One killed, 2 injured in Saturday crash

An Inkster man was killed and 2 other Detroit area residents were injured — one of them critically — when the car they were riding in left M-53 and struck a tree Saturday morning in Sanilac County's Greenleaf Township.

The accident was one of 2 fatalities in the area over the past week.

Troopers from the Michigan State Police post in Sandusky identified the victim in Saturday's crash as John J. Coultis, 20, of Inkster.

Coultis was a passenger in a car driven by Carl Summers III, 19, of Royal Oak, according to reports, which state the vehicle was southbound on M-53 just south of Ritter road when the 7:25 a.m. accident occurred.

Troopers stated Summers apparently fell asleep, driving off the west shoulder of the roadway, coming back onto the blacktop and losing control, crossing the roadway, traveling down a bank and hitting a tree.

Troopers said none of the car's 3 occupants was wearing a seat belt.

The Elkland Township Fire Department's Jaws of Life were needed to extricate the victims from the wreckage.

Summers and another passenger, Justin Schalk, 18, of Ferndale, were transported to Hills and Dales General Hospital in Cass City.

Summers, whose injuries included multiple broken bones, was later transferred to FlightCare Helicopter to St. Mary's Medical Center, Saginaw, where he was listed in critical condition

Tuesday morning. Schalk was treated and later released.

The accident remains under investigation.

PICKUP CRASH

A Unionville man died last week after his pickup truck ran off Vassar Road in Akron Township and rolled over in a ditch.

The victim, James R. VanBevern, 25, was northbound on Vassar Road north of Allen Road when his pickup, pulling a trailer hauling a car, ran off the right side of the road onto a narrow grassy shoulder and then into a deep dredge cut. According to troopers at the state police post in Caro, the vehicle rolled over onto its top in one foot of water.

The accident was reported by a passerby at 6:35 a.m. Thursday, but troopers indicated the crash may have occurred hours earlier.

An exact cause of death was not determined. Troopers noted VanBevern was wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident.

Meters gone for good in village

The era of parking meters in Cass City is officially gone for good.

The Village Council Tuesday reviewed and confirmed its decision a year ago to remove the devices.

"As far as I know, there's been no abuse of the free parking," commented councilman Mike Weaver, who also serves on the Cass City Chamber of Commerce's Retail Committee.

There are still too many empty parking spaces, the local businessman observed.

"The era of parking meters is long gone," he said, adding use of the devices simply isn't in the best interest of retailers. "A town this size can't afford it."

The council's decision to remove the meters, which were installed some 26 years ago, was prompted by a request from the Retail Committee after a survey of local business owners revealed most felt the devices had outlived their usefulness.

They were initially installed to reserve Main Street parking for customers — it was hoped the meters would discourage business owners and their employees and tenants from using those spaces.

However, in the years that followed, significant free off-street parking was added in the village. And, with many other communities retiring their parking metters, retailers felt doing the same would offer a little more convenience to their customers.

TAX MAN DELAYED

Turning to other matters during the hour-long monthly meeting, the council heard a brief update from village President L.E. Althaver on the county's new tax system.

County officials have encountered some problems with the system, and as a result, municipalities haven't yet received their SEV figures, which are needed to establish a millage rate and send out tax bills, he explained.

The council usually sets the tax rate in April and tax bills generally go out the first of June.

It's almost June and the millage rate isn't even set yet, Althaver pointed out. "We're 30 days behind right now."

The deadline for payment of taxes will be extended in accordance with the date bills are sent out. However, Althaver said the village is used to receiving tax revenue in July, and further delays may create a cash-flow problem.

IN OTHER BUSINESS

In other business Tuesday, the council:

•Reviewed 3 bids to resurface the village tennis courts, and awarded the contract to Steve Wright Painting of Cass City.

Wright's bid of $5,385 was $258 higher than the lowest bid, but council members stated they want to keep the business in town if possible. The other bids were submitted by Goddard Coating Company of Auburn Hills ($5,127) and Complete Asphalt Paving Co. of Mayville and Pontiac ($9,200).

The project will consist of repairing and repainting 4 courts.

•Held a brief public hearing on proposed abandonment of an alley lying between Ale and Sherman streets on the east and west, and between Main and Pine streets on the north and south.

The abandonment, requested by all property owners adjacent to the alley, was approved without comment.

•Noted the village's walking trail project is being rebid, with a deadline of 2 p.m. Thursday.

Simpson Excavating's $57,000 quote was the only bid received in the first round, and it was noted the DNR requires more than one bid. The project cost is set at $40,000.

Early days recalled

St. Pancratius to mark 50 years

by Brian D. Bell
Staff Writer

Members of the St. Pancratius Church of Cass City will be celebrating an anniversary soon.

The parish turns 50 years old Nov. 18, but parishioners will observe the anniversary June 14 with an 11 a.m. mass conducted by Bishop Kenneth Untener of the Saginaw Diocese. Parishioners are celebrating early because Father Julius Splet, pastor since 1983, is leaving the church in early July.

To those members of the church who have seen the parish evolve since its beginning, the anniversary brings back many memories.

The church has been a part of Marion McClorey's life for more than 60 years.

McClorey, a Cass City resident since the mid-1920s, married her late husband Glenn at St. Pancratius in 1927, when it was still a mission of St. Columbkil parish in Huron County. During the 1930s McClorey served as vice-president and treasurer of the Ladies Altar Society, a social group for women of the church. Her three sons were altar boys for Father John J. Bozek, who became the parish's first resident pastor in 1942. "It's been a very important part of my life," she said.

She commented that the church has changed a lot over the years.

"(It's) changed quite a bit," she said, adding it's often difficult to adjust to changes. "But we have to go along with them."

McClorey is glad she had the opportunity to know Bozek.

"It was great. He was a good worker," she said, adding he always was ready to help parishioners. "Everything was so important to him."

Cass City native Daniel Hennessey has spent pretty much his entire 72 years of life with St. Pancratius.

He remembers during his youth riding a horse to catechism classes and tying the animal up to the church building. "I don't know whether we had a car then or not," he remarked.

Becoming a parish and having a resident pastor was a big event in the evolution of the church, he said, adding Bozek was a real asset to the church.

"It was really something, though, when we got our own priest," Hennessey said. "(Bozek) was really nice. We all loved him."

Marjorie Bliss' favorite memories of the church involved the nuns who would come to the area each summer to teach Catholic school.

"We never had a Catholic school here," Bliss said. "The nuns would come every summer."

"I even taught one of them to drive one time." Bliss moved to Cass City with her family in 1932, when she was about 10 years old and has been involved with the church ever since. She remembers at about age 14 playing the organ for the congregation. In addition, for Christmas and Easter masses she would play the organ accompanied by her father on violin.

Bliss was married to her husband, Bill, by Bozek at the church. Several of her 6 children also were married at the church.

"I have a special attachment to the church. It's been a big part of my life."

Although the parish itself is approaching 50 years old, the history of the church dates back to June 1879, when Father Clemens Krebs of the Detroit Diocese was appointed to the mission of Gageton. His appointment provided a spiritual leader to Catholics in several townships of Huron County and all of Tuscola County.

The first congregation was organized in Cass City in 1901 and consisted of a handful of families. Father Michael Crowley, then pastor at Gageton, would conduct mass once a month in the Elkland Township Hall.

The original St. Pancratius Church building was finished in 1904. The current building was built in the early 1960s. In the late 1960s the parish center was constructed. Church membership now consists of 270 families.

Hundreds see annual parade

Cool temperatures did little to spoil Memorial Day activities in Cass City Monday.

Hundreds of people lined Main Street for the annual parade, which started at 10 a.m. The parade featured at least 20 U.S. veterans and representatives of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3644. Also in the parade was the Cass City High School Marching Band, appearing in their new uniforms, little league girls' softball teams and boys' baseball teams, and Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and Brownie troops.

Horseback riders, fire engines and ambulances also were part of the parade.

The parade started near the Chemical Bank Service Center at 6363 W. Main St. and continued east through the village to the Elkland Township Cemetery, where VFW members had set up the "Avenue of Flags," which included more than 100 American flags to honor deceased veterans from the area.

A short memorial service took place at the cemetery with featured speaker Rev. R.W. Mearns of the Cass City Church of the Nazarene.

VFW MEMBERS erected more than 100 flags in the Elkland Township Cemetery Monday morning as part of an annual Memorial Day tribute to area veterans. The "Avenue of Flags" includes one flag for each deceased veteran from the area. (Related picture page 12.)

THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY of the St. Pancratius Church of Cass City is Nov. 18, but parishioners will observe the event June 14. Marion McClorey and Daniel Hennessey have been members of the church for more than 60 years and have many memories of its heritage.

Well, ladies, it's officially okay to get the white shoes out now. Miss Manners will accept no excuse for wearing them before Memorial Day or after Labor Day.

In defense of the arbitrary rule, she insists that "...it must be understood that etiquette is not simply a matter of mandating what is practical anyway. Many of its customs are valued because traditions confirm a culture; they may or may not have traceable roots in the solution of a problem."

In other words, because she says so.

To the argument that Queen Elizabeth II wore white shoes on her visit to Washington a while back, she says, "Queen Elizabeth comes from a country that does not celebrate Memorial Day or Labor Day. Will you wear a crown because she does?"

She further points out that a great deal of etiquette is symbolic, and symbols are no less useful because they are arbitrary. "Wearing a white coat does not enhance a doctor's medical skill", Miss Manners says. "But if your brain surgeon shows up in his bathing suit because it's summer, or he's more comfortable that way, or he thinks he looks dashing, you're probably going to reschedule the operation."

Johnny Carson is history as late night entertainment, and, although we didn't watch him often, I'm among those who feel he can never be replaced.

His boyish charm enabled him to get away with things that would have made you mad if someone else had said them.

Jay Leno is more enjoyable, and his humor more wholesome, than a lot of comics, but it'll never be the same without Johnny.

A couple weeks ago we listed some suggestions that might indicate that old age is sneaking up on you. Our daughter-in-law, who will soon present us with our first grandchild, offers another possibility.

She says that your spouse no longer asking what's wrong when you get up during the night, having frequent doctor's appointments, avoiding the taco and salsa aisle in the supermarket, and feeling that it's just too much effort to go out and have a good time are not necessarily signs of getting old.

You could be pregnant. I don't know about you, but that makes me thankful it's just the aging process.

It's a good thing the "Global Report" in the daily paper is accompanied by a map of the world. With date lines like Sao Tome, Zakho, Baku, Pristina, Kosovo, and Vilnius, most of us would be hard pressed these days to know where in the world the news is happening without the arrows on the map.

Your neighbor says

Congress shouldn't be able to give themselves a raise

It's taken more than 200 years, but members of Congress finally have some accountability to their constituents when it comes to giving themselves pay raises.

Earlier this month Amendment XXVII to the U.S. Constitution was ratified. The amendment—proposed in 1789—states that no law changing pay rates for senators and representatives shall take effect until after an election.

Although it took a long time to become law, Cass City resident Dennis Regnerus believes it was worth the wait because it will give citizens the opportunity to use their votes to send legislators a message about pay raises.

"They don't need a raise," he said. "Working people need it. They got money to burn."

Members of Congress don't know what it's like to struggle to make ends meet, Regnerus said. "They should live like everyone else (and) try and scrape for a dollar."

He noted that no one he knows can give themselves a pay raise and members of Congress shouldn't have that authority either. "It doesn't make sense that they can give themselves raises."

Despite his opposition to Congressional pay raises, Regnerus believes U.S. legislators are doing the best they can to help the American people. "It's a hard job," he added.

He said he doesn't usually vote and he tries to stay out of the political arena.

Regnerus has lived in Cass City with his wife and daughter for 17 years. He works at the General Cable plant in Cass City where he operates machinery. He's worked there for about 4 months.

"If It Fitz...."

Black or white, most are decent

By Jim Fitzgerald

Several voices from the back of the bus shouted: "Let's get him for Rodney King." They meant let's get me.

It happened around 9:15 a.m. Tuesday, on the East Lafayette bus headed into downtown Detroit. The bus was crowded and mine was the only white face in sight. As a regular passenger on city buses, I'm used to looking different from everyone else aboard. Besides my pale complexion, I'm also usually the only bozo wearing a suit and necktie.

It isn't surprising that someone might wonder: Hey, what's that stuffy dressed white dude doing on a lowly bus? He looks like he can afford a car. He also looks old enough to be busing free on a senior citizen's pass. The big cheapskate is taking up room intended for people who ride the bus because they have to.

The explanation is yes, I own a car, but I need the exercise of walking the 12 or so blocks to work. When I leave home every morning, I'm fully willing to travel by foot. But if there's a bus in sight, I'm too lazy to resist it. As for riding free, I've been eligible for a senior citizen's pass for almost a year, but I'm too lazy to walk over to the City-County building to get it.

It's not easy being slothful.

King" until the bus unloaded at Cadillac Center. And they kept it up while walking away from the bus, until I turned one way and they turned another.

Was I afraid that I was about to become the victim of senseless revenge for the dismaying verdict in the Rodney King case?

No. No fear. Not even a little bit.

REASSURING EXPRESSIONS

When I told that to a suburban friend, he said I must be crazy. He said if he had been in my situation, he would have been scared silly, and would have gotten off the bus and run. How could I not be frightened?

One reason is the teens' chanting was accompanied by much laughter. They were behaving stupidly and thoughtlessly, but I didn't feel threatened. They were trying to impress each other. I smiled. I've seen plenty of white teenagers behave with equal foolishness.

More important, I was reassured by the expressions on the faces of most of the other bus passengers. They weren't smiling. They were upset, perhaps embarrassed, by the teenagers' chanting. They made no secret of it. They sent disapproving, disgusted looks toward the noisy teens.

I had no doubt that, in the unlikely case of violence, my aging body would be well defended by most of my fellow passengers.

And that's my point. Most people, black or white, don't react violently to court verdicts, no matter how outrageous. Most people, black or white, don't use social discontent as an excuse for thuggery and theft. Most people are decent human beings. Race has nothing to do with it.

It's a fact we should never forget.

Most productive

Farmers are among the most productive workers in the world. Global grain production increased 81 percent from 1965 to 1985, while world population grew by only 45 percent. Today, farmers are aiming for a productive farm industry that at the same time minimizes the impact on the environment.

HIGH RATINGS were earned by students on the Cass City High School Forensics Team May 14 at a regional discussion festival hosted at the school. (Top) Team Coach Jane Reif with team members Tyson Bitzer, Ian Guernsey and Aaron Hewitt. (Bottom) Renee Rabideau, Corie Churchill, Laura Langenburg, Kelli Opal and Sarah Keller. Seven of the students earned superior ratings and one earned an excellent rating. Guernsey scored the highest of anyone participating.

Set Gagetown park fundraiser

The Gagetown Community Park Development committee will hold its second annual yard sale June 6, in Gagetown. The sale will be at the corner of Lincoln and South Streets (across from the Methodist Church) from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Refreshments, including Coney Islands, sloppy Joes, pop, coffee, chips, etc., will be available all day.

Donations of sale items are being solicited by committee members. Persons with items to donate (no clothing), should call Don Schwartz at 665-9954 or Jim Mosack at 665-2494 for pick up.

All proceeds are for the development and maintenance of the park.

The Haire Net

Like a book with an unsatisfactory ending, this column should leave you wondering why it was written.

It didn't start that way when first considered. But the more the rationale for Cass City High School spending $10,000 for bleachers at the park was considered, the more ambivalent I became.

At first blush it struck me that spending that much dough so that visitors can come to watch football and track was tossing money at something that could be used better elsewhere.

After all, the community is still in the throes of paying for the magnificent new track. The boosters' club still has 2 more yearly payments to the school remaining.

There is no direct benefit to the athletes. The school has a rule that any change in policy needs to be presented at a meeting one month and then approved or denied the following month.

That, it seemed to me, was a procedure that might have been wise to follow for this unusual capital investment. Find out how the taxpayers felt about it.

That was the original reaction. But there have been second thoughts, after considering what Supt. Ken Micklash had to say about the project.

He said that because of inadequate seating, the school had been denied the right to hold a class C regional and that the state track finals will be held on the east side of the state for the next 4 years.

Because the track in Cass City is now state-of-the-art, Micklash believes there is at least a chance that the school would be one of the sites for these tournaments.

They make money. A class D regional held in Cass City netted in the vicinity of $1,500. Presumably, large schools would net more.

Part of the money would be to repair and cover the existing home bleachers, an expense that can't be avoided.

When you consider the amount in relationship to the total school budget, it's fairly insignificant. A mill in the district raises a little over $100,000, so we are talking less than one-tenth of a mill for one year.

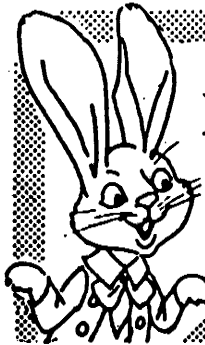

There are intangibles here that may be more important than anything else. As Micklash said to the board, when this is done we'll have a facility second to none, one that we can be really proud of.

New bleachers won't make our athletes run any faster or jump any higher, but it very well could send the interest in the program up a few notches.

When the kids know that the community cares and more folks are interested, it has to be a positive.

Track can be grueling hard work and the more interest shown by the public, the more the athletes will be ready to make the commitment necessary to excel.

Are these reasons enough to spend the $10,000? You decide.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Little gets by our sharp-eyed readers. A couple of weeks ago a picture appeared on the front page showing a team of horses pulling a plow. Looked fine to me.

But Fred Matthews reported that the negative must have been flipped. The furrow is on the wrong side, he says, Oliver never made one like that. I spotted that instantly, he reported with obvious satisfaction.

Only in an election year. Senator James Barcia will be attending the June 15 meeting of the Cass City School Board. That is, if he doesn't change his mind again and decide not to run.

Two firms in Cass City are among 7 in Tuscola County and 1,100 state-wide which will pump gas for handicapped at self-serve prices. They are Mr. Chips and Peoples Choice Market.

It may well become a collector's item, but it still should leave educators red-faced. At the regional track meet in Bad Axe, the Michigan High School Athletic Association sold T-shirts to allay expenses.

The shirts announced that they were for track and field. The only problem: field was spelled feild.

Evidently "I before E unless after C" was long forgotten.

A visitor in town last week was Donald Schell of Hendersonville, N.C. He told me more about my house than I knew. It was built in 1938 and 1939 and sold about 3 years later for $3,500.

It was purchased by the late Horace Bulen, who operated a Chevy-Olds dealership in town. He sold it to Jim King, who ran a laundry in Cass City.

Schell was the builder of the home. So? So this is a column of trivia. Fits right in, doesn't it?

SPORTS ARE HEALTHY FOR WOMEN

Not too many years ago, women were expected not to get very involved in sports -- it may be unhealthy for women to exert too much. Even the Olympics limited women's track events to 800 meters.

But women have proved everyone wrong. Not only can they participate in sports, they can excel in all sports including marathons.

Competition is usually a small factor for most women who want to become more fit. Other reasons that women exercise are to develop stronger muscles and bones, improve their endurance, lose weight, improve their coordination, and to enjoy the happier mood that physical training and sports participation promote.

Bones become stronger in response to being used. For example, leg bones become stronger from running, and arm bones stronger from racquet sports. By developing healthier bones during your younger years, osteoporosis (thinning of the bones) will be delayed proportionately. A woman can slow the inevitable bone loss with age by continuing physical activities throughout her life.

Sports are an excellent way to stay slim and prevent weight gain, and having an improved muscle tone helps improve posture. Flexibility and coordination improve with sports participation as well. The heart becomes slower, more efficient, and oxygen is burned in a more economical way by the body.

But regardless of the physiological benefits of sports, the main reason for most women is the psychological boost of just feeling better about themselves.

Frank Tonge

Tonge has been mayor of Croswell for 5 years and served on the city council for the past 14 years.

A Korean War veteran, he is a former small business owner, farmer, Detroit police officer and emergency medical technician, a VFW member and volunteer fire fighter for 33 years, including 5 as chief.

The Croswell resident is a past president of the Sanilac County Law Enforcement Association and Little League Baseball.

Tonge currently is a sales representative for the Automobile Club of Michigan, a position he has held for the past 28 years. He and wife, Joan, have 4 children and 8 grandchildren.

Sanilac County

receives grant

DNR Director Roland Harnes recently announced some $1 million in grants were awarded to 9 projects, including one in Sanilac County, to control nonpoint sources of pollution in Michigan under Section 319 of the federal Clean Water Act.

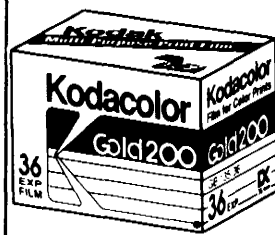

Nonpoint sources of pollution are diffuse, like storm runoff from agricultural land and urban areas, or the erosion of stream banks.

Planning and implementation grants are awarded to local units of government to address sources within a specific area, known as a watershed, where all runoff drains to a common point.

In Sanilac County, the Soil Conservation District will receive $188,235 to support the implementation of livestock waste management facilities in the most critical areas, as well as nutrient testing, conservation tillage and side inlet structures in the Duff Creek watershed. These practices will address the elevated turbidity, nutrient runoff, bacterial levels and sedimentation in Duff Creek.

A public education component is also included.

O-G teams advance

Boys to face A-F at Peck

As expected, the Owen-Gage Bulldogs had little trouble defeating Caseville Thursday in their pre-district softball game, taking a 16-3 decision.

However, the district competition at Sandusky promises to be a different matter. The Bulldogs will meet Akron-Fairgrove at 10 a.m. Friday at Peck. Akron-Fairgrove was assured of at least a tie for the title in the North Central Thumb B League this year and holds a pair of wins over Owen-Gage this season.

The win over Caseville was a laugher all the way. O-G jumped off with 12 runs in the first inning while batting around twice, and then coasted to the 16-3 decision.

Michelle Tkacz pitched a 3-hitter in a game ended after 5 innings by the mercy rule. She walked 3 and struck out 9. Leading stickers for the Bulldogs were Carli Salcido and Angie Wildman, each with 3 hits in 4 trips to the plate. Wildman also drove in 3 runs. Eight Bulldogs got one or more hits. Stacy Cieslinski was charged with the loss.

Girls to face A-F at Sandusky

The good news is that the Owen-Gage Bulldog baseball team has landed in the districts after an easy 12-2 decision over Caseville Thursday at Owendale. The bad news is that they will play Akron-Fairgrove Friday at 11:30 a.m. at Sandusky in the tournament.

A-F defeated the Bulldogs twice in the regular season and was 8-6 in league play, compared to Owen-Gage's 3-11 mark.

The Bulldogs figured to beat winless Caseville handily and they did. The Buldogs jumped off to a 4-run lead in the first inning and never looked back. The game was called by the mercy rule after 5 innings: after Owen-Gage batted around in the fifth and went ahead by 10 runs before the inning was concluded.

Every player in the lineup collected at least one hit, led by Bryan Koch with a single and a triple.

Chris Anthes pitched a one-hitter, walked 3 and struck out 6. Lackie took the loss.

Perfect in Blue Bay League

JV softballers post 19-5 mark

The Cass City Junior Varsity softball team completed a successful season May 19 by defeating Akron-Fairgrove twice after turning back Bad Axe in both games the night before. The overall season's record was 19 wins, 5 losses. This included a perfect 6-0 mark in the Blue Bay Conference.

The Hawks were a strong hitting team, sporting a season's team average of .429. Eight players had batting averages over .400 and 11 had averages over .300. Kristy Messing led the hitters with a .704 average. Other top hitters were Stacey Klinkman, Jamie Caisner, Heidi Cook, Karla Zinnecker, Darcy Monroe, Lisa Deering, Lisa Burns, Erin Benitez, Erica Frederick and Wilma Mayer.

Darcey Monroe led the squad in innings pitched and proved to be one of the best pitchers in the area. Erica Frederick and Michelle Brown also helped with the pitching chores. Both came on strong in the second half of the season.

Karla Zinnecker handled most of the catching duties. Becky Britt began splitting time at this position several games into the season and quickly developed into a strong catcher.

The rest of the defense was anchored by the previously mentioned strong hitters. Sarah Wright also played well on defense while Stephanie Phetteplace and Anna Howell aided the team in the outfield.

Two exchange students, Kayoko Tsutsumi and Paola

Silva, rounded out the roster.

Lu Anne Messing volunteered her time from the first practice until the last game. She assisted with drills and kept the team statistics throughout the season.

First inning collapse fatal for Cass City

For the second year in a row, the Sandusky Redskins eliminated the Cass City Red Hawks from tournament play as the host team racked up an 8-0 decision Thursday.

The game was decided for all practical purposes in the first inning, when Sandusky scored all of its 8 runs. The victim of the uprising was Bill Graham. It was an unusual inning. Graham got the first 2 batters in routine fashion and then never retired another.

An error started the rally and then the next 5 batters slammed hits. Ben Schott relieved and, 2 errors and 2 hits later, he was replaced by Greg LeValley, who struck out Ryan Pritchett to end the onslaught.

After that it was a pitching duel. LeValley went 4 1/3 scoreless innings and Jim Hempton pitched the final inning and was also not scored on.

But it was too little, too late. Pritchett just rolled along, allowing only 4 widely spaced hits. He did not walk a man and benefited from fine defensive support by his teammates.

Although Schott wasn't able to stem the tide on the mound, he was Cass City's leading hitter, collecting 2 of the 4 hits made by the team in just 2 trips to the plate.

BAD AXE GAMES

The pre-district loss capped a sorry week for the team. Cass City dropped a doubleheader to Bad Axe Monday, May 18. The losses dropped the record to 14-12 in league competition and 11-9 overall.

Coach Doug Hall's charges lost the first game, 6-4. The Hawks turned 3 Bad Axe errors into 3 runs in the first inning, but Graham couldn't hold the lead.

Greyerbiehl overcame the shoddy first inning support to pitch a strong 8-hitter and allow Cass City just one run the rest of the way.

The Hatchets scored 2 runs in each of the first 3 innings before Schott came on in relief and held Bad Axe scoreless the rest of the way.

LeValley led the Hawks with 2 hits in 3 trips.

Bad Axe used a big second inning to chase starter LeValley and chalk up a 10-3 decision in the nightcap.

The Hatchets scored 7 times on 4 hits, a walk, a hit batter and an error. Leonard went the distance for the winners, allowing 6 hits. Graham relieved LeValley and went 3 1/3 innings before Rich Kubacki came on to get the final 2 outs in the game.

Leading sticker for the Hawks was Kent Winter, with 2 singles in 4 trips.

Harbor Beach Friday first district test

For the third year in a row, the Cass City Red Hawk softball team will be defending its district title after qualifying Thursday with a convincing 10-0 win over Sandusky in pre-district competition.

Cass City will meet Harbor Beach Friday at 10 a.m. The winner will then play at about 2 p.m. against the winner of the noon play-off game.

Veteran hurler Jennifer Fruendt was in command all the way, pitching a 6-hitter and closing down the Redskins with just one run through the first 5 innings. She allowed another run in the 6th and 2 more in the last inning, but by that time the Hawks had the game on ice.

Fruendt did more than pitch. She helped her own cause with a 2-run single in the first and another RBI hit in the third. She also scored twice.

Power was provided by Jodi LaRoche, who blasted a 2-run homer in the sixth among her 3 hits for the day.

The Hawks combed Dorman and Smith, who relieved in the seventh, for 11 hits.

BAD AXE GAMES

The Hawks warmed up for the pre-district with one-sided wins over Bad Axe. The double wins pushed Cass City's season's record to 19-7.

The first game was called after 4 1/2 innings by the mercy rule, as the Hawks waltzed to a 24-7 decision. LaRoche went the distance, allowing 5 hits, but walking 10.

Every player on the team, except Dennille DeLong, got at least one hit and DeLong was walked 3 of the 4 times she got to the plate. Fruendt, with 4 for 4, and Stephanie Leiterman, with 3 for 3, were perfect at the plate.

Heather Kelly started and got the win in the nightcap. She pitched the first 4 innings and allowed just one hit, walked 5, and 4 of the 6 runs she allowed were earned. Fruendt pitched the fifth and last inning, as the game was again called by the mercy rule. She blanked the Hatchets.

Keri Santos scored 4 times and made the most of her 2 hits in 4 tries by driving in 4 runs. Melanie Churchill also collected 2 hits and scored 3 runs.

THE TOP THREE students of Cass City Middle School were recognized Wednesday night. Eighth graders Amy Schelke, Whitney Osentoski and Kelli VanVliet were the 1992 recipients of the Principal's Award as the most outstanding students of the year.

Outstanding

3-way tie for top middle school award

Excellence in academics and other areas was recognized Wednesday night during Cass City Middle School's annual 7th and 8th grade honors program.

This year three 8th-grade students shared the Principal's Award and the title of The Most Outstanding Student of the Year: Whitney Osentoski, son of Martin and Lola Osentoski; Amy Schelke, daughter of Donald and Beverly Schelke, and Kelli VanVliet, daughter of Richard and Mary VanVliet.

Fifteen eighth graders were nominated by 7th- and 8th-grade teachers based on several criteria including self-esteem, respect toward others, behavior, citizenship and involvement in extra curricular activities.

Each year since the award was first given in 1985, the one student receiving the most votes would receive the award, said Richard Partlo, school counselor. However, this year 3 students received an equal number of votes.

"This is unusual," Partlo said. "There's a real spread of students that were deserving of the top award."

"(In the past) there's always been one person that stands out."

In addition to the outstanding student awards, many other students were recognized for outstanding achievement in areas including academic classes, citizenship and perfect attendance.

Council okays General Cable tax abatement

General Cable Communications Products is one step closer to getting a tax break on some $1.5 million worth of equipment being installed at the Cass City plant following action at Tuesday night's monthly Village Council meeting.

The council unanimously approved the company's request to be designated an Industrial Development District following a brief public hearing.

The resolution paves the way for a tax abatement of up to 50 percent of the local millage rate on the equipment for a period of up to 12 years, village President L.E. Althaver said.

Among those in attendance Tuesday was Tuscola County Economic Development Corp. Executive Director James McLoskey, who explained Industrial Development Districts were created in 1974 under Michigan's Plant Rehabilitation and Industrial Development Act.

The law, he said, was designed in part to offer significant tax incentives to industry to renovate and expand plants.

McLoskey explained granting of the tax incentive is a 2-step process. The first step — establishment of the district — was completed Tuesday night. Next, he said, the company must apply for an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate, which must be reviewed and approved by the Michigan departments of Commerce and Treasury.

The tax incentive will help General Cable in its commitment to "do the right things", Cass City Plant Manager Jesus Valdez indicated.

The equipment being installed at the local plant — transferred here from a closing General Cable facility in Florida — is part of a multi phase plan to fill every vacant space in the Cass City plant with productive equipment, he told the council.

The plan, he explained, is the result of the local plant's efforts to stay one step ahead in an ever-changing market. Valdez noted the work has paid off, and today the Cass City plant, which processes copper wire into cables, is in the forefront of product development for the telecommunications industry.

Two years ago, the plant was making basic telephone service wire, he said. "Today, we're manufacturing voice and data transmission on the same wire."

Staying ahead of the game has resulted in 10 new jobs at the Cass City plant, which now employs some 140 workers, including 105 hourly employees, according to Valdez, who added the plant may eventually add a fourth shift, which would mean hiring an additional 20 people.

"We're trying to do the right things," he concluded. No citizen comments were heard during Tuesday's public hearing. During a brief discussion, council members offered their support for General Cable's request, saying establishing the district would be a positive investment in the community.

Despite the tax abatement, the equipment will add to the village's tax base, Althaver remarked, adding, "It's a win-win situation."

Correction

An article in the May 20 edition of the Chronicle should have stated that under provisions of the new contract, General Cable employees in Cass City must now pay 20 percent of certain medical costs covered by insurance. The Chronicle regrets the error.

RAISING MONEY to help children in need of medical treatment was the reason more than 58 area youths and others rode up to 10 miles on their bicycles during the 12th annual St. Jude's Bike-A-Thon May 16 in Cass City. Organizers hope to meet or beat last year's total of about $2,600, which will go to St. Jude's Research Hospital.

ning Commission approved a zoning permit for Detroit Edison's new North Area Energy Center.

Althaver said the company hopes to break ground for the 66,000-square-foot facility by the middle of June, and be moved in by November.

The center is the result of a restructuring and centralizing of regional offices and service centers in the northern 3 counties of Edison's 5-county Thumb Division. The new facility will employ about 114 people.

*Briefly discussed application of the Americans With Disabilities Act to the Open Meetings Act.

The new legislation, due to go into effect this summer, requires governmental bodies to provide necessary reasonable auxiliary aids and services, such as signers for the hearing impaired, to individuals with disabilities who attend open meetings.

MEMORIAL DAY activities were kicked off Monday by the annual parade in Cass City. Members of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4644 were at the head of the parade. Hundreds of people lined Main Street to watch the event.
