Everyone helps make free holiday dinner successful

In the spirit of the first Thanksgiving feast, area residents will again gather in Cass City for a celebration that truly embraces what the holiday is all about. And you're invited. There'll be turkey with all the trimmings, music and plenty of friendly faces. There's no obligation. All you need to do is show up with a healthy appetite. The 8th annual Cass City Community Thanksgiving Day Dinner is scheduled to get underway Thursday at 1 p.m. at the VFW hall on Weaver Street. "Ours is a community dinner. We invite everybody," said Bob Gengler, a member of the committee in charge of organizing the annual event. "If you don't have your family here or you don't have a big gathering, come on down." Although the community feast began with the idea of offering something to those who had no place to go Thanksgiving Day or would otherwise be alone, the dinner has evolved into a means through which the entire community can meet to fellowship, share a meal and give thanks together. "It's a community event. It's for everyone," committee member Alan Kleo emphasized, noting the dinner attracts residents from all walks of life. The popularity of the event, which drew about 75 people the first year, prompted this year's location change from the St. Pancratius Catholic Church Parish Hall to the VFW hall. "We served over 200 dinners last year at the church hall," Kleo said, "so we decided we needed something bigger and more convenient." Although the emphasis is on sharing a meal together, Gengler pointed out organizers work each year to not exclude anyone from the feast, even if they are physically unable to attend. Take-out orders for shut-ins are available, starting at 3 p.m., by calling 872-3830 ahead of time. Like the first Thanksgiving, the annual feast in Cass City is the result of many hands working together. Thanks to a number of area churches and civic clubs, there is no charge for the dinner. And a willing army of volunteers is always on hand to take care of the food preparation and clean-up duties. "They just seem to come out of the woodwork," Gengler said. "It's never a problem," Kleo agreed. "It's unbelievable. People just show up and say, 'we're going to do the dishes'. We really appreciate it."

$23,000 possible

United Way zooms way past 1993 goal

The numbers aren't all in yet, but local United Way officials already have plenty to smile about. According to Dale McIntosh, president of the Cass City United Way Executive Board, donations have easily topped the 1993 goal of $18,000, with several contributions yet to be received. "Right now, we are (at) about $19,500," he said Thursday, adding he wouldn't be surprised if the total reaches $23,000. "We expect to have a definite number by the end of November, (but) I know we're going to be over $22,000."

The local United Way effort boasts a longstanding record of success year after year. Last year, for example, the goal was $17,500 and contributions totalled $18,744. But this year proved to be something special, with donations surpassing the goal even before the 32-day campaign officially ended Nov. 15.

"This is the earliest we've reached our goal. No question about it," McIntosh said. "I was surprised — pleasantly surprised — at the numbers coming in. I was comfortable by the end of October we were going to safely reach our goal."

McIntosh attributes this year's success to several factors, including full or nearly full employment among area businesses and industries, which account for the bulk of United Way donations. The generosity of area residents was key, of course, as were the efforts of United Way board members, who along with another 10 to 15 volunteers put in a lot of leg work, contacting residents and businesses.

"I just can't say enough about the board," McIntosh said. "They jumped right in and did a heck of a good job. They're good people and they're willing to get the work done."

A host of area groups and organizations will reap the benefits of the volunteers' efforts when the monies collected are allocated next spring.

Among this year's recipients were Christmas baskets, Rawson Memorial Library, Cass City Pony League, Cass City Cub Scouts, Village Bach Festival, Girl Scouts, girls' softball, American Association of University Women RIF and math-science program, Village of Cass City, Cass City Food Closet, Cass City Literacy Council, Tom Thumb Singers, Toys for Tots and the Tuscola United Way.

Groups interested in applying for a United Way grant can contact McIntosh at 872-4311, or Treasurer Dawn Prieskorn at 872-2131, for details.

One dies, one injured deer hunting in county

Michigan's first fatal deer hunting accident of the season was recorded Saturday in Tuscola County's Indianfields Township.

The shooting was one of 2 hunting-related accidents in the county over the weekend.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies identified the victim as Richard D. Rich, 38, of Warren.

A hunter reported finding Rich's body at about 1:30 p.m. on public land off Bliss Road, according to reports. Investigators determined he had accidentally shot himself.

The other accident occurred Sunday evening in a state trail parking area west of Cemetery Road, south of Mushroom Road in Kingston Township.

Deputies said Daniel L. Baker, 38, of Pontiac, and his brother-in-law, Terry L. Burgess, 24, of Detroit, had just returned to their camper after hunting and were storing their guns when Baker's 12-gauge shotgun accidentally fired, striking Burgess in the left knee.

Baker told deputies Burgess had crawled into the camper first, stored his gun and was crawling back out when he heard a loud bang and realized his (Baker's) shotgun had discharged.

Burgess was transported by Cass City-Mercy Ambulance to Hills and Dales General Hospital, where he was listed in fair condition Monday.

Toys for Tots program

Happy yule for area kids

Cass City Toys for Tots organizers are busy preparing for the 1993 campaign to provide toys for needy children in the area. Last year, 390 children from 154 families in the Cass City, Deford and Gagetown areas were served, and as many or more are expected to apply this year, according to Sue Werschky, coordinator of the local program. Now in its sixth year of operation, the Cass City Toys for Tots project is sponsored by area businesses, civic groups and individuals, and is sanctioned by the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve. "While they do provide some materials and guidelines for conducting the campaign, we do not receive any funding from the Marine Corps," Werschky said in response to reports of fund raising letters being sent to local residents. "Donations sent to the Marine Corps may serve children in urban areas, but none of it has ever been received here. Please turn to page 9.

The retail committee of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce promises to make shopping fun and profitable this Christmas.

It all starts Friday. Santa arrives at 10 a.m. at the corner of Main and Seeger Streets loaded with the Christmas spirit and with candy for the kids.

Friday, area shoppers can start saving money in nearly every store in town and become eligible for gift certificates worth a total of about $1,000.

There's nothing to buy to be eligible to win. All that is necessary is to secure a discount card from any merchant listed in the Chamber ad in this issue and have the card signed by all participating merchants listed on it. The gift certificates are spendable at any store listed on the card.

Besides the chance for free prizes, the card is worth up to 15 percent off on a single purchase with total discount of 30 percent. Certain restrictions apply. You can't get 15 percent off on a mortgage, for instance, but otherwise the savings are yours.

The discounts are available until stores close Christmas eve. The drawing will be between Christmas and New Year's. It's not necessary to be present to win.

FREE MOVIES

Here's how it works. The first time you shop at any participating merchant you earn a 5 percent discount on any single item you select. The second time you shop at this store the single item discount is 10 percent and the third time you buy, it's 15 percent off.

The popular free movies on Saturday afternoons during December are returning to the Cass Theatre. Parents can shop in leisure while the children are at the show designed for wholesome entertainment.

Zsolzai down and nearly out following fall from barn roof

George Zsolzai has been down before, but never out. The Cass City area man has fallen 3 stories — off the Owendale grain elevator — and lived to tell about it. He's walked away after being struck by a car, and he's survived a chain saw accident that left a wound requiring 108 stitches to close. Despite the injuries, he has never spent a night in a hospital, and each time he bounced back and returned to work. But a recent accident on the job has left Zsolzai and his wife of 16 months, Donna, wondering if they'll have a roof over their heads next month. A handyman by trade, Zsolzai, 54, was working for a builder when the Sept. 14 accident occurred. He was helping another man shingle a pole barn near his Ellington Township residence when a roof jack gave way and he fell 14 to 16 feet to the ground, landing squarely on his right hip, bouncing, and then coming down on his shoulder. He was unable to move. Among his injuries, some of which weren't confirmed by x-ray until a few days later due to internal bruising, were 6 broken ribs and a fractured pelvis. His heart was bruised and his bladder torn loose. Zsolzai remained bedridden for 2 weeks after the fall. He then used a walker and later graduated to a cane, but a constant, nagging pain in his hip and chest restricts his movements. Special foundation dollars covered his emergency treatment, and the Department of Social Services paid for medication. But without insurance and unable to return to work, the Zsolzais found themselves in desperate need of emergency assistance to help cover the $175 rent for their house, as well as utility expenses. Fortunately, the Salvation Army and a church came up with enough to pay the couple's rent and electricity bill for September. Zsolzai's good fortune ended there. He said he was surprised to learn he couldn't receive cash assistance through the Department of Social Services because he doesn't qualify as being disabled. "I said, 'I can't believe this. My wife has a heart problem, I'm down, and I can't get any help,'" he said. "They said they'd give me food stamps. I said, 'Well, how do you cook them?'" The couple received similar replies or learned funding isn't available when they contacted other agencies. There is a dispute over whether Zsolzai is entitled to workman's compensation benefits, and a hearing is scheduled on the matter in front of the state labor board, but not until January. Please turn to back page.

GEORGE AND DONNA Zsolzai look to each other for emotional support as they face a financial crisis that may force them from their home. Uninsured, George has been unable to return to work since a Sept. 14 accident on the job.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair Miller

Paula Rockwell, Blair Miller wed in Hawaii

Paula Jean Rockwell and Blair Ivan Miller, both of North Hollywood, Calif., were married Nov. 6 in the city of Kapaa on the island of Kauai in Hawaii.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rockwell of Snover, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Miller of Cabin John, Md., and Ms. Maggie Leigh of Sierra Madre, Calif.

The bride graduated from Central Michigan University. She is a lease accountant for Warner Brothers and recently passed the CPA examination. Her husband is a sales consultant for Ford Motor Company.

Ren Cramer in Special Olympics Hall of Fame

Michigan Special Olympics inducted Ren Cramer of Caro, and 6 other members into its newly-created Hall of Fame during a special banquet Saturday, Nov. 6, at the Sheraton Inn, Lansing.

Michigan Special Olympics instituted a Hall of Fame to pay tribute to those individuals who have contributed greatly to its program of sports training and competition for nearly 20,000 children and adults with mental impairments. The implementation of Hall of Fame comes during Michigan Special Olympics' celebration of the silver anniversary of Special Olympics.

Among criteria for consideration was a minimum 15 years' of service to Michigan Special Olympics and contributions such that they have had a significant impact upon the athletes, volunteers or programming of Michigan Special Olympics.

Cramer, a teacher, has been part of the Michigan Special Olympics program for more than 20 years. He currently serves as area director for Huron, Sanilac, Saint Clair and Tuscola counties. Cramer has served as area director for 12 years and has been a coach, fund raiser and chaperon for the "Area 10" program.

Doug Blasius, one of Cramer's nominators, said "Ren has recruited excellent volunteers and has developed one of the best programs in the state."

Cramer also served as a member of the MSO Executive Director's Advisory Council.

21 attend WCTU dinner

The Cass River Woman's Christian Temperance Union met for a potluck Thanksgiving dinner Nov. 19 with Marilyn Woodward on Severance Road. Twenty-one were present.

After singing "Count Your Blessings" and the pledges to the flag, each related blessings of the past year and expressed what they are thankful for.

Miss Harriet Rayl conducted the devotions, after which each offered prayer.

The Christmas prayer breakfast will be held Dec. 6, at 9 a.m. at Teal's Restaurant in Marlette. Everyone is welcome. Contact Mrs. Martha Remsing, 872-2837, for information.

American eat less healthy diet

Surveys of restaurant customers are showing that Americans are eating a less healthy diet now than they did 3 years ago, at least when they eat out.

The National Restaurant Association found that in 1989, 39 percent of restaurant customers were committed to eating a healthy diet. Today the percentage has dropped to 37 percent.

The survey found more people eat a healthy salad as an excuse to eat a gooey, high calorie dessert.

Giving thanks

by Melva E. Guinther

Counting our blessings should be an everyday activity, but Thanksgiving Day offers a special incentive for doing so.

These are a few of the things, in no particular order, for which I'm thankful.

* A warm and comfortable home. It's no mansion and will never be featured in "House Beautiful", but it has all the necessities and a lot of the luxuries.

Probably no one who hasn't lived without it can truly appreciate running water and indoor plumbing, electricity, telephones and automatic thermostats.

* My family. Life without loved ones would be bleak at best. Even though our kids live in other states, we enjoy seeing them several times a year, and if you were to take a look at our phone bills, you'd know we keep in touch.

* Grandson Drew, who is such a delightful little guy. We're especially grateful that his cleft palate surgery last March was successful and as far as we can tell, he's progressing right on schedule, learning new things all the time and keeping his mother and dad constantly on their toes in an effort to keep up with his busy antics.

* I'm thankful, and a little bit ashamed, that our refrigerator is often so full we have to clear stuff out before we can put more in. But for the grace of God we could be among those who helplessly and hopelessly watch their children starve.

* Good health. It's a blessing that we usually take for granted until we lose it.

* A conscientious doctor who points out potential problems before they become serious.

* Good books, and a good library that makes them available to everyone.

* The fearless squirrels who come begging for peanuts at the patio door. I often have lunch with them, sitting on the floor eating my own with one hand while handing them peanuts with the other.

* The birds who visit our feeder. I love them all, but the cardinals, chickadees and the flicker we call Old Red have always been favorites.

* My job, amiable co-workers, and the opportunity to write this column.

* Readers who pass along grist for the column mill and encourage me by reading it.

* Computers, which make it possible to update, correct and edit copy without re-writing everything. What a wonderful invention!

* Our church and its members who are like a second family, always there when you need a helping hand or a word of encouragement.

* Good music. (It seems necessary to make the qualification since some of the noise that masquerades as music is hardly thankworthy. Where are the Perry Comos and Johnny Mathises these days?)

* Good neighbors. * A friendly, small, relatively safe, community. Only in a small town could you go and pick up a new refrigerator without paying for it or even signing any papers, when your old one quits on a Saturday evening.

* All the innumerable daily blessings that give us pleasure and peace of mind, which we so often forget to be grateful for.

* Faith that sustains us during the times when things are not going so well and we find it harder to be thankful.

"If It Fitz..."

Gambling is gambling

By Jim Fitzgerald

A man was recently caught cheating at bingo in the Royal Oak VFW Hall. The thieving bum should pray to St. Stucco for forgiveness. Or at least he should pray that the law treats him the same as a lawmaker.

There really isn't a St. Stucco, but I thought there was when I was a little kid attending St. Stephen School and St. Stephen Church. Between those 2 brick buildings there was a smaller wooden building that was never called anything except The Stucco Building. So I figured there was a St. Stucco who ranked right up there with St. Stephen.

By the time I graduated from high school, I was smart enough to realize the building was named after the cement material covering the exterior walls. I was also smart enough to realize there was a whole lot of hypocrisy going on inside those stucco walls.

Adults were playing bingo. They were paying little money in hopes of winning big money. That was gambling, which was against the law. The nuns taught us it was a sin to break the law. But a priest often called the bingo numbers in The Stucco Building.

And the nuns raised school-supply money by raffling off groceries donated by students' parents. The students were required to sell raffle tickets to their parents, who bet on winning more groceries than they'd donated.

difference between betting small on numbers in hopes of winning big, and doing the same on bingo and raffles?

I asked a nun that question and she said gambling was OK when it was done in the name of God. I should have advised a number seller to tell the cops he was dedicating his work to God.

Today, thanks largely to God's name (and muscle), bingo is legal. But cheating at it apparently isn't. A few months ago, that sneaky guy at the Royal Oak VFW allegedly pasted the winning numbers on his card after they were called, bagging a $400 jackpot. When he showed up again last week, minus his moustache but still pasting, the cops were called.

It will be interesting to see if the bingo criminal is punished as harshly as state Sen. Arthur Miller, who, during court testimony, admitted betting on sports with a bookie, which is illegal in Michigan. For breaking the law, the Warren lawmaker was not arrested, charged or even patted on the wrist.

HUFFING LEGISLATOR

Today's moral is that lawmakers' policy toward bingo has changed since I was a boy, but when it comes to hypocrisy, the only change has been for the worse.

It's still against the law to sell numbers, unless you work for the state and sell lottery numbers.

Unless you're a state senator, you could get in trouble for betting on football games. But it's legal to bet on horse races because the state gets to drag the pot.

Did you get a load of Jerry Crandall, the state lottery commissioner, when he spoke out against a bill that would legalize video lottery games in bars, bowling alleys and racetracks? "Video poker and video slot machines are frighteningly addictive," Crandall huffed.

How about all the people addicted to buying state lottery tickets in supermarkets and convenience stores, lured there by smelly advertising, trying to get rich against incredibly lousy odds?

I don't blame anyone for wanting to bet a little on the chance of winning big. But why limit them to playing only the state's games? It's not right to discriminate against taxpayers who prefer gambling on video games or in casinos.

It's hypocritical, as always.

Gambling is gambling, in the name of God, or in the name of government. Let's quit weaseling. Let's declare it legal for everyone, or for no one.

In the name of St. Stucco.

The Haire Net

It's funny, but mentally I don't figure that I'm that old. That is until some of the events on the passing scene remind me that I truly am a member of the grey beard set.

Oh, I've admitted to myself that I can't go like I once did. After walking 18 holes of golf, for instance, I'm through for the day. When it's party time there's always a little caution because I know that tomorrow is coming.

More often than not, the conversation around the coffee table switches to the health of a contemporary or what it costs to have health protection.

There are other reliable indicators that the years are piling up. Who ever thought that B. A. Calka, after 41 years in the real estate business, would really quit after 5 years or so of false retirement plans?

It was the conversation around the coffee table that really started all this speculation. One young man, obviously from the Sandusky School District area, was talking about the new high school under construction in Sandusky.

He wasn't at all pleased with the new building. His concern was the new gym. He announced that the gym would cost $8 million dollars of the total cost, which he said was $11 million. It will have an indoor track, 2 basketball courts and 4 different locker rooms. I get so mad I don't want to talk about it, he said.

I would suspect that those figures aren't accurate, but whether they are or not doesn't matter in today's topic.

The reason it is mentioned is to illustrate a point. It reminds me of just how many years have passed since I came to Cass City in 1951.

At that time Cass City had a gym that was the envy of the Thumb. Caro played in a band box and other schools also had facilities that weren't much better.

Then those schools started revamping facilities and suddenly that gym which is now part of the middle school was too small and inadequate. Cass City went from the top of the list to the bottom.

That was rectified with the present high school building and gym.

Now we are coming full circle again. Schools around us will soon have newer, more spacious facilities. Besides Sandusky, Ubyly, Bad Axe, North Branch and Imlay City are building or adding to high schools.

Now Cass City is talking about building a new gym for the junior high and it appears as if the gym that was the envy of the area in the 50s will pass into oblivion.

Time marches on, changes follow one after another, and suddenly what was new becomes a nostalgia item. It makes you count the years.

ASCS releases annual CRP contract payments

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service has released annual contract payments to landowners across Michigan enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program.

"This program requires aggressive conservation programs on land that owners enroll, with the twin goals of reducing erosion and improving wildlife habitat," said Jim Byrum, state executive director of the ASCS.

"The CRP program is credited by wildlife experts as a major reason for the resurgence of pheasant populations in the state, along with improved conservation practices on thousands of acres of especially sensitive Michigan farmland."

More than 300,000 acres have been enrolled in the program over the past 8 years, and on more than 19,500 of those acres, landowners have planted more than 9 million trees of various species with the intent of reforestation and permanent removal from other cropping systems.

Landowners were required to commit their land to the CRP program for 10 years on a contractual basis. The last sign-up period ended in 1992.

"Even though there has not been a new enrollment period this year, the benefits of this program to the environment are well documented and will continue to be realized for years after the program ends," said Byrum.

The ASCS offers many other conservation programs to farmers. More information is available from local USDA-ASCS offices. To locate the office nearest you, call (57) 337-6659.

Tennis Elbow

Muscles and tendons become stronger when they are used. They need to be stressed and then given adequate rest so they can recover and grow stronger.

Sometimes this does not work so well. The tendons may be used too much and rested too little. This can get a person up for a chronic problem such as tennis elbow.

Tennis elbow is an inflammation of the tendons that attach the muscles of the forearm to the elbow. A person develops a painful and tender spot on the outside part of the elbow.

Tendonitis can take a long time to heal, and it often becomes chronic because it is never given enough time to heal. People still have to take care of their children and do their work. Also, many people would rather continue their sports than take the time off that is needed for recovery.

Today's busy schedules often contribute to the problem. A person is too busy to train on a regular basis, and then overdoes it when the opportunity arises to play tennis or some other sport.

Tennis, of course, is only one of the many causes of tennis elbow. Any repetitive work using the forearm can cause it. The trauma to the tendon can be limited by a change in tools, such as using a wood-handled hammer, rather than a metal-handled hammer or a different tennis racquet.

Your doctor can help suggest treatments and changes in activity to hasten recovery. Anti-inflammatory pain pills can help with the healing, and a tennis elbow band can reduce the symptoms, but limiting activities until it can heal is very important.

Letters to the editor

Reader questions reason for increase in benefit costs

Letters to the Editor
The Chronicle welcomes letters to the editor. Letters must include the writer's name, address and telephone number. The latter is in case it is necessary to call for verification, but won't be used in the newspaper. Names will be withheld from publication upon request, for an adequate reason. The Chronicle reserves the right to edit letters for length and clarity. We will not publish thank you letters of a specific nature, for instance, from a club thanking merchants who donated prizes for a raffle.

The statement of Cass City School General Fund Revenues and Expenditures shown in the Nov. 17, 1993, issue of the Chronicle is very interesting. Of special interest is the comparison of the Expenditures and Proposed Revised 1993-94 Budget compared to the actual 1992-1993 costs as shown below for Employee Benefits.

It seems that some explanation is in order as to what these benefits are and why the Proposed 1993-94 budgeted costs show such a great increase over Actual 1992-93 costs.

Sincerely,
W.A. Stark

Supt.: increase due to change in F.I.C.A.

This is the first year that the State of Michigan is requiring schools to list F.I.C.A. (Social Security payments) within a school's General Fund Revenues and Expenditure budget. Prior to this year, the state reimbursed schools, in total, for F.I.C.A. expenses and these costs were considered as an in and out account that Michigan schools never had to place in the general fund budget.

F.I.C.A. costs total 7.65% of all wages and are to now be listed in the benefit category. The actual 1992-93 benefits totaled $844,373 for all employees. Benefit plans for school district employees have not been increased. Actually, for the current year, health care increases were the lowest they have been in many years, approximately 4.5%.

The reason the budget reflects over a 30% increase in benefits is as follows. The total wages for Cass City Public School employees is approximately $4 million. $4 million times F.I.C.A. costs of 7.65% equals $306,000. When you add the $306,000 F.I.C.A. figure to the actual 1992-93 benefit costs of $844,373, this does represent over a 30% increase. The reason for the 63% increase in community services benefits is because of the F.I.C.A. situation and because this is the first year the teacher of the pre-school program enrolled in the health insurance program. The cost of these two items when compared with last year's figure of $16,173 represent the reason for the significant increase.

You should be interested to know that because of the F.I.C.A. changes, which have occurred on a state-wide basis, schools throughout Michigan are receiving less support from the state.

The social security F.I.C.A. costs, which used to be reimbursed 100% by the state, are now only reimbursed at the 75% level for the Cass City Public Schools.

I hope this information is helpful.

Sincerely,
Kenneth J. Micklash
Superintendent of Schools

Thank God for town full of good kids

A short while ago I had a telephone call from Kally Maharg at the Intermediate School asking if we needed help raking leaves or doing anything the Junior High students could do for us. My husband and I are very lucky, both of us still able to do the work we need done. However, I am sure the offer of help will find many people in the community in need of help doing jobs their bones, muscles, and, especially, equilibrium will no longer tolerate even attempting. And all these wonderful young people are offering their energy to do the bending, lifting and climbing!

Yes, we are the older generation! Our bones no longer hold us as tall; our muscles do creak if we work them too much, and our equilibrium? Gone! Past! Caput!

But how reassuring it is to know we "elders" can call Kally and her kids at the school and say, "Help, Please" and know help is coming as soon as possible. Thank God we still have a small town and a lot of good people, especially the kids.

Now, next spring we want to plant... And the accumulation in the basement... We were wondering how to get the wall fixed and painted, and...

Love you,
Margaret Brown

Nemeth protests budget cut at expense of senior citizens

Older Americans know how important it is to reduce our country's deficit, and have always been willing to do their share to help. But frankly, enough is enough. We're running out of patience with some of our lawmakers who single out older Americans and those who value our society - young and old alike - for most of the pain, while sparing those responsible for our nation's red ink for their share of the burden.

Please call your member in Congress. Representative James Barcia at 202-225-8171 in Washington, D.C. Urge a NO vote on the Perry/Kasich plan. You can call his local office, too, and voice your opinion.

What is voted on in Congress also goes to the Senate, and don't forget to write or call Don Reigle and Carl Levin and say NO to this plan.

AARP needs our help. This is an important issue. They are working hard for a NO vote. Thank you.

Grace Nemeth

31-26 in tight defensive battle

Hawks bow to Marlette

Cass City bowed out of the district tournament Wednesday in a game that closely followed the advance script and produced a tight, highly fought defensive battle from the opening whistle.

When it was all over, Marlette advanced to the finals Friday and the great Hawk season came to an end. It was all over for Cass City and 4 seniors who in their junior high and high school careers posted a 92-19 record.

Listen to what Coach Marty Daniel says about them: "They have had considerable influence on 3 consecutive conference championships and countless games and hours of enjoyment for Red Hawk fans and coaches. Karla Zinnecker, a fine 6th person (first) off the bench that helped at both guard and post positions along with a strong defensive effort. Jodi LaRoche, the human gazelle, towering for a rebound over opponents half a foot taller and with lightning speed jumping out to steal the ball. Darcie Monroe, the glue that held this team together and who applies sti-fling defense on our opponent's best offensive player. Jodi Schember, the long range artillery artist that put fear in the hearts of area coaches. We will miss these ladies.....they have set a standard for future teams to emulate and seeded our teams with young players wishing to emulate them. They have left this program in much better condition than they found it." Against Marlette the Hawks were hurt again by inability to get their offensive in motion in the first quarter. Cass City scored just one basket in the first 8 minutes when Jodi Schember broke the ice with a 3-point bomb.

The Hawks stayed on the heels of the Red Raiders with some tight defense. Both teams were tight and turnovers frequent.

Marlette used a full-court press most of the game against Cass City and it caused several turnovers while allowing no cheap baskets. Sophomore Nicole Ruggles was especially successful on defense for the Raiders.

Cass City stayed in the game in the first half behind Kelli VanVliet, who converted 2 pretty drives to the basket and added a pair of free throws in the second quarter.

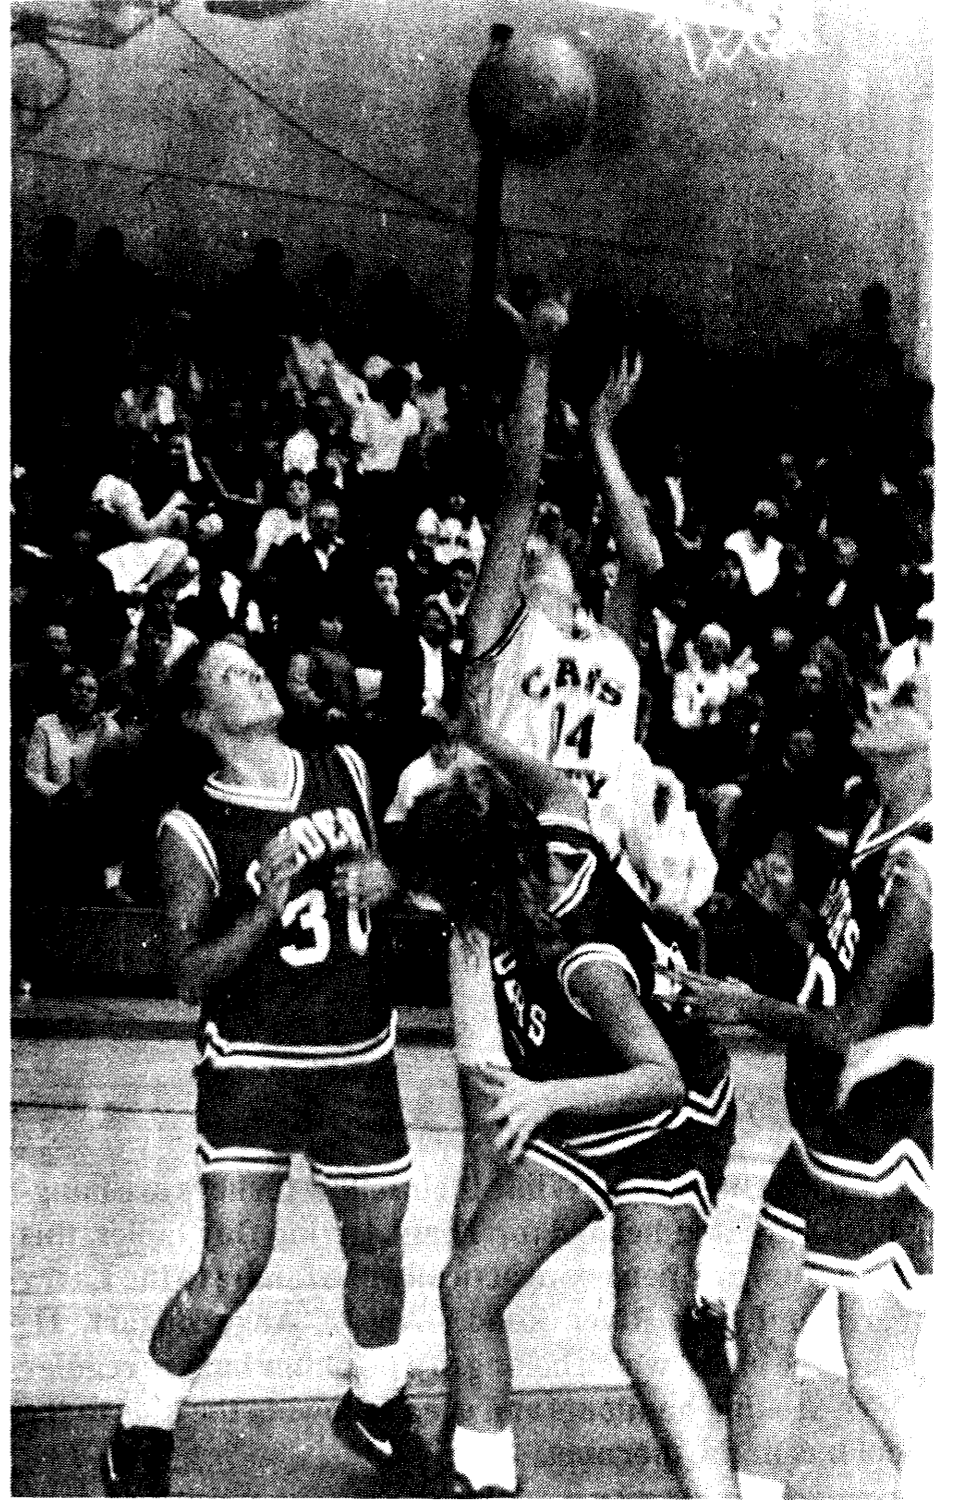

At the half, Marlette was in front 16-11. The Hawks put it all together in the third quarter. Paced by a couple of rebound baskets by Monroe and a fast break bucket by Schember, the Hawks barged into the lead, 19-17, with 3:15 left in the period.

Going into the final quarter, the Raiders were ahead by a point. In the first 3 minutes the Raiders staged the rally that was decisive and were in front 29-24 with 3:23 left. Pacing Marlette to the winning rally was Ruggles with some fine defensive work that was responsible for 5 quick Red Raider points.

The Hawks outscored Marlette from the field, 23-20, but a massive edge from the foul line was the difference. The fouls Cass City committed not only bulged the Marlette point toll, it sent 3 Hawk starters, LaRoche, Peyton Daniel and Monroe, to the bench.

CASS CITY - Schember 4-1 (0-1) 11; VanVliet 2-0 (2-3) 6; Monroe 2-0 (1-4) 5; Daniel 2-0 (0-0) 4. TOTALS - 10-1 (3-8) 26.

MARLETTE - Campbell 3-0 (0-0) 6; Shubach 2-0 (0-1) 4; Dudek 2-0 (3-4) 7; Ruggles 3-0 (8-13) 14. TOTALS - 10-0 (11-22) 31.

Caseville prevails, 37-35

Upset ends Bulldogs' season

Coach Dean Roller's cagers' season came to an abrupt end last Tuesday when they were eliminated from district play at Kinde by Caseville.

The 37-35 upset puts Owen-Gage in the history books with a 6-15 mark. The Bulldog record is Roller's worst in 8 years at the helm of the Owen-Gage girls' basketball program.

But don't be misled by looking only at the Bulldog win/loss statistic. A glance at the big picture reveals one of the veteran mentor's best coaching efforts and a bright vista into the 'Dogs' future.

The Bulldogs displayed signs of improvement every game this year.

The biggest advancement of late was the play of freshman Jennifer Winchester, who had a career night against the Eagles.

Winchester kept her team in contention throughout the first half as she poured in all but 3 of the Bulldogs' markers in the first half, that ended deadlocked at 15-all. "Winchester had an excellent night. She scored as many points as all our forwards had combined for the entire season," said Roller.

Winchester led all scorers with 20 points and collected 6 rebounds.

Both teams showed signs of play-off jitters in the opening period.

Amy Stahl notched the initial frame's only field goal that complemented a Jamie Jensen free throw to give the Eagles a 4-0 lead heading into the 2nd stanza.

"We played one of our worst quarters all year, which set the tone of the game," said Roller. "We were a step slow all night."

Melody Abfalter gave Owen-Gage its first and biggest lead of the evening when she connected on back-to-back jump shots with 4:35 left in the 3rd period at 23-20.

Abfalter, a junior, will return next season, along with classmate Angie Wildman to give the Bulldogs a capable and experienced back court.

Wildman, the Bulldogs' best player on the season, had a sub par effort in the district opener and finished with just 5 points, well below her 14 points per game scoring average.

Caseville took a 37-33 lead with just under 2 minutes remaining to play on a jumper by Jensen.

Winchester answered that hoop and gave her team a chance to tie at the end but a costly turnover gave the Eagles the victory as the horn sounded.

Owen-Gage had won 4 of its last 6 contests heading into the state tourney.

"I thought we were ready, but maybe we thought we could just show up," said Roller.

Part of their enhanced play near the season's end can be attributed to freshman Kate Powers and sophomore Susie Roemer, who matured during the campaign.

The duo recorded only 6 points in the play-off debut, but good things from the pair are expected in the years to come.

OWEN-GAGE - Abfalter 2-0 (0-2) 4; Powers 1-0 (0-0) 2; Roemer 1-0 (2-3) 4; Wildman 2-0 (1-3) 5; Winchester 6-0 (8-10) 20. TOTALS - 12-0 (11-18) 35.

CASEVILLE - Stahl 2-1 (1-2) 8; Meissner 1-0 (2-2) 4; McCrimmon 3-0 (1-2) 7; C. Leach 3-0 (1-2) 7; Cieslinski 2-0 (0-0) 4; Jensen 2-0 (1-3) 5; M. Leach 1-0 (0-0) 2. TOTALS - 14-1 (6-11) 37.

Schember, LaRoche named to all-conference team

Cass City placed 2 players on the Blue Bay League all-conference team as selected by coaches last week.

Leading the selection list was Jodi Schember, who is the team captain after being voted number one selection by all voting coaches. Also named was Jodi LaRoche. Both girls are seniors.

A sophomore, Nicole Ruggles of Marlette, was a close second to Schember in the voting. Ruggles was one of 3 Red Raiders selected. She joins senior Christal Dudek and senior Tami Schubach on the squad.

Also placing a pair on the team was the Lakers. Carolyn Bollenbacher, fine shooting junior guard capable of carrying her team by herself, and Kim Sturm, who anchored the middle, earned spots on the team.

HONORABLE MENTION

Two Cass City veterans, senior Darcie Monroe and sophomore Kelli VanVliet, topped the honorable mention list. Others were: Senior Lisa Campbell and junior Kelli Phillips, Marlette; jun-

Approved for commercial use Reactions to BST mixed

The Federal Drug Administration's long-awaited approval of bovine somatotropin, commonly called "BST," for commercial use has drawn mixed reactions.

BST is a genetically engineered hormone that increases milk output by supplementing a dairy cow's natural BST.

The hormone, produced in the pituitary gland, was ruled safe following extensive study and commercial trials which showed milk from treated cows has the same nutritional value and composition as milk from untreated cows.

Faced with the decision to use or not use BST, farmers have a wide variety of opinions, according to Sanilac County Extension Dairy Agent Brian Troyer.

"It's really kind of a mixed bag," he said. "There are people that are opposed to this for a variety of reasons — we don't need the extra milk, it will erode consumer confidence — and others say it's a good management tool that will make their operation more profitable."

A number of farmers haven't formed a definite opinion yet. Among them is Arthur Severance, who milks about 90 cows in the Shabbona area.

"I guess I'm undecided," he said. "If we get some results, it's something we might want to try."

Farmers will have to balance the cost of BST versus greater milk production, as well as take into consideration the increased nutritional requirements of a treated cow, and the additional stress placed on that cow, Severance said.

"I think management is going to be the key," he added.

Roger Mellenberger, Michigan State University Extension dairy specialist, concurred.

MANAGEMENT TOOL

"What you have to understand is BST is just another management tool," he said, adding BST isn't going to be of much value to a farmer who doesn't have a solid management structure that ensures good herd health and nutrition, a strong reproduction program, mastitis control, adequate young stock set-up and records.

"The farmers who are doing everything right are the ones who are going to see the response."

According to Mellenberger, use of BST can boost a cow's total lactation by 10 to 15 percent.

A cow isn't treated until its 100th day in milk, and the response time is 24 to 36 hours, he explained, but "it will vary tremendously from cow to cow, herd to herd."

Mellenberger had no figures on the cost of BST. However, he said, "It looks like a decent payback if you get that 10 to 15 percent."

The dairy specialist disagreed with predictions that use of BST will force small dairy operations out of business.

There is a trend towards bigger operations, he acknowledged. There were 37,000 dairy farms in Michigan back in the 1950s. "Now," he added, "we're down to 4,600 Grade A farms and another 200 can shippers, and these are mainly Amish farmers."

Fewer farms is the normal trend, largely due to the cost of running a dairy operation, according to Mellenberger, who noted the expense of purchasing equipment has put a serious burden on smaller farms.

COMPETE

Still, smaller, established operations can compete, provided they have a strong management program, he repeated. "That's how (farmers) are going to survive in the future, and BST has nothing to do with it. "Are some farms going to go out a little faster? Sure, because they couldn't compete in the first place."

"If (BST) does anything, it might be a tool for a small manager to stay in business a little longer," commented Cass City area dairy farmer and Michigan Farm Bureau President Jack Laurie, who noted farmers could increase production without increasing labor expenses. However, Laurie predicted BST is far from being a

"done deal," in part because of the controversy surrounding its use, and proposed legislative challenges in Wisconsin and California. Reassuring the public that BST is safe is going to be a challenge, he pointed out. "The question across the dairy industry is the perception that it might be a harmturned to our campaign," she added. "We are locally self-sufficient, serving families in portions of Tuscola, Sanilac and Huron counties."

Fifth and sixth grade students at Cass City Middle School participated in a coloring contest, coloring fliers that are being delivered this week to area businesses by high school students. Individuals and businesses are asked to participate by donating new, unwrapped toys or cash contributions at the campaign headquarters, located at Ryland & Guc Plumbing and Heating, 6475 Main St., Cass City.

needy family, thanks to the generosity of the people in our area. We hope to continue that tradition, and we will, with widespread community support."

Donated toys and purchases representing cash donations will be displayed in the window at Ryland & Guc prior to distribution.

Residents are asked to contribute early to allow time for sorting and packing. Volunteers from the Knights of Columbus will be delivering the toys Dec. 18.

Families expecting a package are asked to have an adult at the home that day to accept delivery. Some families may be asked to pick up their packages prior to Dec. 18.

Area families in need can apply to the program at local churches and through social services.

Additional information is available by contacting Werschky at 872-2910 (evenings) or by writing to: Toys for Tots, 6536 Garfield Ave., Cass City, Mich. 48726.

Soil sensor aids farmers

Agricultural scientists have improved a sensor that tells farmers how much herbicide to effectively apply to fields. The sensor is designed to estimate the amount of organic matter present in the soil. That helps tell a farmer the precise amount of herbicide needed for good weed control, without any environmental waste.

"There has always been a lot of support for our campaign from local clubs, businesses and individuals, and we hope they will help again this year," Werschky said.

"Our goal has always been to provide gifts for every child on our list. We have never had to turn away a

Zsolzai down, nearly out after fall

Zsolzai has also applied for SSI benefits. Again, however, the request will take time to process. And time was running out for the couple, who faced the threat of eviction, as well as shut-off notices.

"We started selling everything," Zsolzai said, adding he and his wife sold their washer, dryer, stove, refrigerator, guns, VCR, color television, and a special cuckoo clock. The proceeds covered expenses through this month.

After that, the couple isn't sure what will happen. "My lights are due, my rent's due again the first of (December), and I don't have anything left to sell," he explained. "I just can't believe this. I've helped everybody I can think of

over the years. The Zsolzais' plight has frustrated Marianne Karpovich, chairman of the Salvation Army Service Unit in Caro. "I'm at my wits end," she said, noting the Salvation Army is unable to provide additional help, despite the Zsolzais' urgent situation. "He sold just about everything in his house to pay last month's rent," she said. "He can't work; he can barely walk around, and there's no possibility of his working anytime soon."

"I'll go back to work if I have to, but who's going to hire me?" Zsolzai said. "I can't stand that long. I can't sit that long."

"He couldn't pass the physical," remarked Donna, who later joked that with all the accidents her husband has been involved in in his life, he should be dead. She pointed out, however, "This is the one that scared him."

"It makes me feel bad because I know he's never been in this shape before."

"It's hard to face. I've always bounced back," Zsolzai acknowledged. "(But) you just keep trying. You can't give up."

Editor's note: Any organization or individual interested in helping the Zsolzais is asked to contact Marianne Karpovich at 1-673-6929.

ful product," he said. "It's perception that makes up people's minds."

"I personally don't believe — at least in the early stages — it's going to get very widespread use. I'm going to be real surprised... if it has more than a 2 or 3 percent impact on total production."

He added results seen in commercial BST trials aren't as dramatic as expected, and there are concerns regarding the stress placed on treated cows.

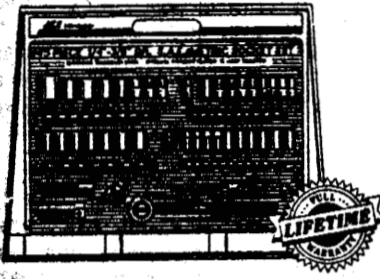

Laurie milks 135 cows. He indicated he hasn't ruled out using BST, but he's in no hurry to experiment at this point.

"We've talked about it," he said. "We will probably not use it, at least in the first 2 or 3 years."

Zsolzai has also applied for SSI benefits. Again, however, the request will take time to process. And time was running out for the couple, who faced the threat of eviction, as well as shut-off notices.

"We started selling everything," Zsolzai said, adding he and his wife sold their washer, dryer, stove, refrigerator, guns, VCR, color television, and a special cuckoo clock. The proceeds covered expenses through this month.

After that, the couple isn't sure what will happen. "My lights are due, my rent's due again the first of (December), and I don't have anything left to sell," he explained. "I just can't believe this. I've helped everybody I can think of"

over the years. The Zsolzais' plight has frustrated Marianne Karpovich, chairman of the Salvation Army Service Unit in Caro. "I'm at my wits end," she said, noting the Salvation Army is unable to provide additional help, despite the Zsolzais' urgent situation. "He sold just about everything in his house to pay last month's rent," she said. "He can't work; he can barely walk around, and there's no possibility of his working anytime soon."

"I'll go back to work if I have to, but who's going to hire me?" Zsolzai said. "I can't stand that long. I can't sit that long."

"He couldn't pass the physical," remarked Donna, who later joked that with all the accidents her husband has been involved in in his life, he should be dead. She pointed out, however, "This is the one that scared him."

"It makes me feel bad because I know he's never been in this shape before."

"It's hard to face. I've always bounced back," Zsolzai acknowledged. "(But) you just keep trying. You can't give up."

ful product," he said. "It's perception that makes up people's minds."

"I personally don't believe — at least in the early stages — it's going to get very widespread use. I'm going to be real surprised... if it has more than a 2 or 3 percent impact on total production."

He added results seen in commercial BST trials aren't as dramatic as expected, and there are concerns regarding the stress placed on treated cows.

Laurie milks 135 cows. He indicated he hasn't ruled out using BST, but he's in no hurry to experiment at this point.

"We've talked about it," he said. "We will probably not use it, at least in the first 2 or 3 years."

A.H.A. congress of trustees

Name Tonti to national post

Don G. Tonti of Cass City has been nominated as the alternate delegate to the American Hospital Association Congress of Trustees by the Michigan Hospital Association.

Tonti has been a member of the board of Hills and Dales General Hospital, Cass City, for the past 9 years, serving as chairman and secretary.

Three years ago he was appointed to the Michigan Hospital Association's Committee on Governance and continues to serve in this capacity. In making the announcement, Ken Jensen, president of Hills and Dales General Hospital, said the selection process for this appointment is controlled by his peers in Lansing and the Michigan Hospital Association.

Tonti will serve as the voting delegate from Michigan, attending meetings of the AHA Congress of Hospital Trustees in Chicago, Washington, Boston and Dallas during the next 12 months.

Tonti, president/CEO of Don G. Tonti & Associates, provides management consultation to a variety of businesses throughout Michigan and beyond. He has served on the Governor's Advisory Council in Michigan and led a human resource management delegation to the United Soviet Socialist Republic (USSR) in 1990 and 1991.

His appointment to the American Hospital Association Congress of Trustees is a 3-year term.

Thumb Ag Day bigger, better

Thumb area farmers can plan on this year's Thumb Ag Day to be bigger and better than ever, says Roger Swartzendruber, Extension Agriculture Agent. A wide variety of agricultural vendors will have displays at the Dec. 8 program at the Colony House, Cass City, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This year, Wayne Humphreys, of Columbus Junction, Iowa, will be the featured speaker for Thumb Ag Day's afternoon program. Humphreys has a long history in agriculture, serving as a National Officer in the FFA as a start of his speaking career. He lived and raised a family on a working grain and livestock farm in Iowa. Taking a kinder look at the day to day operation of agriculture is Humphrey's special way of talking to groups across the United States.

Area residents who are interested or involved in agriculture will want to mark Dec. 8 at the Colony House, Cass City, on their calendar.

$30,000 damage in house fire

Fire gutted an older, 2-story house in Sanilac County's Evergreen Township over the weekend. Six area fire departments responded to the blaze at 3700 Hadley Rd. Saturday night. The alarm came in at 10:21 p.m. Smoke was pouring out the eaves of the structure's roof when Elkland Township fire fighters arrived, according to Assistant Chief Don Root, who said the blaze apparently started from a wood stove in the basement and went up into the structure. Root said firemen couldn't get to the source of the flames due to extensive damage to the first floor. The structure was all but destroyed, with damage estimated at $30,000.

There were 2 or 3 hunters staying at the house when the fire broke out, and all escaped unharmed, Root said. He noted one fireman was treated for smoke inhalation. The house was insured and is owned by a Center Line resident whose name was not available. Fire fighters remained at the scene until about 3 a.m. They were assisted by the Elmwood-Gagetown, Owendale, Kingston, Caro and Argyle Township fire departments.

Your neighbor says

Deer hunting is a family tradition

It takes a lot to keep a dyed-in-the-wool deer hunter out of the woods during hunting season. It gets in your blood, Ken Nye, 58, of Cass City, said a couple of days after the season opened last week.

I was out for the first days of the season and I'll probably make it out later today, he said. Watching Nye walk down the street, the casual observer would figure that he wouldn't join the orange-coated army. He suffers from arthritis, so severe that he needs a cane to walk. Well, he shrugged, might as well be out in the woods as sitting home doing nothing.

I come from a deer hunting family, he said, and all 6 of my kids like the sport.

It runs in their families too, he smiled. My daughter-in-law, Yvonne, shot a nice buck this year.

You know, Nye said, I'm not too big a fan of the Department of Natural Resources, but I'm glad they cut down on the number of doe permits this year.

Hunting's better this year than last, he feels. Last season there was too much corn in the field for good hunting.

Gardening class offered

Are you an avid gardener? Do you enjoy growing your own vegetables and garden flowers? Would you like to know how to control those pesky little insects and diseases that attack your garden plants and lawn each year? Do you have a willingness to pass along what you learn to others? Then consider taking the Master Gardener Class offered this winter.

During the program, students are extensively trained in the field of horticulture. Topics covered include general plant growth, soils and fertility, trees and shrubs, garden flowers, house plants, lawns, vegetables, fruits, backyard wildlife and pest management.

The 10-week course will begin Jan. 13 and meets every Thursday evening through March 17 from 6:00 to 10:00 p.m. at the Tuscola County MSU Extension Office, 362 Green Street, Caro. The course is taught by MSU Extension Instructors and local horticultural experts. The cost of the program is $120.00 which includes a notebook and resource material. The deadline for pre-registration is Nov. 30.

To become a certified Master Gardener, students must successfully complete the class and perform 40 hours of community service. Previous graduates from the Master Gardener Classes have used their volunteer hours working at County Fairs, editing newsletters, answering horticultural phone calls at the MSU Extension office, assisting students with horticultural projects, and helping church, neighborhood and civic groups with gardening problems.

If you are interested in this course, contact the Tuscola County MSU Extension office, 362 Green Street, Caro, to register, or call 517-673-5999 ext. 228 for more information.

Potluck dinner at Owen-Gage sr. citizens' meet

The Owen-Gage Senior Citizens met for their potluck thanksgiving dinner Thursday, Nov. 18, at noon at St. Agatha Parish Hall. There were 37 members present and the turkey was prepared by Johanna Miklovich and donated by the club for the members. Homer Kretzschmer gave the Thanksgiving blessing remembering all that were present and the Senior Citizens that were ill at home.

President Orville Mallory opened the meeting with the group reciting the Lord's Prayer and the pledge to the flag.

Get well cards were signed by members for Sybil Miller and Bernice Clara.

Door prizes were won by Mike Pisarek and Iva Volz. The nominating committee has elected the same officers for another term, Johanna Miklovich as treasurer and Florence Schell as secretary.

Committee for December will be Iva Volz, Selma Koch, Stella Leyva and Johanna Miklovich. After the meeting was adjourned, 8 tables of euchre was played. The winners were high for men, Louis Ouvry, low for men, Robert Schell. High for women, Iva Peterson, and low for women, Margaret Generous. The owl prize was won by Audrey Cummins.

Health department passes test

The Home Care Division of Sanilac and Tuscola County's Health Department has passed a survey completed by Michigan's Department of Public Health (MDPH). MDPH is the licensing board for all home health agencies that are Medicare Certified in the State of Michigan.

Medicare regulations state that all agencies should be surveyed every 9-15 months. The MDPH surveyor makes home visits with staff, looks at policies and procedures, documentation of services rendered, and the quality of care being given.

During the survey this fall of the Sanilac and Tuscola County Health Departments, no deficiencies were found. Carolyn T. Connelly, acting manager of the Licensing and Certification Division, wrote in a letter to the Sanilac County Health Department, "Given the complexity of the Medicare Conditions of Participation, you are to be congratulated on your achievement."

The Home Care Division of the Health Department began in 1967 with a staff of 2 registered nurses making visits in the home. It continues today with a staff of 42.

Professional staff work with each client's physician and provide skilled nurses, home health aides, physical, occupational and speech therapists and social workers that can help a loved one return home from the hospital or medical care facility much sooner than would otherwise be possible.

For more information on Home Health Care available in Sanilac or Tuscola County, call 1-800-277-2789. In Huron County call 1-800-833-8550.

Bastian completes training

Navy Seaman Recruit Bron E. Bastian, a 1993 graduate of Kingston High School, recently completed basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the cycle, recruits are taught general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 occupational fields.

Studies include seamanship, close-order drill, naval history and first aid.

Can survive

Tomatoes can survive what would otherwise be a killing frost if the temperature drop is gradual over several days.

Down Memory Lane

From the files of the Chronicle

5 YEARS AGO

Cass City School and education association officials are at least "$600,000" apart on a new teachers contract, despite nearly 7 months of negotiations.

A rash of fire calls ended the long "quiet" spell for firemen. There have been only 2 alarms since Aug. 14 but firemen were called upon 7 times over a 5-day period this past week.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies continued their search for a man who robbed and knifed a Tuscola County motorist Friday night. The victim was stabbed several times after stopping to pick up a hitchhiker on M-46 near Bruise Road in Indianfields Township.

Tom Brawner, owner of Caseway Industrial Products, is considering moving his small industrial firm from Caseville to the old Nestles building, located near the corner of Church and Nestles Streets.

Senior Darlene Monroe was named to the Thumb B all-star girls' basketball first team and Cindy Powell, senior, was placed on the second team. On the honorable mention list from Cass City were Beth Powell, junior, and Jandi Hillaker, sophomore.

10 YEARS AGO

The home of Chuck and Sara Watros southwest of Cass City was destroyed by fire Sunday evening.

Bruce and Leone Shaw will be among family and friends watching the launch at Cape Canaveral, Fla., when their son, Brewster Shaw Jr., will pilot the Columbia-Spacelab 1 shuttle

Nov. 28. It will be in space 9 days.

In a space of a few short weeks 4 new businesses have opened in Cass City. They are: Nothing Ordinary, Georgine's, Cass City Vision Center, RnB Chatterbox and Johnny's Family Inn.

Martha Putnam was named Woman of the Year of the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday evening.

Two Cass City men injured in a Nov. 12 collision west of town remained hospitalized Monday. Donald D. Horne, 24, was in serious condition at St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw. Edwin S. Karr, 56, was in fair condition at Saginaw General Hospital.

25 YEARS AGO

The cinnamon toothpick fad is sweeping the school. Mike Weaver at Mac and Scotty said that he sold out of cinnamon before replacements arrived this week and Tom Proctor at Wood's said that 72 vials have been snapped up.

The first successful report by a deer hunter opening day was made by Jim LaRoche, but Louie Pierce Sr. and Bill Kolacz had a hand in it. The 3 were moving to a new location when they spotted the 7-pointer. They all blasted away at a distance of about 200 yards.

A sell-out crowd will see the Original Harlem Globetrotters Monday night at Cass City High School, reports Athletic Director Robert Stickle.

Jim Knoblet of Cass City, a bulwark on defense all year for Albion College, was honored last week when he was named by the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association football coaches to the All-Conference team.

35 YEARS AGO

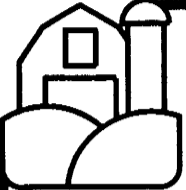

Patients were moved from the old Tuscola County Infirmary to the new county hospital Tuesday. The new quarters cost taxpayers some $890,000.

Earl V. Rayl, 60, of Deford can personally attest to the fact that the deer herd in Tuscola County and in the Deford area is increasing. Thursday afternoon Mr. Rayl tried to dodge deer as they crossed the road while he was driving on Gilford Road. One deer made it across safely, then a second deer was struck but was unhurt. A third deer ran into the side of the car and was killed.

Five Cass City Red Hawks were named to the annual all-conference team Monday. Honored were Roy Tuckey, at center; Bob Tuckey, at tackle; Dave Wilson, at end, and Forrest Walpole and Alex Lopez in the backfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Joos celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday when some 15 members of the family honored the couple at their home.

Tom Thumb Singers slate annual concert Dec. 11-12

The Tom Thumb Singers' 11th annual concert, entitled "Merrily, We Sing Noel," will be held Dec. 11 and 12 at the First Presbyterian Church in Cass City.

The Saturday concert is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. and the Sunday concert, at 3 p.m.

The community choir's 50 members represent 8 area communities: Caro, Cass City, Deford, Gagetown, Kingston, Owendale, Sebewaing and Unionville. The Tom Thumb Singers are directed by Glenda Wilson and accompanied by Jan Roll.

The choir will sing a seasonal variety of secular and popular music with themes of peace, cause, country and Christmas.

A number of guests will offer their musical talents with mid-concert presentations. They include a male quartet, women's barber-shop quartet, Karen Bouverette and Dennis Crookedacre.

Area residents are invited to share a heartwarming time. There is no admission charge, but a free-will offering will be received.

Chemical Corp. sets 20c dividend

Gilbert A. Currie, chairman of Chemical Financial Corporation, announced that the board of directors declared a quarterly cash dividend of $0.20 per share of common stock payable Friday, Dec. 17, to shareholders of record Dec. 3.

Chemical Financial Corporation is one of the 10 largest bank holding companies in Michigan, and the company's 10 subsidiary banks operate 83 "Chemical Bank" offices in 23 counties across the mid-section of Michigan's lower peninsula.

Chemical Financial Corporation common stock trades on the NASDAQ Stock Market under the symbol CHFC.

College bound financial aid meets set

A series of college financial aid meetings, one in each school district in Huron County, have been scheduled for parents and students already attending, or who plan to attend, college.

Due to changes mandated by congress major changes in financial aid are in effect.

The meetings will include a workshop outlining the forms involved, application procedures and deadlines.

The meetings scheduled are:

North Huron High School, Dec. 8, 7 p.m.
Uby High School, Dec. 9,

7 p.m.

Harbor Beach High School, Dec. 13, 8 p.m.
