

Jury finds Moore innocent

For the third time in as many tries, prosecutors have failed to convince a jury of a Cass City man's alleged connection with break-ins investigated in the area earlier this year.

A Tuscola County Circuit Court jury last week found David H. Moore, 27, Cass City, innocent of the Jan. 13 breaking and entering of a residence at 4242 Woodland Ave., Cass City, and the larceny of a rifle, VCR and money.

The trial began Wednesday and concluded Thursday morning. The jury began deliberating at 11:45 a.m. and returned a not guilty verdict at 1:35 p.m.

The charges were among several levied against Moore and 2 others earlier this year following a series of burglaries in the Cass City and Gagetown areas.

In Moore's first trial, held in August, a jury found him innocent of stealing property from one Cass City house Dec. 30.

Last month, following a 3-day trial, a jury announced it could not reach a verdict on charges alleging Moore broke into a home at 6708 Lincoln St., Gagetown, and stole shotguns and a VCR Jan. 23. A new trial date has not been scheduled yet in that case.

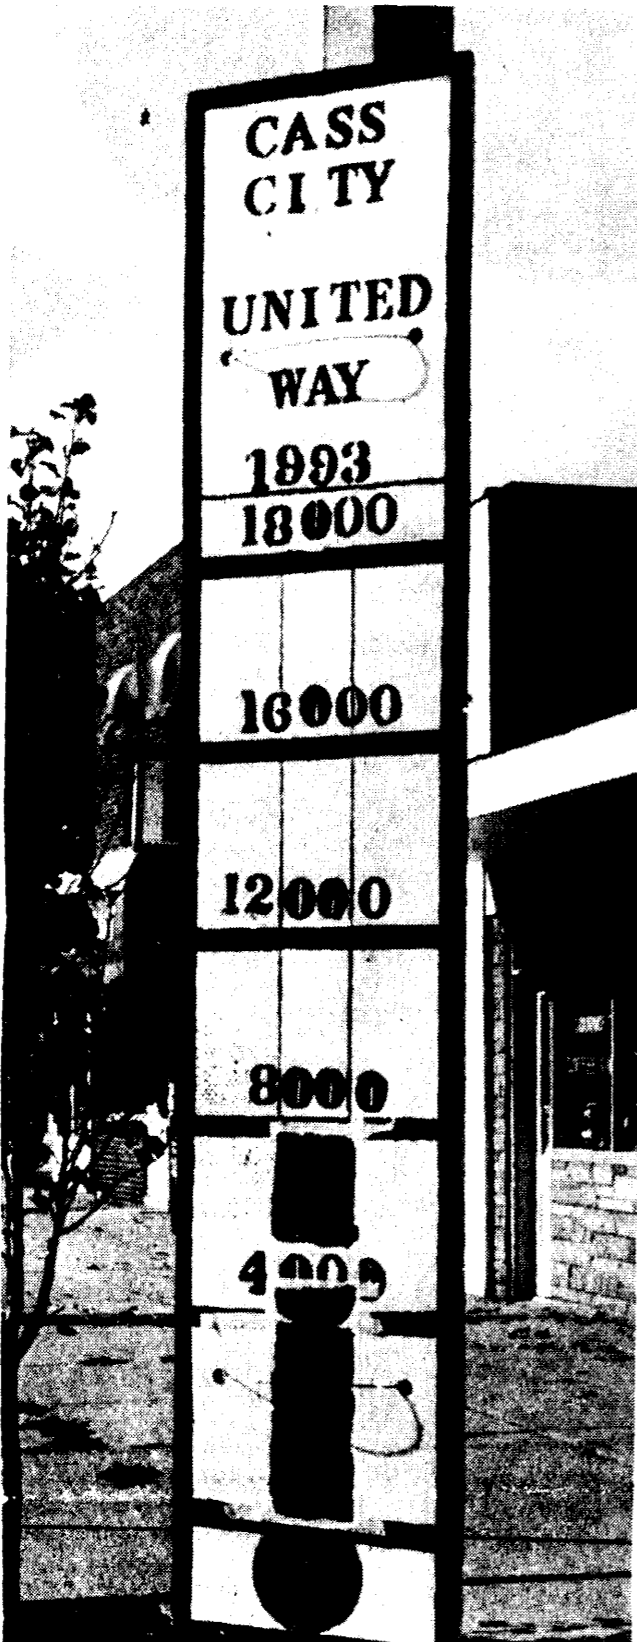

Moore still faces trial dates Nov. 29 and Dec. 1 stemming from charges of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny and larceny in a building.

He is accused of breaking into a residence at 3120 Phillips Rd. in Novesta Township March 19, and of breaking into a home at 4897 Northwood Circle, Cass City, and stealing money, guns, a VCR, TV and camera Jan. 12.

At Owen-Gage Hoax bomb threat

A bomb threat Friday in the Owen-Gage School District turned out to be a hoax, but school officials aren't laughing.

The threat was phoned in to both the high school in Owendale and the Elementary building in Gagetown, according to school Supt.

CASS CITY United Way officials reported contributions of $8,000 as of Friday, almost halfway towards this year's $18,000 goal. The 1993 campaign officially concludes Nov. 15.

Manuel Thies, who said the phone call came in at about 8:55 a.m.

Classes were immediately cancelled for the day, and the Huron and Tuscola County sheriff's departments were called. Fire departments in Owendale and Gagetown also responded.

Investigators, who could not be reached for comment, spent much of the day going through the schools, according to Thies, who said this was Owen-Gage's first bomb threat in the 30-plus years he's worked in the district.

The incident remains under investigation.

Pinney Foundation cash boosts library and park; more coming

The Pinney Foundation Board of Directors began distributing funds only 15 months ago, but the fund, established for the betterment of Cass City and surrounding areas, is already having an impact on the community.

The Pinney Foundation was established in 1983 by the late Frederick and Lottie Pinney.

Mr. Pinney served as president of the Pinney State Bank from 1931 to 1977 and was a lifelong resident of Cass City. He was an active citizen, involved in almost every aspect of the community. Like his father and grandfather before him, he was instrumental in helping transform Cass City into a prosperous, industrial and agricultural community.

It was that dedication that prompted Pinney to set up the Pinney Foundation, which has poured more than $43,000 into the community since July 1992, with another $10,000 grant approved but not spent yet.

"It's been a big boon for us," commented Cass City Manager Lou S. LaPonsie, referring to several allocations to the village's recreational park.

The grants have included $10,514 for fencing and other improvements to the baseball field this year, and $10,000 approved for the latest project: construction of 2 new, lighted basketball courts.

All of the monies received have added to a recreational facility that draws an average weekly summer attendance of some 5,000 people, LaPonsie said.

The park was among Pinney's pet projects over the years, according to Pinney Foundation Board member Bev Perry.

"Anybody who wants to can use (the park)," she said. "The Pinney Bank gave money to the village park for years and years, and also the library."

Both will continue to be priorities, foundation board Chairman Dick Donahue said.

EXPANSION

"We're really trying to stick close to Cass City. There's a lot of room in the park for expansion, with the summer recreation program," he said. "I don't know, maybe there's room down the road for a big enclosed building for winter time activities as part of the park."

"Anybody that comes in — they marvel at (the park) facilities," Donahue added. "We think that if we can bring people into the park, that's going to help the downtown, too."

As for Rawson Memorial Library, Donahue said the foundation has been able to provide help at a time of funding cutbacks.

"We really appreciate the extra boost that it gives us so we can improve the service," library Director Barbara Hutchinson agreed, referring to a pair of $5,000 grants — one in 1992 and another this year — from the foundation.

"The first year we purchased reference books," Hutchinson said. "The timing was really good. We had all taken courses on good reference books, so we had an idea of where we were lacking. (But) no matter how good you are at referencing, you have to have some of the tools."

The second grant was used to beef up the library's non-fiction book collection.

"We don't have a lot of space here, so it's important to keep things up to date," she said.

According to Perry, the Pinney Foundation awarded nearly $16,000 in 1992. The figure includes $5,000 for the library, $5,150 for the Cass City Schools library, and $3,833 to the Cass City Boosters Club for the track project.

ALLOCATED

So far this year, $27,514 has been allocated, she said, adding the figure doesn't include the $10,000 for the new basketball courts. The total does include $7,000 for the new playground equipment at Campbell Elementary School, $10,514 for the baseball field improvements, $5,000 for Rawson Memorial Library, and $4,500 for the village's new recreation director position. "This is all for the betterment of the community," Donahue pointed out.

He added the foundation board is interested in hearing proposals for various projects, provided matching funds are part of the plan. "Our theory is, we'll share the costs," he explained. "We want some effort put forth by the people involved."

The new basketball courts are a good example. The Cass City Rotary and Lions clubs have each pledged 25 percent, or a combined $10,000, towards the $20,000 project.

Mike Weaver, a foundation board member, businessman and village council trustee, remarked the future is bright for further improvements.

"It certainly should be a real plus for the community. There's no end to what could be done," he said, adding he's pleased with the direction of the Pinney Foundation.

"I think we're doing exactly what Mr. Pinney wanted. I feel very strongly about that," he added. "We (foundation board members) spend a lot of time talking before deciding to spend or not to spend."

75 student volunteers "make a difference"

Cass City Middle School students set out to make a difference Saturday.

Their efforts didn't make the network news or wire services, but they succeeded in their goal: to give something back to their community.

The youths, along with a number of teachers and parents, took part in a national project called "Make a Difference Day." The local effort involved doing yard work for the elderly and those physically unable to get out.

In all, 75 students in grades 5 through 8, as well as 25 teachers and parent volunteers, participated, splitting up into small groups and going to work at 20 residences.

According to teacher Laura Schinnerer, the project was met enthusiastically by the students.

"This being the first year, we were really surprised with the number of students volunteering," she said. "We really didn't expect a big response from the kids."

Schinnerer suggested local participation in "Make a Difference Day" after reading about the project in USA Today magazine last February.

"It's different communities doing things; volunteering their time to do something for others, and I thought that was neat," she commented.

"It's really kind of a push to Please turn to page 7.

Pastor tells of personal tragedy

Heartache is no stranger to the Rev. Dale Byers, who along with his wife, Betty, knows the pain of losing a child.

But Byers hasn't lost himself in grief. Instead, the pastor is using the experience to help others in a ministry aimed at offering comfort and hope to hurting hearts.

Byers has brought that ministry to Cass City, where he recently began serving as pastor of the First Baptist Church.

"The church has been so good to us," he commented Saturday, the day before delivering his first sermon to the local congregation. Originally from Veedersburg, Ind., Byers has been in the ministry for nearly 25 years.

A graduate of the Grand Rapids Baptist Bible College and Seminary, he spent his first 6 1/2 years ministering in Indianapolis. "Then I pastored 14 years and 8 months in South Haven, Michigan, and the last 3 years I was director of church relations for Shepherds, a ministry for the mentally disabled" in Union Grove, Wis.

During those years the Byers raised a houseful of sons. Today, Kevin and wife Deb live in Dayton, Ohio; Scott and wife Rosanne reside in Schaumburg, Ill.; Paul and wife Kris live in South Haven, and John resides in Fort Wayne, Ind.

A fifth son, Kerry, 25, took his own life 5 years ago. Byers talks openly about the tragedy. He recalled the months that followed, saying he would go into his study and "preach to myself the glories of Christ, then that would become my ser-

What in the world is a Nittany lion?? Admittedly, I'm not a great sports fan, but I know several, and none of them knows what a Nittany lion is either.

The University of Michigan football team played and, I must grudgingly admit, defeated the Nittany Lions of Penn State a week ago.

I say grudgingly because it's impossible to have lived all these years in a Michigan State household without being for the Spartans and whoever is playing the U of M Wolverines. Naturally, it was cause for rejoicing in the camp when MSU beat Michigan in football a couple weeks ago.

Whatever a Nittany is, it wouldn't surprise anyone if one rose up and sued over the use of its name. Team names have provoked numerous complaints and lawsuits. Native Americans have objected to names like Braves, Indians and Redskins.

Frankly I don't understand their beef. It seems to me that a team nickname is chosen to be honored, not ridiculed.

It's probably just a matter of time before some big guy objects to "Giants." Then you'll have unions of cowboys, packers, lumberjacks and boiler makers complaining that they're being exploited by sports teams.

A Massachusetts team recently won the legal right to continue being called the Minutemen. It seems somebody had sued, insisting that Minutemen were violent and sexist.

Methinks somebody's got too much time on their hands and not enough to do.

Did you catch the report in one of the dailies about the 100-year-old man in California who bungee-jumped from a 210-foot tower?

S. L. Potter defied the opposition of his children, aged 68 to 74, and his doctor to make the jump, according to the article. He hoped to get into the Guinness Book of Records as the world's oldest bungee jumper.

Afterward, he reportedly complained of feeling tired, asked for his dentures, which he'd removed before the jump, and said he was going home and go to bed. I ripped the story out of the paper, hoping my dad wouldn't see it and get any ideas.

Dad (Vern McConnell) will be 98 in February and I don't doubt for a minute that he'd bounce right back from a bungee jump, literally and figuratively. He underwent surgery to unclog a carotid artery a few months ago, and shortly thereafter was back to his old chipper self.

He was pheasant hunting last week, and will probably be out there opening morning of deer season as usual.

Our kids should have good genes. Their paternal grandmother is 94, and an uncle died this summer at the age of 94 as the result of an accident while he was out in the woods chopping down a tree.

I know the burning ban is in the best interest of the environment, but don't you miss the smell of burning leaves this time of year?

Do you think we would have savored the balmy weekend weather as much if we hadn't experienced some frosty, blustery days? Probably not. Knowing it was too good to last made us appreciate it all the more.

Bad checks that weren't

By Jim Fitzgerald

There are a few things you should know....

Ralph Brink of Sterling Heights is angry about inequality in banking. He has the perfect remedy for the unfair treatment his deposits and checks receive, and he says he's mad enough to take his idea all the way to the U.S. Senate Banking Committee. I say that window will be closed.

But this window is always open. If I ran this column like a bank, 10 days out of 13 I'd put a sign on it saying "Please Turn to Next Page." And, because I'm usually on the last page, readers would have nowhere to turn.

They would have to read the Automatic Form Column (AFC) posted on the outside of my building. And risk confrontations with illiterate street people insisting on being read to.

So why do banks build 13

teller windows when they never intend to use more than 3 at the same time? Do bankers get kickbacks from the giant industry that manufactures "Next Window Please" signs? Wouldn't it be customer-friendly to construct fewer stalls for invisible tellers and use the money saved to install chairs, beds and cooking utensils for people waiting in line?

But never mind; that's not what's bank-bugging Ralph Brink, anyway. What brought Brink to my window is bad checks that really weren't. Three times in recent years, in 3 different banks, Brink has been financially penalized for writing checks for insufficient funds that would have been sufficient if the banks had done their job right.

Most recently, he was assessed $17.50 each for 2 checks that bounced because — it was ultimately discovered — the bank made a mistake recording his deposit. A few years ago, the penalty was only $7.50 each for 5 checks that rubberized while it took the bank from Friday to Wednesday to process his deposit. And so on.

Brink ultimately proved his innocence and was reimbursed for the bank fines. But he never got back penalties he was obligated to pay at the stores where the checks were bounced. There was no compensation for his embarrassment at being publicly labeled a deadbeat. The banks offered no compensation for those aggravations.

Brink's suggested remedy is that when the bank's mistake causes the overdraft, the customer should get more than mere reimbursement. The bank should be required to pay him an additional $17.50 per check.

"It should be a 2-way street," Brink said. If banks can fine us, we should be able to fine the banks.

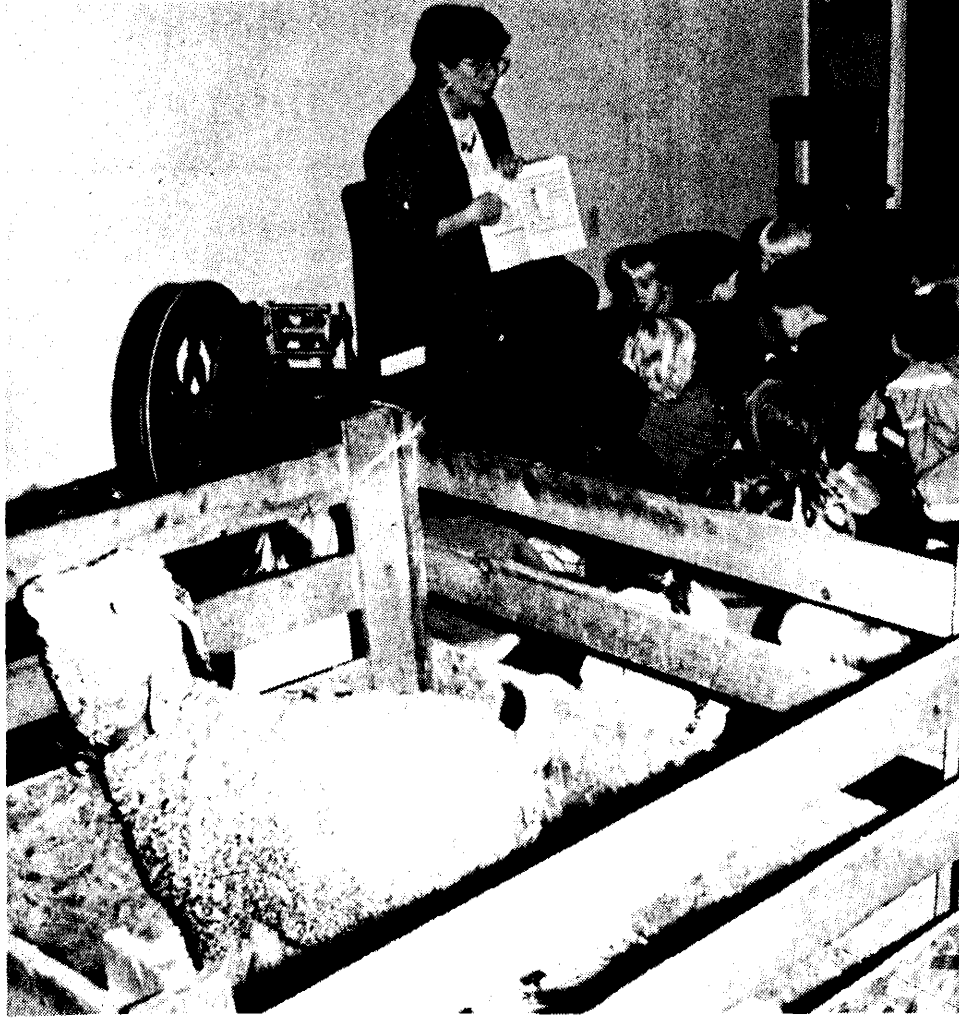

Yeah. And while you're lined up waiting for that to happen, be careful not to lean against the velvet rope. It is usually attached to portable metal posts that tip over easily and might dent your cooking utensils.

• A note from Charlene Lynch of Taylor says: "Enclosed is another great example of government stupidity. How much do you suppose was spent on this letter advising me of my delinquent taxes?"

The bill from Wayne County Treasurer Raymond Wojtowicz was carefully itemized. The amount of tax owed, plus interest computed through September 1993, plus administration fee, totaled a whopping $1.54.

• Listen to Brent Musburger, the ABC-TV sports announcer, especially when he's breathless. He sounds just like Jerry Seinfeld.

Any columnist can do look-alikes.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

All fall Cass City fans have been forced to choose between the girls' undefeated varsity basketball team and the boys' previously undefeated junior varsity football team. Both play on Thursdays. The girls also play on Tuesdays.

Anyway, the crowds have not been as large as might be expected for the girls. If the girls get by the rest of the schedule, it will give local fans a chance to participate in something that hasn't happened around here in the last 40 years.

That's to see an undefeated team in action. Even the great boys' teams of the late 70s and early 80s never went through the regular season without a loss.

The last home game Nov. 5 is after the football season, so it is played on Friday. It's also parents' night.

If you enjoy basketball, you'll enjoy watching the team play. You might be amazed at the jumping ability of Jodi LaRoche and the uncanny outside shooting of Jodi Schember. You'll find, too, that the players aren't afraid to get their hair mussed and uniforms dirty when a loose ball is up for grabs.

For the girls, a big crowd Nov. 5 will be the exclamation point on a great season.

We turn the clocks back one hour Saturday night or Sunday morning when we go to bed, as the state switches time. That's a good time, Michigan State Police say, to change the batteries and check fire alarms.

Making a habit of doing it then the time changes in the spring and fall will assure a working signal when it's needed.

Woodland Hills Golf Course Restaurant in Sandusky held a buffet Sunday and invited guests from the upper Thumb to check out a new chef and an entirely new staff.

What spoiled what would have been a top-notch dining experience was the lack of planning to handle the crowd.

The negatives first. We arrived shortly after 12 p.m. and were forced to wait 50 minutes for a seat. There were perhaps 10 or 12 persons in line ahead of us. The hostess didn't take our names or tell us that we were an hour away from a seat. It left a bad taste. When we started to eat, we discovered that it was impossible for the staff to keep the various dishes full. One of the features was prime rib, but the carver ran out and there never was a replacement while we were seated.

While I didn't try the beef, judging by the food that I did find, it would have been excellent.

Just about everything imaginable was available. The usual eggs, sausage, bacon, juice, several types of rolls for a starter. Omelets made to order with choice of ingredients. Shrimp, crab legs, 2 types of fish, turkey, beef, 3 kinds of potatoes and plum pudding followed. There was a wide array of salads and vegetables. Choice of beverage was included.

My complaint about many buffets of this type is that quantity is sacrificed for quality. The new chef had that licked. The quality was good.

For all of this, including beverage, the price was $12.00 for 2. It's hard for me to believe that this much can be offered for so little for very long.

I'd rate the food, quantity and price at about 9.5 on the one to 10 scale (if they hadn't run out of some dishes). I'd rate the service at about a 4.

KEEP HALLOWEEN SAFE

Halloween is traditionally thought of as a time of fun for children but it is also a time of some danger. Tampering with candy heads the list of fears that parents have and it certainly has been well-publicized.

There are other risks too, and they are far more common than coming across razor blades or glass in a candy bar or apple.

Being out on the roads at dusk and after dark is one of the greatest hazards. Children are excited and can easily dart out on the road without looking for traffic and the traffic is always heavier than usual. At dusk the visibility is the poorest of any time of the day and is the most common time for accidents. Children should go out before dusk.

Young children should always be accompanied by an adult and older children should be in groups.

The children should carry a flashlight or some other safe light source. Their costumes should have reflective tape on the front and back to make sure they are visible.

The children should be told not to cut through yards, run across empty lots or go where they cannot see if there are wires, holes and other hazards. They must also be careful around dogs which may be alarmed by the invasion of costumed children.

The children should not eat any of the treats before returning home. Parents should discard any treats that have torn or damaged wrappers and fruit should be washed and sliced before eating.

The Republican reign in Michigan may come to an abrupt end if school reform in Michigan results in a substantial increase in income taxes.

What the taxpayers want is school reform with someone else paying the bill.

At regular intervals missiles from an anti-tax group from Macomb County cross my desk. You name the tax and they are against it. Eliminate waste and cut taxes regardless of what they are for is the message.

Right now politicians are between the rock and the hard place. They can recall how a pair of senators were subject to a recall when an income tax hike was pushed 10 years ago.

Gov. John Engler is nothing, if not a politician. He will not come out in favor of an income tax increase, but will "accept" one if the legislature passes it.

Engler's plan to soak business with a 16-mill property tax has found little opposition. There aren't many votes there. A state sales tax increase of 2 cents is seen, according to pollsters, as a lesser of necessary evils.

Tripling taxes on cigarettes and a 4 percent levy on real estate transactions have the lobbyists out in force.

The one percent income tax hike is estimated to cost a person earning $35,000 about $350 more a year. Political observers feel that regardless of the financing method, the new school package will give more to urban districts.

That shouldn't really shake up most of us in the rural area. If the school allotment per student ($4,500 each) that has been banded about is for real, Cass City and most other Thumb schools will be rolling in money. It's an increase of maybe $1,000 per pupil for the Cass City District and we have 1,674 students in the system.

It's never been proved that extra money results in better education.

What was to solve that problem is some sort of school of choice plan on the theory that competition would force schools to produce more for the money.

In theory that makes sense. The trouble comes with practical application, at least for us in rural areas.

One big stumbling block is transportation. Caro might offer a better school program with courses that appeal to students in Cass City.

That being the case, how do they get to Caro to go to school? So in effect there really isn't much of a choice out in the hinterlands.

Right now there's really only one thing cast in concrete about our schools. The same middle class taxpayers who paid for our schools in the past will do so again in the future.

And probably pay more to do it.

New books at the library

AFTER ALL THESE YEARS by Susan Isaacs (fiction). Rose Meyers was just an ordinary Jew from Queens who married her sweetheart, became a teacher, moved to the suburbs, and had 2 kids. Then her husband's business made him a millionaire. Suddenly, Rose and Richie have a Long Island mansion, a fleet of BMWs, and invitations to all the right soires. Rose is in for a shock, though, when Richie announces he's leaving her for a younger woman. The divorce papers aren't even signed when Rose, stricken with insomnia, goes downstairs one night for a glass of milk and trips over Richie's corpse. The cops immediately peg Rose as the prime suspect, but she knows she didn't kill her husband, and she's determined to find out who did. The police are ready to cart her off to jail, and since she can hardly carry out a murder investigation from her cell, she becomes a fugitive with a mission: to find her.

PRIME WITNESS by Steve Martini (fiction). When Paul Madriani, at the behest of a sick friend, becomes the acting district attorney of a small town, he quickly finds himself in the eye of a storm created by a series of unexplained murders. Madriani is under attack on several fronts: a county board that has accepted him begrudgingly; an opposing counsel with a vendetta; an inept staff embroiled in office politics; a judge with a personal stake in the case and a deep-rooted dislike for Madriani, and a resentful wife in an already strained marriage.

PAUL BUNYAN: HOW A TERRIBLE TIMBER FELLER BECAME A LEGEND by D. Laurence Rogers (non-fiction). If you think Paul Bunyan and Babe the Blue Ox are totally imaginary, you're in for a surprise; both are based in reality. Rogers traces their actualities to the upper reaches of Lower Michigan. He identifies one Fabian Joseph Fournier as the inspiration for Paul Bunyan. Although a crackerjack lumberman, Fournier was no all-American but a drunkard and a brawler who supposedly had a double row of molars, the teeth marks of which he left on bars and foes. It was Fournier's 1875 death from a hammer blow on the head and the subsequent legal proceedings against the supposed perpetrator that gave rise to the Paul Bunyan myth, although J.L. Mencken eventually played a part in it too. Babe, by the way, owes his currency to the fact that many lumbermen preferred oxen to horses for hauling trees.

Your neighbor says

U.S. involvement was a mistake

Much in the news these days is the trouble that the United States has had in Somalia. Many in Somalia have rebelled against our soldiers, a few have been killed in street battles and others taken captive by followers of warlord Mohamed Farrah Aidid.

Dianna Kocan, 16, of rural Cass City feels that it was a mistake for the United States to become involved in Somalia and other foreign countries.

We went over there as a humanitarian effort, she said, and it seems when we try something like that, it escalates into fighting.

We need to figure out a way to negotiate the release of the captives, Kocan feels, and then leave those people to solve their problems.

Kocan is the daughter of Irena Kocan. She has lived in the Cass City area all of her life. Kocan is a student at Cass City High School. She is also employed on a part-time basis at Rawson Memorial Library.

Cass City girls now 5 games from first perfect season

And then there were 5. Five games left between the Cass City Red Hawks and an undefeated regular season, following wins over Harbor Beach and Deckerville last week. Among the 5 are 4 that count in the race for the Blue Bay League title.

Three of the 5 are among the top teams in the Thumb. The first was to have been at Ubyly, 11-3 and undefeated in the Thumb C Conference. There's a non-league encounter against USA Thursday and the last home game of the season against Bad Axe Nov. 5.

The last 2 games of the year will be on the road. The first will be Nov. 9 against Marlette, which has lost only to Cass City. The final regular season game of the year will be Nov. 12 at Lakers, a team that fought Cass City to the wire before losing.

It will help if the Hawks can maintain the high level of performance that the team exhibited against Deckerville Thursday. Cass City won 54-39 and was even more dominant than the final score indicates.

The Hawks operated like a well oiled machine in the first 2 quarters and the mechanic in charge was Jodi Schember. She missed just one shot in the first half, handled the ball against the Eagles' press and was an integral part of Coach Marty Daniel's tight man-to-man defense.

CASS CITY - Schember 4-3 (0-0) 17; Mayer 0-0 (2-2) 2; VanVliet 2-0 (0-0) 4; Monroe 3-0 (0-3) 6; Burns 1-0 (0-0) 2; Zinnecker 0-0 (3-4) 3; LaRoche 5-0 (2-5) 12; Daniel 4-0 (0-1) 8. TOTALS - 19-3 (7-15) 54.

DECKERVILLE - Maurer 1-0 (2-3) 4; A. Russell 5-0 (1-2) 11; Peruski 4-0 (4-6) 12; Fleicher 2-0 (0-0) 4; Roberts 2-0 (2-3) 6; L. Russell 0-0 (2-2) 2. TOTALS - 14-0 (11-16) 39.

Leading the battle for control of the boards and scoring well was Jodi LaRoche. The 2 girls accounted for 19 of the team's 28 first half points.

The girls received plenty of help from the remainder of the team. Darcie Monroe in the paint played her usual strong defensive game and Kelli VanVliet, Peyton Daniel and Karla Zinnecker operated out front to maintain the flow of the game.

The Cass City lead grew steadily until Daniel emptied his bench. At the half the Hawks were in front, 28-12, and midway through the third quarter when Cass City's top trio, Monroe, Schember and LaRoche, went to the bench, Cass City was in front, 42-19.

Eight Hawks shared in the scoring with Schember, 17, and LaRoche, 12, leading the pack. Deckerville was led by Angie Russell with 11 points and Jessica Peruski, with 12. LaRoche snagged 9 rebounds.

HARBOR BEACH

Paced by the long range bombing of Schember, who burned the nets with 5 3-point shots, the Hawks easily raced by the Harbor Beach Pirates in a non-league game last Tuesday, 44-32.

Although the game was never seriously in doubt, Daniel said that the Pirates were a much improved team over the club that Cass City defeated the first time around, 64-34.

Daniel said that the defense carried it in the game. We seem to be hurrying our shots instead of working the ball for shots that are in the flow of the game, he said. Cass City didn't exhibit much offense in the first half, making just 10 points in each of the first 2 quarters. We had trouble, Daniel said, in identifying their defense, which shifted back and forth from man-to-man to zone.

While the Hawks had trouble with the Harbor Beach defense, the Pirates had more trouble with the Hawks' defense. In the first 3 quarters the Beachers scored just 19 points.

CASS CITY - Schember 2-5 (2-3) 21; VanVliet 0-0 (3-5) 3; Monroe 1-0 (2-4) 4; Burns 1-0 (1-2) 3; LaRoche 3-0 (7-8) 13. TOTALS - 7-5 (15-22) 44.

JODI LaROCHE concentrates on the hoop as she takes the ball deep in the paint, from where she scores most of her points. The Hawks rolled past Deckerville to remain unbeaten. The team is now ranked eighth in the state in the prep poll of the Detroit Free Press.

Hawks top Marlette, face tough Brown City in final

An end to a disappointing football season comes Friday at Brown City and Cass City will be hard-pressed to add another win to its 2-6 season's record.

That's because the Hawks will be facing a play-off bound team that has bounced back from an opening game loss to Croswell-Lexington to win the rest of the games on the way to its 7-1 season's record.

The most recent win was last week's 52-12 pasting of Capac. In that game the Devils ran for 454 yards and passed for another 42 yards.

The game means nothing because the Blue Bay League schedule is finished and the Hawks assured themselves of staying out of the basement with a 14-7 win over Marlette. The Red Raiders are winless this season and the win for Cass City was the second decision over that team.

Cass City pushed across a pair of touchdowns in the second quarter and that was enough for the win.

The first came at the 7:45 mark when Jason Morgan capped a drive by running over from the 6-yard line. Tavis Osentoski scored the extra points.

The Hawks defeated the clock and the Red Raider defense for the final score of the game. There was 54 seconds left in the half when Darren Wallace passed 7 yards to John Phillips for the score. The extra points try failed.

As indicated by the score, it wasn't much of an offensive show. Cass City netted just 252 yards total offense and Marlette, 132 yards.

Leading the defense was Osentoski, who made 13 tackles, 5 unassisted, and intercepted a pass. Kris Repshinska made 11 tackles, 2 unassisted.

Morgan averaged 7 yards a carry with 155 yards on 22 attempts. Osentoski averaged 5 yards a try with 3 rushing attempts for 15 yards.

JV LOSES

Although both Marlette and Cass City trailed the Lakers and Bad Axe in the 4-team Blue Bay Conference, there appears to be hope for next year. That's because the respective junior varsity squads dominated the league.

Both lost just one game all year.....to each other. The Hawks won the first game and then last week lost the second, 16-6.

O-G girls upset Kingston

Coach Dean Roller's Owen-Gage cagers continue to improve, as evidenced by Thursday's 53-43 victory over Kingston.

The win, the Bulldogs' 3rd in 15 tries, not only avenged an earlier setback by the Cardinals, it provided the guests with their 2nd win over the last 3 contests. Barring an upset against Caseville Tuesday, the 'Dogs will travel to face North Huron on Thursday with back-to-back triumphs for the first time during the campaign.

To be successful at North Huron, the Bulldogs will need another gutsy outing from senior Melody Abfalter, who helped pace the winners at Kingston with a career high 19 points.

Abfalter and teammate Angie Wildman split 12 of the Bulldogs' first 14 tallies and gave the 'Dogs a 3-point lead entering the 2nd stanza.

The pair continued their antics in the 2nd frame and hedged the Bulldog advantage to 29-21 by the intermission. Abfalter matched her first quarter effort with 3 baskets from the field while Wildman scored twice from the field and connected 2 times from the charity stripe en route to a game high 24 points in the frame.

"Abfalter had one of her best nights shooting," said Roller.

The Bulldogs benefited from some shabby foul shooting from the hosts after the break and added 3 tallies to their lead entering the final 8 minutes. The Cardinals made good on only 3 of their next 8 attempts from the stripe and recorded only 15 of 26 during the night.

Kingston's Melanie Kramer registered 9 of her team high 21 points in the final period, but couldn't offset the work of Abfalter and Wildman, who scored the final 12 points for the winners. Kramer led Kingston (3-7, 4-20) with 15 rebounds.

PORT HOPE

A sluggish start helped Port Hope record a North Central Thumb League win last Tuesday at Owendale as the Bulldogs fell, 37-24.

"Credit Port Hope's man-to-man defense for our lack of scoring," said Roller.

Cari Johnson registered 9 first half points, one more than the Bulldog team had at the intermission, when the visitors led 19-8.

Angie Wildman scored all 8 of her team best points on 4 baskets shortly after the break to get the hosts back in striking range at 25-19 entering the final stretch.

But the Bluestars (6-5, 8-5) ran off 10 unanswered points to open the frame and were never headed.

Letters to the editor

Oct. 24-31 porn awareness week

Dear Editor,
Greetings in the name of the Lord!
Oct. 24-31 is pornography awareness week. Pornography degrades sexuality and is a tool in the victimization of women and children.
The Living Word Worship Center urges individuals to call local businesses that carry videos and magazines, and ask if they carry pornography of any kind. Include in your questions, "Do you carry videos with the vm rating?" (Meaning very mature audience). "Do you carry adult only videos? Do you carry videos that have no rating? What type of magazines do you carry?"
Questions such as these can help you better understand what type of material is in your town stores and will help you determine whether or not to continue to support that business.

Since 1986, more than 30,000 stores, including all corporately owned 7-Eleven stores, have seen the harm pornography causes and have discontinued selling pornography. Yet some business people in our town continue to sell distasteful and degrading material.
You can help in the battle against pornography by sharing information about stores in town that continue to sell this kind of material.
Please, tie a white ribbon on the antenna of your vehicle, letting others KNOW that we are saying NO to pornography!

In His Service.

Strongly opposed to legalizing drugs

Dear Editor,
Thank you for your article in the Chronicle in "The Haire Net" concerning alcohol and drugs. We all discussed this at our WCTU meeting. We agreed with you that legalizing alcohol did abolish bootlegging but now we have many more problem drinkers today per capita than when drinking was against the law.

taxpayer many dollars. Also costing to rehabilitate these problem alcoholics.
Legalizing drugs wouldn't make it right. We are strongly opposed to legalizing drugs. Only God knows what problems would be created if drugs were legalized.

The Chronicle welcomes letters to the editor.
Letters must include the writer's name, address and telephone number. The latter is in case it is necessary to call for verification, but won't be used in the newspaper.
Names will be withheld from publication upon request, for an adequate reason.

Dear Editor,
We want the community to know that we have a great group of boys and girls in our area. Saturday, a group of fifth and sixth graders with their sponsors raked our yard.
What a joy it was to have these cheerful, ambitious youngsters in our midst! We understand that there were several more groups working elsewhere.
We wish to thank them, their parents and their teachers who made this possible.

Sincerely,

mon."
In time, the pastor began to reach out in an effort to help others understand and cope with suicide.
"I've held 2 seminars in public schools, where I've gone into communities and addressed the public on suicide," he said, adding the programs addressed statistics as well as information on intervention and coping.
"Suicide has its own type of grief," Byers explained. "There are people who won't even mention the word suicide to me. There's a stigma to it."
The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services have labeled suicide an epidemic, he continued. "Everybody's searching for answers — how to handle it."

The pastor emphasized, however, that he strives to offer a full, rounded ministry that will meet all the needs of his church family.
It's a challenge he's looking forward to meeting in Cass City.

"Preaching is really just the sharing of your own life with people; pointing them to Christ through the Word," he remarked. "We're just real excited to be here and pastor. That's where my heart's at."

THE REV. DALE Byers recently began serving as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Cass City. He fills a vacancy left by the Rev. John Wood, who retired.
