

$75,000 loss in Michigan Sugar fire

A fluorescent lighting fixture is being blamed in a Sunday afternoon fire that caused $75,000 in damage to the Michigan Sugar Company's agricultural and accounting office in Caro.

Caro fire fighters were called to the office, located adjacent to the county fairgrounds at 725 S. Almer St., at 4:53 p.m.

Smoke was pouring out of the building through vents and eaves when the department arrived, according to Fire Chief Dave Mattlin. who said the blaze contained inside the structure was burning slowly and extremely hot.

"If it would have (gotten) oxygen, we would have been in trouble," he re-marked, noting Caro firemen, with the assistance of manpower from both the Fairgrove and Elkland Township fire departments, were able to get the fire under control quickly. The fire chief said the blaze started in the ceiling in a hallway at the north end of the office building.

"What happened was a ballast from a fluorescent light overheated," he explained. "When that happened, it caused the ceiling joist to catch fire."

Mattlin estimated smoke and fire damage to the building at $35,000, with another Please turn to back page.

Private baccalaureate? Religious ceremonies on way out at school

It's not official yet, but it the law, and just prior to was apparent at the regular monthly meeting of the board Monday at the school that it's only a matter of time before invocations at graduation ceremonies and traditional school-sponsored baccalaureate services will be things of the past at Cass City High School.

The board will give up the time-honored traditions reluctantly and do whatever it can to make the transition as easy as possible.

The reason for the impending change is the recent 5-4 United States Supreme Court decision that religious ceremonies violate the establishment clause of the First Amendment.

Supt. Ken Micklash distributed a copy of the court decision furnished by the school's law firm, which concluded that "based on this ruling, public school districts may no longer permit religious invocations at elementary or secondary graduation ceremonies."

> MEETING SCHEDULED

The board nearly decided to follow the recommendations of its law firm Monday. However, Fred Matthews and Dan Ulfig suggested that a meeting be scheduled with the Cass City Ministerial Association before action is taken.

Micklash said that he would be happy to work with the Association to plan for

Tendercare employees in Cass City agree to 3-year pact

Members of Service Employees International Union, Local 79, AFL-CIO, ratified a new 3-year labor agreement Friday for employees working at the Tendercare nursing home in Cass City.

The union represents about 80 workers at the Cass City nursing home.

Negotiations began in April to replace a 2-year contract that expired June 1. The union bargaining team was composed of Cora Remsing, Harriet Creason, Peggy Edwards and Ellen Radomski.

Ten years ago, Richard and Nancy Taylor passed up an opportunity to do something they had always wanted to do ---- teach overseas.

The Cass City residents had been offered jobs at a school in Venezuela, but with 3 young children at home, they decided it wasn't a good time to live out their dream.

This summer, the Taylors were given a second chance. The couple, who moved to the area nearly 2 years ago to take over ownership of Bigelow's Hardware, left Monday for the Middle East, where they'll spend the next

Meshell enjoys fall vacations

If Sherry Meshell of Cass City were to take a vacation this year, it would be in the fall. The fall in northern Michigan is my favorite time of the year. It's neat to visit when the trees are changing colors, she added.

Unfortunately, there doesn't appear to be a vacation in the works this year. A single parent, the attractive mother of a daughter, Ashley, can't afford to take time off from work.

To make ends meet, Meshell has 3 jobs. She works at the Charmont and Northwood Lake Golf Course and does nails at the Hair Benders.

Meshell has been a Cass City resident most of her life. She moved to the village from the city when 12 years old. She attended Cass City High School Meshell's last vacation came last year when she went to Tennessee to visit her brother. When she takes a Michigan vacation, it usually is to Fife Lake, which is in the Traverse City area.

The area is really beautiful, says Meshell, and in addition, I have relatives there.

The price of stuff keeps going up, and nowadays we don't get much stuff for our money. But they want us to buy all the stuff that's advertised on TV and in every magazine and newspaper.

One more thing about stuff is this: We can't take it with us when we die!

I think I have enough stuff....but sometimes 1 would like some different stuff. Wouldn't you?

My daughter-in-law took me garage saling during a recent visit to California and we found some neat stuff.

I don't think Californians hang on to their stuff as long as Michiganians do. We tend to wait till we have a huge collection, or get friends and neighbors to put their stuff in with ours so we'll have a lot.

Out there, they put a little We need to eat, but we have bit of stuff on a card table in to be careful to buy the right the driveway, make a cardstuff. Some of the stuff we board sign and put a few balloons out front. Maybe they don't have room to store stuff like we do. I have enough stuff to have a sale, but I don't have a garage to sell it in.

Some of us are reluctant to part with our stuff, even if we haven't used it in years. And as soon as we do trade it off or throw it out, we need the stuff the next day.

It's important to keep stuff circulating, though. If you just keep collecting it and never get rid of any, the first thing you know, your stuff will have taken over.

There's A New Day Dawning For You!

Thumb Area Campus 6667 Main St. Cass City

Cass City High School's basketball team may benefit from a little foreign aid this season. Rotary exchange student Richard Lloyd is a basketball player.

How good? Only time will tell. What is certain is that he has played a lot of basketball at home, is 6 feet, 3 inches tall and can dunk.

The cold summer has most businesses in the north that depend on the flow of tourist dollars moaning and groaning. Judging by the experience of Mary King, who works next door at Schneeberger's, the weather hasn't kept everyone at home by the fire.

She reported that on a recent weekend, a plan to float the AuSable River was changed to the Manistee because the AuSable floats were sold out.

Charles Creason is the mechanic that services the buses at Cass City Schools. School board president Ben Hobart reports that he has gone that extra step beyond what the job requires.

He has equipped the buses with a light on the steps. He also has painted pictures of animals on each of the buses that services the young students. That's so the kids can easily identify which bus to board by looking for the picture of the animal visible near the steps.

Mary Damm, long-time Chronicle staff member, advised the that there was once a tragic accident involving a Cass City school bus when a young girl was fatally injured. That must have occurred prior to 1951, when this writer arrived in town.

Anyway, it just drives home the need for continuous vigilance. Just because our record has been great for 40 years doesn't mean that it will continue without extra caution by the bus drivers and all of us who have cars.

himself in the foot. The goal of many hunters is to shoot at deer or bear no further away than their hunting boots. They sit on bait piles and wait for the hungry animals to come nibble on the vegetables underfoot. With gun, bow or spit, it's hard to miss hitting an animal sniffing around your feet. But you have to be brave about the unavoidable risk to your toes.

Many bear hunters use garbage as bait. The bravest hunters furnish their own garbage --- often a yucky mixture of meat scraps, sugar, pastries and honey ---despite the extreme danger of spilling it on their pants. Less courageous hunters take ambush near public garbage dumps. They let the general populace assume the risk of getting dirty from the garbage, but selfishly keep to themselves the pleasure of killing the animals lured by the bait.

hunters, the usual procedure is to begin planting bait several weeks before the season opens, always in the same spot, checking daily and replenishing the garbage when it's eaten. This outdoor adventure means risking soiled clothing many times, but the reward is worth the almost-constant danger. The bears get in the habit of eating at the same place every day, and all the hunter has to do is be there on opening day, armed and aiming at the garbage. But ever aware of the risk of shooting himself in the foot.

HIGH-TECH BAIT TRAPS

Previously, one drawback to stalking animals in this manner was there was no way to know exactly what time of day the bears ate the and stared at his garbage all day, wasting a lot of time that could otherwise be profitably spent in another part of the forest, setting traps or stomping squirrels.

But modern technology solved that problem. Today's hunters can rig the bait pile with battery-operated clocks, or even video cameras, that are triggered by munching animals. It's simple for the hunter to determine that 5:34 p.m. is the best time to be aiming at his bait, just beyond his feet. You might wonder why perience is the terribly unfair fact that deer have breath, they stay away from his bait. And that's where George White, a retired Birmingham sales executive, comes to the rescue. White has invented a plastic mask with a charcoal filter that a hunter can wear to hide his breath.

According to one newspaper report, White's mask "enabled him to sit quietly under a tree as several dozen deer browsed on carrots he had set out to attract them. All of the deer ventured within 30 yards, many came within 15 yards and at least cited about it. She's definitely the oldest patient I've ever done surgery on." The doctor pointed out Wing's overall physical health, rather than chronological age, was key in her recovery. Much of the credit goes to Ecker as well as Scheurer Hospital Administrator Dwight Gascho, whose cooperation insured that Wing

10 browsed within a bow's length without detecting his presence."

IDEA CREATES A FAMILY MAN

But wait. White said there's an unfortunate flip side to getting so cozy with deer: "I've gotten to where I don't really shoot 'em much anymore. It's getting too easy to get close It's like I'm part of the family."

Imagine that. In an effort to get close enough to a deer to guarantee killing it with an arrow instead of halitosis, a masked hunter risks having to answer the most dangerous antihunting question of How could he possibly enjoy the so-called sport of shooting deer in a bait barrel? Anymore than he could enjoy shooting his mother across the dinner table.

It seems George White may have defeated his own purpose.

Or shot himself in the foot.

The sinuses get blamed for a lot of things, especially headaches. The swelling and pressure that occurs in the sinuses when they become infected and plugged up can be quite severe. Even gently touching the cheeks, forehead and alongside the nose can be very painful.

The sinuses become plugged up for a variety of reasons. About one person in six has allergies and the nose is one of the main targets for pollen. Other people have a "sensitive nose" which becomes irritated and plugged up from such common things as cigarette smoke, perfumes, dry air or strong odors.

To treat sinus headaches you must first relieve the pressure in the sinuses. Decongestants and prescription nasal sprays can decrease the swelling which obstructs the sinus openings. Antibiotics are needed for infections. Any underlying problems should be corrected if possible. This means avoiding cigarette smoke and other airborne pollutants such as smoke from burning wood.

If allergies are the main cause, a person can improve the symptoms by using antihistamines and decongestants. There are also cortisone nasal sprays and a medicine which stabilizes allergic cells that release histamine. The medicines can be very effective.

Allergy testing shows exactly what a person is allergic to. This will help the person avoid some allergens and allows prescribing "allergy shots" which desensitize the nasal passages to the pollens or dusts.

In some cases, surgery is needed to open the sinuses and keep the passage from becoming easily plugged again. This is one of a series of articles brought

DID YOU KNOW...

We wear off 50 million lbs. of rubber from our tires every 2 weeks. We could produce 3 1/4 million new tires from that amount of rubber. FACT: It takes 1/2 barrel of crude oil to produce one truck tire.

DID YOU KNOW

Keeping a tire properly inflated will preserve the life of a tire and will save gas? Right now 50-80% of the 1/2 billion tires in use are underinflated.

FACT: An underinflated tire wastes as much as 5% of the car's fuel by increasing "rolling resistance". We could save up to 2 billion gallons of gas a year just by put ting more air in the tires of our cars.

As a rule, steel-belted tires are more efficient. It is best to have your tires properly inflated, balanced and rotated every 6-8,000 miles.

If all cars were equipped with the most efficient tires, we would save 400,000 barrels of fuel per day.

Tires are being discarded annually at the rate of 240-260 million. Tires present many problems in landfills as they do not decompose and gasses trapped inside cause them to surface.

The recycling possibilities for tiresare virtually untapped. Let's all do our part. Take your tires to a tire recycling center for reuse.

THIS MESSAGE HAS BEEN BROUGHT TO YOU BY AN ENVIRONMENTALLY CON-SCIOUS MERCHANT...

Immunizations

Act 299, Public Acts of 1975, authorized the Director of the Michigan Department of Public Health to specify, by regulation, the immunizations and tests required of all children enrolling in Michigan schools for the first time. This year the following immunizations are required: Diphtheria, Tetanus, Rubella, Pertussis, Measles, Poliomyelitia.

In addition, each new school entry must have had a vision screening test.

The parent or guardian who, because of religious or other convictions, does not want his child protected from these diseases must submit a signed statement to that effect.

As part of our school admission procedure for your child, we must enforce the law stated above. We must have the health record or a similar statement in order to admit your child officially to school. If you have questions about this, please contact your local school, your doctor, or the Thumb District Health Department.

Discrimination Prohibition and Student Information

It is the policy of the Cass City Public Schools to not discriminate on the basis of sex, race, religion, or other prohibited matters in employment, or in educational programs. Anyone who feels that a violation of rights has occurred should notify: Curtis Cleland, Jr., Civil Rights Co-ordinator, Cass City Public Schools, 4868 N. Seeger St., Cass City, MI 48726 (517)872-2148.

If any parent or adult student wishes to not have such information released, notification, in writing, must be sent to: Kenneth J. Micklash, Superintendent, Cass City Public Schools, 4868 N. Seeger St., Cass City, MI 48726.

Student Accident Insurance Policy

Student accident insurance is available for parents to purchase through the Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company. This low cost insurance plan can provide coverage for students at both school and home. Forms for participation will be given to all students to take home during the first week of school. Please review this information carefully and contact your child's principal if you have any questions.

(3) The source of each person's income (example: pay, Social Security, etc.) (4) The signature of an adult household member and that person's Social Security number (or the word "none" if that adult does not have a Social Security number.)

Guidance and Counseling

The school guidance program is designed to assist students who have personal and social concerns, and to help students design academic programs to meet their individual needs and abilities. College admission and financial aid assistance is provided for students interested in continuing their schooling after graduation. One of the programs designed to benefit both the student and the community is the co-operative education program. Under this program, some students are placed in on-the-job work situations for part of each school day. Students and parents desiring more information are encouraged to contact the guidance offices.

All children from families at or below the income levels in Column A are eligible to receive meals or one-half pint of milk at no cost*, if available, (Special Milk Program). Column A is used for the School Lunch, School Breakfast or Special Milk Programs.

In addition, Federal PL-94-105 makes mandatory the service of reduced-price meals to those children from families within the range of incomes in Column B. These children must be provided with lunches at a price not exceeding 40 cents. If the Breakfast Program is available, all children qualifying for free and reducedprice lunches will also qualify for free and reduced-price breakfasts. Grahams, Alvarezes enjoy long friendship Rotary's group study exchange often produces lasting friendships. None eclipses that between the John Graham family of Cass City and the Ernesto Alvarez family of Argentina.

Graham chauffeured a study group from Argentina that visited the Thumb. He was invited to visit the 12.000-acre Alvarez farm and did so in 1981. While there he visited other farms and took it on himself to introduce Alvarez to Rosana Berri, who lived some 300. miles away.

The romance bloomed and the couple married in 1983, and while on a 3-month honeymoon visited matchmaker Graham.

Recently the family visited the United States again. Only this time when the couple stopped at the Graham farm they came with 2 children, Gabriela and Leoncio.

Articles were read by Lillian Hanby, Yvonne Burleson and Edna Simcox.

After lunch, members played a game, naming all the birds they could remember. The winner was Nellie Shagena, who remembered 27 birds. Deloris Fleming was the winner of the next game, naming 29 presidents.

At the September meeting, the theme will be school days. Each member should bring a picture or some interesting happening of their school days.

Seat belt

usage up to 67 percent

"Blitz II: We're Back", Michigan's safety belt enforcement campaign, is in full swing. Officers around the state have been busily "blitzing" parades, fairs and festivals trying to get Michigan motorists to buckle up.

Safety belt surveys conducted during the July 4th holiday show that the state usage rate is up to 67 percent. That is a 2.8 percent increase from the Memorial Day survey of 64.23 percent. The statewide goal is 70 percent usage.
