

Fact finding set for ISD - union

Representatives of the Tuscola Intermediate Board of Education and the Tuscola Intermediate Education Association (MEA/TCBA) met with fact finder Gerald E. Granadier June 14 in Flint for a pre-hearing conference.

As a result of the meeting, the fact-finding date has been set for July 13 at 9 a.m. in the Flint MEA Building.

Ten unresolved issues remain, including items related to both working conditions and compensation.

Both parties will present their current position on each item with supporting data to the fact finder, who will present a written opinion at a later date.

Hopefully, this will provide the basis for a settlement for the year-old negotiations stalemate between the ISD board and the education association, said Ron Laeder, communications chairman for the ISD education association. He added teachers have worked without a contract since Aug. 21.

A proposal to make the fact finder's recommendations binding on both parties was presented to the ISD board at their May meeting by Kathy Daniels, president of the intermediate education association. At this point, no reply has been received from the board of education regarding this request, Laeder said.

DNR starts soil and water probe at Gagetown plant

An investigation to determine the extent of soil and groundwater contamination at the former Evans Engineered Products Co. plant in Gagetown is underway. Daniel G. Argentati, project manager, and John P. McKenna, geologist, both of ABB Environmental Services Inc., Farmington Hills, a state contractor hired by the DNR, arrived at the site Monday.

Argentati and McKenna started by locating 15 existing monitoring wells around the plant, and then checking water levels and taking samples to be analyzed.

The testing will determine whether the wells, installed several years ago, are still in good shape, said Michael R. Jury, environmental quality manager with the DNR's Environmental Response Division, Saginaw Bay District Office, Bay City.

Jury, who was also at the Gagetown plant Monday, explained the purpose is to determine if there's a need for new monitoring wells, although he noted it's likely 2 or more additional wells will be installed regardless.

Also planned during the week-long investigation is removal of barrels that remain in the plant building. Some of the barrels are labeled hazardous waste, but officials are uncertain what is being stored in the containers.

Jury estimated it will take about a month to compile a report on this week's investigation. The information, he said, will be used to determine the appropriate clean-up measures at the now-closed Gagetown plant.

This week's investigation was made possible by $300,000 recently received by the DNR through the Michigan Environmental Response Act, which provides monies for environmental response activities at sites where contaminated soils, exposed barrels or lagoons, or contaminated drinking water exists.

The former Evans plant has been on the list of Michigan sites of environmental contamination for several years, according to DNR officials, who say the site was contaminated through normal plant operations.

A DNR investigation in the late 1980s revealed groundwater at the plant had been contaminated with paint solvents.

EXPECTED TO APPLY

Officials in the 3 Thumb counties are expected to apply for emergency haying and grazing of set aside acres idled under the United States Department of Agriculture's commodity programs.

Gould said he plans to get together with county ASCS officials this week in an effort to estimate the loss and request that the USDA allow eligible farmers to recoup some of their losses by harvesting set aside acres before Sept. 1.

The USDA has already approved emergency haying and grazing in 12 counties in the central and northern regions of the lower peninsula due to poor growing conditions in the state last year coupled with severe winterkill of alfalfa stands last winter.

County ASCS offices must document a shortage of feed availability and reduced hay and pasture production in 1993 to be approved for emergency provisions.

Despite problems with this year's hay, extension officials say other Thumb crops are looking good.

"Now, if we can get some heat units and some sunshine, that will speed things along," Swartzendruber remarked.

"I'm pleased with the sugar beets, I'm pleased with the corn, and the majority of soybeans look impressive," Nagelkirk said. The only discouraging note, he added, is farmers are still planting a few soybeans and a little corn, and it's getting

Plan athletic field improvements

$88,000 payment aids school budget

An expected $47,000 operating deficit for Cass City Schools in 1992-93 has been turned into an unexpected $49,000 surplus, Supt. Ken Micklash told the school board at its regular meeting Monday night at the school.

This happy turn of events comes from adjustment payments from the state of $44,000 in transportation funds for both this school year and 1991-92.

The additional funds will be added to the school's fund balance, which will now be in the neighborhood of $760,000 when final figures are compiled by the auditor.

Total expenditures for 1992-93 are now projected at $6,129,980, an increase of $158,614. Expenditures for 1991-92 totaled $5,971,366.

The board also adopted a budget for the next school year to meet law requirements, but it is meaningless because it is merely the same figures as the previous year. When state revenues become known, it will be revised.

ROLL BACK

Normally the district receives 9 allocated mills as its share of the basic 15-mill tax revenue, which is divided among the school, county and townships, but due to the Headlee amendment an increase in valuation will require a roll back in the school millage to 8.8875. Micklash estimates that it will cost the district nearly $18,000 in extra revenues.

ATHLETIC PLANS

Athletic Director Don Schelke unveiled a multi-faceted plan for improvements of the school's athletic facilities. Payment for most of the changes will not come from the school's operating funds.

With the help of funds given in memorial to Betty Retherford and from the Cass City Lions Club, a new electronic scoreboard and fencing around the baseball field will be erected.

Final improvements in the new community-supported track will be completed. A hard surfaced runway will be added to the high jump, pole vault and long jump areas. When these projects are completed, Schelke said, Cass City will be in line to host Class C regional track meets (Class D regionals were already held here this year). With the new fence, we will be able to host baseball regional meets. What we will have is a facility as fine as any in the state, Schelke said.

Other items needed by the athletic department will be a volleyball net and repair of the wrestling mat.

One of 2 changes suggested in school policy will involve the athletic department. It will be an increase in gate prices next year. If approved as expected, admission prices at the gate will be $3.00 for adults. Pre-sale for students will probably remain at $2.00, judging by the board's reaction. The suggestion was to raise the pre-sale prices to $2.50.

Other rates will be full family passes to all events $95, plus $5 more for each child older than 5 years. Individual season passes will be $65. A pass for fall or winter only will be 50 percent of the cost. The new rates are $5 higher than those paid this school year.

Prices for Middle School activities were increased 50 cents each to $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students except for football, which will

Winterkill hurts yields

Weather delays hay crop harvest

Thumb farmers are getting a slow start on the first hay cutting of the season, according to cooperative extension service officials, who say alfalfa winterkill losses are high this year.

A recent string of summer-like days gave farmers a brief window in which to get started on the hay crop, but weekend rains put a damper on the harvest.

"We're a couple of weeks behind where we'd like to be," said Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Director Martin Nagelkirk. "We're starting to get some hay down, but we're really just getting nicely started."

"I would guess a pretty small fraction of the hay has been put down."

In Tuscola County, agricultural agent Kevin Gould offered a similar report, saying there hasn't been a lot of progress so far. However, he noted forecasts calling for warm, dryer weather this week are promising.

Gould estimated close to 10 percent of the Tuscola County crop has been harvested, with a majority being chopped for silage.

Huron County farmers are also behind, according to extension Agricultural Agent Roger Swartzendruber, who pointed out officials typically like to see the first cutting off by the end of May.

Nagelkirk said yields are expected to be good in fields that survived the winter. The bad news, however, is that many fields sustained extensive damage.

WINTER INJURY

"We had severe winter injury," he said. "I would say 30 to 50 percent of our fields lost a substantial amount of alfalfa."

Yields will be cut substantially on fields that were hurt, Nagelkirk said, adding he's not optimistic about the second cutting on those fields because lost alfalfa is replaced by weeds. The combination can produce forage in a pinch, but it's far from ideal.

The hardest hit areas were those which are poorly drained, Nagelkirk continued. A number of factors contribute to winterkill, including periods of freezing and thawing, ice sheeting and flooding, he said.

"This year I'm not sure; I think our poor weather last year predisposed us to alfalfa damage. Over here we were very wet. . . the entire season."

Several factors hurt this year's alfalfa, Gould concurred. He added last year's growing conditions along with a delayed spring stressed the crop, with older seedlings hit particularly hard.

"We haven't gotten a number yet, but I'm thinking in the 30 to 40-percent range," he said of the amount of damage in the county.

Similar reports are coming in from Huron County. "There is a considerable amount of winterkill out there," said Swartzendruber, who estimated 40 to 50 percent of the crop has been hurt.

"It's the mature stands that have been affected," he explained. "Yields, of course, are going to be down on those fields, and some fields will be lost."

However, Swartzendruber added, new stands are looking pretty good, and those fields should yield a good first cutting, and "the second

SAFETY IS NO ACCIDENT — That was the message during a Farm Safety Day Camp, held Thursday at the fairgrounds in Caro. The message, aimed at 54 youths ages 9 to 12 years, was driven home with a simulated accident and rescue (above) involving a combine. The exercise was a grim reminder of a similar accident that claimed the life of a Caro area farmer last year.

Unveil $2.4 million school renovation, addition plan

Supt. Ken Micklash unveiled to the Cass City School Board Monday night his new plan for the renovation of the Cass City Middle School building and new construction west of the Campbell Elementary Building at a maximum cost of $2.4 million dollars.

He said that the entire project could be financed for a levy of 1.92 mills for 15 years. Our Middle School building has been very well maintained and if we renovate it now, we can avoid a $7 to 8 million project later. If this plan is adopted, no new buildings will be needed for another generation, Micklash believes.

Cass City taxpayers have been paying over a mill for the present buildings most of the years since the high school was built, Micklash points out, and this year the building will be paid off, so the new building tax will be little more than has been paid in the past.

Micklash said that he would like to have the issue placed before the voters early this fall.

The extensive renovation would include removal of all wood floors and replacing them with tile. New doors and locks and suspended ceilings along with safety treads on the stairways are needed.

An elevator will be installed to meet the needs of the handicapped, and the restrooms renovated.

The present gym would be converted into 2 classrooms and the 4 rooms on the third floor converted to 3 larger rooms. The building would be completely rewired. For this project, Micklash said, we can secure bids from area contractors rather than submit the complete job to a general contractor. This phase of the work is estimated at $1.2 million.

NEW CONSTRUCTION

The new construction will be the addition of a building to house a new Middle School gym with locker facilities and related equipment together with 4 new classrooms. It will be west of the Campbell building, where it can be used with the elementary building in the years ahead, Micklash explained.

The gym floor will be just slightly smaller than one of the basketball floors in the high school. This cost is also estimated at $1.2 million.

YOUR FEET

THAT THICK TOENAIL MAY BE "ALIVE"

Infections caused by fungus are among the most common toenail afflictions. According to recent research, one out of every four persons over the age of 30, and three out of four over the age of 60 are afflicted.

A fungus nail is caused by living parasitic fungi or yeasts, all of which grow as "Ringworm" on the toenails. They may appear thick, lusterless and raised from the nail bed.

Since this condition is painless, the average person may pay no attention to the disease process. To ignore the condition may be to compound the danger. The infected nails become an ever present site from which more severe symptoms such as athlete's foot may develop.

The danger lurks that the fingernails may become infected when the sufferer touches his toes.

For information or treatment of this condition, or any foot problems, call the physicians at Northeastern Foot Clinic.

Another report has been intercepted from Gernithu, the space traveler sent to study life on Planet Earth, to his commander. It said, in part:

Humans are generally larger than we are. However, they come in a variety of sizes, colors and shapes. The most admired females seem to be those made of the least substance.

Many of them appear on the image boxes that humans watch in their living quarters, and in their printed materials. They try to persuade the humans to trade their $, which humans value very highly, for certain objects, which they hold or point at, and appear to get pleasure from.

The females who do this usually have very little substance, and they cover it with less clothing than most humans.

Male humans enjoy studying these under-sized females. I do not know why it is so. There are a large number of females who have much more substance to study. The males who observe the under-sized females most closely are often much larger, especially in the middle part.

Many of the males have smooth, shiny top parts which are not covered with hair, as is the human custom. I have not learned the significance of this.

Older females try to disguise themselves by putting various substances on their faces, changing the color of their hair, and forcing body parts into constricting garments.

More study is required on this subject.

In a previous report, I told of the choosing of a new human leader.

I have since learned that there are 2 leaders. They both live in the same house. There seems to be some significance to the fact that it is white. One leader is a male human called Clinton, and the other is a female called Hillary. I do not know which is the more powerful leader.

The humans in this part of earth also have a governing group that meets near the house where Clinton and Hillary live. They are called reps and sens. They spend much time quarreling about the $ that are so important to humans.

It seems the governing group has promised many $ to other groups of humans, although it does not actually have any $. The only $ it gets come from the humans that choose the reps and sens, and they do not want to give them any more $.

The humans believe that the reps and sens have not been wise in the use of their $ and they would like to keep and use the $ themselves.

The reps and sens belong to 2 different groups that do not get along well. This makes it very hard to get work done, because they spend more time quarreling than solving problems, which is what they are supposed to do.

For simple life forms, the humans have very complicated habits.

I will continue to observe and report.

Respectfully,
Gernithu

"If It Fitz...."

I wouldn't have it any other way

By Jim Fitzgerald

For Father's Day, I'm remembering that when I was young, people were always telling me how much I looked like my father. At 21, I was required to prove my age to a bartender in the scummiest saloon in St. Clair County.

My mother would have fainted if she'd known I went inside such a rotten place. After inspecting my driver's license, the bartender said: "You look just like your dad. He comes in here all the time."

In those days, I couldn't see any great resemblance, but I sure can today. It's spooky when I catch an unexpected glimpse of my reflection in a window or mirror. For a gasping second, I think it's

Dad. I have aged to the point where I look exactly like he does in my freshest memories of him, during the last few years of his life.

He was retired then and did volunteer driving for physically handicapped people. Usually he drove them from their home to the doctor or the grocery store, and usually he got lost. Once, after Dad had to ask his passenger how to get where they were going, he proudly reported to me: "I am the first man in history to ask a blind man for directions."

Dad died 30 years ago. My earliest memories of him stretch back to the Great Depression, in the 1930's. Speaking of stretching, my mother was a famous stretcher. She won fame by stretching food money further than any other mother in the neighborhood.

My father gave her the money, a few dollars every week. Mother had to feed from 4 to 7 mouths with that money, depending upon the year. We were a growing family during the Depression, but the food allowance was not increased every time there was another baby. Mother simply stretched the dollars further.

At least, that's what she claimed.

Our family ate well, and Mother's friends often asked how she could possibly provide so much food on so little money. She would take a modest bow and admit it wasn't easy. It took careful planning and exhaustive shopping, she said.

This was not true, according to Dad. He said Mother stretched her food dollars so far by using the "skip-in" method of shopping.

"She phones me at work every day and tells me to skip into the grocery store on my way home and pick up a loaf of bread and a roast of beef," he said. "Every time I skip in a store, I pay for the food out of my weekly allowance. I never get paid back.

"She spends her food money on trips to Europe. I skip in and buy all the food. If more American wives shopped the skip-in way, there would be more American wives in Europe, which would make this a better country to live in."

Speaking of food, let's speed ahead about 60 years to just the other evening when my 35-year-old son stopped by my home unexpectedly, carrying my favorite snack, a Lafayette Coney Island hot dog. "I'll warm this up for you," he said magnanimously, slipping the dog into the toaster oven while I watched hungrily.

But he didn't slip the hot dog out of its plastic foam container. In a couple of minutes my never-to-be-eaten favorite snack was covered with gooey white glop.

"You are as dumb as your father," I told my son, and I laughed with him the same way I used to laugh with his grandfather.

My son was named after my father, as I was named after my father's father. People say my son looks like me. He's getting married next month and....

Obviously, my Father's Day moral is immortality. You can't have it without also having children. The laughs are a bonus.

To each his own, but I wouldn't have it any other way.

Women's council airs meet

The St. Pancratius Women's Council held its June meeting in the parish hall. Donna Wischmeyer said the opening prayer.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Nina Davis, president, reminded the women to work on craft projects during summer months for the bazaar in September. A meeting will be held in August to discuss plans for the event.

The women voted to give $100 towards Cass City's July 4th festivities.

Father Paul Bala said the closing prayer and a lunch was served after the meeting.

22 cents

Farmers received 22 cents for every dollar spent on food in 1992. On the other hand, 35 cents of every food dollar went for marketing labor costs. The third largest portion of the food dollar—8 cents—went to packaging.

Stand-by fees increased

Township okays road work

The Elkland Township Board last week approved construction and maintenance of some area roads. One mile of road construction was approved for Huron Line Road, from Schwegler

Road to Buehly Road, and there will be a hearing and survey at an estimated cost of $1,800.

It was also decided to widen the west shoulder a quarter mile on Koepfgen Road, north of Wilsie Road, at an estimated cost of $2,400.

In other business during the June 14 monthly meeting, the board decided to increase stand-by fees for the Elkland Township Fire Department for the first time since 1988. The fee will increase from $225 to $275 per section due to increasing operating costs of the fire department.

In other action the board:

•Appointed Danny Gee as zoning administrator.

•Decided to reimburse Frank Preba $75 for repainting the cemetery chapel.

•Decided to seek legal advice concerning the abandonment of Schwegler Road south of M-81.

•Hired Lyle Kreh to mow roadsides at approximately $1,200 the first time and $1,000 a second time if conditions warrant.

•Accepted an estimate of $472 from Mark Tuckey for drywall and painting of the township meeting room.

Back from an 11-day vacation, I was surprised to see that Ben Hobart, veteran school board member, was edged in his reelection bid. I was surprised, but I shouldn't have been, for a couple of good reasons.

The first is that Hobart didn't have a home base to operate from. Bases such as those enjoyed by Allan Hartwick (Deford) and Fred Matthews (Shabbona). All else being equal, the tendency is to support the candidate from the area.

The second reason is that Hobart was an active member of the board. He took positions on issues. If elected and the desire to be reelected is paramount, the way to do it is to never say or do anything that fires up the animals.

It's always been a puzzle to me why someone would seek a seat on the board and then do nothing to participate in the decisions that affect the education of every student in the school.

But I digress. The issue at hand is why Hobart was not reelected. Over the years he has been a strong advocate of spending whatever is necessary to provide a better education. He's backed every millage request suggested by the administration.

A lot of folks felt that it was improper to seek more millage with a substantial $700,000 fund equity. He felt it was good business and said so.

Don't feel that he took these positions without a good deal of thought. He worked at being a board member. Attended numerous clinics and constantly was seeking out the opinions of others in the education field.

You could find him around the school most anytime. He was a fixture at the school's athletic events. He was constantly in the superintendent's office to discuss this or that problem with Ken Micklash.

Perhaps his greatest contribution was acting as ambassador with other districts as Cass City worked to secure entry into a more workable athletic conference.

In the 40-odd years that we've observed the school board in action, it became apparent that each board was anchored by one or two members who became informed enough and were willing to work hard enough to lead the group.

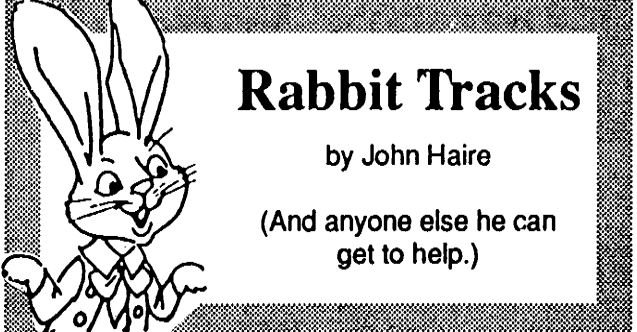

Some of these leaders were outstanding. Some were only so-so, unable to see the broad picture, only the narrow issues.

The outstanding ones always created a cadre of detractors. You can't take positions, can't forge ahead with new programs without ruffling the feathers of those who want to keep the status quo. The taxpayers who are more interested in saving a buck than moving forward.

It's sure that Hobart had his detractors for these very same reasons.

But let the record show that he was one of the good ones for the district during all the years he served.

Make no mistake, he will be missed.

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

The agreement reached between the Tri-County Bargaining Association and the Cass City school district is definitely the quickest settlement in the school's history and has to rank with the quickest in bargaining annals.

It was reached in one day of bargaining and now awaits finalizing the language before ratification.

It's a 2-year pact and it's a fair one, too, Supt. Ken Micklash says.

Now, really, you didn't expect me to take an 11-day vacation and return without several reports of restaurants did you?

Well.....next time you are in the area, stop at Valentino's in Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

It's a buffet pasta restaurant. Judging by the crowds on this weekday evening, it's very popular.

Here's why. You select from a bountiful salad bar first. Then there are 6 varieties of pizzas, 2 kinds of linguini and 2 kinds of spaghetti with 2 different sauces.

There are soft ice cream, cakes and pie for dessert. The cost for the all-you-can-eat meal, including beverage, was $12.57 for 2.

The Chronicle has a policy of not accepting news that is over a couple of months old and that sometimes poses a problem with weddings. We don't know how many other papers have these rules, but we note with interest that the Huron Daily Tribune in Bad Axe recently adopted a deadline for weddings restricting them the same way that the Chronicle has for decades.

FIBER IS IMPORTANT

Many doctors are starting to recommend high fiber diets even for people who do not need it for sluggish bowels. A great deal of evidence all tends to show that there are benefits for anyone who increases the amount of fiber in his diet.

The foremost reason to eat more fiber is that it appears to cut the chance of getting cancer of the colon by up to 40-50%. Doctors are not sure why it protects against cancer, but fiber tends to form bulkier stools which may dilute any cancer-provoking chemicals in the colon and it decreases the time that the material is contained in the colon. Stools are passed more regularly.

Since fiber forms a larger and softer stool, it results in less pressure on the wall of the gut. This helps prevent diverticulosis.

Fiber appears to lower the cholesterol. This is probably because it absorbs bile compounds in the gut. It also slows the rate of the stomach's emptying and gives a more steady release of food for absorption. This is very helpful in regulating diabetes where sudden changes in blood sugar are troublesome.

How much fiber should you eat? Current studies recommend about twice as much as the normal American diet - about an ounce of fiber a day. It is probably better to get it through normal foods, such as vegetables and fruits rather than by prescription.

Foods high in fiber are bran and other cereals, fruits such as apples, pears, raisins, and berries, and vegetables such as peas, corn, and potatoes. Baked beans and whole wheat spaghetti are also good sources.

The following people entered pleas or were sentenced last week in Tuscola County Circuit Court:

*James W. Trammel II, 30, Mayville, was found guilty of writing a non-sufficient fund check of $200 or more. A jury returned the verdict Thursday following a 2-day trial.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and bond was continued at $3,000. Sentencing is to be set.

The offense took place July 2, 1991, in Dayton Township, according to court records, which state Trammel was charged with writing a $3,452 non-sufficient fund check to Huntoon Lumber.

*Robert H. Bailey, 36, Kingston, was sentenced to 3 years probation and 90 days in the county jail for his plea of guilty to attempted second degree criminal sexual conduct.

Bailey, who was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department, was ordered to pay $1,500 in court costs and fines, a $30 victim crime fee and $30 oversight fee.

He was charged with engaging in sexual contact with a youth at least 13 years of age but under 16 years last February in Koylton Township.

*Jason K. Hauger, 20, and Bret J. Jones, 19, both of Millington, were sentenced for their pleas of guilty to breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny.

Court records state the pair were charged with breaking into Millington High School Jan. 12.

The defendants were sentenced to one year probation and 30 days in jail with work release. Each was also ordered to complete 40 hours of community service, and pay $1,000 in costs and fines, restitution of $621 plus attorneys fees, and $30 oversight and crime victim fees.

Andrews faces 2 counts of breaking and entering storage sheds at 1675 Hunt Rd., Mayville, March 21, and larceny of an electric fish finder, a Coleman heater, tools and fishing gear; larceny of a radio from a motor vehicle March 3 in Mayville, and 2 counts of larceny from a motor vehicle involving the alleged theft of an equalizer, amplifier and a radio March 29 in Mayville, and conspiracy to commit larceny from a motor vehicle.

Andrews' bond has been set at a combined $23,000.

*Christina L. Partello, 19, Vassar, pleaded guilty during her arraignment on a charge of probation violation.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered, bond was continued and Partello was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department. Sentencing is to be set.

Partello was originally sentenced to 12 months probation for a 1991 conviction of unlawfully driving away an automobile, according to court records, which state she failed to report to her probation officer Sept. 16, 1992, or thereafter.

*Chad T. Culbert, 17, Caro, was sentenced to 30 days in jail for his plea of guilty to probation violation.

BURSITIS

Bursitis, an inflammation of a bursa, is a common problem for many physically active individuals. The bursa is a fluid-filled sac found in places where friction might occur, such as between muscle and bone or tendon and bone. The major joints of the body (shoulder, elbow, hip, knee, and ankle) all have several bursae to reduce friction and cushion the joint.

Chronic overuse of muscles or tendons, as well as a direct hit or blow can result in bursitis. Sometimes, the bursa will rupture from a direct blow such as being hit in the knee by a baseball. Bursitis is characterized by pain, swelling, and possible loss of movement. Since these symptoms are common with many injuries, see your doctor for a correct diagnosis.

Hemlock scores 11-5 win Errors plague Hawks in quarterfinal defeat

Cass City had a difficult time hitting the ball to the outfield in last Tuesday's Class C quarterfinal softball game with Hemlock at Saginaw Nouvel.

Unfortunately the Hawks had no problems throwing the ball into the outfield, as errors contributed to the team's 11-5 quarterfinal loss.

Hemlock scored 4 runs in the initial frame without batting the ball through the infield.

Misty Korbein, who scored 4 times for the winners, bunted her way to first on the game's first pitch. It would be the solo hit in the frame.

A hit batter, a couple of throwing errors, a wild pitch - and Hemlock had its 4-0 lead.

Hemlock's Sarah Stapleton (24-7) held the Hawks scoreless till the 3rd frame where she had a 6 run advantage. Stapleton fanned 5 and issued 3 free passes while giving the distance for the winners.

Senior Darcie Monroe, who led Cass City with 3 singles at the plate, scored the Hawks' first run on a double steal throwing miscue. Stacey Klinkman, who followed Monroe's single with a bunt single, came home on Jodi LaRoche's sacrifice fly to put Cass City within striking range at 6-2.

The Hawks would get no closer to victory on the afternoon.

Hemlock answered the Hawk charge with 2 runs of its own in the 4th on another errant throw and an RBI single by Natalie Doan off losing pitcher Heather Kelly.

Kelly yielded 5 hits and struck out 9 in defeat. The Hawk ace ended a fabulous senior year with a 16-2 mark that included 10 no hitters.

Cass City posted 3 runs in its final at-bat, the last one coming on a one hop single off the right-field fence by LaRoche. But it would be too little too late for the Hawks, who finished the season with a 28-5 mark.

LaRoche, Fruendt and Kelly named to first team

Cass City placed 3 players on the first team and one on the second all-state regional softball team.

Honored were Jodi LaRoche, catcher, and pitchers Heather Kelly and Jennifer Fruendt. Darcie Monroe was on the second team at shortstop.

The outfielders honored were Lisa Rumble of Deckerville, Sarah Lester, Marlette, and Sheila Stedry, Reese. Nicole Ruggles of Marlette, a freshman, was named at first base. Chelsey Fletcher, Deckerville junior, was named at second and Michelle Berlwger of Memphis, at third. Therese Fromwiller of Marlette is the shortstop. Unless noted, all players are seniors.

Besides Darcie Monroe, junior, at shortstop, the second team selections are:

Outfield: Kelly Cutcher, Capac sophomore; Carrie Robinet, Mayville sophomore, Trina Schram, Sandusky senior.

Catcher: Kerry Pandvren, Brown City.

First base: Heidi Bartsch, Deckerville senior;

Second base: Cheryl Sylvester, Reese senior.

Third base: Beth Beaudin, Uby senior.

Pitchers: Tina Hooper, Deckerville junior, and Jackie Hill, Brown City sophomore.

Thumb meet president

Officials with Thumb Track and Field Meet of Champions recently announced Mayville School Supt. Larry Geiger will serve as its president for the 1993-94 year.

Geiger, 51, who served this past year as vice president, will preside over the annual meet's 20-member board beginning later this month.

The event, which next spring will celebrate its 22nd year, showcases the top high school athletic talent in the Thumb and Eastern Saginaw Valley. The meet features Olympic pageantry and awards for the top male and female performers. More than 500 athletes from 30 area schools compete.

A western New York native, Geiger graduated from North Collins High School and in 1963 from Michigan State University. He is in his 26th year at Mayville Schools, his ninth as superintendent. He has served on the Meet of Champs board 4 years, the last 2 as assistant meet director.

He and his wife Pamela have 3 children, Eric, Kara and Damon, and one granddaughter.

Your neighbor says

3 main areas need reform, says Packard

Governor Engler can't fix everything that's wrong in Michigan, but one Cass City resident knows exactly what 3 things she'd tackle right away if she were elected governor.

First on Helen Packard's list would be health insurance.

She said she would like the state to provide everybody with full health insurance because a lot of people who are lucky enough to have any health insurance only have it for emergencies. She said the daily health care problems and surprises need to be covered as well.

As governor of Michigan, she would next reform day care programs within the state.

"I would make it so moderate income families could afford day care," she said.

Finally, educational programs such as Headstart would see some changes.

"I would make it so people with lower incomes could get their kids into programs like Headstart," she commented. She believes the regulations currently governing such programs leave some families out in the cold.

"Right now, if you're on welfare you can easily get your kids into Headstart programs, but if you're working and making money then you can't get your kids into the program," she said.

She added that often parents who are working can't necessarily afford to pay tuition for their kids to enter these programs.

Packard and her husband have two boys, ages 2 and 4, that she takes care of, but she is currently looking for outside employment.

cost $2.50 for adults. None of these rates have yet been officially voted by the school board, but it is expected that they will be adopted at the next regular meeting.

OTHER BUSINESS

•A special meeting of the board will be held Monday, June 28, to ratify the tentative agreement with the Tri-County Bargaining Association that represents Cass City teachers. The board will also meet the second Monday in July instead of its regular third Monday date.

The date was moved up a week so that the board could reorganize by July 15 as required by law.

•A camera surveillance system will be installed on school buses at a cost of about $2,000. Black boxes, capable of handling a camera, will be placed in each bus. The camera will be installed by supervisory personnel and neither the students nor the bus driver will know when the box on the bus actually houses the camera. Micklash reported that the system has proved effective in other nearby schools.

•New books authorized for next year were: 230 biology texts for the high school for $8,935.50, and 2 textbooks for the 4th grade science courses, 30 books for $404.88 and 130 books for $2,533 for a total of $2,938.43.

•A change in school expulsion of students will be decided next month and if passed, allow for the administration to give in-school suspensions rather than out-of-school suspensions for students.

•President Ben Hobart attended his final regular meeting as a member of the board. He received an ovation from board members and spectators in recognition of his 12 years of service.

Wheat crop down

The 1993 wheat crop in Michigan is forecast to total 28.5 million bushels, down 7 percent from the May 1 estimate, and a 19 percent decrease from last year's production, according to the Federal/State Michigan Agricultural Service.

Acres for harvest is still set at 570,000 acres, down 10 percent from last year. Last fall's late harvest, combined with wet conditions, prevented the planting of some acres.

Yields are expected to average 50 bushels per acre, down 4 bushels from last month, and 6 bushels from last year.

This forecast is based on expected yields reported by farmers as of June 1. As of May 30, 5 percent of the wheat crop was headed. This is below the 5-year average of 15 percent. Crop development has been hindered by cool conditions. Soil moisture is adequate across most of the state, however, southeast Michigan is reporting soil moisture as short. Overall the crop is in good condition.

Alfalfa crop damaged

The crops are looking good, Gould agreed. "We have ample moisture. We don't need any more for awhile."

Gould said there was a significant problem with spinach leaf minors in sugar beets a couple of weeks ago, but problem areas were sprayed.

Those who didn't spray may see some losses in terms of delayed maturity of the crop, according to the agent, who explained the minors bore into and kill the leaves of beets and other vegetation.
