Plus 21.9- mill renewal

School to seek one-mill tax increase for 2 years

Cass City School Board voted Monday to ask district electors to approve 2 millage requests in the regular June 14 election. The first is a tax renewal of 21.9 mills. The second is for one additional mill. Each proposal is for 2 years, to be presented on separate ballots. The renewal was passed unanimously by the board and the additional mill by a margin of 5-1, with trustee Fred Matthews casting the no

It's a conditional request in that the resolution states that if the school refinancing method is changed and a 2cent increase in the sales tax is passed by the voters June 2, the millage requests would be cancelled.

Supt. Ken Micklash said that even with the additional mill, the district would probably be eating into its $800,000 surplus in 1993-4.

If the new state proposal that guarantees the school $4,800 behind each pupil passes, Cass City would be in financial clover as it now spends about $3,900 per pupil. The district would receive 10 percent of the increase in the next school year and another 10 percent the following year. which pays $8,000 yearly on a $24,000 note.

If the additional financing is approved, it's likely that several capital improvement projects that are on hold (see accompanying chart) could be undertaken.

CURRICULUM

Changes and proposed changes in the curriculum occupied the board for much of the night. On a one-year trial basis, students who meet qualifying standards in the high school will no longer have to take final exams in second semester.

The student must have permission from a parent to skip the test. Other requirements are: 5 or fewer absences, a 3.0 or better average citizenship mark with a 3.0 or better in the last marking period, and a B- average with no lower than a B- in the last marking period.

Students that qualify can still take the test with the assurance that the results would only be counted if they bettered the student's

Principal Russ Biefer reported for a committee outlining a new teaching schedule for the high school. It calls for a reduction of the 7hour schedule including study hall now in effect. Although far from finalized, the projection calls for classes of various time intervals and the use of teachers other than the one teaching the course to aid in the education. For instance, Biefer said, in the colonial history course, our art teacher could come in and show samples of art of the period. The plan would be to cut study hall time in favor of more time in the classroom, with courses meeting for various lengths of time as needed. One obstacle for the plan is that Biefer estimated that as outlined, the new teaching concept would require 3 extra teachers.

NEW EQUIPMENT

The Cass City Parent-Teacher Association moved a step closer to its goal when the board authorized $8,000 toward the purchase of new playground equipment at Campbell Elementary School. Elaine Howard, who presented the plan, said about $34,000 and that the PTA will raise $10,000 of the amount and the rest hopefully will come from a grant and donations. The money from the school will be from the payment of a note to the district from the Cass City Boosters Club,

New books were authorized for social studies in K-6 grades. Principal Dorland Kuntz, who presented the request to the board, said that they tied in with the courses offered in later grades. The cost for the texts workbooks is $24,429.35 and includes $7,000 in "free" teacher books in the 9th grade at a cost of $6,588 and a new physiology book for $768.60.

The board also approved a request for foreign language (Spanish) audio-visual material for $650.

OTHER BUSINESS

•Mrs. Sean Zawilinski's sociology class was granted permission to construct a berm in front of the high school.

 A communicable diseases policy was presented to the board as required by law. One of the principal changes is that the disposal of "sharps" (needles, glass mission for new history rial) must be disposed of separately and the school will work with Hills and Dales General Hospital to handle these items. It will be reviewed and undoubtedly passed at the May board session.

> Inspectors for the June 14 election were named. They are: Chairperson Joan Little, Jessie Goodall, Helen Lorentzen, Pat Wells and Kay Rutkoski.

•New phones for the high school were authorized for $6,712.50, from AT&T, the lower of 2 bids. A plus is that the phones will automatically record the number of the persons calling and can be used in case of bomb threats or similar activities.

Township derails airport plans

Last week's Indianfields Township Board meeting proved to be strike 2 for a plan to make improvements to the Caro Municipal Airport through creation of an airport authority.

But members of the committee spearheading the effort say they're not done swinging yet. Following a lengthy and vocal meeting in which committee members outlined planned improvements to the airport, the township board voted 3-2 against participation. Clerk Sam Anderson and Trustee Wayne Raymond cast votes in favor of the authority, while Supervisor Chris Taylor, Trustee John Riley and Treasurer Donna Halac all voted "no.'

The vote was identical to one taken by the board on the same motion late last month.

"I guess they still did not get all the answers on the proposed projects, and the cost figures for those projects, as detailed as they would like," said James McLoskey, executive director of the Tuscola County Economic Development

It's a picture of our daughter in our backyard swing, taken maybe 25 years ago when Mrs. Fay was our baby-sitter.

When our kids came along, I left my job at the Chronicle to stay home with them. Since they were born only 11 months apart, there wasn't time or energy to do much of anything else for a while.

Later, the opportunity arose to return to work parttime, and it seemed like a good idea, both in terms of economics and mental health. But it was always understood that if we felt the kids were suffering in any way, I'd quit. We tried a couple of sitters, but things just didn't go well. The children weren't happy. Our infant son cried and clung to me every time I got ready to leave.

Then Mrs. Fay came along. She came on a Sunday night and announced that she'd stay till Wednesday afternoon, since I worked Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. She even brought her own bed, since we didn't

She got the kids up in the morning, fed and dressed them, cared for them during the day, and as a bonus, fixed dinner for us at night. I don't remember what we paid her, but it was probably not as much as she was worth.

She was a wonderful cook, and taught me most of what I know about cooking.

She was really more like a grandma than a baby-sitter.

I can still see her playing hymns at the piano with the kids beside her on the bench, singing.

Mrs. Fay was with us for several years, until both kids were in school and a sitter was no longer needed.

Our Mrs. Fay died many years ago, but I still think of her frequently and fondly. Like so many things in life, we probably appreciated her more in retrospect than we did at the time, but I hope she knew how special she was.

I'm sure there are other Mrs. Fays out there. I wish every working couple with small children could have

As a grumpy grandfather who served with women (remember WACs?) in the military almost 50 years ago, I asked why the Air Force hasn't yet got around to more accurately identifying female members. Better yet, why not give both men and women a single title that doesn't mention their gender, because it doesn't make any difference anyway.

Melissa said she didn't know, and didn't much care. It doesn't bother her to be called Airman.

OK, forget it. I was on vacation, an appropriate time to restrain my knee from jerking every time my liberally boring thin skin is brushed.

Haire

Splattered over the front page of the Accent section of the Detroit News was a story about the court case involving Gwen Jacob of Guelph, Ontario, who is appealing a verdict of indecent exposure in Ontario Provincial Court ($75 fine) for walking around with no top one summer day.

She saw men without their shirts and figured she had a legal right to do so also. It was hot and she wanted to feel cooler.

Over 25 years ago on a trip to California to see Michigan State play in the Rose Bowl (No, it wasn't the last time. It just seems like it), the rage was topless bars.

These were not topless dancers in bars, but regular employees who waited on tables, dished up pretzels and mopped up the spills. You could tell we were visitors because we gawked a little.

The natives were engrossed in conversation and playing pool and shuffle board. Topless waitresses, what's the big deal?

The point was that once the novelty wore off, there wasn't much more interest in topless women than there was in topless men.

The only reason that Jacob's action has caused a stir is that it's against the accepted norms. There would be plenty of gawking if women suddenly decided to put rings in their noses. Unthinkable. Yet, women and men routinely pierce their ears and place rings in them. The only difference is one is accepted, the other is not, except in some African cultures.

That puts me with the group that dismisses the issue as trivial. Protesters say that it's another case of women's right to control their bodies. They say that women can go topless when it's for men's entertainment or for advertising, but when they do it for comfort, they are breaking Canadian law and are arrested.

The lawyer for Jacob claims that it is a clear case of sex discrimination. If she loses her appeal later this year, the plan is to take the case to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Jacob was arrested on a complaint by a mother walking on the street with her 2 children.

There's little doubt that the action is not one endorsed by community standards. It would have been easier for Jacob to cool off by entering an air conditioned building, but that wouldn't do anything for the feminist movement.

If Jacob wins, it won't change much either. As the judge that heard the case says, no one really cares that much. "It was much to do about nothing.' Amen.

Rabbit Tracks

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

You never know department. Thursday, courtesy of Cole Carbide's best-in-the-house tickets, 4 of us took our annual junket to see the Detroit Tigers play baseball.

When we started, it was drizzling and the forecast was for heavy rain and possible thunder showers with temperatures in the high 30's. Not ones to pass up free tickets, we went anyway.

It rained all the way to Detroit, stopped when we hit the city limits and never rained again until after the game. The weather was in the 50's and best of all, the Tigers rallied with 2 runs in the ninth to win the game, 3-2. The 4 of us, Phil Retherford, Alden Asher, Jerry Whittaker and myself, dressed for the worst, having been frozen at this early season game in previous years.

I have to admit that I was a little self-conscious in my snowmobile suit.

Naturally, I cruised the new restaurants that occupy the former player parking lot on the corner of Trumbull and Michigan. The pizza was pretty good, but the popcorn, the same quality as always. You wouldn't want it if you weren't at the ball park.

One change for the better. Every employee seemed to make a special effort to be friendly and please. However, I think there will be limited appeal for young ladies serving cocktails to fans in their seats.

There are openings at a free camp for children with asthma at Camp Sun Deer, June 20-26, at Battle Creek Outdoor Education Center in Dowling. Trained medical professionals will be on hand and there will be swimming, fishing, boating, and arts and crafts for the campers.

The camp hosts 80 to 90 9- to 12-year-olds. Strangely enough, the camp has had only one camper from the Thumb (Port Sanilac) in the 14 years it has operated.

Cost of the camp is kept down through volunteers. More are needed. Call 1-800-678-LUNG for information or for volunteering.

The camp is operated by the American Lung Association of Michigan and (more good news) spends not one dime of tax money to keep operating.

SPRING IS TIME FOR ULCERS

Milk.

Ulcers are more common in the spring and fall than the rest of the year. An ulcer is a localized area of damage to the lining of the stomach, or more commonly just beyond the stomach in the duodenum.

With an ulcer, a person feels burning or pain in the upper abdomen, usually in the midline. The pain is usually relieved by food or antacids, but returns quickly as the stomach produces more acid.

Several things may contribute to ulcers. Medicines, such as aspirin and most other pain pills, will increase the chance of getting ulcers and also prevent them from healing. A person who has had an ulcer should avoid these pain medicines because of the risk of a recurrence. Cortisones also predispose a person to ulcers.

Using tobacco in any form is very bad for ulcers; it greatly increases the acid secretion. If a person continues to smoke, ulcers become very hard to cure. Alcohol can also contribute to stomach irritation.

Treatment is designed to decrease the acid in the stomach and duodenum by neutralizing it with antacids. There are also medicines such as cimetidine (Tagamet) and ranitidrine (Zantac) which will decrease the amount of acid that the stomach produces. Another medicine that works mainly by coating the ulcer and protecting it from the acid in the stomach is called sucralfate (Carafate).

Often x-rays are needed to determine the extent of the ulcer and make sure that the symptoms aren't caused by other illnesses such as gallstones or tumors. If ulcers do not improve with treatment, a look inside the stomach with an endoscope and taking biopsies may be needed.

O-G thinclads trail at Lakers

Host Lakers and cold rainy conditions prevailed Friday in a quadrangular track meet which included Coach Arnie Besonen's Owen-Gage thinclads.

The winners, paced by 13 first place finishes among the boys, totaled 159.5 points. Port Hope was a distant 2nd at 35 points, followed by North Huron (23 points) and Owen-Gage (21 points).

Several Laker performers were individual double winners on the day, including Jerrid Blacker, Shawn Diebel, Adam Moyer and Grant Herford.

The Bulldogs' best solo showing was recorded by Rick Merchant in the high hurdles with a time of 21.92, good for 2nd place honors.

In the girls' competition, the Laker girls captured 15 of the 16 events while amassing an impressive 141 points. Other team scores were Port Hope (41 points), Owen-Gage (24 points) and North Huron (10 points).

Bulldogs Michelle Tkacz and Angie Wildman each gained 2nd place finishes for the 'Dogs. Tkacz posted a time of 14.2 in the 100 meter dash. Wildman entered a time of 30.0 in the 200 meter dash.

The pair also ran a leg of the team's 800 and 400 meter relays, which also came in just behind the Lakers with times of 159.4 and 57.1. Also running on the relay team were Becky Torres and Lori Ondrajka.

Gavel relays Saturday

8 area teams will try to equal or surpass last year's 7-record assault

It's not likely that there will be 7 new track records set in the third annual Gavel Club Jack and Jill relays coming this Saturday, as there were in last year's event. But given good weather, it's a good bet that some new marks will be set when the 8 teams finish the competition.

Three of the schools that helped set the new marks in 1992 will be back. Bad Axe, which set a record in the distance medley (12.02:85), Lakers, in shot put (47 feet, 17 inches), and Cass City, in sprint medley (2.31.63), will be competing.

Not returning will be Caro, which set records in the 4x300 (2.54.41) and 4x100 (2.51.63), and North Branch, even medley distance (8.09:26).

Other teams that have signed to compete are Cros-Lex, Deckerville, Kingston, Vassar and Marlette.

Field events are scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m. and running events at about 12:00 noon. The unique race calls for 2 boys and 2 girls to compete as a team in each event.

Cass City will have a busy week. The Hawks were scheduled to host Unionville-Sebewaing and Ubly

Saturday the Hawk girls competed in the St. Louis Relays. Cass City scored 4 points in the event, which attracted 22 teams, by finishing fifth in the long jump relay with LeAnn Foster and Jennifer Romstad.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

5 YEARS AGO

Mike Weaver was named Citizen of the Year Tuesday at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at Cass City High School. Junior Citizen of the Year Award was shared by Dave Burnette and Jane Dickin-

Cass City High School Principal Russell Biefer recently announced the school's valedictorians and salutatorians for 1988. Jane Dickinson, Mark Gracey, Kathy Leino and Dan Tuckey have been named valedictorians, while Ravmond Stachura and Dean Whittaker have been named as salutatorians.

A year-long fund-raising campaign conducted by the Elkland Township Fire Department netted $8,464 and allowed local fire officials to purchase 23 pagers. The pagers are expected to improve volunteer attendance at fires.

The Cass City School Board voted 4-3 not to allow Millington in the Thumb B Association to replace Imlay City in the 1989-90 season. The objections to Millington were its size, about 750 students compared to Cass City's 550, and the travel distance involved.

An Indian fry-bread supper tended. was prepared Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson and, with help of the Progressive Class, was served to the members of Salem United Methodist Church.

10 YEARS AGO

Art Holmberg was named Citizen of the Year and Carrie Lautner was named Junior Citizen of the Year at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at the Colony House Saturday evening.

Eleven-year-old Matthew L. Chippi of Cass City was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital after he was hit by a car Tuesday morning.

Two Cass City High School students won first place ribbons, qualifying them for the MIES state competition April 28-30 in Grand Rapids. They are Jay McCluskey in mechanical drawing and Brent Szarapski, whose electric guitar was judged best in class in woodworking.

Iris Tuckey of Cass City will be one of 3 persons to represent Tuscola County at the 1983 allocations conference of the United Way of Michigan. The conference will be held at the Kellogg Center, Michigan State University, East Lansing, April 20-21.

Ron and Judy Wing and daughter, Kimberly, 13, have moved to Cass City after living 3 years at Adak in the Aleutian Islands of Alaska. Wing, who worked as a cryptologic technician there, said, "After the Aleutians, Cass City is exciting."

25 YEARS AGO

Elkland Township Fire Department has asked the township for an increase in the maximum amount spent for fighting fires from $16 per hour to $30 per hour. The department also requests a larger force, from 8 men to Missionaries Jim and Sharon (Brown) Evans are home on furlough for a year, after which they will return to Iquitos, Peru. They will talk with Baptist congregations and free-will offerings will be taken to help pay their expenses for another 4 years of service.

General Cable Corporation has been selected to handle the pilot program for electrical harnesses to be used in the auto industry. It will mean new jobs and new prosperity for Cass City.

Amy Jo Erla celebrated her 7th birthday Thursday afternoon with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Erla. Around 15 friends and relatives at-

Sharla and Sharon Crawford, Betsy Hostetler, Susan Koepfgen and Lynnea Rabideau received their first communion in the Cass City Presbyterian Church April 11.

35 YEARS AGO

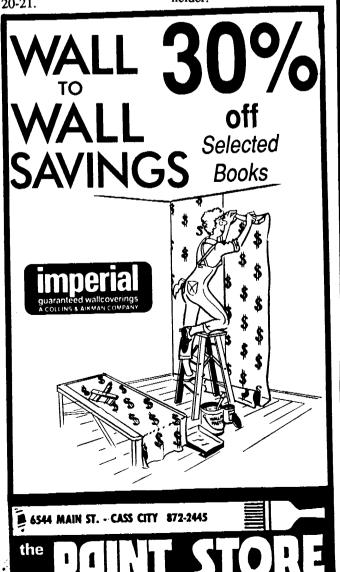

Richard Erla, co-owner of Erla's Food Center, reported this week that a 225-pound pig lost somewhere between Marlette and Cass City Monday, was found by Mr. Geister of Deford.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Freeman of Gagetown will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, April 27, with an open house for relatives and friends at the VFW Hall in Sebewaing.

Cass City High School, heavily favored to repeat as Thumb B Conference track champions, crushed Marlette in its opening dual meet of the year, 98-11, Wednes-

Miss Muriel Addison was elected Woman of the Year for the Cass City Home Demonstration Group at a meeting of the club April 10 at Cass City High School.

Mrs. Calvin MacRae was named president of the Cass City Junior Woman's Club April 10, at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Chris Sch-of my many friends and family for all the acts of kindness shown to me while I was in the hospital and after I came home, for the many cards, plants, visits, fruit baskets, and meals brought in to me when I got home, and for the many calls of concern, but most of all the many prayers that were said for me. A great appreciation and thanks to Dr. Ray and staff at Hills and Dales, the Flight Care Unit, and Dr. Dinardo and Dr. Cannon and staff at St. Mary's Hospital. Thank you from the bottom of my heart for all the kindness and concern. It will never be forgotten. May God bless you all. Marv 13-4-21-1 Winter.

Caro airport plan derailed best to update 10-year-old cost estimates for various projects, but there's no way to come up with the specifics township officials are re-

It appears the township is more interested in a hospital authority than an airport authority, and they don't feel they can support both, McLoskey said.

Margie White, a member of the airport authority committee, concurred.

"What we kept hearing at the 2 meetings I've been to is they're caught up with the hospital," she said.

"My answer to that is this: I don't think it should be one or the other, but both," commented Frederick. Good medical facilities are important, he said, as is a decent airport facility that could draw industry to the county, strengthening the tax base and creating jobs, which would benefit the hospital.

"We've got to work to-gether on this," he said. Caro has carried the burden up to this point. Now we're asking others to step in and help. That's where we're coming from."

Township officials have referred requests for comment on the matter to Supervisor Taylor, who did not return the Chronicle's calls last week.

Under the proposal, the airport authority would be formed by several local governmental units in the county that would pool financial resources to operate the airport. The authority would take over ownership of the facility from the village of Caro, which spends about $25,000 a year to operate and maintain the airport.

GRANT FUNDING

Once formed, the authority would be eligible to apply for state and federal grant funding that would pay for 95 percent of improvements to the airport.

The committee estimates $30,000 will be needed the first year from participating municipalities.

Frederick indicated he hasn't given up hope and plans to try to change some minds on the Indianfields

"I don't want to see a fight between the village and the township," he said. "I'd rather see cooperation, and they haven't thought this all the way through.'

Walbro report

pense as compared with the company's prior policy of recognizing these expenses as premiums were paid.

This new accounting method will have no effect on the company's cash outlays for retiree benefits. The income per share effect of adopting FASB 106 was $.34, fully diluted.

"The outlook for 1993 remains positive, with an expected increase in sales and earnings above 1992 levels," Althaver said in announcing Walbro's first quarter results.

"During the first quarter, sales of automotive fuel system products in the U.S. were up compared with a year ago, but did not meet planned levels," Althaver

"Demand for Walbro's small engine fuel system products has been extremely strong. However, exceptionally high order levels have resulted in temporarily increased costs due to expenses required to meet customer schedules," according to the Walbro chief ex-

Car found torched

A fire alarm Thursday night led Elkland Township fire fighters to the gravel pits south of Cass City near Kelly and Warner roads, where they found a compact car in the middle of a pond. "It was all burned out when we got there," said Fire Chief Milt Connolly, who noted there was no one at the site when firemen arrived.

Connolly said there was a partially burned rag hanging out of the gas tank filler hole of the vehicle, which had no license plate.

sons met for a delayed Easter program April 14 at Hills and Dales Hospital meeting room. Eighteen members and one guest were present.

Some of the members wore their Easter bonnets.

The meeting was called to order by Edna Simcox, president, by saying the salute to the flag. A short business meeting was held, after which an Easter poem, "Remembering Easter When we Were Young", was read by Yvonne Burleson. Edna Simcox read "A Prayer For You," and Lillian Hanby

Nellie Shagena brought Easter decorated cup cakes for all.

After lunch a game was played making words out of the word vacation. Martha Durham was the winner.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Shagena were the winners for the funniest Easter hats, Martha Durham, for the prettiest, and Dorothy Smith, the most original. Her hat represented Minnie Pearl.

Members are asked to bring a picture of their mother to the May meeting.

Barcia said. As it is, he added, 14 to 15 cents of every tax dollar sent to Washington goes towards interest on the debt.

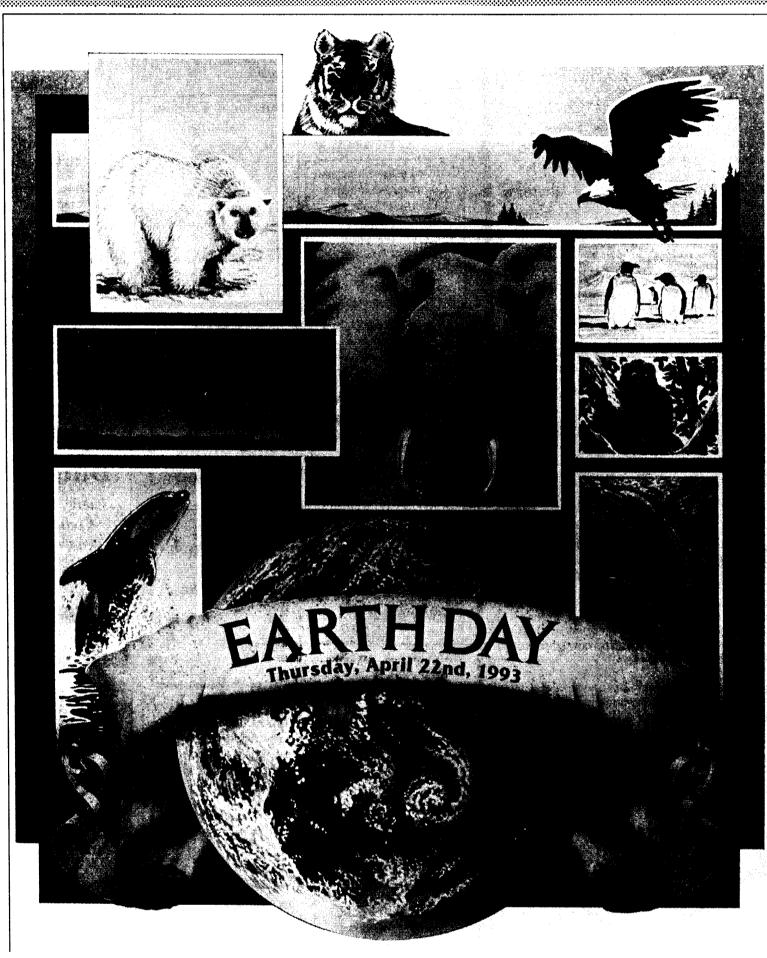

Barcia said the North American Free Trade Agreement and health care reform are other major areas of concern to be addressed. One issue that needs to be clarified, according to Levin, is U.S. aid to Russia.

Why is this country continuing to give money to the Russians, he asked. "The to improve the lives of reason is it's not a gift; it's an people" who are less fortuinvestment for us," he said, nate, Levin concluded.

adding what happens there will affect spending levels

Both Levin and Barcia commended HDC's efforts to improve Thumb communities through a host of programs designed to help residents overcome poverty, unemployment and homelessness, and to become productive, self-sufficient citizens.

Mankind only has one home, Planet Earth.

You can help preserve and improve the quality of life here by getting involved in recycling, waterway clean-ups, and scores of other environmental projects and lobbying efforts.

April 22nd is a one-day observance which recognizes that we live in a fragile world, but we believe every day should be Earth Day!
