

CREATURE FEATURE — A hauntingly good time awaits area residents who dare venture into the Cass City Jaycees' spook house in the basement of the Cultural Center, Main Street. Spook hours will be 8 to 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday, 8 to 10:30 p.m. Oct. 30, and 7:30 to 10:30 Oct. 31. Special young children's hours will be held Saturday, from 6 to 8 p.m.

New scoreboard, cage okayed

Gym to open 3 Sunday afternoons

The Cass City School Board voted to spend some $2,300 now for athletic equipment and listened to plans for enlarging the bleachers at the football field at a cost of perhaps $30,000 and establishing a weight room in the balcony of the gym at a cost of another $10,000 to $15,000.

In addition, opening the gym on 3 Sundays from 3 to 5 p.m. was allowed and a discussion of a proposal for a new athletic league held.

Supt. Ken Micklash was quick to point out that the plans for the bleachers and the weight room were long-term and the programs outlined should be regarded as a guide for the program over the years.

What was authorized now was a new scoreboard for the Intermediate gym. The present ones no longer work. The new scoreboard will cost about $2,400. Of that amount, $500 will be contributed by the Intermediate School Council.

Also authorized was an indoor batting cage at a cost of between $1,200 and $1,400. It will be erected in the balcony and can be moved out of the way when not in use.

A request by Jeff Hartel, basketball coach, for open gym time on Sundays, Oct. 27, Nov. 3 and 10, from 3 to 5 p.m. was granted.

Hartel will supervise the sessions and the facility will be open to anyone wishing to use it during these periods.

Special permission to use the gym on Sundays was necessary because of a squabble over Sunday basketball practices in the past. At that time complaints were heard because it interfered with Sunday devotions.

The difference between those practices and the open gym concept, the board feels, is that they are not restricted to school team basketball players with pressure to attend inherent for team candidates.

Micklash also told the board that the 4 schools in the Blue Bay League are devising a proposal to present to the Thumb C Conference.

We feel that the current 4-team league is working fairly well, but it hardly makes any sense to have buses from the various schools in the Thumb C League continually go through our community to play at other locations, Micklash told the board.

There are several options, including a 2-division league, under consideration. Micklash promised to have a proposal ready to present to the board at the November meeting.

To school board

Parents air concerns after stabbing incidents

Anxious parents of 2 Hennessey boys, students in the fourth and 7th grades, appeared before the Cass City School Board at its regular meeting Monday night to determine what action was to be taken after the boys were assaulted in the Intermediate School.

The boys were both jabbed with needles from a syringe, required tetanus shots and treatment at the hospital. There appears to be no danger of infection that would cause AIDS.

Supt. Ken Micklash said that the boy responsible was put on a 10-day suspension from school and the parents advised of the seriousness of the situation.

The syringe belonged to a diabetic boy who is already on a school suspension. His case will be considered when he returns to school. The boy that jabbed the Hennessey boys may face an assault charge. The incident is under investigation by the Cass City Police Department.

The Hennesseys asked what steps would be taken to eliminate future incidents. It was explained that the school has policies now and the staff carefully monitors the hallways and the bathroom, where one of the incidents occurred.

There's no way that we can guarantee that incidents might not happen in the future, Micklash said, but the staff is increasing its activities to try to see that it doesn't.

ENERGY CONTROL

In addition to the long debate concerning the Hennesseys, the board also spent considerable time during the lengthy session on energy control. The first issue was a presentation by Greg Widemier of Honeywell Corporation. He wants to sell the school a program that revamps the lighting and the heat control in all the district's buildings for a fee totaling $31,083.00.

If the board signs, Honeywell guarantees that the revamped system will save the district at least as much as the payment or the corporation will refund the difference. Many schools in mid-Michigan have signed for the program, but none yet in the Thumb.

Figured in the cost of running the system now is $7,990.00 depreciation. Micklash said that it was a realistic figure.

However, before any action, the superintendent will check with other companies and the administrations of several of the schools now in the Honeywell program. A decision is expected by the November board meeting.

Another form of energy control, waste management, was approved by the board. Instead of placing all refuse in a container for disposal, a recycling program will be added. Separated for recycling will be bond paper, computer paper and corrugated boxes. It will be cheaper for the district by $100 a year. The school will pay $6,316 a year for service instead of the present $6,416.

REDUCED AID

Micklash informed the board that changes in the state aid package will cut the anticipated revenues by $16,500 and might reach $25,000. However, he continued, we can be happy with the amount received. While other state-funded services have been cut, education has been granted a 4 percent increase this year.

OTHER BUSINESS

•Cathy Cooper and Donna Emerson reviewed the Reading Magic program, showing how it was conducted month by month last year and the success with this year's program. The program has been copied by other districts and a joint review of the program agenda is planned with officials conducting programs at Caro and Reese.

•Director Elaine Howard presented her annual report on the Adult Education and Community Education programs. She said that attendance in high school completion courses was about the same as the previous year. She added that there are about 250 in the adult enrichment program, about 100 more than last year. In 16 courses offered for credit from Saginaw Valley College there are 138 students.

•The board will review about a quarter of the board's policy book to see if changes are necessary.

•A meeting with members of the community is scheduled for Jan. 23. Input from all segments of the community is desired and school activities will be reviewed.

•School will be out early Nov. 27, the day before Thanksgiving so that the staff can work on science K-12 curriculum improvement required to qualify for state aid incentive payments.

•Sale of the Evergreen School building edged a little closer when Micklash said that the Keyworth heirs agreed to pay $10,000 to the school to relinquish any claim it had, providing that the building is sold at the same time to the Mennonite Church.

•Nancy Weippert was appointed to the Tuscola Intermediate School District parent advisory committee.

•The 1966 building bond will be paid this year and the school will sign a bond and coupon cremation agreement as requested from Manufacturers National Bank.

Hunter injured Sunday in Kingston Township

A Mt. Morris man was treated for a self-inflicted shotgun wound to his left hand following a hunting accident Sunday in Kingston Township.

The victim was identified as Gus S. Almsy, 24, who was treated at Marlette Community Hospital and then transferred to Detroit Receiving Hospital for plastic surgery.

According to troopers at the state police post in Caro, the accident occurred at about 1 p.m. in a field south of Rossman Road just west of White Creek Road.

Troopers said Almsy, who was pheasant hunting, stepped on an old piece of farm machinery to look for his hunting companions, and when he attempted to jump off, his 12-gauge single shot shotgun became caught on the machinery, breaking the hammer on the firearm and causing it to discharge.

Recall

Koylton residents now seek ouster of 2 trustees

Add 2 trustees to the list of Koylton Township officials who face recall efforts stemming from the township's bitter zoning battle with a rehabilitation program for male juvenile delinquents.

Named in the recall petitions filed recently with Tuscola County Clerk Erma

Brown are trustees Douglas Kramer and Donald Ashton. Also sought is the ouster of township Supervisor Terry Boyne. If all 3 recalls are successful, that would leave only 2 township officials in office — Clerk James Borek and Treasurer Louis Haase.

Wording of the petitions against Kramer and Ashton was approved by the county Election Commission last week following a clarification hearing, according to Brown.

The petitions against the trustees were submitted by Albert and Corey Brown of Kingston.

The couple charges the trustees with violating their duties by "repeatedly resolving, authorizing, implying and/or inferring to the agents of Camp Kingston Hills, Inc. and Wolverine Human Services, Inc. that they may continue to operate the juvenile detention facility in violation of the Koylton Township Zoning Ordinance."

Following a 3-year court battle, which included appeals to the state Court of Appeals and the Michigan Supreme Court, Pioneer Work and Learn Center was ruled in violation of township zoning laws.

However, prior to an Aug. 30 court hearing scheduled to consider an order of clo-

Pheasant increase bringing more hunters back to area

The pheasant hunting season now underway in the Thumb is expected to be one of the best since the mid 1970s.

The season began Sunday and will conclude Nov. 11 in the Lower Peninsula.

Based on Department of Natural Resources spring pheasant surveys, the number of birds entering the breeding season is the highest since 1975. Harvest data for the 1990 season revealed an increase of 10 to 15 percent over the 1989 harvest of 151,000 roosters.

The spring nesting season was nearly perfect and resulted in excellent hatching success for both pheasants and quail, according to DNR officials, who predict good to excellent hunting in several counties, including Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola.

Bud Jarvis, a wildlife biologist at the DNR's Cass City Field Office, remarked Friday that the comeback of pheasants in the Thumb is due largely to 2 factors:

weather and changes in agricultural practices.

He explained that several consecutive mild winters have helped the birds to survive, while utilization of a crop set aside program has provided pheasants with habitat.

Pheasant numbers were high in the 1950s and 60s, Jarvis noted, "but they really dropped in the late 60s." Today, he said, "I think (the numbers) are about as good as they were in the mid 70s, if not better."

"The surveys that we make in the spring are quite encouraging. Actually, (the numbers) were higher in 1990 than this year, but it was still good."

"We will probably see them do well until either the weather takes a drastic turn for the worse, or they cut out the (crop set aside) program," Jarvis continued. "If we get one or more years of severe winter weather, we could lose the birds again. To a degree, that's what happened before."

In recent years, the DNR and some conservation groups have released hundreds of sichuan (Chinese) pheasants in the Thumb and other areas of the state in an effort to rebuild numbers with a heartier breed of pheasant.

It's expected that the sichuan will be able to survive winter weather better than ringnecks. The experiment looks good so far, but the birds really haven't been tested yet, Jarvis observed.

According to DNR figures, nearly 110,000 Michigan hunters — the highest number in a decade — pursued pheasants in 1990.

Locally, interest in the fall season appears to be on the rise again.

"There's a lot more interest from pheasant hunters, just from the calls we've been getting," Jarvis commented, adding pheasants "are still a favorite game bird in southern Michigan."

Hunters who are returning to the sport after several years of absence will find a welcome addition of hunting opportunities in southern Michigan farm country.

Since the late 1970s, the DNR has been leasing private lands in southern Michigan for hunting access. These lands provide a wide range of hunting cover for those who want to hunt during the fall season. Some 135,000 acres located in 30 counties are available for hunting.

Before hunting on these lands, hunters must obtain permission from the landowners. A complete listing of hunter access farms is available from all license dealers in the southern portion of the state.

Listings are also available from the DNR's Cass City Field Office, according to Jarvis, who said there are 10 to 12 farms in Tuscola County participating in the program.

Meg's Peg

Assorted tips

by Melva E. Guinther

Alas, the bacon, lettuce, tomato sandwich season is over, unless you like the colored cardboard tomatoes available out of season in the store. We love BLTs, but frying the bacon has always been one of my least favorite tasks.

Being basically an organized type person, I like the strips to be evenly cooked and to lie flat in the sandwich. That takes a lot of effort, when the sizzling strips curl up, spatter grease all over and seem to have a mind of their own.

Turkey bacon doesn't flip around so much while it's cooking, and it tastes pretty good, although you have to get used to the fact that there is no fat and you have to add oil when you cook it.

I also tried a tip that suggested dipping the bacon strip in cold water before putting it in the frying pan to keep it from curling up. It works.

Another bacon suggestion is to roll the package of bacon up before opening it. If you do, you'll find the strips come apart much more easily.

Here are a few other helpful hints that have come our way.

*For easy hulling of strawberries, insert a plastic straw in the bottom and push it through the berry. It takes the middle and the hull out. No more strawberries under the thumbnail.

*To stop the annoying drip, drip, drip of a leaky faucet until you can get it fixed, tie a string to it. The water will run down the string to the drain instead of dripping.

*Put your dirty burner drip pans in a pot of water with a little ammonia or heavy duty dishwasher detergent for 15 minutes. Then scour.

*Everybody has a pet cure for hiccups, from drinking from a glass upside down to breathing into a paper bag or having someone scare you out of your wits. From a health letter comes this suggestion. Swab the back of the throat gently with a Q-Tip. (I haven't had hiccups since reading the tip, so I can't vouch for its success.)

*You often need a magnifying glass to read the special care instructions printed on that tiny label inside clothes. Stitching a color coded thread on the label, for example, red if it has to be hand-washed, green if it has to be line-dried, etc., can save a lot of time and frustration.

*The same method can be used on the bottom corner of sheets if you have several sizes of beds and have trouble remembering which sheets fit them.

Travelling the country roads over the weekend, a herd of deer ran across in front of the car. They are moving now, pushed by hunters and the rutting season, making accidents happen. It's time to be extra careful.

In 1990 there were 657 car-deer accidents with 40 injured in Tuscola County. In Sanilac County the figures are 740 with 37 injured, in Huron County, 739, with 29 injured. State-wide there were 45,945 accidents, 1,957 injured and one fatality, in Delta County.

Because of mindless vandalism, the Cass City football stadium will be without a visiting press box in the near future. Vandals went into the structure on the east side of the field and trashed it, so bad that the plan now is to tear it down. According to a school official, an unsuccessful attempt was also made to enter the new press box at the top of the west stands.

CURING HEARTBURN

Heartburn is a very common and annoying symptom which most people get occasionally. It is almost always caused by just one thing--too much acid refluxing from the stomach up into the esophagus.

The pain is usually a burning sensation in the lower chest region. Heartburn is usually not related to ulcers although the two may occur together because they are both caused by excess acids and both can be made worse by using alcohol and tobacco. Hiatal hernias are often blamed for heartburn symptoms, although they do not contribute to it as much as doctors used to think.

Heartburn can usually be treated quite well by a number of appropriate steps. One important step is losing weight which will decrease the pressure on the stomach when a person lies down. It is also important not to lie down after meals and not to eat or drink before going to bed. The full stomach will easily force acids up into the esophagus.

As with all acid-related problems, alcohol and tobacco should be avoided. They increase the acid secretion by the stomach, as well as relax the sphincter at the top of the stomach allowing acid to reflux more easily. Any foods that worsen the pain should also be avoided.

It is very helpful to elevate the head of the bed about 4-6 inches on blocks of wood. One can also use antacids, medicines to decrease the amount of acid in the stomach, and a medicine which helps strengthen the sphincter which keeps the acid where it belongs--in the stomach.

Address check underway

9-1-1 effort progressing

Progress is continuing in Tuscola County's E-9-1-1 telephone system, according to Undersheriff James Fyvie, who remarked the major project underway at the local level is completion of a master street and address guide (MSAG).

A committee of 10 volunteers is currently completing this time consuming task, Fyvie said.

They are: Fyvie, sheriff's department Sgt. Glen Skrent, state police Sgt. Bill Sholten, Lynn Hecht and Jack Wehl of Richville, Roland Bedell of Fairgrove, Dick Cobb and Bud Hoard of Millington, Randal Middleton of Cass City and Gene Harrington of Akron. Fyvie explained each member will drive to various locations within the county to verify house numbers with telephone numbers.

Picture identification cards have been issued to the volunteers, who have been instructed to show the cards to anyone asking questions about their activity.

"Sheriff (Tom) Kern wishes to ensure the safety of the citizens of Tuscola County and not promote a possibility of an unauthorized individual committing a crime under the auspices of being a member of the 9-1-1 committee," Fyvie said.

He reminded residents not to volunteer any information to individuals who cannot be properly identified.

Nazarene teens place first in Bible quiz

Five area teenagers competed against their counterparts from Detroit to Richfield, Port Huron to Howell, in a Bible Quiz meet held Saturday in Warren.

The local team, representing the Cass City Church of the Nazarene, finished in first place with a score of 580 points.

In individual scoring, team captain Tamara Means had the only perfect score among 113 entrants. In 3 out of 3 matches, she answered the maximum allowable for an individual, 4 questions, without answering a single question incorrectly.

But it was the team effort of Angie Boice, Eric Hayes, Emily Hopper and B.J. Means, combined with Tamara's performance, that carried the day. The victory was even more impressive considering this was the first time the team had competed in the games.

Team coach, Evelyn Hardwick, and area teacher and statistician, Ralph Hardwick, an engineer at Walbro, were beaming with pride at the performance of the team, Pastor Richard Means said.

"This new program ... gives our young people an opportunity to represent the community, and they did it well," he added.

The Haire Net

Everything I read says that Bo Schembechler, president of the Detroit Tigers baseball team, is a blunt, truthful man.

If that's true, and there is no reason to believe that it isn't, then somewhere there's a real snake oil salesman at work.

Most are familiar with the Tigers' announced plight. A new stadium is a must. The Tigers need to control parking and have luxury boxes to pay expenses or they will not be able to compete. Lose money.

Tom Monaghan, owner, is not about to spend any of his myriad bucks to build this new state-of-the-art stadium either. He wants the county, the city, the state or anyone else to build it and pay for it.

The Tigers have not said that they will look elsewhere to one of the cities in other states that are panting for a major league team and have new stadiums all tied up with a bow waiting to be unwrapped. They haven't said it, but the threat is there.

That's the picture that has unfolded over a couple of years with the pressure steadily increased by the baseball club.

If you buy all of this, you are at odds with some canny businessmen who didn't get where they are by making foolish investments.

Ten of these businessmen offered to buy just half of the Tigers for $50 million. That places the franchise value at about $100 million.

You and I should have investments that increased in value like this since it was purchased a few years ago by Monaghan.

New stadium or old, new broadcasters or old, this writer remains a Tiger fan. Probably not as avid as before, although the money squabble isn't the cause, not directly. Indirectly, yes.

Players change uniforms so rapidly these days it's hard to relate to the players like it was when most of them stayed put for most of their careers.

Still, if they make a run for the pennant, I'll be watching and cheering with the rest.

I'm willing to cheer for them, pay my bucks to see them play. A day at the park is still fine entertainment.

What I am not willing to do is to pay for a new place for zillionaire owners and millionaire players. There's no way that a new stadium will solve the ills of the Detroit community.

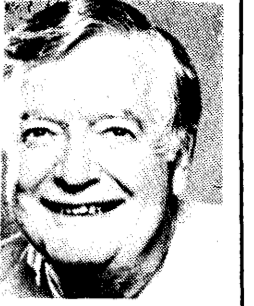

If taxpayers paying for a new stadium is what it takes to keep them in Detroit, well, good-bye and good luck.

Just don't let the door hit you on the back on your way out.

"If It Fitz..."

Why not bus deer?

By Jim Fitzgerald

According to my favorite newspaper, a four-man hunting party put out 2 1/2 tons of carrots to lure deer to within reasonable range of their weapons. There has to be an easier, cheaper and more foolproof procedure for attaining the exhilarating high that comes from killing a hungry animal.

Two and one-half tons is an awful load for only four hunters. It took them several weekends to do the job, 20 bags a weekend at four bags for $10. They hauled the carrots up north in a gas-guzzling Chevrolet Suburban, from their Detroit-area homes to near Grayling. They piled the bait near their ambush in preparation for the bow and firearm seasons.

Most hunters say the main reason they go hunting is to enjoy fresh air, trees and fellowship; killing animals is incidental. And the main reason they dump carrots and other vegetables in the woods is because it's garbage and if they dumped garbage near their homes, neighbors would call the cops. It's incidental if the forest garbage attracts animals that must be shot to protect them from the pain of indigestion.

DNR-approved dumping

The Department of Natural Resources doesn't object to hunters dumping garbage in the woods because two of the state's most important natural resources are the farmers who sell the garbage and the hunters who use it to locate poor dumb animals that don't know enough to take Alka-Seltzer.

My concern is that hunters will wear themselves out hauling tons of carrots into the woods, and be too weak to pull triggers or bowstrings when it's time to save a deer from the social embarrassment of burping. Also, if hunters spend too much on carrots and gasoline for carrot-carrying trips, they won't have enough money left to enrich northern Michigan's tourist industry while sitting on bar stools.

So wouldn't it be easier and more cost-effective if the deer were hauled to the carrots? What I have in mind is something like urban drive-by shootings.

Busing to bait

The north is full of little roadside businesses located behind big signs advertising DEER FOOD. (The carrots and other vegetables generally are called food instead of bait to avoid confusion with the minnow industry, whose signs advertise LIVE BAIT because LIVE FOOD might startle motorists looking for a restaurant.) It would be convenient and cheap for hunters if the DNR bused deer from the woods to these carrot stores.

For a few weeks every autumn, the deer could eat carrots in front of the stores, like LIVE lawn ornaments. Hunters could shoot them through car windows while driving by, or parking a while. Funds raised through a special bar-stool tax could be used to pay deer bus fares, and to reimburse the stores for consumed carrots and stray-bullet damage to property or people.

There would be no more need for hunters to spend valuable weekends, energy and gas money dumping carrots in the woods before hunting season opens.

Fortunately, if inadvertently, enabling legislation is in the works, thanks to state Rep. Dave Jaye, R-Shelby Township. Jaye plans to introduce a bill that would allow almost everybody over 21 to carry a loaded gun anywhere in their car without a permit.

Jaye's intention is that the guns be used for protection against hungry former welfare clients searching roadsides for innocent legislators to eat. But I see no reason why all that firepower couldn't also be used to protect innocent deer from indigestion.

Keating collects bits and pieces of Cass City's past

BITS AND PIECES OF Cass City's past can be seen in this small cross section of memorabilia collected by longtime village resident Marian Keating over the past 25 years.

Collecting Cass City memorabilia might seem like an easy enough pastime, not to mention an enjoyable one, especially for a local history buff.

Collector Marian Keating confirms it's a fun hobby. But easy? No, according to the longtime area resident, whose search for bits and pieces of Cass City and its past has gone far beyond the village limits.

And it isn't getting any easier.

"I rarely find (pieces) in Cass City," Keating recently remarked at her Cass City home, where she displays a host of memorabilia collected over the past 25 years. "I consider myself lucky if I find one a year."

Fortunately, she pointed out, some years are much more productive, thanks to friends and acquaintances who help out. "And I have 2 antique dealers who are 'pickers' for me."

Keating's collection includes just about everything imaginable; yardsticks imprinted with the names of various businesses, pens, ash trays, calendars, medicine bottles, postcards and souvenir glasses, cups, plates and programs.

A close look at the items, many dating back to the early 1900s, reveals a Cass City that would be unfamiliar to those new to the area.

months ago," Keating said, pointing to a button advertising the J.D. Crosby and Son Shoes and Clothing store.

The building that housed Crosby's later became Prieskom's Clothing Store and then Hulien's Clothing Store, before being purchased by its next door neighbor at the time, Pinney State Bank, which combined the 2 buildings into one. Today the structure houses Chemical Bank.

Postcards are perhaps Keating's favorite collectibles — she has about 100 of them — because they offer a picture history, and the challenge of trying to learn the story behind them.

And each time she collects another piece, she dashes home to show her husband, Robert, and then it's off to visit Ray Fleenor or Warren Wood, a pair of longtime residents who share their recollections of the early days.

FLAWED

Keating also enjoys picking up pieces of memorabilia that are flawed. One of her postcard photos is labeled, "west side of Cass City," but the picture was taken at the north end of the village. And she has a miniature football with the name "Cass City Red Owls" printed on it.

Interestingly, Keating pointed out she picked up her first piece of memorabilia without the slightest intention of collecting such items.

"What I started out with is a souvenir glass. I found it in an antique store over by Harbor Beach," she recalled. "I bought it because I had never seen one that said, 'Cass City'."

Since then, items in the collection have come from all over, including a creamer picked up at a garage sale in Detroit, and a Fort's milk bottle purchased in Indianapolis.

Despite never intending to build a collection, Keating confided picking up other pieces has been hard to resist.

"I've just picked them up over the years and whenever I'm at antique shows. I have, ever since I was young, liked antiques. I like the history behind them," she said. "I love auction sales (and) I go to postcard shows, and then I have some people bring me (items)."

"I never turn anything down, as you can see," she joked. "I'll take anything." "I enjoy more the things I can put out and live with. I really like the Cass City items you can hang on the wall."

Keating smiled, saying the only problem is closing the back door when people visit in the winter time. She explained many visitors remain in the hall for several minutes, staring at all the memorabilia hanging on an adjacent wall.

Keating seems pleased with others' interest in her collection, but says the reason she does it is personal enjoyment.

"It's just been a hobby and a fun thing that I backed into," she concluded.

NO LONGER EXIST

Many of the images painted or printed on various items depict Main Street businesses that no longer exist, or have changed drastically over the years.

A newcomer would be hard pressed to find Thelma's Grocery, for example, as advertised on a fly swatter in Keating's collection.

A number of residents could probably recall Hartwick's Grocery, located where Kelly & Co. is now, but chances are good few could name many of the Main Street businesses shown in a postcard photo taken during the winter of 1907, when sleighs lined the street.

"I found this just a few

THE POST CARD above, dated Aug. 18, 1909, shows the charred remains of the P.O. & N. Depot in Cass City.

GTE recognizes Ehrlich's 25th anniversary

Gagetown area resident William J. Ehrlich is being recognized by GTE North on his 25th anniversary of employment with the company, according to Joe Philabaum, eastern division manager.

Ehrlich, a senior construction technician, working out of the company's Cass City reporting center, started his telephone career as a line person in Cass City. He also worked as a facility technician before obtaining his present position in 1990.

Ehrlich, a graduate of Owendale-Gagetown High School, and his wife, Carol, reside in the Gagetown area. They have one child, William.

Train program set at library

Rawson Memorial Library and the Cass City Historical Society will present a special program titled "Cass City Area Trains" Sunday at 2 p.m. in the library's meeting room.

Featured speaker will be William Miller of Dearborn, who will discuss the history of rail service from Cass City, and show films he has taken of the railroad in Cass City and the surrounding area. He has ridden trains and taken pictures all over the United States, but says his favorite piece of railroad was the 100 miles between Pontiac and Caseville.

Miller, Marian Keating and Frank Pemberton will display their personal railroad collections of memorabilia.

There is no charge for this program. Everyone is welcome.

Bulldogs thump Warriors, 63-42 in league contest

It took awhile, but after the Owen-Gage Bulldogs found where the basket was in the second half, the team cruised to an easy victory over North Huron Thursday, 63-42, in North Central Thumb D competition. It was a reversal of the first game between the schools, when Owen-Gage ran off a big lead in the first half and coasted to the win. Thursday the Bulldogs trailed at the half, 19-18. The Bulldogs will have to shoot much better than they did in the first half if they are to compete with Kingston next Tuesday. Owen-Gage lost to the Cardinals in overtime in the first meeting. That game was at Kingston. The re-match is at Owendale. Before that key match up, the Bulldogs travel to CPS Thursday for another league game.

10 points in the third quarter splurge and when the quarter ended the Bulldogs had turned a very close game into a 46-25 rout. Roller said that the defense was given a boost by Lisa Dorsch, who gobbled up 15 rebounds.

In junior varsity action, North Huron topped the Bulldogs, 39-20.

OWEN-GAGE - Draschil, 5-0-0-10; Ondrajka, 3-0-2-6; Tkacz, 8-2-6-18; Salcido, 6-1-2-13; Dorsch, 3-0-1-6; Susalla, 3-4-5-10. Totals, 28-7-18-63.

NORTH HURON - Voss, 2-3-4-7; Fawcett, 1-2-4-4; Bambach, 1-0-0-2; Horetski, 4-1-6-9; Grewe, 2-0-0-4; Tait, 1-1-2-3; Viers, 1-1-3-3; Szymanski, 5-0-0-10. Totals, 17-8-19-42.

O-G seniors air meeting

In the first half against the Warriors, Owen-Gage hit just 7 of 41 shots, a miserable 17 percent. Michelle Tkacz, who normally can be counted on to score about 25 points, failed to hit a field goal in the first 2 quarters and also missed 4 of 5 free throws.

The Owen-Gage Senior Citizens enjoyed a fall dinner at the Gageton Methodist Church Thursday. Forty-eight seniors and 2 guests, Sister Nancy Ayotte, from St. Agatha parish, and the Rev. Lisa McIlvenna, from the Gageton Methodist Church, were in attendance.

The Bulldog defense kept the Warriors from running away and hiding. At the end of the first quarter the score was tied, 7-all.

Owen-Gage obviously needed someone to step up and spark the team, and Coach Dean Roller turned to his bench to find it. Alissa Draschil poured in 4 big buckets in the third quarter to spark the team.

Sister Ayotte led the dinner prayer before the meal and Rev. McIlvenna gave thanks after the meal.

Tkacz also came alive in the second half. She scored Pie pumpkins, brought by Robert and Florence Schell, were the table decorations. The seniors with lucky numbers drawn were given a pumpkin.

After dinner, the seniors proceeded to the St. Agatha Parish hall, where 8 tables of euchre were played.

The prizes were: high for men - Robert Schell; low for men - Harold Blehm; high for women - Stella Errer; low for women - Gerry Carolan.

The traveling prize went to Homer Kretzschmer and the door prizes were won by Stella Pisarek and Luther Durham.

BULLDOG LORI ONDRAJKA applies pressure against North Huron's Patti Horetski in the 'Dogs' 63-42 NCTL win Thursday.

Elkland board terminates contract

The Elkland Township Board recently terminated its contract with Manatron Service Bureau due to the township's planned participation in Tuscola County's new computerized tax administration system.

The action was approved during the township's Oct. 15 regular monthly meeting.

Bike stolen

Cass City police are investigating the theft of a bicycle last week.

According to reports, Terry Proowski, 6371 Fourth St., Cass City, reported the bicycle was taken from the backyard at her home sometime after 9:30 p.m. Wednesday and before 7 a.m. Thursday.

Reports describe the bike as a 20-inch Columbia Free Style racing model, blue in color with white trim.

Huron hospital slates program

Area residents can learn more about durable power of attorney for health care and advance directives at a Huron Memorial Hospital program set for Nov. 4 at 7 p.m. at the community building, Huron Community Fairgrounds, Bad Axe. Registration is available by calling Linda Herman at the hospital (269-9521). There is no charge for this program.

Under the county-wide program, the county will produce tax bills and rolls for local governmental units, which will do their own tax receipting work on computers.

Previously, local units of government contracted with Manatron to produce tax rolls.

After 43-0 beating

O-G looking for improved defense

Coach Arnie Besonen's gridders have forgotten the path to the end zone.

Following Friday's 43-0 beating by the North Huron Warriors, the Bulldogs have gone 13 straight quarters without registering a point.

However, the 'Dogs are hoping that Saturday's re-match at CPS, a team they defeated earlier in the season, 8-7, will reacquaint them with the road to pay dirt. Kickoff is scheduled for 1 p.m.

Strangely, to get back on track, Coach Besonen feels his team will need a better defensive showing against CPS if they hope to return to their winning ways.

Besonen is concerned about his defensive unit after watching North Huron's star quarterback, George Kosinski, register the game's first 2 markers at Owendale Friday.

Kosinski capped a 68-yard drive in the first quarter with a 3-yard dive and then scampered 29 yards in the second stanza to help give the Warriors a 14-0 lead at the intermission.

It was Kosinski's second quarter jaunt that still haunted Besonen on Monday.

"We missed 4 tackles on that run," said Besonen. "All we had to do was knock him out of bounds. We had 4 chances and couldn't do it."

Three of the Warriors' next 4 scores, 2 in the third quarter by Rich Koroleski, were set up by Bulldog miscues.

Koroleski opened the second half scoring on a 4-yard run that finished the visitors' best drive of the night, a 12-play drive that covered 81 yards.

Koroleski's next score was set up by a blocked punt that was recovered on the hosts' own one-yard line. Koroleski scored on the next play.

The Warriors added 2 more meaningless scores in the last quarter by Doug Hagle and Dan Gray, both coming after Warrior interceptions.

As usual, what little offense the Bulldogs had on the night was recorded by senior Mickey Parks, who had 52 of the Bulldogs' 71 total yards. Parks also led the defense with 16 tackles.

Whitehead enters no contest plea

A man charged in the deaths of 2 Millington youths in a hit and run accident last spring pleaded no contest Monday to one count of involuntary manslaughter.

The plea entered by Wayne A. Whitehead, 25, of Millington, was taken under advisement in Tuscola County Circuit Court. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and bond was continued. Sentencing is to be scheduled.

According to police reports, Whitehead had an illegal blood alcohol content level of .19 when the pickup he was driving struck Nathan Betzing, 14, ar. Jason Usrey, 13, as the pair were riding their bikes in Millington. The accident occurred at about 11:17 p.m. May 4.

In other proceedings Monday, Gregory A. Welch, 33, of Caro, pleaded guilty to a charge of delivering cocaine (less than 50 grams), second offense, March 21 in Carc.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for the defendant, whose bond was revoked. Welch was remanded to the custody of the sheriff. Sentencing is to be scheduled.

Joslyn affirms action but reduces sanction

Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn, acting as an appellate court, having jurisdiction over lower tribunals in the county, reviewed 4 days of hearings conducted in 1989 before the administrative law judge for the Department of Licensing and Regulation for the Board of Medicine.

The hearings resulted in the revocation of a medical doctor's license held by Syed Arif Ahmed, who was charged in the administrative complaint with violating the Public Health Code. The appeal was perfected to the Tuscola County Circuit Court as of right.

Judge Joslyn reviewed thousands of pages of transcripts and numerous exhibits and briefs, and oral arguments were submitted to him for consideration.

In a written opinion issued Oct. 14, Judge Joslyn affirmed the action taken and denied the application for reversal and reinstatement. The judge, however, found that the administrative agency abused its discretion in the imposition of a quarter of a million dollars in fines. He reduced the sanction to $50,000.

Marlette falls again

Lakers keep Hawks from locking up league title

Just when it appeared that everything was smooth sailing to a Blue Bay League basketball crown, the Lakers rose up and rocked the Cass City title boat Thursday night.

Before Thursday it appeared as if Cass City could waltz to the championship. Tuesday, Oct. 15, the Hawks went to Marlette and polished off the Red Raiders, 46-42. That shoved the second-place Raiders 2 games behind with just 5 conference games left in the season.

What's more, the way the Hawks won over Marlette must have brought smiles from Coach Marty Daniel. Marlette concentrated on stopping Jenny "Thunder" Storm and Jodi Hillaker, the pair that paced the Hawks to victory in the last meeting between the teams.

The Raiders did that as Storm netted just 2 points and Hillaker, 7. That stopped the 2 girls offensively, but Daniel was quick to point out that the pair, along with Jennifer Fruendt and Stephanie Leiterman, played a strong floor game and keyed a pressing defense that proved decisive. Scoring the points were Jodi Schember with 16, and Darcie Monroe, whose 17 point effort was a career high.

The Hawks used a fast start to top the Raiders. Monroe whipped in 3 baskets and Marlette couldn't buy a bucket, and the Hawks were in front, 12-3, at the end of the first quarter.

The Raiders chipped away at the lead in the second period as Carrie Ross whipped in 3 field goals and Christel Dudek converted 4 of 4 free throws. At the intermission, Cass City was in front 25-19.

The teams played even, with 12 points each, in the third quarter as Schember's 3 baskets helped keep the Cass City lead intact.

Marlette outscored the Hawks, 11-9, in the final period but that only closed down slightly the final margin of victory.

LAKER GAME

The Hawks have lost just 2 games all season and the Lakers were the team that did it. Thursday night's final score was 48-43. There are 2 more meetings between the schools in Blue Bay competition and if the Hawks are to win, they will need to make some adjustments.

Primarily the squad will need to find a way to keep Holly Esch and Kim Sturm off the boards and to neutralize the efforts of point guard D. J. Ferris.

It was a close game all the way. At crunch time the Lakers were able to hold off the Hawks. The visitors were leading by 5 points with 3 minutes to go. Schember, who burned the nets for 21 points, whipped in a 3-pointer. A moment later the Hawks fouled. The shot was missed, but the Lakers captured the rebound and retained ball control.

After that Cass City was not able to seriously threaten again and the Lakers walked off with their second satisfying triumph over the league leaders.

Daniel claimed that he made a few coaching errors that hurt his team's chances. He also said that the Lakers played hard, with more poise and determination than Cass City did.

The Hawks were slated for a non-league game Tuesday at home against Deckerville before playing Thursday at Bad Axe.

JUNIOR VARSITY

In junior varsity competition the Hawks avenged an earlier loss to the Lakers, posting a 47-32 decision. The JV also topped Marlette for the third time this season, 47-36.

Marlette is next

Forsythe leads Bad Axe to easy victory over Cass City

The Bad Axe Hatchets scored 2 touchdowns and 4 extra points Friday at Cass City Recreational Park before the Cass City High School Red Hawks ran a play from scrimmage. And after that things continued downhill the rest of the game as the Hatchets overwhelmed the Hawks, 38-6.

Cass City will have to avoid a start like that if it is to repeat its lone win of the season at Marlette Friday.

One thing in Cass City's favor against the Raiders is that it will not have to face Bob Forsythe.

The Hatchets scored on the opening kickoff on a reverse. Forsythe took the ball down the left sidelines, ran through a Cass City tackler and went the rest of the 88-yard jaunt untouched. The play wasn't a surprise, Coach Don Markel said. We practiced against it and had a man in the right position, but Forsythe just ran over him.

It was a preview of Forsythe's ball carrying all night. Time after time he dragged Hawk tacklers for extra yards or made them miss all together as he went on long touchdown jaunts.

After the first touchdown, Cass City fumbled the kickoff and Joe Walters recovered for Bad Axe. It appeared as if Cass City might overcome the bad break when the Hatchets were facing third down and 15 for a first down and 18 for a touchdown. But Walker busted off tackle to score. Forsythe ran for the extra points.

Cass City made a valiant effort to get back in the game late in the period and, with the help of a couple of penalties, moved into Hatchet territory. It appeared as if the drive might stall when Cass City faced a fourth and 7 for a first down.

But Brad Gray passed to John Gibson behind the Hatched secondary for the touchdown in a play that covered 14 yards.

It was the one bright spot all night for Cass City fans. In the second quarter Bad Axe scored 3 touchdowns and Forsythe played a major role in all of them.

He went in from the 5-yard line with 3:55 left in the half. It capped a 93-yard drive. The burly speedster also made the key run to keep the drive alive. With fourth and 6 on the Cass City 38, he ran for a first down behind an unbalanced line, breaking 2 tackles to pick up the necessary yardage.

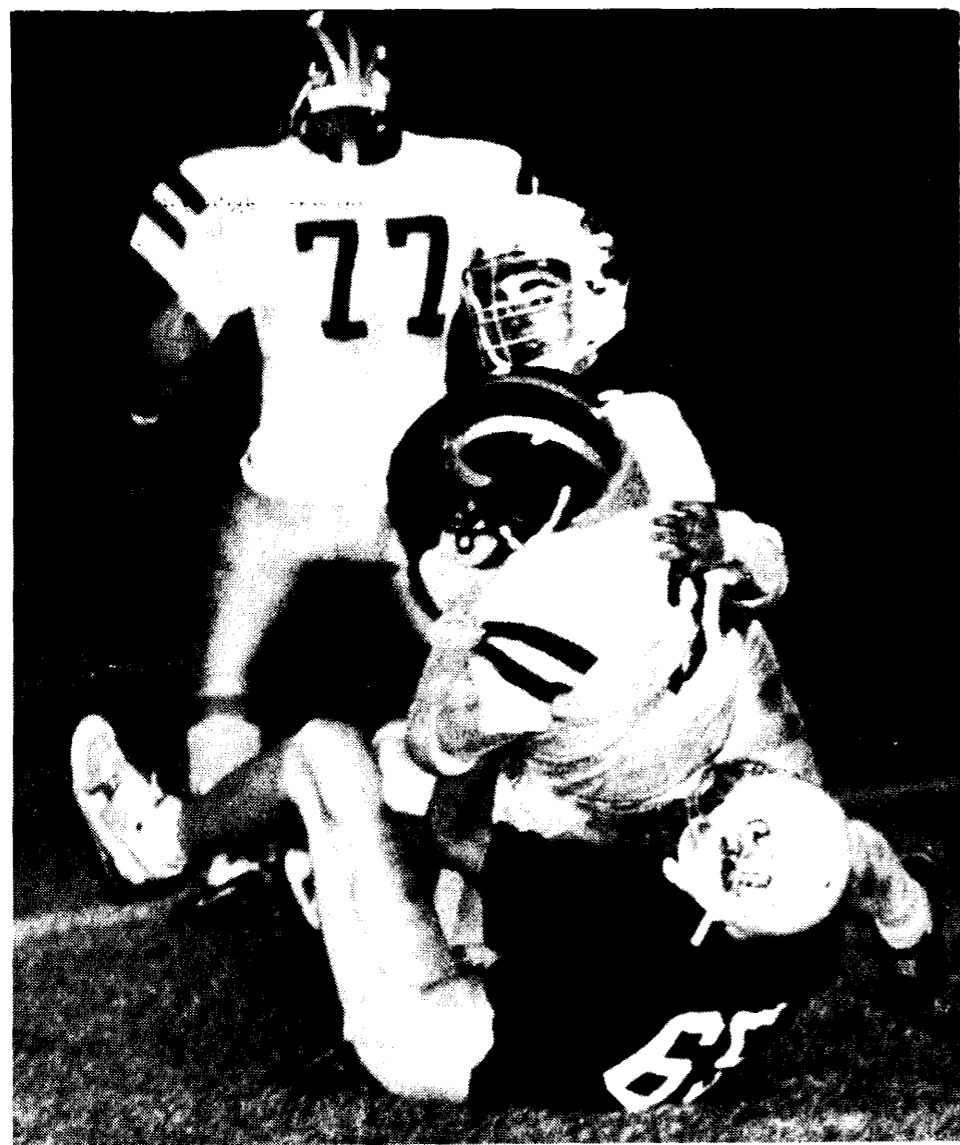

Cass City turned the ball over on a pass interception and Forsythe carried 31 yards for another Bad Axe score less than a minute later, again breaking 3 tackles.

The next marker came with just 25 seconds left in the half. This time it was a 58-yard sprint through Hawk defenders.

That concluded the scoring for the half and for the night.

Cass City was intercepted 5 times. Unable to move on the ground, the team was forced into the air and the Hatched secondary played for the pass while the forward wall applied pressure on Gray and Ben Schott.

IT'S ANOTHER TOUCHDOWN for Bob Forsythe and Bad Axe. Making the stop too late are Brandon Toner, top, and Dana DeLong. Number 77 is Tim Gordon.

Hawk golfers 5th in state finals

The Cass City Red Hawk golf team and Coach Dave Hoard were all smiles Saturday night following the state finals held at Royal Scot Country Club in Lansing.

Cass City finished fifth among the 21 teams entered, just 3 strokes behind second place Concord. No one seriously challenged Byron, which won in a walk with a 317. No one seriously challenged Chad Phillips for individual honors either. The tournament medalist shot a sparkling 71.

Others ahead of the Hawks were Lake Fenton, 333, and Detroit Country Day, 334. The Hawks topped Thumb League champion Bad Axe, which finished 8th with 340.

Garen Barker, with a 39-41-80, topped Cass City. Other Hawk scores: Jeff Hockey, 41-40-81; Kevin Franz, 43-45-88; Troy Osentoski, 44-43-87, and Bart Hall, 50-46-96.

The game was played in 15 miles per hour winds and at tee time there was still snow on the ground.

The tourney capped a fine year for the team. It won the league tournament and finished second in the regionals.

All 5 golfers at the tournament are seniors. State champion Byron had a pair of golfers shoot 76 and another 78 as the team ran away from the field.

Letter to the editor

Industry's use of animals unpleasant, but necessary

I would like to give my comments to the animal rights activists in our area who are protesting General Motors for using animals in testing air bags and seat belts before putting automobiles on the market. It sounds like an unpleasant practice used since 1981, but one I feel necessary if it means saving human lives. According to a newsletter given to plant number 5-10-81 and 84 at Buick in Flint, October 3, 1991, "The safety research is only used when alternative methods are not available. Present during these testings are physicians, veterinarians, scientists and specialists in medical ethics." I have been watching the animal rights activists on our local television news stations and I wonder why they don't protest the actual area where the animal testing is done instead of General Motors as a whole.

The majority of men and women in any auto industry, small plants and factories as well, do not deal with animals whatsoever. The animal rights activists enjoy being in the media and radio talk shows but unfortunately, they are not presenting themselves very well. I personally feel it is wrong to scream "animal torture" and protest innocent people who have nothing to do with the animal safety research. The American industry is looking grim with lay-offs, cut backs and closings. I ask the animal rights group to please reconsider before going nation-wide with a boycott against General Motors and other American industries.

Instead, speak out more on rabies, heart worm and other diseases that threaten animals if not treated properly. I suggest they use their funds in helping people with a low income, to protect domestic pets, receive annual vaccine and dog tags.

The animal rights activists should remember, hamburgers and ham didn't come from the trees.

'92 gypsy moth program meet set

Residents of Tuscola County are invited to a special meeting to discuss concerns and opinions related to the county's Gypsy Moth Suppression Program.

Representatives from the Michigan Department of Agriculture will be taking public comments and concerns related to a gypsy moth aerial spray program in 1992.

During the hearing, there will be an explanation of the types of areas that may qualify for the state's cost share suppression program. One other topic for discussion will be an explanation of the product used to control the

Hess wins primary

Voters in Tuscola County's District 3 overwhelmingly chose incumbent Kenneth G. Hess over his Republican opponent in last week's primary election.

Hess received 617 votes and his opponent, Robert Taylor, received 92 votes. Democrat candidate Sara J. Dost received 30 votes, and there were 20 spoiled ballots.

Hess will face Dost in a Dec. 3 general election in the district, which consists of Gilford, Fairgrove, Denmark and Juniata townships.

Hess was appointed to represent District 3 on the County Board of Commissioners in August, following the death of commissioner Arnold Krumnauer.

gypsy moth caterpillar. Not all wooded property affected by the gypsy moth will be sprayed. However, some residences will qualify for the suppression program.

The hearing is scheduled for Monday at the Cooperative Extension Service office, 362 Green St., Caro, from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m.

Additional information is available by contacting Joyce Muz, suppression program coordinator, at 673-5999, ext. 228.

Walbro sales, income up

L.E. Althaver, chairman, president and chief executive officer, Walbro Corporation, reported sales of $48,493,000 for the third quarter ended Sept. 30, compared with $45,127,000 for the same period in 1990. Net income for the quarter was $1,558,000 compared with $512,000 for the third quarter of 1990. Net income per share for the third quarter of 1991 was $1.30, based on an average of 5,170,411 shares outstanding. This compares with net income per share of $.12 for the third quarter of 1990, based on 4,289,161 shares outstanding.

"Shipments of Walbro's lines of fuel system products for both automotive OEM and aftermarket applications remained at high levels during the third quarter," Althaver noted.

"Sales of small engine carburetors, which had been weak for some time, rose significantly in the third quarter, as manufacturers of outdoor power equipment increased their orders in anticipation of the fall and spring selling seasons," he added.

Despite the strong quarter, the Walbro chief executive sounded a cautionary note.

"While the company's second and third quarter results have been encouraging, the lack of a significant economic upturn in the U.S. remains troubling, especially in light of poor retail car sales," Althaver said.

Chemical Financial Corp. earnings up 4.6% in 3rd quarter

Gilbert A. Currie, chairman of Chemical Financial Corporation, reported third quarter 1991 net income of $3,230,000, which represents a 4.6% increase over the $3,088,000 earned in the third quarter of 1990. Net income for the 9 months ended Sept. 30 was $9,045,000, up 6.3% over the $8,510,000 earned in the comparable 1990 period.

Total assets of Chemical Financial Corporation Sept. 30, were $1.35 billion, up $84 million, or 6.6% over total assets reported Sept. 30, 1990. Total deposits increased 6.9% and total loans increased 5% over Sept. 30, 1990, levels, reaching $1.182 billion and $603 million, respectively, at the end of the current quarter. Shareholder equity as of Sept. 30, 1991, was $113.5 million or $33.38 per share, and represented 8.4% of total assets.

On a per share basis, net income for the current quarter was $0.94, a 4.4% increase over 1990 third quarter earnings of $0.90. Per share earnings for the 9 months ended Sept. 30, were $2.64, which represents a 6% increase over the $2.49 per share earned in the first 9 months of 1990.

Currie indicated that earnings increases have been achieved through an improvement in net interest margins and through the control of operating expenses. Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) premiums have increased year-to-date by $785,000 over 1990 levels, and continue to be a significant item of expense for the Corporation's affiliated banks.

Free prostate cancer check at hospital

Prostate cancer is the second most common cancer in men. Approximately one in 11 men will develop prostate cancer.

Some of the warning signals are weak or interrupted urine flow, the need to urinate frequently, pain or burning on urination and lower back or pelvic pain.

The American Cancer Society recommends men over 40 have an annual rectal exam to check for prostate cancer. A new blood test called P.S.A. has been developed to assist with early detection of prostate cancer.

Tuesday, Oct. 29, from 7:30 a.m. to 11 a.m., and 4:30 p.m. to 7 p.m., Hills and Dales General Hospital will be offering free P.S.A. testing and rectal exams to screen for prostate cancer.

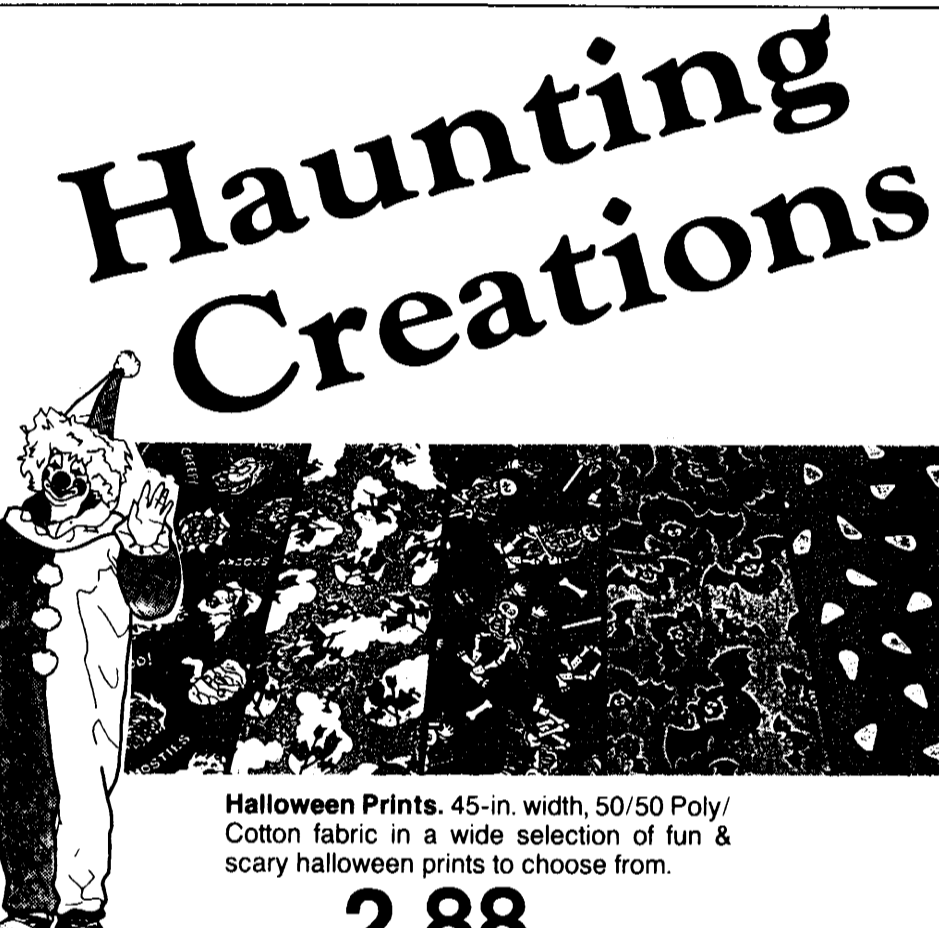

Please call the hospital at 517-872-2121 for an appointment. The test results will be sent to your family doctor.

File for 2 more recalls in Koylton recall efforts launched against the trustees.

Boyne is accused of ignoring the Township Board's motion to give the camp more time, and failing to advise the court of the motion during the Aug. 30 hearing.

Organizers of the Boyne recall effort have already submitted the necessary number of signatures, which were recently verified, and a special election has been slated for Jan. 7.

The recall will cost the township as much as $3,000, according to Brown, who pointed out the process may actually involve 2 elections, each costing about $1,500. If the voters vote to recall Boyne, she explained, a second election will have to be held to fill that vacancy.

Depending on how quickly the organizers of the other 2 recalls can collect the needed 92 signatures for each trustee, all 3 recalls may be decided in the Jan. 7 referendum, Brown said.

However, the camp remained open past the 10-day deadline and the Township Board continued to seek a way to give Pioneer more time.

Joslyn again addressed the issue during a recent court hearing, issuing a second order directing the camp to close. He also issued a stern warning to Pioneer officials regarding compliance with the order.

Like Kramer and Ashton, Boyne is accused of violating his duties as a township official. But the reasoning behind the charge is far different than that behind the

Your neighbor says Halloween trick or treaters okay

Halloween time is approaching. The time when the ghosts and goblins reign and the small fry are out trick or treating. Theron Middaugh, Cass City, says it's a traditional event and he likes it. Can't see anything wrong with it, but it's a shame what has happened in recent years. You know, he added, you have to warn the kids to be very careful. Some people are just out to ruin everything. You need to warn the kids to watch out for razor blades or doctored candy that has been given to unsuspecting children in the past.

Middaugh has been a Cass City resident for 22 years, coming to the community from Caro. He is employed at Hills and Dales General Hospital, where he serves as a laboratory assistant.

He and his wife, Dianne, live on 7 acres in rural Cass City. The couple has 6 children, none of which are still at home.

Mrs. VanHorn was born Nov. 20, 1918, in Pontiac to Chauncey and Addie (Belle) Tallman. She married Francis VanHorn June 17, 1939, in Deford, where they lived for the next 40 years. She worked as an attendant nurse at the Caro Regional Center for 32 years and was a member of the Deford United Methodist Church and the Methodist women's organization.

VanHorn is survived by her husband; one brother and sister-in-law, Alvin and Delores Tallman of Grayling and Zephyrhills, Fla., and many nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by a son, Francis Jr., and her parents.

Funeral services were held Saturday, Oct. 19, at the Harold R. Davis Funeral Home, Auburn Hills.

Burial was in Perry Mt. Park Cemetery in Pontiac.

An altercation that led to the stabbing of an inmate at the Camp Tuscola Correctional Facility, Caro, last week remains under investigation by authorities.

A news release issued by troopers at the state police post in Caro states the incident was reported at 10:45 p.m. Oct. 15.

Inmate Rodell Levelston, 45, suffered 4 stab wounds to the chest and lower abdomen, according to troopers, who noted he was transported to Caro Community Hospital, where he was treated and later transferred to St. Luke's Hospital, Saginaw.

He was discharged Friday and is currently at a Michigan Department of Corrections hospital near Jackson.

A second inmate, Anthony Wilson, 29, also was taken to Caro Community Hospital, where he was treated for an injury to his forehead. He was later released and has been transferred to the Tuscola County Jail.

A blood-stained homemade knife with a 4-inch blade, found at the correctional facility, is believed to be the weapon used in the incident.

No charges had been filed as of Monday afternoon.

Investigators at the Caro post are being assisted in the case by Detective Sgt. Don Newton of the Sandusky post.

Police report minor accidents

Police reported only a handful of minor traffic accidents in the area over the past week.

Cass City police reported a 2-vehicle collision at the intersection of Garfield Avenue and Vulcan Street Oct. 15.

According to reports, a southbound vehicle driven by Stephen G. Cooklin, Cass City, attempted to stop at the intersection, but his brakes failed, causing him to hit a westbound vehicle driven by Patricia J. Beecher of Deford.

Cooklin was cited for defective brakes in the 8:28 a.m. mishap.

Also recently, Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies reported 3 car-deer accidents, including one Friday on Deckerville Road near Murray Road in Ellington Township.

Sandra K. Tabako of Caro told deputies she was driving east at about 6:45 a.m. when a deer leaped into her path.

Two days earlier, Donald J. Kelley, Lapeer, struck a deer on Kingston Road southeast of M-46 in Koylton Township. He was southbound when the 8 p.m. mishap occurred, reports state.

David B. Bucholtz, Bad Axe, reported hitting a deer Oct. 14 at 7:30 a.m. while driving southwest on M-81 west of Jacob Road in Ellington Township.

Angus breeders across the nation in 1991 registered a total of 166,769 head of cattle, compared to 159,036 head recorded in 1990.

The American Angus Association, headquartered in St. Joseph, Mo., was founded in 1883. It is the largest beef registry association in the world in terms of both annual registrations and active members.
