Dr. Marshall returns home to warn pupils about AIDS

There's no such thing as safe sex, and there's only one way to prevent being tested positive for HIV, the virus that causes AIDS: Don't put yourself at risk, or at least take every measure possible to reduce the risk.

That was the message offered to Cass City High School students Thursday by Dr. Jeanne M. Marshall, and Robert and Jerry, 2 men who have tested HIV positive and are now living the nightmare of full-blown AIDS.

The program was a homecoming of sorts for Marshall, a Cass City native who recently graduated from the Michigan State University College of Human Medicine and is preparing to begin a residency in internal medicine at Saginaw Cooperative Hospitals. During a break between 50-minute presentations to students, Marshall spoke briefly about her interest in AIDS.

"Two years ago I started working with an HIV support group in Bay City," she said. "I wanted to understand more about my patients, and I got hooked, line and sinker."

The volunteer work, which is in addition to long hours of studying, laboratory work and practical hospital experience required in her medical studies, has included attending monthly meetings.

It's been a valuable learning experience, she said, adding AIDS patients have taught her a lot about friendship, empathy, keeping an open mind and not making judgements.

Thursdays was Marshall's first AIDS presentation, but that wasn't evident as she and the men accompanying her held the full attention of their audiences.

Marshall began each program by defining AIDS, talking about how people contract the disease and ways to reduce the risk of becoming infected.

INFORMATION KEY

A big key in prevention is accurate information, she indicated.

"As a medical student, I was scared (of working with AIDS patients) because I had the same biases... and false information that other people had," she said.

The room was silent as Marshall turned the program over to Robert and Jerry, who spend much of their time trying to educate others about AIDS.

Robert recalled learning he had AIDS 6 months ago. Weight loss and a feeling of tiredness prompted him to get tested, and after 2 weeks, he went to his doctor's office and heard a nurse loudly announcing "The guy with AIDS is in room 2."

"It was kind of a horrifying experience," he said.

Robert went from feeling tired to coming down with an illness that lasted for weeks, reducing his 182-pound frame to 112 pounds. He attempted suicide twice, aborting the last attempt, Christmas Eve, after deciding he wanted to live.

A positive attitude is very important in terms of coping with AIDS, according to Robert, who pointed out none of the students present have to learn that lesson.

"When I was your age, this information wasn't available," he said. "To be promiscuous was cool. It's not cool anymore."

"Think with your head. You don't just sleep with the person you're sleeping with; you're sleeping with the people they've slept with," he said. "If you're being unsafe, you're being unfair to both of yourselves."

And to others, Jerry, who has 5 grown children, pointed out.

IT'S SCARY

"I don't know who I got it from. It doesn't matter," he said. "I'm more concerned about who I might have given it to and didn't know it. It's scary."

"Nobody deserves to get what we have," Robert commented. "The only way to be safe is to wait until you're ready, then commit to one person. Get tested together."

Jerry, who learned he has AIDS 16 months ago, agreed.

"If you're going to have sex, have safer sex. Safe sex is no sex," he said. AIDS, he added, "is a people disease. Everyone can get it. Anyone can get it."

Jerry and Robert are among 3,232 people diagnosed with AIDS in Michigan as of October 1992. More than half of those individuals have died.

The total number of cases includes 12 in Bay County, 2 each in Huron and Midland counties, 32 in Saginaw County and one in Tuscola County.

The numbers represent only those who have tested HIV positive and have been diagnosed with AIDS in the respective counties, according to Marshall, who said 60 to 70 percent of people who

Area grads prep for commencement swirl

The Cass City, Owen-Gage, Kingston and Uby school districts will graduate a combined 234 seniors this month.

But there are still a host of ball games, concerts, awards programs and other activities scheduled before the 1992-93 school year comes to a close the first week of June.

Noticeably absent this year will be the school-sponsored baccalaureate, although some area graduating classes are planning their own ceremonies.

The annual school tradition was shelved by a Supreme Court ruling last summer barring schools from sponsoring ceremonies that include prayers, even when the prayers are non-sectarian and student attendance is voluntary.

The following is a roundup of end-of-the-year events slated in each of the area school systems.

CASS CITY

Cass City School officials will graduate about 100 seniors during commencement exercises set for May 21 at 8 p.m. in the high school gym. Seniors Amy Osantowski and Renee Rabideau will be the special speakers along with Stazha Izydorek, who will open and close the ceremony.

The senior class is sponsoring this year's baccalaureate, scheduled for May 16 beginning at 4 p.m. in the high school gym.

Area clergy slated to participate are the Rev. Clifford Jordan, pastor of the Cass City Missionary Church; the Rev. Paul W. Bala, St. Pancratius Catholic Church; the Rev. R.W. Mearns, Cass City Church of the Nazarene, and the Rev. Allen Fruendt, Good Shepherd Lutheran Church.

Other upcoming activities include the annual academic/athletic awards assembly, which will begin at 1:30 p.m. May 12 in the high school gym.

The last day of school for seniors will be May 17, with other students wrapping up classes June 3.

OWEN-GAGE

Commencement exercises for the 28 members of the Owen-Gage Class of 1993 will be held May 20 starting at 8 p.m. in the high school gym. Henry Gaines of Flint is the scheduled guest speaker.

The senior class is sponsoring this year's baccalaureate program, which will be held at 6:30 p.m. May 16 at the St. Agatha Catholic Church in Gagetown. The guest speaker will be the Rev. Robert W. Lewis, pastor of the Gagetown Church of the Nazarene.

Also coming up are the prom, set for Friday in the high school gym; academic awards assembly, May 10 at 8:30 a.m., also in the high school gym, and an athletic banquet, set for June 3 at 6 p.m. in the elementary school gym in Gagetown.

Owen-Gage seniors' last day of school will be May 14. The last day for underclassmen and other students will be June 4.

KINGSTON

Forty Kingston High School seniors will receive their diplomas during commencement exercises slated for May 30 beginning at 2 p.m. in the high school gym. Motivational speaker Dave Norczyk is this year's guest speaker.

Ironically, a baccalaureate program, absent from the school system over the past several years, will be held this year.

Sponsored by the senior class and the Kingston Wesleyan Church, the commencement exercises slated for May 30 beginning at 2 p.m. in the high school gym.

Due to a heavy evening mony is set for May 16 at 7 p.m. at the church. Dean Lockwood, head basketball coach at Northwood University, will be the guest speaker.

Several other activities also are planned next month, including an academic awards assembly slated for Thursday at 1 p.m. at the high school.

Without Indianfields

Airport plans move ahead

Plans to form an airport authority in an effort to improve the Caro Municipal Airport will proceed, with or without the support of Indianfields Township — home of the airport.

The decision was announced Monday by members of the committee spearheading creation of the Tuscola Area Airport Authority.

An organizational meeting of the authority's board of directors has been scheduled for 7 p.m. May 12 at the Tuscola County Annex Building in Caro. The public is invited.

"This meeting will mark one of the initial steps in the ownership and operation of the Caro Municipal Airport being transferred to the Tuscola Area Airport Authority," said Jim McLoskey, executive director of the Tuscola County Economic Development Corp.

The decision to move ahead was made after the committee received some information from the Michigan Department of Transportation's Bureau of Aeronautics, according to McLoskey.

"Bureau Specialist John Wagner said, based on his interpretation of the Community Airport Act, an airport may exist outside the limits or boundaries of any of the participating units of government in the authority," he said.

The opinion is key because officials in Indianfields Township have twice formally rejected offers to join the authority.

Over the past several months, 5 units of government have voted to become initial members of the authority. Resolutions to join and financially support the effort have been adopted by the Caro, Cass City and Kingston village councils.

Erla's Food Center marks expansion

Forty years ago the Erlas purchased the Cass Frozen Food Locker, a small country grocery with frozen food lockers, and it proved to be the start of a rapidly expanding retail grocery and wholesale meat business.

The last of several expansions was completed in February with the addition of 3,000 feet that gives the business about 12,000 feet of selling area.

The addition fills a need, Erla's says, that our customers were demanding. A modern in-store deli and bakery designed to keep Cass City customers shopping in Cass City.

The deli offers meats, cheeses, homemade salads, hot entrees including chicken, cod and barbecued spare ribs. The bakery has fresh-baked breads, donuts, muffins and cakes ready for graduation, showers or other special occasions.

There will be daily lunch and dinner specials in the new deli, ready for take-out if you call your order.

As always, sausage and lunch meats are made on the premises with federal inspection.

Customer pleasing specials have been retained.

There is a 5 percent senior citizen discount Wednesdays and the third of each month. Free delivery of groceries to seniors or shut-ins within the village is available.

The wholesale meat branch of the business services over 150 stores and restaurants in the Thumb, Bay City, Saginaw and Lapeer areas.

The store owners emphasized that they appreciate the customer support that made the most recent expansion and all other expansions possible.

Area students conduct tests of Cass River water

Nineteen high schools involved in the Saginaw Basin Watershed Council's School River Monitoring Program have been conducting their spring monitoring over the past week.

Students from the participating high schools, which include Cass City High School and Kingston High School, conducted 9 standard water quality tests, including tests for pH, nitrates, phosphates, fecal coliform and dissolved oxygen.

Cass City students, under the direction of supervising teacher Nancy Weippert, tested water from the Cass River Monday afternoon.

Upon completion of the monitoring, participating schools will be assimilating their results for presentation at a River Congress, scheduled for May 15 at Saginaw High School. The event is being sponsored by the Saginaw Public Schools.

The Watershed Council will be compiling all 19 high schools' data into a comprehensive report. The report, tentatively set to be released in late June, will be available to all interested individuals and groups.

"If It Fitz...."

Thanks for the prayers

By Jim Fitzgerald

It was just over a year ago that Mary Snider's feet and legs were horribly crushed in an auto accident. One eye was pushed out of its socket. An arm was broken in 5 places. A finger was torn off. Her ribs were mangled. All her teeth were knocked out. During the awful hours immediately following the crash, it took 30 doctors to keep Mary from dying. Amputation of one leg was barely avoided. If she lived, doctors said, she'd never walk again.

Hesitantly, I asked you to pray for Mary.

And the debate began. My hesitation was because I've never been a religious person. Far from it. There are cynical days when I'm sure I'm an atheist, or at least an agnostic. But Mary, 47, is my niece, the first person to call me Uncle Jim, and I ached to do something that might help her. I managed to write:

"If prayer is answered, I don't know if it's by God, some inner spiritual force, or something blowing in the wind. I do know it surely can't hurt to seek help for yourself and others, and to live your life so as to deserve it, even if it never comes."

A few readers responded negatively. One man wrote: "If there is any kind of supreme deity, he made us all, believers and nonbelievers alike. If the God of prayer really exists, I would tell him to go to hell. No God of love would permit tiny children to suffer, the way so many do now, just because no one prayed for them."

But hundreds of you came down on the side of a prayer-aware God whose love and compassion is limited by the free will He (She) gave each person, and by exigencies that require our faith, not our understanding.

Many readers wrote directly to Mary and have remained in contact with her through many months of painful surgery and therapy. Mary was surprised and touched that so many strangers cared about her, and were praying — or pulling — for her recovery.

Last month Mary flew from her Wisconsin home to visit her parents in Michigan. Looking marvelous, she traveled alone, walking with only the aid of a cane. Mary met my 2-year-old grandson Adam for the first time. When she explained why she needed the cane, Adam folded his arms and pronounced: "Bummer."

Yes, but, according to the doctors' initial, woeful diagnosis, it was supposed to be a much bigger bummer.

The ordeal isn't over. Two more operations, arm and leg, are scheduled for this month. That will bring the number of surgeries, minor and major, to 24 or so; Mary has lost count. She frets that her hands are not healed enough to write personal notes to all the people who wrote to her.

But Mary is alive, walking, and increasingly able to resume her normal life as an active wife and mother. "Many people are a lot worse off," she said. "I'm lucky."

Does she think all those prayers to God had anything to do with her recovery? "Oh, yes, yes. It was the prayers of your readers that got me through this, I'm sure," Mary said Wednesday. "It helped me so much to read their letters and to know they cared enough to pray for me."

Mary is sure God heard you. She says thanks for the prayers. So does Uncle Jim. Mary Snider's address is 1103 Thompson Drive, Altoona, Wis. 54720.

A little of this and that as seen from the corner of Oak and Main. A bit from the national and the local scene.

First the local beef. It will be a happy day when the high school sports scene is stabilized. Right now it is a confusing situation (I almost said mess).

When schools are in the league for some sports, and not others, it's confusing for fans and sports writers. (Especially sports writers.) For instance, take Sandusky, which competes in the league in golf, but not in other sports.

Cass City's ball teams have different rules. The softball teams count only the games played in the 4-school Blue Bay League, with a tourney at the end of the season to determine the championship.

The boys count all the games played against the Blue Bay League teams and the first game of double-headers in games played against schools in the Thumb C League. Get the picture? Clearly? Congratulations.

It bugs me that some members of congress can blame that mess in Waco, Texas, where 80 persons, including 24 children, perished on Attorney General Janet Reno.

Rep. John Conyers Jr., a Detroit Democrat, says that Reno should resign. Republican Elton Gallegly accused Reno of trying to shield the president.

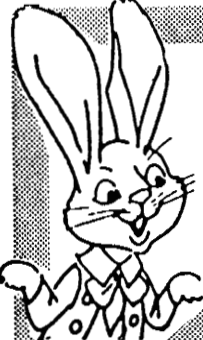

Blaming the president or the attorney general is merely trying to make political hay on an admittedly tragic event. The real blame rests with David Koresh and his blind followers. The FBI and the law enforcement people involved didn't cover themselves with glory, although they waited and waited before acting and we all paid the millions of dollars it cost.

It all boils down to politics as usual. Please pass the Maalox.

There are lots of senior citizens doing plenty to help the community. The Michigan Service to the Aging Department is looking for 2, one in the area of service and the other for leadership. They will be honored at the Michigan State Fair.

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Why burning is banned in the area when we have experienced one rain after another, was explained last week by DNR forester Kim Dufresne, who works out of the Cass City DNR office.

It's the most hazardous time of the year, Dufresne told Rotarians, because of the dead grass and debris left from winter and when strong winds are common.

The ban may be a nuisance for folks living out of the village, but not for those who live in. They can't burn at any time. The country ban is temporary and will be lifted this spring.

We walked into the Brass Lantern in Prudenville Friday. While scanning the menu, a couple at the next table asked, your first visit? Yes. You should get the Brass Lantern special plate for 2, they said. So we did.

It included about 8 ounces of steak, cod, frog legs, shrimp, perch, clams, salad bar and choice of potato. We couldn't eat it all.

The quality was good, although we asked for fish broiled and it came out with a batter on it and looked deep fried to me. The steak was top notch and the price in the high middle cost range, $24.95.

It bugged me a little that coffee was an extra buck each. Still, the joint was jumping and this is the off season, too.

We got away from trout fishing for a couple of years and returned to the streams last weekend. Nothing's changed. Lots of fishermen and no fish. Still Saturday was a gorgeous day and even though all I got was wet and hungry, the trip was a roaring success.

Thieves hit Board dealership

Thieves hit the Board Chrysler-Plymouth-Dodge Dealership in Cass City last week.

The theft of a $700 stereo cassette player from a 1993 Dodge minivan was discovered Friday morning, according to Cass City police, who reported the culprits made several other attempts to enter new vehicles at the dealership, 6617 Main St.

They went so far as to punch out the door lock on one new car, Police Chief Gene Wilson said.

No damage estimate was available. The case remains under investigation.

mission.

The jury began deliberating at 9:15 a.m. last Wednesday — the sixth day of the trial — and returned the verdict at 4:20 p.m.

The litigation stems from a 2-car fatal accident Aug. 11, 1989, about 3 1/2 miles northeast of Caro near the intersection of Colwood and George roads. Killed were Sherrie L. Sivavajchaipong, 28, of Onsted, Mich., and a passenger in her car, Chanda R. DeVore, 12, also of Onsted.

The accident led to a number of suits and countersuits, but the only cases that made it to trial were 2 charging the road commission with negligence, and both were combined in one trial.

Those cases were filed by Chanda DeVore's mother, June M. DeVore, who sought $200,000 in damages, and Sherrie Sivavajchaipong's husband, K.C. Sivavajchaipong, who sought $950,000.

The suits charged the road commission was negligent in construction and maintenance of Colwood Road.

The roadway was resurfaced some 60 days prior to the accident, according to court records, which state the road commission was accused of failing to provide proper markings on the road to indicate a no-passing zone.

Tuscola County Sheriff's Department reports state Sivavajchaipong was northbound and approaching a hill on Colwood Road when she attempted to pass another vehicle and collided head-on with a southbound vehicle driven by Larry R. Briggs of Vassar.

Reports indicate both Briggs and his passenger, Dale R. Barber of Vassar, were injured, as were 2 other young passengers in the Sivavajchaipong vehicle, Kole Sivavajchaipong, 4 at the time, and Andrew Sivavajchaipong, one.

Deputies acknowledged the lanes on Colwood Road were not marked due to the new pavement, but stated "no passing" signs were posted.

TUSCOLA COUNTY S.E.V. INCREASE PER UNIT FOR 1992 to 1993

TOWNSHIP OR CITY	VALUE INCREASE (DECREASE)	PERCENTAGE INCREASE (DECREASE)
Elkland	$2,961,900	5.36%
Ellington	593,772	4%
Elmwood	313,760	1.7%
Kingston	688,218	4.4%
Koylton	2,380,900	15.8%
Novesta	1,622,362	11.6%
Wells	1,475,000	9.1%
TOTAL OF COUNTY:	50,220,601	7.4%

Land values in Tuscola County are up by more than $100 million this year thanks to higher property assessments and plenty of new construction.

All real and personal property in the county is valued at a combined $1.45 billion, with the state equalized value (half the true cash value) set at $725,331,526, an increase of more than $50 million or 7.4 percent over 1992 levels.

The figures are outlined in the 1993 Equalization Report, which was reviewed and approved by county commissioners last week.

Topping values among the classes is residential land, assessed at $356.6 million, up 8.4 percent or $27.6 million over 1992. Agricultural land, meanwhile, is set at $243 million, up 8.35 percent or $18.7 million.

Other classes are set as follows: commercial, assessed at $49.9 million, an increase of $2.7 million (5.7 percent); industrial, assessed at $9.33 million, down by $522,675 (5.3 percent); timber cutover, assessed at $4.7 million, up by $4,000 (.09 percent); and developmental, assessed at $18,400, the same as in 1992.

The SEV of all personal property in the county is up by 2.8 percent, from $59,954,910 to $61,635,528.

Although this year's jump in land values is due largely to higher property assessments, including double digit hikes in some units, new construction also is a significant factor, according to Equalization Director Ed Karr.

That's good news, especially if Michigan voters approve a property tax reform proposal in a special election set for June 2. If that happens, the figures presented last week will be worthless and equalization officials will have to start the process all over, Karr said. Although the state tax reform proposal wouldn't affect new construction, the plan would limit assessments to about 3 percent this year.

The upcoming referendum as well as talk of another statewide property assessment freeze have county officials wondering what's going to happen.

"We're really in limbo right now," said county Controller Michael Hoagland.

He acknowledged this year's increase in land values is good news for the county, but pointed out a big hike in values doesn't automatically translate into a big hike in tax revenue.

Among the factors is the Headlee Amendment, which prohibits the county from collecting additional tax revenue above the inflation rate.

As it is, the county is just getting back to the property value levels of 1985, when values peaked at $700 million, then dove some 20 percent over the next 3 years, Hoagland noted.

On top of that, "The reality is there are 2 year's worth of SEV growth (in this year's increase) because we were frozen in 1991," he said, and the Legislature hasn't ruled out another freeze.

From a purely financial perspective, there will be implications if the property tax reform proposal is approved June 2, Hoagland said.

Property taxes would be cut and, subsequently, so would delinquent tax monies, which have become an ever important source of revenue for county operations.

The point, Hoagland summarized, is there are many factors involved.

"Don't get me wrong," he said. "We're in reasonably good financial shape, but the challenge of the board is and will continue to be keeping it that way."

Mutual Savings earnings increase

Mutual Savings Bank, f.s.b. (NASDAQ-NMS:MSBK) reported earnings of $2.89 million for 1992 and earnings of $2.15 million for the first quarter of 1993 at its annual meeting, Tuesday, April 27, at the Bay Valley Hotel and Resort.

Wendell L. Evans Jr., the firm's chairman of the board, said the bank, which converted to a public company in July 1992, issued stock at $8.75 per share and reached its high of $28.25 per share April 23.

Evans attributed the firm's success to a revised business plan which changed the bank's focus to a retail institution featuring individual and family financial services and promotion of home ownership.

In his presentation, Evans identified what he believed to be the most important achievements throughout the year and the first quarter of 1993.

The firm's conversion to a public company and retained earnings increased the bank's capital to $38 million as of Dec. 31, 1992. At the conclusion of the first quarter of 1993, the bank's stockholder equity increased to $40.6 million.

Students explore China with all of their senses

Studying another country was never so much fun.

Cass City fifth and sixth graders have been hitting the books to explore China, but their education on the topic has gone far beyond reading about it.

Students and teachers have put together a showcase filled with bits and pieces of Chinese culture, and shared stories behind each piece. Art classes, meanwhile, have created Chinese paintings, maps and flags, and students have been introduced to Chinese music and dance.

The project culminated Friday with Global Day, a special program in the gym that included students performing a Chinese ribbon dance, and a menu featuring egg rolls, egg drop soup, tea, rice and, of course, fortune cookies.

"We're trying to appeal to all their senses," commented teacher Linda Edwards. "It's much more interesting to show them something rather than tell them something, and have them participate."

"The kids are really excited. There's a tremendous amount of enthusiasm," she said. "We've had a lot of fun with it."

The project was organized by teachers who form the CLAMP group (Computer, Library, Art, Music and Physical Education), according to Edwards, who explained the coordinated effort is a component of the middle school concept.

And while the year's last big combined project ended last week, Edwards encourages members of the community to stop by the school to see the showcase created by students. Among the items on display are an incense burner from the Ming Dynasty, hand embroidered napkins, carvings, pottery, currency, antique dolls and chopsticks.

ONE EGG ROLL or 2? — Cass City fifth and sixth graders sampled egg drop soup, rice, tea and even fortune cookies Friday in the middle school gym. The meal was part of a Global Day celebration focusing on China.

Hittler 'engineer of year'

Daniel L. Hittler of Cass City has been honored with the Mid-Michigan section of the Society of Automotive Engineers' Senior Memorial Award, popularly known as "Engineer-of-the-Year."

The presentation was held in late April at a dinner-dance in Flint.

Daniel Hittler

According to new Chairman Dean R. Hagler, the purpose of the award is to give recognition and honor to SAE members who have given distinguished service to the automotive engineering profession, the automotive industry and the community. In their lives and careers, recipients have exemplified the aims, ideals and purposes of the society of automotive engineers.

The 1993 recipient earned his undergraduate and graduate degrees from the University of Detroit and is a registered professional engineer.

Hittler started his professional career at Ford Motor Corporation as a cooperative employee. He eventually transferred to American Motors Corporation, where he was involved in the fields of fuels systems engineering, powertrain engineering and exhaust emissions.

He has been honored for his design and development of engines and related control systems, primarily toward 4-cycle gasoline engines and, more recently, in the development of 2-cycle, direct injection, stratified charge engine control systems.

Hittler joined Walbro Corporation in 1986 and currently is director of administration.

He served on the SAE National Board of Directors from 1990-92 and was elected to the grade of Fellow at the 1993 Engineering

Honors Convocation in Detroit in March. Hittler and his wife, Jane, have resided in Cass City for over 6 years. The couple have 9 children and are active members of the community.

Your neighbor says

Has mixed emotions

This month and early next month, thousands of young adults will be graduating from high schools across the nation.

We asked one of them, Laura Langenburg, a senior at Cass City High School, how she feels about leaving school.

Her answer was probably typical of most graduates. She views it with mixed emotions. There is regret about leaving friends and familiar surroundings, she said, formed during the 3 years she has attended Cass City High School after transferring here from Southfield.

That's the negative. The positive is that she is looking forward to college in the fall. That will be great, she says. Langenburg has been accepted at the University of Michigan, where she will study law. She is still debating in which field to specialize. Langenburg is the daughter of Laura Langenburg of Cass City.

Petroglyphs open May 13

The Sanilac Petroglyphs, operated by the Michigan Department of State's Bureau of History, will open for the 1993 season May 13.

Located south of Bad Axe off M-53 in Sanilac County, the Sanilac Petroglyphs are among the most important prehistoric sites in Michigan.

Around a sandstone outcropping, along the North Branch of the Cass River in Sanilac County, are prehistoric carvings of a water panther, a bow hunter and oddly shaped stick-figures. These petroglyphs (rock carvings) are estimated by archaeologists to have been created 300 to 1,000 years ago.

The site contains other rock carvings made during the last century by loggers who worked the nearby timber. Visitors taking the hiking trail can see where a lumber camp was located in the late 19th century. Beavers have created an expansive dam along the trail as well as a very large beaver lodge. A tour guide is on duty Monday, May 13, through Labor Day, noon to 6 p.m. Bring along a picnic lunch and hiking shoes for an enjoyable day outdoors in Michigan's Thumb region. Admission and parking are free.

This season several special events are planned for the Sanilac Petroglyphs:

* June 13: "The Metis in 18th Century Michigan, Part I," 1-3 p.m., lecture/demonstration.

* July 18: "The Metis in 18th Century Michigan, Part II," 1-3 p.m., lecture/demonstration.

* Aug. 15: "Romancing the Stone," 1-3 p.m., interpreting petroglyphs lecture.

To reach the park turn east off M-53 onto Bay City-Forestville Road and drive 4 miles to Germania Road. Turn south on Germania Road and drive approximately one-half mile. The petroglyphs parking lot is on the west side of the road. There are no modern services provided at this rustic site. For more information telephone (517) 373-3559.

The Sanilac Petroglyphs is one of 9 field sites within the Michigan Historical Museum system.

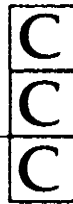

The Department of State is the official state agency responsible for preserving, protecting and interpreting Michigan history. The Department's Bureau of History administers the Michigan Historical Museum system; the State Archives of Michigan, and the archaeology, historic preservation and publications programs, including Michigan History Magazine. The Bureau is supported in its efforts by the Michigan Historical Commission, the Michigan Historical Center Foundation, the Friends of Michigan History, and the Docent Guild.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

Cass City, Michigan

NANCY LANG, Cass City, discusses her new emergency response system with Paul Herr of Response Ability Systems. Lang is the first participant in Hills and Dales General Hospital's "Stay Home - Stay Safe - Stay Well" program.

New hospital program

Emergency response

Nancy Lang hopes she never has to use her new emergency response system, but she thought she better have one just in case. Lang, a resident of Northwood Lake Condominiums, Cass City, is the first person to take advantage of Hills and Dales General Hospital's new "Stay Home - Stay Safe - Stay Well" program, which was launched at the Hospital Auxiliary luncheon April 21.

"The new program provides you with that extra security and peace of mind knowing that you or the one you love can summon emergency help at the touch of a button," said Tina Zahm, community relations director for the hospital.

Zahm explained the system involves a compact, 2-way voice base unit which is connected to both an electrical outlet and the user's phone.

"This electronic signaling device summons help in medical, police, fire or other emergencies with the push of a button," she said. "There is also a water-proof pendant ideal for showering or bathing, as well as a mobile, hand-held transmitter which can be used throughout the house."

The emergency response system works very simply. With the touch of a button, an electronic signal is sent over the phone line to a national emergency response center.

"Once the response center receives the signal, an operator will speak through the 2-way voice base unit. Even if you are unable to respond to the operator, local emergency services are instantly notified with your name, address and pertinent medical information," Zahm said.

"Hills and Dales General Hospital is excited about providing this new service to the community. The response system is ideal for senior couples, those living alone, families with children or those with special needs."

Cost of the system is $25 per month (rental fee) plus an initial installation charge of $25. A hospital representative will install the system and explain how to use the equipment.

Additional information is available by contacting Zahm at 872-2121.

Despite poor nesting season Turkey prospects good

Last summer's cold, wet weather affected more than Thumb area crops. It also took a toll on the area's turkey population.

But the prospects for spring turkey hunting are still good both locally and statewide, with DNR officials predicting Michigan hunters will exceed last year's record harvest of 11,847 birds.

In Tuscola County, where the area open to hunting has been nearly doubled in size this spring, hunters are expected to take about 40 turkeys during the combined hunting periods—April 26-May 2, May 3-12 and May 13-30.

"We've checked 7 birds so far. I think that's about as many as we checked the first month last year," said Bud Jarvis, a wildlife biologist at the DNR's Cass City Field Office.

The office checked 20 birds altogether, or about half of the area's total harvest last spring, according to Jarvis, who said hunter success is typically 12 to 15 percent.

This year's harvest is expected to be similar, although there appear to be fewer jakes, or young toms, in the population.

"The one thing that seems to be evident is that we had a very poor nesting season last summer," Jarvis said. "I think the cold, damp summer had some effect on the turkey reproduction. Most of the birds that have been taken are older toms."

Despite the setback, Jarvis added, "There was still reproduction... enough to hold our own. But we didn't see an increase."

"I think just one bad year isn't going to necessarily hurt that much."

There were an estimated 400 turkeys in Tuscola County last year, and the population is doing well, judging by the DNR's decision to expand hunting opportunities in the area.

AREA EXPANDED

Hunting Area T, previously bordered by M-53, M-46, M-81 and M-24, has been expanded to include land south to Marlette Road and west to M-15, according to Jarvis. "I would say it's almost twice as large as far as square miles."

Land south and east of Bad Axe in Huron County was recently opened to turkey hunting, and Jarvis said he expects Sanilac County to be open for hunting in a couple of years.

"I think we're on the verge of opening the whole Thumb area," he added.

Also expanding is the number of permits issued. Seventy-five public land permits were issued in Area T for each of the 3 hunting periods this spring, compared to 50 for each period last year.

"There are also 250 private land permits for the whole season," Jarvis said, noting a total of 150 private land permits were issued last spring.

Statewide, 73,000 hunters applied for turkey permits this spring and 50,000 licenses were issued, compared to 65,000 applicants and 42,000 licenses issued last year. In 1991, 50,000 hunters sought 36,000 available turkey permits.

Increasing interest in the sport as well as growing turkey numbers are contributing to record harvests, and 1993 should be no exception.

Turkey numbers in southern Michigan may not be as high as the DNR would like, said John Urbain, a DNR forest game bird specialist, "but our winter counts across the region are better than they have been in the past."

"I think we will have another record harvest," he said.

SUCCESS STORY

Michigan's growing turkey population is among the DNR Wildlife Division's biggest success stories.

The birds, which numbered an estimated 94,000 prior to settlement of the state, were wiped out by the late 1800s.

The effort to rebuild turkey numbers began in earnest in 1954 with the successful reintroduction of wild birds to the Allegan area near Kalamazoo, according to Urbain, who said the state purchased stock from Pennsylvania.

In the years that followed, birds from eggs hatched at the Mason Game Farm were released in the Mio and Baldwin areas in northern Michigan.

The first modern day hunt was held in the fall of 1965 in Allegan County. The turkey population numbered about 700 birds at the time and hunters harvested about 80.

The turkey population has really taken off over the past decade with the help of the DNR's trap-and-transfer program and the importation of wild birds from Pennsylvania, Vermont, Iowa, Missouri and Wisconsin.

At the same time, the DNR has gradually expanded areas open to hunting.

There were about 27,000 square miles open to turkey hunting last spring, Urbain said, adding that figure has been increased to 27,836 square miles this spring.

That trend is expected to continue as turkey numbers rise and the birds continue to expand their range.

AUTHOR TANYA SHPAKOW entertained the Owendale elementary students Wednesday with slides and drawings of her books, "On the Way to Christmas" and "Baba", in conjunction with the Young Authors program.

O-G pupils meet author

A Michigan author, Tanya Shpakow, and her father entertained the Owendale-Gagetown Elementary students Wednesday afternoon, April 28.

Shpakow explained how she wrote and illustrated her popular children's books, "On the Way to Christmas" and "Baba." She used slides and her own drawings to demonstrate her illustrations of her books.

To celebrate Shpakow's visit, the children brought their special teddy bears for the session. Art work throughout the school pertained to the author's books and a special teddy bear cake was presented to her from the school at a reception following her program.

RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS OFTEN CONFUSING

It used to be easy to tell when someone had rheumatism or rheumatoid arthritis. The wrists and knuckles were greatly swollen, often red and the fingers were bent to the side. Doctors do not see these changes too often any more. The illness is treated much earlier these days, usually before any of the classic signs develop and even before blood tests turn positive.

Now a person has soreness and aching of the joints, stiffness on arising in the morning and other variable symptoms that often make the person think of Lyme disease or other illnesses first.

The most common presentation of rheumatoid arthritis is joint pain slowly becoming worse over a few weeks or months. Then one joint becomes swollen, then a few more. It is most common in women—nearly three times as common as in men.

Stiffness that lasts an hour or more in the morning is a significant sign and the activity of the disease can actually be measured by how long this stiffness lasts each morning. It is also common for people to have weight loss, fatigue, weakness and aching in the muscles.

The joints that are most commonly involved are the wrists, knuckles, first finger joints, knees, shoulders, and hips. It does not normally affect the back.

Symptoms can also develop away from the joints, including nodules under the skin, lung disease, inflammation around the heart and a variety of eye problems.

May is National Arthritis Month!

Sen. Gougeon supports "A"

State Senator Joel Gougeon (R-Bay City) reiterated his support for property tax and auto insurance reform at a press conference last week.

Gougeon met with the local media in Huron County at Greenfield's prior to a speaking engagement.

"I support Proposal A because it represents a historical change in the way we finance schools, rolls back property tax assessments, caps increases and encourages economic development in Michigan,"

Gougeon said. "This proposal will also ensure the business climate in Michigan is more competitive and will provide the needed stimulus for it to expand."

Harvard University is named for John Harvard, a Massachusetts clergyman who donated money and about 400 books to create the university's library in 1639. Today, Harvard University Library is the oldest U.S. library.

Our 42nd year serving Sanilac, Tuscola and Huron Counties

GIDDY-UP — Cass City High School Principal Russell Biefer was one of 2 brave adults who joined about 30 students in participating in a donkey basketball game last Wednesday at the high school. The game, organized by senior Amy Osantowski, netted about $500 for the senior class.

FRESHMAN Corey Ulfeg prepares to sink a basket during last week's donkey basketball game, which drew 200 to 250 spectators.

Fair sponsors races

The Tuscola County Fair Board has decided to sponsor Memorial Day harness races formerly sponsored by the Caro Jaycees. These races are part of the matinee program, along with the county fairs, used to prepare young horses to race at the betting tracks. The money generated at these tracks is used to provide the state funds supporting the county fair.

The local family fair is a showplace for 4-H, FFA and FHA to recruit by showing the many activities in which they participate during the year. People of all ages have a place to exhibit their skills in crafts, gardening, flower arrangement and many other areas. The fair also gives many local organizations an opportunity to earn money to support benevolent activities.

All profits from this activity will go into a fund created to build a new training barn for harness horses. The present building needs to be replaced. Donations from organizations and individuals will be placed in this account supervised by racing supervisor and vice-president Paul Berry and the fair board. Any group or individual interested in helping should contact Paul Berry (517) 673-2411.

The races May 31 (Memorial Day) will begin at 2 p.m. at the Tuscola County Fairgrounds in Caro. The admission fee donation of $2 will cover the cost of parking and admission to the grandstand.

The Lions Club will open its concession stand serving food and drink.

and the Almer and Elkland township boards.

The authority's board of directors will be composed of 2 representatives each from Cass City and Caro, and one representative from each of the remaining participating governmental units.

Committee member L.E. Althaver said no new taxes will have to be levied to create the airport authority.

"As it stands now," he explained, "each of the governmental units involved will take money from its general fund to be used as the allocation for meeting the authority's first-year budget."

A combined $30,000 will be needed the first year, with each municipality contributing a share based on its state equalized valuation.

Once formed, the authority will be eligible to apply for state and federal grants that will pay for 95 percent of airport improvements, which are expected to include reconstruction of the facility's aging main runway, improved runway lighting and maintenance work.

It's hoped an updated airport will prove valuable in terms of future economic development in the county.

"Future improvements at the airport will be viewed positively by people who are thinking about locating a business here," McLoskey said.

The EDC head expressed hope that officials in Indianfields Township as well as other area municipalities will join the effort in the future.

are HIV positive don't know it.

"Based on these statistics, it's estimated there are 2,000 to 2,500 individuals in the Tri-City area who are HIV positive," she added.

Thursday's programs stirred up a lot of interest in AIDS education among some of the students. That pleased Marshall, who hopes to eventually transfer to the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and perhaps collect a 4-year fellowship in cardiology at the distinguished medical center.

"We're getting some incredible feedback — students coming up and talking to us and telling us what they're doing," the 1985 Cass City High School graduate said.

"(This is) preventive medicine at its best, I hope," she added. "I don't want these guys to be my patients."

Methodist banquet

A mother-daughter banquet was held at Trinity United Methodist Church, Cass City, May 1.

Following a salad buffet, the tribute to daughters was given by Cathy Cooper and the tribute to mothers by Christine Sheppard.

Flower Fashions were modeled by Michelle Derfiny, Holli Cooper, Christine Sheppard, Megan and Mallory Powell, Kaylene Ziehm and Erin and Amanda Salcido.

A quilt show was presented by Hope Gallagher of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Chairwoman Pam Powell served as mistress of ceremonies.

4 others arraigned in district court

Two charged in string of area break-ins

Two of 3 men suspected in a string of break-ins in the Cass City and Gagetown areas were arraigned last week in Tuscola County District Court.

Michael W. Swoffer, 20, of Mayville, and David H. Moore, 27, of Cass City, each face 4 counts each of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny and larceny in a building.

Court records state the pair are accused of:

—breaking into a residence at 6327 Brenda Dr., Cass City, Dec. 30, and stealing an electric guitar with case and a replica revolver.

—breaking into a residence at 4897 Northwood

Circle, Cass City, Jan. 12, and stealing money, guns, a VCR, TV and camera.

—breaking into a residence at 4242 Woodland Ave., Cass City, Jan. 13, and stealing a rifle, VCR and money.

—breaking into a residence at 6708 Lincoln St., Gagetown, Jan. 23, and stealing shotguns and a VCR.

In addition, Moore is charged with breaking into a house at 3120 Phillips Rd., Cass City, March 19.

Swoffer, meanwhile, also faces one count of possession of marijuana Feb. 6 in Ellington Township. A pretrial hearing in the case is set for May 11 at 9 a.m.

Bond was set at a combined

$110,000 for Moore and $25,000 for Swoffer. Both men face preliminary examinations Friday morning.

Investigators are seeking a third suspect in the break-ins.

In other recent district court arraignments:

•Janna M. Wescoat, 20, Tuscola, and Julie A. Wescoat, 18, Tuscola, face charges in connection with an April 25 incident in Tuscola Township.

Janna Wescoat is charged with assault with a dangerous weapon (motor vehicle), resisting and obstructing a police officer, and being drunk and disorderly. Her bond was set at $2,000.

Bond was set at $1,000 for Julie Wescoat, who faces charges of resisting and obstructing a police officer, being drunk and disorderly, and assault or assault and battery.

Preliminary exams in both cases are slated for Friday morning.

•Shannon D. Welch, 17, of Vassar, faces 2 counts of first degree and one count of second degree criminal sexual conduct, breaking and entering a building with intent to commit larceny and larceny in a building.

The first 3 counts alleged sexual penetration or contact with a child under the age of 13 years last January and March in Vassar, according to court records, which state the remaining charges stem from a break-in of a CMS service station in Vassar April 17 and the theft of cigarettes, food and candy.

Bond was set at a combined $50,000 and a preliminary exam scheduled for Friday morning.

•Julie E. Crowton, 23, Bad Axe, faces one count of embezzlement. Court records state she allegedly converted a speaker phone to her own use while employed at Wal-Mart in Caro Feb. 28.

Bond was set at $8,000. A preliminary exam was slated for 9 a.m. May 14.

•Kirk I. Pero, 22, Vassar, is charged with unlawful use of a motor vehicle, failure to report an accident and driving while his license was suspended or revoked Nov. 3 in Vassar Township.

Bond was set at $3,000 and a preliminary exam was scheduled for Friday morning.

Picnic packing tips offered

The Michigan Department of Agriculture provides these picnic packing tips: for hot food, wrap the dish in several layers of newspaper before placing in a styrofoam cooler; for cold dishes, place in a styrofoam cooler with ice or blue gel cold packs. Freeze iced tea and lemonade in plastic containers and freeze small boxes of juice; they thaw on your way to the picnic site (before freezing a liquid, make sure there's some space at the top to allow for expansion).

SHADES CAN DO more than protect the eyes. Sometimes they can be used to catch a quick 40 winks with no one being the wiser. Little Roslyn Furness was caught doing her thing at Rawson Memorial Library recently. Mother is Tina Furness of Cass City.

5 YEARS AGO

Tuscola County's third consecutive drop in state equalized valuation means the county will have some $80,000 less in property tax revenue to work with in 1989.

Tuscola County residents won't be seeing any Sheriff's Department patrol vehicles on the road beginning May 14, when the patrol will shut down in accordance with budget cuts approved by county commissioners last week.

The Golden Rule Class of Salem United Methodist Church met Thursday evening for a potluck supper in the fellowship hall. Vice-president Mrs. Betty Greenleaf conducted the business meeting.

Nearly 300 persons attended a talent show staged by the chorus at Cass City High School Friday. Co-winners Wendy Wheeler and Mindy Fulcher each received $50.

Local and state health department officials are urging area residents to have their dogs and cats vaccinated against rabies in an effort to curb an outbreak of the disease in southeastern Tuscola County.

10 YEARS AGO

Jack Brinkman received serious injuries Thursday when a hinged cultivator wing, which weighs between 1,200 and 1,500 pounds, fell on him after the hydraulic cylinder malfunctioned.

Joe Gruber was guest of honor Friday evening at a dinner given by his fellow Cass City employees to celebrate his retirement. Gruber started working for the village in 1966.

Members of Tyler Lodge No. 317, Free and Accepted Masons, celebrated the lodge's 110th anniversary Friday evening at the Masonic Temple in Cass City. The oldest past masters present were Fred Pinney, 1930; Curtis Hunt, 1937; Warren Wood, 1934, and Rev. Melvin Vender, a life member, who has been a Mason since 1918.

The cars of 6 Cass City Intermediate School teachers were damaged during an open house at the school Tuesday.

25 YEARS AGO

FREE WATER TESTS FOR LEAD AND COPPER

The Village of Cass City Water Department is looking for:

- * single-family houses built between 1982 and 1988 with copper plumbing with lead solder connections or
- * older single-family houses with lead water service lines or
- * older houses with copper plumbing installed between 1982 and 1988

YOUR COOPERATION IS NEEDED

The US Environmental Protection Agency is requiring all water departments to test for lead and copper in their water systems beginning in July 1993.

According to the Federal Environmental Protection Agency, the primary source of lead in your house's water comes from lead pipes, faucets and lead solder used on copper pipes inside the house. Lead has not been detected in the village water system.

If your house has plumbing as described and you are interested in participating in our lead testing program, please call our office at 872-2911 before May 14th. The first 20 houses will be tested free for lead and copper content.

Now 7-1 on the year

Bulldogs sweep Ubly and North Branch Wesleyan

The Owen-Gage softball team prepared for the start of North Central Thumb League play last week by sweeping both Ubly and North Branch Wesleyan.

The Bulldogs, now 7-1 on the year, were scheduled to open conference play Monday against Carsonville-Port Sanilac before traveling to Caseville Thursday.

Last Thursday, Coach Dean Roller's squad used some timely hitting to turn back visiting Ubly in the initial game, 7-6.

Michelle Tkacz went the distance in the opener, striking out 2 and allowing just 3 hits to keep her personal mark unblemished at 4-0. Denise Cook was on the mound for the Bearcats and fanned 4 in defeat.

Trailing 4-2, Owen-Gage scored 3 times in their half of the 3rd inning to capture a lead they would never relinquish.

Senior Carli Salcido paced the winners at the plate with a single and triple in 4 at bats.

In the nightcap, after spotting the visitors to a 3-0 lead, the Bulldog bats came alive to register a 14-10 victory.

Southpaw Salcido was on the mound for the winners and bested Sue Peruski. Salcido allowed 6 hits and whiffed 5 to notch her 3rd decision of the campaign.

The Bulldogs used a big 6th inning, scoring 6 times, to enter the win.

Six different Bulldogs lashed out hits in the contest.

Collecting one hit each for the winners, that resulted in 2 RBIs, were Lori Ondrajka, Angie Wildman, Melody Abfalter and Deb Powers.

NBW GAMES

The Bulldogs traveled to North Branch earlier in the week, Monday, and came away with both ends of a twin bill.

The 'Dogs gained the first game by the score of 12-6 and ran away with the nightcap, 21-5.

Tkacz faced 34 batters, striking out 6, en route to the opening game win.

Tkacz enjoyed the rewards of a 14 hit attack that included 3 each by Salcido, Jill Susalla and Wildman.

Susalla's work at the plate accounted for 5 RBIs, including 2 in the 6th frame that helped stretch the winners' lead to 9-2.

Owen-Gage scored early and often in the nightcap and disposed of the hosts in 5 innings, 21-5.

The visitors built a lead of 15-1 by the end of the 2nd frame and coasted to victory.

Salcido was on the mound for the Bulldogs and was given credit for the win despite walking 7.

The winners collected 16 hits. Susalla and Wildman each enjoyed a 4 hit performance at the plate.

CONVERGING ON A ground ball in the Bulldogs' 7-6 win over Ubly Thursday are pitcher Michelle Tkacz and catcher Lori Ondrajka. In the background is first baseman Carli Salcido.

Kingston receives grant

The Michigan Department of Commerce recently approved a Michigan Community Development Block Grant (CBDG) Program grant in the amount of $23,750 for the Village of Port Hope, and $17,000 for the Village of Kingston, Representative Dick Allen (R-Caro) and Senator Joel Gougeon (R-Bay City) announced recently. These funds will be used for a rural comprehensive planning study in the Thumb of Michigan.

The planning efforts will be spearheaded by a new regional economic development organization, the Thumb Area Partnership (T.A.P.). The partnership is comprised of the Huron County Economic Development Corporation, the Lapeer Development Corporation, Sanilac Economic GROWTH, the Tuscola Economic Development Corporation, and Detroit Edison.

The project will combine a series of initiatives that will enhance the role of economic development in the region. Among the projects to be undertaken is the development of an electronic bulletin board of technology and information transfer to local businesses, research in tourism marketing, and a series of economic development conferences targeted at local elected officials and community leaders.

O-G 2-4 after dropping 2 at North Branch

The Owen-Gage baseball team dropped a non-conference twin bill last week at North Branch Wesleyan and plummeted to 2-4 overall heading into this week's North Central Thumb League action.

The Bulldogs were to have faced Carsonville-Port Sanilac Monday before traveling to tangle with the Caseville Eagles Thursday. Coach Brian Wright's squad opened the season defeating the Eagles - in a strange scheduling quirk - in a contest that did not count on either team's NCTL record.

To prevail again on Thursday, however, the Bulldogs will need to find a way to score some runs.

After being shut out in both games of a doubleheader at USA in their last outing, the 'Dogs managed to tally only 3 runs in each game at North Branch, losing 4-3 in the opener and 11-3 in the nightcap.

Mike Tkacz was the victim of little support in the opener and was tagged with the loss. Tkacz gave up 3 hits, walked 2 and fanned 6.

The Bulldogs collected 7 hits in the contest, including a 3-3 showing from Tkacz, who scored twice for the losers.

Trailing 4-2 in their final at bats, Tkacz opened the frame with a single and would account for the visitors' final run as the Bulldogs went down in order to end the game.

In the nightcap, Wesleyan grabbed a 5-2 lead in the 2nd frame and would never be headed.

Nathan Forro was on the mound for the Bulldogs and suffered the loss. He was relieved by Jason Karr, who struck out 2 and issued 3 free passes.

Again it was Tkacz showing the way at the plate for the visitors, collecting a single and double in 3 trips to the plate. Tkacz also stole 2 bases and scored 2 runs.

WOODED ACREAGE: A Real, Live Investment

Treat Your Timber Like A Good Investment

If you're like most property owners, your land is a major investment. And, like your other investments, it should be managed carefully and intelligently to meet your goals today and to ensure that its value continues to increase over the years.

Your Assets May Actually Be Shrinking In Value

Too many landowners believe that their valuable timberland is like money in the bank: All they have to do is sit back, watch it grow, and cash in at their convenience. They're wrong! A forest is a living, breathing thing...dynamic and always changing. And not always changing for the better. Forests are subject to the forces of nature. And wind, fire, ice storms, insects or disease can wipe out a forest in a very short time. The forest also ages. And, as the old trees reach maturity and cease to grow, they become more vulnerable to disease and damage and, inevitably and often unnoticed, decay sets in. Now, not only are these trees decreasing in value, but their very presence inhibits any new growth beneath the dying canopy.

Timber Harvesting Pays Dividends

Aside from the obvious economic returns, periodic cutting helps ensure that a forest remains healthy and productive. Removing the mature trees allows the younger trees to grow and thrive in an environment where they face less competition for water and sunlight. As a result, the new growth is often stronger, healthier...and even more valuable at maturity...than anything the old forest produced. Understanding and applying good forestry management principles are key to any good land management plan; and that plan should include professional assessment of the character and value of the wooded acreage.

Call Whittaker Timber Corporation Today

Let us help you determine the value of the timber on your property and help you plan ways to make the most out of this important asset...now and far into the future. Our company has been contracting for timber sales for over thirty years, and we enjoy a strong reputation for fairness and the ability to accurately assess the value of unharvested timber.

LeValley rips 2 homers

Red Hawks power, pitch way to 5 victories during week

An opposing pitcher was asked, back in the days of Ted Williams, the hall of famer who played for Boston, what the slugger's weakness was at the plate. The succinct, classic reply: singles.

A couple of high school pitchers probably felt the same way about Greg LeValley, who blasted long over-the-fence drives during the week as the Cass City Red Hawks rolled to 5 straight victories to remain undefeated in the Blue Bay League (5-0) and 10-1 for the season.

The winning week started Monday, April 26, against visiting Sandusky. The Hawks won 8-0 in the first game, that counted in the league standings, behind the combined shutout hurling of Bill Graham and Ben Schott. Graham went the first 4 and allowed 2 hits. Schott went the last 3 and did not allow a hit. Jamie Franzel went the distance for the Redskins and took the loss.

Meanwhile the Hawks pounded out 7 hits and put the game away with a 4-run fourth inning to move ahead 7-0. Al Prosowski had 2 hits for the Hawks.

The Hawks won the nightcap, 7-6, behind sophomore Jim Hempton, with 2 innings of relief help from senior Rich Kubacki. Big hits in the game were picked up by LeValley, who drove in a pair, and John Phillips, who drove in 2 in the 6th inning rally that won the game.

KINGSTON GAMES

The first of LeValley's long blasts came in story-book fashion in a tight game with Kingston Tuesday. With the score tied in the last inning he pinch-hit and stroked the ball over the fence to win it, 6-5. Schott, who came on in relief of Paul Ulfing with one out in the fifth, got the win.

Kingston's Harrington deserved a better fate, as he allowed just one other hit besides the circuit blast.

Cass City won the second game, 6-4, with Mike Kubacki getting the win with relief help from Rich Kubacki, who came in to get the last 2 outs via strikeouts. McLaughlin took the loss. Prosowski got 2 hits for Cass City and McLaughlin and Taylor, 2 hits each for the Cardinals.

LAKER GAME

The Hawks bounced back into league competition at Laker High Thursday and LeValley got the Hawks off on the right foot with his second long blast. This one was hit on a line in left field and the only question was would it remain fair. It did and Cass City went on from there to score 6 runs in the inning and an easy 9-4 decision.

LeValley pitched the first 4 innings, allowing 6 hits and 3 runs. Graham pitched the fifth and allowed 2 hits and a run. Dan Muska picked up 2 hits, as did Ulfing and LeValley. LeValley drove in 2 runs. Esch and Greyerbiehl had 2 hits each for the Lakers.

The second game was rained out.

RED HAWK GREG LeValley receives congratulations from Coach Doug Hall after homering in the second inning Thursday at Lakers. Cass City went on to register a 9-4 win.

Beautiful!

Sunny skies greet Gavel tourney golfers

Thirty 4-man teams competed under sunny skies Saturday in the 12th annual Gavel Club golf tournament held at Cass City's Rolling Hills Golf Course.

The team of Tim Hallwood, Dan Correll, Clark Erla and Jack Schelke recorded a score of 10 under par to best the field.

Finishing second in the scramble format tournament were teammates Bob Buckley, Jeff Hartel, Eric Wilmore and Ralph Retherford, who posted a score of 61 on the par 70 track.

Placing third was the team of Don Ouvry, Jerry Degebeck, Bob Middaugh and Pete Renaud. Fourth place honors went to golfers Mike Lyon, Steve Clever, Pat McGee and Phil Retherford. Both foursomes posted a score of 62.

Also shooting an 18-hole score of 62 was the team of Tom McAlpine, Ace Stuart, Fran Varty and Ken Wellock, along with players Bill Weibel, Terry Haske, Jack Hool and Jim Mastie, who took the final 2 places, respectively.

Kelly pitches 2 no-hitters

Softball team chalks up 5 wins

The Cass City Red Hawks softball team chalked up 5 games in the win column last week, one of which counted in Blue Bay League competition.

The wins came easily as the Hawks combined lusty hitting with some good pitching in every game.

Heather Kelly started the winning spurt with her first of 2 no-hitters, in a 13-0 decision over Sandusky Monday, April 26. She walked 5 and struck out 12. Her work was made easy as the Hawks pounded out 7 runs in the second inning to ice the game. Jodi LaRoche and Jenny Storm each collected 3 hits.

Jennifer Fruendt racked up the win in the nightcap, 12-6, allowing 3 hits while walking 7. The winning run was pushed across in the 7th on a single by Jodi LaRoche and a 2-out hit by Fruendt.

Tuesday the Hawks bested Kingston in a doubleheader.

Kelly pitched one of her finest games in that, along with allowing one-hit and striking out all but one batter, she did not walk a hitter. The game was called after 5 innings by the mercy rule with Cass City ahead, 17-0. Kelly collected 2 hits and Stacey Klinkman drove in 3 runs.

Fruendt picked up the win in the nightcap, 13-2, in another game called after 5 innings. She walked one, struck out 13 and allowed 4 hits. Klinkman again showed the way at the plate with 2 hits.

LAKER GAME

Cass City returned to Blue Bay League competition Thursday and defeated the Lakers, 8-5. Kelly pitched her second no-hitter of the week but had control trouble, walking 12 in the 7-inning game. She struck out 14. Errors hurt the Hawks in this game and 3 of the Laker runs were unearned.

Jenny Storm paced the attack with 3 hits.

The 2 no-hitters were the second and third of the season for Kelly. The Chroicle failed to give her credit for a no-hitter in a game previously against Bad Axe. Cass City now is 3-1 in the Blue Bay League and 7-2 overall.

Girls split, boys lose track meets

Cass City girls split 2 track meets, winning a close 64-63 decision over Vassar last Tuesday before losing decisively to powerhouse Bad Axe, 105-47, Thursday.

The Hawks scored firsts in 5 events against the Hatchets, led by Jennifer Romstad with wins in both hurdle events.

Against Vassar, Andrea Cooper was a double winner of individual events, taking the long jump and the 100-yard dash.

Cass City's first place finishes were:

CASS CITY-BAD AXE

Long Jump - Andrea Cooper.
100 Hurdles - Jennifer Romstad.

BOYS' RESULTS

The Cass City boys lost a pair of meets last week. Bad Axe overpowered the Hawks, 120-43, Tuesday and Vassar also won easily, 91-46, Thursday.

Grigg was a powerhouse point producer for the Hatchets, winning the 100 and 200-meter dashes, the long jump and running a leg on the 400-meter relay.

Firsts for Cass City against the Hatchets were recorded by Domonick Vargo in the 400-meter (:51.98) and by Joe Luana in the high jump (5 feet, 10 inches).

Vargo and Luana also won the same 2 events against Vassar. Other firsts recorded against the Vulcans were by Barry Hornbacher in the 1600-meter (5:0) and the 3200-meter (11:07.5), and the 1600-meter relay with Mike Sherman, Jeff Mathewson, Dan Sherman and Vargo (3:46.1).

Sparks

Can a car start a wildfire? Yes. Sparks from an improperly tuned engine or an overheated catalytic converter can start a wildfire, especially when the car is parked or driven over grassy areas.

RANDY HAUK, operations manager of the Cass City-Mercy Ambulance Service, holds a radio recently purchased with a $300 donation from the Cass City Lions Club, represented above by John Maharg. The new equipment gives ambulance personnel bedside communication with the hospital, Hauk said.
