Locally, the extent of the problem varies from property to property judging by the comments of 6 area landowners, who agree the biggest culprits are hunters from out of town.

Farmer Dick Donahue said he has an occasional problem with hunters on 300 acres he owns east of Cass City, but "I don't say it's a big problem. Usually when you tell them to go, they leave."

"I'm sure I get violated a lot more than I know about,' he added.

Retired farmer Grant Brown and John Doerr, who works for Marshall's Distributing, also commented they haven't seen a lot of trespassing. Brown said he doesn't post his land, while Doerr said he does.

"You have your isolated incidents, but it's not too bad," remarked Doerr, who hunts and keeps a close eye on his property.

NOT A BIG PROBLEM

"It's not really been a major problem," farmer Dave Milligan said. "Most of the people who go hunting on our place we know."

All the area landowners said they believe the worst offenders aren't from the

"I think it's the people who don't plan to come back again," Brown said.

"Once the local people know who owns it and they know you don't want them there, they're pretty good about obeying it," agreed Strickland, an avid hunter. "It's mostly people from out of town who want to run all over everybody's land."

Strickland, executive vicepresident of Thumb National Bank, indicated it's difficult to get trespassers arrested, in part because they don't typically wait around to be taken into cus-

the violation and try to pursue prosecution yourself. Landowners can help officers by recording the offender's vehicle license plate, according to Jim Gorno, one of 2 conservation officers who patrol Tuscola County.

Gorno conceded it isn't possible to catch every trespasser, particularly in cases where an officer is some distance from the scene when the call comes in. However, he said, "We run on trespassing complaints all the time. We think of the landowner, too."

INCIDENTS

David Delaney, an assistant prosecuting attorney in Tuscola County, said he believes there are a number of trespassing incidents that are resolved or simply never reach his office.

"We have some cases that come through, but I would say generally, it's not a case that comes in with any frequency."

But it is a complaint seen with plenty of frequency by law enforcement officers like Gorno.

"It's a really big problem in this county and it takes up a lot of our time," he said. "Probably one in 4 complaints is a trespassing complaint."

It's frustrating, Gorno added, noting time spent on those incidents is time that could be spent on more serious violations such as poaching.

On a more positive note, Tuckey and Donahue both commented that in recent years they've noticed more people asking for permission to hunt on their land.

It's a good sign, but nobody's looking for the problem to go away.

"We've got more state game area than any other county in the state," Gorno pointed out. However, he said, "I kind of feel it's getting worse. Every year we have just as many or more complaints."

"It's getting to the point to where if you don't have land, you don't hunt," Tuckey said.

Doerr concurred. With less ground and more hunters, he concluded, "It's going to get

"We're probably 65 percent harvested on the sugar beets and probably somewhere around 75 percent on soybeans," he added, noting yields are close to county averages, but less than that seen in the last 2 years.

Michigan Sugar Company officials estimated about 85 percent of 1,800,000 tons of beets expected this fall had been harvested as of Thursday night following more than a week of good weather. The 1992 campaign is expected to be wrapped up this week.

Overall, a company spokesman said, yields are down somewhat at 18 tons per acre, but sugar content is

The sugar beet harvest is nearly complete in Sanilac and Huron counties, but the soybean harvest is just getting underway, extension officials reported.

"Soybeans have a long way

In contrast, harvest of the corn crop is another one to 3 weeks away.

"And that's assuming that we have half-decent weather conditions," Nagelkirk said.

Corn didn't mature as it should this year due to an unusually cool summer. The result has been a late crop with an unusually high moisture content.

"Everybody's getting anxious, but the fact is that the grain moisture is just too high," Nagelkirk said. "A lot of the corn, at this point, is so high you can't even combine it.'

Corn can be mechanically dried, but farmers are going to have to look at whether the cost would be worth it in light of commodity prices that have dropped significantly in recent months, Stein said. Corn prices are averaging $1.70 to $1.80 a bushel, compared to $2.60 last spring. According to one estimate, it would cost 59 cents to reduce the moisture of one bushel of corn from 35 percent to 15 percent. For corn with a moisture level of 30 percent, the cost would be 39 cents a bushel, and for a moisture level of 25 percent, 24 cents.

Waiting another week or 2 shouldn't hurt the crop, commented Shabbona area farmer Arthur Severance, who hopes to see the mois-

Novesta pair on library board

Novesta Township's first representatives on the Rawson Memorial Library Board were selected during a monthly Township Board meeting Monday.

Township Clerk Nursie Kloc said the board appointed Lyle Clarke to a 4year term and Mildred Brown to a 2-year term.

The township joined the Cass City-based library district last August, when residents approved a special tax levy of .75 of a mill for library services. The favorable vote gave Novesta Township equal representation on the board along with Elkland and Elmwood townships, and the village of Cass City.

In other business, the board received what Kloc described as a good audit report. "Everything's in order," she said of the audit, conducted by Ray Armstead, Cass City.

Also Monday, the board: •Received a letter from the Tuscola County Road Commission announcing a hearing has been set to hear comments on the proposed abandonment of Tuckey Lane, from Elmwood Road south, in sections 5 and 6. The hearing will be held Dec. 3 at 1:30 p.m. at the intersection of Tuckey Lane and Elmwood Road. •Approved paying a $95 workshop fee for Supervisor Maynard Stine to attend the MTA annual state meeting in Detroit next month, and a $65 fee for the new township clerk to attend a workshop Nov. 23 at Delta College on the duties of clerk. Kloc is retiring from township service after serving 14 years as township clerk.

•Directed the cemetery sexton to reset 3 flag poles in concrete at the township cemetery.

Gang rumor false alarm

The great small town rumor machine was alive and well last week in Cass City. Parents and others were concerned that Cass City was to have a gang fight Friday night.

Chief Gene Wilson said that he had many calls and was stopped several times on the street by persons concerned that the community would become the site of a gang war.

What it was, Wilson reported, was just a couple of students sounding off and saying that they would have a gang come to the community from the city. It never happened, of course, and in fact Cass City had one of the quietest Halloweens on record. Trick or treaters were out in force in the appointed hour in costume and out, many accompanied by parents. The mischief was minor and Main Street businesses reported very few windows that were even soaped.

-Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr.

It's hard for us old-timers to keep up with the popular youth jargon of the day. Is it good to be "bad" this year? You can innocently use an expression that you thought you knew the meaning of, and leave people with an entirely different impression than you intended.

Gay used to mean lighthearted, but very few would use the term with that connotation today. I know a grandfatherly type who watched a kid light up a cigarette in the alley and said something about "smoking a fag." The young people with him were startled and couldn't imagine what he was talking about. (For the benefit of any young readers, a fag used to mean a ciga-Likewise, "having an attitude" in today's world isn't usually a compliment, despite the fact that everyone has one. And it's important.

We've all seen it. Two people can exist under the same circumstances, work at the same job, have roughly the same health and social status, and one will seem contented and happy while the other is constantly chafing, bristling and dissatisfied with his lot in life.

Attitude is what makes the difference.

It's the old story about seeing the glass as half full or half

My husband has an article by an unknown author on his desk that says, in part, that attitude is more important than the past, than education, than money, circumstances, failures, successes, what other people think, say or do, than appearance, giftedness or skill.

It concludes, "I am convinced that life is 10% what happens to me and 90% how I react to it. And so it is with you....we are in charge of our attitudes."

The young man who lost a leg in a tragic accident might have been excused for wallowing in self-pity and wondering why this had to happen to him. But he had an attitude! He refused to behave like his life was over, and his vibrance has become an example and an inspiration to others with similar prob-His attitude didn't change the fact that he'd lost his leg, but it certainly made him a happier person and much more pleasant to be around. There's little doubt that some of the loneliest, most miserable people in the world could change their lot dramatically if they'd determine to stop being so negative and cynical.

Furthermore, a person's attitude can actually affect his or her physical health, and unlike some factors, we can control it.

The Apostle Paul, in his letter to the Philippians, instructed them to "rejoice" and to think about things that are "true, noble, right, pure, lovely, admirable, excellent and praiseworthy" with the result that "the peace of God will guard your hearts and minds.

It's true. Although we can't always order the circumstances of our lives, we can decide how we will respond

I, for one, want to work at "having an attitude."

RECOGNIZING EYE INJURIES

A person usually knows when he has injured his eye. But too often, a person will continue his work or stay in sports, assuming that the injury is not significant. This is not always the case.

The following symptoms should be considered emergencies and a person should see his doctor if they occur.

The eye is a very sensitive area, and any scratch or irritation of the surface causes enough pain that a person should have it checked. A foreign body can be removed, an infection treated and other problems checked for.

Painless symptoms are often more serious. Any blurred vision that does not clear with blinking the eye should be checked. There are many causes for this.

Double vision, even if it only occurs with looking in certain directions, must always be checked immediately. Other changes in the eye such as the pupil being irregular or enlarged, if the eye is protruding compared to the other eye, or any evidence of blood in the eye must be checked

One of the most serious injuries is from projectile objects such as metal splinters from hammering. These can penetrate the eye yet cause few symptoms. These injuries must always be checked immediately.

If an injury to the eye causes none of these changes and the vision remains good when reading an eyechart, cool compresses are useful in limiting swelling and the development of a black eye.

Anyone in sports or with jobs where eye injuries occur should wear protective eyewear.

Go back to the days that Charley was in school. I don't believe he finished high school, although I could be wrong. I do know that his practical education started when he was in his tender years, long before he would have graduated. I ran into him in a combination bowling alley and pool room in Pinconning where he set pins and hustled whatever he could on the side.

A few years later when I was waiting to be called to service during World War II, I ran into Charley in a Bay City pool room doing what came naturally for him.

In the late 50's I played a little poker in a Pinconning pool room owned by Charley, who would play pool with anyone he was certain that he could beat. He used that theory playing poker, too, and he was happy to play poker with me but never pool because I probably had a 50-50 chance of winning.

The poker game evidently became too tame for him because while he still ran the pool room my former partner, the late E. J. LaPorte of Pinconning, told me that a couple of times a week there was a wild late night crap game there.

I can't prove it, but I think that Charley may have been responsible for getting me a free ride and vacation for 5 days on a gambling junket to an island on the Bahamas. Who else would recommend Charley slipped up that time. After they saw how I gamble, they never invited me again.

He doesn't make many mistakes when it comes to his profession. They may bar him from the tracks, but it's 100 to one that when there's gambling, Pinconning Charley will be there. Making money.

Salad paranoia

By Jim Fitzgerald

She has learned to be forever wary of the zeal with which many restaurant employees clear tables. At fancy restaurants, when we get out of our car and the parking valet says, "Good evening," my wife answers:

"I want to keep my salad."

Perhaps my most embarrassing experience with her salad paranoia occurred in a northern Michigan resort.

The problem stemmed from my dear departed mother who, when I was very young, convinced me it is good manners for a man to stand up when a woman

leaves or returns to the table

I'd ordered off the cheap side of the menu, which didn't include salad. My wife went for the 4-course maximum and, as she got up to go to the salad bar, I stood up in mannerly memory of you're going?" my wife asked. "You don't get any Lordy. The woman had reached the point where she could suspect her own husband of trying to steal her radish slices while they were still on the salad bar.

At least once a week, I politely but hungrily said: "I generously take my wife out have to be to work Monday to dinner, to give her a break from old-fashioned kitchen has dutifully made room for tasks, such as sleeping on the real food by moving her couch in the living room, salad away from the center waiting to be awakened by of her table setting while the beep-beep of the microwave oven. During our many years of dining out, we've discovered that the better the restaurant, the larger the wait staff, and the greater the worry for my wife. This truism was emphatically reaffirmed recently at Opus One, downtown Detroit's grandest, and justifiably most expensive restaurant.

What my wife worries about is the eternal preservation of her salad. I wrote about her affliction many years ago, but Jim Kokus, the Opus One owner, didn't read that column because he was busy being a little boy.

So Kokus was surprised, when he approached our table, to see my wife suddenly prostrate her body over her salad plate, like a mother shielding her child from stray cannibals.

My wife is passionately protective of her salad because she is forever fearful that a waitperson will take it away before she is done with it. And historically, she is never done with it. I have to cut her meat for her because she always sits with one arm around her salad plate.

WELL-MANNERED, CONFUSED

She likes to nibble at her salad throughout the entire meal. She refuses to eat it under deadline, between the soup and the main course, or under duress. Early in our relationship, she got the duress from me when I noticed waitpersons waiting for her to finish her salad before bringing our meat and potatoes.

One Friday night in 1954 I derstood my standing position. The trouble with Women's Lib is that it somemorning." Ever since she times leaves an old-fashioned guy confused about what to do with the good manners learned from his mother. yelling at everyone in sight that she isn't done with it.

The waitress whispered to my wife: You can share anything you get off the salad bar with him."

Pity. That was all I needed. Embarrassing pity for the poor jerk who couldn't afford 2 salads.

A RISKY REACH

But back to Opus One. Each table gets a waitperson to take orders, 2 other waitpersons to deliver the food, countless lurking buspersons looking for something to do, and even owner Kokus risking his health by leaning dangerously close to my wife's salad fork. It's no wonder she was nervous.

A near crisis developed when one busperson ignored my wife's protests and reached for her salad anyway. I thought he was a dead man. Just in time he pointed out that the salad actually rested on 2 plates, and he only wanted to remove the lower plate, which was apparently his specialty. My wife reluctantly agreed, but watched him closely, in case of some kind of trick.

It was a splendid meal, and when the valet parker returned our car, my wife handed him her remaining salad plate, finally empty.

Food drive good example

Local students putting classroom lessons to work in the community

Students in Dotty Scollon's Family Living Class are putting what they've learned in the classroom to work in the commu-

As part of a leadership and community service unit, the class' 17 students recently organized a food drive in conjunction with the Michigan Harvest Gathering proj-

The 2-week effort, which included contributions from high school and elementary tion of 562 cans of food to the Cass City Food Closet.

Other projects sponsored by the class have included collecting and donating clothing to victims of Hurricane Andrew, and visits to Tendercare, Cass City.

Projects that get students involved in the community will continue throughout the school year, according to Scollon, who said students began by electing leader-students, ended last ship, with junior Russ Speirs Wednesday with the donanamed president, junior Jim named president, junior Jim Golden elected vice president and sophomore Amy Stevens, secretary.

From there, the class has worked together on choosing and implementing specific projects.

In the process, Scollon said, students have developed "an awareness that a lot of people don't have what they have, and that it takes a lot of cooperation to get the work done."

The class also has learned the importance of getting other students involved in the various projects.

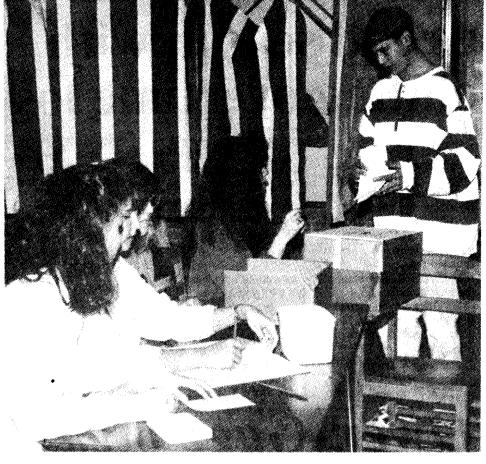

"If everybody does a little," Scollon added, "you can accomplish a lot.'

The class' food drive is a big help, according to Carol LaPonsie, who is among the volunteers who staffs the local food pantry.

LaPonsie told the students their effort means a lot to area residents who find themselves in need of a little help to get them through some tough times. Along with surplus commodities, food and cash donations made by the students and other groups and individuals have resulted in well-stocked shelves at the food closet, she said. "It looks pretty healthy right now," LaPonsie concluded, adding, however, that with more new families requesting help, and the cold winter months approaching, the supply will go fast.

AND THE WINNER is...Ross Perot. Cass City High School students elected Ross Perot president in a mock election last week. Above, election worker Carla Bulla instructs freshman Tom Dewey in the art of correctly folding a ballot.

In fact, the area students overwhelmingly chose the Texas billionaire over incumbent George Bush, who finished a distant third behind Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton in a mock election held at the school last Wednesday.

The event, sponsored by Kathy Tuckey's 12th grade government class, was held in conjunction with the National Student/Parent Mock Election.

Cass City students as well as participating parents and staff members cast 187 votes for Perot, 149 for Clinton and 74 for Bush.

Statewide, it was Clinton getting the nod, with 150,000 students from 730 schools casting ballots. Clinton received 58,544 votes, while Perot finished closely behind with 50,931 votes and Bush trailed with 36,015.

In the national mock election Clinton won 42 percent of the popular vote, compared to 30 percent for Bush and 27 percent for Perot.

Bulldogs end season with disappointing overtime loss

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs lost more than their final game of the year Friday when they were defeated by visiting North Branch Wesleyan, 14-6, in overtime, according to head Coach Arnie Besonen.

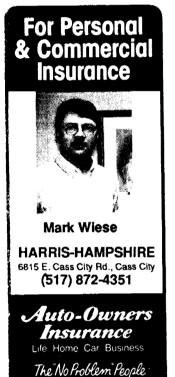

"We totally lost our composure in the overtime. I was embarrassed with how we lest," said the Hall of Fame mentor Monday morning.

Tied 6-all at the end of regulation, the Eagles scored on the first play of the overtime on a 10-yard run by Joey Tuttle. Tuttle rolled out looking to pass but found an opening around the outside and strolled in untouched for the score. Adam Norton added the 2-point conversion on a pass from Tom Meridith.

"We were short a defensive end on that play. He didn't make it to the field," said a frustrated Besonen. However, what really bothered Besonen was the Bulldogs' offensive series in the OT.

Owen-Gage started the series pounding the ball up the gut to the 4-yard line on Brian Baker run, Baker was the Bulldogs' work horse on the night, collectg 46 yards on 11 carries.

On the next play, Mike Tkacz moved the pigskin 2 yards closer to the marker but a 15-yard dead ball unsportsmanlike penalty negated his efforts and left the hosts facing third down and Adding to the Bulldogs' woe was an illegal motion infraction on the next play that virtually eliminated the hosts' scoring chances.

"We were penalized 25 yards in the overtime," added Besonen, whose team finished the year with a 4-5 record. The Eagles entered the record books at 5-4.

The 'Dogs drew the game's first blood when Matt Mandich capped a 72-yard, 11play drive with 4:23 left in the opening quarter.

That score looked like it would hold up until Norton broke lose after hauling in a Tuttle pass and raced 45 yards in the opening minutes of the final period.

Although Besonen was disappointed with his gridders' final outing, he was positive on the 1992 cam-

"We could have been 1-8. We won some close games at the beginning of the season and we should have a good nucleus coming back next year. Look for good things next year from Eric Susalla, Gary Emmons and Steve Story.'

Defensively, Owen-Gage was led by Shane Martindale, who recorded 11 tackles and picked off an errant Eagle pass. Also contributing were Emmons and Mike Merchant, who had 10 and 9 stops, respectively.

The Cass City Red Hawks' entire season has boiled down to a single game, the last game of the regular season Friday, Nov. 13, when Marlette comes to town to play for the championship of the Blue Bay League. If the Red Raiders win, they are the champions. If the Hawks prevail, they should share in

There is a game this Friday at Bad Axe that could upset this scenario, but the Hatchets are talent thin and it's hard to believe that they could win.

Hawk fans shouldn't become too elated because the Marlette game is played on the home court. In the 3 previous games, Cass City's results have been better on the road than at home. The Hawks lost by a point in the first game and won the second. At home Cass City lost, seconds. Trailing 45-43 with 21 second left, the Lakers tied it. Cass City took the ball and with 8 seconds left Coach Marty Daniel called time out to set up a play for Jenny "Thunder" Storm. It was designed to be a back cut for a lay-up, but the Lakers stopped it. Storm then got the ball back of the 3-point line and swished it through with 4 seconds left to preserve Cass City's chances for a share of the Blue Bay title.

The Lakers started the game with a triangle and 2 offense to curb the Hawks' top scorers, Storm and Jodi

12 seniors play final game in Brown City loss

1-0 (0-0) 2.

Looking back on 1992, the Cass City Red Hawk football players and fans could be excused for thinking what might have been.

Cass City finished the season on the road Friday with a 12-8 loss to undefeated Brown City.

It was one of 2 losses that turned what could have been a great season into one that was merely good. Standing out in the fans' memory have to be this game and the first game with Blue Bay League champions Lakers.

The Hawks lost the first Laker game 13-6 after scoring and dominating the first quarter, only to lose momentum and the game in the next 3 quarters.

Against Brown City the Hawks played the favored home team on even terms through a scoreless first half and then jumped ahead in the third period.

The touchdown drive was capped by Brandon Toner as he scored from 4 yards out. Toner made the final game of his high school career one to remember as he also ran for the extra points. The score came at the 10:21 mark in the third quarter.

Brown City scored for the first time with just 42 seconds left in the half, as Doug Hurley finished off the drive with a one-yard run. The extra points try failed.

Co-captains end careers

Alan Prosowski Ben Schott

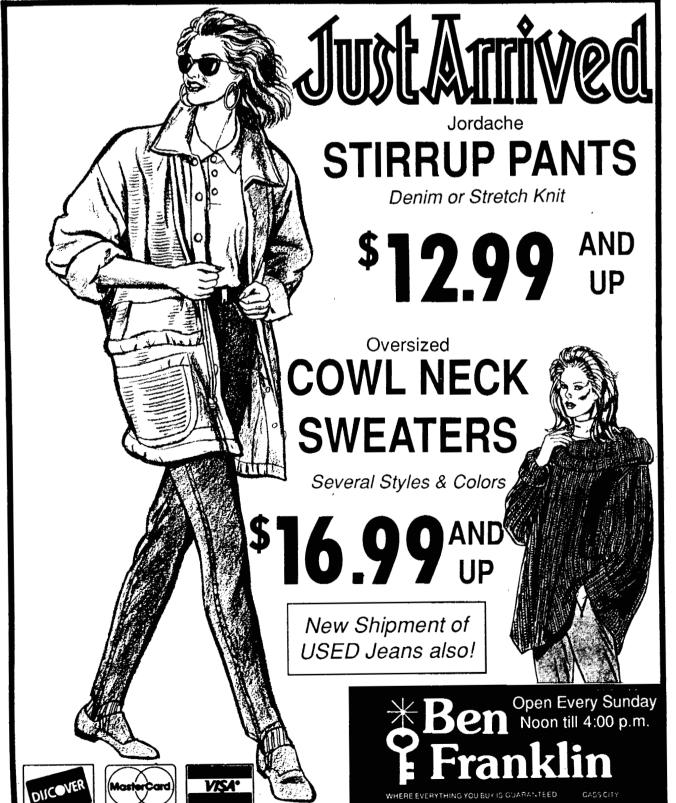

Brown City scored the marker that kept its unblemished record intact in the final period. Eric Smiley broke through and went 51 yards to score with just 4:14 left in the game. It was the final game for 12 seniors on the team. Ben Schott, at quarterback, completed 3 passes for 30 yards. Greg LeValley completed a pass for 19 yards and made 10 tackles, 5 unassisted, before leaving the game in the last quarter. John Gibson caught 3 passes for 41 yards and was the leading tackler on defense with 15, 6 unassisted. Dirk DeLong contributed 7 tackles, 3 unas-

HILLS AND Dales General Hospital President Ken Jensen presents a plaque to Lucille Stine, R.N., who is retiring after 9 years at the hospital.

DID YOU KNOW.. Our landfills hold 15-20% of organic materials that could be composted?

An average family generates 1,200 pounds of organic garbage each year.

DID YOU KNOW...

Composts provide a rich assortment of valuable nutrients and humus that can be used in flower beds and gardens.

Not only do we enrich our soil with compost but composting helps reduce the number of landfills needed. It costs the municipality $35 for composting and $65 for solid waste.

Anyone can compost with relative ease. Just dump your food scraps, leaves and lawn clippings into a garden corner or specially constructed container. Alternate refuse with dirt and turn occasionally. Many communities now participate in curbside composting projects. A great time to plan for your garden and flower bed compost needs is now, with all the falling leaves. It's easier than you think!

THIS MESSAGE HAS BEEN BROUGHT TO YOU BY AN ENVIRONMENTALLY CONSCIOUS COMPANY.

"We support composting".

Fly the flags for girls' athletics

To the Editor,

I always hear people complaining about girls' sports,

I wonder why you couldn't have found a little place in the paper to let everyone know how well our 7th grade girls did in the basketball playoff in Sandusky last

The girls and their coach, John Maharg, worked so hard and did so well. They took a 2nd place trophy. So why don't you give them a big hand and let them know we appreciate their hard work.

After all, they will be our issue of them despite the fact of how well they do. The guys, no matter how good or

Court affirms sentence

The Michigan Court of Appeals has affirmed the sentencing imposed by Tuscola County Circuit court Judge Patrick R. Joslyn in People vs. Herman Charles McConnell.

Joslyn had sentenced McConnell in 1991 to a term of 6 1/2 to 15 years in prison for second degree criminal sexual conduct.

The defendant appealed the sentencing, claiming it was disproportionate with the crime and that the judge had departed from the recommended sentencing guidelines.

Genevieve Van Allen

Genevieve Van Allen, 81. of Cass City, died Monday, Oct. 26, at Tendercare, Cass City, after a lengthy illness. She was born Nov. 18, 1910, in Gagetown, the daughter of Walter and Georgia (Rasmussen) Thompson. She was united in marriage to William Lincoln Van Allen Nov. 17, 1932, in Cass City. The couple made their home on a farm in Novesta Township. Mr. Van Allen died Jan. 6, 1973.

She had been employed by Walbro Corp. of Cass City, retiring in 1973. She had

Kuntz receives honors award

The Michigan Elementary and Middle School Principals Association (MEMSPA) announced that Dorland Kuntz, principal of Deford Elementary in Cass City Public Schools, was selected to receive the Regional Honors Award at the MEMSPA 67th Annual State Conference held Oct. 21-23, at the Grand Traverse Resort in Traverse City.

Kuntz's contributions as principal have been many. His 26-year educational career has encompassed all grades, including 7 years as a K-12 vocal music teacher and 2 years as an elementary counselor. The past 13 years he has served as a teachingprincipal.

Kuntz was presented with a plaque, which describes this honor, by Jan Krause, principal of Big Rock Elementary in Chesaning Union Schools and president of Region XI of MEMSPA. Region XI includes Clare, Gladwin, Arenac, Isabella, Gratiot, Saginaw, Bay, Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties.

This award is presented to one principal in each of 14 regions in Michigan

Your neighbor says

Becky Johnson, 22, of Greenland Road, Cass City, didn't vote this year because she failed to register, but if she did, it would have been for Bush.

The reason that Johnson, a Cass City High School graduate, didn't get to the township clerk before the deadline is that she has been concentrating on her college studies. She recently graduated from Saginaw Valley State University, where she was a biology major. Her plans call for her to continue her education at a university that is still to be decided. She has applications at Becky is the daughter of Robert and Beverly Johnson. She said that her family is basically independent, voting for the candidate that they feel is the best choice.

She agrees with many who are tired of the long, long campaigning that has dominated the media, saying that it 'seems to go on too long."

Johnson is the second youngest in the family that includes a sister and 2 brothers.

ture level in his corn drop to 30 percent before harvest-

Severance knows the moisture level in his crop is high now, 40 percent or higher. But he isn't sure how high — his testing equipment measures moisture levels of up to 37 percent, and so far his samples have surpassed that "It just doesn't seem to be drying like it should. I don't know why," he said. "As far as quality, I think it's going to be good."

Dick Donahue, who farms 1,300 acres, remarked he expects to finish harvesting soybeans and sugar beets this week, but he won't even think about harvesting his 400 acres of corn for another 2 weeks.

Like other area farmers, Donahue said he's hoping for more sunny, breezy days. "Every decent day will take a point off the moisture. Every bit helps," he added. Still, he concluded, "It's going to be a long fall.'

also attended the Novesta Church of Christ.

Mrs. Van Allen is survived by 3 sons, Douglas Van Allen and wife Hilda of Cass City, Ronald Van Allen and wife Doris of Troy and David Van Allen and wife Kim of Kalamazoo; one daughter, Mrs. Sharon Hartwick and husband Jack of Cass City; a daughter-inlaw, Mrs. Cathy Van Allen of Lapeer; 20 grandchildren; 16 great-grandchildren; one sister, Georgia Thompson of Cass City and 2 sisters-in-law, Bertha Shagena of Cass City and Leone Fields of Caro.

Two sons, Robert and Jack; one grandson, James, and one brother, Ronald, preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday at the Novesta Church of Christ, with the Rev. Charles Emmert, officiating. Interment was in Novesta Cemetery. Arrangements were made by Little's Funeral Home.
