Village wages to cost $16,000 more

approved last week for Cass City Village employees will cost the village a combined $15,930 more in 1992.

The Village Council approved the increase for each of 15 full-time employees. No significant changes were made in the workers' fringe benefit package.

Cass City's full-time staff consists of the village manager, bookkeeper and secrecers (including a sergeant and chief), 5 Department of Public Works employees (including superintendent) and 4 Wastewater Treatment Plant employees (including superintendent).

A breakdown of the 1991 and 1992 pay levels is outlined in a chart accompanying this story.

BUNCO SQUAD — Area residents (left to right) Eva Hoagg and Virginia and Clair Auslander helped found the Shabbona area Bunco Club and are still active in the group. The club, which has met regularly since 1937, boasts a regular membership of about 2 dozen people.

Bunco alive and well in Shabbona after 54 years

There's plenty of Bunco going on in the Shabbona

What's more, there's a club that specializes in the activity. The group was organized in the late 1930s and is still alive and well today, meeting at a different location most every other Saturday night this time of

Area residents checking their dictionary for the meaning of the word "bunco" might be a bit worried, or confused; by definition, it means "a swindle." But in Shabbona, Bunco means nothing more than a longstanding tradition of good, clean fun that a host of folks, many of them retired today, have been enjoying for years.

"It's just a clean game and we have a lot of fun. There's been a lot of members into it all these years," remarked Virginia Auslander, who along with her husband, Clair, and Eva Hoagg of Shabbona, are the only original club members still active in the group.

According to the trio, the club got its start in 1937.

Hoagg recalled learning Bunco while living briefly in the Pontiac area.

"I think some of the gang down there showed us how to play it, and we've had more fun over the years,"

Just what is Bunco? Well, it's a game involving dice and any number of players seated, typically, at 5 or 6 tables, one of which is called the head table.

Each table has 3 dice and, generally, 4 persons (2 teams) who take turns rolling the dice in an attempt to roll certain numbers, starting with one, then 2, then 3, etc. Players move from table to table after each round, adding up their scores in an attempt to reach

21 and win the game. However, players can emerge the victor more quickly; all they have to do is roll 3 of the number they're trying for while seated at the head table. When that happens, everybody knows about it.

COW BELL

"We've got an old cow bell from the farm, and when you ring the bell, the game's over at the head table.' Hoagg explained.

"It's not as complicated as it sounds," she reassured. Auslander agreed. "Anybody that's come and played has picked it up right away."

DONATIONS OF CASH, food, clothing, household goods and other items have been pouring in for the Bellanger family, which lost its home and belongings in a house fire early last week. Tom Meismer, owner of Gilligan's, is pictured above with some of the donations stored at his business in Cass City.

From all over Thumb

Help pours in for fire victims

Residents from throughout collection point. the Thumb are continuing to lend a helping hand to a young Cass City family that lost its home and belongings in a house fire early last

People and organizations have donated food, clothing, general household items and toys, as well as called with offers of furniture and appliances over the past week, according to Tom Meismer, owner of Gilligan's, 6444 W. Main St., Cass City, which has served as a central

Meismer said help has come from all over, including the Cass City area, Decker, Harbor Beach, Sandusky, Bad Axe, Kingston and Millington. And the effort continued

Monday night, with the Cass City Hardees Restaurant sponsoring a pancake supper to benefit the Bellangers.

It's estimated that more than $1,200 in cash donations had been collected as of Monday afternoon. The total includes a $500 shopping spree at Kritzman's Clothing Store that was donated anonymously hours after the fire.

The money is badly needed, Meismer remarked, noting the Bellangers' biggest problem at this point is securing a place to stay.

The couple, who have 3 young children and are new to the area, had been renting the doublewide mobile home at 4303 Doerr Rd. that was leveled by fire Dec. 23. Afterwards, the family was invited to stay at the home of a friend in town.

Meismer indicated that most of the donations he's received have been made by people who don't want any recognition. He recalled one gentleman who handed him an envelope with $50 in it for the family, saying he would try to do more when he could.

"It's kind of overwhelming - the outpouring," Meismer commented. "It's really great to see it."

Kingston Camp must close

Boyne cancels resignation

Long-time Koylton Township Supervisor Terry Boyne withdrew his resignation Friday night.

The action prompted the township to cancel plans for a special meeting the next day, effectively crushing Pioneer Work and Learn Center officials' hopes of getting a special-use permit before being forced to close their doors Jan. 4 in compliance with a court order.

The rehabilitation program for male juvenile delinquents was ordered closed because its operation at Kingston Hills Camp violates township zoning laws. Pioneer officials moved to avoid closure by trying to convince the township to change the zoning ordinance and issue a specialuse permit.

The Township Board approved the ordinance amendment Dec. 9, despite the township Zoning Board's recommendation against the change. The special-use permit was taken up by the Zoning Board during a public hearing conducted Dec. 19, but no recommendation was made and the session was continued to Jan. 14.

Pioneer officials had hoped that the Township Board would take matters into its own hands and approve the permit during the special meeting planned for Saturday, when the board was expected to act on Boyne's resignation.

Boyne was unavailable for comment on his decision to continue as supervisor.

As it stands, the Township Board's next regular meeting is Jan. 13, and no other special meetings are planned, township Clerk James Borek said Monday. Jim Leggett, associate director of the Pioneer program, acknowledged the camp will probably be forced to close, at least temporarily.

"It's pretty obvious that if nothing happens. . .before the fourth of January, that we're going to be out of here," he said. "We're ready to go and we'll be gone prior Please turn to back page.

"If It Fitz...."

Delays, delays

By Jim Fitzgerald

The only time my wife and I get excited about professional football is when Sunday's televised game runs long and delays the 7 p.m. start of our favorite program, "60 Minutes." On one typical Sunday, at about 7:30, Dallas was leading Green Bay, 42-14, there was one second to play, and Green Bay called time-out. Time-out 'Time-out? with one second to play?"
my wife screamed. "That dumb team is 28 points behind. What can they do in one second?" John Madden.

"That's why they called time-out," I explained. "They have to decide what to do. They'll probably go into their one-second drill.

"Are you trying to tell me Green Bay can score 28 points in one second?"

"You can never tell what ay a football will bounce. I said. "Football is a game of emotions. It doesn't matter how much time is left if momentum is on your side. During this time-out, the quarterback will call the next 47 plays. That cleverly eliminates the need for huddles. The time saved by not huddling can be used for sideline passes that stop the clock, and onside kickoffs that don't start the clock until the ball is touched by

"In no time at all, Green Bay will be right back in the ballgame.'

"That's an awful pun," she said. "If this game doesn't end one second after this time-out is over, I'm going to throw something.'

The game ended 15 minutes later. She threw a fit. Green Bay didn't rally to

'They weren't beat, they just ran out of time," I explained.

That was several years ago, when it seemed certain that football and network strategies had devised every means possible to delay "60 Minutes" until 48 hours after the blowing of the two-minute warning whistle, except on the West Coast when the game often didn't end until Thursday because Madden is afraid to fly and takes the bus.

The purpose of the twominute warning, of course, is to create a short pause during which the network can advertise 2,345 upcoming special programs. Also to inform the typical male viewer that he has time to run out for a snack in a restaurant, elope with the waitress, and return home with his firstborn child in time to see the last four plays.

Anyway, in view of this high sophisticated and successful delay technology, my wife and I were surprised two Sundays ago to learn the TV/football marketing geniuses have somehow managed to discover a new way to get us excited about professional football.

With less than a minute to play, San Francisco scored a touchdown, giving it a 38-14 lead (with the extra point) over New Orleans. "60 Minutes" would be only 15 minutes late! Except... Play was stopped while officials reviewed a videotaped replay of the alleged TD, to make sure it really happened. For the sake of authenticity, I think the officials went home to watch the tape on their own TV sets in their own dens. Eventually the touchdown was disallowed and the ball was put on the 1-inch line, from where San Francisco scored again, naturally.

It was finally time for "60 Minutes." Except...

The clock, with only a few seconds left to tick, was again stopped while officials reviewed the videotaped replay. It was another splendid opportunity to wait eagerly for news of completely no consequence. As it was our first experience with the taped replay review, I was surprised my wife wasn't yelling about it. But then I noticed she'd disappeared.

She left behind a note saying: "I'm taking the bus to the West Coast but expect to be back home in time to see '60 Minutes' in its en-

OVER 455 FARMER delegates were in Grand Rapids recently voting on policy direction of the Michigan Farm Bureau on a host of issues. Some 140 proposed policy resolutions dealing with state and national agricultural issues were debated and voted on during the 4-day event. Above, delegates of Tuscola County Farm Bureau represented their county members' views in the discussion.

Road Commission can't match federal funds in '92

Tuscola County Road Commission officials say they can't match federal funds for primary road bridges in 1992.

That means only one of 2 bridge replacements slated for the coming year will be completed, according to County Highway Engineer Robert J. Wellington, who Replacement is estimated at $216,000.

"Due to the decreasing revenues from the state gas tax, the road commission will be able to come up with matching funds for only one of these posted bridges in 1992," Wellington said.

"Acquisition of extra rights-of-way will determine which bridge replacement is postponed," he added.

Wellington noted the local road bridge millage is not used on primary road bridges.

Good yields

The U.S. soybean crop has recovered very nicely from dry weather earlier in the growing season. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that unexpectedly good yields have put the 1991 production at 1.9 billion bushels. With a smaller-than-usual crop in Brazil, American soybean farmers will have good marketing opportunities next year.

In declaring January as "National Blood Donor Month, President George Bush said, "This is a special time for the American Red Cross to honor those individual blood donors who consistently give blood for patients'in need.'

Dr. Willys F. Mueller, Medical Director and Principal Officer for the Wolverine Blood Region, added, "It's also a time to encourage new donors to contribute to the community blood supply. After all, it is really up to all of us to see that blood is available when and where it is needed."

"In fact," according to Dr. Mueller, "the need for blood is constant with volunteer blood donors contributing nearly all blood used for patient care. If those who are eligible would donate on a regular basis, blood needs would be met and there would be no shortages." Among donors being honored are those in the Wolverine Region, a 27-county wide area where more than 64,000 pints of blood are used every year. Police recently investigated a pair of complaints involving vandalism in Cass

Debbie Cosway, manager of the Hardees Restaurant, 6209 Main St., Cass City, reported 2 filter screens missing from the air intake system at the restaurant.

The report was filed Saturday morning with Det. Sgt. Larry Walker of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Depart-

One or more persons apparently climbed onto the roof, where the screens are located, according to reports, which state the indigidual or individuals had been drinking on the roof.

The other complaint was handled by Cass City police, who reported someone broke the left side passenger door window of a vehicle belonging to Karen Wright, 6305 Lakeside Dr., Cass Reports state the incident occurred sometime between 7 p.m. Dec. 22 and 1 p.m.

Kingston family flees burning home Monday

A Kingston area family escaped injury after their house caught fire Monday morning, but the structure and contents sustained an estimated $35,000 to $40,000 in damage.

Kingston fire fighters were called to the 2-story, wood frame house, located 4 miles east and a half mile south of Kingston on Marton Road. at 6:24 a.m.

'There was fire in a bedroom and it was extending upstairs when we arrived,"

Fire Chief Robert Miller said. He added fire fighters were able to contain the blaze within the structure.

The residents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Meyer and their 2 children, were home when the fire ignited, but escaped without injury after being awakened by a smoke detecflicted by fire fighters, who had to cut holes in floor, wall and ceiling areas to get at the blaze, according to the fire chief, who noted the structure also sustained a lot of smoke and water damage.

Kingston firemen cleared the scene at 9:09 a.m. They were assisted by the Elkland and Lamotte Township fire departments, which each contributed tankers and manpower.

New year brings new, stiffer penalties for drunken drivers

Michigan motorists arrested for drunk driving starting Jan. 1 will have their licenses destroyed, be issued a temporary permit and face swifter prosecution and tougher penalties if con-

This will result from new laws designed to eliminate legal loopholes and quickly settle drunk driving cases. A coalition of legislators, police, prosecutors and traffic safety groups, including AAA Michigan, developed the tougher standards.

'We can now make significant progress in eliminating the needless loss of life and injuries resulting from crashes caused by intoxicated drivers," said Jerry Basch, AAA Michigan Community Safety Services manager. "Other states with similar laws have experienced a 9- to 13-percent decrease in alcohol-related crashes.

A police officer now can immediately confiscate and destroy the driver's license of any motorist who either fails or refuses to take a breath test. Drivers will then be issued a temporary driving permit good through final court action. The new deadline for resolving drunk driving cases is 77 days.

"This time limit is extremely important because it eliminates legal delays that allowed people charged with driving under the influence to remain behind the wheel, sometimes for as long s 2 years," Basch said.

A minimum 6-month suspension is now mandated for a first conviction on charges of operating under the influence of liquor (OUIL) or with an unlawful blood alcohol level (UBAL). No restricted license will be offered for the first 30 days of the suspension. A second offense within 7 years will result in driver license revo-

Other changes: * Up to a 15-year prison term if a driver kills someone in a crash and is convicted of OUIL or UBAL.

* A possible 5-year prison sentence for an OUIL or UBAL conviction if an accident causes a serious injury. * Penalties based on the person's driving record, including both in-state and out-of-state convictions. This prevents habitual offenders from being punished as first-time offenders.

* Juries able to learn if a person refused a chemical test. Currently, this information is not admissible in

* A $500 instead of $100 fine for a first offense of driving with a suspended or revoked license and up to $1,000 for a subsequent of-

* A fee increase from $60 to $125 to reinstate a driver's license. A portion of this revenue will help buy and maintain infrared breath-testing equipment to make enforcement and legal action more efficient.

Seed stock from 1991 growing season excellent

For the most part, the 1991 certified seed stocks of excellent quality for next year's crops.

Dennis Greenman, manager of the Michigan Crop Improvement Association, says that this year was one of the best he has seen for seed germination and freedom from disease.

Per acre soybean certified seed yield increased by 25 percent during 1991, and early test results show germination rates well above 90 percent and good seed qual-

MCIA laboratory tests on nearly 2,000 corn seed lots to date show excellent quality with germination rates consistently running between 92 and 98 percent, Greenman says. The seed supply should be ample.

Tests on dry edible beans show low incidence of bacterial blight and germination running from the mid- to high 90s. Seed yield per acre increased by 15 to more than 30 percent this year, providing ample stocks of certified

Though the quality and [ germination are good, Greenman says stocks of certified seed potatoes are adequate for only about 34,000 of the approximately 40,000 acres planted for tablestock production each year in Michigan.

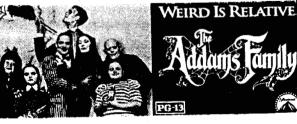

Compounding that shortage is the number of potato varieties grown for seed in the state. "During the past few years, the amount of land used to grow potatoes for seed has shrunk to about 3,000 acres, from which 20 to 25 varieties of seed are produced," Greenman says. "That means if a grower is looking for a lot of seed of a particular variety, it will pay to shop early."

Because of the dry weather that occurred when oat and spring barley seed was maturing, the test weight was much lower than normal. Germination is fairly good but certified seed supplies will be tight, Greenman

1991: The year in pictures

THE YEAR 1991 WAS marked by a number of special homecoming celebrations as servicemen and women returned to the community after serving in Operation Desert Shield/Storm. Among the first to return home was Army Spec. Ed Hewitt, pictured above with his mother, Amor West.

DR. S.H. RAYTHATHA moved to Cass City in 1991, opening what has quickly become a thriving family practice, and making it possible to re-open the obstetrics unit at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

A POOR SUGAR BEET crop and weak dry bean prices marred an otherwise respectable farming year overall in the Thumb.

The best and worst of the year 1991

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity, it was the season of light, it was the winter of despair. . .

Charles Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities."

ickens' opening lines in "A Tale of Two Cities" appropriately describe just about any given year, including 1991.

For many area residents, the past 12 months will truly be remembered as the "best" or "worst" of times. Many others will recall the year as being filled with a mix of

As a community, 1991 will be remembered like many others before it; a time marked by surprise, victory, loss, hope, despair, shock and elation.

It seems appropriate to begin the new year by briefly reflecting on the top news events of the past 12 months and how they affected area residents.

HOME SAFE

he year began on an uncertain note for a surprisingly large number of servicemen and women from the area — more than 40 — as well as their families and friends, as the world watched operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm unfold in the Middle East.

The crisis kept nearly everyone close to a television or radio for the latest developments.

Thankfully, there were no reports of local men or women killed in action, and after the fighting ended in late February, they began their journeys home.

They returned home to celebrations and ceremonies of appreciation, and the knowledge that there was support at home throughout the crisis.

While they were gone, a local support group formed; area students adopted soldiers, writing letters and sending care packages; local churches held a day of prayer; and the chamber of commerce sponsored a day of support, contributing one percent of sales Feb. 7 to the troops.

WELFARE CUTS

hile the war ended in victory, a battle of a different sort was being waged in Lansing, and the casualties came in the form of welfare recipients whose assistance was drastically and abruptly cut off or reduced.

The hardest hit were General Assistance recipients whom the state deemed physically capable of working — their benefits were cut off altogether. But other forms of aid, including Aid to Dependent Children and Medicaid, also were hit.

DSS officials described the cuts, implemented in an effort to balance the state's bulging budget deficit, as devastating to many Michigan residents, including those in the Thumb.

Although the effects may not have been evident to many, officials at area human service agencies say times are getting a lot tougher for some who are fighting to keep a roof over their head and food on their table.

One food closet official may have said it best: 'We're hearing some horrendous stories. We're hearing the panic in voices more now.'

EDISON

he local economy received a big boost when Detroit Edison officials announced plans to build a new office complex in Cass

The news, which followed weeks of rumor, stemmed from the company's decision to restructure and consolidate its upper Thumb regional offices and service centers, now located in Bad Axe, Caro and Sandusky.

Edison has since purchased 18 acres in the village's industrial park, and construction is expected to be completed next year. The new facility will reportedly employ some 75 people.

According to another persistent rumor, a similar consolidation is being considered involving the state police posts in the upper Thumb's county seats.

Officials dismiss the suggestion, but the recent purchase of the former Chevrolet-Olds dealership east of Cass City has many wondering how much truth there is to the rumor.

CAMP CONTROVERSY

ontroversial to the end, the zoning battle between Koylton Township and Pioneer Work and Learn Center was resolved in court this year, but the fighting contin-

The rehabilitation program for male juvenile delinquents, operating at Kingston Hills Camp, was ruled in violation of township zoning laws, a decision supported over the summer by the state Court of Appeals and Supreme Court.

The camp was ordered closed twice in Tuscola County Circuit Court, the second time in October when a Jan. 4 deadline was However, a battle has been waged between township officials, including a majority of Township Board members, who now want the program to remain in the township, and those who don't.

In the meantime, 3 recall efforts have been launched, and Pioneer officials have laid the groundwork for a new facility now under construction in Vassar.

Whether Pioneer will also operate in Koylton Township will be determined by approval or rejection of a special use permit now under consideration.

HIGHER TAXES

loser to home, a number of area residents and especially business and industry were left shellshocked following completion of a reappraisal of all property in Elkland Township, conducted in accordance with state law.

Although some received reduced assessments, others experienced an increase in valuations, including a number of business owners who saw the value of their property soar.

Township officials felt the heat at a Truth in Taxation hearing, when 20 taxpayers protested a proposed 10.8 percent increase in taxes.

NEW PHYSICIAN

here was good news and bad news in the area of local health care.

Cass City lost a physician in early March, when Dr. Beatriz Martin closed her practice.

But after a lengthy and comprehensive search, Hills and Dales General Hospital officials announced the addition of a new doctor to Cass City who would not only set up a family practice, but also allow the hospital to re-open its obstetrics unit after more than 2 years.

Dr. S.H. Raythatha (Dr. Ray) opened his office July 15 and is taking care of a full load of patients.

Hospital officials also announced plans to establish an athletic and rehabilitation facility to serve Thumb residents and industry.

Site selection for the facility was derailed by zoning complications this summer, but officials indicated they would review their options and continue to pursue the project.

RECYCLING

C ass City became a pioneer of sorts in 1991 as the first upper Thumb community to implement mandatory curbside recycling.

Although costlier than conventional "waste management", the effort proved successful, with village resident participation growing from 25 percent in the first few weeks to as much as 60 to 70 percent today.

In the process, the community has reduced by more than 30 percent the amount landfills, and earned a combined estimated $1,500 from the sale of recyclables collected in the village.

Not bad, considering it was only a couple years ago that the word recycling basically meant taking part in an occasional newspaper drive.

AGRICULTURE

S tories on agriculture may not hog the front page spotlight week in and week out, but as anyone in the area knows: as farming goes, so goes the Thumb economy.

In 1991, Tuscola County farmers saw a mixed bag of weather and field conditions.

Many of the county's crops, including corn, soybeans, wheat and oats, were comparable to past years, and prices have remained fairly stable.

However, there were some exceptions, most notably sugar beets. Producers, including many in the Cass City area, experienced significant yield losses, and in some cases, as little as 50 percent of a crop was harvested.

The losses were due to record spring rains. In April, more than 6 inches of rain fell, compared to a 10-year average of 2.5 inches.

Also hurt were dry bean producers, who had an excellent year as far as yields are concerned, but faced prices that have dropped nearly 50 percent from a year ago.

Those factors marred what might have otherwise been seen as a great year for sion officials say 1991 was average to good, although for some farmers it was far

ECONOMY

I t was a mixed year for the Cass City business community. On the negative side the area lost 49 jobs when a plant at Gagetown closed its door. Business in general felt the effects of the recession and several stores closed.

Following a general trend the community said good-by to parking meters after 25

Walbro Corporation announced that it was returning a carburetor manufacturing line to Cass City from Mexico. The company also reinstated it's dividend after a year's absence.

SPORTS

The sports news was highlighted by the start of the Blue Bay League with just 4 teams where schools play twice as many games between each other as they had previously. Steps were taken to try and move into Thumb C League.

The only area championships were taken by girls' teams. In Cass City the girls won the district basketball crown and the pre-district and district softball champi-

The Vulcans promise to be arough test for Cass City and it will be the second game in a row that Cass City has faced strong teams. Just before the Christmas break the Hawks lost to the Lakers.

Coach Jeff Hartel has had his charges working out steadily during the holidays. One thing he will be seeking is a way to get a little more balanced scoring from his

The Cass City offense has been limited primarily to Paul Ulfig and Greg LeValley, with occasional help from Maurice Evans.

Noticeably absent is consistent scoring from the guard positions. To be a consistent winner, Cass City needs one of its 4 guards, Mark Irrer, Ron Bouck, John Gibson and Brad Gray, to step up and become a scoring threat.

If not, it won't be long before the rest of the teams will devise defenses to stop LeValley and Ulfig while daring the rest of the team to score enough to beat them.

Although you won't notice it in the scoring column, there has been improvement among the guards as they have kept control of the ball and cut down on turnovers. Irrer has been the leader in the ball control department.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

5 YEARS AGO

Cass City lost one of its most respected and prominent citizens Thursday when W.E. Walpole, founder and chairman of the board at Walbro Corporation, died in Indianapolis, Ind. He was 81 years old.

Gifts galore awaited the birth of the area's first baby of 1987. Julie Christine Martin arrived at Hills and Dales General Hospital Jan. 2. The baby girl is the daughter of Terry and Kathy Martin of Caro.

Area residents affected by the closing of Cemetery Road bridge may be happy to learn that county officials are cautiously hoping to temporarily reopen the road this month for winter travel. The bridge has been out since August.

The Cass City Economic Development committee, in cooperation with the Cass City Chamber of Commerce, is sponsoring a contest with a $100 gift certificate prize for the person creating the best new sign to be erected at the entrances of Cass City.

Long-time County Road Commission member and area native Grover Laurie this month began his 29th year with the commission, which recently elected him chairman of the board.

10 YEARS AGO

Village employees will receive an 8 percent pay increase this year, the Cass City Village Council voted Tuesday evening, Dec. 29.

After 20 years and 2 months of picking up Cass Cityans' trash, Gary Stine has decided to sell his business to Gateway Sanitation Service of Almont.

Monday marked the end of the Department of Natural Resources forest fire service in the upper Thumb. In orderto save $333,000 as part of a $5.5 million budget reduction, the DNR eliminated all 8 fire officer positions in approximately the lower half of the lower peninsula.

Ninety-four have applied for 3 village jobs. Hired for n or public works to fill the vacancy created by the recent death of Ed Anthes, was Gary Barnes of Cass City, who was one of 53 applicants. Fourteen persons applied for the policeman's job. Hired was Robert Moore of Kingston, who has been a parttime officer here for about 3 years. Twenty-seven applied for the secretary's job. Rhona Hillaker of Cass City was hired.

25 YEARS AGO

The Cass City Student Council sponsored charity ball, held Thursday, Dec. 29, netted about $60, small household appliances, toys and clothes, according to President Linda Calka.

There have been at least a dozen dolls, made in Poland and highly inflammable, turned in to the Tuscola County Sheriff's office since the discovery was announced by news media. The doll has a face made of nitro-cellulose, a cheap and easily ignited plastic. Its hair is especially inflammable.

Auten Motors have installed 2 front end machines in the former Bill Ebert building next to the Leonard Gas Station. Elmer Kehoe and Dick Sugden have many years' experience as mechanics and guarantee a reliable job on your car.

A walnut tree produced its first walnut after 11 years this season. A single nut was gathered . . . but in future years up to 200 nuts are expected to be produced. Walt Goodall has Cass City's only English walnut trees but doesn't expect it to be a very promising business and says it is only a hobby with him.

Two great films, "European Farming" and "Chet Huntley," will be presented at the Cass Theatre Saturday, Jan. 14, at 1:30 p.m., sponsored by Marshall Implement Co., Cass City. There will be free prizes and refreshments.

35 YEARS AGO

Anthony Repshinska, Gagetown village employee since 1922, was presented with a new television set recently after 34 years of service.

The first 1957 baby to be born in Cass City was an 8-pound, 11-ounce son to Mr. and Mrs. Jerold Fader of Unionville, at 12:15 a.m. Jan. 1 in Pleasant Home Hospital.

The Cass City High School graduating class of 1946 held its 10th reunion at the school gym Saturday evening. Miss JoAnn Bigelow was the toastmaster for the evening.

Mrs. Anita McDonald of Gagetown submitted a hint that was reprinted in the rotogravure section of a Detroit Sunday paper. The hint was published in the "Hint Hunt" feature of the paper and earned Mrs. McDonald a dollar. The hint was: "To thread a needle easily, push it through a sheet of white paper about an eighth-inch from the edge until just the eye is visible."

Legislature approves home heating credit

In a unanimous vote, the Michigan State Legislature recently approved the home heating credit. A major provision of the bill is to extend eligibility to recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC).

Previously, AFDC recipients received a special heating allowance in lieu of the heating credit. The special heating allowance was discontinued this year, however, paving the way for them to apply at tax-filing time.

DSS director Dr. Gerald Miller said, "This legislation will allow our recipients some additional money for their heating bills this year. It could mean as much as $225.00 for a typical family of 3, but could be even more for people with high heating costs. The fact that the bill received unanimous approval is an indication of its importance to the people of Michigan."

Home heating credits are handled through the state income-tax process and must be applied for separately. The Department of Treasury will mail applications early in the new year to everyone who received the credit last year plus current AFDC recipients. The credit itself will be issued by Treasury in the form of a voucher to be used to purchase heating fuel.

A Cass City motorist was injured in a one-vehicle crash Friday evening in Elmwood Township.

According to troopers at the state police post in Caro, Joseph Zawilinski, 35, was driving north on Dodge

Road south of Bay City-Forestville Road when his vehicle ran off the east shoulder of the roadway. Reports state Zawilinski overcorrected, causing the vehicle to cross the roadway, enter a ditch and hit a utility pole, coming to rest

Zawilinski was taken to Hills and Dales General

CASS CITY SCHOOL NEWS

Much planning and studying of the middle school concept is occurring at the Cass City Intermediate School.

Over the past few years our staff has worked to develop a curriculum plan. With the enactment of Public Act

25, the curriculum committee was renamed the School Improvement Team. Geraldine Tibbits was named the facilitator working with other staff members to survey districts and then complete an internal survey of needs. Those results led to the development of sub-committees for academics, non-academics, scheduling.

A great deal of progress has resulted. In September of 1991, Mrs. Tibbits was renamed district team facilitator, and Diana Williams became the Intermediate School facilitator. This fall six staff members visited Hope Middle School in Holt, Michigan to evaluate their school process. In February, Mr. Jim Ogilvie and Ms.

As we research and learn, we will be able to acclimate many ideas to our situation and creatively plan a program for a Cass City Middle School. This plan will allow our students to study with a unit assignment and maintain a relationship to one caring adult in a homeroom base. The teachers will collectively be more

James Nicol

James Don Nicol of Wilmot died Friday, Dec. 27, at St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw, after a brief illness.

He was born Nov. 22, 1931, in Caro, the son of Charles and Doris (Durkey) Nicol.

He married Miss June M. Grigg April 26, 1952, in Elkton, where they made their home before moving to the Kingston area in 1966.

Mr. Nicol served with the U.S. Army during the Korean War and was a member of VFW Post #4837, Marlette. He was also a member of the Teamsters Union of Bay City.

Surviving are his wife, June M. of Wilmot; 4 daughters, Mrs. Mark (Christine) Cummings of Wilmot, Mrs. Clifford (Brenda) Blackwell of Saginaw, Mrs. Kim (Nancy) Raymond of Deford and Miss Tracy Nicol of Decker; 5 sons, Charles Nicol and wife Cheryl, Carl Nicol and wife Carol, all of Wilmot, Alex Nicol of Caro, David Nicol and wife Becky of Cass City, and Mark Nicol, at home; 13 grandchildren; 4 brothers, Roy Nicol of Deford, Jack Nicol of W. Miami, Fla., Raymond Nicol of Freeland and William Nicol of Argentine, Mich.; 3 sisters, Miss Frances Nicol of Texas, Mrs. Raymond McDonald of Cherry Hill, Mich., and Mrs. William Smith of Romulus. One brother, Carl, preceded him

Glenn Tuggle

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 11 a.m. at St. Pancratius Catholic Church for Glenn R. Tuggle, 78, of Cass City, who died Saturday at Bay County Medical Care Facility.

Mr. Tuggle was born March 13, 1913, in Peoria. Ill. He married the former Eleanor Bennett and she died in 1969. He moved to Tuscola County in 1941

Detroit. He was a machinist at Caro Manufacturing, Saginaw Steering Gear and, until he retired, at Walbro Corporation in Cass City.

He was preceded in death by a dear friend, Mable Brown, in May of 1990. Other close friends are Mildred Trisch and Jim Prater, both of Cass City.

The Rev. Julius Spleet, pastor at St. Pancratius Church, where he was a member, officiated at the funeral. A Bible vigil was held Monday evening at Collon Funeral Home, Caro, which was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Kelley rules welfare grants must be raised

Welfare grants for the state's new programs for the disabled and families not covered by AFDC should be increased by about $45 per month, Attorney General Frank Kelley

Kelley also ruled (in Opinion No. 6707) that the governor did have authority to determine which optional Medicaid services, such as wheelchairs, would be covered by the budget.

Responding to questions asked the attorney general's office by Speaker Lewis Dodak (D-Mon-Lewis Dodak (D-Montrose), Kelley said grants for the new family assistance and disability assistance programs must be raised to $262 a month, the level in effect for the former General Assistance program last year, from Kelley also said the Department of Social Services had authority to determine which optional Medicaid services to cover.

$217 the state now pays.

The budget had omitted several services, but officials later decided to continue most of them, including vision, physical and oc-cupational therapy, hearing and speech, durable medical equipment, orthotics and prosthetic, diabetic education and hospice.

Kelley said sufficient authorization exists in traditional Medicaid line items to cover those programs.

Boyne back, camp must close

to midnight."

Leggett said that although the move will be difficult. Pioneer officials and staff members have been actively planning for it and will work to ensure a smooth transition for the youths now in the program.

The youths and staff will soon move into a new home in Vassar, where construction of a new facility is expected to be completed within a month.

Those plans are set, but Pioneer officials remain interested in the Koylton Township site.

"We haven't changed our position on that," Leggett

"We certainly have enjoyed the site here," he continued, adding Pioneer has experienced success both in terms of its program and in staff recruitment.

Although the Pioneer program is expected to be shut down by Jan. 4, Koylton Township residents will be reminded of the bitter controversy surrounding the camp for some time to come. Voters will decide Boyne's fate as township supervisor, and that of trustees Don Ashton and Douglas Kramer, in recall elections 28, respectively. In addition, a petition has been submitted to the township clerk requesting a referendum on the zoning ordinance amendment approved by the Township Board Dec.

scheduled for Jan. 7 and Jan.

The amendment allows the operation of an unlimited number of "Licensed child care facilities or licensed camps which provide rehabilitation, education, vocational training and recreation to a maximum of 50 neglected, abused, abandoned or delinquent youths" in unspecified areas in Agricultural and Residential Districts in the township by special permit.

Seek ways to sell manure compost

Composting manure and then selling it commercially may be one way for livestock producers to reduce the amount of manure applied to agricultural land.

Composting manure involves the drying of the manure from nearly 10 percent dry matter to about 40 percent dry matter.

Research is being conducted at Michigan State University to determine how to process the composted manure, as well as possible markets for the products.

According to Howard Person, MSU Extension agricultural engineer working on this research, possible buyers of the product include gardeners, homeowners, landscapers, greenhouse operators, turfgrass businesses and even crop farmers.

"Another option that may be feasible is to add commercial fertilizer to the raw manure to make a complete fertilizer," says Person.

In order to market composted manure, researchers must address the concern that the high cost of drying the manure may be cost prohibitive.

Shabbona Bunco: no smoking, arguing

And there have been plenty of players over the club's 55year history. Although have changed, the group has always boasted a regular, active membership of close to 2 dozen members.

Perhaps the reason is that Bunco night is a full evening of fellowship and fun, with prizes awarded and a pot-luck meal shared atterwards. Members, who take turns as hosts, visit and often enjoy a game or 2 of Euchre.

"We go early and we stay many of the names and faces late," Auslander said. "We always start at 8:30 p.m., (and) it's always 11:30, 12 before we get home.'

> Hoagg was quick to dismiss any impression that the "fun" enjoyed by the mostly-retired group con me," she remarked, "it gets pretty noisy, even if we are old.'

the group's enthusiasm is sometimes the target of some good natured ribbing.

what it takes sometimes, considering that the group Auslander commented that only meets during the winter months. When spring arrives and farmers begin a new season, the dice are put away until cold weather re-

> Hoagg indicated sne prefers it that way. "It wouldn't be exciting if we played all summer," she said.

Looking back, Hoagg and Auslander suggested the club they helped found has remained active because of the fellowship enjoyed by those who participate. In the early years, they pointed out, an evening socializing and playing games was a common form of entertainon as there is now," Auslander remarked, adding she and Clair always took their kids with them on Bunco

"We didn't have the money to go (out) then, either, Hoagg added. "We were all in the same boat." And while times have changed, certain Bunco fun."

"I think back then there Club traditions haven't. In wasn't as much stuff going all the years the group has met, for example, there's never been any smoking.
