concerning whether the violence was provoked or accelerated by racial slurs voiced by either side. So if Mayor Young heard this same account, it might have helped influence him to order police to reopen the investigation.

YET ANOTHER AMAZING COINCIDENCE

My source didn't know if this particular Omni employee was one of those who talked to the mayor. Like me, my source can't imagine

On Aug. 23 I wrote about Kim Clark of Flint, who was mailed an overdue citation for illegal parking on a Detroit street where she never parked. She clipped the column and sent it to the Parking Violations Bureau. TIXON Corp., the private firm that collects Detroit parking fines, investigated and discovered Clark was the victim of an officer's poor printing.

"When he wrote down the license plate number, he made a D that looked like a P, and that's why I got the citation," said Clark, who was pleased with TIXON's response. "They phoned twice to apologize and also sent a letter."

But Clark was also skeptical. According to Secretary of State computer records, the car the ticket was supposedly written against, the one with the D plate number, is the same model Chevrolet as hers. "An amazing coincidence," Clark said.

Ah, yes. There are those skeptics who think some parking department employees use those computer records to write ghost tickets against out-of-town cars. Many innocent victims grit their teeth and pay the $30 simply to avoid the complaint hassle and protect their driver's license. When someone does complain, the shrugging explanation can always be, "Sorry, the officer made a mistake writing down the plate number."

TIXON has nothing to do with writing tickets, only with collecting fines. But I asked a TIXON spokesperson if he were bothered by such amazing coincidences as that committed against Kim Clark.

"You know I can't respond to that question," he said. "Yeah, but you don't need to be a detective, or even a mayor, to have a clue."

The Haire Net

An observant reader asked me the other day why the Chronicle never used Lady Hawks when writing about the Cass City High School basketball team.

The inference was that perhaps we did not feel that the members were ladies. Well, it's a small thing and the world wouldn't come to an end if the team members were referred to as Ladies instead of Red Hawks.

I told my critic that I figured that calling the girls ladies was really a chauvinistic way to proceed.

What would happen, I asked, if the paper referred to the boys' team as Gentlemen Hawks? No need to answer that.

The girls' basketball teams, the girls' track teams, the volleyball teams and the softball teams are Red Hawks, representative of the school, just like the boys are. Certainly they do not have the following in the community that the boys do. Not yet. And maybe not among the student body either.

Proof? How about this year's basketball team? As this is written, the team is unbeaten. It's been a while now since any Cass City athletic team has been in contention for the league title, let alone has had an undefeated season.

So far this year the fans have been comfortably handled using just half of the bleacher seats.

Very few students attend. Yes, I know, comparatively few students attend the boys' games, too. So how can I say that the girls take a back seat to the boys?

How about cheerleaders? They are present and very active at every boys' game, yet I don't see them when the girls take the floor.

How about the pep band? It plays when the boys play basketball. I rest my case.

In the band's defense, the football season takes a lot of the time available, but still if the sports were equal, don't you feel that the band would find a way to spend at least a night or so when the girls play?

It's probable that the girls were named Lady Hawks to project an image to the students participating. Maybe to convey the impression that girls can be rough, tough players and ladies, too.

There is no doubt that they can and do. But the game for the girls has come a long way since it began a couple of decades ago.

It's come so far now that we should regard them as what they are. Teams representing the school the same as the boys.

Go, Red Hawks!

College Night set Oct. 15

The Tuscola County Counselors' Association recently announced it will be hosting a College Night Program Oct. 15 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Tuscola Area Skill Center, one mile north of M-81 on Cleaver Road in Caro.

Representatives from large public universities in Michigan, area community colleges, many private colleges and vocational schools, and branches of the military will be on hand with information about the opportunities they offer for young people to continue their education. A representative of the Michigan Department of Education will provide information on financial aid programs available.

Students considering college and their parents are encouraged to attend. There will be no better opportunity to get so much information on so many schools at one time. The Tuscola County College Night is one of the largest held in the state of Michigan.

More information is available by contacting Wayne Dillon or Curtis Cleland, counselors at Cass City High School.

Bay Shore auction raises $20,000

Bay Shore Evangelical Camp, Sebawaing, set a new attendance record when nearly 1,000 people turned out to support the camp's 1991 Benefit Auction Sept. 21. The day long sale was the first major public event to be held in Bay Shore's new multi-purpose Youth Center.

"We expected a bigger crowd than in past years," acknowledged Camp Director Lew Tibbits, "but not anything like these numbers. This is great!"

Tibbits reported this year's auction brought Bay Shore more than $20,000, a figure he estimates is roughly one-third higher than the 1990 auction revenue.

The annual event is sponsored by Bay Shore Camp's Ladies Auxiliary, a group of Thumb-area women dedicated to providing material and service needs of the camp. Auction proceeds are used primarily for purchasing new equipment such as bunk beds and mattresses, commercial kitchen appliances, building repairs, etc.

Sale highlights included a top bid of $1,700 for a Gascho hand crafted solid oak table and chairs, and $3,100 for a pieced quilt hand stitched by the Elkton United Methodist Church Women.

In a companion event, judges gave Mrs. Bertha Brinkman Hover of Caro top honors in Bay Shore's 1991 Pie Baking Contest. Her apple pie was then auctioned, bringing the camp $260.

Bay Shore Evangelical Camp of Sebawaing serves youngsters and families of the Upper Thumb and greater Michigan. More than 875 children and youth participated in the camp's 1991 summer programs.

Bubbylonian auditions scheduled

Auditions for "The Bubbylonian Encounter" will be held Oct. 10 at 7 p.m. in the Cass City High School speech room.

"The Bubbylonian Encounter" is a 30-minute, 3-person play that teaches elementary age children preventive sexual child abuse skills. The program, endorsed by the Tuscola and Huron county Child Abuse and Neglect councils, is presented by the Cass City Players.

Parts are available for both Huron and Tuscola County casts, which will hold evening rehearsals and morning performances.

Additional information is available by calling the Cass City Community Education Office, Mondays through Thursdays from 1 to 9 p.m., at 872-4151.

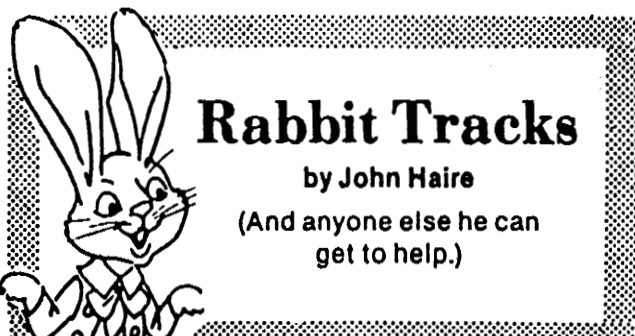

Gagetown Park benefit set Oct. 20

Tickets for the dinner and dance will be $12.50 each, with reservations required in advance. Please call Crystal at 665-2494 for ticket information and table reservations.

Whew! department. That Southwest Airlines jetliner that came within 50 feet of colliding with a small military-type training plane and was forced to climb abruptly and turn left to miss it had 2 Cass Cityans as passengers. Riding the plane as it approached Chicago's Midway Airport were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Copeland.

Watchers of television may have caught a person with Cass City connections on TV-5 Friday, Sept. 20. She is Joyce Muz of Caro, the wife of Cass City graduate Tim Muz. Representing the Cooperative Extension Service in Caro, she answered questions on gardening.

Here's a suggestion with merit from the Michigan State Police. When you change your clock to Eastern Standard Time Oct. 27, change the batteries in your smoke detectors. Make it a habit and never be caught short with a dead battery and a live fire.

Monday was a red letter day. No, not because of the gorgeous weather. It's because not one unordered catalog crossed my desk. Since I never buy from them, I keep thinking that my name will be removed from at least some of the lists. But it hasn't happened yet.

YOUR FEET

Dr. Judi Ecker D.P.M. -PODIATRIST-

"BUNIONS"

One of the most common questions from my patients is, "What causes bunions?" There is no simple answer since so many factors play a role in this progressive deformity.

The foot that is strained or structurally weak can produce an abnormal bony enlargement of the joint near the big toe. The foot widens at the front; the big toe leans to the side resulting in loss of balance and power in the foot muscles.

This abnormal function may cause osteoarthritis early in life. I must add that heredity and fashionable shoes cannot escape blame and may be why women are more commonly afflicted.

The treatment varies depending on the severity.

Surgery usually relieves pain associated with bunions. The procedure may involve removal of the bony enlargement, lengthening or shortening of tendons or removal of a wedge of bone from the metatarsal.

In non-surgical cases, we have found physical therapy along with orthotic devices which offer some functional control may offer sufficient relief.

In any event, there is no need to suffer. Modern medical technology offers alternate treatments for this distressing foot condition.

Rotary Exchange student

'91 a year of change, excitement, education for Kevin Franz

From start to finish, 1991 will probably always be remembered by Kevin Franz as a year of unequalled change, excitement and education.

It all began in January, when the South African Rotary Exchange student arrived in the United States. He went from 110 to 120-degree weather at his home in Cape Town, a city of some 1.9 million people, to bitter winds and snow in Cass City, population 2,276. Likewise, he expects to have a white Christmas here, then a New Year's on the beach at home.

In between, the personable 18-year-old has adapted to country living, learned about a new culture, traveled more than many of his classmates will in a lifetime, and watched with enthusiasm as apartheid was dismantled in his homeland.

"I've changed such a lot," Franz remarked recently with his pleasant British accent.

"I've never been shy, (but) I was a bit introverted" before entering the exchange program, the energetic teen confided. He smiled broadly and added, "I've met so many people this year from all over the world. I've learned to talk to people. I've learned to accept people for who they are."

Franz currently is staying with Ken and Theresa Micklash. He previously stayed with Jim and Sandra Bolton and Bob and Barb Tuckey.

He graduated with the Cass City High School Class of 1991, but will continue taking classes until he returns home, where he plans to attend the University of Cape Town with hopes of becoming a physician.

Despite the prospects of another semester of high school, Franz is looking forward to the time he has left in Cass City.

CITY SLICKER

Asked if he's homesick, the self-described "city slicker" grinned and quickly replied, "Not at all. I'd rather be here than at home at this very moment."

"I've learned about living in the country. When I came here, I couldn't tell the difference between wheat and corn and hay. I have people here ask me, 'When do you hunt — when is your hunting season?'" he said, shaking his head and adding, "Haven't a clue."

That's not to say Franz doesn't enjoy sports. At home, the popular games are cricket, rugby, soccer, field hockey and water polo. But he's quickly fallen for America's favorite sporting pastimes, including golf. And he's quick to say he thoroughly enjoyed attending a Pistons-Bulls game and, more recently, a Tigers game.

Franz also rode his first roller coaster this summer — Cedar Point's Magnum XL200 — 3 times.

GREATEST LOVE

Through the Rotary Exchange program, Franz has been able to pursue what has become perhaps his greatest love — travel. In his 7 months here, he's already been to 19 states and Canada.

In June, he participated in a Rotary-sponsored bus trip from Boston, Mass., to Orlando, Fla. "We got to meet (President) George Bush," he noted. "We were invited to the White House."

Lake Huron Chorus sets guest night

Area residents are invited to attend an annual Guest Night hosted by the Lake Huron Chorus of Sweet Adelines International.

The event is slated for 8 p.m. Monday at the Huron County Medical Care Facility, located next to Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe.

Women in workforce on the rise

The number of women in the workforce will continue to grow between now and the year 2000, according to "Workforce 2000," U.S. Labor Department publication. Almost two-thirds of the new entrants into the workforce in the next 19 years will be women, and 61 percent of all women of working age are expected to have jobs by the year 2000.

It was all very official."

Prior to his year as an exchange student, he traveled extensively with his parents, spending several weeks in England, his mother's native homeland, and traveling throughout Europe.

Franz said his experiences have taught him that people are people, wherever they are, including Cass City, where he received a warmer reception than he had anticipated.

"I wasn't expecting people to be so friendly," he recalled, noting he expected some anger due to apartheid, although he himself objected to the policy.

Franz indicated the changes that have since led to the abolishment of the 6 statutes that comprised apartheid have made him feel more patriotic.

WALL FALLEN

It's as if the Berlin Wall has fallen, he said. Franz's school system, the Rondebosch Schools, was among the first to open its doors to all races this year. "It's just a pity that I can't be there," he added.

Granted, violence and crime have not vanished with the apartheid, "but we're 20 or 30 years behind the states," Franz continued. "Give us time, I suppose."

I'm very optimistic. I wouldn't have said this 6 months ago."

Franz anticipates he won't be returning to the same South Africa he left several months ago. At the same time, he pointed out he isn't the same person, having matured and become much more independent, thanks to his Rotary Exchange experience.

Looking back, he said the past several months also have given him a greater appreciation for his home and family, composed of his parents and younger brother and sister.

Although he lives in the city, Franz remarked the lifestyle in Cape Town is slower in many ways compared to the United States. Young people, who aren't allowed many privileges, including driving, until they're 18, are much less independent, he said, and families are closer.

Having experienced both cultures and many others this year, Franz concluded he's gained a wealth of knowledge and wants to see and do much more in the future.

"The world has shrunk," he said. "When I left, the world was a big, big place, but since then it's become a much smaller, friendly place."

A YEAR OF CHANGE and excitement. That's how South African student Kevin Franz (above) recently described his Rotary Exchange experience in Cass City.

Fall is favorite time of the year

The question the Chronicle asked Mrs. Margaret Yoe was, "What do you like about the fall?"

The Cass City resident, who lives with her husband, Ron, and 3 of their 5 children, on River Road, replied that she likes just about everything about fall. The color of the trees and the weather. Neither too hot or too cold, she smiled.

In fact, she confided, fall is my favorite time of the year. Doesn't the fact that it heralds the coming winter make her less appreciative?

Not at all, says Mrs. Yoe. In fact, I like winter, too, but not as well as fall.

Ron Yoe is employed by Richfield Disposal out of Davison and the Yoes have their house for sale because he drives to Davison each day.

The Yoe children still at home are Brian, 14, Ronald, 17, and Amanda, 11. Not at home are Gary, 20, and Shery, 18.

The family has made their home in Cass City for 8 years, moving here from Harbor Beach.

Pre-retirement planning help available in Thumb

Are you thinking about retiring? Do you have to make a decision on how to take a distribution from your pension plan? Do you understand the withdrawal rules for Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs)? Have you received an Earnings and Estimated Benefit Statement from Social Security?

If you are within 5 years of retirement, it's time to become actively involved in your retirement financial future. Don't leave something this important up to the last minute.

To help you financially plan your retirement years, the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service Home Economics Program is offering Series II of a 4-issue newsletter, Pre-Retirement Planning. This newsletter will help you examine specific aspects of the decisions you need to make when you retire. Some of the topics covered in the series include distributions from your pension including lump-sum and annuities; managing your Individual Retirement Accounts and understanding withdrawal and beneficiary rules, and understanding Social Security rules and changes for the future.

If you also want to order Series I, the topics include pensions, savings and investment objectives, mutual funds, municipal bonds, and deferred annuities. This series includes a computer form that you can fill out and return to the Extension Office to receive a computerized personal financial analysis. This analysis will look at your retirement income needs for the first 10 years of retirement and help you decide if you need to increase your savings and investments now.

The cost for the 4 issue Series II is $5. (If you wish to receive both series, including the computer analysis, the cost is $10.)

If you wish to receive the Pre-Retirement Newsletter series, send your check for $5 made payable to the Cooperative Extension Service for Series II (or a check for $10 for both series) and include your name, address and telephone number to: Barbara Neuman, Extension Home Economist, 104 County Building, Bad Axe, MI 48413. New books at the library

WHAT'S BEST FOR KIDS: A GUIDE TO DEVELOPMENTALLY APPROPRIATE PRACTICES FOR TEACHERS AND PARENTS OF CHILDREN AGE 4-8 by Anthony Coletta (non-fiction). Coletta maintains that many home discipline and education decisions today are made on a basis of the needs of adults, not children. Many kids are pushed to compete socially and academically before their minds or bodies are ready. This book very sensibly advocates basing the raising and teaching of young children on understanding the stages of development. Coletta enters his theories into 6 specific strategies, and explains each. The main text is followed with 2 checklists for evaluating preschoolers' readiness for kindergarten, another for assessing young children's school and home learning circumstances, and a resource list.

DOWNTOWN by Ed McBain (mystery). Hapless tourist and Florida orange grower Michael Barnes, relaxing in a Big Apple watering hole after conducting some business with an ad agency, has a few hours to kill before his flight. Then it starts: first some teasing conversation, then a heist with a girl and a phony cop and a ring; then a Good Samaritan posing as a film director; then a car theft. Barnes is moneyless, careless, credit-card-less, and somewhat under-dressed for the snowbound streets of New York on Christmas Eve. And when the stolen car is found with a stiff inside, guess who's color-made to take the fall?

AMERICA'S FEDERAL JOBS: A COMPLETE DIRECTORY OF FEDERAL CAREER OPPORTUNITIES (non-fiction). Despite budget cuts and deficits, the federal government hires more than 300,000 employees a year (more than $1,000 each working day!) because of attrition. For job seekers overwhelmed by the size and complexity of the federal behemoth, this guide profiles more than 150 agencies and departments, from ACTION to Veterans Affairs, describing each unit's history, mission, subsections, common job titles, and special programs. Contact names, addresses, and phone numbers are included. General information about federal pay, benefits, civil service, affirmative action, and special programs, together with a "reverse directory" that lists the most appropriate departments and agencies for more than 250 college majors, makes this book an effective tool for those who take seriously the old line, "I'm from the government, and I'm here to help you."

Ruth Morrison

Ruth A. Morrison, 92, Port Huron, former Ubyly area resident, died Monday, Sept. 16, at the Cottage Nursing Home near Port Huron after a long illness. She was born Jan. 17, 1899, near Ubyly, daughter of Charles and Sarah (Davidson) Allen.

She married Sanford J. Morrison Feb. 24, 1916, in Ubyly. The couple was married for 71 years. He preceded her in death June 14, 1987.

Mrs. Morrison was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, Ubyly. In February 1920 she joined the Ubyly Miriam Chapter 214 Order of Eastern Star, of which she was a past matron, life member, and recipient of a 70-year pin in 1990.

Surviving are one daughter, Leda (Garland) Henry, Port Huron; 7 grandchildren, and 9 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by 3 brothers and 5 sisters.

Funeral services were held Thursday at MacAlpine Funeral Home, Bad Axe. Officiating were the Rev. Robert vonOeyen, retired pastor of the Ubyly First Presbyterian church, and Elder Russell E. Loeding of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Port Huron.

Burial was in Colfax Cemetery.

Memorials may be made to the Sanborn Home of Port Huron.

Deford Cub Scouts meet

Deford Cub Scout Pack 3593 has begun another year. The pack's first meeting was held Sept. 24, with 52 people present.

Cubmaster Pennie Rienas handed out awards earned throughout the summer to the following scouts:

Bears Billy Gage and Chris Rienas, and Webelos Cory Kulinski and Luezern Dickson were awarded Summertime Pack Awards, and archery, basketball, bicycling, swimming, and the Ultimate Belt loops; Webelos Jesse Hillaker received a Baseball B loop, and Webelos Cory Kulinski earned craftsman, fitness and outdoorsman achievement pins.

The pack also welcomed all new members.

Support group airs plans

Officers of the Cass City Area Support Group held an impromptu meeting Sept. 24 at Hardee's Restaurant.

Because all of the servicemen and women in the area have returned to the states or their previous assigned bases, it was decided to remove the remaining ribbons from the trees in the park.

The group voted to update its mailing list and send holiday greeting cards. Current addresses of area men and women serving in the armed forces may be called in to 872-2925 or mailed to Cass City Area Support Group, care of Nina Davis, P.O. Box 12, Cass City, Mich. 48726.

It was also decided to continue group meetings. The next meeting will be held Nov. 3 at 1 p.m. at the Cass City VFW Hall.

Area church sets annual wheel-a-thon

The Deford Community Church will hold its 13th annual Wheel-A-Thon Saturday.

Youth from the church will be collecting pledges for each mile, with the funds slated to go to the missionaries of OMS International.

Also scheduled for this weekend is the church's Missions Convention, which will get underway Friday at 7:30 p.m. with a film entitled, "First Fruits." The convention will conclude Sunday with services at 9:30 a.m. (Sunday School) and 10:45 a.m. (morning service). An OMS missionary will be the guest speaker.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Tuscola 2001 officials seek photographs

Tuscola 2001 officials are asking residents to share photographs depicting just about any aspect of life in Tuscola County.

Wanted are pictures of festivals, school activities, agriculture, business, nature, special projects, tourism attractions, historical sites and other topics. "Anything that will tell us about Tuscola County and who we are," Tuscola 2001 official Betty Patullo said.

Tuscola 2001 is a plan for economic development in Tuscola County over the next 10 years.

According to Patullo, photos sent in by residents will be converted into slides and used in an upcoming grant proposal presentation to the state Department of Commerce.

Photos can be either black and white or color, old or recent. Patullo asked that residents attach a note to their pictures listing the locations and dates of each shot.

Interested residents are asked to send their photos and a self-addressed stamped envelope (so pictures can be returned) to the Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service Office, 362 Green St., Caro, 48723.

The deadline to submit photos is Oct. 11.

O-G hoop team loses pair to Akron-Fairgrove, Peck

Following a dismal week in which the Owen-Gage Bulldogs lost a pair of games, the team will need to regroup for away games with Port Hope Tuesday, Oct. 1, and Caseville Thursday.

The Bulldogs lost to Akron-Fairgrove, Tuesday,

Sept. 24, 67-59, and to Peck, 39-33, Thursday in games that Coach Dean Roller summed up succinctly as producing no rebounding, no defense and poor shooting.

The defeat by A-F was especially disappointing for the team. The Bulldogs couldn't stop the Vikings' inside game and the second and third shots were decisive in the A-F win.

The Vikings won despite another superb offensive show by Michelle Tkacz. She personally kept her team in contention for most of the game. In the first period she scored all 14 points netted by O-G to counter a fine offensive effort by Prime, who scored 12 in the period, as A-F bounced out to a 16-14 lead.

Tkacz was held to 4 points in the second quarter but her teammates took up the slack as Lisa Dorsch, Carli Salcido and Jill Susalla each scored 4 points. The balanced scoring enabled the Bulldogs to bounce in front at the intermission, 32-30.

It was back to Tkacz in the third period as she scored all 10 of O-G's points and the Bulldogs went ahead 44-42 going into the final 8 minutes.

Using balanced scoring, the Vikings outscored the Bulldogs, 23-17, to salt away the win. The Vikings had 3 players in double figures, led by Prime with 23. Salcido scored 11 for the Bulldogs to back up the 34-point effort by Tkacz.

When a team shoots 20 percent, it's hard to win. Peck took advantage of the Bulldogs' poor shooting to register the win in the North Central Thumb D League. Neither team showed much offense in the first half. The Bulldogs went in front 15-10 at the intermission. The trouble was, for Owen-Gage fans, that the frigid shooting continued for the Bulldogs the rest of the game while Peck started hitting baskets.

At the end of the third quarter the visitors were in front, 26-24, and a 13-9 last quarter advantage salted away the win.

Tkacz scored 19 for Owen-Gage.

Kingston shows strength in 40-6 win over O-G

Visiting Kingston flexed its NCTL muscle Friday and whipped previously undefeated Owen-Gage, 40-6.

Coach Arnie Besonen said simply, "You can't win when you don't play defense or generate any offense.... Kingston has an awesome combination of the two."

Awesome indeed. Consider.

The Cardinals' defense held Bulldog halfback Mickey Parks to his first sub-100 yard rushing game (17 carries for 94 yards) of the season.

Of Owen-Gage's 105 yards of total offense, 41 were gained on the hosts' lone score — a 41 yard jaunt by Matt Mandich in the 3rd quarter after the visitors had built a 26-0 lead.

Finally, Kingston's secondary did not yield a completed pass the entire game. Offensively, the Cardinals were just as well, awesome.

Adam Fetting looked extremely seasoned at quarterback, collecting 159 yards on only 5 completions, including two 3rd quarter scoring strikes of 41 and 29 yards to Jamie Fricke.

Fetting also ran for the 2 touchdowns, as did Jim McLaughlin, who scored twice in the 2nd stanza.

Although the rout spoiled the Bulldogs' homecoming, a win this week over guests Akron-Fairgrove would prove Besonen's gridders belong among the top of the NCTL.

To do so the 'Dogs will have to stop the Vikings' Jason Ball, the school's pass receiving record holder.

Owen-Gage will also need another strong defensive charge from Joe Garza and Gary Emmons, who played, perhaps, their best game of the campaign against the Cardinals, collecting 12 and 10 tackles, respectively. As usual, Parks led the losers with 18 stops, including a fumble recovery which up Mandich's 3rd quarter touchdown.

OWEN-GAGE'S MATT MANDICH found little running room against powerful Kingston Friday as the Cardinals spoiled the Bulldogs' homecoming with a 40-6 win.

General assistance stops, alternatives suggested

Notices of the termination of the General Assistance (GA) and Job Start programs were mailed recently to current recipients.

Job Start are the state-funded programs which have provided public assistance primarily for employable adults and childless couples. The programs were terminated Monday.

Assistance will be continued for families currently receiving GA. In addition, assistance will be provided for those people who qualify for the new State Disability Assistance (SDA) program. "The state has a responsibility to provide assistance for those who are unable to work. Gov. John Engler has made it clear that the resources available to this department should be focused on care for children, families, and the disabled", Gerald H. Miller, DSS director, said.

The department has been able to identify all the families and many of the disabled through its central computer. However, many disabled people who would also qualify for the new program cannot be automatically identified by DSS. Therefore, current recipients of GA are being asked to contact their local DSS office by Sept. 30 if they feel they meet any of the criteria for the State Disability Assistance program.

To be eligible, a person must meet one of the following:

- * Disabled for at least 90 days.
- * Receiving services through Michigan Rehabilitation Services.
- * Receiving special education through their local school district.
- * Anyone caring for a disabled person living with them.

Miller added, "General Assistance recipients are eligible to benefit from a number of local, state and federal programs, and we urge people to use these services. The governor has proposed an Adult Education Initiative with a stipend of approximately $100 per month for participants. We are optimistic that the legislature will approve that option in the very near future to make it part of the safety net."

Among the other programs available are:

- * Adult High School Completion
- * Community College technical training programs
- * Community Action Agency job training and counseling activities
- * Employment
- * Employment Service (MESCC)
- * Food Stamps
- * General Education Development (GED) program
- * Summer Youth Employment
- * JTPA Adult programs (job search, on-the-job and classroom training)
- * JTPA Special programs (displaced worker, migrant, older workers, Native American, veterans)
- * Michigan Opportunity and Skills Training (MOST)
- * Veteran Job Training Act
- * Vocational Education - Secondary and Community College

Blue Bay League

Hawks take command with key victory over Marlette

When you have a Jenny "Thunder" Storm somewhere in the vicinity, lightning is sure to be present. Thunder will scare you, lightning lay you low. That's what happened to the Marlette Red Raiders Thursday at Cass City High School in a key Blue Bay League battle.

Cass City won 45-42 in a game that was up for grabs until the final 5 seconds, when Stephanie Leiteman converted both ends of a one and one to ice the win. With 7 seconds left, Marlette's Tami Schubach, with her team trailing 43-42, had a chance to put her team ahead with free throws but missed. When Leiteman cashed in a moment later, Cass City fans could breathe easy for the first time since the game began.

Providing the lightning to keep the Hawks neck and neck with Marlette was Jodi Hillaker, who time after time made radar-directed passes that hit Storm underneath the hoop for high percentage baskets.

Storm, who has had a habit of playing big in big games, converted most of the opportunities provided by Hillaker and created a few herself with some timely offensive rebounds. When the Storm was finished, she had rolled in 26 of Cass City's 45 points.

Now Coach Marty Daniel's task will be to guard against over-confidence Thursday, when the team plays at Lakers. The Hawks won comparatively easily in the first game in Cass City. The coach will need to remind the players the reason they are undefeated is the defense.

It was defense that enabled the Hawks to win against the taller, talented Red Raiders. Darcie Monroe's effort against Misti Anderson was especially noteworthy. Daniel pointed out. The smaller Hawks also maintained good position on the boards to hold their own rebounding with the visitors.

Both teams appeared a little tight when the game started. In the first 4 minutes a basket by Marlette produced the only points. Cass City broke that string and went on to score 8 unanswered points before the quarter ended.

Marlette came back at the start of the second period to tie the score before Storm broke the spell with a rebound bucket.

That set the stage for the rest of the game as the teams traded baskets and the lead until the final moments already described.

UBLY GAME

The Marlette win capped a great week for Cass City. The girls defeated Ubyly in a battle of the unbeaten Tuesday, 39-19. It was a game in which the Hawk defense was never better and it had to be because the Bearcats also played a strong defensive game.

It was Storm who provided the offensive fireworks that enabled Cass City to jump off to a 11-4 first period lead. She scored 9 of her team's points in that opening 8-minute stretch.

Ubyly shut Storm down and the rest of the Hawks, too, in the second quarter, but the Hawk defense came to the rescue as Ubyly was also held to a pair of field goals.

Cass City's lead became a little more comfortable in the third quarter as the Hawks used balanced scoring to post a 9-7 advantage. A big last period with 15 points and a continued Cass City stingy defense enabled the Hawks to coast to the win.

Storm scored 16 for Cass City and Angie Stefan led Ubyly with 9.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The Hawk junior varsity notched wins during the week, too. The Hawks edged Ubyly, 38-35, and defeated Marlette, 38-26.

Hawks rally to top Marlette

Pick your cliché. A football takes some funny bounces; from the basement to the penthouse, or the game is never over until the final whistle.

Any of them describe Cass City's come from behind win over the Marlette Red Raiders Friday. Before this game, the Hawks had suffered from bad breaks, notably against the Lakers, whom they are scheduled to meet again Friday, this time at Lakers. In that game an intercepted pass and 90-plus-yard return for a touchdown killed Cass City's chances for seriously challenging the league leaders.

Against Marlette it was a fumble that turned what appeared to be another Hawk loss into an eventual victory. It came in the fourth quarter with the Red Raiders leading 22-14 and driving for a touchdown.

With a first on the Cass City 9-yard line, the Raiders attempted a run around their right end. The ball carrier fumbled when hit and Brandon Toner snatched the ball out of the air and ran untouched for the touchdown. Brad Gray then passed to John Gibson for the extra points to tie the score with 10:05 left in the last quarter.

After that break the Hawks looked like a different team and, for the first time all night, started to gain yardage on runs through the middle of the line.

The Hawks took over the ball on the Marlette 35 after a fumble. The Raiders had trouble all night with the snap to the quarterback.

Hawk fans thought they had a marker in their grasp when a pass to Gibson on the first play took the ball to the one. But it was called back by a penalty.

It was only a temporary setback. Jeff Schember ran for 12 yards and the Hawks moved down the field to the 3, from where Troy Benitez ran over for the winning touchdown. Toner ran around end for the extra points.

Marlette scored first in the game as Phil Motz broke loose to ramble 44 yards to score. He also ran for the extra points.

The Hawks got that one back through the air, helped by a big hit by Tom Czekai, who leveled quarterback Brad Wehner in the backfield to cause a fumble. With the ball on the 25, Gray found Mark Irrer for the 6 points. A pass to Schember for the extra points tied the score.

Until the end of the game, Marlette had tried only 3 passes and 2 of them went for touchdowns. Wehner passed to Mark Lefler behind the Hawk secondary for a 65-yard pass-run touchdown.

Cass City tied the score with no time left on the clock, capping a drive with an 18-yard pass from Gray to Lyle Severance.

The Raiders bounced back in front by duplicating the pass that scored a touchdown in the first half, a pass behind the secondary to Lefler. This one covered 57 yards. The same Wehner to Lefler combined for the extra points to keep the visitors ahead 22-16 and set the stage for the last quarter rally.

On defense Kevin Miika, 17 tackles, showed the way. The Hawks were helped in the game by numerous Marlette fumbles, 5 of which Cass City recovered.

TROY BENITEZ makes a fine stop to keep Marlette away from the goal on this play in the first half. The Hawks rallied to win for the first time this year, 30-22.

Thinclads top Lakers, 23-32

The Cass City High School cross country team defeated the Lakers, Tuesday, Sept. 24, 23-32.

Barry Hornbacher was the medalist with an 18:10. Second place went to Meyersick of the Lakers in 18:22.

The top 5 times for each school determine the team score. Low score wins.

Finishing third in the meet was Ron Hudson (19:07) who, Coach Dennis Meck said, lowered his time dramatically. He is a sophomore out for the team for the first time.

Joe Luana (19:12), Jeff Schember (19:40) and Ryan King (20:13) were the others whose scores figured in the match. The team was weakened when Noel Hornbacher suffered a collapsed lung. He has recovered, but likely is lost for the season.

Other Hawk times were: Jennifer Romstad, 21:21;

Ben Hobbs, 21:49; Jeanie Clor, 26:17; Tina Pallas, 28:21, and Lisa Benjamin, 28:45.

Junior High tops USA and Peck

Junior high basketball is alive and well in Cass City.

The 8th grade raised its record to 4-1 with wins over Unionville-Sebewaing, 29-8, Monday, Sept. 26, and Peck Thursday, 38-27. Amy Schelke was high scorer with 8 points against USA and Kelli VanVliet was top point producer against Peck with 16.

The 7th grade topped USA, 36-15, as Mandy Deering scored 21 points, and defeated Peck, 34-11. Peyton Daniel scored 14 points.

Fleming Stock Farm produces champions

The Michigan Sire Stakes is the top race of the year for Michigan bred 2-year-old trotting fillies and the winner was "Skeeter Torch", bred by Ed Fleming at Fleming Stock Farm on Crawford Road, south of Cass City.

The elated breeder reported that not only did he raise the champion, but also another horse in the elite race, "Porshunta."

THIS IS SKEETER TORCH, who won a $100,000 race Sunday in which Ed Fleming received 10 percent as the breeder of the filly. Picture taken in a training session when horse was a year old.

As the breeder of the champion, Fleming says, he will receive 10 percent of the $100,000 purse. What really has him smiling is that the victory will add to the already top reputation of the sire, "Blow Torch", and that the filly won in competition with stables with wealthy owners.

To qualify for the Sunday championship race, the horses had to qualify in a 3-heat race held the previous week against the best 2-year-olds from around the state.

Skeeter Torch's time was a sparkling 2:03. She was sold to Carl Putnam, along with "Porshunta", when one year old.

"Porshunta" finished fifth in the race. She was boxed in, Fleming said, and the driver reported that she had plenty left at the end of the race.

Red Hawk golfers score 3 victories

The good news is that the Cass City Red Hawks finally defeated Bad Axe. The bad news is that it doesn't count in the golf league race.

The Hawks will have an opportunity to defeat Bad Axe when it counts Monday, Oct. 7, when a league meet will be held at Rolling Hills Golf Course in Cass City.

The squad will tune up for that meet with non-league matches at Freeland Wednesday and a league encounter with Sandusky Thursday at Rolling Hills.

The Hawks topped Bad Axe, 165-179, and Caseville, 165-195, at Scenic Golf Course Thursday. It was the best team performance of the year for Cass City. Kevin Franz and Troy Osentoski each shot 40. Garen Barker shot 41 and Bart Hall, 44.

The best score posted by the opposition was a 41 by Ryan Lackie of Caseville.

The Hawks also defeated Harbor Beach Monday, 173-191. Hall was the medalist with a 41. Other Hawk scores were: Barker, 45; Franz, 46; Jeff Hockey, 44, and Chris Chappel, 43. Medalist for Harbor Beach was Todd Schelke, 44.

Stack charges state vendetta against animal care facility

The owner of a Cass City area shelter for unwanted cats and dogs says unfair treatment of her operation by Michigan Department of Agriculture officials has left her in dire financial straits.

Lydia Stack, operator of Aid to Animals of Michigan Inc., charges state officials are acting on a personal vendetta against her.

The situation climaxed in July with the search of her house and seizure of 75 animals by officials investigating reports of animal cruelty, according to Stack, who believes the animals were subsequently destroyed.

"What they want to do is strangle me financially. They want me out of business because I don't kill (the animals)," she remarked during a recent interview at her home, which is part of the shelter, located on a 10-acre parcel 4 miles southeast of Cass City.

The facility, which operates on donations, houses about 200 animals. Cats are kept in enclosed shelters that provide indoor, heated areas. The dogs, kept in heated kennels and cages, are allowed out to run 4 or 5 times a day, Stack, 66, said.

She opened the shelter in 1987, a year after moving to the area from Birmingham with her husband, Milton.

State officials arrived a year later to inspect the facility, according to Stack, who was given a temporary license and informed of various changes she would have to make to be in compliance with regulations governing such operations.

Since then, Stack said she has poured thousands of dollars into repairs and renovations, but that state veterinarians, who conduct periodic, unannounced inspections, are never satisfied.

"Every time they have something else to complain about," she said.

SEARCH, SEIZURE

Stack said the scrutiny culminated July 11, when agriculture department officials, accompanied by police and a Detroit television news crew, searched her residence, seizing financial as well as personal documents along with 43 cats and 32 dogs.

"They were fishing," Stack remarked of the search, which was conducted on the suspicion that animals were suffering. "I was not accused of anything. I was not arrested."

Stack, who believes the officials were acting in part on information provided by a pair of disgruntled former employees, acknowledged many of the animals taken were old. Some had lost some of their hair or teeth, or were blind.

But she maintains they weren't suffering, and says she believes in destroying animals that are hurting and beyond medical care. "They ate, they drank, they would come to you," she said. "But a dog is blind, so I should kill her? That's stupid. I know people who have no teeth, but they eat. It just depends on what you feed them."

State agriculture department officials declined to comment on the seizure or what happened to the animals.

KILLED

But John G. Makris, a Troy attorney representing Stack, said officials with the Sanilac County Prosecutor's Office told him the animals, which included Stack's personal pets, were killed within 24 hours of being taken from the facility.

Dr. Nancy Frank, a research and companion animal veterinarian with the department, stated the search took place after state veterinarians reported to the prosecutor's office, which issued the warrant.

She said the shelter had been operating on a temporary license, which was issued and later renewed with the understanding Stack would clear up compliance problems at the facility.

That license was not renewed at the end of June, and MDA officials are in process of instituting hearings that will determine whether the license will be revoked, she said.

Frank, who pointed out the department inspects and regulates 200 dog pounds and animal shelters throughout the state, commented the fact that Stack doesn't kill animals makes no difference in how officials have handled her case.

SINGLED OUT

Makris, however, indicated the area resident is being singled out.

"It is our opinion that she's being held to a standard that others, including county dog pounds, are not being held to," he said.

Part of the problem is the subjective nature of inspections, the attorney indicated. He said that inspectors, for example, would find a fence wire hanging out in a dog run, and on that basis call conditions unsafe.

One report stated there was no indication that food given to the animals has nutrition value. Makris called that claim ridiculous, noting brand name foods donated by a wholesale grocer are placed in larger, unlabeled containers at the shelter.

Makris, who noted inspections have been conducted for 2 or 3 years at the shelter, indicated inspectors haven't made specific problems clear to Stack.

Rather than writing down what the problems are, they just keep coming back and eventually find they're justified in yanking her license, he said, adding, "They go in and write their reports on what they perceive as problems, then they come in with a search warrant" and take the animals without even setting up a hearing to allow Stack to argue her case.

"It's the power and influence of government really run amuck."

The result has been spending every extra dollar on making improvements, according to Stack, who is in the process of mailing letters to some 700 faithful donors, asking them for financial help.

Stack, who has operated animal shelters since 1971, also hopes area residents will help. Needed are donations of everything from dog and cat food coupons to old newspapers to carpentry services.

Despite the shelter's financial situation, Stack remains steadfast in her devotion to animals.

"People don't know what happens to their animals when they go to (other) shelters," she said, adding many dogs and cats are sold for research and others are simply put to death.

"If they think it's not adoptable, they kill it right away," she said.

"When they come here, they don't die; they come here and live."

Commission presents 5-year AIDS plan

The Risk Reduction and AIDS Policy Commission, in presenting a 5-year (1991-95) plan on policy approaches to address the HIV/AIDS epidemic in Michigan, called for expansion of prevention efforts to avoid future infection and expansion of efforts to provide medical and psychosocial care for persons living with HIV and AIDS.

The commission said while the state's response to the HIV infection has been growing and significant, the urgent needs of the epidemic continue to outpace that response.

Toby Citron, chairman of the commission, said, "We cannot afford to be complacent about this disease. We cannot allow federal and state budget tightening to augment the human suffering caused by AIDS, and we cannot allow ourselves to 'normalize' this massive human tragedy with a 'business as usual' response."

The commission's consensus recommendations, divided into 7 major categories, include:

— Epidemiology/surveillance:

further development and expansion of HIV-related surveillance including case reporting and making data readily available for use in program development at the state and local levels.

— Health education: an intensification of prevention services at places where persons at risk interact, further development of outreach services, especially to target individuals where they interact with others and continued education efforts targeted to individuals and broad-based populations.

— Counseling, testing and partner notification: maintenance and expansion of capacity for HIV counseling and testing as a prevention approach, integrating HIV counseling and testing into settings serving persons at increased risk and increasing efforts to promote partner notification, including local health department assistance to contact, educate and refer partners for services.

— Provider education: continued and expanded as a pre-service and in-service education for health care and other service providers in prevention, policy and continuum of care.

— Community organization and planning: structured to maintain a focus on affected individuals while addressing community approaches to promoting and reinforcing effective prevention and continuum of care programs.

— Policy, research and evaluation: formulation of public policies to eliminate loopholes/barriers which preclude effective prevention and continuum of care program implementation and determination and advocating for the state health department role in filling gaps in needed research.

The commission asked the Department of Public Health to submit back to the commission an implementation plan indicating the priorities which will be assigned, the resources that will be available and the anticipated timetable for implementation.

In addition, the group noted that in connection with the statutory requirement to report annually on AIDS and other diseases, the commission intends to assess progress in plan implementation each year, making appropriate revisions of plan recommendations as are dictated by experience with implementation and by the future course of the epidemic.

As of Jan. 1, 1991, the report noted 2,040 cumulative cases of AIDS have been reported. Of that number, 1,232 persons (or 6 percent) have died. Estimates indicate that Michigan will have reported between 3,779 and 6,673 cases of AIDS by the end of 1993.

Letter to the editor

Keeping safety in mind could save kids' lives

Dear Editor:
As a parent of elementary age children, I greatly appreciate the attempts to solve the traffic problems on Rose Street in front of the elementary school. I feel that the creation of a drop-off lane has helped the situation a great deal.

However, 2 things still concern me. One is that some parents still insist on dropping off their children while approaching the school from the west. More than once I have watched my children exit the car on the right, and have been ready to lift my foot from the brake, only to look up and find a child directly in front of my car. How much longer can it possibly take to drive around the block and approach from the east? Those extra few minutes might save a child's life someday.

The second issue is that almost every morning when I take my children to school, at least one car is parked in the drop-off lane with no driver in sight. I can understand the temptation to leave the car in front if a parent only needs to run in "for a minute," but there are parking areas for that purpose. Here again, the few extra minutes of walking from the side parking lot might prevent a tragedy in front of the school.

If all parents will be courteous and safety-conscious when taking their children to school, they might make a difference in a child's life. No one wants this to become one of those situations in which the rules are ignored until after an accident occurs.

Sincerely,

Sandy Sheppard
A concerned parent

Jury rules

Kingston resident innocent

Kingston resident Don L. Anger, 56, 3122 Phillips Rd., was recently found innocent by a Tuscola County Circuit Court jury to charges of obstructing, opposing, resisting or assaulting a police officer, and failure to immediately display a driver's license.

DNR officer Michael Daniel testified during the 2-day trial that he was parked on Phillips Road in Kingston Township in the early afternoon hours of Nov. 24, 1990, enforcing the game laws, when he observed Anger's vehicle drop the passenger side tires off the pavement as Anger went around Daniel's parked vehicle.

Daniel then pursued Anger some 2 tenths of a mile into Anger's yard, where a heated exchange of words took place. Daniel demanded to see Anger's driver's license and also demanded to look into a grocery bag that Anger was carrying in his arms.

Anger testified that he ordered Daniel off his property, at which time Anger asked his wife to call the State Police because "he wanted a real police officer on the scene."

Anger further testified that Daniel had searched his pickup without Anger's permission before the back-up units from the DNR and Tuscola County Sheriff's Department arrived on the scene to quell the extremely heated confrontation.

The jurors deliberated about 1 3/4 hours before returning the not guilty verdicts in the trial presided over by Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Patrick R. Joslyn.

The Prosecutor on the case was Robert Reed. Anger was represented by Gary J. Crews of Caro.

In circuit court

2 sentenced Friday in April 20 break-in

A pair of area residents were sentenced Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court in connection with the April 20 break-in of the Thumb Pawn and Loan shop in Caro.

Lyndon J. Bush, 27, of Kingston, was sentenced to 3 years probation and 180 days in jail for his plea of guilty to larceny in a building. He also was ordered to pay a $300 fine, $200 in court costs plus attorneys fees and a $30 victim crime fee. Restitution is to be determined.

Bush stole guns, stereos, musical equipment and tapes, Nintendo games, computers, sporting equipment and tools, court records state.

Also entering a guilty plea in the case was Peter L. Sadler, 18, of Decker, who was sentenced for breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling.

He was sentenced to 5 years probation and one year in the county jail with participation in the work site and school and work release programs. Sadler also was ordered to pay a $300 fine, $300 in court costs plus attorneys fees and a $30 victim crime fee. Restitution is to be determined.

Others sentenced Friday included Tina M. Anderson (also known as Tina M. Wright, also known as Tawney L. Summers), who previously pleaded guilty to attempted receiving and concealing stolen property over $100.

Anderson, 27, of Mt. Morris, was ordered to serve 9 months to 2 1/2 years in prison.

Court records state the offense occurred May 22 in Millington Township and involved a 1978 Chevrolet Nova.

Dennis King Jr., 17, of Decker, was sentenced to 24 months probation and 300 days in jail for his plea of guilty to breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling.

His sentence also included a $200 fine, $30 victim crime fee and court costs of $200 plus attorneys fees. Restitution is to be determined.

King broke into the Kingswood Inn bar, 3535 Phillips Rd., Kingston, April 24, according to court records.

In other proceedings, Wayne L. Trisch, 22, of Fairgrove, pleaded guilty to delivering marijuana March 7 in Vassar Township and March 19 in Caro.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for the defendant. Trisch, whose bond was set at $20,000, was remanded to the custody of the sheriff. Sentencing is to be scheduled.

Also, Angela L. Kimbrue, 20, North Branch, pleaded guilty during her arraignment on a charge of probation violation.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and bond continued at $500. Sentencing is to be scheduled.

Court records state Kimbrue violated her probation agreement Aug. 17 when she left the state without the court's permission.

Edison offers tips

Fire Prevention Week set Oct. 6-12

Devastation strikes thousands of families each year as they find their lives shattered by damaging house fires.

Fire Prevention Week, set for Oct. 6-12, is a good time to prevent such a disaster from occurring.

Some 13 percent of all fires are caused by the misuse or abuse of electricity, according to the National Fire Protection Association.

John Keller of Detroit Edison's Corporate Safety staff suggested the following precautions will help prevent electrical fires:

- * Have plenty of wall outlets for lamps and appliances to avoid multiple connections.
- * Replace cracked or damaged power and extension cords.

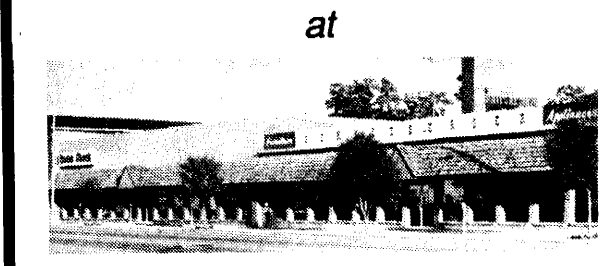

* Make sure extension cords are the right capacity for the tools or appliances with which they are used.

* Make sure the UL (Underwriters Laboratories) label is on all electrical appliances.

* Use kitchen wiring large enough to accommodate smaller appliances. Wiring size may not be adequate in many older homes. Frequently blown fuses on kitchen circuits are one indicator of such a problem; call your electrician for help.

"The important thing is to use common sense," Keller said. "A check around the house for potential hazards is well worth the time to prevent a fire and its costly destruction."

Walther Farms report

Custom 6-row potato harvester faster, better

QUICKER AND BETTER — The Walther brothers' custom 6-row self-propelled potato harvester, pictured above in an Ellington Township field Monday, does the work of 2 conventional harvesters and 2 windrowers, but faster. Even more important, potatoes harvested by the new equipment sustain fewer bruises, resulting in a higher quality crop.

Bob Walther isn't looking for record yields in this year's potato crop, due to a wet spring.

But in a sense, he and his brothers, of L. Walther and Sons Farms Inc., Cass City, are enjoying an excellent harvest thanks to the success of a custom 6-row, self-propelled potato harvester put to the test this year.

The new equipment has passed with flying colors, according to Walther, who along with his brothers helped design the machine.

"It works real well," he remarked Monday as truckload after truckload of potatoes arrived from distant fields to the area farm to be stored.

"We've been kicking (the idea) around for a few years," he said, adding he and his brothers took their design ideas to Linco Machines, Vestaburg, which manufactured the harvester.

"It's the only one in the U.S. like it. Six-row machines are not in full production."

Aside from its size — the custom model is 20 feet wide, more than twice that of its conventional cousin — the new equipment is different in its ability to harvest more quickly and at the same time deliver fewer damaged potatoes.

"It's a little different concept than the regular manufactured harvester. Most other machines are what they call a wrap-around machine, and this is a straight-through machine," he said. Walther explained that potatoes collected by the 6-row harvester are subject to less jarring and, subsequently, less damage. "The whole idea is to get away from bruising," he pointed out.

And a higher quality product is important to the Walther operation, which farms 2,000 acres of potatoes in 4 counties, including about 1,200 acres in the Thumb.

The business, which also grows 180 acres of seed potatoes in the Upper Peninsula, annually harvests some 50 million pounds of spuds.

"We've been in the potato chip business 40 years. We contract with 5 different chip companies," Walther said. "It's so competitive."

that if you aren't doing the quality job, you don't have any contracts."

Time and money also are key ingredients to a successful operation, and the 6-row harvester is saving both.

Harvesting potatoes used to be a 2-step process; windrowing and then harvesting, according to Walther, who said both are done in one step now.

"We used to run 2 harvesters and 2 windrowers, and then 2 trucks," he continued, noting the operation required 6 employees plus 4 others — 2 on each harvester to manually separate debris from the potatoes.

"Now, we have just the harvester and trucks, so we eliminated (several) people in the field." At the same time, Walther added, "This machine is probably doing as much as the other 2 harvesters and the 2 windrowers."

The results include less wear and tear on equipment and a quicker harvest — 2 weeks earlier than normal this year.

"We'll be done in another week," he commented. "We go 24 hours a day; it never stops."

Landeryou indicated the student increase is particularly good considering the schools' trend of declining enrollment dating back to 1977, when the district had a total of 1,477 students.

Uby, which receives about $3,000 per student in state aid, last year recorded its first enrollment hike in 14 years, according to the superintendent, who noted there were an additional 13 students.

Cow's breath insecticide?

Cow's breath is helping mosquitoes keel over and die in U.S. Department of Agriculture laboratories.

The mosquitoes are lured by octenol, an element in ruminant breath. Scientists envision using octenol and carbon dioxide to attract large numbers of mosquitoes to targets laced with an insecticide.
